CRISIS LOOMS IN SHANGHAI AFTER SLAYINGS

OLD GOVERNOR CONGRATULATES NEW

Delegates to the Texas-Oklahoma district Kiwanis convention in Oklahoma City this week told club members who stayed home how they got the job done, at their noon luncheon here today. By "the job," they meant the election of Pampa's Mayor Fred Thompson as governor of the vast Kiwanis district which covers all of Texas and Oklahoma. In the above photo, taken immediately after his election last Tuesday evening, Kiwanian Thompson is shown being congratulated by Charles Mourau of Oklahoma City, who will be succeeded by Mr. Thompson next Jan. 1. The post is the highest honor that can be accorded in the Kiwanis International district.

Lions Applaud Catchy Music Of Kiwanis Musical

Chorus rehearsal for the Kiwanis club's "Top O' Texas Revue" will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the City Hall auditorium. Ken Bennett, who is producing the show, gave the Lions club a taste of the catchy music that has been written especially for the Kiwanis show. Mr. Bennett appeared before the Lions at the regular noon luncheon yesterday and played snatches of the music. The "Top O' Texas Revue" is going to be an explosive type of show unlike any home talent show ever produced here. It will have special scenery, lighting effects, brand new music never heard before. It will be in five scenes with specialty numbers between each scene. It will be short and snappy and is so designed that there will be no "dragging." Every member of the Kiwanis club is pitching into the work behind the show which will be held probably the first week of November. Exact dates for the show will be announced within the next day or two. The show will be staged in the High school auditorium. Committees will be named to round out the details of the show within the next week. Tex DeWesse, Kiwanis club president, said today.

.24-Inch Rain Falls In Pampa Thursday

Indian Summer weather for the Pampa area was forecast for the week-end, with the official report of West Texas being decreasing cloudiness tonight; Saturday, fair and warmer. October's first rain fell in Pampa late Wednesday night and early Thursday morning. Precipitations here measured .24-inch, making the annual total of 12.41 inches. It was the first shower since September 29 when a .06-inch sprinkle fell.

Negro Slayer Hanged

PRENTISS, Miss., Oct. 11 (AP)—Hilton Fortenberry, negro slayer of Town Marshal J. C. Sanford, was hanged in the jail yard here early today under protection of national guardsmen sent by Governor Paul B. Johnson to maintain order.

I Heard . . .

That two Legion members selling advance tickets to the Groom-Medline Mound six-man football game here tonight at Harvester park sold more than 50 tickets each. Others were reported to have beaten that record. The Legion's share of the receipts will go to the "Goodfellow club" for the purchase of shoes for the needy children of Pampa and for other charitable work. Guaranteed ring job, any make or model. Nazis Accuse Turks Of Oil Field Plots

BUCHAREST, Oct. 11 (AP)—German official circles charged today through their mouthpiece, Tageblatt, that Turkey had been commissioned by Great Britain to attack Rumanian oil fields by air and that British Minister Sir Reginald Hoare "was an accomplice in this plan." The newspaper declared the new Rumanian regime under Premier General Ion Antonescu, "knows what enemies are, and backed by the Axis, will be powerful enough to reply. The charge was made while a campaign to make Rumania an outpost of German military strength appeared well under way. More Nazi troops, guns and other war equipment were reported nearing the country by rail and on Danube river barges through Yugoslavia. A breaking-off of Rumanian-British diplomatic relations appeared closer hourly. Officials of the British legation were saying good-bye to Rumanian friends and interviewing Britons who still remain regarding transportation. The Bucharest press, announcing for the first time the arrival of German troops "to act as instructors," said "the war is not yet finished. By next spring we will have Axis military technique and new equipment."

British officials were convinced that the Axis program to "oust the British from the Balkans" now is being fully revealed. Rumanian and Turkish relations also were growing more brittle as a result of reports not yet strictly confirmed, that vital gasoline shipments to Turkey would be prohibited, placing the latter under a distinct military disadvantage. The Turkish press now is openly concerned over the possibility that the Axis may be planning "military pincers" against Turkey and Greece. The Turks are hopeful, however, that Soviet policy will intervene to block any German ambitions toward the Dardanelles.

Nation-Wide Dock Strike Foreseen

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 11 (AP)—Threats of a nation-wide waterfront paralysis echoed today from a recent strike of AFL longshoremen at three Puget Sound ports. The International Longshoremen's association closed the Washington ports of Tacoma, Port Angeles and Anacortes six weeks ago in a protest strike against a national labor board ruling in 1938 that the rival CIO Longshoremen's union should be the bargaining agent in all Pacific coast ports. The AFL group has controlling majorities in the three ports. The strike was terminated upon agreement of the labor board to reopen consideration of the case, but E. J. Egan, labor board director at Seattle, announced that because labor board members were "in disagreement" on the case, "no action can be taken at the present time." T. A. Thronson, international vice-president and Pacific coast secretary of the I.L.A., promptly warned that "only an immediate decision can avoid a national tie-up."

AFL spokesmen declared the ways were greased for cooperative union support that would spread the waterfront paralysis to the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts. The strike was terminated upon agreement of the labor board to reopen consideration of the case, but E. J. Egan, labor board director at Seattle, announced that because labor board members were "in disagreement" on the case, "no action can be taken at the present time." T. A. Nazi Warbirds Flap Wings Over Rumania Oil Field

BUCHAREST, Oct. 11 (AP)—Tightly packed formations totalling about 150 planes, some bearing German markings and others Rumanian insignia, flew back and forth over Bucharest and the oil towns of Ploesti and Giurgiu today. They swooped low over the British legation in Bucharest where the staff was speeding its packing up. They patrolled east and west and north and south methodically. At one time 68 planes were over the capital.

War Briefs

BERLIN, Oct. 11 (AP)—London's Victoria railway station was hard hit in last night's raids, and numerous big fires were set in central London, north of the Thames, DNB, official news agency, reported today. The bombardment of London and other centers of south and middle England continued today, the agency said, and at Ramsgate, off the Thames Estuary, a coastal patrol ship was bombed.

The strange sights and adventures that would delight the heart of any 13 year old boy were in store for Johnny Campbell in the next week as he prepared to leave by TWA airliner for New York this afternoon. Johnny was due to leave at 5:25 o'clock this afternoon for Kansas City where he will be the guest of TWA tonight. He will leave Kansas City about 8 in the morning and land at LaGuardia field, New York City, tomorrow afternoon around 5:30.

Then he will take an airport bus and get off at the Pennsylvania hotel where a room has been reserved for him by We The People program on which he will appear with Congressman-Nominee Eugene Worley Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. On the same program will appear Gene Austry and the host of the Dalton gang, of bandits. "I'm going to mention Pampa on the program just as many times as I can," Johnny said today.

Room Reserved When Johnny arrives at the Pennsylvania hotel he will find a message from the We The People advising him when their representative will call for him. Johnny plans to take in the world's fair if he can get Gene to go along with him—and that may not be difficult to do.

Yesterday, the News which sponsored Johnny's article in Life magazine that won him the trip, received Johnny's expense money—$191.18, and immediately Johnny asked, "Wonder what the 18 cents are for?"

Johnny is going to ride the plane to New York but the train back. He plans to leave New York in the day time so that he will pass through Washington, D. C. when the sun is shining. The train trip will bring him to Chicago and thence to Pampa. Expense money sent by We The People will permit him to return by first class pullman. Besides the money for plane and train tickets, Johnny had $20 for meals and "incidentals" sent by the radio broadcast. "That's more spending money than I ever had," said Johnny. "Why I never spent but $7 during the two weeks we were in Old Mexico last summer."

To Arrive Sunday Mr. Worley will arrive in New York Sunday, travelling from Louisville, Ga., where he and Mrs. Worley are vacationing. Johnny and Gene were invited to appear on the program after an article written by Johnny was published in Life. It concerned activities last summer of the Mr. Worley Goes To Washington club in helping to elect Mr. Worley.

Johnny turned author again yesterday and wrote the News a note which is printed here because Johnny insisted on it: "I want to thank the News for finding me. Mr. Worley. If the News hadn't found him and let him know about the broadcast I never would have got to go to New York." Johnny wrote more but the News is still striving to be modest, so will let it go at that.

Britain Agrees To Buy Argentine Meat

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 11 (AP)—Argentina and Britain have reached a satisfactory basis for the largest meat contract in the history of the Argentine packing industry—amounting to nearly $100,000,000 for one year. It was reported authoritatively today. While details of the agreement are not settled, informed sources said negotiators agreed on means and terms of payment and other important factors, clearing the way for final approval of the contract. A spokesman of the Argentine embassy in London said Britain was seeking to purchase between $25,000,000 and $40,000,000 ($100,000,000 and $160,000,000) worth of corn, wheat, butter, hides and other staples with payment in Argentine bonds held in England.

He said "full discussion" of the matter was scheduled for "late next week." Apparently the reported deal for $100,000,000 worth of meat is included in the $40,000,000 figure mentioned in London.

Court Dismisses Ray Reames Case

In district court here yesterday was dismissed on motion of the district attorney the case of State of Texas vs. Ray Reames. The defendant had been indicted on March 6 of this year with Frank Agee, Carlyle Shelton, and Hubert Sisco, on a charge of robbery in alleged connection with the taking of $100 from Oklahoma tourists near Almarco on November 14, 1939. Cases against Sisco and Shelton were dismissed by the state on July 17. Agee was assessed a five-year prison sentence in a verdict filed on June 21 of this year.

British Hurl Back German Air Thrusts

LONDON, Oct. 11.—This capital's defenders aground an aloft were reported to have hurled back four separate German air thrusts today and to have turned the fifth into a great twisting sky battle over the southeast coast. The fifth thrust of the day came at tea time when German planes swept in over Kent, dodging in and out of cloudbanks to escape the withering fire of coastal anti-aircraft batteries. Suddenly a large force of RAF fighters appeared and the drone and scream of planes in combat in the fleecy clouds could be heard. One of the raiders was reported shot down in the vicinity of Kingston Hill. A swift succession of air raid alarms and all-clear signals, the rumble of anti-aircraft fire and the drone of protecting planes told Londoners the story of attack and defense. That was the situation up to mid-afternoon. The Nazi raiders roared over anew after breaking off their regular night attack earlier than usual. They were believed to have dropped many time bombs during the widespread dusk to dawn assaults. Liverpool dispatches said 40 high explosive bombs dropped on its port and shipyards in the longest raid of the war to that area, resulting in several casualties. Several narrow escapes were reported in the London night raids. One hundred employees of a London club escaped injury when a bomb fell near their basement shelter. Barricaded windows were blown in. Scores of persons sleeping in a shelter under a seven-story office building were unhurt although buildings on three sides were wrecked. The air ministry said five German bombers were shot down yesterday and five British planes were lost. Two of the British pilots were reported safe, however. Observers said the night attack was much less severe than previous raids, attributing the change to the accuracy of their anti-aircraft gunners.

More than 50 districts of London were hit during the night. Twenty areas in the provinces, from the Thames Estuary to the west country, in Wales, the Midlands, and the northeast, also were attacked. The government reported incendiary bombs caused some fires. See AIR RAID, Page 6

Willkie Deplores Split Into Classes

BY THEODORE F. KOOP EN ROUTE WITH WILLKIE TO BOSTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, campaigning through southeastern Massachusetts, appealed today for national unity and declared that "the New Deal's splitting the country in classes makes me sick." Standing in the tonneau of his automobile, he asserted that the pitting of section against section had been done by the Roosevelt administration not as a means of promoting industrial production, but rather "to promote political profit."

"And worst of all," he declared, "it does this at a time when, as the third term candidate said at Chickamauga a month ago, our essential need is absolute unity." Crowds greeted the Republican presidential nominee with cheers and applause—and some boos—as his motor cavalcade moved through New Bedford, Fall River, Taunton and Brockton. In New Bedford, he asserted that "if we do not prevail this fall, this pleasant and effective way of life will pass."

In Brockton, the nominee reiterated his contention that "we can not continue to go down the road to bankruptcy and preserve our system of free enterprise or our American way of life."

He said he wanted to create jobs, adding, "Jobs are what America needs."

'Men Wanted Now' LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Display advertisements headed "men wanted now" appeared today in London newspapers for the first time in years as the labor ministry appealed for "able bodied men temporarily out of work" to aid in clearing away air raid debris.

BOMB STRIKES ST. PAUL'S

This cable-telephoto shows the jagged hole in the center of the arched roof of St. Paul's Cathedral in London after a bomb struck the historic English

British Bomb Invasion Base Of Cherbourg

British warships bombarded the German-held "invasion" base of Cherbourg on the French coast today, attacking boldly in a thick dawn haze, and set huge fires visible 40 miles away, the London admiralty reported. No damage or casualties were sustained by the sea raiders, the admiralty said, adding: "There was no naval opposition from the enemy although it was known that enemy light forces were at Cherbourg."

The admiralty said heavy and light forces engaged in the assault—the first sizeable naval action in the English channel since the bloody retreat from Dunkerque last June. Nazi quarters minimized the effect of the bombardment, asserting that only a single British cruiser "attempted to shell the big shipping port and that it was routed by the fire of German coastal batteries which "showered" the cruiser with shells. The Germans acknowledged, however, that RAF bombers striking before dawn created havoc at the great north German port of Hamburg.

Britain followed the United States' example of "freezing" Rumanian credits amid signs of a break in Anglo-Rumanian relations following the "drang nach Osten" (march to east) infiltration of German troops into the rich Balkan oil kingdom. Casualties were listed as three killed, 15 seriously wounded and many more slightly wounded.

German warplanes attacking London for the 36th consecutive night were reported to have dropped 496,000 pounds of bombs on the British capital alone. Other Nazi raiders stripped their bomb racks over the 20 provincial areas from the Thames estuary through the great industrial Midlands to Liverpool, where Hitler's high command reported "big fires" were left raging. The Germans also reported that RAF bombers attacked Amsterdam in Nazi-occupied Holland, killing 18 and wounding 20 in the second heavy assault on the Dutch city this week.

Almost for the first time in the war, the German people began to get an insight on the two-way effect of the conflict. Accustomed to hear only glowing reports of Nazi smashes against Britain, the German populace today read a DNB summary of British raids during the last two nights disclosing that many had been killed and many more wounded in the Reichland. DNB admitted raids on Cologne, Dusseldorf, Leipzig, Magdeburg, Castrop-Rausel and Essen, and listed 47 houses hit by bombs. While the Germans minimized damage to military objectives, the British air ministry reported that RAF bombers struck hard blows at warships in the big German naval base at Wilhelmshaven and the great Krupp shipyards at Kiel, and attacked the German-held channel saline. At the foot of the sacred altar is a pile of debris. The church, which is situated in the center of London, was completed late in the 17th century.

Puppet Mayor Assassinated; Japs Furious

May Try To Take Over International Settlement

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (AP)—Official concern over the tense Far East situation centered today on Shanghai as a potential trouble spot after the slaying there of the city's puppet mayor and a Japanese army officer. One of the chief dangers, as viewed in well-informed but unofficial quarters, was that the incident might occasion new Japanese attempts to take over the entire international settlement. Officials refrained from comment since the assassination of the Mayor Fu Siao-occurring within the heavily guarded Japanese stronghold of Hongkew and the killing of the officer just outside. However, it was noted the municipal police of the international settlement had been asked by Japanese authorities to help search for Fu's personal servant, who was missing from the mayor's residence after the killing. The servant's home had been in the settlement, at least until 3 weeks ago. Several times in the past Japanese have charged that lawless characters have taken refuge in parts of the settlement not under Japanese control. The possibility that a serious situation might arise in Shanghai over some such incident as Fu's assassination long has been regarded here as one of the dangers in the Far East.

The United States has some 1,200 marines stationed in Shanghai and has failed so far to reach an agreement with Japan on division of the former British international settlement sector for patrol purposes.

Japan, dissatisfied with the division made by the Shanghai municipal council, sought to take over the entire area. The United States, however, has insisted on patrolling an area in which the more important American interests are located. Disputes have been frequent between American and Japanese forces in Shanghai. One was settled yesterday when a Japanese apology for the arrest and alleged beating of a sailor from the N. S. cruiser Augusta. Meanwhile, the United States went forward with measures to strengthen Pacific defenses, the war department announcing the 25th coast artillery regiment of the California national guard would be sent to Hawaii to reinforce the garrison there. The regiment, numbering 1,000 men, would increase army strength in the mid-Pacific outpost to 25,000.

It also was disclosed the government had stopped shipment of 10 military planes which had been sold to Thailand, a country suspected here of Japanese leanings and designs on French Indo China. The government also called to active duty 5,700 marine corps reserves. The orders directed 200 officers and 5,500 men to report to mobilization centers along the Pacific and Atlantic coasts on or about Nov. 7. An order was issued "freezing" some $100,000,000 of Rumanian-owned funds and securities in this country, for the obvious purpose of keeping them out of the hands of Germans now proceeding into Rumania. The order was similar to those immobilizing wealth of nine other European nations occupied by troops of Germany or Russia. Under it, none of the funds or securities may be withdrawn without the approval of the treasury. German authorities commented in Berlin that the freezing order was "nothing new."

SHANGHAI, Oct. 11.—Despite Japanese claims that usually formed sources insisted tonight that 14,000 Chinese soldiers of the Japanese-dominated Nanking government were concentrated outside Shanghai while rumors had it that Japan plans to take over the international settlement for the French concession Oct. 12. The puppet regime's troops were said to have been moved yesterday to new positions between Shanghai and the Wusong forts, at the mouth of the Whangpoo river, about 12 miles below the city. Rumors of impending forceful action against the foreign areas in this otherwise Japanese-controlled city was linked with the impending reopening Oct. 17 by Britain of the

Roosevelt On Inspection Tour In East

(By The Associated Press)

As President Roosevelt traveled through Pennsylvania today on the eighth of his recent defense inspection tours, his political opponent, Wendell L. Willkie, took his intensive speaking campaign into Massachusetts.

Willkie set out on his itinerary through the Bay state fresh from a speech in Providence, R. I., last night in which he said that reelection of the present administration might make government "our only master."

He asserted that "New Deal officials" believe this country has quit growing and have based their whole program on that theory.

"If the men who preach this doctrine are given the third term they seek," he said, "they may yet succeed in making that theory come true."

"Then, with no one else to work for, the state would be our only master, and the permanent unemployed would be in concentration camps."

The President's trip will take him to a number of cities in Pennsylvania and Ohio for visits to defense industries and public housing projects. At Dayton, he will broadcast a "one for all, all for one" defense message to the nation and the entire western hemisphere Saturday night.

Meanwhile, with less than four weeks remaining until election, both major parties pushed plans for a tremendous oratorical drive by dozens of senators, governors, representatives and other political leaders.

The Democratic national committee announced Mr. Roosevelt would address the nation in a broadcast on election eve, probably from his home in Hyde Park.

At Kingston, N. Y., last night, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York denounced what he termed the New Deal's belief in

British Bomb Devastation Hits Hamburg

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Oct. 11—Reports of a British cruiser's attempt to shell German-held Cherbourg, of RAF devastation in Hamburg and Amsterdam and of a British air stab into central Germany injected a new flavor today in the running account of the war.

They were interesting sidelights to the continued recital of day-in and day-out smashing of British war objectives.

Except for the barest mention of last night's RAF operations reaching into central, western and northwestern Germany with such phrases as "no noteworthy property damage" and "without any military damage being done," the high command left to "informed circles" the reporting of Britain's air and naval sorties.

These quarters said a cruiser, attempting early this morning to attack Cherbourg, on the French coast across from Portsmouth, England, was forced to withdraw by the fire of coastal batteries but a heavy haze made it impossible to say whether the warship was damaged. The same quarters and the official news agency, DNB, acknowledged considerable damage to the north German port of Hamburg during the night, saying British bomb devastation was spread over a densely populated section of more than five-eighths of a mile radius while another area was characterized as "a shambles of ashes."

Hamburg's casualties were listed as three dead, 15 seriously injured and many more slightly injured. Eighteen persons were killed and 20 wounded in an early morning raid on German-occupied Amsterdam, according to a report relayed through Berlin which told of no specific damage but merely called it a heavy assault, the second since Monday night, when scores of incendiary and explosive bombs caused eight deaths.

The high command's review of the continuing siege of London and England said medium and heavy caliber bombs dropped on "numerous war essential objectives" last night at Liverpool, Birkenhead and Manchester and at Liverpool caused big fires along the Mersey river, site of big docks and shipyards.

The daily communique, covering the past 24 hours, also listed: Numerous large fires and explosions caused in London; Dive bomber destruction of hangars and ordinary bombardment of heavily garrisoned airports on the British west and south coasts and successful raids on southern and central England port facilities, armament factories and supply depots; and on "war essential targets in the city." Destruction of 12 British planes as against four of Germany's which failed to return.

Secretary Ickes asserted in another that a "political blitzkrieg" backed by "big money" was about to start in Willkie's behalf.

Education—A Defense Industry

American schools are not hiding their heads in the sand. They know what's up. They understand what war means—how dependent they are on adequate national defense for the continuation of free education.

To help give the public a clearer concept of the importance of the schools in any preparedness program, the National Education Association will devote its 20th observance of American Education Week to the theme, "Education for the Common Defense."

Programs throughout the country will begin on Sunday, Nov. 10, with emphasis on spiritual life. Each day will be devoted to a different phase of education in relation to defense, until Saturday of that week, when economic security will be stressed.

The schools have already recognized two fundamental ways in which they can bolster up national defense. The first and immediate is to provide the special training required for those actively engaged in defense work, both in industry and in the military.

The other is to inculcate more strongly in the mind of the impressionable student the value of a democracy too often taken for granted.

One moment of reflection will convince anyone that a tremendous weapon the schools can become. Hitler knew. Remember, the youngsters who were in German elementary schools only seven short years ago are now in the Hitlerian army or in civilian life—stalwart supporters of the Nazi cause.

The minds of the little fellows who trudge off to their classrooms every day are completely in the hands of the forces administering education. Every other educational power in the world cannot compete with the teacher, especially during a youngster's earliest years of schooling.

This is when the toddler gets his introduction to democracy. This is when he learns to live democratically, even before he knows what the word means.

Most schools will co-operate extensively with the National Education Association in marking 1940's American Education Week. It will be a good time to remind the public, upon whose support education depends, that the schools are a vital defense industry.

Some sacrifices may have to be made. But it should also be remembered that the teaching of democracy is as important as democracy itself. Without the influence of American schools, it would be much more difficult to combat the teachings of alien ideologies.

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—If Senator Wheeler gets the Senate to okay his bill for an investigation of German control of U. S. defense industries, look out for fireworks.

The defense commission is inclined to oppose the probe, fearing what the excitement might do to the defense production program, and certain administration liaison men have been quietly lobbying against it.

Stoutly favoring the investigation is the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice—where, in fact, the whole idea was really born. Nearly a year ago Thurman Arnold notified the War Department that he had good reason to suspect that German interests had made agreements with U. S. producers which had the effect of throttling the U. S. capacity to produce certain essential war materials.

Later, the famous Bausch-Lomb case showed how a maker of secret U. S. defense equipment was under obligation to reveal such secrets to a German concern.

DUMMY CORPORATIONS DISGUISE OWNERSHIP

Points which especially worry those who have been close to the situation are these: The suspicion that whole or part ownership of certain American corporations is actually supplying Germany with the money that pays for espionage work in this country.

Ownership is carefully disguised, usually via banks or dummy corporations in Switzerland. The fear that various patent and trade control agreements between U. S. and German producers give Germany accurate, day-to-day information about the kind and extent of war material the government is buying.

The belief that under-production and too-high prices in certain important defense industries are due to similar agreements.

U. M. W. CASH GETS LEWIS U. A. W. SUPPORT

John L. Lewis scored a point in his quiet contest with Sidney Hillman for C. I. O. control when plans for the big Ford organizing drive were shaped.

The United Auto Workers are being financed with $150,000 of loans from Lewis's United Mine Workers. The auto workers of late had leaned strongly to the Hillman wing for direction, but the low condition of the C. I. O. treasury forced them to go to Lewis for the sinews of war.

Recent reports here say the Japanese have a new fleet of extra-long-range submarines, able to cruise away from home bases for a month or more and mounting six-inch guns. Idea is supposed to be that in case of trouble with Uncle Sam, these boats would lurk in the offing to make surprise suicide dashes into U. S. west coast harbors.

ANGLO-AMERICAN UNION?

Before you're much older you're going to be hearing a lot about the alleged desirability of union between the United States and Britain. An organization is now being formed—here and elsewhere in the east—to get together funds for a heavy campaign advertising the proposition. The present administration knows about it, hasn't committed itself, but is "interested." Proposal apparently will be much like the set-up proposed to France by Winston Churchill just before the debacle.

Political Economy In One Lesson or What Is Soon and What Is Not Soon

BY FREDERICO BASTIAT

It does not fall within the object of this essay to appreciate the intrinsic worth of the public expenditure applied to Algeria.

But I cannot refrain from one general observation. It is that the presumption is always unfavourable to collective expenditure by means of taxation.

The reason is this:— In the first place, justice always suffers some little. Since Jacques Bonhomme had toiled to earn his five-franc piece, with a view to the satisfaction of some desire, it is at the least annoying, that the treasury should interpose to deprive Jacques Bonhomme of this satisfaction, and confer it on another. Assuredly, in such a case, it is for the treasury, or for its managers, to give good reasons for the act. We have seen that the state gives a detestable reason when it says, "With these five francs I will employ workmen."

For Jacques Bonhomme (so soon as his mental cataract shall have been coughed) will not fail to reply "Plague on it! With these five francs I may well employ them myself."

This reason being set aside, the others appear in all their nakedness, and the discussion between the treasury and poor Jacques Bonhomme is greatly simplified. If the state say to him, "I take your five francs to pay the gendarme who saves you from watching over your own safety, to pave the street in which you walk every day, to pay the magistrate who secures respect for your property and liberty, to maintain the soldier who guards our frontiers,—Jacques Bonhomme will, if I do not much mistake, pay without a word of objection. But if the state say to him,—I take your five francs in order to give you a prize of one sou (a halfpenny) should you cultivate your field well, or to teach your son what you do not wish that he should earn, or in order that the minister of state may add a hundred and first dish to his table. I take your money to build a cottage in Algeria, which will oblige me to take from you every year five francs more to maintain a soldier to guard the colonist, and five francs more to maintain a general to command the soldier, etc., etc., methinks I hear poor Jacques Bonhomme exclaim, "This system of law strongly resembles that of the Forest of Bondy!"

And as the state foresees the objection, what does it do? It mystifies the whole subject; it brings forward precisely that detestable reason which ought to have no influence in the question; it speaks of the effect of those five francs on industry; it points to the cook as the furnisher of the minister; it points to a colonist, a soldier, a general, living on the five francs; it shows, in short, what is seen, and so long as Jacques Bonhomme shall not have learned to bring into view what is not seen, Jacques Bonhomme will be a dupe. Therefore it is that I strive to teach him by dint of so frequent repetition.

From the fact that public expenditure displaces labour without increasing it, arises against it a second and serious presumption. To displace labour, is to displace labourers; it is to disturb the natural laws which preside over the distribution of the population throughout the country. When fifty millions of francs are left in the hands of the taxpayers, as the taxpayer is everywhere,—they encourage labour in the 40,000 communes of France; they act as a bond to retain everyone on his native soil; they are distributed among all possible workmen, and among all imaginable kinds of industry. But if the state, withdrawing these fifty millions from the citizens, accumulates them and expends them on a given point, it attracts to that point a proportional amount of displaced labour, and a corresponding number of workmen taken from their homes,—a population floating, loosed from social bonds, and, I may say, dangerous when the fund is exhausted! But then comes about (and this brings me back to my subject) that feverish and factitious activity, which being concentrated on a narrow space, strikes all eyes; it is what is seen; the people applaud, are amazed at the beauty and facility of the operation, and demand its repetition and extension. What is not seen is that an equal amount of labour, probably much more wisely directed, has been reduced to idleness throughout all the rest of France.

A WHITE HOUSE HOPEFUL JOINS THE COLORS

(Chicago Tribune)

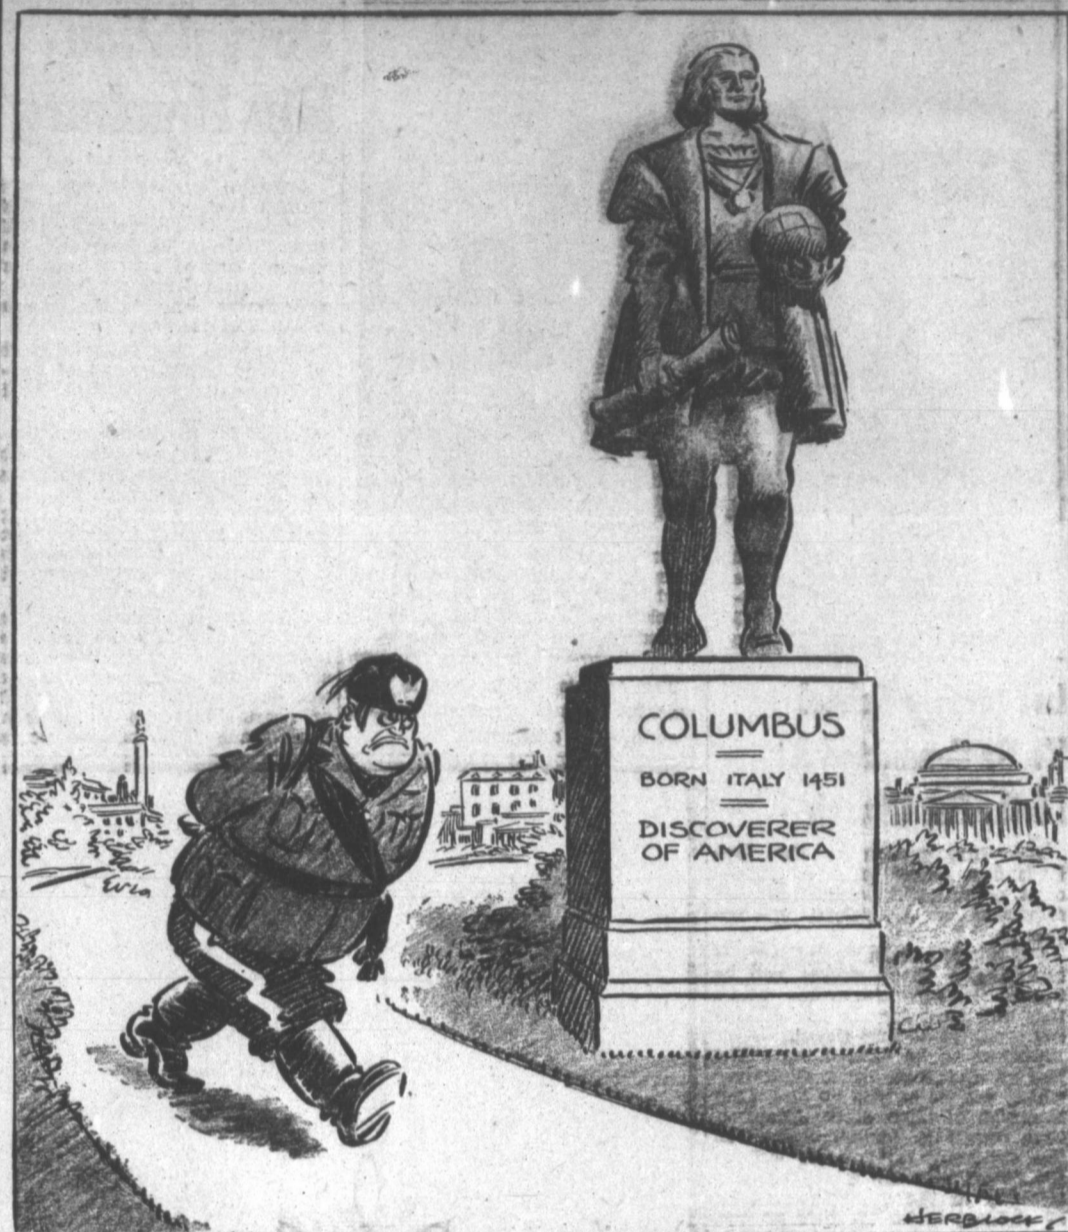

The ink was scarcely dry on the conscription bill before Elliott Roosevelt, the President's second son, felt the urge to defend his country. He did not call on a recruiting sergeant. He called on the chief of staff. Within a day or so he popped up as a captain in the air corps.

In the matter of rank Elliott didn't do quite so well as his elder brother, Jimmy, without previous military experience, blossomed forth as a lieutenant colonel of marines, and drew active duty pay for accompanying their father on a South American junket. Jimmy is also of draft age, but the conscription boards won't be bothering him, either. As a reserve officer he is exempt.

The military qualification of Capt. Elliott Roosevelt must have been more apparent to the commander in chief of the army and navy, who commissioned him, than to the parents of boys who will be called into the infantry at $30 a month. Elliott is in the air corps, but if the Nazi bombers ever start winging north from Tampico to bomb William Allen White at Emporia, as his father once suggested they might, he won't be going out to meet them. He can't fly, at least in a military plane.

Elliott will serve his country in the procurement division of the air corps. That's where the money goes out. His qualifications as a purchasing agent, if they exist, have escaped wide public recognition. His only recorded experience in this field lay on the other side of the fence. He was trying to sell military aircraft, not buy them. He recorded in the files of the Nye committee confronted him seven years ago, and if he possessed the qualities of a Gladstone or a Lincoln. Twelve years! A discarding of a solid tradition! Four more years of class antagonism! Four more years of impulsive government, of prodigious expenditures, of dictatorial practices! This is too broad a mandate for any man at any time. Our democracy is not so frail that it would not endure. But whether it would survive in the form which was designed for it and which the people have taken for granted during a century and a half is such a serious question that millions of the most intelligent Americans will refuse to take a chance. Voting for Willie, they will vote for unimpaired democracy and for national unity first of all.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 11.—A good, tough assistant director can quell a multitude by hollering "QUI-ET!" but there isn't much he can do about airplanes. Not planes of the Army Air Corps, anyway, even if the army is helping Paramount make a picture called "I Wanted Wings."

The army approved the script and has been providing locations and lots of manned equipment for a movie about aviation training. But you couldn't expect the Air Corps to curtail its own activities just because an assistant director, whose movie rank is about that of a second lieutenant, goes around yelling for silence. So it may take quite a while to finish this picture.

The studio's winged publicist, Ed Churchill, flew me over to March Field yesterday for a look at the proceedings, and I must say that the spectacle of flicker production, the show was completely stolen by the army. All Director Mitchell Lelton got was a 32-second scene involving Brian Donlevy and Ray Milland, and a brief, silent shot showing Veronica Lake sneaking into the door of a big bomber.

Private planes are not supposed to come within miles of the air base, so arrangements and identification of Churchill's red ship were made well in advance. Even when the captain, Mr. Postma, was permitted to land, he was to fill right away. Mr. Postma did a great deal to keep scouting going in Pampa. We pin flowers today on Mr. and Mrs. Guy Saunders but because of reasons which are too personal to be publicized we cannot tell why. Nevertheless, we give them bouquets.

way, and then Milland blew up in his lines. I thought Leiser and Russ Matthews, his assistant, were going to cry. The company had had more than a month of this nerve-racking business at Randolph Field, Texas.

You might think it strange, as I did, that airplane noises must be avoided in a picture about flying. Trouble is, though, the sounds do not record right; they distort the dialog. When the picture is filmed, if ever, they'll sub in incidental noises of just the right intensity.

He became so interested in Scouting that he attained the rank of Eagle Scout. His troop, on the whole was the most active in Pampa while he was the head of it. His boys will miss him greatly, and so will the Lions club. While no man is absolutely indispensable, Mr. Postma's shoes may be hard to fill right away.

When you feel sick it may be because of some process that is going on in your body. On the other hand, it may be because of some process that is going on in your mind. If the process that makes you feel sick is in your mind, what good does it do to pour drugs into your stomach? Treating your system with drugs may have a palliative effect, or perhaps a sedative effect, and may make you feel more comfortable for the time being; but if it is the symptom alone that is treated you are not made well. When unpleasant conditions return your old symptoms are likely to return, or others develop. It is the source of the disorder that is in primary need of treatment.

TEX'S TOPICS

ONE of the smartest things officials of women's clubs, patriotic societies and civic groups can do these days is to be mighty careful about signing up speakers for their meetings. . . The country is overrun with propagandists, who are over-anxious for a chance to speak before clubs and drop, very subtly, the things that the agents of foreign governments like to have dropped in the United States.

There is a vast difference between an honest isolationist and the person who is a party to a whispering campaign. . . No doubt there are many sincere isolationists who think we should do absolutely nothing that smacks of war or getting into the war. . . On the other hand there are those who take advantage of an opportunity to drop anything possible to undermine the morale of our people in the tiniest community as well as the greatest of our cities. . . Be careful of these "clubs get the right kind of speakers. . . In these days it's a good idea to check and double-check plenty.

MANY folk have asked why "Boom Town" played Skellytown two or three weeks ago and is just now getting to Pampa. . . Well, the Pampa theater management wasn't keen on the idea of charging patrons 55 cents which would have been necessary if "Boom Town" had come at that time. . . Now, three weeks later, it comes to town at the regular prices and a big savings to theater-goers. . . That's the information we get from Carl Benefield, local manager, and Claude Motley, district manager for the Griffiths Amusement company. . . Keep your eye on that Kiwanis club musical show, "The Top O' Texas Revue." . . It's going to be something!

Why hasn't some tin pan alleyist written a love song "My Indispensable Man"? . . . Frenchwomen, as a rule, are not blessed by nature with much symmetry of limb, which probably accounts for the news via cable that women of Paris are wearing skirts 12 inches from the ground compared to the 18 inches from the ground skirts of American women.

EIGHT million of Germany's young men were told by Herr Goebbels they should take A. Hitler as a "shining example of masculine life." If the young men take this advice they will have to remain bachelors, cry when angry and become fond of chocolate eclairs. . . This country could probably use 10 times as many G-men as it has. . . From now on the fifth columnists are going to get very busy. . . A young woman noted for her success with men of fame and fortune says: "Getting a man is a matter of 'oomph' and intelligence. You need the intelligence to know how to use the 'oomph'."

Defeatist headlines are a menace to this country's welfare. Here's a defeatist headline sample from a New York newspaper: "U. S. Thinks 'U. S. Defies Axis Threat'; Speeds Aid for Britain and China." That is assuredly the manner in which such a headline should be written.

He remembereth that we are dust. As for man, his days are as grass; As a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more. —Job 14:1-2

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The projected Axis offensive against Britain in the Mediterranean theater may be expected to develop quickly into a titanic struggle for control of this strategic area—a control for one of the foundation stones of the British empire.

Numerous small nations which now are non-belligerent are likely to be drawn in. Into this vast operation Hitler and Mussolini are bound to throw every ounce of power which they can muster. . . This battle of the Mediterranean, as I see it, will break fresh military ground in that it will in its essence be a conflict between air-ships and warships—between the combined Axis airfleets and the British navy.

Why? Because England rules the waves. Her domination of the waters of the Mediterranean is so complete at this moment that Italy can't even move troops or supplies to any great extent to her African possessions.

The Axis must depend on its airpower, which is much greater than that of Britain, to counter this great naval strength. . . The big offensive will give us a more complete test of the relative effectiveness of these two fighting arms when employed against each other.

We have seen that the German armada, which some experts expected would be able to plow England under in a few days, and smash the naval battle line, hasn't been able to achieve this. It would appear that in order to subdue England, the air attack must be supplemented by an invasion with infantry. The air hasn't been able to do it alone. Neither has the air been able to drive the British fleet to cover.

But this doesn't prove the big point of relative strength between the resistance of the Royal Air Force has been a major factor. . . There are many signs that the Axis may try to drive down through the Balkans in an effort to clamp of great pair of pincers on the British by attacking them from the east as well as the west.

The extent of such operations will, to my mind, depend on Russia's attitude. If the Russians are likely to doubt are fuming over this Axis invasion of the Balkans, since it not only is inimical to Russian interests in that region but establishes a direct military threat against the Soviet.

It seems to me that the well-nigh inevitable war between Russia and Germany is a mighty sight nearer.

Najero May Hold Post Under Camacho

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11 (AP)—Political circles speculated today that Dr. Francisco Castaneda, Mexican ambassador to the United States, might hold the same post, or some other of equal or greater importance in the administration of President-Elect Manuel Avila Camacho.

The ambassador, who headed for Mexico City last night for a visit, was understood to have a conference arranged with Avila Camacho within the next few days. . . As in the United States, appointments of diplomats in their negotiations with the expiration of the term of the president who named them. . . In an interview recently, the president-elect hinted that Castaneda might stay in government service after he becomes president Dec. 1.

He mentioned the Washington ambassador as a man who has done a good job. . . General Rodrigo Quevedo, long-time friend of the president-elect, is mentioned as the man in possible choice for secretary of war. He is now military zone commander at Torreón, formerly was governor of Chihuahua.

Javier Rojo Gomez, governor of Hidalgo, General Anselmo Madias, governor of Sonora, Wenceslao Labra, governor of Mexico state, Dr. Bernardino Manero, treasurer of Avila Camacho's campaign, General Miguel Acosta, Ezekiel Padilla, former senator and Jose Angel Contreras, associate of ex-President Emilio Portes Gil, are among others mentioned in political circles as possible selections for key posts in the Avila Camacho administration.

Duenkel-Carmichael Formal Opening Invites Pampanos To Funeral Home

Formal opening of the new Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home, corner of Frost and Browning, will be held today, tomorrow and Sunday. The business is located in a large U-shaped building, remodeled from the old Presbyterian residence and manse. A new church structure is being built at 515 N. Gray.

Size of the funeral home lot is 100 x 140 feet. The grounds have been improved and clover and bluegrass set out.

Inlaid linoleum, carpeted, covers the reception room and office, located in the east wing of the building.

To the rear of the office is located the 19 x 35 foot display room where a supply of 22 caskets is shown.

Across the hall is the ladies' powder room, and a combination slumber and family room. The latter adjoins the chapel and is so arranged that families may be present yet remain unseen by the congregation at funerals.

Public Address System

There is an entrance on N. Frost street to the chapel, which has a public address system, so that overflow crowds may hear the services, as well as those in the chapel, even though they be standing in the corridor leading to the chapel from the Browning street entrance.

Adjoining the chapel and to the front, is a large room, so designed that after the funeral services the body may be taken to this room and directly to the hearse.

This arrangement also makes possible for the family to remain after the crowd has gone, near the body.

Practical Arrangement

Location of the drive and these rooms make it possible for the funeral car to avoid traffic jams on N. Frost street, as the drive fronts on Browning.

The garage adjoins the room next to the chapel, and to the west are the apartments wherein reside Mr. and Mrs. Herman Whately and their daughter Vickie Dean, and Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Sharp and son, L. L. Mr. Whately, a licensed funeral director, has been with the firm three years, while Mr. Sharp, a licensed embalmer and funeral director, has been with the company two years.

Lighting arrangements, the use of ivory and other light-colored tints on the walls and ceilings, fine quality drapes, ample room, and the efficient arrangement of the buildings are salient.

Business Founded in 1935

The funeral home was first located at 321 N. Frost, across the street from its present location, where it was founded on November 10, 1935.

On March 1, 1937, Paul Carmichael became associated with Duenkel and the firm started.

Carmichael has been a Pampano resident for more than a decade, coming here from Waxahachie. He has been licensed for 15 years in Texas and Oklahoma, and has worked in Jacksonville and Hillsboro, and in Ft. Worth and Oklahoma City.

He is married and is the father of one son, Bobby, 12.

Mrs. Carmichael is lady assistant at the funeral home, as is Mrs. Duenkel.

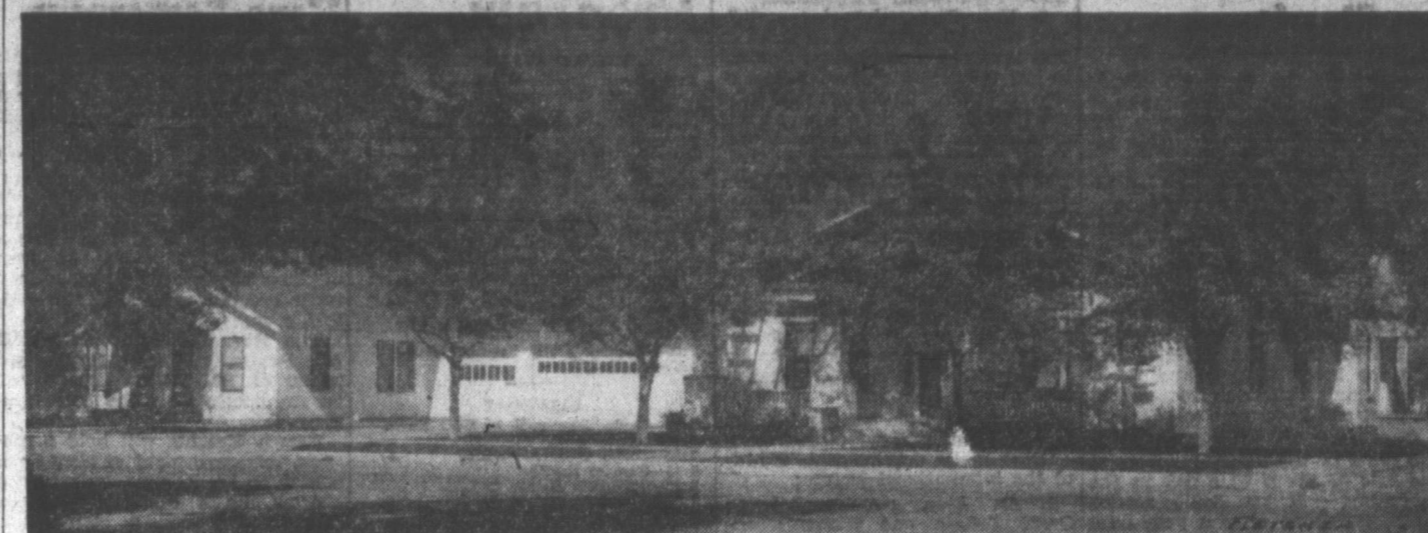

Charlie Duenkel is a dyed-in-the-wool Pampano, coming here in 1906. He played football on the Pampa High school team, graduated here, then worked for the late G. C. Malone, who operated both a funeral home and a furniture store.

He was graduated and received his license from the Dallas School of Embalming in 1929.

Mr. and Mrs. Duenkel are the parents of two sons, Charles A., 11 years old, and Eddie Lynn, four months.

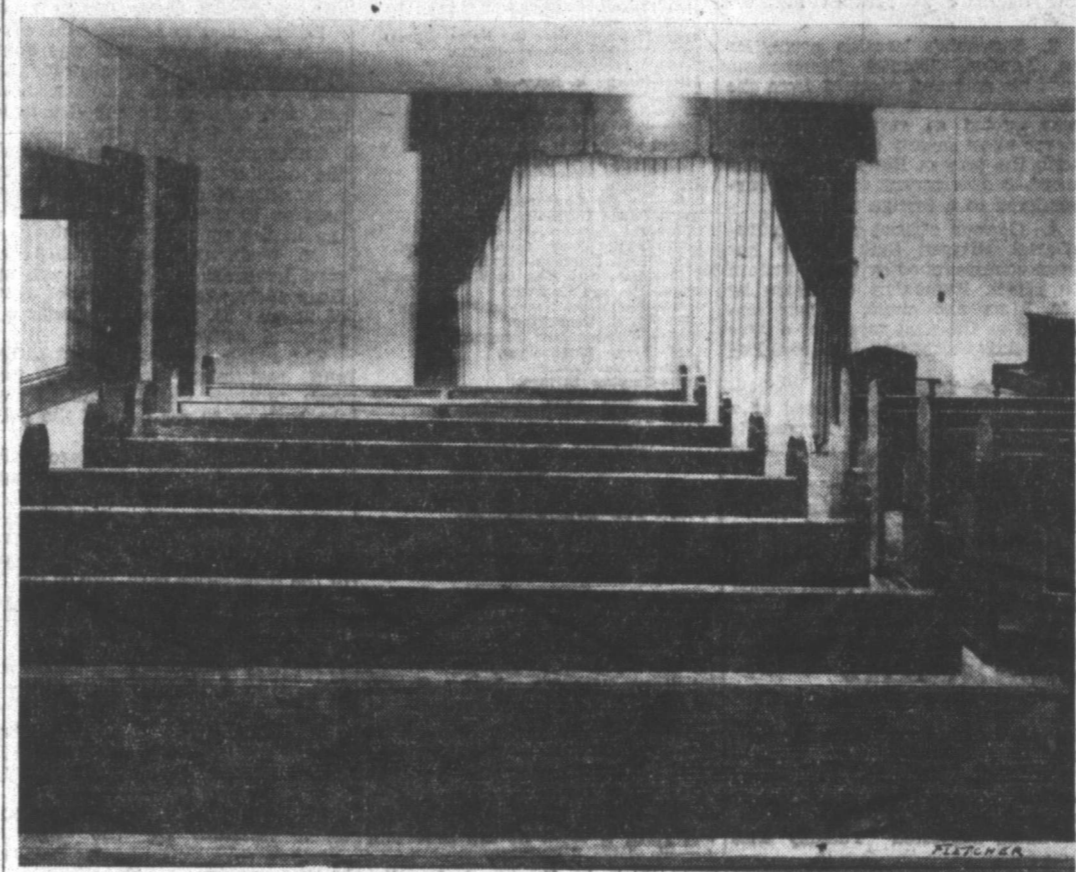

J. H. Mosley is in charge of the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home Burial association and has been with the home for three years.

NEW DUENKEL-CARMICHAEL HOME OPENS TODAY

Framed in numerous trees, and with a spacious front, the new Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home, corner of Frost and Browning, is holding its formal opening for three days, starting today. Persons unable to be present for the occasion will be welcome to call at other times and be conducted on a trip through the establishment, Charlie Duenkel, one of the partners in the firm, said today. Location of the new home is across the street from the place where Duenkel established his business five years ago.

INTERIOR OF BEAUTIFUL CHAPEL

In this large, well lighted and beautifully furnished chapel, there is room for 130 persons. The chapel is in the new Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home, corner of Frost and Browning, which today is starting its formal opening. The occasion will last through Sunday. Entire effect of the chapel emphasizes the psychology of hope, rather than the gloomy, morbid atmosphere customarily thought natural to such places.

September Grocery Bill Jumps Ahead

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Housewives in large cities found the grocery bill in mid-September 1 per cent higher than it was in mid-August.

The bureau of labor statistics said today the average retail price increase was caused by advances in meats, eggs and dairy products, all partly seasonal. A decline in the cost of flour and seasonal reductions in fruits and vegetables helped to restrict the price rise.

How To Get Doller—Bury A Dead Dog

YORKVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 11.—Finding that interments of dead dogs rose to 135 last year, the city council has decided to stop donating a dollar for such burials.

Youngsters received most of the money, and the city fathers were inclined to believe that obsequies for the same dog were staged more than once.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. (AP)—The stock market had its best rally in months today but, as in recent weeks, tended to lose confidence as the proceedings drew to a close.

A buying flurry in steel gave leaders a brief swing after midday. Then there was a recession and early signs pointing to a point or more for active favorites were cut or cancelled in many instances.

Transfers approximated 400,000 shares.

Boisterous sentiment somewhat, brokers said, was the continuation of cheering business developments, a little better feeling in bondrooms toward the political situation, and further waning of nervousness over American-Japanese relations.

On the other hand, there was a disposition to keep commitments light as a precaution against war upsets in Europe and elsewhere over the lengthy week-end. Markets will be closed tomorrow for Columbus day.

Among rising shares most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, American Airline, Sperry, Montgomery Ward, Anacosta, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Opium, American Woolen, Preferred, Great Northern and Texas Corp.

Wagner Amendments Depend On Election

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (AP)—The Senate's disposition of two highly controversial pieces of legislation — Wagner act amendments and the Logan-Walter bill — appeared today to depend largely on the November election results.

Any action on these or other pending measures was excluded as Senator Barkley (D-KY), the majority leader, called the chamber into session (at noon) with the announced intention of recessing it until Monday. The senate then will begin a series of perfunctory, no-quorum meetings every third day until November 18.

The house, having failed to muster a quorum at a short-lived session yesterday, stood adjourned until Monday, with leaders hinting that an agreement was near to follow the senate's example in suspending business.

Meanwhile, senate leaders said that the outcome of the presidential campaign would probably exert a material influence on the ultimate disposition of the proposed labor act changes and also of the Logan-Walter measure, which is aimed at facilitating court appeals from the decision of federal administrative agencies.

A victory for President Roosevelt, leaders said, probably would end chances of approval for the two bills which have been stymied in the senate by administration opposition since their passage by the house.

Southwestern PUBLIC SERVICE Company

Here's How Lottery Will Work In Selecting Draftees

How do I know what my serial number will be, where can I find out, and how do I know if I will be called?

These are the questions Gray county men between the ages of 21 and 36 are asking.

One young man had a picture of himself already serving in the army as soon as he had registered. He was surprised to learn that the registrars could not tell him whether or not he would be conscripted.

The selective service law works fast, but not that fast. It's all a matter of this routine, and if men will study the steps outlined below, there's no need for confusion on their part.

Here's the way the lottery works: All men of draft age will register Wednesday at polling places of schools. Their registration cards will be sent to the county clerk, who will distribute them to local selective service boards, located one to a county or one to each 30,000 of population.

The local boards, each of which will have not more than 5,000 cards, will shuffle them thoroughly and number them serially. Those serial numbers will be forwarded to Washington.

A copy of the numbers will be posted outside the board's office. Anybody may see them.

In Washington, a list of serial numbers will be made up long enough to cover the maximum length of any local board's list. Each number will be enclosed in a non-transparent, blue-lined capsule.

All the capsules will be placed in a big bowl and stirred with a ladle. Some high official will be blindfolded to draw the first number. Other numbers will be drawn until all have been picked. The process is expected to take about eight hours.

Papers to Know Numbers As they are drawn, the numbers will be rushed to newspapers and radio audiences. From the drawing a master list will be made up to read as the following example:

Serial number 135 is order number 1.
Serial number 2056 is order number 2.
Serial number 3359 is order number 3.

And so on down the list. Serial and order numbers will be the same for every one of the 6,500 local board areas.

Any man who has taken the trouble to learn his serial number can learn almost immediately his order number. Those who receive low order numbers will be the first to be called to service, unless deferred for family, employment or other reasons. Men will be called to service strictly in the order of the lottery numbers.

Those who miss their numbers in the newspapers or on the radio will find the master list posted outside the board's office within five to seven days after the lottery.

bers—within the first 200—should begin planning to leave home in 20 to 30 days in case of an army call, unless they have a reasonable belief they will be deferred.

No one will be informed of his order number by mail. The first letter every man receives from his local board will contain a questionnaire to be used in determining his availability for service.

Failure to receive the questionnaire is no excuse for not answering it. Mailing dates will be posted outside the board offices, and it is every man's obligation to see that he receives his form.

Questionnaires will be mailed in the order of the lottery numbers at the rate of about 50 a day in the beginning. If you don't receive yours, telephone or visit your local board.

A school of instruction for board members of the Amarillo area, which includes Pampa, was held today in Amarillo. County clerks also were invited to the meeting.

To instruct chief registrars of the county's 17 registration places, a meeting will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the county court room.

How registration is practiced is explained in the following article, fifth in the series current in The Pampa News.

REGISTRATION—The Actual Procedure

1. Q—What, exactly, will the registrant have to do on October 16?
A—He will report to his local polling place between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on Wednesday, October 16, 1940, to answer questions on a registration form which will be asked by the registration officials.

2. Q—How long will this registration take?
A—The registration for each individual will require about 20 minutes.

3. Q—What questions will be asked?
A—The registration form includes questions on the registrant's name, age, mail address, telephone number, employer's name and address, the place and date of birth, the citizenship, and the name of a close relative of each of the registrants.

4. Q—Is a physical description required on the registration blank?
A—A brief physical description will be made by the registrar noting the race, height, build, color of hair and eyes, complexion, and obvious physical defects of each registrant.

5. Q—Will the registrant swear to his answers?
A—Yes. After the form is filled in, the registrar will read the answers back to the registrant who will then sign the registration form with the declaration that his answers are true. The registrar will also sign the form.

6. Q—What proof will an individual have that he has registered?
A—After the form is filled in, each registrant will be given a certificate showing that he has already registered.

7. Q—Will it be necessary to keep these registration certificates?
A—Yes. The registration certificate must be carried at all times so that it can be presented on demand to law enforcement or selective service officials. The registrant also must notify his local board immediately of any change of address.

BRITISH BOMB

ports of Calais, Boulogne, Le Havre, Brest and Cherbourg.

The air ministry said other RAF raiders set huge fires in bomb assaults on oil storage tanks at half a dozen points in Germany, including Cologne and Hannover.

Today's "invasion weather": Calm seas in Strait of Dover; skies clear. Other major developments crowded the international picture:

1. An open rupture between Great Britain and Rumania appeared imminent as great numbers of German troops, guns and equipment were reported entering the Balkan kingdom by rail and the Danube river barges via Yugoslavia.

2. In London, the British said information "which cannot be regarded as satisfactory" had been received from Sir Reginald Hoare, British ambassador to Bucharest. The London press demanded that Sir Reginald be recalled immediately.

3. Rumania's legation counselor in London, Dimitri Dimanesescu, quit his post and resigned from the Rumanian diplomatic service. He was quoted as saying: "I should never allow myself to be associated with the present Rumanian government—a government which has surrendered to a foreign power."

4. German official circles in Bucharest charged that Turkey has been commissioned by Great Britain to attack Rumanian oil fields by air. More and more, Turkey appeared as the next target of a heralded Axis thrust into southeast Europe.

Japanese foreign office spokesman Yachihiro Suma declared at a press conference that "responsible people on both sides of the Pacific should be very calm."

Renewal of Tokyo foreign office talks with U. S. Ambassador Joseph C. Grew this week and a Japanese reiteration that the alliance with Germany and Italy is not aimed at the United States were noted among straws in the wind.

Japanese authorities sought to stem the excited rumors circulating since the United States state department suggested Tuesday that Americans leave the Orient.

The excitement was accentuated by the assassination early this morning of the Chinese puppet mayor of Japanese-occupied Shanghai, Fu Siao-en, and energetic Japanese attempts to find the cleaver-wielding assassin.

AIR RAID

In London and the suburbs, but added none were extensive.

"Some persons have been killed or injured," a communique said, "but having regard to the scale and the widespread and indiscriminate nature of the attacks, the number of casualties is not heavy, according to the information at present available."

Both the German raiders and the RAF, criss-crossing over the channel, dived a ripping gale to drive home their overnight attacks.

Registration Days Just Like Election Times To Charlie

It's just like election time these days to County Clerk Charlie Thut.

Before going to Amarillo this afternoon, the county clerk was busy gathering up R-day supplies for the county court room.

These supplies are to be issued at the time instructions are given at a meeting of chief registrars to be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the county court room.

On Wednesday, the supplies issued tomorrow will go into use, as Gray county men between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, register as potential soldiers.

The number of registration cards and registration certificates for each precinct was determined on the basis of 80 per cent of the poll taxes paid in that precinct.

To each registration place will be issued the checks containing cards, certificates, a check list for registrars, three copies of the President's proclamation, 10 placards, that are an enlarged reproduction of the registration card, two or three copies of the official manual on registration, pens, ink, and blotters.

Roosevelt Advice To Leave Japan Softens Nipponese

TOKYO, Oct. 11 (P)—Washington's advice to Americans to leave the troubled Orient appears to have induced a softer attitude among Japanese toward the United States, an informed source said today.

A new tack in public utterances may be taken, it was said, as a result of the failure of a "trial balloon" by Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye to produce the desired reaction in the United States.

Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka's repetition of the declaration that the Japanese-German-Italian pact was not directed against the United States was interpreted as evidence of such a change.

Prince Konoye a week ago had invited the United States to cooperate with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis but declared on the other hand that any United States challenge to Axis division of world leadership would bring a "fight to the finish."

The source analyzing the trend of Japanese utterances said he interpreted the premier's statement as an attempt to arouse pacifists in the United States to demand a slackening of Washington pressure, lest an armed conflict result.

When Washington subsequently advised United States nationals to leave the Japanese empire, among other places in the Orient, this source said, it destroyed the psychological advantages of any future saber-rattling by the Japanese.

Yachihiro Suma, foreign office spokesman, told a press conference today that "responsible people on both sides of the Pacific should be very calm."

Rangers Beat Tarleton

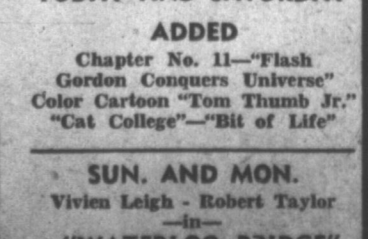

KILGORE, Oct. 10 (P)—The Kilgore Junior College Rangers have played 19 games without defeat.

Their latest test was last night when the Rangers defeated John Tarleton college 24-6.

Top Six-Man Teams To Clash Here Tonight

El Paso Game To Begin At Nine O'clock Tonight

Hungry for a victory, the Pampa Harvesters tonight will try to eat bear in El Paso, where they play the Bowie high school Bears. Three times so far this season the Harvesters have been nosed out on the home field but tonight they'll be battling for a win on foreign soil.

The game will begin at 9 o'clock, Pampa time, and will be broadcast over station KPBN on a wire report direct from the field. At the microphone in the studio will be Sam Fenberg.

For the benefit of football fans attending the six-man game between Groom and Medicine Mound at the Harvesters park, beginning at 9 o'clock, a loud speaker system will be installed by Huffman-Nelson Funeral home over which highlights of the Pampa-El Paso game will be given. The six-man game will be over a few minutes after the Pampa-El Paso game gets under way.

Harvester coaches and their entire squad left yesterday morning for El Paso. When they left they had not decided whether to make the entire trip in one day or stop and workout some place en route. The squad was in excellent condition.

Bowie has lost only one game this season, a 19 to 7 game to Plainview opening the season.

On next Friday night El Paso high school will be in Pampa for a game with the Harvesters. Next year the games with the El Paso teams will be reversed, Bowie coming here and the Harvesters going to El Paso high. El Paso has three high schools, the Bowie Bears, Austin of El Paso, who will be foes of the Amarillo Sandies in El Paso Saturday night, and the El Paso high.

Splash in the Pan for Somebody

Evidently figuring that some day he might be required to do the same thing under like conditions, Ralph Kercheval, Brooklyn grid-doggers ace kicker, practiced booting field goals from a water-logged turf. (Ed. note: this attempt was good for just four feet, as Ace Parker, holding, gets the worst of it.)

Wolf Hunt To Be Held At Childress October 20-24

CHILDRESS, Oct. 11—Preparations have been started here for entertaining 250 or more members of the Oklahoma-Texas Wolf Hunters association, who will come here for their sixth annual hunt, Oct. 20-24. H. M. Baker, vice-president of the association, and C. W. Dunnam, secretary, are in charge of arrangements, and will be assisted by Louis Ackers of Abilene; assorted prizes will be awarded.

The hunt this year will be held on the Scruggs ranch, seven miles northeast of Childress, on the old Wellington highway. The ranch was formerly the Klutts ranch. It offers an almost unlimited amount of good hunting territory and an excellent camp site, officials of the association have said.

Hunters will gather Sunday, Oct. 20 and will register Monday. The bench show will be held at Fair park stadium in Childress Monday night, Oct. 21, and will be open to the public with no admission. Will Keeney of Portland, Okla., will judge the bench show and numerous prizes will be awarded.

The three field trial casts are scheduled for the mornings of Tuesday, Oct. 22, Wednesday, Oct. 23, and Thursday, Oct. 24. Frank Austin of Fort Worth will serve as master of the hounds at the field trials.

Combined bench show and field trial prizes include $100 in cash, $25 in ribbons. The top prizes will be $25 in cash to the best derby dog in the show.

The association has held its hunt here for the past two years, on the Smith ranch in 1938 and at the Crain ranch last year. This year's hunt will be much closer to Childress and hunters will be available to come to the city often and at the same time local residents can attend the hunt more conveniently.

The association now has members in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arkansas and officials are expecting the largest crowd of hunters in history.

Aggies, SMU Favored To Win Tomorrow Despite Injuries

DALLAS, Oct. 11—Misfortune has reared up to dull the biggest week-end of the season for Southwest conference teams, but they still go out favored to knock off some of football's giants.

The Texas Aggies, settling down in Los Angeles tomorrow to convince the Pacific slope folk they made a sizeable error when they did not ask them out for last New Year's day Rose Bowl game, pile into U. C. L. A. with John Kimbrough, the captain of the club, alling.

Big John, the All-America full-back, left by plane from Dallas for the coast after a hospital visit of three days with a sore throat and a bruised leg. He wasn't expected to play too much against the club that has dropped two 6-9 decisions—to S. M. U. and Santa Clara.

But the Aggies are well equipped with a passing game, one that has netted 366 yards in two games, and will try that against the Uclans—who also well equipped with a dusty boy named Jackie Robinson who can run the legs off most football players. The vote still goes to the Aggies.

Up in Pittsburgh a gloomy Southern Methodist team goes against Pitt Panthers. Starting Quarterback Foster Edler lies in a Dallas hospital, seriously injured and his collegiate career ended. He had carefully built up to a starting spot with the Methodists, only to have his efforts tumble around his shoulders in an automobile accident. He was badly hurt when the car in which he rode overturned as he dashed to catch the football train he had barely missed at the station.

Bobby Brown, the SMU quarterback who has been hobbling on a sprained ankle, will start the game. Ray Malouf and Johnny Clement plan to bomb Pitt out of the park with passes. Pitcher Paul Christman of Missouri almost did it last week, but Pitt beat them back.

Groom Pep Squad, Band And Many Fans To Attend Game

The Groom high school band, pep squad and scores of fans will accompany the undefeated Tigers to Harvester park tonight where the Bengals will meet the fleet Medicine Mound sextet in a six-man football classic.

The Reaper band, directed by A. C. Cox, will also furnish music for the game which is scheduled to attract packed stands. Interest in Pampa and in other places over the Panhandle which do not have six-man teams is high and getting higher.

Football fans have been hearing about the wide-open, pass-slinging games that six-man teams play and they are anxious to see one. Those who have seen six-man teams play are enthusiastic over the game. They point out that one can follow the ball easily, that the tackles stand out and the blocking is right under your eyes. They say that it's far easier to watch 12 men than it is to watch 23.

However, the greatest attraction of the game is the wide-open play for it must necessarily assume. Lateral passes, bucket passes, long forward fill almost every play, making the game thrilling, exciting and keeping the spectators jumping up and down all the time.

Tonight's game, which will begin at 8 o'clock, will be virtually a championship affair. Groom is undefeated. Medicine Mound represents a far tougher district than does Groom. Groom fans have a feeling that they will face the toughest foes they have played since they started six-man football a year ago. They are anxious to see whether their team can play in the first company that Medicine Mound keeps. Medicine Mound, near Chillicothe, in Hardeman county, is famous for its athletic teams. Year before last Medicine Mound won the district basketball championship and represented that district which includes Crowell at the regional at Canyon.

Medicine Mound's team will not weigh as much as Groom's, but they are faster, and the six-man experts claim that beef ain't worth a cent if you ain't got that sprit, and that the boys with the sprit in their legs are the ones the six-man coach likes to have on his squad.

Tickets are on sale at most drug stores. The game is being sponsored by the Goodfellows club of the American Legion.

Don Greenwood of Missouri U. takes the cake by walking around the field on his hands. Family cooperation may be making that Mississippi U. team click this year. Two sets of brothers are seeing active service and a half-dozen other guys are following in the footsteps of older brothers. What It Takes

Out in Texas, says W. Lloyd Lewis, the fans judge an All-America player by a guy who can play 60-minute against "Jarrin" John Kimbrough and walk from the field unassisted.

Pacific Lutheran college has two very good guards who are older inappropriately named Lawrence Junck (pronounced Junk) and Don Sloppy. Wallace Wade is not as ailing as you'd think after the Duke defeat since his son sold headache powders last summer.

Omgosh

If you don't believe last week's Ohio State's 17-14 win over Purdue was close, just read the opening paragraph of the Columbus Citizen's football extra:

"A fast and shifty Purdue eleven held Ohio State's Buckeyes to a tie in the opening Western conference game for both teams this afternoon."

Reapers Defeat Horace Mann Of Amarillo 21-0

Turning on the heat in the last half, the Pampa Junior High Reapers beat the Horace Mann Cardinals of Amarillo 21 to 0 here yesterday afternoon. The game was played on the practice field which was slick and tricky following a rain the previous night.

Although they threatened repeatedly during the entire first half the Reapers were unable to score until just before the final gun at the half. Neef, flashy little half-back, slipped through a hole after big Boyles and Berry had failed to make the last couple yards. Berry went over for the extra point.

In the final quarter the Reapers took to the air for a pair of touchdowns. Dunham flipped a 15-yard pass to Martin, end, who gathered it in and raced 15 yards across the goal line. Berry again plunged for the extra point.

In the closing seconds of the game Dunham again dropped back and shot a 20-yard pass to Berry who worked his way across the goal line. This time C. Boyles added the extra point from placement.

Horace Mann threatened only twice but the drives were halted far from the danger line. Shupe and Cherry worked the ball to the Reaper 25 once and to the 22 once.

Because of the slippery condition of the field the Reapers were unable to use their reverses and it was not until the closing quarter that they took a chance at passing the slippery ball. Berry was the outstanding ground gainer as the Reapers worked off a single wing formation most of the time.

Defensive play of Dunham continued to be outstanding. Although he backed up the left side of the line he was on the bottom of nearly every play that came through the entire length of the line. Bowerman, 107-pound end, Miller, tackle, and H. Boyles, also played bang up defensive games.

At times the inexperienced Reapers forward wall would open up but the youngsters would settle down like veterans and plug holes when their goal line was in danger.

Coach C. P. McWright used his entire squad of 32 boys during the game.

Starting line-ups were:

Horace Mann: Berger and Burns, ends; Clancy and Dallan, tackles; Timberlake and Flores, guards; Allison, center; Cherry, quarter; Shupe and Nixon, halves; Allen, full.

Pampa—Robbins and Bowerman, ends; Curtis and Miller, tackles; McKinley and H. Boyles, guards; Taylor, center; Berry, quarter; Dunham and Neef, halves; C. Boyles, full.

Barker Picks SMU, Ohio State, Rice, Notre Dame

By HERB BARKER

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—Playing the weekly game of football blind man's bluff:

Notre Dame-Georgia Tech: The Engineers take a fast, tricky squad to South Bend. There's real danger for the Irish here but the vote goes to Notre Dame.

Harvard-Michigan: Since Harmon apparently is out to eclipse his brilliant 1939 record, there's no possible choice but Michigan.

Fordham-Tulane: If Boyle and Groves, the first-string guards can play, Tulane's Green Wave might roll as it was supposed to before the season started. The latest word is they won't be in shape, so... Fordham.

Pitt-Southern Methodist: Pitt looked good against Missouri last week but this is a Mustang of another color, S. M. U.

Illinois-Southern California: The Trojans haven't been exactly a ball of fire so far but a sheer guess, Southern California.

North Carolina-Texas Christian: That Wake Forest defeat may not have meant anything except that North Carolina met an exceptionally strong team. But so, evidently, is Texas Christian which gets the nod here.

Duquesne-South Carolina: Looks like more trouble for South Carolina. Duquesne.

Villanova-Florida: Taking Villanova.

U. C. L. A.-Texas Aggies: U. C. L. A. has dropped two 6-9 games so far and doesn't figure to win against last year's No. 1 ranking outfit, the Aggies.

Northwestern-Ohio State: It's a gamble at best and the indicator spins and points to Ohio State.

Army-Cornell: This ballot for Cornell expresses doubt that Army is equipped to do more than keep the score within reasonable bounds.

Stanford-Santa Clara: Clark Slaughnessy has done an amazing job at Stanford but the nod goes to Santa Clara.

Clemson-Wake Forest: Wake Forest gets a shaky ballot on the basis of its defeat of North Carolina.

Texas-Oklahoma: The Longhorns are really dangerous while Oklahoma seems to have fallen off a bit. Texas.

Arkansas-Baylor: The coin spins and says... Baylor.

Rice-Louisiana State: One doubtful, blinking vote for Rice.

California-Washington State: California seems to have rebounded from the Michigan debacle. Still, Washington State.

Oregon-Washington: Must take Washington.

Boston college-Temple: The Eagles have the stuff. Boston college.

Penn-Yale: Ditto Penn but this one might be close.

Princeton-Navy: Close probably but Dave Allerdice's passing might provide the winning margin. Princeton.

Dartmouth-Columbia: It's in a tight spot that this vote is cast for Columbia.

Brown-Colgate: Taking Colgate.

Holy Cross-Carnegie Tech: Probably close. Out of the hat, Carnegie Tech.

New York university-Syracuse: N. Y. U. seems to have the shade.

Penn State-West Virginia: Even-Stephen... Penn State.

Iowa-Wisconsin: No real line on Iowa yet so... Wisconsin.

Nebraska-Indiana: A tough one. Still, Nebraska.

Michigan State-Purdue: Purdue but the Boilermakers had better watch Michigan State's passers.

Auburn-Mississippi State: Very little to choose, it would seem. Auburn.

Georgia-Mississippi: On the toss of a coin, Mississippi.

Vanderbilt-Kentucky: Kentucky is really strong and rates the call.

Maryland-Virginia: Looks safe for Virginia.

Citadel-Furman: She'er guessing, Furman.

Davidson-Virginia Military: Taking V. M. L.

William and Mary-Virginia Tech: Eenie, meenie... William and Mary.

Washington and Lee-George Washington: George Washington.

Kansas State-Missouri: Missouri gets the nod.

Kansas-Drake: May regret it but taking Drake.

Marquette-Iowa State: Marquette.

Lehigh-Rutgers: Rutgers.

Colorado-Utah State: Colorado.

Denver-Colorado State: Denver looks good.

Utah-Arizona: Utah.

Brigham Young-Wyoming: Brigham Young.

Illinois May Upset Trojans Saturday

By EARL HILLGAIN

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 11—Robert Carl Zupke, who works in football and oils, may unveil one of his famed surprise masterpieces Saturday afternoon.

The "Rembrandt of Old Champaign," whose works of art on canvas are almost as widely known as his works of art on the gridiron, will send his Illinois football team against Southern California's Trojans. Illinois will be the underdog. And Illinois has been routed in its last two games with the west coast eleven.

All of which may set the stage for another of the upsets for which the wily "Zup" long has been famed.

Zupke wants to win this one. The pucky little mentor growled pessimistically today: "We hope to make a better showing than we did last year." (The score then was U. S. C. 26, Illinois 0.)

On the other hand Zupke's players feel confident they can take the measure of a team which has played ties with Washington State and Oregon State in its first starts.

Illinois chances for victory, aside from the psychological keying up, may ride largely on the shoulders of little Jimmy Easterbrook, who can run and pass. Against Bradley, Illinois completed 15 of 28 aerials last Saturday and won 31 to 0.

There were 761,567 visitors to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park of Tennessee-North Carolina during 1939.

Ohio has 2334 deer within its boundaries, according to the Bureau of Biological Survey.

Miami Will Play Higgins Friday

MIAMI, Oct. 11—The Miami Warriors will play their second conference game of the season, here, Friday, when they meet the Higgins Coyotes on the Warrior field.

This promises to be a fast game as both teams are in good condition and have shown promise of going to the finals for the district title.

The Warriors have only three more conference games due to the withdrawal of Kelton to six-man. After the Friday game they meet the Rattlers at Stinnett, October 18, and the big Follett team here, October 25.

North Carolina ceded the land to form the state of Tennessee at Fayetteville, in 1789.

SERIAL STORY

NEW YORK JUNGLE

By WRAY WADE SEVERN

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Hugh shoots the look on the door as the storm crashes about them. Hushing up stairs, the men and all doors and windows locked, and no evidence of an intruder there in a screen from the jungle. When candles are brought, Braitwood sees Adam, leaning oddly against the house. Marta Hempfield is at his feet. Near her hand is Adam's gun.

DEATH IN THE JUNGLE

CHAPTER IV

ADAM LANGDON'S hands hung stiffly forward, his feet extended toward the floor like a figure hung on a gibbet. A small red spot stained the bosom of his shirt. The gaping rigidity in his face told the rest. So might some dreadful scarecrow have appeared to a passing farmer on a moonless night in a fingering ray of lantern light.

Langdon's buttoned coat had caught over the lioness' head and the scimitar, fastened to the beast's neck, had penetrated beneath his shoulder, both helping to hold him in crazy erectness. All this Braitwood saw in a glance.

"Is it a double murder?" Craig Gundrum asked.

"Murder! Not that!" Hugh groaned.

THE word had an eerie sound in that dark room. Yet it was no stranger there. The shadowy beasts crowding the darkness had all known violent deaths. The weapons on wall and rack had drunk deep from the wild, free life of jungle and veldt; the ancient blunderbusses and obsolete daggers had been employed to grim purpose more than once.

But the six persons in the room reacted to it in oddly different ways. It sponged the blond vigor from Hugh Langdon's powerful face; Nella had refused to uncover her eyes and face the horror that had been her uncle a few short moments before. At the table, Patricia Langdon had frozen in her seat, apparently unable to utter a sound. Togi trembled perceptibly. Gundrum's eyes were brilliant with excitement. Braitwood was shocked, but calm.

Sidney had dropped to his knees beside Marta. It was only afterwards, when he tried to reconstruct the scene, that he recalled hearing Gundrum whispering to Pat Langdon.

MARTA was alive. Her pulse, however faint, her breathing, told Sidney that. She stirred slightly as he bent over her. "Marta has only fainted," said Hugh, who had joined them. "I thought at first it might be murder and suicide."

Between them they carried Marta to the window seat. Sidney brought liquor from the table and forced it through her bloodless lips, while Hugh and Togi began a search of the jungle for traces of the murderer. It seemed impossible he could have passed them on the stairway and made his escape through the floor above, but there was no other exit.

Marta stirred. Her eyelids fluttered and then she had caught the lawyer's hand in a desperate grip. "Adam is dead, Sidney," she whispered. "I felt his face."

"Do you know who killed my husband, Miss Hempfield?" Pat Langdon had crossed to them. All the strength of her young will lay behind the question.

"No, I do not know who killed Adam, Mrs. Langdon," Marta muttered, "but I know he is dead."

"Please do not question Miss Hempfield. She is too weak to talk," Sidney said, sternly. "Marta, you are not to discuss this with anyone."

HE was certain Langdon had not shot himself. No powder burns framed the red spot on his shirt front.

And above all others, Marta had a motive for murder. She had been found lying at Adam's feet, all but grasping the weapon with which he had armed himself. She had admitted she knew he was dead. Alert in her defense, the lawyer realized the need for caution.

"Sorry," Pat turned toward the lioness and its dreadful burden. Sidney followed.

"Nothing must be touched," he cautioned them. "We must wait for the police."

"Do we need to call the police?" Nella questioned plaintively. "Can't you all see how this happened? Uncle Adam was standing on the lioness' block. I don't know why, but he must have been. Like the floor, it's highly waxed and slippery. He slipped forward. His coat caught and jerked him back against the scimitar. It's like a razor. Naturally his gun fell from his hand. There—there it is."

She pointed to the old-fashioned weapon on the floor and burst into a fit of hysterical weeping. "I differ." Instantly Gundrum had lifted the back of Adam's coat. "The scimitar hasn't penetrated deeply," he said with relief. "It could not have caused death. I shouldn't like to believe that my carelessness had been responsible for a tragedy, but there is no doubt about the block being slippery."

"In cases of violent death, no matter what the cause, the police must be summoned, Nella," Sidney said gently.

"HOW extraordinary to have them in on one's first house party after a marriage!" Pat breathed. "Nella, you had better go up to your room and lie down." She was calm, apparently emotionless. How can she be so cold, Sidney thought, with Adam...

"It's my unpleasant duty to insist that we all remain together until the police come," he said, again the formal attorney. "You understand that we shall all be searched for the weapon that killed Adam."

"Weapon?" Nella sobbed stubbornly. "Adam was shot," Sidney said. "There is a bullet hole in his shirt front, Nella. The rest of us noticed it."

"The police will not have far to look. Miss Hempfield all but had the gun in her hand," Pat put in quickly.

"A ballistic expert will have to determine whether or not a bullet from that gun killed Adam, Mrs. Langdon," Sidney reminded her. "We don't know yet who handled it."

"You knelt beside Miss Hempfield, Mr. Braitwood. Could you, by any chance, have wiped off her fingerprints?"

"Not by the remotest chance," Sidney replied, evenly. "I come in with Mr. Braitwood. He no da," Togi interrupted excitedly. "Mr. Hugh, he no wipe off. I see both."

"Let's get upstairs into the light," Hugh suggested. "The thieves, if any, will have left the house long ago after all this commotion. I need a drink."

Led by Hugh, and with Sidney supporting Marta, they walked from the room of death.

Sailors To San Diego Not To California

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 11 (AP)—Some 750 sailors bound from the great lakes training station to San Diego, Calif., mingled briefly with army recruits headed for Fort Riley, Kas., in the union station this morning.

"I hear you fellows are going where it's getting hot right now," said a Fort Riley cavalryman to a sailor.

"We don't mind," replied the sailor. "It beats riding a horse."

A Fort Riley recruit almost saluted a Kansas City policeman—they wear khaki uniforms with Sam Brown belts—until a more experienced soldier pointed out the lack of insignia on the patrolman's shoulder.

A passerby asked one of the sailors if he was going to California. "Nope," he was told, "San Diego."

Spy Tried To Give General Lee Signal At Appomattox

By ERNEST B. VACCARO WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—The "petticoat spy" tells of his service in the war between the states in "Brother Warriors," a new book which made its appearance here this week at the 50th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans.

Now 103, but strong enough to attend the reunion, Frank Eli Powell of New Orleans confirmed the story of his war-time experiences as he related them to Martha Norris McLeod of Crawfordville, Fla., and Washington.

A spy and a scout, Powell says all he had to do to fool the enemy was dress up like a dame.

"I used to get around a lot of places in this way and spy on the Union army," Powell recalls. "That is how I happened to be dubbed the 'petticoat spy.'"

Art Masterpieces Seized At Bermuda

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—Masterpieces of art with a possible value of $500,000 were removed from the American export liner Excalibur by British authorities at Bermuda last week, line officials said today.

The line said more than 500 paintings by such masters as Gauguin, Degas, Manet, Monet, Cezanne, Renoir, and Picasso were seized from the ship's strong room as well as a box of books with illustrations by Rouault.

The company said it was not aware of the value of the ship until because the shipper, Martin Fabiani of Lisbon, had listed the value at $10,000 for ship records.

The British consul at Lisbon issued a navicert for the ship, which was consigned to the Bignou galleries in New York. Bignou officials were not available for comment.

Officials said they had been told that Britain regarded the pictures as "enemy exports" and a use by the Germans to secure dollar exchange in America.

The pictures were reported unofficially to have been removed from Paris museums.

'Daylight Bomb' New US Army Invention

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 11 (AP)—A U. S. army observer is satisfied a new billion candlepower photographing bomb will provide this country with "an extra hour of daylight" during wartime.

At the conclusion of a noisy preview of the "weapon" by which the army hopes to penetrate darkness-shrouded military operations, Major George W. Goddard exclaimed:

"There have been times when an extra hour of daylight would have changed the history of the world. We have that daylight here!"

A dozen times last night, the secret bomb burst over the city, each time lighting a five-mile area "with the light of day." Each time, too, a synchronized aerial camera snapped the scene from 5,000 feet in the air.

Cotton Bowl Game To Be Sponsored By Southwest Loop

DALLAS, Oct. 11 (AP)—The cotton bowl game, New Year's day post-season football classic held in the vast Cotton Bowl at Dallas, will be sponsored by the Southwest conference.

Formal announcement was made here today by Dan D. Rogers, chairman of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association executive committee, and also, the Athletic Council of Texas Christian University.

The champion of the Southwest conference will be "urgently invited" to represent the conference against outside competition in the Dallas spectacle, Rogers said. No definite commitments, however, have been obtained from the seven member schools.

"Ground work for the game has been established," said Rogers, "and there will be a Cotton Bowl game on Jan. 1, 1941, with a Southwest conference team participating."

Consummation of the deal was virtually completed when a custodian committee, consisting of Dallas business leaders who obtained all rights to the game from J. Curtis Sanford, former promoter of the class agreed to sign over all contract rights to the Southwest conference.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Mexican peso hit a new high for the year in terms of the U. S. dollar when it was quoted at 20.85 cents, nominal in foreign exchange trading here today.

Answering Your Questions About CONSCRIPTION

YOUTHS PASSING 21 AFTER OCT. 16 ARE EXEMPT FROM PRESENT SELECTIVE SERVICE LAW PROVISIONS

By MILTON BRONNER, Manager, NEA-The Pampa News Selective Service Information Bureau

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—Dozens of young men all over the country are writing in to the NEA-The Pampa News Selective Service Information Bureau here in Washington asking:

"If I am 21 years of age on the day after registration, Oct. 16, or later in the year, do I come under the selective service law and am I liable to be drafted?"

Other young men with the same question in mind can save their time and postage if they will remember this:

All young men who reach their 21st birthday after Oct. 16 next are exempt from the present provisions of the selective service law and the regulations President Roosevelt has effected.

LOCAL DRAFT BOARDS HAVE FINAL WORD

Milton Bronner will answer questions of The Pampa News readers regarding conscription rulings and interpretations. Address questions to Milton Bronner, manager, NEA-Pampa News Selective Service Information Bureau, 1013 Thirteenth St., NW, Washington, D. C. BE SURE TO ENCLOSE postage prepaid postcard or stamped envelope, self-addressed.

Replies given by Mr. Bronner will be in conformity with current War Department rulings, but all such rulings are now subject to revision. Bronner's replies are therefore in no way binding on local registration officers or draft boards, who will have the final decision on each case.

visions of the selective service law and the regulations President Roosevelt has effected.

NEW REGISTRATION NECESSARY

They would have to register only if the President proclaimed a new registration day and fixed the ages which he has done for the present registration and selective service draft. Unless this country gets into serious trouble, that is highly improbable, as there will be some 16,000,000 men registered on Oct. 16 and at least 5,000,000 will be found subject to conscription, unless they are exempted for some specific good reason.

As the army does not propose to draft more than 900,000 men per year for training, the October registration will amply cover those figures.

The U. S. Census bureau reports that on the basis of the 1930 census, a total of 1,112,453 boys reach the age of 21 every year. The figures for the 1940 census have not yet been completed.

CANT OUTGROW AGE LIMIT

Taking the 1939 figure, this would mean approximately 3050 youths come of age each day. So there will probably be about 3050 young men who escaped chances of being selected for the army just by being born on Oct. 17.

Another question which has been fired at this bureau many times is this:

"If I become 36 years old after I have registered on Oct. 16, and have not been drafted before I am 36, do I then fall outside the scope of the selective service act?"

The answer is "No." A man under 36 and 21 of over on Oct. 16, 1940, comes within the scope of the law as long as the law itself is operative.

U. S. Attache Recalled From Berlin Office

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Alexander Kirk, American charge d'affaires in Berlin, has been called back to Washington for consultation.

The state department, announcing this today, said Kirk might later assume the charge d'affaires post in Rome because Williams Phillips, ambassador to Italy, was too ill to return immediately.

Kirk has been in charge of American affairs in Germany about two years since Ambassador Hugh Wilson was recalled. He will leave the embassy temporarily in charge of Leland Morris, who formerly was consul at Vienna.
