O'Daniel Almost Certain To Run For U. S. Senate

AUSTIN, APRIL 22 (AP)—The appointment of 86-year-old Andrew Jackson Houston as United States senator from Texas was caustically denounced in the State Senate today by Senator Joe Hill of Henderson.

Houston was appointed yesterday by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel to the vacancy resulting from the death April 9 of Senator Morris Sheppard.

In the house there also were reverberations, Rep. L. W. Harris of Whitney declaring it was "very unfortunate." The house adopted a resolution inviting Houston to address it.

Hill asserted there had never been a time in Texas history when greater responsibility rested in the appointive power and "there never was a time when it was more abused."

"The appointee is physically unable to serve and the sole purpose and design was for obtaining favor at the polls," Hill shouted.

The appointee will serve as senator until a special election June 28 in which Governor O'Daniel may be a candidate.

Hill was discussing a resolution by Senator Clem Fain of Livingston congratulating the governor on the appointment and Houston on his receiving it.

By a vote of 17 to 11, the senate refused to take up the resolution out of its regular order, a motion to this effect having been made by Fain.

Sightseers Impede Work On Underpass

Sightseers and children stopping by on their way after school is over at 4 o'clock in the afternoon are causing Pampa police trouble at the intersection of the P. & S. F. tracks on Cuyler, as work on the underpass progresses. Work began Monday.

People are driving up on the west side of the underpass, parking their cars to get a show of the work, and their vehicles are blocking out the steam shovels and trucks, slowing down work on the underpass.

School children also are among the spectators, ganging up at the underpass, after school.

All of this adds to the police's work of keeping the intersection clear and causes more anxiety as to whether someone will be hurt.

Routing of traffic is another thing that is causing confusion.

The police department wants it known that the tracks can be crossed at Frost and Starkweather, but there is no parking allowed on the 100 block on S. Frost, both sides of the street; and no parking on the east side of the 100 block on S. Russell.

In the 100 block on S. Starkweather, oiling and graving of the street is in progress, but the street is open, and motorists are advised to travel with caution, according to Ray Dudley, city traffic policeman.

TEXAS' NEW U. S. SENATOR

Sam Houston's Son Appointed Senator

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
HOUSTON, April 22 (AP)—Gaunt, feeble Gen. Andrew Jackson Houston, 86-year-old son of Texas' greatest hero, joined Senator Tom Connally in spirit today to represent Texas in the United States senate.

In one of the most shocking surprises of state political history, General Houston was named yesterday by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to fill the post left by the death of Morris Sheppard.

The excitement was too much for the aged son of Sam Houston, and he lay in his bed after the governor paid him a visit at his Bayshore home 24 miles from here and informed him of his selection.

In view of his age, it was problematical whether the "new senator" would travel to Washington. Relatives reported he was pleased at the appointment but said they did not know whether he would assume his duties actively.

Students of politics assumed that Gov. O'Daniel tipped his hand in naming General Houston. They felt the appointment indicated the governor himself would run in the June 28 special election to pick a full-time senator.

It was felt by them he would not have appointed a man who might build up a powerful following and then run for the office.

Already in the ring are the hats of Rep. Martin Dies, Attorney-General Gerald Mann and others.

O'Daniel made no mention of his intentions in his speech yesterday at the San Jacinto monument, the great structure built on the battlegrounds where Gen. Sam Houston battered the army of Santa Anna and won Texas its freedom from Mexico.

A master showman, he was content to make his announcement on the anniversary of Sam Houston's victory and to devote his address to the two Houstons—father and son—whose family history now will show that both have served in the national senate.

He visited General Houston at the latter's home and surprised the venerable former candidate for governor with the announcement of his selection.

O'Daniel took along his own photographer, who snapped shots of him and the new senator. After the formal address at the battlegrounds ceremony, reporters and photographers who sought out General Houston were told he would not receive them.

General Houston was named for the Texas liberator's close friend, President Andrew Jackson.

In 1874, he helped organize the Travis Rifles at Austin, who protected the Democratic legislature during reconstruction days.

He organized and commanded the Dallas battalion, field artillery, Texas Volunteer Guard, from 1886 to 1888; organized a troop of cavalry for the Roosevelt Rough Riders in the Spanish-American War, and was professor of military science and tactics at St. Mary's university on Trinity Bay.

He was admitted to the bar in 1876. In 1892 he ran for governor on the Republican ticket, although he is now a Democrat, and was twice later on the prohibition ticket.

He has written a number of books on Texas history. Two years ago, Governor O'Daniel gave him an honorary commission as a major general of the Texas national guard.

Clean-Up Stickers Put On Automobiles

A proclamation today gave Pampans notice of the efforts the city, the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, and women's clubs will put forth this year in making Pampa a fire-safe and clean city.

While clean-up week does not open until Sunday, there has been a lot of work done in advance. Many Pampa automobiles have "clean-up week" stickers on their windshields, and a series of radio talks over Station KPDM is being given this week to lay the ground-work for a renaissance of making Pampa a clean and beautiful city.

Mr. Frank Perry of the 20th Century Forum was the speaker on today's radio program, following the initial talk made yesterday by Jack Davis, junior high school teacher and coach, and volunteer fireman. Wednesday's speaker will be Dr. N. L. Nicholl, assistant city health officer.

Erickson, Ward, Bryan Families Register In Native State Canvass

The A. E. Erickson family of Pampa registered yesterday and became the largest family to date to fill out blanks for the native state canvass now being conducted by The News and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Four members of the Erickson family, Mrs. Erickson, Charles, Arnold, Allen were born at Ridgeway, Colo. Mr. Erickson was born at Ashtabula, and Janet was born at Troy, N. Y. The Ericksons have lived in Colorado, Texas, New York where Mr. Erickson attended college.

Another family to register was the J. E. Ward family of five members, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ward, Mrs. P. D. Morris, Mrs. Jesse Cox, Ben Ward, all of whom were born at Carthage, Tenn.

Will the Ward and the Erickson families be the largest to register? Come on there, you large families and fill out the blanks!

Two more Kansans added to the Kansas total—Mrs. Lee Roy Blackmon, born at Arkansas City, and Charles L. Bryan, born at El Dorado. Another native of New Mexico, John C. Jones, born at Tucuman, Mr. Jones has lived in Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Oklahoma, California and in Texas three times and he says now that Texas can't be beat.

Five more native Ohioans filled out the blank—J. R. Musseiman, born at Hamilton; Mrs. James E. Bryan, born at Woodville; Eleanor Brodgin, Elda; Warren Brodgin, born at Hamilton; Adam Brodgin, born at Spencersville.

Heading the list of native Pennsylvanians today was the registration of C. E. (Dan) McGrew, city police court judge. Mr. McGrew was born at Troutman, Pa. He came to Abilene in 1903. Another Quaker to fill out the blank was James E. Bryan of the Merten lease, also born at Troutman, Mr. Bryan has lived in West Virginia, Oklahoma, Montana, Idaho, North Dakota, Oregon, Texas, Nebraska. He's a pumper for the Mag.

Speaking of Idaho, C. P. (Doc) Pursley, was born at Boise City, and came to Miami with his parents at the age of six weeks—April 30, 1891.

Two Nebraskans, Mrs. J. R. Musseiman, born at Lincoln, and Mrs. Ethel Olsen, born at Berwyn, registered. Mrs. Musseiman lives at Skellytown.

A native of Oregon, Wilma Jean Bryan, born at Eugene also registered. Another member of the Bryan family, Sylvia Bryan, was born at Electra. So that makes every member of the Bryan family a native of a different state. Her Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kansas. That's pretty good. Can anybody beat it?

C-C Goodwill Group To Go To Canadian

Canadian will be visited tomorrow night by the Goodwill Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, and Weathered, chairman, announced this morning.

"Due to some conflicting entertainments, we had to change our visit from Tuesday night to Wednesday night, this week," Weathered said.

All members of the goodwill committee are being urged to line up a big crowd for the trip to Canadian.

The delegation will leave from the city hall not later than 7 p. m. and because of the longer distance to Canadian it is suggested that those who can, go earlier.

The program will be at the Canadian High school auditorium, beginning promptly at 8:00 p. m. and will be over in an hour to an hour and a half.

Ken Bennett and his solovox, Willis Stark, cornet player, the Tonettes, and the A Capella choir will be featured on the program.

Some fun and comedy will be mixed in with the program and Canadian talent will likewise appear on the program.

The Canadian High school band will play opening numbers at the program and the Canadian Glee Club will entertain.

These programs are doing a great deal to get the people of Pampa better acquainted with their friends of the Panhandle and each store in Pampa is urged to send a representative. Weathered said this morning.

The rural relations and inter-city committees of the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs and the Goodwill committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce have been asked to assist in getting a representative crowd out for the trips and have been doing a good job.

Dudley Captures Jail Fugitive

The city police department's three-wheel motorcycle came in handy yesterday afternoon when Officer Ray Dudley chased an escaping city jail trusty west on U. S. highway 60 and brought him back on the "rumble seat."

Now, instead of working out a $15 intoxication fine, the man is laying the fine out in jail and getting only half pay credit on his bond.

Three men appeared before Recorder C. E. McGrew yesterday, all charged with intoxication. Two of them drew $10 fines but the third, a previous offender, was fined $15. None had money to pay fines so work was their decision.

Officer Dudley put the men to painting curbs and they worked industriously during the morning. But after dinner Officer Dudley making his rounds, found only two at work. They told him their companion had taken a "rumble seat."

The officers decided to try Highway 60 west, in his search and a couple of miles out of town he spied his man hiking toward where the sun sets.

So Officer Dudley put his man on the rear seat and brought him back to town.

"He can leave as soon as his fine is laid out," declared the officer, and Judge McGrew heartily agreed.

'We Must Assume Total Victory' Says U. S. Envoy

LONDON, April 22 (AP)—The United States Ambassador to London John G. Winant, told the American Chamber of Commerce today that "we are not concerned with words—we are determined to help (Britain) by action to insure total victory over totalitarian aggression."

He said that between Americans and "the free and unconquerable people of this island" there existed "a bond of common sympathy and understanding, of common purpose and devotion which will live on long after Nazi tyranny has been broken and destroyed."

Winant declared that American business men and manufacturers residing in Britain could do much to "hasten the day of complete victory over Nazi tyranny" by sharing their "knowledge of production methods with British industry."

Food Stamp Plan To Begin Here May 16

Work of interviewing relief clients, and preparing files was started today by the county case worker and the area office of the department of public welfare, preliminary to the beginning of the food stamp plan in Gray county on May 16.

The food stamp office will be located at 535 S. Cuyler, present location of a commodity warehouse. Name of the person to be issuing officer has not yet been selected by the county commissioners.

Persons in the eligible classes will be called in for interviews to determine if they wish to join in the food stamp plan. The system is a voluntary one and no person is compelled to join.

Basic objective of the plan is to secure a wider distribution of food vital to health to relief clients through local food stores, with blue stamps given as a bonus for orange stamps sold.

Committee Plans Publicity
Members of the food industries committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce met at 8 o'clock last night in the BCD committee room.

At this meeting, they heard William L. White of Wichita Falls, assistant district supervisor of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, explain what would be necessary for the grocermen and other food dealers of the county to do in the plan.

This will consist of the dealers doing a certain amount of advertising to educate clients on the food stamp plan. The expense is to be pro-rated among the dealers of the county, including grocers, dairymen, bakers, produce merchants, and wholesalers.

In conformity with this move, the committee is today sending out letters to Gray county food dealers asking them to join in the plan.

The committee has attempted to compile a complete list of food dealers as possible, and has asked that if a dealer is not on the mailing list, not to take this as a bar to participating.

Mass Meeting Called
To further inform food dealers, a mass meeting of all food dealers in the county has been tentatively set for May 12, here, at which time PSCC officials will be present. One of these will be Robert Moss, field supervisor, from Amarillo, who has been in and out of Pampa several times the past week in connection with starting the plan here.

Members of the food industries committee are Mr. Pumphrey, chairman; Jerry Boston, Mitchell Hill, L. P. Ward, A. E. Berry, all of Pampa; B. J. Diehl and R. T. Dickinson of McLean.

All the Pampa men were present at the meeting. Due to the distance they would have to travel, the out-of-town members were not asked to attend last night. Garnet Reeves, BCD manager, met with the committee.

Direct mail, pamphlets, posters, the radio, and newspapers will be the mediums used by the committee to tell the people of Gray county about the food stamp plan; what it is, how it operates, what is required.

Look at your hat. Everybody else does. See Roberts the Hat Man. (ADV.)

ATHENS, April 22 (AP)—British forces in Greece have completed an "adjustment" of their line "without serious interference from the enemy who has been roughly handled wherever met," a British defense communiqué announced today.

Allies May Make 'Last Ditch' Stand

Thermopylae Gap May Be Site Of New Battle

(By The Associated Press)
Germany's blitzkrieg armies cracked both ends of the Allied line and stormed toward historic Thermopylae pass today—less than 100 miles from Athens—after capturing the Aegean coastal towns of Volos and Lamia, as well as Ioannina in western Greece.

Hitler's high command said Nazi columns had trapped Greek forces retreating from Albania.

In London, Foreign Minister Winston Churchill told the house of commons that he must remain optimistic for the present about Britain's critical position in the 17-day-old battle of the Balkans.

"Once the situation reaches a momentary or temporary arrest, a full statement will be made," he said.

Daniel De Luce, an Associated Press correspondent, said in a cabled dispatch from Izmir, Turkey, that when he left Greece three days ago the British were falling back in "a second Dunkerque."

Fighting every inch of the way, De Luce said, the British contingent of only 50,000 to 80,000 men was hopelessly outnumbered and out-gunned.

He said the British were being covered in their retreat by Greek infantrymen who had little or no chance to escape the Nazi steam-roller.

"A fleet of 37-ton German tanks lumbering through mountain defiles—previously believed impassable—such heavy vehicles—charged light British tanks and crushed them like egg-shells," he wrote.

De Luce reported that the British RAF strength in Greece numbered no more than 150 planes when the invasion started.

British middle east headquarters reported tersely that British troops falling back from the Mt. Olympus sector in eastern Greece "have now occupied defensive positions south of Lamia."

This may mean that the British are preparing to make a "last ditch" stand near the Thermopylae gap where 300 Spartans under King Leonidas held off an invasion army led by Persian King Xerxes in 480 B. C.

The new defense line was apparently being established in the rugged Lokris mountains, below the flat plain of Thessaly.

Lamia lies south of the Othrys mountains, where it was believed that the Allies had previously decided to make a stand.

Italian dispatches had pictured the British-Greek line as stretching from Lamia to Arta, across the upper middle of the Grecian peninsula. Arta lies 25 miles inland from the Ionian sea, 33 miles south of Ioannina.

The Nazi high command asserted that German panzer columns sweeping westward across the Pindus mountains in Greece had effectively blocked the Greeks' main route of retreat to the south.

Premier Mussolini's high command said Italian legions were advancing into Greece along the entire Albanian front.

Mrs. Walker Elected Vice-President Of District One At H. D. Conference

Mrs. Charles Walker of Carson county was named vice-president of district one of the Texas Home Demonstration association at the one-day conference of the entire district held Monday in the First Methodist church, with Mrs. H. H. Keahy, educational chairman of the district, presiding over the election.

Two hundred and twenty women registered from 16 Panhandle counties, including Carson, Childress, Ochiltree, Dalhart, Deaf Smith, Gray, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Moore, Collingsworth, Potter, Randall, Sherman, Wheeler, and Hansford. Mrs. Curtis Rock, president, and conducted the program throughout the day and introduced the guests. Each county answered the roll call with a two-minute report of the outstanding work accomplished in home demonstration activities. Progress was shown in the number of families reached who are not in home demonstration clubs. The big work of the district was outstanding in 5,000 mattresses made this year and in the cooperation in Red Cross, which showed over 1,000 garments completed within the past few months.

Food conservation and growing shows great progress on the defense plans, and recreation was not neglected in the good-neighbor activities. Recreation for the young people is being supervised in many counties, according to the reports given. Each county showed cooperation with the state association in planning to work in one big unit on national defense toward being better prepared with better and more food and a more peaceful surrounding.

The program included vocal numbers, and Miss Pauline Cotner of Ochiltree county gave a selection. The Gray County Choral club gave two numbers led by Mrs. Roy Reader of Pampa.

Achievements of 4-H clubs were discussed by two 4-H club girls: Adelaide Shrock of Hansford county and Bennie Mae Wade of Gray county. Lunch was served by the Methodist women of Pampa. Miss Ruth Lundy of T. H. D. S. spoke on the state association meeting in September. Mrs. A. J. Brown, T. H. D. S. association cotter, talked on the Washington meeting with Secretary Wickard. This was a plea to the secretary for more funds to carry on home demonstration work in more counties in Texas so that Texas would have more leaders to carry on the all-important and wide distribution and consumption of surplus commodities.

In a brief talk, Miss Bess Edwards said, "The day's program was a success because everyone saw, heard, and participated in a worthwhile thing that matters in a true democracy. She urged each leader not to let her foothold slip in their own community."

Miss Saddle Hatfield spoke on how the land use planning county committees could help in the shrub and tree selection to have more attractive and hardy plantings for more home beauty.

A quiz was conducted by the chairman to conclude the session. Aviation companies in Los Angeles County have aggregate backlogs of nearly $1,000,000,000.

Gardens Will Be Shown In Motion Pictures Saturday

Famous American gardens, particularly those of the South, will be shown in colored motion pictures at the city club rooms next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock under the sponsorship of the American Association of University Women. The public is invited.

Many Pampanos are personally acquainted with Mrs. Hardin, and those who have seen her pictures and heard her talk recommend her highly.

There will be a small admission charge for this program, the last of the series of monthly arts programs sponsored by the American Association of University Women. The program will last a little over an hour.

Resource Brief To Be Sent To Washington

The Panhandle has the natural resources to attract industries, it was determined when 50 representatives of Panhandle cities met in Amarillo yesterday afternoon at which time plans for submitting to Washington a complete survey of industrial advantages were outlined.

The question of an ample water supply was answered by D. L. McDonald, Panhandle water expert, who stated that the Panhandle definitely had plenty of water for any industrial plants the government or private industries might wish to locate here.

Mr. McDonald said that test wells have proved that the entire source of water underlying the Panhandle country is connected. He suggested that a water survey be made and the report sent to Washington.

John E. Hill, one of the representatives from Pampa, told the gathering that during a recent trip to Washington he conducted nearly 40 interviews with cabinet members, under-secretaries, navy department and chemical and allied production representatives.

Among the obstacles which he mentioned as the most common in the minds of Washington officials in connection with locating industries in the Panhandle were: Lack of raw materials, lack of water, lack of favorable freight rates, lack of a sufficient number of trained mechanics, shortage of accessory industries and a shortage of capital.

Representatives of Panhandle counties reported that gas, oil, natural gasoline, carbon black, water and other resources are available in the Panhandle.

The meeting was concluded by the appointment of a committee whose duty it will be to compile data to be submitted in one general survey, with a view of obtaining defense projects for the Panhandle.

Members of the committee are: E. Kancher, representing the Santa Fe Railway; T. V. Helmcamp, Rock Island; J. L. Southern, Fort Worth & Denver; Lou Roberts, Borger;

Dr. C. A. Pierle, West Texas State college, Canyon; Rex Mahoney, Dalhart; Noel McDade, Dumas; Carl Makela, Southwestern Public Service company; R. E. Wertz, Amarillo Gas company; Grady Thompson, Guyton; T. C. Craig, Phillips; Boyd Meador, McLean; A. J. Beagle, Pampa; Cecil Candwell, Shamrock; and Dr. Williams, of Stinnett.

This committee will meet next Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Amarillo hotel.

Representing Pampa at the meeting were A. J. Beagle, named a member of the survey committee, John E. Hill, Jack Hanna, Noel Dalton, R. A. Baker and Garnet Reevy. Boyd Meador attended the meeting representing McLean.

BRITISH

ing zones said that the Greeks were resisting violently as they retreated, and that while Italian infantry moved down the valleys, Alpine assault troops had to scale steep mountainsides under fire from machine-gun nests to drive out the Greeks.

In Rome, the Fascist newspaper Il Tevere published an "unconfirmed report" attributed to Lisbon newspaper circles that the Greek army surrendered last night.

Hitler's high command, noting "special successes" in violent dive-bombing assaults on ships in Greek waters, declared the vessels "were being held ready for the departure of the British expeditionary corps fleeing from the Greek mainland."

The German high command said six loaded ships totaling 31,000 tons were sunk and several others heavily damaged.

On the North African front, Berlin reported that German troops had resumed their advance eastward from the Egyptian frontier post of Salum in a drive toward the Suez canal.

In an apparent attempt to smash the supply base for this threatening Axis onslaught, the British fleet hammered the west Libyan port of Tripoli with 15-inch shells in a 40-minute bombardment, the London admiral announced.

British and Greeks said they had accomplished their latest withdrawal without a break in their front, but there were indications their plight was becoming desperate.

The occasion was the awarding of jeweled gold buttons for service from five to 25 years. Forty-four employees in all were honored in recognition for their long and faithful service with the company. George Pratt, well known Panhandle agent for Gulf, received an award for 25 years service. He is shown at the right receiving his diamond studded button from L. P. ready in agreement resume coal production under terms of that agreement.

The operators and miners who have not reached an agreement, enter into wage negotiations and at the same time reopen the mines, the agreement ultimately reached to be made retroactive to the date of resuming work.

Most mines have been closed, and about 400,000 miners have been idle, since a two-year contract between Appalachian operators and the CIO United Mine Workers expired April 1. The union headed by John L. Lewis, demanded a general increase in wages to $7 a day, compared with $6 paid in the north and $4.60 in the south under the old contract.

Northern operators agreed to these terms, but southern mine owners declared that elimination of the sectional wage differential would force some of them out of business, and they withdrew from the negotiations. Then they offered the union an 11 per cent wage increase. Lewis counseled the union against signing a contract covering northern mines, unless the southern operators came in too.

The Michigan labor mediation board invoked a 30-day cooling-off period last night in a dispute between the CIO United Automobile Workers and General Motors corporation. The union last Friday had filed a five-day notice of intention to strike, claiming unsatisfactory progress in concluding a new union-company contract. The CIO-UAW demands union shop recognition, wage increases, and other concessions.

Federal legislation to make mandatory a 25-day cooling-off period before strikes, in all sections of the country, was due to come before the house for action possibly late this week. Little or no opposition was apparent to the cooling-off period, but administration leaders were reported to have decided to oppose a clause intended to "freeze" existing open or closed shop arrangements in defense factories.

These leaders were said to believe that elimination of the freezing section would facilitate passage of the measure.

Elsewhere there were these developments involving labor: At Chicago two AFL unions voted a 24-hour postponement in a strike which had been scheduled today against the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply house, which has $1,000,000 in army signal corps orders. The national defense mediation board requested the postponement, announcing plans for a hearing at Washington later in the week if the company and unions fail to get together on demands for 20 per cent wage increases, closed shop and paid vacations.

The CIO asked Labor Secretary Perkins to intervene in a dispute which for a week has tied up production of shells for Britain at the Buffalo, N. Y., plant of American Car and Foundry company. The union seeks a collective bargaining election.

In a meeting at Seattle, Pacific coast shipbuilders and workmen reached a working agreement establishing a basic wage of $1.15 an hour and providing that employees will not strike during the national defense emergency.

The defense mediation board said it had received word of settlement of a strike at the Birdsboro (Pa.) Foundry and Machine company, although terms of the agreement were not reported immediately. The union had sought a collective bargaining election.

There Is No Room For Indifference To Defense In America, Says Jones

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones declared today that although defense activity is "better than good," there is no room for American "complacency."

"There is no place for indifference," Jones said in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press at the Waldorf-Astoria.

The secretary coupled a report of progress in defense over the past year with two warnings: "If the aggressor nations are successful, our generation is apt to see little of tranquility."

"If we are to get ready to defend ourselves, let's be sure that we do a good job of it."

On defense progress, he said more than 14,000 separate prime contracts and probably more than 100,000 sub-contracts had been let for manufacture of everything from Corporals' chevrons to bombers and battleships.

Jones' address was a highlight of the 41st annual one-day meeting of the Associated Press, attended by the Cooperative Newsgathering Agency's members from many parts of the country.

Some 600 publishers, editors and business managers of newspapers throughout the United States and Canada are in New York for the meeting and for the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, starting tomorrow.

Six directors of the Associated Press will be elected today to three-year terms. Five of the six whose terms are expiring have been nominated to succeed themselves, and seven additional candidates have been named by the nominating committee led by J. S. Parks of the Fort Smith (Ark.) Times-Record.

Directors whose terms are expiring are Frank B. Noyes, Washington Star, former president of the Associated Press; Robert McLean, publisher of the Philadelphia Bulletin and president of the AP; Paul Patterson, Baltimore Sun; Harry J. Grant, Milwaukee Journal; E. H. Butler, Buffalo News, and Josh L. Horne, Rocky Mount (N. C.) Telegram. Grant is not a candidate for re-election.

The seven additional nominees are George F. Booth, Worcester (Mass.) Telegram; Col. J. H. Long, Huntington, (W. Va.) Advertiser;

World's Largest Airplane Ready For Test Flights

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 22 (AP)—Four years and 9,000 blueprints after construction started, Douglas Aircraft's famed B-19, world's largest airplane, is ready for test flights.

Rolled out onto Clover airport for final tuneups before testing its wings, probably late this week, the B-19 poised like a dragon fly on an ant hill—an ant hill swarming with 6-foot men who looked tiny from the top of the rudder, 42 feet, 9 inches above the ground.

Seven hundred thousand man hours went into construction of the new giant of the airways, which was built to fly 7,750 miles nonstop—equivalent to Europe and return.

The bomber has a wing spread of 212 feet, an overall length of 132 feet. It has a top speed of 210 miles an hour, cruising speed of 186.

Douglas didn't disclose the cost of the B-19 but it spent $2,500,000 on the DC-4. Maybe that'll give you an idea.

NEA Members Told To Help In Defense

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 22 (AP)—Declaring that national defense in a democracy must not be measured alone in terms of tanks, battleships, planes and munitions, Roy A. Brown, San Rafael, Calif., president of the National Editorial association, urged newspapermen "not to shirk their responsibility."

Speaking before a luncheon session of the 56th annual NEA convention, Brown said: "While we are waiting until we can outnumber the dictators of the world in the productivity of war economy, let us not forget that national defense in a democracy must not be measured in terms of strength alone. It must also be measured in an enlightened moral strength that springs from an understanding of and a devotion to our democratic institutions."

Outlining the NEA public relations program, the president said its purpose is to (1) sell the national manufacturer on the value of home town advertising, (2) sell advertising agencies that home town newspapers offer an equal economic value with metropolitan papers and (3) the key to the development of national advertising often rests upon the recommendation of local merchants.

Surveys conducted by Prof. Charley Allen, research director of the Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern university, show that home town newspapers offer an even greater economy to advertisers than metropolitan papers, he said.

Rapping publicity as "sabotage of news columns," Brown declared "this vicious circle will continue until some constructive method is arrived at whereby enormous funds that are now going to publicity can be diverted into the place where they belong—advertising columns."

WARD MANAGER DRAFTS SALE
Called over to the Ward store at a time when most Pampa merchants are spending a well-earned evening at home, the Pampa News representative found Ward Store Manager M. C. Johnson and his assistant in a "huddle" on advertising plans.
"Sorry to bother you at this time of the night," Mr. Johnson apologized, "but we've got to line up our newspaper campaign with you so we can work out a smooth production schedule for all these ads."
Manager Johnson went on to emphasize the importance he attached to the selection of the advertising medium to carry his sale news.
"A sale consists of two things," he said. "First you get a big supply of reasonable merchandise, all of it sale-priced. Second, you tell your customers about it. The more customers you sell, the more merchandise you tell. That's why we always use The Pampa News because we know the Top of Texas looks to it for all the shopping news."
"We have always depended upon The Pampa News to carry the story of both our special event and daily advertising," Mr. Johnson stated, "and we've found that it's a sure-fire crowd-bringer every time."
The Ward store will carry a heavier campaign than usual this year, with a series of ads that will cover the sale news for all parts of the store.
"Americans by voluntary methods get on and will accomplish what the dictators have done with the lash," he declared.
Defense requirements of the nation are superior to the prerogatives of the farmer, the laborer and the capitalist, the representative stated.
"The security of the country is above that of any single group," he said.
Pointing out that the government has already drafted the United States army service, and that laws on the statute books permit drafting of factories, Johnson asserted "we are still plowing along under the one-horse dollar-a-year system."
He advanced taking a census of management.
Praising President Roosevelt's program, Johnson said:
"In these critical hours America must support—not snipe at—our president."

Security Above All, Rep. Johnson Says
AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—Describing the magnitude of the United States defense job, Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson of Austin told the legislature today Germany spent $230,000,000 between 1933 and 1941 getting ready for war while this nation spent $30,000,000.
While the dictators were accomplishing unity by the sword, European democracies fell to pieces, Johnson said.
"Americans by voluntary methods get on and will accomplish what the dictators have done with the lash," he declared.
Defense requirements of the nation are superior to the prerogatives of the farmer, the laborer and the capitalist, the representative stated.
"The security of the country is above that of any single group," he said.
Pointing out that the government has already drafted the United States army service, and that laws on the statute books permit drafting of factories, Johnson asserted "we are still plowing along under the one-horse dollar-a-year system."

Praising President Roosevelt's program, Johnson said:

A REPORT TO PAMPA ON THE WORLD

By The Associated Press

Meeting the Challenge of Today
With A Complete News Report

News While Its News -- From the Four Corners of the World Brought to You Daily Through the Forces of The Associated Press!

THE (AP) NEWS SERVICE

- FOREIGN: When you read on March 1 that German troops drove into Sofia in grey armored cars wearing regulation battle dress, it's a safe bet that you were looking at an AP dispatch, because AP came through from one to three hours ahead of others.

Sixty-six American overseas staff men, aided by scores of stringers, have been turning up beats like that regularly in the eighteen months of the War.

Here are just a few: Torpedoing of the SS Athenia; assassination of Premier Calinescu of Rumania; sinking of the battleship Royal Oak; the Graf Spee battle; Hitler's visit to Paris; the bombing of Croydon; the evacuation of Namsos; Russian invasion of Finland; Japanese adherence to the axis; arrival of Australians at Singapore.
- DOMESTIC: Have you noticed recently how many new domestic stories are appearing in both the AP day and night reports?

They're there because AP men have gone out to get them—particularly the lighter and brighter happenings in this war-torn world.

Where are they coming from? All over—from Fargo as well as Washington; from Baton Rouge as well as New York. AP men have gone straight to the soil and are turning over a brand new crop of home news.

Their reports are readable because they have no writing "rules" except to be accurate, unbiased, decent, truthful and interesting.

There is speed, too. Elimination of relays has brought hundreds of newspapers into direct contact with Washington and other big news centers—on a single news wire carrying the cream of the general report.
- THE SPORTS REPORT: Twenty-three full time sports specialists produce most of it. Scores of news staff men aid them. It runs, on trunk wires, according to the season, from 20,000 to 50,000 words around the clock.

Baseball accounts for the heaviest run, but almost any sport you can name gets on the wires, including football, boxing, racing, basketball, golf, tennis, track and field, hockey, polo, rowing, swimming, wrestling, yachting, winter sports, and, yes, even badminton. More than a hundred papers are on special football wires; almost as many take a racing service.

Naturally, that means a lot of statistics; but that sports staff is turning out grand reading matter, too.
- THE MARKET REPORT: It's supreme in its field—this AP market and financial service—a recognized authority wherever papers are published. There is nothing comparable to it in speed, accuracy, quality or quantity.

Eighty percent of American papers using complete market tables print AP security prices. Two hundred trained employees prepare them, and 34,000 miles of leased wire carry 95,000 stock and bond quotations daily—the biggest and fastest statistical job in newspaperdom.

Accompanying the statistics goes expertly-written business and economic news by financial experts.

THE SPECIAL NEWS SERVICE

- THE JOB: These turbulent days of war, with revolutionary social, political and economic events crowding rapidly upon each other, have confronted member newspapers with their greatest, most difficult responsibility.

The chief reason why The Special News Service has come into being is to assist you in meeting this responsibility.

Not only must the spot news be told accurately and quickly, but the significance must be explained to millions of readers.
- HOW IT IS DONE: While The Associated Press reporters are covering the hot spot news, telling all they can in the rush of the moment, The Special News Service experts are on the job seeking and telling the meaning of what is happening—what the developments mean not only to the everyday lives of people, but what they portend. This interpretation, with all the many angles and personalities involved, to give the reader a clear, vivid, complete picture, is further supported by Associated Press and Special News Service reporters who covered the events with rapid follow-up Special News Service articles. Teamwork!
- TO MENTION A FEW: The outstanding stories on life in the war-involved countries; notably Milo Thompson on England; Roy Porter and Lynn Heinzerling, France; Robert St. John, Rumania; Charles S. Foltz, Jr., Switzerland; Louis P. Lochner, Edwin Shanke and others, Germany, Hungary, Poland and Holland; J. D. White, China; Max Hill and Russell Brines, Japan; Relman Morin, the Dutch East Indies; Henry Cassidy, Russia. — The widely published war analyses by DeWitt Mackenzie and Kirke Simpson.

John Lear's stories from Latin America.

The numerous personality-profiles on leading figures in the news, domestic and foreign.

Devon Francis on "The Truth about American Aviation" and air defense here and in Latin America. W. B. Ragsdale's "Labor and Industry Under the Defense Program," and Frank I. Weller, Clarke Beach and others in Washington on current events. Hubbard Keavy and Ted Gill, Hollywood. Vesta Kelling's, Ruth Cowan's and Mary Elizabeth Plummer's women's features. Eddie Brietz and Whitney Martin, sports. David J. Wilkie, automobiles. Claude Jagger, Frank MacMillen, Charles E. Harner, Frederick Gardner, John L. Beckley and Paul D. Gesner, financial developments. Howard W. Blakeslee and Stephen McDonough, science; Mark Barron, the theater; Gladwin Hill, Don Whitehead and others on numerous general assignments.
- BALANCING YOUR READING: With war news predominating, there is the problem of not overlooking other phases of life throughout the world.

That is why you find such a wide variety of subjects—the humorous, the entertaining, the serious—covered in the SNS report.

The emphasis is on quality and reader appeal.

That is why you find so many page one, full inside pages and other prominent displays (with pictures for News Photo subscribers) of Special News Service stories. Frequently, these are advertised in advance.

The Special News Service and The Associated Press run, side by side, on the wires throughout the week for Evening, Morning and Sunday members, dovetailed to give you a complete news report.

Concert Pleases Music-Lovers

Classical music played in a masterful manner was heard by Pampan last night when the Amarillo Philharmonic orchestra presented a program at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Robert Louis Barron, famed violinist, was the conductor, and played one of the solos that featured the program.

The concert opened with the Magic Flute Overture of Mozart. The orchestra was probably at its best in this number. There was unity in the working out of this difficult number which shows clearly the tremendous development of the orchestra since their first concert in the Amarillo last fall. It was a credit to the organization. The Italian symphony is one of the most difficult orchestral pieces for even highly professional orchestras. Regardless, the composition was done well enough to make it interesting and entertaining. In the Bruch concerto, we had the pleasure of hearing a fine violinist. His playing was that of the sincere musician who knows every step of the way. If the orchestral accompaniment was not always as good as it may have been, Mr. Barron retained the strength of the composition for his audience. His tone was warm and his technique superb. If you could have such quality of performance in such excellent music more often you would indeed be fortunate.

The second half of the program opened with the Greig piano concerto with Clarence Brady as soloist. Mr. Brady although new to the audience, stamped himself as an artist of the first rank. A firm command of the instrument was not his only quality to be noticed. His piano literally sang through the melodic passages of this beautiful work. The audience was very appreciative of his efforts. The audience should have demanded encores of both the artists last night.

Family-Type Bomb Shelters Drafted By War Department

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The war department disclosed specifications today for four family-type bomb shelters which will be recommended to civilian engineers for construction in the United States if the necessity arises.

The shelters, ranging in estimated cost from $230 to $750, are now undergoing tests "to determine the degree of protection afforded."

They were described in a bulletin, "civilian defense-protection construction," to be distributed by the department to municipal governments and civilian engineers.

The war department, in a forecast, emphasized that issuance of the bulletin in no sense should be construed "as a signal to start work immediately on any of the protective structures described."

The small family-type shelters described would accommodate six persons each. They provide no ventilating apparatus but are so designed that they are safe for occupancy for at least one hour.

All four are gas-tight and may be built above ground, partly buried, or many feet underground.

The cheapest shelter, costing about $230, would be built of corrugated iron and plywood. The next, a $250 model, is described as well designed for mass production and would be entirely of corrugated iron plates.

Somewhat similar shelters, with the addition of ramps, would cost $600 and $750.

Every American soldier gets five pounds of balanced rations daily.

Pension Fund Appropriation Suggested

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—Fresh information on old age pension bills, prime factor in Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's social security program, was in the hands of a legislative investigating committee today.

A house of representatives group instructed to inquire into the pension administration was told yesterday by public welfare department officials that:

A $300,000 appropriation in cash from the general revenue fund, all ready $28,000,000 in the red, before

May 1 might forestall a $3 cut in May pensions if the funds were matched by the federal government.

The statements of Pensions Director J. S. Murchison and his assistants, Garth Daniel and Mrs. Berta Malone, referred to a house bill appropriating $1,000,000 for pension purposes in July, June, and July. The cash, they said, would permit average payments of $18.50, the amount booked for recipients.

The pensions officials also informed the committee that one regional official of the federal social security board expressed opinion the board would not approve a house bill now in the senate which would eliminate consideration of relatives' aid to pension applicants as part of the basis for qualifying a pensioner.

In other actions, a house committee, for the second time, recommended passage of a bill re-legislating wagering on horse races. The proposal had been returned to the group after once reaching the floor.

Another committee studied a proposal designed to strengthen regulatory powers of the board of control over eleemosynary institutions. At a hearing, the group heard charges of waste and inefficiency in the far-flung state system.

One bill reducing the cost of poll taxes from $1.75 to $1 was killed and an identical one slated for hearing May 5 by another house group. O'Daniel recommended abolition of the tax.

Action by committee was delayed on a bill intended to equalize allowances for oil wells in interstate fields.

Plumbing gets its name from the Latin word "plumbum," which means lead.

Zagreb, Yugoslavia, was a center of Croatian culture as early as the seventh century.

Hal Collins May Run For Senate

FORT WORTH, April 22.—In a radio address, Hal H. Collins, Mineral Wells hotel operator, yesterday indicated that he might run for United States Senator in the special election to be held June 28.

Speaking from Mineral Wells on a commercial program, Collins declared that he had received hundreds of letters and telephone calls urging him to enter the contest.

"If I am convinced enough people want me to run," he said, "I will give consideration to the question of becoming a candidate."

According to recent reports, at least 25 per cent of the nation's air fields are closed to private flying.

Culmiforms Not Damaging Wheat, Thomas Reports

Warning of the U. S. department of agriculture that the pale western cutworm is threatening the wheat crop 100 miles east and west of Amarillo and 60 miles north and south in eastern New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle, does not mean much in Gray county.

Once two years ago cutworms damaged Gray county oats and did some damage to wheat, but this was the only time Ralph R. Thomas, county farm agent, recalls that any such damage has occurred.

He said today he had not heard of any cutworm threat in Gray county this year.

Although agricultural workers say attempts to destroy the worms with poisoned bran bait spread on the soil, or placed in the ground with a wheat drill, generally have resulted in complete failure, this does not apply to Gray county, as putting out of poison has worked here. Over large areas, however, the small number of worms killed would not justify the expense. In gardens, the cutworm menace is easily curbed.

Cutworms are nothing new to wheat land. County Farm Agent Thomas said. "We have these warnings issued every year, along with methods of control," he said.

Infestation has never been serious in Gray county. In the more severely infested areas, all wheat land must be planted to row crops this summer and not returned to wheat until 1942, agricultural specialists recommend.

Story Of AP To Be Play On Broadway

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—A dramatization of "AP—the Story of News," Oliver Gramling's best-selling history of the Associated Press, is to be promoted as a Broadway play next season by Oscar Serlin.

Serlin, producer of "Life with Father" and other hits, announced yesterday he had purchased the dramatic rights after six months of negotiations.

"The production will be unique in stage annals," he said. "The story of the AP begins in 1848, and its dramatic realization will bring world events up-to-the-minute."

"AP—the Story of News" was written by Gramling with the assistance of William A. Kinney of the Associated Press Washington bureau. Published by Farrar and Rhinehart last October, it ranked high in best-seller lists for months.

General Manager Kent Cooper signed for the AP after Serlin had negotiated with W. J. McCambridge, General Manager of Press Association, Inc., AP subsidiary, and Gramling, assistant general manager of Press Association.

Plainview Lambs Bring Top Prices

KANSAS CITY, April 22 (AP)—Approximately 400 lambs, owned by members of the 4-H club at Plainview, Tex., brought top prices at the market today after arriving on a stock train so ultra modern it was even pulled by a Diesel engine.

Spring lambs brought their young owners $10.30, and woolskins $10.25. Calves go on the market tomorrow.

All the animals were exhibited at the Plainview Fat Stock Show last week.

The 4-H youths—with one girl, 13-year-old Opal Rogers among them—arrived in chartered busses yesterday and immediately set out for a sightseeing tour that included the art museum and the municipal airport.

Today the Texans were the guests of a packing company at a luncheon and tonight they will be entertained by the Kansas City Livestock Exchange.

The trip was arranged by C. B. Martin, Hale county agriculture agent, who said the youths paid their own expenses out of the proceeds of their sales.

Miss Rogers, whose 810-pound Hereford calf will be sold tomorrow was accompanied by her father, C. D. Rogers, Garza county stockman, and by brother David who also has a calf for sale.

EPIDEMIC SWEEPS SCHOOL

Measles, mumps and influenza are prevailing in the halls of Pampa High School. Within the last few weeks there have been 21 cases of measles and 12 cases of mumps; however the outstanding disease among high school students seems to be influenza, since an average of 25 a day have been absent from this cause.

All students who feel ill any time during the day are asked to come to the office immediately to have their temperature taken. If there are any signs of fever, the pupil will be sent home to avoid any spreading of disease.

Students who are absent for a period of three days must have a doctor's certificate before they will be allowed to re-enter classes, stated Mr. Tom Herod, assistant principal.

HYMN TO ASSEMBLY SPEAKERS

"There is too much speaking in the world, and almost all of it is too long. The Lord's Prayer, the Twenty-Third Psalm, Lincoln's Gettysburg address, are three great literary treasures that will last forever, not one of them as long as 300 words. With such striking illustrations of the power of brevity it is amazing that speakers never learn to be brief."—Collier's.

Osborne, Herod Complete College Entrance Survey

Mr. D. F. Osborne, principal, and Tom Herod, assistant principal, have recently completed a survey of the colleges in Texas and Oklahoma regarding the requirements for students who plan to go to college. This survey also included the industries and occupations in and around Pampa.

Mr. Osborne and Mr. Herod completed this survey in an effort to help advise students regarding courses which will equip them for entrance into college or industry, whichever they plan to enter.

Minigraphed materials will be sent to Junior High School. These materials are especially for the students who are graduating this year. The minigraphed information explains the dual system of graduation, which has been introduced into the high school for the first time, the requirements for the vocational diploma as well as the pre-college diploma, and an outline of the grade points for obtaining the pre-college diploma. This effort has been taken to make registration for the sophomores easier.

"We're hoping all students who will be sophomores next year will study the material sent to Junior High and talk with teachers and parents about their future plans and what courses will best fit them to carry out those plans," stated Mr. Osborne.

Next year eighteen credits will be required for graduation instead of the former seventeen; however, there will be no difference in semesters required, as physical education will be taken every day instead of every other day as has been customary in the past, and thus will carry one-half a credit per year instead of one-fourth a credit as in the past. Of these eighteen credits required for graduation, sixteen must be solid credit while two map be physical education.

F. F. A. Classes Study Pampa Plant Life

M. J. L. Lester's F.F.A. classes have made trips to different homes and parks here in Pampa to study plant life.

Purpose of the study is to acquaint the students with vegetation.

F.F.A. students who inspected trees decided that the Honey Locust was the best specimen for this part of Texas, because it can survive with little moisture.

F.F.A. classes have also made illustrated booklets to illustrate their former study of more livestock, poultry, beautifying the farm. Outstanding booklets were written by Carl Sexton, Bill Spivey, John Rogers, Fred Barrett, and Calvin Skaggs who wrote about and illustrated livestock. Don Stanley and Edward Vanderberg wrote about poultry. Coy Vanderberg wrote about beautifying the homestead and Doyle Parker wrote about beautifying the farm.

Valedictorian And Salutatorian Will Have Annual Page

According to figures compiled by Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar, Joe Cargile, with an average of 93, is Pampa Senior High school valedictorian.

Mary Frances McMullen, salutatorian, had an average of 92.2.

In 1938, Eugene Finkbeiner was valedictorian; Joe is the first boy to win this honor since that year.

Joe, 18 years old, is a member of the A Cappella choir, National Honor society, Harvester band, and the Hi-Y club. In junior high school Joe was the highest ranking boy in the graduating class.

He has received much favorable comment in the Little Harvester's personal columns because of his knowledge of clothes and how to wear them.

Quiet, demure, black-haired Mary Frances is the girl who stamps your library books the first hour. She is a member of the F. H. T., and one of her pet hobbies is cooking.

To Cargile and McMullen a full page in the annual will be devoted.

Huge Cavalcade Of Seniors To Make Annual Carlsbad Trip

"Happy Journey" Loses Regional 1 Play Contest

In spite of all favorable predictions, Pampa's one-act play "Happy Journey" lost in the regional contest at Canyon to Crowell who presented "Last Flight Over," a tragedy of the Nebraska prairie. Pampa, District 2, and Tulla, District 1, were given superior rating. Spur, District 4 rated excellent.

Individual acting honors for girls went to Virginia Dimwiddy of Tulla, first, Dorace Jean Caldwell, of Pampa, second, and Jean Enyelman of Spur, third. Rex Brown of Tulla was awarded first for the boys with A. Y. Olds of Crowell, second, and Joe Wallace Beverly also of Crowell, third.

The Tulla group presented "El Cristo" and Spur gave "Aptie Spring."

The decisions were made by Miss Ann Ja Pendleton of Texas Technological college. Miss Pendleton criticized each play and each actor and designer, giving their good and bad points.

This is the eighth consecutive year that Pampa has gone to the Regional meet, three years with Ben Gull, and five years with Kenneth Carman. Mr. Carman will not present a play next year as he will be in the army then.

The plays were given Friday afternoon beginning at one-thirty and lasting until six-thirty under the auspices of the Speech department of the West Texas State college.

Four Trophies Have Been Added To High School's Collection

Four new trophies were added to Pampa High school's well-filled trophy cases Wednesday.

The new trophies are: The district basketball championship trophy, the one-act play trophy, and the literary and track meet trophies.

The basketball award is on an ivory base crowned with a huge gold basketball.

The one-act play award is a small silver eagle on a black base.

The literary and track awards are the same design but are silver, the other gold.

Fights, Fights, Fights. They are being held each afternoon after school at the east end of the "ag" building. The boys don boxing gloves and take on anyone.

Plans Revealed For Summer Vacation

Approximately 250 students, graduating seniors, will leave for Carlsbad, N. M., Friday, April 25, on their ninth annual trip to beautiful Carlsbad Cavern. They will spend Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Those who plan to go on the trip must be in Room 202, Thursday, April 24, at 7:30 a. m., to complete final arrangements. Car and bus assignments will be made at this time.

"If you are going to Carlsbad, whether sponsor, teacher, student, parent, or bus driver, it is necessary that you be at this meeting," Miss Zenobia McFarlin, head sponsor of the senior class, said.

Buses will leave from in front of the high school building at 6 a. m. Cars should be ready before 7 after picking up passengers.

"Don't forget your driver's license. We shall not attempt to stay together during the trip," the head sponsor advised.

All cars and sponsors of cars must have been registered with Mrs. G. H. Alexander by 4 p. m., Monday, April 21. Sponsors of cars must be teachers or parents; no other arrangements will be permitted, authorities said.

All fees must be paid to Miss McFarlin. Cabin grouping will be under the supervision of B. R. Nuckols, veteran Carlsbad Cavern tripper.

Upon arriving in Carlsbad all persons are requested to report to Mr. Nuckols at Camp Hermosa or Mr. Oscar Hinger at D courts.

Official sponsors are: Principal D. F. Osborne, Miss Rachel Sweeteney, Miss Ruby Foster, Aubrey Steele, Oscar Hinger, H. D. Alexander, Mrs. S. H. Alexander, and Miss Zenobia McFarlin.

Causes Of College Failures Studied

Thirty-five questionnaires which Mr. Tom Herod, assistant principal, sent to as many colleges have been used to compile statistics to find the most common causes of failure among college freshmen.

Among the noticeable problems which the deans mentioned were: social adjustment, overcoming bad study habits, and assumption of personal responsibility. The deans also mentioned the fact that high school students go to college with no particular aim or purpose in mind. As a result they fritter away their time improperly and fail to progress in their courses.

English Class Studies Breathing Exercises

Third period Freshman English class, has been studying various breathing exercises and practicing "longue-twisters."

Some of the exercises were: Holding the breath and whistling, humming, and practicing various tones.

Class teacher, Roger Swann, was preparing the students for later reading in unison, as in verse choir.

Assistant Coach Best To Join Coaching Staff Soon

Mr. William McNeely Best will be a familiar figure around Pampa high school, but take a tip from the wise and refrain from calling him by that name. In case you don't know who we are speaking of we mean the new coach, Mac Best.

From all the news gathered around these parts coach Best evidently knows his stuff. He was head coach at Hereford last year and led his team to a district championship.

Coach Best began his athletic career in Sand Springs, Oklahoma high school in 1932 and excelled in all sports until 1938 when he graduated. He entered T.C.U. the next fall and participated in most sports. He majored in physical education and minored in economics. After his graduation in 1940 he assumed the duties of head coach at Hereford high school and produced a bang up team that lost only to the tough Phillips Blackhows.

Council Elects Best Boy and Girl Citizen

Last week the best boy and girl citizen of Pampa High School were chosen by the Student Council.

As is traditional the names will not be revealed until the night of the graduation services.

Last year Bobby Dan Lane and Joyce Jackson were chosen. To be chosen best citizen is one of the highest honors that can be bestowed on a student. The award is an annual event given to the boy and girl who have not received the recognition some time and see if it isn't a job—but it's fun, too!

D. O. Class Has Party And Luncheon Friday

Parents and students of the Diversified Occupation Class met in the cafeteria Friday night, April 18, for a covered dish luncheon.

Each parent contributed to the luncheon. Mr. W. H. Galloway, instructor of the class contributed drinks and ice cream.

After the luncheon the party went to the Diversified Occupation room, where dominoes and card games were played.

Purpose of the party was to become acquainted with students and parents, and to acquaint the parents with the Diversified Occupation study.

SERIAL STORY

LOVE POWER

BY OREN ARNOLD

YESTERDAY, finding that X-999 has caused the mystery blast, Carolyn hurries to the scene. A vast suburban area has been laid waste. Carolyn searches for Bob. She must find him.

IT EXPLODED... WHY?

CHAPTER VII CAROLYN learned that Bob Hale was safe when she telephoned her mother at 5 a. m.

"He called her twice and came out just a little bit ago!" Mrs. Tyler said, after Carolyn's initial explanations. "He was like a crazy man, honey! Whatever it is—"

"Oh, thank you, mother! I'm all right. I'll be home soon. Don't you worry."

"A woman called all night too. A Miss Sorni. Who is she? She also said she had to locate Dr. Hale. Emergency reasons, she said. She was most distracted, but I suppose the whole town is, Carolyn, you haven't had any rest and—"

But personal rest and comfort were farthest from Carolyn's mind. She hung up and immediately telephoned the Schoenfeld Laboratory, where she worked. Nobody answered. She realized that practically everybody would still be at the scene of the explosion.

She went outside again and a newsboy crying third extras assailed her. She bought the paper, paying a dime and waiting for no change. Here for the first time she began to learn something of the real extent of the damage. In concise, unemotional words and photographs the city's dailies were doing their job well. She read avidly.

"With only four lives known to have been lost," the paper read, after the opening summary, "citizens can be thankful for a miracle, the Chief of Police said. He warned that other bodies may yet be found although the wreckage has been fairly well combed. The four dead were all plant watchmen. In daytime the explosion would inevitably have taken hundreds of lives."

"Two other men are reported missing and may be dead. One is W. H. Delaney, a truck driver for the Metropolitan Transfer Company, and the other is a liquor store owner, M. M. Cragin.

"Cragin's establishment was near the apparent center of the explosion and was so completely destroyed that no trace of it has been found, only a great crater showing on that spot now (see second photo, page 1). Delaney's truck also is missing and so he may yet turn up safely, his company admitted, but he is so long overdue as to cause grave concern.

"Authorities seem agreed that there must have been several concealed deposits of explosives to have caused so much damage.

"Unquestionably it was sabotage, police said, although just how a furniture factory and a greenhouse affect preparedness measures is not clear. The railroad destroyed was only a branch line of minor importance in the national scheme.

"Another theory advanced by federal officers was that the empty warehouse may have been used as a secret cache of saboteurs and was exploded prematurely or unintentionally at this time. Foreign agents are known to have been—"

THE paper had thorough coverage, amazingly so, considering the magnitude of the explosion and the short time since it occurred, even though the officers' theorizing was entirely wrong.

Carolyn read and re-read. Then she found herself, walking up a street. She had long since lost her friendly taxi driver, hadn't even thought of paying him. Presently she was on the edge of the big crowd of people and cars and found another taxi that could turn around and take her away.

She had herself driven directly to the Schoenfeld Laboratory. By the time she arrived its main plant and its office building were bathed in dawn's sunshine, and the sheer beauty of that was a sort of spiritual lift. Moreover, she instantly saw Robert Hale. When she jumped from her cab, ordering it to wait, Dr. Hale ran to her.

He couldn't talk for a moment. He just jabbed a finger at her awkwardly and swallowed.

"It's all right! All right!" Carolyn murmured, intently. Don't feel badly. Please don't! Come on inside, at once!"

He didn't look like a boss now. In truth, he was simply a young man half crazed with anxiety.

"You were at the farmhouse when it happened," she said for him.

"Yes. I didn't come! The X-999. The—I heard the explosion. You knew too? You knew what had happened?"

"Not for sure, Bob. But I guessed. It couldn't have been anything else, I felt. You told me how terribly powerful it was. This proves it. We must—let's make no hasty decisions. Let's be thankful you are escaped. All of us. Such danger!"

"That's what I can't understand. How it exploded! Why?"

"BUT you said it was highly explosive."

"Yes, but I meant in power only. Not that it would go off easily. Sudden heat, or a percussion cap such as is used on dynamite—these might set it off."

"But we had it securely in two lead containers, with wrapping around that and cotton padding on the truck floor. There was absolutely no possibility—and yet, of course, there must have been!"

"Please don't be too distressed, Bob."

"But I am! I sent only a part of what we have, Carolyn! My thought was to divide it in separate localities to guard against possibility of tampering, however remote. But the first bit moved has caused this! That which we have still in the laboratory must be moved far away at once! With utmost personal care. I will do it myself. The great loss this morning is too appalling!"

"You tried a logical way before. You must not blame yourself!" She spoke so vehemently that he was impressed and he squeezed her hand in gratitude. Leana Sorni had seen them; she came out of the office building walking fast. Her face was even more pale than normal, and strained.

"Robert, you must come home with me," she ordered, peremptorily, ignoring Carolyn. "We must be rational. Say nothing to any one. Nothing! You haven't slept for two days and nights. You will collapse!"

Forest Fires Lay Waste Thousands Of Acres In 8 States

(By The Associated Press)

Thousands of woodland acres in eight eastern states were charred ruins today, aftermath of a devastating series of forest fires that consumed sun-dried countryside like cordwood.

Thin sparks became raging flames under the double spur of brisk breezes and tinder-like trees, shrubs and grasses and devoured hundreds of homes as well as forests and farms.

A fortnight of unseasonably warm, dry weather was blamed for the seriousness of several hundred individual blazes that felled dozens of firefighters and resulted in at least two deaths.

Hardest hit was central and southern New Jersey, where 68 homes were gutted and property damage was estimated up to $1,000,000. In Lakewood, a winter resort, 46 dwellings were razed by licking flames.

Zvevon Glaszoff, 32, died of a heart attack while trying to save his burning Lakewood home. George Knight of Centralia, W. Va., either was burned to death or killed by a falling tree as he fought flames nearby.

Other states where blackened tree stumps marked the paths of fires were Massachusetts, Vermont, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland, and Virginia. In West Virginia, some 150 separate blazes were reported.

Sparks from picnic fires, cigarettes, and railroad locomotives were all that was needed to set the flames, authorities said, and in one case wildlife was observed unwittingly spreading them.

This was in New Jersey, where Col. W. G. Schaffner, U. S. army, retired, reported seeing a rabbit with blazing fur and tail, dart across a highway and ignite dry underbrush on the other side.

Britain Asks For 1,000 U. S. Doctors

LONDON, April 22, (P)—Dr. J. E. Gordon, American liaison officer to the British ministry of health, estimated today that it would take the United States three months to meet President Roosevelt's appeal for 1,000 doctors for service in Britain.

Field Marshall Sir Philip Chetwode said the American volunteers would be given a Lieutenant's rank with the same pay as the British and would not have to pay Britain's income tax. At the end of the first year they will be promoted to a Captaincy, he said. The Americans would be put in British units and not organized as separate American units.

Dr. G. C. Anderson, a secretary of the British Medical Association, said the British civilian population would be endangered alarmingly if the appeal went unanswered.

"The last war offered no such problem," he said.

The Bitter Lesson

Experience may be the best teacher, but sometimes experience exacts a bitter, bitter price. Fortunate is he who may see the experience of another, learn from it, profit by it, without paying all of the price.

Norman Angell spent a lifetime working for peace. In 1933 he won the Nobel prize for work of that kind. He can scarcely be cited as a war-monger.

What is the lesson of the past few years as Angell learned it? He has told it, in words fraught with all the bitterness of "it might have been." Hear him:

"Because we would not listen to the cries of Chinese children massacred by the invader, we have now, overnight, to listen to the cries of English children, victims of that same invader's ally."

"Because we were indifferent when Italian submarines sank the ships of republican Spain we must now listen to the cries of children from the torpedoed refugee ship going down in the tempest 600 miles from land."

No one, anyway, has arraigned more bitterly than this Englishman the course of England in the past 10 years. If Europe, 10 years ago, had united to say "no!" when the first aggressions began in 1931 in Asia, and in 1935 in Africa, to say nothing of Spain, things might have been different. But today is today. Nothing is more hopeless than to turn back 10 years and sigh "If only—"

Today is today, and what is done today molds our tomorrow. What was not done 10 years ago, made today what it is. Today we mold tomorrow.

To turn back to yesterday is valuable only if, seeing the mistakes made then, we use that knowledge to avoid making them again today. Europe and the world turned a deaf ear to the cries of the victims of aggression then. Now half that world has paid a bitter penalty for its indifference.

Shall the rest of the world remain deaf until the lesson comes home to it as it has been taught to Angell and to his England?

The past is the past, and it is gone. Today is today, and on our resolute determination not to make again all those old fatal errors hangs the future.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, April 22—One of the best things that has happened in Washington in a long time is the coming of William S. Knudsen as director of the Office of Production Management. Twice in the last week he has been before congressional committees which are trying to find out what's wrong with the defense setup.

First, he went to the military affairs committee, which could only see red on labor troubles, then to the Truman senate committee, which really has a chance to do constructive work in exploring contracts that may have been too hastily made and too extensively carried out.

Before these committees, Mr. Knudsen has handled himself so well that he has had the commiteemen eating out of his hand and thinking everything was great, which it was. After Knudsen's testimony before the Truman committee, a little old lady edged her way through the crowd and said she just wanted to shake his hand and pat him on the back and tell him what a good job he was doing.

KNUDSEN KNOWS The man's utter simplicity and unaffectedness, plus a rich sense of humor, and his knowledge of what he's talking about, enable him to get things done.

Giving the background of leaving his job in Detroit to take over defense production, he said simply that one day "the president called me up on the telephone to say he wanted me to come down to Washington. I asked for a day to go to New York to tell my people about it. The next day I came to see the president. It was all over in 15 minutes. I was working in Washington."

The story of what he has done in Washington has of course been told. How plans for an army of 400,000 were raised to provide for an army of 1,400,000. How plane production schedules were raised from 7,000 to 33,000 a year. How the machine tool industry expanded from $200,000,000 in 1939 to $400,000,000 in 1940 to $750,000,000 now. How tank production was stepped up, even though that meant redesigning the 27-ton medium tank, all except the running gear. And so on. Four big bomber plants built. New powder mills. Five new tank plants.

Concerning the biggest of those tank plants, Knudsen said, "I went to Chrysler and got Chrysler to agree to make 14 tanks a day." It was as simple as that. The $20,000,000 plant was scheduled to open April 22, and will be turning out its 14 a day by October.

Knudsen knows all the answers, and he explained patiently how his organization was set up.

"Does it work efficiently?" Senator Ralph O. Brewster of Dexter, Me., wanted to know.

"Oh, senator!" Knudsen replied with a big grin. "I'll leave that to you." When the laugh on Brewster was over, Knudsen's modesty came to the fore again. "We handle whatever comes our way," he said, and waved the idea away with his big hand.

"We're on the same floor," he went on to explain. "We can get together every hour. Hillman is right next door to me. I have a private wire to Stimson and Knox and whenever I want to talk to them I pick up the phone. The biggest part of my work is done on the phone."

SEES FOR HIMSELF That may apply to the time Knudsen is in the office, but he spends an amazing part of the time on the road, inspecting these defense industry plants to find out what they're doing—not to check up on them or look for trouble, but just to know.

Knudsen's office has been vladly concerned with

Common Ground

This column extends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the Golden Rule: to give and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to give and enjoy.

ENGLAND LOST THE WAR THIRTY YEARS AGO

The things that are happening in Europe are a result of natural law. England lost the war on August 18, 1911 when she passed a Parliament act. This Act permitted the House of Commons to pass financial bills over the veto of the House of Lords. This bill gave the crowd the right to rob the minority. It stopped the accumulation of capital. Losing wars and control is the natural result that follows the decline in accumulation of capital. This act was the beginning of the belief that people could live without work, that wages could be established by wish, by law and by collective bargaining; that wages were not related to capital, accumulated knowledge, efficient work and free exchanges.

England would, of course, have been defeated in the last war, if it had not been for the United States bailing them out.

If the United States goes into this war, it will have practically the whole thing to do itself because of the inefficiency of England.

England poses as attempting to protect the little nations in order to have the balance of power, but what is the record?

Czechoslovakia lasted 4 days, Poland lasted 28 days, Denmark lasted 11 hours, Norway lasted 24 days, The Netherlands lasted 4 days, Belgium lasted 18 days, Luxemburg lasted 10 hours, France lasted 39 days.

Rumania, Hungary and Bulgaria joined the Axis without even fighting. And the way the events are going in Yugoslavia and Greece, it looks as though it will not be long until they are taken over. The gains made in Africa seem to have been lost.

The shipping in the Atlantic is periled. The American people are not being informed of the real precarious condition of the people who are asking the United States to win the war for them.

For the United States to attempt to protect a nation that does not follow natural law will only mean the loss of millions of lives and billions and billions of dollars' worth of wealth. The result will be untold poverty and disease.

We are under no moral obligations whatsoever to send our boys or our equipment to Europe or to Asia or to Africa with the idea of forcing the rest of the world to re-distribute wealth in the way the majority of Americans think it should be re-distributed.

And the way America is going, unless it reverses its position that we can have more by having less, we are in a very precarious position ourselves without attempting to educate by force the rest of the world.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S STANDARD OF GOODNESS

An news report states that Mrs. Roosevelt had the airplane on which she recently arrived in California land at Central airfield rather than at its regular landing so that she would not be obliged to go through a picket line that had been established at the airport.

The reason the picket line was established was because the airfield officials patronized a laundry that was declared to be unfair by the union.

It is strange what some people regard as unethical. When a woman occupying the position of the President's wife will use that position to takes sides in a secondary boycott, it shows how absurd and ridiculous people who believe what they wish, have to be in order to try to be consistent.

And when people believe, as Mrs. Roosevelt evidently does, that wage levels can be raised by collective bargaining, then, in order to be consistent, they have to support any demands no matter how irrational, how unreasonable they may be.

Of course, this is a very easy standard of goodness—to tell someone else that they must pay better wages. It is much easier to do this than to try to employ people and furnish a service that benefits the consumer and pay the wages one contends someone else should pay. To tell somebody else to do something and to vote for somebody else to do something makes the people like Mrs. Roosevelt feel that they are very humanitarian, very sympathetic for the poor. To do this requires nothing that is difficult for themselves to do.

It is certainly a strange standard of goodness. It is a strange idea of what is right and what is wrong.

If Mrs. Roosevelt would attempt to operate a business and demonstrate to other people how to employ slow, inefficient people and pay them good wages, she would be performing a real service. But she makes no attempt to do this. She simply criticizes, by her boycotts, other people for not doing something that she cannot do herself, nor can she get anyone else to do it.

There is not much future for American people, when they have leadership that has the standard of rightness and goodness that Mrs. Roosevelt has.

the reliability of plants getting defense contracts. "We usually get in on negotiations before they reach the contract stage. If everything isn't all right, I recommend it be reconsidered," Knudsen explained, and then added, "It usually is."

"The easiest thing to do," said Knudsen in summing up his case for defense production, "would be to build a lot of plants and fill 'em full of tools, and just leave 'em there to use. The trouble is, we have to try to hold down plant investment."

"And we haven't got the time."

KNUDSEN'S DEFENSE LINES OPM Director Bill Knudsen's testimony before the Truman committee made one of the best official performances the capital has seen in a long time. Here are some of his terse comments:

How did he feel about strikes?—"I feel a little better than I did a month ago."

More on the strikes—"The technique of getting men out on the picket line is perfect. How to get them in again is what we don't know."

What was going to be done about the aluminum shortage?—"We're going to make some more aluminum."

Did Mr. Knudsen find any effort to hold up defense production?—"One apple in any barrel may be bad." On unemployment—"I've got a notion you won't hear much about unemployment after this fall. By LUCIE NEVILLE

NEA Service Staff Correspondent. HOLLYWOOD, April 22—To make the very best boogie-woogie you mix equal amounts of Little Italy and an F. V., throw in a left-handful of Bach, a dash of Harlem jigaboo, and beat thoroughly—eight to the bar.

So it's crazy, but that's the combination that has made the most popular music in the country, the one that turned out most of the recent hot and dark tunes: Rhum-Boogie, Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy (100,000 records sold in one month), Beat Me Daddy, and Scrub Me Mamma. And there's more cooking.

These high priests of eight-beat are in Hollywood now, writing the numbers for another Abbott and Costello picture. They're a couple of youngsters named Don Raye (lyrics, 29 and blond) and Gene De Paul (music, Latin and 21), as composite in temperament and background as you'd ever find.

LIKE THEM

For Abbott and Costello in the Navy, they were told to whip out a number that "must be patriotic, but it must be Navy, and have a chip on its shoulder." Another number for "four guys, like the Three Musketeers, only four of 'em, make it a one-for-all-and-all-for-one song, but light and with belly laughs." With this sort of mad request, the team usually starts with the words, Raye writes 16 basic lyrics, to which De Paul writes the front strain. So far, there hasn't been a single complaint from the neighbors, who evidently appreciate better boogie.

Another routine question is "What's the difference between ordinary music and boogie?" and as simply as they can explain, it has eight definite, prominent beats to the bar; swing has a steady four-beat, jazz had only two to the bar. Getting to the subject, they'll tell you that people usually think b. g. is all bass. It isn't. The left hand should be completely independent of the right, which needs lots of imagination to embroider nimbly on the theme.

"It wasn't I got into boogie that I really appreciated Bach," said De Paul. "I mean, the time I spent studying him, because Bach's written for separate, independent hands. And you can't play good boogie if your right is imitating or repeating your left."

DADDY DIDN'T BEAT HIM

De Paul grew up in New York's tough Little Italy section and got his first piano lessons from his father. Gene loafed from one teacher to another, earned his first money at 13. Papa De Paul shook his head in disbelief—who was crazy enough to pay 50 cents to hear anybody play the piano? He didn't change his mind when Gene got bigger pay, in theater bands and orchestras, and has quit listening now to the silly stories about movie salaries and record and sheet-music royalties.

Lyricist Don Raye's father, never thought much of his son's profession, either, until he got into boogie-woogie! Next week he'll receive a recording of "In the Navy," which Raye Jr. hopes he'll like. Actually, he's Donald McRea Wilhoite, Jr., of Lieutenant Commander Wilhoite. The family arrived at Jamestown on the 1807-boat and has been around Virginia ever since.

Don grew up at Norfolk, but lost all navy notions when he won a state Charleston contest. The prize money took him to New York, where he got into vaudeville and night

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

The old-timers of Pampa had rather pronounced tastes in the matter of flowers, tree shrubs, but most of them were agreed on one flower—the lilac. It did not matter whether they had ever flower listed in the seed catalog if they did not have a lilac bush or two in the yard then they might as well have had no flowers at all. And as a result of their gentlemen's taste (for no one can deny the lilac is odorous, genteel, modest, symmetrical, beautiful), lilac trees are most numerous and most fruitful at the homes of old-timers. Of course, the home of C. P. Buckler, which could be called "The Lilacs," if it is ever called anything, tops the list in the matter of lilacs.

Lilac bushes surround and criss-cross the grounds around his place, and as usual in April it is the most beautiful place in town. Everybody always talks about the lilacs at the Buckler home in the matter of lilacs.

Uncle Jim Williams' home on East Francis is comparatively new, but Uncle Jim saw to it that a lilac hedge was planted as soon as the house was finished. No, sir, he wasn't going to be caught without the gentleman's flower growing in his yard!

Probably the first bushes Uncle Henry and Aunt Fannie Lovett planted when they began to fix up their place on East Kingsmill were lilac "trees," and he knew that whenever Aunt Fannie sees those lilacs in bloom she thinks of the late Uncle Henry who was fond of lilacs. Then there was the late Mrs. Marian Walstead, whose descendants are legion here. Well, she used to have the most beautiful lilacs in town, and the late Mrs. Lee Ledrick, a daughter, was also fond of lilacs, and she used to take vases full over to the Christian church. . . . Then, there are still a lot of lilacs at the Old Schneider hotel, and there used to be more, and old-timers can still remember the lilacs at the Thut and LeFors homes at LeFors, and every farm home had its lilac bushes, and still do. And that's no more than right, because if there ever was a flower that seemed to suit the personality and temperament of the courteous, hospitable people of the reserved, modest, but fun-loving old West! We salute the growers of lilac bushes!

So They Say

If we had applied 10 years ago resolutely the policy of aiding the victim of aggression to defend himself we should not now be at war at all.

We, too, are lost if our faith in civil liberties is blotted out by hate and fear of the temporary invasion of the liberty we have.

—Justice CURTIS BOK, Philadelphia.

THE LOOKING GLASS

THE PERFECT WOMAN By Mme. Stella Holit

There was once a man who revered women but he was very unsuccessful in all his courtships. He had begun to despair of ever finding a mate when he met a lovely girl in the woods. She was almost the color of leaves, as cool and silent as moss. But when the man looked deep in her eyes with all his unspoken questions the woman's eyes held the same questions.

He led her out of the woods to his cabin and sitting by the fire she took on all the happy, warm colors of the burning logs and her cold lips quickly took warmth from his own when he kissed her.

The man was enraptured by her. He took her to gay parties and she sparkled like the glass and silverware. He went for walks with her on grey mornings and she was grey like the weather.

He rushed to her when he was happy and all of her body seemed to reflect this joy. In sorrow he sought her and she made no inane remarks by way of consolation. She did not bring him a drink or pat his shoulder and say "brace up". She did not drag him to a movie. She sat in front of him reflecting all of his misery.

In fact she was the perfect woman and he married her and had a very happy life. The neighbor women did not call on her after the first time because any woman could see at once that she was not a normal creature. It was soon discovered that she was a crystal woman, solid crystal; that she had neither brain nor any functioning organs. All she could do was mirror completely the person before her. Women dislike abnormalities of this kind in their own sex so they left her alone to the great joy of her husband who had secretly feared the day when she might be gossiping over the back fence with neighbor women. The man discovered no blemish in his perfect wife.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Herr Hitler is a super-opportunist, but it is worth noting that often he creates his own opportunities and that there rarely is so much time as witness the present moment—when he hasn't several irons in the fire, ready to grab the hottest of them for the anvil.

Thus we find that, even as his fast-moving mechanized armies continue to drive the Allies closer to the rugged shores of the Aegean for the killing, he already is getting set for fresh adventures. There are several prospects, mainly revolving around his efforts to break Britain's control of the Mediterranean.

The Fuehrer tells us today that his African expeditionary force has resumed its thrust into Egypt from Salum on the Libyan border. Also he is said to be pressing Generalissimo Franco for the use of his war-ravaged country as a base for operations against Gibraltar, and is asking France to agree to passage of Nazi legions through the unoccupied zone into Spain.

Meanwhile the Nazi chief continues to try to hypnotize Turkey, presumably with the idea of making France the way for a possible advance into the Near East. And London keeps insisting that there is the chance of a German conquest of the Russian Ukraine.

However, any thrust at Britain's domination of the Mediterranean is a thrust at the heart of the empire. Her naval supremacy in this great inland sea, which washes the shores of so many countries, has been the mainstay of her political power over Europe. Because the imperial highway to the east, passes through the Suez canal, the safeguarding of British domination has been a fundamental point in all plans of strategy.

If Hitler can't get directly at England, his next best bet is the Mediterranean. So we see him working along that line, and meantime continuing his fierce assaults on the British Isles by air (it was the badly punished port of Plymouth last night) and on Allied shipping with his U-boats.

Should the Fuehrer be able to break down Franco's opposition and get his troops into Spain, he would have cut a much bigger melon than the mere opening up of a road to attack Gibraltar. He presumably would be able to use Spain's Atlantic ports as bases for further operations against shipping. Moreover, it would be only a step further to take over Portugal, which snuggles in Spain's side.

So far as the famous fortress of Gibraltar is concerned, the British say they can hold it indefinitely. Probably they can, for it is the most powerful fortification of its kind. However, it isn't the big rock which matters so much as the naval base at its foot.

There is small doubt that the Nazis could make this base untenable with big guns worked from the neighboring mountains. Also, the Spanish soil. That would be a heavy blow to the British control of the western Mediterranean. It would be doubly heavy if the Germans were able at the same time to establish themselves in Spanish Morocco, on the other side of the narrow Strait of Gibraltar, through which all shipping must pass.
