FDR Expected To Sign Aid Bill Wednesday

Two Strikes Threatened In Detroit Area

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—A prompt presidential request for funds to assist aid to Britain under the lend-lease program was forecast at the white house today by legislative leaders.

After conferring with President Roosevelt, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, and Vice President Wallace, Speaker Rayburn said:

"The President probably on Wednesday, if the bill is signed tomorrow night, will send up some estimates. They will be for cash and contract authorization."

The congressional leaders said that the bill, as passed by the senate Saturday night, would be called up in the house tomorrow night for final approval and sent to the white house by nightfall.

Stephen Early presidential secretary, told reporters that he thought Mr. Roosevelt would sign the bill, passed by the senate last Saturday, "sometimes Wednesday, unless we hit a snag not now foreseen."

Informed persons considered it probable that the vast supply of war materials made available to Britain by the bill would start moving across the Atlantic within a few days.

WASHINGTON, March 10—Final congressional action on the British aid bill appeared today to be but a matter of hours, and informed persons considered it probable that the vast supply of war materials made available to Britain would start moving across the Atlantic within a few days.

Small naval vessels were reported to be the first defense articles slated for delivery immediately after the bill becomes law, with food supplies to follow.

Only house approval of relatively minor amendments inserted by the senate before it passed the legislation 60 to 31 Saturday night was needed to speed the momentous measure to the White House.

Speaker Rayburn and Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.) of the House Foreign Affairs committee today predicted the approval would be given Tuesday.

Unless the house leadership runs into an unforeseen snag, the bill therefore will be ready for President Roosevelt's signature by midweek.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said today that as a guess, he thought the bill would be signed "sometime Wednesday, unless we hit a snag not now foreseen."

He told reporters he thought the bill might have some amendments on that occasion, but that he did not know what form it would take.

Asked about the possibility of a fireside chat, Early merely reiterated that he did not know what form would be used.

The secretary said the administration was taking "preparatory steps" to put the aid program into operation, but that there had been no discussion.

Foremen Name Wranglers For Scout Campaign

Pampans who will lead the one-day Boy Scout financial roundup Wednesday have named by foremen of the four ranches (hunch-cubs, to you) which will conduct the drive.

The kick-off will be at a 7:30 a. m. ranch breakfast at the Schneider hotel at which time assignments will be made.

This year's drive will stress the sustaining membership plan. Everyone called upon will be invited to place his contribution on a sustaining basis which eventually would do away with drives.

Frank M. Perry is council finance chairman and Frank Perry is district finance chairman.

Each wrangler appointed by the foremen will name seven men to assist in the drive. That will mean 128 men will be in action Wednesday.

The one-day drive will end at 5 o'clock when all workers will gather in the 100 block on West Kingsmill avenue for the final reckoning.

When the figures have been tabulated the foreman of the team collecting the most money will receive a large pair of scissors the shirt tail from the foreman whose workers collect the smallest amount.

Editor Hints Japs Ready In Pacific

France Rebels Against British Blockade

(By The Associated Press) One of Premier Mussolini's editorial spokesmen asserted today that the British aid bill was "open intervention in the war against the Axis" and threatened the possibility of "many disagreeable surprises to England and the United States in the Pacific."

This assertion, made by Fascist Editor Virginio Gayda, apparently referred to action by Japan in the Far East.

Passage by the bill, he said, might eventually bring the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis into play against the United States.

France rebelled against the British blockade today, threatening to convoy and arm French merchant ships if the blockade continued, and in London, informed quarters indicated that it would be enforced regardless of French counter-measures.

In the Far East, new danger signals arose. British authorities in Singapore warned residents to be ready on 48 hours' notice to move from "areas where it is expected fighting will take place if Singapore is attacked from the sea."

Japan is reported to have massed a strong fleet of warships within quick striking distance of the British naval stronghold, a 150,000-ton citta-del at the crossroads of the China seas and the Indian ocean.

France's vice-premier, Admiral Jean Darlan, made a surprise statement defying the British blockade. Jean Achard, secretary of food supply, declared 18 million bushels of wheat from the United States were urgently needed for unoccupied France.

Darlan described the blockade as "imbecile" and asserted that "I will be nothing stand in the way of the French people's eating."

Once the mistress of Europe's second most powerful navy, France still has several strong units of her fleet in operation—enough to form a serious threat to British sea power if France should decide to fight. The Vichy government declared that 108 French merchantmen have been seized by the British since the French-German armistice last June.

Greek troops still struggling to take strategic Tepeleni in Albania were reported today to have smashed two Italian divisions, taken 2,350 prisoners, and killed or wounded two members of Premier Mussolini's official family in three days' fighting.

Greek officers said Premier Mussolini was in the sector just before the Greeks launched their offensive Friday.

These officers also said Giuseppe Bottai, Italian education minister, and Tullio Cianetti, undersecretary of corporations, were casualties of the fighting.

The two left their Rome posts, with other Italian officials, for the Albanian front and were members of the Julia divisions, which with the Ferraris division was said to have suffered heavily in the fierce series of attacks and counter blows.

At the same time, it was said that

House Wrangles Over O'Daniel's Speech

Sweet Gas Bill Back With Oil, Gas Committee

A sweet gas bill designed to allow production of sweet gas from wells without proper connections has been voted out of the senate subcommittee and back into the committee on oil, gas and mining, according to word received here today from representative Emnis Favors, who is guiding a similar bill through a house sub-committee.

The bills were publicly discussed before both house and senate committees two weeks ago but were referred to sub-committees. Senator Gray Hazeledorn of Amarillo was the sponsor of the bill in the senate and Representative Favors of Pampa was sponsor of the house bill.

There is considerable opposition to the bill, Representative Favors writes a number of interested Pampa businessmen and has operators who attended the committee hearings in Austin. Representative Favors suggested that the men who went to Austin contact friends in both houses urging passage of the bill.

The bill would allow sweet gas from wells not connected with land and fuel lines to be used for the manufacture of carbon black, after the gasoline content had been removed. At the present time production from many wells is curtailed because of inability to get proper pipe line connections. Gasoline and carbon black plants are also operating short shifts because of inability to secure enough gas.

Pampa's Truck In Arizona Collision

A truck belonging to H. H. Ragan, Pampa, produce merchant, was involved in an accident two miles south of Coolidge, Ariz., last night, after it was in collision with an automobile on the Phoenix-Tucson highway. Three Coolidge men were killed in the crash.

Ragan, according to a local grocery man, has made regular trips for several years from Pampa to Amarillo and Berger, thence to Phoenix, leaving here on Saturday evenings and returning the following Friday with loads of lettuce and other vegetables.

Killed in the accident last night were Phil Sepulveda, 26, Eldorado Pinaro, 28, and Al Morris, 32.

Ragan told Arizona police a hitchhiker he picked up at Berger was driving his truck at the time of the accident. Taken into custody later, the hitchhiker, a woman he identified as his wife, denied he was driving the truck.

An inquest is set for 5:30 p. m. today.

New Mexico Has Worst Dust Storm Since Black Blizzard

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 10 (AP)—The sun came back to New Mexico today after a Sunday of being obscured in blowing dust, the worst storm since the black blizzard days of 1935 over parts of eastern New Mexico.

Falling temperatures in the wake of 50-mile-an-hour winds left ice-coated streets and light snow in the north.

Busters raked the state from the Rio Grande valley eastward late Sunday and last night, blowing eastward across the Panhandle of Texas where Amarillo had zero visibility.

Airlines held their planes at Albuquerque for both eastern and northern flights. At Albuquerque, visibility was reduced to less than three miles with the city enveloped in a heavy haze.

Hobbs, in southeastern New Mexico, was raked by winds which enveloped the city in a dustier described as one of the worst in recent years. The dust did not settle until after midnight.

Clovis in the central east groped through sand-laden air late Sunday as the dust rolled out of the west in dark bank visible for many miles as it approached. Fields in the Clovis area suffered from the winds.

The weather bureau at Albuquerque reported the storm caused by a storm center which moved from Nebraska southward to Oklahoma and eastern Texas.

'Impoverished World' Subject Of Tchou Talk

His interest in the working people's welfare drew his attention to the terrible housing conditions and led him to plan practical, model houses for workers. Many of these

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

The woman with young children in her family can plan meals which will please the grownup, and at the same time be nutritionally correct for the youngsters. If she buys her food with this plan in mind she will save both money and time. Of course these menus for all the family must consist only of wholesome and simply prepared dishes.

For example, if the dinner menu is broiled chopped round steak with lemon and butter, buttered green beans, baked potato, bread and butter, lettuce salad, applesauce and oatmeal cookies, give the two-year-old small portions of the 10-year-old generous portions.

(1) Broiled lamb chop, baked squash, shredded cabbage with mayonnaise, bread and butter, baked prune whip.

(2) Casserole of chicken with brown rice, scalloped tomatoes, celery, bread and butter, ice cream.

BAKED FISH STEAKS

(Serves 4)

Four individual salmon, or other fish steaks, 4-inch thick (2 lbs. in all), 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons butter.

Sprinkle steaks with salt. Put into well greased shallow baking dish. Dot with butter. Cover. Bake in moderate oven (325° F.) for about 50 minutes. Serve with parsley and lemon.

FIG BREAD PUDDING

(Serves 4 to 6)

Two eggs, 2 cups milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2/3 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 cup fresh bread crumbs, 1 cup chopped figs.

Beat the eggs until foamy, add the milk, salt, sugar, flavoring, bread crumbs, and figs. Pour into a buttered baking dish set in a pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for one hour, or until firm. Serve with lemon or brandy sauce.

CORNICES ARE INTERESTING

You can achieve unusual effects by stitching your own cornices at home, because window treatments are a way of dramatizing a plain room, or letting down an attractive one.

The kitchen, for instance, would welcome the delightful change from straight-hanging curtains to a sunshade awning cornice. You might use a striped material for this, or one of a gay, splashy print.

For the dining room, over full, sheer straight-hanging curtains, a shirred cornice is suggested. Use the gathering fold attachment with your sewing machine for this.

Here's a new trick, too: instead of using the convention metal rings on which you arrange the swag for the living room window, use three enormous fabric tassel discs.

Bobby Riggs Seeded Over Don McNeill

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 10 (AP)—Don McNeill, who returns to his home town as the country's first-ranking amateur tennis player in quest of the National Indoor crown, found himself seeded No. 2 in the tournament which opened today.

Ahead of him was defending Champion Bobby Riggs.

Chicago's bounding Bobby, who lifted the Indoor crown from McNeill's blond head last year, topped a field of 64 participants. Fifty-two will play first-round singles matches today.

Seeded No. 3 was Frank Kovacs, the Oakland, Calif., clown, who stopped Riggs in the finals of the State Indoor meet here ten weeks ago, then became the sensation of the winter circuit by winning several southern tournaments.

Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore., another former National Indoor titleholder, drew the No. 4 position and Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, who teamed with Ted Schroeder to win the National doubles championship last year, was seeded No. 5.

The doubles will start Wednesday. Other seeded singles players were Bill Talbert, Cincinnati, No. 5; Ed "Lefty" Brown, Waco, Texas, No. 7; and Frank Guernsey, Houston, Texas, No. 8.

It will be the first competition for McNeill since he completed a lengthy South American tour following his victory over Riggs in the finals at Forest Hills.

"I'd like to be in better shape," O'Neill admitted yesterday when he arrived from Gambier, Ohio, where he works in the admissions department of Kenyon college.

But sideliners who watched h/ hustle through a two-hour workout declared, "He's the same old McNeill."

Others predicted he would have to be just that in order to survive the class field and add the National Indoor championship to the three other titles he holds—National Outdoor singles, National Clay Court singles and National Intercollegiate singles.

The tournament, being played outside New York City for the first time, will last a week, with the finals scheduled next Sunday.

Giles Of Reds Fears Cards More Than Brooklyn Dodgers

By GAYLE TALBOT
TAMPA, Fla., March 10 (AP)—"I'm not worried so much about Brooklyn as I am about St. Louis," said General Manager Warren Giles of the world champion Cincinnati Reds as he squirmed with every pitch during an exhibition game here.

"If some of your young pitchers come through the Cardinals are going to be mighty tough. Here's something a lot of people don't realize. From last July 8 until the end of the season the Cards played better ball than we did."

"I mean, if the race had begun that day they would have pitched a game and a half in front of us."

Soothed By Southworth, Cards Vision Pennant

Billy Southworth

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7—Billy Southworth came back and the St. Louis Cardinals say he has plenty of company.

The Red Birds believe they are once more in the pennant hunt under the guidance of the old outfielder once forced out of baseball by demon rum.

The material has been there for two years, but the severity of Ray Blades and his quick-on-the-trigger method of changing pitchers had the Cardinals out there pilot in the far-flung St. Louis chain.

Southworth's first job was to restore confidence and morale. Pitchers who had been yanked for issuing a base on balls or allowing a single were told: "This is your game. Get out there and pitch it." Blades got mad at athletes who were in a slump. Southworth pats them on the back.

The Cardinals had stolen nine bases when Southworth, who plays the running type of game, took command. They swiped seven the day he assumed charge.

It didn't take the well-liked Billy long to straighten them out. They managed to finish third.

HAVE IMPOSING CROP OF RECRUIT PITCHERS

The Cardinals have potential 20-game winners in Morton Cooper, Lon Warneke, and Bill McGehee. They have another Wild Bill Hallahan in Max Lanier, another seasoned and capable southpaw in Clyde Shoun.

In addition to the holdover hurlers they have one of the finest collection of recruit pitchers ever brought to a training camp.

Headed by Howard Krist and Ernie White. Krist had an earned run average of 1.71 in winning 22 engagements for Houston. White, a left-hander, was the most effective pitcher in the American Association with E. R. A. of 2.25. He capped 13 while losing four for Columbus after reporting late. Max Surkont, 18, and up from Decatur, appears to be as swift as Bob Feller.

Though he stands 6 feet 3, and weighs 195 pounds, Walker Cooper is perhaps the fastest backstop in the business.

Don Padgett has made up his mind to stick to catching, and Gus Mancuso is around to school him and to help young pitchers.

Martin Marion's knee and Jimmy Brown's nose are o.k., so the Cardinals have a splendid second basing combination. Steve Mesner hit .341 in the Pacific Coast league, so he should be ready to play third base in major league style.

SOUTHWORTH REVIVED ESPRIT DE CORPS

Johnny Mize topped the league in runs batted in with 137 in 1940, and Southworth expects Outfielder Coun-

Harvesters Had One Of Best Teams At Austin

By ARCHER FULLINGIM
This writer returned yesterday from the Pampa Harvesters to the proud of the Harvesters, and secure in the knowledge that they were just as good as any team in the state basketball tournament. Any other day, any other week-end, they might have won the title, for there was not much difference between seven of the eight regional champions that competed last week-end in Gregory gym for the state championship. There was a difference between El Paso and the seven others.

But Friday afternoon was not the day for the Pampa Harvesters to win. Everything went wrong just as it goes wrong with you some days. The first thing that went wrong was when Thomas Dewey, morale generator for the team, badly sprained his ankle and became disabled.

The seven teams that won the regional at Canyon against Lubbock and the substitution of the second string for the first string in the fourth did not work as it did at Austin; these things were disastrous. They had won four times before.

Then, too, the Jeff Davis boys played their best game of the tournament against Pampa, making 80 per cent of their shots. The Houston quintet won third place in the tournament. To make a long story short, there were seven teams in the tournament—and El Paso. El Paso had the great team of the tournament. None of the other seven was in El Paso's class, although they were in each other's class.

Ahlene had the fighting team of the tournament. Cheered on by a continuously yelling section of students from Ahlrene High school, the decimated team from Ahlrene, minus their best subs and their captain and sparkplug, who was ill with pneumonia, clawed and fought their way to the finals and played El Paso a close game until the last minute. El Paso finally beat the Eagles 27 to 20 for the state title.

It was El Paso's eighth trip to the state finals. It was Ahlrene's third. Waco's fourth, Houston's sixth, but was the first time for Mount Vernon, Bloomington, and Pampa, and they showed their ignorance.

The officials, Ziggy Sears, Ab Curtis, and Boggers, were just as fair to one team as to another, and they played no favorites, and showed no partiality in officiating, but they didn't call the balls as close as referee Joe Ley does in Pampa. There is no such thing as a tie ball at the state tournament when one player has one hand on the ball and the other has two hands on the ball. You have to take the ball away from the other player for it to be a tie ball in the state tournament, and it has been that way for years.

That way of calling the balls makes the game rougher and maybe that explains the sprained ankles that thinned the ranks of the Pampa Harvesters, the Ahlrene Eagles, the Jeff Davis team, but that's the way they ought to be called in Pampa if we expect to go to the state next year again, and we do on account of having almost five regulars back—Flanigan, Halter, Otis, Burge, Cox, and Allen.

Pampa should win the regional again next year with that team, but of course that depends on what kind of coach replaces Odus Mitchell.

The thing to do next year is to see to it that our officials call the game loosely, ignoring tie balls until the two players square off against each other. The way was the time in the state tournament when a Mount Vernon player would wrestle with an El Paso boy for several seconds and then give up, thinking the official would surely call a tie ball, and the El Paso boy would dribble the ball away and make a basket.

The Harvesters behaved themselves like model boys on the trip, and of course the coach never had any trouble with them. This team of Harvesters was very fond of the coach, who in turn was fond of them.

Coach Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell drove from Austin to Marshall, where he will coach next year. He will confer with Marshall school authorities regarding spring football training. He will return to Pampa early this week.

Pampans should be proud of this year's team although it lost in the state tourney, because the Harvesters were one of the eight best teams in the state, and they made a good showing in Austin as long as they were on their feet.

Arkansas In Cage Tourney At New York

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Sixteen first-round games in the National Intercollegiate Basketball tournament at Kansas City were played Saturday and Sunday. The Metropolitan Intercollegiate basketball selection committee met Saturday to pick five teams to fill out the list of eight for the intercollegiate invitation tourney at Madison Square Garden March 18, 19, 22, and 24.

About two weeks from now the annual National Collegiate A. sectional tournaments will be played at Kansas City and Madison, Wis.

From these three events, there may emerge one generally recognized national cage champion for the 1941 season. At any rate, the three winners will come very close to being the years' top performers.

The N. C. A. A. tourney takes in the biggest "name" teams, most of them qualifying through winning major conference titles. In the western division, Arkansas, the Southwest conference champion, already has qualified. The Pacific Coast conference's north-south championship series between Stanford and Washington State next week-end, will bring out another candidate while Creighton, the Missouri Valley conference titlist, and Iowa State, Big Six co-champion will play off at Kansas City March 18 for the right to represent their district.

Wisconsin, Big Ten champion, and North Carolina, which led the Southern conference through the regular season but lost out to Duke in the title tournament, have been chosen for the eastern half. Both sectional tourneys will be played March 21-22 with the winners meeting at Kansas City a week later.

SERIAL STORY

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

BY RUTH AYERS

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Ann accuses April of being in love with Kent. But there is no bitterness in her words...

APRIL ENLISTS FOR LIFE CHAPTER XXV

"DEAR April—I'm on my way back to New York. Yesterday when you came in from the hearing in court, I was talking on the telephone. It was a call from New York. Vivano told me the night of the audition that I would never make a concert singer, that I didn't have the voice to become a truly great contralto.

"But someone else was at the audition that night who felt rather differently about it. Through this friend, I had an offer yesterday for a contract on a radio program. Oh, I may never be the famous song-bird I hoped but this will mean a career in music, and that's all I ask.

"I wasn't quite sure what my answer would be yesterday but I knew last night.

"April, you would have kept quiet the rest of your life to spare me, but there were other things entering into it. Kent's Aunt Elizabeth—a frightening old person, isn't she—let something slip. She liked you, April. And Kent himself. When I saw his face last night after we had found you crying, I had the real answer.

"I thought I loved Kent, and at first I was jealous because I suspected you had fallen in love with him yourself. But Kent and I had quarreled once about my singing and we would have quarreled again. That's why this chance to sing gives me a great way out.

"I've left another note for Mother and Dad because explanations wouldn't have done any good at this eleventh hour.

"There's only one request I want to make of you. You must be the one to tell Kent.

"Please believe me when I say this finds me in seventh heaven. My hope is that you'll be there, too—with Kent. Ever your sister—Ann."

FOR a long time, April held the letter.

If it had been written a week ago, a day ago, it would have changed the future. Now it had come too late.

Yesterday she had told Kent she had masqueraded at love—carried through the pretense just as a lark. A lark!

She hated her. He despised her. Nothing could change that.

She went downstairs to telephone him. The quickest way would be the easiest in the end.

"Kent?"

"Yes, Ann—I've been up for hours. Sort of thought I'd hear from you."

April steadied the receiver. Kent had called her Ann. All right, let him think she was Ann until she had told him herself that Ann had gone away. He might not even see her if she said she was April.

"I'm taking the roadster out. I'll be by for you in a few minutes."

"Fine," he said. "That will be fine." But he didn't say it in the same glad, ringing voice as on that day when she had phoned him before their drive to the windmill farm.

AS she drove up the hill in the car, the sky was still streaked in the east with copper and gold. And there was a certain fragrance in the air. Almost like spring, she thought, even though the calendar was still at January.

He was waiting at the gate and when he saw that she was April, curly yellow hair, rakish beret and jaunty coat, he strode angrily to the car.

"Another one of your masquerades?"

"No—no, it isn't."

"That's what I came to tell you."

"Where's Ann?"

"That's what I came to tell you."

"No—no, it isn't."

"That's what I came to tell you."

"No—no, it isn't."

"That's what I came to tell you."

seemed an endless time. Then he said, "No, if she wants it to be like that I wouldn't try to get her back. I have a feeling it's for the best."

As she looked at him, April had the impression that Kent swore an expression, almost of relief.

April shifted gears, started the motor. "I'll hurry along," she said. "There'll be things to be done at home. I'm sorry, Kent, it had to turn out the way it did."

In another instant the roadster would shoot down the hill again, turning its back on Kent and the gloomy old house, this time for all time.

"Don't go yet," Kent said.

"There's something else you wanted to say?"

"You might tell Ann when you write that I want her to be happy. And also, that as long as there'll be no wedding, I'm returning to camp."

"Yes, I'll tell her—and good luck, Kent."

"Thanks—and to you, April. You deserve the best. I had you all wrong, April, right from the first when I called you the Gilt-terbug."

Suddenly, April switched off the throbbing engine. "Kent Carter," she said, "we're talking here like strangers, making up polite conversation. I don't want your good luck! I don't want you to say you were sorry or that you had me all wrong!"

The April storm was rising in her at last. She began to pound her hands on the steering wheel.

Kent reached over and in some way was beside her.

"What do you want?" he asked.

"You! You, of course! Last night when I told Hal Parks I could never marry him, he said that with some people love might be slow blooming, but with me it was like lightning that struck once—and fast. Don't you see, Kent? It struck me, that night I met you at the train."

"April—April, darling!"

HE kissed her recklessly, dizzily, and right in the full view of the gingerbread Carter house where no doubt the gingery old great-aunt could see.

Then he eyed the April of the blue eyes and the daffodil curls with a certain wondering curiosity.

"Some day," he said, "you can tell me the whole story from beginning to end."

"I can tell it to you now," she answered. "The beginning is that I was drafted for love. The end is—well, that's just it. There is no end. I've enlisted for a lifetime."

Carter, Borger; "Bessie" by J. T. Fountain, Lubbock; "Desert Trail" by W. D. Godsey, Amarillo; "Entrance" by C. Don Hughes, Amarillo.

"Neighborhood Pet" by E. D. Kral, Amarillo; "Tommy Prim" and "Yucca in Bloom," by Gene Ohm, San Antonio; "Nani o' Hawaii," by H. D. Ohm, San Antonio; "Back Lighting" and "The Scouts" by H. C. Pipkin, Amarillo; "Joe" by O. Dale Smith, Amarillo; and "Windswept" by Edwin Snook, Amarillo.

Death Of Churchill Daughter Denied

LONDON, March 10 (AP)—A report circulated in London today that Sarah Churchill, Oliver, spinster-haired actress daughter of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, had been killed in a recent bombing, but her husband's secretary said later: "She is quite all right."

She was reported en route to Bradford to appear at a concert.

Mrs. Oliver, 27, was married to Vic Oliver, American comedian, on Christmas eve, 1936, in New York, where she made her debut on the United States stage in that year.

The Downing Street Press bureau also announced in referring to the report of Mrs. Oliver's death: "There was a rumor to that effect, but there is no truth in it."
