

Poll Tax Office To Remain Open Tonight--Tomorrow Will Be Too Late

Employees of the county tax assessor collector's office were prepared for an extra long day as the deadline falls on the payment of poll taxes.

Payment of poll taxes was steady this forenoon, but the real "last minute rush" was not expected until late tonight.

Last year there were 6,397 poll taxes paid in Gray county and 711 exemption certificates.

Pampans, however, should disregard the election factor, for there is an election to be held here in April to elect two trustees of the Pampa Independent School district.

Amendments to the state constitution, city and school elections and bond issues will face Texas voters in the next eleven months.

Harris county (Houston) showed 75,368 polls in 1938 but to date this year has only about 32,000 on the register.

totalled 70,040 with 26,075 of them exemptions. The total of poll taxes paid, 44,965, was far ahead of an estimated 17,500 paid to date.

The Weather

West Texas—Cloudy with occasional scattered rains tonight and Saturday. Little change in temperature.

Hal Lucas Buys Grover Seitz' Half-Interest In Pampa Oilers

U. S. 'NOT NEUTRAL,' SAYS COMMITTEE HEAD

Seitz Given Release As Club Manager

Veteran Player To Retire And Become 'A Spectator'

Hal H. Lucas, prominent Pampa business man and civic leader, today announced the purchase of a half interest in the Pampa Oilers Baseball Club of the West Texas New Mexico league.

With sale of his half of the franchise, Seitz also was given his release as playing manager of the team. Seitz said he had decided to retire from baseball and become a spectator.

Harold Miller, other organizer of the club, retained his half interest and the two men announced today that they planned to give Pampa another hustling ball team in 1941.

Baseball has always been my favorite sport and although I have not played much ball, I love the game and have always wanted to be affiliated with a club.

Mr. Lucas is owner of the Coca-Cola Bottling company here. He came to Pampa in May of 1939 from San Antonio. He has been prominent in chamber of commerce, Red Cross, club and other civic work since coming to Pampa.

Miller Old Timer
"I am delighted to be associated with Hal Lucas," declared Harold Miller. "He is a swell fellow and a real sport. We are going to have to shake a lot of bushes to find a successor to Grover Seitz. When we give him his release we set free one of the few real old time fighting ball players in the game. He is too big for his age and his determination to win. I wish him success in any new venture he may undertake. Our affiliation has come to an end in the best of spirit and friendship and I appreciate his good wishes and support in the future of baseball in Pampa."

Miller first became affiliated with baseball in Pampa when he assisted in organizing the old Danziger Road Runners in 1933. Later he assisted in the organization of the Pampa Oilers. Pampa had no baseball in 1938 but the following year Seitz and Miller gave Pampa its first professional baseball. The team placed second in the league in 1939 and last year Pampa won the league title.

A new manager will be named soon the owners announced today and contracts will be sent to players now on the team roster soon.

'CINDERELLA' MEETS MOVIE STARS IN 'LAST LAUGH'

Ann Sklepovich, 14, who went to Washington on a hoaxed invitation to meet President Roosevelt, is having the last laugh after all. After seeing FDR, who made arrangements for her entertainment, Ann met a number of the celebrities gathered in the capital for the President's birthday ball.

300 People Visit Art Exhibit Here

Pampa citizens have proven their interest in art by attending the two-day exhibit being sponsored by the Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority in the city club rooms. More than 300 persons visited the exhibit between 2 and 5 and 7 and 9:30 o'clock yesterday.

Kunze Given 14 Months In Prison

NEWTON, N. J., Jan. 31 (AP)—Wilhelm Kunze, national leader of the German American Bund, and eight Bund associates were sentenced today to serve one year to 14 months in state prison on charges of violating New Jersey's "race hatred" law.

Two of them also were fined $2,000 each, and the other seven, $1,000 each.

The men had been indicted on charges of making or permitting anti-Semitic speeches at the Bund's Camp Nordland, in Andover township. They elected to file a demurrer, challenging the constitutionality of the law and denying the seriousness of the charges, instead of standing trial.

Judge John C. Losey of the Sussex county court overruled the demurrer Jan. 7, and imposed the sentences today.

Sentenced with Kunze were: August Klapprott, Andover, the Bund's eastern regional leader, whose territory reaches to Florida, one of those fined $2,000.

Matthew Kohler, Irvington, New Jersey, Bund treasurer, also fined $2,000.

The Rev. John C. Fitting, Union City, State Bund secretary.

Richard Shiele, Patterson, Camp Nordland trustee.

Paul Scharschmidt, Patterson, also a trustee.

Carl Schipphorst, Glen Rock, trustee.

George Neuppert, Cliffside Park, trustee.

Leonard D. Clark, New York, writer for a Bund publication.

You use up gasoline 5 to 15 times faster than normal while the choke is out for starting and warm-up. High Test Phillips 66 Poly Gas eliminates the need for excessive, wasteful choking. Thus adds mileage, and costs no more than lower test motor fuels, because PHILLIPS is the WORLD'S LARGEST PRODUCER of natural high test gasoline.

B-PW Club Begins Work On District Meet To Be Here

At the monthly social meeting of Business and Professional Women's club in the city club rooms this week, the publicity committee directed the making of miniature suit cases, fiddles, and fish, which are to be used later in advertising the district one conference at which the local club will be hostess next fall.

Preceding the beginning of this social project, Mary Fleming, Lora Kinard, and Jewell Meeks served refreshments of punch, macaroons, and fresh dates sent from California by Ruba McCounell, a member of the Pampa club.

Opal Wright, health committee chairman, directed the group in various exercises.

Attending were Audrey Powell, Blanche Drescher, Ursula McCarty, Lela Mann, Helen Windsor, Elvise Hut, Ruth Griggs, Allie Huckaby, Ida Mae Jones, Madeline Murray, Madge Rivik, Frances Craver, Gypsy Maloy, Oree Kromer, Pearl Mitchell, Vada Lee Olson, Laura Bell Cornelius, Lillian Jordan, Ann Heaker, Neva Burgran, Myrtle Simmons, Katie Beverly, Dalton Hall, Louise Hoover, Avis Thompson, Ruth Walstead, Clara Lee Shewmaker, Maurine Jones, Mildred Overall, Mildred Lafferty, Mary Fleming, Rowena Wasson, Opal Wright, Lillian McNutt, Gladys Robinson, Madeline Ge, Ida Hughes, Freda Boehm, Effie Atkinson, Julia E. Young Women Meet To Re-Organize YWA At Central Baptist

A young women's business and professional group met at the home of Allene Weathered this week to re-organize a Y. W. A. for Central Baptist church.

Opening the meeting was a prayer by Miss Juanita Higgins. Mrs. John Evans, counselor, presided over the session in which officers were elected. They are Miss Juanita Higgins, president; Miss Ozella Dunn, vice-president; Miss Grace NeCase, secretary-treasurer; Miss Allene Weathered, personal service chairman; Miss Winnie Green, stewardship chairman; Miss Kathleen Paxson, mission study; Miss Vivian Woodridge, publicity; and Miss Edith Beck, extension chairman.

The group voted to meet twice a month with the next meeting set for February 10 in the home of Miss Juanita Higgins.

AAUW To Sponsor Review By Mrs. Coffee Monday

Robert Sherwood's current Broadway success, "There Shall Be No Night" will be reviewed in the city club rooms next Monday evening at 8 o'clock under the sponsorship of the American Association of University Women. Mrs. Joe F. Coffee, dramatic reviewer from Amarillo, will be the reviewer.

Mrs. Coffee has become very popular throughout the Panhandle as a reviewer during the past few months. Among books and plays which she has reviewed recently are "Life With Father," "Family Portrait," "The Bird in the Tree," and "Paine Is the Spur." Her address on "My Task As a Woman in the Defense Program" has received much favorable comment. Two of her recent speeches dealt with "The Art of Living as Revealed in Recent Prose" and "The Art of Living as Revealed in Recent Poetry." She is in demand as an after-dinner speaker for both men's and women's organizations.

Mrs. Coffee, who feels most at home in the field of the dramatic art, has majored in dramatic art at the Boston Curry School of Speech, says "There Shall Be No Night" is one of her favorites. She first reviewed Sherwood's play before a packed house at the annual open house meeting of the Amarillo branch of the American Association of University Women. The review was so favorably received that she has since repeated it before numerous other organizations. Several Panhans have heard Mrs. Coffee's reviews and inspirational addresses and have praised her highly.

The review, which is a continuation of the series of monthly arts programs sponsored by the A. A. U. W., will attract the public for a small admission fee. The sponsors believe that both men and women will enjoy the review.

Catholic Youth Council To Meet In Amarillo

Catholic young people of the Panhandle will meet at the cathedral hall in Amarillo Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock for the initial meeting of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Youth.

During the first session, registration will precede the election of officers, the reading of a paper, "The Value of Catholic Youth Organizations," by the Lubbock delegation, and a Dr. I. Q. program by the Pampa organization. A prize will be given to the organization winning the quiz program. Miss Grace Dwyer, Miss Marguerite Jones, and Miss Maxine French will be in charge of the registration and the Dr. I. Q. contest.

Dinner will be served in the cathedral hall at 7 o'clock followed by dancing from 9 until 12 o'clock to the music of the Collegians, an Amarillo orchestra.

Out-of-town guests will spend the night in Amarillo homes. All of the representatives will attend high mass at the cathedral at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning and will receive Holy Communion in a group. Bishop Robert E. Lucy will deliver the sermon at this mass.

According to present plans, the Diocesan Council of Catholic Youth will hold regular quarterly meetings which will be similar to this initial session.

Wallpaper Borders Influence Women In Buying Homes

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Real estate brokers today that little things like wallpaper borders influence women in buying homes.

That advice was given by Irene Constance of Oklahoma City, Okla., a home builder in her own right, in an address prepared for delivery at the south central conference of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"Women," she said, "prefer plain wallpaper but they love borders, large and showy ones, gaily papered closets always look at the lacredivets and beautiful ceilings. Women always look at ceilings—why, I don't know."

She reminded the realtors that "women handle 80 per cent of the home buying."

Love To Be Topic Of Lesson-Sermon

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 2.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee" (Jeremiah 31:3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love" (I John 4:7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is what the Scriptures declare Him to be—Life, Truth, Love" (page 320).

NICE IN TWO COLORS OR ONE

Pattern 8763

This little school frock has just the right lines. It scoops in at the waist, flares at the skirt, and widens gracefully at the shoulders. All those details are becoming to school girls both large and little, so this design (No. 8763) will grow right up with the child, looking as well on her when she arrives at the grown-up size of 14, as when she is a tiny size 6. Because it's a pattern that you'll repeat many times, you'll be glad to see that you can vary it by making some versions in one color, others in a combination of print or plaid and plain.

This simple frock makes up beautifully in practically every material that little girls wear—percale, cambray, linen, chambray, and pique. It's a very easy design.

Pattern No. 8763 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1 1/2 yards of 3 1/2-inch material without nap; 3/4 yard contrast, for short-sleeved frock. A straw chart is included in your pattern.

For a PATTERN of this attractive model, send 15c IN COIN, YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE to The Pampa News Today's Pattern Service, 211 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

What's new for spring? What kind of clothes top the list? Where are waistlines? How do shoulders look? To what length will skirts go. You'll find all the answers in our Spring book—now ready—answers all worked out in easy patterns that you can make for yourself. Mail your order now!

Where Army Forges New Link in America's Lifeline

A new link, considered vital to hemisphere defense, is rapidly being formed in "America's lifeline"—the Panama Canal. It is a third set of locks, offering an alternate route in war time in case of damage to existing locks. Photo above shows Atlantic approach of new locks, with Gatun Lake at left. At right, huge suction dredger is digging out a channel. In many areas Army engineers had to level tropical jungle such as appears on far shore.

Legislature Begins Week-End Recess

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Jan. 31.—The legislature adjourned today.

Beginning a week-end recess, some members went home, some played golf and others busied about spare moment tasks.

Despite the variety of activities all eyes focused on next week's action promising calendar.

Here is the schedule which might burst into fireworks at any point:
Monday—Hearing by senate committee on governor's nominations for Harry Knox, Jr., and Frank Davis, board of control appointees.

Tuesday—Senate inquiry into old age assistance administration policies.

Wednesday—Senate questioning of State Auditor Tom C. King on whose recommendations Governor W. Lee O'Daniel asked a house-cleaning in state government; truck load limit hearing by senate committee; another session of senate committee on governor's nominations.

Thursday—Truck load limit hearing by house committee; house penitentiary committee hearing on abolishing prison whippings.

The house has ordered an inquiry into pension administration by special committee which might start its work next week.

Senators Smoke In Capital Chamber But No One Else Can

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 (AP)—It was taboo until the legislature met but now its okeh. The reference is to smoking in the senate chamber.

For the last two years, when the legislature was not in session, smoking at any of various meetings held in the hall was strictly prohibited. Big signs informed visitors smoking was not allowed.

The reason was fear that someone would drop cigarette or cigar stubs and burn holes in the senate's handsome and costly green carpet. It had been done.

But there is no ban against the senators' smoking, and most do. At every meeting of the senate these days, many little columns of smoke go curling up from the senators' seats to the glass ceiling.

Lieut.-Gov. Coke Stevenson of Junction, the senate's presiding officer, smokes a straight-stemmed pipe. The more involved the parliamentary situation the more he puffs.

King Proposes Abolition Of Road Taverns

AUSTIN, Jan. 31. (AP)—Roadside drinking taverns, in the opinion of Rep. A. H. King of Throckmorton, should be abolished.

Referring to a bill he introduced which would limit the sale of liquor, wine and beer to incorporated towns and cities, King today asserted:

"The roadside drinking evil in my district is growing intolerable. People from dry districts go to those joints, pull off orgies and then, drunk and at night, menace the lives of others on the highways.

My proposal is essentially a safety measure. If it saves one human life, I shall be amply repaid. Everyone knows gasoline and alcohol don't mix."

The lawmaker, serving his first term, declared that if the bill were made law, drinking establishment owners would be forced more into cities, thus taking them off highways especially on the edges of dry counties.

"A boy was found dead behind one of these places up in my district some time ago and they can't find a single clue," King continued. "If something isn't done to stop such things, Texas is liable to have prohibition again in the next few years."

The bill would amend liquor statutes to prohibit issuance of retailers' permits to places of business located outside of incorporated villages, towns or cities and prevent manufacturers and wholesalers from selling outside of city limits.

They watch out for speeders, for reckless drivers, and for others whose automobile driving endangers public safety—but they don't forget other violations of traffic laws, either, such as trucks that are too wide and driving a vehicle without a muffler.

Motorists who carelessly violate the latter two rules are due for a surprise, for Texas highway patrolmen are on the alert to see that all traffic laws are enforced.

One case of a truck being driven without a muffler and another of a truck that exceeded the legal width of eight feet was filed today in justice court here.

The legal truck width is eight feet, but there are certain exceptions in the case of water wells, farm implements, and tractors who obtain special permits.

Mobeetie Wins 40-22 Game From Wheeler

Special To The NEWS
MOBETTIE, Jan. 30.—Led by Walter Eubanks, rangy center, and Leroy Robison, ace forward, the Mobeetie Hornets basketball five broke back into the winning column Tuesday night by defeating their old rivals, the Wheeler Mustangs, 40 to 22.

Eubanks amassed a total of 16 points with Robison tallying seven field goals totaling 14 points.

The Wheeler lasses were no match for the Mobeetie sextet and lost the game by a score of 5 to 27. Bradley, was high point with 10 points.

The Mobeetie boys and girls have made plans to enter the Canadian tournament this week-end.

Opportunity—If We Grasp It

The recent Supreme Court decision confirming control by Congress alone of the 5,000,000 aliens in our midst is more than a mere legal decision. It is an immensely suggestive direction-marker.

Pennsylvania had passed a law which, in addition to compelling aliens to register, required them to carry at all time a card of identification, with a jail penalty for being caught without it.

This great mass of aliens, to which others will probably be added, is at once a problem and an opportunity. All the wisdom and understanding we can bring to bear will be needed.

What we need is not to "tolerate" but to "accept" people whose ways may not necessarily be in every respect our ways. Because a man prefers spaghetti or shish kebab to a New England boiled dinner does not make him any the less a good American.

Adamic has rendered a service in again pointing out that the American people and the United States are still evolving. We have not created a mold into which newcomers must be forced.

That is why the aliens who now seek citizenship, the foreign-born who live among us, the second-generation people still ill-at-ease in a land that is theirs and yet not theirs, are an opportunity, not a handicap.

They, too, have something to give America. Let us encourage them to give it!

Behind The News

First of two personality closeups of Secretaries Stimson and Knox. BY BRUCE CATTON. The Pampa News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—When the President made Henry L. Stimson secretary of war last June, general belief was the 73-year-old statesman wouldn't stick around very long.

Stimson fooled them. He not only shows no signs of quitting, but he has made himself vastly more than a mere figurehead—which is what a great many secretaries of the service departments really are, especially those getting on in years.

His day begins at 6:30 each morning in his suburban home of Woodley, a spacious house in some 18 acres of ground in the fashionable northwest section of Washington.

First item of business is always an appointment with an officer from the statistics branch of the general staff. Stimson calls this an orientation conference.

After this comes the daily routine. There may be a meeting of the Office of Production Management, or conferences with one or more of the defense commissioners.

Stimson gets enough exercise to keep fit by horse-back riding and by regular evening games of deck tennis at his home. Playing with him usually are officers from the War Department or a few State Department cronies whom he knew during his own regime there.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES. This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the values of our common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

DISCARDING OUR MEASURE OF VALUE. If one should write a simple, all-inclusive explanation as to why we have ten million people out of work and why the average wage increase of 1 1/2 percent a year that was in operation for a hundred years before 1930 has ceased, that simple explanation would be that we have discarded our method of measuring values.

We have in fact now no universal method of measuring values, as we more nearly had 25 years ago. The real and the only way of measuring values in a democratic government and among Christian people is a free market—allowing any man to produce anything that he thinks will reward him the most.

This method of measuring values prevents any man from having, for any length of time, an excessive reward for his services. And it also prevents for any length of time any man getting less than his services are worth.

This method of measuring values produces harmony, peace and goodwill between men. Our whole economic trouble, our whole unemployment problem, is simply the result of people wanting and demanding that they receive more for rendering a service than others are willing and able to render the same service for.

Of course, under a dictator the rewards each individual receives are arbitrarily set by the dictator or his agent. Labor unions and government employes have been demanding and receiving rewards on an arbitrary basis and not on a free market basis.

This puts things out of balance, discourages and disheartens those who do not have the right to learn to do the things that society wants. Unless we get the people to realize that the only true measure of the value of any service is a free market, we will continue to drift on and on toward arbitrary dictatorship control of what each man should trade his services for.

There is no choice other than a free market, or the force of a dictatorship. This country and Christianity were based on a free market, as opposed to a dictatorship. It is too bad that we are drifting so rapidly away from the principles advocated by Jesus and the Constitution of the United States.

IS 55 CENTS AN HOUR FORCE WAGE OR PRINCIPLE?

There is a news report that Ryan Airplane Corporation have settled minimum wages at 55 cents an hour for the first month, 57 1/2 cents for the first four months and 62 1/2 cents thereafter.

These forced, or artificial wages, make it extremely difficult for those people who are naturally slow to get any jobs. And if they do, of course, the price of the product will have to be increased and it will come out of the sweat of labor that pays for the airplanes.

There is no semblance of the American principles, no semblance of freedom in these wage scales. It seems to be the irony of fate that these airplanes are to be used in training men to fight against tyranny for freedom, when we have the worst form of tyranny in making these planes.

The method by which these artificial wages were established are the primary cause of our unemployment and will eventually lead to complete collapse, just as it did in Italy and in France and in Russia where wages were set by wish, by fiat, by law or by force as it was in the Ryan wage scale.

It is an absurdity to be using force here and at the same time attempting to go across the ocean to prevent cruelty and force being used.

The Nation's Press

FANTASTICALLY DANGEROUS (Wall Street Journal). The bill introduced in Congress last week for "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" is simply fantastic in the power it grants the President.

One illustration of what he could do if this measure were enacted as it is now written will show the bill's character. The term "defense article" is defined to include among many other things, any article "to which the United States or any foreign government has or hereafter acquires title, possession or control." (Italics supplied.)

That description exactly fits each and every vessel of our present Navy. It fits each and every implement of combat now in the possession or control of the Army. It means not only arms and munitions yet to be manufactured but now in existence in this country.

The bill says that the President may, "when he deems it in the interest of national defense" authorize any department or agency of the Government "to manufacture . . . or otherwise procure, any defense article for the government of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States."

Inspection quickly and effectively. Stimson gets enough exercise to keep fit by horse-back riding and by regular evening games of deck tennis at his home.

SAYS HE, OVER HIS SHOULDER

AND I MAY GET TOUGH WITH YOU TOO, AMERICA!

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.—The newest thing in Wonder Tots is dark-haired, sassy-faced, precocious Carolyn Sue Lee. She looks like the biggest thing in rompers since Shirley Temple went into "Little Miss Marker" and stole the show.

Miss Lee has made two films. The first was "Honey-moon in Bali," in which she had a small but pivotal part, took a few scenes away from Madeleine Carroll, and caused a flutter of amusement and interest.

The youngster's wriggly warmth gives her a natural advantage over Miss Carroll's blond coyness. Technical help, too. But the thing that really really slays the customers is the southern accent. Miss Carolyn lays it on thicker than sawgrass on a frosty mornin'.

None of the other members of the cast except the Negro players has any accent worth mentioning; and Miss Carroll's traces of clipped British vowels are explained by having just fresh from New York, and the Broadway stage, at that. On a radio program plugging the film, Carolyn wowed listeners by playing a scene and doing both her own and the blond star's part.

WON FIRST SALARY TIPP

Like most infant prodigies of the screen, Miss Lee is undersized and therefore seems doubly bright for her apparent age. Actually, she's 5 now, but still plenty smart and unquestionably an able actress, as the acquired southern accent proves.

Y. Frank Freeman, head man at Paramount, likes to tell of the time Carolyn had a spell of sulking. Questioned, she said she had noticed that all of the people in the company she was the only one who wasn't being paid. Of course Miss Lee's check was going to her mother, but she didn't know that.

"Well, if you really think you deserve money for what you're doing," said Freeman, "how about 5 cents a day?" Miss Lee frowned and shook her head. "Six!" she said determinedly.

So Carolyn won her first battle over salary. Every day after that she went to the big boss and collected a nickel and a penny. Undoubtedly she is the greatest underestimation of value ever made by an actress in the whole history of movies.

I don't know how much she really was making all this time, but it was quite a lot because the studio had to beg for her services. Carolyn's father, Warren Copp, is a steel company official and has a money enough so his daughter's earnings are not important to the family.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Well, here's another colorful and interesting letter from Mage Keyser, and this time Mage, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Keyser, wrote to Hubert (Patsy) Nolen, who Mage used to drill oil wells with. Because Mage is a friend of so many Pampans we are going to print the letter.

"I left San Diego Jan. 3, and showed off on the U. S. S. Richmond, light cruiser for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. It took six days to make the cruise. . . . The Richmond is supposed to carry around 500 men and ten thousand 800 aboard. It was really crowded. The crew slept in hammocks and cots all over the deck and every place else. We never slept in hammocks before in training, and had to either sleep on the deck or swing hammocks from the rail to a ladder. I swung mine every night and didn't fall out. It wasn't so bad. I didn't get seasick but felt sorta weak in my stomach two or three times but never did heave. Just a few of the boys got sick, but some of the old salts were heaving up their guts. . . . I saw a small whale and some flying fish. You ought to see the flying fish. They were really set sail. When I came aboard the Holland (the ship he's now on), they asked every one of us if we ever played baseball and I told them I had and am playing first base on the first team. They play ball the year around over here and sure go in for it in a big way. We are trying to get the champion team of the fleet. We beat the fleet champions off the hatchship U. S. S. Mississippi. After I told them I had played a little baseball they disqualified me then for submarine duty but I took the ear pressure tests and my ears wouldn't stand it. I am in the black gang working in the fire room; sometimes it gets as low as 120 in there. Don't get the wrong idea about Honolulu.

"They have got it blown up like a balloon, but it is the scariest place I ever saw. It is so rotten it stinks. They are a lot of bunyaks over here, nothing but Chinese and Japs. . . . I saw Carl Nolen over in San Diego before I left and we shot the breeze awhile. . . . I haven't seen Doug (a brother, also stationed in Hawaii) yet, but I am going to see him my next liberty. I think we are going on a cruise next month. . . . I have heard that we may go to Alaska, San Diego, Cocosola, Panama, or to China. If the other submarine tender U. S. S. Beaver comes over here from the East Coast, we may go to China for 2 1/2 years in the Asiatic fleet."

So They Say

The only ones who can survive in the present world are those who are accustomed to great disappointment or those who can gracefully accustom themselves to great disappointment.

Senator Henry F. Ashurst, on retiring from long service. I regard the doctrine of all totalitarian regimes as wrong in theory, evil in execution, and incompatible with the rights of man.

The ocean is a lonely place these days. Capt. W. W. Kuhne, master of the Exambcan, just in from Lisbon. It is to be regretted that neither of our major parties found space in its platform for a plank proposing an amendment in the Constitution whereby every adult citizen would be guaranteed employment at living wages.

Identification Cards Opposed At Juarez

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, Jan. 31 (AP)—Reports from Ciudad Juarez, across the border from El Paso, Texas, today told of increasing opposition there to a government regulation scheduled for application Feb. 1, which would require all residents of El Paso to possess identification cards in order to cross the frontier.

According to these reports, Chihuahua state officials, labor organizations and business men have protested to President Avila Camacho that the measure would cause serious economic damage in Ciudad Juarez.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM LATEST BOOKS

THE WOUNDED DON'T CRY IN LONDON

Quentin Reynolds, American newspaperman, had a front seat, so to speak, when the French retreated and gave up Paris. Since then he has been in England. Now he has written a vivid, word-stabbing picture of what he saw—"The Wounded Don't Cry" (E. P. Dutton; $2.50). Here is the whole panorama of the war—lonely, deserted Paris, the vast crowd of French refugees extending clear down to the sea, the thorough streets of Bordeaux, the bombing of London, a night with the gallant lads of the R. A. F., a trip on a convoy. Reynolds writes: "No book ever written can equal the drama that is going on tonight in London—A city of six million people crouching underground; not covering with fear, but crouching for safety. Babies are being born in shelters under the earth. Men and women are dying as I write this. It is what they call a very 'noisy' night in London. Perhaps a hundred German planes are over London now looking for places (if they do look for places) to drop their bombs. . . . Gradually, they are chipping away at London as a woodsman chips away at a tree. They are trying to kill London. You can kill a tree by chopping it down. You can't kill London by destroying the buildings. The bombs that are falling tonight are destroying buildings and killing people. But a bomb cannot kill the spirit of a people. . . . We laugh a little at the bombs. . . . The buildings can be rebuilt; the concussion gives us nothing but headaches; our neighbors are all prepared to die. But no one in London is prepared to surrender. These civilians are good soldiers. London has been hurt tonight and will be hurt again tomorrow night, and every night thereafter. But no one is crying. Not even the wounded. The wounded don't cry."

Jennie with the light red hair spends some of her spare time visiting with the News staff. . . . She is the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Connor, who operate a cafe next door. . . . "Pinky," as she is affectionately known by many of the cafe patrons, is mighty fast on the come-back, and if you think you can "kid" her you might try it sometime just to find out how wrong you can be about some things. . . . Jennie with the light red hair is a past master at putting people back in their places. . . . The thing that impresses you most about it, is that she does it so nonchalantly and then goes on about her business.

PAID YOUR POLL TAX YET?

If not, you have only a few hours left. . . . The deadline is midnight tonight. . . . If you don't have a poll tax receipt—no matter what the state legislature springs at you in the way of a constitutional amendment later in the year, there's nothing you can do about it. . . . On top of that, unless you pay your poll tax you cannot vote in the school trustee election to be held in the Pampa Independent school district in April. That's one of the fallacies we see in the poll tax eligibility requirement. . . . People think if they are not voting for a president, sheriff or city commissioners, there's no need to waste the money for a poll tax in an "off-year." . . . If they wish to legislators can take advantage of that negligence and spring something at a special election when they know 75 per cent of the people can't vote on it. . . . It's a dangerous system, and one which invites abuse. It might be all right, if there could be a stiff penalty imposed for not paying a poll tax.

WELL, we celebrated the President's birthday last night and some bright office associate remarked this morning that we came down late enough to have done a pretty good job of it. . . . Not being quick on the trigger, we did not decide until ten minutes later that the barb was loaded with innuendo, or whatever barbs are loaded with. . . . Quick change of subject. . . . In 1940 there were 2,314 divorces in Reno, Nev. . . . The Nevada divorce business or flippin'. . . . Many now are patronizing Florida because the idea of getting a divorce and a sum-amount for the price of one is said to appeal to feminine divorce seekers. . . . A Reno lawyer, however, holds the world's record for divorces. He has secured seven decrees in 29 minutes!

A young widow and a young divorcee, not unattractive, report that they "are bored with the colorless, insipid, urban type of males in this vicinity." . . . Where and how, they wish to know, can they meet some interesting men? . . . How do you like that, fellows? . . . Well, they might meet some interesting men aboard the Yankee Clipper en route to London, or they might find a thrill as stowaways on a submarine, or in the freezing room over at the ice plant. . . . However, in case none of these suggestions appeals to the lonesome ladies, give us a little more time and maybe we can think up something that will take away their breath.

WHO is Madame Stella and how does she get that way? . . . That's a question we hear quite frequently these days. . . . We do not know anything about Madame Stella except that the lady gets a cracked picture of what he saw—"The Wounded Don't Cry" (E. P. Dutton; $2.50). Here is the whole panorama of the war—lonely, deserted Paris, the vast crowd of French refugees extending clear down to the sea, the thorough streets of Bordeaux, the bombing of London, a night with the gallant lads of the R. THE statement by one paper that Hitler's pronouncement is pure fantasy and "has no resemblance to reality" can scarcely represent the general view. It strikes me that it would be highly dangerous to adopt that attitude toward an enemy much less powerful than Germany. . . . However, British Premier Churchill has made it clear many times over that he doesn't underestimate the Nazi menace. Hitler isn't playing our at war with wooden soldiers, and it is wise to note that while he undoubtedly does his share of bluffing, he generally has considerable in reserve to back his bluff. The British appeals for quick help from America and our own race for defense arming, indicate plainly enough that Washington and London don't regard the claims as nothing but hot air.

I have drawn attention to this because it seems to me that if we are to keep our perspective it is essential that we don't fall into the habit of underestimating the strength or the stated intentions of the Nazis. One reason that France lies crushed is because both she and England underestimated the threat from east of the Rhine. . . . One of the most interesting, and important, passages in Hitler's speech is his mind-boggling statement that U-boat warfare will begin this Spring. This, coming on top of Nazi Grand Admiral Raeder's prediction of German victory through British shipping losses, would seem to be shifting the emphasis from the Nazi airforce to the submarine drive.

In other words the air fleet, on which the Nazis have been placing their chief reliance to knock England out of the sky, would be outflanked, as Hitler remarked, will also be on the job, but it is patent that the Nazi high command has had to shift its tactics. . . . The Nazi air arm has been unable to establish supremacy over the royal air force. Indeed, the comparative strength of the British fleet has grown so rapidly—with the help of America—that I understand the command of the R. A. F. figures its actual fighting strength is now close to that of the Germans, although the latter have many more planes.

The reason for this is that the planes which the British are turning out are said to be on the whole more up to date and better equipped than those of the Germans. That doesn't seem to make sense until we note that the Nazis are employing mass production and their industries are all set for certain types of planes, whereas the British have started from scratch and, because they are manufacturing various types in many plants, they can keep the models up to date.

With mass production it is impossible to make quick changes in the construction of a complicated machine like an airplane. In order to make any material alteration, a whole vast plant has to be re-aligned. . . . The Germans, though, are said to have been turning out submarines successfully by mass production, and it is to this arm that they now turn.

Reeves, Williams Attend National Defense Meeting

Garnet Reeves and Dan Williams are in Oklahoma City today attending a meeting on national defense plans, proposals, and problems affecting business and industry in the southwest and the opportunities and responsibilities of business in long range program of national defense.

Six hundred business and industrial leaders from eight states are attending a meeting being held in the Biltmore hotel.

The program includes an open forum discussion of national defense problems directly affecting the domestic economy of the southwestern states.

Leaders in the national defense program attended.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31. (AP)—John W. O'Leary, chairman of the executive committee of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, told a conference of southwest industrial leaders today that the past year has proved business seeks no profit advantage from defense preparations.

The lack of price advances during the period demonstrated that, O'Leary added.

"In spite of this," he said, "we find a tendency to consider any advance, no matter how justified, as 'profiteering'."

O'Leary was a principal speaker before the one-day gathering, called by the southwestern council of the national organization to consider business' relation to defense.

"In the public interest," O'Leary said, "we should use every effort to avoid inflationary advances, but at the same time we must guard against legislation which will freeze our price structure under the pressure of forwarding national defense."

Dr. W. F. Gephart, vice-president of the First National bank of St. Louis, told the gathering "the defense program should be considered in every sense a national program for the benefit of every class of citizen."

"But," he said, "we should not pass on to future generations all, or the larger part of this burden for which the present generation is largely responsible."

He said there was no base reason for inflation and that it could be avoided by maintaining "a balanced relationship between the price structure and credit expansion."

The Republican floor leader, Rep. Martin (Mass.), emphatically aligned himself with the opposition when the bill was reported and demanded "substantial" amendments. He said he wanted to aid Britain "thoroughly" but objected to the broad powers bill conferred on the president.

The legislation went to the rules committee carrying the strongly-praised endorsement of the majority members of the House. A full committee who declared that its prompt enactment "is of the highest importance to the vital interests of our country—and even of our civilization."

The majority set forth its views in a 5,000-word formal report issued last night after the committee approved the bill by a 17-to-8 vote.

The report made these three claims for the bill: It would not get the United States into war; It provided the best method of giving aid to nations resisting aggression and it accomplished that purpose in the manner best suited for national defense.

Rep. Fish (R-N.Y.), who voted against reporting the bill, promptly announced that a minority report would be issued as soon as possible.

As Knox testified, the House Rules committee assembled to vote on a request that bill be given No. one priority, so that house debate could begin Monday with chances for a final vote next Friday.

Asserting that the western hemisphere would be "in grave danger" of invasion if Nazis were victorious over Britain, Knox made the point often stated by other administration witnesses—that the United States needed time to build ships, train crews, develop bases and enlarge its army.

"Only Great Britain and its fleet can give us that time and they need our help to survive," he said.

"If Great Britain is defeated, we must be fully prepared to repel attempts by Germany to seize bases on this side of the Atlantic."

"I believe a victorious Germany would move over to this hemisphere just as soon as she could gain the strength to do so."

Latin-America, the witness added, offered possibilities for an indirect attack if the Nazis won undisputed control of Europe. This might come, he said, first through economic penetration followed by economic dependency.

which Grand Admiral Raeder of the German navy recently said that Germany planned to become a world navy power.

"All through this war, we have heard things come out of Germany and we have said they couldn't be done in 30 or 90 days they are done."

"When they talk blusteringly and boastfully," he said, "I don't believe them but I get my armor ready."

The navy department head recalled a recent suggestion or a negotiated peace by Colonel Lindbergh, and mentioned Lindbergh's assertion that the United States was not vulnerable to attack.

"I have the greatest respect for Colonel Lindbergh, Knox declared. He has great knowledge of commercial aviation, but his knowledge of military aviation has been slight."

"The conclusions he has drawn indicate that lack of knowledge."

"As Knox testified, the House Rules aid-to-Britain bill, Knox added: "A negotiated peace can bring stability only when military stalemate has existed for a long time and the participants have reasonable confidence in the terms of the peace will be faithfully executed."

"I doubt that the British people would accept any German assurances at their face value."

which section of the "labor clauses" was objectionable to Ford. But Capozzo declared:

"We would have had to assign a watchman for every two employees. A violation of any of the laws, by anyone in the plant, might have been cause for cancellation of the contract."

Before the labor clauses became part of the contracts, Ford was given a $122,323,030 order for airplane engines, and a $1,387,500 order for 1,500 midget scout cars—the latter over the objection of Sidney Hillman, associate director of the office of production management, who contended that the contract lacked certain labor safeguards.

At Detroit, Michael F. Widman, Jr., chairman of the Ford organizing campaign of the United Auto Workers (CIO) termed the Ford company "the most flagrant violator of labor legislation" and declared that the defense contracts earlier awarded to Ford should be cancelled.

Widman said Ford was able to undercut Fargo by $250,000 on the truck order, "because he (Ford) pays lower wages."

The National Labor Relations board recently held that the Ford company had violated the Wagner Labor Relations Act. The case now is before the supreme court.

County And District Clerks File Reports

All of the reports required of county officials, showing fees and expenditures for 1940, had been filed today with the receipt of the report of County Clerk Charlie Thut at the office of the district clerk. Today is the deadline for such reports.

The filling out of the form is required of justices of the peace, constables, sheriff, county and district clerks, tax officer, county judge, county attorney, county treasurer.

County Clerk Thut's report shows total fees earned and collected as $6,637.68, expenditures $8,870.9.

The expense is divided with $3,750 credited to officers' salary, $4,027 for salaries of deputies and assistants, $708.16 for stationery and office supplies, $290.31 postage, $74.50 telephone and telegraph, and $20 as premium on surety bond.

Filed earlier in the week was the report of Miriam Milson, district clerk, which showed fees earned and collected $2,144, expenditures $5,271.

Of the latter, $3,750 is credited to officers' salary, $1,200 for salary of deputy, $207.19 stationery, $80.05 for telephone and telegraph, and $33.86 for postage.

CANADIAN TOURNEY MAY BE PREVIEW OF DISTRICT MEET

Harvesters To Enter Only One Team; Strongest Teams In Two Districts Entered

Coach Mitchell will enter only one Harvester team in the Canadian invitation basketball tournament, it was announced today.

As a consequence, Borger will play Perryton at 2 o'clock in the Canadian city hall in the first round of the meet. The Pampa B team was scheduled to play the Rangers, and Borger having drawn a bye would have remained inactive.

That will be the only change in the schedule, it was announced at Canadian this morning.

Favorites in the tournament still were Borger, Pampa, Kirklund, with strong opposition from Quail, Samnorwood, and Memphis. Upsets in the tourney are not only probable but are expected on account of the fact that so many of the teams are ranked about equally.

Strongest Teams Entered

The strongest teams in this interscholastic league district are entered in the tournament—Pampa, Borger, Perryton, Spearman, Canadian, Shamrock, Panhandle, and some of the strongest teams in the Childress district are entered—Quail, Samnorwood, Memphis, Kirklund, Carey is favored to win the district meet at Childress, if the Cards can squelch Kirklund, which defeated the Cards in the Childress tournament.

The tournament began at 10 o'clock this morning and will continue hourly in two gyms until 10 o'clock tonight. It will be resumed at 10 tomorrow and continue until 8 o'clock tomorrow night when the finals will be held.

The Canadian tournament has developed to the point where it has become the most important of the season, and it may be a preview of what will take place in the district meet three weeks from today.

Nearly 40 teams are entered in the Canadian meet, including the strongest boys and girls teams in the Panhandle. The schedule will be played in two gyms, the city hall, and at the high school.

Reserves Starred

Coach Mitchell decided to enter only one team in the meet when he saw how well the so-called "reserves" played against LeFors the other night. Up to that time, the reserves had played each night the Harvesters played, in a game beginning at 7 o'clock, the reserves of the visiting team. They usually wore their freshness off in the first game, and couldn't make a satisfactory showing in the second.

Wednesday night LeFors brought no reserves to Pampa so the Pampa reserves did not play. When Coach Mitchell put them into the game at the half they ran wild, and outscored the starters by 10 points, scoring as many points in the third quarter as the starters did in the first half. The coach then decided he would try that again and see if it worked.

The coach also figured that the Harvesters would have a better chance to win and to gain more experience if he entered only one team. If he entered two, he would have only two subs for each team. He plans to play both teams in the Hemphill county meet.

Borger Boxers To Battle In LeFors Gym Tonight

Special To The NEWS

LEFORS, Jan. 31.—According to a statement made by Coach Toby Waggoner, the Pirate boxers are in good shape and ready for action Friday night when the Borger Bulldogs attempt to get "sweet revenge" in the LeFors gymnasium.

Among the highlights of the evening will be the bout between Newberry of Borger and Twiggs, LeFors ace boxer. Their bout was a fight to the finish when they met last week in Borger, until Twiggs gave his dynamite punch and knocked Newberry out, but the Borgeran is acquainted with Twiggs's technique and plenty of action is expected in their fight Friday night.

Another action battle should be the one between Barrick of LeFors and King, the 155 pounder from Borger. Barrick knocked King out last week, and King is also coming to LeFors to get revenge. Donald McLaughlin, the little 75-pound boxer, always puts on a good showing, well worth anybody's money, and his fast punches always continue throughout all three rounds.

Other boys due honorable mention are: Waylon Hughes, Rex Lee Jones, Maurice Upham, Charles Nipper, Cecil Stracener, Bob Delver, Clinton Benefield, Eugene Cooper, Leo Ferguson and Bobby Dunn.

These boys are all good boxers and they will put on exhibitions well worth the while of many fans planning to come to LeFors Friday night.

County Cage Tournaments Scheduled For Feb. 14-15

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Staff

One more week of invitation tournaments remains before the Texas schoolboy basketball leagues turn their attention to qualifying rounds preparatory to the state championship play-off.

Some 15,000 youngsters roam the mounds as the interscholastic league's twenty-first annual campaign nears the stage where they begin playing for keeps.

County and city tournaments are scheduled for Feb. 14 and 15.

District tournaments will be held Feb. 21 and 22, regional play-offs March 1, and the state tournament—of which eight teams will compete—is set for March 7 and 8.

El Paso High's unbeaten Tigers, averaging 56 points per game in 13 tests, and Odessa's undefeated Bronchos, look like the kingly pair of west Texas.

In north Texas it seems Gramham's Steers are the boys to be reckoned with. The Steers have an impressive record of victories and are pronounced by sport writers as the team most likely to sweep through the regional tournament at Denton.

Some day they're likely to be around when the awards are made at the state meet.

South Texas boasts a terror of the courts in Jeff Davis of Houston, a team able to beat the fine Austin outfit, ranked at the top in central Texas.

Austin appears to be much stronger than the San Marcos quiet that went to the state title last season, and is back with another potent aggression.

Carthage and Van are being heralded in east Texas—and there are any number of strong teams in that area although some of them are playing in the newly-formed Lone Star league and will not compete for the interscholastic league crown. Among the clubs that withdrew from the loop to enter the Lone Star circuit are Cushing and Lanesville, the former ex-state champion, and the latter always of high caliber.

There are 32 districts with centers at Canyon, Pampa, Lubbock, Childress, Sweetwater, Breckenridge, San Angelo, Brownwood, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Dallas, Waco, Commerce, Texarkana, Tyler, Nacogdoches, Bryan, Huntsville, Galveston, Beaumont, Uvalde, San Antonio, Georgetown, La Grange, Victoria, Pocktown, Laurel, McAllen, El Paso, Fort Stockton Midland and Van Horn.

Regional centers are Canyon, Abilene, Denton, Longview, Huntsville, San Marcos, Kingsville, and Marfa.

Kimbrough Named Outstanding Athlete By Sports Writers

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31 (AP)—Jean Paul Desloges, who because of a war wound may never be an active competitor in organized sports, today won "in all humility" the accolade of Philadelphia's sports writers as the most courageous athlete of 1940.

Desloges, a three-letter man at Ottawa University, and after graduation a star member of Royal Canadian Mounted Police Hockey teams, lost the sight of an eye when shot down over England last August.

The writers chose John M. Kimbrough, Texas A. M.'s great full-back, as the "most outstanding athlete of 1940," and Francis X. Reagan, University of Pennsylvania backfield star, as "most valuable player of 1940."

Canadian P-TA To Have Concessions At Cage Tourney

Special To The NEWS

CANADIAN, Jan. 31.—The local Parent-Teacher association will have charge of concessions during the basketball tournament here Friday and Saturday.

This is for convenience of those attending the games.

Mrs. S. W. Callaway will be in charge of the booth in a room adjoining the gym at the high school building and Mrs. Francis McQuiddy will be in charge at the city hall, in the usual place at the north corner of the gym.

Food is donated for these booths by friends of the school and volunteer workers will serve both days.

With 28,000 students, New York university has the second largest enrollment in the United States.

RETIREES

Pampa's baseball team will be under new management for the 1941 season Grover Seitz, above, having sold his half interest in the club to Hal H. Lucas. Seitz also secured his release from the club. He has been associated with baseball for many years, and is one of the most colorful figures in the game today. He loves the game and he loves to win, and he'll be missed by Pampa fans. His successor has not yet been named.

Hal H. Lucas, above, accompanied by his business partner with a baseball team. He purchased a half interest in the Pampa Grover Seitz club from Grover Seitz, former playing manager of the team that won the West Texas-New Mexico league last season. Nelson, Hogan, And Demarel Favorites In Phoenix Meet

By EARL HILLIGAN

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 31 (AP)—Three swashbuckling buckaroos of big-time golf rode their "home range" today—hot favorites to toss a figurative lariat over the 41st Western Open golf championship.

They were Jimmy Demarel, the defending champion, Byron Nelson, current Professional Golfers association kingpin, and little Ben Hogan, leading money winner of 1940. All products of this great southwest, on whose fast, hard courses they developed brilliant games, they were the most closely watched stars as 140 pros and amateurs teed off in the opening round of the 72-hole test over the Phoenix Country club layout.

Demarel, the most colorful figure gone has produced since the great Walter Hagen in his heyday, was the popular local choice to come home in front. Winner of six tournaments last year, "Smiling Jim" was confident he was ready to his his 1940 stride and in a practice round clipped six strokes off the Phoenix par of 36-35-71. Hogan and Nelson likewise gave par a beating in tune-up rounds.

But those three aces were certain to find the competitive pressure heavy from a crack field which numbered no less than seven former titleholders. They were Demarel, winner of the first Western Open played in the southwest last year, at Houston, Texas; MacDonald Smith, winner of the title in 1912, 1925 and 1933; Ed Dudley, Harry Cooper, Johnny Revolta, Nelson and big Ralph Guldahl, who took the crown in 1936, 1937 and 1938.

Not listed among the former-champions but very much in the running was an easterner who was expected to take good care of himself in this desert country fairways battle—Slamming Sammy Snead. Winner of the Bing Crosby tournament at Rancho Santa Fe last Sunday, the Virginian styled openly predicted the winning score would clip par by six strokes—and that he'd do the clipping.

The caliber of the field indicated par was in for a rough three-day siege. For in addition to the Hogans, Demarels, Nelsons and Sneads, the starter was scheduled to send away such luminaries as big Lawson Little, the National Open champion, Dick Metz, Jimmy Thomson, Horton Smith, Denny Shute, Ed Oliver, Harold Jug McSpaden, Bud Ward, former national amateur champion and top notch Simon-pure entry, the first titles of the winter tour, Johnny Bulla, Leonard Dodson and Revolta.

The course was in perfect shape as the field started its battle for one of golf's oldest and most sought-after honors. A hot sun and a steady breeze, rolling down from nearby Camelback Mountain, put a high polish on the fast greens and lush fairways which had been softened by steady rains. The player with distance and accuracy was expected to have the best chance on the heavily trapped, tree-lined layout—and there were plenty of those sharpshooters on hand.

Panhandle Loses First Game To Groom 40 TO 27

Special To The NEWS

PANHANDLE, Jan. 31.—The Panhandle Panthers lost their opening conference cage tilt to Groom, Groom "A" squad won 40 to 27.

Groom ran up a big margin in the first half and Panhandle was unable to catch up in the last. Kuebler was high scorer for Groom before he fouled out. L. Cox was high point man for Panhandle.

Line-ups were: Panhandle, B. Pruitt, Held, L. Cox, H. Cox, Cunningham, with subs, Powell and Bonner.

Groom, Crowell, Kuebler, Johnson, Burns, Townsend, with subs, Berry, Davis, Wilkerson and Helm.

Groom also won the "B" squad contest by the top-sided score of 41-8. Several of the Panhandle boys were new at the sport, so improvement can be expected.

Starters for Panhandle: Bonner, Carter, Williamson, Smith, Broadway with subs, Wigham, Fruit and Hel-lin.

For Groom: Wilkerson, Helm, Berry, Davis, Britten and subs, Whatley, Schaffer.

In the grade school contest the score was more equal with Groom on the up again, winning 22-18.

Starters for Groom: Brown, Hall, Burns, Pool, with Anglin substiting.

For Panhandle: Franklin, Woods, Meeker, Marvel and McNeil, with subs, Wardlow and Johnson.

In the last game the city teams met and Panhandle won, 30 to 26. They took the lead from the start and did not relinquish once. Shepherd of Panhandle sparked their attack with Clark of Groom being their high man.

Line-ups were: Panhandle, Towe, Robertson, Eagle, Howe, Shepherd, with Hayton substiting.

For Groom: Clark, Britten, Fredrickson, Black Kuebler, and R. Britten, Blackwell.

Mare's Manicure Bill Costs $190 But Where's She?

DALLAS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Barbara, a 10-year-old mare, had a manicure through courtesy of the Dallas Animal Protective League.

Including feed, the bill totaled $190.

This started a chain of legal complexities, but the major point is: What became of Barbara?

Nobody professes to know—at least, none of those involved in the tangle.

Justice W. L. Sterrett yesterday dismissed a sequestration suit by the league and its president, Mrs. Emilie Schuyler, who had custody of the mare as special bailie.

T. L. Clayton, Barbara's owner, immediately filed a sequestration writ to reclaim possession. He also filed suit for $175.

Consistent George Payne is waiting for Clayton to furnish a truck so he can recover the animal and return it to Ide Casteel, from whom Mrs. Schuyler obtained possession of the original sequestration.

Casteel says Mrs. Schuyler contracted with him to treat the animal's hooves. He claims a bill of $190 from Mrs. Schuyler, the league and Clayton.

But Payne says Casteel won't get to keep the mare—that it will be given to Clayton as directed in the second sequestration order.

Mrs. Schuyler, however, says she turned the mare over to a friend to keep and "the poor beast probably is on some ranch near here." She added that she would find out where the ranch was and notify Payne if he made a demand on her.

Mrs. Schuyler said she had a communication from a wealthy California woman who wanted to provide a stable for Barbara and pay the mare's feed bill for life.

"I've had 150 inquiries about Barbara," Mrs. Schuyler declared. "The animal has had a sad life."

62,000 Persons in Panhandle Employed In Oil Industry

Nearly 65,000 residents of the Panhandle depend for their entire living upon oil and gas, Mel B. Davis, president of the Panhandle Oil and Gas Association, announced today.

"Figures gathered from individual operators and companies in the 33 counties comprising the Panhandle production district show that 62,900 persons in this area depend upon the oil and gas industry for their livelihood," Mr. Davis said.

"The wage-earners of this group receive the huge sum of $19,341,750 a year in wages and salaries," he stated.

"In addition, the Panhandle petroleum industry pays out $3,862,448 a year in state and local taxes, not counting the motor fuel taxes paid by the individual motorists."

"The Panhandle oil and gas industry now pays almost half as much in State and local taxes in our section as it pays our farmers and ranchers."

"Counting Federal taxes and the reinvestment of the industry in field developments and plan expansions in the Panhandle the tremendous sum of $50,000,000 a year. Most of this huge amount is spent and repaid with our retail merchandise, insurance and savings institutions and others of our district."

"A survey of the tax rolls of 33 Panhandle counties shows a total assessed value for all kinds of properties of $269,151,051, of which $139,200,000 are taxes on oil and gas properties, or almost 50 per cent," Mr. Davis reported.

"The Texas Panhandle has an oil and gas empire of over one and one-third million acres," Mr. Davis said.

"This is the largest gas area in the entire world, and also one of the most important oil areas. Gas and oil are this section's greatest assets, and their importance to the future economic welfare of Panhandle citizens cannot be over-emphasized."

"It is up to everyone living in this area to see to it that nothing interferes with the continued development and expansion of this great industry."

Prison Whippings To Be Given Hearing

AUSTIN, Jan. 31. (AP)—Because of opposition to it, a bill which would abolish whippings as punishment in state prisons will be given a public hearing at 7:30 p. m. Feb. 6, Rep. Clinton Kersey of Bridgeport announced today.

Kersey, chairman of the house committee on penitentiaries, obtained unanimous consent of the house to recommend the proposal to the committee.

"Opposition to the bill has developed," he said, "and we ask that it be recommended to the committee for the purpose of holding a public hearing."

Nazis 'Astonished' At French Conduct

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER BERLIN, Jan. 31. (AP)—Authorized foreign office sources expressed astonishment and concern today over the failure of French Chief of State Philippe Petain and his former Foreign Minister Pierre Laval to establish a friendly relationship with the German-occupied area which they ruled.

The question arose when a correspondent asked what the foreign office thought of a series of editorials appearing in the French press in the German-occupied area which asked why Laval is not back in the cabinet.

Without doing more than stating that nothing has happened recently to indicate vigorous pursuit of rapprochement policies, authorized sources said nevertheless that these questions asked by the French press were decidedly justified.

"The man's disheveled aspect and wasted face did not rob Benning of instant recognition. It was Bromlitz, the American renegade and murderer, the man in whose shoes Benning had masqueraded in Mexico."

A snarl told Benning that Bromlitz had recognized Benning's presence and that the French girl in the attack, reaching Bromlitz from the man from Luxembourg, could exultate himself from the shock of surprise.

Benning gasped. "Do you know those things for fact? Don't make sense in San Francisco within the next few weeks when he is to take supreme command over your Pacific coast. But by then I will be in France—if only I can learn when the attack upon my own country is to launch itself in a few days I intend to meet Van Hasek at San Antonio—in the meantime, I gather what straws I can from his man Boggio."

"Boggio, you say!" The words drove fiercely from Benning's throat as the sharp blade of his hand under the surge of feeling aroused by that name, for the instant lost the thread of portentous disclosure that Mile. Ducos made. Promptly he recovered his composure and attempted to cover his show with a smile.

ATTACK ON AMERICA

Into the starlit void Benning plunged, falling in an arc and tolling off three seconds before his hand touched the ripcord handle of his parachute. Shortly the straps gripped at armpits and legs to tell him the parachute had fed safely out. Above the rush of air he could hear the plane roaring on its way. There came to him a moment's envy of the pilot who would flash back along the friendly route to a safe landing at Albright Field.

The moon had not yet risen, but the figure of the man were outlined in myriad light clusters, which told Benning the American air service was still too busy at home to strike at Mexico City. Through the starlight he presently caught the black earth toward which he was rushing.

He freed himself of straps, and rolled and secreted the silken chute. Half an hour's brisk walk brought him to the dark little Calle del Nogal, which told him he had landed to the north of Chapultepec. He waited a moment, then he knocked and knocked.

Benning's plan was set as he reached the street on which he had lived with Mile. Ducos.

"What about Boggio?" Flagwill sharply interrupted.

"When I met him, instead of shooting him at sight, I said, 'Boggio, I'm Major Benning, United States Army, I understand you claim responsibility for bombing the White House.' Boggio snatched out his pistol and went into action. I aimed very deliberately at his heart and effected a clean bull's-eye. I didn't even know I'd been hit until some minutes later."

Flagwill nodded gravely and said: "Benning, you did just that way, Benning. Hope your arm isn't too bad a fix."

"Just a little hole, sir. El Paso gave me anti-tetanus treatment and said I'd be as good as new in a short time. Things seem to look pretty black just now. Anything new from Panama?"

"Yes. Engineers affirm that it'll take a year to put the Canal in commission." (TO BE CONTINUED)

MARATHA MAKES A DECISION

CHAPTER XXIII

MARATHA MARSHALL drove to camp the following Sunday with the same heavy weight of dread pressing on her that had been with her all week. Bill's unreasoning jealousy must stop. In some way, she must end it.

But how? Hadn't she done everything a woman could do? She blamed herself bitterly for not having stuck to her resolve to stop seeing Paul. Yet, was it her fault she had insisted on coming to Paul's house that Friday night? Was it her fault that Paul's being hurt had so upset Suzanne she lost her head and made a scene?

Driving into the now familiar cantonment, she did not see her husband among the olive drab ranks of waiting men who eyed the incoming cars. "Is he sulking?" A tall man waved to her. Then he was coming closer. She slowed down. She recognized him now. "Have you seen Bill?" It was Top Sergeant Moore, the one Bill called "the top kick." Aggie Moore's husband.

"The fact is, Mrs. Marshall," he said slowly, "Bill's in the guardhouse."

"In the guardhouse?" All her vague dread crystallized into quick, leaping fear. "But why? What has he done? Is he serious?"

"Just a little disagreement over discipline," the sergeant said. "We try to go easy on the men. But well—looks like he's been begging for it. I'm sorry."

She wondered, stabbingly, if Aggie Moore had repeated any of that conversation in the NCO club-room. "May I see him?"

"Yes." He hopped up on the running board. "Turn to your left here. I'll fix it."

THE guardhouse was not especially sinister from the outside. A soldier patrolled leisurely before it. Almost, she expected him to say, "Stop, and give the counter-signe!" He didn't.

Inside, there was a small bare room, not very different from the other rooms she had seen on the post. Another soldier on duty nodded when Sergeant Moore explained, and a moment later she was sitting with Bill on a bench and asking, "What happened, darling?"

Bill was sulky. "The Army's idea of a cute stunt! Bread and water stuff, as if I were a child!"

"Don't you want to tell me about it?" she asked after a while. Outside the soldier on duty was rattling a newspaper. She wondered, in disjointed little flashes, whether there were other prisoners in the guardhouse; whether they were all like Bill, sullen and surly; whether some other girl would come into this baking room, soon, to sit on a bench and try to be tactful. "And I thought maybe today I could talk him out of his jealousy—maybe today we could clear up this thing that has been tearing us apart."

"There's nothing to tell," Bill said curtly. "All I can say is that it's a fine mess, all right. The government sticks me out here in a damn Army camp, to play at dumb war games, while you're staying at home. What have I had, staying there? Only days to live through. One day exactly like the one before and the one after. Housework and dishes, scarcely enough money for a movie. On Sundays, every Sunday, I came here. It was all I had to look forward to. "But was there any joy in seeing you? How could there be, when you choose to quarrel with me? You've hugged this insane jealousy, nursed it, fed it on Heaven only knows what scraps of flimsy suspicion! Because Suzanne Decker lost her head and said a lot of wild things she was sorry for half a minute later."

Bill lifted his eyes, his mouth opened to speak. But she rushed on, the tide of her feeling swelling. "It's too late now, Bill. I've had all I can bear. I've waited and hoped and tried to convince you. For weeks, I've hoped, worked, come here and listened to you Paul!"

"I told you I haven't seen him, Bill. I've told you until I'm dizzy with it. I haven't. Not this man. Not this angry man with the curled lip, the skeptical, chilly eyes."

Something snapped in her mind then. Something that had been gnawing these last difficult weeks until now it sprang forth, quivering and alive, but strong and full nurtured. A decision. A decision she had not even known she was making.

"Bill Marshall, if you don't trust me—if nothing I can say has any effect on the things you're thinking about me—then there's no use in going on. There's no use in my telling you anything. If we have no trust, no understanding between us any more, it's time to stop."

She was on her feet. Her cheeks were hot, a pulse beat in her throat, but her slim body was steady, as if it came from somewhere outside her.

"I stayed with my sister, resigned my job, gave up the money I needed for clothes and for freedom and for my own self-respect, just to please you. You asked me to do it only so that you could be sure I wasn't seeing Paul. I understood that, Bill. I didn't argue about it, did I? I gave up my job. I stayed with Helen and Eugene. Stayed in a house where I don't belong, doing work for which I'm not fitted, caring for children who aren't my own."

Her voice shook just a little, and then was low and controlled once more. "What have I had, staying there? Only days to live through. One day exactly like the one before and the one after. Housework and dishes, scarcely enough money for a movie. On Sundays, every Sunday, I came here. It was all I had to look forward to. "But was there any joy in seeing you? Munski In New York To Run Wanamaker Mile

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 31. (P)—A year of workouts as a sprinter have transformed John Munski from a so-so runner to an elite mile runner. The recent Missouri graduate went east a year ago and tip-toed into almost immediate obscurity by finishing in the ruck at the Wanamaker mile.

He returned to the Tiger campus more chagrined than heart-broken and by the time of the Princeton invitational had revamped his running style to the extent that he won.

That started a string of mile victories on the puddle-dotted track at Minnesota in the 1940 national collegiate, the recent sugar bowl games and at Boston two weeks ago.

Right now Munski, who picked up his earlier speed by outracing his 19 sisters and brothers to the cookie jar, is in New York for a series of races that include the Wanamaker mile Saturday night.

Back here on the Tiger campus his coach, Jack Matthews, predicts his protege will be unbeatable in the future if the former Lewiston, Mont., youngster comes through the ordeal without a too badly blighted record.

"For a year now Munski has practiced only on sprints and the short-end, middle distance races in an effort to develop a finishing kick," said Matthews. "John won both his big races this winter by outprinting the boys to the tape."

Matthews fears that Walter Mehl and Chuck Penske, two former Wisconsin whirlwinds who have been Munski's most persistent foes on the boards, will retaliate by running the opening quarters a bit faster.

"But John was clocked in 3:03.7 for three quarters of a mile last week and had enough left to finish in about 4:08.5 or 4.09."

Mehl shaded Munski in the Prout mile at Boston last Saturday using those tactics with the outcome a virtual dead heat. Both were timed in 4:09.7, a new record, with Mehl awarded the trophy.

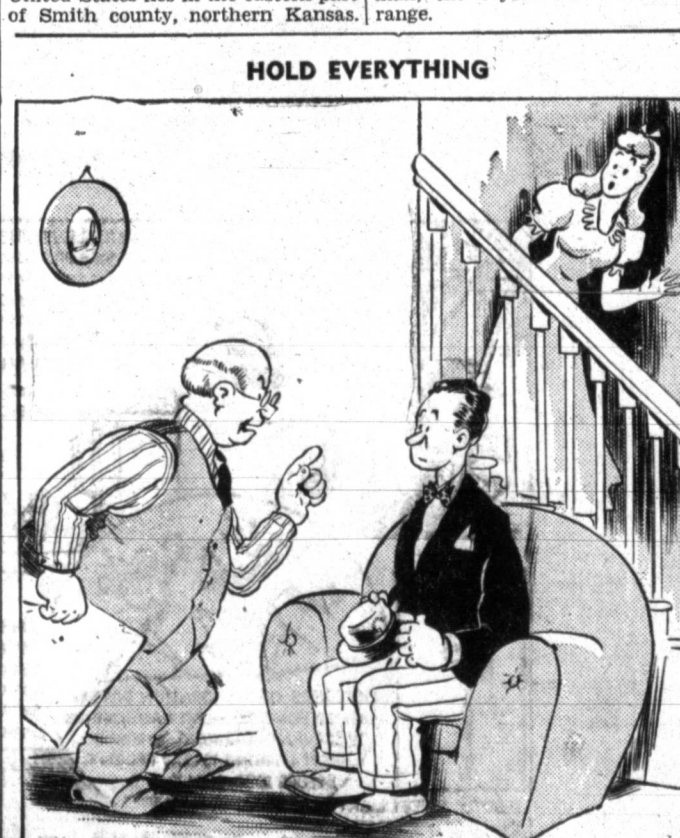

Miami Students Form Hobby Club

MIAMI, Jan. 31.—Miami High school students have organized a Hobby club, under the sponsorship of Sloan Baker, the new history teacher.

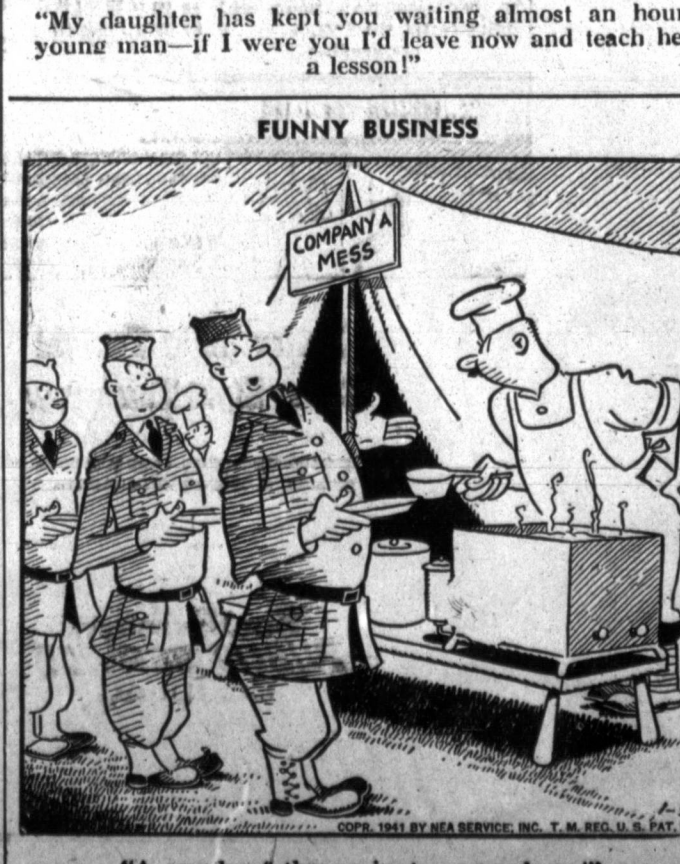

The following officers were elected: Canara Carruth, president; Kate Ferguson, vice-president; Arva Lee Stanford, secretary; Lillie Belle Pryor, reporter; Sloan Baker, sponsor.

The purpose of the club is to encourage interest in hobbies. Each member will have an individual hobby, and all will join in choosing a club hobby. The club's first project will be a field trip to visit a bed of fossil remains near Miami.

Joe Louis Supposed To Be Sore At Burman--Ouch!

By GAYLE TALBOT
 NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Red Burman, a father of two children and a real good heavyweight, faces Joe Louis in Madison Square Garden ring tonight in the big negro's 13th defense of the world championship.

As usual, the odds against the challenger are prohibitive, and most of what betting takes place will hinge on the number of rounds Burman lasts. It will, of course, be a great surprise if the redhead manages to weather the entire 15 rounds and loses by nothing worse than a decision.

Despite an occasional poor showing, such as in his last bout with Al McCoy in Boston in December, Louis still has the boys buffeted. They know that when Joe is "right" and for some vague reason feels like tearing a man apart he is dead as a rat poison.

Few who saw it will ever forget what he did to Max Schmeling the second time they met, when slighting remarks by the German had kindled a hatred in Joe. He literally tried to kill Schmeling and came fairly near doing it. He is supposed to harbor something of the same unkind feeling for Burman, and though a lot of it probably is just press agent talk, still, it isn't good for Joe even a little mad.

He is supposed to be sore at Red because Jack Dempsey said that he (Louis) couldn't take a punch around the head. Dempsey came a piece of Burman, and has made other complimentary remarks about Louis in the last two years while he has been trying to chivy Red into a fight with the champion. Now it all comes back on poor Red.

Except for these indications that Louis is serious about knocking Burman loop-legged and intends to do nothing to jeopardize his big outdoor bout with Billy Conn next June, there would be a temptation to write a few paragraphs about Red's chances of winning tonight.

Red is no bim. He is a genuinely good heavyweight, one of the world's four or five best, 25 years old and strong and wiry. The fact that he won a decision over Tommy Farr here two years ago speaks for itself, even though some did think it was a peculiar decision. He hasn't been stopped since when he was a light-heavy, and he has licked a lot of promising men since then. The fact is that if he had not been managed by Dempsey he probably would have been given a shot at Louis long ago. The champion's handlers have never felt like doing Dempsey any favors.

Chapman's SCOREBOARD

While NEA Service Sports Editor Harry Grayson vacations, The Scoreboard is written by leading sports editors and sports authorities.

By GEORGE BUBBEE
 Memphis Press-Scimitar Sports Editor

Today, of all days, I find myself "behind the eight ball." Literally and figuratively, because—L—am—so grossly unfamiliar with the subject at hand—billiards—that until recently I thought a cue stick was a hirsute ornament of Chinese extraction.

Charles C. Peterson, fancy shot champion of the world and all points west, dropped in the other day in the interest of billiards, and I immediately seized the opportunity to discuss the origin of the ball expression, "behind the eight ball." I had tried often before to find someone who could really convince me he knew. But I was never satisfied.

Peterson knew and he was willing to tell. Here it is:

"As figures of speech go," he began, "this behind-the-eight-ball expression is comparatively new. You won't come upon it in Shakespeare—as you will upon so many nittles you think are smartly new."

"You've heard it so much and in so many strata of society that you might imagine it's as old as billiards. As a matter of fact, it was born about 1914—maybe 1916. The exact time is the only point upon which I am not sure."

"The place was in New York—a poolroom on John's street, to be specific, where brokers and other business men gathered to gamble on the whirling spheres."

"One of those parties consisted of some 12 to 15 cronies who met every night to play with Dame Fortune. And of the members of this particular party was a gent named Allie Flint."

"Well, the fellows found they couldn't use their hands—so fast and sure as they were in the short lunch hour, so someone—probably Flint himself—hit upon the happy idea of dispensing with the game and merely wagering on the preliminary step, which is the business of rolling out those little token balls for position."

"It was a great time saver. They'd just roll those little balls out and see what man won. It took no time at all."

"Well, this Allie Flint was the original hard-luck kid. And could he sing the blues! He was forever getting a big number. And it seems now I fell his way more than any other. In a game of more or 15 players, a number that high was a bust-out. An eight might sometimes luck out—never a nine."

"One day when poor Allie was having a particularly bad run of nines, he broke into a bitter but beautiful plaint against the cruel irony of it all."

"The place was: 'There I am, behind the eight ball again.'"

"Everybody in the party promptly took up the apt expression, Peterson said. 'It spread like wildfire all over New York and then over the country. That was the birth of the eight ball blues.'"

Odds and Ends
 Bummy Davis (that wonderful little character from Brooklyn) has joined the army to escape the jeers. . . . Greg Rice has won his last ten floor races believe it or not. . . . Chicago fans are tossing a traditional dinner to "Jocko" Conlan, former White Sox outfielder and latest addition to the National League's umpiring staff. . . . Billy Conn will take on two heavies as tuneups before clashing with Joe Louis in June. . . . The fights will be held in March and April. . . . Never in his football career was a forward pass completed in the territory defended by the late George Gipp of Notre Dame. . . . Dorrest Evaskevski, who was Tom Harmon's bodyguard at Michigan, will join the Hamilton College coaching staff.

Today's Guest Star
 B. M. Atkinson, Jr., Louisville Times: "With all those unsigned contracts the Cubs don't even look good on paper."

Sports Cocktail
 Jack Dempsey didn't do himself any good when he told a Virginia Knute and Fok club that Joe Louis "seems to be going backward," but it's the truth, folks. . . . The Brown Bomber hasn't looked the same since the second fight with Bob Pastor. . . . The entire proceeds of the Orlan-back-Wake Ford basketball game here Monday night will go to the infantile paralysis fund. . . . Extra irony of it all. . . . Wallace Wade (who is an old Browner) can have the job at Brown if he wants it—which he probably doesn't. . . . Nobody knows why, but La Marlie's pro tennis tour isn't drawing goobers. . . . Miss Sonja Gray has left the Garden and a lot of us folks don't know where to go nights.

Out of Luck
 Last night we tuned in on station WEBB at Buggate just in time to catch this one from announcer Bob Kliment. . . . "K. O. Koverly is now in bad in California. . . . Canada wants no part of him. . . . He'll get the gate in Missouri. . . . And very likely in New York. . . . That leaves only Mexico and 45 other states to wrestle in. . . . He'll probably starve to death."

Hopkins 2 Students Make Tour In Pampa
 Pupils of the fifth and sixth grades of Hopkins 2 school, south of Pampa, made an industrial tour of the U. S. Weather bureau, east of the city, and of The Pampa News yesterday.

There were 33 students in the group, 20 from the fifth and 13 from the sixth grades, transported in the school bus driven by Dave Bynum.

A. W. Coltharp, Jr., principal, accompanied the pupils on the trip.

Fifth grade pupils on the tour were J. D. Partridge, Don Jones, Ronald Jones, Rudy Redus, Jim Gilbert, Rob Mallow, Jerry Mitchell, Ethel Gilbert, Charlene McWhorter, Perry Cooper, Mary Louise Redus, Paty Jean Reynolds.

Sixth grade: Bobby Don Bird, Jack Stone, Vernon Clark, J. M. McPherson, Fred Boatwright, Billy Grace, Mae Owens, Patsy Phillips, Ethel Gilbert, Charlene McWhorter, Perry Cooper, Mary Louise Redus, Paty Jean Reynolds.

65 Billions Enough, Declares Morgenthau
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today that army and navy plans for great purchases were overly optimistic and a $65,000,000,000 public debt limit should cover all needs of the next fiscal year, regardless of needs of the aid-to-Britain program.

Judge and Justice File 1940 Reports
 Annual reports of two more county officials were filed yesterday in the office of the district clerk.

County Judge Sherman White's report for 1940 shows total fees earned and collected as $179,33, expenditures $3,693.38.

Of the total expense, $3,437.50 is credited to officer's salary, $125.48 and telephone and telegraph, $45.05, stationery and office supplies, $14.15 for postage, and $15 to premium on surety bond.

The office of E. F. Young, Justice of the Peace for precinct 2, place 2, Pampa, shows fees earned and collected during the past year as $456.03, expenditures $1,333.73. Of the latter figure, $1,200 is officer's salary, $62.50 paid for telephone and telegraph, $58.25 for stationery and office supplies, $10 for premium on surety bond, and $3 for postage.

Baker School First In Sale Of Bangles
 B. M. Baker school is the first in the county to report 100 per cent rooms in the sale of bangles, emblem of the national tuberculosis association.

W. E. James, president of the Gray County Tuberculosis association, said today that each pupil in the rooms taught by Mrs. A. J. Johnson and Mrs. Anna Daniels had purchased a bangle.

The emblem is a red celluloid double-barred cross and sells from 1 cent to a dime. Proceeds go into the fund of the county association to combat the "white plague."

Saturday will mark the end of the county association's 1940-41 campaign. A final report is to be made on that date.

Canadian Students Campaign To Elect Basketball Queen
 Special To The NEWS
 CANADIAN, Jan. 31—Members of the four classes in high school have been busy this month, particularly the past week, in campaigning for candidates for a queen for the basketball tournament.

Box supper, magazine sales, dinners, plays, cooked food sales all have been given for queen benefits.

Last night, the votes were counted and Miss Mildred Sheets, the freshman class candidate, was crowned queen for Friday and Saturday.

The queen will preside in state Saturday night to make trophy presentations after the finals.

Benny McIntyre is president of the freshman class.

Drill Regulations Now Different Than Those Of 1917-18
 Just because they are veterans of the A. E. F. won't mean that the soldiers of World War I won't have to study their drill all over.

Ex-soldiers who have enrolled in the local company of the 14th battalion, Texas Defense guard, will have to study different infantry drill regulations than those of 1917-18.

There has been so much change in the various schools and the manual of arms that it will be as new to veterans as to the beginners.

A dozen copies of the new manuals has been received by Captain E. J. Dunigan, Jr.

Applications for enrollment in the company now total 85.

No organization meeting has yet been called, pending return of Captain Dunigan from Austin, where he is on a business trip.

Dom Case Will Be Taken To High Court
 OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31 (AP)—Governor Phillips' battle against the Red River hydro-electric dam will be carried to the supreme court of the United States, he said yesterday.

A three-judge federal decision at Muskogee Saturday denied his application for an injunction to prevent construction of the dam.

The governor has conferred with attorneys and his appeal to the high court will be made after the formal opinion is filed Feb. 8, he said.

Ford Plea Opposed
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The justice department urged the supreme court today to deny a petition filed by Ford Motor company in an effort to set aside part of a labor board order which directed the reinstate 23 discharged employees. The order also directed the company to cease alleged interference with employees' collective bargaining rights under the Wagner Labor act.

Reapers Will Play Title Cage Game Here Tonight
 A Pampa school basketball team can win a championship tonight at 7 o'clock on the high school gymnasium here when the junior high reapers meet Sam Houston of Amarillo. A second game, at 8 o'clock, will be between the Pampa junior high Peewees and the Perrytown Midgets. Admission to the double attraction will be five cents for students and 10 cents for adults.

The Reapers have a stranglehold on a co-championship but they want to make it a clean cut title by defeating Sam Houston in the last game of the Panhandle Junior High Basketball league.

The Reapers are undefeated this season excepting in an exhibition game with the high school Gorillas. The Reapers beat Sam Houston in Amarillo two weeks ago by four points. Since then, however, Sam Houston has been playing sensational ball, while the Reapers have been showing signs of slowing up. They failed to produce much hustle Wednesday in Amarillo when they beat Central, team without a win this season, 15 to 15.

Coach C. P. McWright put the Reapers through a long workout yesterday afternoon and the boys showed much better passing and an edge for the basket. They were still without Winifred Bowerman, as forward, who is confined to his bed with a foot injury.

With Bowerman out of the lineup, Sheehan will start with Robbins at forward, Dunham at center, and Berry and either Kuehl or Rook at guard positions. Kuehl is the boy who lopped the winning basket against Central with 29 seconds to go, while Sheehan led the Reaper scoring.

Bill Lynch, son of Coach Howard Lynch of the Amarillo Sandies, leads Sam Houston, which has a hustling ball club.

The Pampa Peewees have been practicing long and hard but have had few games. They are hitting a straight set of victories, however.

Starting for the Peewees will be Cree and Yearwood, forwards, Noblitt, center, Manny and Clay, guards. Substitutes will be Dunham, Hatcher, and McColin.

Boat Yard Strike Over Wages Ends
 SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 31 (AP)—A boatyard strike over wages and working agreements, halting work for a day on five navy vessels, ended today after federal intervention.

One hundred and 60 employees of the Martinique boat company, some of whom quit work Wednesday and all of whom remained off duty when picket lines were established yesterday, were summoned to return to their jobs at 8 a. m. in accordance with terms of an agreement reached last night.

Harry C. Malcom, federal conciliator, said the agreement was practically identical with a recent department of labor arbitration award in a union disagreement in the San Pedro-Wilmington shipbuilding area.

The shipworkers were granted a union closed shop and the San Pedro-Wilmington wage scale of 75 cents an hour for laborers and $1.12 1/2 for skilled men. The Martinique scale had been 62 1/2 cents and $1.10.

Thirty navy men, in the absence of civilian workers, manned cranes and trucks at the plant yesterday, expediting outfitting of one of the boats which is scheduled to begin trial runs soon.

Admiral Charles Blakely, commandant of the 11th naval district, said, however, navy men had been in the plant right along getting the boats ready for duty and that "their presence in no way can interfere with the strike."

Conway Students Present Program At Panhandle
 Special To The NEWS
 CONWAY, Jan. 31—The Young Christians' Council of the Union church here presented a guest program at the Methodist church in Panhandle Sunday evening, as a part of the visiting program campaign, conducted by the Young Peoples Christian league, which is composed of youth of college and high school age in Panhandle.

Ruth Harbison, Conway, was leader of the lesser Christian Unity Under Fire, which was discussed by Misses Myrtice Anderson, Lola Sue Callahan, Jean Burrow, Mildred Callahan, and Lenora Ketchum.

A musical reading was presented by Opal Callahan, an accordion number by Lola Sue Callahan; a reading by Spicer Gripp; and a talk on "Backbone, Character, and Friendship," by Bob Walker.

THE WIZARDS

New ways of playing the game were soon developed. . . . Chief forms now are three-cushion, balkline and pocket. . . . On Sept. 7, 1865, Louis Fox and John Deery met for championship in Rochester. Far in the lead, Fox found himself bothered by a fly. He tried to chase it, which kept lighting on cue ball. He mis-cued, and it was Deery's shot. Deery ran out the string. Heartbroken, Fox rushed out, leaped into a river and was drowned.

In 1879 JAKE SCHAEFER, SR., became champion and was hailed as a wizard. . . . An 8-inch ball was written into the rules in an effort to stop the peerless performer, but Schaefer continued to win. . . . In 1885, it was increased to 14 inches, and when this didn't halt Schaefer, to 18 inches. . . . He remained as brilliant or balkline as at the earlier game.

WILLIE HOPPE, often called the boy wonder, earned a living for his family of age of 9 by playing exhibition matches. . . . At 18 he won his first world's championship at Paris in 1906. . . . While other sports leaders of that time have retired, Hoppe is still tops in billiards.

OFFENSIVE MUST KEEP TWO MEN BACK IF FOES USE FAST BREAKING ATTACK

By JEFF CARLIN
 Famous Player and Coach

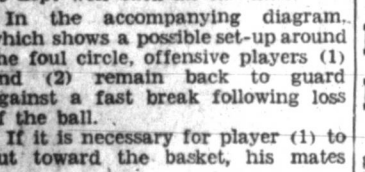

Teams which employ a zone defense frequently run into difficulty against a team which makes consistent use of the fast break.

If it loses the ball while on the offensive in enemy territory, the zone team may be unable to get its defense set in time to prevent a shot.

Only way to prevent fast breaks in such a situation is to adapt the offense so that at least two men can be kept well back all the time.

In the accompanying diagram, which shows a possible set-up around the foul circle, offensive players (1) and (2) remain back to guard against a fast break following loss of the ball.

It is necessary for player (1) to cut toward the basket, his mates

When offensive team is guarding against fast break, players (1) and (2) are kept back. If (1) cuts to the outside of (2), players (3) and (4) retreat to take care of break, and (5) crosses over.

must shift so that there will not be a clear path to the backcourt. One possible shift is indicated by the arrows. Player (2) follows up the cut, (5) crosses court to be set for a pass or rebound, and (3) and (4) retreat so as to leave no defensive man loose in the event the ball changes hands.

O'Daniel Again Appoints Haile

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today announced three important appointments and asked confirmation by the senate.

The appointments were of J. Everts Haile of Houston as a member of the state livestock sanitary commission, Ester M. Haile of Hartford to the state board of pardons and paroles and J. Witt Page of Fort Worth for another term as adjutant general.

The Haile and Haile appointments immediately aroused a buzz of discussion in legislative circles.

That of Page had been expected. Two years ago the governor appointed Haile, an old friend whom he had known since both lived in Kansas, as state tax commissioner, but the senate, before acting on the nomination, abolished the office. Later O'Daniel was quoted as saying he favored the abolition for reasons of economy.

The appointment as tax commissioner was criticised in the senate on grounds Haile in reality was a resident of Kansas.

Haile was named to the pardons board for a six-year term expiring Feb. 1, 1947. He would succeed J. B. Keith of Stephenville.

The salary of a board member is $3,600 a year.

Hutchins' Doctrine Criticized By Smith
 DALLAS, Jan. 31 (AP)—From a member of his own University of Chicago faculty comes the criticism of Dr. Robert M. Hutchins' doctrine as the result of "flight from reality."

Speaking at the civic center here, under the auspices of the Hogg Memorial Foundation of the University of Texas, Prof. T. V. Smith, last night attacked Dr. Hutchins' recent warning of an American drift toward as a product of "child-like simplicity" of his educational philosophy.

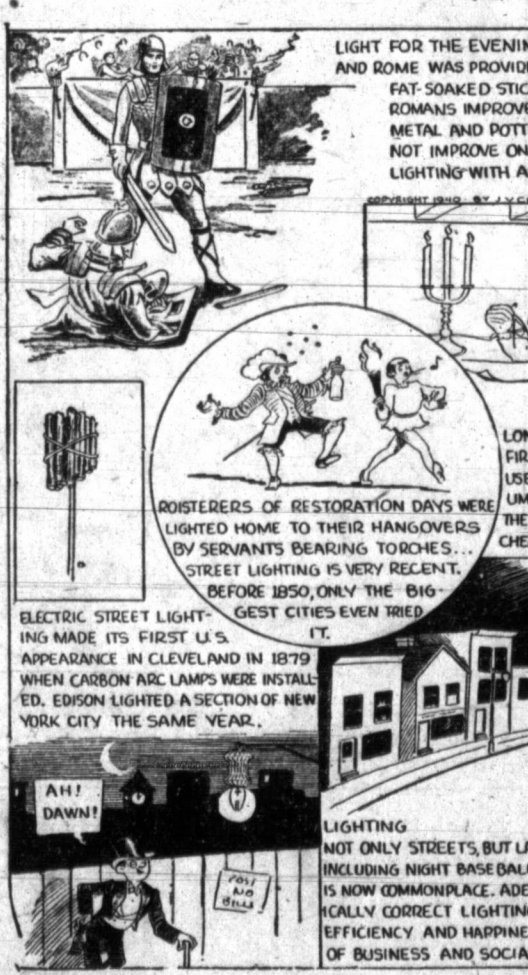

Smith said Dr. Hutchins' recent speech on the international crisis prompted the voicing of his own opinion.

He criticized the university president's "timid caution" where "resolute courage" should exist and said Dr. Hutchins' educational philosophy at the University of Chicago was "negligible."

In a radio address Jan. 23, Dr. Hutchins warned the United States that it had not achieved democracy and would lose all chance of achieving it if the nation went to war, that it would lose its liberties in the necessary regimentation for war, and that the nation was not morally and intellectually prepared for war.

Joe Kenemer invites all his friends to see him in his new location at Van's Barber Shop, 111 W. Foster.
