Engine-Man Blamed For Akron Wreck

Failure To Follow Operating Orders Causes 43 Deaths

(By The Associated Press)

AKRON, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—Railroad investigators today blamed an engine-man's failure to follow operating orders for the fiery death of 43 persons in 1940's second major train wreck.

They said failure to sidetrack a gasoline-electric coach led it to crash head-on with a 73-car freight train near here last night.

The steel coach instantly became a virtual furnace. Three railroad workers leaped to safety. All the others aboard burned to death. Five children were among the victims.

The coach's single engine man, Thomas L. Murtough, 49, was blamed by L. M. Wolcott, Cleveland trainmaster for the Pennsylvania railroad, on whose single-track Hudson-Akron line the crash occurred. Murtough, seriously injured, was unable to tell his story.

Wolcott, watching crews clear away the wreckage, declared:

"The crew of the 'doodlebug' (the gasoline coach) and the crew of the freight train had orders to meet at Silver Lake, one mile north of the scene, and wait for the freight to pass. Murtough should have taken his train onto the siding there. For some reason he did not go onto the siding."

J. F. Allenspaugh, Akron yardmaster, said his investigation also showed the "doodlebug's" crew was at fault.

After a preliminary investigation, E. W. Smith, vice-president of the railroad, expressed a similar view and said the coach's crew also disregarded a "rigid" rule in failing to obtain permission from the block operator at Hudson before continuing on the main track.

In a statement at Pittsburgh he added:

"With Engelman Murtough and Conductor (Harry) Shafer of the motor car badly injured in Akron hospitals, and with Baggage-master (Charles) Biederback dead, it is impossible to determine the exact cause of the accident."

Army Limit Of Million Sought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—A proposal to limit to 1,000,000 the number of men who could be ordered into active training caused the senate military committee today to seek further war department testimony on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military service bill.

The limitation, suggested by Senator Lee (D-Okla.) and seconded by Senator Bridges (R-N.H.), would give the President specific authority to order conscription of 500,000 men between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, next October.

A further section of 500,000 men could be called early next year, although the date was not set in a rough draft of the amendment introduced at a closed committee session.

Senator Bridges said the committee agreed to hear war department officials on the question tomorrow morning, thus further delaying final committee action on the bill, which had been expected today.

Sections of the bill calling for registration of all males between 21 and 30 years, inclusive, would not be disturbed by the amendment, Bridges said.

Army officers previously had testified that from the 12,000,000 estimated to be in the military age group.

FBI Joins Search For Murderers Of Alcohol Tax Agent

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 1 (AP)—Federal officers joined Hamilton county police today in seeking the slayers of Sam Leeper, 50-year-old federal alcohol tax agent.

J. D. Jones, agent in charge, reported he, Leeper and two other agents surprised three men last night at an illegal mountain distillery. The men fled, Jones said, but returned and two shotgun blasts were fired from the darkness while the officers were pouring out the whisky.

Leeper was killed and Agent Frank L. Renick, seriously wounded.

The Flick Of The Camera Is Quicker Than The Eye

DALLAS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Photographers explained today why city hall employees that release of film showing them at work had been delayed unavoidably.

The camera had caught two persons cheating in a civil service examination. The film had to be cut to avoid embarrassing the pair. No, they didn't get the jobs.

British Arrest Ex-U. S. Official

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Tyler Kent, former United States embassy clerk here whose arrest was announced June 1, was formally charged under the official secrets act at the Bow street police station today.

With him was charged a woman identified only by name, Anna Wolkoff. She was said to be a beautiful Russian.

Kent formerly worked in the United States embassy at Moscow.

The proceedings today were secret. But an official statement afterward said the pair had been remanded for seven days.

The home secretary announced June 1 that Kent was detained as a result of action by United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy. He previously had been dismissed from his position at the embassy.

He was born 29 years ago at Newburgh, Manassas, of American parents. His mother is living in the United States. His father, A. H. P. Kent, is dead.

Embassy officials remained silent about the case.

German Newsreel Seized In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 1 (AP)—The German newsreel of the 11th Olympic games in Berlin in 1936 has been seized by customs officers as "contraband."

The lengthy film, allegedly prepared at the personal order of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, had been exhibited for several weeks in the capital.

'Battle Of Britain' On, Germans Say

Nazi Bombers Again Range Length Of English Coastline

(By The Associated Press)

Nazi planes, favored by improving weather, spread the war of aerial attrition up and down the English coast today, hammering away with high explosives at the ports which link a world empire.

The British ministry of home security, however, minimized the damage inflicted by the raiders.

The German high command gave point to a statement of Virginia Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, that Britain would be brought low by bombing and blockade by announcing night raids against ships and facilities in southern English ports, as well as against searchlight positions.

Last night, the high command said, there were air fights near Dover—the vital channel port which Nazi bombers raided Monday. West of the Scilly islands, about 25 miles off Lands End, England, armed merchantships were bombed, the communiqué said.

Like Gayda, military observers in Germany emphasized the point of making English ports useless for receiving war supplies.

The Nazis claimed to have shot down five British planes and to have damaged three German planes near Dover, as well as three British planes entering Norwegian, Dutch and Danish territory. They admitted two of their own were missing. In England it was believed three German planes were brought down.

The high command also acknowledged that British planes had raided Germany, but declared their bombs had been dropped in Hanover, far from any military objective.

Britain's own counter strategy of See BATTLE, Page 8

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

At a time when the conquering Nazis are poised on the shore of the English Channel, eager for the death-thrust at Britain, and our own country is rushing to strengthen its defenses, it is worth while pausing to consider why the world's greatest empire was unprepared for war and is now fighting for its life with back to wall.

Young John F. Kennedy, son of our heavily lime-lighted ambassador to the court of St. James, today publishes a book (Wilfred Funk, New York) in which he expresses an engaging view of "why England lost." For reasons which will appear later I want to emphasize that I serious-minded John Kennedy, who is the eldest of Mr. "Joe" Kennedy's nine children, has produced this important study at the age of twenty-three.

Among the causes assigned for England's unpreparedness are bad leadership; "a great lack of young progressive and able leaders"; the opposition to the conservative party, which was in power, was the labor party; and labor naturally did not wish to lose its identity by joining wholeheartedly with the government on an armaments program.

There was a strong league of nations sentiment in England.

"There was also the closeness of the government to the English aristocracy which was opposed so strongly to war." Further there was the impossibility of matching Hitler.

Toluene Plant Will Be Built In Texas

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1 (AP)—A $500,000 plant to produce toluene, the basic ingredient of T. N. T. explosive, directly from petroleum will be built immediately by the Shell Oil company at its Houston, Texas, plant to augment the supply of this chemical for defense needs.

Hitherto, the only source of high quality toluene has been the coal tar by-product of industry.

Fire Put Out On Seaplane Tender

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 1 (AP)—Flames broke out last night on the $12,000,000 navy seaplane tender Currier, berthed on the Delaware river.

Scaffolding inside one of the main stables burned up but the fire was extinguished without major damage.

Officials of the New York Shipbuilding company declared there was "no suspicion of sabotage" but that the Federal Bureau of Investigation would make a routine inquiry.

Monday Deadline To Get 'Hopper' Bait In County

Monday will be the last day for Gray county residents to obtain grasshopper poison bait from the mixing station located at the county warehouse in Southwest Pampa.

The station has been open a shorter time this summer and has issued less compound, indicative of the success in eradicating hoppers from this county.

For the 1940 season the station has issued 14 tons of compound since it opened in mid-June. Last year the amount issued was 36 tons.

Left on hand at the present are 100 sacks of bran and 25.85 pounds of sawdust, according to information from the office of Ralph R. Thomas, county farm agent.

Works Project administration labor was used in operating the station this year as last, under the supervision of Charles Mullen.

Reprisals Hinted By Japs For U. S. Oil Export Ban

TOKYO, Aug. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt's ban on the export of aviation gasoline to points outside the western hemisphere was interpreted by the admiralty spokesman today as a move against Japan, Germany and Italy, which might lead to reprisals.

The spokesman also inferentially warned foreign powers against interference in the current round-up of persons—apparently mostly British—suspected of espionage. He said this was entirely an internal affair, and in this connection he warned newspaper correspondents against "illegitimate activities."

The American aviation gasoline embargo, he said, was "an attempt to kill two birds with one stone," namely the Rome-Berlin axis and Japan.

"Under whatever pretext the order on gasoline was issued," he said, "it undoubtedly is designed to exert economic pressure on Japan."

"If America continues on the same lines it is bound to cause reprisals."

Flynn New Chairman Of Democratic Party

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Edward J. Flynn of New York accepted today the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee effective August 17.

Flynn's appointment to succeed James A. Farley as head of the committee to direct the party campaign, was made at a conference at the White House.

Judge Of Election Claims Irregularity

Claiming that he was kept from witnessing the counting of the first 150 ballots cast in the LeFors box although he was a qualified election supervisor, F. E. Bull today filed a report with County Clerk Charlie Thum against action of John Montgomery, election judge, in the first Democratic primary last Saturday.

Bull in his report claims that Montgomery refused him admission to the counting room until after 150 ballots had been counted and that he believes those 150 ballots were improperly counted through fraud or mistake.

Election returns will be canvassed Saturday afternoon and at that time Mr. Bull's statement will be read and action taken by the county committee.

The report alleges that during the time Bull was allowed to watch the election, a number of persons were refused the right to vote who were duly qualified and in other cases others were allowed to vote who were not qualified under the election laws of Texas.

Bull explained that he made the report as required of election supervisors under article 3078 of the Texas statutes and filed it with the county clerk within five days after the election.

The supervisor further claims that he was deprived of his right as a supervisor and that "it is my report that said election was improperly held insofar as box 1, precinct 1, of LeFors, is concerned and the result of the election would have been different if the ballots in said box had been properly counted."

BPW Club Will Sponsor Safety Drive This Week

A safety campaign will be launched today under the sponsorship of the Business and Professional Women's club, designed to make Pampa safety conscious, according to Mrs. Ruth Walstad, club president.

Chief features of the drive for more safety measures will be the distribution of safety stickers, through sale, in a number of different colors. The stickers are to be attached to letters, letterheads, packages and statements, or placed in any conspicuous place. The stickers illustrate many different ways in which people are injured carelessly. The purpose of this form of safety education is to carry out over a period of months that which the state and other governmental agencies are trying to put over with the public in general, the president said.

The campaign fits in well with universal public safety education by placing safety maxims and slogans continually in the public eye, Mrs. Walstad stated that she felt that the public need for caution was greater now than at any time in the past due to the nervousness created by the war situation.

The club will be assisted by several Boy Scout members and the campaign will last throughout the week.

FOR EVERYDAY OR DRESS-UP

PATTERN 8756

This charming pattern for growing girls can be made up in gingham, percale or chambray for play and school, and in dimity, taffeta or organza for parties. Later on, it will be perfect in thin wool and velveteen. Design No. 8756 looks adorable on girls between the sizes of 6 and 14, because the skirt flares, the shoulders are wide, the bodice gathered just a bit, above the high waistline. Thus it detracts from the length and lankiness of this in-between age, and has a filling-out effect.

Notice, too, how the rounded shoulder sections help to make the heart-shaped neckline more becoming! Once your daughter tries this on, she'll never be satisfied till you make her several more just like it.

Pattern No. 8756 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2-1/3 yards of 35-inch material without nap; 1 1/2 yards braid.

FOR A PATTERN of this attractive model send 15c in COIN, YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE, NUMBER AND SIZE to The Pampa News Today's Pattern Service, 211 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

Loss Of French Materials Is A Challenge To United States Designers, Says American Stylist

These youthfully smart dinner gowns are the type of clothes which Mary Lewis, famous stylist, thinks American designers do well and will do a great deal better, now that they must think for themselves instead of depending on Paris. The dress at left is of black taffeta, the other of suave black crepe.

BY MARIAN YOUNG

NEW YORK—The American fashion industry is waking up to the fact that, with Paris out of the picture, it will have to get along without certain fabrics, leathers, embroideries and laces—materials on which so much of the famed Parisian "quality" depended.

"What shall we do without Paris?" is the question that's been buzzing around in American fashion circles. We shall do very well without Paris, thank you, thinks Mary Lewis, famous American stylist, because, she says, resourcefulness and inventiveness are bred in the American soil. She is confident that in many cases we will invent something better than the French materials.

"Designers must ask themselves the question, 'Are we mice or are we designers?'" the good-looking blonde Miss Lewis continues.

"I for one, have always felt that never would we know our own strength, so to speak, until we were physically cut off from Paris. I think we have been somewhat in the position of the pampered wife who never had to face reality, but faces it—and shows her mettle—in adversity. This present unfortunate event in the world spell adversity for our fashion trades. But they also spell opportunity."

AMERICA HAS INSPIRATION GALORE

Miss Lewis goes on to question whether any of the widely touted sources of inspiration that were supposed to be available only to Paris courtiers were not and are not open to American designers.

"Paris has been inspired by its art exhibitions, by its museums and their old documents by its fabrics, by its visitors, by its own theaters and the beloved American movies," the well-known merchandise expert continues.

"But are any of those sources peculiar to Paris?" Mary Lewis asks.

"A great exhibition of Parisian art has been recently closed in New York. We have a truly great museum of Costume Art, with a wealth of material culled from every period and every country.

"The western hemisphere abounds in local color, in inspiration from the past and present. Schiaparelli's 'shocking pink' came straight from Peru, but our promoters that were supposed to be available only to Paris courtiers were not and are not open to American designers.

Borrow Nature's Own Colors To Make House Cool

Bring outdoor colors into your home, advise interior decorators as their contribution to summer comfort. Borrow nature's own cool colors. This added to the other hot-weather hints, such as shutting the windows during the day, drawing curtains and pulling down shades to prevent warm air and sunlight from streaming in, will make the house appreciably more comfortable.

A paneling board which cools off a room in two ways—by insulating against heat, and by making the room look cool—has recently been introduced. The colors of the panel are apple-green, sky blue, apricot, shell pink and ivory.

The fiber board which borrows nature's colors also takes the place of lath, plaster, wall paper and calumine. It panels a room in color and insulates it against heat and cold at the same time.

Either new or old interiors can be finished easily with the wood-fiber color panels. On new construction, it can be applied directly to studs and joists. In old dwellings it can be applied over the old finish with equally good effect.

Rotary Club To Back Move For Clean Literature

Joining in the action taken last week by the Pampa Kiwanis club, Pampa Rotarians at their regular weekly luncheon last Wednesday adopted a resolution condemning the sale of salacious literature in Pampa.

Passage of the resolution followed talks made by Mrs. Burt Graham, representing Pampa Parent-Teacher associations, and Mrs. Dan Kennedy, representing the Parish Council of Catholic women.

Entertainment on the program was provided by three piano solos, played by Gene Finkbeiner.

Attendance at the luncheon was 41. Visitors were Dave Metz, president of the Berger Rotary club, C. H. Everett, Ardmore, Okla., rotarian, and P. O. Gaut of Pampa.

The resolution adopted by the club reads:

"Whereas, it has come to our knowledge that salacious literature and indecent advertising are being displayed on our news stands, in our drug stores and other places, especially in close proximity to our grade and high schools, and whereas such literature and advertising tend to blight the moral standards and high ideals of our American youth as taught and upheld in our churches, homes and schools.

"Be it resolved that we here assembled, through our organization, pledge our full support and cooperation to the members of the Parish Council of Catholic women and the Parent-Teacher associations of the public schools of Pampa in their campaign in Pampa to remove this literature from those places where it is kept for distribution.

"And be it further resolved that this campaign shall not cease until our objective has been attained."

Decomposed Body Of Unwed Mother Found In Woods

DARTMOUTH, Mass., Aug. 1. (AP)—The "lover's lane" slaying of 22-year-old Irene Perry, described by Assistant District Attorney Edward J. Harrington as an unwed mother, developed into a baffling mystery today.

The young woman's partly decomposed body was found trussed up beneath a tree yesterday, and authorities said they were at a loss to explain how it got there and why.

Police released a 31-year-old New Bedford millhand, a fellow townsman of the slain woman, after he had been questioned throughout the night. The millhand, they said, established an alibi.

Attaches of the district attorney's office, however, asserted they were not entirely satisfied with the millhand's alibi and indicated he might be questioned again.

Harrington said the girl, whose body was found at the end of a wooded road known locally as "lover's lane," apparently had been strangled, but medical authorities withheld a definite finding following an autopsy.

Miss Perry had been absent from her home since June 29 and Medical Examiner William Rosen made a statement, indicating his belief that she had been dead since approximately that date. Her brother, John, said she left home to pay a bill at a clothing store and police learned that the bill was paid and that she made several small purchases.

When she failed to return, her father, Joseph Perry, reported her missing.

From that day her whereabouts remained unknown until five WPA workers, picking blueberries, found her body hidden under some brush beneath a pine tree.

General Pledges Swiss Army Anew To Defend Country

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 1. (AP)—General Henri Gutson pledged the Swiss army anew today to defend the passage of the Alps to the "end" in a broadcast on the 649th anniversary of the first oath of workers, picking blueberries, found her body hidden under some brush beneath a pine tree.

The commander of the army warned this nation which is holding steadfastly to neutrality and independence amid the European conflict that "the war is not ended; the armistice is not a peace."

Fifth Column On The Ledger?

We generally like to think that the United States bought itself out of foreign ownership of its industries during the World War.

By and large, that is true. Much of the railroad plant of this country and many other industrial ventures were made possible by foreign capital. When the World War broke, there was heavy ownership in Europe of all sections of American industry. European countries generally sold those interests to buy war supplies with the proceeds. The United States "bought itself back."

But not entirely. And during the unsettled conditions of Europe during the past 10 years, much European capital came back to the United States for safety's sake.

This is nothing to get excited about, and we know of no major and vital industry that is today foreign-controlled. There is no reason to suspect undue foreign influences within the boards of directors of any important corporation.

But the foreign stake in many great American corporations is interesting, and in some cases may cause real complications. John Lloyd, writing in the Magazine of Wall Street, has listed some of them. According to Lloyd, American Telephone reports 462,000 shares held abroad, and U. S. Steel 503,195. More than 300,000 shares of Steel, Lloyd reports, are held in Holland, and the largest single stockholder of Southern Pacific is an Amsterdam firm. A Swiss corporation is first on the list of B. & O. stockholders, third on Pennsylvania.

None of these holdings, Lloyd estimates, approaches control, nor even any certainty of the right to elect a director. But he foresees possible complications if, in the "reorganization" of Europe now being brought about by the Nazis, holdings of Dutch, Swiss, French and Belgian holders might be brought together.

German firms still hold indirect connections with our chemical and dye industries, a legacy of the World War. A substantial block of a popular airplane stock is held in Holland.

In the present European confusion, no one knows precisely what is the status of such holdings. Many foreign credits have been frozen because there is no guarantee that, if paid, they would be sure to reach their rightful owners.

These foreign interests are nothing to be concerned about, and there is not the slightest reason to believe that they have had any influence on the policies of any American firms.

But it is good to know that the situation is being watched, and that American directors are conscious of a situation that might at some future time breed complications.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, August 1—Although President Roosevelt has said publicly he "assumes" Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace won't resign in order to campaign for the vice presidency, there are New Deal strategists who are hoping the secretary will step down.

They see two things to be gained that way; some of the disgruntled party brethren could be appeased, and farmers who don't like the Wallace crop-control program could be brought back into the fold.

To replace Wallace they are suggesting Congressman Marvin Jones of Texas, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture.

Farmers who oppose Wallace's production-control ideas would warm up to Jones, since he has been identified with the more popular domestic allotment-coast of production plan. And since he is a Garner Democrat, putting him in the cabinet would assuage a lot of wounded feelings in the southwest.

VAGUE PROMISE

Senator Josh Lee of Oklahoma really started the Jones boom. At the convention he discovered the Oklahoma delegation wouldn't go for Wallace; in a caucus, the secretary got only four votes. So Lee hunted up Harry Hopkins and suggested that Wallace, if nominated, be replaced by Jones.

Hopkins replied that he naturally had no authority to promise anything of the kind, but would promise to lay the request before the boss back in Washington. Lee returned to his delegation and made his report; and merely on the strength of that very "iffy" promise, the Wallace vote in the Oklahoma delegation jumped from four to 11.

To Lee, and to others, that indicates the kind of gains the New Deal could make by the change.

Current betting, however, is that Wallace will keep his job, but will go on leave of absence, or inactive duty status, for the duration of the campaign. In that case, direction of the department would fall to the hands of Under-Secretary Claude Wickard, formerly a regional director for triple-A, and a one-time Indian farmer.

NAVY PREPARING TRANSPORT SHIPS

Without saying much about it, the navy is building up its strength in auxiliary vessels; and some of its recent acquisitions hint that the navy proposes to be all set if it should become necessary soon to ship a moderate-sized expeditionary force off to some new world spot or other.

Ships most recently acquired are the Santa Barbara and Santa Maria, 16,000-ton passenger ships from the Grace Line, and the 14,000-ton liners President Jackson and President Grant, from the Maritime Commission. Classed as auxiliaries, these ships are in fact being refitted as transports. That doesn't point to any European expeditionary force—for such an undertaking the navy would have to fit out transports by the dozens—but the four ships could carry several regiments to some trouble spot in this hemisphere.

The Maritime Commission, incidentally, is proving its value from a preparedness angle. In addition to the two president liners, it has recently turned over to the navy three new high-speed twin-screw tankers, and a brand-new 11,700-ton cargo vessel, the Sea Arrow. Present guess is this latter vessel's sister ship, the Sea

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

A NEW KIND OF "KEPT PRESS"

New Deal candidates on the Democratic ticket are publicly proclaiming that 85 per cent of the newspapers are opposed to the New Deal. Their claim is it because it is a "kept press." They explain of a kept press is that it accepts advertising from national advertisers that are monopolies. But they do not define what they mean by a monopoly—whether it is a corporation that is more efficient than others and, thus, is able to furnish a service that others are unable to compete with; whether it is a corporation that has a patent; whether it is a corporation that supplies something protected by tariffs; whether it is a utility that has a franchise.

None of these are more of a monopoly than a man, a political officer who holds an elected office that is a monopoly. A corporation that has a patent has that patent because it secured it first. Every one else was privileged to produce the same item as the patentee, if they had the ability to do it first.

The corporation that is producing something on which there is a tariff has no restriction from any other producer in the United States producing the same thing.

A Good Reason

The reason 85 per cent of the newspapers are against the New Deal is not because it is a "kept press," as the demagogic politicians who will not publicly answer questions proclaim. The reason 85 per cent of the newspapers are against the administration is because never in the history of the United States has any administration passed such discriminatory laws. The newspaper publishers know that when people come to believe that men have unequal rights in owning property and having the fruits of their labor, that it is then only a few years until the government restricts freedom of the press, freedom of speech, and freedom of worship.

It is amazing what absurdities and contradictions and twaddle office-seekers will go to, in order to get votes. Men who make statements that newspapers are kept for reasons like this, are men without principle, men who dare not face opponents on the platform with equal time. The only difference between men of this type and Hitler, who will promise anything to get power, is difference of degree. They are the Fifth Columnists—they are the real danger in the United States.

LEADING ECONOMIC PRINCIPLES

Inasmuch as the people in the United States for the last quarter of a century have been trying so many unorthodox economic theories, it might be well to quote a summary of sound principles from Simon Newcomb's book, "Principles of Political Economy" written some 50 years ago.

Any principle that we are using now that is not in harmony with these principles experience teaches will only add more misery and poverty. I quote:

"That all men performing economic functions of any kind are engaged in labor designed to promote the good of their fellow-men;

"That the greater and the better the production of the necessities of life, the more perfectly will the wants of the community at large be supplied;

"That bank credits constitute an integral part of the volume of the currency, and should be included with specie and banknotes in estimating that volume;

"That there is no such thing as an absolutely invariable measure of value, and that the best approximation to an absolute standard is found by making labor itself the standard as nearly as possible;

"That the values of the total imports and exports to and from any one country necessarily balance each other in the long-run;

"In consequence, that any action which diminishes imports must ultimately diminish exports in nearly the same degree;

"That every legal person, in the long-run and as a general rule, pays out as much money as he receives. Hence any increase in his receipts will be followed by a corresponding increase in his payments;

"That there is no definite volume of currency necessary to the transaction of the business of a community, but only a definite relation between the volume of currency and the scale of prices;

"In consequence, that a scarcity in the monetary flow can be remedied by a fall in prices as well as by an increase in that flow; but that this particular remedy is incomplete and unsatisfactory, because all prices cannot, thus adapt themselves;

"That an increase in the volume or flow of the currency does not permanently help business, because it leads to a rise of prices, and therefore to a greater necessity for money;

"In consequence, that we cannot increase the absolute value of the total volume of currency by addition to that volume;

"That no increase of wages benefits the laborer if he has to pay an increased price for the necessities of life, as he always will unless his wages are increased by increasing the effectiveness of his labor.

GREASE JOB

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1—All over the lot: A flock of amazing moppets has been assembled for "There's Magic in Music" in support of Susan Anna Foster, the star, "There's Magic in Music" is a musical comedy by Dolly Loehr, who plays the toughest piano concerto; Kay Connors, who looks and sings much as Deanna Durbin did at the time of her discovery. The California Junior Symphony will appear in the picture, led by world-famed Helmo Haitto, 15-year-old Finnish fiddler.

Helmo (pronounced Haymow) is as great as his age as was Yehudi Menuhin, and he plays himself in the picture. He and his Guarnerius raised 3,000,000 Finnish marks in Scandinavia for the war. Director Irving Cummings had dismissed all players while he got some trick shots of gauchos training race horses.

This technicolor musical has required an estimated 10,000 miles of traveling, and all within 50 miles of Hollywood. The filming is almost all outdoors, and as something like a dozen different locations. Reason for this jumping around is that a 20th-Fox crew filmed 20,000 feet of background scenery in the Argentine, and now the studio has to find location sites to match up.

It's a tough job in sun-burned California, and some costly trickery is needed. At the Warner ranch I watched a crew spraying green vegetable dye on the dry, yellow grass of a whole mountain-side. Another gang was covering a huge area of bare earth with calcium chloride, to keep down the dust during flares.

PERFECTION IS NOT ENOUGH. The very British and equally distinguished James Stephenson has an important role in "The Letter," with Betty Davis. He and Director William Wyler got along fine until the last day of the picture, when Wyler grew exasperated during a trial scene. "You sound like Hollywood of an American trying to sound like an Oxford man," he complained. "It's phony. I want you to speak naturally, as an Englishman would."

But that's the way I talk!" said Stephenson. "Perhaps you didn't know that the British Broadcast-

TEX'S TOPICS

By—Tex DeWeese

A RUMOR is being circulated on the streets that all was not well when the votes were counted Saturday night in Gray county's first primary election. . . . That is a grave charge for anybody to make. . . . One, however, must accept it not too seriously when it comes from the lips of a defeated candidate. . . . There is nothing so fine in politics as a good winner. . . . There is nothing more despicable in politics than a poor loser.

If there is any basis for the rumor, which comes second-hand to us—as most rumors come to us—then the person who "knows" that there were some irregularities should come out in the open, make the complaints through the regular channel and let there be a show-down. . . . The rumor and gossip channel is not the right one. . . . It is unfair to the Gray county chairman of the Democratic executive committee. . . . It is unfair to the election workers, and it is decidedly unfair to the candidate against whom it was directed.

CHAIRMAN John Ketter took the right action when the rumor reached his ears. . . . He invited the public to be present when the final official count was canvassed at the election headquarters Saturday afternoon. . . . He pointed to discrepancies in the story, one version of which states that a candidate supervised the counting while Mr. Ketter went to eat Saturday evening. . . . Mr. Ketter says he did not leave to eat. . . . The rumor is that the candidate counted himself enough votes to win while Mr. Ketter was absent. . . . If that is true, it will show up in the official count to be made Saturday afternoon. . . . It is to be hoped the man who started the rumor will be present Saturday to see that nothing is as it should be. . . . He owes it to many people to be there.

All of this goes to prove that politics is a strange game. . . . Further evidence of that fact is to be found in the "letters to the editor" in The Amarillo News yesterday in which a contributor draws the conclusion that this coming election, referring, we suppose, to the congressional and senatorial races, is the "political machine of any kind. . . . If the contributor of that letter knows any more jokes he should send them to the funny page and not to the editorial page where comment is supposed to be serious.

WHEN the day ever arrives that Amarillo doesn't have a political machine that isn't putting on all eight cylinders day and night, then you can look for the Panhandle rainy season to consist of 60 days and 60 nights without a let-up. . . . What Amarillo's political machine did to one candidate in the primary election gradually is getting noised about the Panhandle, and you can bet your bottom dollar that future candidates are going to be on the alert, and that very few persons are going to swallow any propaganda along the line that Amarillo has no political machine. . . . Fact of the matter is, it never was bettered than it is right now.

American Flag Has Never Been Waved On Stamp

By EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The post office department—which has featured everything on its stamps from a cow to Whistler's mother—admitted today that it was stuck with a problem involving philatelists and the flag.

In the midst of the current wave of patriotism, H. E. Rhoads of San Diego, Calif., wrote to Postmaster General Farley that no American flag has ever waved on an American stamp.

Intense investigation disclosed that Rhoads was substantially correct—a few flags have appeared insignificantly since 1869, but never has one been featured.

Rhoads, who is president of the San Diego Stamp club, submitted a design for a new air mail stamp—the unfurled flag in color.

Continuing his campaign, he wrote his congressman, Ed. V. Egan, and the congressman wrote the postmaster general. Other philatelists wrote in and praised the idea.

Then came the poser that led to present problem.

Someone pointed out that the flag is a patriotic symbol and that as the centerpiece of a postage stamp it would take a national licking. Rhoads would be punched in by canceling machines; it would be spotted with ink and the names of cities; as dirt hands would dull its brightness.

As the argument of an old enquirer could be tossed into the waste basket or would all the old envelopes bearing flag stamps have to be preserved?

The thought was frightening. The department is not committing itself either way for the present.

Strike At Boeing Factory Delayed

SEATTLE, Aug. 1 (AP)—Union employees of Boeing Aircraft Corp. postponed their Seattle strike, acting on appeals that they do nothing to retard national defense production, voted last night to delay for at least ten days a threatened strike.

The workers, who are opposing a proposed reduction in wages in lower brackets, authorized their negotiations committee to continue their efforts to reach a settlement with the company.

Their decision came at a mass meeting, just an hour and a half before the midnight deadline they had set for the walkout. The workers voted to remain in the plant shortly before a telegram was received from Secretary of Labor Perkins urging them to postpone the strike action.

The vote came after a similar telegram was read from J. R. Steelman, labor department commissioner of conciliation in Washington, D. C.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

FADS IN MONETARY ILLUSIONS

By WALTER E. SPAHR

Professor of Economics, New York University

The American people chase one monetary illusion after another. We have had in monetary illusions. A few years ago—in 1933-1934—the illusion was a supposed scarcity of gold and of currency. Today it is "the gold problem"—whatever that may be.

Let some one with an audience megalomania in a monetary "problem," no matter how absurd it may be, be a fact, search every corner of these fallacies was written into the laws of this country. Fortunately, not all of them were put into effect, but some of those that were made effective—such as devaluation of our gold dollar and the silver purchase programs—have given this nation and others, sufficient headaches to last a long time.

It was argued in 1933-1934 that we did not have enough gold so we devalued our dollar. Now the howl is that we have too much and the "gold problem" is now given to us as a daily diet.

One thing is quite clear about this: the public and a large proportion of those writers who discuss "the gold problem" in our newspapers and journals reveal no lesser understanding of the "gold problem" than they did about the monetary problems of 1933-1934. It would be difficult to find a larger collection of downright foolishness in monetary discussion than with respect to this supposed "problem."

Just how long will be required for these discoverers of the gold problem to realize that there is no such problem in this country, as it is widely conceived today, is an interesting question. One may suppose that the discussion will rage on until it destroys an excruciating system based upon gold. Our gold holdings are not costly, as commonly alleged. If we exchange goods or credit for gold, we can, in turn, use it to buy other goods or credit. It is the most marketable commodity known. If we exchange credit for gold, no security for this credit is superior to gold.

It is to be hoped that the American people will drop their discussion of this imaginary gold problem, as they did about some other imaginary monetary problems in 1933-1934, and devote their thoughts to issues, such as armament and compulsory military service, which really demand our attention.

City Tennis Tourney To Be Played August 10

Trophies To Be Awarded All Winners

A city tennis tournament for men and boys will be played here August 10 and 11, under sanction of the Texas Amateur Athletic Association. Winners in each of the four divisions will be eligible to attend the state TAAF tournament in Tyler August 17, 18 and 19.

The tournament will be directed by Jim Edwards, TAAF district commissioner here, Kimble Neel and Joe Key. No entry fee will be charged, Mr. Edwards having paid the entry fee in the TAAF, but players must furnish their own tennis balls.

All players in the city are urged to fill out the entry blank, found elsewhere on the sports page, immediately and take it or mail it to the Sports Editor, Pampa News, or to Kimble Neel, Fatherese Drug.

The junior division will be open to boys who were under 18 years old on January 1, 1940, while the senior division will be for everyone 18 or over.

Deadline for entering the tournament will be the night of August 8 when pairings will be made for release the following day. The tournament will be open to players living in Pampa or in oil camps near the city.

"We want to make this the biggest and best tournament ever held in this city," Mr. Edwards said today. "We are trying to secure attractive trophies to give the winners in each division."

Pampa has been developing new players this summer and the favorites are likely to be faced by dark horses, Mr. Edwards hinted.

Hurling Duels Accent Texas League Games

(By The Associated Press) The accent still was on pitching last night as the race for fourth place in the Texas league continued.

Head man was Loy Hanning of San Antonio who pitched a no hit, no run game against Tulsa in the nightcap of a doubleheader. The score was 4-0.

San Antonio had been shut out 8-0 in the opener on Clare Bertram for his exhibition. The game resumed here at Fort Worth twice, 7-2 and 4-0, with a three-hitter by Charley Fuchs in the nightcap. Hal Manders held the Cats to eight hits in the first game.

Homebase Lisenbee outpitched three hurlers as Shreveport edged Oklahoma City 3-2. His was a seventh-inning job.

Houston's leading Buffs downed Dallas twice, taking the first game 8-7 on Nick Cullip's homer and the second 4-3 on Ted Wilks' six hit pitching.

18 Teams Entered In Denver Post Tourney

DENVER, Aug. 1 (AP)—A three-game program gives the starting bell today to the 25th renewal of the Denver Post Baseball tournament, which will continue through August 12.

Eighteen teams will battle for prize money, which last year totaled $14,735, going to the champion Eddick, Okla., Champlins.

The third team is back. Also entered are the Duncan, Okla., Halliburtons, champions at the national semipro tournament at Wichita, Kan., last year, and Mount Pleasant, Texas, runner-up in that meet.

The Buford, Ga., Bona Allens, runners-up in the Post tourney last year, are back for another shot.

Riggs And Prusoff To Cross Rackets At Meadow Club

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Bobby Riggs meets Henry Prusoff today in the quarter finals of the Meadow club tennis tournament which he reached only by a precarious comeback.

Bobbie beat Eddie Alloo of Berkeley, Calif., yesterday, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5, after he missed elimination by a shot that was only an inch wide.

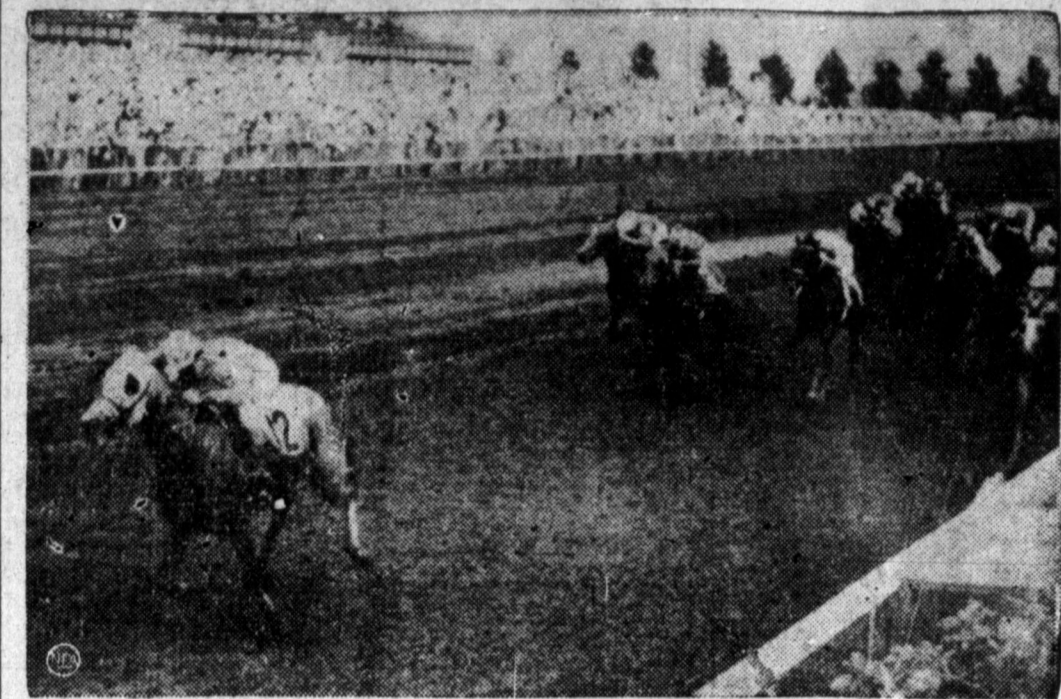

Leading at 4-0 and 5-2 in the final set, Alloo reached match point twice. The second time he caught Riggs hopelessly out of position with an angle shot down the sidelines only to have it drop outside by no more than an inch. But once Alloo missed that crucial shot Bobby ran out the match with little trouble, winning 13 points in a row.

Others who entered the quarter final round were Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., George Toley of Los Angeles, Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., Frank Guernsey of Orlando, Fla., and Don McNeill of Oklahoma City.

Lubbock Winning Streak Continues Over Oilers

LUBBOCK, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Lubbock Hubbers stretched their current winning streak to an even dozen games last night when they defeated the league-leading Pampa Oilers 13 to 4. The Hubbers bagged 13 hits while Gorski held the Oilers to six singles.

Big Dutch Prather, who has been in somewhat of a batting slump, came out with a bang to blast a home run double and single. He and Malvica led the Oiler attack with Seitz chiming in once. Gorski had the rest of the Oilers eating out of his hand.

Schweda had a big night for the Hubbers with a double and three singles. Castino hit for the circuit. Gus Halbourg started for the Oilers but was hit all over the lot. He was relieved by Montgomery who held the Hubbers to a single run and two hits in the last 2 1/3 innings.

The Oilers meet the Hubbers again tonight before moving on to Pampa for three games.

Injury Jinx Continues To Blast Cubs

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—The injury ridden Chicago Cubs, taking an idea from congress, may enlist their own conscription plus soon.

And it may require a draft of one of their farm clubs en masse if the present jinx continues.

Two more Cubs were relegated to the sidelines yesterday, running the current casualty list to five and the season's total to 13.

Even Manager Gabby Hartnett hasn't escaped. He was hit in the head yesterday by a bat as Mel Mazera of the Phillies swung all around on a lusty cut. Hartnett left the game but was able to direct the team from the bench.

Little Augie Galan, however, had to be carried from the field. The outfielder suffered a fractured left knee cap and a severe injury in his right kneecap when he crashed into a concrete barrier along the left field foul line at Philadelphia while chasing a foul fly off Herman Schuler's bat. Team officials said both knees would be in a cast for five weeks and it was believed he would be out for the season.

Also on the sidelines are first baseman Glen Russell, recovering from an appendectomy; first baseman Phil Caveretta, who suffered a broken ankle for the second time in two seasons, and shortstop Bobby Mack, who last week wrenched his ankle.

Sooner And Texan Vie In 20-Gauge Gun Tournament

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—Two marksmen from the west took down their shooting irons again today to see which was the better shot with a 20-gauge gun.

Bobby Parker of Tulsa, Okla., and F. Hawkins of Dallas, Texas, each registered a 97 in the regular four-round shootoff and in the 25-bird shootoff each cracked a perfect score on Asheville's $5,000 skeet shoot.

Shooting was held at the Asheville Daily Herald says the Detroit Tigers paid 25,000 bucks for George Stainback, the hard-hitting Montreal outfielder.

Golf Goes On
Jack Keele, young Washington, D. C., par buster, comes up with the season's best score. Playing the 6,023 yard Capon Springs (W. Va.) par 70 golf course he checked in with a fancy 58. He had a 32 going out, but came back in 27 strokes, during which he posted four birdies and an eagle in succession. His score card was signed by E. H. Horton, an ally with the dept. of justice and by L. Col. C. B. Spruit, M. C., U. S. A.

Indians, Tigers, Cards Win Whacky Ball Games

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers are still deadlocked for the American league lead today, proving that miracles happen.

They won two of the strangest struggles yet that ever went into the records in their desperate efforts to elbow each other off the top rung.

The Indians squeezed past the Boston Red Sox 12-11. The tribe was trailing 7-0 when it came to bat in the fourth and even after Ken Keltner hit a home run with the bases loaded Cleveland continued to lag behind until the eighth inning.

Finally rookie Russ Peters delivered a pinch single with the sacks filled to score the Indians' tying and winning runs.

Detroit had to come from behind four times to beat the New York Yankees 7-6 in 11 innings. The situation didn't get critical until the eighth inning when the Tigers came to bat trailing 4-2. Pinky Higgins tripled with the bases loaded to put the Tigers out in front, but George Selkirk clouted a pinch home run with one on in New York's half of the ninth.

Detroit, undaunted, tied up the score with three singles and finally, in the eleventh with Lefty Gomez doing a relief chore for the champs, scored the winning run on two walks and Hank Greenberg's single.

Nothing, however, could be whackier than the doubleheader that the St. Louis Cardinals swept from the pitiful Boston Bees, 3-1, and 17-8. The first game went 11 innings with Clyde Shoun and Dick Erickson wrapped in a pitching duel. Then Boston blew up and let in two runs.

The Cards collected 22 hits in the batting practice that passed for the second game. Johnny Mize hit a homer in each contest to make his total 30 for the year.

Boston's losing streak was extended to nine games. And, mentioning streaks, Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees went hitless for the first time in 24 encounters in that side-show at Detroit.

The New York Giants put on one of the season's most dramatic finishes to beat the Cincinnati Reds. Buckey Walters was on the threshold of his 16th victory when Burgess Whitehead and Hank Danning each hit homers with a man on base in the ninth inning to beat him 5-4.

The Chicago Cubs were whipped 7-3 by the Phillies; the Philadelphia Athletics edged out the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, beating the A's out of the cellar as St. Louis dropped a 13-5 decision to the Washington Senators.

PHILLIES BEAT CUBS
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs went down to a costly 7 to 3 defeat at the hands of the Phillies yesterday in the second inning when left fielder Herman Schuler suffered a fractured left knee crashing against a concrete wall. He probably will be out for the remainder of the season.

Galan was chasing a foul fly off the bat of Herman Schuler in the fifth inning when he hit the wall.

Galan's mishap followed a minor one for Manager Gabby Hartnett. The Cubs catcher was struck on the head by Mel Mazera's bat in the second inning when he left the game. He continued, however, to direct the team from the bench.

Prize Money For 1941 New Orleans Open Guaranteed

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Doubts as to whether one of the rich golf tournaments of the winter circuit—the $10,000 New Orleans open—would be held in 1941, were dispelled today.

Jim Leddy, chairman of the event, said that Mayor Robert S. Maestri, one of the leaders of the old Huey P. Long political regime, had agreed once more to dig into his own pockets for the prize money.

Chairman Leddy said the dates of play had been set for Feb. 13-16. Since the mayor foots the bill there is no gallery fee.

SERIAL STORY SUMMER THEATER

BY MILDRED WILLIAMS

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Johnny confessed to Jean that he loves Molly. She understood, refused to deny her love for him. Later, when Molly suggests visiting Travers at the Meltons, Johnny remembers Jean is staying there.

CHAPTER IV

JOHNNY was wondering how he could get out of taking Molly to the Meltons after their picnic. He didn't want Jean to meet her yet—not until their relationship was on a firmer basis. Molly's "Have you had a regular girl all this time?" required some sort of reply. He would have to wiggle out of the situation somehow.

"Nothing to get suspicious about," he said evenly. "Jean Reynolds is a girl I've known a long time. She came down today and is visiting Sue Melton. Look, there's our boat. It's flat, so we can spread out our lunch and pretend we're at the Capetown Inn."

But Molly wasn't so easily put aside. "Come, now, Johnny. This Jean isn't your own true love, and you're holding out on me? I'd be desolate."

He sat down on a rock and took off his shoes. He walked across the sand, revelling in the way the mud felt between his toes. He ran his hand down a hole where a quahaug had burrowed. Summer hadn't begun officially for him until he had dug for clams.

"See," he held the small thing up, its shell still dripping with wet sand.

"How ooky," Molly murmured. "IT wasn't until they were seated on the rock eating their lunch that he realized Molly hadn't spoken for some time. She was lovely, leaning against the bank, her cheeks pink with new sunburn, the wind flecking her hair. Instinctively he knew that this was one of the silver moments in his life. He put his arm around her, but she drew away.

"Woman," he said sincerely, "you're doing peculiar things to me . . . here . . ." He pointed to his heart.

She turned to look at him, slowly, as if this were a scene from a play. The curtain of the second act, with a back-drap of sea and sky.

"Really? Now I am surprised. Ever since we've started, it's been Jean and Jean that I'm an outsider. Outsiders don't appreciate. Sorry I intruded on your little Cape. I had no idea . . ."

"What on earth are you talking about?" Johnny asked, astounded. But Molly was tying the bandana under her chin with firm, angry fingers.

"Eighteen and one make nineteen. I can add. I break a date to go on a picnic with you. Then, this Jean comes unexpectedly. Your whole plan is to get me safely home again, so you can play at the Meltons. I wanted to meet people for the patrons' list. The people are at the Meltons. That wouldn't do," she finished sarcastically.

Johnny pushed her back down on the rock. "You can add, all right, but you can't subtract. Subtract yourself from this scene and it's a washout as far as I'm concerned. The Cape Cod I love is a sandy inlet, three sides water. Call it what you want to, I've never felt like this about anybody else except you. Jean Reynolds will tell you that our affair was just kid stuff." His voice was husky. She must believe what he was saying.

"Then why can't we go to the Meltons?" she asked.

"We can. People around here gab about Jean and I have been pals for years."

She was laughing now and he was happy again. Close shave, that.

"And you hadn't the nerve to walk in the old groove with a stranger?" She was close to him, and he was inhaling the delicate fragrance of her perfume. He kissed her then and held her to him for a moment. The kiss was as he had dreamed it.

"Then we'll go to the Meltons tonight," she added, as much as to say, "That's settled." She lifted her bicycle from the rock and guided it to the highway. Johnny followed. In all his life he had never been so happy.

THERE were crowds of people at the Meltons. They draped in deck chairs on the lawn. Johnny squared his shoulders and marched up the walk, Molly's hand tight in his.

He ran the gamut of introductions. "Miss Travers, Mr. and Mrs. Mack. . . . Hello, Johnny, Jean's inside." "Miss Travers, Mrs. Enders. . . . Howdy, pal, glad to see you. Jean without you is ham without eggs." "Miss Travers, Miss Lancaster. . . . Johnny's here. Find Jean so they can tan."

He clenched Molly's hand. He knew it would be like this. He should have obeyed his hunch and waited until the crowd knew where he and Jean stood. He glanced at Molly. Her head was high.

"The lawn at the Meltons' sloped down toward the creek. There was a wharf where a rowboat was filled. Molly and Johnny walked through the house and out across the lawn. From the window he had seen Sue Melton playing croquet. He hadn't seen Jean and Rex Arnold were in the rowboat, singing at the top of their lungs. Jean Reynolds waved to them. Johnny saw her motion to Rex to pull the boat alongside. Sue Melton threw down her croquet mallet and ran across the lawn, shouting:

"Well, Johnny Regan, of all people. Now the party can go places. Jean's been rum on a quahaug about your whereabouts. And yet I saw you two sailing that jolopy of hers down State street this very afternoon. Jean," she motioned wildly toward the rowboat, "here he is!"

The situation had Johnny in a vise. He said, "Shut up, Sue. We have company. Miss Travers, Miss Melton."

"Hello," Molly said sweetly and calmly. "Johnny's been telling me about the grand times you have here in summer. Tonight is like a fraternity house party."

"Miss Travers is with the Theater," Johnny said, in explanation. "Sue's eyes widened. 'Are you, really? How do you like the Cape? Don't you just love it?'"

Miss Travers nodded. "I'm beginning to. Johnny introduced me to quahaugs tonight. He dug one up in the wettest kind of sand."

"Oh, Johnny, you didn't!" That was Jean. She came across to them, held out her brown hand to Molly without looking at Johnny. "Hello, I'm Jean Reynolds. John's told me all about you."

Not much of a struggle there, Johnny thought, with relief. "Miss Travers, Miss Reynolds. Molly, Jean."

"Why, Jean Reynolds," Sue Melton gasped, looking wildly from Johnny to Molly and back again to Jean. "Is this the girl?"

"Yes, this is the girl Johnny told me about," she was saying to Sue evenly. "And she's just as lovely as he said she'd be!" Her arm was around Molly as if she were protecting her from Sue's malice.

"I just adore theater people," Jean continued, to Johnny's utter amazement. He thought she loathed actresses. "You must come to tea on Thursday. I'd like you to meet some of my mother's friends. Mr. Earl always is interested in new patrons."

"That would be wonderful," Molly said, as if hardly daring to believe what she had heard, and then she turned to Johnny. "Isn't she the sweetest person in the world to want to be bothered with me?"

Shriners To Hold Outing August 15 At Lake Buffalo

Special To The NEWS

BUFFALO LAKE, Aug. 1—With 27 towns represented at the Saturday night dance at this playground of the Southwest and 33 states having been registered as guests for the summer, Buffalo, Tex., continues to be one of the recreational headquarters of the Panhandle and parties, banquets, dances and picnics still seem to be the choice entertainment of West Texans as revealed by the Events book of this resort.

On August 15 the Shriners take over the lake with a day of fun and hilarity restricted to Shriners and their families. Potatoes, George Hammock has decreed the program of variety that consists of fast speed boat races, swimming, fishing, boat races, surf-board and water ski races, tug o'war, jousting and a most unique bathing machine to be climaxed with a dance that night. Tickets will be issued all Shrine members good for all attractions at the lake for this expected highlight of the season.

Students and ex-students of West Texas State college of Canyon are planning on a home coming day at the lake for August that will surpass all previous events if present plans materialize. A large society will be the theme of the program, with tables arranged near the water and a boardwalk show presented the alumni and friends on a major scale before the college ball of the evening.

Bermuda Grass Gains Favor With Stockmen

Special To The NEWS

These two grasses, once hated and feared by the farmer, are coming into their own.

The man without livestock still has no love for them—but cattle, sheep and goats are showing up on more and more Texas farms.

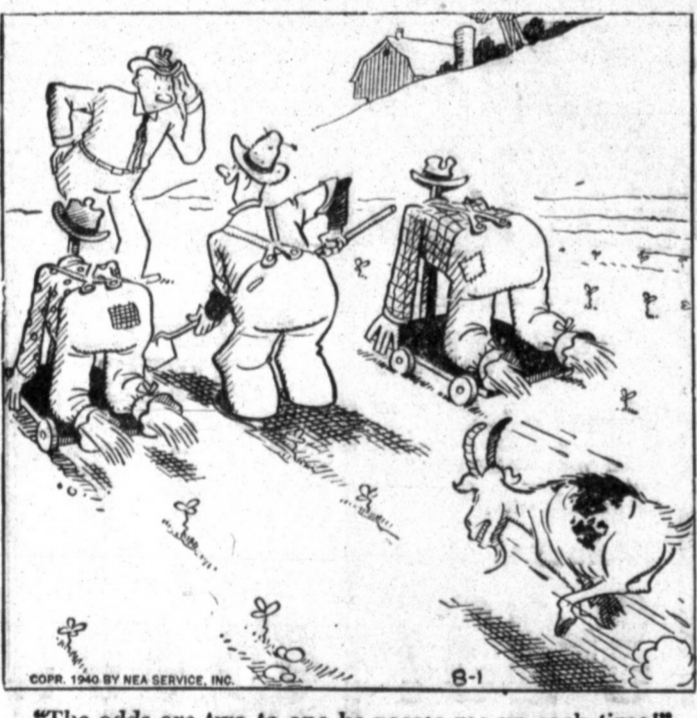

Both grasses are fine at healing wounds caused by erosion, at protecting terrace channel outlets, and both respond wonderfully to proper care and management.

Chemical analyses of 1,432 samples of various grasses growing in East Texas, recently made by the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, saw bermuda grass top all others in protein content, which ranged as high as 8 percent in the spring months. Johnson grass was also in the top bracket in this respect.

Bermuda and johnson grass shared top ranking in both phosphoric acid and lime, two important minerals in sections where livestock often suffer from mineral deficiency.

Seven Persons Still Missing In Camden Fire

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 1 (AP)—Firemen turned to dynamite today to blast down the fire-scarred walls of a paint factory and speed the search for seven persons missing in the $2,000,000 blaze that destroyed a four-block area of mid-town Camden.

Two were known dead from the flames which followed a series of explosions in the five-story R. M. Hollingshead company plant.

Twenty-one persons were in hospitals, four in serious condition and 57 houses were destroyed, leaving 124 families homeless.

BATTLE

extending her blockade from the Arctic to North Africa brought word from Tokyo today, through Rome, Japanese agency, that the Japanese ambassador at London would protest, declaring Japan's trade with Spain, Portugal and other neutrals would suffer.

And while western Europe waited for a possible outbreak of blitzkrieg methods against Britain—for many were skeptical of Gayda's statement and apparent German agreement with the notion—there was excitement and gaiety in Russia.

The Supreme Soviet, Russia's parliament, convened to welcome formally the states of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania into the union. All three voted to the union last month.

Germans intimated that invasion is not in the immediate picture—but said the battle of Britain already is on.

That battle went into its new phase last Monday when dive bombers concentrated in a harbor-wrecking attack on Dover, German military observers declared. Now, they said, the stukas can smash the rest of England's harbor and shipping facilities port by port.

The British, who have conceded some damage to southeastern ports, broadened their own blockade effective at midnight last night from the Arctic to Africa.

In the south Atlantic east of Brazil British warships were believed to have taken up the chase of a German raider which fought to a draw with the British merchant cruiser Alcantara.

At least one direct hit killed two and wounded seven aboard the 22,000-ton Alcantara and so cut the merchant cruiser's speed that she had to give up the chase and limp to Rio de Janeiro, 660 miles east of the Brazilian island of Trinidad, where the fight took place. The raider with disappearing guns fled behind a smoke screen.

Elsewhere in the war at sea, British announced the sinking of the 1,375-ton Delight, 29th British destroyer lost in the war, after a bombing attack.

The Italian high command said Italian flyers had sunk a British destroyer in the eastern Mediterranean.

"All Work and No Play . . ."

British war workers labor long hours, so they make the most of what few respites they get. Here are some of them relaxing at Brighton, Hammersmith bathing resort.

can July 28, but did not identify it; and also claimed the air force destroyed two British planes in a fight over Malta.

An RAF communique at Cairo, Egypt, said two Italian submarines had been sunk in the Mediterranean last month, and an Italian fighter plane had been shot out of a formation yesterday in an attempted raid on Malta.

A Madrid radio broadcast said a battle squadron of three British battleships, an aircraft carrier, four destroyers and five submarines headed into the Mediterranean from Gibraltar on an undisclosed mission.

In the air war, German raiders struck during the night in the neighborhood of the Thames estuary, shipping entrance to London, and off the British channel, west coast waterway, but the British government said damage was slight and no casualties resulted.

In the Far East, the Japanese admiralty spokesman in Tokyo asserted President Roosevelt's embargo on exporting aviation gasoline outside the western hemisphere "undoubtedly is designed to exert economic pressure on Japan and the Rome-Berlin axis." If America continues on the same lines it is bound to cause repercussions, he added.

At the same time the new government of Prince Purnimaro Koro issued a lengthy statement of policy which outlined a strongly centralized and unified states designed for creation of "a new order for greater east Asia."

SINCLAIR

the doings of the so-called major units of the industry.

"The real reason why the industry is not making any money out of its domestic business, and why it cannot pay as much for crude as it is paying now, is that those who determine the price for petroleum products do not, for their own reasons, choose to sell their goods at a fair price.

"I do not pretend to be in their confidence and certainly they do not tell me their secrets, so I can only draw inferences from their acts."

One of Sinclair's companies recently reduced the posted price of crude in north and central Texas fields.

As to regulatory agencies, Sinclair had this to say:

"I know that our highest courts have upheld in some cases the acts of regulatory commission. I still do not believe that a clear cut case involving arbitrary and capricious shut-downs for the prevention of waste," but actually having no real relation to such a purpose, will be upheld. If necessary, it is my intention to test this belief in the courts."

Sinclair frequently stressed the relation of crude and products prices.

"I have said it a hundred times and I will say it a hundred more times that for no considerable period of time can the branch of the industry that manufactures products out of crude, pay more for the crude than it gets for the products.

"One can be a good fellow for a while, but ultimately paying more for flour than a baker can get for bread is going to reduce him to bankruptcy."

Production Cost Up

An examination of proration as it is administered—not as it is reported years ago—shows that some states are prorated yet there is still too much oil and virtually the lowest prices in history for oil products, the oil magnate declared.

"It is safe to guess that it costs three or four times as much to produce a barrel of crude under proration than it cost 12 or 15 years ago. In this same period, crude has dropped 50 per cent in price. Think that over."

"If anyone has the idea that the increased capital required to produce oil is something that concerns only companies with great financial resources, let me give you an example that should bring this aspect of the situation home to the little fellow.

"He needs 2,000 barrels a day. If he wanted to produce the oil himself, it would cost him say $120,000 to drill eight wells, producing at the rate of 250 barrels each in Illinois to supply the 2,000 barrels. In east Texas that would mean an investment of $1,500,000.

"This will give you an idea as to what we have done about increasing the cost of production, but we have not done anything about product prices and if we tried to do so, all we would get would be an indictment."

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Selected stocks displayed moderately progressive tendencies in today's market but many leaders jugged over a slightly irregular trend.

Price changes, on the whole, were without particular meaning in view of the lightness of dealings. Transfers were around 300,000 shares.

Outstanding speculative inspiration, brokers said, was lacking in the general run of news, either from foreign or home sources. While business prospects remained a sustaining influence, many traders inclined to keep commitments small pending fresh Anglo-German developments.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Comparatively steady wheat and corn prices today reflect the grain trade's analysis of August private crop estimates indicating that weather conditions in July reduced the prospective crop and spring wheat harvest 5 and 13 per cent respectively.

The estimates were off in one with trade expectations and were offset to some extent by evidence of recently improved weather conditions.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4c lower compared with yesterday's finish, Sept. 75-75 1/2c, Dec. 76 1/2c; Corn unchanged to 3/4c off, Sept. 61 1/2c, Dec. 58 1/2c; Oats 3/4c lower.

Russia "Not Taking Part In War," Says Minister Molotoff

MOSCOW, Aug. 1 (AP)—Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotoff told the Russian parliament today that Soviet Russia "is not taking part in the war" and predicted its early intensification with "England, assisted by the United States," on the one hand fighting Germany and Italy on the other.

"Of our relations with the United States," Molotoff said, "it can be said that the United States did not like our successes, especially in the Balkans, but we are not interested. We can get along without the help of these misers."

"We support the protest of the governments of the Balkans at freezing their gold in the United States. We warn the United States and England they will be held responsible."

Recent events, including collapse of France, had only served to improve Russia's relations with Germany, Molotoff declared in a four months review of foreign relations, while saying better understanding with England could hardly be expected in view of past anti-Soviet manifestations on the part of the British government.

Warning that the status of Finland in the Soviet's good graces is entirely "up to Finland," Molotoff said certain circles there must discontinue their anti-Soviet tendencies or there would be a deterioration of relations.

Britain, he said, is trying to "scare" Russia with the prospect of a clash with Germany, but he declared this was "impossible."

Disappearance Of German Agent To Be Checked By FBI

SCARSDALE, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Dr. Gerhard Alois Westrick, a special business representative of the German government, last night suddenly left the state where, the New York Herald Tribune disclosed today, he had been living with his family since May 6.

A maid at the house in an exclusive residential section said she didn't say where he had gone or when he would return.

Among persons who saw Dr. Westrick frequently in the four months since he arrived in this country is Capt. Torstid Rieber, chairman of the board of the Texas company.

Capt. Rieber, at a press conference at his New York office, said Dr. Westrick was his German attorney and that he intended to talk with him any time he chose.

Dr. Westrick, a German supreme court lawyer, is accredited in the state department's diplomatic list as commercial counselor to the German embassy.

Capt. Rieber described Dr. Westrick as a lawyer who has represented "some of the largest American companies," in Germany.

"Westrick is a very decent fellow, has done very little for us," he said.

He explained that he had directed a subordinate to help Dr. Westrick get the driver's license and had offered the use of a company car.

"I did that and considered it good business," he added.

Since the war began, he continued, "the Texas company has not directly or indirectly, sold one dollar's worth of oil to Germany or Italy."

The Evening Dispatch in White Plains, N. Y., said Scarisdale police at the direct request of FBI officials had been keeping a record of the license numbers of all automobiles which had stopped at Dr. Westrick's home.

pected to register in this class, about 4,500,000 were expected to be available for training after all exemptions had been granted.

Curtailment of military registration plans failed today to win over leading senate opponents of conscription.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) declared the action of the senate military committee in voting to limit registration to men between 21 and 30, inclusive, did not alter his objections to the compulsory training program.

The original Burke-Wadsworth bill called for registration of all men between 18 and 64, with only those between 21 and 30 likely to come under an immediate selective draft.

Wheeler announced, however, he would not oppose legislation authorizing the President to call out the national guard and the officers' reserve for a year's intensive training.

possible to determine now why these orders were disobeyed."

The freight train, northbound from Columbus, O., telescoped the fore end of the 122,000-pound coach, and shoved it back in its wake for 200 yards. Flames spurted from the windows as the 250-gallon gasolene tanks exploded. Firemen poured water into the coach. Then they and volunteers went about the sickening two-hour task of removing bodies, many so burned that identification was difficult.

Coroner R. E. Amos, seeking to clear up the identifications, said the passengers "didn't have a chance in the world to escape."

Spectators related that flames enveloped the coach so fast that none of the passengers could escape. One man standing nearby said he heard no screams.

Officials estimated eight of the dead were railroad employes "dead-heading" home after concluding their runs. Most of the passenger victims were residents of the Akron district.

Two engines on the freight train, which had two locomotives, were burned slightly as they fled the flames after trying to a stop.

Engineer O. M. Lodge, of Columbus, O., on the lead locomotive, said: "I had the signal to go ahead at Akron station. I was going straight through when I saw the doodlebug coming around the bend. I blew my whistle and tried to slow down. It was no use."

"When the crash came, burning gasoline poured up into my cab. It burned my face. I jumped back and went over the coal car to escape the flames."

It was the second big American Westland tragedy in four months. Thirty-one persons died in the wreck of the New York Central's Lake Shore Limited at Little Falls, N. Y., April 19.

France To Stay In League

VICHY, France, Aug. 1 (AP)—France will not resign from the League of Nations, although its attitude toward the league is one of "indifference," a French foreign office spokesman said today.

"We recognize the value of certain of its technical services," he said. "For this reason France will not resign from the international body."

ler's huge armaments expenditure without resorting "to rigid state control to prevent inflation and that would have been the end of capitalism and democracy."

I had the privilege of studying this situation myself at first hand, and finally was at Berchtesgaden, Godesberg and Munich to report the fateful conferences between Hitler and British Premier Chamberlain, exponent of "appeasement."

With this background I find John Kennedy's book a thoughtful work which contains much common sense and keen analysis.

Still, I'm not so much concerned with his conclusions as with the fact that he is only twenty-three. Next time I meet his father I'm going to ask him whether—with all his great success and those nine million dollars he is supposed to have—he was thinking along such a serious line or could have produced such a book at the age of twenty-three.

Maybe he was, and maybe he could. But to me John represents the young folk of the past generation when Mr. Joe and I were fresh from school.

In traveling about the country I have been intensely interested in noting this historic development. During comparatively recent months I have talked in numerous colleges and universities, including Yale, Vassar, West Virginia, Duke's Syracuse, Georgia and Hamilton. Everywhere it has been the same—this surge of youth for a place in the civic sun. This has been true not only in the schools but elsewhere.

A little experience I had at Hamilton college illustrates my point. After I had spoken on foreign affairs to an audience in the chapel, I was invited to go to one of the fraternity houses and answer questions by students.

Some thirty fine young fellows established me in a big, throne-like chair in a corner of the living room, and then gathered about me in a semicircle on the floor. One of them came and sat beside me to act as spokesman.

"What have you to offer us?" he asked.

"Do you mean as to the prospect of having to go to war?"

"Not especially," he replied. "But where do we fit into this changing world?"

There spoke the new American youth.

Senate Group Approves FDR's Trade Fund Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Creation of a $500,000,000 fund, requested by President Roosevelt, to assist the western hemisphere in meeting economic conditions caused by the war was approved 8 to 6 today by the senate banking committee.

Legislation providing the fund would increase the capital and lending authority of the government's export import bank from the present $200,000,000 to $700,000,000.

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) said there had been an "unfortunate difference of opinion" among committee members over the white house proposal and that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) would file a minority report in opposition.

Wagner said those who voted for the half-billion dollar fund were Senators Barkley (D-Ky), Bankhead (D-Ala), Maloney (D-Conn), Radcliffe (D-Md), Smathers (D-NJ), Miller (D-Ark), Clark (D-Iaho) and Wagner.

Opposing the legislation were five Republicans—Senators Taft, Frazier of North Dakota, Townsend of Delaware, Danaher of Connecticut, and Tobey of New Hampshire—and a single Democrat, Adams of Colorado.

Under the new government, co-education has been banned in the schools of Madrid.
