HOW JOHNSON AND FRIENDS FELT WHEN HE HAD 4,500-VOTE LEAD

This is how Lyndon Johnson and his friends felt when they thought he was elected U. S. senator. They felt that way for two days, Sunday and Monday.

Late News

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt reaffirmed today a hope that America could stay out of war. He drew a distinction however, between a hope and a belief. But he also said at a press conference that it was obvious how anyone would vote in a poll on whether this country should plunge actively into the conflict against the Axis powers.

Postal Receipts For June Gain Over Last Year

Pampa's postal receipts for June of this year totaled $5,957.10 compared with $5,813.30 for the same month last year, or an increase of $143.80, according to Postmaster C. H. Walker. The increase is encouraging considering that last June was one of the best months in recent years, the postmaster said.

A second "peak load" of registrants late this afternoon was expected to bring out the largest number of Gray county men who became 21 years old since last October 16, as this county responded to the second national R-day under the selective service act.

Governor Forges Into 379-Vote Lead In Contest

AUSTIN, July 1 (AP)—Cheers and applause greeted Speaker Homer Leonard's announcement in the house of representatives today that unofficial senatorial election returns gave Governor W. Lee O'Daniel a 379-vote lead in the race.

AUSTIN, July 1 (AP)—"That's fine" was Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's only comment when informed he had taken a slight lead over Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson in the nip and tuck senatorial election.

AUSTIN, July 1 (AP)—A preliminary study indicates there is no provision in state or federal law for contesting in Texas the election of a Texas United States senator, William Cason, assistant attorney general, said today.

DALLAS, July 1 (AP)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, who wooed the voters with hillbilly music, forged into a lead of 379 in the race for United States Senator from Texas today with an estimated 200-300 ballots still to be counted.

The Texas Election Bureau reported at 10:15 a. m. (C. S. T.) that 256 of the state's 264 counties were complete and that the remaining four—Victoria, Comanche, Erath and Trinity each already has been partially reported.

The vote given by the bureau showed O'Daniel 174,350; Johnson 173,971; Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, 140,171; Congressman Martin Dies, 80,586.

A total of 569,088 votes had been counted. Bob Johnson, manager of the election bureau, said there was not enough votes out to change the result as it now stands.

When the bureau closed its tabulations last night Johnson had a lead of 77 votes. Today with the counting of 2,537 O'Daniel forged to the front.

This is the closest state election in history. A canvass will have to be made by the state election board composed of the governor, attorney general and secretary of state before a senator to take the place vacated through death of Morris Sheppard can be officially named.

Johnson had a lead of 4,561 at 5 p. m. Sunday night, by 2 p. m. yesterday it had dropped to 2,552, at 5 p. m. to 2,271, at 7 p. m. to 971, at 9 p. m. to 701, and at 5:22 at 10:30.

O'Daniel celebrated his 24th wedding anniversary in the governor's mansion at Austin last night by receiving election results. The children, Pat, Mike and Molly, were with their parents.

The governor in shirt sleeves, without a tie and wearing easy shoes, said: "I've felt all along we ought to be practical about the matter and await the final results. I don't think a statement from me would be proper at this time."

Senate Adjourns Until Tomorrow

AUSTIN, July 1 (AP)—The Senate adjourned until tomorrow after holding only a 15-minute session this morning.

A conference committee had been deeklocked on the question of whether to turn the surplus back to the highway department or give it to the counties.

Sulak gained from Lieutenant Governor Ccke Stevenson the assurance that the senate had the authority to instruct the committee to report.

President To Speak On Friday Afternoon

Not every state club could build floats for the Fiesta but all can bring baskets to the picnic. Mr. Frazee, general chairman of the picnic, said that it was the aim to have every state represented in the picnic.

Mr. Frazee said that under present plans natives of the various states would be allotted places on the table to spread their lunch, but that everybody could "browse around."

Last night state clubs announced members of the general committee. Each club elected a representative to the general committee, members of which will meet the various committees. Three Jaycees of the general committee are Finis Stillwell, Jim Nalley and Dr. Frank Kelley. Other members of the committee were elected by the state groups last week.

350 Attend Skelly Picnic

Special To The NEWS
SKELETTOWN, July 1—Approximately 350 employees and their guests were on hand Saturday for the annual John Snyder barbecue and picnic staged in a big tent on the spacious grounds of the Skelly-Schaefer Gasoline plant near Skellytown.

Immediately after the noon hour the entertainment program began with music through the day by Jeff Guthrie of Pampa and his hillbilly band. Another interesting feature on the program was the tricks of magic presented by Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie, when they turned a vase of rice into candy they really made a hit with the youngsters who was assisting them, as well as the audience.

John Rush, superintendent of the gasoline department, and Mrs. Rush, in their cowboy regalia, were kept busy during the day directing guests and seeing that every one had an enjoyable time.

Other amusements were: donkey riding, greased pole climbing, sack race, rolling pin contest, bingo, turtle races, cat race, ball games and an interesting demonstration on "First Aid," under the direction of Paul Kennedy. Each camp of the gasoline department furnished entertainment for the day making a varied and interesting program through the day.

The concluding number on the program was to have been an old time dance, but due to the heavy rain which fell about 6 o'clock it had to be postponed until next year when a bigger and better picnic is anticipated.

Beside the employees, their families and near by guests, out of town guests included: Messrs. R. D. Turner, A. I. Sellers, and two children, Shirley and Kent, L. E. Hardy, R. S. Dugger, J. R. Simms, Chas. Conner, Chas. Schickmar, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Greer, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Greer.

Red Deer Creek In Flood Second Time

Special To The NEWS
CANADIAN, July 1—Red Deer creek was on a rampage again last Friday. Opinions of observers differed as to whether it was higher this time than on June 8.

Heavy rains above caused the rise which came so suddenly that the head of the Brinard cattle were out in the creek bed. They were carried downstream a considerable distance in the boiling current, but were able to swim to safety before they reached the river.

Bill Mathews, foreman at Elm Grove ranch, was down on the creek seeing what damage had been done when three men hailed to him from the railroad. On investigation, they proved to be workers at the I. T. I. O. test well on the Wiggins property near Mendota.

The men wished to get to Canadian, but the creek was impassable, so they drove to the railroad the other side of Red Deer near Mendota. Under the impression the distance from there to Canadian was only four miles, they started walking.

After walking a distance of seven miles in what seemed to them an endless number of hours, they saw Mathews.

"How far is it to Canadian?" they asked.
On learning it was still three miles, they despaired of going on.
"Have you got a car? Can't you take us in?"

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—Rising tendencies dropped up here and there in today's stock market, but generally exhibited a flabby appearance.

Dealings were a bit faster than in the preceding sluggish session despite frequent slow-downs. Transfers were around $50,000,000, or still considerably under the aggregate at which the majority of commission houses can meet expenses.

Among stocks continuing downward currents were Standard Oil (NJ), which reported another new top for the year; American Can, Westinghouse, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Kennecott and United Aircraft.

In the backward division during the greater part of the proceedings were General Motors, American Telephone, American Smelting, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Edison, General Electric, Du Pont, Eastman, Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum and Boeing. Pepsi-Cola, the new listing for Loft resulting from the recent merger, was under water most of the time.

65,000 Texans Expected To Register Today

AUSTIN, July 1. (AP)—General J. Watt Page, state director of selective service, estimated approximately 65,000 young Texans would register today between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

General Page pointed out that two types of registration will be required—one for men who on July 1, 1941, have reached the twenty-first anniversary of the day of their birth since October 16, 1940, and the other for men who were between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-six on October 16, 1940, and have not, for one reason or another, heretofore registered. Aliens, as well as American citizens, who are within the age group on July 1 must be registered, he said.

The first of these groups will be registered on melon-colored cards; the second, on white cards. Registration has been completed all cards will be sorted and those not properly in the jurisdiction of the local boards, as shown by the place of residence, will be sent to the proper local board.

White registration cards will be given serial numbers as late registrants, and order numbers will be assigned from the first national lottery and national master list.

On July 9, General Page stated, all melon-colored cards will be shuffled by the local boards to whom they properly belong, and assigned serial numbers commencing with serial No. S-1. Order numbers for this group of registrants will be determined by a second national lottery to be held in the near future.

General Page asserted volunteers who have become twenty-one years of age since October 16, 1940, and have not yet been inducted, must register on July 1 just as they would if they had not volunteered, and their registration will be recorded on melon-colored cards. Such registration will not, however, affect the position of the volunteer in the local board, he added.

AP Chief Tells How Staff Writers Hired

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, places good character and professional competence at the top of the list of qualifications for a foreign correspondent.

Speaking on "Behind the Mike," a Sunday NBC Blue network program which dramatized excerpts of the book "AP—The Story of News," by Oliver Gramling, Cooper explained the selection of foreign correspondents for the AP and outlines some of the difficulties of news transmission from foreign lands.

"They are selected from the hundreds of trained newspaper men working in Associated Press bureaus throughout the United States," Cooper said. "They are chosen not only because they asked for such service, but because their education and experiences qualify them."

Cooper explained that transmission of news always is a problem and a constantly acute one in war because of frequently changing conditions. He said that many regarded wire photo, the Associated Press news-Roman days than now.

For the most VACATION at the least cost GO IN YOUR CAR

When Vacationland Calls... whether it is beach or mountain... a spot of scenic beauty off the beaten path... or ground hallowed by historical association... why let rails and time-tables clamp your vacation-style!

THE SOUND OF ROARING MOTORS... They're getting louder and louder... the throbbing, pulsing, beating roars of America in the air. They're heard around the world. They speak louder than a dictator can shout, for they're the voice of free men. Sure, there have been delays, misunderstandings, bottlenecks—but the job is being done! Life isn't smooth or simple either, but it marches right along with births, deaths, triumphs and defeats. See that tiny silver "V" way up there? ... that's America and the blue sky all around is time. America is going places... in a hurry as usual... going ahead with that slap-dash energy and drive that has made this country what it is... that will keep us ahead... and going! It's good to be an American.

ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE

BY DONNA ASHWORTH

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Lita Damson and Jerry Lane are New York's favorite dance team, but marriage to Jerry has robbed Lita of her glamour for Lita. She is tired of bright lights, applause, of pretending to be happy. She thinks Jerry is in love with Ruth Richards. Then Lita meets Ken Richards, a neighbor, and tells her he has been looking for her all his life. "And when you find me, I'm another man's wife."

CHAPTER II

PEOPLE fluttered and buzzed in Ruth Eustace's luxurious penthouse. There was a bedlam of laughter, high-pitched voices, corks popping, ice clinking, the blare of the radio.

Lita came into the living room, looking at the people milling about. Jerry moved toward her swiftly, catching her hand in his, half dragging her out to the shadows of the starlit terrace.

"Here, darling, kiss me quick. Tell me you aren't mad at me. You know I love you so. I'm sorry, I was angry."

Jerry loved her, she guessed. He was always telling her so, and now his lips burned against hers. Or was it just part of the picture, the ardent husband, always making over her? And now, as it had been so often of late, his kisses left her cold.

They were always quarreling and making up. She drew away from him. Was she quite insane? She was Jerry's wife. She loved Jerry. But she didn't really, not any more. That was dead. She just went on because she didn't know what else to do, because there were no grounds for her to get a divorce, nothing tangible, except that she was tired of everything, tired of their whole scheme of living, tired of kisses like this, and the pretense of love.

"What's the matter?" Jerry's voice was sharp and angry again, and she realized that she had drawn stiffly away from him. "Still mad, aren't you? You don't like my kisses?"

"I do, Jerry, but—" She stumbled for words. She didn't want him to kiss her. She didn't want anybody to except—She caught her breath with a start—Ken Richards.

"I'm not up to it tonight, somehow. I'm tired, anyway. You don't really want to kiss me. It's just habit, to make people think that we're madly in love as we pretend. I'm not mad, just tired."

"Oh, here you are, just tired." Jerry's voice was sweet. "You've got to dance with me, Jerry? Ruth would beside them. You promised you'd show me that new step."

"Beginning now," Jerry turned to her quickly. "I like to dance with you, Ruth. You're one of the few who can do what I tell them to."

Ruth was crazy about Jerry. That was the reason that this arrogant, wealthy group had taken Lita and Jerry into their midst, the reason Ruth was so nice to Lita. She wanted Jerry and Jerry wouldn't go without his wife. Lita wondered when Jerry would realize that it was she alone Ruth wanted, and that he could leave his wife behind any time and Ruth would be glad.

"Here she is, Ken. We promised we'd find her. Ruth was back at the door again. 'Your Romeo is on your trail, Lita.'"

KEN RICHARDS was beside her. Jerry had gone with Ruth. It didn't matter. Ken stood so that she could feel his arm against hers, and her heart was pounding.

"Let's go over where we can look out," he said, as he guided her toward the balustrade where they could see the lighted city.

Jerry seemed very far away. Ken's kisses against her lips were sweet. "You're crazy," she said. She wanted to escape, but there was no escape. Ken's arms drew her back.

Behind them there was laughter and music. Before them a million lights twinkled. Below them the city roared. But they were away from all of it, alone in the exhilarating October night, the two of them, as if for them the world did not exist.

"I'm mad about you." His strong arms gathered her close. "I don't want to be, but I am. You're everything I've been taught to stay away from. You're everything I'm not. But I love you. I'm going to marry you."

She listened in stunned silence. She couldn't think. This was something out of a book, something unreal. He made her dizzy and drunk with a new feeling that she had never experienced before. His compliments had been like wine; she loved hearing them. Jerry seemed very far away. Ken's kisses against her lips were sweet.

"You're crazy," she tried to struggle away, fighting against his strength. Instinctively, she knew that this ought not to be. She wanted to escape but there was no escape. His arms drew her back.

"Darling, listen, it's love. Don't you understand? We were meant for each other." "Not No!" Her voice was saying meaningless words and she was swaying closer to him, her lips raised to his, answering kiss with kiss.

"I'm crazy, mad, and so are you. I'm married to Jerry. I love him. He loves me. We are the ones who belong to each other. You don't mean anything. I'm not going to marry you. You're drunk and so am I. Too much champagne. I..." She laughed a little hysterically.

"I've always been able to carry mine before. But you hypnotize me. I don't know what I'm doing. I can't seem to think. But you don't count, really. You oughtn't to kiss me like this. If Jerry should find us, he'd kill you. He's frightfully jealous."

"You, darling, don't fight against love." His arms held her close, his eyes looked down into hers. "We belong to each other, and it doesn't matter about Jerry. He can have Ruth, a dozen other girls, but for me there can't be anybody else, and I'll take you away from all this. You don't belong here in this mad, wild life."

"Where do I belong?" she asked. Perhaps he would find the answer now, the answer to everything, the reason why life had become so dull, so tiresome, the reason why her dreams had seemed so far away, somehow out of reach, and she couldn't find them anymore.

"In a little southern town that I know about, in a little white house, with big shade trees and flowers about the foundation, with servants to wait on you, where life goes on quietly and easily and there aren't any night clubs. You live in the sunshine and chat with your neighbors. You won't be dancing to mad music until you're tired, smiling and gay just from the lips out. You'll be smiling, just because you want to, and the smiles will be for your friends, not for dozens of people who don't mean anything."

SHE listened to his voice. That was the dream she had dreamed so long of, a little house of her own, quiet and peace, a garden in the cool of the evening, friends and neighbors and children, and dogs; a home in a little town where she wasn't Lita Damson wearing a mask, but herself. It was a picture of a life that Jerry couldn't think about because he had never wanted it in his life. He loved the lights, the rush of the city, everything that she wanted to escape. But these things that Ken Richards talked about were the things she had longed to possess since she was a child in an orphanage watching children play street in a house across the street.

"No, you're crazy. This is my life," she protested, wondering why she didn't, because she knew she didn't mean it. Jerry didn't count now, nor the things he had offered.

"I'm not crazy," he kissed her fiercely, hungrily. "And I'm going to marry you, husband or no husband." (To Be Continued)

Escaped Convict Shot At End Of 70-Mile Chase

DALLAS, July 1 (AP)—A man identified by Police Inspector Will Fritz as Turner Hudson, an escaped convict and jailbreaker, was in a Dallas hospital today with two gunshot wounds after his capture at the end of a 70-mile chase through Denton and Tarrant counties. Fritz said he and Detective C. O. Buchanan shot Hudson twice in the abdomen as he fled from his wrecked and bullet-riddled automobile near Azle, Tarrant county, late yesterday afternoon. The Dallas officers, looking for two men involved in the theft of a car from a Dallas used-car lot Sunday after gagging and blinding a night watchman, declared they came upon Hudson by chance in a beer parlor near Lake Dallas. Hudson leaped into his car, they related, and they pursued him, directing a fusillade of shots at the speeding car. Fritz said Hudson had a pistol and a small bottle of nitro-glycerine when he was caught. Hudson is wanted for jailbreak at Monahans, where he was held after escaping from a Texas prison farm. Police said Hudson was wanted by A. B. Kitchin, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Dallas, for alleged violation of the Dyer auto-theft act. On Jan. 1, 1941, 17,251 non-military aircraft were certified, or 35.2 per cent more than the 12,829 registered Jan. 1, 1940. Light plane owners average less than $100 expense for repairs for every 100,000 miles they fly.

Former Texan Held As Spy In New York

DALLAS, July 1 (AP)— Evelyn Clayton Lewis, 38, listed by the federal bureau of investigation as among those arrested and charged yesterday in New York with conspiracy to engage in espionage activities attended Dallas public school and Southern Methodist university and was known here for her sculpting and Little Theater work. John D. Thornton, her brother-in-law, said Miss Lewis had been in New York studying art and sculpture since the latter part of 1933. Thornton said Miss Lewis was born in Arkansas, came to Texas with her parents, went to school in Dallas and went to New York in 1925 to attend the New York School of Fine Arts. He said she returned to Dallas about 1931, remaining for two years, sculpting busts of prominent Dallas persons, maintaining studios and doing exhibition work. Classified Ads Get Results

Defense Bond Quiz

Q. Where does the government spend the money raised by defense bonds?

A. The money is spent in the United States. It helps to pay, train, arm, feed, cloth, and house the men in our army, navy, marine corps, and defense industries. It buys all the materials which these men need, thus helping the workers, farmers, merchants, manufacturers, and transportation men all over America.

Q. Can I sell or transfer a defense bond to a friend or a dealer in stocks and bonds?

A. No. The bond, for your protection, is registered in your name. But you can cash it at any time, after 60 days, for the full amount you paid, plus any interest due you.

To purchase defense bonds and stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Biggest Day Raids Launched by RAF

LONDON, July 1. (AP)—RAF fliers, hounded by almost three weeks of nocturnal assaults on German industrial centers, smashed overnight at the Ruhr and Rhine valleys and delivered a destructive attack on a power station near Lens, France, in a follow-up to what informed sources called the biggest British day raids yet launched on the Reich.

Planes blasted last night were Duisburg, Dusseldorf and Cologne, authoritative sources said. On the home front Nazi bombers caused damage and a number of casualties in raids on the west and southwest of England and South Wales during the night, the British said.

Legislature About To Back Down On Adjourning July 3

AUSTIN, July 1. (AP)—The Texas legislature today riveted its attention on unofficial tabulations of U. S. Senatorial race votes while trying to decide whether to terminate the longest session in history.

As Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and New Deal Congressman Lyndon Johnson neared a photo-finish on the basis of Texas Election bureau returns, members talked of rescinding action palling toward session adjournment Thursday.

The house adopted a senate resolution calling for permanent closure the day before Independence day but amended the noon-hour time decision to 6 p. m.

As O'Daniel's vote totals increased last night, sentiment appeared toward backing down on adjournment plans with a view to keeping an eye on election developments.

Amid off-the-floor election discussion, members plugged away at waiting-session matters and awaited the governor's action on the last of the big biennial appropriation bills—that allocating nearly $30,000,000 for operation of governmental departments.

Assuming importance was the prospective senate election of an interim president pro tempore who would replace Lieutenant-Governor Coke Stevenson as presiding officer of the upper legislative branch should the Junction lawyer-rancher succeed O'Daniel in the governorship.

Miami Receives First '41 Wheat

Special To The NEWS
MIAMI, July 1.—C. V. Wilkinson, Miami, Roberts county farmer, brought in the first load of new wheat Saturday and sold same to the Barnett Grain company.

The wheat tested 62 and averaged 30 bushels to the acre, Frank McMorley, residing in the northwest part of the county on the Canadian river, brought in the second load.

The price has varied from 80 to 83 cents this week, and some wheat has tested as high as 60.

Cutting is just beginning, and will get well under way by the middle of next week, farmers report. The quality and yield is not up to the standard that was at first expected.

Much of the grain has been damaged by insects and excessive moisture. Because of continued heavy rains, much of the wheat has fallen down, and the grain has failed to fully develop.

One hundred loads of wheat have been brought in to date.
