Bratton Meets Amarillo Soap Box Derby Victor

Two Panhandle Soap Box derby champions got together Wednesday at Amarillo when Mark Bratton, Pampa's 1940 champ, met Fred Brian, Jr., winner of the Amarillo Times' first annual derby there late yesterday afternoon.

Young Bratton was one of the most interested spectators at the Amarillo race, staged on a hill on Route 87 outside the Amarillo city limits. The Amarillo derby had 30 entrants. Bratton won the Pampa championship last Friday over 65 other entrants in The Pampa News-Lions club second annual derby.

Brittany To Break Away From France

BERLIN, July 25 (AP)—The executive committee of the Breton National council has decided that Brittany shall break away from France and become a national state, the German radio announced tonight.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Japan's new totalitarian government under the powerful leadership of Prince Konoye as premier has left no manner of doubt that it intends to rush its program of expansion and extend its dominion over East Asia while the western powers still are preoccupied with the European war.

As I read the Japanese writing on the wall, Nippon has made up its mind not to allow itself to be styried further by the prerogatives of the two most powerful western influences in the Orient—America and Great Britain.

It appears to me that Japan intends to go as far as possible in establishing hegemony over eastern Asia before the battle of Britain ends. Then the western powers—particularly England, with its vast interests in the Orient—will be faced with a fait accompli which will be difficult to upset.

This historic hardening of policy has been advertised in naively open statements by members of cabinet. These officials have indicated that Japan intends to cooperate more fully with the Berlin-Rome axis, and to employ in diplomacy the Hitlerian blitzkrieg methods which they profess to admire.

Prince Konoye summed the thing up by saying Japan is "building a new order in East Asia and propelling a change unprecedented in world history. Home and Welfare Minister Wasui has put an exclamation point after the whole disclosure with this:

"We cannot doubt that the day will come when Japan can share the world with Germany and Italy."

Now talkativeness isn't one of the failings of Japanese cabinet ministers. When they do start to talk, and in such strong terms, my insensitive nature sets me to searching for some hidden meaning. In the present instance I am inclined to believe that this advertising is intended largely as a warning to America and Britain to keep hands off.

Street Work Order Received Yesterday
Work order for placing seal coat on more than a dozen blocks of city streets and the construction of 40 vaulted gutters was received here yesterday. Total cost of the project will be $13,336 with the Works Projects Administration furnishing $6,457.

Work has already started on South Hobart street. Valley gutters will be constructed with concrete instead of the present asphalt material which has not stood up.

Fifty WPA workers will be used on the project which will require between two and three months to complete, the city manager said.

Johnson Injured In Car Collision
Earl Johnson, farmer south of Pampa, received a severe head wound and body bruises when his car was in collision with another driven by Tom Kirby of near Jericho about 7 o'clock last night. He was taken to Pampa-Jarratt hospital where a wound which started on the forehead and ended on the back of his head was dressed. His condition today was favorable.

The accident was apparently unavoidable, according to Constable George Inman who investigated the accident. Constable Inman said he learned that Kirby was driving south and Johnson west on dirt roads about 20 miles southwest of Pampa and that Johnson, who was driving into the setting sun, failed to see Kirby's car.

Jones Urged As Wallace Successor
WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Senator Lee (D-Okl.) believes it will not be necessary for President Wallace to resign to campaign for the vice-presidency but if he does quit Lee advocates the selection of Representative Jones (D-Tex.) as his successor.

Every presidential candidate has had the right to select his running mate," Lee said in an interview recently. "President Roosevelt wanted Wallace and as we drafted the President he certainly had the right to choose the man he wanted to be on the ticket with him."

Wallace, Lee predicted, would be strong in the agriculture states. The Texas is author in the house of the domestic allotment farm program advocated by Lee in the senate.

U. S. To Send Britain 3,000 Planes Month

80 Planes Swarm Down On Convoy

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—About 80 German planes swarmed down on a merchant convoy off the southeast coast today, but their bombs missed and the attackers were driven off by fierce anti-aircraft fire and fighter planes which chased them back across the English channel.

Eyewitnesses said the air "was alive with aircraft" during the battle. The raiders headed back for France after planting a half-mile long string of bombs near the vessels which escaped damage.

The air ministry announced ground defenses and RAF fighters shot down four German planes participating in the southeast coast raid, and, in another attack off the southwest coast, a fifth craft was downed by defenders off northeast Scotland.

At the same time it was announced that Britain's home defenses had destroyed 262 enemy planes, 188 of them over and around the coast, since June 18 for an average of about five a day.

Clattering in the sunlight, the Nazi planes made brilliant targets for anti-aircraft guns. The thunder of the big guns, the rattle of machine-guns and the thud of bombs set up a terrific din as the raiders, their whining motors wide open, twisted, turned, dived and climbed to dodge the bursting shells.

A Nazi bomber crashed in a field in southwest England after taking part in the unsuccessful attack on the convoy. Eyewitnesses said British fighters chased the big craft inshore, smoke pouring from its still dripping engines while the pilot strove desperately but in vain for a safe landing.

"It seemed to me and my mate that it was coming straight for us and we threw ourselves into a hedge," said one spectator. "The plane hit a low brick wall and ploughed across the field where he had been standing. It burst quickly into flames and I saw one German throw his comrades out. The man had a broken leg.

The pilot burned to death. A third member of the crew who was uninjured was seized by soldiers. This fellow had a package of English cigarettes in his pocket. A strong force of British craft pursued the German bombers to the French coast while other British planes engaged in a free-for-all with

Prisoner Gives Up Tank Fort

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the United States had pledged "every facility" to enable the British to buy 3,000 military airplanes a month in this country, in addition to huge orders previously placed.

Confirming an announcement in London by Lord Beaverbrook, the treasury head said the new arrangement was in addition to all previous orders, and would require construction of new factories.

The British have promised to pay for the erection of the new factories as well as to buy their output, Morgenthau added.

The secretary asserted that the treasury, war and navy departments were in complete accord on the commitment, and that William S. Knudsen, production member of the defense commission, had agreed to undertake to work out the details.

He said the new factories involved in the program would give the United States capacity to build "far in excess" of 50,000 planes a year, set by President Roosevelt as a goal in his May 16 defense message. He declined to estimate the exact capacity planned.

Saying that the British "seem to have plenty of money," Morgenthau said that the "sums involved are colossal."

"For our own national defense and for the benefit of American industry," he continued, "I believe this is the most important thing with which I have come in contact."

Specifically, Morgenthau explained, the British proposed immediate action so that they could get delivery on 3,000 airplanes during each month of 1941 and 1942.

Two Charged With Mercury Theft

Charges of burglary have been filed against Ervin Box and W. B. Dunham here in connection with the alleged theft of mercury from meter boxes. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace E. F. Young at $1,500 in each case.

The men and Jeff Lee, charged in Odessa with theft in connection with the same case, were returned to Pampa from Odessa by Deputy Dan Cambren.

Curtis Douglass To Speak Here Friday

Curtis Douglass of Panhandle, candidate for state senator, will conclude his campaign in Pampa tomorrow night.

Douglass will make a speech in the 200 block on West Kingsmill street, between the city hall and the post office, at 8:30 o'clock Friday night.

Hottest state races are those for governor, which has attracted seven candidates, the record-breaking contest for railroad commissioner, with 19 seeking that office.

Among the county races, most interest has been drawn to the sheriff's race with four candidates, and the county commissioner of precinct 2, with five.

Total vote in Gray county, including exemptions, is expected to be 7,108.

Liquor stores and beer taverns are to close their doors from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m., an hour before and an hour after the polls open and close.

Candidates Entering Last Lap In Campaign

By radio, newspaper, and public appearance, candidates blasted today for the favor of voters, as the first Democratic primary election drew near.

Election supplies have been issued to Gray county precincts, judges and clerks are ready, and the candidates are facing their first 1940 political test in the election to be held here Saturday.

Abstention voting ended yesterday with more than 350 ballots cast. In keeping with the season, the campaign has become as torrid as the summer, with a field of 135 candidates contesting for offices ranging from United States senator to constable.

The News And Radio KPND To Give Full Election Coverage

You can listen to Saturday night's election returns in the comfort of your home, or—if you wish—you can catch them downtown at the nearest radio.

The Pampa News and Radio Station KPND will keep listeners informed all through Saturday night of the progress of the various state, district, county and precinct races.

A microphone will be set up in the local county boxes and, as fast as returns come in from the special service of the Texas Election Bureau they will be broadcast direct from the News over KPND.

Tex DeWeese, editor of The News and KPND newscaster, will edit the radio election news and voice the returns for KPND listeners.

Both The News and Radio Station KPND have made arrangements to give readers and listeners full coverage on Saturday's primary election in Texas.

For those who wish to listen in the street outside The News office, a radio loudspeaker will be erected on The News marquee at W. Foster and Somerville.

Fletcher's Studio is now air-conditioned. Ph. 133 for appointment.

U. S. Bans Oil And Gasoline Shipments

Andrew Jackson Wynne, 20-year-old Atlanta federal prisoner, shown atop 150-foot water tank in penitentiary yard where he staged a 19-hour "stay-up" protest against return to a Georgia prison gang. He descended after his rebel yell and hammer-waving antics had attracted a large crowd outside the prison walls.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said a shipment of 200,000 barrels of oil has already been halted.

One of the greatest sea losses of the war was reported meanwhile in London dispatches which told of the sinking of the troop-laden British liner Leontica during the evacuation of British troops from France in mid-June.

There were only 2,477 known survivors of the 5,300 aboard. Hit by German bombs, the 16,243-ton liner sank within 30 minutes.

Another maritime disaster played an important part in the German high command's daily communique, which said a 50-mile-an-hour Nazi torpedo speedboat bounced 60 miles across the English Channel to sink a merchant ship near Britain's great naval base at Portland.

Skittering over the rough channel waters too fast for the big long-range guns of the naval base to make it an effective target, the German sea raider got in its knockout blow on an 18,000-ton craft and dented home again.

The Nazi high command's report of this spectacular feat was quickly countered by Britain's navy, which declared the craft was the French ship Meknes with nearly 1,300 French officers and men on board—en route home to German-occupied France.

"I have just heard the German high command admit responsibility for this sinking," Alexander told the house of commons.

"The boat flying the French flag and had the French colors painted on deck and sides, and was fully illuminated.

"It was torpedoed by a motor boat at 10:30 last night. Each time she tried to signal her name, she was again fired on and sank in four or five minutes."

About 1,000 men were saved. The high command said German planes bombed the big British Vickers aircraft factory at Weybridge, just 12 miles from London.

The raids came as Britain claimed victory in the first major phase of the 5-weeks-old struggle against Nazi conquest of England—by repeated violent attacks on German "blitzkrieg bases" across the channel—and at the same time tightened her blockade of the Reich.

With more than 1,000 mass air raids, a London spokesman said, the British Royal Air Force now has "made it extremely difficult for Germany to organize mass attacks on this country from air-dromes in Holland, Belgium and France, or from bases the enemy hoped to establish in Norway."

The spokesman said the RAF, although numerically outnumbered by German warplanes, had "to a great extent succeeded in breaking down" Hitler's scheme for a cross-channel invasion of the British Isles and had

World Crises Shoot Holes In Social Calendars Of Army And Navy Hostesses In Washington These Days

BY GERRY DICK
WASHINGTON.—The social calendars of army and navy officials in Washington have a lot of blank pages in these critical days. With their husbands nearly buried under the press of defense detail, service wives are serving on committees for war relief, entertaining each other at teas and luncheons, and watching headlines with more than average concern.

But come what may, few officers and their wives expect to miss the big social shows next season. Most formal and most brilliant is the white house reception for the army and navy. The Navy Relief ball, held in the ball room at the Washington Navy yard, and Army Relief ball, given at the Army War college here, attended by military and naval attaches of the embassies, are next in importance.

COMMANDERS ENTERTAIN THEIR SUBORDINATES
The army corps commanders entertain their subordinates of their branch at the Army and Navy Country club once each year, and there are several regular stag parties held by various service groups.

The chief of naval operations and his wife give a series of four teas each year, and each bureau chief in the navy is expected to entertain fellow officers in his own organization, and their wives.

It is the custom for ranking officers of both the army and navy, when they leave a post, to entertain the incoming officer who will take his place.

And in both service sets, the juniors have one dance a week in the Navy Yard ball room, or the Army War college recreational hall.

Mrs. George Marshall, quiet, conservative wife of the chief of staff, ranks all other army hostesses, and presides over the large handsome house at Fort Myer reserved for the commander-in-chief.

Mrs. George S. Adams, tall, dark-haired, handsome wife of the adjutant general is one of the most popular arm hostesses here.

The army set is looking forward to the arrival of society-loving Mrs. Virgil S. Peterson, wife of the inspector general. She is a statuesque blonde, and immensely popular in army circles. Petite, grey-haired Mrs. Sherman Miles, wife of Brig. Gen. General Miles, assistant chief of staff, is another whose invitations are especially coveted.

Mrs. George Pettinelli, wife of the ranking admiral of the navy, is hostess of the commandant's house at the navy yard. She and Mrs. Anderson, wife of the director of naval intelligence, are the grand dames of navy society whose word in a social crisis has the authority of regulations.

However much the social life of the service set here is upset by internal and international crises, you can depend on it that any officer not under orders to remain at his desk will take time off for the most exciting social-sporting event of the calendar—the Army-Navy football game.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it good manners to let your mind wander when you are playing bridge?
2. Is it good manners for a bridge player to tap the table when he grows restless?
3. When serving a meal out-of-doors is it all right to use heavy pottery dishes instead of the best china?
4. When a meal is served out-of-doors may paper napkins be used?
5. May chicken be eaten with the fingers at a picnic?

Senor Norris Against Compulsory Military Training

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 25.—Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.) raised his voice today against compulsory military training, saying it would gradually transform the United States into an "international bully" bent on the destruction of other nations.

The only present member of the senate who voted against the country's entry into the World War, Norris pointed to the Third Reich of Adolf Hitler as an object lesson of what, in his opinion, would happen to American ideals under peacetime conscription.

"If our young men are to be compelled to spend a goodly portion of every year in a military training camp," he said, "it would have an effect upon their natures."

"If such a program were carried on for 50 years, the rising generation would know no other ideal except that of military force."

Despite the addition of Norris to a slowly-forming opposition bloc, Senator Minton (D-Ind.), Democratic whip, predicted congress would enact a compulsory service program. Minton is a member of the senate military committee working on details of the pending Burke-Wadsworth legislation in hopes of having it ready for debate next week.

"I think," Minton told reporters, "that the people are convinced that emergency requires it."

"We have been advised by both the army and navy that they cannot build up adequate forces rapidly enough by voluntary enlistments."

Goodrich To Make Radio Talk Friday

Lewis M. Goodrich, Wheeler county candidate for congress, will come to Pampa Friday afternoon for a broadcast over KPDN from 6:30 to 6:45 which will be his last talk before the primary Saturday.

For the few hours of campaigning time remaining after his broadcast, he will continue to meet the voters, in the same personal-contact campaign which has brought him face-to-face with about 40,000 people in all of the 28 counties of the district.

During the past week Goodrich and friends who are actively campaigning for him have done a thorough job of covering the entire district to keep voters reminded of Goodrich.

The Pampa broadcast Friday will be his second of the day, the first being a talk over KGNC, Amarillo, from 11:45 a. m. to 12 noon.

Removal Of Dirt From County Roads Penal Offense

Persons who remove dirt from county roads and dump trash along the county highways are causing complaints to be made to the county commissioners.

Digging dirt from the roads undermines fence rows and adds to the county's expense of maintenance.

"There are proper places to dump trash and the public roads should not be used for this purpose," say the commissioners.

Both the removal of dirt and the dumping of trash on county roads are penal offenses.

"The commissioners, however, have no desire to prosecute if they can end the nuisance with a warning."

Pensioner Opposes $13 Check Increase

DES MOINES, Ia., July 25 (AP)—A wretched Iowa old-age pensioner wants to know whether her monthly check was hiked to $26.60 when she was getting along very well, thank you, on $13.

"I am getting everything I need keeping my doctor bill paid up and he is well pleased about it," she wrote the state social welfare board.

"I asked the county investigator to let me have just $13 a month but I see he hasn't paid any attention to it. When $13 a month makes all I need, I don't know what he expects me to do with the rest."

"$26.60 is a little better than twice the amount I have been getting and that would make things pretty ugly for me."

State officials promised to see if they could not relieve her of the burdensome extra purchasing power.

Civic Culture Study Club To Hold Bridge Tourney Friday

Prizes in both auction and contract will be awarded at the Civic Culture Study club's special bridge tourney to be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the city club rooms at the city hall. The club rooms have been recently air-conditioned, an improvement adding to the comfort of the players.

Matthews Talks At Rotary Club

Classification talks were made by Steve Matthews, city manager, on city management, and by Irvin Cole, owner of Cole's Hatchery, on his business, at the regular luncheon of the Pampa Rotary club at noon Wednesday.

The program was in charge of Glen Morley. Attendance at the meeting was high, including seven guests of whom five were Rotarians: H. Everett, Ardmore, Okla., Sam Allison and H. S. Wilbur, both of Canadian, Jack Latimer of Borger, and Herm Moore of Belvidere, Ill.

Other guests were Ray Knorrp and Ralph R. Thomas.

Sheriff Sticks To College Accusation

EL PASO, July 25 (AP)—Sheriff Ches Fox of El Paso, who last week testified before a Dies committee at Beaumont on alleged un-American activity along the Mexican border, said today he was "unconcerned" regarding a demand for investigation of certain statements involving Texas state teacher colleges.

R. A. Stuart, past president of the board of the directors of the seven Dies house committee investigating subversive activity mentioned testimony saying the president and the basketball coach of one of the teacher colleges belonged to the Communist party.

Stuart protested that what "has come out of the Dies committee is a blanket charge against the president of every one of the schools and his coach, because the charges were not specific. The charges should be proved, or an apology offered to the heads of each college."

Fox said, "I don't know what Mr. Stuart has reference to. As far as I am concerned, I made no charge. I simply turned in a number of reports to the committee."

"These reports, I expect, will be investigated for verification by the committee. I have confidence the reports will be investigated thoroughly."

Fox added that "it is possible" the objections arose from a report he submitted to Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) concerning a secret meeting said to have been held in a Lake Worth cabin in May.

Ford Denies Engine Offer Ever Made

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25 (AP)—The Ford Motor company never rejected any proposal of the national defense commission for manufacture of airplane engines because the reported "offer" was never made, W. J. Cameron, Ford spokesman, said today.

Cameron said negotiations for Ford production of Rolls-Royce aviation engines did not get within three months of agreement before they were discontinued.

"In Washington, however, the defense commission asserted the Ford company was offered a contract for airplane engines, and that Edsel Ford had accepted and said his father had approved."

"No contract was ever offered us," Cameron said, in an interview. "The administration has no idea what it wants manufactured."

Henry Ford, founder of the company, after declaring his plants capable of producing 1,000 engines a day, withdrew from negotiations with the defense commission headed by William S. Knudsen after learning that part of the proposed output would go to Great Britain.

Cameron insisted the company could make good on the 1,000-a-day announcement. Henry Ford started preparing for production of airplane engines a year ago, the spokesman said, in anticipation that "a great need for them would come."

Methodist Church Annual Picnic To Be Held Friday

Members of the First Methodist church will hold their annual all-church picnic at the Saunders picnic grounds east of LeFors tomorrow afternoon. The outing is for all members, young and old, and all organizations of the First Methodist church.

On the program will be a baseball game between young men and their fathers, a softball game for women and girls, and sack races. At 6:30 o'clock basket lunches will be opened and a group photograph taken.

Church members will start leaving for the picnic grounds from the church at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, with other members going out later.

O'Daniel Draws Largest Political Crowd Ever Attracted In Amarillo

(By The Associated Press)

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, seeking a third term as governor and linking her political aspirations with those of President Roosevelt, rested her case with the voters today.

Mrs. Ferguson and her husband, James E. Ferguson, also a former governor, closed the campaign last night at Fort Worth with Ferguson cautioning against a "deep-bait plot" to win Texas to the Republican party.

Ferguson, the "Farmer Jim" of many Texas political campaigns, lacked the old-time fervor in his delivery but the crowd was as enthusiastic as ever.

The other candidates continued their back-breaking schedules today.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, still in West Texas, was giving the crowd a new song, as rendered by his hill-billy band. Played to the tune of "It Ain't Going to Rain No More," the theme was "There Ain't No Gore" To Be No Rainoff."

O'Daniel introduced the song last night at Amarillo where the night before Ernest Thompson and Harry Hines had predicted there would be a second primary.

Observers said the governor drew the largest crowd ever attracted by a candidate in Amarillo.

Thompson, speaking at Abilene, commented, after the high school band had played "The Star Spangled Banner," that "that music sounds better to me than any hill-billy song I ever heard."

He asserted that if O'Daniel is beaten "you can still have your music, for he'll be on some sort of radio program or medicine show."

Hines, at Wichita Falls, blasted at "vaudeville and ballyhoo" of other candidates.

"I believe in the dignity of work," he said, "and I built a plan that is practical." He added that his tax plan "is sweeping Texas like wildfire."

Jerry Sadler spoke at Port Arthur, assailing O'Daniel's record as governor.

"I was not mad at O'Daniel when he took office two years ago and I'm not mad at him now," Sadler said. "But in his first speech to the legislature I heard him impose the most infamous sales tax ever conceived by man."

Sadler declared the gross receipts tax advocated by Mrs. Ferguson "also is a tax on property—it's what we might call a hidden ball play."

The candidate pointed out that it would be impossible for him to properly take care of and defend the rights of the common man and at the same time represent certain predatory groups whose wants and desires were contrary to the common man's interest.

"I am fundamentally and basically a little man's man, not a big man's man, and all of you know it, and if I am elected your state senator, the poorest and weakest man in this county will feel as free to call on me as the richest and strongest," Douglass said.

"In all my years of association and service to you in this county no man has ever questioned my honesty and ability, and when I served you as district judge in 1928 you know what the record was. I disposed of more than four hundred cases during that current year," he said.

Douglass appealed to the citizens from every walk of life to take an interest in the affairs of our government and to demand of our officials from the lowest to the highest, honesty, a faithfulness to the trust, and ability.

Braly Makes Final Statement To Wind Up His Campaign

Clifford Braly, candidate for district attorney, authorized The News today to make the following statement in connection with the winding-up of his campaign for re-election:

"Today ends a nine-week term of district court which has kept me busy and made it impossible for me to see every voter in the district, although I have contacted many, many hundreds of them when I could find the time. In the remaining few days before the primary I will see many more of them.

"I would like to call attention of voters to the record I have made in my first term in office, that of 56 convictions out of 61 indictments and trials during the past year and a half.

"My friends believe that a record such as this is deserving of recognition for a second term particularly in view of the fact that I was elected to the office in 1938 by carrying all four counties in the district by a majority of more than 1,500 votes.

"I believe that this record plus the greater experience in the practice of law qualifies me to ask the voters of the 31st judicial district to return me to the district attorney's office for a second term."

Favors Would Vote For Any Reasonable Revenue Measure

Ennis Favors, Gray county's candidate for state representative, 122nd district, while talking over radio station KPDM, Pampa, today at noon, again reiterated that he would not spend his time while representing the people condemning the governor, or fellow members of the legislature.

Mr. Favors promised to raise his voice at all times against what he thought was wrong, and for what he thought was right, but said he would refrain from indulging in personalities.

He said that the one biggest thing that contributed to the failure of the last legislature, outside of the members' prejudices, was that most of them were elected upon specific tax plans, and would vote for their plan and against all others. Mr. Favors said he would vote for any reasonable revenue measure that would evenly distribute the burden, and predicted the social security program would be carried out to the letter during the coming session of the legislature.

Mr. Favors again advocated a law to require all legislatures to reveal the source of their income under oath once every six months and file the same of record, so that the people would know who they were working for while in Austin.

Douglass Speaks To Berger Crowd

BORGER, July 24—Scoring a direct hit, Curtis Douglass, candidate for the state senate, addressed a crowd on main street here last night.

Douglass discussed the problems of the laboring man and said, "Every man and woman in this county knows Curtis Douglass for I have served you as your district attorney

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
 Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 16 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

"Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Filix, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Filix."

Be Sure To Vote!

Voters in Gray county, the Panhandle and the rest of Texas will go to the polls in the first primary Saturday to elect state, district, county and precinct officers.

Never in the history of the nation has it been so necessary for the people to express their right of franchise by going to the polls and voting.

The congressional race has been spotlighting the interest in the 18th district. It is of paramount importance that the proper man be sent to Washington to take the place of Marvin Jones.

Likewise, we have state, county and precinct offices to fill. In many of these races the competition is keen. In some instances there are incumbents without opposition.

Right at this particular time it makes a great deal of difference what kind of men or women stay in office or are put in office—any office, from the high to the low.

The only way we are going to get the right kind of officials in public office is to get out Saturday and vote.

Never before has there been such a need for the casting of a heavy vote. Every voter has a duty to himself and to his fellowman. It will do no good to stay away from the polls and then cry and moan because the right man for the right place is just an interested bystander instead of an office-holder.

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 25—The main lines of what will be a historic presidential contest are already becoming visible.

Reduced to its simplest terms, the fight will be a straight-out scrap between Willkie and Roosevelt, their strengths and their weaknesses, their personalities and their records. Except in so far as they bear on the two leaders, the party platforms are of little importance.

The Republicans are obviously going to hammer away at the third-term issue. They began to chirp about it at Philadelphia; dissenting Democrats like Carter Glass gave them some brand-new ammunition at Chicago.

WILL HOP ON DEFENSE BAND WAGON

On the more positive side, the Republicans can be expected to jump on the national defense band wagon in a big way.

They will argue (as speeches at Philadelphia clearly foreshadowed) that the nation's great need is for a super-executive, an organizer, a man who can unite all factions and can get willing co-operation out of the nation's tremendous industrial and financial machinery. Roosevelt, it will be urged, has had eight years and still hasn't got things clicking; Willkie will be presented as the one man who can do the job.

The Democrats' convention plainly showed they will hit the "power trust" and Wall Street angles just as hard as the Republicans hit the third term. Speaker Bankhead gave the tip-off in his keynote speech, when he dwelt lovingly on "ruthless and unscrupulous holding companies" and inquired caustically if any in his audience had ever heard of the collapse of the Insull empire.

The platform went much further. It asserted the Roosevelt administration had brought the people their first victory in the long fight against the "power monopoly," and declared Willkie's nomination raised the issue "whether the nation's water power shall be used for all the people or for the selfish interests of a few."

NEW DEALERS RELY ON "REACTION"

The rest of the Democratic strategy sums up to an effort to make this fight a clear-cut one between reaction (as represented by Willkie) and progressivism. This year's Democratic platform is a most uncompromising New Deal document. It defends all the New Deal measures in strong terms.

The New Dealers profess to see Willkie as the incarnation of reaction. They are planning their campaign on that basis. Lastly—the Democrats will mention that Willkie is an ex-Democrat himself, though they probably won't emphasize this much. And they probably won't dwell very long on the familiar story of the closed banks and breadlines of 1932. Their speakers tried that at Chicago and it fell awfully flat.

The Nation's Press

THIS COUNTRY NOW AT WAR (From the Saturday Evening Post)

Since the first week of June this country has been in fact at war with Germany. Take it in simple fact. Suppose we were at war and a government that had been neutral in form, but not in feeling, suddenly opened its arsenals to our enemy, exactly as we have opened ours to the allies.

Would we regard it as an act of war? We would. What would we do about it? We would declare war on that government, and if for strategic reasons not actually at once, then certainly in our hearts and minds, for a future settlement.

If it should turn out that to strip this country of armaments and send them to Europe at a moment in history when our existing power of national defense was pitifully inadequate and the crisis an emergency—such that no one could say how many hours remained of the British

Common Ground

By R. G. HOILES

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

MORALS IN ENGLAND

There is always a cause for everything. History is nothing but a study of morals—of the respect which people have for the rights of other people. We now have some very curious examples of lack of morals. The wages of sin are wars, poverty and misery. We, in America, should learn from England and France. Some people in England are beginning to recognize the cause of their trouble. The Daily Mirror in England, under the heading, "Cassandra," in discussing the events in England, has the following to say:

"The moral bankruptcy of this country has been unmasked in the last few months—a degrading, terrible spectacle. It ranges from selfish money scavengers to disreputable remnants of the worst gang of political pests who ever sabotaged the future of a great, honorable nation."

And what do they mean by selfish money scavengers and the worst gang of political pests? Undoubtedly they mean those employers and labor leaders who will enter into a contract to prevent their fellowman from having the right to learn and earn a living in order to make the selfish employers and the selfish laborers a temporary profit and higher wage.

And they undoubtedly mean by "political pests" those people who promise short-cuts to prosperity by raising wages by law, shorten hours by law and by making laws that prevent people who believe in equal freedom from associating together.

If we are wise we will learn that the New Deal in France, Spain and England that attempts to make it possible for people to live without work can only result in more poverty, misery and serfdom.

CHURCH AND FREEDOM

As we see our freedom being taken away from us by the government, every thoughtful person is groping for some organization or some group that will make a united stand against our continued loss of our freedom.

Dr. Oscar F. Blackwelder of Washington, D. C., made a very interesting contribution in an address to the Crozer Theological Seminary. This speech was under the heading of "The Contribution of the Church to the Problems of American Democracy." He said,

"First, the Church must be the spear point in the struggle for human freedom. I believe this is exactly what Jesus was advocating when he said the hairs of each man's head were numbered; that is, that he had certain inalienable rights that no government or other individual had a right to take from him.

In this address, Dr. Blackwelder gave some important quotations as follows:

"Cardinal Newman is quoted as having said, 'Not a man in Europe now, who talks bravely against the church, but owes it to the church that he can talk at all.'"

"Hear the words of Professor Albert Einstein, 'Being a lover of freedom, from the revolution came in Germany I looked to the universities to defend it, knowing that they had always boasted of their devotion to the cause of truth; but, no, the universities immediately were silenced. Then I looked to the great editors of the newspapers, whose flaming editorials in days gone by had proclaimed their love of freedom; but they, like the universities, were silenced in a few short weeks. Then I looked to the individual writers who, as literary guides of Germany, had written much and often concerning the place of freedom in modern life; but they too were mute. Only the church, stood squarely across the path of Hitler's campaign for suppressing truth. I never had any special interest in the Church before, but now I feel a great affection and admiration because the Church alone has had the courage and persistence to stand for intellectual truth and moral freedom.'"

Mr. Blackwelder further says, "How is the Church to be the spear point in the struggle for freedom in our country? Let us see. The Declaration of Independence asserts that all men are created equal. That obviously cannot mean physical or intellectual equality. I suppose it means equality before the law. But is that fundamental?"

"The only essential equality of which an oath in court may be a symbol is equality before God. In a Washington, D. C. church, among the members received one Sunday morning were a Chinese laundryman and Charles Evans Hughes, who was then Secretary of State. In welcoming them, the pastor said, 'The ground is level at the foot of the Cross.' The Church has called this basic democracy the universal priesthood of believers. Because men are equal before the Supreme Judge of the universe, they have the right to equality before the laws, courts, and judges or men."

Would that more churches stood for the equal rights of all men. If they did, they would be protesting against any laws that favored or discriminated against the rich or the poor. The Wagner Law, the Minimum Wage Law discriminate against the helpless workers and the Graduated Income Tax Law against the efficient producers. They are all contrary to the very foundation on which Christianity is based and on which this government was based.

It is time for the church, newspaper publishers and educators in America to courageously speak out or we will eventually follow in the footsteps of Germany.

empire, or that the aggressor might not win, capture the allied fleet and dictate a peace before enough American aid to turn the battle against him could arrive—if it should turn out that this had been a tragic blunder, beyond recall, then the leader who had done it might wish that his page in the book of fame would refuse to receive ink, for it would be written of him there that in his passionate zeal to save civilization in Europe he had forgotten his own country.

Both Willkie and the Republican National Convention are to be congratulated. Congratulations are in order for Willkie for the nomination he won so brilliantly and spectacularly. And delegates to the convention are to be congratulated for their sound judgment in nominating the best man in the field and the only candidate who appears to have a chance to lick Roosevelt if the President runs for a third term.

In the brief span of a few weeks, Willkie sold himself to the rank and file of the people as no Presidential candidate ever did before. When the crucial time came in the convention, the delegates heard and heeded the voice of the people crying "We Want Willkie."

"YOU TOO CAN BE A SUCCESS!"

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, July 25—"Today," said the aged, swarthy gaucho, "I am ver' happye man!" He tugged at his white hair, and off came a wig.

"I am through with all those—those what I call 'Hoover pictures.' Already I am playing a sympathetic part. It feels good."

Gingerly, he peered away a scraggly white mustache. There was a black one underneath. "This is the best role I've had in five years." With a handkerchief he rubbed craggy discoloreds from his white teeth. The lines and leathery quality of his face began to yield to a sponging with solvent.

"Paramount loaned me for this 'Argentine Way' thing," continued J. Carol Naish. "But it's just at the time my contract is up. I won't have to go back to being a hewy. I can shop around and choose my parts. Do you know—I've got a nine-year-old daughter who has only seen one of my pictures! Sometimes I've let her watch maybe three reels, but when the dirty work started I'd coax her outside for a soda."

ORIENTAL By this time, Naish's face looked as few fans have ever seen it. Almost from the beginning of his picture career, in 1930, he has played hybrid, Eurasian characters. "Naturally, the studio never would want the heavy identified as a Chinese or Japanese," he said, "so when they'd begin worrying about accent I'd give 'em Chinese with a few extra 'r's and they'd say, 'That's swell—what is it?' I'd tell 'em it was a rare Malaysian dialect and everybody'd be happy."

"Those pictures maybe didn't make for good acting, because nobody can be so easy and convincing in a phony part, but they were a lot of fun as long as we didn't take 'em seriously. Like 'Typhoon,' which had everything in it except Dorothy Lamour being tied in front of a buzz saw. Or did it have that, too?"

"Down Argentine-Way" is a 20th-Fox musical full of fiestas, horses, technicolor and Betty Grable's legs. Strictly entertainment, and in the million-dollar manner, Naish plays a craggy but lovable old horse trainer. "It's the easiest thing I ever did," he said, "and the first time I ever wanted to see the rushes. When one of us thinks up a good piece of business, Cummings (Director Irving Cummings) says, 'Swell—we'll use it!' Where I've been working, the director would say, 'No—we can't change it without the producer's okay.'"

Naish's new screen personality will be more in keeping with his avocation, which is thinking up stories for children. His Paramount contract prevented his doing anything with them commercially, but now he's full of plans. In fact, he already has put one story on a set of records with a symphonic score written by Edison Van Ottenfield, who did the background music for Disney's "Pinocchio." Other such albums will be made soon, and Naish will have a book on sale by Christmas.

The actor used to tell bedtime tales to his daughter, Elaine. They have his original, and all about animals and birds. While he was such a sinister figure on the screen, Naish wouldn't have brought out the pleasant little fables under his own name. But things will be different now.

So They Say

The peoples of America are very jealous of their independence.

It has been well said that a selfish and greedy people cannot be free.

There is too much emphasis on usefulness in writing. Nearly 100 years ago an author wrote a book about a pond and it is still a masterpiece of American literature.

The sheer vulnerability of great cities may force us as a matter of public policy to decentralize.

The doves are worn out. I care more for their health than my own.

How can we spend the next weekend to make a vacation out of it? We can take the family on a picnic. We can get into comfortable clothes and putter around in the garden. We can spend a whole day getting acquainted with ourselves in Ger-cel. How should we spend our annual vacations, in getting refreshed from the year's work? For all of us, a vacation must provide a change. City folks should seek the city. Manual laborers should delve into intellectual stores. Intellectual workers should dig into real soil and test the strength of their bodies. Everyone should loiter around a great deal, and do nothing on schedule or in a hurry.

TAKE IT EASY

TIRED PEOPLE WORK, PLAY TOO HARD, WE ALL NEED RESTFUL VACATIONS

By DR. JOSEPHINE L. RATHBONE

It is interesting to note that over-fatigue and tension are always accompanied by overwork or hyperactivity. Whether this reaction is to be described as physical or psychological is hard to decide. Probably it should be termed "psychophysical."

This overactivity takes two particularly dangerous forms. One is over-addiction to business, making business the other is immersion in a social whirlwind.

Over-addiction to business is particularly vicious because there is an element of virtue associated with work. In the United States, especially, a high evaluation has been placed on work. Even when work has killed men and broken up happy homes, it has been praised.

Immersion in hectic forms of recreation is even more deplorable than overimmersion in business. So many forms of commercial amusement are overstimulating and useless.

So few tense people have taken the time to learn the benefits that can come from unexciting diversions, such as reading, making beautiful things, and enjoying the outdoors.

It is difficult to find the proper proportion between purposeful work, recreational diversions and complete cessation of activity. But such a proportion must be maintained if health, vitality and composure are not to be sacrificed.

Hard work is considered virtuous

There is no harm in hard work or in strenuous play, if not carried too far. We need vacations every day, every week and every year. . . . What kind of vacation can we get today? If our work demands long hours of sitting still, we can go for a walk, spend an hour or so dancing, or play a game of tennis. If we have been on our feet all day, we can turn on the radio, we can sit in the park for an hour or so, or go "to the club" if we have a club.

How can we spend the next weekend to make a vacation out of it? We can take the family on a picnic. We can get into comfortable clothes and putter around in the garden. We can spend a whole day getting acquainted with ourselves in Ger-cel. How should we spend our annual vacations, in getting refreshed from the year's work? For all of us, a vacation must provide a change. City folks should seek the city. Manual laborers should delve into intellectual stores. Intellectual workers should dig into real soil and test the strength of their bodies. Everyone should loiter around a great deal, and do nothing on schedule or in a hurry.

Adolf Hitler, as head of the German government, owns 9,000 acres of land in Cheyenne county, Colorado. It's just right for a landing field, 14 square miles of flat land. It was land that was one time the Bowers cattle ranch. After Bowers died, heirs in Germany came into possession and later the German government took it over. Two Cheyenne county stockmen are now using the 14 sections for grazing. They have been paying rent for it through a German consulate in this country.

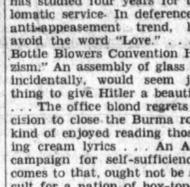

However, something tells us that if the going ever gets rough, Der Vaterland will wake up some morning minus some land in Cheyenne county, Colo. . . . Cranium Crackers

Fictional Sleuths In the last 50 years or so there has rapidly risen a new type of fiction—

French Face Starvation

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ, JR.

RASEL, Switzerland, July 25 (AP)—Rapid dwindling of food supplies in that part of France not under Nazi occupation has led even the nazified press there to report "the fate of France for months to come is in the hands of the German armistice commission at Wiesbaden, not the government at Vichy."

But those same newspapers hold out hope the Germans soon will permit food supplies to move freely from the occupied to the refuge-swollen unoccupied zone.

Other sources, however, assert the tragedy of this hope is that the German-held areas apparently are very little better off, and soon may be in worse condition, than the southern zone to feed the French.

Farmers and inhabitants of rural villages have been the first to feel the pinch, rather than residents of big cities and towns. In Alsace, hand-picked groups of farmers, taken back to the homes by the Germans, still are being fed and supplied by the German army of occupation. In the great central northeastern section, overrun by refugees and demobilized troops, food already is at a premium.

Farmers sent back to work their land were reported in some cases to have returned to the cities within a few days. "We cannot plow on empty stomachs," said one farmer, "and to the Swiss frontier seeking food."

Independent economic experts in Switzerland say Germany soon may be forced to draw on her own food stocks to feed the French.

If England still is blockading the continent by winter, these sources report, all of France's millions may be dependent on Axis aid and relief from such relief agencies as the American Red Cross.

Although France normally is rich in agricultural products, even in her best peacetime years, such as 1937, she imported more than 100,000 tons worth of foodstuffs more than she exported.

A stranger arrived in a little Western town and approached the first native he saw: a criminal lawyer," he said, "have you one here?"

"Well," answered the native reflectively, "we think we have, but we can't prove it on him."

AMERICAN FREEDOM OR DICTATORSHIP!

By GUS W. DYER

Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

The real issue before the American people is whether they shall remain loyal to the American theory of Constitutional industrial freedom or repudiate this theory and adopt the theory of state socialism as held by Germany and Italy. The theory of state socialism is that it is a proper function of government to direct and control private business and extend government ownership in any field where a national interest is involved.

The principle of state socialism is in no sense new. It was adopted by England, Germany, and France more than two hundred years ago, under "Mercantilism," and prevailed in these countries as a dominating principle for more than fifty years. The result was a complete collapse and colossal failure of business in all of these countries. The adoption of the principle of state socialism today is not a "new deal" but an "old deal." It is decidedly a reactionary movement. The beginning of industrial progress is marked by the repudiation of the principle of state socialism and the adoption of the principle of industrial freedom.

State socialism is not the product of dictatorship. The principle of state socialism was dominant in Ger-cel long before Hitler came into prominence. The dictator is the natural, logical product of state socialism. State socialism creates the demand for a dictator. The steps taken in the evolution of dictatorship from a state of freedom are as follows: 1. A repudiation of and an attack upon the theory of industrial freedom.

2. A repudiation of constitutional restrictions on those in control of the government. Constitutional restrictions are denounced as unwarranted restraint on "democracy."

3. An assumption by the government of the functions of directing and controlling private business.

4. The extension of government ownership without any fixed limitation.

5. The extension of governmental functions in freedom to the functions in general without constitutional limitations, whenever such extension is considered desirable by those in control of the government.

These principles constitute the foundation and platform of state socialism, and in substance these principles constitute the program of the radical elements in the New Deal. However, the New Deal has added an extra plank to the state socialism platform. This is the policy of holding political support to the limitation by distributing billions of dollars to millions of voters on the credit of unborn generations. This policy is absolutely new in the history of grading influences in politics. No other government in history has been bold enough to adopt the policy of making huge gifts of the taxpayers' money to millions of voters.

All Soap Box Derby Entrants Guests Of Lions

Boys who raced their model automobiles in the Pampa News-Lions club Soap Box Derby, held here July 18-19, had their day of glory at the Lions club luncheon at noon today.

All of the 66 boys who competed in the derby were invited as guests to the luncheon. An award was presented to Mark Bratton, city champion, who received the M. E. Coyle silver trophy. He will represent Pampa and this newspaper in the national finals at Akron, Ohio, on August 11. Other awards were: Class A, first, Mark Bratton, gold medal; second, Roy Cone, silver medal; third, Donald Gray, bronze medal. Class B, Harold Blevins, first, gold medal; Bobby Gale Dedmon, second, silver medal; Carl Gilchrist, third, bronze medal. Frank Stallings had the best upholstered car and received as a prize a fountain pen and pencil set from the Collins & Aikman company, who make the upholstery for Chevrolet automobiles. City champion Bratton received a third prize for having the best designed car, a camp flashlight, presented by the Lions club. At noon today all 66 entrants in the Pampa derby were guests at the regular weekly luncheon of the Lions club in the Methodist church. Awards to various race winners, including Champ Bratton, Harold Blevins, runner-up, and the second and third place winners in the A and B classes, were made. The program was in charge of Sherman White, general derby chairman. Bratton, Clay, Dedmon, and Stallings were present to receive their prizes, but other award winners were absent.

Johnson Resigns As War Secretary

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The White house announced today the resignation of Louis Johnson as assistant secretary of war and the nomination of Robert Porter Patterson of New York, judge of the second United States Circuit Court of Appeals, as his successor. Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters that "since time immemorial," a cabinet officer has had the right to select his assistant secretary and that Henry L. Stimson, new secretary of war, had asked the chief executive to name Patterson.

Reorganization Of Mexican Oil Industry Urged

MEXICO CITY, July 25 (AP)—Immediate and effective reorganization of Mexico's financially-pressed oil industry was ordered by President Cardenas in a decree issued late last night. Record Crowd Hears Worley Speak Here

Eugene Worley has a horde of "poor folks and common, ordinary citizens" working for him in every town in the Panhandle, he told the largest political rally of the season by several times here last night.

"That's why the next time I see you I'll be in the run-off," he declared. "There are not many so-called big shots working for me. I believe the young people of the Panhandle and their parents are for me 100 per cent. I haven't had the money to advertise in the newspapers, or sit in an air-conditioned radio booth and broadcast my messages, and I haven't had the money to print reams of literature, or splash my picture on a billboard, but I have met the people, and that's what Marvin Jones did 31 years ago when he first ran for congress and was elected. He was then the same age as I am now.

"The platforms of all the candidates in this race are virtually the same. We all believe in national defense, a social security program, limitation of immigration, a farm program, suppression of fifth column activities—we all believe in these things, and congress day by day is taking our platforms, plank by plank, away from us, and is putting into law our planks. So we might say the issue in this race is what can we do if we go to congress."

"I cite my record in the 'state legislature,'" Mr. Worley then pointed out that he voted for 17 out of 20 labor bills, that "I helped raise every dollar that has been spent for old-age assistance in the last six years."

Before Mr. Worley spoke, Helen Dudley who has been a sensation all over the Panhandle in the congressional race, declared that Mr. Worley on numerous occasions assisted in defeating moves to close or curb the Panhandle oil field. She stated that he cooperated with both governors during his six-year term, that he would have been speaker of the house next term had he chosen to run for re-election, and that he was the only man in the race with law-making experience.

Mr. Worley said that although he had made his race without a caravan, the radio, billboards, newspaper support, expert observers now were picking him to enter the runoff as the high man for the office. "I have met the people face to face," he declared. "The people know how much money I have spent—they know that I spent it only for hand cards and placards, and they trust me."

Proceeding Miss Dudley's impassioned appeal in which she predicted Mr. Worley would get 80 per cent of the votes in Gray county, the Mr. Worley Goes to Washington club's band played musical selections.

80 PLANES

the strong force of German escort ships.

Watchers along the southeast coast said the bombers kept coming relentlessly despite the anti-aircraft fire which rocked the earth for miles around.

The bombers split into three groups.

The first attacked the British ships hovering near the shore. The second and third blasted away at land objectives.

The night had passed without air raids—a rarity now.

Meanwhile, an informed British source said that the British air force, in repeated attacks against Germany and German-occupied countries, has made it "extremely difficult" for the reich to organize mass attacks on the British air force.

More than 1,000 British attacks in the last three months have "to a great extent succeeded in breaking down the scheme Germany hoped would culminate in devastating attacks on these islands following her sweeping victories" on the continent, it was stated.

In the six-week period between June 1 and July 18 alone, the RAF made 377 bombing raids on targets within the reich itself.

This source said important military and industrial objectives had been struck daily and nightly "not in isolated raids by single aircraft but large scale operations."

Germany repeatedly has charged the British with attacking "non-military" objectives. British raids, it was said, "have made it extremely difficult for Germany to organize mass attacks on the British air force in Holland, Belgium and France, or from bases the enemy hoped to establish in Norway."

Great Britain has taken steps to halt oil shipments to Germany through Fascist Spain, thereby plugging a troublesome new gap in her blockade of the reich, it was reported today.

An "important statement" in which Minister of Economic Warfare Hugh Dalton was expected to describe for the house of commons this afternoon just what measures had been adopted was postponed indefinitely without explanation.

A second American-made plane was damaged by British Spitfires, it was reported today.

There were the first such craft reported put in battle by the Germans.

While Japanese-axis cooperation is likely to be limited at present, there's no reason to doubt that Tokyo intends to adopt Hitler's methods of strong-arm diplomacy.

Japanese Foreign Minister Matsuoka tried to establish a Fascist party in Japan in 1934 after he had visited Mussolini and come away filled with admiration for Il Duce. Said Matsuoka:

By inadvertently using "stalks" instead of "walks," Matsuoka unconsciously made an epigram which has acquired much fame.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Continued befuddlement over the war, politics and taxes today kept most stock traders on the sidelines.

Leaders tried a feeble rally at the start but failed to follow through. There were subsequent recovery intervals and reactions. Small gains and losses were widely scattered.

Although the turnover for the full proceedings was around 250,000 shares against yesterday's 20-year low of 150,000 activity was hardly more than for an hour in normal sessions.

Earnings statements still were highly favorable and business prospects were far from pessimistic. All this, though seemingly added up to nothing so far as market stimulation was concerned.

Analysts kept their balance fairly well despite today's freight loadings figures for last week revealing a more than seasonal decline. This was unexplained by the high level of petroleum shipments to Spain.

Among resistant elements Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Glenn Martin, Santa Fe, Anconada, Standard Oil of N. J., Texas Corp., Sperry and Loft.

Without much climbing steam were U. S. Steel, Boeing, Sperry, Douglas Aircraft, General Northern, Westinghouse and Goodrich.

made new air bases "acquired nearer our shores practically untenable."

"These violent, non-stop onslaughts are making the enemy reel under hammer blows," he said.

The British report, taken at face value, might at least partially explain the mystery of Hitler's delay in launching his long threatened blitzkrieg on Britain.

Another possible reason was advanced by the London Daily Telegraph. Quoting "the most reliable neutral sources," the newspaper said among Hitler's advisers was holding up the projected invasion.

Hitler's warplanes nevertheless kept up the bombing of the United Kingdom.

Anti-aircraft guns chattered on the southeast coast and the sky was reported "alive with aircraft" as about 30 German raiders swarmed down to attack a merchant convoy in the English Channel. British fighting planes quickly sent them fleeing.

While fighting off new Nazi air raids, Britain took steps to plug a blockade leakage of oil shipments through Fascist Spain to Germany.

Hitler's need of oil and still more oil to fuel and lubricate his mechanized war machine was pointed out by the British blockade.

Rumanian government seized the biggest British oil company in the Balkan kingdom. The confiscated oil may now go to Germany.

Italians also began to feel the pinch of the British blockade as Mussolini's government decreed still another meatless day—making four "vegetarian days" a week—and ordered sharp rationing of bread in restaurants.

The British people's will to victory appeared in a stronger light today when the $13,868,000,000 budget of Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood—based upon the heaviest taxation in British history—was condemned as "timid and inadequate."

With one accord, the London press clamored for "a real war budget," despite the fact that Britons are already paying a 42 1/2 per cent income tax.

The question of oil for Germany shared interest with attacks on the "puny" budget.

The Financial Times in London declared the British government "will want definite assurances from the United States that oil supplies do not go to Germany."

American-made dive bombers, export-models of planes used by the U. S. Navy, are being used by German raiders in pounding England, the British disclosed.

The British air ministry said today American "Chance Vought 156's" apparently were captured by the Nazis from the French.

The war struck again yesterday at the Holy Land, held under British mandate, with a toll of 48 civilian dead and 88 wounded when ten planes, probably Italian, dropped 80 to 100 high explosives into the streets and harbor of the port of Haifa.

The British reported one of the German-used American planes shot down, another riddled with bullets and 11 other German aircraft destroyed in the dawn-to-dark dueling over the English coast yesterday.

An announcement by Lord Beaverbrook, Britain's minister for aircraft production, that the United States would approve a production plan to supply England with 3,000 planes a month met only partial confirmation last night from defense officials in Washington.

They said they agreed to the 3,000 planes a month program, beginning early next year, if it could be accompanied by present production of planes in the United States is not more than 600 a month, partly taken up by home defense demands.

The U. S. State department disclosed American ministers have been denied home for consultation from Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, Baltic nations which have petitioned to be taken into the Soviet union.

Fear the Argentine delegation might come into sharp conflict with delegates of the 20 other American republics was felt at Havana as the Pan American conference on hemisphere defense and economy approached the deadline for submission of proposals.

Four Sentenced In District Court Here

Sentences were assessed four persons in 31st district court yesterday. Pleas of guilty were entered in each.

Those sentenced were C. D. Lam-inack, burglary, in connection with entering a house of Lewis Tarpley's on April 15 of this year, five years, suspended.

F. C. St. John, drunken driving, two years, suspended; V. N. Moorhead, forgery, July 18, in connection with a $10 check passed to Hattie Hicks on a Burger bank, two years.

Vernie Skinner, theft, in connection with the fraudulent taking of 1937 coach belonging to Haggard & Rider on July 9, two years.

In the court of Justice of the Peace E. F. Young Wednesday afternoon, bond of Ernest McNeil, negro indicted on a charge of murder in connection with the stabbing of J. F. McDonnell, on July 21, was set at $2,000.

colonies in this hemisphere, suppression of "fifth column" activities, and relief for economic systems disclosed by the European war.

However, the Argentine delegation — center of other delegates' fears about lack of unity—worked late into the night on proposals for introduction before the noon deadline.

One of these related to European possessions. Some delegates thought it might conflict sharply with the "hypothetical" plan supported by the United States and several other countries.

In view of Argentina's silence since her delegation head, Leopoldo Melo, cautioned the conference Monday against precipitate action on "hypothetical" dangers, some delegates expressed belief her last-minute proposals might produce a controversy.

Roberts, department commander, declared it was "a crying shame" that the U. S. Veterans hospital at Amarillo had 263 on the waiting list. There are 146 patients in the hospital now, the maximum number.

In keeping with Roberts' speech, a resolution was adopted seeking the addition of facilities to provide for 150 more patients. The Amarillo hospital was the only one in the Veterans administration that opened with a waiting list, Commander Roberts said.

A large district representation at the department convention to be held at Laredo August 18-20 was urged.

Maise's Last Meeting

On the speaker's platform were Roberts, Charlie Maise of Phillips, district commander, and former Pampa, who presided as district commander for the last time; Mrs. John Deaver, Memphis, state vice-president elect of the American Legion auxiliary; J. M. Johnson, Canadian, incoming district commander, succeeding Maise, who becomes fifth division commander; and Dan E. Williams, first vice-commander of the Kerley-Crossman post of Pampa.

A committee was named to purchase a gift on behalf of the district for Maise, in appreciation of his two year's service as district leader.

Miami was selected as the place for the September monthly meeting.

Rifle Association Open To Membership

Pampa boys who have made application for membership in the Rifle Association are asked to call immediately at 408 North Cuyler street where Dan Smith will accept their 25 cents membership fee and take their signatures.

Boys who have not made application for membership may call on Mr. Smith where blanks are available. Mr. Smith urges boys to register immediately so that he can send the application for charter to Washington this week.

The organization is being sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce. Bert Howell will be instructor.

Netherlands Citizens To Be Interned In Germany

AMSTERDAM (Via Berlin) July 25 (AP)—Hundreds of men, women and children of the Netherlands, arrested in reprisal for alleged mistreatment of Germans in the Dutch East Indies, have been taken to Germany where they will have the "same treatment" as Germans in the Indies. It was officially announced today.

Late News

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Authorized sources said today that 2,823 persons were missing in the sinking of the Cunard liner Lancastria at anchor off St. Nazaire during the evacuation of British troops from France.

There were 2,477 known survivors of the 5,300 aboard.

Others, however, may have saved themselves by swimming or wading ashore, and falling into German hands.

RECIFE, Brazil, July 25 (AP)—Twenty nine survivors of the 5,324-ton Norwegian tanker Sarita arrived here today aboard the British freighter Dunstan and reported the Sarita was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in the vicinity of Sao Vicente, Cape Verde Islands, off West Africa.

Before the war the Sarita carried oil from Corpus Christi, Texas, to Europe.

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Home Secretary Sir John Anderson disclosed today that detention of more than 500 former members of Sir Oswald Mosley's British Union of Fascists have been ordered and steps taken to supervise the activities of about 9,000 union members.

Mosley and other leaders were taken into custody some weeks ago in a widespread drive against suspected "fifth columnists."

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—The French ship Metternich, "one of a number used in repatriating French naval officers and men," was sunk by an enemy torpedo last night, First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander told commons today.

Mrs. M'Clard Dies Unexpectedly Here

Mrs. J. M. "Jim" McClard, 59, died unexpectedly at 6 o'clock this morning in a local hospital where she had been admitted a few hours earlier. She had been in ill health for some time, being confined to her home, 109 West Tying street.

Mrs. McClard had been a resident of Pampa for 13 years. Mr. McClard is a driller. She was a member of the First Baptist church and of the Eastern Star.

Survivors are the husband, a son, W. B. Murphy, Pampa, a sister, Mrs. Florence Leonard, Alton, Ill., and three granddaughters, Elaine, Lorraine and Gertrude Joyce Murphy, all of Pampa.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist church by the Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home. Services at the grave will be in charge of the local order of the Eastern Star.

Oilers Break Tie In Eighth To Beat Sox

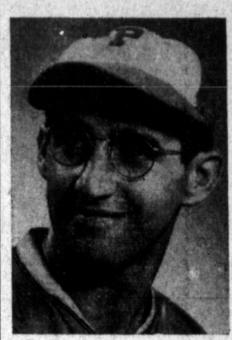

Teams Will Play Second Game Tonight

Phil Potter and Jared Jordan combined offensively and Sam Malvica came up with the decisive hit that gave the Pampa Oilers a 7 to 6 victory over the Amarillo Gold Sox in the first of a three-game series here last night. The two teams will battle again tonight and finish up their current series tomorrow night, both games starting at 8:30 o'clock.

With the score tied at 6-all going into the last half of the eighth, Jordan opened up with a single, his second of the game, and advanced to second on a passed ball. Then Potter stepped to the plate and cleared a single into left center to score Jordan with the winning run. It was also Potter's second hit.

Amarillo tried desperately to score in the ninth. Ratliff, first batter, flied out. Dorman, hitting for Pitcher Trantham, also flied out. Then Tenorio, with the help of some mighty close umpiring decisions, got a base on balls to put the tying run on the base. That brought up Duarte and he proceeded to hit one between third and short, but from out of thin air emerged Sam Malvica to make a great barehanded

SAVED THE DAY

Sam Malvica made one of the greatest plays of the entire season here last night to cut off an Amarillo Gold Sox rally and give the Pampa Oilers a 7 to 6 victory in the opening game of a three-game series. Malvica came up with his great play in the first half of the eighth, with two away and the tying run on first, he raced deep into third base territory to make a barehanded stab and throw to Clutter to cut off Tenorio and end the game.

Two Texans To Start In Grid Game Aug. 29

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—An all star college football eleven headed by Iowa's Nile Kinnick and three University of Southern California athletes will start against the Green Bay Packers' professional champions Aug. 29 in the seventh annual charity game at Soldier field.

The starting lineup and 61 other squad members selected in a nationwide poll that drew a total of 6,575,957 votes, was announced today by the Chicago Tribune, sponsor of the event.

Leading all vote getters was Kinnick, the only recipient of more than

Rotary Nine Beats Lions In 28-13 Rout

A slug-happy bunch of Rotarians broke their long losing streak in the Civic Club Baseball league yesterday evening by smacking the Lions 28 to 13. The Rotarians set up some kind of a record when they scored 23 runs in the third inning as 27 men walked to the plate.

The Lions were held helpless until the last inning when eight runs crossed the plate. Wagner went the distance on the hill for the Rotarians with Travis Lively behind the plate.

Lions paraded to the mound with monotonous regularity. Osborne started out but before the game ended, Tooley and Brown had been peppered. Rose was behind the plate.

The Rotary attack was led by Matthews, Patterson, Key and Pumphrey who hit home runs. Doc Owens homered for the Lions with the bases loaded.

The Rotary and Kiwanis teams will play Friday evening at 6 o'clock on Magnolia diamond.

Walters And Reds Thrash Brooklyn Again 6 To 3

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds look better day by day and twice as good by night.

As they thrashed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-3, last night for Bucky Walters' 15th victory this season, fans sat back and told their neighbors they were looking at the next world champions.

That, was how smoothly the Reds disposed of the next best team in the National league.

They never made a fielding error during the entire three-game series, which they swept with comparative ease to inflate their first place margin to eight full games.

The Reds now have taken seven of their last eight games against the Dodgers, have won 17 of the last 19 against all comers and their last six in a row.

In the only other National league game, the Boston Bees beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, with Carvel Rowell's triple knocking in the deciding run.

While the Reds have been settling the pennant dispute in the National league to all intents and purposes, the American league field has narrowed practically to two teams—Detroit and Cleveland.

The Tigers kept half a game in front with a 7-5 decision yesterday over the Washington Senators that was credited to Fred Hutchinson, their $70,000 rookie.

The Indians squeaked past the Philadelphia Athletics, 7-6, with Roy Weatherly's two-run homer providing the principal impetus.

The rampaging Chicago White Sox rolled up 20 hits in beating the Boston Red Sox, 12-10, for their sixth consecutive triumph.

The worst debacle was at St. Louis, where the Browns ripped open the world champion New York Yankees, 14-12, after Yanks had tallied six runs in the first frame. The Yanks got four homers, including one by Bill Dickey with the bases loaded and another by Joe DiMaggio that extended his hitting streak to 17 games.

But the Browns kept digging away for 17 hits off six New York pitchers.

Big Football Season Ahead For SMU, Says Matty Bell

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, July 25 (AP)—Football—threats of military conscription and general world unrest notwithstanding—will thrive this fall and prove to be the "break" needed for weary Americans in the minds of two men whose fingers touch the pulse of a great fandom.

Coach Matty Bell and business manager of athletics James H. Stewart of Southern Methodist university, home of the famed "aerial circus," weighed 1940 football from every angle today and concluded a big season was ahead.

"I can't believe that college students will be included in first conscriptions under the proposed government plan," said Bell. "It seems logical that those not gainfully employed and those of other groups will make up the bulk of the first group."

"Too, not many college boys have reached the age of 21 until their senior years."

"Football should be that point of relaxation needed for American people this fall."

Stewart chimed in with:

"We have a good criterion right here at Southern Methodist—a university in the midst of a vastly popular and football crazy area. Our season ticket sales do not start until Aug. 15, but hundreds of requests have been received."

"The American people are cognizant of a grave world situation, but American people still love sports and sportsmen. I quite agree with Matty football fans will still see aside their Saturday afternoons to watch a bunch of American boys play a game."

Other football figures queried agreed it was too early to hazard a guess as to what effect, if any, the world's plight would have on the minds of youngsters playing football.

The Texas Aggies, undefeated, untied and winner of the Sugar Bowl last Sunday the Pampa youngsters won a 6 to 4 game in LeFors.

Proper, Halter and Cornett all took turns on the mound for the Oilers with Davis behind the plate. Barron and Ellis hurled for LeFors with Bowman and Jones doing the receiving.

Both teams played outstanding ball.

game with Tulane university last fall, all wear the khaki of Uncle Sam's R. O. T. C. unit. Should three-year R. O. T. C. men be called up by the army this fall, the great Aggie team that returns almost intact would be wrecked.

No fewer than nine of them—including All-America Fullback John Kimbrough, Jim Thomason, the great blocking back, Bill Conster, swirling tailback and kicker and other regulars—would be lost. All have contracts and are liable for instant call.

Only two schools in the Southwest—Texas A. and M. and Arkansas—have R. O. T. C. units.

The Southwest conference, dominated by the Aggies last season, needs into what has been predicted to be the wildest race yet with only a small percentage of the football players 21 years old or over—or eligible for the expected conscription registration Sept. 1.

stab and throw to Clutter to cut off Tenorio and end the game.

If Malvica staged night robbery on the play, it didn't come up to a play by Seitz who raced at least 50 yards to rob Tenorio of a sure hit. Seitz was playing in left center when Tenorio hit to right center. Seitz started with a crack of the bat and made the catch. Most of the fans in the stands and Tenorio himself figured it was a two-base hit and it took the umpire's order to get Tenorio off the bag.

Long John McPartland started on the mound for the Oilers and got by his usually bad opening two innings with only one run crossing the plate when Duarte singled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Fullenwider's single.

Errors Costly

Two errors cost McPartland a brace of runs in the fourth but by that time the Oilers had sent six runs across the plate. Errors in the eighth again got McPartland in trouble and he was relieved by Vannoy who checked things and won the game.

Although only one earned run was made off McPartland, he was in trouble on nearly every batter. On five of his eight innings on the mound McPartland got the first man out and then either walked the second man or allowed him to hit 3 and 2 pitches. He walked the first batter in two other innings and an error put another on base.

The big left-hander had his curve ball working nicely at times as he whiffed eight batters. But the strikeouts were offset by seven bases on balls.

Vannoy relieved after Clutter had made two errors in the eighth to let three runs cross the plate, after two were away. He got the last man out in the eighth and kept the Sox under control in the ninth.

Halbourn Pitches Tonight

Wester, a newcomer started on the mound for Amarillo but was chased to the showers in the second when "Peavine" Trantham relieved. The big fellow pitched good ball the rest of the way but lost the game.

The Oilers scored two in the opening inning when Knobles singled and went to second on an error. Seitz singled and Ross crashed a double against the left centerfield fence.

Three more runs crossed the plate in the second. Potter walked and Clutter doubled. McPartland fanned. Knobles went out. Malvica blasted a triple and Trantham relieved. Seitz greeted him with a single to score the third run.

The other Oiler run before the eighth came in the third when Ross walked, went to second on Jordan's single, and scored on Potter's timely single.

Seitz paced the Oilers at the plate with three singles while D'Antonio duplicated the feat for the Gold Sox.

Gus Halbourn, seeking his 18th win of the season, will be on the mound for the Oilers tonight. Either Lynn or Hill, Amarillo's two leading pitchers, will hurl for the Gold Sox.

Football To Be De-Emphasized At Baton Rouge

By HARRIS JACKSON
BATON ROUGE, La., July 25 (AP)—The circus-like spectacle the late Kingfish Huey Long made of Louisiana State University football is taking a back seat to book learning.

Newly-elected Governor Sam Houston Jones has served notice that his promised reforms must extend to the university system as well as to state affairs. Football won't be curtailed, he hastened to add, but it will be de-emphasized.

"The state university exists for something other than putting out winning football teams," he told the new board of supervisors.

The supervisors knew already that L. S. U. athletics had gone in the red nearly $100,000 last season—this added to a $113,462 deficit for the year before.

All of this means, the authorities made clear, that there won't be any more cross country football excursions for the student body at the university's expense.

Neither will there be holidays for every major football victory, nor blocks of free tickets for big shot politicians, nor trips in university-owned airplanes for football scouts.

These were some of the things that Huey, first as governor and then as Louisiana state senator, made the great American sport mean at L. S. U. before he was shot to death at the state capital.

The Kingfish loved football and the fanfare that went with it.

His lavish program got a lot of publicity. The university won two conference championships in a row.

There were unfavorable reactions, too. Critics called the university a country club.

Things came to a sudden head last summer when Dr. James Monroe Smith, whom Huey had made president, resigned and fled the state. He left behind a public scandal that spread until it unseated most of the Kingfish's followers and sent reform candidate Jones into office.

Shot's The Thing, Form Secondary, Says Tennis Coach

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., July 25 (AP)—Tennis Coach Mercer Beasley likes a fellow to look good making a shot, but he's the first to tell you the shot's the thing, and form is secondary.

That's one reason Beasley is willing to predict his protegee, Frank Parker of Pasadena—whose forehand fashions have been a matter of tennis gossip for years—will win another leg on the big bowl that is the prize for the Sea Bright invitation tennis tourney.

"If Frank keeps on playing as he has been in this tournament, nobody here is going to beat him," said Beasley.

If Beasley is right, Parker will have to survive a field which in its quarter-final stage, including national champion Bobby Riggs, Chicago: Elwood T. Cooke, Portland, Ore.; Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Calif.; Gardner Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.; Sidney B. Wood, Jr., New York; Gilbert A. Hunt, Jr., Washington, D. C., and Henry Prusoff, Seattle, Wash.

Parker, pressed to defeat Jack Kramer in a third-rounder, was due today to engage Kovacs, who yielded four games yesterday in polishing off Wilmer L. Allison, Austin, Tex.

Nine Black Cats End Losing Streak

HUTCHINSON, Kas., July 25 (AP)—Hutchinson's Pirates bought nine black cats from nine fans for $9 and ended their string of Western Association losses at nine games.

Manager Buzz Arlitt scouted one of the cats toward Joplin's pitcher, Johnny Orr, in the first inning—then drove in two runs.

In the ninth with the score 11-all, two out and a runner on first, Arlitt and his cat strolled to the plate again.

His triple broke up the ball game.

● SERIAL STORY FLYING CO-ED

BY MARY KINNAVEY MOORE

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Tony plots with Jumps Daley to damage Dick's plane. Meanwhile, Georgette...

CHAPTER X

THE sorority house was gay with laughter, singing, and after-dinner conversation...

Anne laughed a little absent-mindedly. "I keep thinking about what a perfect idiot I have been."

"Forget it. Everyone's entitled to be a fool once in a lifetime. Where on earth is my chemistry notebook?"

"I don't know. You had it under your arm this afternoon."

A frantic search of the room failed to reveal the missing book.

"Oh my gracious!" Georgette said suddenly. "I must have left it out at the airport. That's what I did do—probably in the restaurant when we had a coke, just before we came home."

They stared at each other in dismay, then Georgette hastily put on her coat.

"Well, there's nothing to do but drive out and get it. I've got to have it if I'm to get any studying done tonight. Want to come along?"

"I don't think I'd better. I must get at French Lit. Don't be long."

AFTER Georgette had gone, Anne found it hard to bring her mind down to the mass of notes and papers spread out on the desk before her.

How much she tried to concentrate, her thoughts kept going back over the past few weeks.

Dick had praised her aptitude for flying. Later, when she'd told him of her determination regarding Tony Scott, he'd said as he shook her hand, "Good girl!"

There had been a friendly sympathy in his tone. Nothing more though.

She brought herself back from her reverie with a sudden start. Did she want to hear more than honest friendliness in his voice?

She felt her cheeks growing warm.

Once more she tried to focus her attention on the studying that had to be done for the next day.

Down the hall, a pledge called her to the phone. As she ran to answer it, she had a depressing premonition of danger.

She was totally unprepared for the loud, shrill voice that came over the wire, but she recognized it almost at once as that of Clar-ice, the dice-game girl at the Villa Aloha.

"Yes, this is Miss Norris." A frown puckered her brow. What on earth did the girl want?

"Miss Norris, maybe I'm messing in stuff that's not my business. But Tony Scott's a louse from away back, and you looked like real stuff. Listen, Miss Norris, Tony found out who it was that helped you get away the other night—that flying guy."

"Yes?" Anne was more puzzled than before.

"Tony's sore. He knows you're through with him and he thinks this guy is the reason."

"You might as well know Tony wanted you to get in a jam when he brought you out here that night. He figured if you got in one, he'd be able to tie up with you. Get it?"

"Yes, I—get it." Anne's voice held horrified incredulity.

"So he figured that this flying guy gummed the works," Clarice was explaining. "Now he's out to get him. He got Jumps Daley—and Daley got tight tonight and shot the works to me. Here's what they're planning to do—"

While Anne listened in mounting horror, Clarice outlined the plans to sabotage Dick's plane.

"So that's the layout," the girl finished. "I'm giving it to you so you can warn the right people. If you like this flyer, he must be a good guy, so don't let anything happen to him." A note of fear came into her voice and she added, "But please, please Miss Norris, don't ever let out how you tumbled to this."

The sharp click of a receiver on the other end of the wire echoed in Anne's ear. For a few minutes she stood by the telephone, numb with fear. Then a new and terrifying thought came to her.

What had Dick said about a flight that very night?

According to Clarice, Daley was to learn when Dick was to make his next flight alone. He might have learned of this night trip. She glanced at her watch. Dick might have taken off by now. Already she might be too late.

Frantically she telephoned the airport. Dick Douglas had gone to dinner, and not yet returned. She gasped with relief. There might still be time to drive to the airport and warn him.

A SHORT time later the lights of the airport blinked before her as Anne drove down the last stretch of highway. As she approached the gate, she saw a car parked in the shadows a short way down the road. It looked like Tony's car! Then all this was true!

A hasty search revealed nothing of Dick. He had driven into town for dinner, and not returned. Georgette's little coupe was with a few other cars in the parking lot, but she was nowhere to be seen.

For a second she considered going to the first airport official she could find, asking him to call the police. But it occurred to her that there might not be time. It was an hour when the airport was all but deserted. By the time the police could arrive, or by the time she could locate help at the airport itself, Dick might be in the air.

What were Tony and Jumps Daley doing?

SHE stood in the shadows near the administration building for a brief minute, in an agony of indecision.

With all the thoughts that raced through her mind, there was not one of possible danger to herself. At last she turned and hurried in the direction of the dimly lighted hangar. She realized that it probably was foolhardy. Yet at the same time, it seemed the only thing to do.

Near the hangar, she slowed her steps and began walking quietly and cautiously. If she could find Tony and his companion actually engaged in their work of sabotage, then she could race back to the administration building and give the alarm!

The interior of the hangar was almost completely dark. Slowly and quietly she crept in the door, staying as close to the wall as she could. Through the dark her quick ears caught the murmur of low-pitched voices.

There was the cabin ship that Dick was to use, a great dark bulk in the shadows. Near it moved two dim figures, almost like shadows themselves. Once or twice she caught the tiny beam from a little flashlight.

She had seen enough. Still moving cautiously she started back toward the door. Yet, careful as she was, she tripped against a piece of metal on the floor.

"Who's there?"

It was Tony's voice. In terror she ran, desperately, toward the door.

But just as she neared it, just as she was gathering her breath for a scream for help, there was a sudden explosion of pain in the back of her head, a moment's blinding light before her eyes, and then utter darkness.

Tucumcari Sports 5-Month Whiskers For Coronado Show

TUCUMCARI, N. M., July 25—There'll be a fine crop of whiskers sported around this town when the Coronado Entrada is held here August 1, 2, 3. For there are 40 Tucumcarians who haven't shaved since they signed an agreement to let their beards grow—and that agreement was signed last April.

Some of the lads, like red-bearded City Clerk Jim Stark, have let their whiskers bush out all over their faces. Stark bears a startling likeness to President U. S. Grant. He will play the role of Coronado. Others have trimmed down to Vandylkes, while some are wearing the true Western "fringe" down the cheek and around the chin.

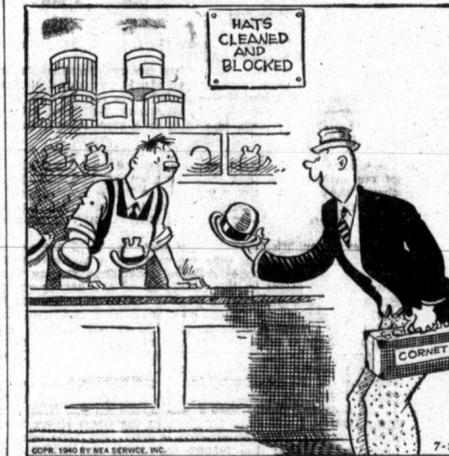

When the boys signed up to let their beards grow until after the Entrada, there was a penalty written into the contract. Those who shave must spend one day in the city jail without even bread and water, and pay a fine of 25 cents to each of the others who still have their beards.

Roy H. Smith, secretary of the chamber of commerce, was the first backslider. Roy had to attend the Southwestern Aviation conference at Tulsa, Okla., as personal representative of Governor Miles. So Roy paid off at the rate of two-bits a head, and the jail term was suspended. Tucumcari is making elaborate preparations for its Coronado Entrada, and will present the mighty spectacle in true eastern New Mexico fiesta spirit. The cast of 500 is rehearsing nightly now, and the municipal stadium is being made ready for the huge Coronado stage which is 300 feet long.

Oil Shipments To Spain In American Tankers Halted

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Government stoppage of oil shipments to Spain in American tankers, an authoritative federal source said today, indicates a virtual embargo against fuel or lubricant supplies which might reach Germany or Italy through an intermediary.

The stoppage became known officially when the Maritime commission disclosed that a few days ago it had halted the sailing of two tankers, bound from a Texas port for Spain with 200,000 barrels of oil.

The official said the commission adopted the general policy without being asked to do so by the white house or state department. He said foreign tankers were not affected. An authoritative source elsewhere said the embargo was directed against potential go-betweens for the axis powers or Japan, and that it was being applied under the recent presidential proclamation authorizing the treasury department to impose shipping controls.

Planes Used To Battle Grasshoppers

By SCHUYLER ALLMAN

BOISE CITY, Okla., July 25 (AP)—Five reconnaissance planes roared over the bald prairie—the roving eyes of a mechanized army bent on relentless extermination.

In the half light before daybreak the pilots scanned the flat lands below, marked moving formations, banked and flew back to report to headquarters.

Up from the airfield thundered eight planes. They swooped down on the moving formation, bombed, destroyed or dispersed them.

Thus, taking a cue from modern mechanized warfare, did the United States Bureau of Entomology successfully battle this month one of the greatest hordes of grasshoppers ever to ravage the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Back and forth from airfield to battle scene shuttled the fighter planes, equipped to sow 50 acres with poison bait in five minutes. On ahead the scouter craft sought out more formations and likely landing fields.

The Department of Entomology concentrated its fire on the grasshopper swarms, thousands of acres of idle pasture land.

On adjacent crop lands, the farmers themselves supported the offensive with mechanized equipment and poison bait furnished by the government.

Into the struggle were thrown 17 pickup trucks pulling poison bait spreaders, 14 bait spreaders, and 15 one and one-half ton trucks carrying bait for ammunition.

On cool days, most favorable for spreading operations, the eight planes flew over 38,200 acres within eight hours.

Behind the planes and the bait spreaders came mop-up squads to clean out formations of grasshoppers still in the area.

J. Myron Maxwell, state grasshopper control leader and generalissimo of the campaign, described the grasshopper onslaught in Cimarron and Texas counties as the "worst in the United States this year" and claimed wide-spread successes.

"Where I saw 150 'hoppers to the square yard in large areas of Cimarron county not long ago," he said, "only five or ten may be found now."

With the insect columns dispersed, the grasshopper war now is confined chiefly to mopping up operations, but by late August or early September the heavy artillery will be unlimbered again to kill off those hatched from eggs already laid.

The embattled farmers and ranchers are up against a prolific foe, Maxwell warns.

The intelligence corps classes the invader as the Mexican grasshopper, a species, a grasshopper about one and one-half inches long, and the only variety capable of producing a second generation within one year.

Same Troubles Dog Coronado In 1940 As 400 Years Ago

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 25—The same problems that dog Coronado in 1940 plagued his army of 1,600 on its original trek into the Southwest 400 years ago.

Despite all modern facilities, transportation is a major problem for the U. S. Coronado Exposition commission in its undertaking to present a $100,000 road show in 19 cities over a 6,300-mile itinerary.

Transportation troubles beset Coronado in 1540 almost from the start of his trek. At Culiacan, Mexico, the conquistadores abandoned most of their fancy paraphernalia—it was too heavy. Over the burning deserts, the conquistadores and their horses became foot-sore—and finally Coronado, himself, nearly lost his life when his saddle girth broke while racing on horseback with one of his men.

With four trucks and two automobiles in 1940, Coronado's emissaries encountered these troubles: They couldn't cross the Texas border because of a 7,000-pound maximum load law which would have more than doubled the equipment necessary. So they took to the railroads for a trip to Pampa, Texas.

At Las Vegas, some 1,800 miles later, someone left a cigarette in one of the automobiles and a resulting fire caused several hundred dollars damage.

Only a few days later, G. C. Dickens, executive officer of the U. S. Coronado Exposition commission, driving through a show skidded on wet pavement between Fortales and Clovis, and overturned the other Coronado automobile. He received a fractured skull, the same type of injury suffered by Coronado in his fall from a horse.

Physicians at the Fortales hospital operated and said Dickens' condition was satisfactory.

JCC Organized At Panhandle

D. L. Parker, president of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, assisted in organization of a Junior Chamber of Commerce at Panhandle last night. The meeting was attended by Jaycees from Pampa, Borger and Amarillo.

The organization started with a membership of 27, and a board of directors was chosen, from which officers will be elected at the first regular meeting of the organization, yet to be set.

Binford Arney, state president; Mr. Parker, Borger organization; J. C. McCullough, J. H. O'Neal, M. C. Davis, Raymond Best, M. D. Eagle, Lloyd Miller and Vick Held.

Directors elected by the Panhandle group are Sam Goodner, Lester Engstrom, Benny Benjamin, Minton and Chapman. Those attending from Pampa were Dan Smith and Mr. Parker.

Amarilloans who were guests are Fancher Upshaw, Jr., S. B. Whitteberg, J. W. McKee, Bill Lemons, Paul Dollard, Bill Lytle, Beck Adkinson, Curtis Claibourne, Mark Perry, Arney and Davis.

The meeting was held in connection with a dinner at the Panhandle Inn.

John Garner Will Cast Vote Saturday

UVALDE, July 25 (AP)—Citizen John Nance Garner will cast his ballot in the state primary election Saturday but he won't have anything to say about politics.

The vice-president arrived home yesterday from Washington and said he did not know when he and Mrs. Garner would return to the capital.

"Those things will take care of themselves," he said. "When the time comes for a decision, it will be made."

He posed for news photographers and was in a jovial mood but declined to discuss politics.

"Tell your editors I'm not talking politics today," he said.

A crowd of more than 3,000 turned out to greet the Garners upon their arrival. The high school band led a two-mile parade from the train station to the Garners home.

Seven Days Left To Transfer Pupils

With only seven days left in which transfers can be made, applications for the transfer of pupils of Gray county schools from the district in which they reside to schools in other districts, should be made at once.

The deadline is August 1, and only a few applications, far below the customary number, have been received to date at the office of the county superintendent.

Heat Wave Shows Signs Of Cracking

(By The Associated Press) The prolonged heat wave showed signs of cracking today as a mass of cool air advanced from the northwest.

Cooler air began moving eastward last night, bringing relief to Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas, and parts of Minnesota.

Forecasters said the air mass would overspread the upper Mississippi valley and Great Lakes region by tomorrow night and should be felt all the way to the Atlantic seaboard by Saturday.

Thunderstorms promised temporary relief today for most of the Midwest and much of the East. Temperatures, however, remained abnormally high from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

At least 317 deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the torrid spell, more than a week old in some sections. There were 116 heat fatalities and 201 drownings. In addition, more than a half dozen persons were killed by lightning.

Five Billions In Gold To Be Mailed To Kentucky Fort

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The treasury started packing about $5,000,000,000 worth of gold at New York today for "mailing" to Fort Knox, Ky.

An army of guards is being mobilized to accompany the metal. Technicians, Postmaster General Farley will be in charge, because the gold will go as "registered mail."

The treasury will pay the postoffice fee of $1,000,000 in postage.

Cold has been coming from Europe to New York so fast—as much as $400,000 in one week—that vaults in the big city are crowded.

The treasury accordingly obtained $1,600,000 appropriation to ship some of it the bombproof depository located on the army's mechanized cavalry center at Fort Knox.

As soon as arrangements are concluded, special trains will carry the metal in about 100,000,000 lots.

When the new shipments arrive, Fort Knox will hold about half of the nation's $20,400,000,000 worth of gold—about 80 per cent of the world's monetary gold.

Bank Robber Admits Crime After 15 Years

DALLAS, July 25 (AP)—Time and the avarice of others have wiped the slate clean for an aged man who took $15,000 from a bank 36 years ago.

Sheriff R. A. Schmid said today the admitted embezzler cannot be prosecuted because the statute of limitations has outlawed it.

And, he added, the man never received any benefit from his ill-gotten gains because someone, who found out about his past, black-mailed him of the money.

Schmid, who conducted the investigation with immigration inspectors Carroll D. Paul and C. T. Tucker after the man had applied for citizenship papers, related that the embezzlement occurred in 1904 and involved a bank at Geveston.

The cashier took the money and disappeared.

Charges were filed but were dismissed in 1908 because there was no prospect of the defendant being arrested.

The man has resided in Dallas since 1932. He said, in a statement to Schmid, that he went from Galveston to Costa Rica where he obtained employment with a British steamship company.

It was there that he was black-mailed out of the money in addition to a goodly part of his salary.

"While I do not have any sympathy for bank embezzlers, there is a providence that levels off in punishment of most all crimes and in this old man's case I think justice has been done," Schmid said.

"Now the man is penniless, is about to lose his ramshackle home and doesn't know where he will live the few remaining years of life left to him."

"PLAIN SPEAKING FROM A PLAIN MAN" By H. C. COFFEE For County Commissioner Prec. 2

H. C. COFFEE

ment, like the State and County Government, has no money to meet any obligation except that gathered through taxation.

The writer believes that before we are justified in making too severe criticism against Federal or State Taxes we should consider that the place to begin an adjustment is at HOME, and if the paring knife can be used in reducing local taxes, without retarding the progress and advancement of local affairs, it should be done. There are probably many ways in which, by a close survey, costs of County government can be reduced.

Gray County has been enjoying "luxuries" which were excusable, perhaps, during the boom days—but the increasing Federal and State taxes and the critical conditions of our country, demands that "luxuries" be abolished. I pledge my efforts to abolish these "luxuries"—to devote my time to the accomplishment of certain things that the taxpayers of Gray County have, in the past, paid outside interests large sums of money to accomplish—to see that Gray County is operated on a sound economical basis.

I am unqualifiedly against the employment of anyone except bona fide residents of Gray County to fill jobs that are paid for, to the extent of many thousands of dollars annually, with tax money collected from Gray County Tax Payers, believing that we have as good talent in this county as we can get by going to some other part of the State to acquire our help. I want it distinctly understood by everyone that I am not criticizing anyone for things that may have happened in the past, but am merely stating my private opinion as to what should be done regarding the employment of help for Gray County, in the light of conditions now existing.

According to information that I have received, the salary of a County Commissioner in Gray County is $200.00 a month. This is in excess of the average salary paid to employees of the community, and in my opinion a man drawing this amount of money should devote his entire time to the institution which pays him that money.

If elected, I pledge that I will devote my full time to looking after the affairs of Gray County. I will have an office in the Court House where I can be found as easily as any other County Officer that is paid a full time salary, unless I should be attending to other duties that require the service and attention of the Commissioner of this precinct, such as the supervision of the construction of roads.

From observations in traveling over the precinct, I have found lateral roads, on an average, to be in good condition, however, some of them are badly in need of repair. Some of these roads need working over and regrading, and where oil is available, (and oil should always be available in this—one of the largest oil fields in the world) it should be used in topping out as many of them as possible. All lateral roads should be put in and kept in first class condition. Everyone should have good roads from their homes to our State and County highways, not only in the oil field but in the agricultural and ranching communities as well. I have been a believer in, and have worked for good roads ever since I worked for and saw the beginning of improvements in all the roads in Ochiltree County when I served as Commissioner of that county many years ago.

I arrived in the Panhandle of Texas at the Adobe Walls Ranch in February, 1887. My varied business experiences throughout these years have qualified me to fill the office of County Commissioner of Gray County. I have worked as a cow puncher and later became ranch owner. I have worked as a salaried man and have had considerable experience in road contracting. I owned and operated successfully, a 700 acre farm, and for six years I was field man and Proration Officer for the Texas Railroad Commission. My supervision and success in the capacity of Proration Officer for the Texas Railroad Commission can be ascertained through the many employees of the oil companies in Gray County, and I am willing to be judged by their verdict.

Because of experiences as outlined above, I feel that I know the problems of every type of individual in this county and, because of those experiences, I know the problems of every one of you, and can serve you better than one who has not been familiar with each of your individual problems.

No one has contributed toward my campaign expenses for the office of County Commissioner. If elected, I will be under no obligation to any clique or "special interest" as I am on no one's payroll. My obligation will be to the people of Gray County as a whole. No man can serve two masters. If elected, I will be free and unincumbered by the influence of any "special interests," and my "master" will be the people of Gray County.

I have no political ambitions beyond serving as your County Commissioner, therefore I will not be required because of these ambitions, to cater to any influence that would endeavor to detract me from my duties.

I believe that every man that is elected to a public trust should do his duty and be at times ready to say "No" as well as "Yes" when necessary. As a final analysis, a man must live with himself, which he can do with no regret or remorse if he has followed his conscience instead of the line of least resistance.

I sincerely thank you for the many courtesies that you have shown me and certainly I will appreciate any support that you may care to render me in Saturday's election.

Sincerely Yours,
H. C. COFFEE

BEAUCHAMP FOR JUDGE

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF GRAY COUNTY AND THE PANHANDLE: You will vote next Saturday to fill, among other public offices, a Judgeship on the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas. It is one of the most important offices in the State for the reason that the Court of Criminal Appeals is the final and supreme court on all cases where law violations are prosecuted; it has the final "say" in passing upon the rights of those charged with crime. The decisions of this Court must be followed by all District and County and inferior courts in the administration of our criminal laws. Judge Tom L. Beauchamp of Smith County is one of the candidates for Judge on this Court. He is now filling, by appointment from Governor O'Daniel, the unexpired term of one of the former members of the Court who resigned last year. He is a candidate to succeed himself for the first full term. He is eminently qualified for the position he seeks. He served Lamar County four years as County Judge, he was for four years Assistant Attorney General of Texas, four years a member of the State Park Board, and has spent his years in the study and practice of law. Since Governor O'Daniel appointed him to the Court last October, he has written many outstanding opinions for the Court. He is a hard worker with ceaseless energy, and he understands the importance of law enforcement. He believes in our Constitutions, both Federal and State, and appreciates the fundamentals of our liberties. He has denounced, in no uncertain terms, law enforcement by means of the "third degree." He believes law officers should be the first to respect the laws of the land. Judge Beauchamp (pronounced "Bee-chum") started his career as a young lawyer in my father's law office at Paris and was a partner of my father for several years. I have known him all of my life. He was my Sunday School teacher for about ten years. He was Captain of the company in which I enlisted during the first World War. He practiced law at Paris in Lamar County and reared his family there, removing to Tyler in 1930. In Judge Beauchamp's young manhood, after leaving the farm, he taught country school and then published and edited a country newspaper before taking up the study of law. He has served as Regional Director of Boy Scout work in the Tyler district and has always stood publicly and privately for clean, honest government. I know Tom Beauchamp to be a Christian gentleman, a patriotic citizen, a good lawyer and a fair and impartial Judge. It is a pleasure to vouch for him to my friends and to the people of this section of the State. Naturally, and on account of my long association and friendship with Judge Beauchamp, I would like to see him elected. I know his heart is right; I know he has a keen and alert intellect, and I know his service as Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals will reflect credit upon himself and honor to the Court and to the people of Texas. I respectfully submit to you these facts concerning this man, and if you have no preference in this race, ask your support and vote for him. Yours very truly, JOHN F. STURGEON, Attorney at Law, Pampa, Texas. Political Advertisement
