ITALY ATTACKS GREECE BY LAND AND AIR AS BRITAIN SENDS 'UNLIMITED SUPPORT'

Wage-Hour Seizures Upheld By Court

Amarillo Story Incorrect, Says John Sturgeon

Membership of the Gray County Selective Service board, as announced Saturday by Chairman John F. Sturgeon, quoted Sunday in The Pampa News, was certified today by the chairman as correct.

An alphabetical list of registrants has been prepared, eliminating the confusion caused by the search for serial numbers and names of registrants. As required by regulations the cards were shuffled and numbered in sequence.

Persons who wish to cast absentee ballots in the general election of November 5, have only until Saturday to vote. The deadline comes on that day.

To date, 51 absentee ballots have been received at the office of the county clerk.

The ballots for the 1940 election are seven columns wide, not quite as wide as the 1936 ballots, which had eight columns.

There are five parties with presidential electors in the field, but only the Democrats offer a full state ticket.

For some reason the Communist party nominated eight electors although the law allows for 23 from this state (one for each congressman and U. S. senator) and other parties chose that number.

A new stamp arrived at the Pampa postoffice today for immediate sale. It was the stamp commemorating the 75th anniversary of the 13th amendment to the constitution which was the freeing of the slaves.

That children playing on the tracks above the South Cuyler street underpass have been throwing stones at cars passing under them and yesterday a windshield was broken and several hoods and fenders dented. Police have been asked to investigate and Chief J. B. Wilkinson has given the necessary orders.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—The supreme court refused today to interfere with a circuit court decision holding that the federal wage-hour administrator could subpoena records from employers.

The court turned down a request by Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc., to review a ruling that records could be required even though there was no reasonable cause to believe that the wage-hour act was being violated.

Denial of a review left in effect the decision by the seventh federal circuit court.

Before adjourning for two weeks, the supreme court also denied a petition by the Norfolk, Va., school board for a review of a circuit court decision holding that Negro public school teachers were entitled to the same compensation as white teachers equally qualified.

The Chicago mail order house challenged the authority of the administrator to subpoena records concerning 2,000 employees at its Kansas City, Mo., branch.

Its contention that such action constituted an unreasonable "search and seizure" prohibited by the constitution was overruled by the seventh federal circuit court.

Solicitor General Francis Biddle said Montgomery Ward had argued that each employer could determine in advance what employees were subject to the act and could limit to them the information given by the federal administrator.

This, Biddle asserted, "would halt the administrator's investigation at the threshold and seriously impair the enforcement of the act."

Strong wind yesterday caused cancellation of the proposed trip of Borger pilots to Pampa and other Panhandle airports as part of a "Hi Neighbor" tour.

Hundreds of Pampanos were at the local airport at 2:45 p. m., scheduled time of arrival, but the 30-mile an hour wind made it impossible for the light ships to make the trip.

"Maybe we can make a trip later," Frank W. Phillips of Borger, tour chairman, told local pilots in a telephone conversation.

The meeting of the advisory board of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute, announced for tonight, will not be held until next Monday night, November 4, in the basement of the Schneider hotel, Chairman Berlin said today.

At that time Jack Berry of Amarillo will show pictures taken on a recent tour of Alaska. Also present will be C. M. Davis, coordinator of vocational courses.

HERE ARE TWO COWBOYS' SWEETHEARTS

Among the many pretty girls to be seen in the Kiwanis club's Top O' Texas Revue at the high school auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday nights of next week are Miss Frankie Lou Keen, left, a featured dancer, and Miss Vivian Earsom, who is directing the show's dance numbers.

Hitler and Mussolini Confer At Florence

FLORENCE, Italy, Oct. 28. (AP)—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini talked in complete harmony "on all present questions" here today as Italy took what were described as "urgent measures required to face the danger of the situation" in Greece.

A communique issued after the Axis leaders' first, three-hour session, merely said that their conversation, "in the spirit of the alliance between the two countries, developed as always in the most cordial form and show a complete identity of views on all present questions."

When their conference ended at 1:40 p. m., Hitler and Mussolini, with their respective foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, drove through the rain to the government palace for luncheon.

Despite the rain, crowds lined the streets to watch.

The two Axis leaders began their session at 11:30 a. m. and emerged at 1:50 p. m. for luncheon with their foreign ministers Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, and other dignitaries.

A second conference was expected to begin about 3 p. m. (8 a. m. C. S. T.).

The conversations took place in the medieval battlements of Palazzo Vecchio on the 18th anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome, which put Il Duce in power in Italy.

Mussolini's train arrived in Florence about 10:40 a. m. (2:40 a. m. C. S. T.). His foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, had arrived earlier and greeted his father-in-law at the station.

Hitler's train arrived about 20 minutes later.

As soon as the Fuehrer stepped from the train he and Mussolini exchanged salutes and handshakes, reviewed an honor guard on the platform and then passed through the royal waiting room to a square in front of the station, where a crowd had assembled to cheer them.

Recorders C. E. McGrew had a couple of busy sessions yesterday and this morning when several dozen persons appeared before him. He assessed fines in every case, the total being $125.

Nine of the charges filed were for intoxication and three for disturbing the peace. All fines assessed were $10 except one of the disturbing the peace cases which drew a fine of $15.

Seven of the persons fined paid their way out while four decided to work. The other voted to "rest."

Kennedy To Address Nation Tuesday Night

War Flashes

LONDON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Both King George VI and Prime Minister Winston Churchill have promised Greece every possible help against the Italian invaders in personal messages to the Greek sovereign and prime minister, it was learned tonight.

ATHENS, Oct. 28. (AP)—Authoritative neutral military sources said tonight they had information that Turkish troops have moved into Thrace and eastern Greece.

There was no immediate confirmation of this available from the Turkish legation here.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, whose return from Great Britain aroused widespread speculation as to its purpose, announced today that he would speak to the nation in a broadcast over CBS tomorrow night.

Kennedy, who conferred with President Roosevelt last night in Washington immediately after his return by Clipper plane and then declined to discuss the conference, said he would make no other statement today.

His broadcast will be at 8 p. m. (CST) and that the committee was releasing a half hour to Kennedy. The radio chain did not know who would pay for the Kennedy time, nor would its officials say anything about the sponsorship.

Not until Lewis actually was ready to speak did the Democratic for-Wilkie announce that the estimated $45,000 cost was being paid by their organization.

Return of the 52-year-old diplomat to his homeland just before the general election and the fact that the state department and Kennedy had little to say regarding the purpose of his visit provoked reports that he was not entirely in sympathy with the administration's foreign policy.

Secretary Hull announced last week that Kennedy was returning for consultations and that as far as he knew, the ambassador would return to his post.

England Suffers Widespread Raids

LONDON, Oct. 28. (AP)—German planes were reported over the west of England, the industrial Midlands, the east coast and South Wales in daylight raids today after a series of widespread raids during the night.

Luncheon throngs in London were given a brief air raid alert, second of the day.

A third alarm was sounded in mid-afternoon.

Bombers staked at London in the first grey light of dawn today only a short time after the all-clear ended the 51st consecutive all-night raid on Britain's capital—but the first daylight alarm lasted only a short while.

The overnight air attacks on London were "much less" severe than on the previous night, the government said, adding that "the main attacks, which were made in the earlier hours of darkness, were on northwest England and the Midlands."

Royal air force warplanes, meanwhile, attacked communications in western Germany during the night, the air ministry reported, as well as oil targets in central and northern Germany and two "invasion ports."

Premier Tries To Bring Turkey In On Side Of Greece

ATHENS, Oct. 28. (AP)—Greece fought with her little army today against invading Italian forces and announced officially that Great Britain was sending her "unlimited support."

Less than 12 hours after the Italians had attacked by land and air, the government issued this communique:

"Premier Metaxas conferred early this morning with the British minister, who told him that Greece in her fight against Italy would have the unreserved support of England to the fullest extent. British support will be unlimited."

"Metaxas also conferred with the Turkish minister to Athens and immediately afterwards communicated by telephone with the Greek minister in Ankara. The Premier later communicated by telephone with the president of the Turkish republic, Inonu."

The urgent conversations with the highest authority in Turkey were taken as evidence that Greek's dictator, John Metaxas, is making every effort to bring the Turks in on his side.

British Fleet Aiding Greece, Takes Crete

ATHENS, Oct. 28.—The British fleet came to the aid of invaded Greece today in the first day of her war with Italy and, informed sources said, took over the strategic 150-mile long island of Crete while Greece's little army fought the Italians all along the northern frontier.

British warships also were reported to have engaged Italian naval units in a stiff battle off Corfu, Ionian island just opposite the juncture of the Albanian and Greek frontiers, and to have occupied a small island with an airfield nearby.

Crete, reported being occupied by landing parties from other British warships in the eastern Mediterranean southeast of the Greek mainland.

Still other reports, these from reliable neutral sources and not of Greek confirmation, said Turkish troops responding to Greek's call for help, were marching into Thrace and eastern Greece.

Italy under the provocation of a three-hour ultimatum today, and King George II threw the nation's estimated 100,000 soldiers into battle against 200,000 Italian troops.

Czech Arms Plant At Pilsen Bombed

LONDON, Oct. 28. (AP)—A successful air raid by a strong force of RAF bombers on the Skoda armaments works at Pilsen, in Czechoslovakia, last night was reported today by the air ministry.

The raid was the most distant of the RAF's widespread attacks on Germany and German-occupied countries.

Blenheim bombers of the coastal command, the air ministry's news service said, also scored a direct hit on a power station at the Nazi-occupied French naval base of Lorient.

The target was illuminated by a fire visible 35 miles away, set by a salvo of bombs, it was related.

There was a "big Blue flash" from the power station after the bombs had burst, one pilot said.

Attendance Award Presented To Memphis Chapter At Delta Kappa Gamma Regional Meeting In Pampa

A breakfast honoring chapter, state, and national officers at the Schneider hotel Sunday morning concluded the two-day regional meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma society, a national honorary fraternity for women teachers, which was attended by 143 members and guests representing seven chapters including 30 counties of northwestern Texas.

Miss Odessa Howell, of White Deer, vice-president of Beta Delta chapter, presided at the concluding session when an attendance award was presented to Gamma Kappa chapter of Memphis which was represented by 22 members who traveled a total of 1,472 miles. Miss Esta McElrath is president of this group.

Members of the seven chapters represented traveled more than 14,872 miles in attending the regional meeting.

Miss Berneta Minkwitz of Fort Worth, national treasurer, spoke on "Money Questions" following the breakfast. She stated that the national organization is strong not only in members but in finances, having handled last year $120,000. This included a $30,000 national scholarship fund from which the first $1,000 fellowship grant was made last year to Miss Lillian Minor of Virginia, who is attending Peabody college in Nashville. This is not a loan but a gift. The second scholarship is well underway and can be finished in four years. The budget for last year was $13,500. Miss Minkwitz pointed out.

Miss Eula Lee Carter of Fort Worth, state executive secretary, discussed "Delta Kappa Gamma Opportunities." She stressed seven points: Look to your quotas, use preferential ballot in selecting members, make programs interesting, study the constitution, look to your dinner tables. The colors, red and gold, were repeated in the miniature airplanes which marked each place.

CHAIRMAN

Mrs. John I. Bradley, above, past president of Beta Delta chapter, was general chairman for the regional meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma which was concluded with a breakfast Sunday morning in the Schneider hotel. Mrs. Bradley, who was president for two years, 1937-1939, is a charter member and has been a life member since 1936. She is an active member of the First Methodist church where she has been a teacher and is now superintendent of the junior department. Mrs. Bradley, a charter member of the American Association of University Women, is legislation chairman of that organization. She has taught in the Pampa school system for several years and is now a member of the faculty of Sam Houston school where she is active in P-T. A. work. Mrs. Bradley is president of the Pampa Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, a member of the American Legion auxiliary, and a member of chapter A Arkansas P. E. O.

The largest group ever to be initiated at a regional meeting was taken in Saturday afternoon at the city club rooms in a beautiful candlelight service. The ritual was read by presidents of the chapters with Miss Carter presiding. The national and state officers formed a guard of honor behind the 19 initiates, who were as follows:

Gamma Kappa, Mrs. Thomasine Elliott, Wellington; Miss Bonnie Willis, Wellington; Miss Alice Bishop, Hedley; Mrs. M. C. Goodner, Clarendon; Miss Gladys Wallace, Clarendon; Mrs. Carl Chaudoin, Rual.

Gamma Theta, Mrs. Sid Clark, Mrs. Mary Lee, and Miss Okla Mae Lawrence, Spearman; Miss Ava B. Webb, Spring Creek; Miss Elizabeth Chenoweth, and Mrs. E. B. Geyer, Borger.

Gamma H, Miss Revah, McLean; Miss Alexander, and Mrs. R. H. Campbell, Dalhart.

Beta Delta, Mrs. Vera Powers and Miss Lorene Whinton, McLean; Mrs. Lois Roberts, Pampa; and Miss Pauline Irons, Wheeler.

The honor roll, which includes those who made 100 per cent on a questionnaire sent out by Beta Delta president, Miss Ila Mae Hastings, follows:

Mary L. Higginbottom and Edna Daly, Gamma Xi; Mrs. Henry Foster, Laura Roberts, Mary Foreman, Esta McElrath, Mrs. Rubie Franklin, Mrs. Clarence Morris, Miss Mahlan Hare, Gamma Kappa; Mrs. Lee Nowlin, Mrs. Elsie Stone, and Mrs. Cross, Gamma Iota; Gladys Holley, Odessa Howell, Mrs. H. E. Weeks, Claudia Geyer, Mrs. John Bradley, and Miss Ila Mae Hastings, Beta Delta chapter.

records, stress qualities of leadership, and remember the scholarship, and remember the scholarship party in February.

The remainder of the breakfast program included the invocation, a reading by Miss Juanita Campbell of Canadian, a sing song, the introduction of officers, and the official song.

Decorating the breakfast table were red roses and maps of Texas in red and gold. On these maps Pampa was shown as the airport with airplanes arriving from towns represented, Dalhart, Borger, Amarillo, Kress, Memphis, Plainview, Lubbock, Spur, Dallas, Fort Worth, and other points.

At the banquet given Saturday night in the hotel, Miss Lela Lee Williams, one of the national founders of the society which was organized in 1929 in Austin, gave the main address using as her topic, "The Elements or Traits of Character Found in Outstanding Women."

Giving as her theme, "woman consider woman," Miss Williams stated that all women have background and that they should all be helped by those who have advanced higher and by those who are their equals. This may be done by going a little higher or digging a little deeper.

Times never were more potential or more serious and the need has never been greater for women. Let's do something with these opportunities and in doing so we will help ourselves," she concluded.

Special music by Miss Julia Dean of Pi chapter of Amarillo followed. Other numbers on the program presided over by Miss Ila Mae Hastings, president of the hostess chapter, were the prayer of Delta Kappa Gamma songs by the group, greetings by Mrs. Ewing Leech of Beta Delta and the response by Mrs. J. W. Caldwell of Gamma Theta.

Brief talks on "What Delta Kappa Gamma Has Meant to Me" were given by Misses Berneta Minkwitz, Gladys Parker, Edna Graham, Phyllis Ellis, and Eula Lee Carter. Beautiful friendship, honor of the organization, fellowship, reputational, and spiritual rewards are some of the benefits named by those discussing the topic.

Musical selections included three vocal numbers, "Goodbye Sweet Day," "When Love Is King," and "Four Ducks on a Pond," by Mrs. Raymond Harrah who was accompanied by Mrs. Frank Elliott. Mrs. Sam Irwin led the group singing with Mrs. John Bradley at the piano.

Delta Kappa Gamma's official flower, red roses, and tall red candles were used in decorating the

At Smith To Take Stump For Willkie

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—A warmly waged battle for 33 of New England's 41 electoral votes swept into its final week today with leaders of both parties claiming a presidential edge, but with neutral observers limiting themselves for the most part to forecasts of a "close" finish in four of the six northern states.

Only in Maine and Vermont, the states which gave Republican Alf Landon, all of his eight electoral votes in 1936, did the presidential campaign move toward a relatively quiet close. There were few if any predictions of Democratic success in these traditionally Republican areas.

New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, however, the tempo was stepped up.

An announcement that Al Smith would take up the stump in Massachusetts for Wendell Willkie Thursday was followed by a decision by President Roosevelt to speak in Boston on Wednesday night, after traveling over part of the route which Willkie followed during four days of intensive New England campaigning earlier this month.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders throughout the area have been centering their efforts on an apparently sizeable bloc of independent voters, with many observers contending that the effect of the final week's drive upon this group might prove a deciding factor in New England.

Some clue to the intensity of the campaign in the industrial north-east could be gained from the noticeable absence of unqualified predictions by impartial political experts in sharp contrast to many another presidential election.

One indisputable has been the restrictions of tens of thousands of "new" voters, who have swelled the balloting lists in this area to a record high. Both Republicans and Democrats have claimed the lion's share of this added enrollment.

A second question has been whether the trend in the "off year" elections of 1938 would be continued in a presidential year. In 1938, Republicans made heavy gains, electing governors in all six states.

THE REIGNING FAVORITE

This is the season of seasons for that perennial classic of such deserved popularity, the smart and satisfying shirtwaister. And this lovely version will quickly make a place for itself in every wardrobe.

The graceful collar, the comely yoke, the paneled skirt—every detail blends into a perfect whole, a picture of charm for any and every occasion. There is a choice of sleeves, an inverted pleat at the center seam of the skirt for essential fullness.

An illustrated, step-by-step-instruction chart comes with every pattern, and inasmuch as this is a design which knows no season or climate, this is a pattern you will want to make over and over again. A perfect morning frock in cotton, a delightful daytime model in silk or wool, there is no end to its utility and no end to the pleasure it will provide you.

Pattern No. 8816 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 40, and 42.

Noted Surgeon, Dr. A. C. Scott, Dies At Temple

TEMPLE, Oct. 28 (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Dr. A. C. Scott, 57, skilled surgeon, cancer expert and hospital administrator, who died of a heart attack yesterday.

A pioneer in the use of gas anesthesia, he won fame for his experiment with the hot (cautery) knife in the removal of cancer.

Dr. Scott, who with the late Dr. R. R. White established a medical center here, had served as chief surgeon of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railway since 1922.

The surgeon was born at Gainesville in 1883, the son of Rufus Franklin and Martha Moran Scott, who came to Texas from Tennessee shortly after the war between the states.

He received his doctor of medicine degree from Bellevue Hospital Medical college, New York, before he was 21 years of age.

In 1909, he read a paper at the American Medical convention in San Francisco explaining his development of the shadow test in diagnosis of cancer of the breast. A cancer exhibit was highly praised at the convention. Later he was asked to show it at the Interstate Postgraduate Medical Congress at Philadelphia. Subsequently the exhibit was displayed at the 50th Annual Medical Association meeting in Oklahoma City.

Surviving are the widow; a son, Dr. A. C. Scott, Jr.; and two daughters, Mrs. Preston Childers and Mrs. Walter Salsbury. All are residents of Temple.

Hill To Open Final Session Of Convention

Paul D. Hill of Pampa, district chaplain, will deliver the invocation Sunday afternoon in the Borger High school auditorium, where the final event of the two-day American Legion-Auxiliary district convention will open at 1 o'clock.

The program at the high school will be a joint meeting of the Legion and auxiliary. It will be opened by John Oliver, commander of the Borger Legion post, with a presentation of the colors.

First speaker will be J. M. Johnson of Canadian, 18th district commander. Byron Andres, Borger mayor, will deliver the welcoming address.

The district convention will open at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

At 1 o'clock that afternoon the convention will greet William G. Gilks of Dallas, national chaplain, Ed Riedel, San Angelo, Texas department commander, and Charles Morgan, Artesia, N. M., department commander of New Mexico.

A stag party and floor show will be held at 7 o'clock Saturday night at the V. T. W. hall and a dance will follow at 9:30 o'clock at the Legion hall.

For Sunday morning, the program will include a post officers breakfast at 8 o'clock at the Ritz cafe, business session at 9 o'clock in the high school auditorium, and a service officers school at the same time in the class rooms, services at the First Baptist church at 11 o'clock, and a dinner at noon at the Legion hut.

Many Panhandle Oilmen To Attend Fort Worth Meeting

Many oilmen of this area are planning to take part in the coming convention of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association at Fort Worth Oct. 31-Nov. 2, M. B. Davis, vice-president of the association for the Panhandle District of Texas, said today.

"Interest is particularly keen in this year's convention, which will celebrate the 45th anniversary of the birth of the Texas oil industry," said Mr. Davis. "Not only will special attention be paid in the convention talks to the 45th birthday of Texas' largest business, but also an exhibit of oil field paintings and pioneer equipment will be shown. A further feature will be the drilling of a wildcat oil test in downtown Fort Worth with a crew of old-timers using the world's first rotary drilling rig, brought over from Corsicana."

Headlining the convention program, he said, are speakers on both the international and national oil situations. Discussing how oil has altered Hitler's entire campaign of conquest, M. W. Fodor, famous foreign correspondent, will address the morning session Friday, Nov. 1, on "Hitler in Quest of Oil."

Fodor, formerly a mineral engineer, has just come to America after living through the Nazi invasions of Belgium, the Netherlands and France. The national oil situation and the vital place of petroleum in national preparedness and defense will be analyzed by Ray L. Dudley, Houston oil publisher, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 31.

Discussion by the oilmen attending of current problems of the petroleum industry will supplement the formal convention program. A number of entertainment events have been arranged for the visitors and their wives, Mr. Davis said. Included are a reception given by Fort Worth bankers, a dinner dance with strutting entertainers, a luncheon and style show for the women attending, and the annual handicap golf tournament in which a team from here will compete with 30 other entries.

Hull Speech 'Futile,' Says Mr. Willkie

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN EN ROUTE TO LOUISVILLE, Oct. 28 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie asserted today that Secretary of State Hull's speech Saturday night was "an extraordinary document of New Deal futility."

"The secretary pointed up more clearly than could any contemporary critic of the New Deal the serious failure to organize a national economy capable of building rapidly or adequately defense," said Willkie in a statement issued on his campaign train.

"The only solution to this crisis in our national leadership," the Republican presidential nominee said, "is to defeat the third term candidate."

Commenting on the secretary of state's speech in Washington Saturday night, Willkie said Hull "has made it more than ever obvious that such a defense was essential to the maintenance of our influence in foreign affairs."

"The secretary's statement that as early as June, 1935, speaking for the government, I pointed out that we would not serve the cause of peace by not having adequate powers of self defense, makes the whole tragedy of world-conditions and our present precarious position in relation to them even more apparent."

"Had the President not then also been a candidate for re-election, he might have done better than merely send up verbal trial balloons to see how the popular emotion ran toward foreign agents. He could have given an effective leadership then that would have saved us from what the secretary of state now calls 'the gravity of the present situation.'"

"Even without raising international questions, or making domestic issues out of questions of foreign policy, the President, who is now a candidate for the third term, could have adjusted our internal economy to the recovery level essential to support a program of adequate national defense, and could have done so."

Without disturbing his purely political interests.

"The President having failed, however, Secretary Hull's picture of world crisis since 1933 makes even more distinctly tragic the now famous sham of last May's 'on hand' and 'on order' speech."

Hull's summary, Willkie declared, "has entitled the American people to seek a solution for their own crisis in national leadership."

Willkie spent Sunday, on his way west from New York, working on plans for the final week of his presidential campaign.

40-Hour Law Covers Most Draftsmen And Reporters

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The wage-hour law was officially construed today to cover most draftsmen, newspaper reporters and copy desk editors.

Employees not exempted from the act must be paid time-and-one-half for work in excess of 40 hours weekly.

Col. Philip B. Fleming, wage-hour administrator, wrote yesterday to B. O. Lum, a representative of the Seattle association of technical engineers and architects, that in "the vast majority of instances" draftsmen would not be regarded as professional workers who are exempt from the law.

"Discussing exempted professional workers further, he added, that 'on a newspaper, for example, typically the reporters assigned to regular beats and the copy desk men will not qualify for exemption even if they are paid $200 a month.'"

Hello, Everyone!

I read an account the other day of a tragic railroad accident caused by the fact that the watchman, worn out by vigil at the sick bed, fell asleep at the switch.

You, too, may be tired with the press of your daily duties and worn out with the fierce competition of everyday life, but don't allow tragedy to strike your home because you "fell asleep at the switch" and failed to have ENOUGH LIFE INSURANCE.

I will, of course, be glad to discuss it with you at any time—with no obligation to you.

FDR Will Tour New York Area

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt decided today to carry through a portion of his plans for a motor tour of the New York metropolitan area today, although a secretary said officials feared press reports of Italian-Greek combat may be a preliminary move to a more serious situation.

"Stephen Early, the secretary, told reporters: 'I think that the phrase 'more serious situation' has reference to the whole Balkan picture.'"

The president talked with Secretary Hull in Newark by long-distance phone as soon as he reached the Washington station this morning. Early said Hull advised the chief executive that the state department had not yet received official confirmation of the extension of the war to Greece.

Accordingly, Early said, Hull suggested that the president go ahead with his plans for the tour, up to the time he reaches Hunter College, New York, for lunch. Mr. Roosevelt will talk with his secretary of state at that time and decide whether to fulfill arrangements to make a major political address tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Early said the "apparent lack of official word on the fighting that now involves Greece, preparations were going ahead for the preparation of a neutrality proclamation applying to Greece."

Roosevelt had instructed Hull to ask Secretary Morgenthau to draft the orders for freezing Greek credits in the United States.

Legal Residence Of Sportsman To Be Established

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 28 (AP)—Judge Bryan G. Johnson rendered today a district court hearing seeking to establish the legal residence of Chas. L. Waggoner, wealthy sportsman who wants a New Mexico divorce from his pretty, 29-year-old wife, Virginia Green Waggoner of Fort Worth.

Waggoner brought a divorce suit in Tarrant, her husband instituting one in San Miguel county, New Mexico. The hearing was to determine the jurisdiction of New Mexico courts to try the suits.

Waggoner contended he has made his residence in San Miguel county since 1937, but attorneys for Mrs. Waggoner sought to prove the sportsman's legal residence is in Texas.

Clever Social Event Entertains Group

Special to the NEWS

CANADIAN, Oct. 28—Mrs. Jack Lawrence developed a novel idea for entertaining 40 guests recently at Lake Marvin.

Invitations had been sent for a bridge luncheon. The meal was served in the picnic grove near the lake where the frost-painted leaves provided colorful and distinctive decorations.

The recreation hall was used for the bridge games following the picnic.

Members of the Pleasure Hour club and several others were guests of Mrs. Lawrence.

Mrs. Bader Hostess At Party For Club

Special to the NEWS

CANADIAN, Oct. 28—Mrs. George L. Bader was hostess to the A-Muse-U club and a few guests this afternoon.

Blooming house plants, a bowl of prizes, another of marigolds, and autumn leaves were placed at points of vantage about the rooms.

A social hour with a two-course service carrying out the Halloween theme was enjoyed by three guests, Mesdames Frank Phillips, Sam Jacobs, and P. D. Moseley and members of the club.

Mrs. Walter M. Bader assisted the hostess in serving.

Pro Politicians Not Asleep, Says W. Lee

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—In the opinion of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, "professional politicians" in Texas are not asleep.

"The governor in his regular broadcast yesterday, warned members of the incoming legislature not to be lulled to complacency by the present silence of the professional politicians."

"We will hear from them again," he said. "They are not saying much now but they are quietly working on various schemes and tricks and the villains will be very much in evidence next January in Austin (when the legislature convenes)."

"We have made gains in recovering this democracy of Texas from the clutches of the professional politicians but the light is not yet won."

O'Daniel said the people had asserted their will at the polls in a "virily democratic manner" and commended members of the law-making body, whom he recently visited in a state wide tour, as appearing to "have their hearts and souls a burning desire to serve the great rank and file of citizens."

The governor also thanked various groups for making his tour pleasant, spoke about the U. S. navy in observation of Navy Day and declared Texas was experiencing a wave of prosperity.

Liner Ploughs Full Speed Into Shore

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Oct. 28.—(Canadian Press)—The million-dollar coastal liner Alaska lay with her bow almost in the trees on the shore of Elliott bay today while her 272 passengers thanked luck and the efficiency of the ship's crew for their escape from the icy waters.

The 365-foot, 485-ton liner ploughed full-speed into the shore 20 miles south of here at 12:30 a. m. yesterday, showed her nose across the beach and listed 20 degrees to port. Oil from her forward tanks spread across the bay and eight feet of sea-water flooded into her forward hold. Her stern remained in 24 feet of water.

Capt. O. C. Anderson, fearing the vessel would slip into deep water, immediately ordered the passengers and six crew-men to abandon ship in the inky darkness of the northern winter night.

British Drop Bombs On Italian Island

ROME, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Italian high command, in a communique devoted to air activity, reported today that British planes had "wildly" bombed Maltesa, on the Italian island of Stampalia, but failed to cause any damage.

It said the British killed five persons and wounded some in an air raid east of Bengasi and killed two persons in another foray in East Africa.

Italian airmen shot down two British planes, certainly and perhaps a third, it said, in a fight over Malta.

Nine Italian pursuit planes engaged a similar number of British, the daily communique said. All the Italian ships were reported to have returned safely.

Further air bombardments in Egypt and Malta also were reported.

Almazan Says He Will Take Office

NEW-YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—General Juan Andreu Almazan declares he will take office as president of Mexico Dec. 1, and that the army will back me up.

In a statement made public in New York and Baltimore last night, Almazan asserted he would have the unanimous support of all the people.

"General Avila Camacho, his opponent in the July 7 election, has been declared elected president."

"On July 7, I said that my electoral fight will end Nov. 30," Almazan said. "On the next day, Dec. 1, I will take office, displacing the rebels and restoring the constitution. In so doing I will have the unanimous support of the people. Nothing in the world will permit them to be robbed of their splendid democratic victory."

Know him? . . . He's the fellow who gushes wisdom after the game is played. He's the man who tells you what the team did wrong during that exciting second period.

It requires no special training to be a Monday morning expert. In fact, it's about the easiest profession in the world. It isn't very hard to know the answers . . . afterward.

But a truly wise person is one who knows the answers beforehand!

Fool-proof foreknowledge is well-nigh impossible in a game like football. But it's not impossible in the much more important business of your every-day purchases. Your dollars are guarded by the advertising pages of this newspaper.

Here you are able to compare prices, compare values, compare the superior features of rival merchandise. You learn where to go . . . to get what you want . . . at the price you are willing to pay.

Think Carefully So You May Vote Carefully!

The election campaign goes into the home stretch today.

One week from tomorrow the people of the United States will go to the polls to make some very important election decisions.

Right now, as we go into this so-called "home stretch," is the time to sit down calmly, armed with the necessary facts and set ourselves straight on just what it is all about.

Ten days from today will be too late. Election campaigns have a habit of engendering a good deal of feverish, wild-eyed partisanship.

Any of us would defend the democratic system of universal franchise to the death, but we should not allow this to obscure the fact that emotionalism has a habit of getting the upper hand over reason about two days before an election.

To make a good job of this election, we must beware of promises that obviously cannot be kept, of candidates who shift their position on issues overnight.

The strength of America's democratic system of government lies in the individual, the point of self-reliance, the ability of the people to think things thru and make their own decisions.

Any dictator with a big enough army of secret police can govern his people by force.

It takes a mentally vigorous and alert people to govern themselves satisfactorily thru the expression of the popular will.

THE SLOGAN OF THIS ELECTION SHOULD BE: "LISTEN CAREFULLY, THINK CAREFULLY, AND VOTE CAREFULLY."

America is at the crossroads this election. What transpires in the next four years may only be guessed. The cause of national security demands our best efforts.

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Recent stiffening of U. S. policy toward Japan was caused by many things. Not least important of these was the part played by a quiet, canny career diplomat in the State Department, Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, who bears the title of adviser on political relations.

Ever since the "China incident" began three years ago, Dr. Hornbeck has advocated a sterner attitude toward Japan.

For a long time he stood pretty much alone. Undersecretary Sumner Welles leaned in the other direction, as did Maxwell Hamilton, chief of the division of Far Eastern Affairs. So did the U. S. embassy in Tokio, headed by famed Ambassador Joseph Grew.

It has long been a tradition that U. S. diplomats in the orient like to have the home government talk tough now and then—but not too tough.

After an outburst of tough talk, the diplomat can sit down with the Asiatics and say: "Look, they're kind of getting out of hand in Washington; you'd better make a concession on this or that, or I won't be able to hold them."

TENNESSEE TEMPER FLARES AT JAPS

It was this tradition Dr. Hornbeck has contended with for three years. Ambassador Grew followed it pretty consistently, and had a good deal to do with inducing the administration to modify its project for applying economic sanctions backed by a threat of military force when the "incident" began.

Secretary Hull occupied a middle ground. Often enough in the last three years the Japanese have provoked a mighty flare-up of his tough Tennessee temper—accompanied, not infrequently, by some virile and salty language—but native caution and a determination not to get out into a position the American public wasn't ready to support always had their effect.

Signing of the tri-power axis pact brought a big change. The differences of opinion didn't vanish overnight, but they did shrink awfully fast. The shrinkage caused Dr. Hornbeck to stand out more and more prominently as the man who had had the idea all along.

VETERAN IN STATE DEPARTMENT

Point to remember is that the State Department's division of Far Eastern affairs is generally admitted to be its ablest and best-informed branch. For years this division has been helping to shape American policy in the Far East, backed by a thorough knowledge of oriental conditions and peoples and exact information on what has been going on out there.

Dr. Hornbeck was in charge of this division from 1928 to 1937, when he was elevated to his present job. He is one of those State Department experts who hold important posts but of whom the public seldom hears.

He first went out to China in 1909 to teach in various Chinese government schools and stayed in the orient for four years.

He came to the State Department in the early twenties, after having served both the peace commission and the American delegation to the Washington arms conference as a special expert on Far Eastern affairs.

Personally, Dr. Hornbeck is of the quiet, scholarly type, with a turn for ironic speech. I remember sitting in his office in the spring of 1939 just after the Germans had taken over Czechoslovakia. Prime Minister Chamberlain was on the air, trying to explain

Common Ground

By R. C. BOILES

This column contains there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the share of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

ANCHORING WORDS

What, it seems, we all are suffering from more than anything else is the chatter of persons who love the sound of their voices or to see their names in print, but do not love truth. This love of one's voice or notoriety, without being in love with the truth, is not confined to any one class of people. We find in it many contributors' letters to the editor, college professors, in the pulpit and among the candidates. They talk and write and use words that have absolutely no understandable meaning to other people. They cannot transmit their ideas but their being listened to or read, satisfies their ego and their vanity. They are doing a great disservice to their fellowman. They are taking the time and energy of people who are seeking the truth, compelling them to separate the wheat from the chaff, the truth from the wish-wash, all because men want to be seen or heard of by men, instead of seeking the truth like Jesus encouraged.

So, whenever you read or hear a man use words that are not anchored to some known axiom or eternal truth or some measurable material thing, you can mark it down that the man talking is not a seeker of the truth but a seeker of notoriety.

How To Tell

I have repeatedly quoted Lord Kelvin on this subject. I repeat:

"When you can measure what you are speaking about and express it in numbers, you know something about it, but when you cannot measure it, when you cannot express it in numbers, your knowledge is of a meager and unsatisfactory kind."

Lord Kelvin should have gone a little farther and explained what he meant by measurement. One cannot measure anything, unless he has a known pivot or objective by which to compare, or measure. One cannot measure distance, without having a unit of distance by which to measure. One cannot measure value, without having a unit of value. One cannot measure goodness without having a unit of goodness by which to measure. The words "fair", "reasonable", "just" are meaningless unless they have a standard of goodness of justice that is known to all.

All successful governments, all successful morals, all successful religions were based on the anchor of equal freedom, equal liberty. And freedom does not mean ability or accomplishment, but the equal right to pursue happiness with respect for other people's equal rights.

We certainly need to anchor our discussions on political, moral and ethical problems to the anchorage of equal freedom, until we have some other known, better anchorage.

IS BUSINESS MAKING MONEY?

A fellow-publisher asked me whether we were making money. I told him that I did not know and that is the truth. I do not believe that any business man who is enough of a student of costs and business, to remain in business for three or four decades, can really tell whether his company is making money under the present circumstances.

Of course, he can tell whether his own books show a profit but now there are three other corporations that are a lien against any profits that he might show on his own books.

We have the Federal Government with the lien of some $45,000,000.

Then we have the stockholders in the State that is a lien against the assets of the private corporation. This lien is undeterminable.

Then we have the local taxing divisions that are a lien against the assets of the private corporation.

When a corporation was making money in the 20's and the Federal debt was being reduced, even if the State's debt was being increased, a corporation could more nearly tell its financial condition, although many of them realized in the crash of '29 that they had made an error in their calculations.

So, when the New Dealers talk about business making more money now than it did then, it is usually talked by men whose judgment has not been efficient enough to know costs and to know whether a man was making a profit or not.

Only business men stay in business for any length of time, who actually know costs, including the obligations that they owe to the government which are unpaid, and the accumulative.

Probably there are fewer people in the United States making any profit if all the obligations of governments were taken into consideration, than there has been any time in American history.

And when there are no profits in private enterprise, there sooner or later are no private jobs, no matter what the New Dealers tell the voters. All jobs will then be government jobs and the workers who have a mind of their own will simply be out of luck.

The Nation's Press

IRON HEEL ON NORWAY (New York Times)

All attempts to win some vestige of support from the Norwegian people having failed, Reichskommissar Terboven now seeks at the stroke of a pen to reduce them to the lot of helots. By Nazi decree the king is deposed, Parliament is abolished and the notorious traitor Vidkun Quisling is dragged once more from the shadow to serve as puppet for Hitler's gauleiter.

By their action in Norway the Germans have abandoned all pretense that they can govern except by the bayonet. The king and his councilors are safe in London working for the first aim of the nation, which is to regain its freedom. What they stand for is too deeply planted in the hearts of their countrymen to be rooted out by any Nazi compulsion. Not one legally elected member of the Storting could be induced by threats or bribes to back Quisling's "corporate state." The war goes on. The Germans still stand on hostile soil while sabotage spreads. The land is conquered, but the people are not subdued. The moment the German battalions withdraw from Norway, Quisling's parasite regime would crumble. It is a sham. No government imposed by the Nazis anywhere outside of Germany has shown a spark of vitality except what it has borrowed from an occupying army. In every case the promised "new order" turns out to be a form of slavery.

away his own appeasement program which had made the seizure possible.

At the end of the speech Dr. Hornbeck clicked his radio off, heaved a sigh, and remarked:

"Well—he who sows with the devil must needs use a long spoon."

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 28.—All over the lot: Besides being a director who deals harshly with the English language, Mike Curtiz seems to be developing some traits of ruthlessness. These come from making some very hard-boiled action pictures.

In the vast sound stage where recently he bossed big battles-to-the-death in "The Sea Hawk," Curtiz was preparing to hang John Brown today. A goody crowd was there, including Mr. Raymond Massey, the condemned. Seeing the gallows I asked, "Are they really going to hang Mr. Massey?"—meaning would it be according to history or were they going to turn it into a last-minute-reprieve episode?

But a member of the company took me more literally. "Well, Mike has been wanting to hang him," he said. "He got awful mad when they told him he'd have to fake it."

On this sound stage, an area about the size of an average swimming pool is sunk eight feet below the rest of the floor, and the gallows had been built near the edge of it. An elderly extra, in the role of the officiating minister, displayed unusual curiosity about the arrangements; kept walking around and getting in the way of grips and electricians. Finally he stepped back to avoid a prop truck and fell to the concrete bottom of the tank.

On the same day, the movie reverend disappeared, and we all heard a fatal-sounding zunk. The director indulged in one quick shudder, then ordered crisply, "Get me a new minister!"

"FACING 500 FRAZY FANATICS..."

Every now and then an actor, no matter how able he is, will blow up repeatedly on some simple scene. The first couple of times may be just accidental, but after that the lines become a mental hazard that grows more terrifying with each attempt.

I watched Ronald Reagan suffering like that in a ballroom scene for "Santa Fe Trail." It was especially embarrassing because about 100 uncomfortable warm-up flannel overcoats on the unseen floor of the guests—would continue. A microphone on a long boom hovered over Reagan and blond Suzanne Carmahan and picked up their conversation as they glided among the other couples.

He would begin: "Well, there I was—right in the middle of Kansas, facing 500 crazy fanatics..."

My dear young lady, you'll learn that an army man has to act first and think afterward..."

But he couldn't get that far. He hadn't done it in 12 tries when I arrived, and the last thing I heard on leaving was the distraught Reagan saying, "—right in the middle of Kansas, facing 500 crazy fanatics—Oh, my God! Here I go again!"

CORNY CHORINES CANNED

You may be relieved to know the Warner Brothers are finally doing something about those amazingly bad musical shorts, which now will be made in Hollywood instead of New York. Exhibitors have resented them and audiences have greeted them with groans and wisecracks about the corny chorines and pickled-up sopranos. The last one I saw was as painful as the first I heard 11 years ago, when a yodeling sister-act plucked every feather from "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark."

Anyway, the studio is hiring the big names for its shorts—Edmundo

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

As far as many alumni of West Texas State college are concerned the best-known and most popular Pampa musical group is William T. Jesse's string band. For several years now Mr. Jesse's string band has been the hit of the college homecoming festivities. One of the features of annual homecoming is a Tacosca bar and an old-time dance for which Mr. Jesse and his boys have furnished music for several years.

One Pampano who attended the dance, James B. Sorrell, reports that "every one was loud in praise of the string band that every year steals the show" at the reunion. Everywhere they were asking "Where are they from?" wrote Mr. Sorrell. "These boys had our town well represented and what a swell job they did..."

Many Pampano people always attend the dance and other homecoming festivities. If credit is going to be given everyone for the part they play in boosting Pampa then let's make it everyone. The News entertains sentiments similar to those expressed by Mr. Sorrell and wishes to point out the fact that Mr. Jesse and his band were going to play for the old-time dance at the homecoming was the subject of at least three stories in the News.

Mr. Jesse said stories announced that Mr. Jesse and his band would play at the dance... At the same time we want to congratulate Mr. Jesse and his band on their popularity at Canyon.

Turkish Premier Proclaims Strength

ANKARA, Turkey, Oct. 28 (AP)—Premier Refik Saydam broadcast today that "we are stronger than ever," but made no mention of Italy's invasion of Greece.

It was generally assumed that Turkey's attitude would depend largely on how much aid Britain would give Greece, as well as on the degree of Greece's own resistance.

Although official sources kept silent, no credence was given rumors in other Balkan capitals that the Ankara government was drafting a declaration of war.

Turkey, allied closely to Greece but not bound to go to her aid unless a secret military clause exists between them, received the news of the Italian attack calmly.

The Premier spoke on the 17th anniversary of the founding of the Turkish republic.

power nowhere. No one basket contains all the eggs. The men who wrote it knew that liberty is safe and the rights of man secure only when power is widely distributed, and never when it is concentrated. The checks and balances of the constitution are to prevent any of their agents obtaining supreme power. They are to prevent totalitarianism. They brought an end to the idea that man is but a cell in the totality called the state, a species of human cattle to be ordered around by men with whips, which the beginning of the citizen. They said that the citizen has certain inalienable rights which did not come from the state, which the state cannot lawfully take away, which the citizen cannot rightfully vote away. They came from the Creator. The citizen is the trustee of those God-given rights for himself and his posterity.

The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States are therefore the greatest liberal and liberating documents ever placed on parchment. They were not written by reactionaries, nor was the Revolution of 1776 fought by Tories.

It is therefore one of the strangest lunacies of history that the men and women of both our great parties who now stand for the storming North Atlantic to escape are pleased to call themselves "liberals!"

There can be no doubt that in defying the might of Italy, Metaxas had reason to expect prompt and heavy assistance. His small, poorly equipped army and tiny navy would be wholly unlikely to stand much chance against Mussolini's streamlined war-machinery.

An undetermined point of vast importance is whether Turkey will come to the aid of her Greek ally at this juncture.

Should that happen it presumably would precipitate immediately the fight for the Dardanelles and force the Axis to inaugurate its big offensive willy-nilly, whether ready or not. Probably Turkey's action will depend on whether she receives a nod of acquiescence and that in itself will be a matter of moment, since the Bolshevik position is the big "if" of the moment.

Whether the Italian assault on Greece is intended as a preliminary operation in the battle of the Mediterranean, it wouldn't be at all surprising to see the Axis stage an attack on Gibraltar as a companion piece to the Greek show. Just as possession of the Greek islands across the mouth of the Aegean sea represent a powerful strategic asset for offense or defense in the eastern Mediterranean, so Gibraltar is of such vast importance as to be known as "key to the Mediterranean."

You and Your Nation's Affairs

THE DICTATORS KNOW WHAT THEY WANT

By HARLEY L. LUTZ

Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

Readers of the Uncle Remus stories will recall the stratagem by which Brer Rabbit escaped from Brer Fox. "Please, Brer Fox, do anything you like with me, only don't throw me into dat ole briar patch."

Brer Fox took the bait and the new Brer Fox threw Brer Rabbit into the briar patch, which was his home and cash-hole.

There is a strong Uncle Remus flavor to the story which came from Rome, particularly since Messrs. Wallace and Lehman had already set forth the same idea.

Whoever originated the story knew very well how the American people feel toward the dictators, and they knew also that the voters would be likely to take the bait, just as Brer Fox did in the Uncle Remus tale.

There is probably no doubt that both Hitler and Mussolini, despite their extreme preoccupation with a bite that is too big to chew, are interested in what is happening here. But they are interested in it only now, because of the way in which American developments will affect their efforts at mistification. They are not especially concerned over American foreign policy, if that term can properly be used to describe the zig-zag course which this government has followed in recent years. They have already shown their contempt for this aspect of American policy by telling us bluntly, through Japan, to "put up or shut up."

The aspect of American domestic affairs which is of greatest concern to the Axis Powers is the speed and completeness with which the American people can achieve unity of purpose and the speed and efficiency with which the vast economic resources of the country can be mobilized into large-scale production of defensive and offensive equipment.

The whole world is fully aware of the class division, the industrial paralysis and the economic anemias from which this country has suffered for the last eight years. Therefore, both Hitler and Mussolini know these facts, and they also know the reasons for this condition. Their real interest in American domestic affairs is to make certain that this condition be perpetuated as long as possible. The more completely we can bung the job of defense, the easier their program will be to carry out. The very last thing that these amiable gentlemen want is to see American industry actually producing 50,000 planes a year, together with thousands of tanks, hundreds of ships, and other supplies in proportion. As long as these supplies are "on order," Hitler and Mussolini will sleep well. If they were to speak candidly, they would no doubt say that they could wish nothing more than that the American people should continue their present course of futility and fumbling in matters of industrial organization for national defense.

While it is not yet proved that the Axis did originate the story, the logic of the situation indicates that they could well have done so. They know, as did Brer Rabbit, that the way to get your own way sometimes is to suggest the opposite to the other fellow. Voters who are inclined to accept the story that Hitler fears Roosevelt are advised to read the Uncle Remus story about Brer Fox and Brer Rabbit.

Lubbock Grabs Role of District Favorite

Westerners Look Better Than Sandies

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

The conviction took root along the Texas schoolboy football front today that two of the heralded powers—Amarillo and Sherman—face the fight of their lives in winning their own district championships.

Two weeks ago Amarillo and Sherman were mentioned as almost certain to clash in the semi-finals.

But sober reflection and a perusal of the records have sown the seeds of doubt, along with some other things that have brought changes in the critics' views regarding teams that a month ago they said couldn't miss.

Backers of Amarillo are shaky over a 15-game winning streak on the part of the swashbuckling Westerners of Lubbock. And Lubbock's smashing 81-0 defeat of Borger in the opening conference game of district I last week didn't help their frame of mind any.

The thing that gives Sherman followers the lifters is the unbridled power shown by the Paris Wildcats as they slowly but surely push their way into a co-favoritship for the district 5 title.

Last week Amarillo was not particularly impressive in beating five times defeated North Side of Fort Worth. True the margin was the same as rolled up by Lubbock over North Side but the Westerners played the Fort Worth team in Fort Worth and it was early in the season.

Lubbock's defensive record is better than Amarillo's and when the Westerners want to turn on the offensive they fairly sea the opposition.

Paris also has a better defensive showing than Sherman although their point-making ability does not compare with the Bearcats except of recent date.

These four teams are among the state's 15 undefeated, untied aggregations and they come close to being the top four of the state, although there are also some other fine teams strewn out along the way to the gulf.

For instance Masonic Home (Fort Worth) not only is unbeaten and untied but is unscored on. Stephenville is running riot in the oil belt. Kluge has arisen as the new East Texas menace through a 14-7 upset of hitherto unbeaten, top-rated Longview.

Lufkin is moving along without trouble in the state's western area. Jeff Davis (Houston) has an unscored goal line. Port Arthur is gaining power with each game and now looks like a quarter-finalist. Corpus Christi is outting a wide swath through the gulf coast area.

Play this week will go far toward settling the issues in at least three of the districts.

Jeff Davis meets Lamar of Houston in one of the state's feature games. It will determine the leadership in district 13 in addition to matching two unbeaten teams. Lamar has a spotless record except for a tie last week with Austin (Houston).

Waxahachie, surprise of Central Texas, jumps out of the frying pan into the oven. Last week the Indians beat Bryan 2-0 to become the only undefeated team in the district 10 race. This week Waxahachie plays Corsicana, a club just now finding its stride. A Tiger victory would scramble the race like a crate of broken eggs.

In district 12, Lufkin plays Mexia in a game between the leading clubs. In district 14, South Park (Beaumont) and Port Arthur, two of the three undefeated teams, play each other. Beaumont, the third, meets Orange.

Here's how the district races now shape up:

1—Lubbock, undefeated, invades Pampa, conference game; Plainview, undefeated, entertains Big Spring; and Amarillo invades Borger to open its district campaign; 2—Wichita Falls and Graham undefeated; 3—Big Spring leading by half a game; 4—Austin (El Paso) and El Paso High (Dallas) tied for the lead; 7—Masonic Home and Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) tied for the top; 8—Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) the only unbeaten team.

9—Stephenville the only undefeated team; 10—Waxahachie the only unbeaten team; 11—Tyler the only undefeated team; 12—Lufkin and

Rice Coach Drops Dynamite Into Southwest Conference

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Slop-poke Jess Neely, a deep south boy who shuffled into the Southwest conference this season for a gamble on a tough situation, had the distasteful of all football leagues in a deplorable condition today.

The very nature of the mellow, drawling man who abandoned one of the best spots in the game at Clemson to tinker with Rice Institute's sputtering machine, pre-empted anything but trouble when he arrived this fall.

But he's dropped dynamite smack into the middle of everything.

Jess Neely has just about stolen the show from everything but the monotonous, but magnificent, march of a Texas Aggie team that has won 16 straight games.

Not a big name glittered on the Rice lineup when Neely moved into a murderous schedule. Two or three sophomores have thrown their name into the lights through the first four games, but "coordination" is about the biggest name around the Owl camp.

It was that, plus some of Sophomore T. A. Weems' wizardous running, that sent unbeaten, untied Texas spinning into defeat, 13-0, Saturday last. It could be called an upset, but anything Rice does from now on won't be surprising. It is to be expected, for Rice is a well-knit machine that can strike furiously aground and in the air.

Cowboy Jack Crain, admittedly injured but still a threat, was no menace to the staunch Rice defense. He couldn't move—sat on the back row and watched 200-pound, Sophomore Weems steal his running thunder.

The Rice Owls are not undefeated. They dropped a 6-15 decision to Tulane several days ago, a Tulane surge that was bound to be sure after three defeats. But they have trounced Centenary, 25-0; Louisiana State, 23-0, and Texas, 13-0.

Now they loom in front of the

Ward School Race May End Up In A Tie

The Ward school football conference can end this week but there's plenty of chance that the race will end up in a tie. On Tuesday Sam Houston and Horace Mann clash while on Wednesday Woodrow Wilson and Baker meet. Games will be at 4 o'clock at Harvesters park.

At the present time Baker and Sam Houston are deadlocked for the title, with which goes a large trophy presented by Dan McGrew. If Sam Houston and Baker win, a playoff will be necessary to decide the champion. A win for one and a loss for the other will end the season. But should Horace Mann upset Sam Houston and Woodrow Wilson beat Baker, that would leave Sam Houston and Horace Mann in a tie.

So anything can happen this week and all teams are keyed up for the big series.

Fans are invited to witness the games at no cost.

Chicago Bears May Be Grid Super Team

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP)—All the returns are not in, but it begins to look as if the Chicago Bears might be football's "super team" after all.

The mighty Bears commanded nation-wide attention a month ago when they laid a resounding 41-10 haymaker on the far-famed championship Green Bay Packers. A subsequent setback at the hands of the under-rated Chicago Cardinals quickly deflated them.

Growing stronger each week the Bears have won four in a row, the latest a decisive 7-0 to 21 triumph over the New York Giants Sunday.

This week the Bears engage the Packers in Chicago.

Nobody has talked Washington as a "super team" but they keep right on winning, chalking up their sixth straight victory Sunday, maintaining an undefeated record with a 20-14 victory over Detroit. Dick Todd reeling off a 61-yard run in the fourth period to produce the margin.

The five week-end games drew a total of 103,441, a throng of 44,219 swarming for the Bears' New York battle.

Mexia defeated; 13—Beaumont, Port Arthur and South Park undefeated; 15—Austin and Kerrville undefeated; 16—Corpus Christi undefeated but Robstown hasn't played a conference game in the north zone; Brownsville and Harlingen unbeaten in the south zone.

Harmon Ahead In Football Scoring Race

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Michigan stopped Pennsylvania's Frank Reagan last Saturday but Penn couldn't stop Michigan's Tommy Harmon. So today Harmon is farther ahead than ever in the national football scoring race.

His one touchdown and two extra points against the Quakers brought his season's total to 87 points—12 touchdowns, as many conversions and a field goal. Reagan remained in second with 61 points but his hold on that spot was threatened by a couple of small college players who just broke into the list, Thurmon Jones of Abilene Christian in Texas with 57 points and Charles Larson of Culver-Stockton in Missouri with 56.

Harvesters To Be Guests Of Mothers At Heiskell Home

Coaches Odus Mitchell, J. C. Prejean and their Harvesters will try their luck at eating chicken and all the trimmings tonight when the Harvesters' Mothers club entertain the coaches, their sons and husbands at the H. H. Heiskell home on East Kingsmill avenue at 7 o'clock.

The feed will be spread on long tables under trees in the Heiskell yard and the boys will be instructed to "chike." They'll run interference for the dads who will be next in line.

Besides the chicken and all the trimmings, the boys will eat cake and ice cream.

The chicken feed will take the place of the steak fry annually given by the board and fans.

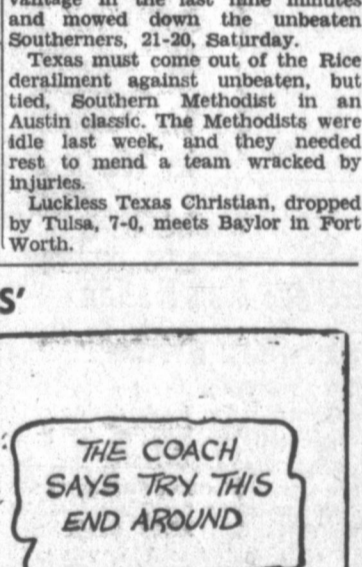

polomonous Texas Aggie team, a team that weathered one of its stormiest sessions last Saturday in disposing of a Baylor team that had worked itself into a terrific state for the Cadet game, only to fall, 7-14, as the sixteenth consecutive victim of the massive red machine.

Rice has what should be easy sailing against Texas A. & I. next Saturday night at Houston, but the Aggies must meet trouble again when Arkansas, the team that never knows when to quit, comes to College Station. The Porkers shook off Mississippi's 20-7 advantage in the last nine minutes and showed down the unbeaten Southern, 21-20, Saturday.

Texas must come out of the Rice demoralization unbeaten, but tied, Southern Methodist in an Austin classic. The Methodists were idle last week, and they need rest to mend a team wracked by injuries.

Luckless Texas Christian, dropped by Tulsa, 7-0, meets Baylor in Fort Worth.

'ORDERS ARE ORDERS'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—From the Cobalt blue capsules to the historic accessories of the 1917 drawing, everything was pronounced in readiness today for the great manpower lottery which will determine the order in which several millions of young Americans will be subject to call for the next five years.

In the interdepartmental auditorium—where the drawing will get under way shortly after noon tomorrow—workmen finished the preparations for the occasion. Doors were locked and guards posted.

The capsules—some 8,500 of them, each containing a serial number—spent the week-end in a treasury vault, where they will remain until the zero hour tomorrow. The World War accessories—the big glass bowl, the wooden ladle for stirring up the capsules, and the blindfold will be used during the drawing.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—It's a football tradition going way back to the days of long-haired linemen and turtle-neck sweaters that November brings the decisive games of the season.

There's nothing to change that idea in this week's card, although September and October games already have eliminated all but a dozen or two teams as contenders for the national crown. There's a chance that about half the survivors will go down this week-end.

The weekly survey shapes up something like this:

East—Cornell's 21-7 triumph over Ohio State advanced the Big Red team a little farther along the national trail. With Penn eliminated by a 14-0 loss to Michigan, Cornell is the only " Ivy League" team in the national picture except possibly Navy. The Midshipmen looked good in beating Yale 21-0 but they haven't faced Cornell's schedule. Next Saturday the Ithacans figure to cause trouble for mighty Notre Dame, whose fourth straight win was 26-0 over Illinois.

Midwest—If Minnesota is as powerful as its 34-6 victory over Iowa indicates, the next two weeks should prove it. Next Saturday the Gophers encounter Northwestern, which beat Indiana 20-7 without Bill DeCorrvent, and the next week they face Michigan, which is taking a week off to get ready.

Other Big Ten games this week are comparatively unimportant.

The Big Six, however, has one of those crucial games—Oklahoma against Nebraska. They're tied for the lead after the Cornhuskers trimmed Missouri 20-7 and the Sooners beat Iowa State by the same count. The winner figures to go right on to the championship. Kansas State, 20-0 winner over Kansas, meets Michigan State, which played Santa Clara to a scoreless tie.

A major "independent" game sends unbeaten Detroit, 10-0 winner over Villanova Sunday, against Tulsa, Missouri Valley conference leader and 7-0 conquerer of Texas Christian.

South—Unbeaten Tennessee and Clemson are making the pace in their conference but neither has the race sewed up yet. Mississippi State, who beat North Carolina State 26-10, and Mississippi, 21-20 upset victim of Arkansas, both are unbeaten in the Southeastern circuit. L. S. U., 7-0 victor over Vanderbilt, may be good enough to bother the Volunteers Saturday. Mississippi encounters Vanderbilt this week and Mississippi State plays Southwestern of Memphis.

Southwest—The upset of Texas by Rice, 13-0, disposed of one threat to the Texas Aggie's supremacy in the Southwest conference but Southern Methodist still is in the way. The Mustangs, tied by Pitt but otherwise in the clear, were idle last week while the Aggies were hard pressed to beat Baylor 14-7. This week the Aggies play Arkansas and B. M. U. meets Texas. T. C. U. and Baylor clash in a consolation game while Rice tapers off against Texas A. and I. Texas Tech plays Miami in Florida Friday and Hardin-Simmons meets West Texas Teachers.

Rocky Mountain—Colorado, 62-0 winner over Wyoming, is the unchallenged Big Seven leader since Utah, smarting from an unexpected loss, bounced back to whip Denver 25-14. If the Buffs can get past Utah this week all should be clear sailing. Utah State, which played a scoreless tie against Idaho, meets Brigham Young in this week's other conference game.

Pacific Coast—Although Stanford preserved its unbeaten-untied status by conquering Southern California, 21-7, the Indians can't be crowned champions until after their game with Washington Nov. 9. The Huskies just scraped past California 7-6 and will have a week's rest while Stanford plays U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles Oct. 31. Saturday are California-Oregon State, Idaho-Washington State and Oregon-Montana.

North Texas Still Leads Lone Star Grid Conference

(By The Associated Press)

With the hardest half of the conference slate behind and still boasting an unblemished circuit record, North Texas Teachers this week meets a third Lone Star conference opponent in as many weeks when they battle Southwest Texas, Bobcats in Denton Friday afternoon.

Sam Houston Teachers, who must win every league contest remaining in order to hope for any title ambitions, invade Commerce Saturday in quest of their first win in LSC history over the East Texas Lions on the latter's field.

Stephen F. Austin, at last out of the league cellar by virtue of a 13 to 7 win over Southwest Texas after being shelled by Commerce and Denton, is the only LSC club not to see loop play. It entertains out-of-state Louisiana Normal Saturday at Nacogdoches.

Having been pushed to the limit to overhaul a stubborn Sam Houston eleven 7 to 6 last week, the North Texas Eagles took a deep breath early this week before wading into the San Marcos eleven.

Conference standing:

	W.	L.	T.
S. F. Austin	1	2	0

NEW YORK JUNGLE

BY WRAY WADE SEVERN

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, questioning Maria about the shadow on her window, Braitwood discovered it was Adam. Maria tells him then, of Adam's long fight against the neurotic habit, his victory, and the attempt to prove himself cured. A siege of fever in Capetown ruined all that. She had offered to marry Adam. But gossip columns, and the failure of her letter to reach him, left Adam believing she had abandoned him. He married Pat.

way. "Adam had the habit. Or did you know it?" "Recently I learned of it," Sidney confessed. "I understand you had planned to send him to a sanitarium?"

FOR the first time, Pat lost her poise. Her crimson lips quivered and her hands locked in an effort at self-control. She did not ask how Braitwood had obtained his knowledge. Probably she assumed that Adam himself had communicated it to his lawyer.

"You have not much sympathy with me, Mr. Braitwood," she said. "Don't pretend. I hardly blame you. You were Adam's friend. But if you would try to understand what marriage to a man who was all but a maniac meant, you would know I had little choice but to have him put away."

"You think there was more than an excessive use of drugs troubling him?" "I don't know, really. I have never been associated with a person who used drugs. But I do know that more than half the time he was not rational. When deprived of the drug he was like a madman."

"Yesterday I had found his supply of narcotics and burned it. I upset his desk in my search. That explains the charred papers you and Hugh found in the grate. He had tubes of the stuff in cardboard boxes. Craig says there may be some way of telling what was burned from the ash."

"Do you know where Adam got the drugs? Such habits often lead to unpleasant associations. They may even have a bearing on the murder."

"I don't know, really. I've heard him telephone New York and ask for the doctor. He's say that he wanted his last prescription refilled and sent down. I remember the number."

"Did he know that you had burned his supply?" "Yes. He was furious. I was actually afraid. He locked himself in the jungle and refused to go for a drive. When Nella went down to coax him, there was a scene. I believe he struck her. When he realized where his fury had brought him, he became contrite and joined us. . . . That may be how she got the bruise behind her ear."

THE sound of a closing door drew their attention to the house. Hugh Langdon descended the steps and approached them. He looked ill. The muscles about his large, kindly mouth had tightened into bitterness; his broad shoulders sagged and he appeared to have lost weight in the short 24 hours since his cousin's murder.

"Hugh is hard hit," Sidney said in a low voice. A glint of sympathy troubled Pat's bright eyes. "Hugh is a remarkable person," she said, with more feeling than he had yet seen her display.

"Ploverman insists Nella be examined for the state by a doctor of his own choosing," Hugh told them. "I objected, thinking that in her condition, further questioning could only aggravate her trouble. What about the legal side of it, Sid?"

"Nella is under age and, according to Adam's will, you and I are her guardians, Hugh," Sidney explained. "For a time, if the doctor we have selected agrees with us, we can prevent outside interference."

"I imagine Dr. Bowman will agree," Hugh said slowly. "It is my hope that she will throw off the psychic dumbness when she awakens, so that she can undergo questioning in her normal mind."

"As her lawyer, I'll be with her, in any case. I'll see Ploverman at once."

SIDNEY found the captain in the drawing room. After he had agreed to defer a consultation, Ploverman revealed he had Boris Lesencoff on his mind. "Could this fellow, Lesencoff, have struck Miss Langdon and then faked a dive and a rescue when he saw you, Mr. Braitwood?" he asked.

"Impossible. I saw the entire business, and I swear that I saw him long before he saw me." "His turning up here is unusual, I'll check on his alibi," the captain growled.

"As routine it is necessary, but in my opinion you may count him out," Sidney replied. "He comes into this inquiry only as a man who rescued Nella Langdon from possible drowning."

"You can never tell in a murder case. According to reports I have just received, Lesencoff would have been glad to have Langdon out of his way. He was in love with Miss Hemphield himself."

Federal Judges Will Consider Phillips Suit

DURANT, Okla., Oct. 28. (AP)—Validity of the government's 1938 flood control act was at stake today as three judge federal court convened to consider Gov. Leon C. Phillips' suit for an injunction to stop construction of the $54,000,000 Red River dam.

Three state attorneys were ready to argue that the government, without legal authority, invaded the sovereign waters of Oklahoma to build the huge dam at Denison, Texas.

Impounded waters, contends Phillips—staunch advocate of state's rights—will inundate and cause thousands of dollars of damages to fertile farm lands, state roads and bridges, and towns and will obliterate part of the Oklahoma-Texas border.

Phillips seeks an injunction to halt construction on the great power project until the state is sufficiently assured of reimbursement.

The government's reply is that it has ample authority to build the dam and that individuals and the state will be amply repaid for damages.

Federal attorneys contend the state is without authority to maintain its injunction action.

The 1938 flood control act, among other things, authorized construction of the dam.

Phillips lost the first round of a similar suit on the Grand River dam in northeastern Oklahoma. The case is now pending before the U. S. supreme court.

Standing to hear the arguments were Judges A. P. Murrah and Walter A. Huxman of the tenth circuit court of appeals and Eugene Rice of the eastern Oklahoma federal district.

Huge Crowds Slow Roosevelt Progress

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—An hour behind his schedule on a whirlwind campaign tour of New York City's five boroughs, President Roosevelt sped through streets lined with cheering thousands today.

along the Greek-Albanian frontier.
The ultimatum expired at 6 a. m. (10 p. m. C. S. T.). An hour later Athens had its first air raid alarm.

The Greek government, which immediately appealed to London for help, announced officially that Britain was sending "unlimited support."
Rome's demand reportedly included the yielding of Greek territory and permission for the free passage of Italian troops to strike new blows at Britain in the Mediterranean.

In Belgrade, diplomatic circles heard unconfirmed reports that Turkey had declared war on Italy, but this was discounted in other quarters as premature.
Yugoslavia's Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic called an emergency cabinet meeting, and shortly before 11 a. m. Yugoslavia troops with full war equipment marched through the streets of Belgrade toward the railroad station.

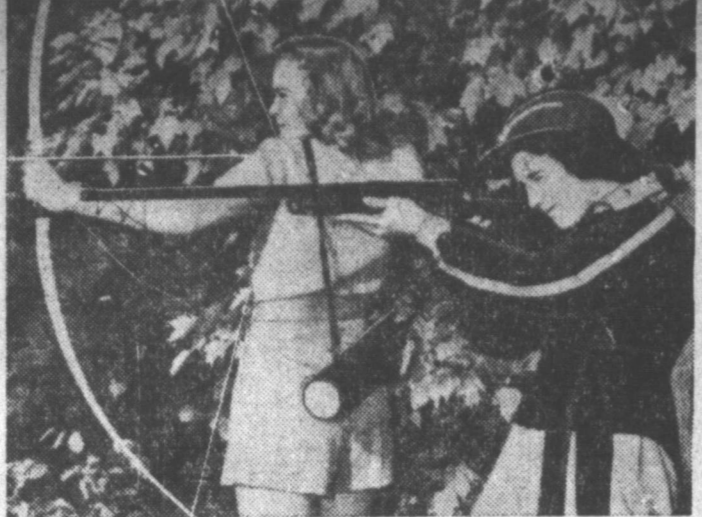

Official statements, however, asserted Yugoslavia would remain neutral.
In Sofia, semi-official circles expressed a belief that Bulgaria would not attempt to capitalize now on Greece's plight to press her claims for a part of Grecian Thrace.
Cheering crowds roved the streets of Athens, ignoring air-raid alarms waving Greek, British and Turkish flags and shouting:
"Down with Italy!"

Texas Named In Mrs. Newman's Will

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Bessie Carter Newman, widow of William Henry Newman, former president of the New York Central Lines and one-time official of the Texas and Pacific railroad, left an estate valued at "more than $10,000," her will showed. She died Oct. 8.

Market Briefs

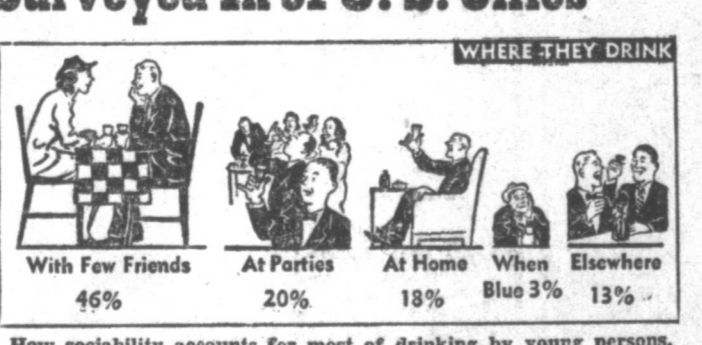

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—An early downward drift in today's stock market lost momentum after mid-day and initial declines ranging to a point or more for leaders were reduced or canceled in many cases at the close.

A slight touch of depression in the forenoon was attributed partly to the over-optimism of Wall Street analysts and partly to Greek and fears of upsetting repercussions elsewhere in the Mediterranean.
Foreign dispatches, brokers said, helped to focus to some extent the more hopeful view of Wall Street analysts and business and political earnings reports and dividends were cheering, but even these had to vie with persistent tax doubts.

High School Drink Habits Surveyed In 31 U. S. Cities

By NEA Service
SWEATERS, slang and swing may be the same with boys and girls of high school age across the nation, but there is a wide difference among those who use alcoholic beverages in what and where they drink.

That a good percentage of the youth of the country does drink is shown by an Allied Youth, Inc., survey, taken in the high schools of 31 widely scattered cities. Data compiled from 11,433 unsigned returns showed:

Fifty-five per cent of senior high school boys use some type of alcoholic beverage.
Thirty-seven per cent of the girls drink to some extent.
For both sexes, 43 drinkers are found in a typical 100.

King Of Expositions At New York Closes

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—To the click of an all-time record gate, the New York World's Fair has passed into history, wearing a crown of superlatives which marked it the king of expositions.

A total of 537,952 cash customers jammed its 1,216 acres as the curtain came down today, sending the two-year mark to 45,000,365 paid admissions as compared with the previous high of 38,626,546 attracted by the Chicago Century of Progress exposition in 1933-34.

Today squads of wreckers attacked the jamboree's gleaming facade in the first step toward transforming what once was flushing dump into a great municipal park. Part of it is expected to be ready for New Yorkers next summer.

Constructed at a cost of about $155,000,000 the extravaganza gallantly went forward in creating a "world of tomorrow" in the face of a world at war. It proved a financial headache to its backers, who stand to recover about 38.4 cents on a dollar, but a joy to those who saw it.

Harvey D. Gibson, chairman of the fair board, estimated the net operating profit for the two years would approximate $5,000,000. The original bonded indebtedness totaled $26,862,800.

Willis Presides As District Judge

With Newton P. Willis presiding as special judge the last jury week of 31st district court here for the September term opened today.
Willis is serving as judge pro tem in the absence of District Judge W. R. Ewing, who is in Dallas. Judge Ewing had expected to return in time to open court this week, but was detained.

In an earlier raid alarm no planes were seen over the city.

The king and Metaxas were cheered by crowds as they drove through the streets. Later the premier conferred with ministers from Britain, Turkey and Yugoslavia.
A Greek communique said "Italian forces have been attacking since 5:30 this morning our advanced posts along the Greek-Albanian border. Our forces are defending their national soil."

(Reports from an anxiously-watching Yugoslavia said 10 Italian divisions of at least 200,000 troops swarmed across the Greek border from Italian-held Albania promptly at six and were met by beskirted Greek soldiers.)
Greece looked to Britain—and perhaps to Turkey—for aid.
A British treaty of 1939 promised Greece "all possible support" if her independence were threatened. Turkey has been understood recently to feel that any armed push across Greece would be a direct menace.

(London reported that Greece appealed for help as soon as her border was crossed and authoritative sources predicted "all advisable aid" would be rushed.
(British in Belgrade indicated battle units of the British Eastern Mediterranean fleet already were steaming into action.)
Almost as soon as the Italian ultimatum was handed to Metaxas, giving him a scant three hours for the Greek solution, which meant war or unrelenting occupation, full mobilization of Greek manpower was ordered.

Her army already was estimated as upwards of 100,000 because class after class has been called to the colors in the past several months as Axis threats have increased and war clouds have darkened over the Balkans.
The Greek premier was with his cabinet in emergency session for two and a half hours before the ultimatum expired and officials said at that time that disposition of the army for Greek defense already had been made.
Where the blow would come seemed obvious because of steadily increasing tension along the Greek-Albanian frontier and recurrent reports of heavy Italian troop concentrations on the Albanian side of the border.
Greek guns and soldiers were in place in the Metaxas line—the defense system Greece's strong man had built along the northwestern frontier after Italy first took over little Albania.
There was no immediate disclosure of the exact terms in the rejected ultimatum, which meant war or unrelenting occupation, full mobilization of Greek manpower was ordered.
Earlier Italy had been represented as wanting "for Albania" slices of Greek territory along the Albanian frontier.

Sisters Arrested For Hurling Onion At FDR Automobile

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Two sisters accused of throwing an onion from the top of a building at President Roosevelt as his automobile sped through Brooklyn were arrested today.
Police said the girls would be booked on disorderly conduct charges. They gave their names as Italia D'Arbe, 21, a houseworker, and Mary D'Arbe, an unemployed typist.

"Clear Up Europe" Move Continuing

BERLIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—Informed circles today classified the Italian-Greek conflict as another step in the Axis program "to clear up Europe" and to put Italy and Germany in the driver's seat.
Official comment, however, was lacking. Official sources asserted they had no official word from either Rome or Greece.
One authorized spokesman, nevertheless, said significantly that Greece and Turkey were two countries on the continent which had not greeted the Axis scheme of life with enthusiasm.

WPA Area Director Ordered To Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Works Projects Administration announced today Lawrence Westbrook, regional director for the Southwestern district with headquarters at New Orleans, had been ordered transferred to Washington and would be assigned to the federal works agency.

FWA officials said Westbrook's new position had not been definitely decided but it was pointed out that he was an expert on housing. The director, a major in the signal corps during the World War, organized and represented farm cooperatives in Texas. A year later he was appointed assistant administrator of the WPA and was assigned as regional director at New Orleans in 1939.

City Commission Meeting Scheduled

Due to the absence of the mayor and both city commissioners, no meeting of the city commission will be held Tuesday, City Manager Steve Matthews said today.
The commission will meet as soon as the three officials return to Pampa.
Mayor Fred Thompson is en route to Chicago, attending a Kiwanis district governors meeting; Commissioner George B. Cree is in Hot Springs, Ark., and Commissioner H. C. Wilson is in New York.
