

TAILORED YOKES ARE SMART

PATTERN 8890

A smart shirtwaister is one of your first spring needs. Tailored dresses look well and feel right in any sort of weather. And this sleek, distinctive type will be a joy to wear under your coat immediately, as well as on the street later on and through the summer. Simple as it is, designed in the best tailored tradition, this pattern (No. 8890) is decidedly individual, thanks to the slanting yoke cut in one with the front panel of the bodice. Yokes are so smart right now, so this clever frock makes a special point of having one! The gathered fullness of the bodice, the slim paneled skirt, are becoming to practically all sizes.

This classic type of dress makes up beautifully in practically every daytime material—flat crepe, spun rayon, silk print, and thin wool. Make your summer versions of linen, gingham, or sharkskin.

For a PATTERN of this attractive model send 15c IN COIN, YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER, and SIZE to The Pampa News Today's Pattern Service, 211 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

Send, right this minute, for a copy of the new Pattern book! It's a brilliant fashion parade of the best Spring styles, in designs that you can easily make at home! Everything you want—from home frocks to dressy clothes, sports outfits, lingerie, and adorable children's clothes. Eastern, 15c; Pattern Book, 15c. One Pattern and Pattern Book ordered together, 25c.

Picnic Planned For Sunday By Lasso Girls Club

Lasso Girls met in the home of Miss Elsie Green, 620 North Frost street, this week.

Miss Wanda Downs presided over the business session in which the girls decided on the pattern and material to be used in making their suits.

The club will have a picnic Sunday afternoon when the group will meet at the home of Miss Downs, 707 North West street, at 1 o'clock.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served to Betty Lou Leonard, Wanda Downs, Betty Jean Fletcher, Freddie Nell Beckman, Betty Jo Hilliard, and Elsie Green.

Many WOMEN get 2-way help!

CARDUI is a name you ought to remember, for it may help you in 2 important ways: If your main trouble is periodic functional distress, start 3 days before "the time" and take it as directed. If you are run-down, undernourished from functional causes, its use as a tonic may help stimulate appetite, increase the flow of gastric juices, so improve digestion, help build you up. Try CARDUI!

Santa Claus Unmasked

Current plans now call for raising $1,000,000.00 or more per year through new taxes and increases in existing taxes. And this is but a start—we can't build and maintain a twenty or thirty billion dollar military defense establishments on deficits.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, March 5—The small-town people of the United States, through their chosen representatives in congressional committee assembled, are trying to "fair back and pass a miracle" labor ticket for defense industries which will put an end to all this money business, real or imagined, of high inflation fees for union membership, work stoppages, grievances and strikes.

LABOR PROBLEMS ALL OVER THE PLACE

And while this committee takes endless testimony, other departments of the government rattle with labor in defense problems. You will be hearing a lot more of Dr. Isadore Lubin's B. L. S.—Bureau of Labor Statistics. For instance, The Maritime Commission is given the job to build 200 cargo boats. It's up to B. L. S. to determine how many men in what crafts will be needed. Next problem is to find out where the men are, with the necessary skills. And if they're not there, where can they be trained.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

ARE UNFULFILLED ORDERS A LIABILITY? People used to believe that when a company had a lot of unfilled orders ahead, it was an asset and a sign of a prosperous company.

But under New Deal theory, big orders seem to be turning out to be a liability, instead of an asset. When a company has contracted at a fixed price to deliver supplies that may take two or three years to deliver and they are unable to contract with labor and to even figure what labor will charge because of lack of a free labor market, then these contracts may cause the company to lose a lot of money.

The Vultee Airplane Company has $37,000,000 worth of unfilled orders. In 1939, they did $4,000,000 worth of business. The stock in 1939 was selling for around $14 a share. Now it is selling at $6 a share, with this $37,000,000 of unfilled orders.

The Martin Airplane Company is another illustration. They have $116,000,000 worth of orders. In 1939, they did $24,000,000 worth of business, more than four years of orders on their books. In 1939, their stock was selling for around $45; now, in 1941, with $116,000,000 worth of unfilled orders for the government their stock is selling for $23.

When labor unions can take anything they want and the government will not protect those who want to work, and when the politicians can take any fraction of earnings, when they happen to have earnings, it makes people very loathe to own stock in any industrial company.

Some stocks, like Intertype—a typesetting machine company—are selling for half of what their quick assets are worth. Every student of government, every man who is consistent, every man who has for long had experience in making business contracts, could see years ago that all these so-called social gains of the government would eventually destroy private enterprise.

WAGES AND PRICES TOO LOW OR TOO HIGH

It is amazing the number of people who use the word "too" regarding wages, or prices or profits and when asked by what rule they determine whether a thing is too low or too high, they have a blank look and can give no answer. This kind of people are anything but whole people. They want to be the judge of the whole universe and have everything referred to them and set down no impersonal principle or rule or law with which prices should be in harmony.

WAR ONCE WAS SIMPLE

And finally, another branch of Sidney Hillman's office has tackled the problem of farming out sub-contractors so that the labor demand won't drain the labor supply from some communities and so make necessary a big labor and economic upheaval that will mean spending hundreds of dollars in social readjustment for every new job in a new defense industry.

BARBS

The first thing most people do with a new car is wonder why the county doesn't fix the roads. When they start building bomb shelters, they might put the first ones in the outfield at Yankee Stadium. A picture of health requires a good frame of mind.

THE OLIVE BRANCH

Around Hollywood

BY PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, March 5.—You'd think that the announcement of Deanna Durbin's engagement almost might have jarred her studio off its foundations, along with starting a stampede of broken-hearted male fans to recruiting stations and monasteries.

MET CAN WAIT, DEANNA DECIDES

Just the prospect of marriage already has affected Deanna's ideas about the future. She didn't admit it, exactly, but as a correspondent I have interviewed her at least annually for five years. I can testify to a change. At first she was eager for an operative chance, even at the expense of her movie job. In a year or so she was citing the examples of Lily Fong and Grace Moore to prove that she could work both in the Metropolitan and in Hollywood. Lately I found her figuring that the Met could wait, reminding herself that Miss Fong didn't sing there until she was 29.

Lindbergh Figures In House Resolution

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, foe of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, figured again today in the Texas House of Representatives. A resolution sent without discussion to the State Affairs committee stated that "we neither judge nor condemn Colonel Lindbergh for only God knows his true heart, and we believe or hope his intentions are for our good, and God will judge him accordingly."

Her own observations of marriage in Hollywood have been favorable. The unhappy ones she knows about have been between older people. "We'd be silly to let the career-and-marriage question worry us. So far as I can see, most of the break-ups have been due to the people

SERIAL STORY

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

BY RUTH AYERS.

Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY: Ann decides on a quiet wedding to be held within a week. April's appearance in court. Dad is to defend April. Believes Winkie is paying off an old grudge. Kent insists upon testifying. April goes on an important errand.

KENT SPRINGS A SURPRISE CHAPTER XXI

YES, April Burnett had it straight and clear in her mind now. If she could see Kent alone, she could persuade him not to testify in court tomorrow. This would spare Ann; this would prevent a fresh flood of gossip in the town.

April drew a deep breath as she reached the top of the hill where the Carter mansion stood, big, gloomier than ever in the first fall of dusk. And then she stopped quickly. The roadster, hers and Ann's, was parked outside the Carter gate.

Suddenly aware of what she did, April pushed through the gate and came to a standstill almost directly in front of the parlor windows. In the semi-light, she could see Ann sitting there, and Kent and Great Aunt Elizabeth Carter.

Quickly, she walked back, grateful for the shadows which concealed her.

She had reached the Carter home too late. Her chance to see Kent alone before the trial, was gone. Worse, perhaps she'd lost her last chance to spare Ann, Auntie Carter, imperious, Spartan person that she was, might at this very minute be telling Ann of April's visit there in the hall-storm.

Nothing to do now except wait—wait until court opened tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

AFTERWARDS, whenever she thought of that Friday in court, April would remember one strange part of it. That morning, she wore a plain black dress and a tri-cornered hat. Dad, eying her critically remarked, "Why, you look almost judicial, Daffy."

She came into the crowded, high-ceilinged courtroom, not seeing anyone. But somehow, she and Kent stood up together to be sworn as witnesses.

Yes, on Friday, she and Kent promised to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

On Saturday, Kent and Ann would stand together, hands linked, to make a vow even more solemn.

Winkie Appleman took the stand first, hobbling as he went. He told a story that grew more damaging to April with every word.

His eyes watered, his back hunched. "Yes, I was coming out of the Pattonville railroad station that night; where I spend considerable time not having much of a place I can call a home," he said. "And all of a sudden, this here April Burnett drives her car at roarin' speed right to the platform and knocks me over."

There was more to it. How he'd been shocked by pain, cut and bleeding. "Call an ambulance, I asks her," he said. "Get a officer of the law. But she won't listen to none of this. She says she has to keep it quiet."

"No cross-examination," Mr. Burnett snapped when Winkie had finished.

Then April was called. She walked to the stand erect, chin high. Yes, she admitted that in the flying snow she hadn't seen the complainant, Winkie Appleman. She admitted she had stumbled to his feet and accused her of knocking him down. Her testimony was brief under her father's questioning.

And then it was Kent's turn on the stand. So far, even when they had taken the witness' oath, he had not looked at her. He didn't look at her now. Instead, he made a few preliminary answers on the time and place of the accident.

Then he turned directly to the judge. "Your honor," he said, "I was in the roadster with Miss April Burnett that night in the storm. Something did strike against her car. At that time, I was temporarily blinded from an accident at camp and couldn't see what had happened. But I can tell you one thing—"

The judge nodded for him to go on. "Winkie Appleman was drunk!"

The state's lawyer was on his feet. "I object!"

THE objection was overruled. Kent continued in the same forthright way. "Yes, your honor, the complainant was very intoxicated. He reeled with liquor, Even blind, I knew he was reeling. There's another witness here, one who had his eyes and saw it all. I think he can confirm what I say."

Then for the first time, April saw the big-handed, freckle-faced rookie whose life Kent had saved at near cost of his own.

Private Estes told bluntly how he had been at the station waiting for Capt. Kent Carter and had seen Winkie staggering from the platform and falling in the snow heap before April's car.

"She'd stopped her car even before he fell," Private Estes testified with magnificent contempt.

"Case dismissed," his honor ruled.

Winkie began to blubber. "It's a put-up job," he said. "I've got lots more I ain't told yet. This April Burnett—I got witnesses—"

An officer had him by the arm, silencing him.

April stood up, realizing now her knees were fluid, her hands shaking with a veritable palsy of shakes.

"Thank you, Dad," she whispered to her father.

He was wiping his horn-rimmed glasses, the ones that made him look so ferocious. His smile was as beaming as if he'd just won an appeal to the Supreme Court.

"That's all right, Daffy," he said. "You run home now and help get ready for the big doings tomorrow at our house."

AFTER that, she pushed her way through the crowd, not looking at anyone—not even at Hal who had been watching intently from a seat in the rear. Outside the courthouse, safe and alone at last, she pulled off the perky tri-cornered hat, held a handkerchief pressed close against her mouth. In a minute, she would call them and Ann at home to tell them the case was over. In a minute, but not yet.

"April!"

She turned slowly, unwilling. It was Kent Carter.

"Thank you, thank you for helping me," she managed to say and held out her hand.

He took it, kept it imprisoned in his. "You've been trying to run away from me a long time," he said.

"Oh, no, Kent. It's just that I've been busy, on the sick list, too, with a game ankle."

"That night at the station, one of my bags fell on you. Young Estes told me later. You were very plucky about it, April. And I won't be put off any longer. You've got to talk to me—now."

Roosevelt Begins Ninth Year Today

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the only president in America's history to attain a third term, entered Tuesday upon his ninth year as chief executive of the United States.

Although the occasion was unique, nothing was planned in the way of observance. Mr. Roosevelt merely plugged away on a routine devoted primarily to defense and aid to Britain.

The administration's preoccupation with these problems is reflected in Mr. Roosevelt's day-by-day engagements. The men with whom he consults most frequently now are William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman of the office for production management, the secretaries of state, war and navy, the top officers of the armed services, and diplomats.

Controversy swirls around the subjects of rearmament and British aid, but seldom, now, do complaints arise that administration policies are dictated by a "brain trust"—the cry that was often raised when the NRA, AAA, court reorganization, relief, and social security were the burning issues of the hour.

Only remnants of the old, so-called "brain-trust" survive. Moreover, just three members of the original Roosevelt cabinet remain—Secretaries Hull, Ickes, and Perkins.

Mr. Roosevelt began his ninth year in the White House feeling a bit under par—he had a head cold.

Dumas and Silvertown Legion Posts Revived

CANADIAN, March 5—Commander J. M. Johnson, District 18, American Legion, and Mrs. Johnson went to Dumas, two days ago and assisted in the re-organization of the post there.

The following day, they went to Silvertown and assisted in re-organization of Post No. 224 there.

On this trip, Commander Johnson met with the American Legion committee in Borger, planning for the district monthly meeting there March 8.

That is the day of Borger's fifteenth birthday celebration in which Legionnaires will have a prominent part.

Chinese Say Japs Hinting For Peace

SHANGHAI, March 5 (AP)—Chinese sources in Shanghai who said their information came from Nanking government circles reported today that Japan again was extending peace feelers to Chungking in the hope of a settlement which would enable Japan to concentrate all her forces on expansion to the south.

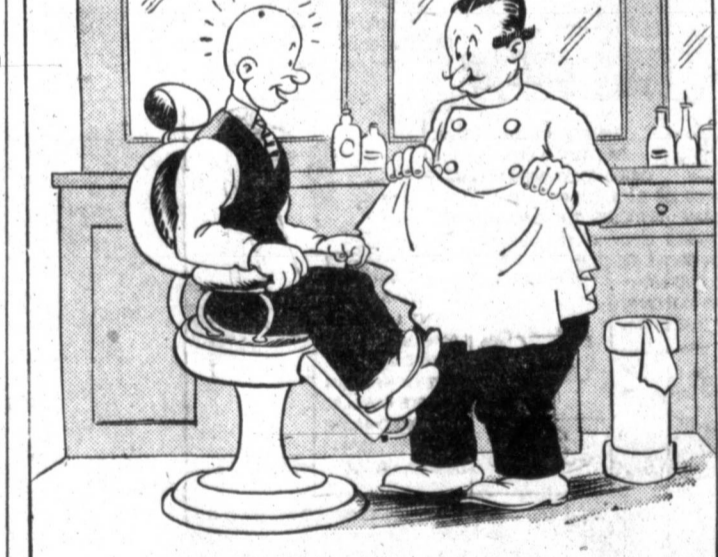

These sources said Pao Fang-Pai, an official of the Japanese-recognized government in Nanking, and Hsu Shih-Ying, representing Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, had met in Hongkong, where Pao was said to have presented Japan's proposals.

These were described as providing for withdrawal of Japanese troops immediately from the four central China provinces of Hunan, Kiangsi, Hupoh, and Anwei, permitting Chiang to return to his former seat of government at Nanking.

After that, according to these informants, Japan gradually would withdraw her forces from all China south of the Yellow river—except at Shanghai, where a garrison of approximately 8,000 troops would be maintained either in the city or on the Chusan islands.

As soon thereafter as a plan of Chinese-Japanese political and economic cooperation could be put into practice, the Japanese also would leave the northern provinces, the Chinese sources said.

Winners In Americanism Speech Contest To Be Announced March 18

Winners in the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce's Top O' Texas Americanism oratorical contest will be announced over Radio KPDN on March 18. It was stated at yesterday's regular weekly luncheon of the Jaycees.

This announcement followed the speech of Miss Joyce Dulaney of Spearman, final entrant in the Jaycee-sponsored contest, in which high school pupils from a dozen Plains towns are competing.

Speeches of all contestants, winners of contests in their respective schools, have been broadcast over KPDN at the regular weekly Jaycee luncheons.

There will be four winners selected by the judges, and cash awards will be made to each. Judges are W. B. Weathered, Joe Key, Dr. C. H. Schulkey and Tex DeWespe.

Purpose of the contest was to inculcate a revival of appreciation for democracy and other American institutions. Contestants chose their oration subjects from a list of four topics on the Americanism theme.

Schools that have sent speakers to the Jaycee programs here have been Panhandle, Canadian, Mobeetie, Higgins, Perryton, White Deer, Pampa, Borger, LeFors, Claude, Morse, and Spearman.

"Why I Think the American Way is Best" was the subject of the oration delivered by Miss Dulaney yesterday. Her speech follows:

"Some century and a half ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. They then established a government which they believe was the best that the world has ever known. This government they transmitted to us without debt, without entangling alliances, and without shame. It had but one purpose and that to bestow with a generous hand its countless blessings on the human race.

"Let us first consider what are these chief blessings that our government so freely gives to us. The treasured Bill of Rights in the Constitution guarantees to us freedom, freedom to act, to think, to speak, to worship—yes, freedom to live.

"We give to our fellow citizens the same wide latitude in his individual beliefs that we demand for ourselves. So long as he does his work and lives a sane life as a man should we shall not interfere with his speech, his actions, or his method of paying homage to his Maker.

"Another way of life conferred upon us by our government is our American citizenship. Under our democracy we take part in this government of the people. There is no privileged class; no class is exempt from these duties or deprived of these privileges. The Constitution also provides for a system of checks and balances whereby no class can secure the upper hand and subjugate any other.

"Many of us may be prone to stress the privileges, but our democracy also imposes duties on its people. But its yoke is easy and its burden light. Compare our taxes with those of other modern nations. Ours are small so considered. Our duties of citizenship are such that any individual owes to a government of the people—the duty of supporting that government and of participating in the administration of it.

"Chance For Happiness

"Not only do we have freedom and the rights and privileges of citizenship, but we also have a clause which provides for our general welfare—or shall I say, our pursuit of happiness.

"One of the most important factors in the pursuit of happiness is the right to secure an education. Every boy and girl in America has an opportunity to attend our free schools, and those who desire can

Tulsa Women's Air Corps Initiates Training Program

TULSA, Okla., March 5 (AP)—The Tulsa women's air corps has begun a training program it hopes will become nation-wide in order to build up a defense reserve of feminine pilots.

The corps, sponsored by the Tulsa unit of the Women's Aeronautical association, began with 18 members. Seven have soloed or already have won their private pilot licenses.

Corps members include a 17-year-old coed, business girls, housewives, a manicurist and a 46-year-old music teacher.

"There are many ways women fliers would be very useful if they were needed," said Mrs. H. C. Duncan, president of the Aeronautical association unit.

They could be used to ferry ships, fly ships transferring blood, pilot ambulance planes and take the place of some commercial pilots.

"When we approached the operator of a flying school here with the idea of forming the air corps, he told us we were suffering from war hysteria; that there already were ten men pilots available for every ship.

"But we felt that this was an opportunity for women to show their interest in preparedness."

Each member pays for her instruction at a rate about half that usually charged.

The Dallas unit of the Women's Aeronautical association is planning a similar corps.

Craven Praised In Resolution Passed By City

A resolution expressing the sympathy of the mayor and city commissioners on the death of W. M. Craven, 64, city secretary for the past seven years, who died Sunday morning, was passed by the commission at its regular meeting yesterday.

Funeral services for Mr. Craven were conducted here Monday afternoon at the First Christian church, after which the body was taken to Tulsa for burial.

The resolution passed yesterday was signed by Fred Thompson, mayor, H. C. Wilson, commissioner 1, and George B. Cree, commissioner 2. A copy of the document was ordered entered on a separate page of the commission's minutes.

IN MEMORY OF W. M. CRAVEN

"A resolution recognizing the valuable services rendered to the city of Pampa by W. M. Craven as city secretary and extending to the family the sympathy of the mayor and the city commissioners of the city of Pampa.

"Whereas, Mr. W. M. Craven departed this life on the second day of March, 1941; and

"Whereas, Mr. Craven served the city of Pampa as city secretary for the past seven years, and as such city secretary rendered a valuable service to the city of Pampa and its citizens, and created and established an enviable record in the execution of his duties in such office; and

"Whereas, the city commission of the city of Pampa feels that the city of Pampa and this community has lost one of its most valuable citizens:

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the city commission of the city of Pampa has been deeply grieved by the death of Mr. Craven and extends to his wife and family its sincere sympathy in their time of sorrow; and

"Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the wife of Mr. Craven; that a page of the minutes of the city commission of Pampa be set aside in his honor and in his memory, and that the press of the city be furnished a copy hereof."

City To Reply To Roy Hallman Suit

Authority was granted City Attorney Robert F. Gordon by the city commission at its meeting yesterday to file a reply brief for the city in the case of Roy Hallman vs. City of Pampa.

This action will be in the Texas supreme court, at Austin, and follows the opinion given last January at Amarillo in the court of civil appeals, which affirmed the district judgment here in favor of the city.

The case is for $25,000 damages, asked by plaintiff, allegedly suffered as the result of injuries received by the wife of the plaintiff in a fall some years ago on Crest street.

W. J. Smith, who represented the city in the preliminary court action, will join with the city attorney on the supreme court transaction.

Craven Street's Condition Protested

Alleging that W. Craven street, from Russell to Somerville, was not being correctly graded and that the result had been poor drainage, two Pampa residents protested the street's condition to the city commissioner at that body's meeting yesterday.

The two protesting were A. G. (Friday) Brandon, and H. O. Jennings, with Brandon as the spokesman.

After listening to the complaint, Mayor Fred Thompson, for the commission, assured Mr. Brandon that City Manager Steve Matthew would attend to the matter and make any needed improvements.

Fort Worth Votes Bomber Plant Bonds

FORT WORTH, March 5 (AP)—Fort Worth will issue bonds in the amount of $2,500,000 for establishment of a $10,000,000 bomber assembly plant here.

By a margin of more than 14 to 1, local voters favored the bond issue in a special election held yesterday.

A county issue of $1,250,000 to build feeder roads to the plant location and several other roads in various parts of the county was voted by more than 10 to 1.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the city commission of the city of Pampa has been deeply grieved by the death of Mr. Craven and extends to his wife and family its sincere sympathy in their time of sorrow; and

"Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the wife of Mr. Craven; that a page of the minutes of the city commission of Pampa be set aside in his honor and in his memory, and that the press of the city be furnished a copy hereof."

Technique Of Night Fighting Developed

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—The technique of night fighting in the air has been developed so successfully that British pilots now can see their opponents clearly enough to distinguish one type of aircraft from another, the air ministry news service said today.

Describing attacks by British fighters on German bombers about to land on their home airfields, the news service said:

"The pilot of a fighter command who carried out an offensive patrol over a enemy bomber during the night reports he saw a German bomber preparing to land and immediately gave chase, following it around its circuit and firing from close range.

"Ground defenses opened up against our fighter, but had to cease fire on a signal from the enemy plane, which was in danger of being shot down by German guns.

"The enemy turned away, but could not escape the fighter, which closed in to the attack. During this attack, the bomber was recognized as a Heinkel 111, and after another burst from the British fighter it fell away rapidly and was not seen again."

The news service then explained it was unlikely the German plane could have recovered from a violent sideslip at low altitude.

EYES RIGHT!...

ONE OF THE MESSY CHORES MODERN HOUSEWIVES ARE RELIEVED OF, IS THAT OF CANDLE MAKING. CANDLE MOLDS WERE COMMON IN COLONIAL DAYS BUT BETTER CANDLES WERE TALLOW 'DIPS', MADE BY REPEATEDLY DIPPING WICKS IN KETTLES OF HOT TALLOW.

THE IDEA OF USING COAL GAS FOR ILLUMINATING, ORIGINATED WITH WILLIAM MURDOCH, EMPLOYEE OF BOUTON AND WATT OF STEAM ENGINE FAME. NOTICING THE GAS ISSUING FROM THE COAL WHILE SMOKING BEFORE THE FIRE, HE PUT A SMALL PIECE IN HIS PIPE, COVERED IT AND LIGHTED THE GAS AS IT CAME OUT THE STEM.

THE KINNEAR PATENT LARD OIL LAMP (1851) WAS DESIGNED TO GIVE MORE LIGHT THAN A SINGLE CANDLE. ... LOOKED MORE LIKE A TIN CAN THAN A LAMP.

1941 KITCHENS ARE PLANNED FOR PLENTY OF LIGHT AT ALL WORK AREAS... DIFFUSED LIGHT, PROPERLY PLACED, SPEEDS WORK, REDUCES FATIGUE, ELIMINATES MISTAKES.

NOT THE LEAST OF THE DRAWBACKS OF KITCHENS OF THE SEVENTIES WAS THE LIGHTING. NOT ONLY WERE LAMPS INADEQUATE FOR THE LARGE KITCHENS BUT THEY HAD TO BE MOVED ABOUT TO PROVIDE EFFECTIVE LIGHT.
