Two-Day Roll Call Urged By Chairman

Pampa's Red Cross roll call will begin Tuesday morning and Chairman Hal H. Lucas has challenged his hundreds of workers to complete the drive in two days.

No quota has been set for Pampa this year. The need is so great, now that the selective training program is under way, that an appeal is being made to give more than the regular $1 membership. Only half of the membership amount goes to National Red Cross headquarters, all the remaining funds staying in Pampa for local needs.

B. M. Behrman, chairman of the business district committee, has issued a call for all his workers to meet at the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall at 9 a. m. Tuesday for last instructions. Workers will be from the chamber of commerce, junior chamber of commerce, Kiwanis club, Lions club, Rotary club, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and other clubs.

Key men appointed by Mr. Behrman include himself, Ray F. Barnes and Frank Dial. Names of workers were not available today but all have been notified of their appointment and they are urged to be at the meeting tomorrow morning.

More than 100 women will canvass the residential sections of the city seeking memberships. They have been organized by Frank Monroe, chairman of the group; with key women in charge of each of 10 sections into which the residential sections have been divided.

"We are faced with a herculean task and I know everyone in Pampa will give to this worthy cause," Chairman Lucas said today upon his return from New York where he attended a business conference of his company representatives. He flew back to Pampa in order to take charge of the drive.

Selectees March All Over Texas

New buddies marched with Texas World War veterans today, men as young, lithe and strong as were the veterans themselves 22 years ago on the first armistice.

These newcomers—national guardsmen called up for training in the regular army and registrants under the selective service act—dressed places of honor in the lines of parade.

M'Intosh Cancels Borger Broadcast At Last Moment

Today's football game between the Pampa Patriots and the Borger Bulldogs, in Borger, will not be broadcast over radio station KPND, Pampa, as previously announced.

Last week KPND representatives visited in Borger and secured permission from Supt. W. A. McIntosh of the Borger school to broadcast the game. But at the last minute, after the broadcast had been sold to progressive Pampa merchants, Supt. McIntosh called and said the Borger school board had decided not to allow the broadcast.

Gas Pump Pulled Over And Smashed

A gasoline pump at Long's Service station on West Foster avenue was pulled over sometime last night, city officers reported. The smashed pump was discovered by city patrolmen at 3:20 o'clock this morning.

The officers believe the pump was used to drag the pump off its base. The hose was pulled off the pump and left lying on the driveway.

2,000 Dead In Rumanian Earthquake

By ROBERT ST. JOHN
BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 11 (AP)—The most disastrous earthquake in this kingdom's history killed between 1,000 and 2,000 persons and spread devastation across a 5,000-square-mile area yesterday and new tremors added to the catastrophe today.

In a few quivering seconds yesterday morning more of Rumania was laid in waste than would be destroyed in months of war.

Whole villages were erased. Ragging fires burned in Rumanian oil fields. Masses of buildings were leveled in Bucharest. Tens of millions of dollars of damage was done to property. Thousands of persons were injured and other thousands left homeless and terror-stricken.

Again at mid-morning today, earth tremors shook this capital, toppling balconies and adding to the death lists which grew steadily as communications were re-established with provinces where village after village reported fatalities yesterday.

Explosions and fires in the ruins of an apartment house where nearly 200 were entombed killed an undetermined number of iron guard rescue workers. Bursting gasoline tanks spat flames through the wreckage, sealing the fate of those trapped beneath and it was not known how many searchers had gone to their deaths.

While experts surveyed the damage to oil refineries and power plants, caused principally by toppling chimneys, geologists said the earth movements might have made unpredictable changes in the oil deposits which have made Rumania a bone of war contention.

In some places, where oil never before had been found, gushers were spouting through fissures in the ground.

Snow Falls Over Panhandle Plains

Twisting windstorms in southeast Texas and in Louisiana and Mississippi injured at least 15 persons and damaged communication lines and homes as a freezing north wind swept across the southwest Monday.

Snow fell over the Panhandle of Texas and Amarillo's 17-degree temperature was the lowest of the season. The Dallas weather bureau predicted sub-freezing weather would penetrate deep into southeast Texas.

Texan Makes Violin

BARKER, Nov. 11 (AP)—Though he cannot hear, Fred Smith, 84, has brought music into the homes of many persons by gifts of mellow toned violins manufactured with his own hands.

He never sells one, although he has made 46.

"The one I am proudest of," Smith said, "I carved from the stump of a sequoia tree more than 1,400 years old. I got permission to get the stump from the Sequoia National Forest."

Congratulations

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. McMahon are the parents of an Armistice Day son, born this morning in a local hospital. He weighed 7 pounds, 6 ounces, and has not yet been named.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Twentier are the parents of a daughter, weighing 7 pounds, 10 ounces, born yesterday at a local hospital. She has been named Jo Ann.

APPEASER DIES

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 11—Plans for a public memorial service—possibly in Westminster Abbey—were being arranged today for Neville Chamberlain who died Saturday amid the bomb-strewn wreckage of his dream for "peace in our time."

The tall, lean statesman who led Britain from the Munich appeasement through the first eight and one-half months of war with Germany resigned as prime minister May 10 after the British withdrawal from Norway and stepped from his last cabinet post little more than a month ago an exhausted, ill man.

Britain Raided In Mass Air Attack

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Heavy formations of German bombers roared across the English Channel today in an Armistice Day parade which three times forced its way through stubborn defenses to attack London.

Reverting to the mass air attacks of the earlier stages of the siege, the raiders hit the coast in such big waves that many were able to streak inland past Britain's defending fighters.

Britain Raided In Mass Air Attack

On another occasion one raider, on another five and again 20 flew across the capital.

Air battles could be heard in many places while Britons stood with bared heads beneath misty skies to honor their dead of the last war on the 22nd anniversary of the broken peace of 1918.

Britain Raided In Mass Air Attack

Three times air raid sirens shrilled alarms but by 2 p. m., the third all clear had sounded. The day raiders, although harassed by the capital's intermittent barrage, dropped heavy bomb loads on London.

One demolished two houses, injured a woman and three children. Another salvo fell opposite a school but caused no damage. A third wrecked a saloon and bowled over a bus. A bank and some stores also were hit.

Judge Fisher Gives Patriotic Address

Flags lined Pampa streets today, marking the city's recognition of the 22nd anniversary of the signing of the armistice that ended World War I.

A joint inter-city Armistice day observance, in which Pampa, Borger, Phillips, and Stinnett participated began at 10:45 this morning with a parade in Borger.

Farm Prices Soar Upward

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—The rising price trend of important domestic agricultural commodities since late summer when the national defense program began to gather momentum was cited today as an indication that the 1940 farm cash income for the first time since 1929 might top nine billion dollars.

Norther Pushes Mercury Down To 18 Degrees

Striking swiftly, a typical Panhandle norther gave Pampa its first snow of the season and brought the temperature down to 18 degrees early this morning. Temperatures were rising slowly as the day advanced.

At 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon the temperature was 69, wind velocity 22 miles an hour. Four hours later the temperature had dropped to 45 degrees, and the wind had shifted to the northwest, velocity 48 miles an hour.

FDR Says People Under 'Iron Heels' of Dictators Will 'Rebel'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt voiced faith in an Armistice Day speech today that democracy would survive and predicted that the people under the "iron heels" of "modern dictators or modern oligarchs" would "rebel."

"I, for one," Mr. Roosevelt said, in a speech broadcast from Arlington National cemetery, "do not believe that the era of democracy in human affairs can or will be snuffed out in our lifetime. I, for one, do not believe that mere force will be successful in sterilizing the seeds which had taken such a firm root as a harbinger of better lives for mankind."

"I, for one, do not believe that the world will revert either to a modern form of ancient slavery or to controls vested in modern feudalism or modern empires or modern dictators or modern oligarchs in these days. The very people under their iron heels will, themselves, rebel."

A Personal Message From Sam and Mollye To Our Many Friends In the Panhandle

FOR MANY YEARS we have had a desire to express our thanks to you who live in the Panhandle for the wonderful way you have received us and the grand manner in which you have placed your trust in us for the past fifteen years.

Now on the eve of the opening of The New Diamond Shop, made possible through the patronage of the many thousand customers and friends we take this means of saying many, many thanks to you . . .

Starting in Pampa fifteen years ago when this city was but a little village, we now present for your approval a store that would be a credit to a city of ten times the size of Pampa and a store that is far beyond our fondest dreams . . .

We, too, pioneered in the building of Pampa and shared with you in the epic growth of this area. . . . Always ready and willing we, too, have taken a part in the growth of our present school system. . . . Many beautiful churches, civic enterprises, community projects . . .

We now offer you a store in which we can give you better service and the same courteous treatment as in the past. . . . The same employees who have practically grown up with Pampa will be in attendance. . . . No out-of-town, high-powered pressure salesmen will be employed to try and sell you unknown merchandise, but you can be assured of the world's finest quality merchandise at prices as low, and in many cases lower, than others can offer.

Our growth has made it possible to buy in larger quantities and therefore this savings is passed on to you. . . . Many times we have told you that we will never be undersold and this statement still stands. . . . We have been here long enough to share good times and hard times with you and we have never let you down. . . . Your promise to pay is good with us and we now can extend you the easiest terms in town. . . .

Tomorrow, on the opening of the bigger and better Diamond Shop located two doors North of our old location, Mollye and I will be here to thank you in person for your confidence in us and we want all of you to be here and join with us in making this the greatest event ever attempted by the Diamond Shop.

Brewster Folks Want To Keep Big Bend Park Rough And Tough

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS
PERSIMMON GAP, Nov. 11 (AP)—Brewster, the biggest, roughest, toughest county in Texas, is hankering for visitors—ho-men who can throw a diamond high and bounce into the hot tangle and frijole country of the Rio Grande on the hurricane deck of a bronc.

There's room for all comers—6,000 square miles of it. High now every man in the county has a square mile to himself.

It's a lonely country, filled with the melancholy stillness of the desert; rocks, mountains, canyons, sheep, and bawling white-faced Herefords. Its people take things easy and draw "Hoody" to every stranger on the trail.

Folks in these parts want to keep Brewster county just that way, big, friendly, rough and tough—not too tough in the sense of the old-time thumb-buster pistol, brass knuckles and bare fists—just rugged and untamed, as it was before the Comanches and Apaches were liquidated.

They want to slice off 788,000 acres down where the county makes that big bend in the Rio Grande and make it into the nation's 27th national park—Big Bend national park. But they don't want a high-hat workers build a western longhorn cattle ranch for visitors to romp over and "make the Big Bend unique among the national parks."

The people of Brewster county, who like a lot of elbow room anyway, cottoned to the idea.

ary Morgenthau already had committed the administration to seek more revenue from the next congress, no definite tax plan had yet been agreed upon. Congressional leaders probably will be consulted before any decisions are made.

Upward revision of the recently-enacted excess profits tax was taken almost for granted by a number of treasury officials. From this revision alone, they hinted, the revenue possibilities run as high as $500,000,000, but probably less.

The corporate excess profits tax, together with the increased corporate income tax enacted with it a few weeks ago, were said by some to necessitate a similar increase in individual income tax rates which might bring in upwards of $100,000,000 more taxes.

Many other tax sources, small in themselves but productive together, are being examined. Chief of these is a possible levy on soft drinks, possibly a half cent on nickel tops.

Japs Expected To Insist On New Indo-China Bases

(By The Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Nov. 11—Informed foreign sources predicted today the Japanese would bear down on French Indo-China for additional military concessions, possibly aimed against the United States and Britain, after concluding an economic agreement now nearing completion.

Dispatches from Hanoi said agreement between Indo-China and a Japanese mission was near on immediate Japanese purchases of rubber, coal and foodstuffs. A commercial pact covering future economic relations between the two countries was expected to be signed in Tokyo before the end of the month.

Sources in Shanghai declared that the large Cam-Banh Bay naval base on the southeast coast of French Indo-China would be one of Japan's principal objectives in angling for more military concessions.

A high Japanese official in Shanghai said the naval base was important in establishing the third side of a triangular defense set-up which he said Japan was working out to protect her "greater east Asia" program from all outsiders—including the United States, Britain, and Soviet Russia.

This official said the Japanese still hope for an improved understanding with the United States.

He added that Russia alone would benefit from a war between Japan and the United States and said "if the United States won such a war, she would have to fight the Soviets, later."

Ten Cows Putting Boys Through Tech

LUBBOCK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Ten cows are putting five Texas Tech boys through college.

Housing their cows in a rented barn on a five-acre tract, using a borrowed milk cooler and $130 worth of dairy equipment, the lads operate a cooperative dairy.

Each cow, the boys' reports show, averages a $9 monthly profit. The dairy markets approximately 30 gallons of city tested milk per day.

Bottles, bottle caps and capper, buckets, dairy permit, light depot and the first month's $15 rent made up the dairy's initial outlay.

It is said that mastadons may once have been as numerous in New York state as deer are now.

The staff of Hermer, or Mercury, is known as a caducus, and today is used as a medical insignia.

Treasury Seeking Billion Dollars From New Levies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Treasury officials indicated today they were seeking about $1,000,000,000 of additional tax revenues from new levies on such items as soft drinks and securities and increased levies on individual income and corporate excess profits.

They said that, although Secre-

Tornado Injures 15

GREENVILLE, Miss., Nov. 11 (AP)—At least 15 persons were injured and almost a score of farm homes leveled by a tornado which struck the Avon, Longwood and Leota sections in southern Washington county early today.

Eight white persons and seven negroes were brought here to a hospital in ambulances. First reports said eight of the injured had suffered cuts and bruises.

Vice-President's Chauffeur Did Not Have Much To Do Under Garner

By L. T. EASLEY
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The prospects are that Tom Hartly will be a much busier man after next Jan. 2.

Just in case you don't know, Tom Hartly is the official chauffeur for the vice president of the United States. He drove for Charles G. Dawes who was vice president between 1925 and 1929 under Calvin Coolidge and for Charles Curtis, who preceded Vice President Garner.

Tom Hartly isn't exactly a Texan, but in eight years of driving the John Nance Garner about Washington and down to Uvalde he has come to feel close to the Lone Star state. The untalkative Mr. Hartly—who agrees with Mr. Garner that silence is golden—would not prophesy in the least as to whom he would be driving for next, but there's NO one who doubts but what the vice-president-elect and his wife will go out more than have the Garners.

Vice President Garner seldom goes out in the evenings and, but few times in the past eight years has entertained.

So the job of chauffeuring the vice president since 1932 has been comparatively easy. In fact, mighty agreeable and pleasant, acknowledges Mr. Hartly. His hours have been almost regular as those of a factory worker. Shortly after 7 o'clock each morning he has driven up in front of one of the large downtown hotels (Washington) where the Garners long have resided and which, incidentally, was purchased a few months ago by Galveston interests. From there he has taken the vice president and his secretary-wife directly to their suite in the senate office building, near the capital. Late each afternoon he has taken them back to the hotel, returned the official black limousine to the white house garage and considered his work through for the day.

He has his own home in a Washington suburb, is married and has three married children.

Friends recalled that Hartly's hours were much longer and irregular under both Dawes and Curtis. When Curtis was vice president the official hostess was Mrs. Dolly Gann, his sister, Curtis being a widower.

Functions attended by Vice President Curtis and Mrs. Gann often kept them out until the wee hours of the morning. Despite this, Curtis was punctual in appearing at the capitol by 9 o'clock each morn and, of course, Hartly was on hand to drive him there. Later in the morning Mrs. Gann often wanted to be chauffeured to the public market place to do her own shopping, and in the afternoon were less. So Mr. Hartly was a very busy man day and night.

Texas who visit the office of Under Secretary of the Interior A. J. Wirtz immediately feel at home, for his assistants, like himself, are all from that vast area between the Red river and the Rio Grande.

The aides are all young. L. E. Jones, Sr., with the title of executive assistant to the under-secretary, has been out of Sam Houston High school at Houston only nine years, but in that period has served in all three branches of the government. He was secretary at different times for both Congressman Kleberg of Corpus Christi and Lyndon Johnson of Johnson City, gaining experience in the legislative branch. He worked in the justice department in 1937 and 1938, which, along with his present position, familiarized him with the executive branch of the government. As secretary to the late Supreme court Justice Butler he served in the judicial branch. Jones was a member of a debate team at Sam Houston High school coached by Congressman Lyndon Johnson in 1930. The next year Johnson went to Washington as a secretary to Kleberg and two years later was responsible for Jones obtaining a position in the same office. Later Jones became Kleberg's secretary, and still later the secretary of Johnson, who was elected in 1937. Jones obtained a law degree at the University of Texas in 1937.

The first to greet a visitor to the undersecretary's office is Miss Mary Rather, who worked for five years with the law firm in Austin comprised of Wirtz and associates. Five feet tall, sparkling black eyes and dark hair, Miss Rather has a charm and smile which makes you feel right at home.

She says she really hasn't had time to pick up any hobbies since coming here last January when Wirtz assumed his position, but proudly recalls that for years she has been counsellor at a girls private summer camp near Kerrville. A native of Huntsville, Miss Rather attend Sugarland High school and the University of Texas before going to work for Wirtz in 1936.

Arthur (Tex) Goldschmidt, who graduated from Brackenridge High school in San Antonio in 1927 and worked his way through Columbia university, is an aide of Wirtz assigned especially to power projects.

In the fall of 1927 Goldschmidt gave up trying to find a ship out of New York on which he could work his way abroad, and entered Columbia university. He worked his way at various jobs, including six months as a messenger boy, and stoking furnaces. Majoring in economics and government, he graduated with honors in 1932 and began further study toward a master of arts degree.

He managed to obtain work in a survey of relief administrative problems in New York, and this led to his obtaining a job with the federal emergency works administration in 1933. Still later he became a special assistant to hydroelectric power engineers in the Public Works administration, and this established contact with Wirtz when the latter was attorney for the Lower Colorado River Authority of Texas.

Weasels turn white in winter to match the snow. Where no snow falls, their color remains unchanged.

THE PAMPA NEWS

Published every evening, except Saturdays, and Sunday morning by the Pampa News, 222 West Foster Avenue, Pampa, Texas. Phone 622—All departments.

A hundred and fifty years before Christ, Greek cities, states, highly-cultured, were overrun by hard-boiled soldiery from the west, the Roman Legions.

The centuries marked slowly by; new layers of soil piled atop the site of these old Greek cities. Within the past hundred years, staid men began digging in these sites, and their eyes were dazzled by the imperishable beauty of some of the things they found.

Today American archaeologists who have been digging up such objects are burying them again. For again they are in danger of destruction by more terrible forces than the Turkish explosives that smashed the Parthenon.

After 2000 years these relics of a vanished civilization saw the light of day but briefly, to find that the world has not changed as much as some would like to think.

There was a big "kick" in an announcement from London the other day that Britain would have air superiority in six months. It has been evident that she was steadily gaining power, thru a smoothly working combination of American industry and British skill in the use of our war products.

The average American has probably not expected much more than effective self-defense on Britain's part for another year or two. Yet the British air force, whether large or small, has not only proved its power to defend the British Isles, but is now ranging far abroad to help friends and carry terror to enemies of England.

It is a heartening thing for Britain and America and for all the democracies temporarily out of commission. We cannot say yet that the dictatorships which have sought to dominate the world are actually on the run, but they are slowed down, visibly losing their momentum and confidence.

We have learned from Britain the importance of sea power. Today the British navy is the savior of England as surely as it has ever been in British history.

We power is almost as important for our own country as for Britain, and we have a navy equal to hers in power. It is our good fortune that these two great democracies, alone among important nations, are able by means of their naval power to maintain their own free way of life.

The campaign to lower building costs is beginning to stall just at a time when the government's defense program is being handicapped by the lack of low-cost housing at various mushrooming centers of defense production.

In the first place, the anti-trust division has neither the men nor the money to make fully effective the campaign it began a year ago. Early this year Thurman Arnold warned a congressional committee that to succeed, the campaign must expand constantly.

In the second place, the anti-trust division has never been able to attack the chief restraints that make small houses expensive. It has acted against combinations which boost the prices of certain materials, and it has hit a number of trade union rackets.

But in the main these things are more important in the field of large-scale building than in the small-house field. DEFENSE HOUSING SHORTAGE ACUTE

But while the attempt to get housing prices down is falling, the government is being forced to spend a lot of money to meet a housing shortage caused by expansion of the defense program.

In many areas this shortage is acute. Civilian population of some towns has doubled almost overnight, and rents have gone sky high. New housing must be had at once—yet it may be needed only for a few years, and the private builder naturally hesitates to go into the field unless he can get a high price.

To meet this problem, Defense Housing Co-ordinator Charles F. Palmer has approved immediate construction of housing projects in 63 vital defense areas. MANPOWER NEEDED

It is fair to say the whole anti-trust campaign against high building costs so far has only scratched the surface.

Common Ground

This column contains there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

The minimum wage standard of goodness Most of us like to set up a personal standard of goodness, humanitarianism and virtue that makes us come under the classification of good, humanitarian and virtuous without any effort of our own.

The minimum wage idea is a case in point. It is so easy for people who use only skilled labor, or no labor, to say that he does not believe it is honorable, wise, humanitarian, or right for anyone to pay an employee less than a minimum, or so-called living, wage.

But, instead of this being goodness, it is a standard of badness. It is a standard of badness because it injures all the workers in the world. It injures the skilled workers as well as the slow workers who cannot earn the minimum.

And the real test of whether a standard is good in itself or bad is whether it will permit workers as a whole to constantly get a larger reward for a given amount of work or exertion.

And this policy also injures every skilled worker because the production from the skilled worker can be exchanged for less when the slow people are not permitted to work and produce than it could be exchanged for if the slow were permitted to add to the wealth of the world.

All these men who constantly proclaim their virtue because they believe in a minimum wage and their high standard of humanitarianism invariably say, when asked what the slow and inefficient will do, answer that that is up to the individual. They seem to have no heart, no conscience, no human sympathy for these unfortunate people.

The Nation's Press

A MISCONCEPTION OF CHRIST'S MISSION (Liberty, a Magazine of Religious Freedom) The Reformed Presbyterian Church of North America, through a committee known as "Witness Committee," of which W. J. Coleman is chairman, and James S. Tibby, treasurer, has published a pamphlet entitled "The National Recognition of Christ the King."

You may be one of 80,000 who have a record of "The Big Noise From Winnetka," but even so, you probably haven't heard about it. The nameless number with which this record is sort of swing-blues rendered mostly by bass fiddle, drums and human whistle.

Two members of Bob Crosby's band composed it for fun and used to thump at it during idle intervals. About a year ago it was tried out on a dance crowd, and most of the guests swarmed around the stand wanting to know the name of the piece. There had been no title up to then, but Crosby, thinking fast, said "The Big Noise From Winnetka"—the latter being the Chicago suburb where the boys were playing.

Shortly afterward, having been hired to make eight phonograph recordings, Crosby used "The Big Noise" as one of the Gladys B. other-side-of-the-record selections. Since then it has outsold all the others put together.

When Crosby and the Bobcats came to REO for "Let's Make Music" movie men decided "The Big Noise" should be used in the picture. So the studio called in high-powered orchestrators, and lyricists to make up the words. Last I heard, the boys were going crazy trying to think of something to rhyme with Winnetka.

SOME OF US watched the violent death of Alan Hale on the back lot at Warner, but Hale himself wanted to get home and didn't stay to see his demise beneath a falling brick wall and timbers. A double was required because, although the bricks were made of a cork composition, the timbers were real.

The stunt man disappeared under a shower of debris. A moment after the camera stopped, a hand and wrist appeared through the brick pile and waved. Said the photographer: "He's reaching for his check."

On another set, Louis Roth, the animal trainer, was doubling for one of his lions. There's a scene in which Eddie Albert, standing outside a cage, is yanked backward by a lion's ripping claws but is spared when Humphrey Bogart whacks the lion's forehead with a heavy cane.

Roth's right arm was inside an animal trainer's, was doubling for one of his lions. There's a scene in which Eddie Albert, standing outside a cage, is yanked backward by a lion's ripping claws but is spared when Humphrey Bogart whacks the lion's forehead with a heavy cane.

'PAPA, DID YOU SAY YOU WERE GOING FOR A WALK?'

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11.—Current production in the picture business is called "The Saint at Palm Springs," and REO brightly thought of querying El Mirador, the resort's leading hostelry, about shooting the picture there.

The hotel management said well-lit, maybe, but they'd better have a look at the script first. After reading it, they agreed the publicity would be terrific, all right, but in the wrong direction. Three murders had been staged in the picture, and the corridors would have been cluttered with terrified heroines and skulking heavies.

So REO is having to shoot the picture on its own lot—and to shoot the murder victims there, too. A sumptuous patio, presumably that of a desert hotel, has been built in one of the sound stages, blindingly illuminated, and it has been peopled with gents and cuties in newest sports garb and sun-scanties. Among them, incidentally, is 6-foot, 146-pound Elinor Troy, ex-occupant of a night club goldfish bowl and once an almost-Mrs. Tommy Manville.

TEX'S TOPICS

YOU know and we know that things are coming to a pretty pass when columnists begin to admit in public that they don't know what they're talking or writing about.

Astrologers advise those born in November, under the sign of Taurus, as follows: "Cling to your plans as they may suddenly materialize." "Something big is going to happen to you before the end of the month."

JOHNNY Wells, the radio commercial seller, took pity Sunday and pushed us off on his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wells, as their dinner guest at the Wells ranch near White Deer. Mr. Wells is business manager of the White Deer schools and it is the first time we had seen him since the day about two years ago when he was the center of an interesting interview about the historic place on which the Wells now make their home.

Reading some guff in a popular magazine the other night, we ran across an article written by Dorothy Millburn, of Detroit, in which she stated that "a man can land any woman by the correct approach."

HOWARD Hamilton is a duck hunter who thinks that kind of shooting is tops. But he dislikes cleaning the ducks. He reports that after you get the feathers off you run into a layer of "fur" that really presents a problem.

Many Pampans left this morning for Berger to take part in the joint Armistice Day celebration and to attend the Pan-Boyer games this afternoon. Incidentally, over at White Deer Sunday, Mr. Wells told me that the wheat ranchers are praying for rain and that it must come this week if it grows any to know what to do about replanting.

WE HAVE been mystified for several days about something... Have you ever been mystified? It's annoying, isn't it? ... Something came to mind this morning. As we sit here in the office writing this column, a man who is a dead-ringer for Adolf Hitler just walked past the window.

So They Say

Goody, now, John. What are you waiting for? WILLIAM M. LEADER, Hoisler Workers' Union leader, to John L. Lewis. The Wilkie's don't weep. MRS. WENDELL WILKIE, on receiving the election returns.

The War Today

(This daily feature, conducted by Dewitt Mackenzie, is being written by Fred Vander-schmidt while Mackenzie is taking a brief vacation.)

By the irony of coincidence, Neville Chamberlain died on a day when Germany, which he tried to appease, and Soviet Russia, which he disliked and miscalculated, chose to make it known that they are continuing to collaborate to the detriment of Britain besieged.

Today Soviet Premier Molotov is traveling to Berlin. There he will see Adolf Hitler and while it is possible that the two men will meet and talk with a certain wariness, nothing very good for Britain can be expected to come out of their conference.

Hitler may try to make an arrangement, secret or otherwise, whereby Russia will use her influence to sway Turkey away from the British alliance and into the Axis camp. Hitler may also allot to the U. S. S. R. her sphere of interest in the so-called new order set up, on paper, by the "one for all and all for one" alliance of Germany, Italy and Japan.

This "sphere" might embrace Iran, which is squarely on the Soviet southwestern frontier and which is a country with very great oil wealth. This oil wealth has been under Great Britain's thumb.

Of course it is by no means certain that Russia will want to go that far; the Germans, indeed, are careful to say that nothing sensational must be looked for.

Many Englishmen believed right along that Chamberlain's mistake in trying to appease Hitler was equalled by his inability to understand or estimate Russia.

He distrusted the Soviet Union but, unlike his predecessor, Stanley Baldwin, he did not seem to fear the Russians; actually, he derided them.

I heard him say, at Lady Astor's luncheon table, that he thought the Red army would be no good for a long time because all its higher officers had been shot. That statement, somewhat incredible now, was made in the spring of 1938, on the occasion of Chamberlain's first and last attempt to "appease" the American press.

It is true that when he scuttled appeasement a year later, Chamberlain did see the wisdom of having Russia on his side. But he bungled the attempt to reach a military alliance with Russia, alienated the Kremlin even more completely than before by dispatching an unknown negotiator to Moscow, and confirmed in the Russian mind the belief that he was trying to push the Soviet Union into a lonely war with Germany, by quibbling over such matters as a definition of "indirect aggression."

But this is Armistice Day, and the air raid sirens are sounding in Whitehall, where the bugles two years ago summoned the British to remembrance of a million dead and to thanksgiving for a few more uneasy months of peace.

Chamberlain's own heart-broken epiphany, spoken on the day he declared war: "everything I had worked for, hoped for and believed in during my public life has crashed into ruin."

I'd rather remember Chamberlain as he was the day I saw him in Munich, when he rode through the warm rain from Hitler's apartment, grasping the little piece of paper which said the British and German people were determined never to fight each other again.

I am sure that for a little while, as the old man tilted his long German cigar and his old eyes gleamed with triumph, he believed he had saved "peace in our time."

Democracy Dead In England, Says Envoy Kennedy

BOSTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Boston Globe, in a copyrighted story, quotes Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, as saying today that "democracy is finished in England" and that national socialism would be the result.

"People call me a pessimist," the paper quotes Kennedy. "I say 'what is there to be gay about? Democracy is all done'."

The ambassador was asked, "You mean in England or this country, too?" and was quoted by the Globe as replying:

"Well, I don't know. If we get into war it will be in this country, too. A bureaucracy would take over right off. Everything we hold dear would be gone. They tell me that after 1918 we got it all back again. But this is different. There's a different pattern in the world."

"What about British democracy?" the paper said Kennedy was asked. "Is there real opportunity there or does the aristocracy keep a rigid class structure that keeps the common man down?"

"When there's a strong upsurge from beneath you can't stop it," the paper quotes Kennedy as answering. "You can't blame the aristocracy for keeping it down if it doesn't come up."

"Well, what does it mean to have labor men now at the center of government?" Kennedy was asked.

"It means national socialism is coming out of it," the paper quotes Kennedy as replying, and adding: "Democracy is finished in England. It may be here. Because it comes to a question of feeding people. It's all an economic question. I told the President in the white house last Sunday, 'Don't send me 50 admirals and generals. Send me a dozen real economists."

"It's the loss of our foreign trade that's going to threaten to change our form of government. We haven't felt the pinch of it yet. It's ahead of us."

The paper quotes Kennedy as saying:

"Whatever we give England, we shouldn't think of getting it back. It's insurance, xxx as long as she is in there, we have time to prepare. It isn't that she's fighting for democracy. That's the bunk. She's fighting for self-preservation, just as we will if it comes to us."

"I don't draw any line on how much aid."

KPDN Broadcasts Sam's Club Of The Air Every Morning

Every morning from 9 until 9:15 o'clock thousands of women in the Pampa trade territory drop the socks they are mending or turn the gas low under the food they are cooking, and tune in their radios to KPDN, Pampa.

The reason for the mid-morning lull in the routine of housework and cooking is a program that was originated Nov. 1, 1939, in Pampa by Sam Fenberg—Sam's Club of the Air.

Desiring to do some radio advertising, but wanting something more than the usual recorded music and straight commercials, Mr. Fenberg decided to start a club for the ladies.

Now, with the opening tomorrow of Mr. Fenberg's new jewelry store here, The Diamond Shop, he said yesterday he wants every woman in the Pampa trade territory to join the club.

Every woman is eligible and the only requirement for membership is for the woman to drop into The Diamond Shop and register her name there. There are no dues, no initiation fee and no membership fee.

available, and there is little possibility that they will import much cotton.

That's what Cliff H. Day, senior field officer of the AAA, is pointing out to county agricultural agents, home demonstration agents, and AAA county committeemen and secretaries in a series of meetings being held this month in the various extension service districts of Texas. Those attending the meetings are studying the 1941 AAA program and the cotton situation prior to the cotton marketing quota referendum to be held December 7. During recent months practically no cotton has gone to continental Europe, Day explains, while cotton exports to countries still buying have dropped, decreases ranging from 40 per cent to 90 per cent. Total exports this year may drop to 2,000,000 bales, or even lower, he predicted, as compared with exports of more than 6,000,000 bales during the past season.

Portugal, Spain and the United Kingdom are the only European countries still open to cotton shipments, the AAA official declares. During the 1939-40 marketing season they imported 2,207,965 bales of American cotton, but no estimates can be made as to how much they will be able to buy during the current season.
