Daylight Raids Smash Street Cars, Buses FOR SAYS HE WOULD SERVE WHOLE 4 YEARS

Score Killed In London By Nazi Bombs

Many Left Injured In Streets; Flats, Shops Demolished

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Bombs rained out of a cloud-flecked sky in one of the heaviest series of daylight raids on London today, smashing street cars and buses during the city's morning rush hours and leaving crowded thoroughfares strewn with dead, injured and ruins.

Heavy formations, some of them numbering 50 planes, came over in the day's attacks on the capital.

The air ministry said 12 German planes were destroyed in the day's battles, while eight British fighters were lost, the pilots of four of them landing safely.

It was not until late afternoon that the "raider passed" signal marked the end of a lengthy attack which occasioned the third air raid alarm of the day.

One bomb crashed between two street cars, wrecking them and killing and injuring more than a score of persons. Other explosives hit behind the street cars, damaging a third street car. A bus was wrecked.

Yet other high explosives struck near a police station, wrecking nearby structures, and near an air raid shelter, leaving many injured in the street.

Flats and shops were demolished and huge buildings were jarred by the blasts.

Associated Press correspondents telephoned from various parts of the city that bombs were falling nearby as the raiders maneuvered skillfully in a sunlit sky scattered with clouds.

The virtually incessant day raids came on the heels of night attacks. Traffic noises were drowned by the roar of exploding bombs and the rumble of anti-aircraft guns blending with full-throated airplane motors.

Reports from widely scattered areas indicated the attacks spread from one end of London to the other, with many deaths.

One stick of bombs dropped in the center of a busy street intersection. Two streetcars were demolished and three others severely damaged.

Windows were blown out of nearby buses and some passengers were killed and injured.

In the same section a bomb wrecked a row of shops over which there were apartments in which some persons were injured.

Shopkeepers joined householders and ARP workers in attending the injured.

One woman tore up her clothing for bandages.

At least three Nazi planes were reported shot down and the RAF fended off numerous raiders before they reached London. Others, taking advantage of clouds, knifed through the defense lines to drop their bomb loads.

The flow of traffic in most sections was nearly normal.

The Nazi raiders stabbed twice at London in quick succession during the forenoon after a comparatively quiet night.

The third alarm came near midnight.

One of the street cars hit was crushed like a concertina and others had windows and wood work blown out. Broken seats were flung into the roadway.

The driver of one car was killed. Casualties included some women.

A one-plane dive-bombing attack preceded the alarms, coming so

Pampans To Seek Airline Stop Monday

(By The Associated Press)

A delegation of Pampa aviation enthusiasts is scheduled to attend festivities in Oklahoma City Monday celebrating the opening of a new air line between Oklahoma City and Amarillo. The Pampans will remind officials of the Braniff Airways, as well as business men, of the appropriateness of the inclusion of Pampa as a regular stop on the new line.

At least one Pampa resident will ride a special Braniff plane from Amarillo to Oklahoma City on Monday. Other passengers will be from Ranger, Lubbock and other Panhandle cities.

Oklahoma City officials and business men will fly to Amarillo on November 30 when festivities will be held at that end of the line. Pampa will also participate in the observance by sending a delegation.

Pampa, through the Pampa Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce, petitioned the Braniff Airways and the Civil Aeronautics board for a stop here while the case was first being heard but because the application was not filed at the opening of the hearing it was not considered and a new hearing will be required before the CAB could authorize a stop in Pampa.

The new line will be of benefit to Pampa both from a passenger and airmail standpoint, even though a stop here is not secure, but it would be of invaluable benefit to Pampa and the surrounding oil and gas field if a stop were made here.

With 77 oil, gas and other industrial firms in Pampa having district offices in Tulsa and Oklahoma City and vicinity, passenger traffic and airmail volume would be large along this route if a stop were made in Pampa.

Borger Airplanes Will Visit Here

Pampa will be visited by an air cavalcade from Borger Sunday afternoon in the "Bill Neighbor" pilots light at the municipal airport at about 3:45 p. m.

The tour was organized by the Borger pilots who felt they needed cross country practice. They have been circling their own airport until they are tired of looking at the same scene from on high. The pilots also want to meet other pilots in the Panhandle for a discussion of mutual problems.

The visitors will issue an invitation to other Panhandle pilots to "come over to Borger" for a visit. Copies of the Industrial Edition of the Borger Herald will be distributed by the trippers.

Frank W. Phillips is chairman of the aerial tour.

Pampa pilots invite citizens to be at the airport Sunday afternoon to welcome the visiting pilots.

'Don't Vote For Me' SOMERVILLE, Mass., Oct. 25. (AP)—The campaign slogan of David Fulton, Democratic nominee for state representative, is "don't vote for me."

Called to duty as a member of the naval reserve, he said he had put aside any political ambition "to serve his flag and country."

British Bombs Blast Vital Nazi Centers

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Britain's fiercely sustained air offensive blasted at the foundations of German war power last night with a squadron after squadron of heavy bombers delivering destruction not only in Berlin and Hamburg but in a dozen other vital centers as well, the air ministry announced today.

The number of killed in Berlin and Hamburg was "extremely high," said a German broadcast heard in New York by NBC, and "indiscriminate bombing of the German civilian population by the RAF is vastly increasing."

The air ministry news service said the British fliers, in a nearly three-hour attack on Berlin, came down low to make sure of their targets and smashed the Pulitz-Strasse and Lehrter railway stations for the second night in succession in this, the 23rd raid on Berlin.

The first wave of raiders reached Berlin after midnight and attacked the railway with salvoes of high explosive bombs which added to the "extensive damage" inflicted the previous night, the news service said.

A second wave of bombers then hit the same targets half an hour later.

"Still others started a 'huge fire' on another military objective it was said, and guided, succeeding waves which crossed and recrossed the city for an hour and a quarter despite fiercely blazing German guns.

Gaps in the cloud bank later made it possible for the bombers to attack from a higher level, "somewhat east-

Number And Name Search Still Puzzle

(By The Associated Press)

They are still seeking the needle in the haystack at the court house. Registrants call frequently at the office of the selective service board, with the complaint:

"I've looked all over the list published in the paper, and I can't find my name."

So far, another search has always revealed the name and number, provided the registration was made in Gray county.

To facilitate the finding of names and numbers a card index is being prepared.

Work has already been started on preparing the cover sheets for the questionnaires that are to be mailed out when the order numbers are received, following the lottery to be held in Washington Tuesday.

Registrants have five days from receipt to return the questionnaires. List Now Totals 3,323

The list of registrants in Gray county was up to 3,323 today, with the receipt of five more cards from state headquarters.

To date, two duplications have been found in the list. These duplications were caused, it was explained, when two cards were made out in each case. Two should have been marked "mutilated," and two accepted.

In these cases, the cards that were correctly made out were the ones officially listed when the correction was made. It so happened this time that both the correct cards were the lowest number of the duplicates.

Correct name of registrant 3213 is Edwin Gale Pky, not Edwin Dale Pky, as was inadvertently stated in a recent issue of The News.

A transfer of registrants, in addition to the 3,215 names previously published, is to appear in Sunday's issue of this newspaper. These 107 are from cards forwarded to Gray county from the state headquarters in Austin.

Transfers have created a minor problem here. One man, who receives his mail in Jericho, but who lives in Gray county, registered in this county.

As his mailing address was Jericho, the registrar insisted on placing the man under the Donkey county board. The selectee saw the Donkey board about a transfer to Gray. They ruled that the registration belonged to Donkey.

However, the Gray county office is of the opinion that the man's request for a transfer to Gray should be granted, and his record is marked correspondingly.

Add Your Name To This List

There is no emergency like hunger, and the Red Cross realizing this stepped in yesterday and adopted two ward school children for this school session. That means that the Red Cross will pay $7.50 for each child. That amount will pay for one meal a day for the rest of the term.

Adoptions today follow: One Child Missionary Society of Assembly of God church. Mrs. Lottie Ochiltree. John Vollmert. Charlie Thru. County Tax Collector's office. Sheriff Cal Rose. M. C. Johnson. Ernest W. Cabe, Jr. Malcolm Denson.

Old Assaunts S. H. Griffin $2. Miss Madge Donnell $1. Paul Crossland $1. Women's American Legion auxiliary $4 per month for remaining eight months of school.

Corrections Mrs. Lee Cady instead of Mrs. Lee Cady, one child. Group three, Friendship class, Methodist church, instead of group one.

Special To Arrive At Six Tonight

Pampa football fans are invited to be at the Santa Fe station at 6 o'clock tonight to welcome Plainview football fans who will arrive on a special train for the Pampa-Plainview football game tonight.

The train will be met by the Pampa High school band and student body. A parade will form at the station led by the Plainview band which will accompany the team.

After the visitors have supper they will be taken from the north side of the high school gymnasium to the football field in school buses and private cars.

ENGLISH CHILDREN IN AIR-RAID SHELTER

Attitudes tense, apprehension on their faces, these little refugees from the blast of German bombs are pictured in the underground air raid shelter of the National Children's Home in Hertfordshire. Here children, many of them evacuated from London, are trained to rush into the shelter as soon as the sirens herald the approach of deadly Nazi warplanes.

115 Attend Legion Supper At New Hut

Pampa Legion and auxiliary members celebrated the remodeling of the Kerley-Crossman hut last night with a supper and social meeting at the building, attended by 115 persons, representing American Legion and auxiliary members, special guests, and friends.

The hut, located in the 700 block on W. Foster, has recently been repainted and repaired, a partition removed, kitchen and hall remodelled.

Bits of the history of the local post were recounted by F. M. Culbertson, toastmaster, who was commander of the local post in 1929, succeeding Dr. Roy A. Webb.

Bayless Principal Speaker Principal talk of the program was delivered by the Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor of the First Baptist church.

The Rev. Bayless wove a multitude of humorous stories into a concise speech, narrating boyhood experiences and deftly leading up to his theme, "Poise."

In concluding his speech the pastor exhorted his listeners to be sincere, genuine, courteous, to follow the golden rule.

On persons who were "the real McCoy," the speaker based his idea of poise, saying such persons were always liked. He scorned those who pretended to be what they were not, praised "straight shooters."

Rapid-fire wit of the speaker drew instant response in laughter from the crowd.

Guests Introduced Preceding the pastor's talk the toastmaster introduced special guests. These included: J. M. Johnson 18th district commander, Mrs. Johnson, and Mrs. Sieta Jennings, all of Canadian; Joe Burrow, Lions club president, and Mrs. Burrow; D. L. Parker, junior chamber of commerce president, and Mrs. Parker; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Biery and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clifford; with the comment that Mr. Biery and Mr. Clifford had been instrumental in putting over the Legion's "Mile of Pennies" charity fund; A. C. Cox, junior high school band director and the eight band members who furnished music; the auxiliary members who prepared and served the supper, Mmes. Emmett Osborne, L. E. Franks, Dan Williams, Nelle Ford, Ralph Thomas, W. L. Hesker; Dr. Roy A. Webb; Mr. and Mrs. Slim Gilbert; Mrs.

Objective To Be Work For Young People

President Denies Kennedy Returning To Resign Post

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. (AP)—President Roosevelt told his press conference today that he intended to serve out the whole four years if he is elected to a third term.

The president made the statement in reply to a reporter's question concerning his speech in Philadelphia Wednesday night in which the president said his objective in the next four years would be to make work for every young man and woman "a living fact."

The reporter asked: "Does this mean that, God willing, you intend to serve the full four-year term if reelected?"

"Of course," Mr. Roosevelt responded with a smile.

He then volunteered that the newsmen could quote him directly on that, and added he was glad the reporter had put in "God willing."

The president, in response to further questioning, repeated that as long as the international situation continues as it is at present, he would not go more than 12 hours away from Washington to campaign.

The president said that if the foreign situation eased up there were many places he would like to go, including the middle west and Warm Springs, Ga., for Thanksgiving.

Mr. Roosevelt would not comment on the international situation either in Europe or the Far East, but replied in the negative when asked about reports that certain inquiries would be made to him through Spain.

While the president talked to reporters, it was learned authoritatively that he was watching closely these days four different situations—Spain, disposition of the French fleet, Greece and the Balkans, and the Far East.

All four of these questions it was said, involved possibilities of trouble.

It was said officially that while these questions did not mean involvement of this country in any way, they might require such presidential actions as have been taken in the past following other serious developments—namely, issuance of proclamations getting Americans out of trouble zones and freezing of investments held in this country by certain foreign interests.

At his press conference, the president was asked whether he considered the French government at Vichy still a friendly power in the light of recent conversations between Premier Marshal Petain and Adolf Hitler.

The president replied certainly, adding that this country still had diplomatic relations with the Petain government.

When the reporter remarked that the United States also still maintained diplomatic relations with Germany, Mr. Roosevelt replied that was right.

The president said the situation regarding Joseph A. Kennedy, ambassador to London, en route home when he remarked the ambassador was returning to report and that it was untrue that Kennedy was resigning.

First Program In Civic Music Series To Be Given Tonight

Two happy troupers of the concert stage, duo-pianists Pierre Lushutz and Genia Nemencoff, are enthusiastic over the far-flung interest in fine music that they find on their tours.

They will appear in concert tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the high school auditorium in Amarillo as the first attraction on the Panhandle Civic Music series for this winter.

They say that the smallest cities they visit have as fastidious a taste in music as do the cosmopolitan centers.

"We never 'play down' to an audience," Miss Nemencoff said. (She is Mrs. Pierre Lushutz in private life). "The small towns demand the best we have to offer. Why, we have given lighter programs at times in New York than in small communities."

"Yes," supplemented Mr. Lushutz, "Unless you play Bach and Mozart in those towns, they are dissatisfied."

Both pianists are glad that the audiences they encounter in small, unpretentious auditoriums throughout the country make them work for applause. They feel it indicates a healthy interest from which important new musical developments may spring. "If our experience is any indication, interest in swing music is on the wane and is being supplanted by a growing appreciation of the classics," Mr. Lushutz said.

Later as the mothers stood on the capital steps, 500 airplanes circled the group as they maneuvered before the dedication of Washington's new airport. Mrs. Pollard was the only Texas gold star mother attending the convention.

John L. Lewis Due To Name His Choice On Air Tonight

(By The Associated Press)
Rival views on labor's stake in the outcome of the 1940 election came in for fresh campaign emphasis today.
Wendell L. Willkie returned to New York and Pennsylvania for further speeches after telling an Akron, Ohio, audience last night he wanted "to put an end to this era of bad feeling" between labor and industry.
At the same time, Henry A. Wallace contended in a Detroit address that because of the Roosevelt administration "there were millions more men employed and spending their wages" and appealed for workers to vote Democratic in the interest of business growth.
Sharing the spotlight was John L. Lewis, CIO president, who will speak over some 300 radio stations (NBC, CBS and MBS) from 8-8:30 o'clock, central standard time, tonight. Lewis, it is believed, may disclose his choice between President Roosevelt and Willkie.
Willkie said there could not be a growing national economy "except by understanding and cooperation between labor and management."
"With the help of the leaders, both of labor and of industry, I want to put an end to this era of bad feeling," Willkie said.
The Republican nominee announced he intended to reply to any "political speeches" by President Roosevelt within 48 and probably 24 hours of their delivery. Mr. Roosevelt plans four more such speeches in his third-term campaign for re-election.
Wallace said Republicans had adopted a slogan "what helps business helps you," but, he asserted that, in effect, they were telling the country that whatever helps the "financial manipulators of Wall Street" helps the worker and farmer.
He contended that figures showed that growth of new enterprises was "blighted" under the Republican administration, and added:
"But starting in 1933, the new enterprises opened up were 13,000 more than those closed down, and there has been a net increase ever since, ranging up to 49,000 a year."
Herbert Hoover made his first speech of the campaign at Columbus, Ohio, last night and asserted the New Deal is creating an economic system which "drifts down the suicide road of national socialism."
Urging Willkie's election, the former president said that a third term would violate "an unwritten provision of our Constitution."
He asserted that Mr. Roosevelt had obtained extraordinary powers which point to "an American breed of totalitarianism" and charged that in the past seven years people's liberties had been shackled.
Secretary Ickes said at a press conference in Washington that Mr. Roosevelt's speech Wednesday in Philadelphia had stopped any Willkie trend—"if there ever was a Willkie trend."
Senator Charles L. McNary, the Republican vice-presidential candidate, said in a speech at Kendallville, Ind., that the administration's reciprocal trade program had "sold part of the farmers' domestic market down the river."
Democrats indicated the closing days of the campaign would see an intensification of their drive for votes in the middle west. Senators Barkley of Kentucky, Byrnes of South Carolina and Connally of Texas, among others, will speak there.
Locke and Frank Holland, group captains.
Group one which is Mr. Holland's group will have the program Sunday.

U. S. Adding Huge Area To Cantonments

By W. B. RAGSDALE
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Upward of a million and a quarter acres are being added to the nation's military establishment this winter for training a two million man army.
 Three-fifths of these are being bought for permanent use. The remainder is being leased and if the emergency continues the leases will be renewed.
 A few of the bigger purchases are 300,000 acres at Savannah, Ga., 100,000 acres in the Sabine River area of Louisiana, 154,000 acres at Camp Merriam, California, and 16,346 acres at Fort Dix, New Jersey.
 The others are sited in parcels ranging from 35 acres up to areas of tens of thousands across the wide reaches of the continent from Maine to Washington and Oregon. Prices range from two dollars to $75, with the average being their class.
 The twenty tracts of land being rented are dispersed as widely as the sixteen that are being bought. The rentals average about 70 cents an acre.

On these lands, men will march through ordered maneuvers. Target ranges will be set up for rifle practice. Machine guns will drum out their deadly missiles. Pine trees will shudder at the bech of heavy artillery. Tanks will mutter and roar through their paces into the path of gunfire. Anti-aircraft guns will sort out targets high overhead and send shells leaping up after them.
 Individually and in units, the soldiers in the making will practice at their new profession, seeking a proficiency that will stand between the nation and any foreign enemy. The drill fields will be their classrooms; the gun, the bayonet, the tank and the airplane, their pencils. But eventually, as in the class room, will come examination day. Only in the army is called general maneuvers, or field exercises. They were held on a broader scale this year than last. They will be tougher next year than this.
 As outlined by general staff officers, the principal training objective of the army is to produce units prepared to take the field on short notice and capable of conducting effective combined operations.

FAMED BOWL TO BE USED IN DRAFT AGAIN

The famous goldfish bowl which was used in the 1917 draft selection is packed in Philadelphia for trip to Washington where it will be used next week in Conscripting drawing. Warren McCullough, left, captain of Independence Hall guards and Howard Murphy of city properties bureau pack the bowl.

For an army is a little like a football team. The individual units are taught their own jobs. They practice at running and tackling, kicking and forward passing; or with rifles and artillery and tanks and airplanes.
 But finally comes the scrimmage. An army goes out for maneuvers in a simulated combat with such a foe as appears most likely. So do the heads of the different units go into a huddle and discuss strategy before the mock battle—or the actual battle. The difference is that more is at stake and the quarter-back has more help in figuring out the plays.
 Brigadier General Frank M. Andrews, assistant chief of staff in charge of operations and training, puts it this way:
 "In order to develop efficient and well trained commanders, staffs and combat units, it is necessary to assemble in the field smaller units into brigade, divisions, corps and army units, and conduct combined exercises in which all arms and services participate."
 "Such maneuvers afford opportunities for training commanders and staffs in marching, concentrating, maneuvering and supplying large units under combat conditions and for securing vital teamwork between the various elements of these forces."

Vocational Pupils Make Good Records

Out of the 19 students enrolled in diversified occupations in Pampa High school last year, 10 are in school again this year and taking their second year of the occupations course.
 Fourteen of the 19 in the 1939-40 class were boys, 11 of whom were employed in mechanical occupations. Of the 10 in school this year, nine are working with the same employers with whom they started last year.
 Eight of these worked regularly through the summer while the other two worked as extras.
 Of the other nine, seven graduated last May and are still at work at the same places, or at like employment in which they were trained while taking diversified occupations. One other graduated and dropped out of school and work. The remaining one is in school taking regular courses this year and contemplates taking diversified occupations again next year if satisfactory employment can be secured.
 "I think this is an exceptionally good record for these boys and girls," said W. H. Galloway, coordinator. "It indicates satisfactory placement and satisfactory performance on the part of the students."

Hamburger Feast To Be Held At Woodrow Wilson Late Today

Succulent hamburgers that everyone likes, and don't let anyone fool you by saying they don't like hamburgers, will be the main dish at Woodrow Wilson school tonight when the Parent-Teacher association stages its annual "Hamburger Feast" between 5 and 8 o'clock.
 Topping off the hamburger repast will be coffee and pie or cake and ice cream. There may even be some hot dogs available for the opening course.
 The feed is open to everyone in the city, not just to parents and children of the school. Football fans are invited to eat at Woodrow Wilson before the big game.
 Proceeds from the feed will go to the P-T-A. general fund.

Popular Vote Of 50,000,000 May Be Cast

(By The Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Heavy registering throughout the country, particularly in the big cities, indicated today that a history-breaking popular vote of around 50,000,000 may be cast in the presidential election next month.
 A compilation of official and estimated registrations in each state disclosed a possible total vote of 49,719,200, or about 27 for every 100 of population.
 This figure compares with an actual vote of 45,847,117 in the Roosevelt-Landon contest in 1936, and 31,815,522 in the Roosevelt-Hoover election of 1932.
 It is based on an analysis of voter-registrations and other data showing 60,576,579 men eligible to vote in the November 5 elections, or about 45 per cent of the total population of 131,409,881.
 Comparison of the eligible vote four years ago with the actual vote cast revealed that from 15 to 20 per cent of those qualified remained away from the polls. In some southern states the stay-at-home vote ran as high as 50 per cent. This was taken into account in arriving at this year's estimated vote.
 The census bureau estimates the number of "potential" voters this year at 90,528,000. This figure includes natives and naturalized citizens 21 years old or over. It excludes

Spanish Language Must Be Second, Says Rockefeller

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—The liberties of the western hemisphere must be defended not only on military and economic fronts, Nelson A. Rockefeller declared today, but—equally important—in the field of language.
 Rockefeller, coordinator of commercial and cultural relations between the American republics for the national defense council, set forth his views in a speech prepared for delivery before the New York Herald Tribune Forum at 1:30 p. m. (CST).
 "President Lopez Contreras of the United States of Venezuela," he said, "x x x recently warned the Americans against a propaganda which he aptly described as the tool of a new intellectual imperialism x x x more dangerous than economic imperialism."
 "To meet the challenge of the totalitarian propaganda machine, he said the "barrier of language" must first be overcome.
 "Spanish, or its sister tongue, Portuguese, must become a second language in North America. It is my hope that English may become a second tongue for the republics of the south."
 "We must increasingly use the radio, the press and the cinema to promote a more effective interchange of the finest in the thought and action of both continents."

The most powerful Plainview Bulldog football team in history will take the field in Pampa tonight with the hopes of winning a first victory for a Plainview eleven from a Pampa Harvester team. And the hope points to just such a happening. Plainview is undefeated this season while the Harvesters have won one, tied one and lost three.

Coach Vernon Hilliard admits he has the greatest team he has coached since he took Kerrville to the state finals in which he lost to Amarillo. In M. Mason and Hoeffler he has two of the best backs in the district. Mason is the leading scorer in the conference and one of the best in the state. He has a rather small line but what it lacks in size it makes up in speed and power.

Both teams are expected to take to the air whether or not ground gains are stopped. It has been through the air that the Harvesters lost three games and saw one tied and it has also been through the air that Plainview has been scored on.

If Left Pendleton is unable to go, A. C. Enloe will take his place in the backfield which will cut down on power. Pendleton suffered a head wound last week and the stitches have not yet been removed.

The other injured Harvester is Ralph Burnett, guard, who will be replaced by John Anson, who has done some great relief work in past games. Burnett and Pendleton ran together and both suffered severe head wounds.

On next Saturday afternoon the Lubbock Westerners will be here for another conference tussle.

Big Six Door Ajar On Bowl Battles

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25 (AP)—The "unwelcome" mat has been placed outside the portals of the Big Six conference insofar as post-season football games are concerned, but the door was left slightly ajar.

Faculty representatives voted yesterday not to enter an agreement with any other conference to play bowl games. They reaffirmed the conference rule prohibiting such contests, but agreed any Big Six school may play a New Year's Day game with permission of the other members.

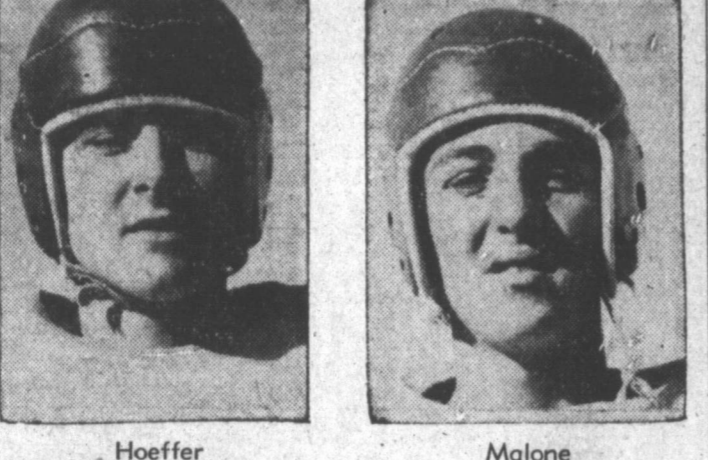

Action was taken in connection with suggestions made by Southwest conference representatives that the gridiron champions of the two circuits play annually in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Schools In 15 Counties Withdraw From League

BULLDOG BALL TOTERS

The boys who lug the leather for the Plainview Bulldogs, who will battle the Pampa Harvesters here tonight in the opening conference game of the season, are pictured above. Hoefler calls the signals and does a large share of the ball toting. Malone, left halfback, is another dangerous ball toter. Grisham, right halfback, does most of the blocking but takes his turn at the ball carrying job. M. Mason, fullback, is the big shot of the team. He lugs the ball, punts and does a major part of the receiving from Hoefler. Game time will be 8 o'clock.

NACOGDOCHES, Oct. 25 (AP)—A sizable revolt against the Texas Inter-school league's 30-game rule for basketball was developing in East Texas today.

Already 20 schools from 15 counties have withdrawn from the league and formed their own organization and it was reported at a meeting last night that over 30 more schools had sent word they would follow.

The schools had asked the state executive committee of the league to change the rule. The committee interpreted the rule to mean games played before the first engagement of county or elimination tournaments, leaving the door open to 20 games desiring to play more than 20 games to persuade the county or city executive committees to set the first round of the regular elimination tournament earlier.

This, however, did not solve the problem for the small schools where basketball was the only sport. R. H. Shelton, league athletic director of the district, said. The schools organized the Lone Star High School Basketball League with Kara L. Cooper, of Central Heights, Nacogdoches county, as director-general. Cushing, which won the state championship in 1936, was among the schools withdrawing from the league. At the meeting it was voted to extend an invitation to any school in the state to join the new organization. The schools can participate in other interschool league activities and will continue to do so, it was voted. Represented at the meeting were Nacogdoches, Rusk, Cherokee, Angelina, Panola, San Augustine, Shelby, Smith, Wood, Van Zandt, Henderson, Jasper, Newton and Tyler counties. The championship play-off was held at Stephen F. Austin college. More than 500 species of plants have been listed in Death Valley, Calif.

Ravens Play Buffaloes On Friday Night

CANYON, Oct. 25.—Wine one, lose one.

The West Texas State College Buffaloes are ambitious to destroy this pattern Friday night in the resumption of gridiron relations with St. Benedict's College of Atchison, Kansas.

The Buffs opened the season with a 20-0 win over McMurry College of Abilene but bowed to Arizona State of Tempe, the Border conference champs, 19 to 12. On the following week they walked Western State of Geary, Okla., 49 to 13. Fresno State of California proved a bit too tough and the plainsmen dropped a 15-6 thriller on the Coast. Last Saturday a big homecoming crowd saw the Buffs crush a stubborn Arizona State of Flagstaff eleven, 27 to 6.

The Ravens of St. Benedict's College beat West Texas State four consecutive years then dropped a couple a year's vacation from Texas, jaunts. Two years ago the Buffaloes, led by Flippin' Foster Watkins, their great passer, won a homecoming game in Atchison, 28-0. That is the game well remembered by Coach Don Elser and Marty Peters of St. Benedict's. Head Coach Jack Curtice, who made that trip as assistant coach under Athletic Director Al Baggett, expects a hard struggle but says the Buffs are a running game which has gained much ground in every game played this season, but it has faltered at crucial moments in tight games. At the moment, there are only about two dozen or so unbeaten outfits from coast to coast which can conceivably be placed in the "major" class. But unless there's an epidemic of the ball games on this week end prospect for this week's festivities is that the list of unbeaten teams runs a very good chance of shrinking like your "guaranteed all-wool" ten dollar suit. List Of Unbeaten Teams To Shrink

- NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—The pleasant prospect for this week's festivities is that the list of unbeaten teams runs a very good chance of shrinking like your "guaranteed all-wool" ten dollar suit. Barker Picks Michigan, Cornell, Irish, Stanford

By HERB BARKER

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Scrambling down the football guessing lane where stumbles are frequent:

Michigan-Penn: It ought to be Harmon vs. Reagan but possibly a guy named Doakes will steal the play. Both teams unbeaten, untied. Michigan seems to have waded through much the tougher opposition, and gets the nod. Reached out backhandedly against beaten in two close ones, has to win this one to salvage something. The incentive is there but that isn't enough, in this corner's opinion, and the ballot is cast for Cornell. Illinois-Notre Dame: How are you going to pick against the Irish? Notre Dame. Stanford-Southern California: Stanford is unbeaten and untied. Southern California is unbeaten but tied twice. Resorting to the coin-toss. Texas Aggies-Baylor: Injuries have hurt the Bears, but even if they hadn't this vote still would go to Texas A. and M. North Carolina-Tulane: This one ought to be close now that Tulane has found itself. On a stab in the dark... Tulane. Nebraska-Missouri: The probable payoff game in the Big Six. Paul Christman's still around, but the choice is Nebraska. Fordham-St. Mary's: Fordham. Harvard-Dartmouth: Out of the hat, Harvard. Columbia-Syracuse: Probably close but Columbia has the goods and rates this vote. New York University-Georgetown: Georgetown. Princeton-Rutgers: The coin falls, and says Rutgers. Yale-Navy: Navy to continue unbeaten, untied. Temple-Penn State: Tough. Army-LaFayette: Timidly, LaFayette. Northwestern-Indiana: De Corcoran's a doubtful starter but still. Louisiana State-Vanderbilt: L. S. U. North Carolina State-Mississippi State: Taking Mississippi State. Arkansas-Mississippi: Ditto, Mississippi. Wake Forest-Duke: Duke's not been overly impressive and Wake Forest is tough. Still, Duke. William and Mary-Virginia: Virginia. Rice-Texas: Stringing along with Texas. Iowa State-Oklahoma: Taking Oklahoma. Kansas State-Kansas: State rates the nod. Michigan State, U. C. L. A.-Oregon State: U. C. L. A. Washington State-Oregon: Taking State. Washington-California: Washington is the choice. Georgia-Kentucky: In a dizzy whirl, Kentucky. Also: Duquesne over Manhattan; West Virginia over George Washington; Denver over Utah; Colorado over Wyoming; Utah State over Idaho; Colorado State over New Mexico; Holy Cross over Brown; Texas Tech over Marquette; Davidson over Furman; Virginia Military over Richmond; Washington and Lee over Virginia Tech; Texas Christian over Tulsa; Amherst over Wesleyan; Detroit over Villanova.

Wolcott Will Stick It Out On Rice Bench

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
HOUSTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—No. 33 sits on the Rice bench each Saturday, dejectedly dangling a pair of the world's fastest legs.

Coach Jess Neely beckons substitutes, streams them into the game. . . . No. 33, watching the big clock tick off the minutes, still warns the hard wood plank. At game's end, he trudges back to the clubhouse, pondering fate's mysterious ways. No. 33 is Freddy Wolcott, whose flying feet made him the greatest hurdler in track history. The speed which tagged him "The Blond Blur" is wasted on the bench, it takes more than track trophies to make a football player. To Freddy's eternal credit, his spirit remains unquenched. "I'm staying out for practice if I never get into another game." Against weak Centenary, Wolcott was not used; against Louisiana State, he played just long enough to carry the ball twice. He made four yards on one try, fumbled the next. Four months ago Wolcott closed out his collegiate track career in his usual record burning style. He has been too valuable to place on the hazardous gridiron, but with his track eligibility worn out, turned to one of his first loves—football. He didn't have to play. For the sake of a single season's competition, he was risking injury. But Freddy, a star halfback in high school, wanted to slip his feet inside football gear and speed down the sidelines again. Coach Neely said he believed he'd find plenty of use for Wolcott. But Neely changed his mind. Wolcott wouldn't cut. He was an awkward ball handler; he lacked polish. Freddy wound up training at the tail end of the list of wingbacks. The crowd doesn't yell for Freddy any more. His name, which used to crowd the public prints, rarely gets into the papers. "I'm sticking it out, anyway." Matteson, who have been out of the line-up because of injuries, will be back in the starting line this week against McLean. Coach Smith is well pleased with the performance at Memphis and is in high hopes for the game with McLean this week. Mr. Smith's team won the district in Class B competition last year and is in no mood to lose hopes or interest for the same achievement this year.

Amarillo QB Stars As Central Beats Reapers

Football fans who saw Central of Amarillo win a thrill-packed 14-13 game from the Pampa Junior High Reapers here yesterday afternoon witnessed one of the best quarter-backing exhibitions seen on the local field. Sawyers, Central quarterback, mixed 'em up until he had the ball where he wanted it and then he pulled the Reaper defense one direction and then ran or passed in the other. The Reapers scored first when Charlie Boyles roamed nearly 20 yards, most of the way with a couple of Amarillo tacklers on his shoulders. The ball was placed in scoring position on a nice pass, Dunham to Robbins, good for 25 yards. Boyles failed to run the ball across for the point after touchdown. Central was given a set-up for their first touchdown on the kick-off at the half when a Reaper kicked the ball over the goal line, picked it up and then raced parallel with the goal line before starting down the field only to be nabbed on the five-yard line. The Reapers tried to run the ball out but fumbled and Central took over. The Reaper defense, however, held and the Reapers took the ball on their two-yard line. Boyles kicked out but the ball was returned to the Reapers 25 from where Sawyers passed to Irwin for the touchdown and Irwin rapped across for the extra point.

Passes Click Dunham went to passing in the fourth quarter and his last of five heaves connected to Robbins standing in the end zone for a 20-yard gain. Boyles powered over for the extra point. The Reapers appeared to have the game in the bag but Sawyers picked his magic out of the bag and went to work. First he used a spread formation and ran to his right. Then he used the same formation and hit the line for gain. He followed up by scooting around his weak side after pulling the Reaper defense off. Then he set up the stage for the touchdown by starting his sweep to the right and then stopping and flipping a pass to Redus good for 25 yards. Irwin again stopped for the extra point to win the game a half minute before the final gun. Charlie Boyles was the outstanding ground gainer for the Reapers but he wasn't used nearly enough.

Both Aggies And Texas U. Face Battles

DALLAS, Oct. 25 (AP)—Undefeated, untied Texas A. and M. and Texas tomorrow face underdog foes who would consider victory a full measure of Southwest conference triumph. To Waco go the Aggies to wrestle with Baylor, a team that has permitted only two Aggie triumphs in 20 years on Waco soil. To Houston goes Texas to duel, before a record 28,000 sellout throng, a surprising Rice Institute team that built its season around the Texas game. Two seasons ago, the same stadium that 21,000 will jam at Waco, a boyish giant rose from the substitute's bench, shouldered into the Aggie lineup and butted and battered his way to notice. He was John Kimbrough. Now All-America, the destructive force behind the Aggies' 15 straight victories and probably the most feared short gainer in football, the 222-pound crumpler comes back surrounded by a magnificent machine favored to crush the Baylor boys. Jim Thomason, the blocking back who suddenly "bloomed" as a ball carrier and pass receiver against TCU, adds to the Aggies' "terror" attack.

But tomorrow the Aggies face a team with fine ends and probably Every time he bowed his head he went places. Neef, who usually scores, was stopped behind the line of scrimmage every time but once and seldom was Berry able to gain on a spinner. It was Dunham's un-canny passing arm that kept the Reapers in the game but his receivers let him down on several occasions. Dunham, Robbins, McKinley and Curtis played strong defensive games for the Reapers. Sawyers and Irwin were the big shots in the Central offensive department with Reynolds, White and Burgett playing strong line games. Starting lineups: Amarillo—Redus and Hall, ends; Burgett and Fowler, tackles; Fulton and White, guards; Reynolds, quarter; Maser and Taylor, halves; Irwin, full. Pampa—Robbins and Bowerman, ends; Curtis and Miller, tackles; H. Boyles and McKinley, guards; Kerbow, center; Berry, quarter; Dunham and Neef, halves; C. Boyles, full. Sub—White, Sheehan, Manry, Martin, Kuehl, Paronto, Lovell, Lester, Taylor, Winburn, Auld, Hopkins.

LESENCOFF SAVES A LIFE

CHAPTER XVI

SURELY nothing serious could have happened to Nela. Probably she had gone for a walk in the woods to regain her self-control. So reasoned Braitwood, as he made anxious way along a narrow path that pierced the grove east of the house.

"Nella!" he called. "Nella!" When she did not reply his apprehension increased. He thought of the dream she had related to them the previous night, of the faint which had mercifully spared her from more of Murphy's questions, and of her undeniable neurotic inheritance.

Then he recalled that she loved the orchard and directed his steps there. The fruit trees, thickened and colored with promised abundance, held no hint of tragedy. Braitwood heard a crow whirr overhead and the distant murmur of the stream at the end of the estate.

"Nella!" He repeated the call. "Oh, Nella!"

Perhaps she had gone for a swim. Nothing like cold water to restore one to normalcy. He hurried toward the natural swimming pool at the southern boundary of the property. Screened by a growth of young birches and fed by the stream, the pool was visible from a small stone bridge which spanned a side road that joined the state highway. Suddenly Sidney's feet took startled root. Impossible to recognize the tall figure staring intently into the water.

Boris Lesencoff stood on the rail, arms extended for a dive. He had flung his coat on the bridge, but he was otherwise fully clothed. Immediately he became a streak in the air.

ONLY a few bubbles marked the spot where Lesencoff had gone under. In an instant a dark head appeared: a shoulder flashed white; a powerful arm struck out; the other arm appeared, holding Nella Langdon's limp form. The pool was not wide. A few strokes and the Russian made bank.

Sidney took the girl from him and laid her, face down, on the grass. "We must get the water out of her lungs," he said.

"She had hardly gone under when I caught her," Lesencoff told him. Kneeling beside the unconscious girl, he helped Braitwood administer first aid.

"What did you see?" Sidney asked, his hands moving rhythmically against Nella's sides.

The director shook the water out of his hair. "It is something I cannot understand. She walked deliberately into the water, gazing straight before her. When she got beyond her depth, she sank. It looked deliberate. Then I dived."

"She acted oddly last night, Lesencoff," Sidney explained. "She had had a terrible shock. Did you know that Adam Langdon had been murdered?"

Lesencoff inclined his head. "Such news travels quickly," he said. "The milkman brought it from the Langdon Knoll kitchen to George Wilkinson's door this morning. I'm staying with the Wilkinsons this week." He hesitated before adding, "Can it be possible she knows more about the murder than she has told?"

SIDNEY'S eyes warned him to be less personal. Nella exhibited signs of returning consciousness. A shudder passed through her slender form and a faint breathing had begun to trouble her lungs.

"I came over as soon as I had had breakfast," the director went on. "I hope I may be of service to Marta. She will need all her friends."

"There is little you can do except leave condolences for the family," Sidney replied. "Langdon surprised me when we arrived by announcing his marriage to Patricia Bridges. Did you know of that, too?"

"Married to Patricia Bridges? Impossible!" Lesencoff exclaimed. "I understood there was a wife, but naturally I supposed her to be Marta."

"Well—it was otherwise," Sidney said. "So?" Lesencoff took a moment to digest the news. "All was amiable, no doubt?" he questioned.

"All was decorous," Sidney answered. "For an instant the Russian did not speak. Finally, after a quick glance to see if the girl were sufficiently conscious to hear him, he said, "Had I been present, I might have shot Langdon myself. You didn't do it, did you, Braitwood?"

"No, although I almost wanted to," Sidney replied. "Doubtless you, yourself, have an alibi, Boris?"

"Ironclad, now that I consider," Lesencoff's glance had fastened on Nella's head. "The girl has a bruise behind her ear. It is not fresh. Did you notice it?" he asked.

Sidney examined a small, discolored spot, plainly visible through the damp, streaked hair. "I wonder how she got that?" he muttered.

Lesencoff shrugged sadly. "We have given her another chance at life—for what it may be worth," he said. "At her age happiness should still be possible. You must talk with her, Braitwood. You knew her father."

"I mean to," Sidney promised. "Shall we assume that she slipped and fell into the pool when we give an account of the 'accident'?" "Certainly she slipped. I saw her do it," Lesencoff agreed. "As for Marta, I shall see her publicity agent at once and give matters as favorable an interpretation as possible. Greatness is in her. This sorrow should broaden her art."

SIDNEY gazed thoughtfully at Lesencoff's broad shoulders and well-poised head. The director had expressed no regret for Adam's death. He had always hated Langdon and now he thought only in terms of Marta's suffering and the possible effect the tragedy might have on her future.

Yet, in spite of Marta's denial, Sidney knew that he loved her, and that she had had to make a choice between him and Adam Langdon. He insisted that he had an ironclad alibi. Braitwood hoped he was right.

They carried Nella back to the house and sent for a local doctor. Though she seemed conscious she did not speak, nor could she be induced to do so.

"That blow on her head may be responsible," the doctor told them. "Time will determine if it is. But the trouble may be a psychosis, due to shock."

He suggested a nurse. Pat, however, decided that they had best share the nursing between them.

Though no word was spoken, all agreed that if Nella had anything to say when she became herself again it might be better for the family to learn of it first.

Vitamin D, Calcium May Delay Healing Of Broken Bones

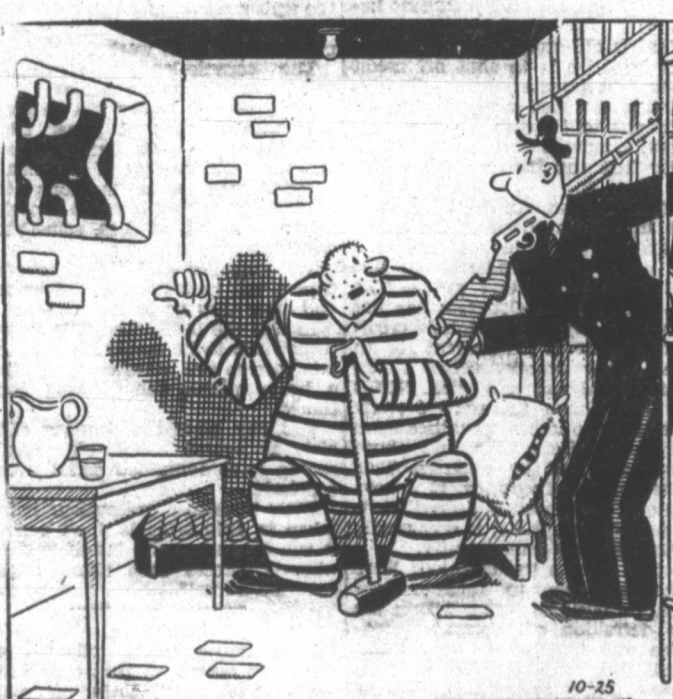

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Evidence that the healing of broken bones is delayed by the practice of a popular belief in the supposed aid of vitamin D and calcium, was presented to the American College of Surgeons today.

Dr. Edward L. Compere of Chicago said that because of this belief, a surgeon who treats broken bones without giving vitamin D and calcium is criticized for not keeping up-to-date.

He reported that experiments on animals, backed by human evidence, showed that too great an intake of vitamin and calcium may delay recovery. The animals' legs were broken, those on the ordinary diet mended fastest. Those with the deficiency of the vitamin and mineral healed faster than the rats receiving the popularly supposed aid of vitamin and calcium.

Dr. Compere said he has concluded that adults can do without the added vitamin and calcium. This, he added, does not apply to children with rickets.
