Information from official sources that would shed additional light on the altercation at the court house last week in which Leroy (Little Oscar) Eggleston, 34, was injured and removed to a hospital, was not forthcoming today. Although a complete history of the Eggleston case was available.

District Attorney Bud Martin said he did not know what happened in the incident, further than the meager information he had Saturday, when $10,000 bond was posted for Eggleston, who had been charged with armed robbery in Wheeler county. Eggleston's attending physician refused to describe the nature and extent of injuries of his patient, who was dismissed from the hospital yesterday.

Members of the 31st district court grand jury are to reconvene Monday, and a thorough investigation of the case has been promised by the district attorney. The injuries suffered by Eggleston follow a long series of events, in which Ft. Worth and Oklahoma City police and Wheeler county officers participated, as the officers trailed down two alleged hijackers, and made four arrests.

Hi-jackings, a armed robberies, pistol-whippings, face-slappings, liquor-running and the holding of a Pampa couple figure in incidents connected with the amazing story of Eggleston which has been reconstructed by local officers as follows: First in a series of episodes connected with the case was the alleged hijacking that occurred three miles west of Mobeetle on Highway 152 on January 3.

In this episode, according to testimony in an examining trial on January 27 in the court of A. C. Wood, Wheeler justice of the peace, it was brought out that an automobile containing five men attempted to stop a Stiamrock bound car, in which were riding Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Stanley of Pampa.

Stanley tried to outrun the alleged hijackers, one of whom was said to have opened fire with a revolver, firing five shots, two of which struck the left door of the automobile but failed to penetrate the metal.

The hijackers were said to have finally stopped the car, and Eggleston was identified by witnesses as one of the robbers who struck Stanley three times on the head and face with a pistol.

It was alleged that $90 in cash was taken. After the robbery the hijackers taped the eyes of their victims, drove the Pampans' car to a side road, let air out of the tires, and left the couple there.

Stanley at the trial in Wheeler testified that Eggleston had told him "it's a good thing for you that your wife's with you."

Later in Oklahoma City, Stanley identified J. D. and Lester Rosch, brothers, and Ed Mitchell as three of the men who were in the car that stopped him near Mobeetle.

Hijacking in Oklahoma City A week after the Wheeler robbery, a $1300 hijacking in Oklahoma City's north side was reported and police rounded up a dozen suspects. Of them, J. D. Roach was held in the Oklahoma county jail on a morals charge, of which he was convicted and sentenced last week, according to the district attorney here.

Eddie Mitchell, step-father of J. D. Roach, was released to Texas authorities to face charges in the hijacking in this state. In the Oklahoma City hijacking, See MARTIN, Page 6

Underpass Contract Expected To Be Let Within Next Six Weeks

Frost Street Crossing To Be Detour

Briscoe Asks Closing After Construction

Contract is expected to be let within the next six weeks for the construction of the Cuyler street underpass, the city commission was informed yesterday at its regular meeting by a delegation of Santa Fe officials.

Spokesman for the group was T. A. Blair, chief engineer, Panhandle & Santa Fe railway. The others were J. B. Briscoe, superintendent; and J. B. Raymond, division engineer, all of Amarillo.

Blair said that with the exception of the specifications for the sprinklers that are to be put in to water grass on the slopes of the pass, all plans had been finished. The sprinkler details are to be delivered to the railroad engineers today, he said.

In presenting this information, Mr. Blair asked that the city commission consider a proposal that Frost street at its intersection with the railroad right-of-way be closed when the underpass is finished. He stated that construction plans called for the use of Frost as a detour during the building of the underpass.

Eliminate Safety Hazard

Reason for the proposal, he explained, was that it would be necessary to raise the Santa Fe tracks 4 feet and 9 inches at Cuyler and 3 feet at Frost; this raising would make Frost street impractical as a crossing, and that the Frost street crossing constituted a hazard.

He pointed out that at present the street was used primarily as a detour for trucks and automobiles and there was little traffic on it.

The city commission advised Mr. Blair that he submit his proposition in writing, detailing exactly what his company wished done, and why. Pending such development, the matters remains simply "filed for future reference."

Mr. Blair said he was not asking that the commission pass now an ordinance granting what was asked, but he wanted to call their attention to it at the present time rather than wait until after the underpass was constructed.

For the past two and one-half years Mr. Blair said he has been conferring with the city commission of Pampa about the underpass. Actual construction, however, is not expected to start until 30 days after the contract is let.

Youths Try To Rob Police Car, Nabbed

DALLAS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Six boys were held here today after two of the youths tried to rob the glove compartment of a police car while a detective sat in the steering wheel.

Also, the car was parked in front of Detective Bob Reeves' home. A 17-year old boy was slightly wounded when Detective Jim Bohart reported firing three shots at the gas tank of a waiting automobile.

The automobile had stopped near the police car and two youths jumped out and ran back. As Bohart crouched under the steering wheel one of the boys opened the door on the driver's side and reached across the wheel. The detective grabbed at his arm but the youth jerked free and ran.

Bohart said he shot at the gas tank of the waiting automobile, then darted on foot in pursuit of the two running youths, catching one.

When he returned all the other youngsters had disappeared but questioning of the captured youths revealed their identities and they were rounded up.

Purposes Of Essay Contest Outlined

Encouragement among the youth of the country of a more thorough study and appreciation of the traditional ideals of Americanism is the purpose of the essay contest for high school students, conducted by the auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mrs. Bertha Chisum is the local chairman for the contest and Miss Margaret Jones, head of the English department of Pampa High School, is to receive the 500-1,000 word essays written by local high school students, February 22, Washington's birthday anniversary, is the deadline for submitting entries.

Originated in 1935 by the V. F. W. auxiliary, the contest has developed into one of the organization's major Americanism activities. It also has become one of the most popular high school contests in the country, more than 100,000 boys and girls in every state, and in Hawaii, participating in the 1940 contest. Under the auspices of approximately 2,000 local units of the auxiliary, the contest is conducted first in the local high schools. Local winners participate in the state finals, and all state winners are considered in the national competition in which $2,000 in cash is awarded.

State winners will be announced not later than April 27 and the national winners will be announced at the 1941 annual encampment of the V. F. W. and its auxiliary next August.

Vandenberg put in the record of the committee an excerpt from an article written by Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist, which said: "Our all-out aid to Britain is accompanied by definite commitments of Britain to us, regarding the British fleet. It presupposes a community of interests." "That is interesting, if true," Vandenberg said, "and I think the committee should have some information on it from official sources." Valentine testified at a hearing of the senate foreign relations committee shortly before the house opened its second day of debate on the measure in an atmosphere charged with the tension created by

Buford Reed's Sentence To Prison Upheld

The court of criminal appeals at Austin today affirmed the case of Buford Reed, from Gray. This means that the state upholds the judgment entered in 31st district court in the January term of 1939 here, when a verdict of guilty was returned by the jury and Reed assessed a two-year sentence.

Reed has been charged with fraudulent taking of county funds. There were two indictments made on November 3, 1938, but one of these was later dismissed. It had been alleged that Reed, a deputy sheriff, misappropriated fees from the state for two cases, one on July 15, 1938, for $24.84, the other on September 1 of the same year, for $2.

Reed had been a deputy sheriff in this county from 1934 to 1938. In the case here, John Sturgeon and Newton Willis represented the defendant, while District Attorney Clifford Braly represented the state. Reed had been released under bond, pending the hearing of the case by the state court. A 79-page transcript and statement of facts was sent from Pampa on September 29, 1939, but it was not until this year that the case was reached on the state court's calendar.

ASCAP Faces Federal Charges

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 5 (AP)—The federal government today formally charged the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, 19 corporations and 26 individuals with violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The charges were contained in a bill of criminal information filed in the United States district court. Federal Judge F. Ryan Duffy set the defendants' arraignment for 2 p. m. March 5.

Victor O. Waters, special assistant to the attorney general, said the information contained numerous specific charges, including: Conspiracy to pool and control illegally the desirable copyrighted music available for commercial use and public enjoyment, for the purpose of eliminating competition and monopolizing the supply.

"Illegal discrimination against users of copyrighted music and authors and composers who are not members of ASCAP." The government also alleged conspiracy: To restrain author and composer members of ASCAP from exercising the rights afforded them by the copyright act; To restrict music from public performance by its licensees in order to exact additional performance compensation and recording fees not permitted by the copyright laws; To restrain composers in their right to bargain for the sale of their own music;

To engage in illegal price fixing; To require radio broadcasting stations to pay a percentage of the revenue derived from programs in which no music is played; To require all commercial users

ENGINEER OF DIESEL LOCOMOTIVE

HERE TONIGHT

Shades of Casey Jones... the engineer's cab on the new Diesel freight locomotive looks like a big executive's office.

The Santa Fe railway is the first railroad in the world to use Diesel locomotives in mainline freight service and the first one to be placed on a cross-country run will stop in Pampa Thursday afternoon at 2:55 o'clock, according to word received here today from L. J. Caswell of Amarillo, public relations director for the Santa Fe.

The giant diesel, hauling a full string of loaded freight cars, will stay here about 10 minutes. Supt. L. L. Some of the Pampa schools stated today that high school students would be dismissed in time to see the giant locomotive. Camera fans are expected to be on hand in large numbers to get pictures of the new method of transportation.

The locomotive is streamlined much like the Santa Fe's Diesel passenger locomotives, excepting the nose is more blunt. It sounds like thunder as it rolls along the tracks, and the pickup in speed is almost unbelievable.

The new freight locomotives are rated at 540 horsepower. However, they have a tractive effort rating of 220,000 pounds at starting and have demonstrated a new standard of tonnage moving ability. They have a rated top speed of 75 miles an hour. With the ability to get long heavy freight trains up to top permissible speed quickly, plus the inherent Diesel advantages of no locomotive changes, few stops for fuel and water and ability to take curves safely at higher speed due to their lower center of gravity and stability, the new locomotives have shown that they can move freight either long or short distances faster and with less damage to lading, track, and equipment.

The locomotive is 193 feet long from coupler to coupler. It is designed with control cabs high in the streamlined nose of each end, eliminating the necessity of turning. The new development in housing of the locomotive cars, obviously, a car 193 feet long would be impossible, because of the necessity of going around curves. The new locomotive is so designed as to have unusual advantages in curve rounding. It is divided into four sections, about the length of the ordinary freight car. It might be said that the locomotive is hinged at three points. Thus it

CITY EMPLOYS NEW TECHNICIAN; SALARY RAISED

Employment of Miss Pauline Tilford, city technician at a salary of $125 a month was confirmed by the city commission at its meeting yesterday.

Miss Tilford will succeed Miss Grace Dwyer in the office of Dr. N. L. Nicholl, assistant city health officer, on February 15. Miss Dwyer is resigning her place as she is to be married here on February 17 to Joseph Stephen Thompson of Leavenworth, Kas. The couple will make their home in Kansas City.

As successor to Miss Dwyer, Miss Tilford will receive $125 a month, or $25 a month more than was paid Miss Dwyer, who was employed last August when the position was first established.

The reason for this is that Miss Tilford, in the city commission's opinion, was the best qualified of several applicants for the job, and would not consider leaving her present position with the local hospital for less.

Duties of the job include running blood tests for the venereal disease clinic with assignment to night work when the clinic is open on Tuesday and Thursday nights each week; running tests on samples of milk; making tests of blood in the issuance of certificates for health certificates for food handlers; assisting Dr. Nicholl in making tests of water and milk samples.

The local health department has supervision over the food handlers ordinance, affecting 1,250 persons in Pampa, who semi-annually are given blood tests.

Another function of the local office is the testing of milk samples

RAF Slashes At Six Ports, Say British

Daylight Raids Attempted By British Pilots

BERLIN, Feb. 5 (AP)—Authorized spokesmen announced today that 14 British bombers were shot down over the English channel today in the shattering of an attempted large scale daylight attack on German objectives.

These sources said the assault was broken up before the British planes were able to reach their objectives. German planes were reported to have attacked a convoy in the English channel off Ramsgate and to have sunk a 3,000-ton ship with a direct hit. Another ship, of between 6,000 and 8,000 tons, was extensively damaged, the report said.

British sources said three German bombers were shot down in a fight over the channel. German pilots returning from last night's attack on the Midlands said they bombed a munitions works, and declared they met neither anti-aircraft fire nor interference from searchlights. Many barrage balloons were over the plant, they said.

(By The Associated Press) Waves of RAF bombers pounded the industrial city of Dusseldorf, western Germany, and slashed at six Nazi-held "invasion ports" along the channel coast, the London air ministry said today, in overnight raids marking the heaviest British aerial offensive in two weeks.

Then, in broad daylight, a strong force of RAF bombers, protected by fighting planes roared back across the channel to renew the assault. Observers on the Kent coast saw the planes soaring high over the Strait of Dover headed for Calais, while other fighters patrolled the coast on the lookout for Nazi counter-attack raiders.

Many fires were reported set in the night forays. A short time later, black smoke was seen rising near the harbor of Calais.

Three German bombers were reported shot down in the sea after a 20-minute fight with ships of a convoy off the Kent coast, and a fourth Nazi raider crashed near Schill, County Cork, of neutral Ireland. The Dublin government announced five members of the crew were killed and a sixth was badly injured.

Splashing their bombs on main ports along more than 450 miles of Nazi-held coastline, the RAF struck at Dunkerque, Dieppe, Ostend, Cherbourg, Brest and Bordeaux, the air ministry announced.

The British said "many" waves of planes engaged in the attacks. Hitler's high command listed five Germans killed, 24 wounded and an unspecified number of apartment houses destroyed by bombs and fire in the center of Dusseldorf.

"Damage was slight. War vital objectives nowhere were hit," the Nazi high command asserted. London quarters described the widespread British thrust into Germany and increased Nazi activity over Britain as "beginning a new offensive period on both sides." An official British announcement said two more German bombers were shot down last night and today, with one "crashing in flames and the crew killed"—making a total of 32 Nazi raiders destroyed so far this year. Against this toll, the British acknowledged the loss of only one RAF plane in fighting over Britain since Jan. 1.

In the war at sea, the Germans reported that 60,000 tons of British shipping were sunk by Nazi U-boats, bombers and a warship "operating overseas." The warship alone reported a bag of 40,000 tons, bringing its total to 110,000 tons over an un-

MODERN MENUS

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX Valentine's day calls for a party. Nevertheless, the principle of wise buying, as a part of our national defense program, must not be forgotten. Your bridge luncheon or supper party for Valentine's with pleasure and novelty in mind, but follow the rule of "good nutrition for minimum cost." For a buffet-supper after a dance, eat a fairly substantial spread. Pink is the prevailing color, but don't overdo it. SUPPER MENU Celery stuffed with pimento cheese, creamed oysters with green peas in party shells or toasted bread cases, fresh-shelled marmalade Bavarian, coffee. Oysters are in season now. Today they are shipped all over the country, but to jump on guests and eat fresh and wholesome. To serve 12 guests, buy three-pints of oysters. CREAMED OYSTERS (Serves 12) Twelve tablespoons butter, 12 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 teaspoons paprika, 1 quart rich milk, 3 pints shell oysters, 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Melt butter in large sauce pan. Stir in flour and seasoning. Blend thoroughly and cook over boiling water for 5 minutes. Then stir in milk, a little at a time, stirring carefully to keep smooth. Place over direct but low heat. When mixture begins to thicken and comes to boil, add oysters. Cook slowly until edges of oysters begin to curl. Stir in lemon juice and serve at once in warmed party shells or in cases made of bread slowly toasted in the oven. Serve green peas as garnish. HEART-SHAPED MARMALADE BAVARIAN (Serves 12) Two packages orange-flavored gelatin, 3 1/2 cups hot water, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup heavy cream, 2-3 cup orange marmalade. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add salt. Chill until cold and syrupy. Fold in cream, whipped only until thick and shiny, but not stiff. Fold in marmalade. Chill until slightly thickened. Turn into heart-shaped mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with whipped cream mounds dotted with marmalade.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below: 1. Should a dog be allowed in the dining room while a meal is being served? 2. Should a dog be permitted to jump up on guests? 3. If you know a friend dislikes dogs, should you keep the cat out of the living room when the friend stops by to see you? 4. Should a guest feed a dog candy without first asking his host if it is all right? 5. Should a woman without children tell persons with children that she is just as fond of her dog as anyone could possibly be of a child? What would you do if— (a) You go into a house where there is a dog whose master says "down" when he jumps on you— (b) Let his master decide what the dog should and shouldn't do? Answers 1. No. 2. No. 3. Yes. 4. No. For the host may not want the dog to have even a small piece of candy. 5. No! Best "What would you do" solution: (a) For your host has probably worked hard to train the dog not to jump on guests and you will help undo his training.

By ALICIA HART If you stick to spring's old standby, navy blue, you can stick to your favorite clear red makeup also, resolute to apply it artistically and sparingly. If, however, you decide to try beige or any of the light, widely-touted putty shades, solving the makeup problem isn't going to be so simple. Beige has a tendency to "wash you out." With it you'll need powder with deeper, rosier lights in it and lipstick that is either bright, clear red or rusty, brownish red. You'll have to remember to apply fresh powder, rouge and lipstick often. In navy blue you may be able to get by with slightly faded looking for an hour or two. Beige is becoming only when the face is freshly made up. DRAMATIZE THE CREAMY CURLS Almost all of the new greens make the skin appear to be more yellow than it actually is. Here again, foundation and powder in rosy tones are indicated. Don't, for any reason, be persuaded to wear white foundation film and whitening powder with a green dress. One of the chief charms of purple as a costume color lies in the fact that it makes the skin above it seem whiter. If your spring suit is going to be purple, dramatize its charm—and your own—by wearing foundation film and powder which are one shade lighter than your natural skin tones. AN ALL-BLACK DRESS IS AGING CONTRARY to popular misconception, gray is not a difficult color to wear. Generally speaking, it's becoming to any woman, providing she keeps her face and neck meticulously clean and wears a moderate amount of clear red rouge and lipstick. On the other hand, although it's always in style, black is inclined to be a difficult color. A black dress, on the average woman, is more becoming when it has a white or bright colored collar or something light next to her face. As a rule, an all-black dress is aging. If you are more than twenty-four, better remember this: Unlike the tomato, the cucumber is one of the oldest known vegetables. It is said that it probably originated in India. The African secretary bird gets its name from the curious crest it wears, resembling a secretary with quills behind his ears. Sten is the name of the town that claims the distinction of being in the exact center of the state of North Carolina.

Speakers From Higgins And Perryton Deliver Addresses

For the first time since the contest started, a boy appeared on the Top O' Texas Americanism program of Commerce's regular weekly luncheon at noon Tuesday at the Schmeider hotel.

He was Billy Herndon, Perryton high school student. Another speaker heard yesterday was Higgins' entry, Miss Betty Ann Newcomer.

The speeches are a continuation of the contest which opened January 21 when the Jaycees heard the initial entry, Miss Joanna Q. Whigham of Panhandle.

At their next luncheon the speakers were Miss "Maurice" Dunn of Mobeetie and Miss Margaret Nix of Canadian.

There are 25 schools participating in the regional oratorical contest, with representatives of the high schools delivering their speeches on four selected Americanism topics before the Pampa Jaycees. The speeches are broadcast over the Pampa radio station, KPDM.

Four prizes of $25, $15, $10, and $5, respectively will be awarded the best four speakers.

"Why I Like the American Way" was the subject of young Herndon's speech, which follows:

"This American way of ours has, for some time baffled the people of Europe. They just cannot seem to understand it. For instance, our school system, which is supposedly supposed to use our teaching and train ourselves.

Nation Of Youth

"America is a young nation with young ideas and we are the young people, who with the background of our parents and elders, will work with all of our might to carry on these ideas of which only Americans might think.

"Our democracy allows us to do just about as we please, but for our nation to be at its best, we are to give up some of these privileges. For instance, if everybody drove as he pleased, our highways of today would be in great turmoil, but as it is, with everyone giving up one or two of these privileges, such as driving on the left side of the road, our highways are comparatively safe.

"Abraham Lincoln is thought of as a great American, not because he was born in a log cabin, the larger majority of people were born under such conditions in that day, but Abraham Lincoln is thought of as a great American because he arose above the poverty and ignorance that is usually connected with life in a log cabin. All Americans have the privilege to rise above the circumstances into which they were born.

All Equal

"Here we can look anybody in the eye and have a feeling of equality, even though that person be a beggar or a millionaire. When a problem is presented, it is spoken of as our problem; if the nation presents it, all of the people of the nation take it as theirs, and so on down through our states, cities, small towns, and communities. This is proven easily by the way the Red Cross, community chests, infantile paralysis and other drives are handled. Even though we may not be directly responsible, we can, thanks to our freedom speech, create public opinion, which is very powerful in America.

"It is always characteristic of Americans to be introducing new ideas. The radical or conservative group, which is important in any up-right government, either tears them down or builds them up into one of our great American ways.

Opposition Important

"In America, opposition is just about as important as the winning party and often even more so. Opposition brings out the weak points which might be corrected. If the Republican group in America, who lost in the recent presidential election do not take their defeat on the chin," so to speak and do as the majority chooses, our state of affairs would be in great chaos.

Mr. Willie has already pledged his support to the Roosevelt administration, but stated that he would try to gain the favor of the people in the next election.

"When we become satisfied with everything and admit that the American dream has come true, we are surely to fall. The Romans reached their Golden Age and then dropped back to barbarism.

"The real American dream can never come true, for the American people can always think of something which can be bettered in some way. America's is the whole majestic past, and America's is the shining future.

"When writing the constitution, Thomas Jefferson thought that he should have a new one every generation. He did not want the living to be ruled by the dead, and so it is with our American way. By amending the constitution, our government takes care of the changing periods.

Wilson Quoted

"Woodrow Wilson, 'hit the nail on the head' if you will pardon the expression, when he said, 'To such a talk we dedicate our lives, our fortunes, everything that we are and everything that we have with the pride of those who know that the day has come when America is privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles and the peace which she has treasured. God helping her, she can do no other'.

"These statements go to make up my reasons for liking this great American way of which you and I and all Americans are a part, and may it so be that God may never see fit to change it."

The battle of Big Horn, in which General Custer and his men were massacred, occurred on June 25, 1876.

SIDE GLANCES

"But why do we have to travel hundreds of miles for this as a vacation spot? There's a better ventilated bar at home!"

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—A turn toward higher prices today interrupted the decline which had carried the stock market near last summer's low.

Leading stocks, motors, aircraft, ropes, rails and miscellaneous industrials rallied fractions to more than 2 points in more active dealings. The turnover approximated 500,000 shares.

The reversal appeared to grow mainly out of short-covering and buying by traders on the assumption the decline had been far enough to warrant at least a technical comeback. Brokers noted selling had diminished in volume the last few days, paving the way for the turn to the upside.

 CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Wheat prices advanced almost a cent a bushel today, the best returns for any session in recent weeks.
 The market was strengthened by a flour activity and decreased country cash wheat sales.
 Wheat closed 3/4 cent higher than yesterday, May 82 1/2, July 76 1/2, Sept. 77 1/2.
 Wheat, which was advanced, reflected purchasing credited to mills and "shorts" who had sold the contract recently in view of its sharp premium over deferred deliveries.

Leahy Admits He Has Tough Row To Hoe

Leahy welcomes his new five-year opportunity to keep his Boston College Eagles up with the nation's "big league" eleven, but he is the first to admit that he has a tough row to hoe.

Leahy is a worrier from way back and he has justifiable cause in this instance because he loses 16 seniors. It virtually first strips from the team he guided through a 10-game undefeated schedule and a Sugar Bowl triumph over Tennessee.

Even so, he isn't easing up under the comparative security of a new five-year contract at higher pay. Boston College officials gladly gave him that as they tore up his old agreement, which had another year to run.

"I doubt if I'll ever have a season like the last," he confessed, though. "That happens to a coach just once in a lifetime. I realize that and I'll always have the memory that the boys gave me that one."

Poems Published By Aged Wheeler County Surveyor Received Here

A copy of the revised version of "Hours Improved," poems written by J. D. Merriman, 70, Wheeler county surveyor, has been received in Pampa.

Mr. Merriman, subject of a sketch in Robert L. Ripley's "Believe it or Not," is county surveyor of Wheeler county, a position he has held for 20 years. Although he lost his sight two years ago, he still works at his position, aided by the men he has worked with through the years.

He is the father of Mrs. J. M. Turner and of Mrs. Herman Van Sickle, both of Pampa. Other daughters are Mrs. Robert Crisp, Mcintosh, N. M., and Miss Florence Merriman, secretary of the Wheeler County Selective Service board.

Plays Violin

Mr. Merriman is a violinist as well as poet, and has played over Pampa radio station KPDM. He has resided in the Panhandle for 35 years.

He is a radio fan, still uses the typewriter, and is learning the Braille system of reading.

For 40 years he was a teacher. He taught school in Indiana, in Dallas county, and at several places in Wheeler.

J. D. Merriman, Jr., a son, was a former business manager of The Pampa News. He is now located in Silver City, N. M. John, another son, is editor of a newspaper at Kermit, Wayne land Merriman, now of Lubbock, is a civil engineer, and has worked on the new high school building in Pampa.

First Published In 1891

First edition of the poet-surveyor's work was copyrighted in 1891. The revised edition, dated 1940, was published by the Southwest press, Dallas.

Mr. Merriman graduated in 1888 from Taylor university in Ft. Wayne, Ind., and the preface of his book of poems reads:

"These poems are respectfully dedicated to my classmates of 1888 and my friends everywhere.

There are 136 pages in the volume.

The poems cover a wide range of topics, such as "Life," "Time," "Spring," "Fame," "True," and "Death." There are others on western themes: "The Indian," "The Plaine," "The Young Cowboy," and "The Dust Storm," among others.

Nature provides the theme of several, among them, "Summer,"

100 Trucks To Move Division To Abilene

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 5 (P)—Fort Sam Houston will provide approximately 100 army trucks to help move the 45th division from Fort Sill, Okla., to the new camp being built at Abilene, it was learned today. The division will be moved during the first part of March.

Major Gen. Walter Krueger, commander of the eighth army corps headquarters, Fort Sam Houston, has issued warning orders to Major Gen. W. S. Key, commander of the 45th division, to move his division within ten days after Feb. 28.

Half of the service troops of the division, made up of national guard troops from Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Arizona will go to Abilene about Feb. 24. The first general exodus from Fort Sill will involve about 7,800 officers and men. The second group will move out March 3 with the rest of the unit leaving Fort Sill by March 5.

Besides the 100 trucks to be provided by Fort Sam Houston units, all the trucks and rolling equipment of the 30th division, now at Camp Bowie, Brownwood, will be pressed into service, army corps headquarters said.

The work done by the human heart in one day is equal to lifting 124 tons a foot high.

Nebraska was styled "The Tree Planters' State" by legislative act on April 4, 1895.

Hens can be made to lay eggs with red, white or green yolks.

Nine Burn To Death In New Haven Flames

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 5 (P)—Fire sweeping with unexpected swiftness through a room filled with cotton bales burned to death at least nine employees of the New Haven Quilt and Pad company today.

A fireman on duty at the time said a fifth man was unaccounted for and probably dead.

Three youths were injured, none critically, jumping from a window. The victims were burned beyond recognition, but company officials compiled a death list and tentative identification from those known to be missing. Several had been working for the firm only a few months.

The fire, on the third floor of the three-story building, was confined to a single department producing fluffed cotton for filling combed for the room for their coats and that others, not realizing how fast the fire would spread through the cotton bales, tried to put it out, or retreated to a rear wall while employees from other departments fought the blaze with hand extinguishers.

Firemen said the victims probably became unconscious from smoke before the fire reached them. An extinguisher was found near one of the bodies.

One of those who escaped, Eli Rabinowitz, said he thought he was trapped.

"I was trying to put out the fire and when it got so bad I went out the front door," he said. "Some of them (fellow employees) were screaming in the back. The fire had covered the whole room, and as I got to the door, the whole door was covered. I didn't know how I could get out." Henry Tagliatale (another employee) was at the door with a hose, and he soaked me."

It would have been possible for all to get out immediately after the blaze started, he said. He believed some of the victims had returned to the room for their coats and that others, not realizing how fast the fire would spread through the cotton bales, tried to put it out, or retreated to a rear wall while employees from other departments fought the blaze with hand extinguishers.

WHEELER

A clash of opinion between President Roosevelt and Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), a leading opponent of the bill.

Wheeler had asserted that as a result of the administration's British aid program the United States army did not have a single modern combat plane. The President replied that use of official and unofficial figures to prove many things must give comfort to the head of the German government and Wheeler came back with an offer to match his patriotism with that of any of the President's advisers.

The witness, who got part of his education as a Rhodes scholar in England, said the legislation defined defense materials so broadly that they include everything that floats or flies or could be used to injure an enemy or anything that could contribute to the manufacture of any of these.

Declaring that he was not an isolationist or an appeaser, the 39-year-old university head said he wanted forces opposing Germany to win the war.

But, he said, "strong as we are, stronger as we will become, we are not and will not be strong enough to determine the future history of every nation in the world, and we have no moral mandate to do so if we could."

He said supporters of the bill "have done their utmost, by every form of propaganda, to convince you and the American people that, at whatever cost to America, Britain must be aided to whatever extent is necessary to insure British victory."

"No matter what many of these 'aid shorts' supporters of this bill may say, we know that they would have us go to war."

House sponsors of the measure made it plain that they would not yield an inch on essentials, but privately they discussed the possibility of compromises on the top coat of the program and on the bill's time limit—two points of objection.

The big sensation of the moment however, was Mr. Roosevelt's oblique charge that Senator Wheeler, adamant foe of the lend-lease bill, was a source of satisfaction to the chancellor of the German reich, Adolf Hitler.

The President spoke out late yesterday after Wheeler made the charge that there was not a single modern combat warplane in the army, because the administration had stripped the air force to supply aid to Britain. The Montanan cited what he said was "absolutely reliable" figures on the number of planes sent abroad.

Comment on these assertions was asked from Mr. Roosevelt at his press conference. He replied: "You can work out all sorts of things with figures, official and unofficial, and that must be satisfactory to the head of the German reich."

Mr. Roosevelt let it go at that, without naming Wheeler. Neither did he mention Wheeler by name.

Retorted Wheeler: "In a democracy the people are supposed to be given the facts x x x I am perfectly willing to compare my patriotism with that of his (the President's) closest advisers. I have no interest financially, or otherwise, in Germany or England."

This was the second time Wheeler has referred critically to financial interests abroad, but he did not elaborate on what he meant.

Senator Johnson (R-Calif.), like Wheeler a bitter opponent of the lend-lease bill, called Mr. Roosevelt's statement "an outrage."

The house today meanwhile reached the third and final day of its general debate on the bill which has generated so much heated contention. Prospects were that a session would run well into the night, for the anti-lease forces had 35 members anxious to speak against the bill, and supporters of the measure could be counted on to reply round for round.

GERMANS

announced period of attacks upon Britain's vital life-lines of supply.

Fire bombs fell in London during the night and German bombers were reported over eastern England and the Midlands, but the official morning communiqué declared casualties reported from all areas were "not large."

In the African war theater, the British reported their troops were closing in to speed showdown fights for Italy's colonial capitals of Bengasi, Libya, and Asmara, Eritrea.

Premier Mussolini's high command asserted, however, that Fascist legions counter-attacking on the north front in East Africa had thrown back the British with losses.

The Italian war bulletin acknowledged that "on the southern front, Oudubut (native) detachments withdrew from advanced posts near the frontier east of Lake Stefania after bloody fighting."

Cairo dispatches said the British had reached the outskirts of Cheren, 120 miles inside Eritrea, in their drive eastward to the Red sea.

Cheren is only 40 miles from Asmara, Eritrean capital, on the road to Massawa. Red sea port which a British military source in London predicted would be captured within a week. The Union Jack now has moved to the modern highway connecting Cheren with Asmara and points east.

In the Barents sector, the Italians were said to be fighting a fierce rear-guard action and hampering the British advance.

Even so, British dispatches said hundreds of Italians had been captured and quantities of armament taken in southern Eritrea.

Other British units invading western Ethiopia were reported 50 miles inside Haile Selassie's homeland, while South African troops were penetrating southern Ethiopia from British Kenya. The Italians were reported to have suffered hundreds of casualties at hands of the South Africans.

Far to the north in Libya, the British have pushed beyond the biblical city of Irbid to a point 100 miles from the main Italian defense area of Bengasi. By taking Cirene, the British said they flanked the Italian Mediterranean port of Apollonia 10 miles to the north.

In the Greek-Italian war, the Greek high command reported the Greeks "occupied important enemy positions," but did not locate the area of operations. "Many prisoners" were captured, it said.

Admiral Jean Darlan, France's navy minister, who returned to Vichy from Paris yesterday with Pierre Laval's terms for coming back to Chief of State Petain's government, was expected to leave for Beirut again in a few days with Petain's reply.

Supported by the Germans, Laval is said to demand a complete cabinet change in Vichy, with himself as minister of the interior in charge of all information services, negotiations with Germany and possibly the police force.

Reports reaching Stockholm from German-occupied Norway asserted opposition to the Nazi regime of Norwegian Major Vidkun Quisling had resulted in street fighting in western Norway, with many persons injured and hundreds of arrests.

HARVESTERS COME FROM BEHIND TO WHIP BORGER 31-27

Reserves Win From Borger Seconds 22-7

Coach Catfish Smith's Borger Bulldogs got their ears whipped down in two games last night by Coach Mitchell's "glamor pants" Harvesters.

The reserves practically annihilated the Borger B team 22 to 7 in the opener, and the Pampa first string came from behind to beat the Bulldogs 31 to 27.

In the reserves game Russell, leading scorer on the Borger squad, was held to one free shot, and as a consequence he lost a bet to a Borger teammate that he would score at least 10 points. The Pampa reserves are undefeated.

The second game was close from beginning to end. Borger led 7 to 4 at the second quarter, and the score was tied 11 to 11 at the half. The Bulldogs were ahead again 22-20 at the end of the third, but the Harvesters rallied early in the fourth and near the latter part of the game had piled up a six-point lead.

Coach Mitchell started Terrell and Heiskell at forwards; Flanigan, center; Mounis and Otts, guards. It was necessary for the Pampans to call five times-out, due largely to Flanigan's debilitated condition. He has had the flu three times this winter, and had another attack over the week-end. In the fourth period, Mitchell sent in Enloe, forward, Halter and Dewey, guards, and they put the game on ice.

Halter dribbled right through the front line of the Borger defense and sank two baskets in the last quarter and Enloe stole the ball and tallied a field goal and a free shot.

However, Grover Lee Heiskell, who has been slowed down by a bad knee that is sore all the time, stole the scoring show. He made five field goals, and one free shot, besides leading the Harvesters in the offensive. Terrell looped three field goals and five free shots. Flanigan held Trotter, the Borger star, to one field goal, but he himself failed to score but one basket. Mounis and Otts played brilliantly defensively.

The count was tied six times, and pandemonium reigned in the packed Borger gym. A big delegation from Pampa attended.

The Bulldogs opened the scoring, quickly piling up a five-point lead in the first few minutes. It was a basket for Borger and one for Pampa until the beginning of the fourth when the Bulldogs began to crack under the strain and they let Halter and Enloe get by them for shots. Briggs, forward, started for Borger, both defensively and offensively.

J. C. Knowles of Borger, who won popularity at Canadian for his officiating in the tournament there last week-end, called the game, and the way this reporter—conceding that Mr. Knowles had a job on his hands last night due to the considerable roughing tactics—saw it, Mr. Knowles called a good game last night at Borger—same as he did at Canadian when Pampa lost. That last phrase is added to eliminate prejudice. This reporter is convinced that Mr. Knowles means to be fair and is fair, but no official can see every infraction of the rules when Pampa and Borger play.

There was some booing of decisions by Borgans and Pampans, and the Pampans surely realized this morning that it was absurd and childish of them to boo because is was obvious Mr. Knowles is a man of integrity and honor and would not purposely favor either side. Besides Borgans might get the wrong impression of Pampa fans who do not boo in the local gym. Once in a while somebody starts booing and when they do, Supp. Some walks out on the floor and makes a little speech and you don't hear any more booing the rest of that year, and that's a good way to teach sportsmanship: yell for your team, but not against the referee or the other team.

Borger is tied for the leadership of the Big Five with Amarillo whose Sandies the Harvesters will play Friday night in Amarillo. The Harvesters can win two games from the

Anyone near the high school gymnasium Tuesday morning around 11 o'clock probably thought the roof of the building was being torn off, and it probably sounded as if just that was happening. Instead, the loud commotion was being caused by 750 junior high school students who were yelling and expressing themselves enthusiastically for their favorite intramural basketball team.

Room 70 defeated Room 79 by a 14 to 8 score in the top division, while Room 70 beat Room 71 in the girls division, 11 to 8.

The occasion was the playing of the final games in the boys and girls intramural basketball tournament. Both games were closely contested and thrilling to watch.

In the boys game, Room 79, with student coach Harvey Hutton and Frank Friauf, all-tournament center, setting the pace, took a 6-0 lead at the quarter. Coach Billy Coy Sheehan's capers from Room 78 scored two field goals in the second quarter and the half ended 6-4. The coaches must have given their teams some "good talking to" at the half, because the boys came back the third quarter passing, shooting, and really hustling the ball.

Rickey Flays Judge Landis' Draft Ruling

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals, who probably knows better than anybody else the animosity of Commissioner Keneaw M. Landis to chain store baseball, says the latest effort to restrict farm operations will have exactly the reverse effect.

Other National League magnates haven't made up their minds as definitely as the Redbirds' business manager, but they joined in a unanimous stand yesterday against a new rule that minor league players purchased while subject to the baseball draft cannot be returned to the minors.

Ford Frick, league president, said "There is a lot of merit in Landis' intention to see that every player brought into the majors gets a fair trial before he is returned to the minors, and in theory that rule is good. But we felt that in its practical application it invokes hardships on both clubs and players which the commissioner may not have fully considered. Its reaction would be felt especially in the minors."

A holdout seeking—say $10,000—becomes more violent when he reads about owners tossing 30 G's around like it was hay.

Johnnie Mize has reached the point where he is having St. Louis trouble. Johnny Mize demands that the Cardinals pay him $18,000, a 2,000 increase, for leading both majors in home runs with 43 and the National league in total bases with 368.

There are many grounds on which to object to the ruling," said Rickey. "But insofar as it is aimed at the farm systems, it will do more harm to the clubs operating independently than to clubs like the Cardinals which have extensive minor league connections.

"Clubs which depend on purchasing players will find it more difficult to lay hands immediately on men who will help them. Thus the rule makes the farm operation not only advantageous but necessary."

He said he too believed Landis "had failed to consider the full impact" of the rule and hoped the commissioner could be prevailed upon to modify it.

"It will destroy player values and the player market which have made possible the very existence of independent minor league clubs," he concluded, "and will retard the advancement of players because minor league clubs will be unwilling to sell their best players, if they can get no more than the draft price."

Unsettled Conditions Fail To Hold Down Number Of Holdouts

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

Uncertain as to what lies ahead, worried major league owners plead unsettled conditions in an effort to keep payrolls down, but that is not stopping the holdouts.

They counter with the argument that world conditions such as exist at present make for increased attendance up to a certain point.

Baseball is some sort of a release for the patrons. It suffered less than any other business during the peak of the depression and recession.

Johnnie Mize has reached the point where he is having St. Louis trouble. Johnny Mize demands that the Cardinals pay him $18,000, a 2,000 increase, for leading both majors in home runs with 43 and the National league in total bases with 368.

Arkansas Picked To Keep Perfect Record Intact

(By The Associated Press)

The Arkansas Razorbacks must lose two games for any other team to have an equal chance of beating them out for the Southwest conference basketball race.

The way the giants of the Ozarks are going, it would be as good as something of an upset if they lost even one.

So, as the Baylor Bears get ready to invade the home of the Razorbacks this week-end, most of the critics will be picking Arkansas to keep its unbeaten record intact.

However, Baylor is due to be tougher to handle than had been expected. Last night the Bruins handed Southern Methodist university its second defeat, 55-45. Now Baylor, S. M. U. and Rice each has lost two games.

S. M. U. had defeated Texas and Rice and had been considered the chief threat to Arkansas prior to last night.

It was a nip-and-tuck game until midway of the last period when Baylor forged ahead and never was seriously threatened the rest of the way.

Dwight Parks and Frank Bryski of Baylor led the scoring with 14 and 12 points respectively.

In addition to the Baylor-Arkansas series at Fayetteville Friday and Saturday nights, Texas plays Texas Christian at Austin Saturday night.

SERIAL STORY

CONSCRIPT'S WIFE

BY BETTY WALLACE

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Martha does not go into detail concerning her return to the office, spends most of the time talking to the conscripts...

BILL GOES WILD CHAPTER XVII A LIGHT burned in Mrs. Larkin's parlor. Martha, tired after the flight from New York, her head aching, gave it no thought as she started up the stairs to her room.

"Is that you, Mrs. Marshall?" called a voice from the kitchen. The door opened, and Mrs. Larkin, in a bathrobe, came into the hall. "I was just making some coffee. I was waiting for you. That's why I've got the parlor lamp on."

"Waiting for me?" Martha turned, and went down the stairs again. She was alone. She was alone. The woman's hair was tumbled, her eyes heavy with sleep. As if she had retired and been rudely awakened.

"Oh, Mrs. Marshall," Mrs. Larkin wailed. "Your husband was here! In his uniform. He rang and rang and rang—it must have been one hour or two ago—and he carried on something fierce when I opened the door. He insisted on going upstairs. I couldn't make it out. He wanted to see if your clothes were gone! She was running her hands. 'I never saw a man in such a state, Mrs. Marshall! He was fit to be tied!'"

"My husband? Are you sure?" The room seemed to be whirling dizzily. Martha put her hands up to her aching head, and sat down quickly on the sofa. "What did he say? What was the matter? I don't understand."

Mrs. Larkin asked sharply. "Where were you, anyway?" "In New York. I flew — the office."

"What's that?" cried the old woman. "That's what he said! I thought he was out of his head. He said you were in New York and he wanted to find out about your clothes!"

Martha sat bolt upright. "He knew I was in New York. That he must have gone to the office!"

SWIFT understanding washed over her. Bill had received her note. He knew she was in the office. And he'd come there. Someone there must have told him she trembled with rage at the idiosyncrasy of someone must have said, "Mrs. Marshall's in New York with Mr. Elliott."

Another thought nagged at the back of her mind. This was Tuesday. Never before had Bill secured a pass for overnight leave on a week day. "Maybe he came here to apologize, to beg me to go back..."

The realization of Bill's regret at their quarrel—the knowledge that he'd come all the way from camp to see her at the office, perhaps to beg her forgiveness, to make it up—smote her like a blow. "And I wasn't there! That morn at the switchboard told him I was in New York with Paul!"

"Yes," she heard Mrs. Larkin's voice speculating. "Yes, he must have been at the office in the daytime. Where was he till he came here? Do you reckon he was out among your friends—finding out if you were anywhere?"

"For a moment, Martha huddled there on the sofa, misery shaking her. Then she caught at the old woman's words. 'My friends?' asking them... Suzanne! There's where Bill went! He must have gone to her house to find out if she knew whether Paul and I—Paul and I—"

Her landlady stared at Martha as if she had suddenly taken leave of her senses. "It's 1 o'clock in the morning!"

But Martha was opening the front door. An instant later, the cold night wind stabbed her. She hurried down the street, oblivious. Two blocks away there was an all-night cab stand. She had to get to Suzanne's house on Sugar Hill. That's where Bill had gone, all right. It was there he had spent the hours between his discovery at the office and his appearance at Mrs. Larkin's.

A lone cab stood at the corner. She pulled open the door. "Sugar Hill." The name of Suzanne's street eluded her, for a dizzy moment. "Staford—no, Stratford Road. The big white house off by itself, in between Palmer and Britt..."

At last the cab stopped. Martha paid the man, trembling. She stood on the porch, shivering, her fingers pressing the bell. Almost immediately, a light flashed on in the hall. Through the tiny glass panes of the upper door, Martha saw a pair of silver mules come down the stairs, and then a quilted satin bathrobe. Suzanne herself was answering the door.

Suzanne's eyes, through the glass, were astonished at meeting Martha's worried brown ones. Then Bill had been here! Suzanne seemed to know all about it, for she flung the door open. "Thank God you're here! I told Bill you weren't in New York!"

"I was in New York. I flew back." "Oh, Suzanne, he was here? What did he want? What was the matter?"

"I'm telling you! He thought Paul enticed you back—thought it was all arranged, that everybody—at least I—knew you'd eloped to New York, or something... He raved and swore and asked me where you were, how long you were going to stay—things like that. I told him it was nonsense. I told him I didn't know where Paul was, but that I was certain you weren't in New York at all."

"Suzanne's creamy face flashed. 'I honestly tried to repair whatever damage I'd done that time, Martha.'

"Damage!" Martha's laugh was curiously mirthless. "He's thought of nothing else. It kept growing in his mind. He magnified it to even greater importance than you ever did—he got sullen, impossible—made trouble for himself at camp—quarreled with me, kept asking me things about Paul—when I'd seen him, trying to trap me into admitting things—oh—"

"I'm so sorry! I'm so sorry I ever said a word!" "That's a big help now!"

"Don't, Martha! I—I'll do anything. Look, let's get this straight. How did you know he'd been here? Where did he go after that?"

"He went to my boarding house. Rushed upstairs to see if I'd taken my clothes! I simply guessed that he'd been here. But where can he be now?"

"We must look for him," Suzanne said, rising. "I hate to say this, Martha, but I—I think he's been drinking. If he went to your boarding house—raising Cain, and then—then I don't know what to do next, it seems to me—he probably stopped for a drink somewhere."

"Or two or ten," Martha whispered. "Oh, Suzanne!" "I'll get dressed at once. We'll scour the town for him."
