To prove his statement, young McBrayer took the cover off his broken leg and on the cast were the names of nearly every member of the Pampa Harvester team, the nurses and doctors at the hospital, and many fans, who called on the injured boy.

When the curtain goes up on the first scene of the Top O' Texas Revue premiere performance in the high school at 8 o'clock tonight, it will mark the realization of a goal at the end of nine months of hard work on the part of Ken Bennett, the show's director. County To Sell $600,000 Worth Of Bonds To Build Perryton Road

The Pampa-Perryton road moved a step closer to realization today with the announcement that the county auditor would receive bids up to 2 p. m. Saturday on the sale of $600,000 of Gray county road bonds.

Issuance of these bonds, which are automatically assumed by the state, was made by a part of the agreement with the Texas Highway commission to designate the road to Perryton. This was done last May. Proceeds of the bonds will be used to pave Highway 18 across Gray county and to improve Highway 273.

President Roosevelt, the first man to be elected to a third term, this afternoon was leading in states which have a total of 468 electoral votes. Wendell L. Willkie was running ahead of the President in states which have a total of 63 electoral votes.

Roosevelt nosed ahead of Willkie early today in the states of New Jersey, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota. The nine states in which the Republican candidate was leading were Colorado, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Vermont. Roosevelt dropped behind in Indiana after taking an early lead. The latest count gave the President 739,631 votes to 759,338 for Willkie.

The President had substantial majorities in the pivotal states of Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois.

Roosevelt's popular vote were 22,188,790 to 18,148,468 for Willkie. A total of 99,463 voting units out of 127,245 had reported. The President was carrying California by a majority of almost 300,000 votes with most of the ballots counted. The President jumped ahead in Michigan and was leading Willkie by about 5,000 votes. He also forged ahead in New Jersey and had piled up a lead of 55,000 votes. He was still given a chance to carry Indiana, North Dakota and Iowa.

His election was conceded in mid-morning by Wendell L. Willkie, his dogged, hard-hitting Republican opponent, who had made the third term question one of the two outstanding issues of a slambang campaign.

At 9:30 a. m. C. S. T. in New York, Willkie's press secretary, Lem Jones, gave out the text of this congratulatory telegram: "Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, Hyde Park, New York. Congratulations on your reelection as President of the United States. I know that you are both gratified that so many American citizens participated in the election. I wish you all personal health and happiness. Cordially, Wendell L. Willkie."

Throughout last evening Willkie sat in his hotel room, analyzing the returns and watching the President amass commanding leads in virtually all the key states having big blocks of electoral votes but grimly, he clung to a dwindling hope of victory, and finally he retired with the announcement that not until today would he have anything to say on the election's outcome.

Episcopalian Young People Guests At Amarillo Program

Bread is often baked in antihills by the South African Dutch, who scoop a hole in the huge heaps left by the big red ants of the country, and block the hole with a piece of iron to make a usable oven.

Young people of St. Matthew's Episcopal church were guests of the Y. P. S. L. in Amarillo Sunday at a program and dinner.

Accompanying the group was the sponsor, Mrs. L. E. Lyles.

CAPTIVATING IN CONTRAST

This is such a pretty frock that it's equally charming in one color or two, but since there's such a vogue for two-toned effects, you'll want at least one version in sharp contrast. Design No. 8769 has a figure line that looks simply adorable on petite Junior sizes. Stitched tucks break into soft fullness in the bodice and skirt front, making you round and slim in just the right places. The corset waistline has strap fastenings to call attention to its littleness. And the frock is very easy to make.

Wool jersey, flannel, wool crepe and spun rayon are excellent materials for this, and it's especially effective, as pictured, in a combination of plain wool and plain. Detailed sew chart accompanies this design.

Pattern No. 8769 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19. Size 13, 3/4 yards of 39-inch material without nap; 1 1/4 yards contrast with long sleeves; 3/4 yard with short.

L. Lewis, her bedroom walls had been papered in white, a double storage space for clothing and all bedroom accessories had been provided, a writing desk and what-not shelf added, curtained dresser, and the floor had been improved, smoothed and varnished.

"My new room will be a great comfort to me, I know," said Mary Fern as she discussed with Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, her 4-H agent, her plans for better care of her clothing, more studying in a more convenient place, and the general high spirits she believed would be the result of her cheery and comfortable rest quarter.

John Garner To Announce Future Plans Tomorrow

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

UVALDE, Nov. 6 (AP)—John Nance Garner, who did not vote in the election, today announced he would "decide tomorrow" whether he would return to Washington for the remainder of the congressional session.

Dressed in khaki and leather jacket, the vice-president emerged from his home, hurried to his house-keeping project of 40 low-rent homes now under construction, and refused to talk of the election.

"What are your future plans?" he was asked.

"I will decide tomorrow," replied Garner.

"Does that include whether you will go back to Washington?"

"Yes," he said.

The vice-president, watching carpenters at work on the project, would not comment on his failure to vote. Mrs. Garner, his secretary, Louis Friday, and a thousand or more Uvalde citizens voted yesterday.

The county where Garner had been an office seeker 44 years ago President Roosevelt an approximate four-to-one lead over Wendell Willkie in incomplete returns.

Garner has been in Uvalde most of the time since July when he abruptly left Washington while Congress was in session. He returned to the capital for about two weeks in September.

He took no part in the campaign. Some weeks ago Mrs. Garner said the vice-president and she were looking forward to the time when he would lay aside his official duties so they could lead the lives of private citizens.

Last night, in contrast with election night four years ago, there was no election "watch party" at the handsome Garner home.

Lights went out at 7:30 p. m. and the Garners retired. It was an early hour, even for Cactus Jack. In 1932, Garner sat up until about nine o'clock receiving returns and neighbors were in and out long after that.

Mrs. Garner voted yesterday soon after the polls opened, driving to the voting place with Mrs. Friday. Mrs. Garner stood side by side to vote.

Willkie Sends Congratulations To Roosevelt

By THEODORE F. KOOP

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie conceded his defeat today in a congratulatory message to President Roosevelt and then called for national unity, completion of the defense program, aid to Britain, and "removal of antagonisms in America."

"Congratulations on your re-election as president of the United States," the Republican nominee telegraphed his Democratic opponent in yesterday's election.

"I know that we are both gratified that so many American citizens participated in the election. I wish you all personal health and happiness."

Wearing green pajamas he dictated the message in his hotel suite at 9:30 a. m. (CST), little more than an hour before he said in a prepared speech to a nation-wide radio audience that he accepted the results "with complete good will."

"The popular vote," he asserted, "shows the vitality of our democratic principles and the adherence of our people to the two-party system."

Extending his thanks to campaign workers and to voters who supported him, Willkie continued:

"I know that they will continue as I shall to work for the unity of our people, in the completion of our defense effort, in sending aid to Britain and in insistence upon removal of antagonisms in America—all to the end that government of free men may continue and may spread again upon the earth."

Willkie, refreshed after a six-hour sleep, breakfasted leisurely and made a final survey of the election returns before sending his telegram to the president.

Then he dressed and at 11:45 went down 12 floors in the Commodore hotel to broadcast from a parlor off the main ballroom, where less than 12 hours earlier he had told a rally of his partisans, "don't be afraid, and never quit."

After speaking on the radio, he told reporters that he had no immediate plans except "to rest here for a few days and then go somewhere for a vacation."

"I want to say I am feeling fine and I accept the election with complete good will," he declared. "I am proud to have led the crusade I did, and I believe completely, and if anything more deeply, in it than I ever did before."

"I believe the ultimate adoption of the principals I advocated is indispensable for the continuance of this free way of life."

Willkie said he entered the campaign without bitterness and added, "I end it with no ill will or bitterness toward anyone."

McDonald Defiant Of Farm Program

AUSTIN, Nov. 6 (AP)—J. E. McDonald state agriculture commissioner re-elected on the Democratic ticket for a sixth term although he endorsed the Willkie-McNary candidacy, said today he pledged his support of the administration in implementing "the fallacious AAA program with a sound and constructive agriculture measure."

In a formal statement McDonald said:

"The Republican party, during the campaign, committed itself to a two-price system in marketing agricultural products and a full parity price for that portion domestically consumed, extending to agriculture the same protection and benefits that manufacture has received thru the administration of the tariff laws."

"With the Republican commitments it should be easy for the next congress to supplant the present fallacious triple with a sound agricultural measure which would benefit each and every group of American citizens as much as it does the farmer himself, and in the passage of such, I pledge President Roosevelt and the administration my full support."

Democrats Gained One Governorship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Democrats won 14 victories and the Republicans marked up seven—with a net gain of one for the Democrats—in 33 contests for governorships yesterday.

The Democrats ousted two New England Republican governors—Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut and William H. Vanderbilt of Rhode Island—along with Luren D. Dickinson of Michigan, foe of "high life" drinking.

Robert A. Hurley won in Connecticut, J. Howard McGrath in Rhode Island and Murray D. Van Wagoner in Michigan.

Partly offsetting these switches, however, the Republicans won seats in two midwestern states. Dwight Griswold defeated Terry Carpenter in Nebraska and Dwight H. Green won from Harry B. Hershey in Illinois.

Ford Given Big Engine Contract

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The war department awarded today a $122,323,000 contract for aircraft engines to the Ford Motor company, Dearborn, Mich.

Records indicated it was the largest single contract for motors of the defense program.

A $11,436,042 order for aircraft engines to the Wright Aeronautical corporation, Paterson, N. J., was announced at the same time.

The war department disclosed the award on August 27 of contracts totaling $8,074,408, not hitherto announced, to the Colt's Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing company, Hartford, Conn., for installation in the company's buildings of additional equipment for manufacture of infantry weapons.

The contract was the first large war department order given the Ford company. Officials disclosed subsequently it was for Pratt and Whitney engines such as used by both army and navy planes. Aviation circles reported the order involved more than 3,000 motors.

Lewis Expected To Resign As CIO Head

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—John L. Lewis watched silently today the mounting roll of Roosevelt votes which sounded the call he had set for himself to exit as president of the CIO.

Lewis, who sharply criticized the Roosevelt administration two weeks ago, and called for the election of Wendell Willkie, appeared in a cheerful mood as he met newspapermen at his office.

The CIO leader, who was one of the outstanding new deal supporters four years ago, said he would not make any public comment on the results of yesterday's election.

Lewis stated his CIO leadership on a Roosevelt defeat when he issued his call to followers two weeks ago for a Willkie triumph. Closest associates said no one would be able to dissuade the veteran labor leader from carrying through with his avowed intention to quit as CIO head.

A movement got under way, however, at the first sign of a Roosevelt victory to have Lewis reconsider.

If that move fails, Philip Murray of Pittsburgh, a CIO vice president, probably would be the choice to carry on the leadership of an organization which split into two political camps as soon as Lewis came out for Willkie.

for the bomb-scarred capital in the long winter nights ahead. Next week's English nights will lengthen to approximately 14 hours.

In the wake of Prime Minister Churchill's grave comment yesterday on a British shipping losses, indications arose of a possible extension of the German blockade of England.

The fate of a British convoy attacked by a German raider in mid-Atlantic was undetermined, with no further word from the 16,698-ton passenger liner Rangitiki and the freighter Cornish City after their radio distress call yesterday that they were "being gunned" by an enemy ship of the "Admiral Graf Spee" class.

Shipping men said both of Germany's remaining pocket battleships, the Luetow and Admiral Scheer, have been rumored operating in Atlantic waters.

py neighbors thronged the spreading lawn and serenaded him with bugles and drums.

Promptly at midnight, Mr. Roosevelt greeted the serenaders from the portico. "Full returns" were lacking, he said, but the situation looked "all right."

"We, of course, face difficult days," he said. "But I think you will find me in the future just the same Franklin Roosevelt you have known for years."

The full extent of the President's victory could not be measured finally in advance of a more complete tabulation of the votes of several states.

Harold H. Burton, of Ohio, Republican, defeated John McSweney, Democrat, for the place now held by Democratic Senator Vice Donahue in Nebraska. Republican Hugh A. Butler defeated Governor Robert L. Cochran, Democrat, for the seat now occupied by Senator Edward Burke, Democrat. Senator John G. Townsend, Jr., Delaware Republican, went down to defeat at the hands of James M. Tunnell, Sr., Democrat. Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota, a Farmer-Laborite in the past, was reelected as a Republican.

Senator Robert M. "Young Bob" La Follette, Progressive who endorsed a third term for the President, pulled away from Republican Fred H. Clausen in Wisconsin after trailing for many hours.

Late this morning, the still incomplete returns showed eleven Democrats and seven Republicans assured of election to governorships. The outcome in five of these contests represented a shift from one party to the other, giving the Democrats a net gain of one in governorships at this point.

Reports persisted that due to the present emphasis on a need for national unity in the face of foreign developments Mr. Roosevelt might ask his vanquished foe to assume a post of importance in connection with the defense program.

Certain it was that in many minds Willkie's defeat had hardly diminished his stature. The energy of his campaign commanded widespread admiration not only among his own followers but among his opponents.

As a result he is in excellent position to help members of congress shape Republican policy in the four years to come, during which period he will be his party's titular leader.

Late reports indicated that not only the presidency but also some additional seats in the house and senate were gathered up in the Democratic vote harvest. With more than half of the 432 congressional seats decided the Democrats had net gain of seven house seats. Thirteen Democrats and five Republicans were elected to the senate—where a Democratic majority was certain anyway—but close senatorial races developed in half a dozen states.

The tide of ballots ran heavily in Mr. Roosevelt's favor almost from the first—ballots he had asked as a "vote of confidence" in his administration, born in the domestic crisis year of 1933 and now another four-year tenure in the international crisis year of 1940.

Yet the margins in some states continued close for many hours after returns started pouring in and Willkie had not conceded defeat early today.

After telling his followers in a post-midnight speech at his New York hotel not to be "afraid or disheartened," Willkie retired with the announcement he would make no statement before mid-morning (9 a. m. C. S. T.).

But Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Willkie's Vice-Presidential running mate, acknowledged defeat and sent his congratulations to Mr. Roosevelt and the Democratic Vice-Presidential candidate, Henry A. Wallace.

"I shall try to afford Mr. Roosevelt and his associates a worthy and vigilant opposition," McNary said in a statement at Salem, Oregon. "Today's trend indicates a victory for our principles four years hence."

The President was at Hyde Park, N. Y. with his family. There a procession of neighbors called on him in triumphant torchlight parade last night, and he told them the vote "looks all right."

Wallace, in Washington where he had watched his home state of Iowa stick tenaciously to the Republican column, said he was "gratified" at the early trend of voting, but he retired without other comment.

of the Presbyterian church, stated the church's position.

He said the church had been assured by the preceding commission that the sewer line would be built and had made its plans accordingly.

When the present commission had taken over, the pastor stated he had conferred with City Manager Sizer Matthews, and that it was the Rev. Boshen's understanding that the plan was agreeable to the new governing body of the city.

It was on this assumption, he said, that the church had proceeded with its church building plans. The Rev. Boshen claimed that had the church members known an additional $100 would have been required for the sewer line extension, it could have been provided for in the plans.

He pointed out that the new church was a contribution to the civic improvements, that the Presbyterian congregation was a small one, numbering only 300, and paying for the building has entailed close budgeting.

The city manager said that at the time he had first discussed the matter with the pastor, he had not been aware that the cost of the line would be almost doubled.

M. A. Graham, C. H. Walker, Eugene Sidwell, and F. E. Leech, with the Rev. Boshen composed the committee that called on the commission yesterday, with the pastor and Graham as spokesmen for the committee.

Red Cross Needed More Than Ever, Official Declares

"Why have a Red Cross roll call each year?"

This question was answered at Amarillo recently by a regional Red Cross conference by John C. Wilson, assistant to the manager of the Midwestern area of Red Cross at St. Louis.

He said, first, Red Cross must meet the responsibilities arising from the current national defense program. Second, Red Cross must continue at full strength domestic services that have become an integral part of community and national life. Third, Red Cross must maintain a strong organization to discharge the international obligations of alleviating the sufferings of war.

During the coming year it is imperative that the Red Cross widen its field of service to increasing military and naval forces. As a preparedness measure, the reserve of 43,000 Red Cross nurses must be strengthened and enlarged.

"We must train additional hundreds of thousands in first aid to meet the demands of the defense program, as well as to continue the tireless campaign against accidental death. There must be support for a greater program for more than 8,000,000 members of the Junior Red Cross," he said.

Hal Lucas, roll call chairman, Guy McTaggart, chairman of Pampa Chapter board, Robert Boshen, Ray Barnes, Miles, Fred Roberts and J. B. White attended the Amarillo meeting. There were other chapters of the Panhandle represented at this meeting.

At this meeting a chart was shown giving the per cent of chapter population enrolled in the last roll call in Texas. The chart showed Midland county first, Hutchinson county second, and Pampa tenth. This chart shows that Pampa jumped from eighteenth year before last to tenth last year.

Hal Lucas, roll call chairman suggests that the Pampa chapter make the same percentage of increase over last year and Pampa will be second on the chart instead of Hutchinson county.

Democrats Sure Of 239 House Members

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Democrats retained control of both houses of congress in Tuesday's election, and on the basis of incomplete returns, reduced the size of the Republican minority in the house and faced the loss of few seats in the senate.

At 11:30 a. m. Central standard time, today a tabulation showed that Democrats had elected 239 house members while Republicans were sure of 121. A majority is 218. Seventeen seats were taken from Republican incumbents by Democratic candidates and eight Republicans scored victories over Democratic incumbents, making a net gain of nine for the Democrats up to the hour of the compilation.

In 36 senate races, Democrats had elected 20 and Republicans nine. Republicans had picked up three seats they had not formerly held, while one Republican was ousted by a Democratic opponent. This made a net gain of two seats for the minority group.

The Democrats' certain successes, plus their 44 holdover seats, gave them an assured senate majority of at least 64, compared with their present senate membership of 69.

Republicans had 15 holdovers, assuring them at least 24 members in the new senate. They have 24 seats in the present senate.

Neglect of Accident Hazards Claims 32,000 Lives Annually in U. S. Homes

Falls and Burns Leading Causes, Red Cross Warns in Safety Appeal

Washington, D. C.—The American Home—traditionally the symbol of security and safety—rivals the highway as the scene of the nation's greatest number of accident fatalities.

In a statement issued here by the Home and Farm Accident Prevention Service of the American Red Cross, it was pointed out that accidents in the home, including falls, burns and other common mishaps, claimed 32,000 lives last year—only 600 less than the number of motor vehicle deaths. Farm accidents accounted for an additional 4,200 deaths.

Statistics showed that home deaths last year increased 500 over the preceding year and farm accidents increased 300.

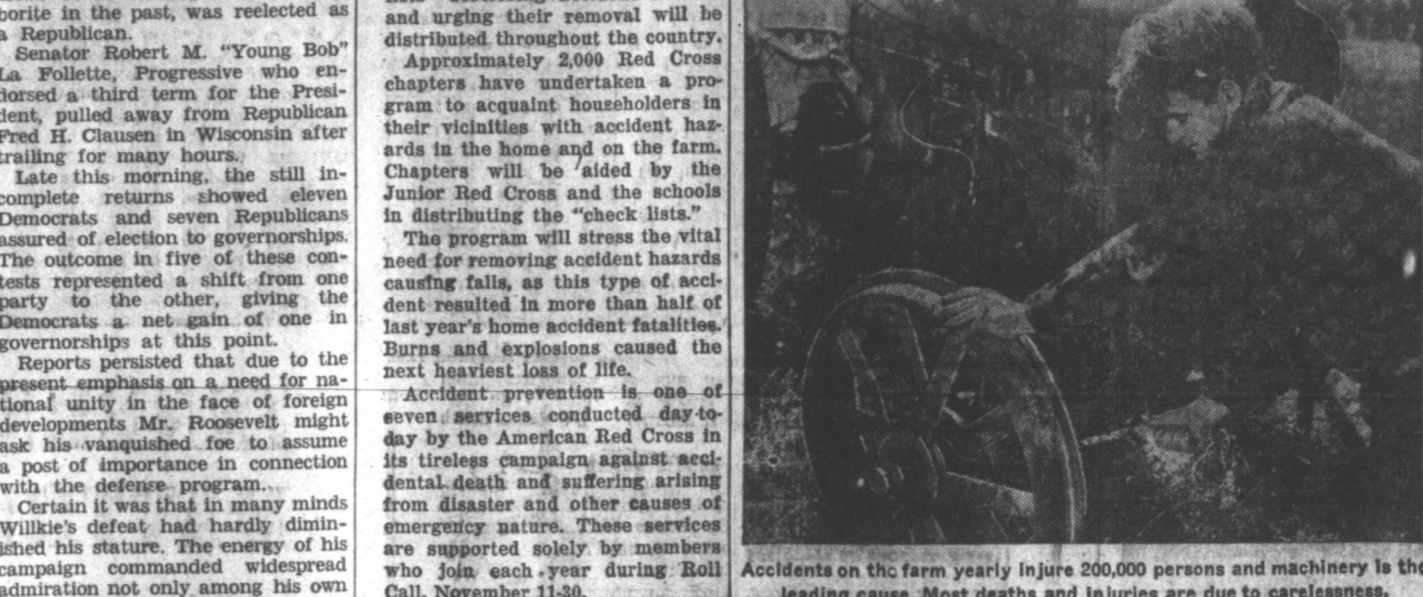

In addition to a mounting death toll, home and farm accidents last year caused upwards of 4,700,000 injuries which resulted in economic losses running into millions of dollars.

To reduce the number of rural and urban accidents in and about the home, the American Red Cross in 1935 inaugurated its accident prevention program as a parallel project with the First Aid and Life Saving Service. This year, 9,000,000 "check lists" describing accident hazards and urging their removal will be distributed throughout the country.

Approximately 2,000 Red Cross chapters have undertaken a program to acquaint householders in their vicinities with accident hazards in the home and on the farm. Chapters will be aided by the Junior Red Cross and the schools in distributing the "check lists."

The program will stress the vital need for removing accident hazards causing falls, as this type of accident resulted in more than half of last year's home accident fatalities. Burns and explosions caused the next heaviest loss of life.

Accident prevention is one of seven services conducted day today by the American Red Cross in its tireless campaign against accidental death and suffering arising from disaster and other causes of emergency nature. These services are supported solely by members who join each year during Roll Call, November 11-30.

Accidents on the farm yearly injure 200,000 persons and machinery is the leading cause. Most deaths and injuries are due to carelessness.

FDR Receives 83.6 Per Cent Texas Votes

DALLAS, Nov. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt climbed steadily towards the 1936 vote he received in traditionally Democratic Texas in latest returns tabulated by the Texas election bureau at 11 a. m. today—his 594,624 votes giving him 83.6 per cent of the total 711,216.

Four years ago, Texas voters gave him 83 per cent of their ballots. The 11 a. m. figures revealed he had risen 2.6 percentage points over the 9 a. m. tabulation.

Willkie's total, with 233 counties reporting and only 27 complete, was 126,576.

The ballot will reach a stunning, if not record-breaking, general election total, election officials believed.

Write-in candidate for commissioner of agriculture W. N. Corry, opposing the veteran J. E. McDonald, Democratic nominee who supported Willkie, had lost his last-minute campaign. McDonald had totaled 248,188 while Corry's total was 146,935, a surprisingly high write-in vote.

Roosevelt Accepts Willkie Wire With 'Sincere Thanks'

HYDE PARK, Nov. 6 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, choice of his countrymen to be their president for a third term, accepted with "sincere thanks" today a message from Wendell L. Willkie congratulating him on his re-election.

Willkie had wired the chief executive from New York City this morning, wishing him "all personal health and happiness," and saying he knew "we are both gratified that so many American citizens participated in the election."

"Please accept my sincere thanks for your message of congratulations," Mr. Roosevelt replied. "I greatly appreciate the assurance of your good wishes for my health and happiness which I heartily reciprocate."

White House aides made public also exchange of telegrams between the President and Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, the Republican vice-presidential candidate.

Roosevelt Gets 81 Per Cent Of Texans' Votes

DALLAS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Traditionally Democratic Texas, with its 23 electoral votes, had given President Roosevelt approximately 81 per cent of its 674,992 votes counted at 9 a. m. today by the Texas Election Bureau.

The count stood: Roosevelt, 546,385; Willie, 128,379.

The President received approximately 86 per cent of the 1936 votes. Returns included 239 counties, with 23 complete.

Down at Uvalde, Vice-President John Nance Garner, who abstained from voting, still had no comment to make.

Some Texas Democrats voiced their disapproval of Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald's support of Willie by giving the written candidate against him, W. N. Corry, former member of the Texas house of representatives, a 141,979 vote. But it wasn't strong enough to overcome McDonald's 216,496 total.

The Republican gubernatorial candidate, George Hopkins of Dallas, was overwhelmed, as expected, by W. Lee O'Daniel, the Democratic nominee. The latest count gave O'Daniel 354,339 to Hopkins' 14,206.

The failure of Garner to cast a ballot and Corry's stout run against McDonald attracted more attention than the presidential race—a foregone conclusion in this state.

Willkie, on the basis of the incomplete returns, had carried only six counties—Gillespie, Comal, Guadalupe, Fayette, Lee and Medina, all former traditionally Republican counties in one southwest Texas cluster inhabited mostly by persons of German and Czech descent.

The four amendments to the constitution passed by varying majorities.

For Red River county tax, 94,390; against, 88,356.

Pampans Expected To Attend Annual

McMurry Homecoming

ABILENE, Nov. 6.—McMurry college officials are planning a large return of former students for the 18 annual Homecoming on November 8 and 9.

Tom Herod, Chester Dale Carson, Robert Ward Curry, Mrs. E. M. Osborne of Pampa are McMurry exes who are expected here this weekend.

Exes will meet the familiar sight of the huge bonfire when they step on the campus. Freshmen have been gathering wood for the past two weeks for this fire which is to be fired up the evening before the Homecoming game when McMurry college Indians meet the Southwestern Pirates. In this game, McMurry's youngest college, McMurry, encounters Methodist's oldest institution, Southwestern university.

Important among the activities for the homecomers include the production of "You Can Take It With You," produced by the College theater at a two-night run during the weekend; the outdoor pep rally staged around the Totem pole; the barbeque at noon Saturday in the gymnasium and the football game which is scheduled at two o'clock at Medley stadium. The opening of a new building, the Radford Art building will be formally made at a reception there Saturday morning.

A meeting of the exes or of other homecomers connected to McMurry will be held following the Homecoming program Saturday morning.

ELECTED IN ANOTHER LANDSLIDE

Vice-President Elect Henry A. Wallace

Demos Keep Control Of House, Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Democrats, riding a tide of votes with President Roosevelt, kept control of both house and senate in Tuesday's election.

An official tabulation at 7:10 a. m. (CST) showed they had won 222 house seats, for more than a majority, to 107 for the Republicans. In addition, one incumbent American Laborite was re-elected. A majority is 218.

Contrary to Republican predictions that they would gain from 50 to 80 seats, the returns indicated that the Democrats might win a few more than their present house strength of 258.

The Democrats have held control of the house since John N. Garner, now Vice President, was chosen speaker in 1931, and of the senate since victors in the first Roosevelt landslide of 1932 took office on March 4, 1933.

Their majority in the new senate, convening next January 3, was hardly in danger but any vestige of doubt was eliminated when the tabulation showed they had won at least 15 of the 25 Democratic seats at stake in this year's balloting.

These added to 44 holdover senate seats. The senate has 96 members, of which a third are filled every two years.

Republicans, with 15 holdovers, retained at least five of their nine seats at stake and captured two seats now held by Democrats. This gives them a tentative bloc of 22 seats. One of their victories dates back to Maine's September election.

The present composition of the house, in addition to the 258 Democrats, is 107 Republicans, 2 Progressives, 1 farmer-labor, 1 American labor and 6 vacancies—3 of which formerly were held by Democrats and 3 by Republicans.

In the turnover of seats, the Democrats apparently made at least a net gain of 9 in the house. Democrats ousted four Republicans in Connecticut and four in Pennsylvania, two in Ohio, and two in Rhode Island and one each in New York, West Virginia, and Delaware.

As an offset, the Republicans won six seats now held by Democrats by taking over three districts in Illinois and one each in Oklahoma, New York and California.

All the top men of the house Democratic and Republican leadership were re-elected.

Speaker Sam Rayburn was unopposed in his Texas district. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, house Democratic leader, and Patrick J. Boland of Pennsylvania, house Democratic whip, also won.

Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, house Republican leader, who predicted that his party would take over that chamber, was victorious in his race. Rep. Engelbright of California, house Republican whip, was unopposed.

Defeated Republicans included Walter Johnson, the "big train" baseball, who was beaten in Maryland by William D. Byron, Democratic incumbent. Vito Marcantonio, American labor incumbent from New York who opposed all defense measures, won handily.

Democratic senatorial victors included Andrews of Florida, Bilbo of Mississippi, Connally of Texas, Byrd of Virginia and McKellar of Tennessee, all incumbents from the solid South.

stressed Byrns' vote to defer constitution.

All members of the Dies Committee investigating un-American activities who sought re-election, won. Martin Dies of Texas, Joe Starns of Alabama, Jerry Voorhis of California, and Joseph E. Casey of Massachusetts, Democrats; Noah Mason of Illinois and J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, Republicans, were re-elected. John J. Dempsey of New Mexico, the committee's seventh member, was defeated for the Democratic nomination for the senate.

Abe Murdock, who defeated Senator King for the Democratic nomination in Utah, won as did Harry M. Kilgore, Democrat, who will take the seat held by Rush Holt of West Virginia, also a loser in the primaries.

Democrats held substantial leads in senate races in Arizona, Kentucky, Washington, New Mexico, Nevada, and Missouri.

Republicans re-elected included Senator Austin of Vermont, assistant Republican leader; the veteran Hiram Johnson of California and Barbour of New Jersey.

Governor George D. Alken, Republican, won the contest for the unexpired term of the late Senator Ernest W. Gibson, of Vermont, also Republican. Ralph O. Brewster, Republican, was chosen by Maine in September.

Democratic senatorial seats taken over by the Republicans were held by Burke of Nebraska, defeated in the primary, and Donahay of Ohio, who retired voluntarily. Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, a Republican, succeeds Donahay, while Hugh Butler, Republican, rode to victory over Governor E. L. Cochran, who triumphed over Burke.

Minton of Indiana, the Democrat's senate whip, appeared in trouble. He was trailing Raymond E. Willis, Republican, in Illinois, the incumbent Democrat, Slattery was only slightly ahead of C. Wayland Brooks, Republican.

The chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign committee, Townsend of Delaware, was lagging behind James M. Tunnell, a Democrat.

There was the chance of a turnover in North Dakota where William Lusk, Republican, has member running for the senate as an Independent, led a three-cornered race for seat now held by Senator Frazier, Republican defeated in the primary.

The fate of two incumbent Republicans, Vandenberg of Michigan and Thomas of Idaho, appeared to hinge on the result of late vote tabulations. Vandenberg led his Democratic opponent, Frank Fitzgerald, by 138,000 but many boxes were missing. Thomas had an advantage of less than 6,000 over Glen Taylor, Democrat.

The senate's only Progressive, La Follette of Wisconsin, son of "Old Bob," was in a nip and tuck race with Fred Clausen, Republican, with James E. Finnegan, Democrat, running a poor third.

Among Republican house winners were the incumbent James W. Wadsworth, former Republican senator from New York, and Kenneth Simpson, New York county party chairman and Willie campaign aide. The latter succeeded to the seat of Bruce Barton, defeated by Mead for the senate, in New York City's 17th "silk" stocking district.

A Democratic loser in the house was Joseph W. Byrns, Jr., Tennessee, son of a former speaker. He was unseated by J. Percy Priest, Nashville newspaperman and an independent Democrat who had

Oklahoma Stays Dry

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 6 (AP)—Oklahoma remained in the dry column by yesterday's vote on the initiative proposal to repeal constitutional prohibition.

With 263 of 301 precincts tabulated, unofficial returns gave opponents of repeal a 55,000 lead over its backers. The vote was 259,246 against and 204,147 for.

More than 2,000,000 patents have been granted to American and foreign inventors during the last 100 years.

House Painter Slain By Law In Sex Case

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 6 (AP)—A house painter who attempted, police said, to lure a 12-year-old girl into his automobile was shot and killed by Patrolman Arthur L. Selby today as he fled from a pre-arranged trap.

The painter was identified as Leroy Boyd, 33, father of five children. Police records showed he had been arrested twice before in sex cases.

Boyd was shot through the heart after he leaped from his own car, which was being used to take him to headquarters, and caused it to crash into a concrete underpass, slightly injuring Patrolman Lee Pollock and Policewoman Alice Whitney.

Selby said the painter was arrested when he stopped Evelyn Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Jones, and tried to get her into the car.

Pollock and Mrs. Whitney got into Boyd's car and ordered him to drive to the station. Selby followed in another machine.

As Boyd approached the 11th street underpass, Mrs. Whitney related, "he lurched back in his seat, opened the door and turned the car toward the concrete wall. A second before we crashed, he jumped out."

Selby leaped from the scout car, commanded Boyd to halt, then fired once and the painter fell. He died instantly.

Police records showed that Boyd was sentenced to 30 days in jail last January on a charge of lewd conduct with a 18-year-old girl. He was arrested again on a similar charge on another girl's complaint but was not sentenced.

Today's trap was arranged, Selby said, after Jones notified police that Boyd stopped his daughter on two occasions last week and gave her candy bars.

City Recorder C. E. McGrew during the month of October totaled $529.75, of which $294.75 was collected, according to the monthly police report presented to the manager yesterday. There were 70 arrests made during the month. Persons fined laid out 26 days in jail while others worked a total of 33 1/2 days. Most arrests were made on intoxication charges, there being 43 persons arrested for being intoxicated. Speeding ranked next with 16 arrests. Five persons were turned over to higher courts.

El Senor Presidente Avila Camacho Of Mexico Is Very Very Much Man

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
MEXICO, D. F., Mexico, Nov. 5.—A solid, sober, Mexican general with the neck and shoulders of a wrestler—an ex-polo player with a liking for big cigars and the writings of Truzydes—is coming to the United States some time before Dec. 1.

It will have to be before that time, for he is Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, and he has a date that day to become president of Mexico.

He will need both the broad shoulders and the deliberate manner. On the shoulders will rest Mexico. On the unruffled manner depends the question of whether he can rally to him a people badly split, an unknown number—possibly a majority—of whom supported his presidential rival, Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan. They still resent the "imposition" of the government candidate in a turbulent election which certainly was not democratic.

TAKES MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

As a "middle-of-the-roader," Avila Camacho says, "I am not a socialist. I am a democrat." Yet he takes over a leftist revolutionary program.

He is the first Mexican president in many years to say publicly, "I am a believer. I am a Catholic." Yet he must enforce a constitution which many Catholics have believed bitterly prejudicial to their religious establishment.

He says, "I wish to restore confidence in investments, first Mexican confidence, then outside confidence." Yet he faces the unsolved oil expropriation problem which has shaken that confidence.

He says, "I shall not govern for a circle of friends, but to serve all." Yet even the idealistic Cardenas has not been able to break completely through the Mexican tradition that public officials automatically feather their own nests.

To reconcile all these discordant elements, including the still-active element which voted for Almazan, is a job for a solid man planted firmly in the middle of the road. Avila Camacho's whole life suggests that he may be the man.

As his supporters say, he is "muy mucho hombre"—very much man.

CLOSE FRIEND OF CARDENAS

He is young for a president—43. Born the son of a Puebla rancher on April 24, 1897, in Tezuitlan, Avila Camacho's whole life has been passed in the army.

Gen. Avila Camacho is childless, but likes children. Above, he receives a flower from a young constituent.

Oddly, as a boy he went to school with Lombardo Toledano, intellectual left-wing labor leader whose collaboration he has already rejected, though he had his support in the election.

Avila Camacho is and has been for years the close personal friend and army comrade of Lazaro Cardenas whom he is to succeed as president.

His long military career began in 1913 with entry into the military school at Mexico City. No sooner had he entered than Huerta rebelled against Madero. When the cadets were called to support, Avila Camacho left the school rather than do so.

It was dangerous to remain in the city after that, but his aging father, nearing blindness, was there for treatment and young Avila camacho remained with him, donning girl's clothing to lead the old man through the streets to the clinic.

Next year young Avila Camacho joined a band against Huerta, and for six years followed that campaign. He served under Cardenas, and by 1920 became something of a trouble-shooter. Cardenas sent him in 1920 to quell a revolt of Yaqui Indians in Sonora.

He was given two nasty jobs at opposite ends of the political spectrum. In 1927 he had to break the Cristero rising against anti-church decrees, and two years later he had to "pacify" Tabasco, where Governor Canabal was enforcing the same decrees with savage intensity.

Both jobs were done with a minimum of bloodshed, and under positive orders not to employ the "ley de fuga" under which prisoners are encouraged to try escape, then shot down while in the attempt.

As divisional general and secretary of war in 1938, Avila Camacho did much to mechanize and modernize the army, drawing freely on American models and aid. He is friendly toward the United States.

At the time of the Yaqui campaign, the general met and married a Jalisco girl of great beauty and charm. They are childless, but have adopted a handsome blond son, now 15. The Avila Camacho home life is definitely devoted and inviolate, causing mild wonderment in Mexican political circles accustomed to less rigid standards.

On being declared elected, Avila

Camacho publicly listed his property holdings, an unusual step, as a large ranch in the federal district near the capital, and a quiet white-walled house in the fashionable Lomas de Chapultepec suburb.

On the ranch he raises blooded cattle and horses. He likes billiards, drinks sparingly, doesn't play cards. Though the general does not speak English with any fluency, he has taught himself to read it, and French as well. He prefers history and economics to novels and thrillers, and has read and studied a great deal, especially recently. His platform manner is deliberate and grave, and rather on the dull side. Among recent favorite readings was "Sweden—the Middle Way." That may be significant.

One Person Votes Straight Communist Ticket In County

Gray county had one person vote the straight Communist ticket while another voted the Communist column for lieutenant-governor and attorney general while still another voted for the Communist candidate for state commissioner of agriculture.

All Communist votes were cast in the Harrah chapel box. Harry Hines received two votes for governor in the same box. Fifty-one residents of the Grandview community and one in the Hopkins community staged a write-in campaign of their own, placing the name of G. W. Shaffer for county commissioner of precinct three in opposition to Tom Kirby, incumbent. The number was not enough to elect the write-in candidate.

G. H. Kyle, defeated candidate for sheriff, received several write-in votes in opposition to Cal Rose, incumbent.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP)—A post-election selling wave liquidated leading stocks 1 to 4 or more points in today's market.

A recovery shift after a fast start failed to follow through and prices hit lows in the latter part of the proceedings. A number of stocks, aircraft and specialties managed to post modest advances at one time but the majority of these turned down later. Utilities were among the weakest sections.

Commonwealth & Southern, one of the liveliest performers on the recent upswing, opened one hour and three-quarters late on a sale of 35,000 shares, off 1/4 point. It conceded a trifle more in the afternoon.

Transfers were around 1,300,000 shares. Unloading by discouraged Willie holders, brokers said, touched off the morning release. A little buying then came in on the thought that defense spending would remain a strong business prop. The idea of tax repercussions on earnings, and renewed fears of war issues, were believed to have inspired additional liquidation after the short-lived comeback.

Catfish To Shoot Works Against Harvesters

New Spread Formation To Be Employed

There's going to be trickery and skill-dexterity over in Berger next Monday afternoon, according to Coach Catfish Smith of the Berger Bulldogs who is cooking up mighty bad medicine for the Pampa Harvesters.

With each team fighting to get out of the cellar and into the victory class the game is scheduled to be a mighty hard-fought. Coach Smith is making no bones about the fact that he is going to use every trick play he can manufacture—including his new spread formation which he worked at times against the Amarillo Sandies last Friday night.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean are working their Harvesters without letup, determined to break into the win column and to stay there.

From the Berger Herald comes the following information:

For three weeks in a row, the local football picture has remained the same, last week marking no exception.

Results of the Amarillo-Berger game were expected in these parts, although it was hoped that Bulldog deception would produce a score against the powerful Sandies.

And that deception was successful up to a certain point. Many times the Bulldogs strayed through the open field or gains, where they had been entirely unsuccessful before.

A Good Sign

That is a good sign. According to most reports, that style of football had been learned by the Bulldogs in less than a week's practice—counting playing days.

And that means the local boys have a good chance against Pampa and even the touted gridirons from Plainview. They can adapt themselves to new styles of football, and that will be highly useful in the next two weeks.

Friday night's deception consisted of a "spread" formation, which placed players from one sideline to the other and the others scattered in between.

Then the ball receiver either backed up and tossed a fast pass or darted off to one end.

The showing of little Jack Briggs also gave new hopes for more victories in the remaining two games this season.

Show Stealer

Briggs passed, ran and punted to steal the show on the offensive side of the Bulldogs, and his signal calling was just as effective.

The little quarterback has been on the bench for most of the season lacking, according to several reports, confidence in himself. After his game against the Sandies, however, we should hear no more of these reports.

J. N. Trotter was again the big cheese in the defense, although Jack Brandon and Red Hutson fought with every ounce of power.

Not that the other players didn't make a good showing, because they did. That fighting spirit for which the Bulldogs have become known in these parts was with them to the blowing of the final whistle.

The Bulldogs take a little more rest this week before tackling Pampa here on Armistice afternoon, Nov. 11, and that may prove the deciding factor of the game.

As Coach "Catfish" Smith said just after the game against the Sandies, "We've lost our last game this season, boys, because we're going to pull the rest of them down to our own size."

First Pass Intercepted

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 6 (AP)—Wes McAfee no longer has his perfect record of never having a pass intercepted, but Duke football fans say he ought to be credited with a record anyway. When Steve Leach jumped for a pass in the Georgia Tech game last Saturday and deflected it into the hands of Johnny Bosch, Tech halfback, it was the first interception of a McAfee pass in three years. Wes had thrown 78 and completed 39 of them.

'Big Train' Loses In Maryland Race

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6 (AP)—Walter P. Johnson, baseball's "big train" due to crack the "big league" in politics yesterday, but he didn't strike out.

Johnson, running on the Republican ticket for the house of representatives, lost to Rep. William D. Bryon after the tightest ballot pitching due in Maryland's election.

In a neck-and-neck race, Johnson sometimes held the lead and it was the "ninth inning" in the returns before the game went against him. He also was the last man to be required in the Democrats' clean sweep of Maryland offices.

The score: Bryon 53,196, Johnson 46,428 in 259 out of 287 precincts.

Peewees' Final Game To Be At Stinnett Thursday

Unbeaten Andrews Started Out With 11 Men On Squad

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

ANDREWS, Nov. 6 (AP)—When Bob Anthony called the boys out for football practice to Andrews High school eleven showed up.

Well, that was enough to play a game wasn't it?

You see, Anthony had long been accustomed to iron men feats in sports.

When he was at McMurry college, Abilene, the coach would put him with the 10 worst players on the squad and he'd beat the first string.

Anthony graduated from McMurry in 1937. The college has won only two games since.

But, this glory has to do with the Andrews High football team.

That first game was against Eunice, N. M. Andrews won 6-0.

Two days before the second game Bill Pinnell, regular end, was thrown by a horse and injured so badly he couldn't play.

But by that time a few new boys had come out for the team so E. W. Williamson, a 125-pounder, was called upon. Williamson had never played before but he delivered in a big way.

Andrews won 27-0.

At the present time there are 15 out for the squad but only one of them can be used as a substitute without loss of strength to the starting eleven.

But lack of reserves hasn't been much of a handicap. The team is undefeated and until last week had not been scored on.

There are 50 boys in the school and most of them are in the band that plays the music that puts the pep into the football iron men.

The team hasn't had to walk off the field because of lack of substitutes but in the game with Lorraine, which ended in a scoreless tie, it was necessary to switch a guard to center when the regular pivot man was knocked out.

Resourceful? Well, here's an example:

Last week against Stanton, with a minute and 30 seconds to play, Andrews was trailing 7-8. So the boys went into a huddle, made up a new pass play and it worked for a touchdown.

Star of the team is Joe Dillard, a punter who sends the ball 50 to 60 yards, is a dangerous runner, a fine pass receiver, a fair blocker, a star place-kicker and the defensive power of the backfield.

Says Eugene Little, editor of the school paper: "We think our success is due to the fact that all our boys are living a clean life. You don't see them around the pool halls, smoking cigarette or on the streets late at night. As a matter of fact, they all work at something."

Wellington And Shamrock Play On Friday Night

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

SHAMROCK, Nov. 6—For the first time in several years the Shamrock Irish-Wellington Skyrock football game will be played on Friday night, Nov. 8, rather than on Nov. 11 on Armistice day. The change was made due to the fact that both teams had scheduled games for Friday Nov. 15, and thus would have to play two games in one week.

The contest loses none of its interest and drama on account of change of date, however, and as always the intense rivalry between the two teams promises a bang-up football game.

Shamrock has managed to hold onto an undefeated record in conference play status by noosing out LeFors 7-6 last Friday night and the off-beaten Wellington team came alive to the Memphis.

The Skyrocks will be striving to knock Shamrock from the undefeated rolls and the Irish will be fighting to keep this record intact. This together with the traditional rivalry between the two teams makes an interesting situation and rates the game as a toss-up.

Kersh, Irish right tackle, injured in the Cleveland game three weeks ago will be unable to play against Wellington as will Tom Riskey, regular guard, who has been confined to the hospital for the past week with a kidney ailment.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Schneider hotel bowlers turned on the Schlitz beer team which has been hot in the Major League and in the six games played thus far, the Peewees have won four and lost two. They hold victories over Stinnett, Amarillo (2), and Phillips. The heavier and more experienced Canadian eleven defeated the Peewees twice.

The word "baby" is misleading because these boys can really block and tackle and have one of the finest teams in the Panhandle.

In the six games played thus far, the Peewees have won four and lost two. They hold victories over Stinnett, Amarillo (2), and Phillips. The heavier and more experienced Canadian eleven defeated the Peewees twice.

The Peewees have a remarkable offensive record for a small team that averages only 96 pounds. They ran up 127 points while their opponents were making 37. All the touchdowns were not made on the ground as they took to the air lanes for many of their scores. In fact, they probably have the most "air minded" Peewee team in the state.

In Johnny Campbell and Dee Griffin, the Peewees have two 80 pound boys that can really "slide that pigskin." Johnny has thrown five touchdowns passes and Dee has found the mark for three touchdowns. Randall Clay, an end and leading scorer, has been on the receiving end of five touchdowns passes. Joe Cree, Billy Gethin, and Bobby Slior caught the other three. The other scores were made by Kenneth Beasley, Dee Griffin, Russell Neef and Johnny Campbell.

The line which averages 89 pounds has been largely responsible for the 127 points made by the Peewees. The backs would not get to the line of scrimmage if it were not for the "seven holes" blocking and opening up holes for them.

The starting line for most of the games has been: Ends—Randall Clay and Bobby Slior; tackles—Jack Dunham and Charles Hatcher; center—Bobby Myers; guards—Henry Lane and Evan Jones. Other linemen who have proved capable substitutes are: John Hughes, Arnold Erickson, Charles Beard, J. W. Winborne, John Lindsey, Ardell Seeds, Walter Wilson, Virgil Fish, John Bender, Jack Rains, Billy Bird, Jimmy Terrell, and Billy Benson.

The Peewees have had their share of injuries. L. J. Crab, regular guard on last year's team, was lost to the squad after the first game due to an ear injury. Joe Cree, regular end, had to drop football because of an injury. Charles Johnson, a husky tackle, has been out with a leg injury the last four games. Captain Johnny Campbell was hurt in the Canadian game and will not play any more this year.

Naturally the Peewees have liked to play an undefeated record, but at the same time they feel that they have had a rather successful season. Many favorable remarks have been made about their blocking, tackling, sportsmanship, passing, hustling, training, "razzie dazzle" offense, and teamwork.

Greenberg 'Most' Valuable Player In American Loop

By TIM SILER

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 (AP)—It was a happy day for all concerned when the Detroit master minds finally decided to shift Hank Greenberg, with his consent, from first base to the outfield.

Big Henry said the move suited him if it would help the team and it did help the Tigers emerge as a surprise American league flag winner without hurting the Tiger slugger at all.

Greenberg's splendid year at the plate and acceptable work in the outfield moved the Baseball Writers Association of America to vote him the "most valuable player" of the year, the same honor he received in 1935.

Hank blasted 41 home runs and knocked in 150 runs, leading the league in both respects, his late season slugging winning many important games for the club in the feverish pennant battle.

Bob Feller's 27 mound victories for Cleveland brought him second place with 223 points. Greenberg got 292 points. Joe DiMaggio of New York, the 1939 winner, dropped to third with 181 points. Buck Newson, Detroit pitcher, and Lou Boudreau, Cleveland shortstop, ranked next in order with 120 and 119 points. Jimmy Fox, Boston, only three-time winner of the "most valuable" designation, ranked sixth with 110 points.

Gorillas To Play Phillips 'B' Team Here

Oscar Hinger's Gorillas, with six straight victories behind them, will be gunning for another Thursday afternoon when they meet the class-y Phillips Blackhawk "B" team on Harvesters field. Game time will be 3:30 o'clock with no admission being charged.

The Gorillas will be in tip-top shape for the game with the exception of Pollack who suffered a broken foot last week. Billy Waters will be back in uniform to round out the two-backfield combination sometimes used by the Gorillas.

Coach Hinger hasn't named a starting lineup for the game. Last week, in defeating Stinnett, Coach Hinger used Lard and Shotwell at ends; Thomas and Edson at tackles; Zimmerman and Abernathy at guards; Barley at center; Halter at quarter; Lane and Winget at halves; and Stevens at full.

The Blackhawks have been doing a lot of playing in fast company this season, replacing the first stringers after they had put a nice lead in the bag. The "B" team also has been scrimmaging material for the Blackhawks all season.

On Thursday night, at 7:30 o'clock under the lights at Harvesters park, the Junior high Reapers will battle the LeFors Juniors in a benefit game, proceeds going to the junior high cafeteria fund which is badly in need of money to provide food for less fortunate students. Admission to the game will be 10 cents.

The Reapers of Coach C. F. McWright have finished their conference season. They are scheduled to have plenty of trouble with the LeFors boys. Last year the future Pirates gave the Reapers a mighty tussle.

Lions Fear Wisconsin

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP)—It isn't that Lou Little, Columbia coach, doesn't think highly of the Cornell team that beat his Lions, 27-0, but he wants his team to be prepared for Wisconsin this week. "You're in for a tougher afternoon this week, in all probability, than you had at Ithaca last Saturday," Little warned. He based his statement on the fact that Wisconsin is the heaviest team Columbia has ever entered, and that it uses the Notre Dame style of attack, something the Lions haven't faced since 1933.

Coaches To Call Signals In Oklahoma City Game

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 6 (AP)—Maybe you don't know Coach Ossie Doenges but you will, for he's about to go down in gridiron annals as the originator of 12-man—or there's the coach there in the huddle—football.

Yesir, come Saturday at San Antonio, Tex., Coach Ossie of the Oklahoma City university Goldbugs and Coach Mose Simms of St. Mary's colorful Rattlers will hop from the bench and—unabashed—call signals in the huddle.

You might know Old Mose would be in for something like that, for Mose would rather get some honest free advertising for his football team than win a game—well almost—any day.

"Sure, we'll do it," belted Mose from the other end of the telephone. "It sounds like a swell stunt."

Doenges will admit that all this rumpus about coaches wig-wagging signals from the bench gave him the idea. But after all, when 11 men can't win a game all season, why maybe an extra might help.

Earlier this season, Doenges said he had a perfectly good football team—the Goldbugs had only lost two or three games at the time—but they always called the right plays at the wrong time, or vice versa.

Still, the rules were pretty strict about the coaches getting off the bench. But why wouldn't it be all right to get the other coach to agree. There wouldn't be any unfair advantage then, would there?

Doenges absolutely denied he planned to put any body blocks on Old Mose, or make any shoe string tackles.

We'll step into the huddle, step back out after the boys get the signal, and we won't be eligible for passes, or even fumbles, Ossie explained. The coaches can't play. They just do the thinking.

Which probably is just as well for Ossie, who no longer is the bundle of biceps he was in his playing days. St. Mary's has won six games so far and a scoreless tie would look like a thumping victory to Ossie.

Hard-Luck Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 6 (AP)—Twenty-five seconds represent the difference between a perfect record in Big Ten games and Purdue's two defeats in three conference games. The Boiler-makers were beaten in the last 19 seconds to Ohio State when Charley Mang kicked a field goal, and were by Wisconsin in the last six seconds after crumpling the Badgers. In their other Big Ten game they routed Iowa.

HIGHER TEST (more volatile) GASOLINE

That's a perfect description of Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

During the coming winter months, you can confidently expect . . . based on past experience . . . that the Volatility Number (high test rating) of this amazing motor fuel will be 50 per cent higher than the average Volatility Number of premium price gasolines.

DRAFTS UP AGAINST RIGID PHYSICAL EXAMINATION AT INDUCTION STATION

One of a series taking a draftee into Uncle Sam's new army.

BY MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—John Q. Citizen, chosen by his local draft board...

as one of the quota from his neighborhood for the army, has a busy time when he arrives at the induction station nearest his home.

His papers, including his signed questionnaire, are checked. There is also a check on the correct spelling of his name.

This is very important, not only because of the matter of his monthly pay check, but also because of his whole army record.

The army does not want any confusion, and with all the details which make a man subject to rejection, they test his eyes, ears, throat, lungs and heart.

Then he strips and his whole body is examined.

If any man is rejected, he is given transportation back home and a document to show he has been rejected.

The draftee who injures himself physically to try to evade the draft, will have a hard time with hard-boiled army doctors.

Men who have thus maltreated themselves may nevertheless be compelled to serve in the army if the doctors recommend this course to the director of selective service.

There are a lot of tricks passed on by evily disposed persons to men subject to the draft, such as taking certain drugs or other substances to the director of selective service.

There are also a lot of tricks passed on by evily disposed persons to men subject to the draft, such as taking certain drugs or other substances to the director of selective service.

Men who try this will not get by. All those things are known to the army doctors and they are on the watch for malingerers.

McLean Looms As District Champion

SHAMROCK, Nov. 6—After a week-end of upsets and near upsets certain Tiggers, as district leaders for District 2-A.

While the Tiggers were resting their nearest rival, Shamrock's Irishmen, found their hands full in losing out to the LeFors Pirates 7-4.

A team that McLean had trounced soundly on the previous Friday, 47 to 14.

Clarendon, rated as an outside rival to McLean, was able to run a 39 to 0 campaign on the much beaten Lakeview Eagles which McLean had defeated earlier in the season 56 to 0.

Wheeler, who had been considered to have an outside chance at the title, fell before Canadian 13 to 0.

With their three remaining rivals, Shamrock, Clarendon, and Wheeler, showing very little strength, the Tiggers with their ace ball carrier, John Kelly Lee, running several touchdowns per game with Braxton making steady gains through the line in every game and their stalwart line allowing very few yards by their opponents appear to be sure shot for the leader in District 2-A when their final district game is over on Nov. 22.

Great Guards Plentiful All Over Nation

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

Many claim Clark Shaughnessy is a miracle man, a magician, or something, for so quickly putting Stanford back on its football feet, but, mister, the answer to the question is much simpler and more fundamental than that.

Shaughnessy's success lies in good old-fashioned hard and intelligent work. There isn't a harder worker than the old Minnesota man in any business or profession, and he has his assistants working just as diligently. He often gets up at 4 o'clock in the morning to work... averages 16 to 18 hours a day.

He is extremely thorough and has his staff and practices organized to a high degree. Every minute of the working day and of practice is plotted out.

The Cardinals are no longer the Laughing Boys of Tiny Thornhill's sayings, according to Dewey Reed, the Cardinals' field office manager at Amarillo. Of the 50 million workers for whom old-age and survivors insurance accounts have been established, only 400,000 had asked for statements showing the amount of wages credited to him. More than half the requests came from New York state.

The Social Security Board announced in June 1938 that any insured wage earner could obtain for the asking a statement showing the standing of his account up to at least the end of the previous calendar year.

"Failure of all but an insignificant number to accept the invitation to find out how their accounts stand," said Mr. Reed, "is regarded by the Board as evidence not only of their faith in the soundness of the government's record-keeping methods, but of their belief that their employers are accurately reporting their wages."

"The Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance completed in June the posting of all wages reported during 1939. Wage statements showing the status of any account at the close of that year may now be obtained. Anyone with a social security account number can get at any field office a post-card from for use in requesting a statement."

"While the Board is gratified by the evidence that the wage-earning population regards its records as accurate," said Mr. Reed, "it will continue to protect the insured worker against occasional accounting mistakes and to answer all requests for wage statements. Notwithstanding the abundance of evidence that not one employer in thousands deliberately sends in a false report, the Board realizes that mistakes can be, and are made in reporting an employee's wages. The proper crediting to a worker's account of all wages received is of even greater importance now than it was before the Social Security Act was amended in 1939 to provide insurance not only for the wage earner upon his retirement, but for members of his family, particularly in event of his death."

Millions Of Insured Wage Earners May Learn Standing Of Accounts

AMARILLO, Nov. 6—American wage earners have overwhelmingly indicated in what was in effect a two-year poll ending June 30, their confidence in the soundness of the Social Security Board's bookkeeping methods, according to Dewey Reed, the Board's field office manager at Amarillo. Of the 50 million workers for whom old-age and survivors insurance accounts have been established, only 400,000 had asked for statements showing the amount of wages credited to him. More than half the requests came from New York state.

Katharine Cornell To Broadcast For Red Cross Nov. 10

Katherine Cornell, considered by many critics to be America's foremost actress, has agreed to make her first radio appearance on a full-hour broadcast launching the Red Cross Roll Call, over the three major networks combined, 1:30-2:30 p. m. EST, Sunday, November 10, National Headquarters of the American Red Cross here has announced. Miss Cornell will be heard in scenes from one of her most successful plays, Red Cross officials said, adding that Brian Aherne will appear with her in the presentation which is to be directed by her producer-husband, Guthrie McClintic.

Red Cross executives pointed out that Miss Cornell had refused every radio and film offer, and that the roll call was one cause for which she was willing to change her mind—donating her services.

On the same program, it was stated, Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, will personally deliver a membership appeal to the public. Leopold Stokowski will conduct the music, and Clifton Fadiman and Raymond Gram Swing will explain the importance of the Red Cross in national defense. Bob Trout will handle the announcing assignment.

One week later, November 17—at the same hour, 1:30-2:30 p. m. EST—three more stars will carry another Roll Call show, this time from Hollywood. A galaxy of stars will participate, including Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Aron "Andy" Bob Hope, Bette Davis, Lionel Barrymore, Martha Tilton, Benay Venutia, the Betty Brewer Quartette, and Donald Dickson. Arch Oboler is writing the dramatic portion of the script; Dave Brockman's orchestra will provide the music, and Don Wilson will announce.

Houston Has Mayor Only 37 Years Old

HOUSTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Houston had a new mayor today after seven years under Oscar Holcombe. C. A. (Neal) Pickett, 37, secretary of the Lumberman's Association of Texas, won the office yesterday. Holcombe conceded defeat early last night.

The four city commissioners were re-elected. Pickett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Pickett of Beaumont.

National Parks Grow

During the year ended June 30, 1939, more than 1,600,000 acres were added to the historical, recreational and scenic areas administered by the U. S. National Park Service. Total area now amounts to 20,817,228 acres.

Lionel Barrymore, Martha Tilton, Benay Venutia, the Betty Brewer Quartette, and Donald Dickson. Arch Oboler is writing the dramatic portion of the script; Dave Brockman's orchestra will provide the music, and Don Wilson will announce.

Crappons SCOREBOARD

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

Stanford has been out-matered by every team it has met and will continue to meet squads that have more manpower.

Santa Clara uses the unit system of substitution. The Cards tackled the Broncos on a blistering hot day. Eleven new Broncos came in at the end of the first period, but the Indians, who should have been tired, marched right through their fresh opponents... 42 yards straight to the goal line.

They were... and are... in condition. Shaughnessy is employing the "T" formation, which you know to be many years old, but the amount of stuff he develops off the "T" is almost unbelievable.

Stanford has power, speed threats on quick openers and a potent passing game. It employs flankers, men, withstanding the abundance of evidence that not one employer in thousands deliberately sends in a false report, the Board realizes that mistakes can be, and are made in reporting an employee's wages. Stanford men are happy that Chicago switched to six-man football, and made it possible for their number to bring Clark Shaughnessy to Palo Alto.

SERIAL STORY

GOAL TO GO

BY W. H. PEARS

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Bill recalls the accident that injured his father, Buck Mentor. He had been playing football with the varsity team when he was struck by a blacksmith's horse. The injury was so severe that he was unable to play for several weeks. Now, he is determined to make up for his father's loss by winning the championship game.

CHAPTER III

BUCK MENTOR said, "Go ahead."

"We're going on a strike," Don Hart blurted.

"We're through with Landis' dirty tricks," Calvert added. "He sent me into the game last night to run off that razzle-dazzle. Now he's ducking the blame. We won't stand for it!"

Buck Mentor, looking from one angry face to the other with grave eyes, said nothing.

"We've talked to our folks," Drowsy explained. "They haven't forgotten all the cold, rainy days he sent the squad home with sniffles and sore muscles. They're still pretty mad at Landis."

"And they're dead set on winning the big game against East this year," Hart said. "If we refuse to play for Landis, they'll back us up."

The boys were silent, waiting for Buck to speak. He took a long pull on his pipe.

"You fellows know there's nothing in the world I'd rather do than coach you."

"Attaboy, Buck! Bill knows how you want us to block and tackle. He can help you."

"No, well, I haven't finished. It's impossible the way you've planned it."

"Why?" Hart demanded.

"You fellows are like soldiers in an army," Buck said slowly. "You can't just quit when something doesn't please you. Not even if you think the general's giving you a dirty deal. That's called desertion. You've got to stick out your jaws and ask for more."

Calvert scuffed his toe on the threadbare carpet. "But, gosh, Buck, we thought..."

Buck's voice was gentle. "Sure, fellow, I know what you thought. It's not easy for me to refuse. I'm just about bursting inside that you fellows want me. But if Landis is really a poor coach he won't last. In the meantime, give him all you've got. Then if he fails he won't have an alibi."

"Gee, Buck, do you really mean that?" Drowsy asked.

"I do, Drowsy."

The boys talked in low tones, then Hart said, "Okay, Buck, what you say goes with us. We'll stick."

"Good stuff, fellows!" As the squad moved slowly toward the door Buck turned to his son. "Bill, can you practice with them tomorrow?"

"I usually squeeze in a little time before work, Buck. But why?"

"I'm not sure, Bill, but somehow I feel that seeing you take the same medicine I prescribed for them may help..."

WHEN his last class was over, Bill dashed for the locker room. A sense of excitement gripped him as he put on Buck's play. He wanted desperately to be able to tell Buck that his play had fooled the varsity...

Illustrated by G. P. Whitford. Dot walked scarlet-tipped fingernails up Bill's sleeve. "If I bet you're really not such a woman-hater, Bill..."

Hands on his hips, Landis glared at Bill. "I suppose you think you're quite a coach, eh, Mentor?"

"No, sir."

"Well, get this straight. You can teach the scrubs all the Buck Mentor plays you want, but no varsity of mine will ever run them. In fact, Mentor, I'd welcome the chance to smear a few All-American plays!"

Bill turned to the scrubs with a grin. "If any of you fellows are interested in Coach's ideas, drop around at the house. Buck'll give us a little skull practice. So long."

IT was nearly Bill's quitting time when Bullethead Peskin swaggered into the drug store. Dot Skelton clung to his arm. Bullethead led her to a booth and gestured imperiously for Bill.

"Gimme a hot chocolate, and Dot here wants..."

"Thank you," Dot snapped. "I'll do my own ordering. She curved her full red lips in a teasing smile. 'How are you, Bill? Don't you think it'd be nice to say hello to me?'"

"Hello," Bill said. "Must you always say it like a parrot?"

Bullethead was turning green about the mouth. "See, Dot, what's the idea of talking to this soda jerk?"

"You hush up, Walton!" she flared. "I like Bill. He's a gentleman, which is more than I can say for some fellows..."

"You're not too plump," Bill said. "I'll bet you're really not such a woman-hater, Bill..."

He gulped. She was pretty, all right, with her auburn hair and green eyes, but he wished she'd let him alone. She pulled that line every time she came in. He forced a grin. "How about a hot fudge sundae?"

"Oh, dear, my figure..." She twisted around in an obvious effort to draw Bill's attention to her slim curves. "But if you say I'm not too plump, Bill, I'll give in."

Bill shot an embarrassed glance at Drowsy Peters, who grinned back impishly over his coke. "You're not too plump," Bill said gruffly.

Dot was coy when he returned with the order. "Bill, why don't you ever come to the dances? Or ask anyone for a date?"

"I work every night," Bill said, and hurried behind the fountain.

Bullethead Peskin bellowed: "Hey, Mentor, we want water. And slop some extra chocolate on Dot's sundae."

Bill hesitated, red spots of anger coloring his cheeks. It was past his quitting time, but if he ignored the order it might mean his job. For Buck's sake he swallowed his pride and obeyed. Then, without a glance at either Dot or Bullethead, he joined Drowsy.

DROWSY blinked at him like a sleepy kitten. "You ain't smart, Bill."

"Why?"

"Giving Dot the crush-off. She's been trying to get a tumble out of you for six months."

"So what?" Bill asked, then added, his heart jumping curiously. "I got a girl!"

"Only this, you dope! J. Conrad Skelton runs the board. Little Dottie runs J. Conrad..."

Drowsy was patient. "I mean, Willie, that this Landis don't know which way is up. He won't last. If you're in solid with the Skeltons when the ax falls you can do Buck a lot of good..."

worn uniform. The shoulderpads were bulky and obsolete, the jersey faded and torn; but to Bill it was a suit of shining armor. As he jogged out on the practice field, Landis turned. He was a heavy man with a meat-red face and practically no neck. He barked commands like a drill sergeant, yet never seemed quite sure of himself. "Working out today, Mentor?" "If it's okay, Coach." "Makes no difference to me. You can scrimmage with the scrubs." Bill went into a huddle. He ran off several routine plays without much gain. The varsity squad was charging in hard and fast. The scrubs were determined but out-classed. "Too bad you guys can't roll like that under pressure," Landis commented sarcastically. The boys scowled but remained silent. From the varsity backfield Bullethead Peskin called with a sneer: "Hey, Mentor, why doncha give us some of those too, too wonderful plays of your old man?" Bill took a threatening step toward Peskin, but Landis cut in sharply. "All right, all right, get going now!" Still smoldering, Bill called his squad into a huddle. "Let's show Coach what we can do," he begged. "Here's one Buck taught me. It's no razzle-dazzle, but if we get it timed right it may fool 'em. Now listen..." Bill took the pass from center, drove forward. Just before he reached the line he handed the ball to the wingback, who started a sweep around right end. Bill's heart pounded as he blocked out a defensive guard trailing the

Former Amarilloan Wins Congress Seat From East Side

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP)—A country lawyer from Texas, a Republican from that iron-bound Democratic state, has been elected representative from another Democratic stronghold—the 16th congressional district in New York's lower east side—sometimes called the "Gas House district."

He is William T. Pfeiffer, 41-year-old lawyer from Amarillo, Tex., who came to New York only 21 months ago to specialize in oil and gas litigation. This will be his first public office—and was his first candidacy.

Pfeiffer defeated Rep. James Fay, ardent New Dealer who went to the house two years ago after beating John J. O'Connor, long-time congressman, in the Democratic primary. The vote was 31,059 to 28,843. O'Connor was the only Democratic congressman of those opposed by the Roosevelt administration in 1938 to be defeated.

Pfeiffer said his platform was "no machine." He supported the candidacy of Wendell L. Willkie and told his constituents he belonged to "no machine."

Born in Oklahoma's Indian territory, he received his law degree in the University of Oklahoma, and practiced in Sayre, Okla., and Amarillo. He is a bachelor.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 6 (AP)—Oklahoma backed President Roosevelt's bid for a third term with its electoral votes yesterday but broke a precedent of eight years by electing one Republican congressman.

counted the chief executive held a lead of 110,000 over Wendell L. Willkie, his Republican opponent. The totals: Roosevelt 397,171, Willkie 287,740.

Ross Ritzley, Guymon Republican, unseated Rep. Phil Ferguson, Democratic incumbent, in the eighth district on the basis of unofficial returns from 449 of the 494 precincts. The vote: Ritzley 43,720; Ferguson 36,106.

The largest airplane ever to be built is the Douglas B-19, which will have a wing spread of 210 feet, a cruising range of 7,000 miles and a load of 28 tons.

The Party 'Stands Pat'

The people have spoken. Franklin D. Roosevelt is to be President of the United States for the next four years.

The American people, in riding rough-shod over the tradition against third terms for Presidents, have given President Roosevelt a tribute that should at once make him very proud and very humble. Many people have believed honestly that election of Roosevelt would mean the end of American democracy.

The strong campaign by Willkie should be a warning to the President. One of the arguments advanced in his behalf has been that his long experience in public life and in the presidency itself have taught him what may and what may not be done. The clarity and power of opposition which developed during the campaign are a clear signal for an end to miscellaneous experimentation, and concentration on such industrial progress as will solve the one most pressing domestic problem—unemployment.

As to foreign affairs, it seems clear that American prestige abroad will have been enhanced by the people's decision to stand by the President. The weakness of American foreign policy has always been that other countries never know when a change of administration may bring changes in policy.

The imperatives of the international situation, however, are such today that our foreign policy is pretty much what it must be. Willkie's virtual adherence to it was the proof of that.

No President ever made a more solemn pledge that the country had no commitments abroad; none ever pledged more explicitly a peace policy so long as the actions of others left peace remotely possible. These pledges the re-elected President must not forget.

There is a task before us—a double task involving maximum military preparedness at the fastest possible pace, and also the rebuilding of a better economic structure on the firmest possible foundation. These are tasks which require a united people for successful completion. The election results show that the people are determined to continue to move forward along the general line laid down during the past eight years. To the weight of a third consecutive verdict to this effect is now added the international situation, demanding the utmost co-operation from every American.

It will be forthcoming. It is in the best tradition of democratic government to accept with grace the verdict of the people, and to support wholeheartedly the President who is the choice of the majority. In such a course lies the only assurance of victory over our domestic problems and of the stability of free government in a world which has gravely challenged it.

Behind The News

By BRUCE CANTON The Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A legal battle to re-establish the federal government's power to "police" primary elections in the states is being launched by O. John Rogge, assistant U. S. attorney general.

If Rogge's fight should succeed it would reverse a Supreme Court decision of nearly two decades ago and vastly widen the field in which the government can operate against vote frauds.

As things stand now, the government can act against election crookedness only in general elections. In the famous Newberry case the Supreme Court ruled the corrupt practice act unconstitutional in so far as it applied to primaries, which were held to be purely state concerns.

Rogge hopes to get the court to reverse this ruling, on the ground that the civil liberties statute—which provides penalties for persons who conspire to deprive a citizen of his legal rights—can be applied to primary elections. This statute, passed shortly after the Civil War to protect the new civil rights of southern negroes, has been resurrected under the New Deal and used effectively in cleaning up the Kansas City election fraud cases.

Indictment Accuses Election Officials Rogge spent some time in Louisiana this year attacking various forms of political corruption. Figuring a Democratic nomination in Louisiana is equal to election, he decided to chance a court test on the plea that depriving a citizen of his rights in such a primary is a federal offense.

The case he brought is an indictment against five election officials in the second Louisiana congressional district, in New Orleans. Charge is that these men phenagued votes totals in favor of T. Hale Boggs, the winning candidate.

Carefully worded so as to get in under the civil liberties statute, the indictment charges the officials conspired to deprive the two losing candidates, and also those who voted for them, of their legal rights.

Lower court in Louisiana threw the indictment out, sustaining a defense demurrer which argued that the federal government can't touch primaries. Rogge is taking an appeal direct to the Supreme Court.

Behind-the-scenes aspects of the case are fully as interesting as those in the foreground. Rogge is somewhat out of favor at the Justice Department right now—as witness the recent setting up of a special unit under Maurice M. Milligan, special assistant to the attorney general, to handle vote fraud cases. That previously had been strictly Rogge's field.

Should Rogge win this case, however, it would have the effect of swinging him back into the saddle. Milligan's sudden rise took the play away from him. If Rogge could nail down the government's right to in-

Common Ground

By E. C. HOILES This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

FREE GOVERNMENT

The words, "free government," have come to have two meanings. Originally, they had one meaning: When this government was founded and up until the time of the Sixteenth Amendment, it meant that the people under the government were equally free. But since that time and especially under the New Deal and the latter part of Herbert Hoover's administration, it has pretty generally come to mean that the government is free to do anything it wants to do to any of its citizens. It can make fish of one and fowl of another. It can make class legislation of any kind. The individual, no more has any inherent God-given rights which our founding fathers intended the individual to have and tried to write a contract, an agreement, a Constitution to protect them in their equal freedom.

And when a people begins to believe that the government is free to do anything it wants to, as determining by the majority or some dictator who happens to be in control, then we are on the same road as Germany is traveling. Then we have much unnecessary misery, poverty, suffering and ignorance.

All our progress has come from a few geniuses who had ideas of how to harness the forces of nature and make them the heritage of mankind. And when the government, through the mass of people without foresight, has the right to curtail and restrict and take away from these venturesome people the right to use their faculties as they believe will be beneficial to them and to mankind, then we have little chance for progress.

It is because people have come to believe that the government is free to do anything it wants to with the people, instead of the people being equally free, that we have had the first slump in production and improved conditions that lasted more than five years in any time in our history.

WHAT IS HUMANITARIANISM?

The so-called liberals have in fact written a new definition of humanitarianism. The new definition of all the defenders of the New Deal policies is that whatever the majority decides is humanitarian, then that is humanitarian. If the majority decides it is humanitarian to kill the goose that lays the golden egg and hand it to indolent, shiftless and irresponsible people and those who cannot see that from every act there are a series of consequences, then, according to these New Deal defenders, that is humanitarian; that is virtue, that is good. Then, according to these humanitarians, the Sermon on the Mount is all a lot of junk; the declaration of Independence and the Constitution and the Bill of Rights had no relation to humanitarianism because they believed that there were certain inalienable rights that belonged to every individual and to violate these rights was the most inhuman thing that could be done to humanity as a whole.

The author of the Sermon on the Mount, the author of the Declaration of Independence and the founders of the Constitution all believed that if we recognized the everlasting and eternal truth and principle—that the race will have less misery, suffering and more happiness, if all men have equal rights, no matter whether 99 out of every 100 think to the contrary.

Unselfish humanitarianism to the New Dealers is merely a question of mathematics without regard to the wisdom of each individual. To these men, the opinion and advice of Jesus Christ, Thomas Jefferson, Franklin, Lincoln and Madison were of no more value in determining what unselfish humanitarianism is than the opinion of Judas Iscariot, Benedict Arnold, Al Capone or Earl Browder, Boss Hague of Jersey City, or Boss Kelly, Mayor of Chicago. What a way of measuring and determining "unselfish humanitarianism."

THE GOD OF MAJORITY RULE

What this country is suffering from, more than anything else, is that it now worships the God of Majority Rule. It has discarded the laws or the order of things that Providence has ruled produces happiness. In the place of the Ten Commandments we have substituted the changeable, fickle, unknowable will of the majority. We have, in fact, said that God is a dummy, and that we, the majority, have more foresight, more wisdom, more order than the Creator or God.

We have, in fact, said that everything must be changed with the changeable will of the majority. We have said that there are no inalienable rights that belong to an individual that cannot be changed. We have set aside the Sermon on the Mount, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights in our worship of the God of Majority Rule.

This was not the belief of the forefathers who established a Constitution to protect us from the short-sightedness of the majority or of a dictator.

It is time that people began to realize again, as they did when our Constitution was established, that there are certain rules, or laws, or principles or truth, or order of actions which must be obeyed if mankind is to be happy and grow and develop as Providence intended man to do.

tervene in primaries he in turn would take the play away from Milligan.

Rumors have been current lately that Rogge will eventually be replaced, presumably by Milligan—sometime this winter, according to most predictions. Rogge is said to have displeased the administration during the summer, when in the middle west he displayed a willingness to open fire on Democratic politicians.

And in Springfield, Ill., the other day, Rogge took the trouble to deny that high politicians are trying to sway his conduct of a federal grand jury there investigating alleged slush expenditures by public utility companies to influence rates and regulations.

ONE, TWO, THREE

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 6.—In the same whoopee-parlor where a fixed jury of playboys once gave the title of Oomph Girl to Anita Sheridan, who was the sole entrant in the "contest," a committee of motion picture directors met the other night and selected 13 "Baby Stars of 1940."

The two occasions were alike in that both were press-agent-inspired and that neither brought out a reasonably representative amount of competition. The Baby Star contest was devised wholly to plug the name of Director Raoul Walsh, committee chairman, who posed with the beaming cuties.

It was a pleasant chore, and I have no wish to criticize Mr. Walsh or his associate judges for their part in one of this season's brighter bits of hokum. But I am disappointed by the way some of my fellow correspondents seized this stunt and proceeded to embellish it beyond even the wildest dreams or schemes of Mr. Walsh's publicity man.

They've been saying these girls are Wampus Baby Stars and are the film colony's best bet for real stardom. Such statements aren't fair to the kids themselves, some of whom probably are sitting at home right now waiting for calls from Louis B. Mayer and Darryl Zanuck. In qualifications, nominations and selections of this group, there is no similarity to the methods of Wampus, which was a large and powerful organization in its day, but which has been stone dead since 1934.

ONE REQUIREMENT

Let me tell you a little about how this recent contest was conducted. Most of the studios refused point-blank to allow their young contract players to participate. Executives knew there was a hidden motive somewhere, so they assumed the competition had been fixed and their entrants couldn't win.

That attitude on the part of the studios automatically eliminated about 98 per cent of the actresses whom any neutral would nominate for best-bets-for-stardom list.

There was only one requirement for entrance, and that was membership in the Screen Actors' Guild. Hatlie McDaniel would have been eligible. (And one woman well past 40 actually showed up.) But of all the thousands who might have taken part, only 55 sent applications. 12 of these had dates, so 43 applicants do a one-minute performance of their own choosing.

PLANTED STOOGE STOPPED STRIP TEASE

They could sing, dance or recite. Most of them recited, and for considerably more than a minute. The judges squirmed during a succession of dramatic monologues vaguely in the Betty Davis manner. When pert Peggy Diggins rose and announced she had just got in town and hadn't prepared anything, the judges were so relieved that they made her a Baby Star forthwith.

A former professional model sang badly but was accepted because of her—ah—poise. Another ex-model faked a fur coat, then the daring gown underneath. In a business-like voice, she next announced: "And now the lingerie." But a stooge had been planted in the audience to cry "No—not here!" So Tanya Widrin became a Baby Star. FUR TO DIDN'T KNOW ANY.

Only contestant to be unanimously approved was Joan Leslie, a brilliant 15-year-old Warner actress whom all Hollywood has heard about. She did the Lulu Rainer telephone bit from "The Great Ziegfeld."

Of the 13 girls finally chosen, only six had stock contracts with studios. Only seven could be classed as experienced; only two had had any roles worth even minor billing, and only one seemed to be an actress of Several years ago this one had the privilege of having in the Boy Scout troop of which he was Scoutmaster two inseparable companions—Omer Harrell and Junior Foster, both of whom became Eagle Scouts. Both were also Harvester athletes. Nearly two years ago they joined the army together—mainly because they couldn't get a job.

Omer is now home visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Harrell. Both he and Junior have made good in the army. Omer is a supply corporal and Junior is a corporal. Both have won medals in marksmanship and in other army activities. Omer came to Pampa from Fort Knox, Kentucky, where he will be stationed this winter. He has been in Wisconsin. Junior has been at Fort Knox but will be stationed soon in Michigan. Both boys have been stationed at forts all over the nation since they joined the army and they have really done some travelling about. They belong to the same battalion but in different companies.

Omer likes army life fine and he says that if he fellows who are going to be drafted knew in advance how it would be they would not feel at all rebellious at the thought of joining the army. He says it's fun, the food's the best, and one doesn't have anything to worry about. Of course the army is the best physical conditioner, and one look at Omer will convince you of that. Last winter he played on the first string basketball team. Now he is lean, hard, straight and handsome, and he feels fine. Both boys are glad they joined the army—as are most Pampa boys in the service who come back home and tell about it.

By the way, Omer says there is no dearth of equipment in the army as far as he knows. He has practiced with the new Garand and rifle, and he says that it does a kick as some critics have claimed.

Welcome home Omer. We are glad to have you back for your furlough and furthermore we have a lot of respect for that uniform you wear and those medals and those corporal's stripes — we know that you earned them and we know that they mean a lot. We nominate you as the hero of the week because it is an honor and a privilege to add to our country's defense.

SMOKE SCREEN

CHAPTER 19 ARE WE LICKED? By Sammie B. Pettengill

"We have lived in an age so debauched from all humanity and reason that some stick not to turn butchers to their own privileges and conspirators against their own liberties," said William Penn in 1670 when on trial for speaking on London streets without permission.

"Conspirators against their own liberties!" Experience is a dear school but fools learn it no other, as Poor Richard says. The worst smoke screen of all is the one that blinds the eyes of those who started it.

I know the excuse these political sophomores give themselves. They say: We will concentrate not only on political but economic power in Washington, (or Berlin, or Rome, or Moscow). But we will retain all our civil rights!

These pundits may mean well, perhaps, but they haven't read history. Apparently they don't even read the newspapers!

What civil rights did anybody have in Louisiana under the reign of Huey P. Long, our first dictator? And what civil rights has anyone in Italy, Russia, Germany? Men are green in judgment when they suppose that supreme power will permit itself to be challenged by opposition parties, that it will permit its sweet perquisites to be whittled away by free speech, free press, free elections, labor organizations, even by pastor or priest.

Bertrand Russell is a socialist. But he is apparently intellectually honest. In his last book "Power" he confesses his dilemma. He advocates "State ownership of land and capital." But he knows "how rash it is to expect irresponsible power to be beneficent." He sees the inevitable danger that those who seek liberation from economic tyranny will find that "they have inadvertently established a new tyranny at once economic and political, more drastic and more terrible than any previously known."

And so he is troubled. He hopes that with the government owning all capital—for example, the newspapers—it would still be so kind as to permit the opposition to have one pipe to attack it! He should submit this to Adolf, Josef and Co!

Of course, if Bertrand Russell and his comrades of the "intelligentsia" were to solve the knotty problem of chaining two tigers (economic and political power combined) when they find difficulty in chaining one separately, we would still disagree as to their main theme—state ownership as in Russia, or state management as in Germany. Free men do more and better work than slaves. Logic says so, and the records prove it. The hope of reward as a greater stimulus to individual effort has not since Jefferson's day been a mere theory. America is the proof.

The constitution and new deal socialism cannot permanently co-exist on American soil. The friends of our form of government in both great parties must halt this onward march toward a Nazi America, or by a creeping paralysis concealed from the patient it will result in the death of the republic.

Many of my friends think this moral rot has gone so deep in the body politic that it is beyond healing. If so, the republic is doomed and Fascism will soon be our fate, with Communism our remoter legacy to posterity. Benjamin Franklin once said that our government "can only live and prosper as other forms have done before it when people have become so corrupted as to need despotic government, being incapable of any other."

I have not lost faith that the heart of this great people is still sound. I believe they love their chil-

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

British Premier Churchill's grave statement yesterday regarding the increasing Nazi submarine menace to English shipping was to my mind in effect a bid (a broad hint, if you will) for more American destroyers with which to meet this very real danger.

The premier told of the "gigantic task" imposed on the Royal Navy by the U-boat campaign and other calls of war, and warned "we must expect that next year a still heavier U-boat attack will be made upon us." He declared bluntly that if the formidable threat to sea-borne traffic were neglected it "would touch the life of the state," and in the midst of this grimly realistic picture he remarked:

"The fifty American destroyers are rapidly coming into service just when they are most needed, and the main flow of the new construction started at the outbreak of the war is now coming along."

This isn't the first time by any means that the subject of the destroyers has arisen. Only last Sunday First Lord of the Admiralty Alexander, after expressing thanks for the American warships, added: "I shall be equally thankful for any more that can be spared."

The point of all this, of course, is that destroyers are the handy men of the navy and are vital in dealing with submarines.

The submarine threat to England is very real there can be no doubt, as I have emphasized time and again in this column. Hitler has unleashed a terrific drive, in which Italy is participating, with the idea of establishing a counter-blockade and literally starving England into submission.

The Nazi chief has a notable precedent in Germany's unrestricted submarine campaign in the World War which came so close to strangling England that Admiral Jellicoe, commander of the Grand Fleet, warned the then prime minister of disaster unless the menace were checked.

The British don't admit anything like the losses in shipping sustained in the World War—but they are beginning to pile up.

However, the British have a fresh worry in that Hitler has cut loose a whole flock of new submarines which the Nazis have been turning out in mass production.

Vote For FDR Pleases Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6. (AP)—The Mexican government and public rejoice with obvious satisfaction today that President Roosevelt's re-election for a third term appeared assured.

Government officials asserted the president's continuation in office augurs well for a "just and mutual" solution of outstanding issues between the two countries and the rapid evolution of a program for joint military and economic defense of the western hemisphere.

The official attitude was that continuation of the Washington administration was desirable so there would be no delay in reaching the Mexican-American understanding with President Cardenas announced last week was being negotiated.

Ambassador Josephus Daniels, one-time boss of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and two were in the navy department together, said: "There has never been any doubt that the American people would register a vote of confidence in Mr. Roosevelt."

I know that $4,000,000 of them over forty per cent more than ever voted for presidential candidates of all parties, in life insurance policies alone, have a stake in the survival of private enterprise. I believe that events abroad and at home are causing a world-wide moral revulsion. I believe that a spiritual renaissance is not far off. I believe the day is not yet lost when the American people will rally by the tens of millions around some leader with the unyielding granite of Grover Cleveland, inflexible in his defense of "this last best hope of earth."

"Such is my creed. And I am happier fighting for it than I could possibly be in conceding the field as lost."

"For how can men die better, Than facing fearful odds, For the ashes of their fathers, And the temples of their gods?" And you, who read these lines, will it be said of you with deep respect, "Fie! you're brave Crillon, we fought at Arques and you were not there?" I will answer that. I believe you are going to get into the fight.

Director Ken Bennett told me this morning that he wasn't sure about anything—that I could either make or break the show. . . TWICE as many bachelors die between the ages of 30 and 35 as do married men of the same age. So claims longevity research expert Martin Gately.
