Traffic has been turned in on highway 132 between Stinnett and Dumas giving Pampa a completely paved highway to New Mexico and Colorado, officials of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce have announced.

The completion of the Hutchinson county work of the Stinnett to Dumas road was completed Saturday and travelers this week have been enjoying the new paving which is 36 feet wide and only 29 miles in length as compared with 33 by the old route.

Distance from Pampa to Dumas is only 67 miles as compared with 108 by way of Amarillo, a saving of 41 miles.

Oilfield traffic to the Moore county field, vacation traffic to the mountains of New Mexico and Colorado and other traffic will derive a great deal of benefit from the new highway connection.

The completion of the road will bring a great deal of through traffic from McLean and Shamrock. Travelers on U. S. 66 can turn off at Shamrock and come through Wheeler or turn off at McLean and come to Pampa and go over the route saving 18 miles as compared to the route on into Amarillo and north to Dumas. The short cut will give through travelers a chance to go through the oil, gas and industrial field of the Panhandle. Traffic from Dalhart and Dumas affect the same saving going east into Oklahoma.

Wheeler county gap and through WPA the gap between Sayre and Wheeler in Oklahoma is being improved.

The Weather

Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday with scattered thundershowers in the southwest portion; little change in temperature.

Ex-Sheriff New Governor Of Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 14. (AP)—Tall, bespectacled and soft-spoken Homer M. Adkins, once a Little Rock pharmacist, today apparently had won the Democratic nomination for governor of Arkansas, climaxing a 17-year political career.

His victory at Tuesday's preferential primary over Gov. Carl E. Bailey and two other candidates crowned with success the first personal bid for high office made by a man who for more than a decade has been popularly credited with sparking the campaigns of at least half a dozen winning candidates for state and national posts.

Unofficial tabulations from 1945 of the state's 2,169 precincts, gave Adkins, former U. S. internal revenue collector, a lead of more than 28,000 votes over Gov. Bailey, who sought a third term.

The vote was Adkins 125,088; Bailey 96,986.

J. Rosser Venable, Little Rock World war veteran, polled 668 votes and Frank B. Witte, Magnolia business man, 620.

Adkins, one-time Pulaski (Little Rock) county sheriff, was actively supported in his bid for the governorship by the Arkansas senators, Hattie W. Caraway and John E. Miller. Senator Caraway returned to the state in the closing days of the campaign to speak in his behalf.

In 1932 he was appointed internal revenue collector for Arkansas, a key position. He resigned that year in order to make the race for governor.

Flood Drives Scores In Panic To Trees, Roofs

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., Aug. 14 (AP)—A flash flood swept out of the hills here last night, killed one or more persons and drove scores in panic to trees and rooftops.

There were reports bodies of two men had been recovered from the stream but this could not be verified.

The sheriff's office, directing rescue work, said Mrs. Bob Shell, 54-year-old mother of seven children was the only known victim so far. She was trapped in an automobile with her husband and 83-year-old mother when they fled their engulfed home in the Rio Vista suburban area beside the river. Shell saved the old woman but before he could return for his wife the automobile was swept downstream.

The area inundated was the home of 200 to 300 persons, most of them employees of two large rayon mills. Five or six houses were carried away.

After the water began receding here, flood warnings were issued for Kingsport to the Holston river 40 miles from Elizabethton and some 1,200 persons living on Long Island opposite the city were hastily evacuated.

Nearly all east Tennessee and western North Carolina mountain streams bulged from their banks after downpours which followed in the wake of a hurricane that smashed the South Carolina-Georgia coast Sunday.

Floods in western North Carolina wrought unestimated property damage to industries and dwellings, interrupted rail and motor traffic.

An interesting program was presented after which refreshments were served.

Producing Properties Paying 67 Per Cent Of School Oil Taxes

Valuation of oil producing properties and of supply houses, refineries, gasoline plants, pipe lines, railroads and utilities in the Pampa Independent school district for 1939 taxation was $21,853,260, according to a partial breakdown received by school board members from the Thos. Y. Pickett company of Dallas, oil evaluators, yesterday.

A request for the breakdown was made at a recent meeting of the board when T. M. Cain, representative of the Dallas company, visited the board. He was also asked to furnish data on the method of arriving at valuations but that information was not contained in the letter, a board member said.

Training Of Men Held Up By Congress

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Brig. Gen. William E. Shedd said today the amount of time required by congress to consider conscription legislation had brought about a postponement of war department plans to have 900,000 men in uniform early this fall.

The department now plans to have 900,000 men in uniform by January 1, Shedd said, "and even that is an optimistic program."

The assistant chief of staff in charge of personnel appeared before the House Military committee as the senate began its third day of debate on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service bill under which men between 21 and 30, inclusive, would be required to register for service.

The army schedule had called for registration in September and for 400,000 conscripts called to the colors October 1. Shedd did not touch upon any new times for registration but testified that the fact that conscription legislation had not been approved, together with its necessary appropriations, had necessitated revision of the program.

His outline of the program showed that the army included regular soldiers, volunteers, and conscript trainees in the 900,000 troops. Legislation for calling up the national guard and other reserve categories for training and use anywhere in this hemisphere has been passed by the senate and was approved by the House Military committee yesterday.

It won legislative right of way to the house floor from the rules committee today.

The Senate Military committee, meanwhile, decided to invite Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York to testify Thursday on his plan for creating home guard units equipped by the federal government. These would serve only in home defense.

In the compulsory service debate Senator Burke (D-Neb) asserted that the controversy has been reduced to a single issue—whether voluntary enlistments would produce sufficient recruits to man the nation's defenses speedily. Opponents of conscription have advocated the voluntary system. Proponents including Burke, say voluntary enlistment would not produce the men needed.

Shedd gave the following as the army's new schedule, dependent on passage of the Burke-Wadsworth bill, for building up to 900,000 by January:

September 15—55,000 national guardsmen.

October 15—75,000 trainees to fill up regular army units to war time strength, and another 55,000 national guardsmen.

November 1—50,000 more trainees to fill up the September national guard units.

November 15—65,000 trainees and between 65,000 and 70,000 national guardsmen.

Early in December—100,000 trainees and 40,000 more national guardsmen.

Late in December—The remaining approximately 98,000 trainees. These men plus about 300,000 regulars would make the overall total of 900,000, Shedd said.

The general explained his figures were tentative.

Answering questions, he said the army would not have full, modernized equipment for the 900,000 but would have adequate supplies to start preliminary training.

Discussing voluntary enlistments, he said "there has been a slight increase thus far in August" over July's 31,000.

He testified the War department still favored registration of all men from 18 to 64, as originally called for in the Burke-Wadsworth bill.

The 21 through 30 limit was set by the Senate Military committee.

As for the age limits for actual conscription, Shedd declared:

"We think we can get the number of men from 21 to 31 we feel we can take care of."

He said the War department favored including divinity students, as well as ministers and priests, in deferred classification under the conscription bill.

General Shedd said the army could not meet its need for manpower through voluntary enlistments.

Plan Devised For Draftees Family Bills

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—To help the man called into low-pay military service who still would have to meet such family obligations as rent, insurance and taxes, the war department has asked congress for legislation requiring the courts to act as umpires in settlements.

The request would cover national guardsmen and reservists whom the President might call to active duty under pending legislation, as well as men with dependents who might be conscripted under the Burke-Wadsworth bill.

As a last resort, the legislation would impose on the courts the task of determining the manner and time of settlement of rent, insurance and tax payments which the service man could not meet while on active duty.

The courts could require almost any kind of settlement, once it was convinced that outside income was not sufficient to meet regular obligations.

War department officials explained that the scheme would work like this:

1. Rent—after the first default in rent, the creditor could ask the court for a judgment, but the court could not approve an eviction before three months. The court could compel the man's wife and the house owner to agree on a scheme of payment of rent arrears.
2. Insurance premiums—the veterans' administration could approve or reject requests for deferment of insurance premium payments on policies with a face value of not over $5,000. If it approved the request, it would give the insurance company a certificate guaranteeing payment at a later date.
3. Taxes—taxes or assessments, whether general or specific, could be deferred but the man would have to make them good upon his return to civil life, plus interest at 6 per cent.

Friends Urge Election Of Waco Judge

Special To The NEWS
SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 14.—Launching a particularly busy week's swing through Central Texas, the Rio Grande valley, the Gulf coast country and the lower part of East Texas, Judge James P. Alexander, associate justice of the 10th court of civil appeals and run-off candidate for chief justice of the supreme court, spoke at a dinner meeting here Monday night.

Leading attorneys, businessmen, friends and supporters who are urging the election of the Waco jurist to the supreme court, mapped plans for Judge Alexander's campaign in San Antonio and this region at the meeting. They pointed out his 18 years as a leading Texas judge and his outstanding performance on the court of appeals makes him "the logical man for this important post."

Judge Alexander, principal speaker at the meeting, told of the great importance of the supreme court during these times, how the court is so greatly necessary for the preservation of the American system of government and American liberties, and the need for electing the best qualified chief justice possible.

Other speakers reviewed Judge Alexander's "unusual fitness" for the judgeship and emphasized his record as a hard-working and accurate judge during the 9½ years he has been associate justice of the 10th district appeals court. During that time he has written more than half of the 1,200 opinions handed down in cases by the three judge court, with only 15 being reversed by the supreme court.

Wednesday Judge Alexander will take his campaign into the Rio Grande valley. Last week, after launching his run-off campaign in Dallas, he campaigned through West Texas and the lower plains country.

Judge Alexander, a native Texan born in McLennan county, is well known in legal, civic, lodge and religious circles. For the past 20 years he has been a professor of law at Baylor university at Waco, teaching in his spare time outside of office hours. Former Governor Pat M. Neff, now president of the famed Baptist college, says "Judge Alexander will adorn the court equal to any who have preceded him."

Ceiling Asked For Club Room In City Hall

Installation of a ceiling in the city club rooms to replace the canvas now stretched across the top of the rooms was asked by the city commission yesterday by Mrs. Glen Pool and Mrs. Frank Lard, on behalf of the Pampa Business and Professional Women's club.

Reason for the improvement desired is to better acoustics of the club rooms.

Under the plan advanced by Mrs. Pool, it was proposed that the city and the B. & P. W. club share the expense of the new ceiling on a 50-50 basis. Cost of the improvement was estimated at $350.

Members of the city commission adjourned their meeting Tuesday temporarily to accompany the two women to the third floor of the city hall to look at the rooms.

Pending exact specifications and costs to be submitted, the city commission tabled action.
