Garman Announces Purchase Of Local Gas Company For $600,652

NAZIS TO SUFFER TORMENTS, SAYS CHURCHILL

New Company To Have Five Directors

Panhandle, White Deer Companies Also Bought

Pampa is now the headquarters for the Texas Gas & Power corporation, successor to Central States Power & Light, local gas utility.

The deal, effective as of Saturday, was announced today by J. W. Garman, who since 1929 has been district manager of Central States, and who will head the new company.

Pampa will be headquarters in fact as well as name, for the office will be located here, and the corporation's accounts will be in Pampa.

Some new employes may be added, books and other records transferred from Panhandle and White Deer to this city, but no major changes are contemplated, Mr. Garman said.

He further stated that no rate changes were planned.

The company will operate about the same as the past, with the exception that it will be a local concern. Decisions of the firm will be made in Pampa, and not in some distant city, as was the situation under the old company.

Consideration Was $600,652 Under the terms of the deal, Central States sells to the Texas Gas & Power corporation, lots in Panhandle, Pampa, and White Deer, 29 easements, permits and right-of-ways, of which one is in Carson, the others in Gray.

Gas transmission and distribution franchises of the following: Pampa, July 7, 1925, for 25 years; Panhandle, January 26, 1926, 25 years; White Deer, November 3, 1926, 50 years.

Leases, stations, contracts, and accounts receivable, were also included in the deal, in which the consideration was $600,652.

Had the Securities Exchange commission not approved the sale, the transaction would not have been possible.

The deal was made possible under the law that forces holding companies to sell subsidiaries. In this case the company was the Ogden corporation of New York, and it was with this firm that Mr. Garman and others interested in the formation of the new local company deal.

Formation of the Texas Gas & Power corporation has been pending for several months. It necessitated several trips to New York. Legal work of the sale for the local company was done by E. D. Stennis of Pampa, and by Everett I. Willis of New York, of the firm of Root, Clark, Buckner, & Ballantine, and a son of Judge Newton P. Willis of Pampa.

Rental Tax To City Besides the benefits accruing to Pampa from being the headquarters for a natural gas company that will serve Pampa and two other towns, the city of Pampa will also receive additional benefit in the shape of a rental tax.

Last year, the city commission passed an ordinance setting up a 3 per cent rental tax on the Central States Power & Light company, for the use of streets and alleys.

Ordinance Passed In 1940 The ordinance was to have gone into effect on January 25 of this year, when the first payment was to have been paid. Numerous concessions were held between city officials and the company officers concerning the tax per centage, but before the matter was straightened out, the sale proposition came up.

As of May 1, 1941, the 47th Texas legislature set up an omnibus tax law, which provided that the rate in such case should be 2 per cent, with the exception of ordinances passed by cities previously that had set a higher rate.

City Attorney R. F. Gordon said today this meant the rental tax due the city would be at the ratio of 3 per cent annual since January 1, and 2 per cent from May 1. While technically the tax is termed "rental," it is a gross receipts tax.

Announce Directors Later There will be five directors for the Texas Gas & Power corporation, three of whom will be of Pampa, two from outside of Pampa.

Mr. Garman will be head of the corporation. He said he could not at this time announce the names of officers and of all who had an interest in the concern, but that such an announcement would be forthcoming within the next 10 days.

FDR Reported To Have Agreed On Extending Draft

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt and legislative leaders were reported today to have agreed to seek prompt congressional action to retain selectees and members of the national guard in training beyond their one year's service period. Senator Hill (D-Ala.) a member of the military committee and one of those who attended the conference against sending draftees outside the western hemisphere "probably will not be considered at any time in the near future." Hill and others on the White House conferees said that all efforts would be made to win prompt congressional approval of the legislation continuing the selectees and members of the national guard in service.

375 Army Trucks Get Lost In Houston

HOUSTON, July 14 (AP)—Police today rescued a lost battalion of 375 army trucks which had wandered around Houston for an hour seeking the Sun Antonio highway. The trucks en route from Galveston to Columbus, made a wrong turn on the outskirts of the city and wound up miles away from their route. An officer of the lost battalion called police for help. Five motorcycle officers raced to the detachment's aid and escorted the outfit out of town.

C-C Diners Will Thank Plains Solons

Panhandle legislators, Representative Elnis Favors, Senator Grady Hazlewood, and Representative Richard Craig will be thanked for the work they did at Austin in the recent legislature, when the July membership luncheon meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce is held. The Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet jointly with the senior organization and all citizens of Pampa are welcome to make reservations by telephoning 333. Sammy Hale, manager, and the Pampa Oilers baseball team will likewise be guests. It is very likely that Senator Hazlewood will be unable to attend the luncheon, F. M. Culbertson, BCD president, announced today. A group of Panhandle independent oil operators have arranged a meeting in Austin tomorrow with officials of the Texas Railroad Commission to seek a higher oil allowable to meet the market demand in the Panhandle. This group has asked Senator Hazlewood to accompany them to Austin. Hazlewood telephoned Pampa and was assured by officials of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce that his absence from the luncheon would be understood if he made the trip to Austin. "His work with the Panhandle representatives in Austin is much more important to us, as much as we would like to have him here at the luncheon," Culbertson said. The luncheon will be held in the First Methodist Church basement, at noon tomorrow. Tickets are fifty cents.

No One Will Profit In Drive For Aluminum

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14 (AP)—A Japanese liner with a polite but determined captain ploughed westward today without Fritz Wiedemann and Dr. Hans Bornhorst, expelled German consuls general who missed the boat on purpose then spent 12 hectic hours trying to catch it. The two top-ranking Nazis refused to board the Nyk liner Yawata Maru with their staffs and families yesterday, fearing that without a British guarantee of safe conduct across the Pacific they would be risking seizure at sea.

Two hours or so after the Yawata Maru sailed, word came from the British embassy in Washington that the Nazis would not be molested en route. Wiedemann then tried frantically to have the ship stopped. He radioed the captain asking that the Yawata turn about and come back for them at the German government's expense.

But the Japanese master replied: "Please express our greatest regrets we are unable to accept request to return."

This didn't stop Wiedemann, the San Francisco consul-general who was once Adolph Hitler's commanding officer. He telephoned the Japanese embassy in Tokyo and the Nyk line's main office there. The Yawata was flashed to a halt some 90 miles at sea, awaiting developments. Wiedemann then sought transportation to the Yawata. Without success he attempted to hire a seaplane or boat. He asked the coast guard for a cutter, and the navy for a destroyer. But he was told that neither branch could give him an answer until it was decided whether the Yawata would turn about.

Then, near midnight, the German embassy in Washington informed the consul here that the Yawata Maru "is too far out and there is no possibility of her turning back." Dr. Otto Denzer, the ousted vice-consul here, said he could not book seats aboard a clipper plane for them.

All aluminum to be given to the government should be taken to the sheriff's office in the courthouse. Contributors may give either discarded or aluminum still in use. Pampans are being asked to make a sacrifice if they have more aluminum than they need. For instance, if they have more aluminum skillets, percolators, pans, than they really need, they are asked to donate some of these, even though they are not discarded.

British Death Toll Lowest In June Since July, 1940

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—The Ministry of Home Security announced today that only 399 persons were killed in air raids on Britain in June, the lowest of any month since July, 1940.

Seven men are missing and believed killed, the ministry added, and 461 persons injured in raids, are detailed in official figures available to the public.

The July, 1940, totals were 258 killed and 321 hospitalized. The nation's heaviest home front casualties of the war were in September, 1940, when 6,954 were killed and 10,615 hospitalized.

Among the 399 known deaths in June were 175 men, 160 women and 64 children. The June total brought raid casualties for the past 13 months in which official figures are available to 94,986, including 41,486 killed and 53,498 hospitalized.

In this connection it was recalled that only recently Britain announced her total military casualties had passed the 100,000 mark.

W. Lee Elected In Official Vote Canvass

AUSTIN, July 14 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel was elected U. S. senator in the election June 28, the official canvass of votes showed today. O'Daniel received 175,590 votes to 174,279 for New Deal Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson.

His lead was 1,311 votes. The canvass was by the state election board.

Secretary of State William Lawson opened the official returns from the counties in the presence of the governor and Assistant Attorney General Grover Sellers.

Sellers represented Attorney General Gerald C. Mann as a member of the board. Other members were the governor and secretary of state.

When Lawson whispered the outcome to the governor, who had sat throughout the last few minutes had leaned forward tensely, O'Daniel smiled and nodded.

Replying to newspaper reporters' questions, the governor said: "I am very happy at the result."

He added that he had "no plans to announce at present."

The unofficial tabulation two weeks ago by the Texas Election Bureau, organization of about 90 newspapers, had given the governor a lead of 1,095.

The governor's gain on the official count was 216 votes.

Interest immediately switched to the possibility of any contest and when O'Daniel would qualify as senator and yield his present office to Lieut.-Gov. Coke Stevenson.

Johnson had announced he would not contest.

Tall, sun-tanned, lawyer-rancher, Stevenson said "I have no statement." He had watched the canvass in the midst of a sweating, hard-breathing crowd in the office of the secretary of state.

There were at least two views as to what the spectacular O'Daniel might do.

One was that he might resign very soon, and election certificate in hand, depart for Washington to present himself for senate recognition and qualification.

Other persons thought he might not resign at all, but might merely go to the national capital when ready to take the oath as senator, thereby automatically vacating the governorship.

Late News

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the Democratic leader, announced after a White House conference today that the administration would seek prompt congressional approval of measures to retain draftees and members of the national guard in service beyond their one-year training period. Asked whether he thought Congress would approve the legislation, Barkley told reporters that "when the need for the legislation becomes apparent I believe Congress will in no way shirk its duty."

HELSINKI, July 14 (AP)—The Finnish high command declared in a communique today that Finnish troops broke through Russian positions at several points despite stubborn resistance.

AUSTIN, July 14 (AP)—The state Senate's powerful general investigating committee "probably" will issue a statement bearing on the U. S. senatorial election today, Chairman R. A. Elnert of Seguin announced at noon. "The committee probably will have a statement later," said Weinert on emerging from a hour-long executive meeting. He would not elaborate on the assertion.

Red Armies Falling Apart, Says Hitler

Kiev is tottering under combined air and land assault, Moscow no longer is protected from German panzer thrusts by the Stalin line and Leningrad is caught by a German frontal drive and a Finnish flank offensive, Germans asserted today.

They declared that Red armies were falling apart and that the campaign was rushing to a climax on this, the 23rd day of the eastward push.

Nazi forces were reported hammering at the gates of Kiev, and Berlin waited expectantly to hear that that gateway to the Ukraine's richest industrial and farming regions had been forced. German planes rained destruction on Kiev's warehouses and hangars and even destroyed the city's waterworks, it was said.

That was the picture to be pieced together from the words of authorized German spokesmen, DNB, the official news agency, and—in slight degrees—from the daily communique from Adolf Hitler's headquarters.

The main strength of the powerful Soviet army is broken," asserted DNB, the official German news agency, reporting also that Nazi blitzkrieg ledgers had lashed thru the main Stalin line defenses "at the decisive points."

Dispatches from Ankara, Turkey, reported that Soviet government officials were preparing to move from Moscow, although the Germans are still some 300 miles from the Red capital, and that the British mission had already transferred to Gorki, 250 miles east.

By contrast, the Russians, after reporting that the 2,000-mile front was aflame with a series of gigantic new battles over the week-end, declared in this morning's communique that "no major fighting took place during the night."

That there had been no significant changes in the struggle in the last few hours. In London, authoritative quarters said the Nazi drive toward Leningrad was "the most dangerous," but that Berlin's claims of huge rains were regarded as "extraneous."

The German-controlled Holland radio said the fall of Kiev, the Ukraine capital, was "to be expected at any moment."

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels proclaimed to the German public through press and radio that "there is no salvation for the Soviet armies . . . the decision in the east has already been attained."

As for a separate peace with Russia, the Germans made it clear that there could be no question of compromise. The Reich, it was said, had a mandate from all Europe to liquidate Bolshevism.

Nazi military dispatches said that in June across the strategic Dnieper river, on the central front guarding Moscow, German troops had encountered a powerful Soviet defense sector, 30 miles deep in trenches, rebarbs and pillboxes, and further guarded by swamps and meandering streams. German engineers swarmed into the boglands wearing snowshoe-like "swamp walkers" so they would not sink in the muck, it was said, and floated numerous

Deadline For Car Inspection Extended

Time for entering cars for inspection in the third annual Pampa News-Pampa Lions Club Soap Box Derby has been extended to 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, D. L. Parker, general derby chairman, said today. Place for the inspection will be the same: the Pampa high school gymnasium.

Reason for the extension was to allow the boys a little more time on getting their cars ready. Some of the boys would want a little more time to paint their vehicles, for example, and Mr. Parker thought it advisable to extend the deadline.

Originally, the deadline had been set for noon today. The same inspection procedure, as previously announced, will be followed tomorrow, and the trial spins remain set for Wednesday afternoon, preceding the races on Thursday and Friday nights at Pampa Derby Downs, three miles north of Pampa on the old Miami road.

'Boom Party Over,' Says Henderson

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 14 (AP)—Walter Henderson asserted bluntly today that "the party is over" as far as the retail sales boom occasioned by German spending is concerned.

The administrator of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply said in a speech prepared for a meeting of the New York Housewares Manufacturing Association that defense needs would require rationing of the materials which go into manufacturing articles the public has been buying in ever-increasing amounts.

It already has become apparent, he said, that practically no civilian use after military needs were met and "it is becoming evident now that the amount of copper, steel, nickel, zinc, chrome, manganese and a number of other materials required for armaments is going to be so great that we won't have enough left over for consumers durable goods."

This, he continued, "means rationing, not by cards at the stores but at the raw materials line, and rationing means that someone is going to get hurt."

Henderson said there was grave danger of inflation and that the Office of Price Administration was going to "bargain ahead" in the fight against it.

"Before long now," he said, "there will be more purchasing power running around than there are goods available. It that occurs to substantial degree, no power on earth can prevent inflation."

"For that reason the government must step up some of this extra purchasing power, and it can do so in many healthy ways. It must increase taxes, thus helping to pay for defense. It can stimulate savings—thus providing a backlog for the future when first attention is not being given to merchandise of death. Consumer credit must be kept from expanding."

More of America's working time must be devoted to the business of defense, Henderson said.

"I feel that Hitler will be licked by American production—but we can't do it by giving just one hour out of eight x x x."

"My guess is that by next spring we will be equalling Hitler's production."

Italy To Get 'Fair Share,' Briton Warns

Prime Minister Says RAF Hitting Back Fearfully

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—Britain, unshaken by ten months of German air blows, has begun hitting back with fearful might and still is only at the beginning of her growing air power, Prime Minister Churchill told thousands cheering civil defense workers today.

The prime minister delivered virtually the same fighting message twice—first to 6,000 London veterans of the defense of Clarendon in a great review in Hyde Park and later to a luncheon of the capital's organized civil defenders.

"It is time the Germans should be made to suffer in their own homeland and cities something of the torments they give twice in our lifetime let loose upon their neighbors and upon the world," the prime minister exclaimed.

"We have now intensified for the past month a systematic, scientific and methodical bombing on a large scale of German cities and industries, and other military objectives."

"We believe it to be our power to keep this process going on a steadily rising tide month after month, year after year until the Nazi regime is either exterminated by us or, better still, torn to pieces by the Germans and themselves."

"We shall continue a remorseless discharge of high explosives upon Germany."

He declared there can be "no truce or parity with Hitler or the grisly gang who did Hitler's work" and forecast that Italy, too, would get her share of the RAF's attention.

"As the nights grow longer," the prime minister said, "that unhappy province of Germany which used to be called Italy will have its fair share."

But he stressed London's need for unremitting vigilance against new terror from the skies and warned the west to prepare "for renewal of your exertions."

"We shall not turn from our purpose however somber the road, however grievous the cost, because we know that out of this time of trial and tribulation will be born a new freedom and glory for all mankind."

"You do your worst and we will do our best," Churchill addressed a remark to Hitler. "Perhaps it may be our turn soon. Perhaps it may be yours."

The prime minister acknowledged that when the Nazi air might first fell in force on London he suffered anxiety for its effect on morale, health and necessary services but, he said, London's dealing with grit which has been the rock that has made Britain "unconquerable."

He forecast vehement German retaliation, but now, he said, London is ready and "London can take it."

"Our methods of dealing with German night raiders have greatly improved," he mentioned. "They no longer relish their trips to our shores."

"It is not true to say they did not come like last moon because they were all engaged in Russia. . . I do not know why they did not come, but . . . it may be because they were saving up."

"But even if it should be so, the very fact that they have to save up should give us confidence by revealing the truth of our steady advance from the armistice, position to a position at superiority to them in the air."

At the luncheon, Churchill declared that "we live in a terrible epoch," but he told the men and women of the civil defense services "we believe there is broad and sure justice running through its theme."

Britain's air blows have been stronger than the Germans' and will remain so, he promised the outdoor throng, "until we have beaten down this horrible tyranny."

"The courage of Londoners under an unexampled strain," he declared, "not only enabled us to come through what many might have thought a deadly peril, but impressed itself upon every country and gained us scores of millions of friends in the United States."

"You have just come out of one of our darkest days."

Get The Defense Bond Habit

Whether the treasury is satisfied with the sale of Defense Bonds to date, we don't know. But it seems to us that not enough people have yet realized the obligation.

In May, $441,752,000 worth of Defense Bonds and Stamps were bought, and in June only $272,000,000 worth. Thus in two months not quite three-quarters of a billion dollars have been directly lent to the government for defense.

It isn't enough. More people must constantly recognize the double purpose served by these bonds, and old purchasers must keep coming back, making a weekly or monthly habit of buying them. They are at once the best means of saving against any post-war emergency, and of diverting excess purchasing power from a rush of bidding for a declining amount of goods—which means higher prices in spite of any controls.

Put Defense Bonds or Stamps on your budget! Was It Or Wasn't It? The American Peace Mobilization, one of the most vociferous organizations working against the national policy of aid to Britain, and which has opposed most of the steps taken to aid the democracies, has suddenly plunked for all-out aid to all countries fighting the Axis.

This is the organization which for 40 days kept an annoying picket in front of the White House in protest against national foreign policy. The picket was withdrawn just before Hitler moved against Russia.

This is the organization that was against lend-lease, and which lauded the Stalin regime as a "great neutral" in the conflict because as such it might exercise a great influence for peace. But now it suddenly believes that the United States should no longer preserve any such Olympic impartiality, but should get in and pitch against the Axis (which is certainly the same Axis it was before it attacked Russia).

It was frequently said that the American Peace Mobilization was Communist-dominated. In view of the record both before and after the invasion of Russia, what do you think?

Yes, We Are In Earnest

Like bursting firecrackers come these crackling bits of news: Compliance section of the priorities division of the OPM announces that priorities will now become enforceable, with penalties for non-compliance; 15 basic materials are placed completely under industry-wide mandatory control, aluminum, magnesium, nickel, chromium, nickel-steel, ferro-tungsten, tungsten, high-speed steel, machine tools, synthetic rubber, copper, cork, borax, polyvinyl chloride, zinc and rubber; 60 per cent of steel now goes into the defense program.

Fewer and fewer each day are the people who still believe we can carry on as usual and still build defenses of the kind that will beat Hitler.

We shall have other business later; other plans for the future. This is now, and armed strength counts now.

PRICE CONTROL AT HOME

The administrator of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply seems to be having a little difficulty with price control in his own office. Representative Ditter of Pennsylvania informed the House of Representatives of the singular rise in salaries which has fallen to the lot of various subordinates of Leon Henderson. The general counsel of the new agency receives $8,000 a year against the $5,000 a year he received as an employer of SEC. An OPAEC economist receives $5,400, an advance of $1,200 a year over his previous salary. Another employee, who received $2,200 in his last previous employment, now gets $4,800. The chief economist's salary of $6,500 represents an advance of $2100 over her salary in the job she held before coming to OPAEC.

SPEAKING AS CITIZENS AS WELL AS JUDGES

"When officials of the labor union step outside their labor union fields and act as highwaymen, levying tribute on those who wish to build homes or other buildings, acting for their individual gain, the immunity granted to the labor unions by the amendment to the Sherman (anti-trust) act does not extend to them. They are not acting as labor unions except in name. The test is whether the activity complained of is one promotive of the legitimate objects of a labor union, or whether the union is being misused by those holding official positions of trust therein, who, conspiring for private and personal profit, are using the union name to obtain immunity from Sherman, act prosecution and at the same time shield their misconduct behind an organization whose fair name and activities are likely to mislead a court or jury, as well as the public."

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the share of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

"THINK FAST AMERICA"—A MOST INTERESTING BOOK

I have just finished reading a book that I would not have finished reading had not it been formerly read by a friend of mine in whom I had a great deal of confidence, as to both his judgment and honesty. The book was, "Think Fast America." After I read about a third of the book, I found it so out of harmony with what I had always regarded as sound and practical and realistic, I thought I would skip to the last chapter and see the conclusion.

However, inasmuch as I had so much confidence in the man who recommended it to me, I went and talked to him. He explained some of the things that seemed inconsistent and advised me to read it through. I am glad I did.

The gist of the book shows the ill effects of interest on society. The author of the book traces interest from the Babylonian time. He shows how the head of the Ur government first started the loaning of money, how rich for a time it made the sovereign Ur-Nammu. He traces, however, the ill effects of this practice through Babylon, Egypt, Greece, Rome and the United States.

The book is so convincing that I am going to read the arguments for interest, as written by Jeremy Bentham in his book, "The Defense of Usury," written in 1787.

It will be remembered that Bentham was one of the first men who publicly defended interest and usury.

I want to take the arguments of the new book by Lambert Schuyler and see whether Bentham or Schuyler wins the argument; that is, which principle—interest or no interest—in the long run will make it possible for each man to constantly get a larger reward for a given amount of work.

The work of Schuyler is especially interesting since it is so contradictory to what has been accepted for generations as sound economics. Especially is this "Think Fast America" interesting, since such great thinkers as Ogden Mills, in his book "Liberalism Fights On," says that we must continue to strive for something we have never had—a sound banking system.

This same thought is emphasized by Carl Snyder in his book, "Capitalism the Creator," when he contends that all depressions are the result of the ever-expansion of bank credit.

And Irving Fisher, in his book "100 % Money," says that permitting banks to pyramid bank credit leads to expansion of credit and rapid change in values, unemployment, lack of production and untold misery.

Schuyler contends that if it were not for credit, most of the wars could not be fought. If there is control had to tax the people enough to pay for the wars as they were carried out, there would be very few, if any, wars.

It is Schuyler's contention that misuse of credit, or in fact credit bearing interest, is the very foundation of all socialism, communism, totalitarianism and war.

The readers should not condemn the book or the theory until they have read it. If it is not in your public library, it should be. There are some things in the book that seem to me to be unsound, but as a whole it seems to be very consistent to the laissez faire principle. I will quote from it in a later issue.

FLAT SACK

"It is hard for an empty sack to stand upright," said wise old Benjamin Franklin. The United States Treasury today is that sack. It is quite empty—and therefore it is, to use Franklin's figure, a FLAT SACK. That is at least what Harold D. Smith, director of the Bureau of the Budget, tells the American people in the form of figures. This fiscal year, according to the director, will see a deficit of $12,787,000,000. That will be a JUMP of $3,557,000,000 over the current deficit.

What is a deficit that steadily increases? It is this, Mr. Plain American Citizen: A steady DECREASE of national income in relation to national outgo.

It means that this gap has got to be stuffed up—or an attempt will be made to stuff it up—with more TAXES.

Taxes are slices off of your wage-roll. They are bits taken out of your very life. When the national budget becomes a flat sack so will you—eventually.

The deficit eight years ago was a symptom. Solemn promises were made by the Administration that the budget would be balanced.

But what was then a mere symptom has now become a chronic disease that threatens the very life of our country.

It is all nonsense to put the blame for this growing colossal deficit, as some Administration leaders do, on defense speed-up.

Long before we went in for intensive defense spending the gap in the National Treasury between outgo and intake was daily widening.

This was due not to the quite necessary defense of the nation but to socialistic experiments on which billions were squandered by moonbeam "economists" and Congresses that seemed to think their only mission was to take care of "the boys" back home by handing them vast sums in "subventions"—for the farm and otherwise.

Nothing threatens the nation's welfare so menacingly as this growing deficit—for a growing deficit is nothing but PROGRESSIVE BANKRUPTCY.

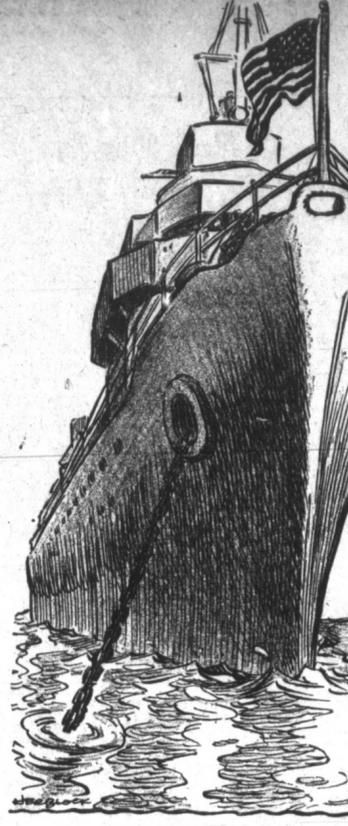

The only possible way now to keep the deficit in bounds, and eventually eliminate it is to eliminate at once every item of non-essential, non-defense spending.

Another threaten from Benjamin Franklin also fits the doings of our wrong-way "financial wizards" at Washington today:

"HE THAT GOES A BORROWING GOES A SORROWING."

And that applies to your Uncle Sam as well as to your Uncle Zek.

WELL?

Around Hollywood

BY PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, July 14.—All over the lot, John Huston, tall, long-faced son of the famous Walter, has been a movie writer for the past few years and now has a contract to direct his own scripts. His first directing job, after writing the screen play, is "The Maltese Falcon." The beginning of the picture brought dozens of good-luck messages and gag gifts from all over Hollywood. "The best of those tokens, though, has just arrived. There's a scene in which Humphrey Bogart and Lee Patrick are fishing in the smallest office trying to figure some way of getting hold of the priceless statuette of the falcon. Their talk is interrupted by a man clutching a package stumbling in. He collapses on the couch and dies. A sea captain just arrived from Hong Kong, and on his way to the office to deliver the falcon, he has been shot.

DIES FOR SON

The tall man who lurched into the room was Walter Huston, who wanted to appear somewhere in his son's first picture. It's the smallest role the celebrated actor has had since he first appeared on a stage in Toronto in 1902.

After expiring realistically on the couch, he could have been replaced by a double during the rest of the scenes. Instead, he returned to Warners next morning, got into costume and makeup, and played corpse. For the chore, a $50 check was made out—not to Walter Huston, but to a bit actor who hasn't had much work lately.

Speaking of dying, Robert Preston again is breathing his last for Cecil DeMille. He was shot and killed by Brian Donlevy in "Union Pacific" when he was killed by an Indian in "North West Mounted Police," and now he has been laid low by a bullet from Raymond Massey in "Reap the Wild Wind." "It wouldn't be so bad if I could be poisoned or stabbed or something," said Preston. "But always getting shot, I feel like I'm in a rut."

ALWAYS BE KISSING, TOO

The last scene in "A Yank in the R.A.P." with show Tyrone Power and Betty Grable in a kiss-clinch in a London taxi. The driver looks around at them, whistles, and remarks to the audience: "There'll always be an England."

And in Columbia's "Heaven Can Wait," Rita Johnson is badly startled by the appearance before her of Robert Montgomery, whom she was sure had been murdered. The actor looks curiously at Miss Johnson, then turns to the camera and says, "She looks like she's going to faint."

Then, while the camera stays on Montgomery, he looks again, and there's the soft thud of a falling body. Addressing the audience again, he reports, "Yep—she did!"

Cary Grant has bought the 35-room home that belonged to Gene Stratton Porter. It's a giggle about the gangster actor who was slated by the script to rob a national bank. He refused: said his public would resent it. So they're letting him rob a state bank.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

The hay fever victims are rather scanty this summer for some reason or another, but the chronic sufferers are back on the job with handkerchiefs and "remedies." One of the best-known hay fever sufferers is John McPartland, the Ciler pitcher, and let me tell you he deserves your sympathy. He never had hay fever until he came to the Panhandle. Back in his home town of Oakland, Calif., he never had it. . . . I never have it either as long as I am in water, and yesterday morning early I went to Lake McClellan and got in a boat and stayed in the middle of the lake all day and never had a bit of hay fever. I say in the middle of the lake—that's a figure-of-speech—because Dicky Many and Glenn Dawkins rowed that boat all over the lake and around it several times, and I laid back and took things easy. Every once in a while we would go in the trees, most of them cooked together and beef roast and tuna-fish salad taste so good. . . . Yesterday at noon nearly every picnic site was taken, and I'll bet there were 500 people camping out under the trees, most of them cooking. There were family groups with kids and young people and old people, and the shade of those trees was not skippy either. There were people from all over the Panhandle there yesterday. A prettier thing on the lake, of course, are the sailboats, and Russ Allen and Clyde Fatheree looked more cheerful and happier than we ever saw them as they sailed their boats over the smooth surface of the lake. Everybody was fishing, but not everybody was catching them. However, one man caught a 14-inch bass and another caught a 35 cent fish and another caught a big string, but J. P. Mathews who went down Saturday night was not having much luck. He had one cat fish, but his wife Judy was having a big time in a motorboat.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The measure of Britain's effort to relieve the pressure of the Nazi attack on Russia, and to take advantage of the temporary lull on the western front, is indicated by British Premier Churchill's statement this morning that the royal air force is now pouring bombs into the enemy at a heavier rate than the Hitlerites have in any monthly period, bombed the British Isles.

That is an amazing development, showing the growth of the British air force through the intensification of home production and the all-out aid of the United States. When you consider the hell which the Nazis hurled down upon the half defenseless Britain during the long months of horror, you get an idea of the way John Bull's aerial strength has grown.

This announcement is calculated to give vast encouragement to the Allies. The great numerical superiority of the German air force has been one of Britain's greatest handicaps.

Meanwhile conflicting claims by Moscow and Berlin make it difficult to gauge the progress of the greatest battle of mechanized forces for the world. The Nazis assert that the Stalin line has been broken at all vital points and that Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev—the three great cities of the north, center and south respectively—are in danger of falling.

The Bolsheviks on the other hand insist that they are holding all along the great battle-line, and that there has been no marked changes overnight.

Well, obviously one of the combatants is mistaken. Still, out of the confusion it would appear that the Nazis have made advances. London thinks the greatest immediate threat is in the drive against Leningrad in the north and that likely is so.

If the Finns and Nazis secure this great Baltic port, they will have virtually severed Russian communications with the Baltic and the Red navy there, and will have effected a turning movement against the Stalin line.

As we watch the Hitlerian forces fling themselves against the Russian front, the paramount question isn't whether this greatest of all war machines will make gains (for it may be expected to do so) but what the cost will be to Nazi Germany in men and materials and time—especially time. That's the crux-time.

Hitler can afford much in lives and equipment, for of these he has a vast store. But he can't be extravagant with time.

As I pointed out in Saturday's column, he has no more than three months—probably less—before the icy fingers of the fierce Russian winter will be clutching at his men and blotting out his communications. He must win his war decisively against the Bolsheviks before then or find himself saddled with a back-breaking conflict of attrition on two fronts. And Germany lacks the resources to be able to afford the time for such a vast effort.

Behind The News In Washington

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Sooner or later there will have to be a showdown in the Department of Agriculture between SMA and AAA, which are really a lot different than the Tweedle twins, Dum and Dee.

In case you're not up on your Washington code talk, SMA is Surplus Marketing Administration and triple-A is Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Or, if these things are meaningless unless presented in terms of personalities, SMA is Milo Perkins and AAA is Rudolph M. Evans. These two gentlemen speak to each other and might even be called pals, but the organizations they head operate on two different philosophies and here's the rub.

SMA's function is to remove price-depressing surpluses of farm products not covered by AAA. SMA buys the surpluses at the lowest possible prices, takes them off the market, sells them for export or distributes them to the states for relief of the poor.

AAA monkeys with only five commodities—cotton, corn, wheat, rice and tobacco, and guarantees producers of these crops will obtain 85 per cent of the well-known parity price, the "fair" price paid to farmers from 1909 to 1914 for all crops except tobacco, which has its parity based on the 1919-1929 price.

JUST A LITTLE MATTER OF PRICES From this all-too-simple explanation, it can be seen that there is a fundamental difference in viewpoint. SMA buys at distress prices, AAA deplores the idea of distress prices and guarantees high prices to the farmers who play along with its program.

Threatening to bring the conflict to a showdown is a little measure known as the Gore amendment to the Steagall bill, which has been receiving attention of Congress these last few months. The Steagall bill is a banking bill to prolong the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation, and the Gore amendment has nothing to do with banking, but that's the funny way congressmen sometimes get things done. What the amendment would provide is that no federal funds could be used to purchase agricultural products at a price which is below parity.

Now the Gore amendment may not get any place, but it is important because it is an attempt to put over a law that would apply the parity principle to crops other than the big five.

If general legislation to that effect were ever put on the books, it would do so against the farmers. It would give the farmers higher prices for everything they raised, which would be nice for the farmers, but it would unquestionably raise the cost of living for others. And it would wreck the operations of the Surplus Marketing Administration, as well as other federal activities like the Commodity Credit Corporation and even the food stamp plan.

It would mean that whenever the government went into the market to buy surpluses for relief or for export, it would have to pay full parity prices on everything, prunes as well as potatoes. Currently, it would raise the price of all the commodities which the government is buying for aid to Britain under the lend-lease act, meats, poultry and dairy products, on which the government has asked farmers to step up production. It would cost taxpayers no telling how many more millions of dollars.

AFBF MEANS POLITICAL POWER Inspiration for this idea of applying the parity principle to all farm products, not just the big five, stems principally from the American Farm Bureau Federation which has been advocating full parity for everything for years. In the last election AFBF went whole hog for Willkie because its leaders thought Roosevelt wasn't giving enough encouragement to the full parity idea.

With Willkie's defeat, some political dopsters thought AFBF was dead, but the organization went right on with its drive for full parity on the five basic crops, and what's more, put it over in what economy congressmen from non-agricultural districts call the greatest grab in the history of the American congress.

Today, the Farm Bureau Federation is rated as one of the most influential lobbies in Washington. AFBF sends telegrams to congressmen by the score, and it never misses a trick where the farmer's interests are concerned, operating on the simple philosophy that with everybody else getting something from the government, the farmer is entitled to his.

His efforts tend to aid the big farmer more than the little farmer. AAA and the parity program favor the big farmer perhaps 10 to 1. SMA, Commodity Credit Corporation, Farm Security Administration, look more towards aiding the small farmer. That's where the fundamental conflict is in the Department of Agriculture.

IMPARTIAL TO HURL FOR OILERS AGAINST LAMESA TONIGHT

Bomber Hurls 11-Inning, No-Hit Game

Charlie Wheelchel, a 19-year-old youngster who fowers 6 feet and 5 inches above the ground, really entered baseball's hall of fame here last night when he hurled an 11-inning no hit, no run game as the Big Spring Bombers defeated the Pampa Oilers 2 to 0. Wheelchel's sensational performance came after the Bombers had taken an 8 to 4 game from the Oilers in the afternoon.

Tonight the Lamesa Lobes, who split games with the mighty Borger Caspers yesterday afternoon, will be here to oppose the Oilers at 8:30 o'clock. Lefty John McPartland, Pampa's leading pitcher, is scheduled for mound duty tonight and a packed grandstand is expected to witness the game.

While Wheelchel's performance was one that comes only a few times in a lifetime, Monty Montgomery, Pampa hurler, didn't have to take a back seat to the big chunker. Montgomery gave up seven hits but kept them well scattered and he was the victim of five errors by his fielders. Montgomery, appearing on the field wearing glasses for the first time in his life, had everything on the ball and he should have won the game despite Wheelchel's performance.

While not a single Pampa batter reached first base until the tenth inning, the Bombers threatened on three different occasions but each time Montgomery bore down and worked out of the holes. He struck out the side in the seventh.

Oilers' Blow Chance

The Oilers could have won the game in the tenth when Haralson, first Pampa batter, was hit by a pitched ball. Matney attempted to sacrifice but hit to the pitcher and Haralson was forced at second. Scott, leading Pampa hitter, then hit to the pitcher. Lou Frierson, Pampa's dangerous first baseman, was walked intentionally, putting two on base and bringing Emmet Pulewider to the plate. But Pulewider skied out to left field and the Pampa scoring threat ended.

Then came the eleven. Reeves singled and advanced on Drake's sacrifice. A minute later he scored on Poitras' single to center. Poitras stole third and scored when Reynolds dropped Frierson's throw home after Zmitrovich had been retired at first.

While Pampa batters were skying to the outfield, 13 of them going out on files, Big Spring players hit to the infield and Lou Frierson had the unusual number of 20 putouts at first base.

Homer Matney, Pampa's flying right fielder, saved the day for Montgomery twice, once on the first ball pitched in the game when he raced into right center to take Haney's base drive and again in the tenth when he made a sensational catch of Greer's liner that looked like the hit to score Haney, who had doubled.

DiMaggio Runs Hitting String Up To 53 Games

Associated Press Sports Writer

For the benefit of those folks who think baseball's second name is DiMaggio—and vice versa—this is as good a time as any to point out that pitchers really still are of some use in the game beside helping to keep up a club's intake average at mealtime.

Of course, none of 'em look any good when Joltin' Joe is waving his war club at them these days. Ted Lyons and Lefty Thornton led off the Chicago White Sox line-up to join Joe's personal "serve-it-up-and-duck" department. The big guy connected safely off each of them yesterday, as the sizzling Yankees swept a twin bill to run his all-time record for hitting to 53 consecutive contests.

But the boys who deal 'em off the arm in the majors generally showed only one man to get far as second and topped the Pirates to a 4-0 picnic over the New York Giants. This boosted the Bucc's winning streak to seven straight, but it ended right there as Bill Terry's error came back to take the nightcap, 2-2, behind Hal Schumacher's five-hit hurling.

Ted Williams was missing from the Boston Red Sox lineup. He hurt his ankle Saturday. With the first game of the six-year classic, Cleveland, 2-1, in 11 innings after going down 9-6 in nine. Lefty Al Smith gave up 11 hits in the second game but won, although Mickey Harris allowed only eight and fanned 10 men.

As usual, opposing batsmen couldn't solve the riddle from Cincinnati and unbeaten Elmer posted his tenth straight win by blanking the Boston Braves with five hits for a 4-0 Red victory. Manny and Tom Earley combined on a nine-hitter to beat Paul Derringer, 6-5, in the second game.

Even old Jack Knott, who sits down to table with the Philadelphia Athletics these days, was in the parade. Turning in his fourth win in his past five starts, he downed the Detroit Tigers, 5-4, with five hits, despite two homers by Pinky Higgins.

Washington walloped St. Louis, 6-3 and 6-5, as a quartet of Nat pitchers allowed only 13 hits through the 18 innings.

San Antonio Subdues Cats In 17 Innings

(By The Associated Press)

The San Antonio Missions, apparently tiring of their cellar spot in the Texas league, battled for three hours and 44 minutes last night and finally subdued the Fort Worth Cats, 10 to 9, in the 17th inning.

It was the third consecutive one-run victory for the Missions, but they still linger on the bottom with the Cats still in seventh place.

The Cats tied the game in the ninth with three runs, and seven scoreless innings followed.

Fort Worth used five pitchers in the marathon, and San Antonio two. It took more innings to decide the contest than any other game of the season.

The Houston Buffs increased their lead over the field to 16 and a half games by sweeping a double bill from the Dallas Bees, 3 to 2 in 11 innings, and 8 to 4. Ted Wilks won his 13th game of the season in the opener, in which Cross singled in the winning run.

The Buffs and Rebels met again tonight, with Freddy Martin seeking his 16th victory of the season for Houston.

J. P. Wood singled with the bases loaded in the ninth to give the Beaumont Exporters a 4 to 3 win over Oklahoma City's Indians in the first game of their double header. Beaumont took the second, 4 to 2. Wood got three singles and a double in the opener.

Tulsa went into second place a half-game ahead of Shreveport by beating the Sports 2 to 1 in a game called in the fifth because of rain. The second game of the scheduled double header was postponed.

Oilers Place Most Men On All-Star Tilt

DALLAS, July 14 (AP)—Tulsa's Hustling Oilers, waging a merry battle with the Shreveport Sports for the runner-up slot in the Texas League race, placed the most men in the sixth annual all-star game scheduled Wednesday at Beaumont.

The Oilers came through with seven to lead the north squad while loop-leading Houston and Shreveport tied with six each to top the south selection.

Approximately 90,000 fans—40,000 in the north and 50,000 in the south—chose the squads.

Houston's total included non-playing Manager Eddie Dyer and Tulsa came through with non-playing Manager Roy Johnson.

In the south Beaumont placed four and San Antonio one and in the north Dallas and Fort Worth each had four and Oklahoma City two.

Howard Pollet, brilliant Houston southpaw, was the darling of the ballots, with the high vote of 39-572, the fourth highest figure in all-star history.

Here are the two squads:

Uncle Sam May Be Leading Grid Coach In Southwest

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Staff

Uncle Sam may become the leading Southwest Conference football coach. The old gentleman with the top hat has taken his first recruits and indicated he will be back for more before frost.

University of Texas, the championship choice, thus far has been hardest hit. Three lettermen left for duty as flying cadets over the week-end, including both of Coach D. X. Bible's centers—Captain J. M. Goodwin and David Thayer. End Jesse Hawthorne was the third.

Texas has a large and experienced squad with several from other positions capable of playing the pivot but prospects are that Uncle Sam won't stop with the three already taken. Bible looks for Fullback R. L. Harkins, End Mike Sweeney and Tackle Derwood Pevelo to go next. A number of others appear in line for induction before conference football practice opens Sept. 5.

Southern Methodist university and Texas A. and M., co-champions last fall, thus far are little affected. S. M. U. is due to lose E. L. Keaton, crack wingman, by Aug. 1. But A. and M., 1941 Cotton Bowl champion, is not expected to have any juniors or seniors in the armed forces.

The Aggies either are taking or have applied for the advanced course in military science and tactics.

He went hitless in two times at bat.

The once Great National league hurler left the Cubs July 6 for a radio announcing job in St. Louis. He was making a barnstorming tour preliminary to his radio appearance. Earlier Sunday afternoon Dean pitched in a Storm Lake, Ia., game.

No known infection among hens is transmissible through their eggs to humans.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (AP)—Fritzie Zivic, Pittsburgh's welterweight champion, is confident of turning the tables on Johnny Barbara, of Chicago, when they clash tonight in a 12-round non-title bout at the Philadelphia Gardens.

Making his first ring appearance since he battered Bummy Davis to defeat in New York recently, Zivic intends to wipe out the string of two setbacks at the hands of Barbara.

Looking ahead to a title defense against Red Cochrane in Newark on July 28, Zivic is sure he will stop Barbara in six or seven rounds. Zivic is a 2 to 1 favorite.

While not a single Pampa batter reached first base until the tenth inning, the Bombers threatened on three different occasions but each time Montgomery bore down and worked out of the holes. He struck out the side in the seventh.

Oilers' Blow Chance

The Oilers could have won the game in the tenth when Haralson, first Pampa batter, was hit by a pitched ball. Matney attempted to sacrifice but hit to the pitcher and Haralson was forced at second. Scott, leading Pampa hitter, then hit to the pitcher. Lou Frierson, Pampa's dangerous first baseman, was walked intentionally, putting two on base and bringing Emmet Pulewider to the plate. But Pulewider skied out to left field and the Pampa scoring threat ended.

Then came the eleven. Reeves singled and advanced on Drake's sacrifice. A minute later he scored on Poitras' single to center. Poitras stole third and scored when Reynolds dropped Frierson's throw home after Zmitrovich had been retired at first.

While Pampa batters were skying to the outfield, 13 of them going out on files, Big Spring players hit to the infield and Lou Frierson had the unusual number of 20 putouts at first base.

Homer Matney, Pampa's flying right fielder, saved the day for Montgomery twice, once on the first ball pitched in the game when he raced into right center to take Haney's base drive and again in the tenth when he made a sensational catch of Greer's liner that looked like the hit to score Haney, who had doubled.

Backstopping In Texas League Believed Best

DALLAS, July 14 (AP)—Bill Ruggles, Texas league statistician believes each team in the All-Star game at Beaumont Wednesday will have its strongest backstopping in the history of the six-year classic, but adds that the South might have strengthened its catching staff by electing Benny Huffman of San Antonio as reserve receiver over Al Unser of Beaumont.

"Normally the fans are led astray by the offensive strength of maskmen, the least important phase of their work," Ruggles said today, "and there has been no previous season when sports critics thought the catching provided was all-around."

"Indeed this year Unser may owe his selection to his batting average, but Huffman is a consistently good hitter, too, and a more experienced and better rounded catcher. Unser nevertheless is a catcher who has shown as much improvement from the start of the season to now as any player in the league and is more of a future prospect than is the Mission's dependable mainstay.

"On the whole the North has the catching edge over the South but the latter more power in offense behind the bat, with the difference not marked in either case. The North's decided margin is in the mechanics of backstopping, receiving and throwing." There is nothing to choose between two of the greatest catchers the loop has ever known in a season's play, the Cuban, Salvador (Chico) Hernandez, Tulsa's first stringer, deservedly the high over all vote winner in the North, and Sam Naron, a cogent factor in Houston's pitching and winning work in 1941. The North's reserve, Jim Hegan of Oklahoma City, is a very young catcher but he is startlingly good. Unser, on the form, he has shown in the second quarter of the campaign, will rank very high too.

MURDER IN CONVOY

BY A. W. O'BRIEN

CHAPTER I

"I REGRET to state, Gentlemen," said the commodore presiding at Troopship Convoy MX Conference...

Across the expanse of mahogany table the Sea Dogs' bronzed faces failed to register any emotion. Only by their neglected cigar ashes and strained postures could they detect the suppressed excitement among the gathering of Canadian and British naval officers.

"This Nazi agent," the marbled-faced commodore continued in a dull monotone, "is reported to be a member of one of the units. It is obviously impractical at this late date to start an investigation of the 20,000 soldiers so he'll have to come along. His mission is possibly designed as a suicide course—most likely to get information to the enemy in some fashion that will bring about an attack on the convoy.

"Now I have a surprise for you. There is lying in the basin a large merchant ship convoy waiting to sail. It will start at dawn. The 11 troopships will leave on a separate schedule later in the day and join the merchant men at a rendezvous as provided in your Sealed Orders and then take up Formation L...

There was a murmur of protest. These Sea Dogs knew the perils of this unprecedented move—fat ocean greynolds and ponderous freighters milling around perhaps in a heavy sea. The commodore let the kettle boil before resuming:

"It's unprecedented and the Navy realizes the task lying ahead but it is all part of a plan the nature of which I am not at liberty to divulge. I shall now usher in the captains of the merchantmen sailing with you for the purpose of discussing convoy details."

THE gold-braided officers rose as a group of weather-beaten shippers, many fitting in unaccustomed starched collars and wearing shiny blue serge suits, entered the board room. Shyly they took the places offered them, and you could sense the common bond between these humble rulers of the plodding freighters and the neatly-groomed commanders of the sleek warships. They were co-operating factors in keeping the Atlantic pipeline open.

Four mimeographed sheets were passed to each man in the room. They carried the names of the vessels, the time schedule of leaving the basin, the time gap that would result if any ship failed to follow its preceding ship sharp on the minute, the course to be followed after passing the submarine gate, when the joint convoy would form and what signal code would be followed in zig-zagging across the time gap.

"The freighters take the outer lanes," the commodore stated in discussing the items, "to provide added protection for the liners. In return you will be protected by the heaviest naval escort in history!"

The commander of the Atlantic Coast was then called upon to describe the protective measures under his jurisdiction...

A Boy and a Girl Find There's Time for Love Even Though Danger Lurks Behind Every Wave considerable success." He explained that if attacked by surface craft he "would hit with the full force at my command while you must follow your Sealed Orders."

"And now you are asked to listen more closely—this is an important command to all cargo-carrying ships in the convoy as well as the troopships. If one or more of you should be attacked by a submarine, all other vessels must proceed at full speed AWAY from the torpedoes or ships, leaving the survivors to their fate—temporarily at least. The purpose is to curtail loss to an absolute minimum. Stationary ships would provide too good a target for even the poorest of U-boat marksmen."

THE commodore tugged at Captain Leeds' sleeve. They whispered together for a few seconds before the captain spoke again:

"I have just been reminded, gentlemen, that one of you ship masters commands a trawler." He looked around the room. A deep voice boomed from the far corner: "Aye, sir, I command the Loch Lomond."

The Scot's rich burr seemed to please the captain. "My compliments, sir, to yourself and the good Loch Lomond. I'm sure any vessel bearing so stout a name would relish the task I have in mind. Would you volunteer to sail at the extreme rear of the convoy and pause to pick up any survivors in case of emergency? It is barely possible that a submarine would risk staying behind long enough to attack a trawler—that and the lowness of your vessel in the water would make the target a poor one for him. However, it is entirely voluntary and I cannot..."

The old tar was on his feet, beaming like a harvest moon: "On behalf of the Loch Lomond, sir, I accept the post. She's always happy to help out the Navy!"

The room echoed with deep-throated, good-natured laughter. The friendly rivalry between the to pick our place and we have to be prepared for everything." Stretching south of the border hundreds of miles was mesquite-covered, duned desert—with only one main highway and that not in sight. It was not difficult to speculate on a well-equipped army, having gained control of friendly Mexico, driving toward El Paso. There is similar terrain, he said, in Africa, Syria, Lebanon and Palestine.

No partisan he, General Swift believed "aviation—observation pursuit and bombers—should be organized with this division—every division."

"Is there a lawyer in the squad?"

University Of Texas Hit By Draft

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Southwest conference football coaches have more than the usual quota of it with another season less than two months away.

The usual ones are caused by the gaping holes left by graduation. But the big question right now is what's to happen to those dependables listed on 1941 rosters.

The University of Texas has long been favored to win its first title in a decade but opinion was somewhat shaken by happenings of the past week.

For instance, Saturday found both of Texas' lettermen at center—J. W. Goodwin and David Thayer—being inducted into the army as flying cadets. Also inducted were Jesse Hawthorne, Texas letterman end, and Doyle Hardy, a freshman star of last season.

And several more Longhorn first-stringers are on the border line of being taken in by the army. Just how hard hit five other teams will be is problematical, although none is expected to lose in numbers as heavily as Texas. But it's virtually certain that Texas A. and M., co-champion and winner of the 1941 Cotton Bowl game, will not be materially affected. The Aggies are not due to see any of their juniors and seniors depart because they are all either taking or have applied for the advanced course in military science and tactics which automatically removes them from the draft.

But here's a birdseye view of the situation for the other six conference members at this time.

Southern Methodist, co-champion last year with A. and M.—Eleven lettermen registered, one of them, E. L. Keeton, crack wingman, due to be called by Aug. 1. Three freshman prospects eligible to be drafted.

University of Texas—In addition to the three lettermen who have already entered the service, Coach D. X. Eble faces the prospects of losing three more—Pullback R. L. Har-kins, End Mike Sweeney and Tackle Derwood Peveto—any day now and with more than that number in line for induction before September.

Baylor—Not so much the quantity as the quality. Big Jack Russell, all-conference end, is most likely to go before the training season opens. That, say Bear backers, would mean something like half of that good old Baylor line.

Arkansas—Twenty-five members of the squad have registered but only two, Otto Young, sophomore end, and Albert Kopter, junior tackle, are likely to be called before the season opens. However, Arkansas already has lost pretty heavily what with Harold Hamberg, last fall's passing ace, accepting an appointment to the United States Naval Academy; four top freshman prospects either being called to the National Guard or volunteering, and with Pullback Ogden Bolin joining the air corps.

Rice—Bob Brumley, great full-

Ecuador Accepts Neutral Offer

QUITO, Ecuador, July 14 (AP)—Ecuador tonight announced acceptance of a tripartite neutral offer of good offices in this country's boundary dispute with Peru, which recently led to sporadic border clashes.

The Ecuadorian foreign office communicated this government's decision to the envoys of the United States, Argentina and Brazil, which had offered July 9 to cooperate in an effort to reach a peaceful solution of the century-old controversy. (In Lima, an official spokesman said the impression prevailed in high official circles that Peru would accept the plan provided it is offered as good offices and not as mediation.)

Large Knife Stabs Men ANAMOSA, Ia., July 14 (AP)—Robert Hartman was wiring a new home. A large knife which had been stuck in a board jarred loose, fell point first on Hartman's head. It pierced his skull and severed an artery. He apparently was recovering today.

back and backbone of the Owl team; Marvin Dewody and Wendell Garrett, ends, are believed to be close to the huddle call. Texas Christian—Fifteen members of the squad have registered but none has been drafted as yet. Tackle Woodrow Adams appears most likely to be called.

The forebears of former President Herbert Hoover were Swiss.

Special Train To Carry Oklahomans To Formal Review

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 14 (AP)—Plans for a special train to carry Oklahomans to the formal review of the 45th division next week-end at Camp Barksley, Texas, were announced today.

Tom Sterling, chairman of the Military Affairs committee of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, said a minimum of 200 passengers would be necessary to assure a special train.

Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger, commander of the third army, has been invited to review the 18,000 troops at Camp Barksley Saturday afternoon.

The 45th division is scheduled to leave about Aug. 1 for a month of maneuvers in Louisiana.

Ghezzi Wins PGA Crown Over Nelson

By LOUDON KELLY

DENVER, July 14 (AP)—It was only a 30-inch putt and it wobbled into the cup like any duffer's effort, but to 6-foot-3 inch Vic Ghezzi it was worth $500 and his first professional golfers association title.

The handsome Deal N. J. veteran won the championship and the $1,100 top prize after nine years' trying in a 38-hole epic with defending champion Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, against the mountain backdrop at Cherry Hills yesterday.

And the missed shot that cost the Texas-bred Nelson the last chance at this second straight crown and the difference between first money and the $800 he won was a putt of the same 2 1/2 foot length.

Picture the scene on the second extra hole of the up-and-down struggle, with a tense gallery massed around the green by the lake in the hot lake afternoon sun:

Both players, worn from physical and nervous strain, failed to reach the carpet of the 400-yard hole with their second. First Ghezzi chipped, then Nelson—both expertly close.

Unable to determine which was the farther from the cup, they huddled like football captains to flip a coin and Nelson won. He putted first and went by at the right. Then Ghezzi, with $500 and the long-sought title riding on his grass-stained blade, went in by the right side.

Ghezzi never before had won a championship of this importance.

Woman Who Walked 300 Miles Is Dead

DALLAS, July 14 (AP)—Mrs. Carrie Estelle Moore, 81, who walked 300 miles to Dallas with her two children after watching the Galveston flood of 1900 sweep her home into the sea, died here yesterday.

Mrs. Moore, a native of Galveston, saw the flood wash away the meager savings she had managed from dressmaking taken up after the death of her husband, a Civil War veteran.

She had recalled that before reaching Dallas a slice of bread was all the food she and her children had. After settling in her new home here, she provided for the family by taking in sewing.

Incidentally, Dizzy spent his last afternoon as active member of the Cubs eating peanuts on the first-base coaching line. . . .
