Hughes Loses Shirt In Boy Scout Drive

When it comes to removing a shirt with a large pair of scissors, Frank Monroe is an artist. The operation was performed yesterday afternoon at the close of a one-day Adolphe Walks Council Boy Scout financial drive and wearer of the shirt was Glen Morfy. He, however, didn't mind because he swiped a shirt belonging to President Dick Hughes, so it was Hughes who lost his shirt tail.

Congressional Experts Would Tax Paychecks

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Congressional fiscal experts, casting about for new revenue sources to help pay for the $7,000,000,000 British aid program, were reported considering today the possibility of imposing a 5 per cent tax on the weekly pay of most of the nation's workers.

If such a 5 per cent "earned income" tax should be levied, that amount would be deducted for the government each week from the pay envelopes of a large proportion of jobholders. Thus a worker now receiving $40 weekly would get, instead, $38 and a tax receipt for $2. Small wage earners—possibly those receiving $25 weekly or less—would be exempted.

Although it was emphasized that this proposal was merely in the discussion stage and might never mature, responsible individuals who have been studying the plan said they had received estimates that a 5 per cent levy of this nature would raise $3,500,000,000 yearly.

Acknowledging that the proposal might arouse a storm of protest from wage earners, advocates said it would have to be accompanied by commensurate increases in taxes upon incomes from investments, rentals and other sources so that there could be no discrimination.

It would entail, they pointed out also, a reversal of previous administration policy of easing taxes on wage earners as much as possible and for that reason was expected to elicit little support at the treasury or White House.

Against this suggestion for an invasion of a new field of revenue, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the senate finance committee told reporters that he personally felt that present taxes should be braved up without attempting to bring in untaxed levies.

Estimating that congress might be asked to provide an additional $1,500,000,000 in new revenue this session, Harrison said he felt there might be some justifiable increases in excess profits levies and normal corporation tax, as long as rates were not boosted so high that they would hurt business and result in reduced, rather than boosted, revenues.

Mid-Continent Refinery Market Reported Strong

By EDWARD CURTIS

TULSA, March 13 (AP)—The mid-continent refinery market showed continued signs of strength during the week with some companies reporting sales as much as 15 per cent over a year ago.

Increased activity because of the defense program was given as the major reason for the better demand. Some market sources were predicting higher prices might not be far away.

Prices for natural gasoline have stiffened a quarter to a half cent in Oklahoma and Texas in the past month, the reports from the Texas Gulf area told of a better movement of gasoline coastwise.

The crude oil market was strong with a somewhat better demand being felt in Kansas and Oklahoma.

In the field, The Oil and Gas Journal reported 470 completions for the week, compared with 456 the previous week, and 521 a year ago.

A new pool opened near Guthrie, Logan county, Oklahoma, made 2,160 barrels of 47 gravity oil on test after completion. Northern Archer county, Texas, got a new pool, and California's Inglewood field appeared due for more development following completion of a good well in the northeastern end of the field outside of present production.

Extension of fields along the central Kansas uplift continued by new wells at Kraft, Neidenthal and Silca.

Illinois operators began developing some of the newly discovered small pools, such as Mount Carmel.

Former Magnolia Superintendent Killed In Crash

SHREVEPORT, March 13 (AP)—Charles R. Swank, 60, former superintendent of the Magnolia Petroleum Pipe Line company, was fatally injured early this morning when, a police report said, he drove his automobile into a moving Kansas City Southern freight train at a crossing.

He suffered a fracture of the skull, internal injuries and body bruises.

Dr. Charles S. Boone, deputy Caddo parish coroner, said Swank's death was accidental.

Swank's car was dragged about two car lengths along the track before it tore loose from the engine and was tossed aside.

Police and members of the train crew exhumed Swank from his wrecked automobile and sent him to the hospital, where he died soon afterward.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Nazism, speaking through the medium of the government-controlled radio, charges that Uncle Sam is a double-dealer in the matter of aid for Britain and "intent only upon the speediest acquisition of a maximum number of British possessions."

Still, the allegation is a reminder that self-analysis is always good. Just what is our feeling as we start to pour our resources out for the Anglo-Allies?

considerable indeed. It isn't so great that we need despair of staying out, but the threat is serious enough so that we should school our minds for the possibility, and thereby avoid a nasty shock if war should break suddenly. My sole purpose in mentioning this disagreeable subject is to try to be helpful in averting such a shock.

The triple alliance has kept warning us of the wrath to come. The time might arrive when it would suit their purpose if our resources were split up by our involvement in war. You will recall that President Roosevelt on January 6 said: "When the dictators are ready to make war upon us, they will not wait for an act of war on our part."

A New And Different Kind Of Car

Alone In Its Class With V-8 Performance!

- MORE POWER PER POUND—Mercury is built to aircraft principles with more power per pound than most other cars—for unusual big-car performance at low cost.
- MORE ROOM—There's space aplenty in Mercury's roomy interior! Seats are extra-wide so big lads in comfort—without crowding.
- MORE RUBBER ON THE ROAD—Mercury's new, larger tires with wider tread give added grip in starting and stopping—greater stability around sharp curves.

MERCURY is the only car in its price class that gives you the fleetness and power of a rugged V-8 engine. That's one reason this big, nimble car gets away faster—and stays out in front! Mercury is built to aircraft principles, with more power per pound than most other cars. Because it has no superfluous weight, Mercury combines brilliant performance with unusual stamina and economy. Grand Jury Files Report

Winding up its work for the term, the 31st district court grand jury turned in seven indictments, submitted its report, and was discharged yesterday.

The report, signed by V. L. Boyles, foreman, reads:

"To the honorable 31st judicial district court: we, the grand jury, duly empaneled for the January term, 1941, of this honorable court, respectfully report that we have been in session six days and have returned 17 indictments.

"We have made a full investigation of violations in the criminal law that have occurred in Gray county and find that there is very little lawlessness here compared to that of the usual oil field country, and hereby request that we be discharged.

A return has been made on only one of the indictments. Held in jail here on a charge of forgery is a man who is listed on the indictment as E. M. Lane, who allegedly passed a spurious check for $2 on October 5 last year purporting to be signed 'A. E. Lane.'

There were two indictments against one man charging unlawful practice of medicine.

Forgery was charged against another person in one of the complaints, and arson was alleged against two others. Two men were indicted for burglary.

Record Ship Building

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Congress learned today that by summer the navy will have the largest combat ship-building program in the nation's history.

This statement came from Rear Admiral S. M. Robinson, chief of the navy department's bureau of ships during testimony made public by the House Appropriations committee on next year's naval supply.

"Modernized Selling," "Personal Development," and "Customer Analysis" are subjects of Mr. Lopp's courses.

Press accounts of Mr. Lopp's successes in other cities show that his classes grow from night to night.

He is described by the press as a "master of psychology and a genius in his ability to impart to his students the vast knowledge he possesses." Lopp has declared that individual businesses into which his sales approach methods have been put into effect have shown increases in trade amounting to sometimes over 10 per cent.

Lopp says he does not teach "high pressure" selling.

"My course," he says, "is to make the salesman or saleswoman understand the customer. Customers are as distinctly typed as merchandise, and each type has his or her exclusive likes and dislikes.

"It is the purpose of my training to teach the clerk and the salesman to recognize these types and to give them what they want; not only in merchandise, but in human contact."

The result, he said, is satisfied customers, greater buying from home businesses, and hence a more prosperous community, he said.

Stresses Observation

"We should take time every day," says Mr. Lopp, "to check up on ourselves and find out if we are getting everything out of life that we should. Do we enjoy our work, or do we dread the next day because of the duties before us?"

"Like your customer and he will like you. Find out his needs and desires and tune yourself to his way of thinking. Think and talk positively, not negatively. Watch for a chance to close the sale."

Mr. Lopp has given his courses in New Mexico, Colorado, and various parts of Texas. He first came to Amarillo's attention more than a year ago when he addressed the Panhandle Hardware & Implement association.

His classification of the human race so intrigued his listeners they asked for his return this year, and for more than two hours at the 1941 convention he held his audience's attention.

Letter Praises Speaker

C. L. Thompson, secretary-treasurer of the Thompson Hardware company, Canyon, writes:

"The Panhandle Hardware & Implement association has been fortunate in having Mr. Byron E. Lopp appear on two consecutive annual programs in 1940 and 1941.

"Mr. Lopp received a most enthusiastic reception on his first appearance and was greeted on his second appearance with more enthusiasm than in his first appearance. He held his audience attentively for at least two hours.

"He was highly complimented by those who heard him for his dynamic and straight-forward way of handling his subject.

"Following the convention he held a salesmanship class in Canyon, which has been most successful and appreciated by everyone who took the course."

Regulation Of Chiropractics In Texas Asked

AUSTIN, March 13—A house subcommittee today studied merits of a bill proposing regulation of chiropractics in Texas.

Referred to the sub-group after a public hearing last night, the measure provided for creation of a board of examiners to license chiropractors.

F. L. Charlton, Austin chiropractor, said similar regulations have been adopted by 42 states, and that set standards were needed in Texas to eliminate unqualified practitioners.

Charlton declared chiropractics was a distinct method of treating human ailments, adding it dealt entirely with the nervous system and should not be considered a medical practice. He contended chiropractors should not be required to take examinations given by state board of medical examiners, but should be regulated by a separate and non-medical board.

Opposing the bill, Dr. Holman Taylor of Fort Worth, secretary of the state medical association, said it would "authorize a group of people to practice medicine who have not been educated to do so."

A chiropractor, he asserted, should have the same training required of physicians and osteopaths before being permitted to practice.

Joe Keith of Sherman, attorney for the state medical association, read a constitutional provision stating: "No preference shall ever be given by law to any schools of medicine." He said chiropractors have the privilege of taking examinations given by the state board of medical examiners, created by the legislature, and creation of another board would be in conflict with the constitutional provisions.

Modern Youth To Benefit From Federal Insurance System Plan

Youth gets a break. Young people have one more advantage over the youth of past generations. Specifically, they have advantages under the federal old-age and survivors insurance system established by the social security act. Young persons just entering covered employment are included in the system during their entire working life.

From the beginning, they build toward future income through the crediting of such wages to their old-age and survivors insurance accounts, to Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security board.

"Many a parent who buys insurance for his child and who carefully preserves the premium receipts does not realize there is financial value in the child's social security account number," Reed continued. Parents whose children were employed for the first time during the recent holiday season should see that their children keep their account numbers. Many of these same children will be employed again during the summer vacation and will need that same number.

All wages in employment covered by the law are reported by the employer who is required to indicate the account number. However, in computing benefit payments in old age, only the time from age 22 is counted. "That is how youth gets a break," Reed explained.

For illustration, a 14-year-old boy works extra as a delivery boy while attending high school and college. At $15 per month, upon graduation from college just as he reaches age 22, he will have received $1,440. Should he die a year and a half later, leaving dependents, their benefits would be calculated on the

Education Courses To Be Taught Here

Distributive education is vocational education for workers in the distributive occupations. Distributive occupations are those followed directly engaged in merchandising activities, or in contact with buyers and sellers when distributing to consumers retailers, jobbers, wholesalers, and others the products of farm and industry.

Store employees and employees in all types of distributive businesses in cities like Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, and Corsicana, take such distributive courses as store math and English because they realize that these two subjects are used in their daily work as much as any subject. By having a practical knowledge of math and English a person can calculate results of a purchase much faster than before taking the course, and can express oneself in a more pleasing manner as a result of taking the English course.

The value of taking distributive courses are: 1. More than a 50-50 chance to receive a reward for time spent in classes in the form of increased earnings. 2. Job security because of increased skill and knowledge. 3. Increased prestige in the organization in which one works both in the eyes of management and in the eyes of fellow workers. 4. Satisfaction that comes from personal development on a job rather than through a change of jobs. 5. Better understanding of customers which will permit greater service to be rendered them. 6. Increased self-confidence in meeting the varying demands of the times. 7. Pleasure through acquaintance of their fellow-retail workers.

Certificates are given for the satisfactory completion of the course which one takes, stating that a person has finished a particular subject. Although these certificates might not help one secure another job if that became necessary, the chances are that it will aid a person in getting a job.

If a sufficient number of people indicate their interest in distributive education courses Pampa will have a permanent program set up and all types of subjects which come in the category of distributive vocational will be made available.

Starting date for these courses both in Pampa and Borger will be about April 1. You may enroll for either store math or store English by mailing a penny post card to Box 955, Pampa, indicating that fact.

Choice Whiskey And Foodstuffs Burned In Warehouse Fire

NEW ORLEANS, March 13 (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of foodstuffs and choice whiskey burned in the biggest fire in recent years here which today left a block-long section of the Bienville Warehouse Corporation, Inc., a mass of charred debris and fallen brick walls.

Although no official estimate of the damage had been announced, Assistant Fire Chief Frank Rivard roughly estimated the loss at between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000.

It required intensive effort of 350 firemen and 35 fire companies three hours to bring the spectacular blaze under control and save buildings on surrounding blocks from destruction. Many of them were damaged by heat of the flames which at times leaped wide streets of the dense warehouse section of the old French quarter.

The fire burned all night and was still smoldering at mid-morning, while firemen roped off the section and continued to play streams upon burning sacks of sugar and fallen debris.

Among foodstuffs destroyed were a revised estimated 200,000 sacks of sugar of 100 pounds each valued at about $4.75 per sack, together with a half million dollars worth of whiskey and large stores of coffee, rice, canned goods and cylinders of gas used in air conditioning.

Education Courses To Be Taught Here

Distributive education is vocational education for workers in the distributive occupations. Distributive occupations are those followed directly engaged in merchandising activities, or in contact with buyers and sellers when distributing to consumers retailers, jobbers, wholesalers, and others the products of farm and industry.

Store employees and employees in all types of distributive businesses in cities like Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, and Corsicana, take such distributive courses as store math and English because they realize that these two subjects are used in their daily work as much as any subject. By having a practical knowledge of math and English a person can calculate results of a purchase much faster than before taking the course, and can express oneself in a more pleasing manner as a result of taking the English course.

The value of taking distributive courses are: 1. More than a 50-50 chance to receive a reward for time spent in classes in the form of increased earnings. 2. Groom Boy Holds Valued Post In British Council

Special To The NEWS
GROOM, March 13—James Helm, son of J. J. Helm of this community, occupies a post with the British Supply Council of North America. This council is a part of the bureau of war mission of London, which is similar to the American department. Purposes of this council, with offices in Washington, are to secure American aid to Britain and bring together supplies for the British government.

Lord Edward W. M. Newton-Lawyer of the council has the following to say regarding James and his work: "After having been with the council for a period of only two weeks, Mr. Helm was reclassified and placed in a very responsible post. His work is all secret and confidential, his having been reclassified as secretary-chief-statistician of the drawings and specifications office, which office handles the actual exchange of technical and other information of great value to both the British and colonial governments and the United States government."

"Members of our diplomatic corps and various other of our British officers who work side-by-side with Mr. Helm think very highly of him, because of his keen sense of humor, unusually fine personality and appearance, and further, we admire and respect a 'boy' just turned 20 years of age who is as intelligent, trustworthy and capable of accepting and handling responsibility as Mr. Helm has proved himself to be. With the realization that the British empire's existence depends just as much on his efforts as it does on those efforts of the higher officials of the council, Mr. Helm has worked for twelve and fifteen

Many Writers Seek Poet Laureate Post

AUSTIN, March 13 (AP)—Verse from the pen of Lexie Dean Robertson of Rising Star may continue to express the official poetic thoughts of Texas for another two years. So Rep. W. R. Chambers of May, house chairman of the joint house and senate committee named to select a new poet laureate, said today.

Rep. Chambers explained the committee had been besieged with requests for reappointment of Mrs. Robertson, although other applicants were being considered. But, whether the committee would take any action was indefinite, according to Chambers, who said senate members failed to respond to a called meeting last week. Now, he said, it will be up to the senators to make the next move.

If no appointment is made this session, Mrs. Robertson would automatically continue in the honorary post two more years.

Chambers said applicants being considered, besides Mrs. Robertson, are Mrs. Rose Davidson Speer of Brady, Mrs. Una V. Doose of Ballinger, Walter R. Adams of Treland, Nancy Ransom of Dallas, Charles Day, Jr., of Plainview, Mrs. Glen Truax of Perryton, Mrs. Pearl Moore Stevens of Eastland, and Mrs. Nettie Collins Ming of Breckenridge.

Wife Wants Back $3,000 She Invested In Doctor-Husband

CHICAGO, March 13 (AP)—Mrs. Geneva Stokes, 25, a hospital anesthetist, wants to get back the $3,000 she says she invested in her husband.

She has a divorce suit charging cruelty pending against her husband, Dr. Robert Stokes, 28. At a hearing before Judge Rudolph De-soert yesterday her attorneys said she wasn't interested in alimony, but seeks the return of $3,000 spent on her husband's entertainment and medical education.

Among the items on Mrs. Stokes' expense list were: Food for 5 1/2 years—$1,140. Weekly movie admissions for 285 weeks—$225. Night clubs, visited once a month for 66 months—$660. Trip to Kentucky—$100. Fraternity keys and fraternity expenses—$25. Bachelor of Science Diploma—$10. Medical books and supplies—$245.

LOS ANGELES, March 13 (AP)—Robert Emerson Gates, 21, walked into the police station early today. Det.-Lieuts. W. G. Baird and Mearns Bateman said he told them: "I'm hungry. I've got four cents. I'm a burglar—a good one—but I can't get rid of anything. If you'll feed me, I'll talk."

The detectives took him at his word. In a restaurant, they reported, he admitted 50 burglaries in Los Angeles and 12 in San Diego. At his rooming house, they found a suitcase full of costume jewelry. Gates was booked on suspicion of burglary.

His statement, the officers said, cost them 25 cents—for two hamburgers and a cup of coffee.

Smoldering Fires

Europe is beginning to smolder. Very little information seeps out of the tight blanket thrown over a continent by the censorship of the conqueror. But here and there a little wisp of smoke appears, suggesting that beneath the blanket of oppression there are fires smoldering.

It is true that not all news from occupied territories can be trusted. Some of it comes from sources which would naturally want to exaggerate the discontent, making it appear that rebellion is about to break out. But taking only the news permitted to be known by the Nazis themselves, there is evidence of widespread discontent as the grip of the conqueror tightens.

Newspapers in occupied Paris, in which nothing appears without the Nazi imprimatur, now threaten death for young Frenchmen who try to leave occupied France. Apparently numbers of them have been escaping across the English Channel from lonely French coastal points to take up arms against their conquerors.

At the same time, heavier penalties are being invoked against the Dutch, as official German news reports tell of sabotage, secret organizations, and occasional actual attacks against German soldiers.

Norway, too, is feeling a heavier hand. The Nazi commissioner has decreed that the property of families of all Norwegians who aided the British in their spectacular raid on the Lofoten Islands shall be burned.

That is repression precisely like that practiced during the Thirty Years War of 300 years ago, and suggests that the situation has become serious.

With all this there is a mounting passive resistance; non-violent refusal to co-operate with the conquerors. This, too, seems to be spreading and developing new techniques. These tactics, difficult to cope with, can't be helping the morale of idle troops of occupation.

All this is not to suggest that military revolt is brewing in conquered Europe. With the machine guns, the tanks, and the airplanes all on one side, that is impossible. But enough has escaped from German sources to indicate that the task of conqueror is not, always a happy one, and that instead of being "organized" into the Nazi way, much of Europe is sullenly resentful, beginning to smolder.

The boon of "liberation" by the Nazi invaders seems less appreciated, not more, as the months pass. Millions, unversed in ideology, remember only that before the Germans came they had food, and work, and freedom.

Behind The News

By PETER EDSON The Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 13—Is a new congressman a congressman?

Luther Patrick, 47, congressman from Birmingham, Ala., since 1936 and in his own words a "World War veteran, teacher, writer, lawyer and radio commentator," took time out on the floor of the House of Representatives the other day for a 30-minute oration on that question. As a piece of oratory, it may never grace the fifth readers or the copy books, but as a piece of exposition on the kind of backing a new congressman goes through, it is illuminating material for the folks back home who vote to send these people to Washington.

Congressman Patrick was very fair about the whole thing. Ten days before he delivered his speech, he warned the House he was going to make it and what the subject would be.

"I do not particularly encourage attendance of anybody who has been here over two years," he said. "There is no way to force the new congressmen to attend. They may or may not come. But they are welcome."

Candor like this is unusual, and the gentleman from Alabama should go far. And he wasn't giving relief or advice, he said—just comfort and company, for the problems that beset the new congressman are the same ones that beset the old.

DON'T FEND COMBS TO RAYBURN Congress man Patrick was frank enough to admit that everything he had to say was based on his own mistakes. The first thing he learned was that no member of the lower House gets into an elevator ahead of a senator. Mastering that, he went on to bigger and better things and by swallowing the bitter pills of sad experience he absorbed enough vitamin D to compile his list of Do's and Don'ts.

Rule 1 is to avoid being original. No matter what a congressman has to say, it's safer to attribute it to someone else. "Quote, blickey, blickey blick. Unquote."

There is no congressional rule prohibiting a new congressman from speaking if he has something to say, but Patrick's Rule 2 for new congressmen is to be sure they're mistaken about having something to say. A congressman is usually beaten on something he has said.

Rule 3 is to avoid making promises back home. Tell young ladies at home you'll introduce them to Mrs. Roosevelt, and she's sure to be out of town when the home folks arrive and ask you to make good.

If there is personal experience behind Patrick's Rule 4, he won't admit it, but the rule is: Don't send Speaker Rayburn a comb for Christmas. (P. S.—He's bald.)

And for Rule 5—Don't try to beat the senator with a telegram relaying news about the letting of a government contract in the home district. That's the senator's privilege, and furthermore, the best way for a new congressman to communicate with a government department is by telephone—through the senator's office.

A good many congressmen go through their terms without seeing the inside of the Congressional Library, but Patrick's next point is to keep up on general reading.

Rule 7—Family ties are just as important in Wash-

Common Ground

By R. G. HOULES

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

WHAT IS SYMPATHETIC SENSITIVENESS TO HUMAN SUFFERING?

Winfred E. Garrison, of the University of Chicago, still persists that "Grapes of Wrath" is a religious, profane book. I had attempted to show it was not.

He seems to think, judging from his communication published in this paper, that religion consists of "sympathetic sensitiveness to human suffering," whether or not it is reduced to effective assistance or not. Religion, to him, seems to be a sort of a day-dream that one can consider himself religious if he experiences sympathy for poverty and blames someone else for it and need not do any practical thing to relieve it.

He cites Matthew 25 as evidence that those who sympathize with the unfortunate would "inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

But these people referred to by Jesus actually did help the poor. The ones who really inherited the kingdom were the people who did something about it, not just proclaim their sympathy or simply point out the poverty and the misery of the poor.

Simply pointing out poverty and misery can hardly be regarded as much of a service, since Jesus has already told us an eternal truth—the poor we will always have with us.

Religion and Crazy Economics Mr. Garrison contends that one may be perfectly sound in religion of Matthew 25, and yet have the craziest kind of ideas as to the causes of the suffering with which he sympathizes and which he tries to alleviate.

If Mr. Garrison's theory of religion is sound, a man who believes all there is to do to relieve poverty is to vote to take from the rich and give to the poor and he so votes, then this man by so doing has sound religion.

Mr. Garrison also says, "Genuine religion is not the monopoly of those who have correct ideas about economics."

According to Jesus' standard of religion, it consisted in helping give meat to those who were hungry, and a drink to those who were thirsty and taking a man in who was a stranger.

That is a practical religion and has nothing whatever to do with talking about it or telling somebody else to do it, as the Author of the Grapes of Wrath so cleverly did, in order to sell his wares.

Mr. Garrison also insinuates that I would make the Republican party the sole custodian and beneficiary of religion. No truly intelligent, religious man could endorse the principles advocated by the Republican party. He might be compelled to vote for them as a lesser of two evils. In my former communication, I neglected to mention tariffs as one of the causes of the plight of the agricultural migrants and this is one of the platforms of the Republican party.

Mr. Garrison says that no one can write an impersonal, immutable, mathematical definition of religion.

The impersonal part of religion is that all people have equal rights; that no person has more rights than another. This is what is meant by impersonal.

And Jesus certainly stressed the impersonal part of religion by using the word "as," as meaning equal; and equal is certainly impersonal, immutable and mathematical.

A religion that does not stress the equal rights of men but gives some individual or some self-appointed prophet or priest or preacher, the right to determine what each separate man's rights should be would be a personal religion.

It seems Mr. Garrison believes in a religion of superstition where certain men claimed they were appointed to be a divider over men.

And Jesus was impersonal enough to say that he was not a divider over men.

In the same chapter to which Mr. Garrison refers, Jesus advocated taking from those who had not and giving to those who had. This is the natural result of an impersonal religion.

If, as Mr. Garrison says, a man can be crazy in his social ideas or his political ideas and still have sound religion, then our idea of Christianity has degenerated into pure superstition and/or magic and there can be as many forms of religion as there are individuals in the world.

A religion must be known by the fruits and if the crazy ideas do not actually help the hungry, the thirsty and the stranger, then it cannot be regarded as true religion, even if Chicago Round Table preachers contend man can be crazy and still be religious.

The Nation's Press

A NATURAL SURMISE (Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City)

When seen displaying a roll of bills downtown a citizen of Texas was promptly arrested by the Oklahoma City police on the charge of impersonating a federal officer. Possession of currency nowdays seems to warrant the suspicion that the possessor is attached to some alphabetical adjunct of the federal government. Of course it is not convincing proof but it is abundant warrant for suspicion.

ington as elsewhere, and the homeliest girl often makes the best secretary. Enough said, but there's a corollary to that: No congressman is ever greater than his secretary.

A congressman has to watch his beauty, too, and Rule 8 is never to let the features relax or droop. Sure as he does, a photographer will pop up from a paw paw bush or a sofa and catch him at his worst.

Next is to avoid prophesying the outcome of the war. Rule 10—"Let not your heart be troubled when those who oppose you say, 'He's been in Congress x years, and what has he done?'"

Constituents who send telegrams are not as numerous as those who don't. Rule 12—Don't make any statements on the floor of the House as to how your district would vote on any given issue.

RESPECT YOUR ELDERS Another don't on speaking is to avoid cracking down on anyone in such fashion that it has to be expunged from the record. "Say things backward," advises Patrick.

There are three rules about senior congressmen. Listen to them when they're older. Be respectful when they've been here 10 years or more, as the chances are they're chairmen of committees. Never tell a constituent what you'll do with the senator, as the chances are the constituent has been to both senators, first.

Congressman Patrick's final rule is about the social life of Washington. He says it costs money.

THE MARCH HARE AND THE TORTOISE

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, March 13—Probably the most satisfied actor in all Hollywood at the moment is Robert Taylor, who finally has been allowed to stalk out of the drawing room and climb into a saddle.

As Billy the Kid, he's having so durned much fun he almost lates to take off to a preview the other night. He looks tough and mean and dirty, shoots a lot of guys, and dies with his boots on.

Ever since he has been at Metro, Taylor has been pestering his bosses to let him make a western. For the last two years, while he has had this script on his mind, he has given them no peace.

It's more than just a yen to get away from Romeo roles. He did that last year, with "Waterloo Bridge." Taylor isn't kidding when he says that ever since he can remember he has wanted to be a cowboy. Unlike most kids, though, he didn't outgrow the idea, but kept on collecting silver-mounted, hand-tooled foofaraws, bought a ranch, married Actress Barbara Stanwyck who's as horse-crazy as he is.

BOB'S A VETERAN IN THE SADDLE When the "Kid" company was on location at Tucson and Monument Valley, the natives were loud in their praise of an actor—especially a matinee idol—who could really ride. But Taylor figures if they were issuing riders' licenses, he'd be eligible for a badge of em, counting his hours on horseback.

He soloed, when he was seven, when he got his first horse. "She was a little black mare that I named Gypsy," Taylor recalled. "My dad brought her around to the door one morning and said, 'She's your horse, son . . . get on and ride her.' He showed me how to mount and get off, how to start and stop, and that was all.

"Nothing would do but I must ride out to see my grandmother—14 miles away! Took me most of the day to get there and boy, was I sore! Yeah, I ate my supper off the mantelpiece; she made me stay all night, too. But I never quit riding after that."

"And you know, when this 'Billy the Kid' thing came up, I suddenly got to thinking about Gypsy, wondering what had happened to her. We had finally sold her to a man who had a couple of kids, who lived just outside the little Nebraska town where I was born. Then, after his youngsters had grown out, he pensioned her and turned her out to pasture. That was the last I heard of her."

"One night when we were over at my mother's, I said, 'Do those folks who owned Gypsy have a telephone?' And mother said, 'Why, I suppose so, but it's midnight there now, and you know they go to bed with the chickens.' I couldn't wait, though—called 'em up and roosted 'em out of bed."

"And they said, sure, Gypsy was still alive, and fat as butter! The rascal must be nearly as old a I am, and I'm 30. But she's out in their pasture right now—probably like Ferdinand, just quietly smelling the flowers. Wish I could see her again."

RIDES OWN HORSE IN PICTURE Maybe it's coincidence, but Lady, the five-year-old horse Taylor has today, is a duplicate of Gypsy—a black mare with a white forehead blaze. He's riding her, and using most of his own tack, in the "Kid" role. Says she handles better than any of the movie-trained horses, too—says quiet when he wants her quiet and isn't afraid of studio noises or lights.

A number of stars ride their own mount or rent them out for pictures. Leo Carrillo's "Sui Sun" has collected $100 a week; "Big Boy" Williams rents polo ponies, and most of Basketball is now reaching its grand climax in the national tournaments, but before the season ends I want to get under the wire with a tribute and a salute to a long lanky boy who was the outstanding hero, everything considered, on the 1941 Harvester basketball team—at least he was so regarded by his admiring teammates, all of whom to a man, liked and admired Thomas Dewey. They've perpetually called him "Bag Ears," although his ears are handsome enough and certainly not as the nickname implies. Thomas made the first team the first time the Harvesters played Berger, and from then on he was the Harvester sparkplug and unpredictable generator of team spirit and morale. His confidence gave confidence to the other players; he had the kind of fight in him that J. P. Mathews had. . . . More than that he had a keen sense of humor and he himself laughed, and kept the boys laughing. He didn't care to be the star; he would laugh at you if you should intimate he was very good; he didn't care who made the points just so the team won. He joked with Coach Mitchell and wrote him notes in the bus, but he liked the coach much. It was Bag Ears' smile of victory that helped pull the team through at the regional.

He didn't get to play much in the state finals. He sprained his ankle before he really got warmed up, and the pain was so intense, he fainted under the showers.

Losing Thomas in that game was the worst luck the Harvesters had. . . . Bag Ears, the boy who was always for the underdog and the underprivileged and the one who is down, and the boy with a great sympathy that sticks out all over him—he will never be forgotten by the boys, nor by this one, either.

The horses in "Florian" belonged to its producer, Winfield Sheehan. George O'Brien has a couple of camera-wise steeds and Allen Jones "Smokey," which he rode in "The Firefly," proved such a good actor that he might have had a horse-actor career of his own. Shirley Temple's Shetland pony made its debut in "The Little Princess."

Canadian Band Will March In Shamrock Parade

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS CANADIAN, March 13—Earl O'Connell, band director in the Canadian high school, plans to take his senior band of 45 members to Shamrock for the March 17 celebration.

Stop Waiting For Tools, Owners Of Factories Told

CLEVELAND, March 13 (AP)—Defense manufacturers were advised today to rush their old machine tools into operation and "spend less time waiting for new machines which are much more needed by someone else."

"I know of some cases where the production of defense materials has been held up for weeks because the company was waiting for one or two machines," declared George T. Trundle, Jr., president of a Cleveland engineering company.

Trundle addressed an opening session of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers' army and navy meeting on national defense problems as how to expedite manufacturing problems as how to expedite manufacturing of tanks, airplanes and ammunition; recruiting of industrial personnel; subcontracting; and how to speed production of gauges. More than 500 midwestern industrialists and engineers are expected to attend.

News Clearing House

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to any other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 500 words.

Dear Editor "Common Ground": Thank you for sending me a copy of the interesting editorial under the heading, "Grapes of Wrath a Religious, Profane Book." It touches several points which I long to discuss with you if my time and your space permitted.

My remark on the University of Chicago Round Table broadcast, about GRAPES OF WRATH being a religious book was wholly unpremeditated comment. These programs are almost unbelievably impromptu, and I did not even know that one of my colleagues was going to mention the book. Nevertheless, what I said was the expression of a considered opinion.

In introducing your denial that the book is religious, you have yourself suggested the very quality that makes it so. You say that "the only part that could be construed as a religious book would be the part that set forth the misery, suffering and hard lot of migrants." That is nearly the whole book. But to this it should be added that there is not only a description of suffering but a deep sympathy with it. The book has helped a great many people to think of migrants workers as human beings. It throws little light on the basic causes, and less on the cure, of their troubles.

Sympathetic sensitiveness to human suffering is, I think, the "eternal, everlasting principle" upon which the book is based. Remember the latter half of the 25th chapter of Matthew. Jesus considered this principle so eternal and everlasting that he made it the criterion for the selection of those who were to "inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." He didn't ask where they thought the fault lay that some had been hungry, some naked, some in prison, and so on. I do not find in the book any of those implications which you find, putting all the blame for poverty upon private property and big business. If I did, I would object them as erroneous opinions hanging in any case, no bearing on its central thesis. One may be perfectly sound in the religion of Matthew 25 and yet have the craziest kind of ideas as to the causes of the suffering with which he sympathizes and which he tries to alleviate.

Genuine religion is not the monopoly of those who have correct ideas about economics. When I consider your listing of the causes of poverty, from the income tax through social security to the wages and hours law, and when I note your assertion that "anything that hides the truth or confuses the voters as to the causes of poverty is irreligious," I am forced to the conclusion that you would make the R. O. U. the party the sole custodian of beneficiary of religion. Since I have voted for every Republican presidential candidate from McKinley to Wilkie inclusive, this does not endanger me personally. But I think your criterion is wrong, even if it does let me into the fold.

As to your challenge to me "to write an impersonal, immutable, mathematical definition of religion," you win the round. I cannot do it. You might with equal safety challenge Luther, or Thomas Aquinas, or Saint Augustine, or Jesus Christ. None of them could do it either. Whether or not religion is immutable, it is certainly neither impersonal nor mathematical. In fact, all that I have been saying is that religion rests so largely upon giving a high value to persons and treating them accordingly that a book which throws its weight on this side may be religious, even though it is verbally profane and economically superficial.

Yours very truly, WINFRED E. GARRISON, University of Chicago.

GARDENING FOR HAPPINESS

Hotbeds, Cold Frames Help You Get Your Garden Started Early

BY HENRY FREE

The Pampa News Landscape Consultant

Second of a Series

If the thought of creating a garden as a peaceful refuge from work-day worries intrigues you, there's no need to wait for balmy weather. Seeds can be sown and plants hardened and protected against cold during the winter months in hotbeds, the amateur gardener's inexpensive substitute for a greenhouse. A southern exposure, out of the way of the wind, is the ideal location for the frame. Concrete walls are recommended, but heavy planking if well cross-tied is satisfactory. The frames should measure 16 inches above the ground in back and 8 inches in front, to permit the glass to slope for drainage and to expose the surface to the sun. Standard sash is 3 feet wide and 6 feet long, deep sash well painted. The walls should be 30 inches below the surface and the bottom of the well-ventilated. A wire netting laid under the bottom will keep out moles and their rodents.

Hotbeds differ from cold frames in that they are supplied with some form of artificial heat. Seed may be sown in the hotbed several weeks before it is advisable to use the cold frame, and the young seedlings will take much more rapid growth.

In manure-heated hotbeds, use fresh horse manure from stables where straw has been used for bedding. About four cubic yards of manure will be needed for a single sash bed. After the manure has been placed in the pit and evenly tamped to a depth of two feet, a thin layer of straw should be placed over it and four to six inches of soil should then be added. When the soil temperature has cooled down to 75 degrees, the bed is ready for use and seed may be sown.

Various types of efficient electric units have been designed especially for heating hotbeds. Operating cost usually averages one kilowatt hour per square yard of hotbed per day. The seeded soil may be placed over the flats to a depth of 3 inches, and the flats placed upon the sand, in extremely cold weather, cover the bed with a mat of some sort. Texture of the hotbed soil is of greater importance than fertility. It should be loose and mellow. One part good garden loam, one part coarse sand and one part manure or leaf mold makes a good mixture. To control fungi, seed and soil should be sterilized.

Level off the soil and firm it lightly with flat piece of wood. Sow the seed evenly, and not too heavy, and the seedlings will soon become overcrowded. After sowing, cover with finely sifted soil or sand. Fine seed requires only light sifting of soil while larger seeds may be covered to a depth of one-half inch or more. Firm the soil lightly again after the seeds have been sown and covered.

Next, water the seed with a very fine spray and do not allow the soil to ever dry out completely. Cover with burlap, cloth or paper to shut out the light as seeds germinate best in darkness. As soon as seeds

Factory Worker Found Relief In Hoyt's Compound

Acid Indigestion, Constipation, Gas and Bloating, Kidney Misery and Pain are Gone, Says Mr. F. Jones

Mr. Floyd Jones of Wichita Falls, Texas, states: "For six years I suffered with acid indigestion, constipation, kidney misery and muscular aches and pains. I heard about Hoyt's Compound, and since taking two bottles, I do not have those gas, bloating and aching attacks, my bowels are more regular, I do not have to get up at night, and the muscular aches and pains are gone. Hoyt's Compound is the only medicine I have found which has given me relief."

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Cretney Drug Store and by all leading druggists in this entire area.

have germinated, remove the covering and allow sunlight to enter. On warm sunny days in late winter and early spring the sash should be partially raised, but lower it again before temperature drops in the afternoon.

Plants grown under glass should be watered when the temperature is rising, so it is best to water hotbeds in the morning so the foliage will be dry by night. In cloudy weather, withhold as much water as possible in order to avoid trouble from various fungus diseases.

Before renewing soil in the bed, scrub the sides with a mixture of disinfectant and a strong soapy water.

To start vegetables in a hotbed, purchase seed from reputable seedmen. Healthy plants in hotbeds usually mean a disease-free crop in the garden. Dust or spray tomatoes and eggplants twice before setting out.

Vegetables best started in hotbeds are:

BROCCOLI—Any well prepared soil. Two to three dozen plants will do for a family. Seed germinates in a week. Start eight weeks before setting out. Shallow cultivation.

CABBAGE, CAULIFLOWER—Seed germinates in a week. Plants must be hardened off before transplanting. Set 18 inches apart in rows and two feet between rows. Set a little deeper than they were inside. Do not harvest until heads are solid. Two to four dozen plants per family.

LETTUCE—Grows best in cooler months. Start under glass, keeping temperature between 50 and 60 degrees. Apply nitrogen, one pound to 25 feet of rows, two weeks before harvesting. One packet of any variety of seed will do.

TOMATOES—Sow tomato seed in neutral and light soil. Best plants come from seeds which germinate first. When plants are a week old and with true leaves showing transplant to a flat of seed soil, two inches apart each way. Two weeks later transplant to four inches apart—same soil. Set out when six to 10 inches high, three to four inches apart, slightly deeper than when in flats. Staking is best method of insuring solid fruits, otherwise place straw on ground under plants. Remove all suckers, cultivate carefully so as not to disturb roots. Allow fruit to ripen on vine and do not pick when foliage is wet—three to four dozen plants per family.

Potato Bars Open In London

LONDON, March 13 (AP)—Food Minister Lord Woolton amazed Britain's war-time trencherman today by announcing the opening of potato bars—unusual convivial spots where you can get all the potatoes you can eat for 30 cents.

Eating of potatoes is officially encouraged because they are plentiful, while other foods generally, and sweets in particular, are scarce.

The ministry displayed a new bar, appointed with an eye to stimulation of the appetite and to handsome effects; glittering fixtures and pert girl attendants vie for attention.

The potato is served in many forms, from "springtime soup"—not bad, and "potato split"—not too bad, to potato waffle with honey, which is delicious.

"The test is this," Lord Woolton told the reporter, a large man. "You must eat everything and give an unbiased report."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or viruses are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

HARVESTERS AND WILDCATS EACH WIN SIX BOUTS IN MEET

Ray-Spurlin Fight Holds Top Interest

Pampa and Canadian high school boxers divided honors in a dual meet last night in Canadian, each team winning six fights. Only knockout of the night went to Richard Stephens of Pampa who knocked Winkle in 30 seconds of the second round.

Most of the fights were headaches to the judges who had a tough time selecting winners. The judges, however, came through with fair decisions.

Coch Oscar Hinger of the Pampa team presented three new boys in Cagle, Lane and Brooks. Cagle won his fight but the other boys lost close decisions.

Johnny Campbell, Everett Sparks and John Cornett kept up their winning streak with impressive victories over good boys.

Ray and Red Spurlin battled three rounds with Spurlin getting the final nod through defensive superiority as Ray led the fight most of the way.

White Deer Line Coach To Assist 'Windy' Nicklaus

Devere Walker, line coach of the White Deer Bucks last season, has been named assistant and line coach of the Borger Bulldogs. Walker is a graduate of North Texas State Teachers college, where he was a star tackle.

The new coach will assist "Windy" Nicklaus, selected head coach several weeks ago and now acting as principal of the high school. Nicklaus went to Borger from Oklahoma Baptist university at Shawnee.

Walker, a 215-pounder, started his grid career at Amarillo Junior college, where he played one year under Nicklaus, then head coach. Walker then went to North Texas State Teachers college where he was named an all-conference tackle.

Coch Gene McCollum of the Bucks has not named a successor to Walker.

Rams To Play San Diego State In National Meet

Reiser Key To Dodgers' Chances

Pete Reiser

Charley Gilbert

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
HAVANA, March 4—The Dodgers have the spirit of a college football team.

Luke Hamlin, who had ingrown toenails all last season, is the cheer leader.

Joe Medwick, one of the two $100,000 beauties, is laboring like a galley slave under the Cuban sun.

Kirby Higbe, the other, makes the hurling corps so strong that Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons, who led the Brooklynians in winning percentage last year with 16 victories and only 2 defeats, is rated no better than the sixth pitcher.

Mickey Owen will improve the catching by alternating with the 225-pound Babe Phelps.

CENTER FIELD KEY TO CLUB STRENGTH

Yet a 21-year-old outfielder, Harold Patrick Reiser, is regarded as the key man perspiring at Tropical Park, for—

Even Leland Stanford MacPhail admits the Dodgers must have a capable centerfielder to beat out the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals.

Dixie Walker was a pleasant surprise at the plate in 1940, leading the outfit in batting with .308 but he is a biker on a motorcycle and keeps some years back, makes it impossible for the Birmingham Blade to throw well enough to patrol the middle pasture.

The other candidate, 21-year-old Charley Gilbert, covers the garden like a biker on a motorcycle and propels the ball the required distance, but Leo Durocher is afraid he is not able to hit major league pitching.

A composite of Walker and Gilbert would be highly satisfactory, and Larry MacPhail and Lippy Durocher hope they have him in Pete Reiser, who is being started at the one job giving the management concern.

Reiser, freed from the Cardinal chain gang by Commissioner Landis two springs ago, has played shortstop, third base and right field. He was leading the Eastern league with 378 when recalled in August, and his 28 stolen bases in 67 engagements was good enough to top that circuit at the end of the run.

Reiser, who broke in with the Dodgers with eight straight hits in the Grapefruit league in the spring of '39, batted .293 in 58 games for the club last season.

INFELD ONE OF SLICKEST IN GAME

Brooklyn should get plenty of fine pitching from Higbe, Hamlin, Whitlow Wyatt, Hugh Casey, Curt Davis and Fitzsimmons. Tex Carleton may be of some help.

Kemp Wicker won 18 and had an earned run average of 2.91 in Montreal. Only three chucks bettered the 2.55 ERA compiled by Max Maccon, another jouthaw, with the same outfit. Ed Head and Steve Rachunok are on the upgrade. Long Lee Grissom may be of some account. Al Sherer batted 16 contests for New Orleans after a slow start. The veteran Bill Swift has been dragged back from St. Paul. And there is always Van Lingle Mungo.

Brooklyn has one of the slickest infelds in baseball—Dolph Camilli, Pete Coscarat, Pee Wee Reese and Cookie Lavagetto. It is backed up by guys that isn't half bad—Jimmy Waddell, Alex Kampouris, Manager

During the decade beginning with 1921 and ending with Jones' 1930 grand slam, these four monopolized golf titles in a manner that probably never will be equalled.

Over that 10-year period they collectively won 27 major championships out of a possible 50.

Eighteen holes are scheduled at Nassau Saturday, with the final 18 Sunday. The duke will referee.

Asbestos Napskins

By HAROLD CLASSEN

KANSAS CITY, March 13 (AP)—San Diego State, always leaving things to the last minute like an income tax payer, is at it again.

The team which won three games in the final seconds last year while fighting its way to the fifth round of the National Intercollegiate Basketball tournament needed five extra minutes last night to defeat Culver-Stockton, 46 to 41, to reach the quarter finals.

California's Antezes jerked approximately 6,000 dribble daffy spectators out of their seats by squandering a four-point halftime lead and allowing the Canton, Mo., Wildcats to pull into a 38-all deadlock on Dale Loy's basket, 30 seconds before the final gun.

In the extra session Andy Echols, an All America center in 1939 but a substitute in 1941, potted a goal, Harry Hodgetts added another and Ken Hite got two.

Tonight the Californians won't dare relax if they wish to continue their record of always reaching the finals. Their opponents are the whirlwind Rams of Texas Wesleyan who have outdist every collegiate foe they encountered all season.

The Fort Worth club downed Louisiana State Normal although the southern team's star forward, Charles (Red) Thomas was the crowd's approval by playing with his broken nose taped securely to his face.

Other quarter final games pit West Texas State, seeded No. 1, against Delta, Miss. State; Murray, Ky., Teachers against the Marville, Mo., Teachers; and Santa Clara, Calif., State as the opponent for Appalachian State of Boone, N. C.

Poffenberger Candidate For Big Leagues

BATON ROUGE, La., March 13 (AP)—Elwood Clute (Boots) Poffenberger, passed over in the draft because of his reputation although his 1940 record was exceptional, today joined Van Lingle Mungo as a reform candidate for the big leagues.

The former eccentric pitcher for Detroit and Brooklyn, now training here with the Nashville Volunteers of the Southern Association, drew up a simple one-plate platform.

"I'm through with that bad boy stuff," he said.

Like Mungo, the Brooklyn fireballer who was banished Sunday from the Dodgers' training camp at Havana for breaking training and ordered to join Montreal, Poffenberger declared he was pointing for the big time again.

But the baron has been away longer.

His troubles began with the Detroit Tigers in midseason of 1938, when he felt he wasn't being given the right sort of chances.

He had won six and lost seven before Detroit shipped him to Toledo, Ohio, in March, 1939, to Brooklyn, where he pitched only seven innings in two and a half months.

In the middle of the season the baron jumped the Dodgers in Cincinnati and went home with accumulated fines totaling $800, he was banished from baseball in June.

Larry Gilbert, a master at handling problem players, obtained Poffenberger's reinstatement at Nashville and went home with the Vols. Boats won 28, lost 9 and was rated the best fielding pitcher in the Southern Association.

"It's up to the majors now," declared Poffenberger.

Durocher and Lew Riggs, Clever Johnny Hudson is still another infielder

Director Durocher is positive that his pal, Muscles Medwick, has once more struck the stride that caused his contract trouble with the Cardinals.

GALLAGHER GETTING SLIGHT ATTENTION
One of the three competing in center field probably will play right field, which still leaves Joe Vosmik and Waddell, who is also a fynchaser of parts, and Paul Waner, the long-time Pittsburgher and old batting champion. Big Joe Gallagher is smacking the ball, but is being given scant attention. It appears as though Durocher has made up his mind that Gallagher simply hasn't got it when the chips are down.

The strangest angle to the Brooklyn story is that Larry MacPhail, who tossed all that money around, is now banking on young Pete Reiser, who cost the club exactly $100.

Famed Golfers To Play In Nassau Red Cross Benefit
MIAMI, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Golf's golden twenties will be resurrected Saturday when four old-timers, who have won every championship worth owning get together in Nassau for a Red Cross benefit match sponsored by the duke of Windsor.

Bobby Jones and Tommy Armour will team against Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen in a four-ball match sufficient to fire the imagination of every man who ever swung a golf club.

During the decade beginning with 1921 and ending with Jones' 1930 grand slam, these four monopolized golf titles in a manner that probably never will be equalled.

Over that 10-year period they collectively won 27 major championships out of a possible 50.

Eighteen holes are scheduled at Nassau Saturday, with the final 18 Sunday. The duke will referee.

Cards Admit Overflow Of Young Talent

By GAYLE TALBOT
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Manager Billy Southworth of the St. Louis Cardinals admits that he has more good-looking young players than he knows what to do with for the time being. "And it's a comfortable sort of problem to have, too," he adds.

The Cards, after a disastrous start, came like the wind in the second half of the 1940 major league campaign under Southworth's leadership. They are bound to be stronger this year, and if a couple of their rookie pitchers come through they should give the champion Cincinnati Reds a genuine battle.

"We might be better," Southworth hedged, "but I'm not going to do any talking about beating Cincinnati—not as long as they have that pitching staff. As I see it, we're going to be in a three-cornered race with Cincinnati and Brooklyn, and I have a feeling Jimmy Wilson will whip those Chicago Cubs into a contender.

"I had an infield problem when we started training, but it's all straightened out now—since that Steve Messer from San Diego took over third base. He's a little overweight, but he looks great. Martin Marion is set at short and Jimmie Brown will make us stronger at second. Johnny Mize, of course, will take over first when his holdout is settled, but in the meantime I'm using Don Padgett there.

"Eros Slaughter will continue in right field and Terry Moore in center with Ernie Koy and Harry Walker fighting it out in left. Walker (who hit .313 for Columbus last year) looks very good. Probably I'll use him and Koy to give Moore an occasional rest in center.

"We have the nucleus of a good pitching staff in Lonnie Warneke, Mort Cooper, Clyde Shoun and Max Lanier. And two of the youngsters look great—Spud Krist and Ernie White. But lots of the young pitchers have a change to stick and I am going to give them all a chance to make good."

Intramural Champion To Be Selected

When the final intramural contest has been held and the student coaches have tabulated all the results, some boy in junior high school is going to be crowned intramural champion. The individual winning the award for this high honor will have many reasons to be proud because he will be proving that in addition to being a good athlete, he is also a good student and a good citizen.

The offering of an individual championship award is one of the many changes made in the intramural program this year. The purpose of this change is to create more interest in intramural sports and encourage students to make better grades and better citizens. The runner-up and the high point man in each grade will also be awarded.

The winner will be determined by a point system. The points will be based on participation, scholarship, and citizenship. Points are given in the following manner: three points for each contest that the individual plays in and five extra points if he or his homeroom wins first place; in the track and field meet, four points will be given for a first place, three for a second, and one for third.

In scholarship a boy is given five points for making a straight A six weeks report card in all subjects, three points if no grade below a B is made, two points if no grade below a C is made, and two points taken off for each grade below a C.

In citizenship an individual is given points according to the co-operation grades he makes each six weeks. Five points are taken off for having to appear before the student traffic club for traffic violation and for not taking a shower in physical education classes.

Frank Friauf, with 54 points, is leading in the race for the intramural championship at present.

In winning the Jaycee league trophy for making a straight A six weeks room pals, who are tied with 52 points each. Other leaders are: Glen Dawkins, Melvin Spencer, Howard Bass, Keith Robinson, Wallace Cranes, Glen Coates, Charles Beard, John Lane, James Warner, Warren Fatheree, Norman Bartz, George Neff, and Brent Blonkist.

West Texas Frosh Win Jaycee Trophy

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
CANYON, March 13 — When speaking of athletic records, don't overlook the remarkable freshman cagers of West Texas State.

In winning the Jaycee league trophy in Amarillo last week the frosh won their 59th game in 60 contests. They were permanent possession of the big trophy. Their final conquest was a 52-41 defeat of the Canadian River Gasfers.

Clark and Charles Johnson of Tupper, brothers, have been major performers on the freshman team this year. Louis Conroy of Owensboro, Ky., Ledru Jacobs of Spearhead, and Harry Davidson of Childress were other starters. A fine reserve lineup included Paul House of Roswell, Leo Steinkoenig of Wichita Falls, Lou Doyle of Washington, D. C., Virgil Kelly of Lockney, and C. C. Miller of Pampa.

Football Coach Jack Curtise is coach of the freshmen cagers.

Smith Leads Off In Best Ball Tourney

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Horton Smith, who didn't have to qualify because he was invited, was the lead-off man today to defend the national pro-amateur best ball title he won last year with Marvin Ward of Spokane, Wash.

He teamed with Charles Shelton of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., up against Ed Brooks of Barton, Pa., and Tommy Aycock of Jacksonville who shot a 70-67-137 in the qualifying round yesterday.

The medal was taken with a smashing 64-66-129 by Leo Walper, Washington, D. C., pro, and Dick Chapman, amateur from Greenwich, Conn., over a windy course.

Koch To Be Line Coach At Baylor

WACO, March 13 (AP)—Bochey Koch returned today to the scene of his first football triumphs—as assistant coach of his alma mater, Baylor university.

Two Records Due To Fall In Track Meet Saturday

FORT WORTH, March 13 (AP)—At least two records are expected to fall and a flock of others will be in danger here Saturday in the Southwestern Exposition Track and Field meet.

Most prominent is the anticipated assault will be W. L. Clapham of Oklahoma A. and M., and Jack Hughes of Texas, broad jumper and discus thrower, respectively.

"The record in the broad jump is 24 feet, 5½ inches. Clapham has already leaped 24 feet 11½ inches this season.

Hughes holds the mark in the discus throw—153 feet—in 1939. The Texas star flipped the plate 158 feet at San Antonio last Saturday.

The 100-yard and 440-yard dash records also appear in much danger what with Fred Ramsdell of Texas making 9.7 seconds in the century last week, and Morris (Red) Barefield of Texas was a 49.6 quarter.

The present marks here are 9.6 in the 100 and 49.5 in the 440.

The individual entry list for the five divisions has gone above 1,100, with new names pouring in hourly.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 13 (AP)—Professional wrestlers, well trained in numerous feats of strength—pushed the entire national indoor tennis tournament right into the cold last night.

While some of the nation's brightest net stars quietly twiddled their thumbs, the grapplers took over the Coliseum for their weekly show.

It was all prearranged, the tournament site having been rented to the wrestling promoters for every Wednesday night, weeks before the United States Lawn Tennis association awarded the meet to Don McNeill's home town.

The lull not only provided a much needed rest for some of the worn-out athletes; it gave the townspeople a chance to find out what tennis players do when they aren't playing tennis.

"About all tennis players ever do is play cards and wave at girls," declared Jack Kramer, the Rollins college star from Los Angeles who teamed with Ted Schroeder of Stanford to win the national outdoor doubles crown last year. "But I'm not interested in girls."

Defending Champion Bobby Riggs of Chicago told newsmen he hated Kramer as the tournament's dark horse. Kramer, seeded No. 5, is paired with Riggs in the doubles.

"He's kidding," Kramer assured all those within hearing. "I chaffed Mr. and Mrs. Riggs from Pensacola, Fla., to Oklahoma City, non-stop, but I'm not fast enough to win this one."

"This is a tough field," admitted Riggs, who meets Tommy Higgins, former Oklahoma municipal champion, in a third-round singles match today, adding that "I'm playing better tennis than when Frank Kovacs beat me for the Oklahoma indoor cup" last December.

Some of the visiting net stars spent the evening "just looking around." Others were sought for radio interviews.

McNeill, the national outdoor champion, took advantage of the recess to spend the evening in his home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McNeill.

All eight seeded players were still in the running today, each scheduled to meet one of the other eight survivors in the third round of singles play.

A single round yesterday reduced the doubles field to quarter finals. The four matches in that division will be squeezed in tomorrow.

SERIAL STORY

DOLLARS TO DOUGHNUTS

BY EDITH ELLINGTON

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Beatrice is furious at the stranger who would chloroform her. But he has opened her eyes to the emptiness of her life. Her money, travel, parties bring her no real pleasure. She promises to see the stranger again, to make him eat his words. Clarence is little help. Marriage is the only solution he can offer. He promises they shall be married within a week.

BEATRICE RUNS AWAY

CHAPTER III

BEATRICE HUNTINGTON DAVENPORT sat up very straight in her car, and looked fixedly at the back of Jenkins' head as he drove through the slow-moving, heavy, late afternoon traffic. She had promised Clarence that she would marry him next week. Promised because, for a moment in his arms, with his lips on hers, she had believed that he was right.

"We shall be so happy! No other pair in history have ever been as happy as we shall be, darling," he had whispered. "No more discontent, my love. I promise you, our life will hold more than parties and social foolishness and wild running around. I love you, and you love me. We shall have a marriage the world will wonder at."

Beatrice realized that Clarence was utterly serious, and with the realization came a rush of pride that she had not, after all, been fooled by a fortune hunter. Clarence loved her and wanted to make their marriage a real and solid bond.

But after he was gone—while she sat there in the car and the city streets darkened around her—uncertainty gripped her. Being engaged to Clarence was fun. Taking him away from Mimi Frothingham had been fun. At least until this afternoon, it had all been enjoyable enough.

But she had never actually set the date of her wedding. She had never thought what marriage meant. Its permanence—the solemnity which Clarence was bringing to it—its nearness! Next week! Only a few days away.

She was frightened. "I can't marry Clarence next week!"

THE sense of awareness—the feeling of a door having opened for her, this afternoon when she heard that man's voice—and let her look on things that were the same and yet somehow different, came back to her. "Marrying Clarence isn't the answer I was frightened, and I showed him I was frightened. He thought, because he does love me, that getting married right away would help. But it won't. This is something else."

Unaccountably, she was trembling again. "I think a girl like that should be quietly and competently chloroformed," that unknown voice had said. Her lips twisted. He could be whimsical about it. "More in sadness than in anger."

She stared out of the window as the car turned into Fifth Avenue. People thronged the sidewalks. Men and women, living lives far different from her own. Men and women who shouldn't be chloroformed. They were useful. She noticed that they backed a strong wind she could not feel, sheltered here behind the glass of the limousine's windows. It was the sum of the difference between her and them.

She saw a man with a tired, gray face. Engrossed with a concentration she seldom gave to anything, she tried to read in that lined, anonymous face the riddle of his tiredness. What were his troubles and what struggles did this man endure? The car moved past him.

Beatrice made a quick decision. When her mink coat was hidden in the parcel locker, she could mingle unnoticed with these people, hurrying home from work.

Now she saw a woman with hennaed hair and too red lips, in a purple suit. The woman was haggard. Then a girl, smiling to herself. Then a heavy middle-aged woman carrying a Peke. Now a man who walked swiftly, hatless, his lips moving. Talking to himself.

In another moment, her car would be going past Huntington's. The store she knew so little of, and yet the store that made all the difference between herself and these people. She leaned forward. "Turn down to Sixth Avenue, Jenkins."

The sidewalks of Sixth Avenue were thronged, too. Watching with her newly sharp eyes, with the clamoring questions in her mind she had never asked before, Beatrice saw that there was a difference between these people and those on Fifth. These were even more tired. Their faces, unguarded, betrayed more. Their clothes were shabbier. Even her car was out of place on Sixth Avenue, where it had been familiar and unnoticed on Fifth.

At Forty-second street, a policeman held up traffic though the light was green. Beatrice saw a broad wave of people—10 or 12 abreast in surging ranks that went far up the block—pushing their way from one side of the street to the other. She remembered, then, the subway station at Times Square. That's where they were going. To the subway.

All at once, Beatrice opened the car door. "I'll get out and walk, Jenkins. This is too slow." A curious, baffled restlessness possessed her. "You take the car to the garage. And I won't need you tonight, Jenkins."

The chauffeur turned, surprise in his usually expressionless eyes. "But it's so crowded, Miss Davenport. And it's a long walk east to Park and then over..."

"I'm not going directly home, Jenkins."

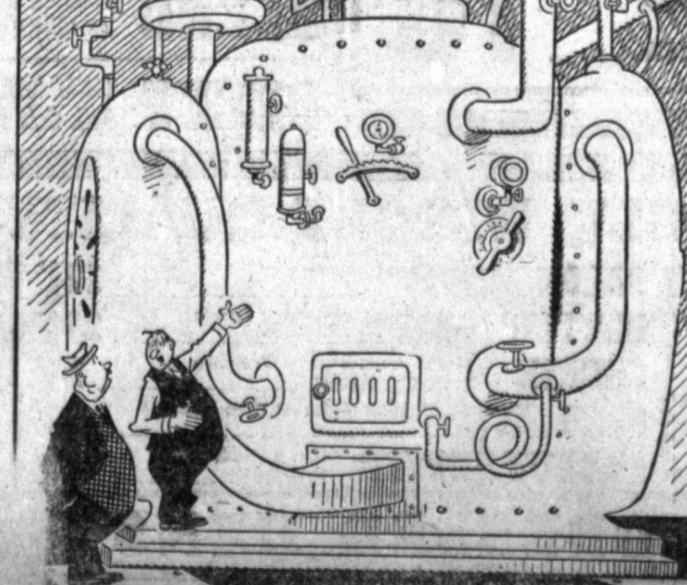

She was out of the car. The door closed behind her, and she

Mungo Proud He's Obeying Orders

MACON, Ga., March 13 (AP)—Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn pitcher who was fined $500 for breaching training and banished from the Dodgers' camp at Havana last Sunday, is busily engaged in surprising everybody.

Ordered to join Montreal, Dodgers' farm club now training here, he said everyone expected him to "go to my Pageland, S. C. home and sulk."

"Well, I'm not doing that. I'm doing just what they told me to do at Havana," he added that his orders were to "remain here very quietly, say nothing and get in shape."

Second Round In Girls Cage Meet To Open Tonight

QUINLAN, March 13 (AP)—Second round games in the Southwestern AAU Girls Basketball tournament are scheduled tonight on the courts of Quinlan, Merit, and Floyd. Quinlan, Emory, Merit, Cumby, Blue Ridge, and Wolfe City won opening tilts last night.

Film Made Of First Radio Broadcasting

HOLLYWOOD, March 13 (AP)—The first nation-wide radio broadcast has been re-enacted on celluloid, not as it really occurred but along the super-colossal lines Hollywood would have preferred.

Bomb Hits U. S. Building

BERLIN, March 13 (AP)—The building of the United States consular general at Hamburg was hit by a bomb in a British air raid on that city last night, an attaché of the United States embassy here said today.

No one was in the building at the time, he said. The extent of the damage was not immediately learned.

studio to place head-masks on film extras, and to "dub in" their voices with the aid of imitators.

cast took place a decade and a half ago, when not so many people knew about Kate Smith, Kay Kyser, Edgar Bergen or Charlie McCarthy.

But in the revised movie version those personalities take part along with such other entertainers as Eddie Cantor, Al Jolson, Rudy Vallee, Bing Crosby Jack Benny, and Ted Lewis.

For the grand finale of "The Great American Broadcast," 20th Century-Fox was unable to acquire services of so many radio stars.

Ford Envisions Age Of Plastics

WAYS, Ga., March 13 (AP)—Henry Ford envisions a day only several years off when a farmer will grow most of the materials going into his motor car and perhaps provide the fuel from plants as well.

"We'll have an experimental body ready at our plant in a month or so made chiefly of plastics from cellulose fibers easily grown," the Detroit automobile manufacturer said today in an interview.

"The plastic body will be several hundred pounds lighter, and will be a better body for several reasons," he added.

Ford said the "field of plastics is almost unlimited, and we'll see them used more and more in houses and offices instead of wood."

He displayed some attractive bath and kitchen tiles and what appeared to be silk socks.

"These tiles were made from corn cobs and tree bark right here in our laboratory," Ford asserted. "The socks used to be ordinary sawdust."

He said it was known that, if necessary, "we can produce satisfactory fuels for engines from potatoes, corn, rice and other farm products."

Heading Ford's laboratory at his Georgia plantation is Harry G. Uebelberg, who worked with the late Thomas A. Edison, one of Ford's intimate friends during his lifetime. Chemists here are also studying rami, a fibre from which the ancient Egyptians made fine cloth for wrapping their mummies. An experimental patch indicates that the south Georgia soil and climate are well suited for its growth.

Ford's Georgia chemists also see great possibilities in crotalaria, a common cover crop for poor southern lands. It has been used for both rayon and plastics.

The laboratory here also uses the lignin, the material which gives plants their strength and heretofore little investigated for plastics.

Ford said other experiments were underway to get away from materials of prime importance to national defense.

J. I. Staley Dies
WICHITA FALLS, March 13 (AP)—J. I. Staley, 51, widely known Texas oil operator and head of the Staley Oil company, was found dead in his bed at the family home here Wednesday morning. It was believed a heart attack caused his death. Staley began his career in a Burkburnett bank. After riding the oil boom of that town to a fortune, he continued his operations in the principal pools of the state. It is estimated his operations took millions of barrels of oil from the ground.

Convicts Whittle Gavel For Each Member Of Texas Senate

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, March 13 (AP)—Texas senators now have the facilities to take a rap at each other.

Each one received a gavel made by convicts in the state penitentiary. They were sent to Senator Clem Fahn of Livingston for distribution.

Recalling the fame of Will Rogers who became universally known as the ambassador of good will, the senate has conferred similar honors on Tom Martin, Johnson City newspaper columnist and radio humorist.

A resolution offered by Senators R. A. Weimer of Seguin, John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, and Hughston Brownlee of Austin, officially dubbed Martin the Sage of the Sage Hills and honorary colonel of the good will regiment of Texas.

All of which recalls one of Martin's stories about a candidate for public office.

The office seeker traveled in a sound truck but when he reached a certain rural community he thought it a good idea to dispense with the truck and speak from a nearby farm wagon.

"The crowd—all but one man—deserted him midway of the speech. 'I don't want to be too personal but my curiosity is aroused. Let me ask why you alone are sitting there listening to me?' said the candidate. 'Mister, you're standing in my wagon,' said the man.

Rep. James M. Heflin of Houston evidently thought the state might have been lighter off if the visiting choir from Trinity university, Waxahachie, had sung all day March 10 instead of just a few minutes.

When the visitors were almost through their concert for the house, Heflin jokingly suggested that they "keep singing because they are saving the state a million dollars a minute."

Resumption of debate on whether to take up an omnibus tax bill raising many millions in additional revenue each year or a measure appropriating an extra $28,820,000 a year for social security was the scheduled first order of business after completion of the singing.

The choir was introduced to the house by Miss Rae Files of Waxahachie, one of the body's two women members.

Miss Files took advantage of the opportunity to greet Waxahachie residents who were in the gallery. Her fellow townsmen, she told the house, had been "on the road since 5 a. m. in order to attend this program."

It is no novelty for legislators to sponsor bills authorizing pay raises for certain officers. The introduction by a lawmaker of a bill designed to cut salaries of officers in his county, however, is most unusual.

The house recently passed such a bill for Lon E. Alsop, veteran blind representative from Carthage. His measure would empower the Panola county commissioners' court to reduce the salaries of county officers and the author said he felt certain the court would use that power to cut all county salaries.

Nazis Have Taken All Dutch Gold

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—German conquerors of the Netherlands have requisitioned Dutchmen's gold from A to Z, according to authoritative reports received by diplomatic quarters here.

Soon after Holland's occupation last May the German authorities announced that all Dutch-owned gold must be sold to the German-controlled Netherlands bank, beginning with citizens whose names start with the letter A and continuing in alphabetical sequence.

Even persons in the Z-listing now have turned in their gold for Dutch paper currency, it was reported.

German occupation authorities, the reports stated, are trying to re-establish trade relations between the Netherlands and other German-occupied nations in order to make Holland a paying conquest.

Trade between Holland and Belgium, which stopped entirely for several months after the invasion, was said to be recovering gradually, and the Dutch were negotiating a number of other trade agreements within the Nazi economic sphere.

Holland exported twice as much garden produce to German in 1940 as it did in 1939.

While many foods are strictly rationed the Dutch were reported still to have adequate supplies of canned and dried fruits. But fresh fruit was scarce, and shortages were anticipated in many major foodstuffs.
