RAF Reports Large Fires In Berlin

British Troops Poised To Fight It Out In Desert

(By The Associated Press) Adolf Hitler's high command reported today that 746,000 tons of British merchant shipping was destroyed in May—a figure closely approaching the 853,000 tons of allied ships sent to the bottom in Britain's most critical month of the World War.

This was in April, 1917, when Kaiser Wilhelm's sink-on-sight campaign, backed by a fleet of 111 seagoing U-boats, sank 430 ships.

At the height of the campaign, it was reported Britain had only six weeks of food supplies left.

One out of every four ships leaving United Kingdom ports never returned.

The German high command said that in last month's assaults on British shipping, Nazi U-boats sank 479,000 tons, while the Luftwaffe destroyed 215,000 tons. Destruction of the remaining 52,000 tons was attributed to surface raiders.

While it would be a serious blow to Britain's life-line of supplies, if true, the German high command's figure for May still fell short of its April claim of 1,211,000 tons destroyed.

By contrast, the London admiralty declared British merchant shipping losses in April totaled only 488,124 tons—less than half the German figure.

In the war in the air, RAF night raiders spread "large fires" in an attack on Berlin, the London admiral announced, and bombed the cities of Dusseldorf, Duisburg-Ruhrort, and other targets in Germany's industrial Ruhr.

It was the 46th assault of the war on the Nazi capital. Other British raiders struck at the See RAF REPORTS, Page 5

Chief Justice Hughes Will Retire July 1

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—Charles Evans Hughes, the eleventh man in history to serve as Chief Justice of the United States, will relinquish his high office July 1 and retire to private life because of "considerations of health and age."

The decision of the 79-year-old jurist to retire marks the end of supreme court service that has covered 19 years—first as associate and later as chief justice. It also closes a career in public life that has been unusually varied and distinguished.

As soon as the chief justice's intention to retire became known, speculation here fastened on the question of his successor. Informed sources freely and almost unanimously predicted Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, a leading administration figure, would be President Roosevelt's choice to succeed Hughes.

By filling this vacancy an earlier one that has existed since the retirement of Justice James C. Reynolds last Feb. 1, President Roosevelt will have named seven of the nine members of the tribunal. Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.), upon whom the administration relies heavily in pushing legislation through congress, is expected to be the other appointee.

Chief Justice Hughes sent his retirement letter to the White House yesterday before mounting the bench to preside over the court for its last session until next October 6.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote out the telegram of reply in longhand. The news, he said, came "as a great shock" because he had counted on the chief justice's continuing his "splendid service for many years to come."

"My every inclination," the president added, "is to beg you to remain; but my deep concern for your health and strength must be paramount."

Illness of Mrs. Hughes for the past few months also contributed to his resignation.

Announcement of when the buttons are received and ready for sale will be made in The Pampa News and Sooners who want to get out and work in the campaign can obtain the buttons from the club president, Brownwood Emerson, at this newspaper.

Reason For 2 Names While "Oklahoma Sooners" seems a clumsy expression to some (how could one be a Sooner if not an Oklahoman), the idea is that non-Sooners are not familiar with the association of the two words. Hence, the club voted at its last meeting to have the two words on the buttons.

Sooners To Meet Thursday Night To Elect Queen

Another pow-wow of the Oklahomans, the last expected before the Sooners put on their part of parade in the Top O' Texas Polka Fiesta, June 12-13-14, will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the district court room.

Sale of Oklahoma buttons is due to start the latter part of this week, as soon as a supply is received from an Oklahoma City firm. Due to the need of straightening out the exact number of buttons required with the manufacturer, there has been a delay in getting the buttons here.

Confident Of Sale However, they are due at least a week before the Fiesta and the Oklahomans have no fears that they can give me in two days," one Sooner said today.

The buttons will be of celluloid, 1 1/2 inches in size, and bear the imprint "Oklahoma Sooners" in green. Background of the button is white, thus forming the state colors, green and white.

Announcement of when the buttons are received and ready for sale will be made in The Pampa News and Sooners who want to get out and work in the campaign can obtain the buttons from the club president, Brownwood Emerson, at this newspaper.

Board Makes New Effort To End Strike

(By The Associated Press) The defense mediation board made a new effort today for a settlement in the 25-day-old strike of 12,000 CIO lumberworkers in the Pacific northwest, which has curtailed supplies needed for the defense program.

The board already has recommended that the strikers resume work pending a settlement and has reminded the union of President Roosevelt's assertion in his address a week ago that the American people expect impartial recommendations of the board to be accepted.

Thus, some Washington circles thought, the lumber strike might be a show-down on the administration's determination to end work stoppages hampering defense production.

There was speculation, too, on whether a potential weapon against strike shut-downs was contained in the proposal by the war department yesterday that congress grant Mr. Roosevelt power to requisition property necessary in the defense effort.

Seventy thousand Chrysler corporation workers at Detroit won wage increases and bonuses totaling $15,000,000 last night, subject to ratification.

Missouri Club Opens Registration Place

A registration place for natives of Missouri was opened today at the Southwestern Public Service company, 205 N. Cuyler.

W. R. Frazee, president of the Missouri club, one of the state societies formed here to participate in the Top O' Texas Polka Fiesta, said it had been planned to keep the registration place open from 2:30 to 5 o'clock each afternoon during this week.

Registration will be in charge of the committee headed by Mrs. Pauline Thurman.

A meeting of the Missouri club has been called for 8 o'clock Friday night in the district court room.

'Bombing Of London' To Be Fiesta Event

"The Bombing of London," a patriotic fireworks display in which Adolf Hitler's Luftwaffe meets in final doom, will be an attraction of the Top O' Texas Polka Fiesta, Thursday night, June 12 at recreation park.

The fireworks will be presented in front of the grandstand, and no admission will be charged. The fireworks display will open the Fiesta. After the display, dances will begin at the high school gym and at the Southern club.

"The Bombing of London" will climax a 30-minute display. In this set piece, the Nazi airplanes, all lighted up, fly over, drop their bombs which destroy a miniature city on the ground, then the British airplanes rise to meet them and send them crashing to the ground.

The display will consist of a dozen set pieces, bombs, the U. S. flag. The Lightest doughboys will furnish music for dances at the Southern club each of the three nights. The Sons of the West will furnish strictly old-time music for square dances and other old-fashioned dancing at the school gymnasium.

The outstanding feature of the Fiesta will be the parade which will consist of floats representing the various states in the union. A queen will ride on each float. A Fiesta queen will be picked from the float queens.

The Fiesta queen will be crowned at the fireworks display which will be dedicated to members of the native state clubs to which the 1941 Polka Fiesta is dedicated.

The parade will start on West Kingsmill and will proceed to North Frost and up Kingsmill again to Cuyler and on Atchison to the Frost street crossing and over to South Cuyler again. The parade will disband on South Cuyler.

Old timers have not yet announced their program except that old-time dances will be held three nights, and that ribbons would be given to the '89ers, natives who came before 1900, and to the third group who was high scorers for the service.

The parade will not be eligible to obtain free admission to the dances or to the barbecue if there is one.

New York Pauses To Remember Lou

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—From every walk of life today came the desire to pay homage to Lou Gehrig, the great "Iron Horse" of baseball—the man who played 2,130 consecutive games and then for two years fought a losing fight against a rare and apparently incurable disease.

The big, handsome fellow who for 14 years held down first base for the New York Yankees died last night from a disease described as hardening of the spinal cord which caused his muscles to shrivel.

The sports world, never one to forget its own, so flooded the Yankee office with inquiries regarding an opportunity to pay its respects that President Ed Barrow announced a change in plans for the service.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees phoned that he was flying in from Detroit and President Will Harridge of the American League notified Barrow he also was en route.

Late News

ISTANBUL, Turkey, June 2 (delayed) (AP)—Germans in civilian clothes recently passed through Turkey to Syria with Bulgarian passports, unofficial sources asserted today.

(By The Associated Press) France appeared today on the verge of plunging into the war against her old ally, Great Britain—presumably with strong German support—on a new battlefield in French-ruled Syria in the middle East. In Vichy, Chief of State Philippe Petain called an urgent cabinet meeting late this afternoon, the second of the day, after conferring with Generalissimo Maxime Wergand, commander in chief of France's African armies.

LONDON, June 3 (AP)—Eagerly awaiting some word that Britain has taken steps to beat the Germans into Syria, qualified observers tonight suggested that the current wall of official British silence was a highly significant sign.

'Britain And America Must Control Seas'

Secretary Of Navy Demands Speed In Building Industry

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—Secretary Knox demanded a production "miracle" of the nation's warship building industry today in order to assure the United States and Britain command of the seas.

"There can no longer be any doubt," Knox said, "that this war will be determined by two things—no, one thing—a successful combination of sea and air power."

Speaking to a conference of shipbuilders he told them it was up to them to see that America and Britain were equipped with the warship half of the combination necessary for victory.

18-Year-Old Blonde Named Michigan Queen

Mrs. Frances Hofess, a resident of Pampa since last June, will be Michigan's queen in the Top O' Texas Polka Fiesta parade.

She was elected at a meeting of the Wolverines held last night.

Mrs. Hofess is 18, blond, weighs 126 pounds, is 5 feet 5 inches tall, and a native of Detroit. She has lived in Chicago, Kansas, and Miami, Fla., was married in Hutchinson, Kas., and lived two years in that state.

Her husband is a Cities Service employe.

Sabotage Suspected In Crash Of Plane

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 3 (AP)—The unexplained performance of a $250,000 British Liberator bomber that sidled into San Diego bay and killed four aviation experts aroused some suspicion today of sabotage.

FBI and company agents, investigating the crash, advised salvaging of additional pieces of wreckage for examination.

Failure of the controls apparently caused the crash yesterday of the great camouflaged ship, of the type used by the British to bomb Berlin.

A crash boat rescued Lewis M. McCann, 25, of Woodstock, Ill., one of the five men into San Diego bay.

The body of mechanic William H. Rieser, 23, Cambridge, Mass., was recovered.

Still unfound and believed pinned in the sunken nose section of the ship were the bodies of Consolidated Aircraft's chief test pilot, William Wheatley, 38, Chester, N. Y., one of the country's most able pilots; Alan T. Austin, 28, Kansas City, Mo., assistant test pilot; and Bruce Craig, 27, Chicago, aviation engineer.

A spokesman for the Consolidated Aircraft company said "evidence of sabotage" had been discovered, but neither he nor FBI men would discuss the matter further.

Hiker Killed By Automobile

NYA Has Helped A Lot To Help Spruce Up Old San Antonio

(By The Associated Press)

Fight 'em Maury Maverick, who not long since was thinking about blackouts and other defense tests for his beloved San Antonio, wants the National Youth Administration completely militarized—but the NYA says nothing doing.

Otherwise Texas NYA leaders and Mayor Maverick get along fine because NYA has worked mightily to help spruce up old San Antonio.

The mayor says "The National Youth Administration is doing an absolutely essential work in Texas." What he thinks of the military angle points up a prime purpose of NYA, which is to help young people without financial backing to learn and get jobs.

"I believe," Maverick says, "the NYA should be strictly militarized—I think the whole country should be under a military economy now—and I think applicants should be given military training either to satisfactorily fill a job in industry or else go into the army."

State Administrator J. C. Kellam rejoins:

"One of the NYA purposes is to give young opportunity to explore several kinds of jobs. Having found what his aptitudes fit him for, we try to develop some of the basic skills involved."

Military discipline, he added, would alter NYA's character completely. Youngsters do their best work when they freely find what they like to do.

San Antonio has lots to thank NYA for.

Of 2,350 young people at work on NYA projects in the San Antonio area, 1,850 of them are in and around San Antonio. Maverick has had plenty of experience with them, some of it at LeVillita, an early Spanish village restored by NYA youth in a former slum section of the city.

Eleven hundred boys and girls are busy right now on projects directly involved with national defense in that city.

"The average income of families from which these NYA boys and girls come is $250 a year," Maverick says.

"They come in here weighing 95 pounds and after 90 days on a project are weighing 120 pounds. The physical and mental energy of these youths in many instances that I have observed is not increased—it is actually created. The benefits of NYA to youth is inestimable."

He thinks NYA could stand some hardboiled discipline," however.

NYA has an explanation for letting its young people seek their own work.

Every project director recounts incidents in which a boy, doing in differently at woodwork, goes into high gear when he is transferred to mechanics.

Eagerness developed on jobs, NYA believes, justifies its insistence on individual attention rather than impersonal discipline.

In the woodworking shop at Waco an order for chairs for the state institute for the blind is being filled from a single sturdy chair that was sent up to serve as a model. If a regular shop were doing the work, a $14,000 machine would turn out properly cut chairbottoms at high speeds. The Waco shop could not afford such a machine for production is not on a basis that would justify it.

The boys and their shop foreman worked out a small-scale rowler, operated by hand with a small motor, at a cost of $80 for materials. A sawset made in the mechanical shop at Rusk school, Dallas, from a picture of a $250 article, cost $22 for the material used.

"Our is naturally a cruder job," says the supervisor, "that would never be offered for sale in competition with the catalogue-listed item. But on small scale production it gets the job done."

In the mechanical shop at Ranger, NYA boys have made about 50 belt sanders, at $200 apiece for material, which are being used by NYA wood-working shops all over the southern states. Bought new they would cost $600 each.

At the girls' residence center in Hillsboro a successful experiment in low-cost dieting was carried on for a week. For that period, the average cost of a girl's meals for a whole day was 10 to 11 cents. On such projects it regularly runs 25 to 30 cents, which itself is less than most private families spend. Appetizing meals, with the right number of calories, were prepared. Breakfast, for example, would be baked apples, fried mush, margarine, syrup and coffee; lunch included fried salt pork, carrots and gravy, biscuits with margarine, syrup, baked apple, and for supper the girls had tamales pie, cabbage and apple salad, and a chocolate pudding.

Marshall's machine shop, sponsored by the city, made a jigsaw out of scrap and its whole cost is just that of the motor. It would have cost about $175. The Marshall shop is also turning out form rollers at a cost of about $20 apiece, in contrast to the usual price of $200, for use of NYA shops all over the state in handling sheet metal. Shortness of funds ranks with necessity in being the parent of invention.

Many NYA shops have their own title-molding machines and are using the title for construction purposes. Big Spring NYA boys can make 500 bricks a day of adobe, stabilized with an asphalt mix, and they have constructed the Moss Creek Lake clubhouse and the Big Spring airport of them. An NYA architect devised long plywood trusses, bolted together in place of steel girders, as the framework of the big workshop sponsored by the city of Cuero. The Cuero Chamber of Commerce was skeptical of plywood standing such a strain on a 64-foot truss. The architect took a small section of this new building material and an axe to the chamber meeting one night. He convinced members that it would work. It takes eight hours for a squad of boys to make one of the trusses, but it is cheaper, and releases that much steel for use in national industry.

NYA feels that what it may sacrifice in 100 per cent efficiency by turning thumbs down on strict military discipline is amply repaid in individual development among the 24,000 or more youth in its Texas out-of-school work program.

Water Pours Over Spillway Of Buffalo Dam

CANYON, June 3.—Water poured over the spillway of Buffalo lake for the first time in its history today as heavy rains on its great watershed filled the Panhandle's largest reservoir.

The lake, located 12 miles southwest of here, covers more than 1800 surface acres. It is a mecca for boating enthusiasts and is headquarters for the Panhandle Boat club. Boating facilities provided by the government are adequate. A bathing beach, clubhouse, and rent-cottages are located nearby.

Buffalo lake and the Tierra Blanca creek already are becoming famed for fishing. The lake in catfish following the first of recent rains was especially heavy. Sportsmen have estimated that more than five tons of fish were caught. In some instances the fish left the dam to go upstream during the rise in the creek. When the water went down, the fish were left in the deeper holes of the stream, where fishermen caught the limit quickly.

Flood waters in the Friona vicinity flow into Buffalo lake preventing flood conditions downstream. With the lake standing nearly full, however, any considerable rise now will go over the spillway.

Buffalo lake was completed two years ago when an earthen dam, rock-faced, was thrown across a small canyon through which the Tierra Blanca flows. The lake is about 1 1/2 miles south of the small community of Umberger. An improved road, topped with caliche, recently was completed from Umberger to the dam by Randall county commissioners.

Results Of Exams Not Received Yet

Frank Hall, who was instructor at the Civil Aeronautics Administration ground school here, has not received results of the final examination conducted last week by a representative of the CAA, he said today.

The instructor said he expected to learn the results yesterday but that no word was received from the inspector.

"The inspector who conducted the examination is busy starting ground school courses at colleges in this area and he probably has not had time to correct the papers and determine grades," Mr. Hall said today in explaining the delay.

Ten of the 70 persons who took the examination here will receive free flight scholarships.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—The stock market generally ignored the war news and other bearing factors today and whipped up a rally that lifted industrial leaders to 2 or 3 more points.

Prices hesitated at the opening, began to rise near the end of the first hour. Dealings broadened perceptibly for a brief interval then reverted to the casual meandering of past sessions. Quotations were under the best in most cases at the close. Transfers of around 400,000 shares compared with about 250,000 yesterday.

Brokers attributed the come-back partly to a few inflationary tremors among speculative forces and to the reinstatement of some commitments on the theory there was a good chance for a worthwhile recovery in view of the fact depressing developments abroad lately had brought out only a mere dribble of offerings.

The moving ticks have attained greater proportions, it was suggested, had it not been for persistent doubts regarding spreading government controls, the labor outlook and cloudy tax problems.

Stocks trading in 3 points or so in the early upward drive included American Telephone, Du Pont and Westinghouse. Among lesser gainers were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Cero De Paz, Great Northern, Western Union, Kennecott, American Can, Air Reduction, J. I. Case, General Electric, Dow Chemical, Montgomery Ward and Eastman Kodak. International Paper preferred posted a 1941 high.

Senale Votes To Adjourn June 7

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—The senate today adopted a resolution ordering sine die adjournment of the general session on June 7.

The proposal as introduced by Senator John Lee Smith of Throckmorton set the date at June 10, but the upper chamber adopted an amendment offered by Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

"We are permitting ourselves to become a football in a senatorial race," said Smith in support of his resolution.

"Most of our work is done. If the conference committees had met and worked as they should, they could have finished."

Smith asserted the 47th legislature has earned the respect of the "folks back home," but that the good will of the people might be lost if the session was extended further.

"The governor is not scaring me a bit by trying to kick us around," put in Senator Clem Fain of Livingston. "I want to go home, but not until the appropriation bills are finally passed."

Senator A. M. Aikin, Jr., of Paris, chairman of the senate finance committee, blamed house conferees for failure to complete work on appropriations bills.

He asserted only one house member showed up at a committee meeting last week end.

Boys Of 17 May Enlist In Marines

Young men, 17 years of age, may now enlist in the United States Marines. Men who have not completed grammar school may enlist, provided they can read well enough to understand written orders. They will be encouraged to acquire a good education at government expense while serving with the marine corps. A mobile recruiting unit of the United States Marine Corps, equipped to provide free physical examination and with authority to provide government transportation for all accepted applicants, will be stationed at the postoffice in Pampa Wednesday and Thursday. The unit will be in Borger Friday and Saturday. Men may now enlist in the regular marine corps for a four-year period, or for the duration of the national emergency, whichever they choose.

Prize Awarded For New Blind Landing System For Airplane

FORT WORTH, June 2 (AP)—There was a shining new car sitting in front of a little white house at 1117 Clecker street this morning. It wasn't there last Saturday. In fact there hasn't been any car at that house for the past three years, because the fellow who lives there has been spending all his spare money on an invention that yesterday became nationally recognized as perhaps the most workable contribution to national defense to be made by an American workman. The new car is the first direct result of the $5,000 first prize Revere award won by Eugene H. (Jack) Phillips, a Fort Worth radio electrician. Phillips, 32, won the first prize offered by the Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., for creating a new blind landing system for airplanes, a project he thought of seven years ago when a friend of his, Jerry Marshall, died in an airplane crash in Arkansas.

55,000 Troops In Tennessee Maneuvers

WITH THE ARMY IN TENNESSEE, June 3 (AP)—The fifth division—one of the army's nine streamlined fighting organizations—moved into the pivotal flank position today as 55,000 seventh army corps troops swept northward in the Tennessee war games. A supply organization of three combat teams, the fifth division from Fort Custer, Mich., gave the 27th and 30th division several hours start and followed a battle plan that would put them on an eight-mile tableland "battlefield" about 50 miles from Nashville about the same time. The fifth division is triangular in contrast to the "square" organization of the two others. It has three infantry regiments, each coupled with a battalion of artillery and functioning always as a smaller but more closely coordinated unit. (A square division has four infantry regiments comprising two brigades and three artillery regiments forming a third brigade.) Because it has only about two-thirds of the 1,400 vehicles it will have at full strength, the combat teams had to be shuttled the 15 miles into position. The "march" motorized division soldiers ride to position but dismount to fight. But as a result of lack of full equipment, trucks had to be unladen and returned for another combat team. The third was kept in reserve. So even with shuttling, the entire movement was scheduled for only six hours during the afternoon. The United States has 1,200 cotton mills.

Lunch Available For Childless Children

The summer recreation program especially for underprivileged children will begin here tomorrow at 11:45 when lunch will be served at Wilson school for all those who were served during the school term. The lunches also will be sold to anyone else for 10 cents a plate. The lunch project will be carried out with a library project and may be a recreation project through the summer months on every week day except Saturday and Sunday. Under the library project will be a story hour also at Wilson from 1 until 2 o'clock each day. Mrs. J. M. Crews is head of the advisory committee for this and announced that it is also open to any child who wishes to attend free of charge. Mrs. W. I. Hughes is in charge of the lunch project. The recreation project is under consideration at the present time, but no definite plans for it have been reached so far. Classified Ads Get Results tion at meetings of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) membership. The agreement, accepted by UAW leaders, calls for an 8 cent hourly wage boost and payment of a $45 bonus in December to workers with one year's seniority. The old bonus was $40, and Chrysler spokesmen noted the bonus increase substituted for vacations with pay in 1942.

A mediation board appeal to "show their patriotism" prompted the Bay Cities Metal Trades Council at San Francisco to ask its members last night to return to work at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding company. The council action however, did not end an AFL machinists' strike against Bethlehem, nor did it affect the AFL and CIO machinists' work stoppage in 10 other bay area shipyards holding $500,000,000 in defense orders.

Clarence A. Dykstra, board chairman, asked the Bethlehem management and union in telegrams yesterday to resume operations pending a hearing June 9 in Washington. The union council last night named a committee of six to go to the capital.

Key distribution industries in San Francisco and Pittsburgh continued to be crippled by strikes of CIO warehousemen and AFL teamsters respectively.

Petain Calls Urgent Meeting Of Cabinet

VICHY, France, June 3 (AP)—Chief of State Marshal Petain called an urgent cabinet meeting late this afternoon, the second of the day, after a conference with General Maxime Weygand, chief of France's African forces.

At the earlier cabinet meeting, which lasted for two hours and was said to have been devoted to discussion of tense French-British relations, Weygand was present but the marshal was not.

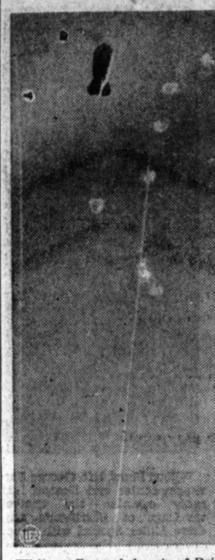

From this earlier session Weygand, Petain's African pro-consul, was understood to have gone straight to the marshal, who immediately called the second meeting.

The Berlin French-controlled radio charged that the British were preparing an attack against Syria. The radio said the British were campaigning with "false news" of German troop landings on France's near-eastern mandate.

French forces are ready to defend their territory and "know how" to the broadcast said.

The radio particularly denied a New York broadcast that German motorized units had landed at Latakia, in Syria, and a British broadcast that the hospital ship which landed last week at Beirut from Marseille had 500 Germans aboard.

U. S. Ambulance Drivers Still Held

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—Twenty-one members of the British-American Ambulance corps who were captured by Germans when the Egyptian liner Zamzam was sunk are "all well" and in German custody at Biarritz, France.

Charles Longdon Harris and Charles A. McCarthy, of New York, members of the corps, radioed this message:

"Harris McCarthy Lisbon. Other 21 held Biarritz. Believe release due to oversight. Notify families all well."

Germans Deny Report General Killed Self

BERLIN, June 3 (AP)—Authorized Germans categorically denied today reports of the death of German Admiral Bohn and said stories current abroad regarding him were untrue. Norwegian sources in London said Saturday Admiral Bohn, commander in chief in Norway and a friend of Rudolf Hess, recently committed suicide in Oslo after a visit from Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler.

Greece Goes Way Of Other Nazi Victims

MOSCOW, June 3 (AP)—The Soviet government formally notified the Greek legation today that since Greece is no longer a sovereign state, her ministers here has lost his diplomatic status effective immediately.

A three-line note delivered to the Greek legation notifying it of the action. Greece was the fourth Axis-occupied country to lose representation here. Others were Belgium, Norway and Yugoslavia.

Ickes Asks Report On Shortage In Oil Along East Coast

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—Interior Secretary Ickes, in his role as federal oil coordinator, asked representatives of the petroleum industry to report to him today on the threatened east coast oil shortage. The oil industry representatives compose a 24-man committee, appointed by W. R. Boyd of New York, president of the American Petroleum Institute, to make a factual study of east coast petroleum supplies, pipeline, and tanker facilities and anticipated demands.

Aides of Ickes said the report would be checked with comparable findings of the federal bureau of mines before any course of action was decided upon.

Officials were at pains to emphasize there was no shortage of oil in the country but merely a lack of adequate facilities for getting it to the east coast. Nor is there at the present time any actual east coast shortage, it was said, but indications are that supplies will become increasingly tight over the next few months.

Japs Seize U. S. Gas

SAIGON, French Indo-China, June 3 (AP)—United States oilmen in Hanoi reported today that the Japanese took 127,000 gallons of American aviation gasoline with other oil stocks when they seized American merchandise which had been en route to China at Haiphong May 25.

Members of the French Indo-China government, who called the seizure a "Japanese military robbery scheme," referred it to Vichy, which was reported to have protested to Tokyo.

War Prisoners Killed In Japanese Air Raid

HONGKONG, June 3 (AP)—More than 40 Japanese wounded war prisoners were killed Saturday during a Japanese air raid on Tabu, northwest of Poochow, in Fukien province, the Chinese central news agency reported today.

Law Held Invalid

docks of St. Nazaire, German U-boat base in France, and at Ostend, Belgium.

The Germans acknowledged that apartment buildings in Berlin were damaged by bombs and a number of civilians killed and injured.

Meanwhile, Britons nullified a statement by Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering that the conquest of Crete proved Adolf Hitler's assertion that "there are no unconquerable islands"—and wondered if the next German blitz would strike in the Middle East or in an attempt to invade the British Isles.

Nazi quarters in Berlin said the world would not long be kept in doubt.

In a dramatic epilogue to the 12-day struggle on Crete, British navy officers, who directed the removal of more than 15,000 British and Greek troops from the island declared 20,000 Germans drowned when their transports were smashed by British naval guns.

In the Middle East war theater, the race for strategic positions was reported shaping rapidly, with the next big battle apparently destined in the French-ruled colonies of Syria and Lebanon, skirting the Mediterranean between Turkey and Palestine.

"I'm going to Washington," he said in his speech, "if I can ever get this legislature to adjourn."

He said that passage of the social security tax bill was nothing short of a miracle, because it was hastened by his enemies who wanted to see him leave state politics, and it came, he went on, only after he had taken the issue to the people.

RAF Plan For Joint Air Bases At Chungking

TOKYO, June 3 (AP)—Thirty-eight British officials from posts in the Far East have been at Hongkong since May 20 discussing "establishment of powerful air bases at Chungking, China, for joint use by British and American forces, if necessary," the newspapers Asahi said today in a dispatch from Shanghai.

my hat—I may not even have a hat when I get there—but I do know how to introduce a bill," he said.

The governor claimed Texas soldiers were training at Camp Bowie with broomstick guns.

"Texas has done more for national defense than any other state," he said, "but we haven't scratched the surface yet."

"There is no sense in trying to whip Hitler with broomsticks. This shutting down of defense factories by communistic labor leaders must stop."

The candidate said he could "do more good for Roosevelt before breakfast" than any of his opponents, explaining that he knew his place and would stick to it, as a legislator, when he got to Washington.

"We are all going to help in this defense crisis," he said. "No one man can say he alone can do it. We are all patriotic."

O'Daniel said that if he had resigned to make the race, he would have lost the votes of all "enemies" who wanted to get him out of Texas politics.

After the speech, he said he had not made any new campaign plans. Yesterday he called off a week's speaking itinerary because the legislature is still in session.

"I'm going to Washington," he said in his speech, "if I can ever get this legislature to adjourn."

He said that passage of the social security tax bill was nothing short of a miracle, because it was hastened by his enemies who wanted to see him leave state politics, and it came, he went on, only after he had taken the issue to the people.

Three Killed When Plane Strikes Auto

ABILENE, June 3 (AP)—A BT-4 training plane from Randolph Field which overshot the mark in a light rain killed three WPA workers yesterday afternoon when it struck their automobile parked on a runway at the Abilene Municipal Airport.

The dead, all employed on a WPA airport improvement project, were George E. Kniffe, Charles E. Belvin, and Albert G. Walker.

Lieut. A. J. Richards of Randolph Field, the pilot, was slightly hurt when the plane nosed over. His passenger, Lieut. W. M. Hendrix, was not injured.

The capital of West Virginia was located at Wheeling from 1863 to 1870 and from 1875 to 1885.

House Overrides Two More Vetoes

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 3 (AP)—The House today overrode two more vetoes by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

By a vote of 86 to 34 it passed notwithstanding the executive's disapproval a bill requiring employers of contract workers to retain the employee's seniority rights when he was called into military service.

By even a larger majority it also voted to upset the governor's veto of another measure authorizing the state board of water engineers to appoint directors of the San Jacinto reclamation and conservation district.

Rep. J. A. Benton of Wylie, a retired army officer, urged colleagues to approve the seniority proposal, which he said would prevent a re-iteration of conditions following the last war when "one out of 20 men returning from the service got their jobs back."

Answering questions, he said the measure would also hold open public office for incumbents drafted into the armed forces.

"Some of the opposition was grounded on this feature. A new attempt at sine die adjournment came in the senate, which adopted a resolution ordering the end of the session Saturday. House concurrence was necessary for final approval."

Rep. Fagan Dickson of San Antonio and a group of cosponsors denied permission to introduce a bill requiring run-off contests after all special elections if a majority was not received by a candidate in the first poll.

Questioned whether it wasn't a coincidence that the measure appeared prior to the special senate election of June 28, Dickson said: "This proposes a good democratic principle of majority rule. You can't make a mistake by putting in office a man who receives a majority of votes."

Dickson said he planned a second attempt at introduction.

Nazis Importing Food From Japan Through Siberia

TOKYO, June 3 (AP)—Vital food-stuffs from Japan, and Japanese-occupied China have been floating into Germany via the Trans-Siberian railroad at the rate of 1,500 tons daily in recent months, reliable sources declared today.

Stimulation of this traffic, designed to circumvent the British blockade of Germany, has been among the chief objectives of Dr. Helmut Wolf that, one of Adolf Hitler's ace economic experts who has been conferring here for some time with Japanese officials, these sources said.

Approximately 75,000 tons of Manchoukuo's soy bean crop—which has scores of uses in wartime Germany—already have been shipped to the Reich, they asserted.

Other commodities of which large shipments have been made to Germany, it was said, include oil, cotton, meat and rice.

decision to leave the bench, it was said unofficially.

"They plan to remain in Washington the remainder of this month and then, if Mrs. Hughes is able to travel, to go to the Canadian Rockies. This is one of the chief justice's favorite vacation spots."

Chief Justice Hughes presided over the supreme court during one of the most turbulent periods of its history.

Charles Evans Hughes

The controversy started early in the Roosevelt administration when a tribunal delivered a number of decisions overturning important new legislation.

Differences between the court and the administration reached a climax in 1937 when Mr. Roosevelt proposed to congress "new blood" be injected into the court by adding a member for each justice over 70 years and 6 months of age who did not retire. The proposal precipitated a spectacular and acrimonious oratorical battle on Capitol Hill.

Hughes was widely credited with playing an important behind-the-scenes role in bringing about the ultimate defeat of the court reorganization plan.

President Taft named Hughes Associate Justice of the Supreme Court in 1910, an office he resigned in 1916 to campaign as the Republican party's nominee for president of the United States. The 1916 election was one of the most dramatic in history. Hughes lost to Woodrow Wilson by such a narrow margin that he went to bed one night thinking he had been safely elected, only to awaken a defeated candidate.

He was Secretary of State in the Harding and Coolidge administrations.

The Argentine system of government is modeled broadly after that of the United States.

Congressman Poage Of Waco Gets New York Letter-Writer 'Told Off'

By L. T. EASLEY
WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—Recently a New Yorker wrote every member of congress expressing opposition to our involvement in war and conveying by our navy.

He received a reply from Waco's congressman, W. R. Poage, which so aroused his indignation that he again wrote all the representatives, protesting in the second letter against the manner in which the Texan had addressed him.

Poage's letter to the New Yorker read, in part:

"If you would go stick your head in the sand somewhere, you could enjoy that feeling of absolute security which Mr. Lindbergh is trying to give us, just as Mr. Quislin tried to give such a feeling to the people of Norway before they were conquered."

"Of course, I am old-fashioned enough to believe that the military and naval authorities who have spent their lives studying these problems are in a little better position to know what is needed for our national defense than the operator of an airplane, no matter how efficient he may be as a flier."

Newcomer to Washington as an aide to Texas Senator Andrew Houston's office force—which otherwise is that maintained by the late Morris Sheppard—is Morris McKay of La Porte and Goose Creek. A graduate of the University of Texas in 1938, he has been practicing law in Goose Creek. His father and Houston had been friends for many years.

Fred Ward, formerly of Breckenridge and a 1934 graduate of the University of Texas, now is secretary to Representative Nat Patton. He came to Washington first as an aide to former Texas congressman Clyde Garrett of Eastland, and then worked for the late Senator Sheppard. He joined Patton when the East Texas legislator's erstwhile secretary, Charles Henderson, resigned to campaign for Representative Lyndon Johnson in the senate race.

En route by bus to Atlantic City, N. J., some 60 representatives of the Texas State Federation of Women's clubs stopped long enough to get through Sunday crowds and see the capitol. Head of the group was Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview.

Bitterly opposed to the Roosevelt farm policy is Ralph Moore of Granger, former master of the Texas Grange.

He advocates the domestic allotment plan for cotton—by which growers would receive parity on cotton domestically consumed and, producing all they desired, sell the rest at whatever the world markets would bring them.

"The administration seems afraid now that the farmer is going to get too much," Moore complained. "Just when prices are going up to above parity in some instances, Secretary Wickard is stepping in and trying to halt the rise."

Moore declared that "the whole scheme behind these farm programs is to make the farmer feel dependent on the government, to help the new dealers build up great political strength."

Observed in the Capital: Charles Guy, Lubbock editor, seeing friends and attending one of President Roosevelt's press conferences.

E. L. Fortess of Lamesa, former president of the Texas Retail Lumber Dealers association.

Dr. Earl Heard, former head of the Textile Engineering department at Texas Tech and now Dean of a Textile school in Philadelphia, chatting in hotel room with Editor Guy.

E. V. Spence, Big Spring manager, discussing engineering details on big airport project in that West Texas city.

Albert Sydney Johnson of Dallas, former State Democratic Executive Committee chairman and Allen McDonald of Waco, both attorneys representing clients before federal agencies.

J. M. Budleson, formerly of Gatesville, now with Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, discussing routine matters with Social Security officials.

Judge Jesse Wright of Corpus Christi and John Fouts of Dallas, backers of improvements on the Nueces and Trinity rivers, respectively.

Fred Woodard of Corpus Christi, lawyer, calling on representative Richard Kleberg of Corpus.

Pat Holt, Jr., Gatesville, recent winner of $1,500 Pulitzer prize for scholastic achievements in journalism at Columbia university, with his father calling on Representative Poage. The elder Holt is editor of Gatesville Messenger. The son will take prize money and leave Los Angeles June 25 for travels in Australia.

Miss Fern Hetscher, now doing press agent work in New York but once on Corpus Christi Caller-Times, visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Elliott, now secretary to Kleberg, Elliott also once on the Caller-Times staff.

Texans Told How To Destroy Mosquitoes

In line with the city manager's recent call on Pampans to cut weeds that have sprung up rapidly as a result of heavy rainfall during the past month, is the advice of Dr. George M. Cox, state health officer, on how to eradicate mosquitoes, that accompany the rapid growth of weeds around still water.

Dr. Cox says:

"Prevention of malaria should start with the protection of humans from the bite of the infected mosquito and continue through to the elimination of the mosquito."

"The protection of humans may be accomplished by screening all houses to prevent the entrance of mosquitoes. A 16-mesh wire screen should be placed over all openings. Be sure that all chimneys, cracks, and other openings are covered."

"The malaria mosquito breeds in still water and the pools and grassy edges of running water, as well as in many places where water is allowed to collect or stand. The female mosquito then lays her eggs on the surface of the water, where they float, and in a few days hatch into 'wiggle-tails.' These live in the water and in time turn in mosquitoes. These changes must take place in the water and require 12 to 14 days in summer to complete the cycle."

"In order to prevent the malaria mosquito from breeding, destroy their shelters by removing all brush and weeds; and drain or otherwise control their breeding places in water by spraying the surface with oil or putting top-feeding minnows in waters where oil or drainage cannot be used. Such a campaign will be waged around all military areas in Texas."

Power Sufficient, Declares Kellogg

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 3 (AP)—With the nation's electric power industry expanding to meet the challenges of defense production, "an allegation of power shortage is unwarranted," C. W. Kellogg, president of the Edison Electric Institute, declared today.

Addressing the institute's ninth annual convention, he told the utility executives and electrical manufacturers the "power situation will be found to have been adequately provided for."

"In addition to the unprecedented increases of seven and a half million kilowatts in generating capacity to be added in 1941 and 1942, a great basic element of strength in the electric power situation is the ample reserve of generating capacity that has been built up over past years," he explained.

Tom P. Walker, president of the Gulf States Utilities company, Beaumont, Texas, told the institute "the utility industry has no chance whatever of winning a price cutting war with the government of the United States in its present state of mind."

He suggested that only "adding plus values to our sales and service may we find some hope in our situation."

He emphasized "rates as low as economically feasible," an "aggressive sales program, intensified personal attention to the customer and a 'spirit of cheerful optimism and helpful service on the part of all personnel.'"

Hillier To Give France Free Hand

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
BERLIN, June 3 (AP)—Germany will give France a free hand to repel any attempts by England or other powers on her sovereignty, authorized German sources intimated today without flatly saying so.

The question arose in connection with British press demands for seizure of Syria.

Asked whether Germany could afford to let England take this French mandate, these sources said: "We don't cross bridges before we come to them. For the present we have Marshal Pétain's and Admiral Darlan's statements that they will defend all their territory."

"Germany, although victor, is ready to concede this sacred right and duty of every nation to the French themselves."

"Whether and in what manner France may desire to throw onto the scales the weight of German-French relationships developed in the course of the past year is something one can not discuss theoretically. Only a practical case can show."

Authorized sources declined to throw further light on yesterday's meeting of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini at the Brenner Pass.

"It is the custom for the two statesmen both before and after all major events to meet in that spirit of solidarity which already has become historic to take stock of the past and check over plans for the future," it was asserted. "Their talks are rich in content."

Keys 'Foursome' To Observe 26th Birthday Tomorrow

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 3 (AP)—The Keys quadruplets will celebrate their 26th birthday tomorrow, separated for the first time on the festive occasion.

Moira, first of the four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Plake Keys, wed, left this morning with her husband, Bob Fowler, for a visit in Bloomington, Ind.

The other three—Mary, Roberta and Leota—are home from school teaching jobs.

Roberts will be married June 22 to Roland S. Torn of Canton, Texas.

"All we plan for tomorrow is a swim with daddy," said Leota.

Three Appointments Of O'Daniel Rejected

AUSTIN, June 3 (AP)—Three appointments of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel were rejected and a number confirmed by the senate today.

Rejected were Mrs. Claude De Van Watts of Austin as chairman of the state liquor control board, Edwin G. Lucy of Longview as a member of the game, fish and oyster commission and W. O. Yarborough of Corpus Christi as a member of the state prison board.

Among those confirmed was O. P. Lockhart of Austin, appointed state life insurance commissioner.

Bandeon Addresses Chamber Secretaries

"Our membership represents all businesses and they are all in the same boat in this matter," Bandoen declared. "Business men must be taught to pull together in preserving the rights of property. They are pulling apart."

Bandoen expressed the opinion the Chamber of Commerce should enhance property, increase business, create community assets and foster proprietary developments.

Mann Advocates Raise in Basic Pay Of Soldiers

(By The Associated Press)

While Governor W. Lee O'Daniel delivered the first open-air address of his senatorial campaign at Waco last night to the accompaniment of wind, rain and thunder storm, the three other major candidates continued an unabated pace.

At Galveston Attorney General Gerald C. Mann urged that the basic pay of soldiers should be raised from $21 to $40 to provide them with a financial "cushion" when they are mustered out of service.

He also advocated more federal aid for old-age pensions and pledged his support to give the federal bureau of investigation increased power to cope with subversive activities.

O'Daniel declared that he favored President Roosevelt's defense program and he wanted "to go to Washington to help the president."

Cardinals And Indians Back In Top Place

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was the talk of the Major leagues last year that the Cincinnati Reds won 42 games by one-run margins and in doing it won the National league pennant and the world championship.

But the way things are going this season, that record may look puny before the finish. It took a total of three runs to return the St. Louis Cardinals and Cleveland Indians to first place in their respective leagues yesterday and that's just a sample of what's been going on.

To date, 21 of the Cardinals' 44 contests have been decided by single runs with the Redbirds winning 15 of them, mostly in the late innings. The Indians have found two runs a more comfortable margin, either winning or losing. They've had seven one-run decisions in their favor and six against them in 49 games.

The Cards broke their tie with Brooklyn yesterday by beating the Dodgers, 5-4. The Indians, after losing two games to the Yankees, bounced back the way they usually do when Bob Feller is pitching, whipped the Yanks 7-5 and moved to the top after sending a day behind the Chicago White Sox.

Some distance behind these leaders, the Reds and Boston Red Sox moved up. The world champions turned back the New York Giants 4-3 and took fourth place in the National league by a few percentage points over the Chicago Cubs. The Red Sox, taking advantage of Philadelphia's rain-enforced idleness in St. Louis, moved a half game ahead of the A's into fourth with a 9-1 triumph over Detroit.

The White Sox, after reaching the top for the first time since 1921, succumbed 8-3 to Steve Sundra and the seventh-place Washington Senators.

Boston's Red Sox belted the Tigers behind a four-hit hurling job by Joe Dobson.

Fiddler Bill McGee, who has yet to win a game for the Giants, gave the Reds only four hits in 6 2/3 innings, but they were enough. Home runs by Eddie Joost and Ernie Lombardi accounted for three tallies and two walks followed by a clean single by Elmer Riddle. The Reds' pitcher, scored the winning run.

The Phillies aided the Reds' advance when they knocked off the Cubs for the first time this season, on Johnny Podgajny's seven-hit hurling and Danny Lattin's two homers. Dick Erickson gave the Boston Braves their first shutout triumph of the campaign, stopping the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0, with five hits.

Lou Gehrig Dies Of Rare And Incurable Disease

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—Lou Gehrig, the great "iron horse" of baseball, is dead.

The big, handsome fellow who was a marvel of power and endurance for 14 years as the first baseman of the New York Yankees, died last night at his home in the Bronx after an illness of two years from a rare and apparently incurable disease that caused the fluid in his spinal column to harden and his muscles to shrivel.

The end came 17 days before Lou would have been 38 years old and wrote fits to a fight with disease that was as dramatic and courageous as any of his exploits on the diamond.

Right up until the time he fell into a coma yesterday afternoon Gehrig never acknowledged that he was licked.

But others knew he was waging a losing fight and when death came his wife and close relatives were gathered at the bedside.

Arrangements were made for private funeral services at 8 a. m.

(CST) tomorrow. The body will be cremated.

Gehrig's place among baseball's immortals was assured a year ago when he was voted into the sport's hall of fame. Before he voluntarily withdrew from the Yankee lineup May 2, 1939, at Detroit, he set a never approached record of playing in 2,130 consecutive championship games, 34 world series contests and countless exhibitions.

He started his streak as a pinch-hitter on June 1, 1925. The next day he replaced Wally Pipp at first base and never missed a game for 14 years.

He twice was named the most valuable player in the American league, led it in batting with 363 in 1924, set a major league record for batting in more than 100 runs in a year for 13 years, set the American league mark of 184 runs batted in in 1931, hit a home run with the bases loaded on 23 different times and once hit four homers in one game, feats never equalled.

Syria Likely To Be Next Battleground

LONDON, June 3 (AP)—Qualified observers predicted today the war cabinet soon would declare Syria an enemy-occupied territory, opening the French-mandated wedge between Turkey and Palestine for full-scale British attack.

Reports from Turkey that the Nazis already had landed sea-borne infantry with motorized equipment at the Syrian port of Latakia, just east of Britain's island of Cyprus, were interpreted in some quarters as indicating the race for positions of a new war front already was on.

There were indications British official circles would not be surprised if the Vichy government soon requested German "protection" of all French Colonial possessions, including Syria and Lebanon in the Middle East.

The Brenner Pass meeting of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini yesterday in a war-strategy session prompted almost unlimited speculation as to where the Axis would strike next.

Most guesses, however, involved the Suez Canal.

Many observers declared they were convinced the Axis leaders had decided on a drive across Cyprus and Syria to Iraq and Palestine in an effort to split Britain's Middle East forces before touching off the actual Libyan thrust toward the canal.

John Whitlow Wyatt had pitched 11 years... had been given up on by three American league clubs when Brooklyn paid Milwaukee $25,000 for him.

Al Smith was at the same stage when Steve O'Neill talked him into sticking with the game in 1939. Even the Phillies passed him along.

Detroit has given him the air and Luke Hamlin had tolled nine terms when he struck his stride with the Dodgers.

Emil Leonard couldn't make it with Brooklyn... tolled eight years before he developed and Washington capitalized on his knuckle ball.

Bucky Walters quit pitching for third basing... tramped around for seven seasons before he was transferred into one of the game's top pitchers.

Truett Sewell is the only man in a Pittsburgh uniform who could possibly be passed off as a pitcher. Detroit had the Alabama, but he required seven years to get going. Detroit handed Carl Owen Hubbell a elite slip. The Meek Man of Meeker was six years developing the screwball and poise that made Bill Terry's Mean Ticket.

Walter Kirby Higbe was lousy in the Cubs in a trade with Philadelphia... was among those present for a half dozen grinds before he showed the stuff that brought $100,000.

Bo-bo Newton struggled for an equal length of time... had been with 10 clubs before he hit it off with the lowly Browns. Harry Gumbert of the Giants and Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons spent six-year apprenticeships.

Lefty Grove tolled seven years before he conquered wildness. Red Ruffing worked for a similar period before attracting the attention of the Yankees. Al Milnar had been at it seven years when he came through with 18 victories for Cleveland last term. Curt Davis spent a half dozen years in the minors.

Many pitchers, especially left-handers, are a long time developing. The pitcher is the one ball player who can be sent away by a major league club and bounce back with something new.

Missions Climb Out Of Cellar

(By The Associated Press)

The victory-famished San Antonio Missions found a reluctant prey night and took both ends of a bill from the Beaumont Expo to climb out of the Texas cellar.

The Missions, playing at home both games by a one-run margin, 5-4 and 1-0, to drop the porters into last place. The night dragged along into the early morning hours before San Antonio squared out one run in the last half of the ninth.

Does a manufacturer hesitate to "farm out" much of a fat government contract, is he reluctant to hand facilities or inclined to haggle over a profit?... the nation's needs first.

Common Ground

This column contains there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

MEANING OF THE FORD LABOR ELECTION... To any student of history, the Ford election is most alarming.

The vote was almost 70 per cent for C I O being the collective bargaining agent.

They do not know that when unions take control of a plant, the worst pirate, the worst crook, the most ignorant man in the union has as much to say with his vote, as to what each man shall produce and what he shall get.

Ownership No Longer Management... They do not seem to realize that it is taking away from the man who has produced and abetted and furnished the tools his right to manage these tools.

Of course, if they themselves owned a cow, they could see that they should have the right to determine how that cow should be fed and milked and who should do the feeding and milking.

They do not seem to know that the unions need not keep any record of expenditures that is available to the members.

They do not seem to know that the union leaders can make any fines or assessments they want to against the men.

They do not seem to know, of course, that big production is a result of free judgment; that mechanical and productive laws cannot be determined by majority rule.

The people who voted for the C I O to represent them, of course, are not consistent thinkers.

The Ford election gives warning to every consistent person that our production will be governed by the intelligence of the average, not of the few, capable, farseeing, practical people, as it has been largely in the past.

It is history repeating itself of majority rule committing suicide. It will be remembered that Carlisle said, "in a democracy, the vote of Jesus Christ and Judas Iscariot count the same."

When the government takes away from the individual his right to use his best judgment and makes him comply with the will of the majority, even as to what he dare buy and read, no matter how short-sighted or inexperienced or selfish they may be, then it is only a question of time until that nation becomes so weak and so poverty-stricken that it is taken over by another people that more nearly recognize man's rights to the fruits of his labor.

The Ford election gives all thinking people evidence of what is taking place.

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—With so much activity in the studios making jobs for many more players, the talent agents are as busy and independent as a movie queen with 20 suitors.

The other day I happened to be in an agent's office when his secretary told him that So-and-So, a well-known actor, was calling.

"Oh, he did? So now you want to break the contract and get me to handle you?"

"No, I can't. I mean I won't. I didn't say 'fine'; I said 'fine' that means 'no'."

So, you're the kind of guy that drives any agent crazy and I've got no time to go crazy. If I got you twice what you're worth, you'd tell it all over town that I'd sold you down the river. I wouldn't handle you, even with tongs!

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

This column is glad to publish the following letter from M. M. McMillan: "I am enclosing this old-time Texas Ranger song that we used to sing over 50 years ago. I've been asked by parties to see if you would put it in the paper. I would appreciate it very much if you could see fit to publish it."

"Come all you Texas Rangers wherever you may be, I'll tell to you a story which happened unto me. My name is nothing extra, and to you I will not tell. I am Texas Ranger and sure wish you well. At the age of sixteen I joined a jolly band. We marched from San Antonio unto the Rio Grande. The captain he gave orders—I'm sure he thought it right—before we reach that station, my boys we'll have to fight. I saw the Indians coming. I heard them give a yell. My feelings at that moment no mortal tongue could tell. I saw their glittering lances and around the their arrows hailed. My heart it sank within me; my courage almost failed. Then I thought of my dear mother, with tears to me she said, "These wars are all for strangers and with me you'd better stay, but I thought she was old and childish and for the best she did not know. My mind was bent on ranging and I was bound to go. I saw the smoke ascending; it seemed to reach the sky. My feelings at that moment was, now is my time to die. The Indians they kept gathering, and the captain gave command, "Arms for arms!" he shouted, "and by your horses stand. We fought them nine hours before the fight was o'er. The like of dead and wounded I never saw before. Five as good old Rangers as ever traveled west were buried by their comrades sweet peace to be their rest. Perhaps you have a mother, likewise a sister, too. And maybe a good old sweetheart who would weep and mourn for you, if that be your situation although you'd like to roam, I'll advise you from experience you'd better stay at home."

There is no peace—indeed, there is no neutrality—between right and wrong.

THE LOOKING GLASS

JOY AT LAST By Stella Hallit

One school of thought about Louella was that she stuck to Sid from a sense of duty. Women stuck to their men where Louella was raised. Another school said Sid was just a habit and Louella was too lazy to walk out and earn an honest living for herself.

Louella considered it neither duty nor inertia to stick to Sid. She loved him, she always had and always would. Although she had learned to hide her heartache, she suffered as much, or more, from Sid's last extra marital relation as she had from his first. Perhaps the aches increased as she fought the everlasting battle to hold Sid's love. The spring went out of her step, her hair was prematurely grey, she looked like Sid's mother though she was actually two years his junior.

She knew no reason why Sid should love her when the world was full of beautiful women; she only hoped. Louella never thought of leaving Sid. She knew he would wander and always come back because Louella was his protection from the responsibilities that other women wanted him to assume.

Sid's loves were varied, but never profound, not even his love for Louella. He had loved her briefly long ago. Love was to Sid the excitement of seeing how far they'd go, what clandestine appointments they'd make, what husbands and sweatearts they'd double-cross. When the initial excitement was done so was Sid. He never guessed there was any more to love than that. And it was so to the day he died.

Louella faced the desolation of life without Sid. Unthinkable while he lived, it was inevitable now. But she had become accustomed to the finality of it. She tasted the first peace she had ever known. She still loved Sid but now there was no bitterness to hide. She could even imagine that Sid loved her since she had no rivals. She thought of him as he was during courtship days. He was always tender, always eagerly anticipating their next meeting.

She dreamed of him and he was always coming toward her his eyes alight with joy. With so much happiness and no longer any anxiety, Louella renewed her youth. Her eyes took on a merry sparkle and her grey hair waved softly about her young-old face. There was never anyone to dispute her claim to say, "My Sid!"

TEX'S TOPICS

By Tex DeWesse

SEVERAL persons have asked us lately about newspaper censorship in the now "unlimited national emergency"...

There can be only two reasons for censorship of newspapers. One is to manipulate people at home. The other is to keep information of military value away from possible enemies abroad.

GOOD sense indicates that information of military value shall not be passed on to the enemies or potential enemies of the United States by censorship.

Thus it may be seen that censorship is likely to do the one thing it should not do: namely, becloud local opinion; while failing to do the thing it ought to do: namely, preventing the enemy or potential enemy from getting the information in time to do it any good.

Voluntary censorship keeps little news from going abroad, especially since the cables abroad are uncensored. Shortwave radio and the cabaret are the points to choke off information going abroad, not censorship of American newspapers.

That is the sort of restriction which Creel recommended, with voluntary censorship back of him. That is the sort of censorship, together with proper vigilance at the source, which will do what needs to be done.

For free Americans, full information; for enemies or potential enemies, nothing. That is the general framework on which any arrangements for news coverage in an emergency should be worked out.

Pretty soon most Americans will be launching out on their vacations (except those like the 38,000 in the vital Curtis-Wright airplane plants, who have patriotic fervor given up theirs in order to produce 60 more planes and 280 more engines during that time.)

THE least of those of us can do who go on the annual vacation is not to kill anybody while we're away. Yet some of us will... Vacation season is always a carnival for death on the highways and the United States enters this one with 1500 more dead already on the roads this year than last.

The War Today

(This daily feature, conducted by Dewitt Mackenzie, is being written in his absence on vacation by Fred Vanderschmidt).

The French are proving to the satisfaction of the Axis that a country cannot get out of this war even by being licked. Militarily slain, desiring only to lie for a while in the grave of their sorrow, the conquered are prodiged from the tomb to become the zombies of the conqueror's war plan.

That is the meaning of French collaboration with Germany; sealed, apparently, by Vice-Premier Admiral Darlan's violent tirade against the British last Saturday; by the conferences of Marshal Petain's cabinet today with General Maxime Weygand, supreme political and military overseer of the French empire beyond the Mediterranean and expert on Syrian conditions.

It is no accident that these events coincide with the finish of the Crete campaign and with another of those meetings of the Axis dictators at Brennero. The symptoms of French participation, however reluctant, in the new Axis military phase are plain: feverish resurrection of a state of armed preparedness among the heart-sick French armies of Syria against their former allies, the British; intimations from German spokesmen that they will "permit" the French to have what is called the sacred right of fighting the British if the latter try to seize Syria from next-door Iraq and Palestine; reports (denied by Germans) that the vanguard of motorized Nazi desert fighting units already are in Syria; British predictions that France will give up Syria in return for protection all her possessions from Dakar to Damascus.

No one need be surprised to see an Axis air-borne attack on the British fortified island of Cyprus, less than 100 miles from Syria, by the Nazi planes which already squat on the air bases of Iraq and Lebanon; or tremendous air raids on the Suez canal, which is less than 300 miles from Damascus; or, eventually, a mechanized land assault on Haifa, headed for the canal, and a sweep of the Egyptians and dive bombers into Iraq.

The men and supplies for such land drives probably would have to come through Turkey to Syria, and not by sea, but the Germans are counting on that.

On the other side of Suez, French Tunisia is a useful extra base for trans-shipment of men and material for the eastward drive on the canal, once the Axis has plucked the hardy British thorn from its flank at Tobruk.

Already, to M. Darlan's inspired rage, the British are attacking Axis munitions and supply ships at Sfax, Tunisia.

Further west... visualize the Axis firmly controlling French Morocco and Dakar, with Weygand's African army pledged to immobility. Weygand, indeed, may have been told today that he has no other choice, lacking bullets, air power and supplies.

Then the Axis might besiege Gibraltar, which is of transcendent importance not only in the battle of the Mediterranean but in the battle of the Atlantic. Take away the powerful British fleet units, which use the Rock's deep harbor as a blockade base and the Germans would have a clean sweep of sea, hundreds of miles wide, through which to move sea-borne supplies from South America to Brest and in which U-boats and raiders, based on Dakar and Morocco, could attack British south Atlantic shipping.

RIAL STORY

FOOTSTEPS IN THE FOG

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Deborah Lovett, attending the... a strange young man in the fog...

Illustrated by Ed Cunder. 'So you've landed our visiting Storm Trooper,' Angela said. 'It's even rumored that he boasts a title.'

CHAPTER II ANGELA dropped the subject—to Deborah's immense relief. Somehow she did not want to talk just now about the young man she had met in the fog.

'Well,' Angela told her with an air of satisfaction, 'it may interest you to know that I, too, have not been idle. I ran over to the university this morning to pick up an outline of Doctor Brooks' Shakespearean seminar, and I stumbled over a lad on the same errand who isn't too hopeless—one Sam Lindstrom, by name. He fancies himself beyond any justification that appears to the naked eye—but he's amusing. . . . Oh, by the way, there's a parcel from home for you, Debby.'

As usual, Angela's nimble coral-tipped tongue was darting inconspicuously here and there, in happy oblivion of the one-sidedness of the conversation.

'On the desk there—' she pointed. 'I'll bet dollars to doughnuts it's that old woolen dress you hid so Bridgie wouldn't make you bring it!'

Deborah strolled over to the desk.

'I'll go you one better,' she laughed, poking the bulky parcel with amused resignation. 'It's my bet that Bridgie's put in a pair of hip boots and a kerosene heater for good measure.'

When Deborah's widowed mother had died, it was Bridget Lanahan, for years the Lovett housekeeper, who had decreed that the old Cape Cod home should be kept open, and that she should remain there as custodian during the rest of Deborah's school days.

Since there was no one to object except Deborah's guardian—who welcomed the plan with obvious relief; and Deborah—who hadn't a Chinaman's chance against Bridgie's naive assumption that she was not only as inalienably a part of Deborah's modest estate as the front door of the house, but also the divinely appointed watch-dog of her health and morals—the house did remain open; and after eight years, Bridgie was still in office.

ON the first day of the special session at the university, Deborah lingered so long over the morning radio-broadcast of European news that she barely missed being late for Doctor Brooks' seminar.

Slipping as inconspicuously as possible into the room—for Doc Brooks had a widely publicized reputation for being temperamental about tardiness—she was conscious at first only of relief that there was an empty chair at the end of the long table nearest the door. Then she realized that beside her a tall young man was on his feet, and clicking his heels together in a precise little foreign bow, was placing the vacant chair for her.

It was only as she was about to sit down that she recognized him. In the bright light of the room, he was not quite the shining figure of some old heroic legend which, for that first moment, the theatrical alchemy of the fog had made him seem the evening before. Yet even now, there was about him a flashing suggestion of the young Siegfried on holiday. 'So?' he said softly, while Deborah, mindful of Doctor Brooks' restive glance at his watch, slid her slim length into her chair with as little ostentation as possible. 'It is not only the fog that is kind to me. When I go again to England,

I shall hang a wreath on Shakespeare's tomb—something really snappy in wreaths.'

'They'll be hanging wreaths on your tomb if you don't sit down,' Deborah murmured, smothering a laugh. 'Dear Teacher is glaring at you with murder in his eye.'

His name, she learned after several surreptitious glances at his notebook, was Stephan Syrovoy Ley von Thalmann. . . . Cautious as she had been about her peeping, she knew from the almost imperceptible quiver of his right eyebrow that he had caught her at it, and was amused.

In spite of the arrogant set of his head and shoulders and his reckless blue eyes, she decided that he did not look at all like the swashbuckling, bully boy young German so commonly exploited by current journalism. She rather liked the freshly scrubbed look of him, and the sensitiveness of his cleanly chiseled mouth and chin.

After all, she told herself with a half-admitted flicker of regret, she should probably have been entirely safe in going to dinner with him last night.

It is possible that they might have gone on uneventfully through the spring—just sitting there side by side, pleasantly conscious of each other, exchanging an occasional smile and a few stolen words from time to time, if it had not been for the entirely unpredictable factor of mob psychology.

The war was naving its inevitable repercussions of hysterical suspicion in the United States; and in spite of young Von Thalmann's almost eager friendliness, Deborah noticed a covert hostility on the part of many of the class toward him. Sam Lindstrom, the dark young man with the silky sardonic tongue who from that first day had attached himself to Angela Silva, was the ring-leader of this group.

Several times when young Von Thalmann offered an opinion, a murmur of antagonism edged with derision ran from chair to chair about the seminar table. The first time, he glanced about him as if unable to believe that any one could intentionally have been so rude. Later, Deborah noticed that although he always went on with flawless self-possession and good humor, he sometimes crimsoned to the line of his fair hair, and that his eyes were the hurt, bewildered eyes of a snubbed small boy.

She found herself amused, and unexpectedly touched at finding that, for all his cocky little air of knowing that the world was his own particular oyster, he was so vulnerable. Perhaps that was why it was her Yankee love of fair play—when he asked her again to have dinner with him, she accepted.

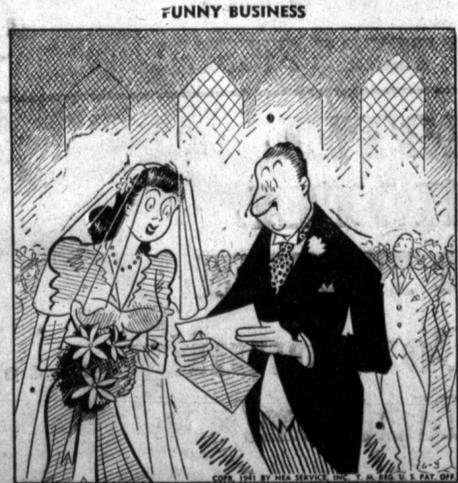

WHILE Deborah was dressing for the occasion, Angela perched on the foot of her bed, watching her with amused speculation in her bright black eyes. 'So you've landed our visiting Storm Trooper?' she began as Deborah ran a comb lightly through the amber cloud of curls at the back of her neck.

'Storm Trooper? . . . What on earth are you driving at, Angel?' Deborah asked absently. 'That's what every one's saying. . . . Angela's pointed coral tongue seemed fairly to savor the spice of her titbit. 'Oh, well—not exactly a Storm Trooper, perhaps. 'Sam Lindstrom knows some German refugees; and he says they told him the beautiful Stephan is an officer in the German army—one of the bright young men in official circles. It's even rumored that he boasts a title—not to speak of landed estates all over the map of Europe—if European intelligence can still be said to have a map. . . . 'I don't believe it,' Deborah shrugged. 'He's just another homesick boy who wants some one to dance with him.' Nevertheless, she went downstairs a little uneasily. (To Be Continued)

House Favors Run-Off In Senate Race

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, June 2.—A proposal to require a run-off election in the U. S. Senatorial campaign was circulated, the hardy 47th legislature today seemed aiming at a new record in the length of its general session.

More than 20 members of the house yesterday signed a bill which would make mandatory a run-off election in the senatorial race on July 19. Under current law, the ballot-casting will occur June 28 and the candidate with the highest number of votes, not necessarily a majority, will represent the people in the federal senate.

Apparently determined not to quit any time soon, despite strong hints from senatorial candidate Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, the lower legislative branch yesterday hotly debated several adjournment and recess proposals without accepting any.

The nearest the house, which has sent the senate a proposal to recess instead of adjourn, came to agreeing on a quitting date was when it killed, 65 to 61, a resolution to adjourn June 13. The session two years ago, lasting 163 days and ending June 21, smashed all longevity records.

After the senate voted overwhelmingly to override O'Daniel's veto of the state auditor bill, the house balked by a margin wide enough to indicate it might not join the upper branch in the movement. O'Daniel had asked the legislature to take over appointment of an

The hotel business is not only the seventh largest business in the United States, but it has played an important part in history and civilization for thousands of years. Tracing the history of the hotel down through the ages shows that always they have been the center of activity of the community both in business and social circles.

We, the undersigned hotels, are proud to point out the many facilities and services that are at the disposal of the community in which we serve.

Factors which give the hotel an important role in the life of the community which it serves are many. Hotels pay taxes in large amounts; hotels employ many citizens of the community; (56 employed in Pampa) hotels offer congenial meeting places for social and business purposes; and hotels offer accommodations to visitors of the community who in turn spend money with local merchants.

The observation of National Hotel Week this year marks the 147th year of "open house"; dating from the establishment of the first real hotel in New York City in 1794. This "first" was a 73-room hotel. Since this meager beginning almost a century and a half ago, the hotel industry has shown large and consistent growth until today there are approximately 20,000 good hotels in the United States, containing 1,175,000 guest rooms and paying salaries to more than 550,000 persons.

Because of the many ramifications of their services and contributions, hotels have set aside National Hotel Week, June 1-7, to convey to the American Public that they are "AN ASSET TO THE COMMUNITY . . . A SERVICE TO THE NATION" and we, the undersigned, extend a cordial invitation to all to visit with us this week!
