Kiwanians Will Enjoy Outing At Canadian Club

Pampa Kiwanians will observe All-Kiwanis Week this week with an outing Thursday evening at the White House Country Club, Canadian, and with a special program at their regular luncheon in the First Methodist church Friday noon.

The Pampa club members will be joining with 2,089 other Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States and Canada in a continent-wide observance stressing 25 years of service achievement.

Kiwanis was founded in Detroit, Jan. 21, 1915, and during this silver anniversary year special attention is concentrated on community service results, according to Tex DeWeese, club president.

"Our Pampa members are joining with 110,000 Kiwanians all over the United States and Canada to observe this all Kiwanis week," he said.

The Pampa club at its luncheon Friday will receive a special message from Bennett O. Knudson, Albert Lea, Minn., president of Kiwanis International. The international convention of Kiwanis is now in session at Minneapolis, and the Pampa club is being represented by R. W. Lane, secretary, and C. E. McGrew, chairman of the convention committee, as official delegates. J. B. Massa is chairman of the club education committee which is in charge of the Thursday picnic and the program for the Friday luncheon. He said today that the picnic program of games, amusements and entertainment at the White House country club in Canadian will begin at 6 p. m. Thursday and that supper will be served at 7:15 o'clock.

Mr. Massa also stated that an effort is being made to have 100 per cent attendance at the Friday noon luncheon, in an effort to have all members hear the message from the international president, as well as the special program which has been arranged for the day.

The principal discussion Friday will be centered around the value of Kiwanis education for the entire club membership. The club will take a pledge re-dedicating itself to the observance of Kiwanis principles, stressing the building of better communities, the promotion of patriotic citizenship and emphasizing the value of enduring friendships.

Dog Show Trophies On Exhibit Here

Ribbons and trophies awarded first, second, and third place winners of the Panhandle Kennel club show held at Recreation park in April have arrived and will be on display in the show windows of Pampa Hardware store this afternoon when they will be brought to The News office where winners may call for them.

The trophies include dozens of miniature dog figures, representing the various breeds, and the grand championship trophy and the reserve championship trophy. First place winners will be awarded dog figures and ribbons and second place winners a red ribbon, and third place a white ribbon.

It was difficult to obtain the metal trophies—reason for the long delay in awarding the prizes. The Kennel club show was sponsored by The News with about 200 entries from all over the Panhandle.

Trotsky Attackers Held

MEXICO CITY, June 18 (AP)—Reports circulated in police circles today that the organizer of the machine-gun attempt to assassinate Leon Trotsky had been apprehended and that 27 other persons who participated in the spectacular assault on his walled home were being held. No official confirmation could be obtained.

I Heard . . .

That the high-stepping, baton-twirling expert, who took the eye of everyone as he led the Pampa High school band in the two Top O' Texas Fiesta parades, was Billy Smith of Bellefontaine, Ohio, who is visiting his brother, R. E. Smith, and Mrs. Smith, at Phillips camp south of Pampa. Billy is drum major of the 115-piece Ohio University band at Athens, Ohio. He volunteered to lead the band in the absence of the regular drum major who was out of the city.

Names Drawn For Ballot; Fees Fixed

Order of candidates names on the ballot for the first Democratic primary to be held on July 27 was drawn at a meeting of the Gray County Democratic Executive committee held yesterday afternoon.

Most hotly contested state race is that for railroad commissioner, leading with 19 seeking that office. There are eight candidates for governor. Of these, one, A. L. Derden, has withdrawn from the race, according to a story in an Amarillo newspaper, but Chairman Coffey said he had not been officially notified.

At the county committee meeting yesterday, it was decided that precinct chairmen would select the judges and clerks for the primary election of July 27.

A resolution was passed setting the dates of July 27 and August 24 as the dates of the primary elections in Gray county. To check the work of the county committee, a sub-committee is to meet Monday.

50,000 French Flee From Alsace Trap

BASEL, Switzerland, June 18 (AP)—Fifty thousand French fortress troops escaped from Germany's Alsace-Lorraine trap to reassemble with the French army of the south early this morning.

These troops were mainly from the Nancy garrison and had fought around Metz and in the Vosges section.

They headed south 12 hours after the lower Maginot line army of 300,000 had escaped.

The 50,000 were unopposed except for skirmishes with small German motorized units in the flight down the Saone valley.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Berlin was radiating the spirit of hard terms for France today.

The news fits a vivid impression I have been carrying about for twenty-one years—an impression which came from the look on the drawn, grey faces of the German envoys as they signed the Treaty of Versailles.

There was a grim expression of defiance which advertised louder than words that some day they would strike back. That picture has been constantly in my mind since France signalled that she wanted peace.

It perhaps fits this general theme that Hitler should have chosen Munich, his favorite city, for his conference with Mussolini to write the fate of the French empire.

The world won't soon forget that Munich was the incubator which fostered the Hitlerian ambition to expand Germany's lebensraum (living-space).

The only thing which appears definite about the terms at this juncture is that the basis of an armistice will be the complete elimination of France as a fighting factor. That much must be expected.

France industry, refused to say whether England is banking largely on the Hitlerian ambition to make a direct assault on Britain.

The disposal of the big French fleet remains of paramount importance—more so even than some territorial desires—because its disposition will play a vital part in the outcome of the war.

If Germany and Italy get the French navy they will be close to parity with the British fleet upon which England is banking largely for victory. If England is able to get and retain the French ships, she will have strengthened her position immeasurably.

Berlin has the idea that Britain already has taken over the French fleet, and that might easily be so. In any event, it would be much more profitable for England if the ships were scuttled rather than placed in German hands.

350,000 Men Escape From Maginot Line

LES VERRIERS, Switzerland (At the French border), June 18 (AP)—French troops 350,000 strong escaped today from the lower Maginot line to reassemble with the southern army and lend force to the nation's insistence upon an "honorable peace."

The troops moved south in two main forces, the first of 300,000 and the second of 50,000.

The larger body was shielded by a thousand French Alpine Chasseurs, who stood guard in the lower Jura region while the Maginot line troops escaped behind the thin screen.

The second force of 50,000, mainly from the Nancy garrison and veterans of engagements around Metz and the Vosges sector, headed south 12 hours after the others. They made their way down through the Saone valley unopposed except for skirmishes with small motorized German units.

Their passage indicated here that although German Panzer divisions reached the Swiss frontier early this morning, the Alsace Lorraine area is still far from being sealed off from the rest of the French forces.

It was considered impossible for the Germans in two days to have extended its motorized legions over the area from Verdun to Jura in more than a thin line.

A lone French motorcycle courier was said to be maintaining liaison between the forces.

Artillery fire just north of Basel ceased today, but the rumble of guns was still audible from the region around Neuf Brisach, where the Germans are maintaining bridge heads at the Rhine and the Rhine-Rhone canal.

Huge clouds of smoke marked the passage of French troops in withdrawal. They were burning oil and gasoline reservoirs, dynamites bridges and destroying munitions dumps behind them.

In the communities of Eastern France through which the troops moved, the civilians reopened barricaded shutters and doors to greet and feed the soldiers.

Seven Candidates File For Governor

AUSTIN, June 18 (AP)—Candidates for the governorship of Texas numbered seven today with the withdrawal of Representative Albert Derden in favor of Highway Commissioner Harry Hines.

In a speech at Rosebud last night, Derden, one of the leaders in the legislative fight against the sales tax, said he would continue the campaign in Hines' behalf.

Secretary Clarence Butcher of the state Democratic executive committee said he assumed Derden's name would appear on the official ballot regardless of his withdrawal because names of candidates have been sent to county committees for ballot preparation.

'Battle Of Britain' Soon Will Begin, Says Minister

(By The Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, dictators of the axis powers, met in the "Fuehrer house" in Munich today to dictate expected stiff terms of peace for France, while in London Prime Minister Churchill predicted that any German invasion of England would likely "be drowned in the sea or blown to pieces attempting to land."

Churchill proclaimed the beginning of "the battle for Britain" and said defeat would plunge even the United States "into the abyss of a new dark age."

In Rome, authoritative fascists said Hitler and Mussolini planned a separate peace for France on terms that would break British influence forever on Continental Europe.

(By The Associated Press)

BORDEAUX, FRANCE, June 18—Marshal Henri Philippe Petain ordered all French soldiers and sailors on land, sea and in the air tonight to keep on fighting—even while he awaited Adolf Hitler's reply to his plea for an honorable peace.

MUNICH, June 18 (AP)—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini agreed tonight on the terms on which they propose to grant peace to France and left Munich immediately after conclusion of their conference in the famed Fuehrerhaus.

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 18—Winston Churchill proclaimed today to his parliament and people the beginning of "the battle for Britain" and declared directly that its loss would plunge even the United States "in the abyss of a new dark age."

In a house of commons echoing with wild cheers, he cried: "Let us brace ourselves to our duty. And so bear ourselves that if the British empire and commonwealth lasts for a thousand years, men will still say: 'this was their finest hour.'"

Bill Proposes Doubling Of Border Patrol

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The House appropriations committee asked Congress today for more than $1,600,000 in an emergency measure to double the Canadian and Mexican border patrols and to tighten enforcement of laws regulating alien seamen.

These items were contained in a $57,917,100 catch-all bill to meet dozens of last-minute requests by government departments on the eve of the new fiscal year.

The committee approved a $2,200,000 item for the immigration service, transferred last week from the labor to the justice department, to keep the naturalization staff at its present level and to increase the border patrol from 856 to 1,625 men. "It is proposed," the committee said, "to distribute this personnel in approximately equal proportions on the Mexican and Canadian borders to tighten up the illegal entry of aliens into the United States."

The committee also approved a commerce department request for $119,000 to add 80 shipping commissioner's office employees "in order more adequately to enforce the laws with respect to aliens in the merchant marine."

Other major funds in the bill: To increase the federal crop insurance corporation capital stock to meet losses, $20,000,000.

To repair the 80-year-old roofs over the Senate and House chambers which architects said were "unsafe" since the time they were built, $385,000.

For 14,232 more beds in veterans' hospitals, $1,000,000.

To provide for the return of the antarctic expedition to the United States, $171,000.

The bill also carried items of $200,000 and $275,000, respectively for continuation of federal participation in the San Francisco and New York World's Fairs.

South American Nations Need U. S. Financial Help

BUENOS AIRES, June 18 (AP)—Informed Argentine sources declared today that the South American nations, dependent on substantial export trade balances for both financial and political stability, needed material aid from the United States to avert domination by totalitarian powers in Europe.

These sources said the time had arrived when the United States must choose between extending far-reaching financial aid to these "economic victims of the European war" or watching these nations fall into economic systems of old world totalitarian nations.

The Argentine minister expressed "good and reasonable hopes for ultimate victory."

Admitting the great question was: "Can we break Hitler's air weapon," he said Britain's air strength compared more favorably than ever before to Germany's; that planes and supplies were flowing in ever-increasing quantities from the United States and the dominions.

Of Britain's own terms, he cried: "We abate nothing of our just demands. Czechs, Poles, Norwegians, Dutch, Belgians, all who have joined their cause to our own shall be restored!"

The opposition leaders, Liberal Sir Percy Harris and H. B. Lees-Smith, for Labor, assured the prime minister the nation was united behind him "right up to the end."

The prime minister declared that Britain could not relieve France of her "treaty obligations" to continue the war.

War Flashes

BERLIN, June 18 (AP)—German sources expressed belief today that Britain, anticipating France's dark day, already had spirited off much of the French fleet for use in continuing the war on her own.

BERLIN, June 18 (AP)—The German air force had its biggest day of the war yesterday, sinking or damaging 880,000 tons of enemy shipping at the mouth of the Loire river, authorized sources said today.

BERLIN, June 18 (AP)—Authorized German sources said today that France must either accept or reject the peace terms of the axis powers before they are made known to the world.

LONDON, June 18 (AP)—French sources in London said today that they considered it "probably that General Albert Nogués, commanding France's North African army, and General Mittelhauser, commanding the French army in the near East, had decided to continue fighting."

LONDON, June 18 (AP)—Viscount Caldecote, speaking for the government today in the house of lords, declared:

"Whether the French cease to fight or not, we are persuaded that the French authorities will do all in their power to remove every hindrance to the continuance of the struggle by their allies."

LONDON, June 18 (AP)—Authoritative British circles insisted today they had no information regarding Italian warships that French and Italian warships had fought a major engagement with heavy Italian losses.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, June 18 (AP)—Compulsory military service is enforced by regulations issued today providing for establishment of a general reserve including all males over 16 years of age and selection of reservists for service in New Zealand and overseas.

HONGKONG, June 18 (AP)—The Central News (official Chinese) agency asserted today Chinese forces had re-taken Ichang, important port on the middle Yangtze which the Japanese took a week ago.

BORDEAUX, France, June 18 (AP)—The French cabinet met again today with Premier Marshal Petain, still awaiting an answer to the aged marshal's Sunday night appeal to the enemy for "peace with honor."

The exhausted French army presumably still were fighting a losing battle, the customary official communique, however, had not been forthcoming this afternoon.

LONDON, June 18 (AP)—Exchange Telegraph (British News agency) reported today that the Rumanian cabinet had resigned. It quoted DNB, German official news agency, as its source.

MACKENZIE

passing strange if Hitler doesn't dismember the empire.

France certainly is faced with heart-break, and in this hour of trial she instinctively thinks of her premier who has taken the wheel in this crisis—Marshal Henri Pétain.

Not in a blue moon would you be able to count the thousands of Europe's living heroes, many of them newly made upon the battlefields of this war, but of this host the bravest of them all to my mind is that grand old soldier.

There could be no courage greater than that displayed by this 84-year-old military genius in leaving himself to be drafted to serve as the premier who must present the capitulation of his beloved France to Hitler.

It would be comparatively easy to declare:—"We shall fight to the last man." But the word "surrender" comes hardly to the lips of the defender of Verdun who sent echoing down through the generations the historic battle-cry "They shall not pass."

In his broadcast to his people, announcing that France must sue for peace, the marshal said in his simple but dignified language: "I have given myself to France to better her situation at this grave hour."

Thus the hero of Verdun took up on his aged shoulders the burden of surrender.

Salute to a brave soldier!

Government Needs Skilled Workers

AUSTIN, June 18 (AP)—The government's call for highly skilled workers to aid in the national defense program was sounded here today by Herbert W. Chalberg, local secretary of the U. S. Civil Service commission.

In a statewide radio broadcast Chalberg advised workers of this classification to immediately contact local civil service secretaries or the nearest first or second class post-office for information as to qualifications and other details of employment.

He said there was no shortage of clerical or unskilled labor.

Germans Demand Harsh Terms For Beaten France

(By The Associated Press)

MUNICH, Germany, June 18—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini sat down today in Munich—the old Bavarian city where so much of the world's history has been made in recent years—to dictate to France the terms upon which she will be allowed to have peace.

Hitler arrived first, entering the city with all the pomp of a present-day Napoleon while the church bells rang and the people cried out their hells.

Mussolini, the number 2 partner in an axis which thus far has not lost a major engagement in this war, arrived just three hours later—at 3 p. m. (7 a. m. CST).

They met—Hitler and Mussolini—in an atmosphere which suggested that the bargain might be a hard one for France. For, while nothing was said officially here and there was every prospect that the policy of silence would go on for hours, authorized German sources had thus declared:

"France must understand clearly that the vanquished cannot make demands!"

It seems likely that Munich—as is was on another occasion now more than a year ago when Britain and France decided not to fight for Czechoslovakia—would be only a Czech for action, and that what was done might be announced not here but in Berlin and Rome.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German foreign minister, conducted Count Ciano, the Italian foreign minister, and others to the Prinz Karl palace.

The shouting street crowds were witnessing then a virtual repetition of another Munich conference of September, 1938, except that this time it was France, and not Czechoslovakia, whose fate was at stake.

It has been repeatedly made evident that German troops have not desisted their march through France despite Marshal Petain's radio message yesterday asking for an armistice.

The Reich followed up yesterday's military announcements with the statement today that the absorption and crushing of the French military machine, once the world's greatest, is being continued relentlessly.

Meitz swallowed—Dijon taken—Belfort conquered. Such were the day's pronouncements. Those cities are as important to the French as Chicago, San Francisco and Pittsburgh are to Americans.

They are in the heart of France's richest industrial section over which Germany, Austria and France have contested many times.

"We are determined to have a peace not for the present, but for centuries," said a headline in Der Angriff, Propaganda Minister Goebbels' paper. An accompanying article said:

"France forced the use of arms. We now begin giving Europe peace for which we have fought. The new Europe is being born that will have the German high command declared today that the collapse of the French army is progressing rapidly, announcing that the Orne river had been crossed at several points between Caen and Le Mans, in northwestern France.

CHURCHILL

invaders might well be "drowned in the sea or blown to pieces while trying to land."

But Churchill let the nation know in stark language what he felt would be the new "dark ages" which would come, he said, would be "made more sinister and perhaps more prolonged by the lights of a perverted science."

"Upon this battle," he cried, "depends the survival of Christian civilization. Hitler knows he will have to break us in this island or lose the war."

The one great question, he said, was: "Can we break Hitler's air weapon?"

The nation, Churchill warned, will face air attack soon.

He added, however, that "no invasion on a scale beyond the capacity of our air forces to crush immediately is likely to take place from the air until our air force has been definitely overpowered."

The prime minister was forthright in his confident prediction that Britain could meet invasion, even by matching secret methods which Hitler may have evolved.

He told his listeners to remember that from 200 to 250 ships would be needed to carry "even five divisions" of Germans across the channel.

Declaring "the advantage of the defenders will be very great," he said Britain hoped to improve on the ratio of three or four German planes downed for every British plane lost which, he said, was established over Dunkerque, at the end of the battle of Flanders.

The Bordeaux correspondent of the London Daily Mail reported today that the French Mediterranean fleet, under orders of Admiral Jean Darlan, had inflicted heavy losses on the Italian navy in a major engagement, but the time of the battle was not clear.

Eyes On The Conventions

The bird-and-snake fascination with which the American people are keeping their eyes glued on the terrible drama now stalking across Europe is causing a dangerous neglect of our own affairs.

Only a few days remain before the Republican party meets in Philadelphia to choose its candidate for the presidency. Three weeks after that the Democratic party meets for the same purpose.

At the moment it is of course true that the present and future relations of the United States to the rest of the world are the most important concern of the people. Yet the President chosen this fall will be at the head of the government for four years. It is highly unlikely that the present war will continue that long. The incoming President will be faced with heavy responsibilities, not only to pilot the American ship through the present highly dangerous shoal waters of a world at war, but to chart a course in the new and undiscovered seas which will open before us when the war is over. Of these we know nothing and can guess little, except that whatever the results of the war, they will almost certainly be different from anything we have known before.

Therefore the election of the President is not less important but more important than when only domestic issues are to the fore. There will be plenty of domestic issues in the post-war period, and the fact that they are temporarily obscured by the war does not mean that they will not come strongly to the fore by 1944.

Nobody can be elected President until he has first been nominated. So the current disregard of the nominating conventions is unfortunate.

Neither party can afford at this critical time to nominate any but the man it believes best-fitted to pilot the nation through troubled waters. Back-room compromises and strictly political jockeying will find little sympathy. All attention of political leaders in both parties should be concentrated on choosing the leader of highest possible quality and ability.

The conventions have become vitally important, because from one or the two meetings will emerge the man who is to lead a united America in the troubled days to come. This is democracy in action, and nothing will be more reassuring to the American people than a straightforward, serious, statesmanlike job at the two national conventions.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, June 18—Expected Senate approval of the House plans to boost the army to 375,000 men would soon give the United States a compact, up-to-date striking force of nine infantry divisions, two mechanized divisions, two cavalry divisions, and enough supplemental troops to form the whole into two complete army corps ready for immediate action.

This new enlargement of the army, which goes beyond increases previously voted, would give the nation a mobile field army within its continental borders of close to 135,000 men.

Plans for a recruiting campaign have been perfected. The drive can get under way as soon as congressional action is complete.

HORSE CAVALRY STILL KEPT

Uncle Sam's field army today has five infantry divisions, plus a skeletonized sixth division; the new plan would fill in all the gaps and add three brand new divisions. Peacetime strength of these "streamlined" divisions is 8500 men, organized into three infantry regiments, two artillery regiments, and various signal, quartermaster, engineer, and headquarters units.

Fire-power can be judged by the weapons carried. Each of these divisions would be equipped with 3198 rifles, 18 anti-tank guns, 278 machine guns, 9 mortars, 36 75-millimeter field pieces, and 16 155-millimeter howitzers.

Right now the army has one mechanized brigade, plus a few scattered units. Under the new plan it would have two full divisions of approximately 7500 men each.

The two cavalry divisions contemplated in the new plan would take few of the recruits; army already has one complete cavalry division, plus enough scattered cavalry units to form another. A cavalry division numbers between 8000 and 9000 men. Just incidentally, the army argues that there are plenty of spots in the U. S. where the terrain would stop a mechanized outfit, and where old-style horsemen are still invaluable.

SOLDIERS GO FOR SPECIALIZATION

It is under the heading of supplemental corps troops that the army would get some of its most modern fighting units.

An army corps is composed of two or more divisions; supposition is, under the set-up outlined here, that there'd be five regular divisions in one and four in the other. Each corps will need about 12,500 special troops to make it a complete, self-contained fighting unit, and each corps' special troops would be made up as follows:

One motorized cavalry regiment, one field artillery brigade (two regiments of medium artillery and one of heavy), one anti-tank battalion, service and headquarters units, and so on.

RESERVE OFFICERS TO BE NEEDED

It stands to reason that if this plan goes through the army is going to have to call up some of its reserve officers, both for training the new recruits and for posts of command. Authority to do this will probably require special legislation.

Although three brand new infantry divisions will be

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of equal man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

WHAT PUBLIC RELIEF LEADS TO

What the people fail to understand is that when the government assumes the obligation of taking care of those people who are destitute, then by the very nature of things it must regulate the lives of those who are not destitute in order to prevent them from becoming destitute.

The very minute the government attempts to do something that a free government was never intended to do—namely furnish relief—then that very minute it must start to take away the freedom of choice and the right of its citizens to make mistakes. In other words, when it starts relief sooner or later the whole form of free democracy has to be abandoned and we must have a dictator government, as exists in Germany, Spain, Italy and Russia.

This interference that follows public charity is something that the people in the United States have not yet awakened to. It is time that we look around and see what is going on along this line. We are now telling the farmer what he dare produce, the workers how long they dare work and what price they dare sell their services for, whether they dare spend the fruits of their labor or have part of it taken from them by the government, whether the employer dare select his help or not, whether a man dare buy security or not. We are even coming to believe that the government must sooner or later regulate in what state a man dare go. This is due to the fact that some states give more relief than other states and these states that are more socialistic than other states are now advocating, as the State Chamber of Commerce of California is advocating, that the Federal Government or other states become more socialistic.

All these encroachments by the government on the inalienable rights of a citizen to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are the natural sequences of government assistance.

What few people have failed to see is that when the government does things for people, it sooner or later will do things to people. We must have either freedom with responsibility of supporting oneself or give up the idea of freedom and come to believe that we can under some magical way select government officials who are not only honest but capable of doing more than we can do by using all the initiative and talent of a free people.

We will have to take our choice. We should learn from the object lesson which we have in France, Spain, Germany, Italy of the effects of government assistance.

LET'S EXAMINE OUR PART IN THE WAR

I notice those people who are doing the most talking about assisting the Allies invariably never mention the part that we have had in causing the war.

These people invariably paint us as the acme of humanitarianism and justice. They never point out that we passed immigration laws that kept for us the gratuities of God—that is, the natural resources, the sun, the rain, the minerals—which were intended to be the blessings of all mankind.

They never mention the fact that we have passed the worst kind of tariff laws under the shortsighted belief that we were benefitting and enriching ourselves.

They never point out that we who claim to be wise people have so conducted our government that millions of people have been out of work and that we have not taught by example how a true democratic government can continuously raise the standard of living.

They never point out that if we had had the kind of a government we should have had all our people would have been fully employed and any people from any other nation who cared to come here could be fully employed. That, then, under these circumstances, it would have been very difficult for Hitler and Mussolini to have their men willing to fight and lay down their lives.

No, these men who are saying for us to turn over the resources of our country to the Allies never mention our own shortcomings.

It is time we analyze our own errors, our own blunders, our own acts that are unjust and undemocratic and contrary to what the framers of the Constitution intended us to do.

This does not mean at all that we should not be prepared to defend ourselves against all on-comers. The best way to prepare is to permit jobs to be interchangeable, to have the government cease and desist making laws that stop the creation of wealth, to have the government cease and desist taking from one man at one rate and another at another rate.

We have plenty to do at home to prepare ourselves to live normally right and just and, thus, be a great influence by example and at the same time accumulate the necessary mechanical equipment so that no one would dare attack us.

INTERVENE? WITH WHAT?

(From the New York World-Telegram) We're continually bumping into people who want to know whether, and how soon, the United States is going to intervene in Europe.

They can't seem to shake off the notion that what happened in 1917 is bound to repeat itself. They don't realize, apparently, that we have nothing with which to intervene—even if we wanted to—except our Navy.

Our army? Only 80,000 mobile troops, aside from Air Corps personnel, are available today in the United States proper. Such is the testimony of army authorities.

Our airplanes? The fighting in Europe has shown that most of our existing planes are obsolete, and Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Corps, says only half a dozen or so could be modernized.

Our Navy? We simply could not afford to send it to European waters. The Navy must be kept intact to defend our own shores.

But surely we could raise a great army "overnight," as in 1917, it is argued.

So? In 1917 we had the men, but not the equipment. It took two years, then, to convert our industry for the production of munitions. The A. E. F. was actually equipped in large part by the Allies. And today the Allies have not been able to supply even their own forces adequately.

formed, they won't be "rookie" divisions. Plan is to reshuffle the veterans now in the army so that each new unit would have a framework of old-timers.

'ACHI' YOU'RE JUST SEEING THINGS UNDER THE BED'

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 17—When a movie cast relaxes on the set for a little horse-play or high-powered ribbing—with the overhead rolling up maybe at $2,000 an hour—visiting bankers, stock-holders, studio supervisors, and other money-minded moguls begin grousing right away about frivolity and extravagance. Nine times out of 10 they're dead wrong.

Picture production is a daffy business in which grim efficiency is ruinous and where an off-stage laugh may echo pleasantly in the cash registers. I've just watched a demonstration of thoroughly practical joking on the set of a picture significantly titled "No Time for Comedy."

NO WORK, ALL PLAY AT RUSSELL BIRTHDAY

Rosalind Russell had a birthday. While Miss Russell was sitting down and trying to erase the spots before her eyes after a particularly long scene, a man struggled in with a seven-foot wreath. A wide ribbon bore the words "Happy Birthday, Darling," and the perimeter sprouted a great variety of pink roses, lush scallions, crisp carrots, pristine turnips, and some effectively arranged cabbage leaves. There also was a card from Miss Russell's good friend and deflator, Bette Davis.

The ailing actress whooped, posed for a couple of pictures, and was visibly brighter when she faced director Bill Keighly and the lights a few minutes later.

After a couple of takes, there was a commotion off the set and there came Jimmy Stewart wheeling a large baby buggy. It was occupied by Sailor Vincent, a plump stunt man, in bonnet, ribbons, and not much else. He was tooting the happy birthday tune on a tin horn.

MORE WHOOPING, MORE PICTURES

Miss Russell howled and posed for some pictures. Vincent, no fool in spite of his costume, petulantly asked about a kiss. He got several and is probably at home in bed now, basking in his memories and a temperature of 104 degrees.

Back in the scene, Miss Russell went through three complete takes without wavering. Then there was a long wait for a new setup of camera and lights. Just as they called her again, Sailor Vincent reappeared. He had been put into chef's costume this time, complete with moustache, and he was carrying an enormous birthday cake and was singing.

Miss Russell, genuinely thrilled this time, started toward Vincent. The stunt man, still walking, tripped on a cable and sprawled as the actress screamed. (This is called "taking it big.") Mack Sennett fashion, Vincent landed with his face in the cake, which was a prop concoction especially made for divas. There was a genuine sparkle instead of a glaze in the booful brown eyes of the actress when she resumed her chores with Mr. Keighly.

JOBS for JUNE GRADUATES

TEST OF SUCCESS IS WHETHER YOU GROW WITH JOB

By WALTER HOVING President, Lord & Taylor, New York; Author of "Your Career in Business" (Duell, Sloan and Pearce, $2)

First solemn truth for the young, newly employed person to keep in mind is that each added responsibility in any career requires a big person to carry the load.

Hard work, and long, consistent service are points which your employer takes into consideration (when he thinks of you in terms of promotion). For the good of his business, the determining factor must be whether you have grown as a person since you started work, or since your last promotion, and are now big enough for added responsibility.

Only the person who enriches himself will lead her into advertising and should deserve promotion. This is not simply a question of training, education, nor of acquiring more and more information about your job. It is a question of reaching beyond the boundaries of your job, or widening your personal horizon, of becoming broader, richer, more significant as a human being.

The young woman who selects the advertising or merchandising ladder to success in a department store must be able to sell—easily and well. Without that ability she has little chance of success.

If she hopes that her flare for selling will lead her into advertising, she must be able to write and to get across in newspaper advertisements the dramatic possibilities of the merchandise.

Advertising is salesmanship in print. Successful selling is valuable experience that can lead to it. If she is to go on from selling into merchandising—to become a junior executive (perhaps head of stock or assistant buyer)—she must also have the ability to manage both merchandise and people. If she is to go on to become a buyer, she must have creative imagination—the ability to see possibilities of developing, improving and promoting attractively the merchandise on her shelves.

You will notice that, so far, this has been addressed to women in particular. It is done intentionally. I believe that women's inherent qualifications make them especially suited for department store work in these two fields—merchandising and advertising. They instinctively know what it takes men long years to learn, regarding color, understanding the feminine customer, and so on.

Regardless of your sex, don't wait until graduation to look for a job. Don't expect a diploma to get a job for you. Your freshman year is none too soon to lay your plans. The surest way to get a hit-or-miss job is to start planning after graduation.

If you have waited, don't make matters worse by saying, "I'll do anything," when you apply for a job. You immediately established the fact that you've never bothered to find out what you can do well.

Don't be indefinite and say, "I'll do anything," when you apply for a job. You immediately established the fact that you've never bothered to find out what you can do well. Don't be indefinite and say, "I'll do anything," when you apply for a job. You immediately established the fact that you've never bothered to find out what you can do well.

THERE'S nothing in these first two paragraphs about war, unless you would call the Pampa Oilers' drive across other teams in the West Tex-New Mex league a blitzkrieg. Generalissimo Grover Seitz' warriors have been doing mighty well for themselves. . . . If you hadn't noticed it, take a look at the league standings tonight. . . . Point of this paragraph is that the mighty Pampa baseball team is back in town tonight for the first time in ten days. . . . They open a series with Midland's Cowboys.

Speaking of baseball, that reminds us that a host of Mrs. Ben Parrish's women and girl friends have decided they will make next Saturday night "stork night" out at Road Runner park. . . . The stork soon is to pay a visit to the Parrish home and Ben, you know, is a member of the Oilers' pitching staff and a right swell guy. . . . Since Saturday night also will be ladies' night at the park when all ladies will be admitted free, they have decided to show their appreciation for Mrs. Parrish by giving their stork shower. . . . There will be a big box at the ticket entrance where the ladies can drop their gifts for Mrs. Parrish and Ben's young son (he hopes). . . . And, of course, there will be no rule against gifts from Ben's male fans who wish to show Pitcher Parrish that he is guessing right when he says it will be a boy. . . . The women, arranging the event also wish it to be known that there is nothing compulsory about this, and that it is being done solely for those who wish to participate in the shower for Mrs. Parrish.

JUST in case you have been wondering whether to believe everything that Herr Hitler has said and whether or not to take it for granted that he meant what he said the other day when he stated that Germany has no designs on the United States, let's take a look back over some of his historic remarks of the past four or five years:

"At no time has Germany had any territorial or political interest in the American continent. Nor has Germany any such interest now. And that, let me say, holds good not only for North America but equally so for South America." —Adolf Hitler to Interviewer Karl von Weizsaeck, June 13, 1940.

"MR. ROOSEVELT asks assurance that the German army will not attack—and, above all, not invade—the territory of possessions of independent European nations. All states bordering on Germany have received much more binding assurances—and, above all, proposals—than Mr. Roosevelt asked from me." —Adolf Hitler to the German Reichstag, April 28, 1939.

Now, as a strong state, we can be ready to pursue a policy of understanding with surrounding states. We want nothing from them. We have no wishes or demands. "We desire peace." —Adolf Hitler, Oct. 9, 1938.

"WE want no Czechs. We have assured all our immediate neighbors of the integrity of their territory so far as Germany is concerned. That is no hollow phrase; it is our sacred will. The Sudetenland is the last territorial claim which I have to make in Europe." —Adolf Hitler, September, 1938.

"THE period of so-called surprise is now over." —Adolf Hitler, June 19, 1938.

"The lie goes forth again that Germany tomorrow or the day after will fall upon Austria or Czechoslovakia." —Adolf Hitler, May 1, 1938.

"AFTER three years, I believe that I can regard the struggle for German equality as concluded today. We have no more territorial demands to make in Europe." —Adolf Hitler, March 7, 1936.

"Germany neither intends nor wishes to interfere in the internal affairs of Austria, to annex Austria, or to conclude an Anschluss." —Adolf Hitler, May 21, 1935.

"AFTER the Saar question has been settled, the German government is ready to accept not only the pact but the spirit of the Locarno pact." —Adolf Hitler, Jan. 32, 1934.

"Germany will tread no other path than that laid down by the treaties. The German government will discuss all political and economic questions only within the framework of, and through, the treaties." —Adolf Hitler, May 17, 1933.

SAYS YOU! Hitler Will Attack Russia, Says Trotsky

This piece concerns a famous British regiment. Through two centuries of glorious history its officers' became accustomed to horses and spurs. The horse is now the tank. The men who formerly rode outside the horse now ride inside the tank. But they still wear spurs. When the tanks are sent to the filling stations for gasoline, the order is "Water your horses."

This story is now going the rounds of Washington. I can think of none better to illustrate the inflexible brains of brass hats and bureaucrats.

Another story is that when Orville and Wilbur Wright were nursing their infant aircraft they went to England to seek assistance in developing it. They, too, were con-fronted with the bureaucratic brain. They were told: "Why should we develop the airplane? If we do it will bridge the English Channel and make our fleet obsolete."

However much the Germans have fumed at the Versailles treaty, in the military sense it created a maximum in disguise. Under it the Germans were required to scrap their war planes. This made all existing models obsolete. It freed them from any necessity to gear future production to existing models. The treaty restricted the size of the engines and gas tanks that they might thereafter build in aircraft. Once again necessity became the mother of invention. German technical skill focused on the problem of how to build efficient fighting craft with an economy of gasoline consumption, a minimum weight of metal and a maximum of power. The treaty cut the red tape in the German bureau.

The treaty placed restrictions upon the armed forces which Germany might maintain. This made obsolete the older men and the old military ideas. Using the youth movement as a cover, Germany started to rebuild her armed might with young men and young officers. The result was that the vanquished in 1918 started the world 21 years later with young military ideas.

The victors in 1918 found themselves a generation later, led by civilians and officers whose brains had gone to seed. They had a civil government and military leaders with ineffectual minds. They thought they could stand behind the British fleet and the American fleet, and hold off the world. They never dreamed that younger men would have the imagination to fly over the fleet and the Maginot line rather than butting their heads against it as they did at Jutland and Verdun in 1916.

One of the loveliest rooms in America is the President's study on the second floor of the White House. Its walls are lined with pictures of ships. The desks and tables are covered with ship models. The room is now occupied by a man who was once Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Two weeks ago he found that he had been thinking of ships too long.

If America is to be prepared to defend itself against foreign aggression, it must free itself from the blight of the bureaucracy—the kind that pool-poached General Mitchell years ago when he told America that it must reckon with the destructive power of war planes even against the mightiest battleships. Two years ago Colonel Lindbergh, back from Germany, told England and France and America that the rising might of German air power. But nobody would listen.

Can America now free itself from the frozen brains of concentrated politics, free itself from admirals, generals, cabinet members who accuse of disloyalty those like Billy Mitchell who ventured to question the preconceptions of their superiors?

In this column and elsewhere during the past two years, the attention of the bureaucrats has been called to the advisability of taking over islands in the West Indies owned by foreign powers, crediting the sale price against the World War debt which they owe us or against present purchases. The suggestion was considered very laughable by the bureaucrats. It remained for a Britisher, within the past two weeks and under the stress of war, to suggest that this would be a wise thing for America to do.

We need fewer high priests in government who are hostile to American business, machine shops and lathes. We need the stimulus to constant improvement which the free enterprise system supplies through the competitive struggle to offer most and best for least. The boys who come out from West Point and Annapolis are the cream of our young manhood. They are the future generals and admirals. I think, however, it would be a good thing if their course of instruction were lengthened by one year and that year spent in machine shops where the young men would get their hands covered with grease. They must learn to have a feeling for machines because modern war is a machine industry.

America has two choices today. It can center more control over American industry in Washington and thus further extend the dead hand of the bureaucrat. The other course is to free enterprise and release the dynamic forces of imagination and youth.

Oilers Will Open 11-Day Stand In Pampa

Team Loses Only 2 Games On Road Trip

Clinging to first place by a game and a half, the Pampa Oilers return home tonight for the first of 12 games to be played in 11 days. Opposition tonight and tomorrow night, at 8:30 o'clock, will be furnished by Sam Hale and his fourth place Midland Cowboys who have been climbing steadily the past couple of weeks.

Manager Grover Seltz and his boys lost only two games on their long road trip although they had some tough sledding at times. Highlight of the trip was their two victories over the Clovis Pioneers, the final victory coming last night 12 to 5.

Illness of Bob Knobles forced Manager Grover Seltz to pick up Otis, Indian second baseman and outfielder, in Clovis yesterday.

Saturday night will not only be Ladies night, but will be surprise night at Road Runner park. Announcement regarding the special occasion will be made later.

CLOVIS, June 18—Gus Hallbourg won his 10th game of the season and the Pampa Oilers won their second at eight game last night 12 to 5. Although Hallbourg was nicked for 10 blows, one a home run by Stone, his lead was never challenged after the third inning.

Jordan, who seems to like Clovis pitching, helped his cause with a home run and two singles. Summers and Malvica hit three singles each while Frasier and Clutter bagged a double and a single each as the Oilers got to Shirley and Feemster for 15 hits.

Stone led the Pioneers with a home run, double and single with Smily, secured from the Dallas Rebels, continuing his hitting with a pair of singles.

7 Games Scheduled In Texas League

(By The Associated Press)

Seven games are scheduled in the Texas League tonight. The results could tighten the race from third place down to seventh.

Double headers will be played at Dallas, with the Rebels meeting Oklahoma City; at Fort Worth, with the Cats clashing with Tulsa, and at Shreveport, with the Sports entertaining Beaumont. Houston meets San Antonio tonight in a single game at Houston.

Three games now separate seventh-place Shreveport and third-place Beaumont.

Only two tilts were run off last night. Rain halted Beaumont at Shreveport, and Tulsa at Fort Worth.

Houston's Buffs added a game to their lead by trimming San Antonio 9-3 in a contest of seven pitchers.

Oklahoma City beat Dallas 4-2, with a two-run, ninth inning spurge in which Harry Bassin pounded a triple and George Dickey a double.

Canadian Rodeo To Be Advertised In Good Will Trips June 24, 27

Boosting the granddaddy of all Panhandle rodeos, ranchers and businessmen of Canadian will make two goodwill jaunts in this section Monday, June 24, and Thursday, June 27, making Pampa one of their stops.

The group, one of the largest ever to make a booster trip from Canadian, will invite residents of Pampa and surrounding territory to attend the 18th annual Anvil Park Rodeo, July 3 and 4. The rodeo men are scheduled to arrive here at 5 o'clock next Monday afternoon, with banners waving and horns blasting.

Stock for this greatest outdoor show in the Panhandle will be furnished by Beutler Brothers, owners of the meanest, orniest and buckingest animals in the Southwest. Besides the usual rodeo contests, Anvil Park officials have thought up a new innovation, a wild mule scramble with all cowhands coming from the shutes at once astride unbroken mules furnished from the ranges of local owners.

Rodeos will be conducted at 2 o'clock Thursday, July 4, and at 8 o'clock the evenings of July 3 and 4. Dances will be in the spacious auditorium, with music by Ray Hummel, at night on July 3, 4 and 4.

A parade Wednesday afternoon, July 3, will depict transportation from its inception through the present age of streamliners. The largest aggregation of horses and horsemen in Canadian since the first rodeo in Canadian in 1888 will ride in the parade. C. A. Studer, rodeo secretary, has announced the Pampa Summer Recreation band under direction of A. C. Cox will play the night of July 3 and the Perryton High school band will be on hand the evening of July 4.

Sydney Yokley, Canadian's typical American ranch girl, will appear in the grand entry at each show, and will rope a calf according to regular rodeo rules.

The itinerary for Monday includes the following towns: Mobee-

Canadian Golf Tournery Sunday

Pampa golfers have been invited to attend the annual Canadian Invitation Golf tournament to be played over the Canadian Country club course, June 23.

Play will be 27 holes, medal, with nine holes to qualify, beginning at 8:30 a. m. There will be five flights.

The Canadian course is in excellent condition following recent heavy rains.

Entrance fee is $1.50 in the championship flight and $1 in other flights.

Reconstruction Of Softball Diamond Scheduled Today

A strange spectacle is scheduled to be presented at the Recreation park east of the city this evening. It will be the constructing of a softball diamond by players who will wield shovels and drag rakes over the infield.

Every softball player in the Pampa Recreation league is scheduled to report for work at 5:30 o'clock. Two oil companies have volunteered to furnish drags and scrapers while one company has agreed to lengthen the light poles.

Next appearance of the players will be in uniforms because the league will open next week. A team desiring to enter the league should contact Jack Back at the county tax collectors office or Jim Edwards, recreation supervisor, in the basement of the city hall.

A military communique reported, meanwhile, that Italian planes had bombed the French naval base of Bizerte, the British base of Malta and airports on French Corsica, while Italian submarines had sunk two enemy oil tankers.

Fighting continued against France on the Alpine frontier and in North Africa.

The high command reported, too, that air raids on northern Italian cities had continued, causing two deaths in Milan and damaging several buildings, including a nuns' hospice. Four enemy raiders were declared shot down in the Genoa region.

Cards Block Dodgers As Cincinnati Regains Lead

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals may not be going anywhere, but they're going there fast.

Since Billy Southworth ascended (?) to the manager's job last week the club has won five games and lost none. But the Cards had been in such desperate circumstances that this spectacular streak hasn't been enough to get them out of the National league's second division.

They'll have to keep marching to overtake the Chicago Cubs who are five games ahead of them.

The Redbirds created a stir yesterday by blockading the Brooklyn Dodgers 4-1 and enabling the Cincinnati Reds to regain first place.

The Reds reaped a 6-2 triumph at Philadelphia to take a full game jump over the Dodgers and also shove the Phillies into the National league's cellar.

The New York Giants got back on the winning track and moved into a game of second place when Paul Dean continued his mastery over the Chicago Cubs by a 2-1 score.

The Boston Bees, who couldn't get any sort of pitching worthy of the name in the early part of the season, benefited from two sidehit performances by Bill Posedel and Al Piechota in sweeping a double header from the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 and 5-1.

The stunt was sufficient to boost the Bees from eighth to sixth place in one hop.

The American league had an idle day.

Two Motorized Divisions Added To Regular Army

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The expanding regular army added two new streamlined divisions to its roster today, as Congress went to work on the $1,200,000,000 navy bill that would give the United States the mightiest fleet in the history of seapower.

The new divisions—heavily armed and completely motorized—will give the army a total of eight streamlined units, each designed to strike with greater speed and power than the ponderous old-style divisions.

Secretary of War Woodring, announcing plans for the new divisions last night, said their troops would be drawn from the 38,000 enlistments for which Congress provided funds recently when it increased army strength to 280,000 men.

Legislation for an even greater army is already half way through Congress. Unanimously and without debate the house voted yesterday to move the strength up to 400,000 men—25,000 more than requested by General George C. Marshall, chief of staff.

With Senate approval expected for an increase of at least that size, General Marshall has plans ready for a ninth streamlined division and the second of two highly mechanized divisions, similar to the German Panzer divisions used in the European war.

The new fleet expansion bill, authorizing the construction of 84 more fighting ships during the next four years, was promised quick action as the house naval committee opened hearings.

SERIAL STORY

Ticket to Hollywood

BY W. H. PEARLS

Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY: When Gusty and Francie play and sing for the Elmer City Jam Session, a movie scout hears them. He tells of a super-broadband and forthcoming movie in which youngsters from 48 states are to be starred. Francie knows whether Francie or Gusty should have the chance for fame, the scout leaves a ticket entitling one of them to participate in the Hollywood broadcast.

CHAPTER II

It was Francie who finally broke the silence, a silence strictly their own, waiting them off from the music and chatter that filled Maw's Airport Rendezvous.

"Gusty," "Huh?" "Was—was... he real here? I mean, we didn't just dream it?" "Now," Gusty tried to sound disinterested, but his voice shook. "You can see the ticket, can't you?"

Francie nodded dreamily. "Jerry Finney... she breathed, and the name raced a chill along her spine.

Gusty was deep in a reverie of his own. "I got 50 bucks in the bank," he said finally. "A guy'd have to squeeze some to get there on that."

"You!" Francie exclaimed. "What about me?" "Don't get yourself in an uproar, Sugar. Girl singers are a dime a dozen. Good hot trumpet men are mighty scarce. Besides, it was me he was talking to."

"Oh!" Francie's brown eyes were stormy. "That's not true. You're—you're so conceited you think no one else—"

"Holy smoke, Francie, wasn't it me that first got you to swing out?" Gusty started reproachfully. "That old aunt of yours was teaching you a lot of long-hair stuff. Didn't I fix it with Duke so's you could sing with the band?"

And now you're as good as I am!" "Well, I am!" Francie raged. "Mr. Koon distinctly said he didn't care which of us went."

Gusty snorted. "Just because you reminded him of an old sweetheart." He took out the pig-skin wallet Francie had given him the previous Christmas. "I'm the faded clipped and tucked inside. I got to think this over, Francie."

"Gusty Gair, don't you take that!" Francie cried. "If—if you do, I'll never speak to you again."

"Sugar, you can't get along without me," Gusty grinned. "I—I meant what I said," Francie replied, without conviction.

For an instant Gusty's face showed genuine alarm, then hardened into its "so-what?" mask. "Okay, Francie. I guess no girl's going to tell Gusty Gair what to do. No, sir!" He arose slowly and swaggered across to the piano.

JOHN WESTON stared in amazement as his daughter entered the house. Francie's Aunt Hat, who kept house for them, sat across the living room playing solitaire.

"What miracle brings you home before 11 on a Friday night?" Mr. Weston asked.

Francie crumpled at his feet and buried her head in his lap. "Oh, Pops, I hate him."

"Hate whom, dear?" "Gusty. He's nothing but a big—"

"Amen." Aunt Hat nodded vigorously over her solitaire lay-out. "I never—"

"Please, Hat..." Mr. Weston frowned. He was a big man with iron gray hair and a gentle smile. He ran his hand over Francie's disheveled curls. "Now what's wrong, dear?"

Incoherently Francie told them about the amazing Mr. Koon.

"Francie, darling, what an opportunity!" "Easy, Hat," Mr. Weston protested. "The whole thing's undoubtedly a joke."

"Oh, Pops, no! It—it's printed right on the ticket."

"Gusty Gair, don't you take that!" Francie cried. "I'll never speak to you again."

"Okay, Francie. No girl's going to tell me what to do."

"You're taking this much too seriously, dear. I'm afraid Hat's been filling your head with foolish ideas. Even if you had the ticket, I wouldn't like the idea."

Aunt Hat said sharply, "I suppose you'd rather she stayed in Elspeth City and married a garage mechanic like that windbag Gusty?"

"Perhaps," John Weston said. "I don't happen to agree with your opinion of Gusty. Hard knock have made him the way he is. It's his defense. His mother died when he was 10. His father puttered around in show business and doubtless neglected to send money for Gusty's keep."

Francie stopped crying and listened wide-eyed.

John Weston continued: "I remember when the boy was holding down three jobs at once. He worked for his trumpet lessons and at the same time sold magazines and learned the garage business."

"He needn't be such a braggart," Aunt Hat sniffed.

"He's not a—" Francie broke off, remembering that she hated Gusty.

"The boy's only trying to sell himself, Hat."

"So you tucked him in snatching the ticket away from Francie?" Aunt Hat demanded indignantly.

"I do not," Mr. Weston retorted. "However, I will say that he probably was under the influence of the same glamorous nonsense you've been stuffing into Francie."

Aunt Hat retired sulkily to her game. The cards snapped against the silence. Mr. Weston toyed with Francie's hair.

"Hollywood's just like Elspeth City, dear. People fall in love, marry and have babies the same as they do here. Artresses don't live on spun sugar and moonbeams. They work hard and have their sorrows the same as you and I. If you went there, you'd see for yourself."

Francie hesitated, struggling with her pride. But once more stardust filled her eyes, and when she tried to blink it out, the photograph of Jerry Finney smiled an invitation to her from the dressing table.

Francie jumped to her feet, trembling. "I'll do it, Aunt Hat! I'll get that ticket somehow. I—I've just got to..."

Senators Worse Than Most Severe Critics Predicted

By EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—With the Senators entrenched in eighth place, the old wall went up in the capital today—Washington, first in war, first in peace, and last in the American league.

Suffering one of the worst losing streaks in 20 years, the Senators are foundering even more than their most severe critics predicted. The pitching has been sour. The fielding has been terrible. The hitting, which had been good, has fallen off.

Manager Bucky Harris, the boy wonder who brought Washington its first and only World Series pennant, has tried everything short of calling on owner Clark Griffith to pitch.

The Senators began the season with Jimmy Wasdell at first base. He failed to hit. Buddy Lewis was in right field. He played it poorly. Jimmy Fofah, the Minneapolis sensation, was a shortstop. He is hitting only .225 and is out of the lineup.

Dutch Leonard, who won 20 games for the Senators last season, has won seven and lost five.

It looks like a bad year—and help is not on the way.
