ROOSEVELT FLAYS SINKING OF ROBIN MOOR

THE CHAMPION TAKES A TOUGH ONE

Still champion and heavyweight title-holder of the world, Joe Louis takes a jarring right punch from Billy Conn, young

177 pound challenger from Pittsburgh, Penn. Louis tottering on the brink of defeat came back like a true champion to win in the thirteenth by a knockout. Louis admitted after the fight that Conn really had him worried and professed his willingness to give a return bout.

'Go Slow' On Rubber, Civilians Warned

Johnson Plans Whirlwind Tour Of Panhandle

Second candidate for the office of United States senator to bring his campaign to Pampa will be Rep. Lyndon Johnson, congressman from the tenth (Austin) district. He is scheduled to speak in Pampa at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Johnson is to arrive at English Field in Amarillo at noon and without stopping will drive to Panhandle and then to Borger before coming to Pampa. He will then make a whirlwind trip to McLean, Shamrock and Wellington and will try to make Childress, Memphis and Claude on his way back to Amarillo for a night meeting.

Friends here have been notified that Johnson will discuss national defense, oil and gas, and the farm and range program.

Johnson has been touring the Rio Grande valley area during the week and is just now heading toward West Texas. Last night he spoke in Marshall at which time he declared that "all-out unity is my platform."

Speaking on his close friendship with President Roosevelt, Johnson said he had received the following wire from a very close friend of the president's in Washington.

"The President knew, of course, that there are 24 candidates in the race in Texas. He also knew more than one candidate was claiming his support. But the President, since the race started has seen fit to mention his friendship for only one candidate and it should be obvious whom he prefers."

Johnson talked oil and agricultural problems and reminded that Texas farmers must be relieved of discriminatory freight rates. His first vote in congress had been in the interest of the farmers, he said, and he pledged himself to vote to the last.

Seven Children Involved In Three Divorce Decrees

Divorces were granted in four cases recorded yesterday in 31st district court.

Ira Bertha Adams vs. Earl S. Adams; Jeff D. Yearwood vs. Florence Yearwood, custody of Delbert Eugene and Delores Juanita, minors, to plaintiff, defendant to pay $10 a month toward children's support.

Goldie Dobbis Helms vs. Lon J. Helms, custody of Ludell and Gerold, minors, to plaintiff, defendant to pay $10 a month toward child's support.

Get his window displays and floats mixed up yesterday. It was the New Mexico society window display which received a blue ribbon and not the float. There were no prizes given in the parade for outstanding floats. The New Mexico window didn't need a sign to tell what state it represented. It contained beautiful Indian costumes, collections of arrow heads, axes, rugs and blankets, and other Indian relics.

Cigaretts And Cash Taken In Furr Store

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—An official "go slow" warning was posted today for tire buyers all over the nation, gasoline users in the east, and electricity consumers in the south.

To meet the demands of rearmament, stock piles of rubber must be built up with imports largely from the East Indies, so defense officials ordered a reduction henceforth in the amount of rubber available for civilian consumption.

Hydroelectric power in the drought ridden southeast is essential for the manufacture of vital aluminum, so the federal power commission announced yesterday that it was ready to urge adoption of daylight saving time throughout the entire area.

And with scores of tankers transferred from domestic routes to British use, eastern motorists got an official hint that it might be necessary to ration gasoline until new ways could be found to bring in petroleum from mid-continent oil fields.

America's 30,000,000 motor vehicle owners appeared destined to feel the first major effects of civilian sacrifices.

The motorists, however, got some encouragement in a move by the price control administration to "freeze" the price of gasoline, as a barrier to unwarranted increases. Moreover, the government itself received encouragement in its effort to meet the pressing problem of supplying the east with oil. Some 800 representatives of America's $12,000,000,000 petroleum industry, meeting here in emergency session yesterday, voted unanimously to cooperate every way possible in grappling with this and any other problem that may arise out of the preparedness and aid-to-Britain efforts.

Hitler Determined To Have Supplies From Soviet Russia

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Several senators well informed on international affairs agreed today that Germany's threatening gestures toward Russia may win the Nazis vast new supplies of raw materials, prolong the war and increase the chances of American involvement.

"The massing of German troops on the Russian frontier means that she is determined to have Russian food supplies and war materials, with or without fighting," said Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who repeatedly has demanded more active aid to Britain.

"If the Nazis can take over the Ukraine," he told newsmen, "she will be able to fight a long war and will increase the necessity of our doing something."

"We've seen this Nazi monster grow from a little fellow into a giant, and still we watch him. At least we could cut off the legs on which he might march against us."

Pepper referred to his recent suggestion that this country occupy Dakar, the Azores, and other strategic bases which might become stepping stones across the South Atlantic.

Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.) told reporters that "it would be damned nice if the dictators would really quarrel" and said that if Russia would actively resist German penetration "it might give England a real opportunity to bomb Germany."

Miners And Owners Sign New Treaty

(By The Associated Press)
A new agreement was signed today between southern Appalachian soft coal producers and the CIO United Mine Workers in a drive to obtain complete labor peace in the coal industry.

Owners and union officials had before them the two-year agreement signed yesterday by the CIO-UMW and northern producers, a document which represented a formal end to a long drawn out wage dispute.

While labor difficulties persisted in San Francisco shipyards, the Puget Sound lumber camps and on some Great Lakes ships, a four-day strike of municipal employees at McKeesport, Pa., ended, as did a steel strike at Apollo in the same state.

The northern soft coal labor contract was a pattern for the one the union hopes to negotiate with the southern operators. One of its principal provisions was a clause raising the basic pay of miners from $6 to $7 a day.

Southern operators formerly paid $5.60 a day, and to end an April shutdown, entered into a temporary agreement with the union to raise the scale to $6.60. But the owners at that time balked at doing away with a long-established sectional differential, and paying the same wages as in the north. However, on June 9 the southerners and union accepted recommendations of the mediation board which included elimination of the differential.

The southern operators and the union also have been at odds on other questions, including vacations with pay. The UMW and the northern group worked out a vacation schedule for the year to reduce lost production time by the establishing a holiday period over the July 4 weekend. The union's original proposal for 10 days brought objections from the south on the ground it would cost too much production. The curtailed vacation period—July 3 to 7, inclusive—was expected to ease the tension on this issue in the southern negotiations.

Action toward ending the strike of AFL and CIO machinists at 11 San Francisco shipyards developed as a result of an AFL mass meeting. However, Harvey

Dwight Upham Hired By Fire Department

Dwight Upham, formerly of McLean, has been appointed a paid member of the Pampa Fire department. Chief Ben White announced today that the veteran fireman having been a member of the McLean Fire department for 18 years. He is a brother-in-law of Sherman White.

Upham will be the fourth man on the fire department, replacing Earl Carlson who was named captain when Eddie Gray was appointed assistant chief to succeed Tom Eckerd who resigned last week.

Chief White announced today that the department would soon need a number of volunteer firemen and that young men interested in joining the department should contact him. They will be given a free training course and will then be ready to succeed firemen who are leaving for service with the United States army.

Three members have already been called and three or four more have received questionnaires.

Negro Held Under Assault Charge

Held in county jail here today was J. H. (Buck) Kennedy, negro, under a charge of assault with a knife, in alleged connection with an affray that occurred in a beer tavern in the flats last night.

Kennedy was arrested in Borger by officers there and returned here in custody of Dan Cambren, Gray county deputy sheriff. Complaint against Kennedy was filed today in the court of Justice of the Peace E. F. Young.

The man allegedly assaulted, a Shamrock negro, was released from a local hospital early today, after receiving treatment for three head cuts.

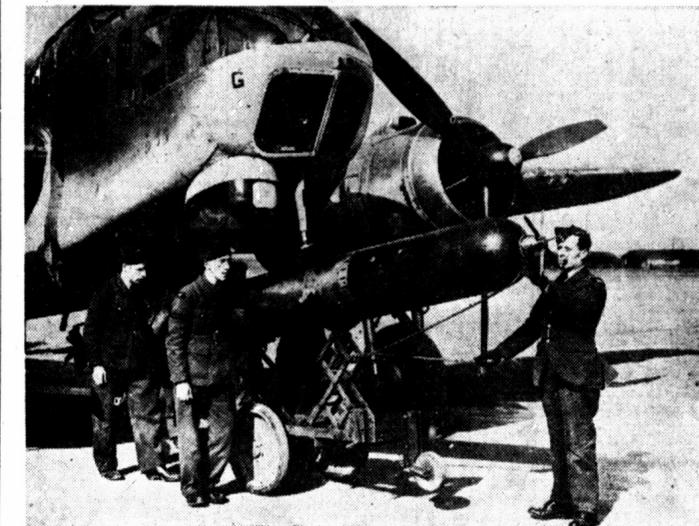

Sam Rayburn Votes For Lyndon Johnson

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) voted by absentee ballot today for Representative Lyndon B. Johnson for senator from Texas.

He issued a statement asserting that "with malice toward none, and being deeply sensible of my responsibilities as a citizen," he had decided to support Johnson.

Johnson is one of the candidates for the Texas seat now being held temporarily by Senator Andrew Jackson Houston, who was appointed to succeed the late Morris Sheppard. The election will be held June 28.

Lubbock Square Filled As Mann Meets Voters

LUBBOCK, June 20—In a crowded square block that had been roped off in front of the Hotel Lubbock here, Gerald C. Mann set the pitch of his campaign for the United States senate on a level that is familiar to every Texan and every American.

"I am conducting an old-fashioned campaign for the United States senate," he declared, "meeting people and speaking to people of Texas, in every section of the state, on the sidewalk, the street corners and the courthouse lawns—an old-fashioned campaign in which I am carrying my message to the voters."

"I do not have any mountain money or entertainers. I do not know how to pull the strings. I do not know how to apply the pressure nor do I have anyone to pull strings or apply pressure for me."

"I do not have any letters of endorsement, but I do have behind me the endorsement of half a million people who sent me into the attorney general's office by an overwhelming majority of 130,000 votes despite the opposition of the governor of Texas."

"I am going out and looking people squarely in the eye. I am not afraid of any questions the people might ask. I promised the people three years ago to build a real attorney general's office. The records of that department are an open book."

"We have gone right down the line, ruling in accordance with the law, regardless of political consequences. We have filed no law suits to gain public favor nor have we failed to file any lawsuits for fear of losing it."

Friday Mann's schedule included Loydada, Ralls, Spur, Stamford, Head, and Abilene where he will speak at eight o'clock in the evening. Saturday he will speak at 9 a. m. in Sweetwater; at 10:15 in Colorado City; at 11:30 in Big Spring; in Stanton at 1:15; Midland at 2:15; Monahans at 4 p. m.; Pecos at 5 p. m. and Odessa at 8:30 p. m.

Deadline For Absentee Voting To Be June 25

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Absentee voters have five more days in which to cast ballots for the special senatorial election June 28.

Such voting began June 6 and will be concluded June 25.

In Travis county only 300 absentee ballots had been received, although in primaries the total often runs from 1,500 to 2,000.

Officials called the vote to date "light."

Late News

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—The senate today refused to retreat from its stand against recessing the general session of the legislature until after the senatorial election June 28.

It rejected, as it had many such resolutions in the past, a house proposal to recess tomorrow until July 15 and then to adjourn sine die July 18.

U. S. Will Not Yield Seas, Claims FDR

President Defies Hitler As An 'Outlaw'

(By The Associated Press)
President Roosevelt today branded the sinking of the S. S. Robin Moor the ruthless act of "an international outlaw" and declared Germany committed the deed as "a warning that the United States may use the high seas of the world only with Nazi consent."

Then sternly he announced: "We are not yielding and we do not propose to yield."

Even as Mr. Roosevelt's message went to congress, Nazi quarters in Berlin speculated that a break in diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany may be imminent.

Mr. Roosevelt said the Robin Moor incident was Germany's notice "that no American ship or cargo on any of the seven seas can consider itself immune from acts of piracy."

"Notice is served on us," he declared, "in effect that the German Reich proposes so to intimidate the United States that we should be dissuaded from carrying out our chosen policy of helping Britain to survive."

"The government of the United States," he said, "holds Germany responsible for the outrageous and indefensible sinking of the Robin Moor."

"Full reparation for the losses and damages suffered by American nationals will be expected from the German government."

(By The Associated Press)
Informed quarters in London today disclosed that the RAF's 9-day series of blasts at channel "invasion ports" and the German Ruhr was an all-out attempt to smash preparations for a big Nazi push against England expected as soon as Germany settles matters with Russia.

In what may have been a pointed warning to Germany, a Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, declared:

"Neither through the forests, nor the steppes, mountains nor seas will the enemy ever step across the forbidden boundary."

While Moscow was outwardly calm, an atmosphere of uneasiness prevailed in London. If Adolf Hitler should strike a bloodless bargain with Soviet Premier Joseph V. Stalin, it was said, Britain must expect a swift blow from Nazi invasion bases across the channel.

These sources declared that Britain's intensive aerial offensive, carried out by hundreds of planes, was aimed at a dual objective:

1. To slow the German war effort by crippling the reich's industrial output, particularly synthetic oil.

2. To snarl the transportation routes from base pools of material and personnel which the Germans will need when a full-scale offensive against Britain starts.

For four successive days, the RAF has carried out strong daylight attacks on Nazi-held channel harbors, camps and airfields. It was reported that the RAF was used for invasion, it was said, Cologne and Dusseldorf. Frequent RAF targets were the objects of last night's latest raids.

How quickly Adolf Hitler would settle affairs with Russia remained to be seen. Dispatches from Moscow said there was no indication that the U. S. S. R. expected an invasion, although Europe's capitals for days have echoed with rumors that Germany was massing troops on her eastern frontier "for a possible drive into the Soviet Union."

A British exchange telegraph dispatch quoted foreign reports as saying Russia's ambassador to Germany had seen Naval Rear Admiral Joachim von Ribbentrop several times and was expected to see Hitler.

In Berlin, authorized quarters said that Germany's action in padlocking United States consulates was "not a reprisal" and that the German government had proof on dozens of cases where "information gathered by American consular officials was directly submitted to the British secret service in whose behalf they acted."

No longer, a Berlin spokesman said, would Germany "continue our magnanimous attitude toward American machinations" in the reich.

On the Middle East war front, see-saw fighting raged toward a climax in the siege of Damascus. Vichy French defenders declared

National Ice Coffee Week To Be Observed By Giving New Ideas For Serving Favorite Beverage During Summer

BY JOHNNIE DAVIS

National "weeks" of one kind and another accomplish a noble purpose at that—for they call to the consumer mind the goodness of a product which should not be overlooked!

Now comes one well worth celebrating: National Ice Coffee Week, which is ushered in "to the tune of tinkling ice" on June 22, lasts through June 29, and hopes to keep us right-minded about this delightful brew all summer long!

Long glasses of iced coffee, made fresh and strong with plenty of ice are in easy reach and light-as-thistle down cupcake are here for balance. Your lovely cutting board becomes the season's smartest tray, beautiful glasses are chilled in the refrigerator and then dipped in the sugar bowl for frosting to be filled with iced coffee.

Make it right (two ways are given below), serve it icy and often, and along with such table-joys as are here suggested.

June's Last Week Brings Iced Coffee

HOW TO MAKE GOOD ICED COFFEE

Method No. 1—Make regular-strength coffee by your favorite method. Use 1 heaping measuring cup of coffee for each 3/4 measuring cup (6 oz.) of water. When coffee is made in metal maker, pour into enamel, glass, china, or earthenware container; cover securely and allow to cool. Place in refrigerator if desired. To serve, pour the chilled coffee into tall glasses half-filled with ice. Serve with sugar and plain or whipped cream.

Method No. 2—Make extra-strength coffee by your favorite method. Use half again as much coffee as for regular strength brew. Pour the hot, freshly made coffee into tall glasses filled with ice. Serve with sugar and plain or whipped cream.

Method No. 1 will require 3/4 to 1 cup of cooled regular-strength coffee per serving; method No. 2 will require 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cups of hot extra-strength coffee per serving.

GREEN BEAN AND TOMATO BROIL

(Serves 4 to 6)

Two large firm tomatoes, salt and pepper, 2 1/2 cups green beans, cooked, 1/2 cup freshly grated cheese, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Remove blossom end of tomatoes. Split in half. Season with salt and pepper. Lay cooked beans across tomato halves, sprinkle with grated cheese and melted butter. Place under a moderate broiler flame until lightly browned and tomato is cooked. Baste occasionally with drippings. Asparagus tips may be used when in season.

CURRIED MACARONI

(Serves 4 to 6)

One package (2 1/2 quarts) water, 2 tablespoons salt, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons curry powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 3 cups milk, 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water 10 minutes and drain. Melt butter, blend with flour, curried powder, salt and onion. Add milk and cook until it thickens, stirring constantly. Mix macaroni with sauce. Place in buttered casserole. Sprinkle with crumbs and dot with butter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

SPECIAL DESSERT

No matter how thrifty you may be, the temptation to splurge on desserts gets strong now and then. Better give in once in a while. Serve a party dessert, something special, but be sure it is nutritious as well as delicious.

These three summer specials will please both family and guests:

APRICOT SHERBERT

(Serves 5 to 6)

Once cup stewed dried apricots, 1 1/2 cups water, 1 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 egg white.

Rub the apricots through a sieve. Beat the sugar and water together for 5 minutes, add the apricot pulp and lemon juice. Chill, add the un-beaten egg white, pack in an ice cream freezer and freeze. If the sherbert is frozen in a mechanical refrigerator, add the egg white beaten until stiff after the mixture has frozen to a mush.

COTTAGE CHEESE CHERRY TURSTART PIE

(Yield: 1 9-inch pie)

One and one-half cups cottage cheese, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 eggs yolks, un-beaten, 1 cup cup pitted cherries, 1 un-baked 9-inch pie shell.

Combine ingredients in order given, mix thoroughly and pour into un-baked pie shell. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees F. Continue baking 15 minutes if firm, or until inserted knife comes out clean.

HALF-POUND CAKE WITH FRUIT

(Yield: 1 loaf)

Two and one-quarter cups sifted cake flour, 1/2 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 5 eggs, 1/2 cup dried fruit cut fine—dates, figs, cherries or raisins, 1/2 cup chopped nuts.

Mix flour, 1/2 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, and sift three times. Cream butter until soft; add sugar gradually, creaming until very fluffy. Add lemon juice. Add eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Fold in the flour mixture and the fruit and nuts. Turn into greased loaf pan and bake at 300-325 degrees F. for 1 1/2 hours.

IRISH BERRIES

Fresh berries are in season so make the most of this delicious opportunity.

Lemon now combines well with berries. Here's a tested recipe from "The Merry Mixer Cook Book" of one of the most satisfactory guides to economy, that tastes good. All the recipes given here are from the same source.

LEMON SNOW

(Serves 6)

One-quarter cup cold water, 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin, 1 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 2 egg whites.

Proceed as in making clear gelatin. Measure cold water into mixing bowl, add gelatin and let stand five minutes. Add boiling water, sugar and salt, and stir until gelatin, lemon juice, are dissolved. Add egg whites. Let stand until mixture starts to congeal, then beat with a rotary beater until frothy. Beat egg whites stiff, add to gelatin mixture, beating them in until the mixture is stiff enough to hold its shape. This process is speeded if bowl is set in a pan of ice or cold water. Turn into molds rinsed with cold water, chill, or pile lightly in serving glasses. Chill until firm. Serve with crushed and sweetened fresh or preserved berries or with soft custard.

BLACKBERRY MOUSSE

One cup blackberry pulp, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 2 cups whipping cream.

Crush enough blackberries to make one cup pulp, and mix with sugar and salt. Let stand until sugar is dissolved. Soak gelatin five minutes in cold water, dissolve by holding over hot water. Stir a tablespoon or two of the blackberry pulp into the gelatin, mixing it in well. Turn it back into the blackberry pulp, mixing it through the pulp. Let stand a few minutes, then add milk cream whipped to thick custard consistency. Turn into drawer of refrigerator, and freeze.

CANTALOUPE WITH ORANGE SHERBERT

Fill cantaloupe halves, after removing seeds, with orange sherbert and serve plain, garnished with apricot fresh mint, or pour over the orange sherbert crushed and sweetened fresh red raspberries.

Allies Hope To Occupy Damascus In 'Matter Of Hours'

LONDON, June 20 (AP)—Allied troops at the gates of Damascus were reported today hopeful of fully occupying that ancient Syrian capital "in a matter of hours."

Reports from Cairo said British, Indian and free French units were attacking from three sides after the French Commander and Governor, Gen. Henri Dentz, disregarded a British demand for the city's capitulation yesterday morning.

The middle east command in Cairo, however, indicated the French resistance still was firm on all Syrian fronts and claimed only "local advances" by British and Indian forces outside Damascus.

Free French units south of the Syrian capital, it said, were holding off determined Vichy counter-attacks. In the south, the commander said heavy fighting still continued around French-recaptured Merdjayoun and on the coast it acknowledged that Australians were making only slow progress toward Beirut against strong resistance.

Behind Damascus that French troops had ejected Hindu soldiers from the airport of Meze, about 3 1/2 miles west, in a bitter struggle early yesterday, were not borne out of British sources. The French said they took 160 prisoners.

Four Youths From Panhandle Go To Naval Air Base

Another class of 66 aviation students has been called to the naval aviation base at Dallas and among them are four youths from this section of the Panhandle. This call makes a total of 177 received at the new base.

Ordered to report from this section are George Russell Lewis, Box 584, Canadian; Robert Earl Fielder, Box 212, Phillips; Henry William Hise, 404 South Choctaw street; and Charles Everett Dye, Box 1124, Borger.

These students will spend one month in preliminary training at Dallas, after which they will probably be ordered to the new naval air station at Corpus Christi for advanced training. After seven months there, these students will be commissioned as officers in the naval reserve and sent to active duty with the aviation squadron of the navy.

Commander A. Laverents states that, while recruiting for this interesting branch of service is brisk, due to the large number to be trained, there are still plenty of vacancies for early classes. Classes assemble every month and the students are given their choice of which month they desire to go to duty. However, interested candidates should contact the nearest navy recruiting station at once, so that their examination may be completed and their names placed on the list.

Lions Club Shown Pictures Made In Alaska By Davis

Motion pictures of an Alaskan vacation trip were shown to the Pampa Lions club, at the regular weekly luncheon at noon Thursday, by Mrs. Mel Davis.

Dr. Roy A. Webb, chairman of the finance and sponsor committee, announced that advance sale of tickets for the third annual Pampa News-Pampa Lions Club Soap Box derby, to be held here July 17-18, had started.

Books with 10 tickets each have been issued to Lions club members for sale.

Next week the club will substitute a picnic for Lions club members and their families at Lake McClellan, for the regular weekly noon luncheon. The picnic will be held at 6 o'clock Thursday night at the lake.

Attendance at the luncheon yesterday was 62. Guests were Noel Dalton, Joe Gordon, and Mrs. Davis, all of Pampa.

R. R. Commission Attends Odessa's Little Oil Show

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Members of the state railroad commission joined today in extending best wishes to the second annual little international oil show in Odessa.

Rep. Taylor White of Odessa also facilitated the exposition, describing it as an outstanding achievement of the industry in the Odessa area.

Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the railroad commission, declared the show "is always one of the high spots of the oil business in the southwest."

Olin Culberson, commissioner, said the show was "a decided contribution to the industry," while Jerry Sadler, the other commission member, termed it a focal point for eyes of oil men, not only in Texas, but in surrounding oil states.

Thompson asserted the oil business was looking forward to the most prosperous period in its history. Production of oil throughout the nation is almost exactly in line with estimated market demand, he said.

"The appointment of a coordinator for the industry will enable elements of the industry to talk their problems over together in concert without fear of violating the anti-trust law," he continued.

To reach distant starting points for horse trails, forest managers now load their mounts into trailers.

It Doesn't Pay To Run Down A Deer

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Motorists had better think a long time before running down deer in Texas.

An East Texan recently was fined $21 and costs for deliberately striking a deer while it was thirty feet from the road. Automobile repairs cost him $19.50.

A state game warden, finding remnants of a damaged radiator, checked garages and located the deer killer in a town 70 miles away.

English Argue About Statement From Hess

LONDON, June 20 (AP)—Long parliament pressure on the government for a statement on the Rudolf Hess case resulted today in a declaration by Richard Austen Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, that such a statement was not regarded "as being in the public interest."

Laborite Emanuel Sydney Silverman recalled Prime Minister Churchill's speech June 10 in which the prime minister said Britain had advised the government of the United States about the German deputy fuhrer's flight to Scotland May 10.

"What is the government of the United States entitled to know that our people should not know?" Silverman demanded.

Butler said that rumors that Hess was held at Chequers, the country home of Britain's prime minister, were "nonsense."

"Now we have the cheerful news that Hess is at Chequers. Is that so? Why is he down at Chequers? I do not know, but that is common talk."

To these and other comments, Butler reiterated the government position that Hess "is being treated as an officer and kept in detention as a prisoner of war."

Butler denied "statements implying Hess is in the hands of a very special and luxurious treatment."

Lake Marvin Opening To Be Held Saturday

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS: CANADIAN, June 20—Lake Marvin, Hemphill county's summer resort named for Marvin Jones and opened in 1939, will be formally opened for the season Saturday and Sunday, June 21 and 22.

C. E. A. Simpson, president of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce will make an address at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Motor races, swimming races, and a bathing beauty contest will follow. Cash prizes will be awarded in the motor boat races. Dixie Dick will put on a floor show both nights. There will also be dancing each night.

Canadian Church To Hold Budget Shower Sunday

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS: CANADIAN, June 20—Next Sunday will be "budget shower" day at the First Methodist church.

The pastor will preach following the regular Sunday school hour as usual, then the members will gather in their banquet room for an occasion such as always belonged with the Methodist quarterly meetings.

The basket dinner will be sponsored by the women's organization of the church of which Mrs. Perry Patterson is president.

Free-will offerings for the church budget will be accepted.

Uel D. Crosby is pastor and Charles Teas serves as Sunday school superintendent.

SERVING TRICKS FOR ICED COFFEE

Add a spoonful of coffee, chocolate, egg nog, or butterscotch ice cream to a glass of iced coffee.

Honey and brown sugar, in place of the sugar, make a honey of a drink of iced coffee.

Serve iced coffee with whipped cream flavored any of these ways: add ground cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, mace or cloves to the whipped cream. Add a few drops of oil of spearmint or wintergreen; add a few drops of maple flavoring, or a few drops of oil of cloves. Try blending in some thick, heavy chocolate syrup, or mix in some grated orange rind.

WHAT TO SERVE WITH ICED COFFEE

Cousin Lou's Molded Veal

2 tablespoons gelatin.
1 tablespoon cold water.
1 1/2 cups well-seasoned veal stock or 2 chicken bouillon cubes and 1 1/4 cups boiling water.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
3/4 cup mayonnaise.
3/4 cups diced cooked veal.
1/2 cup diced celery.
2-oz. bottle (1/2 cup) stuffed olives, sliced.
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced.
Soften gelatin in cold water about 5 minutes. Heat stock to boiling; add gelatin and allow to dissolve. Add Worcestershire sauce, chill. When slightly thickened, add mayonnaise, stirring until well blended. Add veal, celery, and olives. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour 1/2 of mixture into oiled mold or loaf pan. Arrange egg slices in layer. Cover with remaining gelatin mixture. Chill until firm. Unmold and slice for serving. Serve plain or with additional mayonnaise. Approximate yield: 8-10 portions.

CHINATOWN SHRIMP

(Six servings)

One can shrimp, 5 ounces, or 1/2 pound fresh shrimp, 4 strips bacon, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 cup cubed American cheese, 5 cups cooked rice, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 cup coarsely chopped salted peanuts.

Clean and remove black vein from shrimps. Brown diced bacon and onion in a 1 1/2-quart heat-resistant glass saucepan with removable handle until onion is tender, about 5 minutes over low heat. Add butter, cheese, rice, shrimps and salt. Cook until heated throughout, stirring constantly. Remove handle. Serve in saucepan. Peanuts are to be sprinkled on top.

TULIP TOMATOES FILLED WITH SHRIMP

(Six servings)

Six tomatoes, 1 cup finely diced celery, 1 cup canned shrimp (2 No. 1 cans), 1/3 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice, dash cayenne pepper.

Cut tomatoes in sixths with sharp knife, cutting outside of tomatoes, and just enough so that each section can be pulled back to form a petal. Combine diced celery, canned shrimp, mayonnaise, lemon juice and cayenne pepper. Chill. Sprinkle inside of tomatoes with salt. Fill with shrimp celery mixture. Garnish with whole shrimp.

SALMON RING

(Eight servings)

One cup flaked salmon (fresh or canned), 3/4 cup bread crumbs, 1/2 cup cream, 3 eggs, salt, pepper, 1 pt. cream sauce.

Mix salmon and bread crumbs. Add cream, un-beaten yolks of eggs, one at a time. Season, then add stiffly beaten whites of egg.

Put into well buttered, paper-lined ring mold. Place in pan of hot water and bake 1/2 hour.

Serve with cream sauce poured into center and over entire ring.

CASSEROLE DISHES

With whole families trekking here and there these early summer weekends, it looks as though the kitchen might be forgotten. At least, for the time being.

Thus, the one-dish meal, that all-around aid to good eating, moves up even higher on its pinnacle of popularity. It can be prepared early in the day, refrigerated, and slid into the oven a half hour before meal time. With a fresh, crisp salad and rolls, practically your whole meal is ready.

Important in a successful casserole dish is its finish. Don't pile the food into a dish and let it go,

Ham and Veal Pie

2 cups diced cooked veal, 1 cup diced cooked ham, 1/2 cup diced cooked potatoes, 1/2 cup cooked peas, 1/2 cup cooked sliced carrots, 1/2 cup diced celery, 1 1/2 cups leftover gravy. Salt to taste. Biscuit dough. Combine meat, vegetables and gravy in a saucepan, and season to taste. Heat to boiling. Turn into a casserole and cover with baking powder biscuit dough cut in fancy shapes. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) until biscuits are thoroughly done and brown, and filling is piping hot, about 20 minutes. Serves 4 or 5.

Pioneer Pie

Diced cooked meat, 1/2 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup minced onion, 1/2 cup stock or water, 1 tablespoon flour, 3 1/2 cups mashed potatoes, 5-6 strips bacon. Combine meat, celery and onion and place in a casserole or baking dish. Mix the flour with the stock and pour over the meat mixture, or use leftover gravy. Pile the seasoned mashed potatoes over the whole, and arrange bacon strips like wagon spokes on top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

Popular Ham Scallop

2 cups diced cooked ham, 2 cups diced cooked potatoes, 1/2 cup diced celery, 3 tablespoons peanut butter, 3 cups thin white sauce. Salt and pepper. Arrange alternate layers of ham, celery and potatoes in a casserole or baking dish. Melt the peanut butter in the white sauce, and pour over. Sprinkle with crumbs, then bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes.

Squaw Dish

6 slices bacon, 2 cups corn, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 3 eggs. Salt and pepper. Chop the bacon and cook in a frying-pan until crisp. Turn the corn into the pan and brown it slightly. One by one, drop in the eggs and stir until eggs are cooked.

Campfire Quickly

~Brown 1 cup chopped cooked ham in a frying-pan. Over it pour 2 cups cooked tomatoes. Stir in 3 eggs slightly beaten. Stir until the mixture is thickened and egg is cooked through.

SUNDAY SUPPER

Cold cuts for the meat course on hot nights if you prefer. But one nourishing hot dish is needed also. With a salad and a fruit dessert, plus the cold cuts and one hot dish, you have a well-balanced meal.

Try these hot dishes. They are different, cost little and easy to prepare.

EGGS WITH MUSTARD SAUCE

(Serves 4 or 5)

Two tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 2 1/2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, salt, pepper, 4 or 5 hard-cooked eggs, sliced. Cook the onion in the butter un-

A Meal, And A Roof, And Democracy

"Democracy," cried the young man earnestly, "is three square meals a day and a roof over your head."

The youth frowns before which he was speaking burst into an approving roar. The definition is scarcely accurate, yet it ill behooves any of the more fortunate elders of this youth...

No, Democracy is not three square meals a day and a roof over your head. Slaves have been well fed and housed with reasonable comfort, but whatever you might say about their condition, it was not democracy.

Three squares and democracy are not the same thing. But the question that demands an answer is this: can democracy exist for long when perhaps a third of the people do not have the three squares and the roof?

Economic security, in other words, is not the same thing as democracy, but a democracy which fails consistently to offer conditions in which the vast majority of people have a high degree of economic security is allowing an important corner of its foundations to crumble.

The democratic way of life is a vast, monumental building, the fairest and finest man has yet built. Its foundations and rooms are many—equal political rights, toleration, restricted governmental power, equality of opportunity, no special privileges, freedom of discussion and thought, no permanent class lines...

Did you dine well last evening, and the evening before that, and every evening for many years before that? Then do not laugh away this young man's definition of democracy. It is not a very good definition, but it is full of meaning to America.

Behind The News

By PETER EDSON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, June 20—One million, one hundred and fifty-three thousand five hundred railway employees having presented demands for wage increases and change of working conditions which may cost the roads as much as $750,000,000 a year, you may be interested in taking a look at the government machinery set up to avert a strike—the threat employees hold over employers and the traveling and shipping public to gain their desired ends.

Though the railway labor representatives have asked that their demands be met by July 10, the case has not yet come to the National Mediation board, the three-man body set up under the Railway Labor Act of 1934 to handle these matters.

That's the first rule of successful mediation, always. Let the two sides to the controversy sit down by themselves and try to iron out their difficulties without government interference. The status of the case at present, therefore, is that the unions have presented their demands to their employers who are now holding conferences among themselves to decide what they can do.

If direct negotiations should fail and if the case follows the regular channels, the next step would be the calling in of a mediation board mediator. The mediators in these cases work just like mediators always have to, informally and off the record.

If that doesn't work, the next step is for the mediation board to suggest arbitration, under which each side names one arbitrator, and these two name a third. This arbitration board holds hearings, studies the case and makes its findings which are then put in effect through U. S. federal courts.

If the two sides won't arbitrate, or if the arbitration award is unsatisfactory to both sides and it looks as though the issue is going to bring on a strike which will cripple transportation, the National Mediation board then puts the matter up to the White House.

The so-called and much discussed "cooling off" periods of the Railway Labor Act came through board

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given soul right to create and enjoy something anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

WHAT IS CONTRABAND?

Sinking of the American ship Robin Moor is something about which the American people should keep cool heads. It will be remembered that it was the sinking of ships, during the World War, that got America to participate in the war.

While the loss of life of innocent people on the high seas, who probably did not understand the risks of travel on the ocean, is to be deplored, it must be remembered that everyone who goes on an American ship should well know that American ships are being used to transport things that are used for war purposes to other countries in war.

These passengers thus, should have known they were taking a great risk when they boarded an American ship and, consequently, were not entitled to the same consideration they would be entitled to if the American government had really been neutral.

So, every ship, in reality, is contraband because the more American ships that are destroyed, the less America can help England defeat Germany. It would, thus, seem that ships are as much a contraband of war as guns, planes and tanks.

If American people were in the place of Germany, it would be easier to understand why they feel it necessary to think American ships as contraband, whether they have guns and tanks on or not.

And when any nation, whether it be our nation or another, furnishes all kinds of material to a country in war and publicly declares that they are going to use their ships to make materials available for the enemy, then it is hard to conceive how the nation that is having these ships used against them should not regard them as subjects for sinking.

RESPONSIBILITY AND STEWARDSHIP OF WEALTH

What most people fail to realize is that under the laws that have been passed in the United States during the last three decades, and especially during the last decade, the stewardships of wealth, or talents, is largely taken away from the individual. Under the modern laws an owner of capital cannot be responsible for how his wealth is used.

Our socialistic and communistic laws preventing the producers of capital from being stewards of their wealth, has resulted in the longest period of unemployment in our history. It is the cause of our fear of Germany attacking us.

It was because France did not permit men of talents and genius to be stewards of their wealth that they are now the serfs of Germany. Will we learn from object lessons or will we be obliged to learn by the slow and hard way of pain and suffering that always results from a continuous growth of government?

One often hears the expression nowadays that unions are all right but they have gone too far. A Gallup poll shows that beliefs in unionism have dropped from 76 per cent in August 1936 to 67 per cent today.

If those people who make the statement that unions have gone too far, were asked to explain what unions stood for and what unionism really meant, there is little doubt that not one in a hundred would be able to give an intelligent explanation.

But most people still believe that wages can be set by wish, or by law, or by force. They do not realize that wage levels as a whole follow just as rigid laws as the law of gravity that cannot be changed one iota. What these people who say that labor unions have gone too far fail to understand is that when labor unions establish high wages at one point, it reduces wages to other workers by more than what they raise the wages.

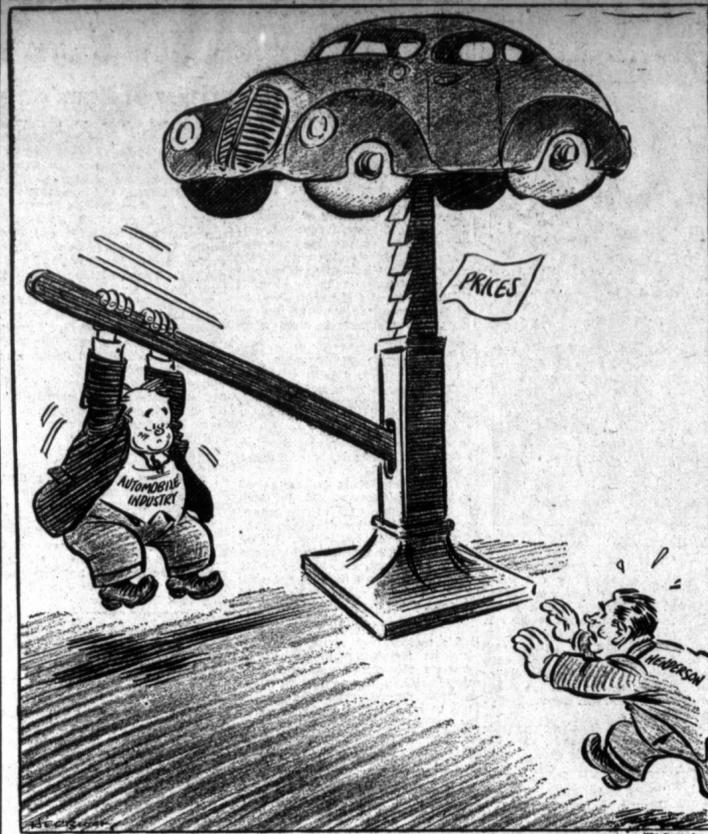

orders and legal provisions freezing the situation pending mediation, arbitration and settlement. Employees and employers are required to file demands for changes in existing labor relations 30 days in advance.

ROADS LOST LAST DISPUTE The wage issue hasn't been such a terribly difficult problem on a national scale since the Railway Labor Act was passed. In 1937 the employees asked for and got a general five cents an hour increase. In 1938 the roads tried to have wage rates reduced but failed.

The present demands are something else again: a 30 per cent increase for 350,000 men in the Big Five Brotherhoods, where the minimum pay is now $5.09 a day; and a 30 to 34 per cent an hour increase for 800,000 non-operating employees in 14 unions where the minima now range from 36 to 85 cents an hour.

The mediation board handles about 300 cases a year, and the number of strikes since the law was passed has been low—more than a dozen, none serious. Part and parcel of its set-up is the National Railroad Adjustment board of 36 members, half employers and half employees, who referee disputes that come up under labor agreements after they're signed.

GETTING AIR-MINDED IN THE WRONG WAY

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, June 20—To those who haven't applauded her in Chicago, Florida, New York or way points, this will introduce Dorothy Lewis, the smoothest thing on ice.

She doesn't need much ice, either. Heading little troops that played some of the plushy hotels—one of which kept her three years—she did acrobatic gyrations on a frozen slab only 17x20 feet and never once landed in a customer's lap.

Now that she's starring in Republic's "Ice-Capades," Miss Lewis has a rink as large as a ballroom. In fact, the set has been built to represent a ballroom. At first it made her nervous, and she was zipping around like a shortstop trying to cover all three bases and the outfield.

When she has a few minutes to rest, you find that Dorothy Lewis is a girl 5 feet 2 inches, 112 pounds, and with none of the bunched muscles of a youngster who studied ballet and acrobatic dancing for 10 years. She's 20 now. Blue eyes, dark hair; of Minnesota Welsh stock.

Living in St. Paul had nothing to do with her skating career. In fact, given a pair of skates when she was quite small, she fell down and broke her jaw. Her mother hid the skates and started her to dancing school at 4. At 15, Dorothy danced ballet and acrobatic lessons to another girl in exchange for skating lessons. For six weeks Mrs. Lewis wouldn't even go to watch her daughter skate but all was forgiven when Dorothy was ready for her debut in the same show in which Sonja Henie turned professional.

That was in 1926. Dorothy's act came between appearances of Miss Henie and Jack Dunn, an Olympic and a British champion. The 15-year-old did stunts never before seen on ice, and the Norwegian star never has attempted some of them. Miss Lewis is the only skater who has adapted the routines of legitimate ballet dancing. In acrobatics, she can do four Arabian cartwheels (no hands) on a 17-by-20-foot rink, a front flip into a split, and other things too technical for description.

Miss Lewis' only injury since her initial jawbreaker came on a full-sized rink during an afternoon rehearsal in New York. Another performer, in a fast whirl, kicked her in the head. She went to a hospital for five weeks with a fractured skull and was told that she'd probably never regain her old sense of balance. The minute they let her out, she went skating.

AND READS In five years she has had one week's vacation but never before did she work as she's working in Hollywood. An hour rehearsal and three 15-minute shows a day gave her time for horseback riding, bowling, and going to horror movies.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

A woman came into this office the other day and sarcastically demanded to know why this newspaper didn't jump on the Chamber of Commerce or somebody for not trying to land some defense plants for Pampa. "You spend all your time," she sneered, "trying to get unimportant roads when you ought to be out after defense plants," she said.

Wags have stopped joking about women's hats for a while, but the headgear question keeps popping up from time to time.

1. What is the color and design of Uncle Sam's hat?

2. Describe the following types of headgear: fez, turban, sombrero, beaver.

3. For what does a soldier use his barracks cap, overseas cap, and tin hat?

4. What has become of President Roosevelt's famous campaign hat?

THE LOOKING GLASS

PAPER DOLL By Stella Holst

Randolph Pritchard had given Peaches a wonderful paper doll the last time they had been in the rack-et store. He was a stuck up little brat because his pa owned the store but he was always nice to Peaches.

It was a handsome woman in a rose dress with a tunic and a split skirt and a big hat covered with fruits and flowers. The lady had an ample bosom, small waist, generous hips and tapered down to a skirt about six inches wide at the feet.

Nora had a great many paper dolls. Many more than Peaches had. They both cut them from Sears and Roebuck and Montgomery Ward catalogues. They grouped them in families. They also had dolls cut from the fashion magazines given away from the window displays.

Nora thought if she could borrow the wonderful doll while that Peaches might in the end give it her. After all, Nora thought up the stories. Peaches couldn't invent any startling adventures for that beautiful paper doll. Nora could.

She would borrow the doll and make her an international spy in the Balkans, or a grand lady going on a trip around the world. Peaches would listen to the story in admiration but when it was over she would quickly take the lady of the large hat and put her away in the shoe box where she kept her dolls.

Nora just didn't see how she could go on in life without that doll. She offered to trade whole families but Peaches wouldn't trade. Every day Nora made a more generous offer. At last when she could live no longer she offered to give Peaches every doll she owned. She brought them all out, the families she played with and the groups of distant relatives she kept in books and in her bureau drawer. There were hundreds Peaches accepted and Nora owned the doll.

However there weren't any games to play with one doll. Any kind of a story required other actors in the cast. One lone paper doll was beautiful but she wasn't any fun.

Peaches found her in a few days burying the paper doll. She put a piece of glass over her and then filled in the dirt. Peaches felt very sad because she knew how much Nora had wanted the doll.

"I'll give you back Mr. Graham and some of the others you like," Peaches said sympathetically. Nora knew that Peaches had the best heart of any little sister in the world. Nora dug up the doll that had ruined her happiness and gave her back to Peaches. Then they went in the house and Peaches opened her shoe box and took out Mr. Graham. Nora was glad to see him again.

SIDE GLANCES

"Now learn from the beginning—never lead with your right!"

The War Today

(This daily feature, conducted by Dewitt Mackenzie, is being written in his absence on vacation by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

The exciting sequence of military threats or bluffs which is going on along the German-Soviet border has a direct bearing on both the length and scope of the war.

Close students of the Nazi war plan believe Hitler not only wants to exploit Soviet economy to the limit but also to build a fluid reservoir for war-making which will stretch from the Baltic to Indo-China; to encircle Russia as well as Japan in an Eurasian bloc under complete German domination which not only will be able to feed and supply the European continent for a war of indefinite length against Britain, but will be able to take concerted military steps to destroy Britain's position in both Far and Near East.

That is what can happen if Stalin gives in and renders economic, political and military subservience to Hitler, abandoning or at least postponing for a generation or more all the bolshevik aims for ultimate world revolution.

But there is an alternative: resistance by Russia and a slow, dogged withdrawal to the cruel natural fortress of the interior, with the idea of letting the German blitzkrieg waste its strength and possibly founder in the vastness of the Soviet Union. No one can be sure that this would happen; it would imply a historically strategic skill which the Red army has not yet demonstrated. It possesses. But if Germany did become so entangled in Russia, Britain's opportunity would be golden for a killing stroke in the west.

It is probably much too early, however, for any such conjecture. The German-Russian affair still forms a mammoth puzzle which even Hitler, perhaps, cannot yet put together. Certain pieces of the puzzle suggest, indeed, that Germany does not intend to send any large part of her own military forces against Stalin, at least not at first. If war comes. Moreover, the complete absence of any German propaganda preparation for hostilities with the bolsheviks indicates strongly that Hitler does not expect to fight an open war with Stalin, if he expects to have to fight at all.

Finland and Rumania, both of them embittered losers of territory to Russia, both by force of circumstance and by choice, are being mobilized feverishly on the vulnerable northern and southern flanks of western Russia. It may be Hitler's design that the armies of these nations become his shock troops in attacking strongly the Soviet giant simultaneously, with German direction, some initial German military aid and promise of unlimited reinforcement.

Big Spring Player Hits Homer With Bases Loaded

BIG SPRING, June 20—Manager Dutch Prather had to leave his first base post and move over to the mound to stop the Big Spring Bombers here last night in the second game of a three game series with the Pampa Oilers, the final score being Big Spring 10, Pampa 3.

For the first time in local baseball history a homer was blasted out with the bases loaded. The feat was accomplished by J. L. Haney who picked an one of Lefty Glab's pet pitches to drive in Jack Lindsey, Hank Potras and Al Zigelman ahead of him.

Pampa's runs came in the third when Malvica singled to score Matney, who had walked, and Glab was brought in by Frather's single.

Montgomery started for the Oilers but once more his straight ball was as straight as a ruler and every time he tried to get one past the batter it went for a base hit.

The Bombers got to Montgomery for six hits and five runs in one and two-thirds innings. Frank Glab relieved but issued three walks and gave up two hits for five more runs in four stanzas before Manager Prather took over and held the Bombers in check.

The Bombers almost stole the equipment off Catfish Smith, no less than nine times piling bases. Smith has been catching all his games on the road trip despite his still weakened condition following an operation. Smith has had to stay behind the plate because Jim Reynolds has been in left field replacing Scott who is out with a torn thigh muscle.

The Oilers got only six hits and two of them were by Glab.

The Oilers and Bombers play here again tonight and then the Oilers move to Amarillo for Saturday and Sunday games before returning home Monday night with Lubbock.

18th Green Favorite Hole In Tourney

ST. LOUIS, June 20 (AP)—The eighteenth green is proving the favorite hole in the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament—to the spectators.

For it's been on the 18th hole that the last putt that most of the drama has taken place in match play.

And even though favorites for the amateur crown made it to the third round today, yesterday's action had most of them going all out to stay in the running.

Medalist Bob Cochran, St. Louis, subdued Ted Gwin of Tulsa 1 up on the final green, canning his putt after the Oklahoman, who had burned up every other phase of play.

Percy Gill of Rolla, Mo., another tournament standout, laid a stymie in front of Hap Goodwin, Kansas City, to even the match at 18 and then won on the nineteenth.

Another Kansas Cityan, Glen Oatman, faced better. He travelled the course like a man with the hotfoot. His four under par 68 was the best score of the day and it proved very necessary in eliminating dogged Bob Clark of Denver, 2 and 1.

Floyd Ward And Jim Richesin In Quarter-Finals

With first round matches completed, second round of play in the city golf tournament being played over the Pampa Country club course in progress and players have until noon Sunday to complete the second round or forfeit.

Floyd Ward, who upset Grover Austin, and Jim Richesin have already advanced to the quarter-finals in the championship flight.

Ward defeated Zade Watkins 4 and 3 while Richardson took Larry Trenary 2 and 1.

Results of matches yesterday follow: Championship Flight

Floyd Ward defeated Zade Watkins, 4 and 3. Jim Richesin beat Larry Trenary, 2 and 1.

Second Flight Jim White beat Bunny Behrman, 2 and 1. Lee McConnell defeated Bert Curry, 1 up on 19 holes.

Third Flight W. C. Dillman beat Vaughn Darrell, 4 and 3. Siler Faulkner won from Carl Baer, 4 and 3.

Adkins New Manager Of Junior Oilers

The Pampa Junior Oiler baseball team has a new manager and an increased age limit which will strengthen the team for this season.

The new manager, A. T. Adkins and the age limit has been open to anyone between 15 and 19 years old.

Every boy in and around Pampa between 15 and 19 years old is invited to be at Magnolia park at the east end of Foster avenue at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon for a long workout.

Boys who have uniforms who are too old to play are asked to have them at the park Sunday afternoon. Boys not planning to play ball this year who have uniforms are also asked to turn them in Sunday.

Johnnie Kraft, Denver, battled Mark Schlude of Chicago right up to the eighteenth fairway. There he wallowed a drive straight down the middle while the Chicagoan floundered with two dubs and a drive into the woods.

Only easy victories of the day found defending champion Art Doering of Chicago coasting in on a 6 and 4 triumph over Ben Schuelen of St. Louis, and John Barnum, Chicago, recovering after losing the first two holes, to defeat Jim Marston of St. Louis, 4 and 3.

There will be fireworks again today. Topping the program will be the Cochran vs. Gill and George Dawson, Chicago, vs. Les Slattery, St. Louis, in the upper bracket, and Oatman vs. Howard Zachritz, St. Louis, and Barnum vs. Doering in the lower brackets.

Cochran First To Fly Bomber Across Ocean To London

LONDON, June 20 (AP)—Blonde Jacqueline Cochran, first woman to fly a bomber across the Atlantic, arrived in London today after delivering an American-built Hudson bomber and instantly became the envy of every woman in England.

She brought three dozen pairs of silk stockings with her. It was the American flier's first flight across the Atlantic but she said she was "at the controls all the way and had a wonderful trip completely without incident."

She said her plans were not complete but added that she "probably" would fly back to the United States and "hoped" to fly more bombers across.

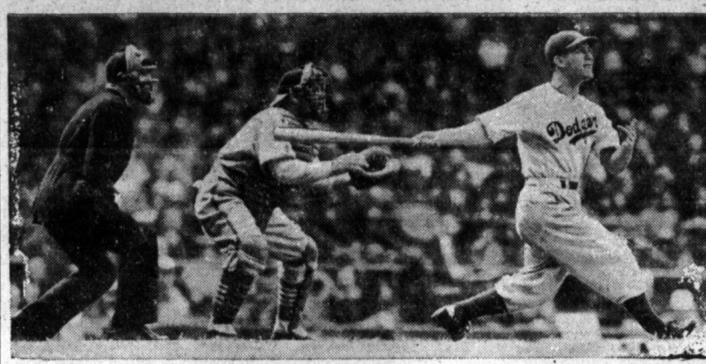

"My only companion was Captain Grate Carlisle, who captained the craft and did the navigating," said Miss Cochran, who is private life is Mrs. Floyd Odlum.

Reiser Said He Could Hit Any Pitcher And The Dodgers Now Know He Was Right

COSTLY BROOKLYNS ARE SPARKED BY $100 YOUNGSTER

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 18—Harold Reiser sounded like a fresh busher when in Havana in the spring he told Leo Durocher: "I can hit any pitcher who ever threw a baseball."

But National league pitchers and the Brooklyn news now know the St. Louis kid was right.

Baseball men tell you that Pete Reiser and Ted Williams of the Red Sox easily may be the first to hit 400 in the majors since Bill Terry edged into that remarkable circle in 1940.

The swing's the thing. Reiser leads the elder loop with a smacking 360. He's out in front of mighty Johnny Mize, the former National Country Slaughterer, and the old and reliable Arky Vaughn.

It is ironical that, with Larry MacPail having spent $650,000 for talent in three years, the Dodgers are being sparked by a 21-year-old boy who cost just $100.

Reiser is the Flatbusher whom opponents and the people talk about. He has taken the play away from the $40,000 Pee Wee Reese, the $50,000 Billy Herman, the $45,000 Dolph Camilli, the steady $45,000 Walker, Cookie Lavagetto, the $100,000 Muscles Medwick and the $65,000 Mickey Owen.

And the $100,000 Walter Kirby Higbe and the $40,000 John Whitlow Wyatt would not be as effective without Reiser in center field.

LANDS DECLARED REISER FREE AGENT Reiser is the kind of center fielder pitchers "pitch to" with the utmost confidence.

No mistakes out there. No baserunner takes extra base. Reiser throws 'em out.

Terry Moore plays considerable center field for St. Louis, but the Flatbushers shiver when they think of what kind of a Cardinal club they would be combating if Breadon, Rickey & Co., had Reiser, too.

Reiser was a Red Bird discoverer, you know.

He would still be with the blokes in the red blazers had not Commissioner Landis taken a keen dislike to the relationship between the St. Louis and Cedar Rapids clubs in 1938 and emancipated 100 of Branch Rickey's farm slaves.

Many suspected Judge Landis really did Breadon, Rickey & Co. a favor. They pointed out that the man who had taken a keen dislike to the relationship between the St. Louis and Cedar Rapids clubs in 1938 and emancipated 100 of Branch Rickey's farm slaves.

Cards Have Had Most Close Contests And Extra Innings

(By The Associated Press) The champion of the National league has to be a club that can win the close games, because that is the way they play ball in the senior circuit.

This was true of the Cincinnati Reds last year, when they won 41 games by one run, and it has been shown in many previous seasons. It is in the process of being proved again by the St. Louis Cardinals, who have had more close contests and more extra-inning games this season than any other team in their league.

They snatched a 7-6 triumph away from the Philadelphia Phillies in 11 innings yesterday in their latest exploit.

At the end of five frames the Redbirds were trailing, 5-2, and when they came to bat in the last of the ninth they still were behind, 6-5. But they worked Don Faggett around to third base and scored on a long fly to the center. Then in the 11th Frank (Creepy) Crespi singled with the bases loaded for the winning run.

This kept St. Louis three games ahead of the Dodgers, who unleashed a 15-hit assault on Claude Fassenau and Vance Page to whip the Chicago Cubs, 9-4.

In the only other National league game the New York Giants overpowered the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-6. The Cleveland Indians, who walked the Philadelphia Athletics Fassenau and Vance Page to whip the Detroit Tigers, 6-4, in a free-hitting game.

The Washington Senators slaughtered the St. Louis Browns, 12-0.

Louis To Loaf For Two Months, Then Fight Nova

By GAYLE TALBOT NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Barring the unforeseen, Joe Louis will make the next defense of his heavyweight championship here in September against Lou Nova, the California husky who recently forced Max Baer to quit for the second time.

They wrangled about it all day yesterday in Promoter Mike Jacobs' office, with Mike trying to talk Nova into fighting Abe Simon first, but Nova's manager, Ray Carlen, was obstinate.

One thing is certain: Louis intends to loaf with all his might during the next two months. His 13th round victory over Billy Conn Wednesday night left him worn and tired of fighting. The champ has been in almost constant training for the past seven months. "Joe admits he made an almost fatal mistake in not laying off training for a couple of days last week like his trainer wanted him to," said Julian Black, a co-manager. "Joe says he knows now how he'll feel when he loses the title. He still can't quit talking about how a little fellow like Conn can take punishment."

Joe's admiration for Conn is sincere. The big negro was over in Billy's corner to congratulate the game little man almost before they had finished bringing Billy around with smelly salts. Billy's manager, Johnny Ray, though near to crying, told Louis: "I didn't think you could do it, Joe. You're a great fighter." Joe said: "Thanks, Johnny. Billy is a great fighter, too."

Ray, in between denying that he knew where Conn was or when or where he would be married, demanded a return shot at Louis. That, of course, is an automatic function of fight managers. But he didn't get far with it because Louis' two managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, had just told Promoter Jacobs that they would prefer to fight a new man in September if it were just the same to Mike. That practically handed the battle to Nova, despite all the ramblings of Jimmy Johnston, who handles Abe Simon.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIEZE NEW YORK, June 20—Leftover bits of cauliflower: Billy Conn's been offered $25,000 to make the movie of Octavus Roy Cohen's fight story, "Kid Tinsel."

Incidentally, the movie of the fight show Billy wasn't hit with a single right-hand punch through the 13th round so long as he kept his left hand high. . . . Louis dealt it off the arm only when the glamor boy forgot and dropped his port paw.

Louis' ring earnings for the penny are $1,987,683.96 in 54 fights in seven years—not counting the fun he's had knocking guys' ears off. . . . And in case you've forgotten, Conn turned down $200,000 just a year ago to tangle with Louis for which he got $77,000 night before last.

Ben Jones figures on shipping Whirlaway to Arlington Monday or Tuesday. . . . To get ready for the classic, naturally. . . . Mike Jacobs had Ancil Hoffman on the phone last night, trying to line up an Abe Simon-Buddy Baer brawl for Los Angeles in August. . . . Now that the doors' closed for either of 'em to take on Mr. Big. . . . Larry McPhail spent $22.50 to call up Tom Sheehan, the Minneapolis manager, to find out how his Brooklyn lelbows should pitch to Coaker Triplett, the Cards' clobberer from Columbus. . . . Chances are Conn'll get the call over Nova for Louis' September outing because of the gate Billy'll draw.

POME DEPT. I wonder what's become of all those guys with so much on the ball. Who had a barrel full of fun picking Joe to win in one. And what of all those merry lads who scribbled wisely on their pads. That Billy was a dainty scallop. And would be kayoed with one wallop?

Today's Guest Star Kenneth Jones, Peoria Journal-Transcript: "How times change. Metropolitan papers are running color-stories of the umpires now."

"Mr. Old Timer" comes up with a card suggesting a saliva test if Washington doesn't win the Foughkeepske Regatta Wednesday. Two writing gents who took Conn's loss more to heart than any of 'em were our Sid Feyer and . . . New York Journal's Hyde Igoe. . . . Bill to take on the Bomber, 'way back last winter. . . . Until someone puts in a bid, Spud Chandler, the Yanks' Georgia peach, will do as the year's hard-luck pitcher. . . . He's turned in as good a job as just about anybody on the staff, but is still looking for his first win.

As a reminder for those who said Mel Ott was all through a year ago, the "oldest white child born in the Polo grounds" has hit 17 homers so far this season, and already is only two away from his 1940 total. . . . Ancil Hoffman and Mike Jacobs have cut up $35,000 as the first take on the Buddy Baer-Joe Louis fight pictures. . . . and, brothers, that ain't tin. . . .

'Nother Pome By six other American league managers. It would be a pretty bargain if J. J. Dykes would stop a-hog-gin. The secret in his hallowed noggin. Of how to hand those Yanks a-floppin'.

Bicycle Parade Entry Deadline Set For Tomorrow No additional entries for the Bicycle Safety Parade will be accepted after 9 a. m., tomorrow, according to Leon Holmes, manager of the sporting goods department of Montgomery Ward & Co., the Pampa police department, and the LaNora theater all recognize this need and have taken this means to bring it to the attention of everyone in Pampa.

The parade will start on the north side of the store, go west to Russell street, east on Atchison to Cuyler street and north on Cuyler to the front of the store where the Montgomery Ward trophy and other prizes will be awarded.

Jeff D. Guthrie, night police chief, the Rev. Paul Briggs, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, and the Harry E. Hoare, sports editor of The Pampa News, have been named to select to winners and present the awards.

Free movie passes will be given to each contestant by the LaNora theater and free soft drinks will be given each boy.

SERIAL STORY

CALIBAN FROM CALEB

BY NORMAN KAHL

Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY Angus wakes up in a jail cell and is taken before New York Police Inspector Callahan, where he tells his story to newspaper reporters. Next morning, he is called back to the inspector's office. Adoreen is there, looking because of publicity in visiting her. Downcast, he returns to his cell until the following day, when his sister tells him a mysterious Miss Margate is waiting to see him in the inspector's office.

PAY DAY FOR ANGUS

CHAPTER V

THE minute Angus steps into Inspector Callahan's office for the third time in three days to meet the mysterious Miss Margate, he knows there is something haywire.

The girl he finds there with the Inspector is wearing a green dress, cut low in front and higher from the floor than Angus considers respectable. But she is smiling and looking as if she is glad to see him, which is very strange, because the girl's name is Adoreen Micketwidge and not Miss Margate.

Angus pulls at his ear-lobe and frowns. "What's the matter with Micketwidge. It's a good name. You shouldn't oughta go around changing your name, Addie. It ain't decent, exactly."

Adoreen's eyes twinkle like neon lights. "I didn't change it, Angus. Mr. Fitzwater did. He said there wasn't any glamor in Micketwidge."

"Who's Mr. Fitzwater?" Angus asks, belligerently. "Now Angus, don't be mad. I'm not mad at you anymore. Mr. Fitzwater read about me in the paper and he gave me a job singing in his night club. He owns a big night club called the Purple Pelican where all sorts of actors and actresses go, and he has taken an interest in my career."

INSPECTOR CALLAHAN clears his throat and it sounds like the whistle on the Staten Island ferry. "This is against my better judgment, MacPhillips," he says, "but it's a toss-up whether you'll be more of a menace to society in or out of jail. Miss Micketwidge—Miss Margate has been in touch with your former boss, Mr. Wittenbaum, and that gentleman agrees to drop charges if you will pay him $650 cash for the butter you smeared over seven states, and if the truck is returned."

"I do not vouch for the personal feelings of the state trooper you attempted to fricassee on the highways of our dearly beloved neighboring state, but his superiors are willing to forget the whole incident if you will pay a $50 fine and solemnly promise never to set foot within the sacred precincts of that commonwealth again." Angus face is not exactly a picture of sunny radiance. "My goodness, that's a lot of money."

"Wait," says the Inspector. "I'm not finished. Now we come to the city of New York. No amount of money could settle for the loss of dignity suffered by this department on that black day when you arrived. However, for a $100 fine to cover just a small portion of the offenses, I think we can get the others dismissed by the court. For another $50, you can hire someone to take Mr. Wittenbaum's truck back to Caleb, since that intelligent gentleman specified you were not to set foot anywhere on his property again. That would come to $450. Can you swing it?"

Angus is suffering awfully. "I've got $875 in the bank at Caleb and $3.50 which they took away when I came in here."

IT is three days later before everybody in three states is satisfied. Angus has $50 to his name when he steps out on New York's sidewalks. He calls Adoreen from a drug store and she tells him she is sorry, but Mr. Fitzwater is going to take her to lunch on a matter of business and that he will do the same every day for a week or so.

When Angus gets back on the street, he has a strange and uncomfortable feeling. For the first time in his life, he has a thirst for something stronger than pure grapejuice. He turns into a doorway and enters a smoke-filled room with a bar stretched from the curtained window about halfway along one wall.

"Cider," says Angus. A scraggly looking guy near the end of the bar gets a coughing fit and blows beer foam all over his vest.

The bartender is thinking how he could have learned the plummer's trade 30 years ago if he'd used his head. "Look," says he, "are you tryin' t'be funny? We don't sell no cider here."

"All right," says Angus. "Ginger ale."

The bartender squints at Angus another full minute before he pours something out of a tall bottle under the bar and slides the glass to Angus.

It is some time before Angus notices the rat-face little man who has left the table in the dark corner and is standing next to him. Three big fellows are standing behind the little guy.

"Have one on me," says the little guy, whose gray hat is pulled down halfway over his eyes. Angus is glad to be neighborly. He drinks up his ginger ale and pushes his glass toward the bartender. "Spike Mudge is the name," says the stranger. "You look like somebody's been kicking you in the teeth."

"I don't feel so good," says Angus. "I ain't got a job, and I'm broke and I guess I lost my girl and I just got outa jail."

"Whew!" says Spike, respectfully. "Maybe you wanta talk it over with us. Maybe we kin help you. These is my buddies. I didn't get the name."

"Angus MacPhillips."

"Glad to know ya, Angus. This is Butch McGillicuddy and Hoi-mon the Hoist and Trigger Tim—friends of mine."

Angus shakes hands all around.

SPIKE says, "A husky guy like you don't needa worry about a job. How'd'ja like to work for me?"

Angus looks suspicious. "A job, you mean?"

"Sure. Easy work, good pay. It isn't every day I can find a guy who's built like a battleship."

Angus brightens up. "What do I do, Spike?"

Spike looks at the dead-pan faces of the other mugs who are examining their drinks. "I'll explain," says Spike. "This burg is filled with lots of people who ain't got no scruples. They ain't got no respect for the law."

"Now there are a lot of commission merchants in the city who sell thousands of dollars worth of broccoli every day. Sometimes these broccoli dealers get slugged or their commission houses are wrecked or someone pout's kerosene over their broccoli. So the Big Boss, Luigi Castaloni, forms an association and the dealers pay us to protect them. Get it?"

"Angus' spirits have soared. 'It'll feel kinda good doing some honest work again. What are you paying?'"

"One hundred smackers," Angus frowns. "Gosh, Spike, I was getting hundred and a quarter back in Caleb."

"Okay. No arguments. One and a quarter it is. Find a place to stay and meet me back here same time tomorrow. I'll give you a week's pay in advance so you can find a bunk somewhere."

Spike passes over five bills—two fifties, two tens and a five. Angus counts them three times before he says, "What did you say you was payin' me?"

"One hundred and twenty-five berries a week. Don't tell me you're still not satisfied."

Angus is too weak to speak. What he got in Caleb for driving Mr. Wittenbaum's truck was $125 a month.

Mann Discusses Oil Control in Amarillo

AMARILLO, June 20—Speaking in the state auditorium here in Amarillo, where a recent newspaper poll gave him better than 40 per cent of 2,000 straw votes for United States senator, Gerald C. Mann told of his successful fight to save the submerged lands along the coast of Texas from federal control.

He demanded that federal control of the oil industry be returned to the states as soon as the national emergency is over, and he told the crowd of his successful fight to save the submerged coastal lands from government control.

"There are those in Washington who believe that submerged lands of the coastal states should be controlled by the federal government," he said.

"I do not think so. A year or so ago a resolution was introduced in congress asserting authority and control by the federal government over these submerged lands, including those along the coast of Texas. The attorney general's department of Texas, with others, appeared against this resolution.

"The brunt of the presentation of argument against that resolution fell to the attorney general's department of Texas.

"The presentation was so effective that the senate public lands committee killed that resolution.

"The Texas presentation which saved those rich submerged oil lands for the schools of Texas was so outstanding that senators and representatives of other states that would also have suffered, highly commended our department and admitted their indebtedness for our work.

"I merely point this out as an example of my desire to go to the U. S. senate to represent the viewpoint of the people of Texas."

Mann will speak in Poyada at 9 a. m. Friday; Ralls at 10 a. m. and will ride in a rodeo parade in Spur where he will speak at 11:30 a. m. From Spur he will go to Stamford at 4:15 p. m.; Haskell at 5:15 and end the day in Abilene at 8 p. m.

Jim And Joe Want To Debate Pat And Mike On Senate Race

As the senatorial campaign roared into its last week supporters of the two leading candidates plugged away with a new fervor. Jim Wright, Weatherford, and Joe Sutton, Bellville, today openly challenged Pat and Mike O'Daniel to a public debate in regard to Attorney General Mann and Governor O'Daniel's campaigns. The debate to be held in any Texas city on the night of June 21. This challenge has significance as O'Daniel and Mann are now recognized as the two foremost contenders. Wright is state president of the Future Democrats of Texas, and Sutton is first vice-president of that organization. The Future Democrats boasts a membership of 3,000, is non-political, and indorses no candidate as a body. However, a number of these young leaders are, as Sutton and Wright, donating their time to working in the behalf of O'Daniel, as leading in the race, according to the Texas Public surveys poll, known to many as the "Gallop Poll of Texas."

24 Boys And Girls Will Compete For Safe Driving Title

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Twenty-four Texas boys and girls will compete here July 1 for the title of safe driving champion of the state. The contest is sponsored by the Ford Good Drivers league which was established by Edsel Ford to promote better driving by the young people of America. The winner will compete in the national finals at Dearborn, Mich., August 21-25. First prize in the state contest is a $5,000 university scholarship. Those who will compete in the Texas state finals include: Mary Louise Brinkmann, Port Arthur; Luella Crutcher, Corpus Christi; Harrison Grise, Tyler; Lee Roy Klemm, Corpus Christi; Donald W. Hawkins, Waco; Wynne Bennett, Beaumont.

Mr. Stilwell, who lost a number of pounds while he was designing and supervising building of the Fiesta floats, had gained part of them back when he arrived home last night. City police officers are holding a 16-year-old boy wanted in Sherman on a charge of forgery. State highway patrolmen started a campaign against improper car lights and licenses in Pampa last night, issuing 15 tickets. They will continue the drive indefinitely, they reported. Persons given tickets were fined in city police court and ordered to remedy the defects, or secure state licenses.

The Pampa chapter Knights of Pythias will sponsor an adult ping pong tournament here sometime in July. Committee on arrangements is composed of D. B. Altman, Sam Turner, and Maxine Fann. Shawnee Man Appears Before Senate Group

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—A Rochester, N. Y., radio station official told a senate interstate commerce subcommittee today that he had "never seen any evidence of any monopolistic power" exercised by the national networks. Testifying at the committee's hearing on a resolution to investigate the federal communications commission and the radio industry in general, Clarence Wheeler, vice-president of WHEC, said his station, and many others like it, might lose profitable programs if the commission's order barring the optioning of time to the networks were allowed to stand. J. W. Lee, manager of KGFP, Shawnee, Okla., an affiliate of the NBC Blue network, said he found the "keenest competition" between NBC's two networks. If the commission's order that the NBC dispose of one network was allowed to stand, he said, he station probably would lose the "prestige" of the affiliation with NBC and would suffer competitively. Lee said that during four affiliation with Mutual, his company had paid line charges in cash and had never received enough revenue from the programs involved to cover the cost. But with the present NBC affiliation, he continued, his station pays line charges in time on the air, "something we can afford."

Oil Products Put On Export Control

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—By direction of President Roosevelt, all petroleum products were subjected today to export control, and exports from the eastern seaboard may be made only to the British Empire, Egypt, and the western hemisphere. The White House disclosed that the president had directed the export control administrator to place the restrictions on oil products. A plan will be prepared, the White House said, for the most effective use of tanker facilities in supplying petroleum to the eastern seaboard and other American republics. Further restriction of shipments of petroleum from the Gulf or Pacific ports is not contemplated, the White House said. The chief executive acted, apparently, because of a threatened shortage of oil and gasoline along the eastern seaboard. The shortage has become imminent because of lack of transportation facilities, resulting from the transfer of tankers to Britain.

Oklahoma Trying To Collect Loans Made To Ex-Residents

By SCHUYLER ALLMAN OKLAHOMA CITY, June 20 (AP)—Now that the meandering meridian that marks Oklahoma's western frontier seems fairly stable, the state will undertake to collect about $35,000 it lent to Oklahomans who woke up one morning to find the supreme court had moved them into Texas. Residents of 17 farms in Roger Mills, Harmon, and Ellis counties were so sure they were in Oklahoma that they took out state school land loans more than a decade ago. But the 100th meridian, on which they based their calculations, was a gad-about that had a habit of moving east or west on the slightest provocation, or upon no provocation whatever. Every time some party made a fresh survey to see where the meridian was, they got a fresh result. The United States supreme court finally nailed it down on March 17, 1930. When the learned jurists had finished nailing, they had pinched off a slab of southwestern Oklahoma ranging from a half mile at Red River to a vanishing point somewhere in Ellis county. This put the state of Oklahoma in an anomalous position, for it had no authority to make farm loans to Texas. Texas granted the state special dispensation in these 17 cases to protect its loans. But the land was in litigation until 1939. The deadline set by Texas for Oklahoma to establish its interest is June 27. Dan Welch, school land department attorney, has just returned from Austin where he filed on all tracts. Charles B. Steele, secretary, said all the loans were delinquent, some because the borrowers didn't know whether they should pay or not. Together, the state lent $35,225 on the 17 tracts. Steele said, but some of the land remains in Oklahoma. As a matter of fact, one borrower found that the 1939 version of the Texas-Oklahoma boundary ran right through his house. At that rate, the state intends, Steele said, to foreclose on the delinquent loans and get out of the money-lending business in Texas.

Annually, more lumber is yielded by the Douglas fir of the Pacific coast than by other species in America. W. Brown, international president of the AFL union, still declared himself hopeful of an early settlement which would permit construction to proceed at full speed on $500,000,000 in defense ship orders. Brown summoned the San Francisco local's executive council to a meeting tonight. He declined to say what action he would ask but said he had been in touch with Washington. The striking machinists want the old wage scale of $1 an hour increased to $1.15, and double pay for overtime continued. They turned down a "master agreement" which would have provided $1.2 an hour and time and one-half for overtime. The dispute which has been holding back lumber production in the Puget Sound area stemmed from a CIO union demand for increased wages, vacations with pay, closed shop, union hiring halls and guarantees against piecework. The employers have rejected a proposal by the national mediation board for industry-wide negotiations with the union. In a Washington development, the house naval committee was reported to be considering complete abandonment of a bill it placed on the calendar a month ago calling for a 30-day cooling off period before defense strikes could begin, and freezing existing open and closed shops agreements in dense plants. On the Mediterranean coast, British headquarters said "Australians" were slowly advancing in the face of stiff resistance" in their push toward the Lebanese capital, Beirut. At sea, the London admiralty reported a sharp reduction in British shipping losses for May—a total of 461,328 tons, or approximately 120,000 tons less than in April. By contrast, the admiralty said Axis claims for May totaled 861,460 tons. The admiralty estimated that 299,000 tons of Axis shipping or ships "useful to the enemy" had been sunk by Britain's armed forces in May. Mrs. Bridwell Dies WICHITA FALLS, June 20 (AP)—Mrs. J. S. Bridwell, wife of a widely known oil operator and cattleman of Texas, died in a hospital today after a brief illness. Funeral services will be held tomorrow. Surviving are her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Neel of Houston and Mrs. E. W. Hoys of Seattle, Wash., and two brothers, O. K. Jones of Abilene and Dee Jones of Lometa.

they had repudiated all attacks in the direction of the city, but the British asserted that the fall or surrender of the ancient Syrian capital was only "a matter of hours." Pought amid the broiling heat of the desert—described in dispatches as "terrible"—the battle saw British, Indian and Free French troops attacking from three sides. The French acknowledged the British were attacking the oasis of Guta, on which Damascus is situated, but said that tank-led Allied infantry still were several miles outside the city itself. Vichy reports said Indian troops had managed to penetrate French defense lines at one or two points south of the city but were quickly mopped up. British Middle East headquarters said imperial troops had made "local gains" in the drive on Damascus but acknowledged that numerically superior Vichy forces were counter-attacking sharply south of the capital. On the Mediterranean coast, British headquarters said "Australians" were slowly advancing in the face of stiff resistance" in their push toward the Lebanese capital, Beirut. W. Brown, international president of the AFL union, still declared himself hopeful of an early settlement which would permit construction to proceed at full speed on $500,000,000 in defense ship orders. Brown summoned the San Francisco local's executive council to a meeting tonight. He declined to say what action he would ask but said he had been in touch with Washington. The striking machinists want the old wage scale of $1 an hour increased to $1.15, and double pay for overtime continued. They turned down a "master agreement" which would have provided $1.2 an hour and time and one-half for overtime. The dispute which has been holding back lumber production in the Puget Sound area stemmed from a CIO union demand for increased wages, vacations with pay, closed shop, union hiring halls and guarantees against piecework. The employers have rejected a proposal by the national mediation board for industry-wide negotiations with the union. In a Washington development, the house naval committee was reported to be considering complete abandonment of a bill it placed on the calendar a month ago calling for a 30-day cooling off period before defense strikes could begin, and freezing existing open and closed shops agreements in dense plants. Shovel-Leaners Defended By Senator

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—The butt of countless jokes—the WPA worker who leans on his shovel—was defended in the senate yesterday by Senator Thomas (D-Okla.). Protesting this type of humor, the silver-haired Oklahoma senator suggested that some of his elderly colleagues "consider to some extent that they do not show on the surface" that "going out on a WPA job with a long-handled shovel." "I can understand why some of those men have to spend part of the time leaning on a shovel or some other instrument for support," he said. "Mermaids' Purses" often are thrown up on shore by storms at sea. These curious objects really are the egg cases of certain dogfish and sharks.

Right area now eight times in the last nine nights in "heavy" attacks and over other industrial regions on the other night. For four successive days there have been daylight attacks on channel harbors, camps and airbases that would be used for invasion, and these attacks, too, have a twin purpose: 1. To drive back the fringe of combat by making forward German bases unsafe or difficult to use. 2. To impair facilities which will be needed for the expected German offensive against Britain.

Paul Briggs Drivers Licenses Issued By Police To 138 Minors Special To The NEWS AUSTIN, June 20—Young Texans between 14 and 16 years old are taking full advantage of the new drivers' license law provision which permits them to secure drivers' licenses under authorization of the county judge. All such applicants are being given a driver examination, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., state police director, said today. Approximately 15 per cent of those have been refused licenses because they were not properly qualified as safe drivers, he said. From June 2 to June 12, 138 licenses were issued to such minors. This was followed by what was known as the dispensing doctor—You visited the doctor's office and he dispensed your medicine from his limited stock in his office. Then came the drug stores that developed into variety stores with food, liquor, hardware and soda fountains. Today, the present trend is back to the professional drug stores in which the entire attention of the store is given over to drugs and prescriptions. We keep abreast of the times with a complete drug stock and can fill any doctor's prescription.
