

Prominent Pampanos Accept Roles In Texas Premiere Of $100,000 Entrada

Chamberlain resigned Friday and the Allies battled Germany's amazing aerial blitzkrieg in the Low Countries, but even that news was not as pleasing as the Coronado Entrada communique delivered in Pampa Friday by Clinton P. Anderson, inspiring orator from Albuquerque, headquarters of the U. S. Coronado Cuarto Centennial celebration.

Mr. Anderson's declaration that Pampa's Entrada would be a show that all Texas would be proud of was still ringing in Pampanos' ears when C. H. Walker, casting generalissimo, opened up a casting blitzkrieg yesterday and signed up prominent Pampanos for roles in the $100,000 Entrada which will have its Texas premiere in Pampa June 13, 14 and 15.

Who'll Be Coronado? Mr. Walker is still looking the field over. He announced last night that since the Pampa Entrada "belongs to the Panhandle as well as Pampa," he will soon invite prominent residents of Amarillo, Canadian, Borger, Shamrock and other Panhandle towns to play leading roles. "As for the Coronado role, I'm still looking the field over," he said, but he did announce that the following prominent residents of Pampa had accepted roles in the show: Dr. Malcolm Brown, Arthur Teed, L. N. Atchison, Dr. H. L. Wilder, Bert Curry, City Manager Steve Matthews, Frank Culbertson.

All lines in the historic drama will be spoken by professional actors and actresses in the sound booth; these performers will be the same ones who will speak the lines in the New Mexico premiere at Albuquerque the end of this month. Six professional actors will also assume key roles in the show.

Kelley Recruiting Students Harry Kelley will head a cast of high school boys in the show which Mr. Anderson said would be bigger, better and more spectacular than the Cavalcade of Texas at the Dallas Centennial or the Cavalcade of the Golden West at San Francisco. Mr. Kelley said that this week he would sign up 300 school boys for roles in Coronado's army. In the cast will be football, basketball and other athletic stars. Girls high school social clubs will also help him recruit students for roles.

Clubs Cooperating President D. L. Parker of the Jaycees said that all civic clubs, women's clubs, Parent-Teacher associations, the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Masons, churches, are making lists of members who will assume roles in the show. Mr. Parker has contacted officials of these groups, and all promised cooperation.

Mr. Walker said he was in the market for nominations for the role of Coronado. He said he was not likely to announce the decision for a week and then only after he had conferred with the entire casting committee.

State Could Assume Huge Bond Issue

County Commission Expected To Act On Plan Monday

"Some definite action on the long-talked-of Pampa and Perryton road seems to be a definite possibility, if plans that have been worked upon for the past several weeks materialize," M. A. Graham, chairman of the highway committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, announced following a meeting Saturday.

The plan involves the issuance of some $600,000 worth of Gray county road bonds, which were voted in March, 1931, for state highway purposes. Due to a change in policy of the state highway department in totally financing highways, rather than calling upon counties for half of the funds, the bonds never were issued.

The last Texas legislature, in amending the state bond assumption act, which controls the use of one cent of the Texas four-cent gasoline tax, provided that unissued bonds voted for state highway purposes can now be issued and wholly assumed by the state under this act.

County Judge Sherman White and County Commissioner Charlie Carpenter of McLean discovered this ruling in Austin, April 1. Since that time County Attorney Joe Gordon has secured a ruling from Attorney General Gerald Mann in connection with the Gray county bonds and the Gray county situation. The bonds cannot be issued for any other purpose.

Members of the highway committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and other business men of Pampa and Gray county are invited to attend the regular meeting of the commissioners' court tomorrow at 11 a. m. to discuss the situation.

Gray county officials have been led to believe by officials of the Texas highway department that if these bonds are issued and turned over to the state highway department for the construction of Highway 100, they will be paid for.

Clarendon Family Named Most Typical

FORT WORTH, May 11 (AP)—The title of most typical American family in West Texas today was awarded to the family of D. E. Leathers, Clarendon, Donley county farm and ranch operator.

Chosen to represent district 1 of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in the contest, Mr. and Mrs. Leathers and a son, 19, and a daughter, 16, were selected from among nine other district winners as most representative of the West Texas region.

The family has started getting ready for their biggest thrill, a trip to the New York World's Fair as the West Texas candidates in a contest to select the national American family.

Pampa Youth Passes West Point Exams

John Henry Nelson

John Henry Nelson, former Harvester football star and popular Pampa high school graduate, will be the first Pampa boy to go to West Point Military Academy.

Last week, John Henry received the following letter from Congressman Marvin Jones:

"The War Department has just advised me that you have been qualified both on physical and mental examination for the Academy and that you will be admitted on July 1, 1940.

"The entrance requirements, as you know, are rigid, and I want to congratulate you upon having met them successfully, and to wish for you a most successful career at the academy and in the Service, following your graduation. It is a wonderful opportunity, and I am sure that you will make the most of it."

John Henry was at Alhambra, California, when he received the good news. He made history when he passed the entrance tests and requirements because he is the first Pampa boy to make the grade. Many are appointed but few pass.

He was graduated from Pampa High school in 1937. He was born east of Pampa, near Laketon, and has lived in that community all his life. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Nelson, well-known old-timers of this community.

Craft Shop Open To Boys Making Soap Box Cars

The Pampa Craft shop, a part of the recreation program being sponsored by the Pampa Recreation council and Works Progress Administration, will be made available to Pampa boys working on their Soap Box Derby cars. It was announced yesterday by Jim Edwards, supervisor.

Boys may use shop tools and there will be two technical advisers on duty to help the boys by answering questions regarding construction, etc. The two men, Wayne Hutchens, and C. D. Davis, will not be allowed to assist the boys in construction of their cars, however. All cars must be made by the boys themselves, according to derby rules.

Copies of rules for construction of cars will be available at the craft shop, Mr. Edwards said.

SINGER

Singing of J. Wayne Davis will be a feature of the concert to be given on Friday evening, May 17, by the Pampa High School and Civic orchestra, directed by Herbert L. Miller. The concert will be held in the high school auditorium. Mr. Davis will sing Wood's "Roses of Picardy" and "Manna-Zucca's 'I Love Life'." A Mozart suite and selections from Haydn, Tchaikovsky, Wharlock, Lehar, and De Lamar, are other parts of the program to be played by the 23-piece orchestra.

Allies Have 8,000 Planes; Nazis, 20,000

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Two thousand American warplanes—only half of them of a strictly combat type—have been thrown into the balance by the allies in the suddenly intensified struggle for dominance in the air, but Germany's numerical superiority promises to go unchallenged for months to come.

If the losses reported in the fighting for possession of the low countries—upward of 500 planes in two days for both sides—become a standard rate of depletion, the allies' situation in the air may well become critical.

From a dozen authoritative sources comes an estimate that the Reich, counting on air power to turn the tide of battle, has no fewer than 20,000 warplanes on hand, half of them for "first line" service.

Against that number the allies probably can muster no more than 8,000 planes, including the

Germans Claim 'New Type Of Weapon' Helped Take Belgium's Strongest Fort

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
BERLIN, May 11 (AP)—A "new type of weapon" enabled the forces of Adolf Hitler to capture Eben Emael, described as the strongest fortress in Belgium, the German high command announced tonight.

The fort's commander and 1,000 men surrendered, the announcement said.

A picked air force detachment, in a slanting attack from above, already had put the fort out of action yesterday, the command said, and held its garrison in check with the new weapon until the army unit attacking from the north arrived and forced the surrender.

3 Insane Fugitives Captured At Canadian

Three criminally insane fugitives from Larned, Kan., institution were captured on a ranch 15 miles east of Canadian late Saturday afternoon and lodged in the Hemphill county jail. Larned officials said they would arrive in Canadian Sunday.

The men were captured without a fight in underbrush along Gageby creek in the Pleasant Valley community. They escaped last Monday, Larned officers said.

A fourth fugitive, Willis Grisco, 40, a negro murderer, was captured Friday at Woodward, Okla.

Sheriff Harry Rathjen of Canadian identified the men captured in Hemphill county yesterday as Charles Luster, 35, sentenced from Topeka for forgery; Lee Trittle, 25, sentenced from Winfield for petty thievery and Forest Holzclaw, 50, Jackson county burglar.

Arresting officers included Rathjen, Deputy Dawson Curry of Hemphill county, Sheriff Raymond Walters and Deputy Walter Davis of Wheeler county, and Charles C. Cox of Pampa, liquor control board agent.

About 11 o'clock Saturday morning three men appeared at the ranch home of J. E. Venable southeast of Canadian and asked for food. They said their car broke down and that they had been lost for several days.

They said they were enroute from Nebraska to California. Mrs. Venable gave the men food, under trees in the yard.

Sheriff Waters summoned a posse after looking around the Venable place about two hours, the men left. Mr. Venable by that time was suspicious so he called Sheriff Walters of Wheeler, giving him a description of the men. Sheriff Walters said he believed they were wanted in Kansas and he called

Victories Claimed By Dutch Troops

(By The Associated Press)
At the cost of untold casualties, Adolph Hitler's personally-directed German army seized a foothold in the Belgian defense zone last night (Saturday), but failed in its first heavy attack on the French Maginot line.

While ground forces were closing for what may develop into one of the greatest battles of all time, Nazi bombing planes attacked Brussels and Amsterdam, and British fliers raided the German Rhineland in an effort to disrupt Nazi communication and transport lines.

The Germans announced capture of the strongest fort in Belgium's deeply-fortified Liege defense zone. The Belgian command acknowledged that the Germans had seized a position near Maastricht, Netherlands border town, north of Liege, but said it was sold at a terrific price and that the Liege defensive lines were still intact.

The French command added to the account of heavy German casualties in beating off a division-strong attack on the Western front and in more open fighting in Nazi-invaded Luxembourg.

The British Royal air force struck over the German lines to bomb Rhineland troop concentrations, railroads and bridges.

NEW YORK, May 12 (Sunday) (AP)—A Brussels broadcast, picked up by NBC, said the Belgian capital had undergone two more German air raids this morning.

"Texas Rose" Again With O'Daniel Band

AUSTIN, May 11 (AP)—Inauguration of another radio broadcast series by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel tonight was marked by the return of Catherine Williamson, a singer known as "Texas Rose," to the O'Daniel Hill Billy Band.

Miss Williamson had not been heard on O'Daniel programs for months.

The governor made only slight reference to politics but stated his weekly newspaper, the "W. Lee O'Daniel News," had reached a total of more than 115,000 subscriptions.

The chief executive, a candidate for re-election, announced his regular Sunday morning broadcasts at the governor's mansion hereafter would take place on the front porch instead of inside.

BRUSSELS, May 11 (AP)—This Belgian capital was bombed from the air again tonight. Heavy detonations in the center of the city, and an air raid alarm was in effect from 6:20 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Civilian casualties in Saturday's bombings were said authoritatively to be higher than that on Friday.

Golden Opportunity Knocks At Gray County's Door

Gray County Commissioners undoubtedly will let no grass grow under their feet in taking advantage of the opportunity to issue county bonds which will automatically be assumed by the State of Texas, proceeds of which will be used in paving state highway 16 in Gray County immediately and in improving other county roads.

It is big news to Pampa, Miami and Perryton that the issuing of these Gray County bonds will, in a large measure, make possible the ultimate construction of a bridge across the Canadian River.

With an opinion from the state's attorney general that Gray County can do this and get these benefits without costing the tax payers anything—the bonds to be paid from proceeds of one cent of the state gasoline tax—those in authority in Gray County should lose no time in taking advantage of the opportunity.

County officials have used wise judgment in waiting for the attorney general's opinion before acting. Now, with this ruling to back them up and with the time extremely limited, speed should be displayed while the time is opportune.

Mac Graham, BOD highway chairman, aptly put it Saturday when he said:

"There's just one time to brand a calf and that's when the iron is hot. This thing is pretty hot right now and we had better act while we can."

Visit the Hospitals Today

Pampans today are asked to join with other Americans in giving thought to the institutions whose business is helping folks get well—24 hours of every day in the year.

On this National Hospital day we are reminded that hospitals dispense mercy with a generous hand, offer haven and hope to the afflicted and the wounded, cheer the unfortunate, and correct and heal the distress that old and new ways of living inflict upon humanity.

The day was chosen to honor Florence Nightingale, who was born May 12, 1820, immortal for her contribution to the nursing profession and to hospital improvement. This year the day has a double significance, for National Hospital day comes on Mothers' day.

Open house will be held at both Pampa hospitals this afternoon. Visit the hospitals today and learn more of these temples of mercy, where the best science is employed, where merciful attention is unpermitted, and kindness and cheerfulness are fostered and given freely.

CARROZZO'S 10 PER CENT (Chicago Tribune)

The way to deal with Mike Carrozzo, the gangster who uses Chicago street laborers' unions as a club to levy tribute on all the paving business done in this area, is with police squads and indictments.

The Tribune has printed statements by Chicago paving contractors that the successful bidder on any paving job in this vicinity receives a visit from a representative of Carrozzo, who collects 10 per cent of the contract price. That is called insurance. It is collected on an "or else" basis. The contractor who did not pay would be so harassed by Carrozzo strikes that he would be broken and driven out of business.

It is estimated that this form of extortion has yielded Carrozzo and his associates, known and hidden, $2,500,000 in the last four years. Federal investigators, who are reported to be looking into Carrozzo's income tax, are no doubt tracing these payments to discover whether the recipients paid tax on them.

While the income tax is a valuable weapon against gangsters, there are more direct and effective methods of punishing crime than prosecution for failure to split the proceeds with the collector of internal revenue. Against Carrozzo, if the contractors' stories are true, these more direct methods seem to be available to both the United States district attorney in Chicago and the state's attorney of Cook county.

The state's attorney is very broad in its language. Courts have held that it applies even to fraudulent diversion of money paid to state governments in the form of federal subsidies. A number of the highway projects on which the 10 per cent was previously collected were financed in part by federal funds. That opens the door for the district attorney.

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 11—Real significance of the Supreme Court decision in the Madison oil case is that in effect the court has agreed with Thurman Arnold about the great breadth of the Sherman anti-trust law.

A year ago Arnold was arguing that this law gives the government all the power it needs to keep prices flexible. Few people agreed with him. The Sherman act had been almost a dead letter for years. He was told that before there could be a real drive for lower prices and freer markets there would have to be new legislation.

Arnold replied that he would go ahead under existing law and find out, once and for all, whether he was right about its scope, before asking for any new laws.

Now the Court has defined the Sherman act in as broad a manner as Arnold could have wished. It has held that putting any sort of floor under prices is illegal, and has enabled him to strike at almost any practice that results in stabilized prices.

One of the chief results of this ruling will be that Arnold's building costs campaign can be speeded up.

LABOR UNIONS AND WAGES

On the possibility of labor unions being able to raise wage levels, Dr. Carl Snyder, in his great book, "Capitalism The Creator", has the following to say:

"It follows that the rate of wages paid by employers is fixed automatically, and to all intents cannot be materially altered by any arbitrary action of either the employer or the employed. To many it will seem a paradox that neither the hard-fisted nor the philanthropic employer, neither the militant laborer nor the meek, has any material influence upon the average real wage paid and received. Or that strikes and lockouts are rarely of the slightest avail. Almost always an enormous loss. They may at times correct inequalities between different industries; but they can never affect the real wage for the country as a whole."

"Of course the more enlightened labor leaders understand quite well that progressively higher wages depend upon a continued increase in product. But they are powerless because, like the politicians, they are the leaders of a large number of uninformed minds, with strong prejudices and almost ineradicable beliefs. Hence, just as with politicians, they could not gain power if they were frankly to tell their followers that the union can do no more than correct differentials in wages, and keep in check unintelligent and unscrupulous employers. They are in the power of the crowd spirit; they must follow this crowd spirit. For this reason, labor unions are seldom a constructive factor in economic progress."

"When the demands for higher wages are not met, there is usually an attempt to coerce employers through strikes. Apart from the fact that strikes are often accompanied by violence and destruction of valuable property, the interruption of employment must diminish the general wage fund. For during the strike wage earners lose the earnings they would ordinarily have, employers lose the profits on the production they would ordinarily undertake."

In a footnote, Dr. Snyder points out that in 1937 there were 28 million man-days of unemployment lost by strikes. Figuring at 65 cents an hour, this amounted to $150,000,000 lost in wages direct. And figuring the loss of tools and equipment, he estimates that the direct loss in incomes due to strikes was approximately $225,000,000. This does not include the loss to the producers of supplies or materials or the loss to the users of the goods produced by the strikers.

As Dr. Snyder points out, invariably the labor union that attempts to set arbitrary wages, instead of cooperating with the law of supply and demand for labor, greatly reduces the standard of living, or the real wages of all the people.

BANK CREDIT AND BONDS

I have just been reading a very interesting new book by Carl Snyder, called "Capitalism, the Creator". He contends statistics prove that all inflations follow undue expansion of bank credit; that if we did not make speculation possible by undue expansion of bank credit, there could be no depression to follow the boom.

It takes more than availability of bank credit to make prosperous times, as evidenced with the present amount of credit available.

In order to use bank credit in creating new enterprises, we must have some venturesome capital owned by entrepreneurs who have enough confidence to take risks. Anything that interferes with the entrepreneurs' confidence that he will have profits and be permitted to keep them, makes bank credit of little value, as far as creating new private jobs is concerned. The structure of most all business enterprises is risk-money, represented by common stocks, and more conservative risk-money, represented by preferred stocks, and loan money in the form of credit, that has the risks greatly reduced by the entrepreneur being willing to stand the loss before the bondholder is obliged to lose.

It seems to those who are inclined to be entrepreneurs, that the laws of the government, interfering with the entrepreneur having the right to select those whom he believes will be dependable and make a contract with them, and the social security law which taxes the entrepreneur for hiring men, and the graduated income and inheritance tax that takes it from him if he happens to produce or when he dies, are the factors now standing in the way and preventing the use of this bank credit that would furnish full employment.

Confidence is what we need now and there can be no confidence until the people come to realize that majority rule interference with venturesome people reacts in such a manner that the laborer has fewer jobs and the consumer pays more for what he uses because of the lack of competition and more efficient, productive methods.

The system of bid depositories, under which contractors in various cities have frozen out low bidders, apparently lies directly in the path of the new decision. If Arnold goes ahead with his previously-hinted-at plan of attacking the costs of food distribution, the ruling will be of great value to him. Its implications in such pending cases as those against the moving picture industry are now being studied in the department.

The new decision greatly simplifies work of the anti-trust division since it makes unnecessary the research formerly necessary to show the effect of a price fixing agreement. Under the new ruling the prosecution need only show that such an agreement existed in substance. Its entire work henceforth rests on a new and much simpler basis.

CONGRESSMAN WILL LISTEN FOR A CHANGE

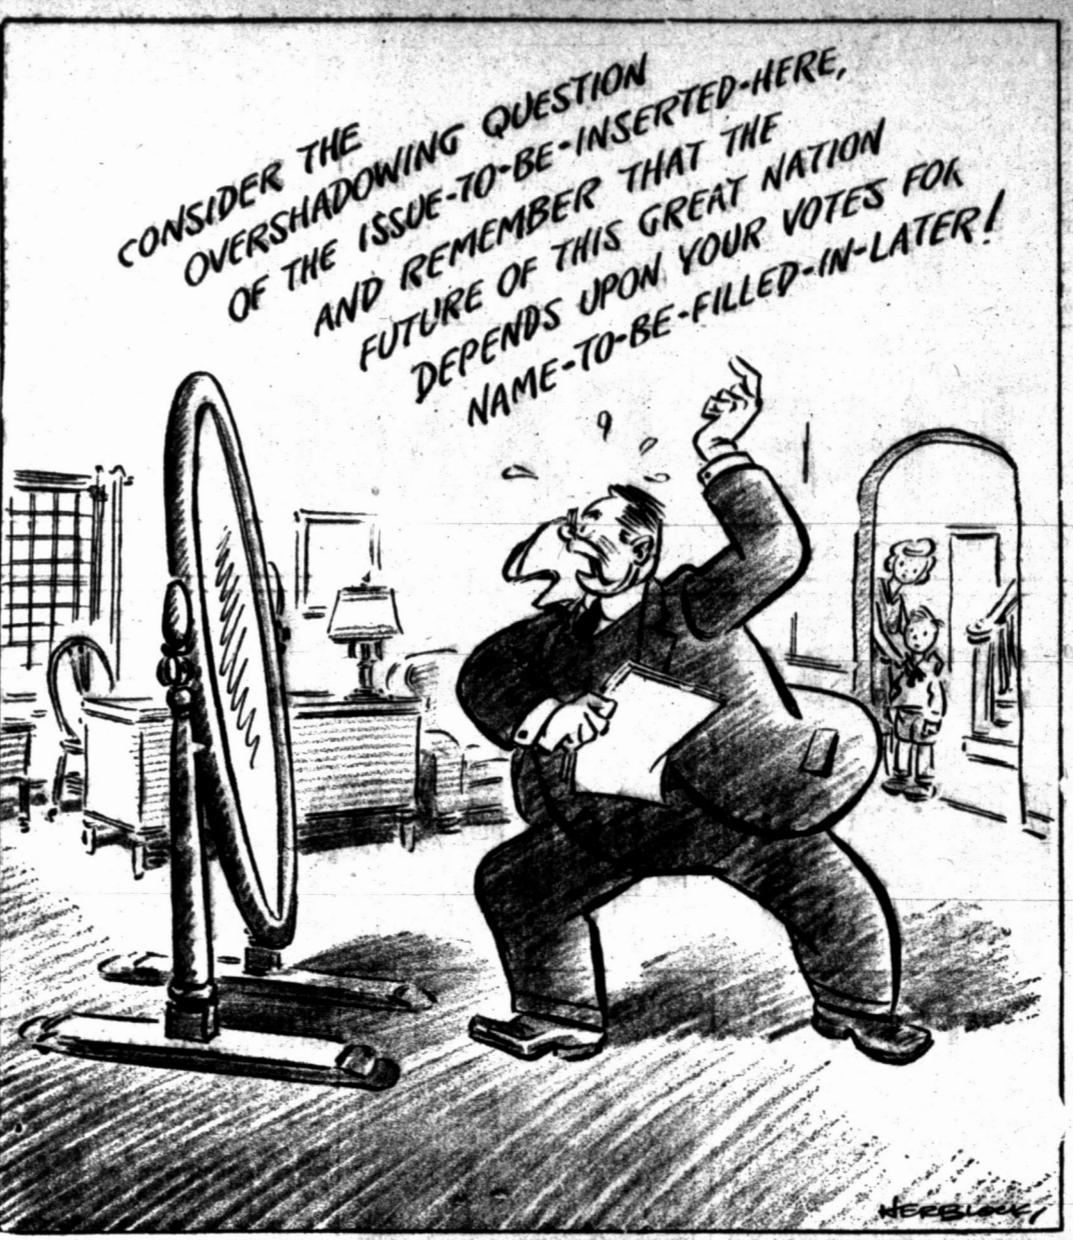

The average congressman's eagerness to show he is independent loaded seven earnest House members with a lot of extra work the other day.

A sub-committee headed by Congressman McCormack of Massachusetts has been holding hearings on the Patman anti-chain store bill. Recently the sub-committee issued a "last call" for any witnesses who wanted to come in and testify—and 160 volunteered.

Sub-committee, appalled, decided to give each man just five minutes. Unluckily, that same day some Patman outfit issued a statement denouncing the sub-committee for letting the bill's foes talk it to death.

To have applied the five-minute limit right after that would have made it look as if the sub-committee was yielding to pressure; so the boys voted to let each witness have his full say—and, as a result, will have to be listening to 'em until well along in June.

HOLLYWOOD, May 11—Short takes: A huge cigar has always been a Joe Penner character prop, but in "The Boys From Syracuse" Joe's use of a cigar will be cut down considerably. The reason—he appears with Rosemary Lane and cigar smoke makes her ill.

Joe made the sacrifice willingly, but couldn't resist the gag. One day, just before lunch he presented Miss Lane with a beautiful box of what appeared to be candy. But she opened the box to find a fine collection of cigars—well-used cigar butts. She screamed, tossed the box of butts in the air and completely broke up the company.

When Louis B. Mayer, M. G. M. production chief, was a little boy chicken soup was a luxury beyond his wildest dreams. And later when he could afford chicken soup he found that most chicken soup was very short on chicken and long on broth.

Consequently, when he and Marcus Loew planned the M. G. M. commissary 15 years ago he worked out a recipe with the chef for a chicken soup which was to be kept on hand at all times. Today it is a studio institution and is listed on the menu of the studio commissary as "Louis B. Mayer's Chicken Soup."

More famous movie personalities have eaten the chicken soup than probably any other concoction of food in Hollywood.

INDIANS JITTERBUGS.

Most of the Indian actors from California and Arizona are working in B. DeMille's "Northwest Mounted Police." The other day, Dance Director LeRoy Prinz called for volunteers to do an Indian war dance which he had dreamed up.

One chief stepped up followed by a group of braves.

"My boys first class dancers," he announced. "Can shag, can truck; win jitterbug contest."

Not one of them could do an Indian war dance. Prinz solved his problem by hiring some professional Hollywood dancers and making them up like Indians.

Overwork and the hot sun of the Underhill lot caused Eric Blure to faint during his first day's work on "The Boys From Syracuse." He was taken to the studio hospital and then sent home to rest.

Next day he returned to work on "The Boys From Syracuse" in the very same set in the very same scene. As he walked into the first scene he remarked, "Hm, this is where I went out."

"On 'The Sentence' set the stage was all Richard Barthelmess, George Brent and Virginia Bruce were seated in Brent's office awaiting the arrival of Bill Lundigan.

"Okay, action!" yelled Director Vincent Sherman. "Hey, wait a minute!" Bill Lundigan shouted from the other side of the office door. They waited a minute. "All right, let's go!" said Sherman. Again Lundigan's voice came from behind the door. "Hey, hold it!" Sherman was hurried by this time so he stormed around behind the set and there sat Lundigan with a sheet over him having his hair trimmed. It was his first day away from "The Sea Hawk" and he had to have his haircut modernized.

Every time I think of how little John Henry Nelson used to play football my throat gets tight and my eyes fill. The opposing lines never came too big for Little John Henry. He would come out of a game with his uniform torn off but he would come out smiling; he would be bloody and covered with bruises but he would elude back-clappers; John Henry's fighting spirit is already a tradition in Pampa high school. If anyone deserves that appointment it is John Henry, and everyone who knows him is glad and happy that he made the grade and are confident that he will make Pampa even prouder of him. And that appointment shows that Marvin Jones has always been a congressman for ALL OF THE PEOPLE, not just big shots; that's probably why Marvin has stayed in Congress so long.

Probably the biggest gift of milk is its calcium (lime), the body needs lime to build bones and teeth. Serving of meat or fish; five medium-sized potatoes; five slices of bread; one-half cup of peanuts.

One pint of milk (two cups) contains the same amount of calcium as any of the following foods:

Eighty apples, 65 medium bananas, 24 medium oranges, 35 medium potatoes, 10-12 servings of 1-3-ounce carrots, 12 servings of same weight cabbage, 17 to 18 eggs, 38 slices whole wheat bread, 40 slices of white bread (made with milk), 140 cups of cornflakes or 22 cups cooked oatmeal.

Studying this list it is easy to understand why children can't possibly eat sufficient food to get all their calcium from non-milk foods. Many other foods contain calcium, but for the most part only in small quantities.

But protein and calcium is not all of the story of milk. It contains other vitally necessary minerals and an abundant supply of vitamin A and ribo-flavin, along with a generous amount of vitamin B1 (thiamin) and nicotinic acid and a variable amount of vitamin C. Some milks have been fortified with vitamin D and are so labeled.

THIS is National Hospital Day. Both Pampa hospitals have extended invitations for you to visit and inspect local hospitals today.

The idea is to acquaint you with the progress being made in the medical profession and with new methods of hospitalization. If you like thrills, they can be found out at those auto races at Recreation park this afternoon.

Jim Edwards, Pampa recreation director, is full of ideas. Lots of people have ideas, but Mr. Edwards is different from the most of us. He sees to it that his are carried into action.

One of the finest things he is doing is to assist Pampa boys in making their Soap Box Derby cars for the big city championship race here in July. A story in today's News explains just what he is doing for the soap box enthusiast and the assistance at the Recreation craft shop.

WE also have it from good authority that the city will give the "go" signal to Director Edwards' plans for night entertainment in Central Park this summer. That is a program that means much to Pampa, and the full realization of its recreational benefits will come when the program actually gets underway in the amphitheater on the southwest corner of the park.

The American Red Cross asks Pampa to raise 500 of the city's share of a huge fund needed for the relief of war sufferers in Europe. The war over there is spreading like wildfire, and the women and children of the war-torn countries will suffer much unless we help them.

Pampa's quota in this great humanitarian effort on the part of the Red Cross is small. Guy McTaggart, local chapter chairman, hopes the amount can be raised by voluntary subscriptions. Send your donation now to The Red Cross, Box 1036, Pampa.

SPEAKING of Europe, a look into the crystal ball reveals the startling advance information that Herr Hitler will be dead before the end of 1940, in fact it looks as if it would be some time before Labor Day of Thanksgiving Day. It isn't quite clear but there's a holiday mixed up with the prediction. Remember, we do not claim to be psychic.

The crystal ball for a hobby, Pat Flynn, the Buffalo Lake publicist, was in town yesterday. He'll have fast competition when Lake McClellan opens.

The Boy Wonder still is hunting for a circus. The skipper of this space was highly complimented Saturday by being offered an "important" role in the Coronado Extrada spectacle to be staged here June 13, 14, and 15.

Unfortunately, we must leave here June 14 for an international convention in Minnesota. We used to do a vaudeville turn in vacation time, but doubt very much if experience as a comedian would help the Coronado show any. They tell me Coronado's treat across this country was decidedly unfunny.

THAT shuttling sound you hear in the vicinity of Washington, D. C., would be the Hatch bill, popping in and out of congressional pigeon holes, subject to house committee whims. If there's something rotten in Denmark, it's probably those eggs still on the pier, having missed the last boat to England. Color blindness is more prevalent among men than women, proving that looking at the new summer hats is more disastrous than wearing them.

The Nazis aren't quite ready for the next blitzkrieg. It seems the propaganda department is a little behind in preparing the evidence that the British were going to invade first.

Since this is Mother's Day, too, we are repeating the message written by City Recorder C. E. McGrew, who has dedicated the lines to all mothers:

Many years have gone since on I heard her sing songs to me. I'll never forget those lovely themes. I often hear them in my dreams.

In heaven she's been these many years. And yet I often shed bitter tears. And at night I kneel and pray That she'll come back on Mother's Day.

If she cannot come, and it's not God's will. Then I'll never cease to love her still; If she cannot come, then God I'll pray To take me to her some Mother's Day.

One of the biggest grafts we're sponsoring today, is the unemployment insurance racket, just on account of us letting so many conscienceless sponsors dip their hooks into the fund, till it's got to where we're not only subsidizing the strikers' and seaman workers, but we're actually furnishing pin-money to housewives.

Perinstance, I was just talking with a feller the other day, and he's got a good steady job, and his wife don't have a cent to work, but she likes to have some pin-money now and then er offener. And this feller'd jest as to leave she get it somewhere else instead of constantly nicking him fer it get $300.00 earned on account of pin-money ain't exactly something to be slightly sneezed at nowadays anymore. And so whenever she wants some pin-money, she goes out as a saleslady.

Well she only wants to work part time anyways, on account of it interferes with her bridge club to work too steady. And so as soon as she gets $300.00 earned she gets laid off, on account of not being able to find no more customers without going out to look fer 'em.

And so she goes down and puts in fer her unemployment insurance, and they check up and find out that she's paid $3.00 into the fund while she was working, and that entitles her to a check-every week fer 16 weeks, and that's jest about take her through the busy club season.

And this feller was telling me what a wonderful investment that is to only pay in $5.00 and get $163.00 back without a struggle. 'Course he had to pay $24.00 into the fund hisself, on account of him working steady all the time, but he says he was glad to do that much, jest so's his wife could have her own pin-money.

Well, it does sound kind of attractive, in fact I don't know any place else where you kin put up $3.00 and get $163.00 back so quick—unless it's on a horse.

Only One Candidate For Governor Of Texas Has Paid $100 Filing Fee

AUSTIN, May 11 (AP)—Eleven persons have announced for the governorship but only one has paid the filing fee of $100.

The one who has paid, says E. B. Germany, chairman of the Democratic State Executive committee, is Harry Hines.

However, Clarence Butcher, secretary of the committee and brother-in-law of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, reports that the Governor plans to remit the fee to Germany within a few days.

The deadline for paying is June 3.

That all who have announced for Governor will pay the fee and get their names on the ballot is improbable.

Each election year several persons usually declare candidacies but fail to follow through by filing.

Some persons possibly announce to obtain temporary publicity. Others may enter and remain in the contest until they determine whether a following among voters can be secured.

The consensus among political observers in Austin is that Ernest O. Thompson will announce for Governor on June 3 or near that date. He has hired a publicity man and has spoken to friends about his "race." Last week he made a statewide broadcast on issues before the people of Texas, and Sunday will talk at Amarillo.

The Potter County (Amarillo) Democratic convention Tuesday unofficially endorsed him for Governor, commending him as an able and devoted public servant and terming him the nation's outstanding authority on oil and gas questions.

Although he would be announcing very late for a gubernatorial candidate, friends say Thompson is convinced a candidate for a state office no longer needs to announce months in advance of an election.

because of improved means of communication.

In line with this thought, Lt. Gov. Coke Stevenson, candidate for re-election, said recently:

"In past years a candidate had to get up and travel if he attempted to cover the state.

"If he made a speech a day in each county, it would require 254 days, or eight and one-half months, to get over Texas.

"Now, in 30 days he can reach all the voters in Texas. If there are any votes for a man, he can get them in a month, I believe."

If all of those who have announced for Governor stay in the race and Thompson enters, the contestants will number almost exactly the same as in 1936.

The 13 names on the gubernatorial primary ballot of two years ago, in the order in which they finished, were:

O'Daniel, Thompson, William McCraw, Tom P. Hunter, Karl A. Crowley, P. D. Renfro, Clarence E. Farmer, James A. Ferguson, Marvin P. McCoy, Thomas Self, S. T. Brogdon, Joseph King and Clarence E. Miller.

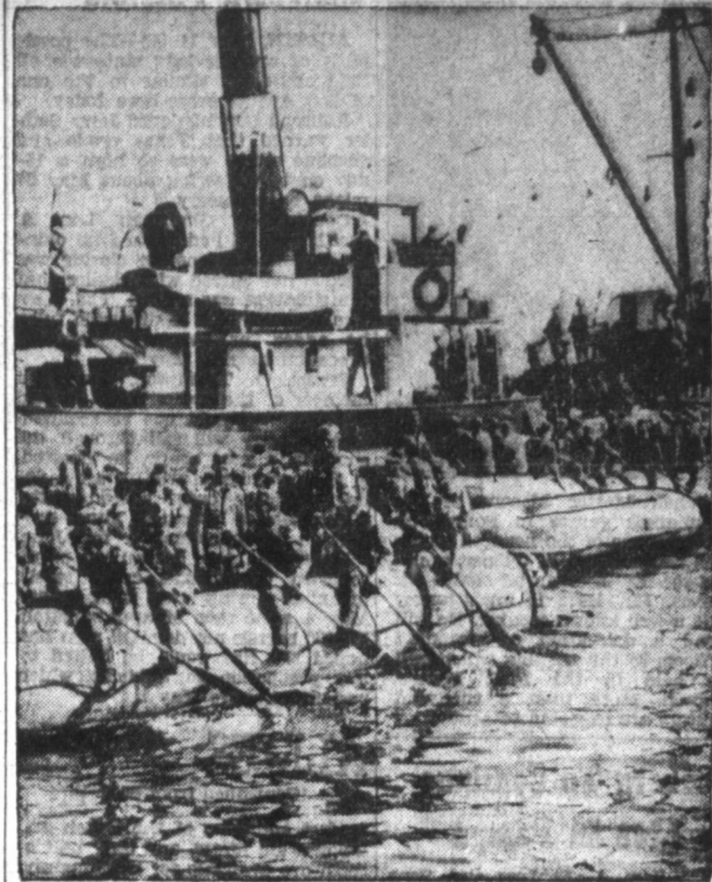

Miller had withdrawn before the election but the withdrawal was too late to have his name omitted from the ballot.

In addition to O'Daniel and Hines, those who have announced this year are Mrs. Miram A. Ferguson, Jerry Sadler, Albert Derden, J. J. Womack, A. N. Boulton, Cyclone Davis, Jr., Will Barberie, J. E. Anderson and J. D. Parker.

Governor O'Daniel's state campaign headquarters has been opened in a two-story frame house a few blocks from the capitol. Reuben Williams, formerly of O'Daniel's secretarial staff, is in charge.

Sources close to the Governor say he has not decided when to begin "bearing down" in his campaign and the date of his "taking the field" probably will depend on

Pampa's War Relief Quota Set At $800

Losing no time in providing their services, the American Red Cross today swung into action and launched a campaign to raise a minimum war relief of $10,000,000.

The campaign is occasioned by the invasion of Holland, Belgium, and Luxembourg, a phase of the war that will at once bring appalling suffering to millions of helpless men, women, and children.

Quota of the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross has been set at $800. Pampans are asked to make voluntary contributions at once, mailing their checks to the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross, Box 1036, Pampa. Checks should be written payable to the "Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross."

A telegram received here by Guy McTaggart, chairman of the Pampa chapter, from Norman H. Davis, St. Louis, asks that the local chapter at once mobilize the entire leadership of the chapter and the community so that the $800 quota may be raised as soon as possible.

Directors of the Pampa chapter will hold a meeting at 7:30 o'clock Monday night in the district court room.

Charlotte Murray, field representative of the American Red Cross, will be at the meeting to help organize workers for the campaign.

ROAD

Way 18 through Gray county and the improvement of other state highways in Gray county, the north road will be designated and the highway department will agree to construct a bridge across the Canadian river, connecting the North Plains with the territory south of the river.

"We will expect the county commissioners' court to act upon this proposition tomorrow, as the Texas highway commission meets a week from tomorrow, and we have several other matters that will have to be worked out after this is settled," Mr. Graham said.

The attorney general's ruling assures officials that Gray county will have authority to issue the bonds without assuming any financial liability.

"Any and everyone interested in the matter is urged to attend the Monday meeting," Mr. Graham said.

A number of other Texas counties have been issuing bonds under the new law in the past few months, thereby getting needed highway improvements," Mr. Graham said.

Among the counties are Liberty, Hartley, Hockley, and Hale.

The Hale county bonds will be used in building a road from Plainview to Silvertown. The Hockley county bonds will be used to build a road from Levelland to Brownfield. The Hartley county bonds will be used to build a road from Hartley south through Channing and on to the Oldham county line within ten miles of the Canadian river bridge. Another bridge will be necessary if the road is extended on to Vega as it has been tentatively designated for some 10 or 12 years.

Pampa Chamber of Commerce officials said it is important to get action on the Canadian river bridge north of Pampa before any other bridge on the river is considered in other parts of the Panhandle.

The War Today

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Political developments in Britain and France, of grim meaning for Germany, usher in the most crucial week-end of the eight-month-old European war.

Challenged by Nazi invasion of the neutral low countries, Britain swept Adolf Hitler's arch foe, Winston Churchill, to supreme power as prime minister of a coalition cabinet welded into unity by the crisis. France matched that with a cabinet shakeup of similar purport.

Hitler cannot fail to read in the elevation of Churchill to the key power post of the Allied war effort a Franco-British resolution to fight it out with him to the death.

The last faint hope in Germany that an "appeasement" mood in England might afford a weak link in Allied determination to crush Hitlerism died with Neville Chamberlain's surrender of his seals of office. There has never been an appeasement thought in the head of Britain's new war leader as he contemplated Hitler's rise.

In recasting their political machine, France and Britain have given German invaders of the low countries a sterner answer than the battlefield itself in war-torn Holland and Belgium yet yields. At a stroke, by that invasion, Hitler accomplished for his foes what eight months of political hickering in both countries had failed to achieve—solidarity on the home front.

The crisis has been met swiftly by the western Allies by reorganizations on their slow-moving and weakest lines. With the war at their own gates in full course, France and Britain have resolved first of all to submerge political hickering and get on with the war with single-minded intentness on victory, whatever the cost.

Berlin misjudged the temper of the low countries and their will and readiness to resist as badly as it misjudged Britain's reaction when Poland felt the first crushing weight of the Nazi war machine. That could be a fatal error.

Germany must achieve air mastery quickly to balk Allied help in force that might leave her again stalemated on a water-guarded low country front.

Nazi failure to attain more than a stalemated status in the low countries would be a serious blow to German hopes. It would leave German forces spread out all the way from the Swiss border to northern Norway, a battle front perhaps 2,000 miles long.

That is the risk Hitler has taken in staking all the low country thrust. If his air power fails to blast a way for him to the North Sea, he will halt the Franco-British advance to bolster Dutch and Belgian defenses, his position could be perilous.

said the commission decided to make them.

He then made the amazing announcement that the man who produced the Cavalcade of Texas and the Cavalcade of the Golden West are now assistants on the Entrada production staff! He said that every big show man in the country was helping produce the Entrada.

"When your Entrada opens here you can look out on the brilliant assembly of Spanish conquistadores, Indians, priests and know absolutely that you are seeing an exact reproduction of Coronado's Expedition!" he declared. "It will be Coronado marching again. It will be nothing if not exact."

Mr. Anderson was introduced by Farris Osborn, president of the B. C. D., who presided, urged Pampans to cooperate in the casting of the Entrada which he described as the "best news I've heard in a long time."

British Diplomats Slugged In Rome

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

ROME, May 11 (AP)—Amid mounting Fascist feeling against Great Britain, marked by anti-British posters and a slugging incident, Pope Pius XII sent his blessing from the Vatican today to Germany's newest enemies, with prayers for their victory.

Messages to the Catholic rulers of Belgium and Luxembourg and to Protestant Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, whose countries had been attacked "against their will and right," told of the pope's prayers for their liberation.

Sir Percy Loraine, the British ambassador, was said in reliable quarters to have protested to Italian authorities against both a swarm of posters which sought to impress Italians with the German army's superiority, and a reported assault upon two British diplomats last night.

The Italians counter-balanced this with an intensified campaign against the vexations of the Allied contraband control of their sea commerce. Premier Mussolini applauded in the senate when Admiral Domenico Cavagnari, undersecretary of the navy, declared the "disturbance" of Italy's shipping "must change."

Italian newspapers and radio made no mention of the pope's messages.

units moving through Luxembourg toward the French and Belgian borders.

British Tommies, cheered by the populace, already guarded every bridge and railway crossing on the 250-mile motor route. Anti-aircraft batteries dotted the fields, and dispatch riders on motorcycles sped past the attack carriers, tanks and troop-laden lorries that kicked up dusty spirals on the roads.

The German mechanized units coming up from the other side were struck by low-swooping British planes which loosed a shower of small bombs and sprays of machine-gun bullets.

Skipping over the swarm of refugees who preceded the German line of march, the British airmen returned to the attack again and again, dropping bombs fell amid lines of 40 and 50 German motor trucks which piled up in heaps of smoking wreckage.

German Column Bombed

Other British squadrons rained bombs on a German column at the northeast corner of the German-Luxembourg border, dodging a hurricane of defensive fire from small arms and anti-aircraft guns.

The British reported no loss of personnel despite persistence of German aerial retaliation.

One German Heinkel and one Dornier bomber were shot down when a large German force raided a royal air force station.

British Hurricane fighters went up to meet them and got two more German planes in a screaming dog-fight witnessed by gaping thousands of civilians and soldiers.

CRAFT SHOP

Among the newcomers at the craft shop last week was a group of pre-school children, ages 3 to 5. They showed amazing interest in the work and applied themselves industriously to making all sorts of woodwork and painting. One significant piece of work at the craftshop was a serving tray decorated with a Decalcomania sent from Hawaii. The work was done by Martin Bislett, the Decalcomania being sent to her by her mother, Mrs. E. W. Bislett.

Out of town visitors at the craft shop and playgrounds were Miss Lou Ella Rutherford of Midland, and Mrs. George Burkett and son, Charles, Jr. of Borger.

Nazis Complain Of West Indies Coup

BERLIN, May 11 (AP)—By landing military forces in the Netherlands West Indies, the newspaper National Zeitung said tonight the British "carried the war into territory which comes within the scope of the Monroe Doctrine."

Every change in this area "is an affair of interest for all American states," it continued.

"Of special interest, however, is the occupation of Curacao and Aruba because the islands lie in a very important strategic position in relation to the Panama Canal."

Thimblette Club Honors Hostess At Recent Meeting

Thimblette Sewing club members met in the home of Mrs. B. W. Bettis recently.

The hostess was showered by the group.

Refreshments of stuffed celery, sandwiches, and punch were served to Mrs. J. H. Fish, F. C. Laffoon, E. L. Martin, A. E. Shaw, and Rufus Holmes.

Another meeting of the group will be held on Monday, May 20, in the home of Mrs. J. H. Fish.

Another Statewide Shutdown Possible

AUSTIN, May 11 (AP)—The possibility of another long statewide oil field shutdown similar to the one of last August arose here today.

Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler warned that Texas crude and gasoline stocks were so high a 15-day shut-in starting about May 27 might be necessary.

Commission Chairman Lon A. Smith said he had formed no opinion on whether another closing was needed but agreed with Sadler that the situation was serious. The question probably will be discussed fully, he added, at the next statewide prorotation hearing May 20.

Ernest O. Thompson, the third member of the commission, insisted a shutdown would not be required. The industry will sail through the summer in good shape, he asserted. The commission will draft a 90-day prorotation order based on the United States bureau of mines production recommendation for June.

Meanwhile the bureau of mines reported that Texas crude stocks mounted during the week ended May 4 at a rate of approximately 170,000 barrels per day. Oil men had hoped the rise would be halted by the production curtailment which became effective May 1.

ALLIES

modest additions of the Dutch and Belgian air forces, and only half of them are available for bombing and fighting forces.

Of the 2,000 American planes delivered to France and England immediately preceding and since the outbreak of the war, 1,000 were trainers, assigned to bolstering their pilot manpower.

The combat types were 50 dive bombers, 300 pursuit and 650 bi-motored medium bombers.

Orders are streaming into American factories from London and Paris now for great quantities of planes, but it will be late summer or early fall before the allies begin to feel the full force of American production.

In all, the French and English have ordered 5,300 planes since the spring of 1939.

One American manufacturer, who surveyed British and French factory production last year, estimated the allies could match the German warplane output only with the addition of American planes contracted for in bulk.

A confidential report received here by the French warplane output at a bare 150 planes a month. The British output is possibly as high as 1,000 a month, including training planes. For purposes of replacement the German output is estimated at 1,000 a month.

Conservative manufacturers estimate that, at the outside, American factories can produce 9,000 to 10,000 warplanes in 1940—including trainers. If the bitter fighting with congested heavy losses continues, the allied air power will be coping with German air power on even terms before the end of the year are not very encouraging.

VICTORIES

counted more than 100 downed on their soil.

The French said German bombers killed at least 147 French civilians. Deaths on a lesser scale were reported from the German bombings of Amsterdam and Brussels yesterday.

The Germans acknowledged loss of 11 planes, with 14 more missing, but said they had destroyed between 300 and 400 enemy aircraft on the ground and 23 in air fights.

The ritual tolls of planes bore grave witness to the gargantuan proportions on which the war is now being fought.

A French communique commented that German troops, landing at Antwerp, had created a "troubled" situation in the Netherlands. As these parachute soldiers and machine-gunner passengers of transport planes continued to land in the invaded countries, however, the Dutch and Belgians said they were cleaning them up effectively.

Land fighting said a German division of about 14,000 rammed against the Maginot line near Luxembourg in a vain effort to create a diversion from the sharp fighting in Luxembourg itself.

British and French mechanized units, artillery and infantry meanwhile pushed into embattled lowlands in ever-swelling numbers. Both the Dutch and Belgians reported allied troops already at their side, but exact locations were not disclosed.

called Sheriff Rathjen and the five men met at the Venable ranch.

Two officers started out on horseback while the others went in a car. After searching brush along the creek, Sheriff Rathjen and Sheriff Waters came upon two of the men standing under a tree. When they saw the rifles in the officers' hands they raised their arms. When asked where the third man was, the pair denied any knowledge of another member of their party.

Threaten To Shoot

The officers threatened to shoot into thickets nearby and the two men called to their companion who walked from behind a clump of shrubs with arms raised.

The three were then taken to Canadian and lodged in the county jail.

Officers Cox and Curry were on horseback about a quarter of a mile from the grove of trees, having gone ahead and circled back. Deputy Davy was in the car guarding a bridge, only exit from the section.

It was four years ago tomorrow that Sheriff Rathjen shot and captured Pete Traxler, notorious outlaw, at a bridge near Canadian.

Captured Attendants

Last Monday the four inmates of the state hospital at Lansing, fled, releasing two attendants they took as hostages.

The men, led by Grisco, seized Bill Barnes and Jack Rush, attendants, and threatened them with a knife made from a file.

The fugitives stole an auto outside the hospital grounds and drove south. They released the attendants 75 miles south of here, near Ashland, Kas.

Grisco, captured Friday, had been transferred to the hospital from the state prison at Lansing, where he was sentenced for a Wichita murder. He killed another prison inmate.

State Civic Group Wars On Honky-Tonks

DALLAS, May 11 (AP)—The Texas Civic association, revived last week to fight car hops in scanties, announced today through its president, Mrs. H. L. Hungerford, a war on honky-tonks.

Mrs. Hungerford said the association would petition the legislature to prohibit the operation of roadside beer taverns except in well policed incorporated cities.

She said the legislature also will be asked to prohibit any person under 20 years of age from handling any alcoholic liquors and to enact a law with a penalty of one year in prison for persons convicted of selling alcoholic drinks to minors.

Did Census Taker Miss Any Farmers?

The census for this section has been completed, Carroll Smyers, district supervisor, announced yesterday. However, it is possible that some farms have been overlooked in the enumeration even though care was taken to avoid omissions.

If there is a farmer in the district who has been missed, he is urged to notify the Pampa office immediately.

The final census work in Pampa has been completed and Mr. Smyers will be able to give a fairly accurate report on the population later this week.

In asking farmers to cooperate in seeing that no one was overlooked, Mr. Smyers said:

"All farming operations were reported to the Bureau of the Census in the name of the farm operator, which in many cases, was a tenant, sharecropper or a hired manager. The actual owners of farms were asked to give the census information only when the manager was performing the farming operations himself and did not have a tenant living on his farm."

"HAS YOUR AGRICULTURAL ENTERPRISE BEEN ENUMERATED? (All general farms, also enterprises or establishments even though small in area, such as a greenhouse, nursery, hatchery, keeping of cows and other livestock, chickens and poultry, or the growing of flowers or vegetables, the value of the products from which source amounted to $250.00 or more in 1939. The $250 limitation is not applied when the enterprise has 2 or more acres.) If not, or if you have any doubt, fill out this blank and mail it to:"

Fun Installed As World's Fair Opens

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—The "biggest small town in the world" reopened its world's fair today in a "folksy" county fair atmosphere which routed formality and dignity and installed fun and high jinks as the order of the day.

The opening, at which visitors were greeted by huge signs which shouted "Hello folks"—the keynote of the whole inaugural program was in sharp contrast to the pomp and ceremony of last year's opening day.

At midnight a paid attendance of 190,450 was reported. The first day attendance in 1939 was 198,000.

Water Department Report Will Be Published Soon

A 'break-down' on the part of the annual report on city finances dealing with the water department that was due to be released for publication today has been postponed until next week.

The delay is due to the death of the father of W. E. Swenson, resident partner of Cornell & Co., Amarillo auditors. When Mr. Swenson arrived in Pampa Friday to prepare the break-down a telegram was awaiting him informing the Amarillo man of his father's death in Clay Center, Kas.

Mr. Swenson will return to Pampa late in the week, at which time the "break-down" is expected to be completed.

Texas Today

By HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff

Regardless of who wins the nomination for Governor in the Democratic primaries this summer, old man Texas faces the unpleasant prospect of paying some more tax money to the state government in 1941.

The issue in the warning gubernatorial campaign is not whether taxes are to be raised but how much they are to be increased and what type of new taxes would be preferable.

The fact that a Governor is advocating higher taxes, however, does not necessarily mean that higher taxes are certain. The two branches of the legislature might become deadlocked on a tax program, as they did toward the close of Gov. James V. Alford's administration. Or the Governor and one House might be unable to compose their differences, as has been the case during Gov. O'Daniel's first term. And finally, the proposed new tax program might be submitted to the people and the people reject it.

In two and, possibly three, respects the need for higher state taxes is becoming greater as the years pass. In the first place, the state is getting further and further behind on matching of teachers' contributions to their retirement fund. Teachers have been contributing three per cent of their salaries since Sept. 1, 1937. By the time any new taxes can be put into effect, the state probably will be about $10,000,000 behind on this obligation.

Then too, the deficit in the state's general fund is rising from year to year. Because of the continuing growth in the number of insane and other unfortunates and in the enrollment at state colleges, it seems almost impossible to curtail demands on the general fund.

Thirdly, the number of Texans past 65 years of age is growing. Whether this will enlarge old age pension depends to some extent on how many of the aged are covered by the federal old age insurance program.

In one respect the old age pension will be in better shape next year than in 1939. All the money which the fund has borrowed will have been paid back by next fall.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK May 11 (AP)—The stock market emerged from the second worst week of the year today with a rally in war issues and a further decline of many peace time shares.

While speculation forces seemed to have partially recovered from the selling shock of Friday's session, most were unwilling to resume bidding except for steels, aircrafts and coppers which, it was believed, may benefit quickly from heavier allied purchasing due to intensification of the European conflict.

With nervousness over the German blitzkrieg on the low countries fading to some extent, a select group of stocks reappeared at the opening. Closing gains of 1 to 2 points, were down from the tops in many cases and losses of as much were widely distributed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 48.5 from yesterday, but compared with last Saturday, off 1.3 points.

Transfers totaled 671,970 shares against 816,890 last Saturday.

Prominent in the outside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Lockheed, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting and Phelps Dodge.

Posting modest advances were Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Standard Oil of N. J., Western Union, Chrysler and Montgomery Ward.

On the offside were General Motors, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, American Telephone, American Tobacco, DuPont Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse, Santa Fe and Levi.

The even-even performance of the short day was exemplified by the fact 257 individual issues were up, 281 down and 171 unchanged.

Kiwanis Governor Guest At Luncheon

Gov. O'Daniel says the state needs an extra $45,000,000 to $50,000,000 in tax. Of this amount, $25,000,000 annually would be used to pare the general fund deficit, $5,000,000 for the elementary and high schools, $2,500,000 for the colleges and the remaining $12,500,000 for social security.

Calculations on the amount of new revenue needed range downward from O'Daniel's figure to the $6,000,000 a year estimated by Clint C. Small of Amarillo, dean of the state senate.

What to do about catching up with teachers' retirement contributions is a perplexing problem. Some persons have suggested that the "catching up" process be at the rate of about $1,500,000 a year and thereby be spread over six or seven years.

At that rate, $4,000,000 annually would be required for the teachers, $1,500,000 for dependent children, and $500,000 for the needy blind, making a total of $6,000,000. How much more should be given the aged is a matter of dispute. The question of whether the general fund deficit should be reduced by higher taxes likewise is a debatable one.

Carnival Will Not Open Shows Here

tax of one cent a gallon on all gasoline refined in Texas regardless of where it is shipped. At the same time he would repeal the existing four cent per gallon tax on the Texas gasoline purchaser.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson favors a one-half of one per cent gross receipts tax on merchants. Harry Hines has indicated his tax program would be along the lines of the natural resource increase bill passed by the House of Representatives at the last session.

Although it is too early to make a definite prediction, the taxpayer might get a break on the state ad valorem levy this year.

If revenues to the available school fund continue as high the next three months as in the past several months, the state tax board may be able to cut the property rate for school purposes to around 25 cents per $100 valuation. The rate last year was the constitutional maximum of 35 cents.

The board will set the rate in late July or August.

WPA Week To Open Here With Banquet

A meal at the high school cafeteria at 6:30 o'clock on the night of May 20 will start the observance here of "This Work Pays Your Community" week, designed to acquaint the public with the work done by the professional and service division of the WPA.

Tickets will be sold at the exact cost price of the hot lunches served school children under a WPA project. There are 700 tickets issued for sale.

Following the meal, the public is invited to attend a program that will be held in the city hall auditorium. Jim Edwards, recreation project superintendent, is arranging the program, which will include listening to a radio speech by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in connection with the week, over a nation-wide hook-up, according to plans announced by Mrs. Carroll Smvers.

Open house will be held at professional and service projects in Pampa throughout the week. These projects include the sewing room, located on the fourth floor of the courthouse, the housekeeping aide project, at its craft shop on N. Ward, and the library project at the city hall, junior high, Woodrow Wilson, Horace Mann, and B. M. Baker schools.

Includes Whole District The Panhandle-wide observance is under the direction of Mrs. Albert Walker, Amarillo, district 16 WPA director of professional and service projects.

The primary objective of this open house week is to acquaint the public with the tangible benefits which are derived from this broad program of work for women and white collar workers," Mrs. Walker declared.

Roads, bridges, and public buildings standing in plain view of the public need no introduction but much of the valuable work done on the projects operated in sewing rooms, in canning plants, in hospitals, in laboratories, in class rooms and in other WPA indoor project headquarters escape the attention of the average person.

"Another, and no less important objective of "This Work Pays Your Community Week" is to demonstrate the types of work which can be done under this program and which may be added to the worthwhile activities of the local communities.

"In some localities useful projects are operating which are adaptable and needed in other nearby communities. We are hoping that interested officials will profit by the interchange of ideas received during this week and will be aided in developing well-rounded programs of public benefit in every commu-ity in this section," Mrs. Walker said. Community service ranging from the production of garments for the underprivileged to the conducting of literacy and naturalization classes will be demonstrated over the Panhandle during the week.

Work Done Accounted
During the past three years many types of projects have been operated by the professional and service division of the WPA over the Plains. In Gray county, the sewing room, with units at Pampa, LeFors, and McLean, employed an average of 30 women during the past half-year in processing garments for distribution to the needy persons of Gray county.

These units made 5,396 garments during the past six months, using 11,627 yards of textiles, which were furnished by the federal government.

Findings, such as buttons and thread, were supplied by the commissioners court. Payroll for the Gray county workers was $7,900. Operating in Gray county since October, 1938, has been the house-keeping aide project, that furnishes household assistance to many homes in caring for the house and children during illness of the mother and furnishing such other emergency assistance as needed.

During the 19 months of operation 12,000 emergency visits and services have been supplied in Pampa. There has been an average of 13 workers employed, who received from federal funds paychecks totaling $12,000.

Buckler Re-elected Director of Plains Historical Society

C. P. Buckler of Pampa was named to succeed himself as a director of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society at the organization's annual meeting in Canyon Friday. Judge James Hamlin of Parwell was re-elected president for the third successive time coincidental with the announcement that he had given the society's museum his collection of paintings, period furniture, and other art objects.

Other officers elected were W. T. Coble, Amarillo, first vice-president; Dr. J. A. Hill, Canyon, second vice-president; Dr. L. F. Sheffy, Canyon, executive secretary; Professor W. L. Vaughan, Canyon, treasurer. Attending the banquet from Pampa were W. T. Fraser, Jimmie Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, and R. G. Hughes. The banquet was held in Cousins hall Friday night, following the executive board meeting that afternoon.

Told of Mission
In the principal address of the afternoon session at Cousins hall, Dr. W. C. Holden of Texas Technological college called for development of an "historical consciousness" in West Texas in order that it may permeate the whole state. Noting that old textbooks ignored history of three-fifths of the state and that current texts do little better, he declared that Texas Centennial commission's historical board perpetuated the error by awarding five-sixths of the celebration funds to downstate communities.

Dr. Holden said the oldest Texas mission was established at San Angelo in 1822; pearl hunting was a major West Texas industry as early as 1654 in the Concho area; the oldest church was founded near El Paso; and the oldest town of continuous life is Isleta, founded in 1800.

The story of Coronado's exploration in the Southwest was the subject of Clinton P. Anderson at the society's banquet. Judge Hamlin was toastmaster and W. H. Patrick gave a talk in appreciation of donors to the society during the past year. Invocation was by Bishop E. C. Seaman. Don Hawkins sang two Spanish numbers accompanied by Marion Miller. Mrs. John Josey gave two violin solos, Spanish numbers, accompanied by John Josey at the piano. More than 200 attended the annual banquet.

Special recognition was given Judge L. Gough and Judge J. E. Southwood, Panhandle pioneers, by the toastmaster.

Wilson To Be Judges Clerk; Budget Fixed

A yearly budget of $10,000, to include at $600 a year salary for the clerk, was provided for at the meeting of the ninth administrative judicial district judges, held Saturday afternoon in the district court room.

As W. R. Ewing of Pampa is presiding judge, Miriam Wilson, 31st district clerk, automatically is clerk of the administrative district.

The budget will be prorated among the 42 counties of the district, according to the number of court weeks a year.

Purpose of the law creating administrative districts was discussed before the judges by Ralph W. Yarborough, Austin, 83d district judge and presiding judge of the third administrative judicial district.

Judge Yarborough was the principal speaker at the luncheon held at noon at Schneider hotel, preceding the judges conference.

Principal benefits to be derived from the administrative setup is in the assignment of judges and keeping of sufficient records, the Austin judge explained, as a matter of efficiency of the courts.

A practical, but not elaborate system of records will be kept, it was decided. Next conference of the judges will be held in the autumn, the time and place to be later designated by Judge Ewing.

Present at the conference were District Judges W. E. Gee and E. C. Nelson, both of Amarillo, E. L. Pitts, Lubbock, Jack Allen, Perry, A. B. Chapman, Spur, Ewing, Yarborough; and W. R. Frazer, Pampa, 31st district court reporter, conference secretary.

... light conditioning our home has made our dispositions so much better!

Eyestrain is one of the major causes of fatigue and short tempers. Many people notice improved family harmony after the home has been light conditioned. And even if you have a whole family of dispositions that can't be ruffled, you will still enjoy the results of light conditioning. The first step in light conditioning is to have a Sight Meter check-up of your present lighting, with recommendations from our lighting expert. This check-up is free for the asking.

AAUW Group To Sponsor Review Of Current Hit

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" current Broadway hit by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, will be reviewed tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the city club rooms under the sponsorship of the Contemporary Literature group of the American Association of University Women. The review will be open to the public upon payment of a small admission fee.

The reviewer will be Mrs. Bedford Harrison of Shamrock, who is well known throughout the Panhandle as a book reviewer. Percy Bones, former editor of the Shamrock Texan, writes of Mrs. Harrison: "She is one of those rare individuals whose love of good books, close study of the literature, and penetration of the workings of an author's mind make her competent as a critic, and one able to bring to her audience the salient features of plot and character in an analytical and interesting manner. Whether or not the hearer has read the book under discussion, he gets a complete grasp of the story through one of Mrs. Harrison's reviews."

Kaufman and Hart have a long record of Broadway hits behind them. They collaborated on the Pulitzer prize winning play "You Can't Take It With You," also "The American Way," and "I'd Rather Be Right." Kaufman was one of the authors of another Pulitzer prize winning play "Of Thee I Sing." He is said to have made more money writing plays than any other playwright has ever made.

Mrs. W. B. Murphy, who is to be leader of the program on "Negroes in America," will be assisted by Mrs. Claud Lard.

Roll call will be answered with a negro spiritual.

1940 American Mother Praises Young Mothers And Declares "Why, I've Never Done Anything!"

By BETTY BANDEL
TUCSON, Ariz., May 11—Grateful appreciation of the honor done her, and a stream of telegrams from her children and grandchildren, are the only things that are keeping "The American Mother for 1940" from crawling into a hole and pulling the hole in after her.

Mrs. Charles H. Mayo, widow of one of America's greatest surgeons, has spent her life closely linked to a profession which traditionally shuns personal publicity. Yet overnight she finds herself selected by the Golden Rule Foundation to receive a medal as the woman "representative of the best there is in womanhood."

Mrs. Mayo's two reactions are: (1) "I can think of 100 women right off who deserve it more than I do."

Telegrams from Mrs. Mayo's own eight children persuaded her to accept. Deluged with wires and letters from about half the people who have made the trip to the famous Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., Mrs. Mayo was pleased and grateful, but insists there be "no tittle about it."

Mrs. Mayo does not suggest the sentimentalized picture of the American mother. The committee, including Dr. Mary E. Woolley,

Mrs. Mayo, a recent picture taken in Tucson, Ariz.

Fannie Hurst, and Owen D. Young, chose her for other reasons. From the day in the 1880's when she chose a nurse's career in defiance of the stay-at-home customs of the day, she has been an integral part of Rochester's life, making it a home for thousands of patients, and young surgeons and nurses.

Born Edith Graham, daughter of a pioneer Minnesota farmer, Mrs. Mayo was graduated as a nurse at Woman's Hospital in Chicago 51 years ago this spring. She was the first trained nurse in Rochester. The Mayo family helped found St. Mary's hospital, and then started the clinic and school which made Rochester grow from a farming community of under 5000 to a city of nearly 30,000. "It's getting too big," Mrs. Mayo says. "I like a neighborly little town."

Young mothers today are doing just as good a job as those of 30 years ago, Mrs. Mayo feels. "It's different now," she says. "There are so many outside interests. But I don't believe they are neglecting their children at all. They know so much more than we did, about vitamins and feeding of children, and those young women up at Rochester are just as good disciplinarians and just as good mothers as anybody could be."

Legion Auxiliary Plans Poppy Day For This Month

Poppy Day will be observed in Pampa and throughout the nation on May 25, the Saturday before Memorial Day. Mrs. Hoyt Allen, president of Pampa unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced today. On that day all Americans will be asked to wear memorial poppies in tribute to the World War dead and to aid the living victims of the war.

The little red memorial flowers will be distributed here by women and girls of the Pampa unit, under the direction of Mrs. Al Lawson, chairman of the Poppy Day committee. All contributions received for the poppies will go to welfare work for the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead, as well as local welfare work.

"We feel that Poppy Day will have increased meaning to America this year," said Mrs. Allen, "because renewed warfare in Europe has renewed the memory of those boys of ours who gave their lives 'over there' twenty-two years ago. It is for them that we put on the poppy each year, to show that we still remember and honor their sacrifices. It is the flower which grew where they fell and which now blooms on the coats of Americans who appreciate their service."

"Events of the past year have shown us clearly that to be secure the United States must have men ready and able to defend the country, willing to give their lives in its defense, if necessary. We can be thankful today that we had such men twenty-two years ago. From them we can draw inspiration for the patriotic service necessary to maintain our freedom and democracy against today's dangers. Wearing their flower over our hearts means that within our hearts their love of America still lives."

SPRING NOVEL ON LOCAL SCREEN TODAY

"My Son" Showing At LaNora; "Beyond Tomorrow" At Crown

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON

Tangled and conflicting human emotions and a brilliant fantasy in Technicolor are the marks of three distinctive pictures billed for this week at Pampa theatres.

At the LaNora today, tomorrow, and Tuesday is showing the Edward Small-United Artists production, "My Son, My Son," with Madeleine Carroll, Brian Aherne, and Louis Hayward heading the cast. The picture is adapted from Howard Spring's novel.

Polygons of love and life, the recounting of an over-indulgent father's love for his offspring and parental blindness to his faults, an inter-family feud with father and son contesting the right to the hand and heart of the woman they mutually adore: all these are in the picture.

Full of intense life values, it is a powerful human-interest packed story. The Film Daily comments.

Opening a three day run at the Crown is the RKO Radio picture, "Beyond Tomorrow," the story of a young man's too-rapid rise to success, his sweetheart's efforts to hold his love, and the manner in which an elderly man, now departed, struggles to the young man on the proper path.

Charles Winninger, Richard Carlson, Maria Ouspenskaya, Jean Parker, Helen Vinson, C. Aubrey Smith, and Harry Carey are in the cast.

Maurice Maeterlinck's superb fantasy, "The Blue Bird," in stunning color, delightful music, becomes a beautiful screen fantasy in the 20th Century-Fox production, with Shirley Temple heading the long list of characters. The picture is showing Friday and Saturday at the LaNora.

Back to the screen comes Eddie Cantor in Metro-Goldwyn's "Forty Little Mothers," described by The Film Daily as a "grand audience picture packed with laughs and pathos." Film recounts the struggle for existence by a young college professor who cannot find employment, but who does find a deserted baby. Finally obtaining an instructorship in a fashionable girls' school, he smuggles the infant into his quarters. At the LaNora, Wednesday and Thursday.

Gene Autry, Smiley Burnette, and June Storey come to the Rex screen in Republic's "Rancho Grande," using the popular song of the same title as the theme melody. Autry, foreman of a ranch, has the responsibility of the late owner's three grandchildren, June Storey, Dick Hogan and Mary Lee, whom he tries to impress with the importance of an unfinished irrigation project. With the exception of Miss Lee, the three are more interested in having a good time. Showing today, tomorrow and Tuesday.

The wily Oriental sleuth appears in a network of suspense, sabotage, and U. S. fleet in the 20th Century-Fox melodrama, "Charlie Chan in Panama," showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Rex, with Sidney Toler again in the other title role, and Jean Rogers and Lionel Atwell as the other principals.

Marlene Dietrich and James Stewart open the week at the State in Universal's "Destry Rides Again," a glorified western with a novel twist that makes bang-up entertainment and proves Dietrich and Stewart are not character players only. It's a new type for both and they do a top-notch job. The picture is showing today and tomorrow.

For the State's "single" of the week is booked Universal's "The Underpup," a social drama with music, featuring Gloria Jean.

Story is about a small girl from the slums, reared with love and understanding, who gives a new viewpoint to a swanky set of girls. Miss Jean has phenomenal coloratura voice, unusual acting ability; Virginia Weidler, also in the cast, deserves special mention. A picture of exceptional merit in the opinion of the preview committees. Musical direction by Charles Preven. On the screen Tuesday.

Dumas' fantastic semi-historical story of the birth and heirs to complications is seen in the film version in the Edward Small-United Artists picture, "The Man in the Iron Mask," with Louis Hayward and Virginia Weidler. Showing Wednesday and Thursday.

Republic's "Frontier Pony Express" shows Roy Rogers, Mary Hart, and Raymond Hatton as the principals in the story of Missouri in 1861. The hero thwarts an attempt of a Southern politician to gain California. On the screen Friday and Saturday.

Pampa Girl Wins 2,000-Mile Trip Of Texas In Contest

Virginia Lee Snyder, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Snyder of the King Oil company camp west of Pampa, has been chosen a winner in the Know Your Texas contest sponsored by the Dallas Morning News and Texas Almanac. Joe Perry of Amarillo was the other Panhandle winner.

The award will be a 2,000-mile all-expense educational tour of Texas that will take the children from Dallas to sea level, to 7,000 feet at McDonald Observatory, from the pine woods to the semi-arid regions, and into Mexico.

Virginia Lee was the only fourth grade pupil in the state to win the trip. She is a student in Miss Lena Jane Butcher's room at Horace Mann school. She will be accompanied to Dallas on June 8 by her parents who will attend a banquet that night.

There were 200 blanks given out in Pampa schools. Each blank contained 50 questions which pupils had to answer. Accompanying the winners on the trip will be Arthur Maberry, deputy state superintendent of public instruction, and Mrs. Maberry, a trained nurse, and members of the Dallas News and Texas Almanac staffs.

Winners of the school-on-wheels tour are 44 school children from twenty-three of the twenty-four supervisory districts, there being no contest winners in district 23. District 21 and 19 have only one winner each as the awards were divided between salary aid and non-salary aid schools and Guide Booklets were entered in only one classification.

The young authorities on Texas, as evidenced by their use of the Texas Almanac in answering questions about Texas, will gather in Dallas on Saturday, June 8. A dinner will be given by the News and the Almanac that night for the contest winners and parents who accompany them to Dallas. On June 9 the children will visit places of interest in Dallas. The next day the boys and girls will start their visual education tour in air-conditioned Bowen Motor coaches. The first day's trip will be from Dallas to Fort Worth to Wichita Falls for the night. The second day's trip will end in Lubbock, the tour going through Electra, Vernon, Crowell, Paducah, Matador, Dick-

Texas' Land Laws Traced At Banquet

History of Texas land laws was traced in a speech delivered by Ralph W. Yarborough of Austin, 53rd district judge and presiding judge of the third administrative judicial district, at a luncheon for the judges of the ninth district held Saturday afternoon at the Schmeider hotel here. Attendance was 54.

He showed the relationship of the desire for good land at low prices to the state's history, said Texas had evolved its own system of land laws, and these like other attributes of the state, are distinctive, Yarborough said.

The luncheon preceded a conference of the judges of the ninth administrative judicial district, of which W. R. Ewing of Pampa is presiding judge, held in the district court room.

It was the first time that such a luncheon and meeting had ever been held in Pampa. Judge Ewing was appointed presiding judge by Gov. O'Daniel last February.

Purpose of the conference is to coordinate court procedure over the ninth district, which is composed of 12 judicial districts, representing 42 West Texas counties.

Smallest tract recorded was the size of one-tenth of an acre in the East Texas oil field, a strip 150 feet long and 23 wide.

The first land title in Texas was made 200 years after Coronado's expedition, when the king of Spain made a grant of four leagues of land now included in San Antonio.

This title has been lost, found, buried, scorched by fire, and finally lost again.

Oldest land grant still in existence is that of the kingdom of Spain for some cattle land in what is now Karnes county, issued in 1758.

10 Million Dollar Sale
Biggest land sale recorded in that in which the state sold 67,000,000 acres consisting of half of New Mexico, and parts of Oklahoma, Colorado, and Wyoming to the United States for ten million dollars.

Judge Yarborough mentioned the Colorado entry to be held in Pampa, in the introduction of his speech.

He told how Texas had been under six flags and the land systems of two Mexican states, as well as those of different nations.

In the general land office at Austin are 750,000 file wrappers, ten million volumes of permanent records, and one million letters.

Borger "Pioneer"
The Austin judge narrated his experiences as an oil field worker in Borger in 1926, and an incident of how he obtained execution of a legal instrument from a justice of the peace, on request of an East Texas friend.

Newton P. Willis of Pampa made a witty welcoming address, which included a rhyme on "What Is the Law?"

Introduction of members and visiting attorneys was by S. D. Stennis, president of the Gray County Bar association.

District Judge W. R. Ewing gave greeting and introduction of council members of the court of civil appeals, Amarillo. These were J. M. Oakes, clerk, and Associate Justices W. N. Stokes and A. C. Foley.

A brief period of silence was observed in tribute to the late Reese Tatum, predecessor of Judge Ewing as presiding judge of the district.

Court reporters were introduced by W. B. Frazier, Pampa, 31st district court reporter.

Attending the luncheon were E. C. Nelson, Amarillo, 47th district judge, Jack Allen, Perryton, 84th district judge, E. L. Pitts, Lubbock, 99th district judge, A. B. Chapman, Spur, 110 district judge.

Plane Plants Warn Off Job Applicants

Aircraft manufacturers in Los Angeles, Calif., have unanimously acted to stem what they call the "1940 Gold rush to Southern California which currently leaving hundreds of hopeful youths stranded," according to recent Associated Press dispatches, and left stranded in the area's newest "gold rush." Plane manufacturers are unanimous in their opinion that there is no current need on the part of the industry for aviation schools of the job-training type and anticipate no further need for them.

Only graduate aeronautical engineers and carefully trained, skilled craftsmen are needed, they disclosed.

An Associated Press dispatch, dated Los Angeles, stated: "Southern California's airplane industry offers no opportunity to out-of-state applicants. . . . Young men . . . who have been lured here by the promise of positions after a few weeks' instruction in job training schools, and left stranded in the area's newest 'gold rush.' Plane manufacturers are unanimous in their opinion that there is no current need on the part of the industry for aviation schools of the job-training type and anticipate no further need for them. Pampa men and boys interested in obtaining employment in Los Angeles county aircraft factories should obtain further information from the Pampa Chamber of Commerce in the city hall which yesterday received advice from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

SERIAL STORY

BET ON LOVE

BY CHARLES B. PARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Pepper Boy loses the Derby. Sherry congratulates Ted, who tells her Pepper Boy would have won with a heavier rider. A strange man questions Sam about the colt, but Sherry is too busy worrying about money to give it much thought. She decides to borrow Ted's $5000 over-hears Ted and Uncle Willie. Ted has bet and lost her $700!

CHAPTER XV

SHERRY flung open the tack-room door, looked inside. Willie Bond, his face haggard, his hands shaking, was backed against the room's side wall. An infuriated Ted was facing him, but a new Ted, Her hair stood out in a halo of brown curls, as if she'd just stepped from a beauty parlor.

"Well, this is a pretty kettle of fish!" Sherry said, stepping inside, looking at one, then the other. "You," she spoke scornfully to the man, who now fumbled with his monocle, "you persuaded this ignorant girl—ignorant of the turf—to bet on one of your sure things."

"And you," she looked at Ted Duncan Bond, "with all your college learning and degrees, believed you could beat the races! The smartest horsemen admit it can't be done. Even I, the owner of Pepper Boy, wouldn't bet a dollar on him—and you bet $700. I overheard you."

"Oh, Sherry!" Ted began, but Sherry hadn't finished. "Glad you were cleaned out. Maybe you'll have sense enough not to try it again." She turned on her heel.

"Now you, explain yourself! The idea of talking a gullible girl into betting. Suppose you were to get a cut on her winnings—in return for your marvelous dope!" "Please, Sherry!" It was Ted herself who broke in, with a defense of the plan.

"Well!" Sherry was thoroughly mad now. "He didn't persuade me—at least, not much." "How did it all start?" Sherry demanded.

"Willie and I had planned to write the story of the thoroughbred—she hesitated; Sherry prompted, "Go on." "I saw that—well, the book had infinite possibilities. But we'd be months writing it—and we'd need money to live on. He said that he was—strapped, he called it—"

"That's enough," Sherry interrupted. "I understand it all. He touted you, persuaded you to bet on a horse of his choice—" "But it was Pepper Boy!" Uncle William put in, coming up for air. "Shut up!" Sherry snapped. "Guess you were going to get a cut of the winnings—" "Sherry!" Ted flung her arms around Sherry, stayed her.

"What on earth?" Sherry demanded, freeing herself. "You mustn't say such things about him up." "Well, I like that! And why not, may I ask?" "Because—because—"

William Bond stepped forward with great dignity, spoke clearly: "Sherry, Theodosia has honored me by—ah—becoming my fiancée."

UTTER silence for one long moment. Then Sherry Bond sank down on a locker trunk. "For the love of Pete," she ejaculated. Then she began to laugh, almost hysterically. At last she controlled herself, stood up.

"That's swell! Now listen, you two: you've both helped me out. You saved my horse for me, Willie, when I ran him in that claimer. You loaned me your car, Ted—" "That was nothing!" the pair exclaimed in unison.

"Yes, it was, and I don't forget favors," Sherry said. "Now I promise you this—in appreciation, and as a wedding present: 10 per cent of the purse if Pepper Boy wins the Derby. Now account—both of you. I've got figuring to do."

SHERRY BOND hadn't been alone 10 minutes when Sam appeared at the opened door of the tack-room. "Miss Sherry, that oily-talking man's back ag'in', an' askin' for you."

The man came in, his hairless skull gleaming like a yellowed billiard ball; his coat cut like an hour glass under his arms; knife-edged crease in his trousers, spats over his ankles. His thick brown lips barely moved as he talked in the lowest of tones.

"Miss Bond, there'll be about 20 entries in the Derby this year. Your Pepper Boy has one chance out of 20."

"Well, what of it?" Definitely, she did not like his looks. From a pocket he drew forth a wallet. Counted out a sheet of bills rapidly, put a rubber band around them, and laid them on top of a locker trunk.

"There's $5000—and it's yours, now. If you give me your word you won't start Pepper Boy in the Derby."

Instantly Sherry was on her feet. "You take up that money—" at once!" she commanded, trying to control the anger that was rising in her. "There's nothing illegal in what I'm asking, Miss Bond," his voice came now in a sly purr. "I represent a group of future book gamblers—" "You take bets on the Derby nominees in advance of the race, giving longer odds than on race day, and if a horse doesn't start, you don't give the money back. That's where you make your big profit, isn't it?"

He nodded, his lips curving in a slight smile. "Absolutely correct, Miss Bond. But we made a mistake this year, Miss Bond. We misjudged your colt. We laid odds of 50 to 1 against him. Frankly, we don't think he can beat Castanets or Monitor at Derby distance—and we'd almost swear that he can't beat Wharton's Red Soldier. But, of course, there's one chance in 20 that he might—"

"And if he does win—how much are you out?" Sherry demanded. "More than 50 grand. I'm playing fair—telling you the facts. We've taken in almost $8500 on Pepper Boy. To play safe, we're willing to pay you $5000 to keep him in the barn. Then we'll make a profit of about $1500 on the transaction."

"I see—I see," said Sherry, huskily. "Pretty neat!" "You are using business sense, Miss Bond—and I congratulate you. Your word is good, Miss Bond."

"You're right it is," she managed to say. "It's so darn good, that if—if you don't get out of here instantly—and take your filthy money with you—I'll call the police!" "Very well." The man picked up the money, put on his hat carefully. "You'll regret this."

SHERRY felt unclean after the encounter with the thick-lipped, goggle-eyed gambler. Paul Wharton had warned her that racing wasn't all romance and roses; she never thought the sordid side would touch her—but it had.

She walked to her roadster, parked at the end of the barn. An imported car, gleaming in its almost-newness, it gave her a sense of well-being just to sit in it. Suddenly an idea struck her. Sherry jammed her foot on the starter—rolled between the barns, drove until she came to a building with a big sign hanging down.

"Money to loan on autos—no waiting."

Taber Shouts And Congressman Hears Out Of Deaf Ear

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Rep. John Taber of New York was shouting into a House microphone recently during debate on amending the wage-hour law.
Back in the audience sat Rep. Leonard Schuetz of Illinois, stone deaf in his left ear and able to hear only "very faint sounds in his right ear. Then suddenly it seemed to Schuetz that something had cleared away inside his head.
"I felt dizzy for a moment," he said today, "and then I heard sounds I'd never heard before. It's wonderful."
"When I was on the House Naval committee they used to shoot off 15-inch guns for me and it was all very flat. When I was a kid and someone would whisper into my left ear I'd get mad, because I thought that ear was just an ornament."
Schuetz, who was born in 1887 and had had poor hearing all his life, said he had spent "thousands of dollars" in an effort to effect a cure.
Members of the House who are also physicians, told him, Schuetz said, that undoubtedly there had been some obstruction in the inner ear since childhood and that the proper vibrations, set up by Taber's voice in the amplifier, had removed it.
