1,000 NAZI PLANES STORM BRITISH ISLES

Writer Sees German Raiders Shot Down

Bombers Enter Britain During Three-Hour Raid

By ROBERT E. BUNNELLE ON THE SOUTHEAST COAST OF ENGLAND, Aug. 15 (AP)—German sent uncounted hundreds of bombers and fighting planes over the coastline of Britain today, seeking out military objectives in the heart of the country.

The armada which swarmed over southeastern England during the day was estimated at 500 planes and covered a strip approximately 30 miles wide, but reports indicated that other waves of almost equal strength were being thrown across the coast all the way from the Thames estuary to land's end in the west.

Howell To Build 4 Cabins At Lake

Bert Howell, concessionaire at Lake McClellan, revealed today that he has let a contract for the construction of four cabins at the lake site at his own expense.

There has been such a demand for cabins that I have decided to erect some at my own expense, Howell said today. "I may build four more if the first ones prove popular."

Police Hunt Boy Who Set Dog Afire

Idle brain and idle hands of boys during the summer months often get them in trouble and there's one boy in Pampa who is going to get into a lot of trouble if police find him. He's the boy who poured gasoline on a dog and then set it on fire last night in the southeast part of the city.

Residents of the neighborhood heard the dog howling and called police, who mercifully shot it and put it out of its misery. The gasoline-soaked hair on the dog was burning when residents first saw the dog.

It was just a mongrel dog but it was probably the pet of some boy and who today is heartbroken over the death of the pet.

Boy's Find Leads To Arrest Of Pair

HOUSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—An 8-year-old boy who stumbled on a cache of safetracking tools and explosives brought about the arrest of two Dallas men sought in connection with 11 Houston burglaries.

The boy found the materials hidden in a patch of woods and informed police. Officers kept a watch for 48 hours and arrested the men when they appeared at the cache. One of the suspects picked up a 5-ounce vial of nitroglycerine and darted behind a tree, but one of three shots from a detective's pistol struck his arm and sent the bottle spinning to the ground.

One of the men was taken to Texas City today for questioning regarding a burglary there last week.

That more inquiries have been received to date asking about the Top O' Texas Golf tournament, to be played over the Pampa Country club course August 31 and September 1, 2 and 3, than right up to tournament time last year. Mack Graham, tournament chairman, believes 150 or more golfers will compete.

Army Officer Will Discuss Draft Here

How America can arm itself strongly enough to repel any danger will be told Pampans tonight in a speech to be delivered here by Col. John Perkins of Midland, U. S. army reserve officer.

Col. Perkins will speak at 8 o'clock on the court house lawn. Should the weather be unfavorable the address will be heard in the city hall auditorium.

Famous Croydon Airport Bombed

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—German bombers attacked the famous Croydon airport, ten and a half miles south of London, this evening.

Anti-aircraft guns thundered at the raiders and British fighters swarmed to attack them as the war moved a step closer to the heart of the empire. Mothers and fathers rushed into the streets of the London suburb and dragged their children to shelter as the thunder and roar of planes and the exploding bombs came from the direction of the airfield.

Plumes of smoke rose from the field, one of Europe's most famous airports.

The clatter of machine guns could clearly be heard by people crouching in the doorways of houses.

They cheered loudly when they saw the raiders suddenly make off toward the south with British fighters in swift pursuit, pouring their fire at the planes.

Ingram Receives Perfect Grade At Firemen's School

George Ingram, Pampa fireman, received a perfect grade at the annual Firemen's Training school held at College Station last week, according to word received here today.

Chief Ben White also was given a perfect grade in the fire marshals course which he took.

Young Ingram attended nine classes and took both oral and written examinations. A perfect grade is most unusual in the advanced course in firemanship which Ingram selected to take. He also received a medal for playing on the championship softball team.

The department and the city will get much recognition from the records set up by the two firemen.

NAZI WARBIRDS FIRE ENGLAND

Immediately a whole defense battery cracked into action, throwing up a barrage of explosives from big guns to the fast-shooting little Bofors. The sky was dotted with the bursts of the shells.

The raiders apparently came in several flights because, west of this coast town, I saw a score of them in a dog fight with British planes.

They circled and dived and wheeled with roar of engines and cannon and the rattle of machine guns. Behind the town, so high that the planes barely could be seen, another fight was going on.

Out of this battle a plane suddenly fell. A minute later I saw a parachute billow out and drift slowly seaward. Another plane went into the sea to the west. Rescue boats darted from the shore.

While the fight was going on you could hear the loud crump-crump of bombs in back of the town. The lights in the hallways of the hotel on the sea front were suddenly extinguished.

Several watchers said they saw a second parachute float down in the west.

Earlier in the morning, German fighting planes tested the strength of British fighter patrols—then turned back across the channel.

Thirty minutes later a new wave, flying at about 10,000 feet, engaged a patrol of RAF Hurricanes in a spectacular dog fight high over where I stood.

I saw three planes crash in the country behind me. One was a Messerschmitt 109. Three pilots bailed out and came floating down thru the cloudless sky.

While the dog fight was raging, five waves of Nazi bombers began swarming across the coast, headed east, at intervals of two minutes.

Half an hour later one wave came back, but nothing was seen of the other four, which either suffered or were shot down.

Committee To Act On Election Protest

In the midst of destruction inflicted by three waves of Nazi bombers, firemen play hoses on a blaze in the ruins of Southampton, England. This photo was passed by the British censors and cabled to the United States following the opening of the Nazi attack on the British Isles.

To consider the first election protest ever submitted to a Gray County Democratic Executive committee, a meeting of the committee will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the court house.

Problem of the committee will be action on the demand of C. W. Bowers that a recount be made in LeFors box, in the race for county commissioner of precinct 1.

In the first primary election, held on July 27, Arlie Carpenter, incumbent, polled 317 votes to Bowers' 295.

Bowers alleges improper counting, and asks that the box be re-opened and the votes counted again.

Meeting of the county committee will occur just one week before the run-off election of August 24.

Absentee voting, which began on August 4, will end next Wednesday. To date, 125 absentee ballots have been cast in the office of County Clerk Charlie Thut.

War Flashes

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—DNE, official German news agency, said today eleven British fighting planes were shot down by German invaders today in a furious battle over the Hawkinge airport, west of Dover, England. Two German dive bombers were reported missing.

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Clouds of anti-aircraft fire were seen over London at 5 p. m. today (10 a. m. C.S.T.), indicating German planes were over the British capital, DNE, the official German news agency reported.

Whether bombs were dropped was not stated.

(The Associated Press was in unbroken communication with its London bureau which has given no indication that German planes have been over the city.)

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Authorized German sources today vigorously denied reports abroad that German parachutists had landed in England.

"There is absolutely nothing to these reports," they said. "They are pure phantasy. Parachutists haven't landed anywhere in England."

The denial was also carried by the official German wireless.

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France, Aug. 15 (AP)—French Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin said today he was doing his "utmost" to obtain a British agreement to permit importation of food to France through the blockade and that the British decision is pending.

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Royal air force bombers last night attacked oil depots, refining plants, railroads and power plants near Bordeaux and Cologne and airports in northern France, the air ministry announced tonight.

ATHENS, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Greek government, acting shortly after the sinking of the 2,115-ton Greek cruiser Helle by an unidentified submarine was announced, issued an order tonight forbidding all Greek ships to leave port.

Two Programs Of Study Will Be Offered By Pampa High School

Beginning with the 1940-41 school session, Pampa high school will organize its curriculum into two programs of study, based on two sets of graduation requirements, it was announced today by Supt. L. L. Sone and Principal Doyle Osborne.

The two programs will be known as the college preparatory program and the general vocational program. The College Preparatory program will follow the same broad outline as the program which has previously been required of all students.

The chief concern of this program will be to offer to the high school student who definitely plans to go to college courses which will fulfill the entrance requirements of the institution which he plans to enter upon graduation from high school.

British Claims 55 Planes Destroyed

Sky-clouding waves of Nazi warplanes, estimated at upward of 1,000 with a single armada flying in a 30-mile-wide formation stormed the British Isles today in a maelstrom of fierce, new raids.

It was apparently the biggest mass onslaught since Hitler turned on the full violence of his aerial might a week ago today.

The British government said 55 Nazi raiders were destroyed up to five o'clock this afternoon (10 a. m., C. S. T.). Loss of seven British fighter planes was acknowledged.

Droning over one area of the southeast coast came groups estimated to total 500 planes. Other waves of almost equal strength were reported striking up and down the coast from the Thames estuary to Land's End.

It was believed possible that the terrific assault signaled the opening gun of the long-threatened attempt to invade England.

At least 1,000—perhaps thousands—of Nazi warplanes stormed England today, bombing the great London airport at Croydon, only eight miles from Charing Cross, and fighting a terrific air battle with RAF planes over London's Tilbury docks.

English Raid German-Held French Coast

LONDON, Aug. 15—The heaviest bombers of the German reich swept 15,000 feet high and in swarms hundreds strong into the heart of England late today, pouring at the roots of Britain's air and military power from the northern Tyneside to the southern Downs.

Guns and planes took a mounting toll of the invaders, reckless in their attacks.

(German bulletins said the invading bombers had penetrated even to the Tilbury docks, teeming industrial beehive just down the Thames from London—15 miles from the city itself. DNE, the German official news agency, said bursts of anti-aircraft fire over London indicated that German planes had flown over the great city itself, although there was no indication that bombs had been dropped there.)

Fifty-five of the German planes were reported by the air ministry to have been destroyed up to 5 p. m., while British losses were listed at only seven.

But eight Junkers dive bombers successfully penetrated the defenses of an airport on the east coast, causing several royal air force casualties when their bombs hit two buildings.

Tenants Discuss Migration Problem

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 15 (AP)—H. L. Mitchell, secretary of the Southern Tenant Farmers union, told a congressional committee today that for every farm family migrating westward 10 have "moved into the crowded slums x x x to join the ranks of the unemployed seeking to get on WPA."

The committee is investigating migration of destitute citizens. It is headed by Representative Tolson (D-Calif.).

Appearing as a witness in the three-day inquiry, Mitchell suggested in a prepared statement that congress enact "a measure providing for the payment of minimum wages as prerequisite for sharing in government benefit payments under the (federal) crop control measures."

He added "the right to self organization among farm laborers ought to be protected just as the right is guaranteed industrial workers."

Levity Banned In France

VICHY, France, Aug. 15 (AP)—A public warning against levity and failure to fall into the spirit of discipline demanded by the Petain government went out over the official radio to "certain big cities in the unoccupied zone" today.

The complaints were that there was too much "exuberance" and that private festivities were permitted.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART

Experts say the good old rule about a coiffure which is becoming to HER no matter what "they" are wearing is just as true for daughter as it is for mother.

No little girl should have bangs just because her best friend wears them, any more than mother should go in for a long bob for no better reason than that she has seen a lot of long bobs in the radio section lately.

Brushing Is Great Cure-All: Also, as adults should, she ought to brush her hair for five minutes at least five times a week.

Washing Doesn't Hurt Hair: Frequent washing does not, of course, harm the average head of hair, providing a bland, liquid soap is used and every trace is rinsed out afterward.

NEATEST trick of the season is the "double cross" sweater, worn by Hollywood's Wanda McKay. Actually, it's two separate sleeves, whose long bands fasten in the back.

Today's Girl Scout is interested chiefly in homemaking, health, and arts and crafts, according to proficiency badges awarded last year by national headquarters in New York City.

Miss Girl Scout is a young lady of diversified interest. She wants to know how to cook, and how to buy foods, but most of all, how to be a gracious hostess.

Her community and its needs are important to her. She is becoming more and more interested in the out-of-doors. She would like to do her bit towards the promotion of international friendship.

This Summer's Games Have An Aerial Twist

By ADELAIDE KERR AP Feature Service Writer Games are going to give you more fun this summer, if you follow the new play trend.

Lots of people are playing them to banish wartime blues. Lots of others are fostering them—hostesses answering the summer problem of entertaining guests on weekends and rainy Sundays.

Most of the favorites are fairly inexpensive, can be played without a great deal of practice and are set up easily on the lawn or the beach.

Here are some of them—new ones and older favorites—that might answer some of your own summer hostess problems:

First choice seems to be a new version of an old timer; it's aerial croquet. The course is laid out with three-foot high wire wickets that have a big ring in the top.

The game is played with wooden balls and mallets that have been shaped to give the ball a lift. You lift the ball through the rings in the wickets, one after another around the course, winding up by sailing the ball into a suspended net bag.

Aerial Bowling Another aerial game is a new variation of bowling. If you want to try your hand at that, set up tiny wooden ten-pins in regular bowling formation, take a rubber ball that's been made fast to a string and aim it at one of the ten-pins.

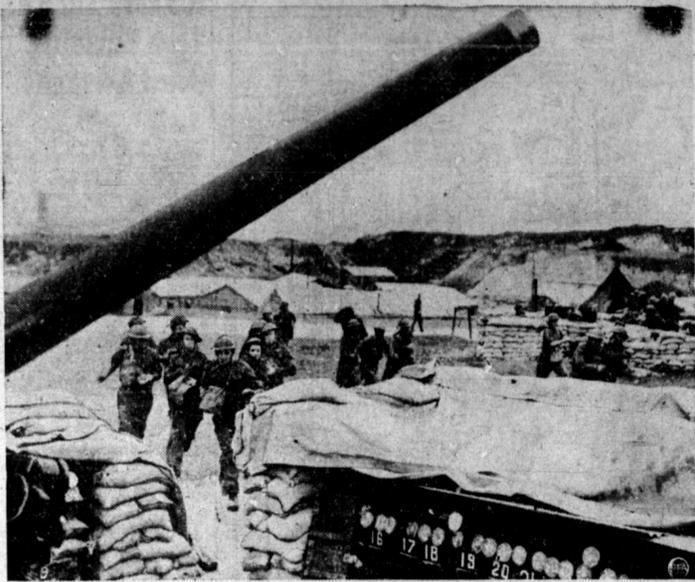

Hold to the string, though. If you knock the ten-pins down and catch the ball on the return, the point is yours. If you fail to do either, you lose.

Bat-trap ball—a modern version of one o'cat—has other fans. The base is a wooden shoe which has a tongue-like trigger. To play, set the ball on the shoe, strike the trigger with the bat and, as the ball flies into the air, clout it. If your opponents catch the ball on the fly, you're out.

If you want your games a little more strenuous, try Swedish ring catch. Players are armed with sticks that resemble billiard cues. One player has a hoop ring on his stick. Idea is for him to throw the ring toward you and for you to catch it on your sword and spin it back to him so that he won't be able to spear it.

as the famous Cuban game. But do not worry, it's fast enough to enable you to work up a good circulation before a dip. It's played with wicker scoops that are held by a handle instead of being attached to the hand.

Badminton is a bigger favorite than ever. This year it is sometimes played with a ball of clipped wood instead of a shuttle-cock.

Amusement a little more fitted to the mood of Sunday luncheon guests can be found in various versions of darts, archery, horseshoes and ring toss. A new and different treatment appears in many of them. One dart board is designed to revolve while the throw is being made, adding a little spice to the game. Horse-shoes are rubber covered and stakes are set in blocks so that they can be used in the house or on the porch without much noise.

wanted to see a movie she didn't particularly want to see. When a neighbor dropped in with a tale of woe about some relatives, she listened intently instead of gazing off into space and listening only now and then. She refused to encourage that same neighbor to gossip about a woman who lives farther down the street.

She refused to feel sorry for herself when her husband announced that he probably would not be able to take a vacation this year. She sympathized with him instead of with herself.

SHE FOUND SHE DID HAVE TIME She didn't say, "But I won't have time" or "I'm afraid I'll be out of town" when the head of a local charity organization telephoned to say somebody would be needed to teach a sewing class to make garments for refugees two evenings the following week.

And she planned to take her guests out for Sunday dinner instead of asking her maid to stay overtime on her regular day off.

Good Disposition is An Easy—And Valuable—Asset

By RUTH MILLETT Not every woman can be beautiful. Not every woman can be intelligent. Not every woman can be clever.

Not every woman can have sex appeal. But every woman CAN have a good disposition. And it will get her as far in life as any one of those other assets.

Any woman will find that it is easier to keep a man, a job, or friends if she is easy to get along with than if she is difficult.

Fortunately, it isn't hard to change from a sour-puss into a good-natured person.

The first thing is to learn to be glad for the small successes and good luck of others. The person who hates to see another person get ahead is bound to feel grouchy and resentful most of his life. He should know other people are going to get ahead, whether he likes it or not.

Even a fundamentally selfish person can break the habit of being miserable over another's success, if he will just reason it out this way: "Jane's good luck doesn't make my luck any worse—so why resent it. Why not be glad she got a break?"

The next thing the person who is working for a good disposition must learn is not to let little things upset him. The person who gets in a rage when he is given the wrong telephone number or has not been treated exactly as he thinks he should be treated would calm down immediately if he would remember the wise observation: "A man is as big as the things that annoy him."

The third important thing to learn is not to be upset when plans are changed and things go wrong, and someone else gets his way. Anyone can manage this who has brains enough not to expect life to keep to a timetable and run exactly on schedule to suit him.

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory program until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

STANDARDS OF GOODNESS

If you would judge people, find out what they set up as a standard of goodness.

I have recently been reading Nietzsche's Genealogy of Morals and he points out very definitely how certain groups establish a standard of goodness or morals that makes it easy for them to comply with the standard and satisfy their conscience, ego and vanity.

Probably the beginning of our social ills is that many people who pose as Christians and true liberals have set up a standard of goodness that requires little, if any, effort on their part to qualify as being good.

Often the willingness an individual believes any credulous or supernatural dogma is used as a standard of goodness.

Or to the degree others agree with an individual's arbitrary interpretation of God, which he cannot explain to anyone, is often used as a standard of goodness. This makes the man the very agent of God.

Or some people want to turn over to the state the responsibility of doing things that belong to themselves to do. They want to make other people be good by their votes rather than by the most practical way of helping them to understand fundamental principles.

It is easy to be good, if this is a true and proper test. To simply vote that someone else should help the poor and furnish good jobs at good wages and that someone else should educate the youth of the land, is a very easy standard of goodness. But this standard of goodness can only result in complete collapse of the social structure.

Or the loyalty men give to a few people who are assisting them get more than a free market would entitle them to receive, is often used as a standard of goodness.

Or some think if they advocate free trade that classifies them as good.

Or some seem to think they are good if they can point out that other people have no principles. They seem to think that two wrongs make a right.

These are a few of the standards of goodness often used by thoughtless people.

If men who pose as good and as true and exclusive interpreters of what are God's laws will not set forth a rule of conduct that will be a permanent guide for themselves and others they simply do not understand the true principles of goodness and are using their standard of goodness as a shield for their selfishness.

SWEAT OF YOUR BROW AND THE COMMANDMENTS

If people followed the Ten Commandments and did not steal, then people would be obliged, as far as the government is concerned, to live by the sweat of their face. Then, as Saint Paul said, the man who will not work shall not eat, would largely go into effect.

No one objects to any man feeding another who will not work, if it makes the giver happy; but to compel A to feed B who will not try when A believes he can use his energy in a manner that will much better serve his fellowman and, thus, give him more happiness, is a violation of the commandment—Thou shalt not steal.

MR. ROOSEVELT IN THE SHIPYARDS (Chicago Tribune)

When Mr. Roosevelt visited the navy shipyards at Portsmouth, Va., he was told by Rear Admiral Manley H. Simons that the workmen wanted to do a six day week on the government rearmament program.

The administration may put pressure on Arnold to postpone the suit or to suspend anti-trust laws. In that event Arnold will likely wind up on the outside. Such a happening would be embarrassing all the way around to the New Deal in this election year.

The suit was ready several days ago, but it wasn't filed. Instead there was a polite exchange of notes between Attorney General Jackson and the Defense Commission.

Now the case is being held up temporarily at least until the commission informs itself of the effect of such action on the defense program.

It was to be the anti-trust suit of the century, and this delay has made a lot of people sore.

Anti-trust division lawyers deny the suit would disorganize petroleum production and distribution now, point out that 18 months at least would be required to bring the case to court.

SOCIAL SECURITY FIVE YEARS OLD

Aug. 14 marks the fifth anniversary of signing of the social security bill by President Roosevelt. Changes since the law's original passage have made it more generous to beneficiaries and have reduced the amount of the taxes levied on business to maintain the aged, indigent and unemployed.

Nearly two million indigent in 48 states are now receiving monthly checks. The exact number as last computed amounted to 1,983,900 individuals who drew a total of $1,502,000,565 for one month. Half of this amount was in grants from the federal treasury and the remainder came from state treasuries. The social security act permits payments of as much as $40 a month to each dependent person. Most states pay less.

Benefits for needy children are fixed at $18 a month for the first child and $12 for each child after the first. Today there are 807,900 dependent children who draw a total of $350,154,068 each month. Needy blind number 48,000; they receive $46,990,532 monthly.

THIRTY MILLION HAVE INSURANCE

Fifty million people are now on the books of the board for old age insurance. Many of the people are inactive because they have gone into business for themselves or for other reasons. Active participants would probably number between 28,000,000 and 30,000,000.

Under this insurance law employed persons pay 1 per cent of their wages into a federal fund. The employer pays the same amount. The fund is held by three trustees—the secretary of the treasury, chairman of the Social Security Board and the secretary of labor. On June 30 this year the fund amounted to $1,738,100,000.

Insurance payments are made to 102,941 persons monthly, for a total of $1,900,000.

UNSEASONAL CHILL

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—Travelers: From Borneo, Siam, Tibet, Manchukuo and way points, Del Goodman has returned to tell his company, 20th-Fox, how movies are doing in the vast and troubled Orient.

They're doing all right, at least in attendance. Profits are small, credits are partly frozen, distribution is difficult and slow, and censorship is rigid and ever changing.

But Goodman, who has been making a new note in the Far East for over 18 years, seems to have developed an Oriental-like patience while retaining his American zest for adventure.

In Chungking, while bomb blasts thunder through the valley, film fans sit enthralled by the half-underground adventures of Tyrone Power. With the Burma road closed, pictures must be sent to the interior by air at the almost prohibitive cost of $135 a ton.

Mr. Gillham works at the First National bank and preaches on the side. . . . By speaking of pictures Mr. Fletcher achieved the ultimate in enlargements when he made the huge picture of Gene Worley that is in the Weekly headquarters.

Five Years Ago Today: Recommendation of the land committee, appointed to receive bids for ground for Pampa's recreation and celebration center, were to be made to the city commission at a called meeting. The land committee was headed by J. N. Duncan.

SLAP-HAPPY SALARIES

War pictures of any leaning are not permitted in the International Settlement. In Japan-bossed Shanghai, main entry port for films, puppet censors reject everything unfriendly to Germany or favorable to England. Up in Peking, Shirley Temple's "Little Princess" was banned as British propaganda.

Branch offices under Goodman's control are staffed mostly with natives. He told about a Chinese who carries films back and forth across the barrier at Tientsin and suffers many humiliations. Recently the unhappy courier demanded a raise in salary. In the past, he explained, he had received up to three slaps-in-the-face per trip from Japanese sentries. But this day, he declared, they had slapped him four times. And four was more than his self-respect could endure—at least, at his usual wage.

Cranium Crackers

River Boundaries: While many of the 48 states have artificial straight-line boundaries, there are also many natural divisions. Can you tell what states are separated by the following five American rivers?

- 1. Connecticut river. 2. Delaware river. 3. Red river. 4. Columbia river. 5. Wabash river.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

City Manager Steve Matthews lives in a house with six other young bachelors, and last month they used 17,000 gallons of water. When they got their water bill they let out a collective squawk and it was reported that the city manager was not exactly mum. However, at his suggestion they started investigating and they checked up and found that they took around a dozen baths a day and flushed the bowl in the toilet countless times, then they figured it up and decided not to protest the bill.

A reader writes in to inquire, "who is the family group picture in Fletcher's? Is it a family?" If so I nominate them as the ideal! Well, Foster Fletcher thinks that the correspondent was referring to the group portrait of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Gillham and their two children.

Scout Camp To Keep Open Another Week

Boy Scouts of the Adobe Walls county will enjoy another week of camp at Lake Marvin beginning Sunday. Because of the large attendance at the three-week camp in June and July and the large number of requests from boys who were unable to attend the regular camp, Executive Fred Roberts has decided to open the camp for another week.

Fifty boys have already registered and that number is expected to be doubled. Executive Roberts said today. The regular activities of the first camp, swimming, boating, hiking, camp craft, etc., will be carried out next week and the boys will be given credit for all work done and all accomplishments.

Boys desiring to attend the camp should register at the Scout office here or with their scoutmaster in the city where they reside.

Survivor Of Gun Battle With Clyde Barrow Dies

Raiders Smash 'Iron Curtains,' Boast Germans

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—Germany's air raiders roared across the channel today and reported smashing through curtains of anti-aircraft fire to make successful attacks on Dover and vital air bases nearby.

Eleven British planes were shot down in a furious battle over the Hawking airport, 10 miles west of Dover. DNB, the official German news agency, reported, German Messerschmitts, protecting the swarming bombers, were declared victors over British fighters.

The Lympe airport and the important port of Polkstone, in the same area, also were named as scenes of bitter air fighting. The invaders slashed fiercely at the barrage over Dover.

Again and again DNB said, the dive bombers slid from the clouds and plunged towards the Hawking airport, disregarding the defending planes and hurling tons of high explosives and incendiary bombs. Several hangars were set afire, the agency said.

Two German dive-bombers were reported missing. At the Lympe airport three hangars were damaged by direct hits, runways were torn up, and anti-aircraft positions stopped firing, the agency said.

The new attacks came after a slump in overnight activity due, the high command said, to "unfavorable weather."

DNB reported the invaders were met with heavy anti-aircraft fire which resembled an "iron curtain," but the planes penetrated it and reached their objectives.

DNB said German bombers extended their aerial offensive into Scotland last night, attacking an airport and convoys in the vicinity of Moray firth.

Arkansas Voting May Be Probed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 15. (AP)—An investigation of voting in the seventh district congressional race in Arkansas' Democratic primary Tuesday will be made today as final unofficial tabulations gave Prosecutor Oren Harris of El Dorado a substantial lead over incumbent David Hampton Kitchens of Magnolia.

With 310 of the 311 precincts in the district accounted for, the 36-year-old Harris had 18,853 votes to Kitchens' 18,029.

Kitchens announced in Washington he would ask for an investigation, asserting he had sent J. R. Wilson, El Dorado attorney, evidence that the absentee ballot law had been violated.

The unofficial tabulation of 2,108 of the state's 2,169 precincts gave Homer M. Adkins a 31,330 vote lead for the gubernatorial nomination over Gov. Carl E. Bailey who carried the gubernatorial election.

Adkins had 139,226 votes to Bailey's 107,796.

Good rains were reported from Childress to Decatur, north to Afton, Okla., and south from Wichita Falls to Dublin and Stamford.

Wichita Falls was recipient of 2.17 inches while Kelly Field, airways of the city, reported a downpour of four of 5.3 inches.

STORIES IN STAMPS

He foresaw the time when: "By making the President the sole distributor of all patronage of the Government the framers of the Constitution do not appear to have anticipated at how short a period it would become a formidable instrument to control the free operations of the State governments. Of trifling importance at first, it had early in Mr. Jefferson's administration become so powerful as to create great alarm in the mind of the patriot."

The potential influence it might exert in controlling the freedom of the elective franchise.

Shades of Harry Hopkins' General Harrison knew, one hundred years ago, what would happen when public officials boasted that the beneficiaries of Federal patronage would "know their friends."

He knew, as did Acton that "Power always corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

These words of a great President may be contrasted with "The World Wants Roosevelt," which was belched forth by the Kelly-Nash Superintendent of Sewers at the recent convention which booted the name of Jefferson.

Confederate's Grave Was First In Arlington

AMERICA'S national shrine to a heroic dead is commemorated in the U. S. 50-cent stamp above, showing the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the amphitheater at Arlington National Cemetery.

The site of the cemetery was owned by George Washington Parke Custis, adopted son of George Washington. Mary Ann Custis and Robert E. Lee were married in the mansion which is the central feature of the cemetery.

When General Lee left Arlington to assume command of Virginia troops, Federal soldiers occupied the estate, made it a headquarters and a camp. Later a hospital was established and in 1864 Arlington became a national cemetery by order of the secretary of war.

The first soldier buried in Arlington was a Confederate, who had died in the hospital.

The Unknown Soldier of the World War is not the only nameless hero buried in Arlington. Bones of 2000 unknown soldiers killed in the battles of Bull Run and Rappahannock lie beneath a granite sarcophagus. Soldiers of every American war, including the Revolution, rest in Arlington.

SECRET YEARS Democratic Congressman From INDIANA

The Third Term a Century Ago and Today

One hundred years ago November next William Henry Harrison, the hero of Tippecanoe, was elected the ninth President of the United States. Exactly one month after his inauguration he died. His last words were, "Sir, I wish you to understand the true principles of the Government. I wish them carried out. I ask for nothing more."

As one of these true principles General Harrison declared against the use of the power of office to perpetuate the holding of office. He thought it a serious mistake by those who had written the Constitution that they did not place an express limit on the length of the presidential term to be held by one individual.

Old Tippecanoe was a Whig. But in stating this view he followed the great Democrats, Jefferson and Jackson. Jackson had six times urged such a constitutional amendment upon Congress.

Greek Cruiser Sunk By Sub; Italy Accused

ATHENS, Aug. 15—All telephonic communication with Rome was covered today shortly after the government announced the sinking of the light cruiser Helle by an unidentified submarine.

The Helle, a 2,115-ton American-built vessel, was torpedoed in Tinos Island harbor in the Aegean Sea. One petty officer was lost and 29 crew members were injured.

The cruiser's nationality was plainly marked, an official announcement said, and a mistake in identity would have been virtually impossible.

The torpedoing occurred as Italian and Greek relations became increasingly tense because of the recent Italian press campaign charging Greece was violating her neutrality by being too friendly with Britain.

Chiefs of the army, navy and air force were summoned immediately after the sinking was announced for a conference with Premier General John Metaxas.

FDR Explains No Rebuke Intended For John Cudahy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—John Cudahy, ambassador to Belgium, has been told by President Roosevelt that there was no intention to reprimand him for his recent statements in London on conditions in German-occupied Belgium.

After a talk with the President yesterday, Cudahy said he had been authorized to say he received "no rebuke and none was intended."

He added that there was "no question of my resigning" from the diplomatic service.

Summer Welles, acting secretary of state, who said last week that Cudahy had violated "standing instructions" of the state department in permitting the London interview, announced, after the ambassador had reported to him, that the incident was closed and that no rebuke had been administered.

Welles said Cudahy told him that some press accounts of his London interview had misquoted him in many important particulars.

In the Associated Press report of his interview in London, which Cudahy described as a "fair statement," he was quoted as saying Belgium faced a condition "close to famine" by mid-September unless food supplies reached there from the United States.

The British press criticized his as an implied plea for relaxation of the blockade to permit American food supplies to go to Belgium.

468 Enlistments In Plains Area Last Month Announced

Facts on the U. S. army and two musical numbers constituted the program of the Pampa Rotary club at its regular weekly luncheon at noon Wednesday.

Ira M. Powell, music director of the Berger schools and Berger Rotarian, led the club in group singing. Other music was by Red Penn and his Trailblazers, a hill-billy orchestra.

During the past month there have been 468 enlistments in the U. S. army in the Pampa, Lubbock, Amarillo and Plainview area, Corporal Marvin Gies, Pampa recruiting officer, told the Rotarians.

For the month to date enlistments in the area have totaled 168, and August is expected to exceed July, he said.

Corporal Gies wanted numerous questions on army enlistments, army qualifications, and pay of aviation cadets.

Attendance at the luncheon was 45, including four visiting Rotarians, Roy White, Amarillo; Ira M. Powell, Berger; the Rev. James Todd, Panhandle; and C. H. Everett, Ardmore, Okla. The other guest was J. A. Ward of Asher, Okla.

Churchill Doesn't Fear Fifth Column

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons in a statement on the secret anti-fifth column committee today that "although we are very much stronger than we were in May the danger of invasion has by no means passed away."

Churchill said he had "always thought" the danger of fifth column activity in England exaggerated and "I am now satisfied that it is being reduced to its proper proportions."

Churchill again refused to go into detail on the work of the secret anti-espionage committee which is headed by Lord Swinton.

"Matters of this kind are not fitted for public discussion, least of all in time of war," he said.

Parachutists Denied

These sources said the only plausible explanation for the presence of German parachutes in England was that German pilots had jumped after their planes became incapacitated.

Brethren District Conference To Be Held In Pampa

The Brethren District conference, comprising the territory of Oklahoma, the Panhandle of Texas, and New Mexico, will convene at the local Church of the Brethren Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of next week.

This conference will bring to Pampa about 300 visitors and a variety program of inspiration and fellowship.

The problem of finding lodging for all of these visitors is very real as it has been the custom of the Brethren to provide free lodging during these conferences. The pastor, the Rev. Russell G. West, would like to make an appeal to the Christian people of Pampa to cooperate with the Brethren in providing lodging.

"If you have an extra room in your home and would be willing to cooperate, please call 407-W at once. All meals are served at the church," Rev. West stated today.

5 Bands, 300 Cars, Harp's Speech, Big Crowd Feature Worley Rally

AMARILLO, Aug. 15—Allen Harp, state representative, who ran fourth in the first primary congressional election last night declared that Rep. Eugene Worley of Shamrock, run-off candidate for congress, would carry the counties of Hall, Childress, Motley and Cottle in the second primary, Aug. 24.

The statement was made in a short address by Mr. Harp at a huge Worley rally on the lawn of the municipal auditorium. Mr. Harp carried the four counties in the south part of the district by big count in the first primary. A swing band from Memphis accompanied Mr. Harp to Amarillo yesterday afternoon.

Five bands and 300 cars were in the parade that started at the Herring road and traversed the business district. The bands were from Shamrock, Pampa, McLean, Keller, and from Memphis. The Pampa band was the one sponsored by the Mr. Worley Goes to Washington club.

However, the band that almost stole the show was a hillbilly band from McLean that featured two beautiful girls dressed up in leather cowgirl garments. The two girls were Opal Tedder and LeVada Earles. Miss Tedder drew loudest applause with her singing. Other members of the band which was accompanied to Amarillo by Boyd Mesador were Donald Davis, John Bond, Wilmer Hunt, Otto Reamer, Doyle Davis, Paul Bond and Tommy Beck. All of the musicians are students of McLean High school and are members of the Mr. Worley Goes to Washington club of Amarillo. Their instruments included guitars, banjos, fiddles.

Endorsement speeches were made by Worley backers from Claude, Panhandle, Farwell, Hereford, Dimmit, Pampa, and other towns. They predicted Mr. Worley would carry their respective counties. Miss Helen Dudley spoke briefly for the Pampa group.

"The first primary vote in Pampa proved that our parents are behind us," she said. "Gene Worley received more votes in Gray county than any candidate did outside of his home county."

Mr. Harp declared that he was supporting Worley because the Shamrock candidate was not a member of a clique and was not being supported by any political machine. Mr. Worley in his address, which was punctuated with applause, also declared that he was not a member of any political clique and did not have the support of any political machine.

Mayor Bill Walker of Shamrock presided and introduced the various speakers and other persons. Amarilloans present declared that the crowd was the biggest of the year except that which attended the W. Lee O'Daniel rally before the last primary. Mr. Harp said that he served in the legislature with Mr. Worley and knew that he was the best-qualified man to fill Marvin Jones' seat in congress.

Mayor Walker said that most, if not all, of the defeated candidates in the first primary were now supporting Mr. Worley "because they know he is qualified and is the common folks' candidate. Gene got into the run-off on his own hook and is still the big show in his campaign. He is obligated to nobody."

ENGLISH RAID

yesterday's naval bombardments, and were said to be about 60 miles west of the capital and chief port, Berbera.

30 Planes in Battle

At least 30 planes were believed by observers to have taken part in one southeast coast battle fought so high it took one pilot whose plane was sent spiraling into a field, 15 minutes to drift to the sea in his billowing parachute.

Probably 30 planes participated in another battle over the channel. At least four planes were sent crashing or were forced to land in this short, 15-minute combat. The bombers struck suddenly, and in a few minutes the deadly "bump" of bombs could be heard inland.

The press association reported "widespread enemy air activity off the northeast coast," and over a southwest coast town yet another half-hour battle, engaging "about 30 planes," was described.

This was described as "the fiercest fight this town has seen" with "planes falling out of the sky," some in flames.

Cannon shells and machinegun bullets splattered the streets, and the planes shook the houses with their roar.

The air ministry, raising its figure on German planes brought down in these battles since yesterday morning, said 31 German aircraft had been destroyed—296 in five days of today—and that seven British fighters had been lost, a total of 75.

Hitler 'Arrival' Delayed

From midnight to dawn of the day which British spokesmen would German sources had "fixed" for the arrival of Adolf Hitler in London, British airmen rained bombs on the French coast in vivid flashes which could be seen from the English shore.

Accompanied by a walling of sirens heard across the channel, 100 of these flashes were observed from one point alone on the British coast.

While Aug. 15 dawned without the launching of the long-expected blitzkrieg, it was assumed the British were striking at all the possible gathering places for the troops, tanks, guns, boats and machines which Hitler is planning to use for the supreme attempt.

The Germans' attempt to get behind the coastal defenses for attacks on airfields and other vital objectives indicated they were following their familiar tactics in efforts to establish the conditions for invasion.

Parachutists Sought

The systematic search for parachutists has been stepped up by the finding of three score German silk parachutes, 17 of them in one place, two of which were neatly folded.

Although no parachutists had been found, the discovery of 17 in one place seemed to preclude the possibility they had been used by aviators shot down in yesterday's midlands air raids.

There was the possibility that empty parachutes had been scattered as a deliberate scare so Britain would be taken off their guard when an actual parachute invasion is attempted.

A day and night-long search by farmers armed with their troops in armored cars and home guards, however, indicated the authorities were taking no chances.

Rumors that German troops in Norway had been rehearsing with bagpipes and hand collected Scottish kilts as well as British uniforms for trick landings heightened watchfulness.

Last night's comparative calm here in the air war caused British spokesmen smilingly to remind newsmen that August 15 had been set for Hitler's march through London and said it must be "rather a disappointment" for the Germans.

British air headquarters spokesmen said that origin of the August 15 date in "Hitler's schedule" was obscure, but that it had come from many sources and "undoubtedly was pushed out by a German whispering campaign."

One newspaper seller humorously chatted on his bulletin board "Today, August 15—and he's off to the fact that the only Hitler now in London is at a workbooks exhibition.

Stray planes only were reported during the night over Wales and southwest England and open country in east Scotland. The bomber over Scotland was shot down.

In contrast to recent nights, no night bombings were reported.

In the war at sea a German submarine sank the 16,923-ton armed merchant cruiser Transylvania, once a West Indies cruise ship operating out of New York.

The admiralty said the sinking occurred somewhere in the Atlantic. Between 30 and 40 sailors were believed lost but more than 300 officers and men were landed at a west coast port.

Johnson Offered New Job By FDR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Colonel Louis Johnson, recently resigned assistant secretary of war, said after a visit to the white house today that President Roosevelt had offered him a "quite attractive job."

Johnson said he was not at liberty to disclose the nature of the post and turned aside questions whether it might be a position in the cabinet with the remark that "I can't say what it is."

"I am going to think the matter over and will be back within a week or so to give the President my reply," he said.

READING, Pa., Aug. 15 (AP)—Estate Commander Edward R. Striling told the Pennsylvania American Legion convention today that Louis Johnson, former assistant secretary of war, was unable to keep a speaking engagement here because he "has just been appointed coordinator of national defense in the United States."

Striling did not disclose the source of his information.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Stocks and bonds led an early selective recovery in today's stock market as war fears seemed a bit less depressing to trading forces.

Gains, running to a point or so at the best, were unaccompanied by increase in volume. Most top prices were reduced in the majority of cases. Transfers approximated 200,000 shares.

While Wall Street was beginning to get the idea the British had about a fifty-fifty chance of repelling a Nazi invasion, the constant hammering of Hitler air bombers at vital English sectors tended to keep many hard-core customers on the waiting list.

Stocks in the front ranks the greater part of the day—some, eventually, faltered—were U. S. Moore Blasted From Round As Oilers Win

Pampa Will Open Crucial Sox Series

The Pampa Oilers blasted the veteran Willy Moore from the mound last night and beat the Berger Gassers 6 to 5 in one of the wildest and most exciting games of the season. Peavine Trantham came through with a masterful pitching performance for the Oilers but his support was mighty erratic. Tonight the Oilers will be in Amarillo to open a crucial series, only one game separating the two teams.

Manager Grover Seitz saved the Oilers last night when he backed against right centerfield fence to take Short's towering fly and retire the side in the flying run to base. It looked for seconds as if the ball would go over the fence but Seitz ran back and snagged it just before it hit the fence, high up.

Tough luck continued to follow Sam Malvica, poplar pitcher, who stepped last night. He booted four and three of them proved costly. However, his last error might have won the game because it placed Reynolds on second and on a hit Soto, running for Reynolds, was trapped at the plate when Knobles made a perfect throw to Summers who fell into the runner as he reached the plate. Had Reynolds not gone to second after Malvica's error he would have been on third where a fly ball could have scored him.

Malvica's Tough Luck

Malvica made four errors Tuesday night and four last night but he's the type of player who might, and probably will, shine when the going gets the toughest. He's been coming up on the ball too fast, allowing it to go through him or to hit the finger tips of his glove. Malvica contributed a single and triple to be the offensive star of the game.

Gilchrist paced the Berger attack with three singles but he made two errors.

Trantham showed his best form of the season as he limited the Gassers to 10 hits, all of them singles. He didn't walk a single batter and whiffed a pair.

The Oilers got to Moore for an even dozen hits, including a triple by Malvica and a double by Seitz, before he was relieved in the seventh by Franklin who uncorked a wild pitch and allowed a single to let two runners, left on base by Moore, score the tying and winning runs. The loss, however, was chalked up against Moore.

Moore to Showers

Moore scored twice in the third. Potocar was safe on Malvica's error. Moore sacrificed. Gilchrist and Short singled. Two more runs crossed the plate in the sixth. Short was hit. Neil singled. Scopetone went out. Keeton singled both runners across. Neil having gone to second on a throw-in. The last Berger score came in the ninth. Potocar was again safe on an error by Malvica. Reynolds, batting for Franklin, was also safe on another Malvica error. Gilchrist singled and Potocar scored. Soto, running for Reynolds, also tried to score but Knobles caught him at the plate. Decker and Short both filed out to Seitz.

An Oiler run crossed the plate in the third on Malvica's triple and Seitz' double.

Two more Oiler runs were registered in the fifth. Knobles poked a single to center. Malvica and Seitz were out. Prather also drew a walk. Then Summers' error Jordan cracked singles in succession.

Then came the winning rally in the seventh. Seitz opened with a walk. Prather filed out to Neil. Summers and Jordan duplicated their fifth inning strategy by singling and Moore left the mound. Franklin uncorked a wild pitch and Summers

Wichita Semipro Tournery To Open Tomorrow Night

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 15 (AP)—Sardot baseball's big show—the national semipro tournament—opens its sixth stand in Wichita tomorrow night with 32 teams fighting for the title, $5,000 first prize and a junket to Puerto Rico.

The survivors of tournament play in 45 states will battle more than two weeks.

The tournament is a double elimination—you've got to lose twice before you are out.

Thanks to Raymond Harry Dumont, semipro president, the fans will see, in addition to baseball, these added attractions: Umpires in checkered coats, an automatic plate dust-er, and a disappearing microphone. The "mike" is buried behind home plate and will pop up to relay to the most distant bleacherite just when an angry player says to an umpire:

"The Duncan, Okla., Cementers are defending champions. Two other former champions, Enid, Okla., in 1937, and Buford, Ga., in 1938, are in the field."

The winner will sail in September for San Juan and the second semipro world series.

Wichita, Kansas champion, and Golden, winner of the Colorado title, tangle in tomorrow night's first game. Houston, Tex., and Wilmington, Del., are in the evening's finale.

The entries also include the Mount Pleasant, Texas, Cubs, runnersup a year ago.

Bob Feller

taking liberties on the bases in Boston when Vitt cracked:

"There's the ace who's supposed to win the pennant for me! He ought to be back in the minors learning how to hold men on bases."

Feller was hurt... joined the rebellion against Vitt... swung into the march on Alva Bradley's office.

"I'm sorry he did it, but Vitt carried it in this case."

Oscar Vitt should have had more sense than to make a crack like that about a pitcher like Bob Feller.

Golf Tournery Entries Coming In Every Day

Entries for the Top-O-Texas Golf tournament, to be played over the Pampa Country club course on August 31 and September 1, 2, and 3, are being received daily. The two "entry-getting-teams" headed by Siler Faulkner and Gene Green are going at top speed and they are reported to have 50 entries between them.

Out-of-town golfers are sending in queries every day and the visitor list is expected to be the largest in history. The tournament will be played over the holiday and no one will have to miss work to enter.

Qualifying will be on August 31 after which there will be a Dutch lunch and Calcutta pool. The small entry fee will include admission to both as well as qualifying and play until eliminated. Non-players may purchase $1 tickets for admittance to the Dutch lunch and Calcutta pool.

Pampa golfers are urged to qualify now and not wait until the last minute when they will be qualifying. The course is in excellent condition following the recent rain.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIEZE

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—Hal Trosky and Rogers Hornsby are first and second in line to succeed Oscar Vitt next year. Dope is Vitt is going, rain or shine, win, lose, or draw... Billy Conn took off for Pittsburgh in a huff after losing out Mike Jacobs for calling off the Bob Pastor fight... The Philly front office is busy issuing denials that a group of fifth columnists were secretly in the clubhouse the other day and demanded Doc Prothro get the heave-ho.

Worry Dept.

Those football coaches who are worrying because the draft may catch some of their hot shots, should dry their eyes... They're bush leaguers compared to poor Jack Meagher of Auburn... He not only stands to lose 41 of his squad of 53, but all but one of his six assistant coaches hold reserve commissions in the army... Ouch.

Strange Sight

Most folks think Bucky Walters did his first chugging with the Phils. Fact is, he lost six and won five for High Point in the Piedmont league back in 1929. (Imagine the guy losing more than he won.) Anyway, it'll be strange to see the former Philly battery of Walters and Jimmy Wilson out there toiling for a pennant contender... Mike Jacobs took a $15,000 loss on the Conn-Pastor postponement, but laughed right out loud about it.

Spencer Scott Wins Hambletonian Race

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—A prediction made a year ago by a former Des Moines bell hop came true yesterday.

As Peter Astra won the 1939 Hambletonian, Fred Egan, now nearing the 60-year mark, stood at the head of the stretch and told all who cared to listen that he would be out there next year receiving honors for winning the world's premier trotting classic.

Little consideration was given his remarks even though the Lexington, Ky., veteran long had ranked as one of the smartest drivers and trainers in the sport.

Then, too, the horse with which he expected to win, Spencer Scott, had shown nothing up to that time, but yesterday Egan proved his statement when he drove Spencer to straight heat victory for C. W. Phelps of Greenwich, Conn., before some 30,000 fans at Good Time park.

Spencer Scott was the people's choice and he justified that honor by stepping the first mile in 2:02, only a half-second off Shirley Hanover's Hambletonian record, and the second in 2:03 to win the purse of $23,077.

Tigers Confident They'll Win; Team Built For 1940

By DALE STAFFORD

DETROIT, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, almost in the greybeard class as ball players' ages go, are looking to the future—but no farther than to late September and then perhaps the world series.

Club sentiments are for letting 1941 and '42 take care of themselves. Business Manager Jack Zeller, the bald, affable Texan who shouldered considerable criticism in the famous "Detroit decision" by Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, disclosed today that the Tigers were "built for 1940."

Admitting that the Detroit roster is loaded with men past 30 whose playing days are numbered, Zeller said he didn't care as long as they kept on delivering.

"I guess tomorrow will have to take care of itself," he said.

From Owner Walter O. Briggs down to the hot dog vendor in the bleachers, the whole Tiger family wants the pennant this season and to a man they expect to get it.

"We are so excited that we are scarcely thinking about the future," Zeller said. "Mr. Briggs told me he wanted a winner this year and our every effort has been made to achieve this ambition."

He was asked his opinion of the American league's "try trade" rule preventing the champion from making deals with other clubs.

"That rule is an unfair one and it should be rescinded whether we win the pennant or not," Zeller said. "It leaves the club entirely at the mercy of the players, who know they can't be traded. It is human nature that the players won't hustle all the time if they know they are secure in their jobs and can't be sent to another club."

Another Zeller think of Detroit's pennant chances?

"Well win," he answered positively. "We've got hustle, determination and courage. They said Detroit would fall if any of its infield regulars were hurt. Well, all of them except Rudy York have been out of the contest will be announced early next week."

Rotary Nine Beats Lions In 11-4 Rout

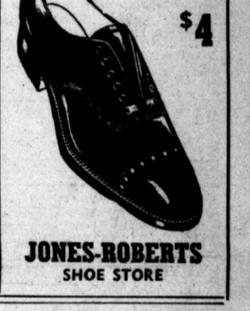

The Civic Club league's cellarites, the Rotarians, rose up and smacked down the Lions 11 to 4 in a league game yesterday evening. The score at the end of the regulation five innings was 9 to 0 but as it wasn't dark at that time another inning was played.

Odus Mitchell pitched great ball for the Rotarians, with Travis Lively behind the plate.

Doc Brown started for the Lions but was blasted off the mound in the first inning after three runs crossed the plate. Tooley relieved and held the Rotarians scoreless the rest of the way. J. B. Wilkerson was behind the plate.

MURDER INCOGNITO

BY NORMAN KAHN

Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday, O'Leary questioned Dale about Saylor's business and possible contacts, and about the five dinner guests, a window of the study is discovered un-

"Why, I don't know. I can't—" "Maybe I ought to tell you what this is," O'Leary interrupted. "It's a release—a release from possible future breach of promise action against Martin Saylor. There's a space down here for you to sign. You won't need to now."

medical examiner telephoned. I thought maybe you wanted to know—" "Go ahead, Sergeant," O'Leary said.

CHAPTER IV WHEN Hazel Leighton walked into the study, it was quite apparent she had completely recovered from the shock of finding Saylor's body. Aloof and self-composed, she stood poised in the doorway for a moment, as if waiting for Lieutenant O'Leary to acknowledge her presence.

Hazel sat forward in her chair and rested her elbows on the desk. "I can't understand it. I haven't the faintest notion what you mean."

Carroll shrugged. "Okay. Well, first of all, we checked the phone company like you said. They'd know if any long distance calls were made here tonight. There wasn't any."

The police officer was still seated at Saylor's desk, engrossed in several documents he had spread before him. Lights in the room were coming from a series of lamps along the walls and from the desk lamp. O'Leary finally looked up, and there was the trace of a smile on his face.

O'Leary looked straight at the blond woman and gestured mildly with a cigar he took from his vest pocket. "Oh, yes, you have it, Miss Leighton. I'll tell you what it means. Saylor was going to give you $5000 so you wouldn't sue him. And he was going to make sure that you couldn't sue. Maybe you'd better tell me the rest."

O'Leary nodded. "Which means Saylor never reached his desk. He was killed right after he left the others in the drawing room—on his way back to the desk."

"Miss Leighton?" Hazel nodded. "I'm Lieutenant O'Leary. Come over here and sit down, please." Calmly Hazel walked toward the lieutenant. It was only when she reached the desk, jagged stain in the middle of the room that she hesitated a moment and carefully stepped around it. O'Leary motioned her into a chair that had been placed to the side of the desk, at his right.

Hazel sat very rigidly, her blond hair glimmering in the glow of the desk lamp. Little spots of angry red rose in her cheeks. "All right, Lieutenant," she said. "I'll tell you. Maybe that's better. Then you won't be getting a lot of ideas about something that isn't so."

O'Leary's eyes became quizzical, but he waited for Carroll to continue. "The boys have been going over the grounds with a comb, and the sergeant explained. 'There ain't any footprints. The ground is pretty soft outside this window, and if anybody was hanging around there'd be footprints sure. And the window ain't been touched. . . . not from the outside. The only way to open that window is with a crowbar or something sharp, unless it's opened from the inside. That'd leave a mark. There isn't any. Maybe the fingerprints we took on the inside will show something.'"

"Not until the others came. I just screamed. . . I couldn't help it. And then I felt weak, so I hung onto the door and stared at the body until Dale and the rest came from the drawing room."

O'Leary struck a match and held it to his cigar. "Right. It would be a lot better all around if you told me everything."

O'Leary grunted. "They won't show anything. The housekeeper's, Barbour's, Saylor's, a few cops—they'll be a smear. Anybody who'd try a job like that would be smart enough to wear gloves."

"What time was this?" "I don't know. There was something about that man. . . I can't tell you what exactly. He asked me to come, and I knew why he wanted me here. I didn't want to come. I had no intentions of coming. Until tonight. . . and then something just seemed to draw me here. I wish I hadn't now."

"Right. . . . Only it wasn't—not through the window, anyway." O'Leary's eyes became quizzical, but he waited for Carroll to continue.

"Whoever committed the murder was right here in this house—is probably still here."

"I don't think that matters. It was personal. . . nothing at all to do with—what happened here tonight."

"I can understand that," said O'Leary. "There's only one answer I can see, Sergeant," O'Leary said. "Whoever committed the murder was right here in this house—is probably still here."

"I can understand that," said O'Leary. "There's only one answer I can see, Sergeant," O'Leary said. "Whoever committed the murder was right here in this house—is probably still here."

O'Leary held out a single sheet of paper, clipped to a tan legal jacket. "Did it have anything to do with this?"

"I can understand that," said O'Leary. "There's only one answer I can see, Sergeant," O'Leary said. "Whoever committed the murder was right here in this house—is probably still here."

Movie Stars Deny In Disgust They Are Communists

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15 (AP)—In terms of resentment and disgust, Hollywood movie personages deny they are members of the Communist party or financial supporters thereof as charged in a transcript of county grand jury testimony.

The testimony was that of John Lewis Leech of Portland, Oregon, former Los Angeles house painter, Communist organizer and relief client.

Of the many Hollywoodites Leech named, immediate denials came from the following who could be reached, or their spokesmen: Freddie March, Francis Lederer, Jean Muir, Humphrey Bogart, Lionel Stander, James Cagney and Writer Sam Ornitz.

Some of those accused deprecatingly mentioned District Attorney Byron Pitts' current campaign for re-election.

Leech testified in an inquiry that resulted in murder indictments last week against five men accused of complicity in a waterfront killing five years ago in a reported union dispute.

ORANGE, Aug. 15 (AP)—J. Lutzer Stark, Orange oil operator, waved his gold-tipped wand, okayed a bill for $20,000 and tonight some 100 Orange high school girls leave in a special train for Chicago.

They comprise the high school's Bengal Guards, a drum and bugle corps which for several years has appeared at various athletic events and community festivals in Texas and Louisiana.

Clothed in uniforms of black and gold and white, the Guards have been invited to drill at the Chicago-Land Music festival.

ORANGE, Aug. 15 (AP)—J. Lutzer Stark, Orange oil operator, waved his gold-tipped wand, okayed a bill for $20,000 and tonight some 100 Orange high school girls leave in a special train for Chicago.

They comprise the high school's Bengal Guards, a drum and bugle corps which for several years has appeared at various athletic events and community festivals in Texas and Louisiana.

Clothed in uniforms of black and gold and white, the Guards have been invited to drill at the Chicago-Land Music festival.

Mrs. Lawrence M. Hustmyre was founder and is director of the group. Lewis R. Gay is military drillmaster. But Stark provided

Motorship Attacked
By Sub Off New York
 NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Norwegian motorship Thermopylae, 8,655 tons, reported today she was being attacked by a submarine about 700 miles east of New York. Mackay radio intercepted the message at 8:35 a. m. (CST). The Thermopylae traded between New York, Pacific coast ports and the far east before the war.

Eight Texas Cities Adopt Food Stamp

(Editor's Note: Following is the first of three stories by an Associated Press staff writer explaining the federal food stamp plan.)

Instead of standing tediously in line at welfare warehouses to receive a dole of whatever surplus foods happen to be on hand, relief folk of eight Texas cities today are shopping at their neighborhood grocery stores.

They pay cash for every item on their menus and choose what they wish to buy.

Their cities and counties are participants of the federal government's newest form of food relief, the stamp plan.

Five other Texas cities expect to be operating under the plan within another month. And basting his estimate on 74 inquiries at hand, James S. Allen, regional administrator for the surplus marketing administration, at Dallas, expects at least 10 more stamp plan areas in Texas within the next year.

If your city or county hasn't gone stamp plan already, John Jones, your corner grocer, may get a letter from "Dear John," the letter will read (or in words to that effect.) "Dear John, if you'll follow a few simple rules your Uncle Samuel will send you a lot of cash business free of charge."

John, being human, will doubt. But, being human, will be interested.

Under the stamp plan, the grocer, wholesaler, handler, processor and producer sell more goods.

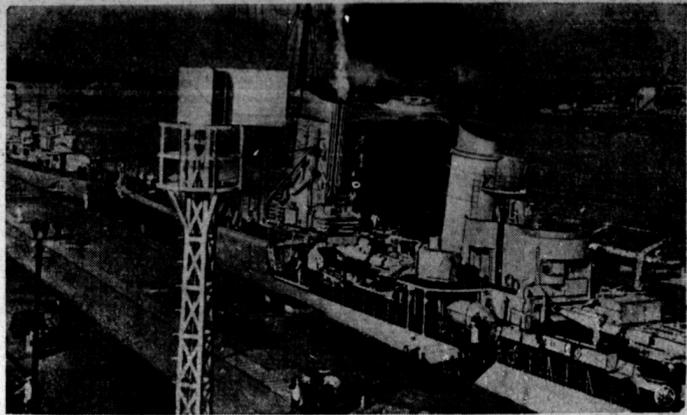

Surplus foods disappear through natural business channels. Living standards rise. Business conditions in general improve.

That in dramatic essence is the theory behind the government's food stamp plan.

115 Cities Adopt Plan
 On August 1, a little more than a year after its start at Rochester, N. Y., 115 cities in the United States had adopted the plan—most of them jointly with their county relief organizations. Forty-four of them were in the 13-state southern region of which Texas and its eight stamp plan cities are a part.

These 115 stamp plan areas are less than half the 254 counties in Texas alone. Admitting the stamp plan has a long way to go before supplanting the current method of direct distribution, department of Agriculture officials nevertheless prophesy that food stamps are the coming thing for Texas and the United States as a whole.

Germans Call These "Poison Teeth"

That's why after spending a mere $10,000,000 the first year, they are prepared to back the plan with $100,000,000 the second year if expansion continues.

Direct relief, which most cities and counties currently use for feeding their poor, was a result of the depression's paradox: starvation in the midst of plenty.

Seeking to aid both producers and indigent consumers at the same time, the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation purchased huge quantities of surplus apples, oranges, potatoes, prunes, wheat and other products. Proportionate amounts were shipped to state relief organizations for distribution among county and city relief units.

Hit-Miss Larder
 Relievers without cash income secured most of their food at these warehouses. Those with some cash income placed out their meager purchases with warehouse supplies. Frequently they obtained varied staples with a fresh item or two on the side.

Occasionally, however, they toted home nothing more than a bag of tomatoes or a bushel of onions. Such a hit-and-miss proposition depended more upon area surplus production than upon appetites or dietary needs.

Under the stamp plan, the government practically retires from distribution of food to relief units. Through city-county welfare setups, it supplies relievers with food stamps for purchases of food stuffs in any grocery store agreeing to play ball and at the same time sees that the clients have 5 per cent more purchasing power. Private business, therefore, theoretically—and apparently in truth—gains new customers, finds many old customers with more money to spend, and reduces surplus foods through traditional merchandising methods.

That is the plan now operating in those eight Texas food stamp cities and counties, which (with the dates on which operation began) include: Wichita Falls and Wichita county,

Memphis and Hall county, both Dec. 1, 1939; Houston and Harris county, April 1, 1940; Austin and Travis county, April 18, 1940; Waco and McLennan county, June 3, 1940; El Paso and El Paso county, Childress and Childress county, Abilene and Taylor county, all on August 1, 1940.

Eastland and Eastland county, Plainview and Hale county, Lubbock and Lubbock county, Fort Worth and Tarrant county, Dallas and Dallas county all have passed final approval and should see their stamp plans in operation in September.

(In the second of three articles dealing with the federal surplus marketing administration's food stamp plan, the plan in detail will be explained.)

Communists Name Candidate For Texas Governor

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 15 (AP)—A third candidate for governor of Texas appeared on the horizon today.

He is Ben H. Lundersale of Breckridge, nominated last night by Texas Communists meeting here in state convention.

Locked out their originally-scheduled convention hall, the Communists assembled at a hidden location. After the meeting, Homer Brooks of Houston, state party head, announced the delegates had adopted a platform and named candidates for most major state offices.

The slate also included: U. S. senator, Homer Brooks of Houston.

Congressman, 20th district, Emma Tenayuca of Houston.

Lieut.-governor, Cecil B. Robinett of Houston (negro).

Attorney general, J. Lloyd Wright of San Antonio.

Agriculture commissioner, Orton T. Campbell of Waco.

Railroad commissioner, Enoch Hardaway, Monahan.

Presidential electors selected included C. O. Berry, Laredo.

Hitch-Hiking Made Science By Aggie

DALLAS, Aug. 15 (AP)—From telescope to portable radio, young Keyes Carson of Cuero has reduced hitch-hiking to a science.

He is a senior at Texas A. and M. college and stopped here overnight before starting out on his most ambitious journey—to New York, Alaska, the West Coast and back to Texas across the southern U. S.

Here are a few items of his hitch-hike arsenal:

A telescope to scrutinize approaching cars, to size up passenger load.

An elaborate set of highway maps, on rolls attached to his suitcase.

Reflector signs and buttons, designed to indicate to a driver where Keyes wants to go.

A signed statement for each accommodating driver, releasing the latter from any responsibility.

A camera and a portable radio.

Carson plans to make his long trip in three weeks—and keep a log, including the name, address and brief biography of each driver.
