Conscription Bill Urged By Col. Perkins

Officer Deplores Softness Of Youth, Inadequate Army

Pampans were exhorted to put pressure on congress to the end that the universal conscription bill be passed without delay as an American prepared to repel the greatest danger any nation ever faced, in a speech by Col. John Perkins of Midland, delivered at 8 o'clock last night at the court house lawn.

Col. Perkins, a U. S. army reserve officer, spoke to a crowd of 400. Following his speech at the court house, he was interviewed over radio station KPDM by Tex DeWeese, managing editor of the Pampa News.

Thrusting back at those who criticized compulsory drafting of citizens from 18 to 24 as undemocratic, Col. Perkins asked if it were democratic for the banker's son to serve his country as well as the laborer's, the middle-aged and old men as well as youths.

Wants Big Army Recommended by the colonel was an army of 1,000,000 men, a sufficient quantity of tanks, planes, anti-aircraft guns, ammunition. He estimated America's defense budget at from 20 to 25 billions.

In American life he flayed the lack of discipline in youth, lack of emphasis on patriotism in schools, tendency to spend too much on education, communism, the treaty of the destruction of one billion dollars worth of U. S. ships in 1922, and supine representatives and senators who dilly-dallied with national defense measures.

America as helpless before the threat of war as in 1917 was the picture the speaker drew as he de-

Fourth Rain In 16 Days Falls Here

Pampa's fourth rain in 16 days fell here early this morning, pushing the total for the month to date to 1.60 inches, for the year to 9.85 inches. Precipitation totaled 19 inches.

August rainfall already exceeds that of any preceding month, except May, when 2.67 inches were recorded.

Rain started falling here at 1:53 a. m. today and the shower lasted until 2:35 a. m.

The local U. S. Weather bureau station reported a two-inch rain around Fort Worth, Waynoka, Okla., northeast of Pampa, had only .02 inch. Amarillo received a sprinkle, but not enough to measure even .01 inch.

Forecast for West Texas was fair tonight except scattered thunderstorms in southwest portions; Saturday partly cloudy in west portion, fair except for afternoon cloudiness in south portion and scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms in southwest portion; cooler in Panhandle Saturday.

Wing-Over Club To Plan For Air Show

Work "in earnest" for the annual "Top O' Texas" air show, to be held here September 21-22, will start when the Pampa Wing-Over club meets Wednesday night at the city hall and appoints committees for the yearly aerial exhibition.

The air show program will be similar to those held in the past, with contests in serpentine cutting, spot landings, and bomb dropping. Bert Howell is general chairman of the show, which is sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Blot Kills Five JOPLIN, Mo., Aug. 16 (AP)—Five men were killed today in an explosion at the Atlas Powder plant six miles east of Joplin.

The blast occurred in the dynamite unit of the plant which has been working near capacity because of war orders.

Townsend Meeting Set An important meeting of Pampa Townsends has been called for 8 o'clock tonight at the court house. The meeting is open to the public as well as to members of the club.

NAZI STUKAS BOMB CROYDON AIRPORT

Japs Refuse To Split Control Of British Area

SHANGHAI, Aug. 16 (AP)—The Japanese government will not give its approval to the Shanghai defense commanders' decision to split control of the British defense area among the United States and Japanese forces, a Japanese naval spokesman declared today.

His statements made clear that the entire problem created by Britain's decision to withdraw her troops from Shanghai still is unresolved as far as the Japanese are concerned, with the outcome possibly depending on how far the United States is prepared to go to create the defense committee's decision.

That decision, which was approved today by the Shanghai Municipal council, is contingent on acceptance by governments concerned. It was reached Thursday in a 4-hour meeting in which British and American views carried over Japanese opposition. Italy, fourth country represented, failed to vote.

The Japanese spokesman today definitely indicated the Japanese would be unwilling to accept any arrangements except their own "demand" that the entire British area be handed over to Japanese control.

He said another meeting of the defense committee would be called to consider additional "final proposals" and that in the meantime the Japanese would consider yesterday's committee agreement "only tentative and not final."

Berlin, Aug. 16 (AP)—DNEB, official German news agency, said today German military planes over London's environs had started big fires on either side of the Thames and that "everywhere smoke was rising, everywhere his and bomb craters were visible."

Arsenals, warehouses and refrigerating plants were among the objectives of the great fleet of Nazi bombers, DNEB said, reporting that a fierce aerial engagement had raged over London itself.

European Prospect Of Crops 'Average'

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (AP)—Europe's 1940 crop prospects were described as "average good" today by German agricultural experts, who said the Reich's food situation was excellent with record root crops (potatoes, beets, etc.) in the offing.

These experts said the rationing system had greatly helped Germany to reduce cereal consumption, and declared there was absolutely no cause for worry since the Reich's grain supplies were still plentiful.

The German experts declared that Britain would be to blame if her blockade caused grain shortages in countries formerly allied with her—France, Norway and the lowlands, for instance.

Congratulations—Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Law are the parents of a son born Tuesday. He has been named Joe Charles. Mr. Law is with the Cabot company.

Japanese Bombers Attack China HONGKONG, Aug. 16 (AP)—Japanese naval bombers ranged in full force over widespread areas of China today, subjecting Henyang, industrial, military and railroad center 270 miles north of Canton, to what the Japanese communiqué said was one of the war's severest aerial attacks.

Nazis Repel British Planes BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—British patrol vessels were driven away from the French coast at Cape Gris Nez, directly across from Dover, by German anti-aircraft artillery last night, DNEB, official German news agency, said today.

The agency said several hits were scored by the Germans, causing fires on the vessels.

Greeks Claim Italians Bombed Two Destroyers

ATHENS, Aug. 16 (AP)—A high authority said here tonight the commanders of two Greek destroyers bombed by warplanes today had reported by radio to the navy ministry that the attacking planes were Italian.

The government carefully refrained from any comment, insisting that the planes were of "unknown" nationality, the high authority said.

The officers of the two destroyers, the Vasilevs Georgios I and Vasilpisa Olga, crafts of 1,350 tonnage, had carefully watched the planes through field glasses and reported "an absolute identification."

The government was expected to continue to preserve silence lest any statement imperil Greek neutrality at a time when the situation between Greece and Italy is growing hourly more critical.

The two destroyers were scheduled to arrive at Piraeus, the port of Athens, tonight.

A great attack on harbor and facilities at Chatham, a ship repair depot on the lower Thames, also was described.

DNEB said huge fires were started in the docks and shipyards and in the coaling stations near the harbor basin, that many workshops were seriously damaged, some barracks caused to collapse, and that after dropping bombs, the German planes swooped low and destroyed anti-aircraft and searchlight positions. This operation, DNEB said, would facilitate the laying of mines.

Recapitulating the results of yesterday's heaviest raids of all time, the high command said at least 143 British planes were

Terms Of Hungarians Severe, Carol Told

TURNU-SEVERIN, Rumania, Aug. 16 (AP)—Rumanian delegates to a conference on Hungary's claims to Transylvania returned to Bucharest tonight to report to King Carol on what was described here as an "extremely severe" Hungarian proposal.

Hungary's delegates earlier had submitted a "completely new" plan for settlement of the dispute for the rich province. Details were kept secret but the proposal was believed to be based on a Magyar minimum demand for three-fourths of Transylvania.

Hitler Makes Supreme Effort To Blast Island To Pieces

Great fires roared in London's suburbs late today, the German news agency, DNEB, reported, as waves of Nazi warplanes fought a terrific air battle with British RAF ships over the British capital.

"Everywhere smoke was rising . . . everywhere hits and bomb craters were visible," DNEB said, in a running account of what appeared to be the biggest aerial battle in the history of warfare.

The news agency asserted that sky-blackening waves of Nazi bombers and fighters "have breached the air barrier and cleared the air over London."

If true, the heart of the British empire apparently lay at the mercy of new waves of dive-bombers which DNEB said still were streaking across the channel.

A terrific air battle over London was being fought this afternoon, authorized Nazis in Berlin said, with German planes raining bombs on London's outlying suburbs and clashing with British pursuit ships.

While cable communication with London remained ominously silent regarding the air-raid, dispatches from Berlin said huge explosions from Nazi bombs were observed at Purfleet and Barking, in the British capital's densely-populated east end.

Big gun-powder factories are located at Purfleet. (The Barking-Purfleet section is just a short distance north of the Royal Woolwich arsenal. In the vicinity are clustered London's most important docks and nearby is the huge Imperial gas works.)

Hitler sent his bombers against London for the second time in 24 hours today, Berlin reported, and an estimated 2,500 Nazi warplanes—twice as many as in yesterday's juggernaut smash—were seen flashing across the English coast.

Authorized Nazis in Berlin said tersely that a mighty fleet of German bombers headed for the British capital this afternoon.

The brief Berlin dispatch explained the mystery of an interrupted broadcast by a London radio, which gave the first indication that the metropolis with its teeming millions was being attacked.

*** Huge Fires Sear Island, Claim Nazis

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (AP)—"Numerous waves" of Germany's warplanes, resuming the war against England, flew over the Thames, and in the direction of north central England today, DNEB, official German news agency said.

Already heavily damaged in this, the sixth successive day of a mighty air offensive aimed at every vital military and industrial objective in south and central England, were several British channel ports, aircraft factories and armament works, the high command said.

But these were only the reports from early day raids in which mines also were sown in numerous British harbors, Germans said.

DNEB, official news agency, said a large number of bombs had been dropped in the Austin company plant in Birmingham. Britain's great Midlands industrial center, and that "large scale conflagrations" broke out in this factory, which formerly made automobiles but now makes aircraft engines.

DNEB said, is now building motors and equipment for the British armed forces.

Other huge fires were said to have been started by many bombs loosed on the Blackburn Aircraft factory near Hull where Britain's new dive bombers are being built.

Shops Believed Afire Fires in both these plants were believed to have been in the assembly shops, DNEB said.

A great attack on harbor and facilities at Chatham, a ship repair depot on the lower Thames, also was described.

DNEB said huge fires were started in the docks and shipyards and in the coaling stations near the harbor basin, that many workshops were seriously damaged, some barracks caused to collapse, and that after dropping bombs, the German planes swooped low and destroyed anti-aircraft and searchlight positions. This operation, DNEB said, would facilitate the laying of mines.

Raiders Fan Out In All Directions

LONDON, Aug. 16 (AP)—A mighty armada—some military observers estimated it at 2,500 planes—led out at England today in what appeared to be Adolf Hitler's supreme effort to crush this island empire.

In uncounted waves, the bombing machine-gunning Nazi warplanes roared across the coast all the way from the north to the south throughout the day—and still they came to unload their lethal loads in a thundering follow-up to yesterday's gigantic attack which struck at the very outskirts of London.

Four hundred planes, coming in six distinct waves at five-minute intervals flew over one southeastern port alone.

Reports from five other coastal points said they were coming over in equal numbers—probably more than doubling the 1,000-plane assault yesterday which until then had been the greatest aerial thrust of all time.

The southeast coast bore the brunt of today's attacks, but no part of Britain was immune from the wholesale assaults.

Early unofficial reports from the day's fighting said at least 13 German raiders—seven Junkers dive-bombers and five fighters—were downed.

160 Downed Yesterday An official announcement said 160 German and 34 British planes were downed in yesterday's battles. German losses were 126, British 34.

The Germans made a mass, three-hour attack on one south coast town through a wall of exploding anti-aircraft shells, dropping two barrage balloons there and two more at a nearby port at a cost of two Nazi planes downed in flames. The British lost one plane.

Bombs dropped on a third town in the same area caused several casualties, set off huge fires and destroyed two buildings.

In northeast England an elderly woman died of shock when a bomb struck an air raid shelter, injuring several persons inside when a wall was blown in.

Beginning before dawn, the Nazi raiders launched the sixth successive day of the greatest mass air siege of all time by raining bombs on the Midlands, industrial heart of England; the northwest, northeast, southeast, southwest and Wales.

Some casualties, including deaths, were admitted and the German

Glady's Must Have Been Holding Out

DETROIT, Aug. 16 (AP)—"Glady's wouldn't tell me how much money she has, so I decided to find out for myself," was Sydney C. Siker's explanation why police found him in a west side branch bank at 1:35 a. m. today.

"Glady's" is Mrs. Siker, a housewife in the same factory where Siker, a tool and die maker, works.

Sergeant Fred Crowford said he found Siker in a cashier's cage hastily scanning columns of names and figures. Nothing was stolen.

At the police station Lieut. Hugo Pick quoted Siker as saying: "I know she's got a big bank account. I've kept asking her how much, but she's just smiling and changes the subject."

"My account isn't in that branch, anyway," commented Glady's who still won't talk.

Siker was held for federal authorities.

Rendezvous With Destiny

The command is forward! Forward marches America to a new destiny. It is no less than the creation of the greatest and finest civilization the world has ever seen!

But behind all this lies the inspiring response of all America to the question, "Are you resolved to defend yourself against whatever force tries to intimidate or assault you?"

Bearded Walt Whitman saw this vision of the future many years ago. Today we feel something of what he felt when he wrote: "The earth, restive, confronts a new era, perhaps a general divine war."

Behind The News

By GERRY DICK, NEA Service Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The excess profits bill now whirling through the congressional mill will be a compromise.

The Treasury felt the base should be a fixed profit on invested capital, all profits above that to be taxed. That would have suited steel manufacturers, for instance, who have a long way to go before showing any very striking profit on invested capital.

Now the compromise, in the final draft of the bill: individual manufacturers to choose either base, thus giving everybody a break. If profits are less than $5000 a year, the law won't apply at all.

Good example—or not? A target may bring down unexpected game. It may be found in an effort to amend the "stolen property act of 1934."

Common Ground

This column contains there can be no satisfactory program until we eliminate the charge of such mass by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

HAS ROOSEVELT REALLY BEFRIENDED RELIEFERS? A correspondent writes, "as to those on relief, they do not have to be threatened or coerced to vote for one who has befriended them," meaning, of course, Roosevelt.

The big problem the American people have to face is to determine whether the New Deal or Roosevelt have, in reality and in the long run, befriended the destitute people.

Those who are on relief, like many other people, believe what is pleasant to believe. They are satisfied that they can be "supported" indefinitely by the toil of other labor.

It must be remembered that it takes much longer to see an eventual result in a big undertaking, like changing our form of government, than it does in a private undertaking which is small.

Would the man who says that Roosevelt has befriended reliefers contend that Blum has befriended the destitute and poverty-stricken people in France?

At the suggestion of Wilkie that candidates and their families list their assets at the beginning of their offices and at the close, Roosevelt remarks that he is poorer now than he was in 1928 when he took the governorship of New York.

ROOSEVELT AGAIN EVADES At the suggestion of Wilkie that candidates and their families list their assets at the beginning of their offices and at the close, Roosevelt remarks that he is poorer now than he was in 1928 when he took the governorship of New York.

TROUBLE IN THE AIR (Kansas City Star). It is now some six weeks since the air safety board was abolished by executive order and control of civil aviation in the United States was returned to the department of commerce.

Now the British government is now buying war material. For money, it is using proceeds of stocks and bonds "requisitioned" from its nationals.

THAT'S THE MAN TO FEAR!

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON, NEA Service Staff Correspondent. HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—Even if she is the daughter of a studio owner, Margaret Roach believes she may have a hard time.

AN ONION, FOE LOVE Miss Roach's costume is a skimpy black velvet affair, and I hear the Hays Office is a little worried about the neckline.

Lead Sprays All Around AP Reporter

By H. Taylor Henry
A TOWN IN SOUTHEASTERN ENGLAND, Aug. 16 (AP)—A mighty armada of German planes is sky-rocketing across the English coast today and military observers in this area estimated they were twice as numerous as in yesterday's 1,000-plane assault. Some put today's figure as high as 2,500.

I counted 400 planes over this English port alone in the vast armada and still they came.

The military observers based their calculations on unofficial reports that planes in equal numbers had soared across the coast at four or five other points.

I counted the planes, flying at 20,000 feet and coming in six distinct waves at roughly five-minute intervals.

One squadron singled out this port, downing two barrage balloons and spraying small demolition bombs along the cliff below where I was standing and machine-gunning the cliff itself.

One balloon known as "King Lear" crashed with its long cable down on three small cottages at the base of the cliffs, setting fire to their roofs.

Several small fires were playing inside, but the fires were put out quickly and they were unharmed.

As the plane which bagged this balloon swept out to sea, it screamed only 200 feet above my head, spraying machine-gun bullets all over the cliff where I was standing.

One piece of jagged shrapnel crashed into the asphalt a bare 10 feet away.

One Messerschmitt fighter ran into tremendous anti-aircraft barrage during a diving on the balloons. He was bounced about in the sky, but swept on through and then backed out to sea.

"A cheeky blighter," commented one RAF officer watching the fight. "He's a damned German, but he deserved to get away with it. It was one of the most daring dives I've ever seen."

Farm Income Runs Ahead Of Last Year

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP)—With farm income running ahead of 1939 and prices of principal commodities higher than a year ago, analysts of market statistics today indicated that United States farmers' chances of receiving the best income in a decade depend on price trends in the immediate future.

Price developments, in turn, depend partly on the world conditions. In the last four months of 1939 farmers benefited from sharp price rises due to the war. Now semi-paralysis of international trade and inability of many European importing nations to buy foreign farm commodities are affecting U. S. domestic prices.

Trade experts here said, however, that if restrictions on European demand are removed and some revival in export business is permitted, American farmers should benefit. Certain so-called food deficient countries are believed to have substantial credits in the U. S., they said.

In the first six months of 1940 cash farm income from marketings, plus government benefit payments, totaled $3,824,000,000, an increase of almost 9 per cent compared with the first half of 1939. Experts pointed out that the margin of improvement over last year has diminished recently since the price break of May.

Soul To Be Topic Of Lesson-Sermon

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 18.

The Golden Text is "Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul" (Psalms 66:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Seek the Lord, and his strength; seek his face evermore. For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness" (Psalms 105:4; 107-9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We cannot deny that Life is self-sustained, and we should never deny the everlasting harmony of Soul, simply because, to the mortal senses, there is seeming discord. It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony" (page 360).

TO PREACH HERE

The Rev. Happy Holmes, above, pastor of the First Baptist church at Overton, will conduct the tent revival which is to begin at the First Baptist church Sunday. Arthur Nelson will have charge of the music during the evangelistic campaign. Services are to be held each week-day at 10 o'clock with the exception of Monday and Saturday and each evening at 8 o'clock. The Rev. C. Gordon Bayless is pastor of the local church.

Tent Revival To Begin At Baptist Church Sunday

The Rev. Happy Holmes, pastor of the First Baptist church at Overton, will begin a tent revival at the First Baptist church here Sunday.

The Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor of the local church, said of him today: "I have known Happy Holmes for 10 years. We were fellow pastors in the same city for four years. He is truly one of the really forceful evangelists of Texas. Fine results follow his work wherever he goes. He is big in body, mind, and heart. During the World War he was overseas 18 months. He went 'over the top' several times. Happy has been preaching since he was 14 years of age. My prediction is that he will attract record crowds."

Arthur Nelson, former assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, will be in charge of the song service. The tent is located on the lot north of the church. Services will be conducted each night at 8 o'clock and each week day at 10 o'clock with the exception of Monday and Saturday.

Mrs. Holmes will accompany Rev. Holmes to Pampa.

Cure For Motorists Who Run Red Lights

BREMERTON, Wash., Aug. 16 (AP)—Denver R. King, seaman on the U. S. S. Lexington, aircraft carrier, has patented his cure for motorists who dash through red stoplights.

His device flattens to the pavement while the light is green, pops up when it's red.

A new helicopter, especially designed by Igor Sikorsky, is powered with a 65 h.p. engine, which drives a three-bladed propeller above the pilot's head. The distinguishing feature of the plane is a small single-bladed prop mounted on an outrigger in the rear of the ship.

Quills are said to have been first used for pens in the year 553.

House Approves National Guard Mobilization Act

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—Overwhelming house approval of the national guard mobilization bill all but cleared the way today for the calling of an estimated 306,000 men to the colors for a year's active service.

The passage of the measure by a 342 to 33 vote late yesterday left progressive mobilization of the guard and reservists only two steps short of actuality—the senate must first concur in some minor changes in the legislation it previously approved, and then President Roosevelt must sign it into law.

The army meanwhile marked time, with plans ready to call up the first contingent of 55,000 guardsmen September 15, and reports from war game areas where the militia is now training said weeding out of physically unfit already was under way.

As the mobilization measure moved through final legislation stages, the "destroyers-for-Britain" issue bobbed back into capital limelight amid a flurry of reports that Great Britain had offered to lease the United States hemisphere naval bases in return for the badly-needed war craft.

Proponents of the transfer of over-age destroyers to Britain renewed their efforts, concentrating on attempts to show that the transaction could be accomplished legally, without the necessity of congressional approval.

The reported offer of bases in British possessions as the purchase price of destroyers was said to be under White House study. One source asserted that the attorney general had prepared an opinion, holding disposal of the destroyers legal if the chief of naval operations should certify that they were not needed for national defense.

House approval of the bill empowering the President to mobilize the national guard came yesterday after a turbulent session which saw a series of modifying amendments decisively rejected. The major restriction defeated was a proposal to limit service of mobilized men to the continental United States, instead of permitting their use in the country's territories and possessions, and in the western hemisphere.

The senate yesterday continued its debate on the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill. After the session Senator Burke (D-Neb) said he was not willing to accept the amendment of Senator Waxman (D-Conn) who proposes to defer the draft until January 1. Burke said the country could not afford even that delay.

Other defense developments included: The army gave the Chrysler corporation a contract to build a $20,000,000 "tank arsenal" at Detroit and placed an initial $33,500,000 order for 1,000 "medium" tanks of 25 tons or more.

The army also completed arrangements for a $250,000 advertising campaign to accelerate its drive for voluntary enlistments.

Lions Given Quiz On Current Events

A quiz on current topics, including the question of compulsory military training, comprised the program of the Pampa Lions club regular weekly luncheon at noon Thursday. The quiz, similar to the one held last week by Pampa Rotarians, was conducted by Arthur Teed.

In another part of the program music was furnished by Gene Finkbeiner, pianist, and Bill Haley, accordion player.

Attendance at the luncheon was 60, including two visiting Lions, Noel Evans of Amarillo and M. C. Davis of Panhandle. Other visitors were Clyde Carruth, Stinnett, Charles Oliver, Sunray, former Pampian, and L. McCarley and Joe Gordon, both of Pampa.

SERIAL STORY MURDER INCOGNITO

BY NORMAN KAHL

COPYRIGHT, 1940,
NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY Hazel Leighton explains how she found the body. It is surprising when O'Leary tells her the $2000 check made out to her. She explains that Saylor made this offer, investigation indicates that the murderer is inside the house.

CHAPTER V

HAZEL LEIGHTON looked incredulously, first at Sergeant Carroll and then at Lieutenant O'Leary. "But that's impossible," she said. "How could anyone in this house have committed the murder? We were all in the drawing room. No one left until I got up and found the body."

O'Leary sighed the deep sigh of a police officer who has a job on his hands. "Sure, it's impossible. All clever murders are impossible. That's what the murderer wants us to think. That's why they're clever—until they're caught."

Hazel glared at the lieutenant disdainfully. And then suddenly her eyes grew larger and her eyebrows arched ominously. "Do you mean that we're—that I'm a suspect?"

"Everyone's a suspect until we find the right party," said O'Leary.

"That's ridiculous," Hazel snapped. She got to her feet. "All of us had plenty of reason to want to see Martin out of the way, and some of us would probably have murdered him if it had occurred to us or if we had been given the chance. But we weren't." She said haughtily, "I'll leave you bloodhounds until you've figured out the answer on your little ouija board."

The two officers watched her as she walked out of the study. Then Carroll shook his head sadly and sauntered over to the desk and dropped heavily into the chair. Hazel had just left. "You'd think she done it," he said.

O'Leary smiled weakly. "Maybe she did. She's been Saylor's friend and he wanted to call it quits—wanted to buy her off. She was insulted—so she says."

Carroll scratched his head and squinted. "Yeah, but Chief, she couldn't have done it. She didn't have time to get that door open and a couple of seconds later they heard her scream. She didn't have any gun. And the angle of the bullet is all wrong . . . comes from over her shoulder and not from that door."

"That's the trouble with this case, Sergeant—nobody could have done it . . . only someone did. Have you checked the servants?"

"Yeah. They were all in the kitchen—all except the chauffeur.

He was out in the room above the garage. He's the only one who was loose long enough to have taken a pot shot at Saylor. O'Leary looked up quickly. "Where is he now?"

"Still in his room. A couple of boys have their eyes on the garage. I thought you might want to see him."

"Okay, bring him in, Sergeant. We'll have a little talk with him."

IT took Carroll five minutes to return with a medium-sized man, with swarthy skin and dark, wavy hair. There was a thin scar that ran along his neck and his eyes were deep and hollow.

O'Leary had been staring vacantly into the blackness through the French windows near the desk. He turned and took in the man with a swift glance. "Are you Mr. Saylor's chauffeur?"

The man clenched his fist. "Yes, sir."

"Did you know Mr. Saylor is dead?"

"Yes, sir. The cops—the officers told me."

"What's your name?"

"Riggs,"

"Is that your real name?"

The man hesitated a moment. "No, sir. That's what Mr. Saylor called me. My name's Carlos Gomez."

"Riggs will do . . . we'll call you that."

Carroll made a quick entry on a loose envelope in his pocket. O'Leary walked along the south edge of the room and perched finally on the arm of a broad sofa that stood before the fireplace. Riggs looked about him, and for a moment his eyes remained pinned to the large blotch in the sand-colored rug.

"Where were you tonight, Riggs?" O'Leary asked.

"Right here on the grounds . . . in my room."

"And you stayed there?"

"Yes, sir. I did."

"Did you hear anything—any noises at all . . . like someone prowling around?"

"No, sir."

"What were you doing in your room?"

"Reading a magazine."

Carroll kept his gaze steadily on the chauffeur, who stood rigidly at attention. O'Leary shifted his cigar from his hand to a corner of his mouth.

"How long have you worked here, Riggs?" he asked.

The man calculated for a moment and then said, "Six years . . . a little more."

"Did you drive Mr. Saylor everywhere he went?"

"Almost everywhere. He couldn't drive a car himself, but he sometimes took a taxi."

"Tell me, Riggs, did you boss have many enemies?"

Riggs glared at the floor. "I suppose so . . . everyone has."

"I mean more than usual."

"I don't know, sir." The chauffeur avoided the lieutenant's eyes. "That wasn't my business."

Sergeant Carroll blurted, "Listen, buddy, all hackmen know about their bosses' affairs. You better . . ."

O'Leary got up. "All right, Riggs. That's enough. Go back to the garage. You'd better not leave the grounds, though. We may not be finished with you."

"Yes, sir." Riggs looked quickly at O'Leary and Carroll and then turned and walked hurriedly from the room into the library.

CARROLL watched him until he was out of the room. Then he wheeled swiftly on O'Leary. "That's our man, Chief," he said.

"What makes you think so?"

"Who else could it be? He was the only one who was loose long enough. Nobody was with him from 8:15 until we came. Anyway, he looks like the kind of guy who might pull a job like this."

O'Leary shook his head. "Maybe. Maybe you're right. Only I'd hate to try to get a conviction on the evidence we've got now. Remember, the shot was fired from this window . . . only the window was never opened. Not from the outside, at least."

O'Leary sauntered over near the door. In the drawing room across the hallway he could see Mardell gesturing to Hazel Leighton. Dale Appleby and George Barbour were probably there, too. The lieutenant walked briskly back to the window and motioned Carroll to come over. For a few minutes, the two men spoke softly.

When O'Leary entered the drawing room, the conversation stopped abruptly. The officer stood poised in the doorway a moment. His trained eyes swept the five persons in the room. "One of these people," he thought, "must be a murderer."

"I'm going to ask some questions," the officer said. "Some of them may seem kind of personal, but that can't be helped. There are a lot of things we've got to know about if we're going to get to the bottom of this thing. Frankly, we don't know very much yet, but—"

O'Leary didn't finish. From somewhere in the den, a shot rang out that made the whole house quiver.
