

Youths May Register Now For Pilot Training In CAA School In Pampa

Registration of youths desiring to take ground work for scholarships under the Civil Aeronautics Administration non-school training plan will be available here tomorrow although the plan has not been definitely approved whereby Pampa will become a CAA training center.

Plans for organizing the school and eligibility requirements were secured by Jimmy Dodge, president of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, yesterday in Fort Worth where he contacted CAA officials, Joseph J. Mitchener, Jr., senior ground school supervisor of the Civilian Pilot Training Program, told Mr. Dodge that he had recommended Pampa's application for a

CAA training school and that his recommendations are usually approved in Washington where the application has been sent. Anyone who has past his 18th birthday but has not reached his 26th birthday is eligible to join the ground school and make application for scholarship under CAA regulations providing he can pass a physical examination. Only one out of every five youths attending the ground school becomes eligible for a flight scholarship. A minimum of 25 persons is required to organize a ground school. The ground school is not closed to persons eligible for scholarship. Anyone can take ground work at a cost of $10. Anyone completing the ground work can take a flight course by paying a sum yet to be set. Youths eligible for scholarships, who are not among those selected, can be sponsored by persons or firms and for each one sponsored the CAA will give an extra scholarship. Thus, 30 Pampa youths can secure free training if 10 scholarships are purchased.

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce has been named the sponsoring organization to have charge of all flight work through a coordinator. The Pampa school system, if the plan is approved by the school board, will sponsor the ground work which will include teaching of navigation, flight rules and regulations, meteorology and other subjects required preparatory to flight instruction.

Besides age and physical requirements, a student must be a legal resident of the state in which he is enrolled, must not be enrolled in a higher learning institution, must not be employed by the CAA or board, must pass the CPTP physical examination which is more strict than a regular examination, and must pledge himself if selected to train in the army air corps if his services are needed. Total cost to each youth eligible to try for a scholarship will be $17.45, which will include $6 for physical examination, $9 for insurance and $2.45 for text books. A suitable field and suitable instructors are a major requirement in securing a school. It is believed Pampa will have those requirements.

House Foreign Affairs Committee Approves British Aid Bill

HITLER SCREAMS HE WOULD SINK U. S. SHIPS

Gerard Would Go To War Against Nazis

Witness Claims Germany Plans To Seize Mexico

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The administration's British-aid bill was approved by the House Foreign Affairs committee today after efforts to write in a finance limit had defeated.

The committee's action cleared the way for house debate of the measure, probably Monday. Vote on final approval was taken quickly after the committee had defeated a proposal to place a $2,000,000 limit on transactions under the bill.

When the committee session broke up, Chairman Bloom (D-NY) announced the bill was reported out for house action with four major amendments adopted yesterday, but he declined to disclose the vote by which the committee gave its approval, saying "You'll have to ask individual members about that."

Other sources reported the vote was 17 to 8. Bloom disclosed that in the last few minutes of its meeting, the committee had rejected six amendments, ranging from an entirely new bill based on loans of money to Great Britain to a proposal to strike out a section authorizing the secretaries of war and navy to acquire arms and ammunition in a foreign country.

The four amendments which were approved by the committee would: Limit the operation of the bill to the period ending June 30, 1943. Require the President to consult with army and navy chiefs before disposing of any war material produced specifically for the defense of the United States. Require the President to report to congress at least every 90 days on transactions under the bill, except that he need not have to disclose information he considered incompatible with the public interest. Provide specifically that nothing in the bill grants any power for the President to order naval vessels in service to escort cargo convoys.

STOWAWAY

Pretty Shirley Dale, 23, didn't have the price of a ticket to Hawaii so she stowed away in the engine room of the U. S. destroyer Long at San Diego, Calif. Discovered and taken before naval intelligence officers, she embarrassed them by explaining how easily she got aboard the ship. A San Diego court is trying to raise to disclose information he considered incompatible with the public interest.

Night Class In Pipefitting Formed

A night class in pipefitting was organized at the night school to be held each Tuesday and Friday nights beginning next week. Membership in the class has not yet closed and persons desiring to take the course may contact George Hancock, telephone 435, before next Tuesday night.

Two wedding classes are being taught, one on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 10 o'clock and the other from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. each Saturday. M. G. David is instructor.

Congratulations—

British Announce Capture Of Derna

Britain's triumphant desert army captured the Italian stronghold of Derna, 125 miles inside Libya, this morning in a headlong sweep apparently intended to drive Premier Mussolini's forces out of north Africa, British general headquarters announced.

It was the third big Italian citadel captured by the British since Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell's army of the Nile launched a counter-offensive into Libya last Dec. 15, following in the wake of Bardia and Tobruk.

Bengasi, base of Fascist Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's forces, is apparently the next objective of the British onslaught. It lies 150 miles west of Derna.

The British announcement of this new blow at the southern end of the Rome-Berlin Axis came as Adolf Hitler spoke in the Berlin sports palace on the 8th anniversary of his rise to power.

It came, too, as the Greeks told of wresting the offensive from the Italians in Albania and driving Fascist legions back from positions in the bitterly contested sector north of Klisura.

Hitler told the German people that Britain's chief aim now was to "find more and more new nations outside the realm of the immediate United Kingdom for the purpose of having them fight their battles."

The last 300 years of British history, he said, have been covered with the blood of conflict. British and German warplanes violently shattered a 10-day lull in aerial warfare overnight, with RAF bombers smashing at the big German naval base of Wilhelmshaven while Nazi raiders again showered death and destruction on London.

Undetermined casualties resulted from the wrecking of an officers' buslet adjoining a London hospital. One body was recovered as rescue workers dug through the rubble to reach others believed trapped.

The empire capital had three day-light alarms by mid-afternoon, with "some" fatalities. In a northwest English town, a low-flying German plane sprayed the streets with machine-gun bullets as citizens ran for shelter.

The president heard the story and invited her to be his guest at the night of his 59th birthday, her 14th.

Pampa Boy Dies Of Rare Malady

Fredrick Ragland Brown, 16-year-old Pampa high school student, died yesterday afternoon in a local hospital of Hemophilia, one of the rarest of diseases known to the medical profession. It is a condition which does not allow the blood to clot normally and a bruise or a laceration will cause hemorrhage.

Death followed a brain hemorrhage, the attending physician said. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brown who reside on a farm north of Pampa. The family had resided here for the past 13 years. He was a sophomore in Pampa high school.

Besides the parents, survivors are three sisters, Mary Alice, Charlene and Virginia, all at home. Funeral services were conducted at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the chapel of the Duane-Garmichael Funeral home by the Rev. Albert Smith, pastor of the Central Church of Christ. The body was sent to Rosewood for burial.

Attending the services were members of his home room in high school and members of his algebra class in which he would have been in attendance at that hour. Hemophilia is found only in male members of a family and is transmitted only by the mother. It has been prevalent in the royal Spanish family for generations. A member of the family died last year following a car wreck in which he suffered a laceration of the body.

City Awaits Payment From Gas Company

Enforcement of the ordinance passed last month under which the Central States Power & Light company, local gas utility, was to pay a monthly rental for the use of Pampa streets and alleys was marking time today. The payment was due Jan. 25.

Action on the matter will likely be decided at the city commission meeting next week, after Robert F. Gordon, city attorney, the city manager, and the gas company have conferred.

At the commission's meeting this week, it was stated that the local manager had recommended acceptance of the tax, but that it had not been confirmed by the head office.

Under the ordinance passed by the city commission the gas utility firm was due to make its first payment on Jan. 25. The payment has not been made nor has any report on receipts been submitted.

Estimated revenue from the 3 per cent gross receipts tax on the firm would amount to $3,600 annually. When the ordinance was first introduced on Dec. 10, last year, it was proposed that the payment be made in a lump sum. Later, the law was amended to allow monthly payments on the basis of the 3 per cent annual tax.

The question came up before the city commission meeting this week, but no action was taken, due to the absence of City Manager Steve Matthews, who was ill at his residence.

Abolition Of Prison 'Bat' Asked In Bill

AUSTIN, Jan. 30—It's organization complete, the 47th Texas legislature today stood face to face with problems ranging from abolition of the prison "bat" to oil conservation laws.

Many house committees met for the first time yesterday for organization purposes and one, the penitentiaries committee, plunged immediately into its calendar approving a bill to end the whipping of Texas convicts.

The lone dissenting committee, J. B. Sallas of Crockett, served notice he would raise a point of order against the bill on the floor because insufficient notice of committee hearing was given.

Nazi Dictator Hysterically Flays Wilson

Insults Shouted At Britain And Democracies

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER BERLIN, Jan. 30 (AP)—Adolf Hitler said today that "Germany has no quarrel with the American people," but declared that if "non-European powers try to intervene here, Europe will rise. Every ship that comes within the reach of our torpedoes will be torpedoed."

These words drew the longest applause of his entire one-hour and 32-minute speech in Berlin's greatest sports palace, where Nazi party men and the government celebrated the eighth anniversary of Hitler's rise to power.

"Germany never attacked the American continent," Hitler said. Then followed a tirade of cheering, his reference to "non-European" intervention and the torpedoing.

"For your immediate hearers and the entire nation at its radios he predicted 'victory within the year.'" "The period lying behind us has already practically decided this war."

"France has been defeated and England crowded off the continent," the Fuehrer said, in the shadow of banners saying, "Victory is with our colors."

"We are standing on this continent and where we are standing nobody can crowd us off." "When the hour comes, we will land a decisive blow."

"Turning to the British, he asked: 'What are they hoping for? For America?' "I can only say we have calculated every possibility. There will be victory within the year. Germany has no quarrel with the American people. x x x "This time you do not find a weakened Germany, but one that is highly mobilized and full of fight."

U.S. To Dance 'Happy Birthday' To FDR

Swing music and that of heel and toe will vie for patronage tonight, as Pampans join thousands over the nation in attending the dances to be given in celebration of the President's birthday and for the benefit of the national infantile paralysis foundation.

The peppy old timers will gather at the red brick school building at 7:30 o'clock tonight to dance to the music of the Sons of the West. Admission will be 50 cents a person.

In charge of the dance will be R. R. Watson, who was county chairman of the 1940 dances, Harold Wright, and either Brad Hayes or Sid Patterson. Music in the modern manner will be played at the Southern club, beginning at 9 o'clock by Pinky Powell's orchestra. Admission will be $1 a couple, and in charge will be Jimmy Dodge, D. L. Parker, and E. L. Henderson.

British Plan To Use Women In Factories

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Conferees seeking means to accelerate Great Britain's war production outlined a general plan today to draft thousands of single women 18 years of age and older from drawing rooms, salons and servants' quarters into war goods factories.

Union employees agreed to the broad principles of the government's proposal in meeting with Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin, Sir Andrew Duncan, minister of supply, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, Lord Beaverbrook, minister for aircraft production, and Captain Oliver Lyttleton, president of the board of trade.

First successful power flight of the Wright brothers in 1903 lasted almost a full minute.

Invasion Danger May Be Averted, Briton Declares

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—A British military authority said today that German infiltration into Rumania and Bulgaria and air raids to Italy had become so extensive that "the very real danger" of invasion of Britain may be averted.

This authority asserted that German mechanics and technical troops in civilian dress were preparing air fields in Bulgaria and "there are eight to 10 German divisions in Rumania."

The German mechanized division numbers 11,000 and the infantry division 15,000.

This source expressed the opinion that these preparations might mean a German drive southward to Salonika, eastern Greece, thus isolating the Greek army fighting the Italians in Albania.

This concentration, plus diversion to Italian soil of strong units of the air force, "which are close to the route through the Mediterranean for large convoys of our sea forces," may well avert the long-contemplated invasion of Britain," he said.

"But air fields established in France make certain that the Germans could shift fighters back to the coast for attack on this country whenever the high command felt the danger in the Mediterranean had abated," he added.

Ickes Denies He Wants To Be Oil 'Czar'

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 30. (AP)—Secretary Harold L. Ickes denied today that he wants to become "dictator" of the petroleum industry but he asserted that some form of government control over production was necessary.

Writing in the annual edition of the Oil and Gas Journal, which also carried statements by several prominent oil men expressing strong opposition to federal supervision, Ickes declared:

"I believe that some form of central co-ordination for the prevention of avoidable physical waste (in oil production) is necessary.

"Although I have been accused of wanting to be the 'Comisar,' the "czar," the "dictator" of the petroleum industry, I state positively that that is all inspired nonsense.

"Even if I were assured that I could be made the umpire for the oil industry, the knowledge that I have gained and the experience that I have had would make me extremely cautious before rubbing any magic lamp."

The secretary of the interior said he believed the Cole bill, now awaiting congressional action, offered the best plan for production conservation that has yet been proposed.

He pointed out that petroleum not only was vital to national defense but has become "the dominant energy factor in virtually all phases of the nation's transportation."

"It should be axiomatic," his article continues, "that to avoid the possibility of future want of a material that supplies about 60 per cent of the transportation power of the country, waste should be reduced to the lowest possible level."

Ickes conceded that some states had adopted conservation laws but declared there was a lack of uniformity, "not only in the laws but in their administration."

"The fact that the federal government, the oil-producing states and the oil industry are not co-operating toward the effective production and utilization of x x x petroleum, should be a challenge to all public-spirited citizens."

Benjamin Franklin attended school only two years of his lifetime, and that between the ages of 8 and 10.

Bill Proposes Women Serve On Juries

AUSTIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—A constitutional amendment of vast importance to Texas women has been introduced in the Texas house of representatives, not by either of the two woman representatives, but a man.

It would remove definitely any constitutional inhibition against women serving on grand and petit juries in the state. The author is Rep. W. O. Reed of Dallas.

In the last legislature similar proposals were favorably reported by a house committee but killed in the senate.

One viewpoint is that women now are not forbidden by the constitution to engage in jury service. Another is that they are and that the courts have so interpreted the law.

Reed would clear the matter up by adding to article 16, section 19 of the constitution, the declaration that qualifications of any persons for jury service shall not be abridged on account of sex.

An enabling act would be necessary before women could serve on juries, even if the amendment was adopted.

"And the enabling act should be very carefully drawn," Reed said. He said it should allow various exceptions and exemptions for women who needed and wanted to claim them.

"If they want to serve on juries, they should have the right, and under the constitution now apparently they do not have that right," Reed said.

"They have the right to vote. They have a voice in the government. They pay taxes. They should have a complete voice and be qualified citizens in every respect."

Mrs. Nevelle H. Colson of Navasota, serving a second term, and Miss Rae Piles of Waxahachie, a first-term, said they would vote for submission, but emphasized, as did Reed, that they had no desire to force jury service on women who did not want it and should be protected against it.

Arguments usually made against woman jury service include:

There is no necessity for it. It is not a right of citizenship, but a duty, or even an obligation.

There are many impracticalities in connection with keeping mixed juries for weeks or months.

Okayed, he's now at Camp Shelby, Mass., with his buddies.

Savings Stamp Drive Mapped By Government

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Children's dime and housewives' dollars will help finance some $3,000,000 of America's defense program, if a joint savings stamp campaign under consideration today by the treasury and postoffice departments is finally adopted.

The postoffice department, it was learned, has given favorable consideration to a treasury proposal that the existing postal savings system be used to borrow money from persons of moderate means.

Here's how the plan would work: Anyone with loose change and a desire to invest it in defense could go to any postoffice in the country and buy savings stamps in denominations of 10, 25 and 50 cents, and $1. Persons with more money or who had accumulated a number of the small stamps could buy savings "certificates" in denominations ranging from $1 to $1,000.

These stamps and certificates already are on sale, but many people don't know about them, and officials were considering a campaign to publicize them.

The postoffice department would reinvest the savings stamp receipts in treasury bonds or certificates. Thus the treasury would get the money without the expense and trouble of setting up a new system designed to accomplish the same thing. In the World War, the treasury did establish its own system, but it was costly even though it utilized postoffice facilities.

Officials explained that while the postoffice department was selling savings stamps, the treasury could concentrate on the sale of regular bonds and baby bonds to get the additional billions called for by the President's budget.

Seven Legislators Drafting Oil, Gas, Sulphur Tax Bill

AUSTIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—A seven-man committee of house members interested in natural resource taxes today faced the problem of drafting a general tax bill on oil, gas, and sulphur which would finance a general security needs in the state.

Named at an informal conference of 50 members last night, the committee consisted of Reps. Duncan S. Hughes of Georgetown, Fred Harris of Dallas, Ben Sharpe of Paris, G. C. Morris of Greenville, Newton W. Connor of Texarkana, L. W. Harris of Whitney and S. W. Weatherford of Terrell.

The conference, called by Rep. C. S. McLellan of Eagle Lake, elected Morris chairman, heard an explanation of a bill by Fred Harris, and discussed itself with a discussion of the proposal which branched off into general tax matters.

Harris asserted his bill was designed to raise $87,000,000 annually in lieu of a four-cent a gallon tax on gasoline as sold to consumers now bringing in $32,000,000. He said it would abolish the four-cent tax and place a one-cent a gallon levy on gasoline refined in the state.

In answer to numerous questions, he declared he did not believe refineries would move out of Texas if the bill passed and pointed out a large volume of gasoline is shipped out of the state.

Taking part in the discussion were Rep. W. J. Bailey of Willsboro, Deputy Governor of Port Arthur, Victor E. Wattner of Wills Point, M. B. Morgan, of Denison, Bruce Allen of Waxahachie, and V. E. Goodman of Fort Worth. Several apparently were opposed to increased taxes on natural resources.

Allen moved appointment of the committee which motion received a chorus of ayes and one no.

Mexico, U. S. Ready To Sign Agreement

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30. (AP)—Ambassador Francisco Castillo-Najera sped home from Washington by plane today for conferences which informed sources said were preparatory to signing an agreement settling all outstanding issues between Mexico and the United States.

The ambassador was summoned to confer with President Manuel Avila Camacho following conversations with United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Wells regarding settlement of claims arising from Mexican expropriation of lands owned by United States citizens. He talked with Wells before his hurried departure from Washington last night.

Rotary publications was the theme of the program of the Pampa Rotary club's regular weekly luncheon at noon Wednesday.

The program was in charge of Ernest Cabe, and he, Doyle F. Osborne, Dr. R. M. Bellamy, and Farris C. Odene made talks on The Rotarian, official magazine of the organization. This week The Rotarian is 30 years old.

First part of the program was devoted to "kidding" R. G. Hughes, retiring editor of Rotaspokes, local club newspaper. Copies of the newspaper, dedicated to Hughes, and containing numerous references to him, were distributed.

Attendance at the luncheon was 47, including four visiting Rotarians, Emmett B. Reinbold and H. S. Benjamin, both of Berger, J. Allen Cooper of Hillsboro, and Art Kerr of Tulsa. Other guests were Paul M. Bruce, Albrecht, and Joe Burrow and Lon Blansett, both of Pampa.

Carson Grand Jury Files Term Report

PANHANDLE, Jan. 30.—The grand jury for the regular January session of district court, composed of Cecil Cuyler, R. L. Curtis, B. R. Weeks, J. V. Robinson, J. R. Sterling, T. A. Watkins, J. A. Burnett, F. A. Paul, Byron Hodges, J. J. Vance, Ed Hughes, and Ben McGregor, adjourned for the term Friday afternoon.

In its report, the jury stated that it had been in session for approximately four days and had examined all matters concerning alleged violations of laws. A total of nine indictments were returned, three for misdemeanor and six for felony. Among the charges were theft, forgery, swindling, and unlawful operation of motor vehicles while intoxicated on public highways.

"We desire to take this opportunity to commend the peace officers of Carson county for their diligence and attention to the duties which are imposed upon them by law. We also desire to express our thanks and appreciation to our county attorney, Frank R. Murry, and our district attorney, W. L. McConnell, for excellent service which they rendered while we have been engaged in the performance of our duties as a grand jury."

Petit jurors for this week are: A. F. Stephenson, O. E. Carlson, M. F. Nurse, W. D. Boyd, Ross Nix, J. W. Randall, B. L. Collins, Roy Tribble, T. G. Brown, L. J. Counsellman, Lewis Williams, Billie Cornett, M. L. Dowd, E. J. Berres, Francis Render, D. E. Romack, S. H. Bunker.

Buis Urbanczyk, Arthur Kirkwood, Paul Morrow, William A. Hall, J. S. Harrison, W. O. Connor, Arthur Cummings, Lloyd Thorp, M. E.

Sherwood Play To Be Reviewed Monday Evening

Mrs. Joe F. Coffee of Amarillo will review Robert Sherwood's play, "There Shall Be No Night," next Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the city club rooms under the sponsorship of the American Association of University Women. Both men and women are invited to hear the review.

During the past year, Mrs. Coffee, a product of the Boston Curry school of speech, has become one of the most popular speakers in the Panhandle, and has appeared before numerous organizations as an after-dinner speaker, dramatic reviewer, and reader.

"There Shall Be No Night," written by the author of "Jolof's Delight," has been running continuously on Broadway since last April, starring Lynn Fontaine and Alfred Lunt. William Lyon Phelps termed it "by far the best new drama of the year," and it was chosen as one of the ten best plays of the 1939-40 season for the Burns Mantle collection. Mrs. Coffee says the play is one of her favorites. The play was prompted by Russia's invasion of Finland, and all three acts are set in Finland.

There will be a small admission charge for the review.

Pair Honored At Double Shower Given This Week

A double pink and blue shower was given to honor Mrs. H. W. Hill and Mrs. C. V. Bailey by Mrs. L. M. Bryant of Skellytown in the home of Mrs. Velmar Lewter, 600 South Reid street, this week.

Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. L. M. Bryant and Mrs. Ira Foe, who gave them to the honorees. The gifts were presented to the pair in pink and blue baskets.

Refreshments of punch and cookies were served to Mrs. Evelyn Walker, A. M. Nash, Hazel Goldsmith, Red Robertson, C. G. Kuykendall, Buster Black, Ira Foe, Fannie Kennedy, W. W. Hill, Billy James, C. W. Bailey, W. M. James, Minnie Moon, Velma Lewter, and W. J. Bartz of Pampa, Misses A. O. Bartz and L. M. Bryant of Skellytown, and Mrs. C. V. Bailey and Mrs. H. W. Hill.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. Claudia Bailey, Jack Long, A. L. Patrick, Bob Paige, T. O. Thompson, Johnnie Cooper, Evie Shewmaker, Kathryn Taylor, Grace Scott of Pampa; Miss Lois Roberts and Carolyn Bartz of Pampa; Mrs. Oulta Witherington of Texas City; Mrs. Howard Wedge of Alexandria, La.; Mrs. R. A. Stimpson of Clarendon; Mrs. Emma Duge, and Mrs. Bartz of Corpus Christi; Mrs. Ed Bryant and Mrs. Thompson of Oklahoma City; Mrs. D. M. Covie of Skellytown; and Mrs. Ruby Willy of Pampa.

In the year 1939, there were only three lynchings in the United States.

STARS OVERHEAD

IT'S a wonderful Santa Claus who brings a woman these three smart Christmas gifts. It's a good, if not wonderful, Santa who brings her any one of them. The alluring black lace and net blouse is smart with long dinner, as well as day length, afternoon skirts. The "stardust" calot, with tiny sequin stars flashing on a black net background, is just the thing to wear with a dinner dress. The evening gloves are of pale blue suede with inserts of black lace.

Sam Houston School Will Observe Annual Fellowship Night

A good attendance is expected at Sam Houston school Friday night when the Parent-Teacher Association celebrates its annual food and fellowship night.

There will be free entertainment during the entire evening in the auditorium and food is to be served in the cafeteria beginning at 6 o'clock.

The girls' choir and Blue and Gold band will render two groups of selections during the evening. The accordion band will appear on the program and 30 individual numbers will be given by students of the school.

The public is invited to attend this function and enjoy the evening of entertainment and fellowship. Home made chili, waffles, pie, cake, ice cream, soda pop, and home made candy will be sold.

A Social CALENDAR

FRIDAY
Clara Hill class Methodist church will have a party in the home of Mrs. W. M. Beare at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. V. M. Foster, hostess. Mrs. G. H. Anderson, 610 North Russell street, will be hostess to Busy Dose Sewing club at 8 o'clock.

MONDAY
American Association of University Women will have a review of "There Shall Be No Night" at 8 o'clock in the city club rooms.

TUESDAY
B. G. K. club will meet in the home of Mrs. Gerald Fowler.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

- In a family where there is a maid, should all her instructions for the day come from the woman who is head of the house?
- Should a house guest ask her hostess' servant to press a dress without first asking her hostess if it is all right?
- Is it up to the hostess to anticipate the needs of her dinner guests or should she leave it up to the guests to ask for what they want?
- Should a woman ask her maid questions about the private affairs of the family for whom she previously worked?
- Should children ever invite guests to dinner without first consulting with their mother?

What would you do in the following situations?

- Your family dinner table you find you need another piece of silver—(a) Ask the head of the table to ask the maid for it? (b) Ask the maid yourself, since you are in a family group.

Answers

- Yes. Otherwise there is confusion, and the maid is often overworked.
- No. And it is even better, if the maid works hard, for the guest to do her own pressing.
- She should anticipate their needs.
- No.
- No.

Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(a).

MODERN MENUS

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Food is strength. Today, when every American citizen takes his part in making this nation so strong that it can resist attack from any or all enemies, the women of the country, who buy, prepare, and serve the family food, have a vital and patriotic duty on their shoulders.

What can the individual housewife do in this great democratic drive to build up the strength of the nation? First, she must learn the fundamentals of nutrition. Second, apply them to her own family budgets and menus. Third, form neighborhood or community clubs whose purpose is to study local markets, possible attempts at profiteering in essential foods, and other such questions.

In a special Food and National Defense issue of the Consumers Guide, issued by the Consumers Council division of the Department of Agriculture, eight specific jobs for such women's groups are briefly stated.

CONSUMER PROTECTION

- You can get a municipal market news service started in your city, so household buyers will know daily what foods are good buys and cheap.
- You can start a school-lunch program in your city and see that every school child has at least one well balanced and adequate meal each day.
- You can work for low-cost ways of selling milk and fruits and vegetables so that those who have to pinch can buy a greater abundance of them.
- You can get up diet clinics where families can bring their food-buying problems and talk them over with experts in nutrition and consumer buying.
- You can support the Food Stamp plan, now in 150 cities; help needy families to use and understand it; encourage merchants to sell surplus foods at the lowest price.
- You can learn, if you have land, how to grow the foods you cannot

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART

The clothes which you cannot wear with complete self-confidence are, without a doubt, all wrong for you. If they cannot be altered and fixed so that you feel absolutely comfortable and at home in them, throw them out.

Nothing is more certain to destroy every atom of your poise, charm and general attractiveness of a person than the feeling that the dress you have on is too tight across the hips, too short, too low-necked, or that its color is downright unbecoming.

IT'S WORSE OFF FITTING ROOM

If you have a single-doubt in mind about a dress you are about to buy, don't buy it. If something about it doesn't please you in the fitting room, it will please you even less once you get the dress done.

And don't buy it just because the saleswoman and the friend who is shopping with you say that it is flattering. Unless you like it enormously yourself, forget about it and look for something else.

Don't buy a hat which makes you feel that you ought to apologize for or explain it each time you wear it.

And, unless you have a lavish budget, beware of buying anything which doesn't suit your mode of life. A dressy tea hat may be pretty, but if you never get to afternoon parties it won't be practical. And of what use will a rough tweed suit and a couple of sweaters be if you spend not more than two or three weekends in the country during the entire year?

Two Pampa Men Win 100-Car Club Awards

Wade Thomasson and Sid Stone were awarded a bonus last Monday night at a zone meeting of Chevrolet dealers in Oklahoma City for active membership in the 100-Car club, exclusive organization of the Chevrolet motor division. They received a diamond in their 100-Car club pins. This made the eighth consecutive year for Mr. Thomasson to achieve this distinction.

K. M. Case, assistant sales manager of the Chevrolet Motors, Detroit, Mich., made the awards.

At the meeting the model of the 1941 fleet line Chevrolet was shown. It was announced that there would be a slight decrease in price from the present four-door sedan.

Frank Culbertson and the entire sales staff attended this meeting in representation of Culbertson Chevrolet in Pampa.

Patients Themselves Aid March Of Dimes

WARM SPRING, Ga., Jan. 30 (AP)—The patients of the Warm Springs Foundation will dine tonight in Georgia Hall around a birthday cake "iced" with dimes.

The silver cake is a symbol for the birthday of President Roosevelt, whose "little white house" is here.

The dimes were contributed by patients as their part in the campaign against infantile paralysis.

Mr. Roosevelt has sent one of his birthday gifts, an electrical organ, to the foundation patients.

Friendship Class Groups Sew On Red Cross Layettes

Members of Friendship class of First Methodist church met in groups recently to work on Red Cross layettes.

Mrs. John Hessey was hostess to eight members of group one, while 17 members and one visitor from group two met in the home of Mrs. Fred Cary where Mrs. Edwin Vickers and Mrs. C. B. Haney were co-hostesses. Mrs. I. W. Spangler and Mrs. J. C. Fuqua were hostesses to nine members of group three and Mrs. Joe Hodge, Mrs. B. E. Via, and Mrs. Tom Cook entertained group four with 12 members present. Refreshments were served by all of the hostesses.

A member of the class, Mrs. D. P. Robinson, returned last week from Henrietta, Oklahoma, where she attended the funeral of a brother, Mrs. John Hankins, another member of the class, spent the weekend in East Texas.

Mrs. W. H. Peters is convalescing at home following an operation at a local hospital; Mrs. Joe Shelton is confined to her home because of illness; and Mrs. Joe Dunham and Mrs. Loneta Hamilton will soon be out following extended illnesses. Mrs. J. E. Enson has been welcomed back by the class.

There's A Lot To Real Beauty Besides Attractive Features

By ALICIA HART

Your great beauty—the woman whose good looks may dim but never completely fade with the years—has nice hair, clear skin, attractive face and the ability to choose smart clothes and wear them smartly. In addition, she has:

A reasonable, if not actually sunny disposition. (The lines across the brow, the set look around the mouth, the rigid neck, all of which aid and abet the passing of beauty, are, very often, due to bad temper and unable to keep little, unimportant things from being readily annoying.)

KNOWS HOW TO LAUGH

A sense of humor. (Without this, even the loveliest face is wasted on at least half of the people who see it.)

A sense of fair play and tolerance deep within her. (The most beautiful mature faces are those that are kindly.)

A deep conviction that no woman can get by on good looks alone. (Your real beauty is called "beautiful, but dumb.")

Full knowledge that being a good listener is not enough. (She can talk, as well as listen, because she reads and thinks and therefore has something interesting to talk about.)

The secrets of her success as a beauty lies in knowing when to talk and when to listen.)

RUDENESS KILLS HARM

Good manners. (She knows that being beautiful gives her no license to be rude in little ways or in big ones.)

A pleasant voice. (No amount of good grooming or good looks compensates for harsh, rasping, unpleasant tones.)

A warm personality. (Of all women in the world, the great beauty is the one who can least afford to shut doors in the faces of those who offer friendship.)

Scouts To Meet In Groups Friday

At 4 o'clock Friday afternoon fourth, fifth, and sixth grade girls of Scout troop two will meet at Sam Houston school with Mrs. Paul Tabor and Miss Sallie Cahill in charge.

Seventh, eighth, ninth, and tenth grade girls will meet at the same time at the scout house with Mrs. Jack Goldston presiding. The group will go to the craft shop where they will be instructed by Jim Edwards, recreation chairman.

Young Business Girls Will Have Party On Friday

A monthly business and social meeting of Young Business Girls class of First Baptist church will be held Friday evening.

The group will meet at the Crystal Palace at 7:15 o'clock when they will go to the theater.

After the show the class will go to the home of Miss Ernestine Francis where a business session will be conducted and refreshments will be served.

Members, prospective members, and guests are invited to attend.

Social Activities Planned By BGK Club This Week

Members of B. G. K. club met in the home of Mrs. Wayne Phelps Tuesday evening for a regular business session in which future social events were discussed.

A special committee was appointed by Miss Gloria Posey, vice-president. The group includes Miss Mary Gaylor Booth, Mrs. George Pollard, and Mrs. Paul Schneider.

Present were Mrs. Mmes. Gerald Fowler, Bob Triplehorn, Bill Gray, Tom Rose, Jr., Skeet Wise, George Pollard, Paul Schneider, Phil McGrath, Skeet Gregory, Wayne Phelps, and Misses Idabelle Wagner, Mary Gaylor Booth, Catherine Gloria Posey, Elizabeth Mullinax, Claudine Jeffries, and Betty Jo Twensend.

The club will meet next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Fowler.

Drill Team Will Practice Tonight At Rebekah Lodge

Hostesses at the meeting of Ester club in the I. O. O. F. hall this week were Pearl Cordell, Arlene Neighbors, and Pearl Casika.

The group voted to sponsor a game night on Feb. 20. The drill team practiced at this meeting and plans were made to practice again tonight at the meeting of Rebekah lodge with V. J. Casika in charge.

One member, Hattie Peters, was reported ill.

Following a prayer by Mrs. Eva Howard, refreshments of coffee and cake were served to Etha Criff, president; Ethel May Clay, vice-president; Elsie Con, treasurer; Lilye Nobilit, secretary; Leona Burrows, Mae Phillips, Faina Beard, Lois King, Frances Hall, Lizzie Walker of Canadian, Lesta Followell, Edna Brady, Ellen Kvetemeler, Kate Beverly, Hattie Day, Eva Howard, Dorothy Voyles, Ruby Wylie, Fredella Potter, Cora Lee Baer, and W. Boy Scout Adult Training Course Held At Skelly

Special to The NEWS
SKELLYTOWN, Jan. 30—An adult training course in Boy Scout work was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Fred Roberts, scout executive of the Adobe Walls Council area, when he gave a lecture to parents in the school auditorium.

A general discussion about scouting problems and 1941 plans for the scouts were mentioned and organization of a Cub pack discussed.

"Scouting can be a great pleasure to the men as well as the boys," stated Mr. Roberts. "It is a wonderful program, carefully planned, which has been 30 years in the making and will make your boy do the thousand and one things you would like him to do of his own accord."

The "Advancement Program," used by the scouts was carefully explained. It is a lot of hard work but will make the boy a better citizen and a good one.

The study course will be concluded Sunday afternoon at the school auditorium at 2 o'clock. The parents of boys of scout age as well as parents of Cub scouts and others interested are especially invited to attend this interesting instruction Sunday.

Systematic Ills Routed By Hoyt's Says L. E. Wilson

Wichita Falls Man Says Hoyt's Compound Reached Source of Trouble, Ended Acid Indigestion, Constipation, Kidney Misery

"For years I suffered with acid indigestion, constipation, kidney misery and their attendant evils," says Mr. L. E. Wilson, of 808 1/2 Ohio

Mr. L. E. Wilson
 Ave., Wichita Falls, Texas. "After meals I had attacks of gas bloating and belching. It felt like I had a solid lump in my stomach. My bowels were irregular, and weak kidneys disturbed my sleep. There were constant pains in my back, hips and legs.

"Hoyt's Compound reached the source of my trouble, and now I have no more gas or bloating, my bowels are regular and I seldom have to get up at night. My muscular aches and pains are gone."

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Cretney Drug Store, and by leading druggists everywhere.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Leading stocks suffered another setback today as the market when an early rally failed to elicit any broad buying response. Steady trends in steel, motors and rails at the start were attributed to the belief the list may have been "re-set." On average it had been up slightly only twice since Jan. 10, and yet fell, some hoped, had substantially better of the technical base.

Prices began to fade before midday as Hitler's speech came over the news tickers. Dealings were quite lively at intervals and, despite frequent slow-downs, transfers were around 700,000 shares.

In addition to the Berlin forensics, which several in Wall Street and scolded somewhat like a "pop talk," potential share buyers seemingly still were intimidated by fears of mounting taxes and the likelihood of the United States actively joining the war.

Prominent on the downward shift were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Sears, Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, N. Y. Central, Du Pont, Union Carbide, John-Manville, Eastman Kodak and U. S. Gypsum.

Metals, utilities and aircrafts were relatively narrow.

Polio Deaths Have Dropped Since 1931

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
 Associated Press Science Writer
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The people who dance tonight at the President's birthday balls are actually helping others to walk; statistics of the U. S. Public Health service demonstrate.

Profits from the dances and other celebrations honoring Mr. Roosevelt's 59th birthday help finance the fight against infantile paralysis.

"Polio" cases reported to the health service dropped from a high of 10,790 in 1931, shortly before the annual birthday balls were started, to 1,705 in 1938. Although the number of cases increased from the 1938 low to 7,343 in 1939 and 9,763 in 1940, at the same time the number of deaths declined markedly in ratio to cases reported. A proportionate decline was noted in the number of day of illness in the patients under treatment.

Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt said today "the most hopeful story of infantile paralysis is that we now know how to take care of its victims so that the tragic effects of the disease can be lessened and the crippled restored to normal life."

Research workers are striving at present to isolate the virus which causes the malady and to determine the way it is transmitted, and to discover means of preventing the disease or treating it quickly after it is acquired.

During the past year, McNutt said, new reservoirs of the infection have been discovered, and new methods of prevention have been tried.

The Fascist high command noted "intense activity" by Italian artillery, patrols and mechanized units supported by warplanes.

The British reported they were speeding operations on all African fronts in the hope of splitting Italy's colonial empire wide open before large-scale German intervention develops.

British military sources indicated the army of the Nile, sweeping westward from captured Tobruk, was seeking to encompass the fall of Bengasi "in the near future" and complete the conquest of eastern Libya.

It was believed by these sources that the Italians would attempt a major stand at Bengasi, 250 miles west of Tobruk, and play for time until German air aid could become more effective against the British.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, low back aches, swelling up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ARE YOU MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR GROCERY DOLLAR...

Have you ever stopped to realize that the grocery business is just like every other type of business—that there must be a profit made for a store to stay open. Also did you ever stop to think about the fact, the larger the store the more overhead there is. Are you one that is being misled into a few leader items and then paying some one an excess profit on other items that you do not realize what the price should really be? That is why we tell you that you can save money by buying your foods where there is certain set profit marked up on every item that is honest to both of us. We realize that there are times too, when you might be short of cash for a short time—until next pay day for instance. We show our customers the courtesy of extending them credit for a short time. VETERAN PASSES

A. D. Monteith, 65, past commander of Kerley-Crossman post 334 of the American Legion, Pampa, and a past sous chef de gare, fifth division, Texas 40 and 8, died this week in the U. S. Veterans hospital at Waco. The body was taken to San Antonio where cremation occurred. At the time of his death, Monteith was grand chef de gare of the 40 and 8 for the state. He served as commander of the local Legion post in 1935-36, and had resided in Pampa since the 20s. Monteith was timekeeper when the Portland Gasoline plant was built here. For the past five years he had been employed as night clerk at the Schneider hotel. Only survivor of the state 40 and 8 official is a sister, whose home is in Massachusetts.

A marriage license was issued here yesterday to C. R. Roland and Velma Lee McDowell.

Dictator

time to introduce itself. Our production continues. What others are planning is already a reality with us.

"This will be the historical year of the new order in Europe. Tyranny will be abolished. The world will be open to all. The foundations for real understanding of peoples will be laid.

"My prediction of September, 1939, will come true: That the Jews' role is ended. People after people are sharing our racial conceptions. There will be a front of Aryan humanity against international Jewish profiteers.

Let our prayer be that God grant us victory this year.

With these words, the man on whom President Paul von Hindenburg conferred the chancellorship just eight years ago today finished his address.

Hitler devoted 25 minutes of his speech to an attack on the British empire, which he called the product of 300 years of robbery and Britain herself the most "anti-social" state in the world—"a paradise for a few, continuous misery for the masses."

Britain, he said, might have to come to Germany one day "to study our social program." He asserted there is "evidence that in other countries, such as England, a social crisis is beginning."

He called British democracy "mere sham," and said the British dare not "instigate a plebiscite among her own people to determine whether they desire to belong to the empire."

Then he added: "Concentration camps were an English, not a German, invention."

He declared that "he is constantly spreading around the world that the authoritarian states want to conquer the world," but actually, he said, "our enemies are the ones who have the lust of conquest."

He charged Britain with wishing to maintain supremacy over Germany, Italy, and Japan.

"To keep up the pretense of being a world power," he said, "Britain must now incite nations against nations outside Europe, for within Europe she no longer has anything to say."

(The following matter is based on NBC's translation of Hitler's address as heard by New York monitors. The address itself was not rebroadcast.)

Adolf Hitler told the German people today the principal aim of the British in these times was "to find more and more nations outside the realm of the immediate United Kingdom for the purpose of having them fight their battles."

Hitler, speaking on the eighth anniversary of his assumption of power, declared that President Roosevelt himself had acknowledged that conditions in Germany when Hitler became chancellor could not be placed "at the door of the German people themselves."

He spoke to a huge gathering in Berlin's sports palace and the address was broadcast throughout Germany.

The beginning of the address was a defense of Germany's stand in the world and an attack on Britain, England, he asserted, had been "trying to break up" Germany since 1871.

"He attributed to loss of the World war to the 'faults and mistakes' of leaders within Germany and to the 'blind faith which the German people felt for the other democracies of the world.'"

"Promise after promise was made to Germany beginning with high-sounding statements of the then American president, Wilson, who shouted, 'and none of them has been kept.'"

Hitler began his speech at 4:40 p. m. (8:40 a. m. Central Standard time). He stood on a platform before a big glittering German eagle.

The address was recorded in New York by NBS short wave monitors. But the complete speech was not rebroadcast in the United States.

"Eight years ago nobody was ready to believe in the ultimate survival of our government," Hitler declared.

He declared that although the British were now hoping for aid from the United States that "when we were forced into this war we had plans even then for this emergency."

The fuhrer, speaking on the eighth anniversary of his assumption of power, insisted that Britain's cause "is lost."

"We are now fully prepared for whatever may happen in relation with America's help," he said.

He boasted of the armed power of the reich and said that Germany had many things making it "a thousand times as strong as the strength we have already displayed."

"All I can say is this: We are going to hit at England wherever we can hit her. Let them realize that this is not a small fracas; it is a total war which will never end until total destruction of England has been accomplished."

Referring to reports he said he had heard of an English offensive "somewhere," the fuhrer said: "I wish they would let me know in advance, so I could make the landing of the expeditionary force a little easy for them."

has dedicated each birthday since he became President.

It was that disease which weakened the chief executive's legs and gave him his biggest handicap. Yet, by keeping him confined closely to his desk, friends say it has been partly responsible for his ability to handle a tremendous volume of work.

The money raised by the birthday celebrations goes to research institutions, to hospitals, and to agencies which help victims of poliomyelitis.

In Washington, there will be receptions, parties, balls, special programs at theaters, and more than a dozen movie, radio and sports stars making the rounds of all of them with Mrs. Roosevelt.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Mrs. Indus Astric, recently returned from France, was the guest speaker. A native of Wichita, Kas., but resident of France since 1937, gave many enlightening facts of the present situation in Europe.

Her husband, a lieutenant in the French army reserves, was called early last summer when forces were mobilized and Mrs. Astric lived for a time in the home of his parents.

Having retained her American citizenship in obtaining permission to leave France but, because of unsettled conditions in Europe, delayed transportation facilities, the Germans taking over everything of use to them, congested highways because of refugees, movement of troops and supplies, it required several months for her to make the journey from her home in Nice,

France to Lisbon, Portugal where she embarked for the United States, the ship making a stop at Bermuda.

Three Frontiers
 She had to get a visa at the French border, again found delay in securing permission to cross Spain, and another to enter Portugal. She described conditions in Spain as exceedingly bad, food shortage making anyone from the outside unwelcome.

Mrs. Astric has been with her parents in Wichita, Kansas the past two months. Her husband, being of military age, was forbidden to leave France.

What is termed unoccupied is under Hitler's control to a great extent. Last year, food and fuel were limited. Now, much more so. After warehouse stocks were consumed, merchants were unable to secure supplies.

After her address, the speaker invited questions from the audience and gave considerable information. As to the gold reserve, she stated that France had had a large amount of gold, a great deal of it sent out of the country before German occupation and she couldn't state present conditions.

She stated that, in Germany, children 6 to 14 were sent to camps to be educated in the ideas and ideals of Hitler and that the German youth were in accord with his program. Many of the parents and older people are not but fear to say so, as penalty for opposition is being shot.

French Respect U. S.
 Mrs. Astric said the French people had great respect for the United States, looked to this country as the one able to stand alone and the hope of democracy in the world.

She believes that if the United States will furnish all aid short of man-power to Great Britain, that they will not need our men and that they will be able to win over Hitlerism.

She blamed present conditions in France to what we term "fifth columnists." She believes this a strong organization in all countries, much so in South America, and of considerable force even in our own country.

Nice is only 30 miles from the border, a distance easily covered by the enemy runs, so they had to keep a small bag packed in case of need for immediate evacuation, were able to take but few things.

She sent her trunks ahead but these did not get out of France, are still in possession of the Germans.

Local people on the program were Professor Herbert A. Hill with two flute solos, "Schubert's Serenade" and "Bolero." Mrs. J. M. Carpenter at the piano, and a humorous monologue by Mrs. John David Raymond.

S. E. Allison, president of the local Rotary club toastmaster, H. A. Wilbur in charge of the program. Glenn Truax of Perryton, led in group singing.

The banquet was served by the women of the Presbyterian church.

Un-Huddling The Government

Bitter are the lessons being written in blood across Europe today—and we to him who will not learn them!

One of them seems to be this: there is danger in too great centralization. That is: if all your government offices are huddled in one small area, all your steel works, huddled in another, all your auto and munitions plants in another, all your boat-building facilities in another, so much greater the chance of a single crippling blow by some overwhelming bombing raid.

The war has centered attention on decentralization. New powder, plane, and munitions plants are being built in remote places which had hitherto been without great industries, even without great populations.

But against this tide swims government. The population of Washington has grown 26 per cent since 1930, a rate of increase exceeded only by Miami and San Diego.

One answer has been proposed by Representative Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. He has introduced into the House a resolution which would call for moving many government bureaus bodily from Washington to other cities.

Dirksen argues that $100,000,000 was spent last year by officials in travel from Washington to other places where government business was being done; that many of the functions of government, like social security, railroad control of various kinds, census bureau, housing and home loan work, maritime controls, WPA, CCC, veterans' work, and agricultural aid, could just as efficiently and perhaps more economically be discharged in other parts of the country.

Does too great a concentration of the nation's life blood for safety pass through Washington? New York? Chicago? Detroit? Ought we to begin thinking seriously of doing something about it?

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—You can't hope to understand the fight over the lend-lease bill unless you realize how clearly the specter of war-by-April is visible to many men on Capitol Hill.

These men may be seeing things. That specter may be a product of their own imaginations, a creation of partisanship gone cockeyed. But the point is that the specter is really there.

Senator Wheeler and other isolationists figure it out like this: 1. The administration says there is no time to waste, that a crisis in the war is coming fast, and that within 90 days or less England may get to a point where extra aid from the United States will mean the difference between final victory and immediate defeat.

2. Yet, say the isolationists, when William S. Knudsen urged the House Foreign Affairs Committee to pass the bill he admitted that it will be a good six months before the defense program has things moving off the assembly lines in real quantity. The power to jump British and U. S. production is important, but it can't—by Knudsen's own word—have much practical effect before mid-summer.

3. If that is so, and if the war crisis is due within three months, Senator Wheeler and his followers can't see any reason for a big rush about passing the lend-lease bill—except that the administration wants the power to send Britain what the U. S. has now, without waiting for the defense program to swing into high and without waiting for any further authorization from Congress.

By this line of reasoning, the expected spring crisis—breakdown of shipping, new blitzkrieg, or what-not—would find parts of the U. S. navy steaming to British waters, plus all or part of the U. S. air fleet, plus such mechanized forces as might be needed. American boys wouldn't be riding in them, but the final effect might not be a great deal different.

THAT'S SIZE OF IT. Off the record, administration senators admit that is just about the size of it and that the desire to get authority to make such transfers is the real reason for the hurry to get the bill passed. They disagree, however, that such transfers would be equivalent to war. On the contrary, they insist this program offers the best means of ensuring that American boys won't have to fight—assuming, as the administration does assume, that the crisis is due early in the spring.

There is still another angle pointed out by some congressmen who haven't lined up yet either for or against the lend-lease bill. It goes like this: This appropriation is as fully committed as a government can be to the proposition that it isn't going to stand by and see England beaten. Suppose the lend-lease bill fails to pass, and that the crisis does come as anticipated and finds the United States government powerless to transfer the ships and planes

Common Ground

By R. G. HOLLES

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

BOTTLENECK IN PRODUCTION. In a rapid increase in production there seems to be two bottlenecks instead of one, as many people seem to have been thinking. It is pretty generally agreed that there is a bottleneck in skilled, machinist employes but there is another very serious bottleneck.

In an address by Virgil Jordan, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, he has the following to say: Capital Depleted. "Few realize the extent to which the capital resources of the country, both in physical and financial terms, have been depleted and dissipated during this decade. When this war began our industrial plant was in poor condition and our enterprise organization was nearly broke."

The studies of The Conference Board show that from 1929 to 1938, for nine consecutive years, American business as a whole drew upon its capital to the extent of nearly 41 1/2 billion dollars, almost wiping out the 46 billion dollars of business savings accumulated between 1916 and 1929. The annual capital dissipation in American business reached a maximum of 11 billion dollars in 1932, and even in 1938, the latest year for which the Board's estimates are available, the income of American business as a whole fell short of dividends and entrepreneurial withdrawal by 2 1/2 billion dollars.

And, yet, a lot of people who have not made a careful study of how wealth is produced, and how wages are raised, have been contending that we had plenty of capital. Of course, these people believed what they wished—they believed it was not necessary for people to sacrifice in order to have capital. It is a very pleasant and agreeable belief. No one likes to save, but some one must save and sacrifice and do without present consumption, if the amount of capital is to be even retained, let alone increased, as is necessary to take care of a larger population and constantly raise the standard of living of all workers.

The same author continues by saying: "Total assets of American corporations declined in value by 69 billion dollars between 1929 and the end of 1933. Up to the end of 1927 only 14 billion dollars of this loss had been recovered. Of the net decline of 55 billion dollars from 1929 to 1937, nearly half or 46 per cent, involved the dissipation of actual physical assets through current expenditures in excess of income. The value of capital assets—land, buildings, and equipment—decreased by 15 billion dollars during this period. Semi-liquid and miscellaneous assets, including receivables, inventories, investments in other enterprises, and intangibles, declined in value by 56 billion dollars. Holdings of cash and government securities, by contract, were 16 billion dollars higher in 1937 than in 1929."

Mr. Jordan points out that "Individuals are now saving as a whole far less annually in both absolute and relative amounts than a decade or two ago. The percentage of national income saved by individuals in recent years is not much more than half as great as it was in 1929."

And every student of social problems knows that wages can only be increased by furnishing better tools. This statement makes a dark picture for our future, let alone the prospect of war, that will greatly reduce the capital.

Miseducation. There is some very definite reason why this capital has been dissipated, and the reason is miseducation. And those who have done the most miseducating have been the public educators, some of the preachers, many of the columnists and publishers and most of the politicians. They would promise any pleasant, agreeable scheme in order to get the votes or business or contributions to give them power.

Majority rule democracy has always crumbled and died for this very reason. The great majority of people do not understand the necessity of saving or do not have the will-power to save.

HARDEN OR SOFTEN INTEREST RATES. Secretary Morgenthau says he doesn't "believe in taking any artificial means to harden interest rates." But that's about the way the rates were softened, isn't it?

THE NATION'S PRESS. In his direct statement before the House Foreign Affairs committee yesterday, Secretary Stimson complained that, under existing law, transfer or lease of "defense articles" is hedged about with so many diverse regulations that any effort to dispose of a complete unit of military equipment cannot be effected without "enormous delay. He advocated the pending lend-lease bill as obviating this difficulty. Afterward the following colloquy took place between him and Representative Hamilton Fish:

Mr. Fish.—Would you be opposed to a provision in the bill prohibiting the President's giving away any part of the Navy?

Mr. Stimson.—That question should be asked of the Secretary of the Navy, but on the knowledge I have of it, I should object to such a provision. I can conceive that certain portions of the Navy might very well be transferred to another country under conditions that would be advantageous to us, such as getting something better or other possible considerations.

An amazing answer, to which Congress must give careful attention. If the President could give away "certain portions" of the Navy, he could give away all of it except perhaps one skull. Apparently he alone would be judge of the "other possible considerations" advantageous to the United States.

The Secretary of War is disposed to be more generous with our Navy than a good many of his fellow countrymen will relish. Congress will do well to make sure that no such potentiality of danger shall be put uncontrolled into impulsive hands.

It is these "undecided" congressmen ask, unreasonable to suspect that in such case the administration might intervene anyway? It wouldn't need to transfer any ships or planes, and it wouldn't need to declare war. It might simply extend the "neutrality patrol," for instance, to the far side of the Atlantic, and put warships and combat planes to work conveying merchant vessels to Britain. The effect would be about the same, except that a good many American boys would be over there where the air is full of flying steel.

JUST MADE IT

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30.—It looks as if Man-from-Mars Orson Welles has struck again, this time spreading panic among some of the jumpy-nerved citizens of Hollywood.

The movie colony might have suspected that the past two years were an ominously quiet period in the normally eventful life of Orson Welles, even with all the pro-and-controversy which have buzzed around him and his long-delayed picture, "Citizen Kane." But nobody knew the nature or extent of the excitement that was brewing.

It may not sound exactly momentous when it is explained that a publisher named William Randolph Hearst, seems to have taken a notion that young Welles has been impersonating him in a movie. But there's more to it than that. Plenty. It may mean Orson Welles' career.

It is likely to put quite a strain on the collective courage of the motion picture industry, several executives of which already are hiding in bomb-proof "cellars" behind impenetrable walls of silence.

It is likely to bring Welles, through his familiar medium of the radio, into vocal opposition to a silent array of Hearst influence.

Recently, when a national magazine came out with a story and pictures pointing unflattering parallels between the story of Citizen Kane and the career of W. R. Hearst, a couple of attorneys, one of whom is an officer in the Hearst corporation, appeared in the RKO studios, and were allowed to view a rough cut of the film.

The atmosphere in the projection room during the showing was grim enough to have given an attack of fright to ordinary people.

Immediately afterward, through the representatives of Mr. Hearst sprang into action and began pulling wires with the speed of a troupe of cartoon players. It soon became clear that every important figure in the industry was being asked to aid in the squelching of "Citizen Kane," and George Schaefer, president of RKO, who has been a staunch supporter of the trouble-wooling Welles.

That was when a few of the boys went home with chills and fever or sped to hideouts in the desert.

Whether the picture, in which RKO has an investment of more than $1,000,000, will be shelved, revised or released as scheduled on Feb. 15, is a matter which probably will be settled by one of the bitterest undercurrent campaigns in the history of Movietown shenanigans.

Early developments point to a campaign of suppression. A Hollywood trade paper which previously praised Welles suddenly blasted him editorially as a costly failure and a menace to Hollywood's progress. But no charges were made which could be answered by Welles. Meanwhile the film colony hears the powerful head of a major studio has thrown his full weight against release of the picture "in the best interests of the whole industry."

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Writes the flame-fingered Westbrook Pegler: "For nearly 20 years Benny the Bum (the poor stumbling clown, Mussolini), was building this low-comedy army of his but now the record proves they weren't any good for anything but chasing unarmed savages with tanks and bombing planes. They have answered the bell four times and the only fight they won, was a felonious assault rather than a war on Haiti, Selesie's barefoot boys. Everybody else slapped them silly, and even when France was dying and Benny leaped in to take part in the kill, the fallen victim gave him a kick in the face which made him quit after a few kilometers. To realize what an absurd clown Mussolini is it is necessary only to observe that the English slapped his face, punks to sully a democracy, and his bang-eyes and made him run all the way home through crowded streets without his pants while the battle of Britain was raging with ferocity unequalled since Verdun. And this is the same tramp who was talking about the cowardly British and telling the world what he was going to do to them."

Speaking of Lindbergh, the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, the Hauptmann trial, were the subject of a heated conversation in a West Foster barber shop yesterday, since Verdem. And this is the same tramp who was talking about the cowardly British and telling the world what he was going to do to them."

HIGHLIGHTS FROM LATEST BOOKS

NOTHING ROMANTIC IN 'DELLIAH'—BUT YOU WON'T MISS IT

Her name was Delliah. Men loved her and hated her. Men fought for her, died for her. She was a destroyer in the U. S. Asiatic fleet.

Marcus Goodrich tells the story of this ship and the men who manned her in an exciting novel, "Delliah" (Farrar and Rinehart: $2.75). It's a man's story, about men, for men. There isn't a romantic moment in the book, unless you can call it romance when the Captain's wife sends a message, "I love you," to him via wig-wag, for the entire navy to read.

Goodrich is a navy man, served on a destroyer that undoubtedly provides the background for his story. He has worked, publishers report, some 20 years on this novel and one that is to follow.

He has to write a sequel, for no reader is going to be satisfied with the Delliah's story up to the declaration of war in 1917. There must be more, especially when you know that Goodrich's destroyer made a 12,000-mile dash from Manila to Gibraltar that fateful April, engaged the German raider, and was sunk after a year in the war zone.

Goodrich has crammed his story full of individual histories, giving an insight into the personal make-up of each officer and many of the men aboard the destroyer. There's the great O'Connell, a fighting Irishman; Warrington, the intellectual; Lieutenant Fitzpatrick, the Captain, and all the others, each individuality merged into the personality of the ship.

And as for action—there's the dash to a mutinous island with the monk who sang his way into power over the natives; there's the explosion on the summit; the shark's attack on the swimming party; adventure in the underground river; and the climactic madman's rage of a drunk sailor who battled a destroyer's crew.

TEX'S TOPICS

By Tex DeWesse

SEVERAL persons have suggested in the past few days that something ought to be started to get some government aid on a municipal airport out at Fairgrounds Park, east of town. They argue that the people of Pampa are not getting enough service out of the park for the money that has been spent on it. We're having some checking done on the possibilities, and if anybody has any ideas on the thing or possible uses for the park, shoot them along to us. . . . Perhaps with some combined thought on the matter something could be worked out. . . . In other words, we are inviting letters expressing your ideas about it.

Now is the time for the Junior Chamber of Commerce to begin working on a hot-spot idea for the annual Top O' Texas Fiesta to be held here in June. . . . There needs to be at least one outstanding drawing card. . . . Of course, there will be the usual entertainments for the old timers, a barbeque, dances, and all that—and it wouldn't be a fiesta without them—but, there also should be something that will draw the people from miles and miles around. . . . Somebody or something they don't get a chance to see every day in the year. . . . With the working of the proper angles, it can be done. . . . But, now is the time to start on it. . . . If anybody is interested we'll be glad to put them in touch with a man who will assist in trying to work something out along that line.

IN THE booth next to us the other night, three men became embroiled in a pretty hot argument over Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's idea many before the senate foreign affairs committee. . . . Two thought the colonel was nertz when he said he hoped neither side would win the war, and the third man was defending him for all he was worth. . . . The third man likewise jumped onto England saying that if Britain won the war the United States would get the well-known "works" when it was over. . . . Well, we would rather do along with the two men who said Lindbergh's idea was nertz. . . . Perhaps our judgment on that would be a little warped, though. . . . We never have forgotten the day we were in a group of newspapermen at Cleveland airport during the International Air Races when Lindbergh set his plane down, taxied to a stop in front of the stands filled with 100,000 persons. . . . When he found out he was to be the object of an interview, he wheeled his plane around, raced the motors, and gave the waiting newspapermen a dust bath.

We received this morning from Adolf Hitler (through his propaganda office at 17 Battery Place, New York City) a copy of his latest address to the people of Germany in which he pictures the Utopia that will be Germany after he has whipped the world. . . . The egotistical ex-paper-hanger lord of the German Reich apparently had some doubts in his own mind as to whether the Germans would swallow all the promises he made. . . . That is evidenced by these remarks he made at the conclusion of his honeyed speech. . . . Said Hitler: . . . "Should anyone say to me: 'These are mere fantastic dreams, mere visions,' I can only reply that when I set out on my course in 1919—as an unknown, nameless soldier I built my hopes of the future upon a most vivid imagination. . . . And, the mad man of Europe still has a vivid imagination."

THE content of this column has been so serious today that there are many who will not go for it. . . . Nobody will clip any of the things set down here. . . . Sometimes they do, we're told. . . . That's when the subject matter is light and airy, and has to do with something which hits nearer home. . . . Just so this column will not be too patrician and will lean a bit to the plebeian, we will report what Correspondent Ben Robertson, Jr., reports from London. . . . Says Ben: "Over here I am asked very often about love life in a city that is being blitzed. . . . Some-thing there seems to be the impression that London air raid shelters

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The declaration by Virginia Gayda, authoritative spokesman for Fascism, that America's aid for Britain is a violation of neutrality likely to involve us in war through "legitimate reaction" of the Axis powers, is in the nature of a threat or, shall we say, a promise of plentiful trouble.

Signor Gayda, who professionally reads the mind of Master Fascist Mussolini, says in effect that the time is coming when Italy and Germany will call us to account if we don't watch our step.

One would think that Italy, weakened as it is by defeats and economic distress, wasn't in position to tangle with the United States but, of course, Gayda regards himself as speaking in the name of Germany, which unquestionably is a mighty power.

The purpose of this effort to frighten us obviously is to hamstring a program of all-out aid for the Allies. In particular the Axis partners are anxious to prevent the strengthening of England pending Hitler's operations preliminary to an invasion—the crucial engagement of the war—if that attack is at all feasible.

That brings us very logically to the question of what specific line they would call us out if it served their interests, to have us involved. However, it would be a rash gamble, and one far removed from the usual military acumen of Germany, to drag us into the fray before the battle of Britain had been decided.

If that we have a right to assume that the thing Hitler fears most in the immediate future is involvement of any part of the United States navy in the European war. Entrance of an American fleet would end to nullify the U-boat campaign on which the Fuehrer is banking so much. It would provide a powerful counter to Axis operations in the Mediterranean. It would be a millionth about the neck of any Nazi force attempting an invasion across the English channel.

If therefore sounds like horse-sense for the Axis not to crack down on us before the big invasion. What might happen after that would depend on circumstances, and we have little thus far for guidance in making a guess.

Nazi Grand Admiral Raeder's prediction of German victory through British shipping losses would seem to be a tacit admission that the air hasn't the strength to turn the trick. It's up to the German submarine fleet.

Wheeler County Has Two New Oil Wells

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS SHAMROCK, Jan. 30.—Two completions and one location were reported during the past week in the Wheeler county oil field.

Completions were the G. C. English No. 1, Locke, in section 88, block 13, H. & G. N. survey which showed oil pay from a depth of 2,157 to 2,160 and was completed natural for 27 barrels on a railroad commission test and the T. G. Williams No. 5 Bentley in section 42, block 24, H. & G. N. survey which showed oil pay from 2,405 to 2,410 and completed natural for 20 barrels.

One location was listed for the county, that of the C. N. Ochiltree, No. 1, C. A. Morgan in section 90, block 13, H. & G. N. survey.

It is estimated by traffic authorities that on every school day 86,059 school buses transport 3,388,645 school children to 36,366 schools in the United States.

BORGER, PAMPA, KIRKLAND FAVORITES AT CANADIAN

Tourney May Be Prevue Of District Meet

The basketball tournament to be held at Canadian this week-end now begins to show signs of equaling in importance the district tournament to be held here the latter part of February.

Of course, the winner of the Canadian meet might not necessarily be the winner of the district meet, but when the Canadian meet is over Saturday night everybody is going to know who the strongest teams in the district will be.

Not only that but how the strongest teams in this district stack up against the leading quintets in other districts, notably the Childress district. It may be a prevue of the district meet.

When one thinks of the favorite in the Canadian tournament, one thinks right away of Borger, mainly because Borger has beaten every strong team in this section except Pampa.

But Pampa last night beat LeFors 49 to 23 and Borger beat LeFors 45 to 23 and 35 to 11. In other words, Pampa beat LeFors 26 points and Borger beat the Pirates 24 and 25 points. That's how close the two teams may play when they finally meet, but everybody senses that a terrific battle is in the offing when the two teams meet.

They may meet in the Canadian tournament. If not, then they will meet next week and the next when they play home and home games in the Big Five league. They face the prospect of meeting again in the district tournament, all in all it begins to look as if Borger and Pampa are going to resume a feud that will make the rivalry of three years back look like a croquet game.

But back to the Canadian tournament. If Borger is not the favorite, then Pampa may be, or Memphis, which has lost two games by Pampa by one or two points. Then there's Quail, which won the Shamrock tournament.

Perhaps most important of all is Kirkland which won the Childress tournament over Carey after the latter's Cardinals noded out Pampa by one point. In fact the Canadian tournament is almost going to be a tournament of tournament champions.

Coach Mitchell may enter two teams, his so-called "A" and "B" teams, which are about alike. This far most observers have not been able to see much difference in them.

The B team is scheduled to play Perryton at 3 o'clock and the Harvesters are due to play the winners of the Shamrock-Kelton game at 4 o'clock.

The boys' section schedule:
UPPER BRACKET
Pampa A team drew a bye.
Briscoe vs. Shamrock, 10 a. m., Friday, city hall.
Memphis vs. Phillips, 12 a. m., Friday, high school.
Panhandle drew a bye.

More than 36 teams have been entered in the tournament. The above schedule does not include the girls' contests. A dozen girls' teams are entered.

It is reported that during 10 months of the World War I, 50,510 American soldiers were killed, and during the last 19 months 52,010 persons have been killed in automobile accidents in the United States.

According to the latest reports, there are approximately 231,400 grade crossings in the United States.

Burman's Record Better Than Some Louis Victims

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—The fighting record of Clarence (Red) Burman, while it is not particularly inspiring, reveals at least that Red has more boxing getting in the ring with Joe Louis tomorrow night than had several alleged contenders who wangled bouts with the heavyweight champion.

Far be it from this corner to attempt to build up a quick case for Jack Dempsey's former chauffer. Not in the face of the 10 to 1 odds being quoted against him. He'll probably get stugged silly. But it is only fair to give Red his due now, before it happens to him.

Red has been a good, but not brilliant, journeyman fighter for nearly 10 years, starting as a bantamweight and building himself in to the big class by eating regularly. Since 1936, when he began meeting the better heavyweights, he has won many more fights than he has lost. He last was knocked out by John Henry Lewis in 1936, when he was a light-heavyweight.

Offhand, Red is more deserving of a championship shot than were Jack Roper, Harry Thomas, Johnny Payne, Al McCoy and John Henry Lewis, to list a few of Louis' victims. Nathan Mann, Arturo Godoy and Tommy Farr might be added to the list. Lewis had been a great fighter, but he was washed up when he met the Bomber. As for Tommy Farr, Burman won a decision over him in the Garden after the Welshman had gone his heroic 15 rounds with Louis.

So Burman is a long way from being the softest touch the hard-working champion has encountered. While a veteran in experience, Red still is young enough and strong enough to take a lot of beating, and there is nothing in his record to indicate he is a folder-upper.

Sure, Louis probably will pop him good. But, just the same, this has been a remarkably good season for the boys who are known as "club fighters," the ones who have trounced the country's smaller cities, scrapping every week or two and piling up experience.

Burman belongs to this bunch, and it is becoming dangerous to bet against them. Two of the ring-leaders, Fritzie Zivic and Ken Overlin, recently dropped into the Garden between sleeper jumps and grabbed off the welterweight and middleweight championships, respectively. The ring-wise old birds are making it tough on the youngsters.

This is about the best that can be said of Red's chances. He has considerable on his side, including a stout heart, but he happens to be meeting a great fighter tomorrow night. Louis probably got a poor fight out of his system against Al McCoy two months ago and will be razor keen for this one. When he's that way, it's simply not in the cards for him to lose to a man who is only good.

Demaret, Sneed And Oliver In Western Open

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 30. (AP)—Jimmy Demaret, Sammy Sneed and Ed Oliver, three of golf's top performers, put the finishing touches on their game today and each vowed he'd be in the thick of the championship fight in the $5,000 western open starting tomorrow.

Demaret, the defending titleholder; Sneed, who won top money in the pro-amateur prelude to the event, and Oliver, holder of the 18-hole record for the Phoenix Country club course, believe they have reached top form in the winter links tour.

"If I get any kind of a break, this tournament's in the bag," Demaret commented, and Sneed and Oliver echoed his words.

Oliver, who carried a 64, seven under par, for a course mark during the Phoenix open a year ago, complained that wet weather had handicapped his play during the professional troupe's western swing.

"I'm sure praying for a bright, sunshiny weekend," he said. "After all, it's pretty tough playing with a bunch of water moccasins."

Demaret, of Houston, Tex., burned up the course with a six under par 65 in yesterday's pro-amateur, finishing one stroke better than Sneed, the Hot Springs, Va., long-driving artist, Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill. veteran, carded a 67. Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa.; Clayton Heafner, Linville, N. C., and Johnny Bulla, Chicago, had 68. Oliver had a 69.

Edgar Gilder, a three times western open champion and former national open king, fired a disappointing 73.

Only 1 per cent of the accidents on dry roads involve skidding; on wet roads, the percentage is 27; while on snowy-icy roads, the percentage leaps to 50 per cent.

BLOCK THAT BASKET

It's Always Safe For Guard To Retreat; Player Can't Advance Rapidly Sidewise

When attempting to feint offensive man into moving, guard should keep body upright, with his weight balanced. If he makes a full lunge, as at right, he will be off balance and unable to guard against a quick cut in either direction.

By JEFF CARLIN
Famous Player and Coach
A weaving offense confuses many inexperienced basketball players. Confronted with this weaving attack, they often bump into one another on defense, halting each other and leaving paths open for the offense. There is no reason why this should happen.

Suppose, for example, one of the offensive players passes to a teammate, then cuts around behind him. The logical thing for his guard to do is to follow him, keeping fairly close. But if he does that, he is likely to bump into his fellow guard, who by that time will probably be moving across court in his direction.

To avoid collisions, the guard whose man received the ball last should give preference. He should be closer to the play. The guard watching the first player, who has gone toward the basket court before making a possible cut down the sideline, should step back before he goes across court. That way he will be out of the path of his teammate, and still will be able to pick up his man soon enough if he comes directly back into the offense.

Intramural Cage Playoff To Be Held Next Tuesday

The finals in the 8th-9th grade intramural basketball tournament will be played next Tuesday at 11 o'clock before the entire junior high school student body.

Room 79, coached by Harvey Hutton, will play Coach Billy Coy Sheehan's team from room 78. Hutton's team gained the way to the finals by defeating room 76 by a score of 20-4. Frank Pirauf was high-point man with eight tallies. Room 78 nosed out room 77, 6-5, for the right to play in the finals. Coach Robert Cotton's cagers from room 77 won third place in the tournament.

The coaches club, composed of one student coach from each home room, selected the following all-tournament intramural basketball team— forwards, Joe Cre and Charles Winborn; center, Frank Pirauf; guards, Robert Custer and Doyle Lane. Boys receiving honorable mention were Harvey Hutton, Robert Cotton, Clayton Noblitt, Gene Lane, Glen Coates, Melvin Spencer, Price Zimmerman, and Bill Gambelin.

The tournament was one of the most unusual basketball tournaments ever conducted in junior high schools. It was unusual in that the students conducted the tournament by themselves. The student coaches decided when the tournament was to be played, drew up the schedule, made the rules, officiated all the games, did all the substituting, scorekeeping, timekeeping, kept all records, and selected the all-tournament team. A total of 77 boys participated in the tournament. This represents 45 per cent of the boys enrolled in the eighth and ninth grades. The seventh grade intramural tournament will be started next week.

The junior high school physical education department favors a strong, well-organized intramural sports program. This type of program gives each student whether weak or strong an equal opportunity to participate in some form of physical activity. The program is democratic as each student has a part in the administration of the sport activities. An intramural program for girls similar to the one the boys use, is being carried and before the school year is over, 95 per cent of the student body will have taken part. Sponsor of the program is Jack Davis, Peewee coach.

6 Wichita Falls Players Given Their Releases

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 30.—The Wichita Falls baseball club of the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league has announced the release of six players that were with the club last season at Midland. The club was moved to Wichita Falls from Midland at the league meeting last fall.

Those released included Barney Barnhill, second baseman from Cisco; Ray Congour, first baseman from Houston; James Jennings, pitcher from Abilene; Edgar Lynn, pitcher from McKinney; Jack Rudes, catcher from Houston; and Scotty Williams, third baseman from Weatherford, Okla.

Business Manager Neal Rabe and Skipper Sammy Hale announced that 10 players had been signed for the club. The latest new players included Warren Kankay, left-handed pitcher from San Diego, Cal., an eighteen-year-old rookie with the club last year, and two local boys. The two local stars were Earl Dickman, an outfielder, and Dalton Denny, a pitcher.

Work on the new grandstand at the old site of Spudder park is rapidly nearing completion. The old clubhouse, which was saved when the last fire swept the old Texas league park, has been remodeled to care for the players coming to Wichita Falls for spring training.

'Second Team' Steals Show In Cage Win

The so-called Harvester "reserves" forwards and center, last night outscored starters in the same positions by 10 points as the Pampa basketball team routed LeFors 49 to 23.

In the first half a lineup composed of Terrell and Heiskell, forwards, Flanigan, center, and Mounts, Oats and Heiskell, guards, scored 20 points against the Pirates. In the second half Coach Mitchell sent in Enloe and C. Mitchell as forwards, Burge, center, and Mounts and Halter, guards.

In the third quarter this lineup did not score more points than the starters did in the first half, and in the third and fourth stanzas they rang up 29 points, compared with the 20 made by the "first string."

Now you can sort of understand why Coach Mitchell says he has no starting lineup. That's the way it has been all season. Sometimes one bunch is better, sometimes the other bunch is.

One reason—the starting lineup did not score more points than the reserves was because Grover Lee Heiskell, veteran forward, took only one shot at the basket—and made it. A dream child under the basket was Leslie Burge who led the scoring for the entire Harvester squad with 12 points. Next to him was Enloe, another "reserve," with 10 points. Halter made 5 points, Mounts 4, Flanigan 3, Heiskell 2, and Terrell 6. Burge made all his shots right under the basket after Mounts had passed him the ball. Mounts, a tricky passer, and Burge, who gets around good, worked a scoring act that was spectacular.

The ability to make free shots featured the playing of the LeFors boys who stood on the free throw line 20 times and swished the net 11. Earhart, who played the entire game, led both teams in scoring with 4 field goals and 6 free shots, a total of 14 points. Earhart thrilled the crowd with a series of long distance goals which the jackpot each time.

Reapers Win 16-15 With Goal In Last 20 Seconds

The Pampa junior high Reaper basketball team clinched a co-championship in the Panhandle Junior High Basketball league when they eked out a 16 to 15 win over Central junior high in Amarillo yesterday afternoon. Tomorrow night at 7 o'clock the Reapers play Sam Houston of Amarillo here to determine whether they become champions or co-champions with Sam Houston.

If they expect to win tomorrow night, the Reapers, or at least some of them, are going to have to play a lot more and better basketball than they played in Amarillo yesterday when they nearly handed the game away by bad passing, wild shooting and failure to coordinate plays.

It was Billy Joe Kuehl who gave the Reapers victory when he slipped a near center court shot through the hoop to end the scoring. Billy Coy Sheehan had kept the Reapers in the running with three field goals and two free shots up to that time, although he missed many setups.

Kuehl Hits Hoop
The Reapers failed to notch a single point until two minutes before the end of the first quarter when they led 5 to 0. The half saw the Reapers out in front 9 to 7. In the third quarter two more field goals and a free shot put the Reapers well in front but the lead disappeared when Redus and White dropped in long shots and Howe flipped three free shots in a row. With about a minute left to play Hall put Amarillo one point up. Then Sheehan got a free shot and made it. But Redus put Amarillo back in the running with a free shot and only seconds remained to play. The Reapers worked the ball fast and Kuehl was just past the mid-stripe and the ball swished the basket.

Sheehan, Robbins, Berry and Kuehl showed plenty of hustle but their ball handling was away off and their passing erratic. No one could hit the basket more than once out of four attempts.

Two games will be played here Friday night, the Reapers meeting Sam Houston at 7 o'clock and the Pampa junior high Peewees battling the Perryton Midgets in the second game.

Independents Lose First Game Of Year

Pampa's independent basketball team lost its first game of the season last night by dropping a 29 to 23 decision to the Shamrock faculty team in Shamrock. The game was wild and rough all the way with not a substitute available.

Tomorrow night the Pampa team goes to Amarillo for a game with the Canadian River Gassers, and on Saturday night they go to Adrian for a game.

Albert Ayer led the Pampa scoring with 10 points, followed by Irving with six, Dean with three, and Orville Heiskell and Strickland with two each. Claude Heiskell, regular guard, did not make the trip.

Most elongated forward, was high scorer on the floor with 12 points, one more than Walker, center. Puett and McCall made three points each. Kline rounded out the Irish team.

Un-Huddling The Government

Bitter are the lessons being written in blood across Europe today—and woe to him who will not learn them! One of them seems to be this: there is danger in too great centralization. That is: if all your government offices are huddled in one small area, all your steel works huddled in another, all your auto and munitions plants in another, all your boat-building facilities in another, so much greater the chance of a single crippling blow by some overwhelming bombing raid. That country is best off whose productive facilities are so scattered that a whole series of successful blows might not necessarily cripple it.

The war has centered attention on decentralization. New powder, plane, and munitions plants are being built in remote places which had hitherto been without great industries, even without great populations. And this at a time when the tide of people flocking to the cities seems to have reversed itself and for the first time the census figures show an increase in the rural population.

But against this tide swims government. The population of Washington has grown 26 per cent since 1930, a rate of increase exceeded only by Miami and San Diego. It has slipped over its limits, and Arlington county, across the Potomac in Virginia, is the fastest-growing county in the United States. Office buildings cannot be built fast enough to hold the bulging bureaus; rents skyrocket.

One answer has been proposed by Representative Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. He has introduced into the House a resolution which would call for moving many government bureaus bodily from Washington to other cities. Even allowing for Dirksen's probable direct interest in getting some of them for Chicago or for his native Pekin district, maybe this is worth thinking about.

Dirksen argues that $100,000,000 was spent last year by officials in travel from Washington to other places where government business was being done; that many of the functions of government, like social security, railroad control of various kinds, census bureau, housing and home loan work, maritime controls, WPA, CCC, veterans' work, and agricultural aid, could just as efficiently and perhaps more economically be discharged in other parts of the country.

Does too great a concentration of the nation's life blood for safety pass through Washington? New York? Chicago? Detroit? Ought we to begin thinking seriously of doing something about it?

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—You can't hope to understand the fight over the lend-lease bill unless you realize how clearly the specter of war-by-April is visible to many men on Capitol Hill.

These men may be seeing things. That specter may be a product of their own imaginations, a creation of partisanship gone cockeyed. But the point is that the specter is really there.

Senator Wheeler and other isolationists figure it out like this:
1. The administration says there is no time to waste, that a crisis in the war is coming fast, and that within 90 days or less England may get to a point where extra aid from the United States will mean the difference between final victory and immediate defeat.

2. Yet, say the isolationists, when William S. Knudsen urged the House Foreign Affairs Committee to pass the bill he admitted that it will be a good six months before the defense program has things moving off the assembly lines in real quantity. The power to lump British and U. S. production is important, but it can't—by Knudsen's own word—have much practical effect before mid-summer.

3. If that is so, and if the war crisis is due within three months, Senator Wheeler and his followers can't see any reason for a big rush about passing the lend-lease bill—except that the administration wants the power to send Britain what the U. S. has now, without waiting for the defense program to swing into high and without waiting for any further authorization from Congress.
By this line of reasoning, the expected spring crisis is just down the road, not blizzkrieg, or what-not would find parts of the U. S. navy steaming to British waters, plus all or part of the U. S. air fleet, plus such mechanized forces as might be needed. American boys wouldn't be riding in them, but the final effect might not be a great deal different.

THAT'S SIZE OF IT

Off the record, administration senators admit that it is just about the size of it and that the desire to get authority to make such transfers is the real reason for the hurry to get the bill passed. They disagreed, however, that such transfers would be equivalent to war. On the contrary, they insist this program offers the best means of ensuring that American boys won't have to fight—assuming, as the administration does assume, that the crisis is due early in the spring.

There is still another angle pointed out by some congressmen who haven't lined up yet, either for or against the lend-lease bill. It goes like this:
This administration is as fully committed as a government can be to the proposition that it isn't going to stand by and see England beaten. Suppose the lend-lease bill passes, and that the crisis does come as anticipated and finds the United States government powerless to transfer the ships and planes

By R. C. HOILES

This column contains there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

BOTTLENECK IN PRODUCTION

In a rapid increase in production there seems to be two bottlenecks instead of one, as many people seem to have been thinking. It is pretty generally agreed that there is a bottleneck in skilled machinist employes but there is another very serious bottleneck.

In an address by Virgil Jordan, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, he has the following to say:

Capital Depleted

"Few realize the extent to which the capital resources of the country, both in physical and financial terms, have been depleted and dissipated during this decade. When this war began our industrial plant was in poor condition and our enterprise organization was nearly broke. The studies of the Conference Board show that from 1929 to 1938, in three consecutive years, American business as a whole drew upon its capital to the extent of nearly 41 1/2 billion dollars, almost wiping out the 46 billion dollars of business savings accumulated between 1916 and 1929. The annual capital dissipation in American business reached a maximum of 11 billion dollars in 1932, and even in 1938, the latest year for which the Board's estimates are available, the income of American business as a whole fell short of dividends and entrepreneurial withdrawal by 2 1/2 billion dollars."

And, yet, a lot of people who have not made a careful study of how wealth is produced and how wages are raised have been contending that we had plenty of capital. Of course, these people believed what they wished—they believed it was not necessary for people to sacrifice in order to have capital. It is a very pleasant and agreeable belief. No one likes to save, but some one must save and sacrifice and, without present consumption, if the amount of capital is to be even retained, let alone increased, as is necessary to take care of a larger population and constantly raise the standard of living of all workers.

The same author continues by saying: "Total assets of American corporations declined in value by 69 billion dollars between 1929 and the end of 1933. Up to the end of 1927 only 14 billion dollars of this loss had been recovered. Of the net decline of 55 billion dollars from 1929 to 1937, nearly half or 46 per cent, involved the dissipation of actual physical assets through current expenditures in excess of income. The value of capital assets—land, buildings, and equipment—decreased by 15 billion dollars during this period. Semi-liquid and miscellaneous assets, including receivables, inventories, investments in other enterprises, and intangibles, declined in value by 56 billion dollars. Holdings of cash and government securities, by contract, were 16 billion dollars higher in 1937 than in 1929."

Mr. Jordan points out that "Individuals are now saving as a whole far less annually in both absolute and relative amounts than a decade or two ago. The percentage of national income saved by individuals in recent years is not much more than half as great as it was in 1929."

And every student of social problems knows that wages can only be increased by furnishing better tools. This statement makes a dark picture for our future, let alone the prospect of war, that will greatly reduce the capital.

Miseducation

There is some very definite reason why this capital has been dissipated, and the reason is miseducation. And those who have done the most miseducating have been the public educators, some of the preachers, many of the columnists and publishers and most of the politicians. They would promise any pleasant, agreeable scheme in order to get the votes or business or contributions to give them power.

Majority rule democracy has always crumbled and died for this very reason. The great majority of people do not understand the necessity of saving or do not have the will-power to save.

HARDEN OR SOFTEN INTEREST RATES

Secretary Morgenthau says he doesn't "believe in taking any artificial means to harden interest rates." But that's about the way the rates were softened, isn't it?

The Nation's Press

FREEHANDED MR. STIMSON

In his direct statement before the House Foreign Affairs committee yesterday, Secretary Stimson complained that, under existing law, transfer or lease of "defense articles" is hedged about with so many diverse regulations that any effort to dispose of a complete unit of military equipment cannot be effected without "anomalous delay." He advocated the pending lend-lease bill as obviating this difficulty. Afterward the following colloquy took place between him and Representative Hamilton Fish.

Mr. Fish—Would you be opposed to a provision in the bill prohibiting the President's giving away any part of the Navy?
Mr. Stimson—That question should be asked of the Secretary of the Navy, but on the knowledge I have of it, I should object to such a provision. I can conceive that certain portions of the Navy might very well be transferred to another country under conditions that would be advantageous to us, such as getting something better or other possible considerations.

An amazing answer, to which Congress must give careful attention. If the President could give away "certain portions" of the Navy, he could give away all of it except perhaps one skiff. Apparently he alone would be judge of the "other possible considerations" advantageous to the United States.

The Secretary of War is disposed to be more generous with our Navy than a good many of his fellow countrymen will relish. Congress will be most unwise if it gives any such blanket authority to the President. In the exercise of that authority, the President would naturally have to depend upon the prudence of his advisers, one of whom is Mr. Stimson. If this answer is a fair measure of Mr. Stimson's prudence, Congress will do well to make sure that no such potentiality of danger shall be put uncontrolled into impulsive hands.

that would make the difference between victory and defeat.
Is it, these "undecided" congressmen ask, unreasonable to suspect that in such case the administration might intervene anyway? It wouldn't need to transfer any ships or planes, and it wouldn't need to declare war. It might simply extend the "neutrality patrol," for instance, to the far side of the Atlantic, and put warships and combat planes to work conveying merchant vessels to Britain. The effect would be about the same, except that a good many American boys would be over there where the air is full of flying steel.

JUST MADE IT

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30.—It looks as if Man-from-Mars Orson Welles has struck again, this time spreading panic among some of the jumpy-nerved citizens of Hollywood.

The movie colony might have suspected that the past two years were an ominous quiet period in the normally eventful life of Orson Welles, even with all the pro-and-controversy which have buzzed around him and his long-delayed picture, "Citizen Kane."

Recently, when a national magazine assured that a war on anybody else slapped them silly, and even when France was dying and Benny leaped in to take part in the kill, the fallen victim gave him a kick in the face which made him quit after a few kilometers. To realize what an absurd clown Mussolini is it is necessary only to observe that the English slapped his face, pulled his silly cap down over his bulging eyes and made him run all the way home through crowded streets without his pants while the battle of Britain was raging with ferocious unequalled since Verdun. And this is the same tramp who was talking about the cowardly British and telling the world what he was going to do to them.

Speaking of Lindbergh, the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, the Hauptmann trial, were the subject of a heated conversation in a West Foster barber shop yesterday. Artie E. Shaw, student in Curtiss-Wright Technical Institute of Aeronautics, Glendale, Calif., now in Pampa believes that "Lindbergh is as dangerous to America as democracy as the most deadly saboteur America has today. My friends everywhere are denouncing Lindbergh for his lack of patriotism. Let's join together and fight every opposition to democracy and keep America as it is today, and help Great Britain defeat the monster of Europe!"

Mr. Stimson—That question should be asked of the Secretary of the Navy, but on the knowledge I have of it, I should object to such a provision. I can conceive that certain portions of the Navy might very well be transferred to another country under conditions that would be advantageous to us, such as getting something better or other possible considerations.

An amazing answer, to which Congress must give careful attention. If the President could give away "certain portions" of the Navy, he could give away all of it except perhaps one skiff. Apparently he alone would be judge of the "other possible considerations" advantageous to the United States.

The Secretary of War is disposed to be more generous with our Navy than a good many of his fellow countrymen will relish. Congress will be most unwise if it gives any such blanket authority to the President. In the exercise of that authority, the President would naturally have to depend upon the prudence of his advisers, one of whom is Mr. Stimson. If this answer is a fair measure of Mr. Stimson's prudence, Congress will do well to make sure that no such potentiality of danger shall be put uncontrolled into impulsive hands.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Writes the flange-fingered Westbrook Pegler: "For nearly 20 years Benny the Bum (the poor stumbling clown, Mussolini), was building this low-comedy army of his but now the record proves they weren't any good for anything but chasing unarmed savages with tanks and bombing planes. They have answered the bell four times and the only fight they won was a felonious assault rather than a war on anybody else slapped them silly, and even when France was dying and Benny leaped in to take part in the kill, the fallen victim gave him a kick in the face which made him quit after a few kilometers. To realize what an absurd clown Mussolini is it is necessary only to observe that the English slapped his face, pulled his silly cap down over his bulging eyes and made him run all the way home through crowded streets without his pants while the battle of Britain was raging with ferocious unequalled since Verdun. HIGHLIGHTS FROM LATEST BOOKS

NOTHING ROMANTIC IN 'DELLIAH'—BUT YOU WON'T MISS IT

Her name was Delliah. Men loved her and hated her. Men fought for her, died for her. She was a destroyer in the U. S. Asiatic fleet.

Marcus Goodrich tells the story of this ship and the men who manned her in an exciting novel, "Delliah" (Farrar and Rinehart, $2.75). It's a man's story, about men, for men. There isn't a romantic moment in the book, unless you can call it romance when the Captain's wife sends a message, "I love you," to him via wireless, for the entire navy to read.

Goodrich is a navy man, served on a destroyer that undoubtedly provided the background for his story. He has worked, publishers report, some 20 years on this novel and one that is to follow.

He has to write a sequel, for no reader is going to be satisfied with the Delliah's story up to the declaration of war in 1917. There must be more, especially when you know that Goodrich's destroyer made a 12,000-mile dash from Manila to Gibraltar that fateful April, engaged submarines, and was sunk after a year in the war zone.

Goodrich has crammed his story full of individual histories, giving an insight into the personal make-up of each officer and many of the men aboard the destroyer. There's the great O'Connell, a fighting Irishman; Warrington, the intellectual; Lieutenant Fitzpatrick, the Captain, and all the others, each individually merged into the personality of the ship.

And as for action—there's the dash to a mutinous island with the monk who sang his way into power on the submarine; liberty parties; the shark's attack on the swimming party; adventure in the underground river; and the climactic madman's rage of a drunk sailor who battled a destroyer's crew.

When you finish the book, too, you have a feeling that you, too, have been on the Delliah's crew.

BALLADS AND BALLOTS

Music often plays an important part as words in any election campaign and many a candidate has received as much push toward the presidency from his campaign song as from his speeches. Both parties united on "God Bless America" in the recent campaign, but how many of this time's campaign predecessors do you recall?

1. What defeated presidential candidate campaigned with "Sidewalks of New York?"
2. What did the candidates that used "Home in the Old Town" and "Happy Days are Here Again," have in common?
3. In what campaign was "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too" used?
4. What song states that the candidate "came out of the wilderness?"
5. What Republican candidate used a Stephen Foster song as a campaign tune during the past decade?

TEX'S TOPICS

SEVERAL persons have suggested in the past few days that something ought to be started to get some government aid on a municipal airport out at Fairgrounds Park, east of town. . . . They argue that the people of Pampa are not getting enough service out of the park for the money that has been spent on it. . . . We're having some checking done on the possibilities, and if anybody has any ideas on the thing or possible uses for the park, shoot them along to us. . . . Perhaps with some combined thought on the matter something could be worked out. . . . In other words, we are inviting letters expressing your ideas about it.

Now is the time for the Junior Chamber of Commerce to begin working on a hot-shot idea for the annual Top O' Texas Fiesta to be held here in June. . . . There needs to be at least one outstanding drawing card. . . . Of course, there will be the usual entertainments for the old timers, a barbeque, dances, and all that—and it wouldn't be a fiesta without them—but, there also should be something that will draw the people from miles and miles around. . . . Somebody or somebody else don't get a chance to see every day in the year. . . . With the working of the proper angles, it can be done. . . . But, now is the time to start on it. . . . If anybody is interested we'll be glad to put them in touch with a man who will assist in trying to work something out along that line.

IN THE booth next to us the other night, three men became embroiled in a pretty hot argument over Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's testimony before the senate foreign affairs committee. . . . Two thought the colonel was nertz when he said he hoped neither side would win the war, and the third man was defending him for all he was worth. . . . The third man likewise jumped onto England saying that if Britain won the war the United States would get the well-known "works" when it was over. . . . Well, we would rather go along with the two men who said Lindbergh's idea was nertz. . . . Perhaps our judgment on that would be a little warped, though. . . . We never have forgotten the day we were in a group of newspapermen at Cleveland airport during the International Air Races when Lindbergh set his plane down, taxied to a stop in front of the stands filled with 100,000 persons. . . . When he found out he was to be the object of an interview, he wheeled his plane around, raced the motors, and gave the waiting newspapermen a dust bath.

We received this morning from Adolf Hitler (through his propaganda office at 17 Battery Place, New York City) a copy of his latest address to the people of Germany in which he pictures the Utopia that will be Germany after he has whipped the world.

The epistolical ex-papier-hanger lord of the German reich apparently has some doubts in his own mind as to whether the Germans would swallow all the promises he made. . . . That is evidenced by these remarks he made at the conclusion of his honeyed speech. . . . Said Hitler: "I think we have a right to assume that the thing Hitler fears most in the immediate future is involvement of any part of the United States navy in the European war."

Entrance of an American fleet would end to nullify the U-boat campaign on which the Fuehrer is banking so much. It would provide a powerful counter to Axis operations in the Mediterranean. It would be a millionth about the neck of any Nazi force attempting an invasion across the English channel. . . . It therefore sounds like horse-sense for the Axis not to crack down on us before the big invasion. What might happen after that would depend on circumstances, and we have little thus far for guidance in making a guess.

Nazi Grand Admiral Raeder's prediction of German victory through British shipping losses would seem to be a tacit admission that the air arm hasn't got strength to turn the trick. It's up to the German submarine fleet.

Wheeler County Has Two New Oil Wells

SHAMROCK, Jan. 30.—Two completions and one location were reported during the past week in the Wheeler county oil field.

Completions were the G. C. English No. 1, Locke, in section 28, block 13 H. & G. N. survey which showed oil pay from a depth of 2,157 to 2,100 and was completed natural for 27 barrels on a railroad commission test and the T. G. Williams No. 5 Bentley in section 42, block 24, H. & G. N. survey which showed oil pay from 2,405 to 2,410 and completed natural for 20 barrels.

One location was listed for the county, that of the C. N. Ochiltree, No. 1 C. A. Morgan in section 80, block 13, H. & G. N. survey.

It is estimated by traffic authorities that on every school day 86,099 school buses transport 3,888,645 school children to 36,366 schools in the United States.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
The declaration by Virginia Gayda, authoritative spokesman for Fascism, that America's aid for Britain is a violation of neutrality likely to involve us in war through "legitimate reaction" of the Axis powers, is in the nature of a threat or, shall we say, a promise of plentiful trouble.
Signor Gayda, who professionally reads the mind of Master Fascist Mussolini, says in effect that the time is coming when Italy and Germany will call us to account if we don't watch our step.
One would think that Italy, weakened as it is by defeats and economic distress, wasn't in position to tangle with the United States but, of course, Gayda regards himself as speaking also in the name of Germany, which unquestionably is a mighty power.
The purpose of this effort to frighten us obviously is to hamstring a program of all-out aid for the Allies. In particular the Axis partners are anxious to prevent the strengthening of England pending Hitler's operations preliminary to an invasion—the crucial engagement of the war—if that attack is at all feasible.
That brings us very logically to the question of what specific line the Axis may be expected to take if we continue helping Britain. Is there a possibility that Messrs. Mussolini and Hitler will challenge us to mortal combat and force us into the war?
There are many indications that they would call us out if it served their interests to have us involved. However, it would be a rash gamble, and one far removed from the usual military acumen of Germany, to drag us into the fray before the battle of Britain had been decided.
I think we have a right to assume that the thing Hitler fears most in the immediate future is involvement of any part of the United States navy in the European war.

BORGER, PAMPA, KIRKLAND FAVORITES AT CANADIAN

Tourney May Be Prevue Of District Meet

The basketball tournament to be held at Canadian this week-end now begins to show signs of equaling in importance the district tournament to be held here the latter part of February.

Of course, the winner of the Canadian meet might not necessarily be the winner of the district meet, but when the Canadian meet is over Saturday night everybody is going to know who the strongest teams in the district will be.

Not only that but how the strongest teams in the district will meet next week and the next when they play home and home games in the Big Five league. They face the prospect of meeting again in the district tournament. All in all it begins to look as if Borger and Pampa are going to resume a rivalry that will make the rivalry of three years back look like a croquet game.

But back to the Canadian tournament. If Borger is not the favorite, then Pampa may be, or Memphis, which has lost two games by Pampa by one or two points. There's Quail, which won the Shamrock tournament.

Perhaps most important of all is Kirkland which won the Childrens tournament over Carey after the latter's Cardinals nosed out Pampa by one point. In fact the Canadian tournament is almost going to be a tournament of tournament champions.

Coach Mitchell may enter two teams, his so-called "A" and so-called "B" teams, which are about alike. Thus far most observers have not been able to see much difference in them.

The B team is scheduled to play Perryton at 3 o'clock and the Harvesters are due to play the winner of the Shamrock-Kelton game at 4 o'clock.

The boys' section schedule: UPPER BRACKET Pampa A team drew a bye. Briscoe vs. Shamrock, 10 a. m., Friday, city hall.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 30. (P)—Jimmy Demaret, Sammy Sneed and Ed Oliver, three of golf's top performers, put the finishing touches on their game today and each vowed he'd be in the thick of the championship fight in the $5,000 western open starting tomorrow.

Demaret, the defending titleholder; Sneed, who won top money in the pro-amateur prelude to the event; and Oliver, holder of the 18-hole record for the Phoenix Country club course, believe they have reached top form in the winter links tour.

It is reported that during 19 months of the World War I, 50,510 American soldiers were killed, and during the last 19 months 52,010 persons have been killed in automobile accidents in the United States.

According to the latest reports, there are approximately 231,400 grade crossings in the United States.

Burman's Record Better Than Some Louis Victims

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—The fighting record of Clarence (Red) Burman, while it is not particularly inspiring, reveals at least that Red has more business getting in the ring with Joe Louis tomorrow night than had several alleged contenders who wangled bouts with the heavyweight champion.

Far be it from this corner to attempt to build up a quick case for Jack Dempsey's former chauffeur. Not in the face of the 10 to 1 odds being quoted against him. He'll probably get slugged silly. But it is only fair to give Red his due now, before it happens to him.

Red has been a good, but not brilliant, journeyman fighter for nearly 10 years, starting as a bananaweight and building himself into the big class by eating regularly. Since 1932, when he began meeting the better heavyweights, he has won many more fights than he has lost.

He last was knocked out by John Henry Lewis in 1936, when he was a light-heavy.

Offhand, Red is more deserving of a championship shot than were Jack Roper, Harry Thomas, Johnny Paycheck, Al McCoy and John Henry Lewis, to list a few of Louis' victims.

Nathan Mann, Arturo Godims and Tommy Farr might be added to the list. Lewis had a great fighter, but he was washed up when he met the Bomber. As for Tommy Farr, Burman won a decision over him in the Garden after the Welshman had gone his heroic 15 rounds with Louis.

So Burman is a long way from being the softest touch the hard-working champion has encountered. While a veteran in experience, Red still is young enough and strong enough to take a lot of beating, and there is nothing in his record to indicate he is a folder-upper.

Sure, Louis probably will pop him good. But, just the same, this has been a remarkably good season for the boys who are known as "club fighters," the ones who have trouped the country's smaller cities, scraping every week or two and piling up experience.

Burman belongs to this bunch, and is becoming dangerous to bet against them. Two of the ring leaders, Fritzie Zivic and Ken Overlin, recently dropped into the Garden between sleeper jumps and grabbed off the welterweight and middleweight championships, respectively. The ring-wise old birds are making it tough on the youngsters.

This is about the best that can be said of Red's chances. He has considerable on his side, including a stout heart, but he happens to be meeting a great fighter tomorrow night. Louis probably got a poor fight out of his system against Al McCoy two months ago and will be razor keen for this one. When he's that way, it's simply not in the cards for him to lose to a man who is only good.

Demaret, Sneed and Oliver in Western Open PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 30. (P)—Jimmy Demaret, Sammy Sneed and Ed Oliver, three of golf's top performers, put the finishing touches on their game today and each vowed he'd be in the thick of the championship fight in the $5,000 western open starting tomorrow.

BLOCK THAT BASKET

It's Always Safe For Guard To Retreat; Player Can't Advance Rapidly Sidewise

When attempting to feint offensive man into moving, guard should keep body upright with his weight balanced. If he makes a full lung as he retreats, he will be off balance and unable to guard against a quick cut in either direction.

By JEFF CARLIN Famous Player and Coach A weaving offense confuses many inexperienced basketball players. Confronted with this weaving attack, they often bump into one another on defense, halting each other and leaving paths open for the offense. There is no reason why this should happen.

Suppose, for example, one of the offensive players passes to a teammate, then cuts around behind him. The logical thing for his guard to do is to follow him, keeping fairly close. But if he does that, he is likely to bump into his fellow guard, who by that time will probably be moving across court in his direction.

To avoid collisions, the guard whose man received the ball last should be given preference. He should be closer to the play. The guard watching the first player, who has gone toward the basket, should step back before he goes across court. That way he will be out of the path of his teammate, and still will be able to pick up his man soon enough if he comes directly back into the offense.

Intramural Cage Playoff To Be Held Next Tuesday

The finals in the 8th-9th grade intramural basketball tournament will be played next Tuesday at 11 o'clock before the entire junior high school student body.

Room 79, coached by Harvey Hutton, will play Coach Billy Coy Sheehan's team from room 78. Hutton's team gained the way to the finals by defeating room 76 by a score of 20-4. Frank Prieau was high-point man with eight tallies. Room 78 nosed out room 77, 6-5, for the right to play in the finals. Coach Robert Cotton's cagers from room 77 won third place in the tournament.

The coaches club, composed of one student coach from each home room, selected the following all-tournament intramural basketball team— forwards, Joe Cree and Charles Winborn; center, Frank Prieau; guards, Robert Gueter and Doyle Lane. Boys receiving honorable mention were Harvey Hutton, Robert Cotton, Clayton Noblitt, Gene Lane, Glen Coates, Melvin Spencer, Fritz Zimmerman, and Bill Gambelin.

The tournament was one of the most unusual basketball tournaments ever conducted in junior high schools. It was unusual in that the students conducted the tournament by themselves. The student coaches decided when the tournament was to be played, drew up the schedule, made the rules, officiated all the games, did all the substituting, scorekeeping, timekeeping, kept all records, and selected the all-tournament team. A total of 77 boys participated in the tournament.

6 Wichita Falls Players Given Their Releases WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 30.—The Wichita Falls baseball club of the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league has announced the release of six players that were with the club last season at Midland. The club was moved to Wichita Falls from Midland at the league meeting last fall.

Those released included Barney Barnhill, second baseman from Cisco; Ray Congour, first baseman from Houston; James Jennings, pitcher from Abilene; Edgar Lynn, pitcher from McKinney; Jack Rudes, catcher from Houston; and Scotty Williams, third baseman from Weatherford, Okla.

Business Manager Neal Rabe and Skipper Sammy Hale announced that 10 players had been signed for the club. The latest new players included Warren Kanagy, left-handed pitcher from San Diego, Cal., an eighteen-year-old rookie with the club last year, and two local boys. The two local stars were Earl Dickens, an outfielder, and Dalton Denny, a pitcher.

Work on the new grandstand at the old site of Spudder park is rapidly nearing completion. The old clubhouse, which was saved when the last fire swept the old Texas league park, has been remodeled to care for the players coming to Wichita Falls for spring training.

'Second Team' Steals Show In Cage Win

The so-called Harvester "reserves" forwards and center, last night outscored starters in the same positions by 10 points as the Pampa basketball team routed LeFors 49 to 23.

In the first half a lineup composed of Terrell and Heiskell, forwards, Flanigan, center, and Mounds, Otts, and Heiskell, guards, scored 20 points against the Pirates. In the second half Coach Mitchell sent in Enloe and C. Mitchell as forwards, Burge, center, and Mounds and Halter, guards.

In the third quarter this lineup scored one more point than the starters did in the first half, and in the third and fourth stanzas they rang up 29 points, compared with the 20 made by the "first string."

Now you can sort of understand why Coach Mitchell says he has no first string, no starting lineup. That's the way it has been all season. Sometimes one bunch is better, sometimes the other bunch is.

One reason the starting lineup did not score more points last night was because Grover Lee Heiskell, veteran forward, took only one shot at the basket—and made it. A dream child under the basket was Leslie Burge who led the scoring for the entire Harvester squad with 12 points. Next to him was Enloe, another "reserve," with 10 points.

Halter made 5 points, Mounds 4, Flanigan 3, Heiskell 2, and Terrell 6. Burge made all his shots right under the basket after Mounds had passed him the ball. Mounds, a tricky passer, and Burge, who gets around good, worked a scoring act that was spectacular.

The ability to make free shots featured the playing of the LeFors boys who stood on the free throw line 20 times and swished the net 11. Earhart, who played the entire game, led both teams in scoring with 4 field goals and 6 free shots, a total of 14 points. Earhart thrilled the crowd with a series of long distance goals which the jackpot each time.

Reapers Win 16-15 With Goal In Last 20 Seconds

The Pampa junior high Reapers basketball team clinched a co-championship in the Panhandle Junior High Basketball league when they eked out a 16 to 15 win over Central junior-high in Amarillo yesterday afternoon. Tomorrow night at 7 o'clock the Reapers play Sam Houston of Amarillo here to determine whether they become champions or co-champions with Sam Houston.

If they expect to win tomorrow night, the Reapers, or at least some of them, are going to have to play a lot more and better basketball than they played in Amarillo yesterday when they nearly handed the game away by bad passing, wild shooting and failure to coordinate plays.

It was Billy Joe Kuehl who gave the Reapers victory when he slipped a near center court shot through the hoop to end the scoring. Billy Coy Sheehan had kept the Reapers in the running with three field goals and two free shots up to that time, although he missed many setups.

Kuehl Hits Hoop The Reapers failed to notch a single point until two minutes before the end of the first quarter when they led 5 to 0. The half saw four Reapers out in front 9 to 7. In the third quarter two more field goals and a free shot put the Reapers well in front but the lead disappeared when Redus and White dropped in long shots and Howe flipped three free shots in a row. With about a minute left to play Hall put Amarillo one point up. Then Sheehan got a free shot and made it. But Redus put Amarillo back in the running with a free shot and only seconds remained to play. The Reapers worked the ball fast and Kuehl was just past the mid-stripe and the ball swished the basket.

Sheehan, Robbins, Berry and Kuehl showed plenty of hustle but their ball handling was away off and their passing erratic. No one could hit the basket more than once out of four attempts.

Coach Bill McCasland used 16 players, switching from zone to man to man and back to zone defense which baffled the Reapers.

Two Games Friday Two games will be played here Friday night, the Reapers meeting Sam Houston at 7 o'clock and the Pampa junior high Peewees battling the Perryton Midgets in the second game.

Admission to the games will be 5 and 10 cents. Sam Houston of Amarillo has been defeated only once, by the Reapers who nosed them out by four points in Amarillo. Since then the Sam Houston team has improved greatly, defeating all comers by large scores. Last night they downed Horace Mann of Amarillo 28 to 18.

Coach C. P. McWright of the

Independents Lose First Game Of Year

Pampa's independent basketball team lost its first game of the season last night by dropping a 29 to 23 decision to the Shamrock faculty team in Shamrock. The game was wild and rough all the way with not a substitute available.

Tomorrow night the Pampa team goes to Amarillo for a game with the Canadian River Gassers, and on Saturday night they go to Adrian for a game.

Albert Ayer led the Pampa scoring with 10 points, followed by Irving with six, Dean with three, and Orville Heiskell and Strickland with two each. Claude Heiskell, regular guard, did not make the trip.

Moss, elongated forward, was high scorer on the floor with 12 points, one more than Walker, center. Fuett and McCall made three points each. Kline rounded out the Irish team.

Reapers planned a long hard workout for his Reapers this afternoon in an effort to get them back in the smooth groove which has featured their play all season.

They were lucky to pull yesterday's game out of the fire: The box score: REAPERS (16)

Frome Suspect Data Mailed To El Paso

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 30. (AP)—Detective Chief Stanley D. Decker said today he had mailed to Sheriff Chris Fox of El Paso, the description and photograph of a possible suspect in the slaying near Van Horn, Tex., in April, 1938, of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her 20-year-old daughter, Nancy, of Oakland, Calif.

Decker said he mailed the material last night after receiving certain information from two Alameda, Calif., sisters, whose names he would not reveal. He also refused any information concerning the identity of the possible suspect.

The sisters, he said, were the ones who gave information that led to the second degree murder conviction of Pete J. Peach, accused of slaying A. W. Williams, Axtel, Ariz., service station operator, about a month after the Fromes were killed.

Decker asserted that in the Williams slaying case the sisters introduced over to authorities a suitcase containing some of Williams' belongings which Peach, a former employee of the victim, left at their home.

SERIAL STORY

CONSCRIPT'S WIFE

BY BETTY WALLACE

Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY: Suzanne regrets the damage in done. Bill... the hospital without another word to Paul. Maria begs him to believe in her; tells him Paul has come a long, true friend to Bill and to her. Bill believes, but tells Maria to quit her job, to stop seeing Paul.

fore Bill became a soldier. They tramped the woods beyond the camp, they sat for hours in the car, talking and making plans for the future. Once in a while, Bill asked casually, "See anybody from home?" She always said, "No. How would I?"

sometime. Maybe even drive over." His eyes watched her. "Do you mean Suzanne? Or my landlady?" He dropped it. But the next week, he was at it again. And now Martha realized that this was serious. This was what occupied his mind, when it should be on soldiering.

GREEN-EYED MONSTERS CHAPTER XXII MARTHA MARSHALL never remembered, afterward, what she said to Bill when he asked her to resign from Air Transport. All she remembered was the sick surprise, the sudden aching sense of loss.

THE camp became as familiar to Martha as the field outside Air Transport once had been. She even made the acquaintance of a piquant little person who was the wife of a Regular Army sergeant and who bragged about having lived on army posts from Schofield, in Hawaii, to Fort Davis, in the Canal Zone.

She was suddenly, devastatingly angry. "Look here, Bill, this has been on your mind a long time. You've kept asking me. Over and over. Last week and the week before. Do you think I'm busy stowing about Paul, you have no time to apply yourself to learning what you were sent here to learn? Stop hinting! Simply ask me whether I've seen him, I'll tell you."

Maybe he was right. She set her lips. Only a few months, after all. Perhaps it wasn't much to ask. Perhaps knowing that Bill could have no doubts, no fears, while she lived at Helen's would be worth this price.

THE children did love him. They loved him almost to death. Poor Butch, whose life had been peaceful and easy, was forced to fetch sticks whether he felt like it or not. His naps were interrupted by childish fingers pulling at his tail or twinking his eye. The baby climbed up on his broad back and used him for a pony. Genie tormented him until Martha wanted to scream.

She stared at him, aghast. All these weeks, he had been nursing this resentment which she thought was ended. All these weeks, jealousy had been gnawing at him. She could see it in his eyes, ugly and angry. He was like a stranger.

Bill and Martha and Butch spent Sundays which were almost, if not quite, the equal of the blissful Sundays they had known before the President set the date on Wheeler's twenty-first birthday.

She did not connect that with the fact that only a few hours later Bill remarked, "Funny, you never hear from anyone. I should think an old friend might call you."

She thought about it at night, alone in her bed in the room which she shared with Helen. If Bill kept this up, resigning her job had been futile. She might as well be earning a living, might as well be living, doing the work she loved. Would nothing drive out of his mind this mad jealousy?

Pirate Boxers Undefeated In Their Home Gym In 8 Fights

Special to The News.
LEFORS, Jan. 30.—Coach Toby Waggoner's LeFors Pirate boxers are going into the ring for the first time at home this year on Friday night when they meet the Berger Bulldogs. This match will be the ninth time for the Pirate mittmen to enter the ring in dual meets at home and they have all been wins.

When boys like Bobby Dunn, E. Cooper, Clinton Benefield, Donald McLaughlin, Rex Lee Jones, Carl Ferguson, Maurice Upham, Walton Hughes, Kenneth Twigg, Charles Nipper, Paul Barrick, Cecil Stracner and Bob Delver are matched the LeFors boys are going to come close to keeping that home slate clean.

The LeFors gymnasium will hold about 700 people, but there is plenty of standing room.

It is a sure thing that Donald McLaughlin and Walton Hughes made several new boxing fans last week when they demonstrated finer points of boxing to the Pampa Credit Union association of the Stanoland Oil company. Many people that see Donald and Walton in action seem to think the boys know all the tricks, but they disagree.

The fights Friday night will start promptly at 8 o'clock. Fred's studio will snap several flash pictures of the fighters and fans.

The judges will be Dan McGrew and Paul Hill of Pampa, and Robert Holt of Wheeler.

Pampa School Boxers Enter Tournament

Twenty Pampa High school boxers will participate in the Wellington Invitational tournament tomorrow. Coach Oscar Hinger announced today following a long hard workout yesterday afternoon.

Pampa boys will participate in every weight division with two boys in some weights and possibly three in one or two divisions.

Coach Hinger has 30 boys out for boxing and he expects several more to report after the basketball season. Six of his battlers are lettermen from last year's championship team.

Boys scheduled to make the trip to Shamrock, with weights, follow:

75 pounds—Vance Vogle, Joe Ellis.
85 pounds—John Campbell.
95 pounds—Billy Gise, Murry McPherson, Billy Hargis.
105 pounds—Everett Sparks, Robert Graham.
115 pounds—Richard Stephens.
125 pounds—Tom Howell, Harold Craddock, Bert Isbell.
135 pounds—Clarence Smiles.
145 pounds—Blaine Goad, Roy Ray.
155 pounds—Lefty Pendleton.
165 pounds—Joe Carnett.
175 pounds—Herbert Maynard.
Heavyweight—Roland Phillips, John Chessier.

Red Sox To Be 'It' Club, Cronin Says

By STEVE O'LEARY
BOSTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Joe Cronin's Boston Red Sox will be "strictly an 'it' club" this season. He feels they'll be right up in the pennant battle next September "if" his young pitchers can come through.

The "if" is the pitching because, Joe said today, he expected to stand pat with his power-laden infield and outfield, and get better backstopping with Frank Pytlak behind the plate. He "hoped" some of his younger hurlers would stand the gauntlet of big league competition.

"This American league race will be a real dog fight," declared Joe. "Those Yankees will be back hitting again. Cleveland will be lots better after that year of experience by Boudreau and Mack. The second division clubs have strengthened and don't believe that hokum about Detroit falling apart."

"We're strictly an 'it' club in this one. We'll give them all a tussle for us. We've got to go along with the youngsters and I'm hoping we'll find four or five who can deliver for us."

"This doesn't mean Joe has given up entirely on his older hurlers. He expects 'Lefty' Grove to win some games. He's banking on Emerson Dickman and Jack Wilson to live up to earlier promise. Joe Dobson, Mike Ryan, and Joe Heving still fit in the picture.

"But our hope right now," Joe continued, "rests in fellows like Mickey Harris, Earl Johnson, Woody Rich, Larry Powell, and Charlie Wagner. They can make us a factor."

Joe isn't going to stage any more bull pen parades, either. His hurlers will start and finish their games from the opening bell because he feels they'll need that competition to prove themselves.

Kovacs May Be Just Flash In Pan Or Tennis Champion

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 30 (AP)—There seems to be a slight difference of opinion among Frankie Kovacs' tennis rivals as to whether the California clown is just another "winter flash" or a potential national champion.

Kovacs himself, who has won three straight winter tournaments and is after his fourth in the University of Miami Invitational, thinks he will be champion.

So does Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, co-holder of the national doubles crown, but with reservations.

Bobby Riggs of Chicago, who lost the title to Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, isn't so sure.

"I know I have a sounder game now than last year," said Kovacs. "I believe it's about a point a game better."

"I think I'll be ready to lick anybody in the country by the time we start playing on grass. Personally, I like grass better because it's better suited to the aggressive game I play."

Kovacs said he "clowned" on the court because "I'm playing for fun and want to have a good time."

Kramer said he believed Kovacs' refusal to play serious tennis hurt his game at times.

The university tournament boiled down to the hot stage today, with the seeded players clashing.

Kovacs faced Elwood Cooke of New York, Riggs opposed Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore.; Kramer tackled Gardner Larned of Chicago; and Gardner Mulloy of Miami encountered Hal Surface of Kansas City.

McLean Grid Stars Presented Awards

McLEAN, Jan. 30.—In a special assembly Thursday morning at McLean High school, Coach Christian presented football awards to the T-igers.

Paul Bond, first year man, was presented a gold football for showing the best sportsmanship on the team.

Kelly Lee was presented a gold football as being the outstanding player on the Tiger team.

Robert Dwight and Kelly Lee were presented all-district team certificates.

SYSTEM

Dance band musicians have the problem of automobiles solved. When Tommy Dorsey completed his work in Paramount's "Las Vegas Nights" and left Hollywood, Artie Shaw replaced him at a local dance hall. The Shaw musicians bought the cars of the Dorsey musicians, who in turn will buy cars of musicians in a New York dance band which is leaving that city.

According to the latest reports, Georgia troopers have trained approximately 14,000 school safety patrolmen.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Only Leo Durocher's O. K. is needed to land a Brooklyn coaching job for Otto Miller, the old catcher, who was one of the boys when the Dodgers were really daffy—back in Wilbert Robinson's days. . . . Keep an eye on Jimmy (Kid) Hatcher, a featherweight out of Lake City, S. C., who has won 13 straight bouts since turning pro. The kid is the rave of Florida. . . . There was too much alumni (or political) interference to suit Tom Stidham of Oklahoma. Anyway, he's a top flight coach and Marquette is the winner. . . . Our North Carolina editors might check to see if there is a shake-up coming around Durham.

Ford C. Frick, president of the National league, has been invited to be the guest of honor at the northwest curling championship at Superior, Wis., this winter. . . . Lots of letters coming in here wanting to know the Florida winter address of Jack Doyle, the Broadway betting commissioner. Mebbe Jack will send it along. . . . We are glad to note business is picking up for the Guthrie (Okla.) High school basketballers. . . . They are turning 'em away. . . . One night last winter, we recall, they played to exactly one paid admission. . . . Larry "Moon" Mullins (as nice a guy as ever lived) will receive twice as much for being an assistant coach at Florida as he got for the No. 1 job at St. Ambrose out in Iowa. . . . Because of an infected foot, Lou Ambers had to cancel tonight's bout with Irish Eddie Conley at Barre, Vt.

You don't hear any National leaguers popping off in the Feller-Newson salary dispute, do you? No, that's out of their league, in more ways than one. . . . How about those reports that Blair Cherry has the U. of Colorado coaching spot sewed up? . . . A regular at Santa Anita these days is Marion Hollins, former golfing star—she in the race horse business, now, and doing all right. . . . To date we have received three big league baseball rosters. Only one—Washington—classifies the players as married or not. . . . About Louis and Burman. . . . It all depends on how the guy is feeling. Don't forget he looked pretty bad against Bob Pastor, Tommy Farr and Arturo Godoy.

Finger New Head Of Berger Gassers

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
BORGER, Jan. 30.—George Finger, former chairman of the local draft board, was elected president of the Berger Gassers baseball club yesterday at a meeting of the board of directors.

C. R. Stahl was elected vice-president and Bob Grimes and Bob Takewell re-elected secretary-treasurer and business manager, respectively.

Resignation of Sheriff Vern Underhill, retiring president, from the board was also accepted. His position will be filled at the next meeting.

Bonura may be recalled in the draft is the best Jimmy Wilson has had in some time.
