PATTERN 8770

Here's one of those doubly useful patterns that serves two different purposes, according to the materials in which you choose to make it up. In gingham, percale or seersucker, as shown in the large sketch, design No. 8770 is a belted, unrestraining style in which you can take endless comfort when doing housework. And with just a few changes, it's as smart as a casual frock as you could desire.

For this more tailored version, choose spun rayon, flat crepe or thin wool. Accessorize the square neckline with a bright Ascot scarf tucked in, a brilliant necklace, or clips.

Pattern No. 8770 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4 2-3 yards of 39-inch material without nap.

Willkie Says Roosevelt Should Name Assistant Secretaries

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Aug. 28 (P)—Wendell L. Willkie opened his presidential campaign headquarters on main street today with a demand that President Roosevelt appoint immediately assistant secretaries for aviation in the war and navy departments.

The Republican nominee drove here last night from Indianapolis, stopping at an outlying restaurant in that city to listen by radio to the acceptance speech of his running mate, Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon. Willkie flew to Indianapolis from New York.

As he ate a sirloin steak and slipped coffee from a heavy white mug, Willkie replied to a reporter's question by saying "I see no difference between Senator McNary's views and my own" on public power development.

"In connection with my suggestion that there should be created a position in the cabinet for aeronautics, I want to make another suggestion immediately. The president should appoint at once an assistant secretary for air in both the war and navy departments.

These positions have been vacant ever since the president came into office in 1933. The failure to fill them is in part the cause of the present lamentable situation with reference to our aeronautical development.

"At the time he (Roosevelt) declined he was not making these appointments in the interest of economy." I doubt if in view of the subsequent expenditure of sixty billion dollars by his administration that that is a valid excuse for continuing the vacancies which would cost $24,000 a year to fill.

"I enjoyed Senator McNary's talk very much," said Willkie. "His differentiation between that philosophy and the philosophy of the Republican leadership was exactly in accord with my own beliefs."

Temperature Drops To 53 At Dalhart

(By The Associated Press) Summer's heat retired to its corner in most of Texas today, whipped down by an attack of heavy rains, stormy cooling winds and a little hail.

The extreme ranges of the sudden change in temperatures is shown by the state's high of 105 degrees at Alice and Carrizo Springs late yesterday and a zippy 50-degree minimum at Muleshoe this morning.

The overnight ruckus of the elements centered in East Texas. At Tyler two street bridges caved in, power and telephone lines failed and the city was blacked out during an all-night storm which brought 3.5 inches of rain, mostly in the afternoon.

Next to Muleshoe's 50, Dalhart with 53 degrees was the coolest recorded place in Texas today. Amarillo reached for the light covers with 54 degree weather.

The rainstorm reached the coast this morning, in two hours dropping .63 of an inch at Port Arthur and holding the temperature to 72.

The Dallas weather bureau said the Panhandle coolness probably will move across the state to the southeast.

Primrose Party Of Council Praised

Miss Mary Gartner, area supervisor of the state department of public welfare, today expressed appreciation for the excellent response given the primrose party held here August 9.

Due to her work of traveling over the 14-county area she directs, Miss Gartner was unable to be in Pampa when the party was held at the First Methodist church and she said this was the first opportunity she had had of complimenting the Council of Federated Church Women on the party that honored all Pampa residents 70 years of age or over.

It was Pampa's first "primrose party." A suggestion that such a party be held here was made last autumn by Miss Gartner to the council.

CCC Head Will Address Public Welfare Employees

C. E. Sweeney of Austin, head of the CCC branch of the state department of public welfare, will address the area 31 employees at the regular monthly staff meeting to be held here on September 6.

In connection with the visit of Sweeney, Miss Mary Gartner, area supervisor of the department with headquarters in Pampa, today called attention to the October enrollment in the Civilian Conservation corps.

She said she did not have information yet on the quota allowed Gray county, or when the data for receiving applications would close.

Boys from 17 to 23 years old are eligible for the corps and relief status is no longer essential. Miss Gartner emphasized the opportunity of youths to save money while serving in the CCC, preparatory to entering college.

Enrollment is for a six-month period and youths save $22 a month of their pay.

A copy of a feature story written by Harold Martin, and published in the Atlanta Constitution of June 26, has been received here. It cites the valuable training CCC boys receive and the skills they develop as tractor drivers, mechanics, welders, telephone linemen, woodworkers, carpenters, radio operators, and photographers.

Armed Tanker Sunk In Indian Ocean, Germany Claims

BERLIN, Aug. 28 (P)—The sinking of the second British merchant ship within a week by surface raiders operating in distant waters was announced today by the German high command, which said the 6,901-ton "armed" tanker, British Commander, had gone down in the Indian ocean.

(Radio reports received in New York Monday from the British Commander said she had been stopped and shelled north of Madagascar off the east coast of Africa by an unidentified ship.)

The high command announced last Saturday that a raider had sunk the 8,706-ton steamer Turkina in the Tasman sea, between Australia and New Zealand.

The high command also reported the sinking of two British submarines in the English channel by German naval artillery firing from the French coast, and huge fires started from bombings of British aircraft and motor works at Birmingham and Derby, and numerous ports.

A British air raid on the naval base of Kiel resulted in the damaging of a number of apartment houses, the high command said.

One submarine reported the sinking of 28,800 tons of merchant shipping space.

The capital had its third air raid alarm in as many days early this morning, but the all-clear signal was sounded after four minutes and an official announcement later said the warning had been sounded by accident through a mechanical disturbance.

Reporter Sees No Damage In Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 28 (P)—A personal tour of virtually every major spot in central Berlin, including Adolf Hitler's chancellery and other official quarters, has failed to disclose a single bomb hole caused by British raids.

Important war industries in the outskirts of the city are in a restricted area which I was unable to visit, of course, but I have been unable to find an informed resident of those sections who reported either fire or explosions in those vicinities.

The American Indian came apparently more damage has been done by German anti-aircraft projectiles than by British raiders, and such damage is trifling.

Share The Burden With The National Guard

Soon now members of the national guard and reserve corps are going to begin leaving civilian life for a year's tour of duty on active service.

The uniform is going to be seen in places where it has seldom been seen in the past. Thousands of families and business offices and factories will see the vacant chair, the cleared desk, the bench or machine on which a new hand is being "broken in."

All honor to them! These national guardsmen and reserves are the men who saw the need when the rest did not see it. They are the ones who gave evenings, and weekends, and vacations to their country when the rest were indifferent.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The Senate is debating one of the most vital and controversial bills ever presented to Congress in time of peace. The conscription bill has stirred up strong feeling, both pro and con.

HOLT IS IN NO RUSH

It is not only the jackadical way of treating the bill that shocks, but some of the arguments used. Rush Holt, who retires soon from his West Virginia senatorship, gave some results of his profound thinking about life in the army:

"What is the theory in an army? A private salutes a corporal; a corporal salutes a sergeant; a sergeant salutes a lieutenant; a lieutenant salutes a major. . . In other words, it is the old caste system that Europe handed down to us, but not the system that we have seen in America. In other words, the one who is a little lower than another salutes the man above him in rank and so on. The last man down, the boy we are going to conscript, is going to shine the boots of the man who wnat conscription."

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory program until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

A contributor advises me to sacrifice some principles, to accept laws that are and support them, not condemn what already has happened, but aside my books and find out something about laws that protect the meek, the unfortunate, etc.

His advice to protest against bad laws, then Abraham Lincoln was wrong when he protested against the laws that made slavery possible. Then every law once passed must remain a law. This is the height of absurdity.

The contributor talks like a socialistic Frenchman, whom the great economist, Bastiat, so effectively annihilated in his great book "Protectionism and Communism".

After this quotation, Bastiat, the great defender of eternal principles and the equal rights of every man, has this to say. "So there is no truth in the world and there are no principles, because the pendulum should oscillate from one principle to the other according to the needs of the moment."

The Nation's Press

When the veteran Carter Glass spoke at Chicago it was for two purposes: one, to nominate James A. Farley was a gallant gesture but futile. The second was to remind Democrats of the ancient opposition of their party to a third term for a President.

They're telling it about that a studio executive rejected a scenario with this comment: "The story is stupid, trite, and unfit for filming. Besides, we have just finished a picture along the same lines."

FALLING LEAVES

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22.—Double features, double roles, and double trouble are in the Movie-town limelight these days.

In my opinion, the pendulum of civilization, which swings from one principle to the other, in accord with the needs of the moment, but which constantly marks some further progress, after having been greatly swung toward the side of individual liberty in the absolute, is now moving toward the necessity for governmental action."

A well-known actor was called in by Warner Brothers and asked if he could step right into a dual role. "No," he said, "I'd need at least two wigs to take fencing lessons."

WHITE FEATHER STUFF

No matter what you've read about that Richard Greene enlistment mess, which reflected so harshly on him, here are the facts. The charge that the actor's patriotic gesture was a publicity stunt was made gratuitously by an officer of a regiment to which Greene did not apply.

JUST TOO BAD

Refugee Ship Docks After Perilous Trip

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—The peril of their journey through blockaded European waters sharpened by German broadcasts, approximately 900 refugees neared New York today aboard the army transport American Legion.

The vessel was picked up 500 miles at sea by two U. S. destroyers, forming an honorary escort for Norwegian Crown Princess Martha and her children. It was scheduled to dock at 11 a. m. (CST) after a 12-day voyage from Petsamo, Finland.

Almost all the 894 passengers were Americans fleeing German and Russian domination; one was Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, U. S. minister to Norway. The vessel passed through uncharted Russian, German and British minefields and Germany's "total blockade" of England.

Otto Toltschus, correspondent for the New York Times who was a passenger, told in a dispatch to his paper how radios on the ship picked up German stations which described the trip as a "wanton voyage" and "criminal folly."

General hardship due to overcrowding, Toltschus said, was aggravated by much seasickness. Thirty persons were sent to the ship's hospital and two women, who had come aboard ill, died from heart disease, he added.

When passing through danger zones during the nights from Aug. 19 to 22 the ship flew illuminated American flags and was brightly lit. Many passengers slept with their clothes on or stayed up all night.

The royal refugees came at the invitation of President Roosevelt and will motor to Hyde Park tomorrow for an indefinite stay.

Mrs. Anna Margarete Lundum, 55, enroute from Copenhagen to San Francisco, and Mrs. Bada Maria Swanberg, 49, enroute with her husband and two children to Monroe, La., were the fatalities.

DEAR MOMMY: I am very tired but I just want to tell you that I like it very much here in America. We may leave the lights on whenever we want, and we don't even need to have a gas mask ever. I miss you very much and hope you are fine and safe.

Revival To Begin At Amarada On Sunday Morning

A revival meeting of wide interest will begin next Sunday, September 1, at the Amarada Baptist church on the Amarada lease, five miles south of the city.

The community-at-large as well as neighboring friends are cordially invited to attend the revival. It is appropriate that every person in the community, regardless of church affiliation, attend this meeting.

The pastor, the Rev. E. G. Barrett, extends an invitation to the public to attend.

The music will be conducted by Aaron Meek and Miss Wynona Enloe will play the piano. The old songs which have been sung through the generations will be used in this revival.

The preaching will be done by the Rev. T. D. Sumrall, pastor of the Central Baptist church. Brother Sumrall says, "It is time to turn to God. Let every Christian pray for this meeting. The age is dark with sin. We can have a great meeting if we have the power of God in our lives."

Day services will be at 10 o'clock each morning and night services at 7:30.

Poage Urges Sewing Rooms Produce Garments For Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Utilization of WPA sewing room projects for production of cotton garments needed by the army and navy has been proposed by Representative Poage (D-Tex.) in a letter to Col. P. C. Harrington, Works Projects commissioner.

The Texas asserted that garments such as undershirts, shirts and dungarees could be processed in the WPA sewing rooms, providing employment for needy while at the same time supplying the armed forces with apparently a price appreciably below what the government would have to pay for the goods under contract to private manufacturing companies.

Pointing out that the rural areas of the south would benefit little by the armament production program, and that this section was losing export markets because of the war, Poage urged that the WPA, war and navy departments co-operate in utilizing sewing rooms.

"Due to the fact that the revenues of our counties and cities follow the same curve that is followed by cotton income, these local governmental units are unable to make the contribution to WPA projects that many of the more highly industrialized communities can make," Poage wrote, observing that some WPA sewing room sponsors were barely able to stand their share of project costs.

"At the same time our problem is becoming more acute while theirs is being measurably improved as a result of foreign war orders and domestic military precautions."

Attendance At Methodist Revival Increases Daily

Attendance and interest are increasing with each service of the revival in progress at the First Methodist church.

The Rev. J. O. Haymes of Big Spring speaks each morning at 10 o'clock and each evening at 8 o'clock. The remaining day services will be held on Thursday and Friday and night services will continue through Sunday with the exception of Saturday evening.

Additions are being made to the church at each service; five new members joined last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Edwards meet each afternoon at 4 o'clock with the children of church and at 7:15 o'clock with the young people.

Visitation is being directed by the Rev. B. L. Nance.

Opponents Of Conscription Admit Defeat

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Opponents of peacetime conscription conceded defeat today as the senate got ready for a final vote on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory training bill.

Hopes dashed by the chamber's 54 to 29 rejection of an effort to limit conscription to a time of war or threatened invasion, opposition leaders told reporters their fight was over.

"We've put up the best fight we know how," Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) said gloomily. "Now it's up to the house."

Only one major proposal stood in the way of a final vote as the senate began its thirteenth day of debate—a substitute bill by Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) to delay the draft until January 1 while attempts were made to supply the expanded army's manpower needs by voluntary one-year enlistments.

The Burke-Wadsworth measure would be effective at once if enacted. All men between the ages of 21 and 31 would have to register immediately, and the first contingent—probably of 400,000—would be selected for service soon afterwards.

Spurred by a new demand from President Roosevelt for action on the bill, the senate came to life at the night session after members had spent eight hours twiddling their thumbs and listening to prepared speeches by both foes and backers of the measure.

The chamber acted at 6:45 p. m.

Willkie Meeting Called

DALLAS, Aug. 28 (AP)—An organization to support Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, will be perfected here tonight at a meeting of Texas Democrats opposing a third term for President Roosevelt.

Mike Hoag of Houston, who called the meeting, predicted an audience filling the Fair Park auditorium.

Senator Wagner (D-NY) succeeded in winning adoption of a provision requiring employers to pay back wages to an employee who was forced to get his job back by court action after his training period had ended.

Then Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) rose to propose the elimination of peacetime conscription.

Senator Adams (D-Colo.) was quickly on his feet to observe if Walsh's amendment were defeated it meant that "young men may be inducted into the military service even if there is no imminence of war."

That was right, Walsh added, and it was on that basis the senate voted to reject it.

The city attorney will also make a trip to Dallas where he will transact city business.
The commission also approved a car mileage expense bill for Dr. N. L. Nichols, assistant city health officer, who has completed a 450 mile inspection trip to every dairy in this area which delivers milk to Pampa.

MANY FIRES

At least ten Britons were killed during the night, including a 19-year-old girl.
In southern Europe's fast-living theaters, British air raids from Northern Italy to Ethiopia were admitted by the Italian high command.
RAF bombers, winging 650 miles across the Alps from home bases in England, attacked the northern provinces of Piedmont and Lombardy, the high command said, and also dropped explosives on the industrial province of Turin.

Market Briebs

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Leading stocks today on a moderate-to-lazy buying were.
The market generally came close to duplicating the peaks of the recent rally but lacked the stamina to push into new high ground.
Brokers said traders seemed unwilling to follow through on the advance, assuming it was based chiefly on technical factors and that the uncertain outcome of the street battle of England was a hindrance to an aggressive move.
Steels, motors, aircrafts and rails responded readily to the early flurry of orders. After these had been filled, prices resumed a listless drift but stiffened again toward the finish.

FRANCHISE

have amounted to $6,826.97. Total payments to the city by the utility under the new franchise would have been $11,399 for the year as compared to total expenditures by the city of only $11,692, giving the city an annual savings of approximately $2,000 and in effect, free pumping and lighting service.
The new rates for pumping and lighting will include, now, services to the schools of Pampa, reducing their lighting costs an estimated $835 a year. The increase taxes paid by the company to the school district will approximate $700 and to the county, $900.
Summarizing the above figures, it is seen that the total of all savings and benefits under the new franchise are estimated at $22,248 a year, which over the 20 year life of the new franchise would amount to $444,972.
Rate Reduction Safe
The provisions of the new franchise impose a loss of approximately 10 per cent in gross receipts to the Southwestern Public Service company, but commission members expressed the belief it would not prevent future periodical rate reductions to electric consumers in Pampa, which already has one of the lowest rates in the Southwest.

year. The increased property rendition for Ad Valorem taxes will yield additional taxes to the school district of $694.00 per year and $881.00 annually to Gray county.
"Summarizing the above paragraphs, the total of all savings and benefits obtained under the new franchise are estimated to be $22,248.61 per year. Over the twenty year period of the new franchise, this would amount to $444,972.20.
In accordance with the provisions of our city charter, the new franchise ordinance will be published once each week for three weeks. Following the date of the last publication, there will be an additional period of thirty days during which citizens may petition the commission for a public election on the granting of this franchise.
In this connection, we wish to point out that the new franchise contains a provision whereby the city may purchase the property of the Southwestern Public Service company located in Pampa at an appraised value, whereas the old franchise provides that the city would have to pay the original, un depreciated cost of all property owned by the company in Pampa, plus a two percent interest per annum from the time of installation to date. Thus, to defeat the new franchise and, force the city to exercise the re-purchase provision of the old franchise would penalize the city several hundred thousand dollars.

brought down by anti-aircraft in night raids which ranged from Scotland to Wales, and that the attacks were "indiscriminate."
Great numbers of incendiary and explosive bombs were dropped, but the government said damage was done only to houses, and that the attacks were "indiscriminate."
No casualties were caused in London. In one northeast town 70 persons had to be given shelter after bombs smashed a housing project.
Two of 21 German bombers and one of the escorting Messerschmitt fighters were shot down in a series of dogfights over a southeast town.
One German bomber was seen to crash into the sea several miles from land and another was shot down by a Spitfire into the sea after setting its bombs while only 50 feet above water. Two survivors were brought ashore by lifeboats.
Three women were injured by a bomb which hit an apartment building during the fights. Rescuers dug for other casualties.
The capital had two alarms, one of 2 1/2 hours just before midnight and the second of less than an hour shortly after midnight. Anti-aircraft activity was light.
It was the second successive night of heavy bombing throughout the country, the action far outstripping daylight attacks of yesterday and approximating that of Monday night, which was the heaviest night assault of the war.
From an increasing number of communities came reports of individual towns having "the biggest attack of the war," and the widespread use of incendiary bombs indicated the Germans may be employing a new tactic.
The bombing was particularly heavy on two towns in the southeast and on two points in the north of England.

Incendiary bombs fell everywhere, but the British reported bringing their fires under control quickly. The Germans have been making increasing use of the gasoline bomb, which consists simply of a drum of gasoline and a mechanism to ignite it.

The committee complimented City Manager Matthews on his courteous reception of all complaints brought before him and his immediate personal investigation. Later, at the hotel, Oaks tries to sell her town lot, promising the railroad will soon come to Sioux Springs. Mark contradicts Oaks, strikes the sugar when he calls Mark a liar. Carrie stops the fight, fearing Mark will be killed.

CHAPTER III

"SORTA stirred things up last night, didn't you?" Newt greeted Mark outside the livery stable next morning. "Hell, I don't see why somethin' like that can't happen to me when there's a pretty woman around to show off to."

Mark grinned. "Wasn't exactly showing off, Newt."

"Well, it sure worked out that way, her aching to your lapels and Oaks down and all." Newt wiped his shiny, bald head. "Gettin' mighty hot, Mark. Say, what do you suppose that Oaks was up to there in the hotel last night when you hit him?"

"Oh, just another land agent trying to make some quick money," Mark said. "New country like this is full of them."

"Always something worse'n the hot weather and grasshoppers," said Newt. "What can I do for you, Mark?"

"Got a good horse, Newt? I want to ride out to Rock Creek today. Be back by night."

"Best in the barn," and Newt disappeared inside the big, rambling building.

He came out quickly, leading a spirited sorrel. Here you are, Mark. She ought to get you out there real lively. Say," he added, as an afterthought, "Rock Creek—that's where that Lane miss took up her claim, ain't it? Thinking of homesteadin' out there, too?"

They were having dinner when Mark rode up to Carrie's claim at Rock Creek around noon. The Taylors had hauled out supplies, windows and door frames, boards and tin for a roof. Carrie had ridden out with them. She was to return to town with them, bring out more supplies in the morning.

The Taylors, living just a mile from Carrie, were going to bring over their plow the next day and turn the first furrows for Carrie's new home, the real "soddy" she had read about, but never had dreamed some day she would build.

"Get down off that horse and come in," greeted big Ed Taylor, laughing loudly and indicating the spot where Carrie's soddy would be built.

There was a moment of tension as Mark dismounted, dropped his reins and tipped his hat to both Carrie and Mrs. Taylor. Taylor introduced his wife, then turned to Carrie. "Miss Lane, this here is Mark Deuel. Filin' a claim, too, ain't you, Deuel?"

Mark nodded. "Miss Lane and I've met before." He thought Carrie reddened ever so slightly, fidgeted with her dress. "Why, yes, Taylor, I have been thinking of taking a claim out here on Rock Creek."

"Well, better get moving, then," Taylor put in, "she's going fast."

"That's why I'm here today," Mark explained. They sat down to dinner, a cold meal of salt pork, canned tomatoes and cornbread. Carrie, Mark noted, was herself again, gay, chatty, as she had been on the first morning he had eaten with her at Ma Parley's.

"Wonder how far I'll have to go for water?" she said, turning to her neighbor.

"Well, don't know," Taylor looked at Mark. "But if she keeps on getting much drier, probably three miles—straight down!"

IT was nearly 2 o'clock when Mark finally swung into his saddle, explaining he wanted to Carrie stepped closer. Her hand was on the saddle. She was pale, frightened. "You won't see him again?" she begged. "Promise me that you won't?"

look over some more claims. Carrie watched him closely. As Mark started off, after saying goodbye to the Taylors, she walked a few paces toward his horse with him. "Mr.—Mr. Deuel," she began awkwardly as Mark picked up his reins, adjusted the latigo, "I've been thinking about—that about that trouble in town at the hotel. I'm dreadfully sorry it happened. I guess it was all pretty much of a mistake."

Mark, wordless for a moment, too, swung into the saddle, looked down at her. "I'm sorry, too, Miss Lane. I guess you just haven't been out here long enough, that's all. There are some things that happen in these new towns that can't go on."

Carrie stepped closer, her hand on the saddle. Suddenly, Mark saw she was pale, frightened. "You—you won't see him again?"

"Well, if he runs into me—," Mark stopped, deliberately, searching her deep, blue eyes.

"Oh, but you mustn't, you mustn't. Promise you won't." She looked up, fearful, straight into Mark's eyes, the tilt of her chin infinitely sweet.

"All right, Miss Lane," he promised. "I won't be looking for trouble—nor Oaks—and I hope he does the same for me." He tipped his hat, rode off.

He looked back once. She was standing where he had left her, watching him, her hands shading her eyes, and in that moment Mark Deuel wondered whether Carrie Lane loved him.

His horse splashed through the cool, shallow waters of Rock Creek, scrambled up the other side. To the north lay the homestead claims Mark had said he was going to look over. To the south lay town. Mark spurred his horse—south.

MARK was standing at the bar talking with Newt Gale about the land boom and the grasshoppers and the drought when Ashton Oaks swung through the door. Newt was saying that he'd lished reports that Soviet agents had arrived in Mexico City and planned to liberate him.

Johnson Wins Easy Victory In California

The "ins" had a big day in returns from primaries of four states today and Senator Hiram W. Johnson, California veteran at odds with President Roosevelt, led the parade by sweeping the Republican and apparently the Democratic Progressive tickets as well to bring him back to Washington.

Senator Johnson, who has opposed the President's foreign policy with a vigor akin to his fight against President Wilson's League of Nations, triumphed easily in what had been called his hardest campaign since 1916.

Johnson based his race on the assertion that "I never responded to the orders of any man, and I never will." Earlier this month he described as "just the same old purge, the same old sham expressions of regard and affection, the same old stiletto."

Democratic incumbents in congress won in primaries in South Carolina, Mississippi and Arkansas. Dry advocates in South Carolina won decisively in an advisory referendum on whether the state should return to prohibition.

In Mississippi, Senator Theodore G. Bilbo won Democratic nomination for a second term over former Governor Hugh White. It was the equivalent of re-election in that predominantly Democratic state.

In the only contested representative's race, A. L. Ford, the incumbent, won. Incomplete South Carolina returns gave renomination to five representatives who had opposition, and there, too, nomination was tantamount to election.

Mendel Rivers, young Charleston attorney, apparently defeated Alfred H. VonKlimentz to succeed Rep. Clara G. McMillan, who did not seek re-nomination.

Two Arkansas representatives appeared to have won in another state where Democratic nomination was as good as election. They were E. C. Gathings and W. F. Norrell, the only two representatives involved in the second primary. Delaware Democrats, in convention, nominated James M. Tunnell, Sr., to oppose Senator John C. Townsend, Jr., Republican incumbent, in November. They named Dr. Philip A. Traynor as Democratic candidate for the state's only seat in the house.

Wheeler And Briton Disagree On What Economist Declared

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) and Sir George Paish, British economist, disagreed today as to just what Sir George said about his connection with the entry of the United States into the World War.

Wheeler's account, which brought demands in the senate yesterday for Sir George's expulsion from the country, was to this effect: Sir George visited him at his office a few days ago. During the conversation, the economist asserted:

"I am responsible for getting this country into the last war and I intend to get it into this one." Sir George, on the other hand, said this was what happened: He called on Senator Wheeler. In the course of their talk he mentioned that, as a British financial advisor during the World War, he had "placed information at the disposal of my government."

This information was subsequently turned over to the United States by the British government and its character was such, Sir George asserted, that it influenced the decision of the United States to enter the conflict. Explaining how he had happened to see Senator Wheeler, Sir George said last night he had come here to deliver a series of lectures after November election on "certain facts regarding Germany's intentions toward the United States and South America but that "in view of their importance" he had decided to present them in advance to certain senators.

A British embassy spokesman said Sir George was in this country in a private capacity and had no connection with the British government. He was a White House caller recently.

Buyers Will Oppose Proposed Cuts In State Oil Allowables

By BOB McCALL TULSA, Okla., Aug. 28 (AP)—Oildom's spirits, Moody at best, are going up as Illinois' crude flow goes down. But it isn't as simple as that. There's the everlasting bugbear of unbalance between raw and refined stocks.

Many Oklahoma and Kansas buyers are expected to oppose in both states the recommendation made last week by the Interstate Oil Compact commission that September crude oil allowables be cut five per cent under estimated market demand.

Texas, giant of the producers, seems chary of a decision on the same point. The railroad commission indicated Texas' new allowable schedule may be announced today as a 90-day order expires Saturday night.

Poish Visit Probed

FDR Denies Byrd's Charge Defense Lags

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt's assertion that 10,015 planes were actually under construction for the army and navy brought no slackening today in the disputes over the progress of the nation's aircraft procurement program.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), repeating his charge that the whole defense effort was lagging, countered the president's statement with a demand that an "accurate picture" of the situation be placed before the public.

Mr. Roosevelt reported that national defense commission figures showed that contracts had been placed for 3,361 planes. Moreover, 3,654 were being built under "letters of intention" pending the signing of formal contracts.

Aggregate plane production for the current month was placed by Mr. Roosevelt at the rate of 10,000 a year, and was expected to rise to 13,000 or 14,000 a year by January 1, reach 24,000 during 1941 and 26,000 yearly in 1942.
