Navy 'Readier Now Than Ever' To Convoy Ships, Knox Declares In Endorsing Stimson's Proposal

Texas House Votes For Convoy System

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, May 7.—Turbulent world conditions facing Texas lawmakers today pondered whether to recess soon and reconvene in July instead of adjourning the regular session permanently.

In fact, the question was squarely up to the senate, the house yesterday adopting, after some debate, a resolution providing for the extraordinary procedure of recessing from June 2 to July 15.

Opponents declared the action would be "a slap at the governor" since Governor W. Lee O'Daniel is empowered to call a special session in an emergency. On reconvening, the lawmakers could pass possible vetoed bills of the current session and the senate could act on gubernatorial recess appointments.

Against claims it was urging war, the house also approved a resolution requesting "necessary steps" by federal authorities to insure continued production and delivery of materials to democratic nations fighting totalitarian aggressors.

Rep. James Taylor of Kerens, the resolution's author, asserted the proposal meant "convoys to the port of Liverpool, if necessary."

Major appropriation bills moved toward final enactment in both houses, the senate sending the lower chamber a $16,225,550 rural school aid bill, some $1,200,000 smaller than the house proposal.

The house labored on its $29,000,000 government departmental bill.

The senate also sent the house a $325,000 appropriation for public junior colleges, a new departure in state financing.

The money would be distributed on a basis of $50 per capita. Still another money bill sent the house would authorize spending $250,000 for research work on cotton.

An anti-loss leader bill was voted down in the senate affairs committee by vote of 6 to 5 with proponents giving notice of a minority report.

Setting some sort of a record, the upper chamber, in a 40-minute session last night, passed 65 local and uncontented bills.

Urging adoption of the recess instead of adjournment resolution proponents pointed out the legislature could be reconvened by call of the governor.

After adjournment of the general session two years ago, O'Daniel vetoed more than $5,000,000 annually out of the appropriation bills only one of which has been passed finally to date.

Several members cautioned against adoption of the resolution urging federal authorities to aid the democracies at war, contending "Congress and the President know more about this in three minutes than we will

Churchill Given Vote Of Confidence

CAIRO, Egypt, May 7 (AP)—Backed up by howitzers flown in by the RAF, British imperial forces have "elected the enemy" from dominating positions at Habbaniyah airbase in Iraq, official reports said today.

The RAF communique, telling how the light artillery pieces were carried over the heads of the Iraq besiegers later to be set up and turned on their plateau positions, said that more than 300 prisoners were taken.

Besides breaking the Iraqis' encircling front at Habbaniyah on the fifth day of siege, the British reported they had wrested control of the vital Mosul-Haifa oil pipeline from the troops of Rashid Ali Al Gailani.

LONDON, May 7 (AP)—Winston Churchill won today from the House of Commons a tremendous 447 to 3 vote of confidence despite a strident charge from David Lloyd George, world war premier, that "America has got to do more" if she is to enable Britain to beat Germany.

The white-haired elder statesman, in his most outspoken utterance in many months, warned the government against exaggerating the speed or amount of United States aid and declared American war organization traditionally is "full of disappointments" for the British.

He demanded a "real war cabinet" and "an end to the kind of blunders which have discredited and weakened us."

However, Lloyd George cried: "I thank God" for Secretary of War Stimson's speech of last night, and said it was clear that President Roosevelt, by his "changed" attitude, and Stimson both realize the gravity of Britain's position.

Churchill, resting under the old man's hour-long tongue-lashing, retorted that nearly 500,000 British imperial troops now stand guard to defend the middle east and that Britain can conquer any new American merchant ships to help her through 1942 in the battle of the Atlantic.

Confidently, Churchill declared "we have every reason to believe we shall be successful" in holding the Valley of the Nile, Suez and the mid-Mediterranean island Bastion of Malta.

At the same time, Capt. A. J. M. Hudson, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, drew thunderous cheers from the house when he declared "we have every reason to be encouraged by recent results" achieved in Britain's

Every Student In Junior High Room Buys Defense Stamps

Room 74 in Pampa Junior High school was the first to report 100 per cent in the purchase of United States Defense Savings stamps. Principal Frank Monroe revealed today.

A miniature postoffice has been set up in the hall and members of the commercial class sell the stamps.

In order to make the room 100 per cent, the students voted to use $3.20 out of their room fund for the purchase of stamps. The fund was created for a picnic but the students decided that purchase of the stamps would be a worthwhile project.

'I Am An American Day' To Be Observed

Public Invited To Hear Family Expert Tonight

Men, women, and young people are invited to a meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium, where Dr. Paul Popenoe will conclude a series of addresses given here today with a talk on "The 50-50 Marriage."

There is no admission charge and the lecture is open to the public generally. The lecture will be followed by a discussion period to answer questions asked by the audience.

Dr. Popenoe spoke at the high school auditorium this afternoon to Pampa women on the subject "Success in Marriage."

At noon today he addressed a combined luncheon of Pampa Rotarians, Lions, and Kiwanians, and other Pampa men, at the First Methodist church on "Eugenics and National Defense."

His topic was "How Do You Know It's Love?" Half of the period was given to the lecture and half of the time to answering questions written by students and submitted during the intermission.

Dr. Popenoe, counselor in family relations, is now on one of his educational tours. From Pampa he goes to Hereford, then on Friday and Saturday will be heard in Amarillo.

Since February 1, the lecturer has spoken in colleges and schools of East, New England, and the North Central states. After this week in the Panhandle, he goes to the University of Oklahoma at Norman.

Various Pampa clubs joined in securing Dr. Popenoe's lectures here today, with the Council of Women's clubs taking the lead in the movement.

O'Daniel Vetoes Bill To Appropriates $48,800

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today vetoed a bill making a special appropriation of $44,800 to the state liquor board.

"I do not see any emergency which makes necessary this appropriation at this time," the governor said. "If the funds are needed, it should be cared for in the regular appropriation budget."

Stalin Becomes Soviet Premier

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY MOSCOW, May 7 (AP)—Joseph Stalin, replacing Vyacheslav M. Molotov as premier, has taken over open leadership of the Soviet union which he had guided behind the scenes as secretary-general of the Communist party.

Molotov, premier or chairman of the council of people's commissars for 11 years, continues in high position as commissar of foreign affairs the office he took over from Maxim Litvinov two years ago, only a few months before the Soviet-German non-aggression pact was signed.

(A hint that Molotov's star might be descending was seen by some observers last February when his membership in the political bureau of the Communist party's central committee.)

Molotov, now 50, was relieved of the premiership at his own request, declared a communique circulated today by Tass, official news agency. It explained he had said repeatedly that "it is difficult for him to fulfill the duties of chairman of the council of people's commissars of the U. S. R. R. simultaneously with the duties of the people's commissar of foreign affairs."

He became, instead, a vice chairman of the council and retained his membership in the political bureau of the central committee of the Communist party, compact executive organization.

Stalin, secretary-general of the Communist party since 1922, has moved increasingly to the fore in recent months. Twice during Yozuke Matsuzoka's visit here last month Stalin received the Japanese foreign minister, who signed for Japan a neutrality pact with Russia.

Dr. Von Brunow, Pioneer Doctor, Dies Here Today

Dr. V. E. von Brunow, pioneer Pampa physician and leader of the Republican party in Gray county, died in a local hospital at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. He became ill Friday and was taken to the hospital on Saturday night.

Dr. von Brunow came to Pampa from Louisiana in 1902. He drove a surry to Pampa and soon after his arrival he opened an office for the practice of medicine. He served Pampa as postmaster when the postoffice was in a small frame building on the site where the Brunow building now stands. He was chairman of the Gray county Republican party for years and was well known in Republican circles in Texas.

He was born in Charleston, S. C., but when a child moved to Germany with his parents. He was educated in Germany and returned to America when a young man.

Eight With Foreign Names Sentenced For Evading Draft

VICTORIA, May 7 (AP)—After deciding to comply with the draft act, seven conscientious objectors today awaited a decision by Federal Judge James V. Allard as to whether the five-year prison sentence imposed on each would be set aside or ameliorated.

In imposing sentence yesterday, Judge Allard said he would change the judgment if the defendants decided to comply with draft laws before he left Victoria today.

Ed Berger, 26, one of the defendants, told the court they would comply with draft laws if the court would change the ten commandments.

In addition to Berger, who has a wife and four children, those sentenced were: Schroeder Grover Knocke, 24, who has a wife and one child, and Elmo Knocke, 22, brothers; Felix Lincina, 21; Christian Benetton, 32, who has a wife and three children; Henry C. Boehl, 28; Albert Carl Hohmann, 28.

Willie John Hohmann, 30, an eighth defendant, was not sentenced when he said he was willing to comply with the law by filling out his questionnaire.

Stimson, who made no mention of convicts, spoke with gravity last night of Britain's imperiled lifelines and declared the seas were making her peak efforts to sever those supply routes.

In the face of this threat, he said the lease-lend program with all its enormous appropriations "is not sufficient." The question, as he saw it, was the delivery to Great Britain of the supplies the United States was shipping.

"If today," he continued, "the navy should make secure the seas for the delivery of our munitions to Great Britain it will render as great a service to our own country and to the preservation of American freedom as it has ever rendered in all its glorious history."

"Supplementing the efforts of the British navy, it can render secure all of the oceans, north and south, west and east, which surround our

Speeches Of Two Secretaries Seen As Trial Balloons

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Secretary Knox said today that the navy is "readier now than ever" to undertake the job of assuring delivery of war supplies to Britain—if and when it is assigned to such duty.

The navy department chief made the statement at a press conference in commenting on a speech last night by Secretary of War Stimson in which Stimson advocated use of the United States navy to assure a victory for Britain in the battle of the Atlantic.

At the same time, Knox disclosed that the navy was taking over "the seagoing activities" of the coast guard.

Knox was asked by reporters for comment on Stimson's plea for naval action "right now" and he said, "I thought it a forthright, courageous and very enlightening talk animated by a high spirit of patriotism."

Shortly before Knox's press conference, Secretary (R. Mich.) announced that Chairman Emory S. Land of the Maritime Commission had informed him that "only eight out of 205 ships that left our ports with supplies for England were sunk in the first three months of this year."

Quoting a letter from Land, Vandenberg told the senate commerce committee that these were the "first facts I have been able to obtain from any responsible official as to how much of our magnificent aid to Britain is actually going to the bottom of the sea."

"This is a very encouraging report," Vandenberg told other senators as he quoted the letter from Admiral Land.

Before the committee session, Vandenberg charged that many loose figures about ships sunk were being used "to ship up support for convicts" and that he proposed to try to learn the exact facts.

Special importance was attached to Stimson's words in many quarters because Stephen Early, president of the American Shipbuilding Association, assumed that the war department chief discussed his address in advance with Mr. Roosevelt.

Stimson was the fifth cabinet officer to speak out strongly in recent weeks for more dynamic action to run the war successfully. The aid-to-Britain program, but he was the first to advocate a specific course—use of the navy.

In advocating this prompt naval assistance, Stimson told the nation in his radio address last night that Germany had extended her zone of unrestricted sea warfare into the western hemisphere.

He also assailed the character of German submarine warfare in the north Atlantic, calling it "illegal" and a "violation of law and humanity."

The U-boat tactics, he said, were identical with those of 1917 when they "caused the President and congress to take up arms in defense of the freedom of the seas."

The charge that Germany had extended the unrestricted zone to hemisphere waters and "forbidden us to enter" was the first such assertion to come from a high administration official. It was thought that Stimson referred to the fact that the Nazi danger zone now extends to within a few miles of the coast of Greenland, where U. S. defense bases are being established.

Stimson's mention of the doctrine of freedom of the seas coupled with the parallel he drew between U-boat warfare in 1917 and 1941 was interpreted in some quarters as veiled notice from the administration to Germany that there were limits to what the United States would tolerate.

Senate opponents of administration foreign policy said they regarded Stimson's address and Senator Pepper's speech in the senate yesterday as trial balloons to ascertain the country's sentiment toward active involvement in the war. Pepper urged joint action by the U. S. and British fleets.

Stimson, who made no mention of convicts, spoke with gravity last night of Britain's imperiled lifelines and declared the seas were making her peak efforts to sever those supply routes.

In the face of this threat, he said the lease-lend program with all its enormous appropriations "is not sufficient." The question, as he saw it, was the delivery to Great Britain of the supplies the United States was shipping.

"If today," he continued, "the navy should make secure the seas for the delivery of our munitions to Great Britain it will render as great a service to our own country and to the preservation of American freedom as it has ever rendered in all its glorious history."

"Supplementing the efforts of the British navy, it can render secure all of the oceans, north and south, west and east, which surround our continent. In that way it can help to hold in check the onward rush of the tide of Nazism until the other defense forces of all the democracies are completed. x x x

TWIN PRINT EVENING FROCK

Graceful lines, vivid prints, dramatic effects make the new summer evening frocks completely delightful. Designed for an informal evening is a flattering twin print rayon, the same motif repeated in skirt and waist in reverse color, with an enormous contrasting sash emphasizing the natural waistline and falling to the hemline in front. The full-cut blouse has a simple, off-the-shoulder neckline, and long, full sleeves gathered into a narrow cuff at the wrists; the skirt is graceful and flowing—an inexpensive frock that is cool, comfortable, and young.

Appeals Court Cuts $360 From Pampan's Damage Judgment

A judgment given in 31st district court here last year in a suit for damages totaling $1,785 was reduced by $360 in the court of civil appeals at Amarillo today.

The case reformulated and affirmed was Skelly Oil company vs. S. H. Johnston. Deduction of $360 from the total sum was ruled on the basis of Johnston's having a collision policy that would reimburse him for the damage to his car.

In the district court case, Johnston had asked $1,785 for damages, and personal injuries when his car overturned on November 29, 1939 west of Pampa. Plaintiff alleged that spray from a Skelly cooling tower over the road was the reason for the accident.

Representing the Skelly Oil company in the case here was the firm of Underwood, Johnson, Dooley and Wilson, of Amarillo; for Johnston, John V. Osborne and S. D. Stennis of Pampa.

Elimination of one item of the total asked for does not effect the validity of the remaining amount.

Bratton Will Aid Boys In Checking Plans

Plans of Pampa boys who will enter the third annual Pampa News-Pampa Lions club derby, to be held here July 17-18, will get the "once-over" at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning from Mark Bratton, 1940 city champion.

Bratton will help the boys in checking the plans for their derby cars, at the fourth soap box derby clinic session to be held at the Rex theater.

Every boy who has not yet registered to compete in the model automobile races is asked to do so at once. D. L. Parker, general chairman, said today. Purpose of this is to let the derby committees know exactly how many sponsors will be needed. Each boy who enters the derby must have a sponsor, and the derby committees want an early start on the plans for the 1941 races.

Over the nation, hundreds of derby cars are under construction in schools as the young builders point toward the summer race season and the grand national finals at Akron.

Into grade, junior high, and high schools the country over, the soap box derby program extends, with thousands of youngsters winning school credit in drafting and manual training classes for projects pertaining to derby construction.

Each year, hundreds of requests are received by Chevrolet Motor division, national sponsor of the race with newspapers in leading cities from coast to coast. Shop instructors, manual training teachers, and other educators not only have worked hand in hand with the derby management, but have been warm in their praise of the race as a constructive youth activity.

In a recent mail, Chevrolet received requests for rule books and other derby information from these typical schools: Horace Mann high, Salt Lake City, Utah; Normandy Junior high, St. Louis, Mo.; Berkeley (Calif.) Public schools; West Junior high, Kansas City, Mo.; Birmingham (Ala.) Public schools; Marinal high, Peoria, Ill., and United Township high, East Moline, Ill.

Legion, TSES Seek Jobs For Veterans

Stress was laid today by the local post of the American Legion and by the Texas State Employment service on the promotion of the desire on the part of employers to hire veterans and other older workers.

This emphasis is in connection with National Employment week, which opened Sunday.

"A three-fold program is now under way and will be intensified during this week," said Dan Williams, commander of Kerley-Crossman American Legion post of Pampa.

"1. All unemployed veterans and veterans employed at skills less than those they are capable of performing should be registered at the local public employment office so that they may be available for referral to employers according to their qualifications.

"2. A program of employer contacts will be continued and emphasized to acquaint employers with the qualifications of older workers.

"3. Employers should be urged to relax age limits and physical requirements, provided the applicant is qualified to do the job satisfactorily.

Cooperation of the Texas State Employment service in the nationwide observance of National Employment week was stressed by L. L. Hood, manager of the agency's Pampa office.

"We are making a special effort during National Employment week to bring to the attention of employers, men and women over 40 who are qualified for jobs," Mr. Hood stated. President Roosevelt has proclaimed the week beginning May 4 as National Employment week, and urges the employment of older workers who have the skill and training needed during this time of national preparation.

Lloyd George Flays Eden And Churchill

LONDON, May 7 (AP)—Winston Churchill won today an emphatic vote of confidence from the most critical house of commons he has ever faced after telling it "we have every reason to believe we shall be successful in holding the Nile valley, Suez and Malta."

The vote was 447 to 3. The prime minister spoke after an hour of lashing by Lloyd George, Britain's world war prime minister, who sharply demanded a "real war cabinet" and better organization of manpower.

With a touch of acrimony, Churchill retorted that the speech was not "particularly helpful at this period and not the speech one would have expected from a great war leader."

The prime minister disclosed that General Sir Archibald Wavell, British middle east commander, "has under his orders at the present moment nearly half a million men."

Churchill said he has received assurances of the construction of merchant ships by the United States which, added to our own large program of new building and repair, should see us through 1942.

After Lloyd George criticized foreign Secretary Anthony Eden for withholding the fact "that Turkey allowed German ships to pass through Bosphorus into the Dardanelles" to seize Greek islands, Churchill said "Turkey not being a belligerent had no right to prevent merchant vessels from going through the Dardanelles."

The prime minister added that "Turkey had no right whatever to stop German troops from going through the Dardanelles. To do so would be to quit their neutrality."

SPEECHES OF

Stimson, it was noted, made no specific suggestions as to how the navy should be used. Some informed sources considered this significant, for they believe that convoys may not be the best system under present war conditions, and that more effective tactics could be worked out if the U. S. fleet and the royal navy were operating jointly.

Authorized spokesmen referred again to the oft-stated German warning that any ship sailing through the blockade to England "which comes within the range of our torpedo tubes will be sunk."

But the spokesman appeared more interested in a statement attributed to Stimson that the German blockade of England is contrary to international law.

"How come?" was the gist of the German comment. "It is impossible to support the thesis that it's all right for England to blockade Germany and even non-warring European neutrals but that it's all wrong for Germany to try to do the same thing to England."

The Germans, however, showed little disposition to excitement, one spokesman calling Stimson "a man of much temperament, but hardly recognized as an authority on international law."

It also was asserted that his utterance was not regarded as a statement of official United States policy.

ROME, May 7 (AP)—Virginia Gayda, the eminent Fascist editor, said today that Secretary Stimson's advocacy of United States naval protection for shipments to Britain could be considered a preliminary announcement of open American intervention in the war.

The editor of Il Giornale D'Italia, he also interpreted Stimson's statements on United States-British control of the Atlantic as "evidently meaning a true and real political-military alliance to become effective in the more or less near future."

CHURCHILL

Even as Churchill spoke, Nazi daylight raiders jabbed anew at the island kingdom.

British spitfires and German messerschmitts fought a spectacular battle over the English Channel today after a night of aerial fury in which Adolf Hitler's luftwaffe again pounded British shipyards and ports of arrival for United States war materials.

RAF night raiders attacked the north German port of Hamburg and the docks at Le Havre. Then, by daylight, bombers escorted by fighters hoared across the Strait of Dover toward the French coast on a new mission.

In the channel fight, these claims were made: London—Four German fighters shot down, one RAF plane fell into the sea.

Berlin—Six British planes destroyed, German losses, none.

Waves of Nazi bombers smashed overnight at the big Clyde side shipyards of Glasgow, Scotland; attacked Liverpool for the sixth straight night, and bombed northern Ireland for the third night in a row.

A British communique acknowledged that the raid on Glasgow was "on a fairly heavy scale," inflicting "considerable damage and a number of casualties."

The Germans said they also bombed Dumbarton and Newcastle harbors, Plymouth and Ipswich.

Nazi daylight raiders continued to stab at the Dover "invasion" corridor throughout the forenoon.

"Since dawn," a British statement said, "there has been continuous enemy activity by fighter aircraft near the southeast coast and the Thames estuary."

The British middle east command announced that imperial troops had regained control of the vital Mosul-Haifa oil pipeline in Iraq and declared that Iraqi forces which have been besieging the air base at Lake Habbaniyah for five days were withdrawing.

A royal air force communique said that Iraqis who had captured a post along the Mosul oil line, cutting the flow of fuel to British-mandated Palestine soon after fighting started last Friday, had surrendered to British ground forces.

The situation at the Habbaniyah airport, 60 miles west of Baghdad, was described officially as much easier following the withdrawal of part of the Iraqis from highland positions to the south.

Many of the guns with which the native troops had been pounding the base was reported silenced yesterday by repeated RAF bombardments.

Ernest Cabe Will Attend Convention

Ernest Cabe will be the official delegate of the Pampa Rotary club to the annual 127th district conference to be held in Lubbock Sunday.

Other members of the Pampa club, and their wives, are also expected to attend, there will be 600 present from the clubs of the district which extended from Dalhart to the Texas & Pacific railroad and from Fort Worth west to the New Mexico state line, with 55 clubs having a membership of more than 2,300.

Frank S. Roberts of Breckenridge is district governor and he will preside over the program. Dr. Allan D. Albert of Paris, Illinois, president of R. I. in 1915-16 and C. Reeve Vanneman of Albany, N. Y. will represent Rotary International on the program.

Civic Orchestra To Play Concert May 13

With Carl Adams as conductor, the Pampa Civic orchestra will present a spring concert at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the high school auditorium.

Robert Louis Barron, violin soloist, who was featured in the program presented by the Amarillo Philharmonic orchestra in Pampa several weeks ago, will also be heard at the civic orchestra concert next week.

From all the Pampa public schools will come the string classes to be presented in the first part of the program. There are 70 in this group.

From Horse To Horse FORT BLISS, May 7 (AP)—Selectee Royce Gilks, a carpenter from Binger, Tex., told the classification officer upon induction to the army that he had experience with "saw horses."

Three days later he found himself astride a real horse in the 77th cavalry at Fort Bliss.

Citizens of the United States do not need passports to tour in Canada.

Large Crowd Hears Lone Star Quartet

The main floor of the high school auditorium was nearly filled last night when the Stampe-Baxter Lone Star quartet of Wichita Falls presented a concert under sponsorship of the Junior High Parent-Teachers association.

The quartet, with Milton Estes, former movie star and radio singer, as master of ceremonies, featured comedy numbers, spirituals and hymns.

A number of Panhandle musical organizations attended the concert in groups.

The concert was the last to be sponsored last spring by the Parent-Teacher association.

Group To Name New Highway Organization

A new highway organization will be given a name at a meeting of representatives of cities between Pampa and Cheyenne, Okla., this afternoon at Allison. Several Pampa good road boosters attended.

Tentative plans for an organization to boost designation and paving of a stretch of road from Mobeetie to Cheyenne, Okla., were made at a meeting here two weeks ago when L. L. Males of Cheyenne, Okla., was elected president of the organization.

At today's meeting the organization will be given a name and plans made for contacting highway commissioners regarding designation of the road, which if paved would reduce by nearly 100 miles the distance between Pampa and Tulsa, Okla.

Information to that effect seemed incredible but prompt inquiry established that it was 100 per cent correct.

But he explained that the commissions were honorary, that they were bestowed by Kentucky governors and that, in this man's army, he was ranked simply as a private.

The Americas Act Together

Every time the American nations act together on a matter there is a net gain for the principle of a united western hemisphere. Their joint action in recommending a common policy toward foreign-flag ships lying idle in their ports is excellent.

It is a reasonable, sensible attitude, too. The American nations do not normally have between them enough ships to carry their trade. In normal times this trade is largely carried in foreign, European, ships. Those ships are either at the bottom of the ocean today or blockaded. So it is only sensible to use for inter-American trade those ships which lie rusting at anchor in American ports. That should release for war service any ships the British may be using in that trade.

Without going into long dissertations on international law, it is a sensible thing to do, if, as is only right, the ships are paid for when peace comes again.

And Nobody Knows

Ever since long before the present war began in Europe, many estimates have been tossed about relating to German airplane production. Five thousand a month. Ten thousand a month.

Now comes Col. John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, saying: "We are very near the British and German production rates, which are estimated at about 1,500 a month each."

Who is right in this matter we don't pretend to know. But there is no reason to doubt that Jouett is right in saying that American production of military planes passed 1,300 a month in March. That means that American production is very close to the point where it is bound to be a real factor, no matter what the truth about the uncertain British and German figures.

Behind The News

By PETER EDSON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The week of May 4 to 10 having been designated by presidential proclamation as National Employment Week, whether you knew it or not, there is no harm in taking a gander at the charts as analyzed by the best minds, to see where they're heading.

This National Employment Week, by the way, is something that was conceived by the American Legion in its 1937 convention. For the last three years the Legion has put on a typical drive, opening with a presidential proclamation, followed up by proclamations from governors and mayors, sermons in the churches, pep talks before the knife and fork clubs, programs on the radio, pieces in the newspapers. It has been inspired by the noblest of motives, but just what it has accomplished is something that is hard to determine.

REVERSE PROCESS

Since the Legion began its annual week, the picture has changed considerably. In 1937 the problem was one of finding a job for a man. Now the problem is to find men for all the jobs there are to do. The skilled labor supply at existing factories has been absorbed and the task is to train men now for the jobs that are to be created in new defense industries in the next 14 months.

One thing the Legion's annual campaigns have accomplished is to focus more attention on workers of 40 and over, the fellows who were of draft age in the last war. All of them, particularly the ones without jobs, can serve their country again by learning or re-learning a skilled trade.

There are 11 key industries in the national defense effort, industries which will require more and more men. Here are the number of man-days worked in those industries in 1940 (first figure) and an approximation of the number of employees who might have worked the full year (second figure):

MAN-DAYS	Aircraft	EMPLOYABLES
21,824,000	Aircraft	86,800
6,792,000	Aluminum	27,000
107,424,000	Automobiles	430,000
116,088,000	Iron and Steel	465,000
57,624,000	Electrical Machinery	230,000
12,528,000	Engine Manufacture	50,000
1,824,000	Explosives	7,300
96,624,000	Foundry, Machine Shop	386,000
1,584,000	Machine Tools	6,350
110,352,000	Lumber	431,000
22,488,000	Shipbuilding	90,000

This represents about six months of non-defense work and about six months of getting started on defense. It totals over 2,200,000 full man-year jobs, with defense production only just getting started at the end of 1940.

Three industries in this group had real labor shortages—machine tools, aircraft and shipbuilding. By February, 1941, these three industries are employing as follows: machine tools, 85,000; aircraft, 220,000; shipbuilding, 251,000. These tremendous increases must be boosted still further: machine tools to 101,000, aircraft to 290,000, shipbuilding to 561,000.

Still the end is not in sight. If the aircraft program is further expanded, raising the total number of planes on order to 50,000, instead of the 44,000 on the

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we recognize the equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

THE SUPREME COURT AND A WORKMAN'S DEPENDABILITY

Few people realize what the Supreme Court's interpretation of the Wagner Law means. The Supreme Court has just ruled that Phelps-Dodge Corporation is obliged to pay union men they did not hire an amount equal to the wages they would have received had they been hired at the time of application.

This means that no matter what the union stands for, no matter how irresponsible the unions are, the employer has no right to show preference to another worker of equal ability who will contract to do a certain amount of work at a given price, while the union men will not contract to do any work at a given price.

All they will contract to do is that if they want to and desire to do it, they will put in a certain amount of time for a given wage per hour. They will not even contract or permit a contract to be made by the piece or the job.

This means that even if the employer believes that his unit costs over a period of years would be much less by being able to contract for a service that would be delivered that he has no right to select a man who is not a union man in preference over a union man, who will not guarantee anything.

In short, it means that all private contracts for labor are against public interest, that labor must not contract to do anything for any length of time, it must only agree that it will work when and if it sees fit.

How the public can believe there can be any great production, any high standard of living, any high development of character under these conditions is beyond comprehension. It looks as if the public were living in a make-believe world and had no conception of reality.

And while we, in the United States, are saying that men who are dependable and will make contracts can receive no preference over men who will make no contracts, we are at the same time trying to go to Europe, Africa and Asia to teach people how to live and how to make contracts.

It seems too absurd and ridiculous to be true. But, never the less, it is true. No one would have thought ten years ago that America would have become so socialist, so communistic, so collectivized, that it would be against public interest for an individual to do a service for a given amount of compensation.

Certainly history shows that there can be no progress when people cannot contract with each other and depend upon their agreements being carried out.

The columns of this paper are open for a refutation of these conclusions.

DEPENDABLE POSITION

Whether it be a spiritual, ethical, material, economical or national problem, people should take a defendable position. They should take a position that they can defend. They should lay their cards on the table. If they are going to war, they should reduce to rules and principles (which is reducing to numbers) what they are going to war for.

If they are establishing a national domestic policy, they should also take up a defendable position—a position in which they do not contradict themselves; a position in which they can be consistent; a position in which they can be in harmony with natural laws.

If they are taking up a spiritual or ethical position, it also should be established on eternal principles. It should be so expressed that it can be measured, that the ideas can be transmitted to other human beings.

And the unit of measure of spiritual or ethical principles should be freeing the human spirit. All men should be considered as part of the whole. All men should be respected. The spirit of man cannot be freed unless all men are considered.

Then, if men assume a defendable position, they can look the whole world in the face. They can have a clear conscience. They need not make a statement and run away. They need not refuse to answer questions, they can invite them.

Then there could be peace throughout the world, if people would only take a defendable position, a position in harmony with the law of equal freedom.

books today, aircraft employment will have to be doubled. And as John D. Biggers, head of production in OPM, pointed out, the monthly production of powder must be trebled, rifle production must be doubled, machine-gun production must be increased five-fold, small arms ammunition must be trebled, tank production must be quadrupled.

SEEK SMALL PLANTS

Seeing that the supply of workers trained for their jobs is on hand with a machine to work at is just as important as seeing that there is an adequate supply of raw materials. It takes time to train a worker, just as it takes time to build a factory. With speed of production important there is not time to build new factories, and for this reason it is probable that the next year will see a spread of the movement to bring into defense production small manufacturing plants not now working on defense contracts.

National Association of Manufacturers has just completed a survey of the middle-sized plants with from 20 to 500 workers. It listed 18,000 plants with a million and a half workers, 45 per cent of them skilled, ready to work on 157,000 machines that can offer two million hours a day to defense production. Defense employment, therefore, is bound to spread to these small shops.

By June, 1942, there will be no excuse for anyone being unemployed except for lazy, shiftless unreliability and incompetence.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Around Hollywood

Lucile Neville is pinch-hitting for Paul Harrison, now touring army camps and defense industries.

NEA SERVICE STAFF CORRESPONDENT HOLLYWOOD, May 7.—Simone Simon, who's back in movies—and taking home fine report cards on deportment and work—was a little nervous about her horseback scene in "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

Never before, she said, had she sat upon a horse at the angle (that is, side-saddle), but it was a simple scene. She and James Craig were to ride away from the camera until they were out of sight beyond a bend in the road.

The horse moved restively and Miss Simon patted its neck. "Don't be afraid," she said soothingly. "I won't hurt you." This seemed to put the animal's mind at rest and he stood quiet again.

HORSES

"He's a very tame horse, Simone," Producer-Director William Dieterle assured her. "Especially for you. Tame as a kitten."

"Of course," said Miss Simon, rather doubtfully. "Ready?" asked Dieterle, and she nodded. The two horses and their riders moved down the road. "See?" the director pronounced. "See? Gentle as a lamb. Used to the side-saddle. We got him especially because of that."

Just then a hostler pulled at the director's sleeve. The man's face was flushed and he seemed short of breath.

"Mister Dieterle," he said softly, "that ain't the hoss you think. I was off the set when you started the scene. The tame one's outside! This'n never had a woman on him before, and he's a mean hoss."

"That," said Miss Simon, "makes us even. Never before have I sat upon a horse at that or any other angle."

Latest couple to join the movie rancherie is Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, who have bought a small place at Northridge. So far, all the livestock they own is a dozen baby chicks which, pending the move to the ranch, are cheeping and scratching in a makeshift incubator in the living room of the apartment. However, the Arnazes are racking over their heads to get a smelting around town in a station wagon and come to work at the studio in full rodeo regalia: a bright yellow shirt and tan jodupers for Miss Ball, the Latin Arnaz in a violently plaided red shirt with pearl buttons, blue jeans, silk neckerchief and light gray 10-gallon hat.

SIMIAN STEALS SCENE

The only person who ever has been able to steal a scene from John Barrymore has been brother Lionel, but John has a match in the 25-year-old simian, Jimmy, who cuts monkey-shines in "World F. eniere."

He seems to have an uncanny way of knowing the difference between rehearsals and real takes—behaves perfectly in the former, but mugs and capers outrageously when the camera is rolling. Barrymore's gestures and wild eye-rolling fascinate the monkey and he imitates the Great Profile to perfection—so accurately that the other day Barrymore stopped in the middle of a speech and said sternly, "My dear sir, if you must play in this scene over the monkey, please get your own routine."

Try on a house wall usually is a protection from dampness, rather than a menace, unless there is a defect in the wall.

Merrily, we roll along, roll a-long, roll along . . .

Well, the skating rink has moved to Shamrock, and the kids sure are going to miss it. For weeks it has been the most popular place in town for young people.

Most of the time it was crowded to capacity. The skating rink served a valuable recreation purpose, and its departure will be regretted by the kids. Roller skating like ice skating, is accompanied by body balance and turns of the arms and shoulders.

When the proper balance is attained the feet take care of themselves. The balance on rollers is further back than on ice skates, because there is less drive in the motion. . . . It's strange that Pampa adults have got to the point where they are not interested in any form of recreation. Elsewhere in the nation many adults skate and swim, but not in Pampa. When the pool first opened adults formed half of the patrons but now 90 per cent of the patrons are kids. Nevertheless the opening of the pool when school is out is something to look forward to, but by that time this one will have been in swimming several times in Lake McClellan.

Texas Oil Facts

Approximately 44,000 Texans are now engaged in manufacture of oil field equipment.

The average oil well in Texas today costs $25,000 to drill compared with $15,000 in 1922.

Many Texas oil wells are now drilled to depths of 10,000 feet or more.

Oil field supply prices are 50 per cent higher today than in 1922.

The cost of expanding the facilities of the Texas petroleum industry has forced Texas oilmen to borrow $800,000,000 from banks and investors.

It is estimated that 2,100 cities ranging in size from 2,500 to 50,000, with combined population of nearly 12 million, have completely dispensed with mass transportation systems, leaving their people wholly dependent upon private cars or their fallen arches.

THE LOOKING GLASS

NO MORE PIE

By Stella Halit

"New Clara May, you're all wrong. I'm not running away from you. Don't you see what I'm trying to do is to get out and buck things and make a place for myself and when I do, I'm going to come back here and take you along with me."

"Then mightn't it be better for me to go now and help you?"

"No, I don't want it that way. The city's a cruel place. You have to live like a bum there. Little room without any sun. I couldn't ask you, why Clara May I couldn't let you go. You've got a good home here and all your friends, you like life here don't you?"

"Oh, sure, only always thought if I loved somebody I'd want to help him. I could work. Maybe when you got to the top you wouldn't want me any more."

"How can you say such silly things? Do you want me to stay here in Comanche?"

"No, John, I don't want you to stay here or anywhere else. If you think you've got to go and live in the city in a room without any sun, all I'm asking is why couldn't I go and live there too. Look, we're young, hardships don't matter now. Only one thing matters when you're young, and that's being together. Summer nights like this with the moon shining like it is tonight, nothing else matters to me. I'm not afraid of being in a room without sun and air, I'm afraid of all the sun and air I'll get there alone."

"Oh, stupid, you're not all alone, you've got your ma and pa. You do understand I've got to get out. Comanche's not big enough for me. I want to learn big business and put over big things. I want to build you a big house. I want to build you a palace, honey. You understand, don't you? Sure, we've had a lovely time this summer, but you know I can't go on like this. You know what kind of a job I've got here. Never lead to anything. You understand about my going, don't you, Clara May?"

"Yes," said Clara May, straightening her shoulders. "I understand. Papa taught me understanding when I was about six. One night we had pie, fresh peach pie, I remember, and it was wonderful. I ate mine and then I passed my plate for more. Mama told me there wasn't any more. But I insisted. I stormed. I made an awful scene. That last I took me by the wrist and marched me out to the woodshed. It was the only licking he ever gave me. But all my life I've remembered it, when pie is finished, you don't cry for more."

"Of course, anybody knows that, but what's that got to do with understanding why I have to leave Comanche?"

"Nothing, I guess. Good night, John."

Oilers Make 10 Errors To Lose To Clovis 9-4

The Pampa Oilers believe in doing things in a big way. On Monday night they played errorless ball and pulled five of the prettiest double plays seen here in a long, long time. Last night they reversed the procedure and played soccer with a baseball, booting no less than 10 balls to lose to the Clovis Pioneers 9 to 4.

After the game the Pioneers admitted that they had been playing for a lamb dinner, promised them by a group of fans if they won four out of seven games in their road trip, which ended last night. They had to have last night's game to get the feed.

Tonight at 8:15 o'clock the Oilers met the powerful Big Spring Bombers here. The Bombers, a Brooklyn Dodger farm team are managed by Jodie Tate, formerly of the Lamesa Lobos. They have won eight games and lost three and are in second place in the league standing, just behind the once-beaten Borger Gassers.

The Oilers did just about everything wrong last night. Big John McPartland started on the mound but developed a wild streak, walking four and uncorking two wild pitches. Frank Scott fanned four times out of five trips to the plate, but that wasn't so bad because he was playing with an injured hand. Sam Malvica came up with three errors in a row and Kelly Harrison in a row and Leon Bills came up with two misplays and played so far back of third that two infield hits down the third base line fell safe. Frank Scott dropped a pop fly for the 10th error. Then Malvica and Harrison messed up three perfect double killings by kicking the ball around.

"Let's hope they get 'em all out of their system last night," Manager Dutch Frather remarked today.

Three walks and two errors gave Clovis two runs in the first inning and a walk, three errors and two hits added three more runs in the third to ice the game.

Three more errors produced a run in the sixth and two more errors and three hits, after the side should have been retired, added two more runs in the seventh. The Pioneers got an earned run in the eighth on a walk, stolen base and a single, off Montgomery, who had relieved McPartland.

Nagle, Clovis pitcher, was wilder than Gargantua, the ape, as he walked nine batters and made two wild pitches before giving way to Skipper Howard Taylor who throttled an Oiler rally.

The Oilers scored all four runs in the seventh. Monroe, catching for Reynolds, singled but was forced out at second by Phillips, who went to second on an error. Malvica and Howard, batting for McPartland, and Harrison all walked, Phillips scoring. Scott was an infield out. Bills walked. Frather then bagged errors in a row and Taylor went to the mound. Clovis and fanned Malvica to end the rally.

In other games last night Milbert Vannoy, former Oiler, pitched the Borger Gassers to a 9 to 6 win over Amarillo with Williams hitting a homer in the ninth with the bases full for the victory. Big Spring beat Lamesa 10 to 4 and Lubbock defeated Wichita Falls 10 to 9.

Divided Football Squad To Scrimmage Friday

Coaches Buck Prejean and Mac Best have divided their 1941 Harvesters football squad and will stage an old-fashioned, rip-roaring scrimmage Friday afternoon at Harvesters park. The battle will begin about 4:15 o'clock and fans are invited to see the game.

The best looking boys during the scrimmage will be selected to meet the ex-Harvesters still in school in a big game the night of May 16 when the spring training period will end.

The coaches have sent a bunch of boys down to the Gorillas which will be coached by Jack Davis, former junior high Pee Wee coach. Another cut will be made after Friday's scrimmage.

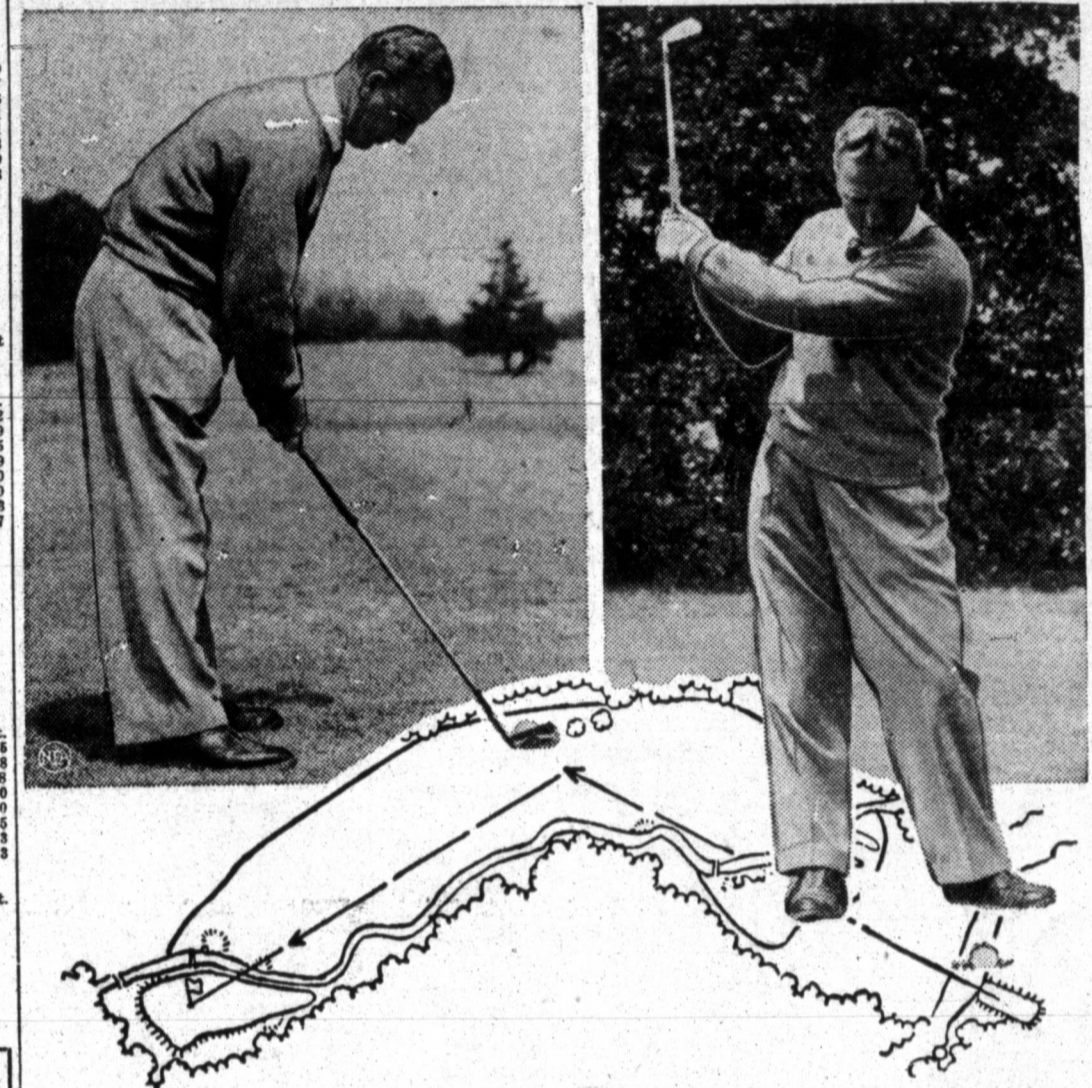

The Harvesters have been showing marked improvement the past week and they should be ready to put up a stiff battle against the exes who will field one of the most powerful teams ever assembled by the exes.

Probable starting lineups for the scrimmage will be:

Greens—Arnold and Flanagan, ends; Phillips and Chesser, tackles; Bridges and Allen, guards; Snyder, center; Halter, quarter; Arthur and Neef, halves; Boyles, full.

Golds—Johnson and Caldwell, ends; Edison and Abbott, tackles; Moyer and Barrett, guards; Borge, center; Edmonson, quarter; Hollis and Meador, halves; Waters, full.

Hank Greenberg In Army Now

BY WATSON SPOELSTRA
DETROIT, May 7 (P)—Big Hank Greenberg, baseball's most highly paid star until today, is in the army now—at $21 a month.

He was inducted at 9:50 a. m. by Capt. C. C. Curtis, Jr., of Grand Rapids, Mich., executive in charge of induction for Detroit. A few minutes afterwards he swapped the number 5 that appeared on his Detroit Tiger uniform for the army's serial number 36-114-611.

Greenberg was pronounced fit for military service, flat feet and all, after a final physical checkup with other early birds appearing at the induction center.

Greenberg reported at his draft board office at 6:30 a. m. and marched with other draftees to the induction center.

Along the way passers-by shouted friendly farewells to Greenberg. Greenberg was slated to leave at 2 p. m. for Fort Custer, army officials said.

After blasting two home runs yesterday in his farewell appearance, 30-year-old Greenberg declared a 24-hour stay on his induction permit him to appear today in the American league pennant raising ceremonies at Briggs stadium, home of the Tigers.

"I've asked no favors and I'll accept my new duty," Greenberg replied when told of his draft board's belated decision. "I'll do my best to be a good soldier."

Cards' And Cleveland's Winning Streaks Broken

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals and Cleveland Indians are at the cross roads today, their winning streaks shattered and their pursuers confronting them to face.

After winning 11 games in a row the Indians tripped over the Washington Senators yesterday 5-3 and the Cardinals' ten-game string was snapped at Boston by the Braves 6-4.

Today and tomorrow the Indians will be up against the challenge of the New York Yankees and the Cardinals will collide with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Tribe was stopped through a two-base error by Ken Keltner. Jim Bagby and Dutch Leonard were locked in a pitching duel with the score tied 2-2 at the start of the eighth. With two out the Senators loaded the bases on two singles and a walk. Then Keltner let a bouncer by Ben Chapman get through him for two bases and two runs.

In the only other American league game the Detroit Tigers turned their incipient winning streak to five games and moved into second place with a 7-4 conquest of the Yankees as a farewell gesture to Hank Greenberg.

The highest-salaried, most valuable player in the American league was to be inducted into the army today and he paid his last respects to the 1941 baseball season by belting two home runs, the first he had hit in 15 games.

The Cardinals outthrew the Braves 11 to 6 and had a two-run lead until the bottom fell out in a five-run fifth inning. John Grodzicki, fastball rocket, walked two men at the start of this frame, but made the next two fly out. Then Jim Brown muffed a grounder to fill the bases and the youngster was rattled to the extent of forcing in a run with another walk. Sam Nam relieved him and was touched for four runs on singles by Maxie West and Eddie Miller and an error by Terry Moore.

The Dodgers celebrated their acquisition of Billy Herman by punting the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3. Dixie Walker got two home runs, including one with the bases loaded to break a tie in the seventh. Joe Medwick hit a circuit drive with one on, and Herman, who had been batting .194 for the Chicago Cubs, treated himself to a perfect day at bat with a double and three singles.

The Phillies punted the Cincinnati Reds with their sixth setback in seven games 4-2 as the veteran Cy Blanton bested Johnny Vandermeer in a pitching duel.

The Cubs were crushed for the tenth time in 12 games as the New York Giants triumphed 5-3 on the four-hit hurrying of old Carl Hubbell. Then settled down to a masterpiece of pitching.

Baseball's prize lemon last year, Benny took heart from the school man's encouragement, put in some straight and critical thinking during winter and changed his batting technique.

Now he's a confident second sacker sporting a .333 batting average which ranks among today's American league leaders. And that's a good piece from his .257 last season not to mention the 33 errors that brought trainer talk galore.

Matter of fact, it's no longer Benny "the bust" but a determined young blond who's made a new start toward proving the $45,000 bonus Connie Mack handed him to sign wasn't money thrown away. Ditto his two-year contract at $10,000 per each.

"A year ago I was trying too hard," James McCoy, "I wanted to make good—so badly that I was swinging at everything that came near the plate."

Just about the time his deflation hit the terrific stage came all kinds of letters from people he never heard of.

"There was one in particular I kept," says Benny. "That was from a school teacher. She prodded me to fight harder, to stick out my chin and prove I could play ball."

"Well, I saved that letter. I never did meet this lady. All I knew was that she taught sixth grade and that what she told me was for my own good."

"This winter when I was trying to figure everything out, that letter meant more and more to me. Just before I left for camp this spring she wrote me again. It all helped me to get in the frame of mind."

"Things started going better. My winter of thinking convinced me pitchers were cashing in on my over-eagerness by throwing me a change of pace. With a long stride and a full swing, I was committing myself too quickly. But I don't know and my hitting is showing improvement."

And if the teacher is still interested, Benny wishes she'd come out and see him play because "I'd sort of like to tell her 'thanks lady, you helped a lot.'"

PHILADELPHIA, May 7 (P)—"Thanks lady, you helped a lot."

That's Benny McCoy's message to the unknown Pennsylvania school teacher whose letters helped transform him from a $65,000 flop into what appears a sound investment for the Philadelphia Athletics.

Handicap Performers Steal Spotlight At Pimlico's Opening

BALTIMORE, May 7 (P)—Handicap performers stole the spotlight from Whirlaway and other favorites candidates today as Pimlico's "four golden days of racing" opened with the $20,000-add Divie handicap.

Plenty of Preakness pros and cons were going the rounds, but chief interest lay in the Dixie and the first appearance in the east this year of G. S. Howard's Mioland, current leader of the handicap division.

Mioland, winner of four major stakes this winter on the west coast, and second to Bay View in Santa Anita's "hundred grander", faced another exacting test in the Dixie against some of the best distance runners in the country.

Mioland was asked to shoulder top weight of 129 pounds in the mile-and-three-sixteenths gallop, conceding nine pounds to Mrs. G. D. Widener's Your Chance, second-high weight in the field of 11, and 29 pounds to Mrs. Ella Bryson's filly Cis Marion.

Speculation on the 51st running Saturday of the $50,000-added Preakness centered, meanwhile, around four horses—Warren Wright's Kentucky Derby winner, Whirlaway, Crispin Oglebay's Ocean Blue, Wheatley Stable's Bold Irishman and Woodvale farm's Our Boots.

Reapers Smash Gorillas In Violent Scrimmage Tuesday

The Junior High Reapers will close their spring football training period Thursday. Yesterday they scrimmaged the new high school Gorillas and scored two touchdowns while holding the Gorillas scoreless. Although falling to show the power they demonstrated last spring, the Reapers looked impressive. They lack the size and experience of the last year's team but they show plenty of willingness.

Coach C. P. McWright has only two boys back from last year's team, Billy Coy Sheehan, quarterback, and Taylor, center.

Coach Jack Davis has just taken over the Gorillas, who have been working with the Harvesters, and

LEANA AWAITS CHANCE
CHAPTER XX
DURING the six weeks that followed Carolyn's sensational arrival in Arizona, life settled into an oddly contrasting and beautiful routine.

Bob Hale "kept bitch" (it was a joke with him) with four technical workers in the largest house of all, aside from the new laboratory. An ex-army cook and a 16-year-old Mexican boy took care of their personal needs.

in piecemeal. As for Carolyn, she lived in a constant state of suspense and restrained excitement—a condition most pleasant for any vivacious person. She acquired it through her employment, which was a steady (hence delightful) intimacy with Bob Hale. Through her he recorded every move the experimenters made.

Carolyn had telephoned her mother, and Mrs. Tyler, happily excited in her own right now, had packed their trunks and personal effects to follow west. It was a big change in her life. It subtracted years from her countenance.

All of it was exceedingly picturesque. Contour of the hills here made it so, contour and color and verdure and the blue Arizona sky, a sky that ranged from dawn's yellow to turquoise to aquamarine and back to day's day's-end gold again.

That very intimacy with Bob, however, was observed day by day by Leana Sormi. And Carolyn knew it. Realization of Leana's jealousy kept alive the only flaw in an otherwise perfect existence here.

They decided to take her mother into partial confidence, explaining that the "chemical substance" was hidden in the abandoned Copper King Mine shaft only because it was valuable and "dangerous to persons who wouldn't handle it properly."

Twelve cabins for workmen and minor assistants were going up. An electric power line from Boulder Dam had, as Bob and Carolyn anticipated, been tapped to supply the impromptu village. Every house, including the seven guest cottages under construction, was fitted in time with every electrical convenience, even to air-conditioning. Telephone lines were extended from Blair.

When "nothing happened" for the first month Carolyn tried to tell herself that Leana was afraid to take any further action; common sense told her that deduction was wrong. Her vague but wholly dependable intuition (itself another manifestation of common sense and unconscious reasoning) warned Carolyn to be alert.

It is a mighty big mountain for a laboratory," Mrs. Tyler gazed at Tonto Peak in awe. "About 8000 feet. Odd formation, really. Note the bald, perpendicular spot on top—that's a granite face. Left half the mountain, seen from here, is almost solid rock. Other half, you'll note, had up-ended strata, loose shale and all manner of stuff. There are several beautiful old trails, Mrs. Tyler. I shall order a very gentle horse for you."

The whole new settlement, even the new rock laboratory building, was half a mile from the granite side of Tonto Peak and partly screened from Tonto by a level hill, which Carolyn named Tonto, Jr. Where big Tonto was 8,000, Junior was scarcely 800 feet, and she could climb it easily after dinner to watch the majesty of a sun going down.

There were quick little moments of affection which Leana showed for Bob. Quick little moments when Bob, terrifiedly busy now, remembered to pay personal courtesies to Leana. Other moments, keenly observed, when Bob took Carolyn horseback riding or on a drive in to Blair or to Boulder City, and she saw Leana's face strain with anger as they left.

MRS. TYLER appreciated his thoughtfulness. The more she saw of Dr. Robert Hale, the better she liked him. She couldn't blame her impressionable daughter for being a little bit "foolish" about such a man. A young girl is likely to idealize any gentlemanly employer, when Mrs. Tyler knew. On the other hand, Carolyn was singularly mature, not given to flighty fall-in-love impulses.

Moreover, the experimenters actually had assembled and developed one engine that functioned with a minute speck of the X-999 for power source, less than two months after the arrival of the crew in Arizona. The scientists were beside themselves with elation.

Leana lived almost in solitude, save for actual hours in the laboratory with the scientists she must encounter and work with there. The men treated her with deference, admittedly due. But they were wrapped wholly in the task at hand. Only Bob seemed ever to see her as a person and, maddeningly, even his attentions were no more than gestures one tosses at a child. Or so Leana felt.

Carolyn saw Leana Sormi only when chance or circumstance required it, as when in Bob's presence. The two women would speak with at least surface courtesy, but never actually converse.

Leana lived almost in solitude, save for actual hours in the laboratory with the scientists she must encounter and work with there. The men treated her with deference, admittedly due. But they were wrapped wholly in the task at hand. Only Bob seemed ever to see her as a person and, maddeningly, even his attentions were no more than gestures one tosses at a child. Or so Leana felt.

That night she sat until well past 1 o'clock, crystallizing a brand new plan. It was audacious, yet so perfect she could see no possibility of failure. It could give her everything she wanted and it could be effected at once.

Leana had been installed in a rather luxurious, fitted three-room cabin and had her private caretaker and cook, a trained Hopi Indian woman.

That was true, too true for most of them to grasp except

More Procurement Inspectors Needed

By U. S. Air Corps

No small part of the work of securing faster, more powerful, and safer airplanes and equipment is the inspection of aircraft materials. Parachutes, goggles, camera lenses, instruments, and all other equipment must be inspected by competent well-trained men.

Through an examination announced some time ago, the Civil Service Commission has been seeking experienced men for procurement inspector positions in the Air Corps of the War Department. The Commission has not been able to obtain enough men for these positions. On the contrary, the need has been extended to other fields than those in the original announcement. Five new fields in which persons may qualify have been added, and the options now are: Aircraft, engines, instruments, parachutes, goggles, propellers, tools and gauges, radio, aircraft miscellaneous materials, textiles, fur-lined clothing and optical.

Honor Students Named At McLean

McLEAN, May 7—Honor students were announced by Supt. C. A. Cryer Monday, in a special assembly at McLean High school. To qualify, students must have an 85 average. Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 7 (AP)—With $1 a bushel bid for No. 2 hard winter wheat, Chicago spot market, highest price since 2 cents a bushel today. The upward was held in check by profit taking, however. The advanced conditions in soybean and land futures at one time were at new peaks for the several years.
 Buying of wheat was associated with congressional plans to raise loan rates for the new crop and inflation risks associated with the program and the receipt of beneficial moisture in soft winter wheat territory and possibility of some stocks of wheat being released because of favorable prices.
 Wheat closed 1 1/2-2 1/4 higher than yesterday. May 96 3/4, July 96 1/2-3/4; corn 1 1/2 higher, May 70 1/2, July 70 1/2-3/4; oats unchanged to 1/2 up.

Johnson To Speak At Plainview Show

MERKEL, May 7—Congressman Lyndon Johnson, making a 2,000 mile campaign swing in his race for United States senator this week into most sections of the state, was giving up to his reputation as a campaigner.
 Before sun up this morning, Johnson had viewed the great herds of cattle on the Tom and Woody Largent ranches, and before eight o'clock had gone on a hand-shaking tour of downtown Merkel.
 Johnson came to the ranch of Tom Largent to spend Tuesday night after a political rally at Abilene where he stressed the acute need of all-out production by America to meet its national preparedness demands.
 Johnson, moving at a rapid pace across West Texas in his first swing for votes, met from the hundreds who gathered at each point to greet him a warm response for his solid support of the president's foreign policy.

Selectees Will Get More Time To Adjust Affairs

Inductees will have more time to adjust their personal affairs before reporting for duty.
 Local boards should comb their rolls for men valuable in defense industries.
 One suitcase is enough luggage for a selectee to take to an induction station.
 This was the advice contained in three orders received Monday and Tuesday by the Gray County Selective Service board from General J. Walt Page, Austin, state selective service director.
 On the first point, that of more time allowed inductees before reporting for duty, the general says: "Previously at least five days had to elapse between the time a registration received his order to report for induction and the actual date of induction. An amendment extends this period to 10 days and authorizes local boards to increase it to 60 or more days when they deem such extensions justified."
 The story on finding men who are valuable in defense industries is in line with the Presidential announcement of May 2.
 On the matter of luggage, the general advises that one suitcase should be sufficient to carry everything a selectee will need until he is outfitted by the army, a change of underwear and socks, shaving set, tooth brush.

McLean Youth Flying Cadet At Moffett Field

McLean, Texas, attended McLean High school, Altus Junior college, Altus, Oklahoma, Amarillo Junior college, Amarillo, Texas, New Mexico State college, Las Cruces, New Mexico. Active in sports, he won letter-winners in basketball and football. He was captain of his high school basketball team, and is a member of Phi Beta Theta.
 On completion of the basic, or second course, at Moffett Field, McCarty and his class will go to one of the advanced schools, probably at Stockton, California, for the advanced course. The completion of this course will lead to a commission as second lieutenant in the Air Corps Reserve, and his wings as a full-fledged Air Corps pilot. He will then be assigned with one of the Air Corps units for tactical instruction and training.

All Senatorial Candidates Agree On Defense Issue

(By The Associated Press)
 Campaign speeches made thus far in the Texas senatorial race indicated that there's one issue on which the candidates agree—the necessity of all-out effort to build up national defense.
 Representative Martin Dies, continuing his drive for the senate seat last night reiterated in a speech at Sherman the necessity of electing him as an endorsement of his activities against subversive influences.
 In a talk at Abilene, Representative Lyndon Johnson, whose supporters claim for him the endorsement of President Roosevelt, asked everyone in whatever occupation to "defend the country that stands as the last hope of freedom in the world."
 He declared "the American boys are in the hands of the finest officers in the world" but added, "they have a few trucks and need hundreds more. They need anti-tank guns and they have none."
 Attorney General Gerald C. Mann asserted at Fort Worth that if elected to the senate he would take immediate steps to outlay strikes in defense industries and at the same time make them unnecessary.
 He said the power to deal with strikes resides in the federal constitution.

Flashes Of Life

DEFERRED DIVIDEND
 BLUFFTON, Ind.—H. F. King sold his huckster wagon 18 years ago but he's still taking in money from it.
 A young farmer stopped him and confessed that when he was a boy he'd helped himself to some candy from the wagon.
 To clear his conscience, he insisted that King take a nickel in settlement of the debt.

CLOSE ENOUGH

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—Only one ballot was cast in the Harrison school district election. It selected Mrs. Eva B. Sinton president of the board.
 The voter hurried into the polling place just before it closed. The voter wasn't Mrs. Sinton.

COLD SHOTS

NOME, Alaska—Even the Eskimo has been bitten by the candid camera bug.
 Army crews who flew two four-motored bombers to St. Lawrence island, only a score of miles across the Bering sea from Russian waters, found themselves the targets of 20 cameras in the hands of natives.
 The island is 175 miles from Nome.
 The wireless telegraph station at Mexico City is equipped to communicate with all countries of the world.
