Actor James Stewart Placed In Class 1-A

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 7 (AP)—Actor James Stewart's draft board announced today that the lanky Academy Award winner had been placed in class 1-A, making him immediately available for military service.

Secretary Earl W. Barton declared in a statement: "Stewart was originally classified as 1-B on Nov. 28, because of weight deficiency. Stewart had requested that he be placed in class 1-A and in February he appealed the board's decision and again requested that he be placed in class 1-A. At this time he also volunteered for immediate action."

Following another examination he was reclassified on March 3 and placed in class 1-A. He has been instructed to hold himself available for the March call."

Stewart a week ago won Hollywood's highest acting honor, an "Oscar" from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, for his portrayal of a newspaperman in "The Philadelphia Story."

Farewell Broadcast By Convicts Banned

COLUMBIA, La., March 7 (AP)—District Attorney C. C. Minard this morning positively forbade Sheriff G. E. Erskine of Caldwell Parish to permit four condemned prisoners here to broadcast over Radio Station KMLB of Monroe just before they are executed at noon today.

Minard, district attorney of the 28th judicial district, also told the sheriff that no photographs of any kind would be permitted on the executions.

The four condemned men had prepared radio manuscripts running from 80 to 500 words and were scheduled to take the air about 11 a. m. (CST). Microphones had been placed in their death row cells by the Monroe station for the broadcasts in which the prisoners emphasized in advance copies given the press that "crime does not pay," and told relatives farewell.

Minard acted after talking with an unnamed authority in Baton Rouge whom he said told him that he had no authority to order the broadcasts banned but that if he was "the district attorney he would not permit it."

Sheriff Erskine made no comment, but banned photographers from the floor where the four Arkansas convicts awaited the scaffold.

BATON ROUGE, La., March 7 (AP)—Attorney General Eugene Stanley said today he had advised Sheriff G. E. Erskine of Caldwell Parish that a proposed broadcast by four convicts condemned to die today would be in violation of the law.

"I warned him such a broadcast would be in strict violation of the law since under the criminal code executions must be private in Louisiana," Stanley said. "The Sheriff agreed to call the broadcast off."

The men, William Meharg, 29, William Heard, 43, Floyd Boyce, 29, and William Landers, 39, were convicted of murder.

Major Parties Spent $22,000,000 In 1940 Presidential Campaigns

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The Senate Campaign Investigating committee, reporting that the major parties had spent $22,000,000, at a minimum, during the 1940 presidential contest, recommended today that congress fix rigid limits on political funds and tighten up other federal election laws.

Republican groups were credited with expenditures of almost $15,000,000, and Democrats, with more than $6,000,000.

The special committee submitted a 10-point political reform program in its 181-page final report, which included separate, sharply-worded minority statements from Senator Tobey (R-NH).

Tobey, in his reports, asked a congressional investigation of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, N. J., powerful democratic leader; charged that Oliver A. Quayle, Democratic National committee leader, had "lied brazenly and unhesitatingly" to the committee; questioned $300,000 loaned to Democrats by R. J. Reynolds; and criticized primary expenditures by Senator Radcliff (D-Md.).

Underpass Work To Start About May 1

Indications today were that work on Pampa's $210,000 underpass would start around May 1.

Bids for the construction of the underpass are to be submitted on March 25 to the Texas Highway department in Austin.

If the department follows its practice, it will be not more than three days after that time when the contractor will be held up further plans until toward obtaining this project. It was in 1933 when the grade separation program was started that the idea took root here.

Adjustment of the question of property damage along the right-of-way held up further plans until 1937, when the city made a tentative agreement.

A considerable amount of legal red tape had to be unwound, however, before the matter reached its present stage, and it was not until this year that the project assumed concrete form.

Bids from counties other than Gray to be submitted on March 25 to the Texas Highway department are:

Denton and Dallas, concrete pavement on U. S. 77 from one mile south of Lewisville to the Dallas county line and from 3 mile north of state highway 114 to Denton county line, 12.4 miles.

Hunt, grading and drainage structures, soil-asphalt sub-base and seal coat on U. S. 69 from 9 mile south-east of Sabine river to 1.2 miles northwest of Lone Oak, 1.6 miles.

Wichita and Wilbarger, 7 miles grading, drainage structures, flexible base and asphalt surface treatment on state 246 from 4.7 miles east of Harrold to 1.5 miles west of Clara (in sections) and from 5 mile east of Harrold to one mile west of Wichita county line.

President May Form New Labor Mediation Board

(By The Associated Press) President Roosevelt said today he was considering the formation of a labor agency which would deal with problems behind labor disputes and act also as a mediator.

He made the disclosure at a press conference where he also endorsed absolutely the action expressed by the union that it was desirable to do away with strikes called because of disputes between unions as to which had jurisdiction over a job.

Meanwhile some accomplishments were reported by already-established mediation processes.

The threat of imminent walkouts was lifted from the Consumers Power company which serves 2,000,000 customers in southern Michigan; from the Rutland railroad in Vermont, and from the Ingalls Iron plants hold $100,000,000 in defense orders.

Governor Murray D. Van Wagener of Michigan yesterday took a hand in the dispute which menaced the electrical service of 900 communities in his state and AFL electrical workers and the Consumers Power company agreed to arbitrate their differences. The union seeks wage increases and a preferential shop.

Conciliation of the Rutland railroad dispute was effected by a special mediation board named by President Roosevelt. The railroad workers had been disturbed by scheduled pay cuts.

Settlement of a steel strike at Orange, Tex., which had delayed work on naval destroyers was announced last night, although terms of the agreement between the consolidated Steel corporation and its employees were withheld.

Meanwhile CIO employees at the Edgewater, N. J., plant of the Aluminum Company of America balked at whether to authorize union officials to call a strike for wage adjustments.

If a majority of the 2,001 workers favor a strike, conferences with the company would be sought and an attempt made at settlement.

Four plants of Thomas A. Edison, Inc. in New Jersey and Pennsylvania were threatened with a one-day "work stoppage" Monday if the firm makes no concessions to CIO union demands for a closed shop and general wage increases.

The Federal Motor Truck Co. plant in Detroit closed today after CIO unionists employed on the day shift walked out at 8:30 a. m. The plant employs about 600 men.

T. R. Lippard, president of the company who notified the state labor board in Lansing of the strike, said the plant has $5,000,000 worth of defense orders for special trucks.

You Take It On From There, Judge

WICHITA, Kas., March 7 (AP)—The verdicts of the jury trying a damage suit aimed bowled over District Judge Grover Pierpont.

"This jury," reported Foreman Warren Daniels, "is of the opinion that one of the persons on the jury is mentally incompetent to serve as a juror."

The judge excused the jury so he could figure out his next move.

SPRING IS HERE ALREADY

A spring romance gave Texas its oldest bride and groom when Charles Clark, 93-year-old Confederate veteran, a bachelor, and Mrs. Liza Turner, 73, were married at the Texas Confederate home in Austin. It was Mrs. Turner's fourth marriage, her second to a Civil War veteran. Both are living at the home.

National Guard Service May Be Extended Year

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—War department officials said today the army may ask congress for authority to keep the National Guard in service for an additional six months or a year.

Whether the guardsmen are kept in uniform beyond the current year's period of training will depend, it was explained, on the tenseness of the international situation.

Some 240,000 guard officers and men have been mobilized thus far under the authority congress voted last summer.

Should they be demobilized at the conclusion of the current year's service, the army might be faced with a shortage of trained manpower to train the selective service recruits called to the colors under a continuous process, it was explained.

Some of the difficulties would be offset, however, officials said by the expansion of the regular army which has been increased steadily for the last two years to a present total of nearly 500,000 officers and men.

General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, was reported to feel that second year's service for the National Guard was advisable in the light of the present international outlook.

War Flashes

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—The admiralty announced today that with the capture of the port of Chisimio in Italian Somaliland, five Italian merchant ships totaling 28,153 tons were seized, four others scuttled and a 7,000-ton German vessel was captured, but a crew of 100 was rescued.

Balkan observers heard late today that 15,000 German troops massed with hundreds of tanks and armored cars on the Greek-Bulgarian frontier, may strike into Greek Macedonia and Thrace "within 48 hours."

British Ward Off Mock Try At Invasion

Greeks Plan To Abandon Thrace As Defense Front

(By The Associated Press) Turkey's controlled press bluntly defied Germany today, declared that the spread of the war in the Balkans seemed inevitable, and warned Adolf Hitler that against his "handful of hired mercenaries... stands two million Turkish bayonets."

One Turkish newspaper said boldly: "If Germany comes this way she will get such an answer to these reassurances as she never got before."

Great Britain was reported to be rushing all her spare equipment to the Turks.

Greek diplomatic quarters expressed the belief that Turkey would send troops into the mountains of Greece to help combat a German invasion of the little Aegean kingdom.

Turkish newspapers also warned the nation against accepting German assurances. Earlier this week, Adolf Hitler sent an urgent message by plane to Turkish President Ismet Inonu in which the Nazi Fuehrer was said to have asserted he desired only to look after Turkey's well-being.

Simultaneously, the British disclosed that Britain has already coped with a week-long "mock invasion" on a scale probably greater than Germany would launch.

The sham attack, it was said, featured landings by air and sea, with British staff officers impersonating the German general staff.

Informed quarters in London also declared that Tuesday's British-Norwegian naval raid on the German-held Lofoten islands, off the coast of Norway, was a "rehearsal" for bigger things to come.

It was indicated that swift-striking British sea raiders, carrying strong landing parties, have now begun a campaign of sabotaging Nazi-held military and industrial centers along the European coast.

In the Balkans, diplomatic sources in Belgrade predicted that Yugoslavia—under pressure to choose between the Axis and Britain—would refrain from joining the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance for the time being at least.

Reports that Britain was rushing equipment to Turkey seemed to indicate that Turkey was resolved

Jeff Davis Of Houston Beats Harvesters 41-25

Coming from behind with a rush, Jeff Davis of Houston defeated the Pampa Harvesters 41 to 25 in Austin this afternoon.

The Harvesters had a two-point lead after the last quarter opened but the Houston five starters clicking and romped away with the game.

The Pampa Harvesters were trailing Jeff Davis of Houston, 16 to 15 at the half in the opening of the state high school basketball tournament in Austin this afternoon.

The going was stiff from the opening whistle with first the Harvesters and then Jeff Davis taking a slender lead according to word from Archer Fullingim of the NEWS staff who is covering the tournament.

Dewey, Harvester guard, was injured in a fall early in the half and had to be taken from the game.

Late News

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Justice James M. Proctor of federal district court today ordered a directed verdict of acquittal for physicians and two medical organizations under trial for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The senate rejected an amendment to the Jeff Davis bill which would forbid the conveying by American armed forces of war materials shipped out of the western hemisphere.

The roll call vote was 63 to 23. The vote came on a proposal by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) offered as a substitute to an administration-sponsored amendment by Senator Ellender (D-La.). The Ellender amendment states that nothing in the measure should be construed as changing existing laws governing the land and naval forces.

Rug Demonstration Given For HD Clubs Thursday Afternoon

An outlined method of making better handmade rugs, planned by Kingsmill Home Demonstration club members assisted by the agent, was presented to representatives of three clubs in the agent's office Thursday afternoon.

"Cotton candlewick, cotton rope, wool yarn and home-used materials are excellent examples for handmade rugs," explained Mrs. O. G. Smith, "and the local merchants are willing to cooperate in supplying such materials."

Mrs. J. R. Combs demonstrated crocheted rugs with 16 ply candlewick thread and the soft roll candlewick thread with a No. 7 needle, using a combination of single and double stitch for an oval shaped rug. Mrs. Combs suggests that the thread or strip of material be large enough to give weight to the rug so that it will cling close to the floor.

Mrs. A. R. Walberg discussed quality hooked rugs. She explained that simple designs chosen, using wool material or thread, hooked into every other thread of closely woven new burlap would give wearing quality that would last for years.

The demonstration was shown with Mrs. Julia E. Kelley closed with Mrs. V. E. Kelley, and Mrs. J. C. Jarvis, Chester Strickland, Ike Hughes, Bob Clements, Bill Harlan, Marshall Coulson, Ray Hawkins, Carl Moran, and the hostess.

Mrs. J. C. Jarvis will entertain the club at the next meeting.

Bride Party Given To Entertain Amigo Members And Guests

SKELLYTOWN, March 7.—Mrs. Joe Miller entertained the Amigo club members and three guests Tuesday afternoon at her home in Skellytown.

The bride tables were attractively arranged for the games in which Mrs. Howard Patton received high score award; while Mrs. J. C. Jarvis held the traveling prize and also received the consolation trophy.

Special guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Vernie Oglevie, Mrs. W. L. Waggoner and Mrs. O. L. Statton. Guest prize was won by Mrs. Statton.

A salad course was served to Mesdames W. L. Waggoner, O. L. Statton, Vernie Oglevie, Howard Patton, J. C. Jarvis, Chester Strickland, Ike Hughes, Bob Clements, Bill Harlan, Marshall Coulson, Ray Hawkins, Carl Moran, and the hostess.

Mrs. J. C. Jarvis will entertain the club at the next meeting.

Dartmouth's Famous Winter Carnival Builds Tradition

America is one place where youth still laughs. . . . Where a pretty girl receives the adulation that is her rightful heritage. . . . Where college is the place to have the time of your life. If you doubt these beautiful truths, you should have been up at Hanover, N. H., as Dartmouth College threw its famous winter carnival. There were winter sports, dancing, snow sculpture, and governors to be enjoyed. And there was also the sight of Miss Joan Walters from Rochester, Minn. This lovely creature came as the date of hometown boy friend Richard Hempstead, was promptly chosen queen of the carnival.

FOR YOUR DAUGHTER'S EASTER

PATTERN 8864
You'll find this pattern (No. 8864) one of the most useful and satisfactory you ever had for your small daughter. In taffeta or silk print, trimmed with little silk or organza frills, it makes a perfect love of an Easter frock. Made up in sturdy gingham, percale, or chambray, with ric-rac edging, it will be practical and pretty for everyday. And a simple frock like this is smart, not only for more than one season, but for more than one year. It's always in good taste.

This is a style that's becoming to all ages between 6 and 14—the high-cut princess skirt is charming on slim little girls and flattering to older ones who are inclined to be somewhat wide in the waist. Broad shoulders and flared skirt have a filling-out effect that growing girls usually need. The pattern is very easy to make. Try it and see.

Pattern No. 8864 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch material without nap, and 2 yards of machine pleating or ric-rac trimming. A step-by-step sew chart is included to guide you.

For a PATTERN of this attractive model send 15c IN COIN, YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER, and SIZE to The Pampa News Today's Pattern Service, 211 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

4-H Club Members Of Wheeler Have Meeting

WHEELER, March 7.—The 4-H club met this week with Miss Sybil Gidden, assistant county demonstration agent. La Veta Turlington acted as chairman and called the house to order. Everyone repeated the club motto, pledge, and prayer together.

Nina Merle Pond gave a report of the last council meeting, and Miss Gidden spoke on modern styles and arrangements of the hair.

Several of the members were present.

MAKE YOUR OWN ACCESSORIES
If you like to keep personal appointments orderly, you can make lovely lingerie kits and cloak accessories out of very inexpensive material at home on your own sewing machine. Quilting, ruffling, hem-stitching, cording all can be done quickly with the aid of modern sewing machine attachments. Old pieces of fabric, some cotton padding and the quilter will make handsome containers for lingerie, handkerchiefs, gloves and stockings. You can even label each container in your own handwriting, and then outline it on the machine with darning stitch embroidery.

to police last year's election, the special committee offered no specific remedial legislation" but cited "objections" to be attained.

The majority found that existing federal laws seeking to limit expenses of a presidential campaign to $3,000,000 and individual contributions to $5,000 in one year had been "largely ineffective."

It found that congressional attempts to limit contributions and expenditures of national committees to $3,000,000 a year under the Hatch act, had resulted in "mushroom" growth of "independent committees," each claiming the right to raise and spend $3,000,000.

Suggested reforms included: A curb on "false, libelous, and scurrilous campaign literature"; A bar on "pernicious political activities" by the thousands of former committeemen who administer federal farm program; audience devoutly thanks Allah and the one who chose the play. The lovers, Frankie Lou Keehn and Joe Blackwood, live up to their advance publicity and give excellent performances. Frankie Lou, playing her own quiet, sedate self, is as elegant in a pink and blue formal as she was as the charming star of Ken Bennett's revue.

A prohibition against "coercion" of voters by private employers of corporations.

Phillip Silcott and Dorothy Drescher carry the weight of the play on their shoulders and do a noble job. Silcott's timing was graceful and Dorothy moved through her 674 spoken lines with no prompting in her difficult character role.

Tom Johnson and John Knox got plenty of laughs as the rebellious sons of Herbert. Bob Thomas, as Jim Lawrence, was handsomely tuxedoed and a lot of the girls are hoping it will be standard equipment. Imogene Sperry as Amy Lawrence, was particularly good, combining convincing earnestness with a fine voice.

Virginia Clegg was a good Irish maid; Dewey Johns, Beatrice Stotts, Flint Berlin, and Gre't Ann Bruton, all played their roles extremely well. On the property committee were Wanda Giles, Marjorie Hill, and Virginia Lee West.

Temperatures Due To Make Slight Increase

Warmer weather was still "tentative" for Pampa, due for "slightly warmer" temperatures tomorrow, but the thermometer was at 33 degrees early this afternoon showing only a slight rise since early morning.

A light snow fell during the night and early today, whipped along by a 20 to 25 mile an hour wind. Thursday's maximum temperature was 34, minimum 27.

A cessation of the rain which has been general over east, central and north Texas was indicated in today's weather forecast.

The forecast for East Texas was colder with freezing weather and frost in north portion tonight, with slightly higher temperatures tomorrow.

The West Texas forecast called for slight cloudiness in the north portion tonight, with far and slightly warmer weather in the north tomorrow.

Rain continued to fall in Tyler, in East Texas, where 2.45 inches of precipitation was reported early today.

Fort Worth, in West Texas, had .55 of an inch of rain, mixed with snow flurries early today; Paris, in northeast Texas, had .85 of an inch of precipitation, with a drizzle continuing; Corsicana, Central Texas, had 1.35 inches of rainfall during a 24-hour period ending at 7 a. m. today, bringing the year's total to 11.07 compared with 4.27 inches for the same period last year.

"Do's And Don'ts" For Young Congressmen

WASHINGTON, March 7, (AP)—A primer for young congressmen appeared today in the congressional record.

It was compiled by Rep. Patrick (D-Ala.) who said his list of "do's and don'ts" were based on the experience gained by his own mistakes.

He said most "freshmen" legislators knew "no congressman is supposed to charge into an elevator ahead of a senator."

The Alabamaian also warned the newcomers against trying to compete with their senators for credit in getting federal projects for their districts.

"Learn the rules and parliamentary procedure," he counseled, adding, "a dumb congressman can appear very smart if he has a firm grasp of the rules of order around here."

"Learn to explain with plausibility, x x x congress is one-fourth action and three-fourths explanation."

TURKISH

to fight if Germany moves toward the Dardanelles.

Balkan observers spotted 50 German tanks poised almost within sight of the Turkish frontier.

The initial German onslaught, however—if it comes—was expected to strike into Greece's Struma river valley in Macedonia, a 60-mile corridor leading to the sea at Salonika.

Dispatches from Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, said Gen. Alexander Papagos, commander-in-chief of the Greek army, apparently intended to abandon Thrace as indefensible and make a stand along the natural bastion of the Struma.

These dispatches reported that the Greeks were already clearing civilians out of Thrace—the northeast province along the Turkish border, which Bulgaria has long coveted as an outlet to the Aegean sea.

The Struma river runs in a generally north and south direction from the Bulgarian border to the Aegean, a distance of some 40 miles, entering the sea at the Gulf of Orfani (Rendina) east of Salonika. The stream passes through Lake Taklinos before entering the Aegean about 70 miles west of the Turkish border.

Reports reaching here said the Greeks were rushing artillery into the Struma valley.

Meanwhile it was believed the Greeks planned an intensive effort to capture the Albanian port of Valona from the Italians to anchor the western end of their battle line before the Nazis could launch an attack.

German preparations were evident on all sides as Nazi troops rolled toward the Greek frontier in trains, trucks, buses and even private cars.

Since the end of October, the German have been concentrating stocks of oil and food in Bulgaria. Further evidence of the expected German drive was seen in the arrival of Sofia of throngs of uniformed Nazi war correspondents as well as an increased number of army officers.

The British apparently making every effort to strengthen their Balkan armies, were said to be sending all the equipment they could spare to the Turks, who are in a position to harass a German army attempting to march into Greece—if they wish to do so.

Fifty German tanks were seen by observers being overhauled almost within sight of the Turkish frontier.

Yugoslavia's role in the crisis remained a mystery, but authoritative quarters in Belgrade, the Yugoslav capital, said Prince Paul had conferred last Monday with Adolf Hitler at the Fuehrer's Berchtesgaden retreat.

Belgrade heard that a statement reiterating Yugoslavia's neutrality might be expected within a few hours.

Winners In Safety Contest Announced

Winners in the safety essay contest for Pampa High and junior high school students were announced today by John B. Wilkinson, chief of police, and C. E. (Dan) McGrew, city recorder, who were judges in the contest.

The senior high prize of $3 went to Edna Mae Cade; the junior high first prize of $2 to Elliott Bailey. Senior high second, Neva Lou Woodhouse, $2; junior high second, $1 each as co-winners to Dorothy Johnson and Sammy Taylor.

There were 31 essays entered in the contest. Checks were awarded the winners Thursday.

The National Question Mark

Somewhere in the mind of every American citizen lurks this grim and disquieting question: "Will the United States enter the war?"

About every writer and speaker in the country has been attempting to satisfactorily answer that question for some time. You can find irresistiably logical arguments which make our entry into conflict seem inevitable as death and taxes—and you can find equally logical arguments which attempt to prove we are in small danger of being drawn in. And, as the debate rages on, a good many Americans who make no pretense to being experts find themselves sinking deeper into confusion.

The standard polls still indicate that the American people are opposed to war, even as they favor aid to England with "all steps short of war." At the same time, the American people, going by the same polls, are convinced that if England falls we may be next on Hitler's list of victims.

The arguments that support the theory that we cannot long keep out of war are obvious enough. We have dropped all pretense of neutrality—we are simply non-belligerents, committed to the hill on England's side. We have damned the dictators in unequivocal terms. The leaders of both the political parties, the President and Mr. Willkie, are aggressively pro-British and anti-Nazi. And we are about to embark on a new policy which will give England and her allies our utmost moral and material support—a policy which Hitler, if he is seeking a fight with this country, could logically construe as a declaration of war in effect.

On the other side of the fence, the arguments have not been so well publicized. In a recent issue, the United States News summed up five principal reasons for believing that this country is not going to war.

First, says the News, the United States can aid Britain more by not fighting than by fighting. Britain, in other words, needs supplies, not men. If we entered the war it would be impossible to send much abroad, as our own under-supplied military establishments would need all our factories could produce.

Second, the U. S. can help her own defense more by staying out of the war. The arms we send England may be lost, but we won't lose men so long as we remain a non-belligerent. And we will find out if our arms and planes are adequate for modern war. England, in other words, will be the proving ground for the products of our factories.

Third, through the lend-lease policy, the U. S. can exert its major effort in the war. Actually taking up arms against the Axis would not permit us to do more.

Fourth, the fact that all-aid-for-England policy apparently has the support of a nation which is also committed to maintaining peace, is construed in Administration circles as proof of the fact that its plans and actions are sound.

Fifth, according to his intimates, the President really hates war, meant what he said during the campaign, and will do everything possible to prevent war. He believes that his policy offers the surest road to peace, and in that he is backed by large numbers of his political opponents.

All of this does not take into consideration the fact that the Axis might make war on us, thus plunging us into the conflict whether we want to fight or not. Military and political experts, for the most part, don't think that likely at this time. They point out that Hitler doesn't make a particular point of "saving face." As he has said himself, he will not be budged into taking steps he believes dangerous. The experts argue that Hitler will not wage war against us until and unless it suits his time-table. And it is obvious that he has enough troubles on his hands now without asking for more.

Time, which heals all wounds and solves all arguments, will prove the soundness or weaknesses of these various contentions. In the meantime, there are many thoughtful observers who feel that we will be in war before the year ends—perhaps within six months. All the people can do now is wait and see.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, March 7.—March 4 marked eight years in the White House for President Roosevelt, but that's a short time compared with the records of continuous government service it marked for a group of congressmen:

Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago, completing 34 years, Robert L. Doughton of Laurel Spring, N. C., 30 years, Clarence F. Lea of Santa Rosa, Calif., 24 years, Hiram W. Johnson of San Francisco, 25 years. Pat Harrison of Gulfport, Miss., 30 years. To mention a few.

It's a good life—if you can get re-elected. No wonder they work for these jobs, build fences back home so they can return to Washington in spite of all the battles, the grief, the arguments, the demands of job-seekers, the boys to take care of, the crackpots, the delegations, the lobbyists, the people they have to be nice to. Enough to drive most people nuts.

Yet the man born to be a congressman loves it. He'll fight like hell with some opponent on the floor. They'll call each other names and question their motives. You'd think they'd stay mad forever. Yet when the debate is over, they'll slap each other on the back in the cloak rooms, and talk about their lovely fight. They don't stay mad long. Maybe that's why they like the work.

TROUBLE'S A BUBBLE AFTER A WHILE

Take the case of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi. He's 60. Half his life has been spent in Washington. There are six men who have been in the Senate longer than he, but today Pat is president pro tempore, and whenever Vice President Wallace is away, Pat rules the roost. Also, he's chairman of the fi-

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given moral right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

REASON ROOSEVELT KEEPS PEOPLE IN DARK

There is a very definite reason why President Roosevelt has not in the past taken the public into his confidence and told them what he expected to do and to accomplish. The reason is that President Roosevelt does not know himself from day to day. He is not guided by any impersonal principle. He is guided only by emotion. Everything revolves around him. And as he sees things from day to day, he makes different decisions.

His promises of a few months ago, that the United States would do everything short of war, is now taking form to mean that we will enter the war and send our men wherever Roosevelt decides he wants them to fight.

He has said that he wants to establish four freedoms throughout the world and that this is to be done in this generation. When he attempts to free people from want, he is just using words that can have no realistic meaning.

In the first place, we do not want people to be free of desires and wants. Not to have wants is to be like an animal, to be limited to the wants of the physical body.

The United States is certainly in a very precarious position when we are headed by a man who is not governed by any religious principle. Comparing Hitler with Roosevelt.

And when we compare Hitler with Roosevelt we find they are very much alike in many ways and quite different in others.

Both of them will set down no rule of conduct, will lay down no principle, no impersonal laws they will attempt to follow. Everything must be referred back to them and they must have the right to change their mind at will.

There is no knowing what each of them will do. Again, they are alike that neither one can be depended upon to do what he says he will do. They will make promises to get more and more power and then pay no attention to the promise.

They are alike in that they both are demagogic and promise anything to the unsuspecting masses that will keep them in power.

Probably Hitler knows that he cannot live up to it, but Roosevelt is probably so conceited that he does not even know his limitations.

They do differ, however, in some things. Hitler knows that we have to add and work in order to increase the wealth of the people. Roosevelt seems to think that we can have more by destroying our wealth; that we can have more by shipping our wealth out of the country; that we can have more by preventing people from working; that we can have more by taking from one who will use it to make wages higher and giving it to those who consume and prevent the accumulation of capital.

Truly, Roosevelt keeps us in the dark and plays his own hand because he does not even know himself what he expects to do.

I have never seen any eternal principles set forth by Roosevelt. And the pity is that the leader at the head of the other party, Wendell Willkie, is, as the Chicago Tribune says, just a Charlie McCarthy for Roosevelt. If there ever was a time in American history when there was a paucity of leaders for the two great parties, it is at present.

"THE PRIMER OF INVASION"

Those people who believe the United States is in danger of being invaded by Germany, should read the article in February 12 issue of Christian Century. It is under the heading of "The Primer of Invasion" and written by Oswald Garrison Villard. Mr. Villard was former editor of the New York Post and author of "Fighting Years."

It is written in question and answer form. The article says no bomber can make the trip over the ocean when loaded. The only way they can make the trip is stripped.

The author is also of the opinion that we do not need large masses of men and a two ocean navy to defend America.

The article contends that this is the private opinion of such men as Lindbergh, Major General James K. Parsons, General Robert E. Wood, Major Johnson Harwood, Major George Eliot, Rear Admiral W. W. Phelps, Rear Admiral Cook, Rear Admiral Wm. S. Simms, Major General Wm. C. Rivers and Rear Admiral Yarnell.

The author concludes the article by saying, "When historians write this period of American history, they will declare that for sheer fright and hysteria, it is a chapter without parallel in the record of any other great nation."

"Does not this surrender of American commonsense and self-reliance to the Nazi war of nerves in itself constitute Hitler's great victory?"

ance committee, and a member of the foreign affairs and rules committees. That gives him enough to do.

Yet troubles roll off his big, pink, bald head, off the fringe of gray hair, of the big rounded shoulders, and leave him outwardly unperturbed. As he sits slouched in his chair on the Senate floor or in his office, vest open, hands clasped over his paunch, wide-eyed, slow-speaking, utterly relaxed, even lazy-looking, you'd think he didn't have a care in the world. Mass at rest. Two hundred pounds, six feet two, even when he stands stoop shouldered.

He takes secret pride, though, in being known as the Mississippi fox. And in his early years in the Senate, he liked to be called the Mississippi gadfly, buzzy 'round, worryin' people, fixin' things, schemin' and playin' politics.

He has had so many fights he can't remember them all. The battle over the Hull reciprocal trade agreements was the most bitter. His battle against Barkley for S-nate leadership, the most intense. His feud with his fellow Mississippian, Senator Bilbo, the longest.

That began when Harrison supported for federal appointment, a state judge who had once put Bilbo in jail for 10 days for contempt of court. The fight lasted six years. It cost Harrison the leadership, for Bilbo threw his vote to Barkley, who won, 38 to 37. The breach was healed only a year ago when the two men met by accident in an elevator, and shook hands. This year, Bilbo seconded the nomination of Harrison for presidency of the Senate, and the ax was buried.

RUMANIA AND BULGARIA

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 6.—There must be many a bored business man who harbors a notion that he really should have been an actor.

Maybe he even sharpens these pangs of frustration by playing roles with some amateur group. It doesn't occur to him that this may be the best time of his life for crashing Hollywood.

For one thing, the movies need character actors of all ages—as you'll agree if you recall how frequently you see the same supporting players. The movies also are hunting rather desperately for leading men of obvious maturity to appear with some of the toponotch feminine stars who are well into their 30's.

There are several examples—though not anywhere near enough to please casting directors—of business men who made their brave and are building distinguished careers in pictures.

FROM COTTON TO CELLULOID
Nine years ago Stephenson, at 32, was a prospering partner in the cotton exporting firm of Stephenson & Collier of Manchester, England, and Shanghai, China. Came a day when he suddenly decided that the cotton business "wasn't interesting." He dissolved the partnership then and there, and walked out.

"I didn't know much about acting," he says, "but I'd done with acting, amateur musicals, and a local talent presentation of 'Aida,' he said. 'But I had an idea that acting would be a pleasant profession.'"

He must have what it takes to impress stage managers, because the first one he approached was given a chance at the Liverpool Repertory Theater. From then on, through a few plays, several foreign films, and his Hollywood contract in 1938, Stephenson never has been off an acting payee you've heard that Samuel Hinds, who has played lots of lawyers among more than 100 excellent screen parts in the past decade, used to be an attorney himself. He had hoped to be an actor back in his Harvard years, but his father was a prominent New York lawyer who wanted him in the firm. So Hinds practiced 31 years, made a lot of money, lost it in the market crash, and wound up disgusted with business.

He was living in Pasadena, and for quite awhile had been amusing himself with roles at the famed Community Playhouse. So he took down his shingle and began angling for movie jobs. It was an easy transition, and Sam Hinds is a very happy gent these days.

"RETIRE" INTO MOVIE WORK
Jonathan Hale was a retired businessman from San Francisco, clipping coupons and monkeying with a couple of banking and corporation directors from his seaside home at Carmel, when his attention strayed to the little theater in that colony.

Now he's in Hollywood a good deal of the time. He recently played the district attorney in "Slight From Destiny." Stephenson was a physician in the same picture.

Paul Cavanaugh was a successful attorney in England and Canada before he became a leading man on the stage and then entered pictures. He made a movie, "Britisher," doing well in Hollywood, was a pioneer in the English aviation industry, built up a fortune with sheep ranches in New Zealand, and was barely defeated when he stood for Parliament from a London district. Then he turned to the stage, emigrated to Movietown, and now does a weekly world-news analysis on the radio, in addition to his acting jobs.

The Virginia rail is a march bird, very secretive in its habits, and belonging to the same family as the coots and gallinules.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

In the absence of the writer who is attending the state basketball tournament at Austin this space today is devoted to the story of A MAN OF HIS COUNTRY.

By Madame Stella
In that great exodus from Paris came Russians, Poles, Finns, Jews, Czechs, men and women of a hundred nations and the Turk. Only one Turk mind you, and as we were later to find, the only single, solitary, miserable homesick Turk in America.

He landed in the art department of our office. He knew his art and he worked well. His English was thin, hesitant, and it hurt you to hear him struggle. "In Paris, I have my friend, my countryman, comprenez. Here is too great loneliness. I must speak sometimes my language."

As the Turk grew gloomier we tried to find a countryman for him. Surely, a man must speak his own tongue once in a while. Someone introduced a young fellow from Turkey, a really charming and intelligent Mr. Papazian. The two of them jabbered away at a great rate but when Mr. Papazian had gone, the Turk sank back into his gloom.

"He is of my country but you see he is Armenian, the accent she is not the same thing. I would like speak with my countryman." Mr. Paskalides talked Turkish for an hour. He certainly was a Turk for I saw his passport but the blood is Greek. He knows for Turkey everything. He is nice fellow but the accent is not the same. I must speak sometimes Turkish.

Someone even looked like he came from the Near East we introduced him to our Turk Mr. Moise enchanted us all. But it was the same story again. "The accent she is not the same. Mr. Moise is a Jew. That makes difference in the accent." It is astonishing what a lot of people speak Turkish. Bulgarians, Persians, Russians, Greeks, Albanians. . . . They all came from Turkey. They all ate pilaf and black olives and they were all homesick for the Sweet Waters of Asia and yet they did not solace our artist who appeared to be the only Turk in America.

"Then one day we came in from lunch to see that our Turk had found another compatriot. "Here is Handy he is from my country," said our Turk proudly, and then added with ill-concealed joy. "He speaks my language. The two Turks smoked quietly, now and then looked at each other affectionately and said not a word in a whole hour. Our Turk is now very happy. He said 'the life, she is now a little bit same like in Paris.'"

Now he has his friend. They go to each other in doorways and street cars. They speak the same language, or it would be more correct to say they know the same language as they never speak about anything.

And underneath all this is a terrific tangle of desires and impulses, duly explored by Mr. Marquand. The great virtue of the book is Mr. Marquand himself. His prose is marvelously rhythmic. Its chief defect is that H. M. Pulham, Esq., is not consistently dumb; he selects too shrewdly from his own experience to be a real stuffed shirt.

This is the March Book of the Month.

So They Say

I thank God and America for the right to live and raise my family under the flag of tolerance, democracy and freedom.

—Walt Disney, animated cartoon producer.

The split between rights and duties is democracy's greatest weakness; if you please, its worst enemy.

—Dr. Kimball Young, Queens College.

The Federal government has an obligation to provide school facilities for children of personnel connected with the defense program.

—U. S. Office of Education memorandum.

One of the greatest elements of strength in our national life is the fact that no one can buy an American newspaperman.

—William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France.

America's youth today is more fit to serve the country than in any other previous generation.

—Dr. Delbert Oberbeuerer, Ohio State physical education department.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM LATEST BOOKS

By JOHN SELBY

"H. M. PULHAM, ESQ." by John P. Marquand; (Little, Brown; $2.50). John P. Marquand's "H. M. Pulham, Esq." is as good entertainment as the month will produce, and it was not designed to be much more. Mr. Marquand has arrived now at his second formula, and he is sticking by it.

First Mr. Marquand made a great deal of money writing short pieces for the magazines. Then he started himself and his friends by producing "The Late George Apley." Then he did a somewhat brighter book called "Wickford Point," and now he produces Harry Pulham, who is supposed to be the apotheosis of the stuffed shirt.

"These last three books are enough alike to be triplets; there is even great similarity in the subject matter. For me they rate in interest in this order: 'Apley'; 'Pulham'; 'Wickford Point.'

Harry Pulham is a Boston boy who went to the right prep school after being given lessons in all the right accomplishments. The Skipper "made" a man of him at St. Swintha's, and then Harvard congealed the Skipper's work. The first World War made a different man of Harry almost. After it was done he broke away from Boston and worked in a peculiarly insular advertising office in New York for a while. He met and loved a girl at the same time.

But alas—Harry's father died and he had to go home and take over the family interests. He knew all the right people, and went to all the right places. He was a partner in the right private bank until it blew up, and then formed his own very right investment service in the hope that Roosevelt would be got out of the White House and everything would some day be right again. He played squash and was runner-up in the bumpy tournament three times. He married, without quite understanding how or why, and had two children. This was the right number to have, and his wife was the right wife. They spent their summers at the proper Maine beach, and were bored; they were also bored in their winter home in the right section of Boston.

And underneath all this is a terrific tangle of desires and impulses, duly explored by Mr. Marquand. The great virtue of the book is Mr. Marquand himself. His prose is marvelously rhythmic. Its chief defect is that H. M. Pulham, Esq., is not consistently dumb; he selects too shrewdly from his own experience to be a real stuffed shirt.

PAMPA Lions, who work it in conjunction with The Pampa News, are getting ready to bust out with some announcements on the third annual Soap Box Derby to be held here this summer. . . . The boy winner, you know, gets an all-expense trip to Akron, Ohio, to compete in the All-American finals in mid-August. . . . President Joe Burrows of the Lions is lining up committees to handle all the details. . . . First Pampa derby champ was Hugh Blevins in 1939. . . . The 1940 winner was Mark Bratton. . . . From what we can learn hundreds of boys already are planning to enter this year's event. . . . Rule books and entry blanks have arrived, and announcements will follow as to when they can be obtained by the contestants. . . . Several important changes have been made in the rules for 1941.

Some people we know say that a visit to a beauty shop is better than reading a dozen gossip columns. . . . How about it, ladies, do you get all the lowdown at your beauty shop? . . . About all you hear in a barbershop is a bunch of us male dopes asking each other what we think about the situation in Europe or the chances of the United States getting into the war. . . . For some reason or other, we have a personal yen to be a mouse in a beauty shop. . . . Which reminds us of the lady who went into the beauty shop and asked to have her hair laundered.

SPEAKING of barbershops, C. D. the man who polishes our shoes, is quite a philosopher himself. . . . He speaks his mind on many controversial subjects that come up during the course of barbershop small-talk. . . . And, he is somewhat of an humorist, too. . . . We must plenty of them, but it got us down the other night when listening to a fellow, who should know better, go through a travelogue news reel calling the Navajo Indians with a Boston "a" pronunciation instead of the "a" sound as in the word "have." . . . Likewise he burned up a native Texan sitting next to us pronouncing "rodeo" a la Bostonese "ro-DAY-o" instead of the Texas way—"RO-de-o."

Hear yourself as others hear you, is the motto of Shell's production superintendent, R. T. McNally. . . . Hearing your own voice coming back at you is most discouraging, instead of the "a" sound as in the word "have."

City Editor Archer Fullingim is in Austin following the Pampa Harvesters through the state basketball tourney, he hopes.

MAYBE you already have heard the story of the business man who engaged a very beautiful girl for a secretary. . . . She was so pretty, the man was unable to restrain himself, so while giving dictation one day he slipped his arm around the waist of the very beautiful and very highly-educated young lady. . . . She drew away and let him have this: "Sir, do you know that Solomon, the wisest of men, once observed, There is a season and a time for every purpose under heaven, a time to weep, a time to laugh, a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing. . . . Come to think of it, that might not be a bad quotation for office wives to memorize."

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The British House of Commons made a useful sounding-board to reach American ears with the declaration by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, that the country needs "many more ships and great numbers of men" to fight "the battle of the Atlantic now opening."

The first lord's statement was made in connection with his request that the house vote appropriations for a huge fleet and men with which to fight the Nazi submarine require or demand of those fifty destroyers we traded to Britain.

Naturally speculation has been aroused as to whether this presages a more direct appeal to Uncle Sam for further warships. London's octopus that is preying on Britain's shipping. Still there were special touches for the U. S. A.

There was, for instance, the member's question whether London had "told America that what we require even more urgently than airplanes and money is ships and still more ships." Mr. Alexander didn't answer that, and wasn't expected to. He did, however, require or demand of those fifty destroyers we traded to Britain.

Now the threat of a vastly increased U-boat offensive has put Britain in the spot. Had there is anything that will make John Bull call for help it will be the grave dangers of this new spring offensive, which may be the prelude to an attempt at invasion of the British Isles.

That all America that what we require even more urgently than airplanes and money is ships and still more ships." Mr. Alexander didn't answer that, and wasn't expected to. He did, however, require or demand of those fifty destroyers we traded to Britain.

PAMPA SCHOOL BOXERS TO MEET BORGER HERE TONIGHT

Fights To Be Held In High School Gym

Second home battle for the Harvesters boxing team will be tonight at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium with the Borger Bulldogs providing the opposition. Eleven, and maybe 15, bouts will be on the card.

Pampa and Wellington boxers staged some of the best fights seen here in recent years last week and on Tuesday night the Pampa and LeFors boxers slugged it out in LeFors. Pampa tied Wellington but dropped to LeFors.

Borger has a strong team led by Percy, 145-pounder who will fight Richard Stephens, Pampa's little chunk of dynamite. Several other lettermen will be on the Borger team.

Coach Oscar Hinger of the Harvesters will start two or three new boys for fans to look over.

Third main event will be Andy Anderson, judge will be Dan McGrew, Paul Hill and Jim Edwards.

Pairings made so far are: (Borger boys named first)

75 pounds—Lewis vs. Billy Campbell.

86 pounds—Mays vs. Johnny Campbell.

96 pounds—Mays vs. Billy Gise.

105 pounds—Brown vs. Everett Sparks.

120 pounds—Pryor vs. Clyde Small.

125 pounds—Pryor vs. Bern Tabell.

135 pounds—Stewart vs. Gene Winget.

145 pounds—Newberry vs. Roy Ray.

155 pounds—Fisher vs. Lefty Bendickson.

165 pounds—Carlen vs. John Corbett.

Uncle Sam, Athlete, Buys Equipment Valued At $64,753,813 In Single Year

By DON SANDERS
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

If the people who supply the U. S. with baseballs should decide some year to pool their resources and make just one big baseball instead of the 6 1/2 million they turn out annually, their product would be more than 46 feet in diameter.

Baseball manufacturers could turn out a 45-foot horsehide if they pooled their materials and facilities for a year. Here's how sphere would compare with an average player.

And it would take Paul Bunyan, swinging a bat the size of the Washington monument, to knock this stupendous sphere over some mythical monster fence.

We buy and use a lot of footballs, too. You could divide up the whole population of the U. S. into squads of 50 persons, and there'd be a football for every squad each year.

Or you could take all the pigskins manufactured in the U. S. in a year, rip out the stitching, and cover more than 126 gridirons with the leather.

Or take golf balls. You might guess there'd be more golf balls than any other kind manufactured, and you're right. During 1939 there were 2,881,667 dozen turned out. That's a total of 34,580,004—or just about one golf ball for every four persons in the country.

1939 OUTPUT TOPS 64 MILLION DOLLARS

Look at it another way. Suppose John Q. Duffer, standing at the first tee, keeps hitting his ball out of bounds. Every 10 seconds he tees up another and hits it—but it goes out of bounds, too.

Well, hitting them at the rate of six a minute 24 hours a day, he would keep swinging for 11 years before he had hit every ball produced in the U. S. in a year. In that time, even the worst duffer ought to get one in.

Your Uncle Sam goes around asking all kinds of questions, and among the people he calls on are the manufacturers of sporting and athletic goods. The census is taken every two years, and the report for 1939 has just been issued.

The report of Director William Leuchtenberg shows the value of goods produced in 1939 as $64,753,813. That was an increase of 24.3 per cent over the $52,074,270 valuation in 1937.

Number of plants increased 41.7 per cent, from 247 to 356, and that doesn't include plants which have an annual output worth less than $5,000.

Wage earners numbered 13,816, an increase of 13.5 per cent in two years.

Billiard and pool tables and accessories are valued at $2,957,342. Roller and ice skates have a combined total value of $4,411,479.

Valuations of equipment for other major sports are $1,272,170 for hunting and shooting, not including firearms or ammunition; $1,078,685 for skis and snowshoes; $1,753,813 for playground equipment, and $10,224,479 for miscellaneous sports, including bowling.

Carlisle Given Kilgore College Grid Sweater

KILGORE, Tex., March 7.—Twenty-five men of the 34 carried on the Kilgore College Ranger squad during the 1940 season have been awarded letters, Coach Clyde V. Le announced this week.

Tom Ed Cooper of Alto, Texas, an outstanding back, and John Green of Arp, Texas, end, have been elected captains of the Rangers for the 1941 season.

Coach Lee lettered William Ellis, manager, and the following players: Captain Gean Hale of Crockett, R. W. Thompson of Alvin, Tom Ed Cooper of Alto, Bob Hendricks of DeQueen, Ark., James Carlisle of Pampa, Hershall Curtis of McKinney, Marion Taylor of Midland, John Green of Arp, R. A. Boyer of Amarillo, Victor Jordan of Willis Point, W. M. Mumford of Tyler, Finan Dickey of Alto, Ed Ferguson of Conroe, Guy Nunnally of Port Arthur, Bill Trager of San Antonio, Francis Pulatite of Waco, Homer Hall of Overton, James Bulls of Port Arthur, Nolen Luhn of Bellville, Charlie Flowers of Marshall, Derwood Mumford of Tyler, Leo Van Haverbeke of New London, Gerald Wickman of Kilgore, Buster Bowling of Vernon, Stokes Brooks of White Oak.

Squad members were presented Leonard Handy of Overton, Harden Cooper of Mineola, Jerry D'Arcy of Denison, Clinton Crisp of Nacogoches, Bob Locker of Albany, S. E. Holloway of Lake Providence, Rolie Phillips of Kilgore, Robert Davis of San Benito, Caver Johnson of Atlanta.

Sixteen of the lettermen and squadmen and the manager will not return to the squad next season.

Those returning are: Cooper, Curtis, Green, Jordan, Ferguson, Hall, Luhn, Flowers, Mumford, Van Haverbeke, Bowling, Cooper, D'Arcy, Crisp, Locker, Holloway, Phillips and Davis.

The Rangers begin spring training March 3 and close down March 28 with the Lon Morris Bearcats.

Porkers Basketball Champs Of Southwest

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP)—The Southwest conference basketball race was at an end today with the championship in possession of Arkansas and with Rice and Texas finishing in second and third places respectively.

The final game was played here last night when Texas defeated Texas A. and M. 53-36 to clinch the third spot.

The final standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Arkansas	12	0	1.000
Rice	8	4	.668
Texas	7	5	.583
Baylor	6	6	.500
S. M. U.	6	6	.500
A. C. U.	3	9	.333
T. C. U.	0	12	.000

Friends, which drew a bye in the opening round, clashed with Anton, 27-19 victor over Rusk, and Trent, which downed Blanco 36-11 meets Ennis, which advanced by a forfeit over Van Horn.

Pampa Junior High Ping Pong Chamus Crowned

The intramural ping pong tournament ended Thursday with six new players being crowned champions of Junior High. In the 8th-9th grade division Bill Pinkbner won the championship by defeating Randy Nunneley in a close game that saw the lead change hands eight times before the final winning point was made by Bill White took third place honors by defeating George Neef.

Gene Robbins and Bobby Curtis, representing Room 70, won the doubles title when they beat James Hart and William Houston from Room 79. F. H. Meskimen and J. D. Williams, Room 74, won third place by out "pinging" Daris James and Ernest Hoyer from Room 63.

The 7th grade single championship was won by Donald Jo Humphreys who won over Carroll Chisum in the final. Royce Ayers defeated Derrell Robbins for third place. Dick McCunn and Ivan Martin playing for Red Brick home-room won the doubles championship. Room 64, represented by Gerald Beedenbender and Gene Balm, took second place honors. Elynn Kelly and Pat King won third place over Tracy Carey and Virgil Fish.

The ping pong tournament was conducted by the Coaches club, an organization composed of one student coach from each of the 20 home-rooms. The student coaches drew up the schedule, decided on the rules and regulations, conducted a home-room tournament to determine home-room champions, refereed all tournament games, and kept all necessary records.

Sixty boys played in the tournament and, as the boys had to first win the home-room tournament, over 300 actually participated in the entire tournament. The games were played at noon and watched by several hundred students. The members of the Coaches club not only believe in democracy, but believe in practicing it in their intramural sports.

Plan To Save Doves Being Worked Out

AUSTIN, Texas, March 7.—Texas probably will fare far better than the southeastern states when the 1941 regulations on doves are announced by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service, Texas indicated recently to the executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster commission by Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, chief of the federal service which regulates the federal seasons and bag limits on doves.

The southeastern states suffered a heavy and prolonged freeze and ice storm during the winter of 1938-39. It killed far more doves than was suspected. The limit was out by federal regulations from fifteen to twelve last year. The limit probably will be the same this year in Texas, but the majority of the southeastern states will feel the result of the heavy freeze via smaller bag limits.

The Texas Game department is work on projects, which if they can be brought about, will do much to save the whitewing doves of South Texas. This state has the heaviest concentration of the sporty whitewings and the federal government has become interested in assisting the Game department in saving the birds, which are apparently becoming more scarce each year.

These Are 2 Lucky Quail

A pair of quail probably are alive today and on an area upon which they will get a good measure of protection thanks to unusual occurrences during a hunt taken by Fort Worth at the close of the recent quail season, according to word received by the Game department.

O. L. Snider and Ed Maddox were working down a fence row on land near Stephenville, Texas, when one of their dogs pointed a bird which was two feet off the ground. It had been caught in hog wire mesh fencing. The bird was unharmed and Maddox put it into his hunting coat.

Upon returning to Fort Worth, Snider found he was a bird short, but thought he had miscounted. However, that mystery was cleared up the next day. The bird was found alive in Snider's car with only a slight flesh wound in the head. Oddly enough, the car had been entered several times and had been cleaned out by filling station attendants. The bird, after reviving in the car, had hid under the back seat.

Both birds were released on a farm near Fort Worth owned by Maddox.

Cars Take Less Toll

Possibly the campaign of the State Game department to get motorists to be more careful when driving in game country is having some effect. At any rate, the warden for Gillespie county reports that the known kill by cars in his county during 1940 was 37 deer and 4 wild turkeys. In 1939 the same warden reported 76 deer slain by automobiles and 9 wild turkeys.

2 More Porcupines Killed

Two more porcupines were killed recently in Gillespie county. They were the first reported to the State game warden in that area. Recently the Game department received word of one being killed in southwest Texas.

White Deer On Refuge

Employees of the Game department trapping deer on the Arkansas Refuge in south Texas report seeing a white deer. It was not captured. Whether it was a true albino was not determined. True albinos have pink eyes. The Game department trapped and transported to areas which have a thin population of deer a total of 511 bucks and does.

Southern Methodist And East Texas Meet

DALLAS, March 7 (AP)—Southern Methodist university and East Texas State college clash tonight in the finals of the Southwestern A-U basketball tournament.

S. M. U. playing under the colors of James E. Wilson, and East Texas, playing as E. M. Kahn. Clodiers, defeated Majors and Majors (North Texas State Teachers) and Denison Frozen Foods (Sam Houston State), by 53-43 and 56-47 scores respectively in last night's semi-finals.

Sam Houston's loss was something of an upset. The Bearcats had eliminated Texas Wesleyan college of Fort Worth in the quarter-finals. Wesleyan was undefeated for the season until meeting Sam Houston here.

Landis To Tighten Laws On Relations Of Majors-Minors

CHICAGO, March 7 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, in a letter to all major league clubs, indicated today another step will be taken to tighten baseball law governing major-minor league relationships when the organizations hold their annual meetings next fall.

"It should not be possible for a player, major or minor, to be demoted to lower classification service without waivers," Landis said, in reference to a rule which allows certain players to be transferred optionally without waivers being asked on them.

A joint committee now is working on the general subject of a revision of the game's rules.

East Texas League Will Be Disbanded

DALLAS, March 7 (AP)—There will be no East Texas league race this year.

J. Walter Morris, president of the league, said last night the circuit would disband officially at a meeting in Longview Sunday.

Failure of Palestine to obtain a working agreement with a club of higher classification caused collapse of the loop. That left only five teams.

Texasarkana will enter the Cotton States league.

Conn Keyoes Hassett

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Billy Conn, the Pittsburgh adonis, toyed with Danny Hassett for four rounds last night, then knocked out his heavier opponent with a left to the jaw 35 seconds after the start of the fifth.

Conn, pointing for a whirl at Joe Louis in June, weighed 181, while the overstuffed Philadelphian displaced 204 1/2.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Hughes-Potter won three straight games from E & M Cafe and Dr. Pepper won two out of three from Tex Evans Buick last in the women's bowling league at Berry alleys.

High game of 209 pins was rolled by Mrs. Floyd Voss while high series of 505 pins went to Mrs. M. Murphy.

In a postponed game in the Oil Belt league, Phillips 66 won three straight from Berry Alleys.

SERIAL STORY
DRAFTED FOR LOVE
BY RUTH AYERS

COPYRIGHT, 1941,
NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Kent confessed that the girl he fell in love with was April, not Ann. But April cannot betray her sister. She tells Kent that she felt sorry for him, that the whole affair was a lark. He takes her home, leaving her.

HAL GETS HIS ANSWER
CHAPTER XXIII

ANN was alone in the downstairs hall at the telephone when April returned.

"Oh, thank you very much," Ann was saying. "Your congratulations mean a great deal. Yes, I have the message. I'll promise to let you know."

April went on upstairs. Congratulations to the bride! Ann sounded thrilled, elated.

And suddenly April realized that she was more at peace with herself than she had been since the first night she had seen the blinded Kent.

Even when Kent had been ready to jeopardize Ann's future, she had been the one who had saved it. All that was important now was that no one should ever guess the secret, guess the sacrifice she had made.

THE Burnetts had planned a small dance that night for Ann's friends in honor of the coming marriage. Dad, looking handsome in tuxedo, had a few minutes to talk with April before going downstairs to receive the guests.

"You made a fine witness today, Daddy girl," he said.

"And you're the best lawyer I ever had," she tossed back.

"It was Kent and that rook who brought the hearing to a quick end. Winkie Appleman is a trouble-maker and trouble-makers can be pretty dangerous."

"You don't think he'd dare do any scandal-mongering around town?"

Dad thought not. "At any rate, not for awhile. He's being held for vagrancy and will probably end up spending a few weeks on the county farm."

April was before the mirror, smoothing in flame lipstick, spraying a mist of spicy perfume into her hair. She'd chosen her most dashing dress for tonight, coral colored velvet with a neck that came high against her throat in front to leave her back a gleaming expanse of opal skin.

"You look mighty sweet," Dad said.

But she knew she didn't. The dress belonged to another part of her life; it set oddly with her white face and frightened eyes.

"I'm celebrating my escape from jail," she said.

"All set for tomorrow?" Dad seemed to be worried about something, anxious to talk to his oldest girl.

"All set?" April answered. "I'm glad Ann dismissed the idea of having a bridesmaid. It would have struck me as funny to have been standing beside the bridegroom in court one day and beside the bride, the next."

Dad looked at her, a question way back in his eyes. But he walked out without saying anything.

DOWNSTAIRS, a white-coated cousin of Octavia's was preparing the punch; clearing the floors; arranging the seats for guests. Three of the boys from the band at Casa Blanca were coming over to furnish the music.

The first person April saw when she went downstairs was Ann.

Ann was the beauty tonight, the shining one of the two sisters. Her dress was of creamy lace, so designed that the neck and shoulders gave a heart-shaped effect. Out of this she emerged ethereal, radiant.

"Ann, our first bride," Mother murmured and it was as if those words expressed Ann's triumph at last from the role of the "plain sister" to that of the glamorous one.

The pianist ran experimental fingers over the keyboard and the accordion player grinned and saluted with the wedding march.

April avoided Kent, danced with young friends and old ones of the family and then, at last, with Hal Parks who hadn't taken his eyes from her all evening.

It was Hal who managed to dance her away to a corner in the hallway. Here, an excellent idea of the florist's had resulted in a small corner, blocked with a fern screen which shut out sight of the guests dancing in the living room and sunporch.

"I think maybe you've danced long enough for your first night out," Hal said.

"Yes, I'm not up to my usual form."

"It was in court today. You came through with what they call flying colors."

"Well, the army saved the day."

"Yes," Hal said with a quick glance, "the army did."

April leaned back against Hal's arm. After awhile, he looked down at her. "Remember what I said about waiting for you?"

"Yes, Hal."

"Well, I'm still around."

APRIL learned right then that just as two wrongs didn't make a right, nor could a second love take the place of a first.

She had told Kent she was going to marry Hal Parks some day. But she knew now she could never marry him. An empty heart wasn't enough for a person like Hal.

She faced him. "Hal, I never liked any person as sincerely as I do you. I've tried to learn to care for you but that's not love. I wish it were."

Words choked her. She couldn't say anything else. Hal pulled her shoulder. He understood as he always did. "If it will make it any easier for you, I've guessed it all along," he said. "I stopped hoping—oh, a long time ago. I think it was the last time we danced together at Casa Blanca."

He tilted her face, brushed his lips lightly across her cheek. Then he stood up. "April, honey, love is slow blooming with some people, but not with you. Love with you is like lightning. It strikes once and fast."

WHEN he'd gone, April still sat in the fern-shielded corner. Nip, bewildered and not a little unhappy at the whole uprooting of the house, roused her out.

April leaned to pat him. "Ever hear those words—'bury the dead'?" Her head began to slump. "Well, that's me, Nip. I've buried it all today."

Kent had said, "You don't know what tears are."

"Maybe I don't," she thought, and felt her hand wet with them.

Suddenly, she was on the floor beside Nip, the coral gown as incongruous as a clown's paint, swirled around her. In her sobs, she didn't hear footsteps approaching. When she looked up, tears streaking her face, she saw that Ann and Kent were staring at her.

Alive and Talkative

By FRED HARMAN

THE Burnetts had planned a small dance that night for Ann's friends in honor of the coming marriage. Dad, looking handsome in tuxedo, had a few minutes to talk with April before going downstairs to receive the guests.

"You made a fine witness today, Daddy girl," he said.

"And you're the best lawyer I ever had," she tossed back.

"It was Kent and that rook who brought the hearing to a quick end. Winkie Appleman is a trouble-maker and trouble-makers can be pretty dangerous."

"You don't think he'd dare do any scandal-mongering around town?"

Dad thought not. "At any rate, not for awhile. He's being held for vagrancy and will probably end up spending a few weeks on the county farm."

April was before the mirror, smoothing in flame lipstick, spraying a mist of spicy perfume into her hair. She'd chosen her most dashing dress for tonight, coral colored velvet with a neck that came high against her throat in front to leave her back a gleaming expanse of opal skin.

"You look mighty sweet," Dad said.

But she knew she didn't. The dress belonged to another part of her life; it set oddly with her white face and frightened eyes.

"I'm celebrating my escape from jail," she said.

"All set for tomorrow?" Dad seemed to be worried about something, anxious to talk to his oldest girl.

"All set?" April answered. "I'm glad Ann dismissed the idea of having a bridesmaid. It would have struck me as funny to have been standing beside the bridegroom in court one day and beside the bride, the next."

Dad looked at her, a question way back in his eyes. But he walked out without saying anything.

DOWNSTAIRS, a white-coated cousin of Octavia's was preparing the punch; clearing the floors; arranging the seats for guests. Three of the boys from the band at Casa Blanca were coming over to furnish the music.

Kansan Present At Versailles Negotiations

Special To The NEWS
SHAMROCK, March 7—William L. White, noted journalist, who will speak in Shamrock on Tuesday night, March 11, had a unique initiation into his chosen profession.

While William was a student in the University of Kansas during the last phases of the World War I, his father, the famous Emporia editor, William Allen White, traveled to Europe to be present at the peace negotiations at Versailles. Realizing that this would be a splendid opportunity for his son, Mr. White took William along with him.

Upon his return home, young White entered Harvard and then spent the year after graduation at the University of Kansas. From then on White has had a varied career including work on the Emporia Gazette, one term in the Kansas legislature, worked on the Washington Post and a staff position on Fortune magazine.

When White first went to Europe to cover the war he acted as correspondent to 40 newspapers and announcer for the Columbia Broadcasting system. He covered the war front on the German, Mannerheim, and in French fronts. His most recent trip to England was made on a destroyer sold to Britain by the United States. His report of European conditions will be authentic, up to date and interesting.

Los Angeles Business Men Charged With Not Registering Company

LOS ANGELES, March 7 (AP)—Suit to recover a $54,500 investment in an Oklahoma oil syndicate that allegedly did not have a California permit to sell "undivided interests" to the public, was filed today by an investment company headed by James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany.

Plaintiff was the Cinco Mines company, described as a corporation formed to handle certain assets of Gerard's family.

Named defendants were six prominent Los Angeles business men. They are W. M. Ramsey, oil operator, and the Ramsey Petroleum Corp.; R. I. Rogers, banker; Phillip Wiseman, mining man; Gurney E. Newlin, former president of the American Bar association; A. W. Ashburn, former president of the Los Angeles Bar association, and F. W. Flint, Jr., capitalist. Numerous "Does" also were named.

The complaint contended that on May 4, 1927, Ramsey, Rogers, Flint, Newlin, Ashburn and the late James A. Tolbot, former president of the Richfield Oil company, formed an Oklahoma oil syndicate to develop certain leases.

"Man" To Be Topic Of Lesson-Sermon

"Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 9.

The Golden Text is: "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it does not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is" (1 John 3:2).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him" (James 1:5).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit imparts the understanding, which uplifts consciousness and leads into all truth. . . This understanding is not intellectual, is not the result of scholarly attainments; it is the reality of all things brought to light. God's ideas reflect the immortal, unerring, and infinite" (page 508).

Schenck Charged With Tax Evasion

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—The federal government, in trying Joseph M. Schenck on charges of income tax evasion, plans to air in court the motion picture executive's "private and most personal affairs."

As the trial began yesterday, U. S. Attorney Matthias F. Corcoran questioned several of Schenck's "business expense" deductions and said the defendant had defrauded the government of $412,045.

During the years 1935, 1936 and 1937, the prosecutor charged, Schenck received $2,016,907 instead of the $1,601,832 he reported, besides illegally deducting such items as:

- Fifty-three dollars for a mattress bought for his sister-in-law, $536 for a personal barber, $63 for a kitchen cupboard for his home, $209 for automobile insurance for a woman friend, $139 for transportation of a masseuse from Hollywood and $2,092 for a week-end party.

In court today Schenck heard his lawyer, Harold Corbin, describe him as "a man who was born a gambler and always will be one."

Corbin described a transaction in which Schenck sold 67,707 shares of stock—for which he paid $403,000—to Roland West, Hollywood, Calif., restaurateur, for $50,000 as a "friendly act," adding that no money changed hands and that Schenck "merely wished to dissociate himself from the Casino because of his prestige."

"That sale did not mean that Schenck had reformed. He was a man who was born a gambler and always will be one."

It's Egg Festival Week Now In Texas

Special to The NEWS
COLLEGE STATION, March 7—Because A. and M. College Extension service is interested in any movement which focuses the attention of the consumer public on any good food, its field and headquarters forces are cooperating in Egg Festival week, March 6-13.

The national egg festival, as it is called, is sponsored by the International Baby Chick association, and in Texas extension workers are cooperating in promotional work with the Texas Baby Chick association.

George P. McCarthy, extension poultry husbandman, explains that the current movement will not only help to bring more eggs to the tables of Texas families but will also help to increase the cash income on Texas farms and ranches.

Marketing and education committees in the county home demonstration councils are cooperating with local merchants and produce men in encouraging the public to buy and eat more eggs.

A second egg festival week has been set for May 1 to 8.

Dusters On Plains? Unusual, Child Says

Special to The NEWS
CANADIAN, March 7—There's no mistaking the spirit of the plains—even the six-year-olds are alive with it.

For example, take Frances Lee Kihvelin, grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker D. Hanna. She's spent two of her six years at College Station but has lived in Amarillo since last summer.

The child was at the recent stock show in Amarillo. Several Texas A. & M. men were there and one inquired about the dust storm he had been told occurred in this section the preceding day.

Frances Lee replied, "Oh, no, that wasn't a bad dust storm. We had a real dust storm about two weeks ago, but Sunday wasn't bad at all."

Gainesville Community Circus To Be Bigger And Better This Year

By A. MORTON SMITH
Written for the Associated Press.
One would naturally think that after having a three-ring circus in their back yard for a dozen years, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Gainesville would be impervious to big top thrills.

They wouldn't be expected to even so much as turn their heads when a noisy calliope goes by, or raise an eyebrow when bridge table "grapevine" reveals that Mrs. H. H. Terry, wife of the county health director has taken up the flying trapeze, or James Smith, manager of the Retail Merchants association, is going to do a tight-wire act.

But don't fool yourself. Every Sunday afternoon, when the equestrians of the Gainesville Community Circus set up their ring curbs and horse pedestals on the Cooke County Fair grounds for rehearsal in preparation for the opening of another season, Mr. and Mrs. Gainesville and all their tribe are on hand to watch.

If Mrs. Geraldine Murrell, department store lady, clears a five-foot barrier on her high-jumping horse, Sun D, there is a chorus of blasts from a myriad of automobile horns, and if a rider takes a tumble, there are "ahs" and "ohs" in profusion.

Likewise in Fair Park auditorium, where two dozen performers work that every night, on the tumbling mats, trapeze bars, trick bicycles, and other rigging, there are usually a score or more of spectators on the sidelines. Some are tourists who've heard about the circus, others are professional circus folk passing through town, but most of them are homefolks who have seen dozens of performances of the show, but can't resist the urge to look in on the acrobats and aerialists during the practice season.

Perhaps the champion circus fan is Robert Cearnal, veteran saddle-maker, always one of the first at the ticket wagon when seats go on sale, and who estimates he has not missed more than five or six of the 60 performances the circus has given in its home town since 1930.

Last year, the community circus had its most auspicious season, breaking several records. Its total attendance of 110,000 was the largest in its history. Likewise, it played more performances than in any previous year, 30; and it traveled the greatest distance to exhibit, playing a week's engagement in Houston, 325 miles from this city.

But this year, it has an even more ambitious schedule, according to Joe M. Leonard, newspaper publisher, who is general agent and books the dates. Among the towns likely to be played in a single week; Austin, Lubbock, Pampa, Fort Worth, Dallas, Abilene, and Brownwood.

Rules Adopted For 1942 Livestock Show

To eliminate last-minute disputes, plans for the fourth annual Gray County Junior Livestock show were outlined in advance here, following the conclusion of the 1941 exhibition, held at Recreation park here.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee, of which Tom Cox is chairman, held Thursday morning, these rules were adopted:

Hereafter, there will be two classes for calves, one called the senior animals 800 pounds or more, the other, junior, less than 800 pounds. Exhibitors will be limited to two calves each.

A grand champion calf cannot be exhibited again, after having once had this award.

Entries will be by F. F. A. and 4-H club members.

The committee purchased for $110.07 of calf belonging to Bob Sherrod of McLean. The animal will be butchered and the meat served at a luncheon or banquet to constitute a regular monthly meeting of the two Pampa chambers of commerce.

Despite its vast expansion, the circus has never veered from its earliest policy. All its members are amateurs who risk their lives in daring feats for the love of the art, and all proceeds from the show are reinvested in equipment, now $15,000 in value.

This year, as in the past, an outstanding Texan will serve as honorary ringmaster and blow a gold whistle to inaugurate the season. Last year's ringmaster was Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio. Elliott Roosevelt, the president's son, served in 1939, and Senator Tom Connally, the year before.
