Pampa Boy Killed In Car-Bicycle Crash

REYNAUD SHOUTS IN DESPAIR AS GERMANS APPARENTLY CUT OFF TROOPS IN BELGIUM

Another Lad Badly Injured On Highway

Lubbock Woman And Husband In Automobile

One Pampa boy was killed and another seriously injured in an automobile-bicycle collision two miles west of Pampa on U. S. Highway 60 at 8:30 o'clock last night.

Killed was Vernon (Red) Scarberry, 15-year-old Pampa Junior High school student, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Scarberry who reside on E. Malone street. Young Scarberry suffered a broken neck and was killed instantly.

Condition of Herman Sander, 14, also a student in the junior high school here, was reported as "quite favorable" at Worley hospital today, where he was taken following the accident last night. Sander suffered a broken right leg, hip injury, and bruises.

Driver of the automobile that struck the bicycles on which the boys were riding was Mrs. L. W. Tarkington of Lubbock, according to the sheriff's office. With her husband, formerly of Pampa, Mrs. Tarkington was enroute here and was headed east, as were the cyclists.

Had Been Swimming

There were five boys riding bicycles in the group. Names of the other three riders were not known to officers. The boys had been swimming and were returning to their homes here.

The accident occurred, according to a county official, when the Tarkington automobile came upon the cyclists from the rear. The boys were riding in a 1-2-2 formation, with Sanders and Scarberry at the rear, Scarberry on the right, Sanders on the left.

Both the automobile and all of the bicycles were on the proper side of the road, according to County Attorney Joe Gordon.

In an effort to avoid the collision the automobile swung toward the borrow ditch, striking Scarberry and Sanders, hurling Scarberry into the ditch on the right-hand side of the road, and throwing Sanders to the pavement.

Claims Blinded By Lights

Sheriff Cal Rose said the driver of the automobile said he had been blinded by the lights of an automobile approaching from the east.

An automobile had passed the boys just before the accident and the boys did not hear the Tarkington automobile approach. County Attorney Joe Gordon said one of the cyclists had told him.

After the accident, this automobile turned around and came back, according to Sheriff Rose.

Awards will be presented at the end of the Fiesta by five of Pampa's prettiest girls. Prizes, all in merchandise, will be:

For the best Coronado beard, $22.50; best full beard, $15; unique beard $12.50. There will also be a $10 award for the contestant who has the longest hair.

That two Pampa girls will be disappointed about a camping trip planned by the Girl Scout council unless somebody comes to their aid. The council is short about $25 which would defray the expenses for the two girls to the camp. Funds have been raised to defray the trip for all but these two girls. If you wish to help the council and save the two girls from disappointment, call Mrs. Jack Goldston at Phone 9094-F11.

Leo Hart of Gilmer, grand master of the grand lodge of Texas, A. F. and A. M., will address Master Masons of the Panhandle in the First Baptist church tonight at 8 o'clock. Several other officers of the grand lodge will appear on the program.

At 6 o'clock tonight all Masons will be entertained with a barbecue. A large tent has been erected adjoining the church grounds and this morning John V. Andrews, Roy Sewell and a corps of assistants were preparing choice beef and all the trimmings.

The lodge will be called for labor by the grand master at 8 o'clock tonight. All Master Masons in good standing may attend.

Address topic has not been revealed by Mr. Hart who is recognized as one of the outstanding orators in the southwest.

Other grand lodge officers who will appear on the program will be Sam B. Cantey, Jr. of Fort Worth, deputy grand master; E. M. Wood of Anson, senior grand warden; Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, grand junior warden; George H. Belev of Waco, grand secretary; Tom Cook, grand master of the grand lodge of Oklahoma; and others.

Pampans Collect Bricks For WTSC

C. P. Buckler, Gray county director of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society, is preparing a "blitzkrieg" in the "brickreig" now being staged to secure bricks for an addition to the society's museum at Canyon. Already 128,000 bricks have been given.

Today Pampa school children are taking bricks to school and piling them ready for transportation to Canyon.

But children can't give enough bricks to make Pampa one of the leaders in the movement, so Mr. Buckler is cooking up medicine to give to the men and women of the city. He'll be ready to announce his plan within the next day or two.

Several Pampans have purchased "gold bricks" at 33 1/3 cents each while others have purchased lots of 500 and 1,000 ordinary bricks at $15 per thousand. The cost of the "gold bricks" is what is estimated the cost of placing one brick in the building.

Anyone desiring to purchase bricks may contact Mr. Buckler.

Pumphrey Explains Why Fiesta Parade Will Be Commercial

Response to the appeal that Pampa firms and clubs enter floats in the Coronado Top O' Texas Fiesta parade should be instantly forthcoming. Otis Pumphrey co-chairman of the annual celebration to be held June 13, 14, and 15, said today.

This is the first time the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Fiesta, have asked merchants to build floats. Heretofore, the expense has been borne by the Jaycees. This year they are asking that merchants and other business men do their part by entering floats, as the Jaycees have lost money each preceding year, on the deal.

War Flashes

LONDON, May 21 (AP)—Intense anti-aircraft fire off the southeast coast of England was heard twice this afternoon, mingled with the drone of airplane engines high overhead. Seacoast residents described the firing as so intense that "everything shook and trembled."

England, Not France, Aim Of Germans

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

WITH THE GERMAN WESTERN ARMIES, May 21 (AP)—The famous Eiffel Tower of Paris was clearly visible to the advance guards of Adolf Hitler's forward-dashing army this morning but it was by no means certain that he would endeavor to capture the French capital in a hurry.

He seemed more concerned with routing Belgian, French and English troops headed for the French coast of the English channel.

No less a man than General Walther von Reichenau, commander of the eighth army, was selected to perform this task.

Yet even Von Reichenau was not too busy to offer a welcome to American correspondents visiting the German western armies as Hitler's personal guests.

With Von Heichenau's army on the right wing apparently heading in the direction of the French and Belgian coastal points and with the left wing gradually moving southward, Hitler could afford to let the center take care of itself, as indicated in yesterday's high command communique.

Paris will fall into his lap, he feels, like a ripe apple from a tree if Von Reichenau can intercept the Allied forces heading for the coast. Besides, Hitler is not nearly as much interested in Paris as London.

One must not forget that Hitler regards the present war primarily as a fight with the British Empire. Months of incessant propaganda have inculcated this idea also in the minds of the German people.

Significantly, every radio announcement concerning events in the stereotyped playing of the song "We Are Sailing Against England." No tune is ever played indicating an anti-French theme.

Here, among army people, one constantly hears this phrase uttered with decided advance satisfaction: "Not since 1066 has England had an enemy on her shores. Hitler will continue, where the Normans left off."

This may be wishful thinking but there is no doubt that a spirit of supreme confidence pervades the army as it pours reserve after reserve into gaps opened in the French and Belgian defenses.

Credit Grantors To Meet Monday Night

Annual meeting and election of officers of the Pampa Credit Grantors' association will be held next Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Schneider hotel dining room. Instead of having a speaker as in the past, the crowd, moving picture entitled "Credit, the Life of Business," will be shown. W. V. Jarratt is president of the association.

The meeting will be open to every business and professional man and woman in Pampa whether or not they are members of the association or of the Pampa Credit association. Tickets may be secured by calling the office of the Pampa Credit association, telephone 710.

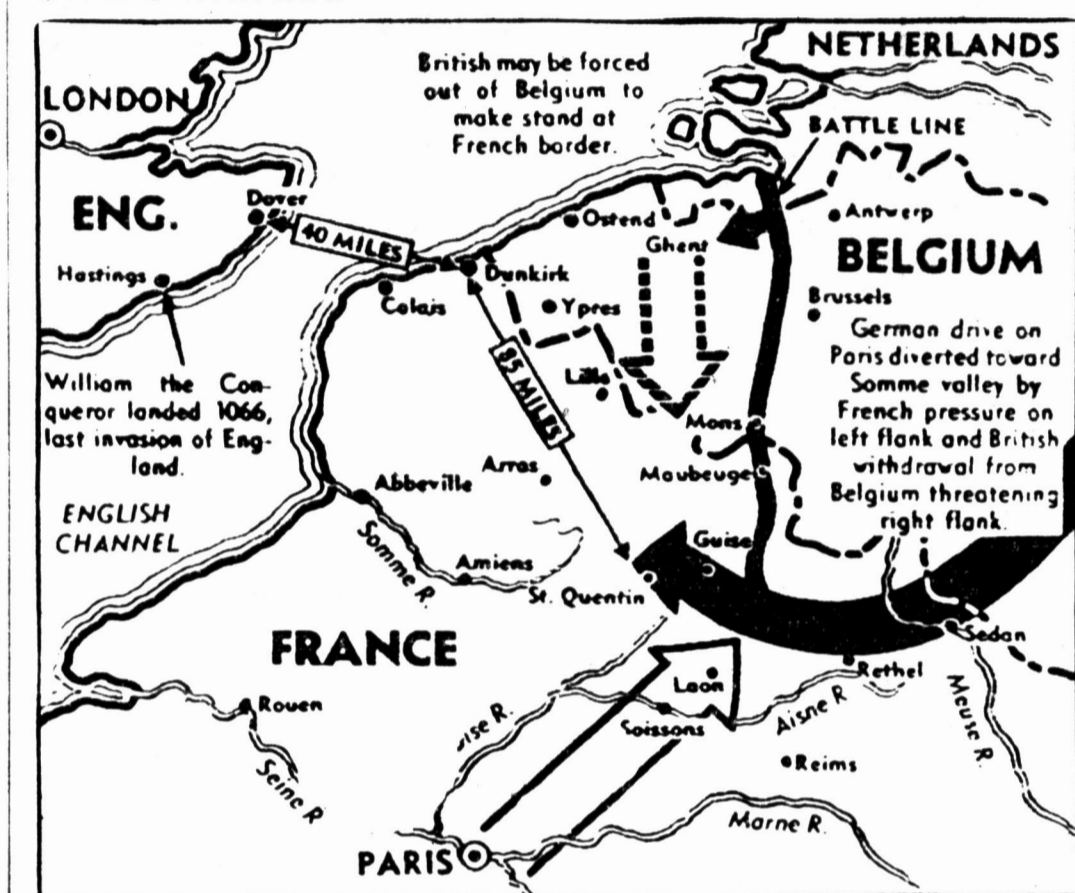

An invitation has been extended to officers of the Amarillo Credit association and to leading Berger merchants to attend the banquet and meeting.

The credit grantors association will hold its regular noon meeting. It was voted yesterday when plans for the annual meeting were discussed. The members also discussed delinquent accounts under letters P. Q. and R. On next Monday accounts S, T, U, and V will be taken up.

Connolly Favors Defense

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Senator Connolly (D-Tex.), member of the senate foreign relations committee, said last night in a radio speech (NBC) that America should build its defenses so strong that no other power would dare attack.

TODAY'S WAR MAP

The Telephoto War Map of Today shows the turning of the German blitzkrieg forces from their drive on Paris. The Nazi spearhead has been turned toward the northwest by strategic British moves and French pressure.

Safety Council Organized Here

The Pampa Safety Council definitely took form yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the city hall when President Don Conley named Jack Goldston head of a committee to select chairmen of the five major divisions into which the council will be divided. Mr. Goldston and his committee, with the chairman selected, will report at a meeting the night of May 29 in the city hall.

The five major activity groups will be industrial and engineering, public education, school education, enforcement, and home safety. Each of those groups will have several sub-chairmen who will select members of their committees. Each sub-chairman will make his report to the general chairman of his group who will in turn report to the steering committee composed of the officers of the association.

Duties of each sub-committee will be outlined to the general chairmen at the next meeting. President Conley said plans for each committee to follow will be set up.

Every organization and club in the city will be invited to participate in the program by assigning members to committees.

"Our aim is to make Pampans safety conscious by educating them," President Conley said. "We want to make Pampa a safe city in which to live, one where we won't be all the time worrying about children and relatives."

Entrada Cast Enthusiastic About Director

Hamilton Wrote And Directed Centennial Cavalcade Of Texas

"It was the most successful first rehearsal of the Entrada we have had," Walter Reger, promotional director for the U. S. Coronado Centennial commission, said after hundreds of people had signed up for roles at the high school gym last night.

Members of the cast were lavishly enthusiastic regarding the personal and attitude and training of Mark Hamilton, ace director sent to Pampa by Clinton P. Anderson of Albuquerque, managing director. The cast learned last night from Mr. Reger that Mr. Hamilton, a native Texan, wrote and directed the Cavalcade of Texas at the Dallas Centennial, that he is a graduate of North Texas State Teachers college with a bachelor of arts degree and a graduate of Stanford University with a master of arts degree. His major subject in college was speech arts.

Mr. Hamilton has taught in the "We accomplished more tonight in the first rehearsal than we did in

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The German claim of having smashed through the Allied front and reached the vicinity of the English channel at Abbeville means, if it is substantiated, that the Allies are in a precarious position. It doesn't mean, however, that the Allies have been crushed.

It is almost too to discuss this wholly confused situation as it now stands. We need much more information between you and me that it is speculation with sufficient details at hand for a considered opinion.

The Germans say they have crushed the French ninth army and captured the general staff of the commander, General Giraud.

It isn't wholly clear just where the ninth was holding at the moment of the crash, but it would seem that it had been blocking the route into the valley of the

Coronado To Be Named Tomorrow

Who will play the role of Francisco Vasquez de Coronado in the $100,000 Entrada which will have its Texas premiere in Pampa at the Top O' Texas Fiesta June 13, 14, and 15?

Nobody knows now, but tomorrow the casting committee will announce the Pampa Coronado, as well as other principal roles in the show.

One thing is almost certain—the Pampa Coronado will be a Pampa man. No outsiders will be invited to play the role. The man will be well known, he will have good standing in the community, and he will have prestige.

Director Mark Hamilton announced today that several principal roles were open, and he invites all interested men to apply for the roles. He can be contacted either at the Schneider hotel or at the gym each night.

COMPRESSED WASH CLOTHS

Tiny, compressed discs which expand into subtly-perfumed wash cloths when dipped in water are among new aids to help the traveler keep fresh and well-groomed. Tuck two or three in your handbag for use on the train and the rest of the package in your overnight case. They are nice, too, for the weekend hostess to keep on hand for guests who do not bring their own.

Moths Are Allergic To These
Absolute cleanliness is the first rule for moth prevention. All susceptible articles should be dry-cleaned or washed before putting away for the summer. Remember, too, that moths are allergic to sunshine, reliable moth sprays or rinses, moth crystals, newsprint. Many materials are now available already mothproofed. Also, it is possible to have mothproofing service done in your home by experts.

Poppy Chosen As Memorial Flower In 1920

How a simple little wild flower became a symbol of exalted sacrifice was described by Mrs. Al Lawson, American Legion auxiliary poppy chairman, at Legion headquarters today as auxiliary women continued their preparations for the observance of Poppy day, Saturday, May 25.

"The wild poppy of France and Flanders was the one touch of nature's beauty which survived amid the death and destruction of the battle front," said Mrs. Lawson. "It grew and bloomed around the trenches and shell holes. It sprang up on the fresh graves of the battle dead and became associated in the thoughts of the soldiers with the sacrifice of their fallen comrades."

"Colonel John McCrate of the Canadian forces, saw the brave little flowers and wrote: 'In Flanders fields the poppies blow, between the crosses row on row—' giving immortal expression to the idea."

"Poppies were first worn in America in tribute to the war dead on November 9, 1918, two days before the Armistice, when Miss Malva Michael, of Athens, Georgia, distributed poppies at the Y. M. C. A. headquarters in New York City. In June, 1919, they were sold on the streets of Milwaukee in connection with the homecoming of the Thirty-second Division. The American Legion adopted the poppy as its memorial flower at its national convention in Cleveland in 1920, and one of the first acts of the Auxiliary's first national convention in Kansas City in 1921 was to make the poppy the memorial flower of the auxiliary. The British Legion also uses the poppy as its memorial flower and distributes millions throughout the world."

"In addition to honoring the dead, the poppy brings more than $1,000,000 each year for the work of the Legion and auxiliary in behalf of the disabled veterans and the families of the dead and disabled."

GIVE A GARDEN

If a friend is an enthusiastic gardener, it might be a nice idea to wire her an attractive garden basket complete with the most essential tools, a selection of spring blossoms and some of her favorite potted plants, which she can transfer to her garden later. Also appropriate would be a gaily painted watering can filled with stock, snap dragon and iris.

Enforcement Of Laws Lax, Stockmen Say

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 21. (AP)—Rigorous enforcement of existing regulatory measures to control the transportation of livestock by truck, the operation of auction sales and inspecting of brands was indirectly recommended today by a special committee of the American National Livestock association as a means of combating cattle thefts.

Releasing this report after weeks of careful study, a three-man co-operating committee of the association recommended today by a special committee of the American National Livestock association as a means of combating cattle thefts.

"There are sufficient laws governing inspection and the movement of cattle," the report said, "but the evidence submitted indicates we are woefully lax in the enforcement of our live stock laws."

"The lack of cooperation in brand inspection and livestock trucks moving interstate is decidedly in evidence. The industry is confronted with the rapid development of auction sales and the transportation of livestock by trucks, both of which have materially complicated the regulation and control of livestock."

The coordinating group, headed by Howard Linger of Hooper, Colo., vice president of the Colorado Stock Growers association, made 15 recommendations to the full committee covering the regulation of livestock at markets, stock movements by truck, auction sales and the appointment and training of brand inspectors.

For the control of stock markets, it proposed that all brand inspection agencies be registered as a market agency under the provisions of the packers and stock yards act; that all states enact laws governing interstate movement of stock, and maintain joint or private inspectors at all public markets; that all states work for passage of uniform rules for the proper determination of ownership.

"It is apparent that not a single state has satisfactorily met the situation," the report said of the trucking problem. As a result it proposed establishment of inspection points where the trucks would be required to unload their cargo for inspection; that state highway patrols check closer on trucks not having proper clearance; that a bill of sale from the recorded owner of the brand and inspection certificate be required, except where the owner of the recorded brand is moving stock in his own truck or accompanies a shipment in a commercial truck, in which event he must have proper inspection certificate; and that highway patrolmen and state officers be supplied with official state brand books and copies of livestock laws.

Auction sales are increasing "at an alarming rate," the report said. In addition the coordinating committee, which represents the larger group of members from Wyoming, Montana, Nebraska, South Dakota, Nevada, Colorado, Idaho, Utah, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Washington, Oregon, Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas, also recommended:

The appointment of brand inspectors from lists submitted by state livestock associations; the provision for proper training of brand inspectors; the adoption by all states of a uniform system of compiling recorded brands; and a requirement that brands be recorded not oftener than once in five or ten years.

Program Series Concluded By Panhandle P-TA

PANHANDLE, May 21.—Mrs. T. V. Reeves of the public service bureau of W. T. S. C. at Canyon, was a guest speaker at the final meeting of the Parent-Teacher association in the high school auditorium recently.

As a climax to the series of programs on "Jack and Jill," Mrs. Reeves discussed "The House that Jack Built," centering her theme around training for courtship and marriage. Mrs. Reeves listed the following factors to be considered in a successful marriage: health, heredity, home, education and culture, industry, social attitudes, emotional stability, kindred temperament and love and admiration for the prospective mate.

Mrs. Reeves said, "However good teaching and training for home life may be in the high schools and colleges, it can not be the ideal way of getting information. The basis for such training is the home," continued Mrs. Reeves. "According to statistics in juvenile delinquency in courts and schools, the problem boys and girls come from broken homes."

"The best bets for a successful marriage," said Mrs. Reeves, "are boys and girls from happy homes." There is no structure more imposing than a successful marriage; the link for stability in family life in enlightenment of parents, who want successful marriages for their children," concluded Mrs. Reeves.

Following the address by Mrs. Reeves, Mrs. Curtis Douglass was installed as president by Mrs. Charles Franklin, retiring president. Other officers installed were Mrs. O. C. U. S. Correspondents Arrive In London

LONDON, May 21. (AP)—American correspondents who had been with the British army in Belgium returned today to London. Among them were Drew Middleton of the Associated Press and Arthur Mann of Mutual Broadcasting system.

Messages reaching New York said it was believed that all correspondents with the British troops on the continent had been ordered back.

This was interpreted as an indication that the situation of the British army of 300,000 men in Belgium had become extremely precarious as a result of the German army's great mechanized thrust toward the English channel.

If that drive reaches the coast, said Berlin dispatches, the British army will be cut off from its French allies and penned between greatly superior numbers of Germans and the coast.

South Doesn't Have Equality, Editors Told

MINERAL WELLS, May 21. (AP)—The South, denied equality of economic opportunity with the rest of the nation, must shift its way of living as a producer of raw materials to a more highly industrialized section, David E. Lillenthal, director of the Tennessee Valley authority, said today.

In an exhaustive study he presented before the Southern Newspaper Publishers association, meeting here, he urged the necessity of removing the "discriminatory structures of freight rates," and pointed to the inadequacy of "industrial research" as a stumbling block to southern prosperity.

In his prepared speech Lillenthal said: "No region of the United States has a right to special privileges or immunities; the nation may not in equity deny any region and its people less than equality of opportunity."

"The people of the South and the institutions of the South have not enjoyed and do not today enjoy the blessings of equality of opportunity. This denial of equal opportunity for southern economic development is the most significant single fact in contemporary American life."

"The fundamental readjustment we in the South must accomplish is to change our way of making a living from an almost complete reliance on production of raw materials... if we can process and finish a greater proportion of those raw materials and receive the greater compensation which those manufactured articles will bring to us, then our income will rise to a more satisfactory level."

"The value of products manufactured in the South is only 14 per cent of the total national value of production," he said.

Illustrating the "opportunity for industrial expansion in the South, although in 1937 the Southeast produced 25 per cent of the wood pulp in the United States," Lillenthal asserted, "it furnished only 10 per cent of the paper."

Cites Newspaper Plant. Lillenthal added that "new industry comes out of the laboratory. The deficiency in industrial research is not a result of law, but of the force of economic circumstances; it can be removed by public and private effort."

When adequate research is done in the South, resulting for example in the manufacture of newspaper at Lufkin, Texas, it is so unusual as to attract national attention... This is an example of how research has laid the foundation for a new Southern industry... A significant feature is that virtually all the leaders of the commercialization of this research development, beginning with Dr. (Charles) Herty of Savannah, Ga., have been Southerners.

Manufacture of cigaret paper from flax in North Carolina was another example of research in industry, Lillenthal mentioned.

He added that "private industrial research must be supplemented on an extensive scale by public research."

"TVA's program has been based on this conviction," he said. An example of TVA's cooperation with business and educational groups in research that is "beginning to bear fruit," he said, was the case of farmers around Cleveland, Tenn., who had strawberries for marketing.

Strawberries Frozen. By freezing the berries in a type machine, designed by TVA industrial engineers, the berries were preserved for consumption months later.

Turning to freight rates, Lillenthal asserted "even if the handicap of inadequate industrial research should be overcome or mitigated, the South's road to balanced development is blocked by a second major obstruction. That barrier is a system of freight rates which deprive the South and other interior regions of an opportunity to develop their na-

South Doesn't Have Equality, Editors Told

MINERAL WELLS, May 21. (AP)—The South, denied equality of economic opportunity with the rest of the nation, must shift its way of living as a producer of raw materials to a more highly industrialized section, David E. Lillenthal, director of the Tennessee Valley authority, said today.

In an exhaustive study he presented before the Southern Newspaper Publishers association, meeting here, he urged the necessity of removing the "discriminatory structures of freight rates," and pointed to the inadequacy of "industrial research" as a stumbling block to southern prosperity.

In his prepared speech Lillenthal said: "No region of the United States has a right to special privileges or immunities; the nation may not in equity deny any region and its people less than equality of opportunity."

"The people of the South and the institutions of the South have not enjoyed and do not today enjoy the blessings of equality of opportunity. This denial of equal opportunity for southern economic development is the most significant single fact in contemporary American life."

"The fundamental readjustment we in the South must accomplish is to change our way of making a living from an almost complete reliance on production of raw materials... if we can process and finish a greater proportion of those raw materials and receive the greater compensation which those manufactured articles will bring to us, then our income will rise to a more satisfactory level."

"The value of products manufactured in the South is only 14 per cent of the total national value of production," he said.

Illustrating the "opportunity for industrial expansion in the South, although in 1937 the Southeast produced 25 per cent of the wood pulp in the United States," Lillenthal asserted, "it furnished only 10 per cent of the paper."

Cites Newspaper Plant. Lillenthal added that "new industry comes out of the laboratory. The deficiency in industrial research is not a result of law, but of the force of economic circumstances; it can be removed by public and private effort."

When adequate research is done in the South, resulting for example in the manufacture of newspaper at Lufkin, Texas, it is so unusual as to attract national attention... This is an example of how research has laid the foundation for a new Southern industry... A significant feature is that virtually all the leaders of the commercialization of this research development, beginning with Dr. (Charles) Herty of Savannah, Ga., have been Southerners.

Manufacture of cigaret paper from flax in North Carolina was another example of research in industry, Lillenthal mentioned.

He added that "private industrial research must be supplemented on an extensive scale by public research."

"TVA's program has been based on this conviction," he said. An example of TVA's cooperation with business and educational groups in research that is "beginning to bear fruit," he said, was the case of farmers around Cleveland, Tenn., who had strawberries for marketing.

Strawberries Frozen. By freezing the berries in a type machine, designed by TVA industrial engineers, the berries were preserved for consumption months later.

Only One Course of Action

No poll of public opinion is required to determine how the man on the street feels about United States remaining for defense.

Probably never in the nation's history has there been such an abrupt about-face in public opinion in the space of a week.

The man at the next desk, the fellow worker, the woman who discuss the affairs of the world at the afternoon card club, your next door neighbor, the shoeing salesman—check them all in Pampa, or elsewhere and you will get largely the same reaction.

There is unanimous agreement on the need for the strongest possible national defense.

This tremendous American groundswell is recognized by both President Roosevelt, who is making immediate use of it, and by Congress, which up to this time had been acting with all the firm resolution of a jellyfish.

Altho the United States is at peace, this is almost as great an emergency as if the war were within our borders.

A news story says that the vibrations of big guns firing in Belgium are rattling windows on the still peaceful British coast across the English Channel.

There is something ominous in that little item, for America as well as for the English channel coast.

Although there seems to be little if any danger of invasion by a foreign power, the 3,000 miles of Atlantic ocean east of the United States is no longer the protective barrier that it was once considered.

The "good earth" of Europe trembles with the shock of high explosive bombs, and the vibrations carry to the United States as certain signs of a world-wide upheaval—the outcome of which we can only guess.

There is no longer room for indifference. You can't shrug off an earthquake or a hurricane. But you can build buildings so strong as to minimize most of the damage.

The Allies' cause is not hopeless. The Allies MAY stop the Nazi blitzkrieg. They MAY starve the Germans into submission. They MAY take care of Italy in short order, if and when Mussolini decides to enter the war. They MAY hold off the Russian menace after defeating Germany. Japan MAY decide it has had enough war in China and doesn't want any more.

But whoever takes consolation in such a viewpoint is guilty of wishful thinking. There should be clear-thinking, without hysterical blundering, and the proper course of action—the ONLY course of action—for a nation as rich and defenseless as the United States, is to get together with the other Americas and to mend our defenses at once.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, May 21—Chief result of the $250,000,000 which the navy is to get from the President's emergency preparedness budget will be a vast speeding up of all new construction.

Plans now being shaped in the office of Admiral Harold Stark, chief of naval operations, call for putting all naval construction on a straight 24-hour basis.

This, it is hoped, will cut almost in half the time required to build the eight dreadnaughts now on the books, with smaller speed-ups in all other vessels under construction.

Building under the present one-shift system, it takes a little more than four years to finish a battleship. Switching over to a 24-hour day won't cut that time to one-third. Some of the precise technical processes can't be hurried, no matter what is done. But a big bite can be taken out of the ordinary schedule.

Getting over to the 24-hour day is apt to mean a fight in Congress first. At present the Walsh-Healey act provides no worker employed in the building of a warship may be employed more than a total of 40 hours in one week. Navy people say there simply aren't available enough skilled workers to furnish all the private and public yards with three complete daily shifts of workers, and a temporary suspension of the law to allow overtime work is being asked. The A. F. of L. and C. I. O. oppose it, denying that the shortage of workers exists, and their spokesmen in both houses are preparing to go into action.

There'll be further fireworks over the navy's wish that the 10 per cent profit limitation now applied to all navy construction contracts be lifted. The navy feels this has caused a good deal of the current construction delay; manufacturers are said to be reluctant to expand their plants for navy orders because in many cases the expanded plant won't be of use for anything except naval production and because they are not allowed to figure the cost of making the expansion into their profit.

NAVY REPLACING OLD EQUIPMENT Next to the speed-up of construction, the navy has two other important goals to reach with its $250,000,000 windfall: replacement or modernization of all old equipment—anti-aircraft guns, small arms, etc.—and the increasing of production facilities of the navy wherever needed. It holds the speed-up most important of all, however.

Battleships now under construction, with the dates when they were laid down, are as follows: North Carolina, Oct. 27, 1937; Washington, June 14, 1938; South Dakota, July 5, 1939; Indiana, Nov. 20, 1939; Massachusetts, July 20, 1939; Alabama, Feb. 1, 1940. In addition, contracts have been let for construction of the Iowa and New Jersey.

DIRIGIBLES MAY MAXIMIZE IN PICTURE Meanwhile, it is quite possible that renewed experiments with big dirigibles are in the offing. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, famous ex-skipper of the navy's previous dirigibles, is coming to Washington—not, as originally reported, as a mere naval aide to Secretary of the Navy Edison, but as Edison's special adviser.

Existing legislation authorizes the navy to build a dirigible of 3,000,000 cubic feet capacity, which would be a ship somewhat larger than the Los Angeles, No.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

POWER, POWER, POWER By R. C. Hollies

This is the power age. And if reports that seem to be authentic are to be believed, we are just really beginning to enter into the power age.

Recently articles have appeared in the metropolitan papers about a new substance, known as U-235, to the scientists, that has been discovered in large quantities. In regard to this substance, Columnist Boake Carter, had the following to say:

The revelation of the discovery of a natural substance found in abundance in many parts of the earth which produces power in such fantastic quantities by a simple process, serves only to offer proof to what has been written many times in stumbling lay language in this column.

After years of scientific research at Columbia University, at the University of Minnesota—in Germany, too—a substance, known only to date as U-235, and separated from uranium by the atom-smashing cyclotron at Columbia, has been shown to produce energy in such staggering quantities that one pound of it is equal in power output to 5,000,000 pounds of coal, or 3,000,000 pounds of gasoline.

A chunk of five to ten pounds of U-235, the scientists have reported, will drive an ocean-going liner, a submarine, a battleship for YEARS WITHOUT REFUELING. By the astounding simple process of pouring cold water—the colder the better—on this substance, energy becomes reproducing. It is the nearest thing to perpetual motion yet found. The colder the water, the more the atoms in this strange substance bombard each other, producing energy.

Perhaps two or three pounds in an automobile, fed by water, may drive that car for years. The activity of the atoms crashing against each other makes steam. And by the simple process of cutting off the flow of water, so is the source of energy, or power, stopped.

And yet our planners, who would regulate the lives of men, would take away from private citizens their right to extract oil from the ground without the consent of some government bureau, on the theory that they are wise enough to foresee the need for conservation.

The above article makes one realize that truth often is stranger than fiction. Especially is this true to those people who have been reading the Nebb Comic Strip, in which he imagined, an inventor had a powder pill which Nebb used to travel around the world in the air and only required new supplies of water in order to make the trip.

THE FIFTH COLUMN

This is a new expression that people will undoubtedly hear a great deal in the future. The origin of the term, the fifth column, is explained by the Chicago Tribune by saying that "When the Spanish government forces were besieged in Madrid Franco's attack moved in four columns. Inside the city enemies of the government conducted a warfare of sabotage, and this foe within became known as the fifth column. There were four outside and one within. The phrase had aptness and eloquence and has passed into general use to describe the secret enemy inside the walls planted there to take advantage of a national peril and to work with the enemy."

Of course, what the fifth column would be working to destroy would depend upon the kind of a government that planted the fifth column and the kind of a government in which the fifth column was planted.

Undoubtedly, if our forefathers who wrote the Constitution of the United States would see the laws passed that have violated the fundamental principles of equality of rights and equality of freedom to create and enjoy, they would be of the opinion that we had a large fifth column in the legislative halls of our Federal and State government. The members of this fifth column have made laws that make it extremely difficult for people to get the fruits of their labor. They have made laws that have frozen people in their positions without rendering the service to society that other people were willing and able to render. They have, in short, established laws that tend to make the Caste system in our society, rather than the equality of rights to try to create and enjoy, as the forefathers intended.

Danger Is Within We certainly need to be aware of the fifth column in the United States. If this country goes to pieces, and we lose more and more of our freedom, it will be because of the fifth column, not only in the government, but in the schools, in the churches, in the newspapers, in business houses and among labor leaders, who are attempting to determine our public policies by what will temporarily benefit them and are disregarding the fundamental objectives of the framers of the Constitution.

The Nation's Press

THE NLRB CONSIDERED AS AN ADJUNCT OF THE UNIONS (Baltimore Sun)

In his testimony before the house committee investigating the Labor Relations board, Mr. Heber Blankenhorn revealed himself as a man of acute mentality and great sincerity. But his discussion of the work and methods of administering the labor relations act also afforded a rather startling illustration of the way in which employees of the NLRB have been affected by partisanship and bias.

Mr. Blankenhorn shows very clearly that he did not conceive of the Labor Relations board as an agency for dealing with the facts of any given situation as those facts might develop in the ordinary course of events. Rather, conceived of it as an agency dedicated to the promotion of a given cause. He did not want the board to go in and find the truth about any particular labor dispute and act accordingly. On the contrary, he advised members of the board that "we can make hearings conspicuously adjunctive to unionization drives, to strike preparedness, etc." That is to say, an agency charged with responsibility for passing on labor disputes with equal judicial impartiality should conduct its hearings so as to whip up sentiment in favor of one of the parties.

This conception of the board as a sort of adjunct of the labor unions seems to have been more or less general among board members and board employees. It is the sort of thing which has vitiated the administration of the Wagner act and has created the public demand for amendments designed to promote a more judicial interpretation of the law.

money has been voted for this; however, if the President gets authority to spend $200,000,000 in emergency funds at his own discretion, he could order that construction at any moment if Secretary Edison should ask for it.

NIGHTMARE

Around Hollywood

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—"You'd think we were a couple of interlopers from Hollywood trying to taunt the critics into a fury."

It was a black Friday indeed for Laurence Olivier. About him were scattered the New York daily newspapers. They carried sour reviews of his play, "Romeo and Juliet," which had opened on Broadway the night before. The front pages were flaming with headlines—Britain threatened—France invaded.

Mr. Olivier is an Englishman. He is engaged to marry Miss Vivien Leigh, the erstwhile Atlanta Jezebel of "Gone With the Wind." Miss Leigh had opened in the play with him in the role of Juliet. The critics had hoped on this production, some of them savagely. "They should have called it 'Laurence and Vivien' instead of 'Romeo and Juliet,'" one critic wrote.

All this left Mr. Olivier slightly stunned. "Did any actor ever get worse reviews, I wonder?"

He was assured many actors had drawn worse reviews—Raymond Massey's attempt at Hamlet, for instance.

In a way, this was a disappointment to a great number of people who aren't even connected with the theater. Miss Leigh made such a hit in "Wind" and when her engagement to Olivier was announced, the "Romeo and Juliet" idea seemed a sort of lovers' dream come true.

But the reviewers, almost without exception, condemned the production. One critic suggested the only reason they decided to play Shakespeare's tragedy of the star-struck lovers was because they were in love themselves and were trying to cash in on the public's well-known sympathy for people who are in love.

Since it was Mr. Olivier who produced the play and directed, most of the brickbats were heaved into his dressing room. They accused him of mumbling his lines, of being indistinct, and of prancing around the stage in a sort of daze. They said Miss Leigh was lovely but that she was in no sense the smouldering maid of 14th century Italy that Juliet was supposed to be. Juliet was 14, and there is an old sacred cow of critical opinion that says no actress can play the role until she is forty.

Miss Leigh is a long way from 40, but she was an old hand at Shakespeare long before she ever delivered a stinging slap across Rhett Butler's cheek. So was Olivier. With his fine clippings for his work at Heathcliff in "Wuthering Heights," and her Academy award for her portrayal of Scarlett O'Hara, these latest press comments must be difficult to reconcile.

But there they are. In cold print. Meanwhile, with their ears trained on the radio, and their eyes on the box office, life in New York can be very hectic for two subjects of the British empire, whether their love is star-crossed or not.

People You Know

For a long time Johnny Campbell had been telling us about Sandspur lake near McLean. When we went to Lake Marvin Johnny said I ought to see Sandspur lake. He kept on saying that when we went to Lake McClellan and Buffalo lake.

Finally last week, we picked up Johnny and Bobby Myers and Billy Joe Kuehl and went to Johnny's lake, and it was just exactly like he said, except prettier and more soul-satisfying. As Johnny says, "It's the biggest unadvertised lake in the Panhandle," and it is. It's about the size of Lake Marvin but it has trees, cottonwoods and willows, all around it. The lake is owned by 30 men who have shares in it. A number of them also have cabins on the lake.

There was not much at the lake when Charlie leased it and began planting trees seven years ago. Then the 30 men banded together and bought the lake. It is fed by a spring, and the fishing is pretty good most of the time. The swimming is finest, and the boating is next. . . . Because it is a private lake, Charlie keeps a sharp eye on all comers, and strangers are promptly booted out. The only way we got in was through Johnny. . . . Well, he was right, all right.

Pretty little Indian maids in the Entrada will be Lou Wilkins and Betty and Doris Archer—they were the first girls to be Signed up. Betty Jane Sperry who had a trained dog in the dog show will be a Mexican senorita, her black eyes, olive skin and dark hair qualified her for the role. . . .

LOVE, COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE

By ERNEST R. AND GLADYS H. GROVES

ENGAGEMENT GIVES COUPLE A FORETASTE OF MARRIED LIFE What is the purpose of the engagement? By publicly announcing their decision to become husband and wife, the couple remove themselves from the turmoil of courtship, with its uncertainties and and secrecy.

They can now go on more calmly, sure of themselves and of each other, to take the next step toward marriage. So long as they were not committed to each other, the possibility of a break-up hovered on the horizon. Some new person might come along who would carry off the loved one. In spite of solemn vows, privately said, one knew that many others had believed themselves betrothed, only to find that what is not made public may never see the light of day.

Both get a foretaste, now that the engagement has been announced, of the reactions of friends and relatives to their union. Opposition may be so strong that either one may want to break the engagement. Or the same amount of opposition may only drive the two closer together. They may have expected trouble, and be surprised to find none; and this very lack of opposition may take some of the zest out of their alliance, for one or both.

Being accepted lovers, they find it easier to arrange to be together, not bothered by other people. Privacy is often theirs, and they have a chance to get to know each other well.

Many things they want to find out, as to their marriage expectations, their own and each other's marriageable qualities. In this they will fare better, and learn more, if they do not let their mounting dependence on physical nearness cloud their judgment. They need to know that each responds to the other, emotionally and physically. They also need to keep their heads clear, that they may still give each other a final sizing up before taking the next step into marriage.

COL Charles A. Lindbergh talked a lot of horse-sense Sunday night when he went on the radio and expressed the hope that America would not fall victim to a few special interests who are straining a G-string to get this country messed up in the European war. . . . Colonel Lindbergh hopes, too, that Americans will not become hysterical over the so-called dangers of invasion by a foreign enemy.

As the noted American aviator said, it's not going to be a push-over job for any foreign power to invade the United States. . . . If you stop to analyze it, hysteria will leave and you can reach a very sensible conclusion as to why we are in very little danger of being bombed from the air or of being set upon by parachute troops. . . . Adequate defense is necessary but, as the colonel says, all the Americans must get together if sound defense policy is to be established.

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—A personal telephone call from President Roosevelt to Alf M. Landon cleared up today uncertainty over the Republican leader's invitation to the White House and made it definite that he and Mr. Roosevelt would meet at luncheon tomorrow.

Although the White House gave out details of a misunderstanding through which Landon was informed the conference scheduled for tomorrow had been cancelled, there still was no official word on the purpose of the meeting between the President and his Republican opponent of the 1936 campaign.

Generally it was believed the meeting was designed to swing further bipartisan support for the administration's defense program for foreign policy.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

ON THE IMAGINARY GOLD PROBLEM By WALTER E. SPAHR Professor of Economics, New York University

Secretary Morgenthau and Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer, on May 3 and 4, respectively, made addresses, dealing with the gold standard, which should read.

Both speakers provide the American people, who are agitated about the "gold problem," with some simple facts that should do much to clear up the fog of the foolish talk and writing that has constituted a daily paper to do so many more than people reading by candle-light do so because they prefer candor to electricity.

"Gold does not lose its value because some countries are forced to resort to clearing arrangements, barriers, import controls, and other substitutes. All these substitutes are admittedly worse alternatives. They are methods of conducting trade and finance which will only be adopted when a country does not possess adequate gold holdings. . . . All countries would like to have more gold, and the countries which have the least are, you will find, countries which are striving most to add to their gold holdings. . . . That gold will continue to be used as the medium of international payments as I am that the majority of nations will consent in maintaining their independence. With the return of peace and of normal economic and political relationships, the present barriers to the free flow of goods, capital, and services will be gradually lowered, and gold will inevitably play its indispensable role in making that result possible."

Dr. Kemmerer points out in effect that the so-called gold problem is non-existent and that "the frequently heard claim that our gold reserve is useless because it is buried in the ground at Fort Knox, Kentucky, is economic nonsense." He, like Secretary Morgenthau, recommends that we do not embark upon any program of changing the price of gold in an effort to stop the inflow; and again like the Secretary, he points out that the problems are those of the war, not those of gold.

As to the proposal that we stop the inflow of gold, the Secretary says, and says correctly: "The constant acceptance of the gold that comes here is the only sound course of action open to us. . . ."

He points out the unsoundness of the suggestions that we decline to buy gold from certain nations, and that we cut the price of gold, and remarks "that in the effort to remedy fancied evils (these suggestions) would bring on real disaster."

He also correctly says that the only sound way in which we can work to reduce the inflow of gold "is to do everything in our power to contribute to the return of peace to the world and to encourage reconstruction and the restoration of normal trade. With the restoration of enduring peace and economic stability abroad the gold problem will solve itself."

As to the current groundless assertions that we may get all the gold that the use of gold may then be abandoned, and that we may be left holding the bag, the Secretary says: "Let me reassure you once and for all. As long as there are independent nations, and as long as

STAMP NEWS

UNITED STATES POSTAGE

THE death of Victor Herbert in 1924 closed a musical era in America. Movies and radio have forced the decline of the stage and light opera which his genius raised to greatest heights. He gave the people songs to sing, melodies to remember.

The great Irish-American composer is honored on the 3-cent U. S. stamp, above, released May 13 at New York, third of the composers groups of the Famous Americans series.

Born in Dublin, educated in America, Herbert came to United States a bridegroom, because his wife would not sign a contract with the Metropolitan unless he was given a job. He soon eclipsed her fame. From a star cellist he rose to star composer. Most of his 50 light operas were instantaneous hits.

He was ambitious, hard-working but never attained great wealth. He loved to eat, kept a well-filled basket handy. He rehearsed his orchestra clad only in his underwear.

FDR And Landon To Eat Luncheon Together Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—A personal telephone call from President Roosevelt to Alf M. Landon cleared up today uncertainty over the Republican leader's invitation to the White House and made it definite that he and Mr. Roosevelt would meet at luncheon tomorrow.

Although the White House gave out details of a misunderstanding through which Landon was informed the conference scheduled for tomorrow had been cancelled, there still was no official word on the purpose of the meeting between the President and his Republican opponent of the 1936 campaign.

Generally it was believed the meeting was designed to swing further bipartisan support for the administration's defense program for foreign policy.

insofar as it lies within our power, provided only that our safety is not thereby imperiled.

crushed in "the biggest attacking operation of all time."

By contrast, a British spokesman described the battle on the Western Front as "more confused than ever, with everybody behind everybody else's lines."

General Reported Captured The Nazi high command reported that "General Giraud, hitherto commander of the Seventh French army, who assumed command over the Ninth army, had been captured with his general staff."

Presumably, the high command referred to Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, recently identified as commanding "groups of armies" in the "Battle of the Bulge" in northern France.

The German communique said Hitler's armies were "crowding toward the channel coast all the French and Belgian armies still to be found north of the Somme."

Earlier German estimates said 1,000,000 French and 250,000 Belgians were fighting in this area with some 300,000 British soldiers to the north of these.

German divisions flow into the breach forced by the German thrust, the Berlin communique said. "German armored cars and motorized troops at their head took Arras, Amiens and Abbeville."

The Nazi advance from St. Quentin, which they captured Sunday, ranged westward 63 miles to Abbeville and northwest to Arras, 38 miles from St. Quentin.

"Enemy attempts to force a way out southward from the Valenciennes region foundered."

"On the southern wing of our attack, German troops took Leon and stormed over the Chemin des Dames as far as the Aisne-Oise canal. The city of Reims was taken."

Forty-seven Allied planes were destroyed, according to the Berlin report, against 15 German planes missing.

The French admitted abandonment of Leon, six miles north of the canal. The Germans had announced almost 36 hours earlier that their battleflats were flying over the city.

The Germans declared that troops were working all the time!

Backing Pledged American Industry In Defense Plans

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 21—The government pledged full credit backing today to American industry enlisting in the national defense drive, while administration leaders tackled the job of financing the huge preparedness program.

Congress forged ahead with legislation that would give the industrial machine the "go-ahead" to turn dollars into tanks, warplanes and fighting ships.

The senate called up for debate the unprecedented peace-time army bill of $1,820,841,000. In the house, committees were hard at work on both army and navy expansion.

Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, assured businessmen that the RFC's extensive resources were virtually at the command of industries which required capital for production expansion necessary to handle defense orders.

Simultaneously there were signs the unprecedented peace-time army bill of $1,820,841,000. In the house, committees were hard at work on both army and navy expansion.

The alternative of new taxes at the present session was largely discounted because of the desire for adjournment in advance of the national political conventions.

Big Spring Beats Pampa 10-Inning Game

Second Till To Be Played Here Tonight

Tony Rego's Big Spring Barons outlasted the Pampa Oilers in a 10-inning struggle last night 8 to 7. The same two teams will clash again tonight at 8:15 o'clock at Road Runner park, in the last game of their current series. On Wednesday and Thursday the Oilers will be in Amarillo and on Friday and Saturday the Gold Sox will be back here with the Oilers.

It was a tough game Ben Parrish lost last night. Although he got himself in plenty of trouble by his wildness, it was errors that cost him the game. Of course Ramsdell, Barons' relief pitcher, had a lot to do with the Oiler loss when he fanned six batters in the last three innings with as pretty an exhibition of curve-ball pitching as has ever been witnessed in Road Runner park.

Big Dutch Prather got his optics on the ball for three singles on four trips to the plate. Phil Potter, who has been in a slump, contributed a home run over the left field fence. Seitz, Daniels, and Stephens each contributed a single and double as the Oilers bagged 14 hits off three Barons pitchers. Jones started but was blasted off the hill in the fourth. Schultz relieved but after he had walked the first three men up he was benched in favor of Ramsdell, who had won a 2 to 1 game in Berger Sunday afternoon.

Two Double Plays
Parrish limited the Barons to 10 hits and fanned seven. He walked four, however, and three of his walks proved costly as the runners scored. Two errors by Manager Seitz cost runs in the third and seventh.

The Oilers came out like a whirlwind but the flurry died suddenly when two double plays nipped the drives. Akers opened the game by walking and Malvia singled. Seitz walked, filling the bases. Then Prather blasted one to the pitcher but he got in front of it and threw home to get Akers. Catcher Mura-tore whipped the ball to Garbe at first to get Prather. In the meantime, Sam Malvia was doing some nice base running for the Oilers when he came all the way home from second on the double play.

The second inning opened with the plays reversed. Potter, first batter, walked and Daniels singled. Jordan hit into a double play.

Barons Big Team
Big Spring went on a scoring spree in the third when five runs crossed the plate on four singles, two walks and an error.

The Seitzmen still had something and their scored four runs in the fourth on four hits, one a home run by Potter, and three walks by Schultz who relieved Jones. In the sixth the Oilers bagged three singles but only one scored. Ramsdell had things his own way the last three innings when he fanned Seitz, Summers and Potter in the eighth, Daniels and Parrish in the ninth, and Seitz again in the tenth.

Stephens pitched Big Spring tonight will probably be Rice, left-hander. Big Spring, like last year, has four lefthanded hitters.

The Barons have a big team this year. The infield is one of the smoothest that has appeared here this year, especially Wolin at shortstop and Cox at third, both of whom made almost impossible plays. Bill Garbe, former Oiler, looked like a big leaguer on first base.

Jenkins Was Belted A Bit, But Kept Punching To Win The Title

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK, May 21—Lew Jenkins, the new lightweight leader, kept punching... richly deserves what he gets.

The Sweet Swatter of Sweetwater came up the hard way... took all the chances... pleased the patrons as he went along.

Jenkins, the thin ex-cavalryman with the bushy hair, high cheek bones and deathly serious expression, was a pugilistic nobody in Texas. He toured the country as a preliminary performer in a broken-down automobile. He tried Chicago before moving on to New York...

Jenkins arrived in New York only a year ago in his old jockey, bringing his 98-pound wife, Katie and one of the worst boxing records imaginable.

When he was first introduced at the Queensboro Arena in Long Island City, Maurice Waxman, who has press agent for the joint, recalls taking Jenkins at the gym and saying to himself, "I'll not have to write much about this gink. If he's a fighter I'm Jack Dempsey."

Two weeks later Jenkins made his bow in the east against Quentin Baby Face Joey Fontana with a sharp left hook in round one, and while Fontana managed to stagger through the battle, he was out for an hour in his dressing room.

Jenkins easily beat Breeze in a second edition... became quite an attraction at the New York Coliseum, in the Bronx, where Jimmy Bronson, who seconded Gene Tunney, is the promoter.

His smashing victory over Lou Ambers was Jenkins' tenth straight in New York... his eighth knock-out.

The National League Scores

BEES TROUNCE REDS
BOSTON, May 21 (AP)—The Boston Bees trounced Cincinnati yesterday, 13 to 4, driving four pitchers from the box. Honers by Al Lopez and Ramon Rowell accounted for two of the Bees' 13 hits.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21 (AP)—After trailing all the way, the Phillies put up a seven-run rally in the eighth to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8 to 7. The Pirates won their eighth, Chuck Klein honored for the Phillies in the seventh for hitting three home runs.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21 (AP)—The Indians turned loose the southpaw jinx on the New York Yankees again yesterday in the person of Al Smith and scored their second straight triumph over the world champions 1 to 2. Smith out of the Yanks on one hit until fourth when he drove two more. Jeff Heath made two homers to lead a 17-hit triumph for the American League cellar.

CLEVELAND, May 21 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs outlasted the Dodgers again yesterday to take a 6 to 4 decision with a 15-hit attack for Brooklyn pitchers. The Cubs used three hurlers themselves, although all Brooklyn's runs were bounced in the inning when Babe Pichas hit a three-run homer off Bill Lee.

BROOKLYN, May 21 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs outlasted the Dodgers again yesterday to take a 6 to 4 decision with a 15-hit attack for Brooklyn pitchers. The Cubs used three hurlers themselves, although all Brooklyn's runs were bounced in the inning when Babe Pichas hit a three-run homer off Bill Lee.

ST. LOUIS, May 21 (AP)—Chubby Dean won his fourth game of the season as St. Louis Cardinals defeated the St. Louis Browns yesterday, 4 to 0. Home runs for the Browns were by Wally Moore, Bob Johnson and Frank Hayes, the latter clouting two.

Slow Motion Golfers Lead Women's Southern Tourney

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
FORT WORTH, May 21 (AP)—Two of women golf's most deliberate figures, both of whom used slow-poke games to win the national title, moved into match play of the women's southern golf association tournament today riding the upper and lower brackets.

Slow motion perfection put Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., and Miss Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., in the drivers' seats.

Only a season ago when Betty, a likeable 20-year-old huskie with power and finesse, won the national title, she drew mixed praise and criticism for her solid game—but nerve-racking deliberation.

Yesterday she went out in the qualifying round of the southern, the laziness back in her game that critics once attacked. She split the fairways, sent iron shots streaming to the greens and putted flawlessly. She was around in 76—over women's par on River Creek's 38-75 course.

Betty stepped aside to watch Mrs. Page finish her fine round of 74, which won medalist honors. The woman who won the national title in 1937, Betty pointed out, played the same cautious, slow game.

Defending champion Marion Miley needed 80 shots, while Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., a tall girl with power in her swing, came back in 35 for a 77. Mrs. Frank Gold-thwaite of Fort Worth, the 1933 champion, floundered badly and carded 82 on her home course.

(By The Associated Press) Concentration camps in totalitarian lands reminds that a fence and armed guard is not a new idea in prison creation. There was one in East Texas in the later years of the War Between the States to harbor Union prisoners of war.

"Camp Ford," this book relates, "was located about six miles east of Tyler, Texas, and about 100 miles due west of Shreveport. The first detachment of prisoners, of some 600 men camped in the open woods. Afterward a stockade was built, enclosing two and one half acres."

Headquarters Third Army, Camp Beauregard, La., May 21—A new form of emergency ration for the United States army has been proposed. As the result of studies illustrated by the quartermaster general at the subsistence research laboratory, Chicago Quartermaster depot, it is proposed to supply a cooked ration to the soldier in individual 12 ounce rectangular flat cans, the day's ration to consist of:

Two cans of a very edible and palatable well cooked ready to eat meat and vegetable dinner—now commercially produced as beef stew, lamb stew, Irish stew, hamburger with onion, beef and noodles, chicken and egg noodles, pork and beans, pork and sauerkraut, corned beef hash, spaghetti with meat balls and tomato sauce.

The record of Camp Ford was marked by frequent attempts to escape, mostly unsuccessful. One of the most sensational breaks was made by a group of 38, who dug a tunnel 60 feet long and four feet beneath the stockade just large enough for a man to crawl through. But the attempt was detected when one of the emerging prisoners coughed. Instantly, the alarm was sounded, bloodhounds and guards began the pursuit and 23 of the prisoners were captured.

Capt. Henderson, himself, participated in a successful escape. With two other men he traded his uniform for "cracker clothing" and a liberal supply of flour. Secretly they baked the flour into biscuits about two inches square, but they waited a month before a cloudy night affords the opportunity to leave.

The three were quartered in the hospital hut, feigning sickness or working as orderlies. Rubbing their feet and legs with turpentine in which they had mixed red pepper. The mixture on their legs prevented prison bloodhounds from following a scent.

Their journey through northern Texas, past Clarksville, and across the Red river into Arkansas, was one of great hardship. Bushwhackers roamed the country. Once they

DANGER

SERIAL STORY - ROMANCE AHEAD

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Larry rides the black on a second attempt, winning Barnes' admiration. But Bonnie insists that he be put to work building fence. After a day's work, Bonnie says "I'm ready to quit. Two men ride up. One is Bentley, neighboring rancher. Bentley orders Larry to put a gate in the canyon fence. Larry reluctantly agrees. Bentley sees Barnes. As they ride away Larry recognizes Bentley's companion as one of the bank robbers.

CHAPTER V IT was after supper when Larry brought up the subject of the gate in the canyon fence. He and Pete Barnes were sitting outside the bunkhouse, smoking. A brilliant Texas moon bathed the ranch headquarters in cold light and deep shadows. The lean-faced foreman drapes his lanky form along the steps.

"Pete, a fellow named Bentley came through the canyon today," Larry began. "Said he wanted a gate put in there. Said you ought to know about it and that the Colonel would want it."

"What did you tell him," Barnes asked.

"I told him he'd have to get some orders from Colonel Miles or from you before I'd build any gate on his say-so."

"Good! It's about time someone was telling Bentley where to get off. But you better get ready to put a gate in there tomorrow. Bentley's up at the house now. By the time he goes home, he'll have to Colonel sold on the idea."

"The Old Man'll probably be raising sand about not putting it in when Bentley asked you to—but don't pay that much mind. The Colonel still runs the Hayhook, and he don't like the idea of Bentley giving too many orders, even if he does agree with that four-flusher."

"Who is this Bentley? Where'd he come from?" Larry interrupted, trying to conceal too great an interest in the Hayhook's neighbor.

"Came up from the southwest about four years ago. Bought the old Circle-Cross and set up as a gentleman rancher. Raises polo ponies, fine horses. Runs about 200 head of good cowboys—fancy stuff."

"He's got about 20 hands working up there and only five or six of them know what a cow brand is. Has plenty of money, though. Flies his own airplane."

"He does? Where does he land?"

"Bentley's got a field all laid out with lights and everything, just like a regular airport, about half a mile from his house. Keeps airplane in a big barn he had built for it."

"Must do a lot of night flying."

If he's spent all that money for lights," Larry commented.

"Guess he does," Barnes agreed. "He's always going off on hunting trips, down into Mexico. Runs up to St. Louis and Chicago to see a show, now and then. Oh, Bentley puts cattle raising off a gentleman's basis." Barnes laughed, bitterly.

"I don't like him marrying Miss Monnie, either. She's too good for a guy like that. But he seems to be the number one man ever since that accident."

"What accident?" Larry almost shouted the question.

Barnes paused long enough to roll and light a cigarette before replying. "The last one she had. She hit a cow, on the highway. Bentley rushed her to the hospital, claims he saved her life. Well, guess I better go see the Old Man about that gate. Want to come along?"

They found the Colonel on the porch. Bentley lounged on a swing. Monica, her dark beauty accentuated by a severely plain, white knitted suit, sat between the men. The Colonel rose as Barnes' boot sounded on the steps.

"Oh, hello Pete. Glad you came up. Sit down." Barnes dropped into a chair beside the Colonel. Larry remained in the background, leaning against a post.

"Mike—Mr. Bentley—has been telling me about that canyon fence," the old cowboy began. "He wants a gate put in there. Guess we'll have to do it. Got to keep on good terms with our neighbors," he laughed, embarrassed as a child before his foreman.

"Okay, Colonel. I'll have Larry put the gate in tomorrow," Barnes agreed. Larry saw Bentley smile at the foreman.

"I'm not so sure you want a gate there anyway, Colonel," Barnes continued. "That canyon leads right down from the highway into the big pasture. If these truck rustlers get to operating again, it'll be easy for them to get in there and take the pick of the calves. Better keep that fence like it is."

Bentley jumped to his feet, glared at him at the foreman.

"Listen, Barnes, I'm going to drive through there when I ship this fall if I have to pull your posts out of the ground."

"I'd like to catch you, or any of your men, pulling a post or even letting down a wire," Barnes' voice was low and calm, but his words carried the sting of a slap on the face.

"Here, you two, don't fight over an old gate," Monnie broke in. "If Mike wants a gate, put it there. You can padlock it shut, can't you Pete, and open it when Mike gets ready to drive?"

"That'll suit you, won't it, Mike?" The Colonel looked first to Barnes, then to his neighbor.

"Yeah, I suppose so," Bentley conceded, resuming his place on the swing. "Fence'll probably fall down anyway. That new hand of yours don't know much about fence building, Colonel."

Larry stepped away from the post. More than anything he wanted to smash that smirking, oily face. Monnie's laugh stopped him.

"You should see him ride, Mike," she said. "He likes air—lots of it—between him and the saddle."

Larry fought to control his anger, made his voice lazily quiet. "Guess I'll turn in, Pete. Good night, Miss Monnie. Good night, Colonel."

BARNES caught up with him half way to the bunkhouse. "I wanted to sock that guy, too, Collins. Glad you kept your temper and didn't say anything. I sure can't see what Miss Monnie likes about that slick-haired coyote. . . . Must be his good looks."

"I wouldn't make a scene before Colonel and Miss Monnie, Pete. But I hope this Bentley comes out to see me put that gate in."

"If he does, make sure he's alone before you tackle him," Pete warned. "If he has one of his men with him, you'd come back pretty well beat up. And don't get Bentley wrong—he's no coward."

"They were at the bunkhouse door. "Thanks, Pete. I'll remember. And say, how about getting off tomorrow. I've some things to attend to in town. I wasn't sure I was going to stay when I came out here, you know."

Barnes grinned. "Go ahead. I'll make Bentley wait at least one more day for his gate, at any rate."

LARRY left the Hayhook early, reached town by mid-morning. He drove to the hotel, changed his clothes and called Colonel Harris. Then he hurried over to the newspaper office. The patrol chief was waiting for him in the editor's office.

"These boys are all right," Harris told him. "They're in on the 'know, too. They'll do anything they can for you."

"Good! Let's have a look at the files on Miss Monica Miles and Mr. Mike Bentley."

Hitler Within 15 Miles Of Channel, Command Claims

BERLIN, May 21 (AP)—Terrorific German thrusts have swept the Nad legions to within 15 miles of the English Channel through the cities of Arras, Amiens and Abbeville and have crushed the French ninth army, the German high command declared today.

Its communique called the swift advance northward to the channel "the biggest attacking operation of all time."

"The ninth French army, which was on the Meuse between Namur and Sedan to hold and maintain connection between strong enemy operation "has been crushed and is about to be dissolved."

It said that "General Giraud, hitherto commander of the seventh French army who assumed command over the ninth army," had been captured with his army staff.

"This may refer to Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, whom British sources Saturday identified as commanding "groups of armies" in the "battle of the bulge" in northern France, attempting to roll back the Nazi tide.

Kaisers' Army Outclassed
(Adolf Hitler's massive army thus apparently swept to triumphs never won by Kaiser Wilhelm's legions in the World war. Abbeville was held by the Allies through the last war—in fact, was a British base. Amiens was in German hands only for a few days in 1914.

"The Germans have appraised the Allied strength in their path to the channel from the St. Quentin salient as 1,000,000 French and 250,000 Belgians.

(Further northeast, where the Nazis are driving westward across Belgium, they estimate that they are opposed by about 300,000 British.)

By driving toward the channel, Germans said, the Nazi army may destroy Britain's army in France as well as a large segment of the French-Belgian forces.

A "battle of the highest importance for Germany and desperation for France," authorized sources declared, will be the immediate result.

The drive toward the channel was the spearpoint of a general German advance which widened the pocket in northern France and pushed forward the conquest of Belgium.

Laon Captured
On the southern boundary of the bulge, the high command said, German forces have overcome the last French resistance in Reibel, have captured Laon and pushed on to the Aisne-Oise canal over the Chemin

Des Dames, famous World war battlefield.

In Belgium, it said, the Germans attacked east of Ghent and farther south of the Scheldt river and crushed "enemy attempts to force a way out southward from Valenciennes."

The German progress was so swift that the communique described Nazi forces as "crowding toward the channel coast all the French and Belgian armies still to be found north of the Somme."

"German divisions flow into the Breach forced by the German thrust," it said. "German armored cars and motorized troops at their head took Arras, Amiens and Abbeville."

Abbeville is nearest to the coast, inland from a bay about midway between the French channel ports of Dieppe and Boulogne.

The German advance from St. Quentin forked westward to Abbeville, about 63 miles west of St. Quentin and northward to Arras, about 38 miles beyond St. Quentin.

The high command also reported heavy naval blows during air operations in which, it said, it lost 15 planes to 47 lost by the Allies.

Six Transports Sunk
It said German fliers had: Sunk—sunk six transports and a tanker, totaling 43,000 tons, before dawn today in the straits of power. Severely damaged—four additional ships of about 13,000 tons, a French destroyer, the French navy tanker "Niger" of 5,482 tons, the French freighter Pavon and two additional freighters.

It was indicated the Germans sought to close a "bag" around the territory on all sides of Valenciennes, from which the Belgians and French were trying to flee.

Valenciennes is in France just below the Belgian frontier, north and slightly east of Paris.

Headlong Flight
Military spokesmen were jubilant over the progress being made in Belgium, where they said a British retreat had turned into "headlong flight."

They made no secret of the fact that it is the German intention to reach the Belgian-French coastline along the English channel as fast as possible.

The Allied troops in Belgium were described as being caught at the bottom of a huge sack, which the Germans are attempting to close by driving west through northern France toward the channel and south along the Belgian coast from Antwerp.

Spokesmen said the British withdrawal was being severely impeded by German dive bombers, which are destroying bridges and railway lines and harassing troop columns.

Newly acquired air bases in Holland are being used in these operations and in attacks on enemy shipping in the north sea.

Large Nazi forces released from the campaign in the Netherlands are assisting in the action in Belgium, authorized sources said.

VERSATILE SPONGE CAKE
There is no more versatile cake than the perfect sponge. Good by itself, iced or plain, it is the right accompaniment to fresh or stewed fruits, ice creams or with custard or fruit sauces. Sponge cakes are baked in ungreased tins, are allowed to cool in the pan in which they are baked, then loosened around the edges with a silver knife and inverted on rack. Cutting sponge cake toughens it; separate the pieces carefully with a fork.

ONCE A HOME IN BELGIUM

This mass of wreckage was once a home in Belgium. German planes shattered it with their bombs in the prelude to the Nazi drive toward the sea. This picture was carried by clipper to New York after being passed by both Belgian and British censors. It is one of the first original pictures to reach the U. S. since opening Nazi drive.

Trail Drivers To Convene At XIT Roundup

Special To The NEWS
DALHART, May 21—Col. Jack M. Potter of Clayton and Santa Fe, N. M., 76-year-old former Texas trail driver, has already been to Dalhart to help arrange for the annual convention of the Trail Drivers of the South of which he is president.

Several years ago the trail drivers met in Dalhart on the dates of the annual XIT roundup, which is to honor the men and women of the old West, particularly those who worked for the XIT, and voted to hold thereafter their convention on XIT dates in Dalhart. The fifth annual XIT roundup will be next August 5-6.

Last year at the XIT roundup the Texas-Oklahoma-New Mexico Cowboy association was formed, and will hold an annual meeting known as the TNO roundup. O. D. Atkinson, Dalhart, who once punched cows with the late Will Rogers, is president and it also will meet each year in Dalhart on XIT dates.

A fourth special attraction in connection with the XIT event next August 5-6 is the Coronado cavalcade which will form the night show. In prior years the XIT organization has staged its own pageant, reviewing the colorful history of the old West, particularly as it revolved around the three-million acre XIT spread of the 1880's.

This brilliant Coronado cavalcade is the show developed by the U. S. Coronado commission as a part of the 1940 Southwestern celebration commemorating the 40th anniversary of Coronado's adventuresome search for gold across the Llano Estacado.

On this historic journey Coronado is said to have twice crossed Texas soil that later became XIT land. On his return he reportedly camped at Buffalo Springs, 32 miles north of Dalhart, where today still stands the No. 1 division headquarters of the XIT, established there in July, 1885.

You And You And You Named Spies By Governor O'Daniel

MINERAL WELLS, May 21 (AP)—Some 6,000,000 private detectives will be seeking out un-Americanism in Texas under a plan advanced by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel.

He announced here yesterday that he had confidential reports of un-American activities in the state and that he will appreciate any information the citizenship can give him concerning specific cases.

O'Daniel, who often goes to the people with his troubles, said state officials would confer with federal authorities in Washington and that the discussion would include the whole question of national defense as it affects Texas.

O'Daniel frequently tells the people what is on his mind in weekly radio talks but he chose the meeting of the Southern Newspaper Publishers association here to make his startling announcement.

He is a publisher himself—putting out the weekly O'Daniel News for which he claims 130,000 circulation.

"I shall appreciate any and all information that any of our citizens can give me concerning any specific cases of un-American activities they know about or surmise," the governor declared.

"I will ask that all reports be submitted in writing and signed, but the names of the senders will be held confidential if so requested."

O'Daniel did not reveal the type of un-American activities that had caused him to launch his campaign.

He said in a telegram to President Roosevelt that he was sending his representatives to Washington "to interview you or whoever you may designate to receive them to discuss coordinated plans for investigating and handling such activities as may be reported to me."

At Austin it was announced that Public Safety Director Homer Garrison and Major Gaston S. Howard, assistant adjutant general, were making the trip to Washington.

Officials of each of these state agencies said they had no reports of suspicious activities and the nature of any in Gov. O'Daniel's possession remained his secret.

Chairman William H. Richardson of the safety commission said the governor had been in telephone conversation with the officials at Austin prior to his announcement.

Richardson added that the safety department had been preparing a plan to combat un-American activities as a Texas contribution to national defense. This plan consists of a reporting and observing system.

Small of Amarillo; District Judge James W. Witherspoon, of Hereford, and many others.

Congressman Marvin Jones, chairman of the agricultural committee of the U. S. house of representatives, has been invited to the Dumas celebration, and his acceptance depends upon whether or not congress will be adjourned in time for him to appear in Dumas.

600 Attend WPA Supper; Kelley Talks

With a supper, served at the price of lunches served under the hot lunch project, and a program at the city hall auditorium, WPA professional and service division projects of Pampa last night started the local observance of "This Week Pays Your Community" week. The supper was held at the cafeteria in the red brick school on the high school campus.

Open house will be held at professional and service division projects through Saturday. These projects include the sewing room, located on the fourth floor of the court house, housekeeping aide, 210 East Brown, and the library project.

Attendance at the supper last night was 600. On the menu were rice, meat, raisin pie, salad, bread, and coffee. The meal was prepared and served by 16 women, four from each of the projects.

Harry Kelley, Pampa coordinator of diversified occupations, made the principal speech at the program held in the city hall auditorium. In his talk Mr. Kelley explained the nature of professional and service projects and the results accomplished.

Master of ceremonies was Jim Edwards, recreation project superintendent. The program consisted of a duet, Mary Jo Kelly and Winnie Lou Cox singing "Beautiful Blue Danube"; a tap dance by the same two to the tune of "Sidewalks of New York"; vocal solos by Polly Moses, "Confucius Say" and "The Singing Hills"; assembly singing of popular songs; and the "Pampa Matrimonial Bureau" television broadcast burlesque. Attendance at the program was 200.

First Driving Offense Committed At 81
MILWAUKEE, May 21 (AP)—Christian Valon, charged with disregarding a traffic signal, told the judge he was 81 years old and had been driving "since automobiles were invented."

"And," added Valon, "this is my first offense."

The judge suspended sentence.
