

FDR Says There Is No Secret Treaty To Involve U. S. In Foreign War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—As an old campaigner who loves "a good fight," President Roosevelt swung today into the last stages of his re-election drive with this declaration in support of his "most solemn assurance" that America has no secret pacts with any nation.

"It is for peace I have labored and it is for peace that I shall labor all the days of my life."

Mr. Roosevelt came back to the capital to draft more speeches—after tabulating for a cheering audience in Philadelphia and the tributed to partisans and Republican leaders were charged that:

His administration "wishes to lead this country into war" that it has failed to make a job for even a single man; that the industrial system is prostrate, and that business is stifled and unable to make a profit.

Truthful campaign discussion of public issues is essential to the American form of government, Mr. Roosevelt asserted.

"But it is entirely a different thing," he added, "for any party or any candidate to state, for example, that the President of the United States telephoned to Mussolini and Hitler to sell Czechoslovakia down the river; or that the unfortunate unemployed of the nation are going to be driven into concentration camps; or that the social security funds of the nation will not be in existence when the workers of today become old enough to apply for them; or that the election of the present government means the end of American democracy within four years.

"I know they know, and I know we know, that all of these statements are false."

He spoke to a throng that took every one of the 14,500 seats in the auditorium, cheered him for six and a half minutes before he could begin his address, and interrupted 91 times with applause, laughter, and occasional boos when he struck heavily at his opposition.

The ovation was a climax to a day in which he had appeared before tens of thousands of people at Wilmington, Del., and on a 40-mile motor tour to national defense plants in Philadelphia and Camden, N. J.

Roosevelt speaks by telephone late this afternoon to the New York Herald Tribune forum in New York.

Confronting him also was the task of whipping together at least five more political speeches, one of which is scheduled for Madison Square Garden in New York Monday night.

An "outrageously false charge" that the administration wants to bring the nation into war, he said at Philadelphia, has been "made to strike terror into the hearts of our citizens."

"That charge is contrary to every fact, every purpose of the past eight years," he said. "Throughout these years my every act and every thought has been directed to the end of preserving the peace of the world, and more particularly, the peace of the United States—the peace of the western hemisphere."

He described as the "worst bombshell of fear" loosed by Republican leaders an accusation the government had entered into secret agreements with foreign nations. It had even been intimated, he said, that the country's participation in some foreign war had been pledged.

"I give you, and the people of this country this most solemn assurance: There is no secret treaty, no secret obligation, no secret commitment, no secret understanding in any shape or form,

Write-In Against McDonald Proposed

Here's How To Drive To Game Friday Night

WACO, Oct. 24 (AP)—A write-in campaign by Democrats in the general election against State Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald was proposed here today because of McDonald's support of the Republican presidential ticket.

C. C. Randle, county judge of Ellis, McDonald's home county, called for a state-wide meeting here tomorrow noon (atleigh hotel) to begin such a campaign.

There was also a statement by W. N. Cory, runner-up to McDonald in the July Democratic primary, that he would offer as a write-in candidate if enough party leaders indicated they would support him.

Cory, a resident of Keller, Tarrant county, made his statement at Dallas yesterday. Randle, here for a meeting of the County Judges and Commissioners association opening today, did not specify a candidate. He said he was looking for the "best available man."

McDonald, Democratic nominee for a sixth term as agriculture commissioner, announced Tuesday that he would support Wendell L. Willkie and Charles L. McNary, Republican candidates, for president and vice-president in the Nov. 5 election.

Democratic party leaders in Dallas yesterday discounted the effect of McDonald's statement on the vote of Roosevelt and Wallace in Texas. "We've all known all along that J. E. McDonald, agricultural commissioner of Texas, has been fighting the administration's farm program," Speter Sam Rayburn said yesterday in Dallas, turning to the announcement that McDonald would support Willkie.

"By lining up with the Republicans McDonald is lining up with the crowd which has fought help for the farmer."

Rayburn said he did not think McDonald's stand would affect the outcome of the election in Texas.

Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, was called upon by Rayburn, speaker of the national house, today to explain how he would carry forward certain points in his farm program which are opposed by the great majority of Republicans in congress.

Mr. Willkie has endorsed soil conservation, parity payments, and governmental appropriations of money to purchase family size farms for tenants," said Mr. Rayburn.

"I call upon him to explain how, as president, he would be able to carry these points forward in face of the fact that in the national house 75 per cent of the Republicans voted against soil conservation, 82 per cent of them voted against parity payments, and 94 per cent of them voted against the farms for tenants proposal."

Rayburn predicted that the "great mass of the people of this country" will continue President Roosevelt in office the next four years.

The speaker branded Republican complaints that this national administration has placed Communists in important posts as "mere campaign propaganda."

Willkie Answers FDR's Speech

HARBORCREEK, Pa., 24 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie asserted today that if President Roosevelt did not remember his promises of today longer than he did his pledges in 1932 he feared "our boys" would soon be put on transports bound for combat in war.

In a broadcast reply to Mr. Roosevelt's campaign address in Philadelphia last night, the Republican presidential candidate also charged that the "third term candidate" had evaded the issues of the 1940 campaign and the President's speech was like the country's military defense system—"either obsolete or on order."

He said:

"Last night, the third-term candidate, referring to the Democratic platform of 1940, quoted this language from that platform: "We will not participate in foreign wars and we will not send our army, naval or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas except in cases of attack."

"I hope sincerely that that pledge made last night by the third-term candidate, based upon the 1940 platform of the Democratic party, is remembered by him longer than he remembered the same pledge that he made with reference to the provisions of the Democratic platform of 1932."

"If he does not remember it longer, then shortly our boys will be on the transports, sailing for some foreign shore."

Willkie repeated that he approved of old age pensions, unemployment insurance, collective bargaining and other social gains, but declared that "if we continue along the road of deficit financing... the end will be financial chaos, bankruptcy and inflation which will result in the loss of every social gain as well as the loss of liberty."

Willkie spoke from his campaign train in this town a few miles from Erie, Pa. The 24-minute speech was broadcast over a nationwide NBC network.

Speaking of 1932 promises, he repeated:

Germany Will Try To Break Ship Blockade

ROME, Oct. 24 (AP)—An authoritative Fascist commentator defined the Rome-Berlin attitude toward the United States as one of "non-belligerence" today and another charged that the United States rearmament effort is but a mask for an imperialistic program.

Mario Appellus, military commentator for Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia, explained that the axis was "limiting" itself to "non-belligerence" toward the United States because of "categorical imperatives." He thus used for the first time the word which Fascists employed to describe Italy's attitude before she entered the war on the side of Germany, and which now is used to describe the status of Spain.

Virgilio Gayda, who often speaks the inner feeling of the regime, writing in Il Giornale D'Italia, said that United States imperialism had widened from "dollar imperialism" to a "political and military monopoly of positions and bases shown in ever vaster constellations around the starry republic."

At the same time Adolf Hitler's talks with French Vice-Premier Pierre Laval in Paris and Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco on the French-Spanish border were reported in the Italian press as the unfolding of events previously determined upon at the mist-shrouded Brenner Pass conference of Hitler and Premier Mussolini Oct. 4.

Spain, destined to be restored to the position of power in the Mediterranean, as a result of these meetings, Fascist quarters said, a statement interpreted by foreign observers to mean that Spain's entrance into the war is sought for an attack on Gibraltar.

Writing in Il Giornale D'Italia, Gayda said the United States "is entering imperialistic waters which formerly belonged to England."

The Fascist editor interpreted the recent statement of Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, that the United States would obtain additional Pacific bases as evidence America is "preparing to lend another hand to the progressive destruction of the British empire by constituting herself mistress to the positions and riches which formerly formed a part of British power."

He said there is no question the United States "is floating in gold" and could perform miracles in rearmament.

"But there is a question whether the necessary national spirit such as has been created in Italy and Germany will accompany this military preparation," Gayda continued.

1300 Workers In St. Louis Walk Out

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Oct. 24 (AP)—A strike, which a representative of the national defense commission had attempted to avert, shut down the plant of the aluminum ore company today.

Thirteen hundred production employees walked out following the company's rejection of a demand by the aluminum workers' union (AFL) for a general wage increase of 2 to 5 cents an hour. Wage negotiations had been under way since last July 1.

Detroit Newspaper Endorses Willkie

DETROIT, Oct. 24 (AP)—The politically independent Detroit News said in a front-page editorial today that "the present emergency demands election of a new President—Wendell L. Willkie."

The News, which supported no candidate in 1936, announced it believed in endorsements only in periods when an emergency existed and declared it believed the current campaign an "extreme emergency."

Mexico Halts Iron, Mercury Shipments

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Mexican government has halted exports of scrap iron and mercury to nations outside the western hemisphere where officials are considering imposing an embargo on war materials and foodstuffs, reliable sources said today.

Shipments of scrap iron, mercury and flour to Japan already have been stopped and sales of scrap iron and mercury to countries outside this hemisphere have been banned at least temporarily, government and diplomatic sources reported.

Press dispatches from Manzanillo, important Pacific port for Oriental traffic, said loading of 1,700 tons of flour on Japanese ships had been prevented by agents of the federal attorney general.

Persons Sought In Check Swindle

County officers today were seeking to apprehend persons involved in a check swindle racket this week, in which several Pampa merchants were defrauded.

Checks ranging from $21 to $39, purporting to be on the Monarch Construction company, were passed at several places. There has been seven checks turned in to county officers. One check for $50 is still out.

At one store here, a man came in and looked at a leather coat, saying he would come in on pay day and buy it. A few days later he did so, paying for the coat with one of the alleged fraudulent checks, according to officers.

Petaín Due To Sign Treaty With Hitler

BERN, Switzerland, Oct. 24 (AP)—Marshal Philippe Petaín, chief of state of France, left Vichy today, according to word reaching diplomatic sources here, to go to Paris where it was believed he would sign a new French-German agreement superseding the existing armistice accord.

He was accompanied by several aides, including the minister of justice, the reports said.

The news was first received through diplomatic channels because correspondents and officials at Vichy were under strict orders to give no details of the marshal's departure, his destination or the purpose of his trip.

Vice-Premier Pierre Laval also left today for Paris, where Tuesday he conferred with Adolf Hitler and German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, presumably concerning France's role in Hitler's "new order" in Europe.

(Hitler, who cut off with Spain's leader, Generalissimo Francisco Franco, at the French-Spanish border yesterday, might have been back in Paris today to meet the 84-year-old Petaín.)

Reports of the German Fuehrer's talks with Laval and Franco received here said they had laid the ground work for an Axis offensive not only in the Mediterranean but in the South Atlantic as well.

Informed French sources said Hitler and Laval had put the finishing touches to an agreement whereby the Vichy government would give the Axis powers use of air and naval bases in Africa, Syria and unoccupied France in return for certain concessions.

Army Air Corps Reorganized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Reorganization of the Army air corps to double its present number of combat groups and create a "highly mobile fighting force," capable of operation anywhere in the western hemisphere, was announced today by the war department.

The reorganization took the form of establishment of four air districts. It will include expansion of the four air corps wings now in continental United States to 17 wings as rapidly as trained personnel and equipment now in production, becomes available.

Instead of the present 25 combat groups, the expanded air force will have 54, the announcement said.

"The purpose of the creation of the air districts," the department explained, "is to effect decentralization of training and inspection duties of the commanding general, general headquarters airforce, and to provide for the development of commanders and staffs for such special task forces as may be required for operation in war."

The GHQ air force commander, at present Major-General Delos C. Emmons, will remain in command of all these units. The commander's headquarters are to be transferred from Langley Field, Va., to Bolling Field, on the outskirts of Washington, D. C.

100 More Names Of Selectees Received

Nearly a hundred names were being added today to the list of Gray county selectees as the local board began filing of cards received from state headquarters of Gray county registrants who had registered in other counties.

With the addition of the new names, the total Gray county list will be nearly 3,300, or 100 more than has been estimated.

The cards were sent by local boards elsewhere to state headquarters at Austin, then forwarded here. Some of the cards do not belong here, as seen in the address given on one as "Longview, Gray county," and "Amarillo, Gray county."

A card index of Gray county registrants is to be prepared by Dee Poon, assistant county auditor, for the use of the local board.

Guard Officer Does Not Vacate Office, High Court Holds

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—The state supreme court held in effect today that a state office holder who also is an officer of the national guard does not vacate his office when the guard is called into the service of the United States.

Petition of Orville S. Carpenter, director of unemployment compensation in Texas and a major in the national guard, for a writ of mandamus compelling the state comptroller to pay his state salary was granted.

Attorney General Gerald C. Mann recently held in an opinion that an officer of the national guard in the military service of the United States could not also hold a state office.

The court said Carpenter's appointment as a major did not violate the Texas constitution and he is entitled to be paid his salary."

Dallas' Deathless Record Ends Today

DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Dallas' deathless traffic record came to an end today.

Edwin W. Luckey, 42, died in a hospital several hours after an early morning auto collision. His was the first death in this city of nearly 300,000 in 145 days and the 13th of the year.

A second victim of today's crash, Howard Plumlee, 21, was given a chance to recover, although his back was broken in four places.

Luckey died of a fractured skull.

Plane Production Reported Ahead

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today that warplane production was "a number of days ahead of schedule" at the Curtiss factory in Buffalo, N. Y., where pursuit planes are being turned out for this country and Great Britain.

The treasury chief, at a press conference, declined to be more specific. A week ago he said the plant was turning out six ships a day.

Asked about plane production generally, he said that "in most every instance" where planes were being made for the British the plants were ahead of schedule or at least on schedule.

"The English are very much pleased," he added.

Army Drive Nears Wind-Up Stages

Still slightly more than $1,000 short of its $5,000 goal, Pampa's Salvation Army finance drive proceeded today through the wind-up stages today, according to Capt. Jack Smith.

Captain Smith urged all workers to turn in their cards and contributions or to make final calls on contributors they have not yet seen.

"We will be glad to assist any worker who cannot complete his calls," Captain Smith said, "and we also will be glad to call and pick up contributions or cards not already turned in."

Workers who have not finished their assignments are asked to call the Salvation Army at Phone 1317, Captain Smith said.

Rig Builders Donate To Goodfellow Fund

Unsolicited donations for the Pampa Goodfellows club continue to come in. Paul Hill, club secretary, reported today that a total of $34.42 had been added this week.

This makes the grand total contributed to date, including the $333 raised in the "Mile of Pennies," and the $100 proceeds from the six-man football game played here two weeks ago, plus later donations, $465.

The Rig Builders union at their meeting Tuesday voted to contribute $25.

The fund of the club is used to buy shoes, clothing, and supply other needs of Pampa children. To date, more than 50 pairs of shoes have been supplied to needy children by the club, from the current fund.

Carbon Black Topic Of Talk By Allen

Carbon black—how it is made and where it is sold—was the subject of a talk by E. G. Allen at the Pampa Rotary club's regular weekly luncheon at noon Wednesday.

In his talk Mr. Allen said that 60 per cent of all the carbon black in the world was manufactured in Texas, and that Japan and England were among the chief users.

Attendance at the luncheon was 48, including two visiting Rotarians, J. B. Phillips of Borger and Fred L. Spang of Butler, Pa. Another visitor was O. B. Pierce of Odessa.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (AP)—The stock market exhibited feature today, after a two-day advance, and leaders generally backed down fractions to a point or so.

After a morning of irregularly low prices, recent steel and other industrial favorites slipped to bottom marks in the final hour. A number of small early gains were wiped out.

Transfers were around 350,000 shares. The fact that business prospects were holding up well was offset partially, brokers said, by the highly confused foreign picture.

Among weaker stocks were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears, Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Public Service of N. J., Ansonia, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, American Can, de Poma, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, Great Western Sugar, Texas Corp., and Westinghouse.

Red Cross Handled Total Of 104 Cases

During the past fiscal year, September 30 to September 30, the local chapter of the American Red Cross handled a total of 104 cases according to the report of Mrs. J. B. White, executive secretary.

During this period, the local chapter centered its efforts on a correctional program. Thirty-two children were taken care of in some way. Glasses were purchased for children found to have defective eyesight and dental work was done for those having defective teeth.

Each case, the child was given an examination by the physician or dentist chosen by the parents of the child. The cases were referred to the chapter by the principals of the schools. The Red Cross over at Lefors which is a branch of the Pampa chapter centered its efforts on buying clothing for needy school children.

Groceries have been given in emergencies—that is when the case was not cared for by other relief agencies. Outstanding cases in this group were for families of ex-service men.

During the summer we had an ex-service man in our midst who was on furlough from a veterans hospital. The man became incapacitated. The local chapter assisted him in getting back to the hospital, in view of the fact that the disabled veteran is the first obligation of the Red Cross.

Plainview Team Undefeated This Season

Harvesters Don't Figure They'll Lose

Pampa's sickle-wielders, with their backs to the wall for the first time since they have been playing the Plainview Bulldogs in conference competition, are sharpening all their tools to use Friday night at Harvester park where they will meet the favored Bulldogs of Coach Vernon Hilliard.

It's a new type of snapping, snarling, fighting bulldog that will come to Pampa tomorrow night. It's a Bulldog that hasn't been defeated this year who will face the Harvesters. Five times the Bulldog has taken the field and five times he has come off unscathed. In fact, he was never in danger of being on the losing end.

Bulldog kennel will be upset tomorrow night because there are a bunch of Harvesters who don't figure to be the first green and gold clad team ever to drop a game to a Plainview eleven.

The Harvesters are mad, hoppin' mad. They have been buffeted and kicked around all season until they're tired of being a doormat. In past games the Harvesters failed to show much fire, determination and enthusiasm, but tomorrow night things are going to be different. If the Harvesters kick off they're going to meet the ball carrier with a thud that will be heard in the grandstand. And if they receive the kickoff they're going to leave a path of fallen Bulldogs for the ball carrier to step over.

That's the kind of determination the Harvesters are going to display tomorrow night—they announce without boasting.

But the Bulldogs are just as determined that they are going to keep their record clean.

Stinnett Invades Groom On Friday

Special To The NEWS
GROOM, Oct. 24—After meeting the Maverick Club in a good football game Tuesday, the Peevee team from this school is looking forward to meeting a strong team from Stinnett on the lighted Firemen's field in Groom Friday night.

Stinnett won easily last week from the strong Perryton team by the score of 24-0 and is expecting to meet a bit stronger competition when meeting the local 105 pound team. The Groom boys have won all three games they have played so far this year; two from Claren-

Bryan's Struggle With Waxahachie In Spotlight

THEY'LL START TOMORROW NIGHT

A. C. Enloe

John Thompson

Starting for the Pampa Harvesters against the Plainview Bulldogs here tomorrow night will be A. C. Enloe at halfback and John Thompson at a guard position. They will replace the two regulars injured in last week's game. Enloe will be at the left halfback in place of Leity Pendleton while Thompson will play right guard in place of Burnett. Coach Odus Mitchell was doubtful today whether either Pendleton or Burnett would see service tomorrow night. Both suffered severe head wounds when they crashed last week.

(conference), Beaumont at Goose Creek (conference), Fort Arthur at Orange (conference).

15—Friday: Laredo at Brackenridge (San Antonio) (conference); Saturday: Jefferson (San Antonio) vs. Harlandale (San Antonio) (conference).

16—Friday: North Zone—Fort Worth Tech at Corpus Christi, Beville at Kingsville (conference); South Zone—Harlingen at McAllen (conference), San Benito at Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, Gladewater at Brownsville.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—New fangled stuff: Golfer Jug McSpaden has been given what amounts to a life time contract by Boston's swank Winchester club. . . . And Mose Simms, colorful coach of the St. Mary's (Texas) football team, has guaranteed New Yorkers their dough back if they don't like the way his Cowboys go against Long Island university, Sunday.

Rumor Foundry

They are whispering around that Francis X. Reagan, Penn football ace, already has signed (for $7,500) to catch somewhere in the Yankee farm system. . . . And that the National Professional Football league again is shaking the presidency under the nose of Arch Ward, Chicago sports editor. . . . Ward turned down 25,000 smacklers last year. . . . What a guy!

Today's Guest Star

Edward T. Murphy, New York Sun, "Speaking of numbers, Oscar Vitt's will be drawn next Monday in Cleveland by Alva Bradley, owner of the Indians. . . . Vitt's number will be the only one in the hat, so Bradley can't miss."

Round and About

Take Climson over South Carolina today, La Marble, now a football expert, is tabbing winners 80 per cent correctly via the airwaves. . . . Preston Johnston, whose 92-yard boot made the headlines two weeks ago, has been elected treasurer of his class at Southern Methodist. . . . Fritzie Zivic has attended a dozen banquets since he licked Henry Armstrong and has been presented with a pen and pencil set at each. . . . Maty Pickford is trying to arrange a Rice Bowl game at Los Angeles X-mas day for the Chinese relief fund. . . .

With Mendelson back on the Penn squad and Prof. Orsler on the job for Michigan, there should be plenty of Harmonizing in Ann Arbor Saturday. . . . And in four-quarter time, too.

Water comprises 3,620 square miles of North Carolina's area.

Baker Beats Sam Houston To Tie Race

Baker school's sensational little ward school football team came back with another smashing attack yesterday afternoon to defeat the league leading Sam Houston team 14 to 0 and gain a tie in the conference race.

Little Jimmy Asher scooted to two touchdowns behind some of the best blocking seen on Harvester field this year while big Harold Bell roared across for two points after touchdowns.

The Baker team lost its outstanding lineman after the game when little Charles Brethauer left with his family for Corpus Christi where his father will work in the shipyards. The little redhead was banqueted by his teammates last night.

The entire Baker team played as one man and there wasn't a single star. Although Asher flashed to both touchdowns, one on a 39-yard run in the first quarter and again in the fourth quarter on a line plunge, his blocking gave him a clean sweep. Sam Houston was never out of the game as Mitchell, Haynes and company were constant threats. Sam Houston threatened on several occasions but every time the Baker defense stiffened and the cast backs were dropped out of the danger zone.

Texas University Done Dirty By National Rating Systems

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Ignored, almost considered a flag stop on schedules while Dana Bible patiently labored on his rehabilitation program, the University of Texas now has a whole of a football team—and can't get a tumble from anybody.

Fans and critics are too prone to identify the University of Texas as the base of operations for Cowboy Jack Crain and let it go at that.

In fact, Texas is very undefeated, has a terrific, well-rounded attack and leads the Southwest conference in total yards gained by land and air. Its reserves are unlimited.

Four state universities—Colorado, defending Big Seven champ, Indiana, Big Ten contender, Oklahoma and Arkansas—have been shelled on successive week-ends by this glittering group of kids.

Only last week the Texans slaughtered the Arkansas Razorbacks, 21-0; didn't give the big Red machine a chance to move.

The reward? One national rating and one from the Maverick Club, and they do not intend to concede the Stinnett team any advantage in the Friday night game.

system promptly and decisively dropped them five notches in the rankings, down below teams that have been licked and tied. Mild recognition came in their twelfth position in the Associated Press poll.

Jack Crain is a furious runner, a great runner, but he is far from being the only threat the Longhorns own. In the Arkansas game Crain went to the sidelines with hurts, but Fullback Pete Layden, R. L. Harkins, R. B. Patrick, Walter Heap, Noble Doss, Johnny Gill—oh, you never heard of these boys?—kept right on rolling.

The Texas passing game is dangerous; has worked well in a 39-7 crushing of Colorado; 13-6 licking of Indiana; 19-16 triumph over Oklahoma and the 21-0 drubbing of Arkansas.

Next Saturday at Houston the Texans play Rice Institute, defeated only once in three starts and then by a good Tulane team that was long overdue.

It becomes increasingly obvious that Texas must chase Rice over into Louisiana to get recognition. And that will be a very difficult job. Rice, until the Tulane affair, was unbeaten and unscored on. To take up the Rice case fully, it, too, was completely ignored.

They've waited five years for Dana Bible's promised 1940 team. It's here now, and very noisy. It's the team that probably will play Texas A. and M., the publicized power, before 45,000 on Thanksgiving day for the business.

And still they can't get a tumble.

Peewees And Canadian To Battle At Park Tonight

The Pampa Junior Peewees will be the underdogs tonight when they take on the Canadian Peewees. The Canadian eleven won last week at Canadian, 19-6, but the local Peewee team is determined to avenge this defeat and will be hustling until the final whistle.

The game will be played at Harvest park under the flood lights and will start at 7:30. There will be no admission and football fans are urged to come out and see the "Battle of the Century" between the "Mighty Mites" of the Panhandle.

The starting line-up for Pampa will probably be: Ends—Randall Clay, 98 lbs. and Bobby Sior 99 lbs.; tackles—Jack Dunham 100 lbs. and Charles Hatcher 106 lbs.; center—Eoboy Myers, 105 lbs.; guards—Evan Jones 106 lbs. and Henry Lane 102 lbs.; halfbacks—Dee Griffin 98 lbs. and Billy Gettin 102 lbs.; quarterback—Captain Johnny Campbell, 81 lbs.; and fullback—Kenneth Beezley 105 lbs. The line averages 104 pounds and the backfield 94 pounds. This gives the Peewees a team average of 99 pounds.

The Canadian Peewees have a much heavier backfield but the line average is about the same. Coach

Heck Ward of Canadian will probably start the same team that he started last week. This team is composed of: Ends—Harold and Calloway; tackles—White and Dobbs; center—Mathers; guards—Farter and Ayers; halfbacks—McMordre and Hopkins; quarter—Lolicker; and fullback—Fonti.

The officials for the game will be: Referee—Terrell Davis, T. W. C.; umpire, Dick Livingstone, T. W. C.; and head linesman, C. P. McWright, Alabama.

This morning Coach Jack Davis of the Peewees received the following letter from Supt. J. M. Carpenter of the Canadian schools which shows the kind of boys who play football for the Peewees: Mr. Jack Davis

Pampa Public Schools Pampa, Texas Dear Mr. Davis:

Permit me to congratulate your boys on the sportsmanlike manner in which they conducted themselves while in Canadian last week. I appreciate especially their attitude in congratulating the officials and team members, although they were heartbroken over their loss. I should like to say that this is one of the finest group of little gentlemen that I have seen.

Again let me compliment you and your team on their splendid sportsmanship, and with kindest regards I remain,

Sincerely yours,
J. M. Carpenter,
Superintendent.

Cornell And Pennsylvania Dominate Week's Statistics

By GAIL FOWLER

SEATTLE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Those giants of the east—Cornell and Pennsylvania—dominate this week's statistics as compiled by the American football statistical bureau.

For the second, straight week Cornell is tops in total offense—gains both rushing and passing—with a 466.7 yard average per game. The Ithacans gained 984 yards on the ground and 816 in the air for 1,400 yards in three games.

For the third straight week Cornell was the nation's "passingest" team, averaging 272 yards via the air.

Penn boomed into second place in total offense with a 400-yard per game average and, the statistics say it is the country's best rushing outfit with a 302.7 average per game.

Also, Penn for the second straight week boasted the best defense against rushing. Its opposition, while not too robust, grossed 147 yards against the forwards and lost 121 yards for the net yield of 26 yards, or an average per game of only 8.7 yards.

Penn's Saturday adversary, Michigan, is ninth in total offense, but fifth in rushing alone, what with Harmon, Westfall and Evashevski, were heartbroken over their loss. I should like to say that this is one of the finest group of little gentlemen that I have seen.

Cornell's Saturday foe, Ohio State, doesn't figure among the offensive leaders, its 252 yard per game average being well under the accomplishments of the first five. But the Ohio Staters rank fifth in pass defense, holding the enemy aerial to an average of only 34.8 per game.

This means the nation's best passing club will run up against a team with a stout anti-aircraft department, so all four—Cornell, Ohio State, Penn and Michigan, will get an opportunity to try out their best poison against high grade antidotes. The leaders, statistically were:

Total offense—after Cornell and Penn come Detroit, 389.5 yards average per game; Lafayette, 387.5; Arizona, 366; Brown, Mississippi, Navy and Kentucky with Michigan and Creighton tied for 10th, Mississippi and Drake fell from the top five.

Rushing offense—LaFayette rolled up 1,408 yards for a 352 average per game. Penn's 302.7 is second, followed by Brown 299; Detroit, 287 and Michigan, 276.

Passing offense—Cornell is in front at 272; Princeton is second at 185.7; Marquette third, 161.3, followed by the Yales 148.3, and Missouri, 147.8.

Total defense—Mississippi State, with a game missing, has yielded an average of 67.7 yards per game.

Then comes Navy, 72.3; Penn State, 81.3; San Jose State, 95.2 in six games, and Michigan, 98.5. Georgia, Texas A. and M., 1939 leader; Rice, Clemson and Detroit round out the list.

Rushing defense—after Penn again comes Penn State, 18.3; Texas A. and M., 23.5; Clemson 37.3, and Navy 41.3.

Pass defense—Mississippi State, one game shy, 17.0; Fordham, 23.0; Utah State, 30.3; Navy 31.3, and Ohio State, 34.8.

Punting—Clemson, Texas Mines, Holy Cross, Oklahoma and Kentucky.

White Deer To Go To Perrylon Friday

Special To The NEWS

WHITE DEER, Oct. 24—The White Deer Bucks journey to Perrylon Friday evening seeking revenge for the 21-0 defeat handed them last year by the Ranger squad, and smarting from last week's defeat by the Canadian Wildcats. Both squads have been defeated once this year in conference play, and although the Rangers have a decided weight advantage the game should be close.

Last week against Canadian the Bucks showed lots of offensive power, but were unable to stop the brilliant running of Briggs. The line will be further weakened this week, for Junior Guerry, who has been playing a fine game at guard, received a knee injury which will probably keep him on the bench. Coach B. E. McCollum has been working the line on blocking, tackling, and charging. The backs have been practicing passing and timing of plays.

Intersectional Record Of Texas Colleges Good (By The Associated Press) Texas minor conference and independent colleges this year boast probably their most impressive intersectional record since they started roaming the country instead of confining their football activities to backyard skirmishes. To date this season, they have played teams from 13 states and out of 31 games have won 21, lost 9 and tied 1.

Also there will be games in the Texas, Lone Star and Border conferences.

The week's schedule: Friday—East Texas State vs. Cushing, Ark.; Teachers at Arkadelphia, Ark. (night); Daniel Baker vs. Texas A. and I. at Kingsville (night); Howard Payne vs. Southwestern at Brownwood (night); St. Benedict's vs. West Texas State at Canyon (night).

Saturday—North Texas State vs. Sam Houston State at Huntsville

(day): Southwest Texas State vs. Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches (day); Arizona State vs. Texas Mines at El Paso (day); Texas Wesleyan vs. Austin college at Fort Worth (night); Marquette vs. Texas Tech at Milwaukee (day); Sunday—St. Mary's vs. Long Island university at Brooklyn (day). Four of the colleges do not have games this week. Those idle are Hardin-Simmons, McMurry, Abilene Christian college and Trinity.

More Than Flag-Waving

Americans are experiencing a rebirth of patriotism. Some of it is emotional, sentimental and unthinking, fully expressed by singing "God Bless America" and wearing flag ornaments on coat lapels. Such procedure is all right as evidence of awakened pride in America, but not a guarantee of the understanding of practice of American democracy. Something more than flag-waving is required for that.

"Our job as educators," says Frederick L. Redfer, director and executive secretary of the Progressive Education Association, "is to direct these things properly, to use these colorful, ritual appeals as an aid to democracy."

He urges the adoption of programs in which teachers, students, parents and the whole community work together to show young people what America is and means. He suggests field trips for pupils to unfamiliar parts of their own cities and towns as well as longer jaunts to other parts of the country.

Loyalty to the government should include loyalty to the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. Educators must make these things alive and applicable in the lives of pupils today in order to counter the teaching of racial intolerance and other prejudices.

Time Bombs

Of all current war weapons perhaps the "time bomb" is the low-downest. It has an internal mechanism which delays its explosion time for a certain number of minutes or hours. It lies on the ground looking like a harmless "dud." Children or grown-ups are likely to gather around and stare at it or handle it. Then suddenly it bursts, killing and maiming innocent civilians. Lately the invaders have been scattering such bombs over English cities at night.

This is as bad as distributing poisoned candy among children. If the Nazis continue some of their present tactics they may soon be doing that, too.

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON
The Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—While the nation has kept its eyes focused on the conscription law, the army has been making hay and history in the matter of voluntary enlistments.

The job was done to the tune of one of the most elaborate publicity campaigns the army ever staged, and as a result all previous recruiting records have been broken and men have been taken in so fast that time schedules originally set up for the recruiting drive have been filed in the wastebasket.

Things got started in 1939, when the army set out to grow from 165,000 men to 227,000. It finished that in February, 1940, and until the end of May the recruiting service coasted along with nothing much to do but get the normal supply of replacements.

Then came the big wind, with orders to hike army strength to 375,000 men. Every month since then has seen a new recruiting record set. In July, the army signed up 31,900 new men; August, 38,663; September, 42,391—the all-time high, topping the best month of World War recruiting, May, 1917. First half of October ran 2000 ahead of the first half of September.

HIGH-POWERED PROMOTION JOB
The army still has to get 20,000 men for the corps. It hasn't gone after them yet, as housing and other facilities aren't ready. After that, it'll probably need another 50,000 to bring all field organizations up to full war strength.

Meanwhile, the regular army today, with 352,000 men, is bigger than it has ever been in American history, in peace or war.

In both the Civil War and the World War the bulk of the soldiers were either draftees or duration-of-the-war volunteers. Strength of the regulars never got above 100,000.

Chiefly responsible for the record breaking is Lieut. Col. H. N. Gilbert, in charge of recruiting. Colonel Gilbert and his aides worked out a campaign that included every imaginable variety of publicity from paper mail covers to trailer-unit recruiting stations. They put out news stories, hired newspaper display space, got national advertisers to include recruiting plugs in their ads, put on local and network radio programs, used direct mail advertising, set up displays in store windows and theater lobbies, used billboards and printed pamphlets, made 16-millimeter movies to show at high schools, helped Hollywood run off feature films on army topics, stuck signs on taxicabs and express trucks. They didn't call in any high-powered outside advisers, either. It was an army job all the way.

PATRIOTISM RISING AS MOTIVE
Chief thing that made the drive go over, says Colonel Gilbert, was the fact that the army really has something to offer these days. In vocational training the army can point with pride to courses offered by a great variety of mechanized units. In some instances it offers courses that would cost from $300 up, on the outside.

Common Ground

By R. C. BOILES

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the share of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

LAW AND LAWS
Most defenders of the New Deal seem to fail to realize the difference between acts that are harmful to society and acts that are beneficial to society. Invariably these apologists for the New Deal try to excuse the encroachment on the inalienable rights of men which the New Deal has made by citing fictitious examples.

As an example, I have heard repeated many times an illustration that society has a right to limit the speed of an automobile, as an excuse for the government having a right to limit the hours of work certain workers may do or the price that a worker desires to sell his services for. Some New Deal defenders will contend that no New Deal law limits hours; that by paying time and one-half the employer can let an employee work as long as he wants to. But no employer can afford to pay a worker permanently a half more for doing a job than other workers will do it for on regular time. So the law really means the worker is prevented from working as many hours as he would like to since two things that are equal to the same thing in results are equal to each other.

In one case, driving rapidly may do a great injury or an injustice to another, but working and producing and adding to the wealth of the world and permitting other people to consume it rather than have the individual consume it who produces it, in no way harms any consumer in the world. It is not a crime. It is not harmful. It does no injury to anyone.

Yes, I hear the professional socialists proclaim that it hurts other producers. It does not hurt other producers. The thing that hurts other producers, is the fact that he does not use his faculties in a way that will reward him the most. There is no reason in the world why any man should have a seniority right in producing any particular thing or service and being rewarded more for producing it, than any one else in the world will produce the service for.

It is this failure to understand that the individual who is producing the same service as some efficient competitor produces for less is not injured by another producing something for less, but he is injured because he does not adjust himself because he fails to act in the way that will most benefit his fellowman that causes these laws to be passed that makes a crime out of an act that in reality is a good deed.

Truly, we must learn to differentiate between acts that are really harmful to their fellowman and acts that are beneficial. Both the Republican and Democratic parties have made many laws that made crimes out of acts that were really beneficial to every consumer in the world.

DIVIDING LABOR UNDER DEMOCRACY
It has been an economic truism that the more minutely labor is divided in producing material things, the greater the production and, consequently, the higher the standard of living.

There is one kind of labor, however, that it seems cannot be divided and that is the spiritual thinking of each individual. When people attempt to make democracy mean majority rule, then the labor of understanding what are essential eternal principles and how they operate, cannot be divided. Then it becomes necessary for the majority to understand the eternal, spiritual principles and everlasting truths that make government practical.

Under a dictator, labor will be more arbitrarily divided and it may appear, for the moment, that it is more effectively divided; but the trouble with a dictator form of government is that it does not permit the spiritual and intellectual development of the great mass of people.

It might be well for many of the ministers to also realize that under true Christianity, there cannot be complete division of labor; that each individual must be developed to better understand the eternal and everlasting principles Jesus explained and that the minister must not pretend that he has some mystical supernatural information that his parishioners must secure through his group.

Quite often ministers attempt to belittle the opinions of great scientists, on the ground that each man should stick to his last, but this applies to material actions, not to spiritual. And the great scientist who attempts to help throw light on these eternal principles of God, usually does it without any bias, without any direct reward or punishment for his decisions. While the decisions of a minister on these spiritual subjects, quite often without the minister even knowing it, can be colored by the effects that his decisions have on his importance in the social structure or his financial reward.

Spiritually, we cannot have complete division of labor, as we can in the material world.

The Nation's Press

(Salt Lake City Telegram)

Senator George of Georgia has revealed administration discussion of a plan to lend perhaps a billion dollars to South American nations to help them build up their military forces in order to facilitate hemisphere defense. Whether that's a sound program is open to question. Hemisphere defense fundamentally depends on U. S. strength. If we're not strong, the most elaborate defenses possible for South American nations will be purely alongside the might of the aggressors. Therefore the first objective ought to be to arm the United States to the teeth. Furthermore, with all the Nazi-fascist political activity within South American countries, we would have no assurance that the millions we spent to arm some of those nations might not be turned against us in the event totalitarian fifth columnists seized control of those governments.

INDISPENSABILITY AN UNSOUND DOCTRINE

(Editorial from the Grand Forks Herald, Grand Forks, North Dakota)

One of the marks of the great executive is his ability to so organize the establishment of which he has charge that its work will be carried on smoothly and efficiently in his absence. The man who insists on looking after every detail himself may be effective in a small field, but he is temperamentally ill fitted for the management of large affairs. It has been said with some measure of exaggeration, of course, that the best executive is he who can most completely make himself unnecessary.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24.—About the only place in Movieland where ordinary citizens lacking extraordinary credentials can watch pictures in the making is Warner's Thirty Acres. This is a flatish patch of land near but not adjacent to the studio, and instead of walls it is surrounded by a high wire fence—a fence easy to look through but forbiddingly barbed, posted and guarded.

A real carnival is pitched on the Thirty Acres now, and this probably is the first time such a show ever played behind closed gates and "Keep Out" signs. Motorists, out with the kids in an afternoon, sometimes spot the tents and ferris wheel from the main highway and drive over to visit the midway. At first they're disappointed to find they can't get in, but then they're tickled with the discovery that they can look through the fence for nothing and see a phase of the much bigger show called Hollywood.

"RISKY, FRISKY" SCHOOLOROOM
Today, for example, the inlookers glimpsed something more inconspicuous than you'd see at any carnival. One of the tents is bannered "POLICE BERGERES—RISKY, FRISKY, FRENCH, FUNNY—GIRLS, GIRLS, GIRLS." And filling from the exit into the midway came a parade of youngsters—girls and boys from 8 to about 14, and quite unaccompanied by parents.

Of course they weren't customers. Inside the Folies tent and behind the intriguing banners were long wooden tables, folding chairs and some stacks of books and writing pads. The tent is a schoolroom and there's nothing either risky or frisky about the three gray-haired teachers assigned there. Their charges are part of the throng of extras paid to patrolize the rides and side-shows.

Another thing the tourists saw was Eddie Albert taking a primary lesson in lion taming from white-haired, wirey Louis Roth, a professional. In the picture, called "Carnival," Albert is a guy who needs a job so badly that he represents himself as a lion tamer and is hired by Humphrey Bogart, owner of the show.

Feminine star of the piece is Sylvia Sydney. On her return to the screen, she plays a fortune teller, Madame Florida, who sits in a tent among frayed Oriental hangings and galls rather balefully into a crystal ball.

Miss Sydney is something of a mystery in her own right, being unpredictable in her behavior. Hollywood usually found her difficult to work with, yet I remember reading some time ago that New York drama reporters had voted her the "most obliging actress." Or maybe it was the "friendliest."

LION TAMING—WITHOUT LIONS

The big cats hadn't arrived from Gay's Lion Farm, and Roth was giving Albert lessons in how to crack a whip and manipulate a wooden chair. The professional was lecturing, too. He said: "Now don't forget what I said about never trying to touch one of the cats with your hands. You gotta be on awful good terms with 'em for that. "And don't turn your back on any cat until they've all been put up on pedestals or boxes or something small and shaky. Something they can't spring from. Outside that, though, you can treat these lions like house cats."

Albert said, "Yeah . . . yeah . . . yeah." And grinned with a strained show of confidence. "I know these are tame lions, all right. But, I haven't heard anything about 'em being vegetarians."

Pretty soon a whistle blew and extras swarmed into the midway

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

The other day three good women, sitting parked in their car, were admiring the swirl of gold leaves in the tree and on the ground at the north entrance of the First Christian church. It was a soul-stirring sight as the pattern of glinting, gilded leaves always is but it was not one-half as pretty as the sight that soon passed under the golden tree—two little girls with blue eyes and hair the color of the leaves, and wearing blue sweaters. They were Nelda Jeanne and Nancy Jo Cody, twin two-year-old daughters of Mrs. Gracy Cody. . . . Speaking of children when Lon Blanscet was in town last week he mentioned that a new-born niece of his, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Blanscet of Dumas, had been named Treva Gene for congressman-nominee Eugene Worley of Shamrock. "If it had been a boy they would have named it Gene, and when it was a girl they named it Gene because his wife is changing and he's having a hard time of it. He says whole sentences in a fine voice, and then suddenly drops into a baritone. . . . But that doesn't mean that Ed is a sissy. Do you remember when J. W. Graham's voice was changing? J. W. was one of the best football players Pampa ever had, certainly the most popular. Well, his voice changed when he was in junior high school and he would say several words at a time in the soprano register. . . . Blitz is also a club athlete. . . . The Goodfellow guild of the American Legion which buys shoes for poor kids wishes to acknowledge receipt of 241 pennies from Phillips camp residents, and $7 from the Carpenters local union, No. 1141.

and began acting like people having fun. Barkers launched into their spits. A band set up a clamorous fanfare for the brief appearance of some dancing girls. The rides began to turn and patrons to shriek. Louder than all these came the amplified voice of an assistant director. "Everybody in the scene! Lots of action and don't watch the camera. Let's go—let's make it a picture!"

CHAPTER 9
Taxation Sucks The Eggs
By Samuel E. Pettengill

EXTRA! See-dall about it: United States Steel declares dividends of $5.61 a share to the government, or a total of $48,942,131. Extra! Special! Steel declares dividend to its owners of nothing a share, or a total of nothing. Get a paper, mister.

That is not the way the news-boys called it. But that's the way it happened in 1938. Government got a nest egg; the owners got a goose egg. The 168,399 common stockholders who owned United States Steel got nothing from a year's operations. The government—federal, state and local—got almost 49 million. Investors had contributed their money to support bureaucrats. The pay rollers got it in the pockets; the owners got it in the neck.

The figures support the thesis that we are marching toward a species of National Socialism. The titles to property will be left with their "owners," but management and earnings will be taken over by government. That is the way Hitler makes the Germans goosestep. It is not government ownership. It is not communism. You keep your hens; give us the eggs!

The American Federation of Investors has compiled the taxes and common stock dividends of 150 companies. The list includes only one company with assets of more than $5 billion. It includes United States Steel, A. T. & T.; Armour; Chrysler; Continental Oil; Du Pont; Eastman Kodak; Illinois Central R. R.; National Cash Register; Montgomery Ward; New York Central Railroad; Ohio Oil; Quaker Oats; R. C. A.; Socony-Vacuum; Standard of Indiana; Swift; Texas Corporation; Westinghouse and others.

In 1937, best year under the New Deal, average dividends for each share of common stock were $1.95, and the average total tax—federal, state and local—per share was $2.62 or 24 per cent more to the government than to the owners. Government, which made no direct investment, got more out of its operations than the investors.

Another way of putting it based on the average per company, is that before each common stockholder got anything, government got $291. Total taxes paid by 124 of these companies in 1937 were $81,648,286. In 1937 they were $1,631,284,094, or nearly a billion more. If government had not taken that extra billion, it might have employed one million men at $1,000 a year! Money paid for taxes cannot be paid for wages, nor for raw material, nor for dividends.

On April 29, 1938, President Roosevelt sent a message to congress from which sprang the Temporary National Economic committee. What Mr. Roosevelt said in that message was, to me, wholly admirable. It is one of the soundest papers he has ever produced. Among other things, he wrote, "The individual must be encouraged . . . to venture his own small savings, not in stock gambling, but in new enterprise investment."

Later, on May 16, 1939, Mr. Roosevelt wrote to Senator O' Mahoney, chairman of TNEC, a letter in which he said, "It is a matter of common knowledge that the dollars which the American people save each year are not yet finding their way back into productive enterprise in sufficient volume to keep our economic machine turning over at the rate required to bring about full employment. . . . It is our task to bring together the men, machines and money."

We know that "new enterprise investment" is not being made except

TEX'S TOPICS

By Tex DeWeese

"BEANIES" are the style rage in the East and Midwest this fall. . . . We've only noticed one in Pampa, and it was worn by a pretty member of the cast of the Top O' Texas Revue the other night. . . . A "beanie" is a ducky little skull cap, and it may be in any one of a dozen colors. . . . The stylists say it was inspired by men's baseball caps. . . . Incidentally that Kewans club revue, with its beauty, tuneful music, and unexpected comedy situations, is going to knock Pampa audiences for a loop on the nights of Nov. 6 and 7. . . . So much favorable comment has emanated from the rehearsals that there already is talk of taking the show on the road for a few stops over the Panhandle after its Pampa premiere.

One of the boys in the advertising department came in to ask us about voting on Nov. 5. . . . He said he thought that all a voter had to do was to go in and vote for either Willkie or Roosevelt. . . . Now, he reports, he has seen a sample ballot "as big as a table-top" with long lists of names of men he never heard of. . . . This reminded us that possibly a lot of other people do not understand how this residential election business operates. . . . Just in case you didn't know, get ready to be disillusioned:

IF YOU have never voted in a presidential election, or have a poor memory, let us remind you a week when you go to the polls a week from next Tuesday you will not vote either for Wendell Willkie or Charles McNary, or for Franklin Roosevelt and Henry Wallace. . . . Instead you will vote for an imposing list of electors—many of whom you never heard of before—marked either "Republican" or "Democratic."

Many readers of this column, including some of those who are well-informed, are probably not aware of the fact that, theoretically, the electors to be chosen on election day are not legally bound to vote for the candidate in whose interest they were chosen. . . . So, you have this situation: . . . 266 ordinary American citizens, if they conspired to do so, could elect the president of the United States some humble and inconspicuous person whose name and reputation had never extended past the corner grocery store! . . . Believe it or not!

SO GO ahead and wear your Roosevelt and Willkie buttons and put the banners on your cars. . . . Factually, you cannot vote for either one of them. . . . We still like the one about people in glass houses shouldn't throw stones. . . . A man told us yesterday, that he doesn't care who it is—if you'll let him work long enough on the case, he can rattle a skeleton in anybody's closet. . . . Over in Amarillo, they say, the Golden Bandles are plotting a terrific lacing for the Pampa Harvesters to avenge the scare Pampa threw into them in last year's annual classic between the two grid teams. . . . Oh, Izzato?

So we might go on analyzing, and the further we proceed the more we see that neither France nor Spain has much material aid to offer anybody at this moment. Spain is utterly broken by her civil war, and France is crushed in a despondent mood. She either of them has to bargain with right now is moral support.

And Hitler the conqueror—who could seize material gain—wishes to buy moral support because, forsooth, he can't take it for money. Why does he want it? It isn't merely to help him in the offensive, or yet simply to impress the United States (as some observers think) with the futility of supporting Great Britain. Those things are important into it, but there's still something more, and I believe it is this:

Hitler to my mind is preparing for a possible stalemate in the war with Britain—and a draw certainly can be called on that. That likely is true, but I call your attention to the fact that here again the material gain would depend on the moral support.

Groom Carnival To Be November 1

Special To The NEWS
GROOM, Oct. 24.—The annual school carnival will be held in the Groom high school building on the night of November 1, according to Daiton Ford, school superintendent.

This affair, which is a yearly event, is sponsored by the faculty of the school for the purpose of obtaining money to buy athletic awards for both boys and girls in each of the various sports, and to help buy musical instruments, uniforms, and music for the band.

Varied entertainment will be had this year with the regular midway attraction, side shows, an shooting gallery. One of the outstanding things of the past few years has been the supper served by the home economics classes; in the gymnasium will be bowling, and wrestling matches.

The feature attraction of the evening will be the crowning of the queen, who is selected from the princesses of each of the various classes. The crowning ceremony is a beautiful ceremony with the winning princess being crowned in state and the princesses of all classes acting as maids of honor.

In a trickle when it should be a mighty river bearing the commerce and the hope of a nation. For six years, 1933-1938 inclusive, new capital investment totaled less than it did for the single year 1930. It averaged $699,000,000 a year. For ten years, 1923-1932, it averaged $3,739,000,000 a year. Why is "new enterprise investment" not being made? Certainly one of the correct answers is that taxation sucks the eggs.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Herf Hitler's penchant for creating mysteries is so great that he must be getting no end of satisfaction out of the world's excited puzzlement over the exact meaning of his heavily advertised "secret" efforts to bring France and Spain into full cooperation with the Axis powers.

Master-detective Sherlock Holmes used to tell us that after all possibilities have been eliminated in solving a problem, what remains must be the answer, no matter how improbable it may seem. By making a very broad application of the old maestro's rule, I believe we can arrive at a fair guess as to what really underlies the Nazi fisher's maneuvers.

We must start from the premise that, whatever he is after, it will be gained for Nazidom. He isn't impelled by altruism. Also, he is hunting something big, because he doesn't play for small stakes. The price he is willing to pay is reportedly heavy.

We further must consider that Hitler is a diplomat, not a politician. Characteristics is that he looks a long way ahead and builds for the future with amazing thoroughness. Had Britain and France recognized these qualities sooner, they might have averted this war.

Now what is it the Nazi chief wants so badly that he is willing to give a king's ransom for it? Is it material or moral?

Many foreign observers incline to the belief that Hitler's great objective presages a great, general offensive against Britain throughout the Mediterranean area and perhaps in other zones. The Axis wants bases on Spanish soil for an attack on Gibraltar. It wants the great French colonies, and the use of those warships still remaining in French hands.

All that is possible, indeed. However, there isn't much news about it, as the offensive against Britain has been boiling up for weeks.

What strikes me most forcibly in this is that, so far as concerns material aid, Hitler could grab it without opposition and without pay. But he's nothing to stop him from appropriating anything he wants.

Take the case of the French warships, for instance. Why doesn't the Nazi leader simply take them without so much as a nod to the great Britain is the big boss of France? One good answer, in my view, is that he hasn't the trained men with which to replace the French officers and crews to operate the ships. So the material aspect gives way to a matter of securing French moral support.

Then we have the Axis air force. If France joins the Axis, at least some of her colonies would follow her. That likely is true, but I call your attention to the fact that here again the material gain would depend on the moral support.

So we might go on analyzing, and the further we proceed the more we see that neither France nor Spain has much material aid to offer anybody at this moment. Spain is utterly broken by her civil war, and France is crushed in a despondent mood. She either of them has to bargain with right now is moral support.

Wage Credit Statements Ready For Social Security Account Holders

AMARILLO, Oct. 24.—Opportunity for Social Security account holders to check up on their old-age and survivors insurance accounts is offered by the Social Security Board in an announcement issued this week. The Board says it is now ready to furnish to any account holder on request a statement of the wages credited to his particular account for 1939 and at least one quarter of 1940.

There are 50 million such accounts, according to Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Board field office.

"Social security accounts," Reed said, "are the Social Security Board's record of each worker's wages as reported to the Government by his employer. The monthly benefits payable to insured wage earners, to their wives or widows, and their children, or to their dependent parents, depend upon the amount of the worker's wages. Therefore, the Board points out, it is important for the worker to check up once a year and find out for himself whether the record is correct."

Such an opportunity is provided by the Board once a year beginning in July, and for the account holder's convenience, a postcard to use in asking for the statement of his wages is also provided. All the worker needs to do is fill out this card and mail it, or write a letter making the same request. In either case, he gives his name and address, his social security account number, and the date of his birth to identify his account. He will receive the reply in a sealed envelope, in accordance with the Board's regulation which requires that any information about anybody's Social Security account shall be confidential.

The statement of wage credits will show the total of the worker's wages reported to the Government by his employer or employers for the year 1939, and in addition for quarters in 1940 as far as the records have been posted. It will show also the total of all his wages as reported and processed since his social security account was started.

Employers send in the wage reports with their tax returns, every three months, to the Bureau of Internal Revenue. There the tax returns are audited. Then the wage reports are forwarded to the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance in the Social Security Board, where the wages reported for each worker are transferred to his own particular social security account. The figures can then be furnished him on request.

Chattita Escalante is a member of one of the world's greatest circus families. Twice daily for nine months of each year and for the past eleven years, since she was 9 years old, the little Mexican firefly has flown through the air at dizzy heights in a circus tent.

Miss Escalante says simply "Exercise for women seems to have been lost sight of to a great extent. Every woman cannot be a great athlete but many an ordinary pain or ache could be avoided if a certain amount of consistent exercising was indulged in. I was not in any remarkable condition when I started out on my life's work. I was not strong physically and I started on very simple exercises. My father was my first teacher, during recesses in school days. I gradually became hardy

We Must Be Ready To Repel An Attack. Sumner Wells Says

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24. (AP)—Sumner Wells, undersecretary of state, declared today that defense of the United States "must involve our ability to repel an attack against, or an attempted invasion of, any part of the new world."

"These recent years," Wells said in an address prepared for the advertising club of Baltimore, "have made it more than ever clear that the Panama canal cannot be rendered secure, nor our own territory regarded as safe from invasion by air, unless the territory of our neighbors to the south is equally secure. And that cannot be achieved without the loyal friendship of the other American powers."

"The United States long ago foresaw the potential dangers to American nations of 'forces of military conquest and social revolution' on the march, Wells asserted, and cooperated fully with the 20 other American Republics in creating a substantial friendship which would mean 'a solid front in the moment of crisis.'"

The success of continued American solidarity, Wells asserted, depends to a large extent on the businessmen of the 21 republics "for there is no greater reinforcement to friendly political relations between countries than a large volume of fair and profitable trade."

Boston Clergymen Plead Innocence On R-Day Charges

BOSTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—Two young Boston ministers pleaded innocent in federal court today of wilfully failing and neglecting to register and as I progressed my lessons became more strenuous. Now it's easy for me to fly and do seemingly hard stunts. My advice to girls who complain of poor health is to exercise consistently, gradually building up to the more exacting stunts and they will find that they feel better both in mind and body."

Miss Escalante will be in Pampa on Saturday, Nov. 2nd, with the Cole Bros. Circus for two performances. Ken Maynard's Wild West is also featured this season and hundreds of men, women and animals comprise a gorgeous pageant entitled "La Habana" which serves as a prelude to the circus performance.

Krueger was arraigned despite the fact that he reconsidered his earlier action and subsequently registered. SERIAL STORY

NEW YORK JUNGLE

BY WRAY WADE SEVERN

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY's Maria faints and the man behind the open gate away. Sidney rushes the house. No one has heard anything unusual. Nella says she has had a dream. She saw Adam's distorted face, like an animal's, bustling prey.

BARKES HAS A THEORY

CHAPTER XV

WHEN Sidney came down in the morning he found Henry Barkes waiting for him at the drawing room door.

"I'd like to talk privately with you, Mr. Braitwood," the chauffeur said.

"What's on your mind?" Sidney followed the man into the room.

"It's about Murphy," Barkes explained. "Owing to the storm, the poor devil had done double duty. He was so wet and cold I opened up a bottle. He took a big one and it really hit him. I imagine that's how he happened to fall asleep. Anyway, we got to talking—he said a lot."

"Grew confidential?" Sidney wondered if the big trooper's "confidences" had been dictated by Captain Plowman.

"I'm not saying that I agree with him, but after telling me something of what the investigation had revealed, he let out that he was a theater hound."

"A theater hound?"

"Yes, likes plays. And he has often seen Miss Hemphill. He's seen her faint on the stage. Says she does it like life."

Braitwood whistled. Marta's acting ability would do her no good, all things considered, but he had not expected this version so soon.

"It's Murphy's opinion that Miss Hemphill knew of Mr. Langdon's marriage and that she arranged with the Jap to ask her down," Barkes went on. "She had him say Mr. Langdon told him to do it. The Jap likes her and would do what he was told."

"Murphy figures that Mr. Langdon stood on the block with the new lioness so that he could be in a position to watch the door, and at the same time hear anyone coming out of the shaft."

"Logical reasoning, had it been light. Unfortunately for his idea, it was pitch dark," Braitwood commented. Langdon's position puzzled him, too, but he did not agree with Murphy concerning it.

"Granted the darkness, but the lioness is half way between the only possible entrances so that a man could best defend them from such a spot. And there were occasional flashes of lightning," Barkes argued.

"Yes, there were," Sidney admitted.

"Murphy believes that Miss Hemphill helped herself to a gun at the gunrack, and when she got opposite Mr. Langdon—whom she had seen when the lightning made him visible for a second—she fired and then faked a faint."

"It is a solution that will occur to many," Sidney granted, "but it fails to hold water. Only the hem of Miss Hemphill's skirt was blood-stained, and there were red, brushlike marks which her long dress had made in sweeping away from the pool at Langdon's feet when she fell. That proves that the blood had already formed in a pool before she fainted. It takes a little time for blood to seep from a man's shoulder, through his clothing to the floor."

alibi, unless Langdon upset the room himself before he came down."

"I've one more link in the chain," Barkes boasted. "Early this morning I found 'Toji' at the back door talking to another Jap who works at the village inn. A fellow called Shorty. I'll bet a tenner whatever was stolen was passed on to him."

"I'll have 'Shorty' looked up," Sidney said. "Better keep these theories to yourself, Barkes. Toji may be putting two and two together against you if you don't."

"He's tried that," Barkes said, grimly. "He insisted I was in the hall when he got there last night. The truth is, I all but stumbled over him when I ran out."

"Nevertheless, keep quiet," the lawyer insisted.

"I DIDN'T agree with Murphy," Barkes reassured Sidney. "Here's my own theory—for what it's worth."

"Let's hear it, Barkes."

"The Jap looms out."

"I fail to see it."

"For many reasons. He told me Langdon had promised to remember him in his will. Men change their wills after marriage."

Sidney knew this to be true, but he made no comment.

"That Jap didn't like the marriage. A new mistress seldoms keeps old servants connected with her husband's bachelor life."

"You score there. What else?"

"Toji searched the furnace-room while Mr. Gundrum looked around the storeroom. He could have slipped back into the jungle, done the murder and then have joined you upstairs. He could have locked the door when he brought in the lamps, too."

"Possible, but I hardly think Toji's the type."

"Type or not, that little gun which Murphy claims was on the rack when I cleaned it yesterday morning."

"You saw the Lilliput on the rack?"

"I certainly did. I wasn't engaged to do menial work but the Jap had to get the house in some kind of order before the family arrived so I finally turned in and helped him. I admit I grumbled at it."

"What else favors your theory?"

"Before Mr. Langdon rang for him, Toji must have been upstairs. He had an opportunity to go into Langdon's bedroom and look for money, or a possible new will. Who else was there with a similar chance?"

"No person, since you have an

WITH an idea of looking over the position of the new lioness to see if there might indeed be reason in Barkes' deductions, Sidney went on down to the jungle. But study the situation as he would, he could see no logical reason for Adam Langdon's peculiar position.

Why had he not crossed to the coffee table to reassure his wife? Why had he moved to the center of the room, mounted a block of highly polished wood, and stood there until an assassin's bullet found him? There were no answers.

As Braitwood stood, trying to find a solution, he was startled by a faint "Hum." Turning, he saw Craig Gundrum staring at him.

"Gundrum!" he exclaimed. "I didn't see you when I came in."

"I wasn't here," Craig smiled. "I saw you coming down this way and I wanted to find out if I could get in here unnoticed."

"You put one over on me," Sidney admitted. "But last night I had concentrated on the door. Just now I hadn't."

Before they could go on with the argument, Pat Langdon rushed in. "Have you seen Nella?" she asked in a disturbed tone.

"Nella? No," Sidney replied.

"Hugh remained with her until she fell asleep last night," Pat told them. "He said she didn't appear to know him, but just dozed off."

"This morning I had her on my mind, after what she said she had dreamed. When she failed to come down for breakfast, I went up to her room."

"She isn't there. No one has seen her. I can't imagine where she is."

Physical Standards For Men To Be Drafted Into Army Published Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Physical standards for men to be drafted into the army, as published today, will include:

Height—60 inches minimum and 78 inches maximum.

Weight—105 pounds minimum (those whose weight is so great as to interfere with training will not be accepted).

Eyesight—Normal vision or a minimum sharpness of 20-100 in each eye, which can be corrected with glasses to 20-40 (the 20 represents the distance of 20 feet which a patient stands away from a test chart and the 40 represents the size of the type on the lowest line of the chart, which he can read; since 20-20 is normal vision, 20-40 is roughly half of normal).

Hearing—Normal hearing "the ability to hear a low conversational voice at 20 feet with each ear separately or minimum hearing in each ear of 20-40 (which means ability to hear at 10 feet the conversational voice which a normal ear can hear at 20 feet.)

Diseases—Mild cases of many diseases will be overlooked, but those with such diseases as cancer, active tuberculosis, acute rheumatic fever, osteomyelitis, chronic arthritis, and late syphilis will be rejected. Every man examined for possible army service will be given a blood test for syphilis.

Teeth—A minimum of 3 chewing teeth above and 3 below, meeting each other, and 3 cutting teeth above and 3 below, also meeting. Teeth which have been or can be easily restored will count, as well as bridges.

Feet and hands—Some defects are permissible, such as an absent left thumb, loss of two fingers of either hand except where the two are the right index and middle finger, a slight clubfoot, web fingers and toes unless severe, and absence of one or two small toes if the foot otherwise is good.

Minimum standards for men of various heights follow:

Inches Weight	Chest measure with	Breath Exhaled
60	105	28 1/2
65	115	30
70	133	31 1/2
75	153	32 1/2
78	165	33 1/2

Those are not standard weights and measures, but the minimum for acceptance. From 60 through 66 inches, two additional pounds of weight are required for each additional inch in height. From 67 inches up, four extra pounds are required for each inch.

Army Receives New 'Flying Fortresses'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The war department announced today delivery to the air corps at Wright Field, Ohio, of the first of two new type planes—the Stinson O-49 and "the new flying fortress," B-17-C.

The Stinson O-49, undergoing tests by the air corps, is an observation plane. The department said it

Housing Army To Cost U. S. $400 Per Man

By W. R. RAGSDALE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The war department figures it will cost $400 to house each one of its soldiers and provide the buildings and grounds needed to trim him and keep him happy.

That is the figure to which the department cost breaks down. It covers the per man cost of not just barracks but of a station hospital, mess halls, recreation buildings and grounds, administration buildings, warehouses, laundries, refrigerating plants, roads, and, of course, grading a drill field.

It has nothing to do with food. William S. Knudsen of the national defense commission sagely remarked that men in the service eat about the same as they do at home except that if a man is in the army he drinks more coffee and if he is in the navy he eats more catsup.

But in these days, army officers recognize that it takes more to build an army than just feeding men and teaching them how to march and handle a gun. Twenty odd years of working with men in the citizen's military training corps and the reserve officers training corps have given the army a fund of information it did not have in 1917.

And the war department wants an army that not only knows how to handle arms, but has the spirit to handle them well, a spirit that flows from good health and the conviction that it has something worth fighting for.

General George C. Marshall, the chief of staff, puts it this way: "The war department undertakes full responsibility for the welfare of the army and it is absolutely essential that provisions be made for it."

"The whole matter of morale is an extensive one, with many ramifications seemingly far removed from simple, pleasurable athletic diversions.

"Provision is made for initial issues of athletic equipment and reading material, and for the establishment of service clubs and motion picture theaters. Hostesses and librarians are provided for in the division camps. This matter is vital to morale.

"Our army will be an army of citizen soldiers and must be essentially a democratic institution. In a democracy such as ours, military discipline is attained through the exercise of leadership by our officers. Our volunteer and selected service men, with the colors will quickly realize the necessity for the type of military discipline which is based on leadership and mutual cooperation."

To help commanders in the field plan and develop recreational and welfare facilities, a new morale division is already busy. It is buying athletic equipment, magazines, books and the material for service clubs and movies.

To ride herd on camp followers and the undesirable elements that spring up on the outskirts of camps, army commanders will maintain close cooperation with local civil police and health authorities.

was the first of a number of such ships for which the Stinson aircraft division of the Aviation Manufacturing company, Nashville, Tenn., was awarded a contract for approximately $2,000,000.

The army said what it called the "new flying fortress" was practically identical with previous planes in the series, except that instead of "blisters" on the earlier models, flat-type gun turrets have been installed. It is a 22-ton, all metal, low wing monoplane with a wing span of 105 feet, 70 feet long, and an overall height of 15 feet.

The crew consists of a commanding officer, pilot, co-pilot, navigator, engineer, bomber, radio operator, and gunners.

Could Not Eat Or Sleep, Now Praises Hoyt's

Indigestion, Constipation, Bloating, Gas And Headaches Relieved By Hoyt's Says Mr. Wiggins.

Mr. J. D. Wiggins of 3 Hazel Avenue, Colorado Springs, states:

MR. J. D. WIGGINS

"I suffered with indigestion. All the foods I ate would lay in my stomach like a solid ball, causing acid taste and I was filled with gas. I could not retain my food. I was a sufferer of constipation, and had to take cathartics to get any relief. I was crazy with sick headaches and it was impossible for me to get a night's sleep as my nerves were in bad shape.

"I have taken Hoyt's Compound and am feeling like another person. I enjoy my meals, and am eating what I like. There is no more trouble with gas and bloating. Neither do I have vomiting spells and that acid-like feeling in my mouth has left. My bowels are natural and my nervousness is gone, and I sleep. When I get up in the morning I feel fine. I gave Hoyt's Compound to our little boy and he has been greatly helped too."

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Cretney Drug Store and all leading druggists.
