Gray County Quota Shy 1,400 Pounds

Trucks Will Pick Up Metal At Pampa Houses

Will Gray county raise its quota of 2,000 pounds in the aluminum drive now under way? Amarillo has already raised its quota—so have scores of other Texas cities.

Will Pampans respond to the plea of President Roosevelt to donate their full share of aluminum for defense aircraft? Sheriff Cal Rose and Rep. Ennis Favors, co-chairmen of the drive, believe that residents of Gray county will answer that question with a resounding "yes!"

Thursday and Friday will give Pampans an opportunity to really put Pampa in a class with those towns which have already raised their quotas.

Pampans who have not yet contributed aluminum by bringing it to Sheriff Rose's office are asked to set the aluminum on their front porch or beside their front door, in plain sight, early Thursday or Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Boy Scouts will gather at the city hall where they will board trucks, trailers and then go out and work the town street by street in a house to house canvass.

If there is no aluminum in sight, a Boy Scout will knock on your door and make a courteous inquiry as to whether you have forgotten it. All aluminum donated in this manner will then be brought back to the courthouse and stored in the sheriff's office.

Approximately 600 pounds have been donated in the aluminum drive to date, Sheriff Rose and Rep. Favors expect the biggest contributions Thursday and Friday when the Boy Scout and the trucks comb the town for the precious metal which will be used to build aircraft for the U. S. and Britain.

The drive to date has been satisfactory, and the response has pleased both Sheriff Rose and Rep. Favors. Actual collection was not supposed to start until after the entire nation will concentrate on gathering the metal for defense.

In Amarillo the city itself is going to take charge of the collection. Chairman Barrett said that he felt confident Amarillo's quota would be doubled. "This is the sort of response that one would expect from a region where 95 per cent of the population is native born and 100 per cent American in spirit," he said.

"I am confident that we can rely upon the patriotism of Pampa and Gray county citizens to raise the quota," Sheriff Rose said. "Remember the flood in Ohio and the east several years ago and remember how Pampans donated? This emergency is far more important, and I am sure that Pampans will come through Thursday and Friday. I am sure that Pampans will leave all the aluminum they can get along without replacing at the front of their houses Thursday and Friday for the Boy Scouts and the trucks to pick up."

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Headquarters of the Office for Civilian Defense, which opened its "tea kettles for airplanes" aluminum collection drive today, said early reports from various campaigns indicated "better than hoped-for success" in the nationwide campaign.

Some officials in Director F. H. LaGuardia's office said they now believed the drive might return 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 pounds of salvage aluminum, instead of the approximately 20,000,000 pounds earlier hoped for.

Telegrams have been coming in from "cities all over the country," reporting enthusiastic response, an OGD spokesman said.

Typical of the early reaction, it was stated, was that in Frederick, Md., where a survey of the expected donations started today. A chicken-wire enclosure into which the metal is to be dumped when actual collection starts Wednesday already had half full of worn out pots and pans, Washington officials were told.

Houston Sends Protest

HOUSTON, July 22 (AP)—Houston besieged Washington today with protests against a reported attempt to save the district office of the Federal Oil coordinator moved from Houston to Dallas.

The Houston Chamber of Commerce and oilmen telegraphed Secretary Ickes an urgent request that the office be left here.

Hitler Tries To Burn Out Moscow But Fails

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, July 22 (AP)—The German air force tried last night to burn out Moscow as it burned out parts of London, but it failed.

From sunset to dawn 11 incendiary bombs of Russian home guards tossed incendiary bombs off the roofs and put out fires.

The raid over, life surged back through the city in the early morning as though it were noon, when thousands take their mid-day stroll. The sirens whined just as the setting sun cast a glow in the sky. Then an ominous voice came over the loudspeakers warning everyone to go to their shelters.

I went to the ground floor apartment of my building which is headquarters of the house committee. An 18-year-old boy who had been watching the roof, soon came into the room with his bare head soaking wet, and his red shirt open at the throat, rubbing his fireproof gloves.

He said that an incendiary bomb had landed on the roof, but that he threw it into the courtyard. We were skeptical of his story at first but found evidence in the burned out metal tube about a foot long.

Another watcher replaced him on the roof. Small bombs were dropped all along the street, which is in a quiet residential quarter far from central and industrial quarters. But only one house was burned. The occupants dragged out their belongings into the courtyard.

As the raid continued through the night, watchers on the roof replaced one another in relays. The constantly changing group of nine to 21 persons kept filling in and out of the first floor apartment. The automatic telephone continued to function throughout the raid, and the workers kept in constant touch with other nearby headquarters.

At the start of the raid even the luminous dial on my wrist watch caused a flutter among the nervous watchers until it was blacked out under my sleeve. But by the end of the alarm a light was turned on in the windowless room, and everyone was excitedly telling of his experiences.

The drone of planes faded gradually as dawn spread in the sky. Daylight showed that what had seemed in darkness to have been a sizzling attack, had been, in fact, a comparatively harmless raid.

First Donations Made To USO Campaign

Members of the Gray County United Service Organizations council will meet at 6 o'clock tonight in the county court room, to make further plans on the U.S.O. campaign, scheduled to have a lightning-wire finish here on July 30.

County Judge Sherman White, chairman, today ordered 2,000 U.S.O. buttons and 1,500 more cards from the 17th district chairman, Jay Taylor of Amarillo. These supplies are due to be received in time for distribution at tonight's meeting.

Miss Lorraine Hodges and Mrs. Dee Day, assigned to take U.S.O. donations at the court house, have already secured a number of contributions, as has R. G. Allen, industrial chairman. Mr. Allen said he had one single donation of $28, as a part of the $137 he had secured.

Lubbock Donors Hurl Aluminum At Hitler Effigy

Americans were off to a light-hearted start today on a great national aluminum collection drive, tossing all kinds of shiny gadgets into collection pens in busy city streets and town squares.

A nine-year-old girl at Enid, Okla., turned in a set of doll-house utensils and a sand pile scoop, and Lubbock, Texas, officials ordered a likeness of Hitler set up on the courthouse lawn to furnish a target for contributors who were invited to toss their aluminum contributions as missiles.

The oddments included slot machines, a cast for a broken finger, and the favorite ice cream mold of Governor Lehman of New York, but skillets, kettles and other utensils from America's kitchens furnished the bulk of the aluminum scrap.

So encouraging, indeed, was the initial response yesterday that defense officials began raising their sights from an original estimate of 20,000,000 pounds in donations to 30,000,000 or possibly 40,000,000 pounds.

At Tacoma, Wash., a man turned up at the mayor's office with seven sacks of aluminum pots and pans which he explained he had purchased in a house to house canvass.

Chicago's new $57,000,000 subway system will be completed without ornamental aluminum trim originally planned for the station walls. Painted concrete will be substituted, the engineers announced.

Contributions sorted at Philadelphia included a silver-plated loving cup inscribed: "Given by the German-American Guild; quota touring, 1937."

The scrap metal will be used in making parts for airplanes, tanks, battleships and other defense materials.

200 Bombers Participated In Long Raid

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, July 22—The German Luftwaffe struck in force for the first time at the capital of Russia last night and today, showering high explosive and incendiary bombs over the city and its outskirts for five and a half hours.

The government said 200 bombers participated in the raid, and, although fires were started and civilians killed, the attack should be considered a failure for no military objective whatsoever was hit and 17 of the bombers, nearly ten per cent of the striking force, were shot down by Red air fleet night fighters and ground gunners.

A large bomb crater gaped in Mokovaya street in front of the American embassy, but this was the only sign of damage in the center of the city.

One incendiary bomb fell on the roof of the Associated Press combination office and apartment, but a youth on guard threw it into the courtyard where it burned out.

Many buildings were hit, but they all appeared to be private dwellings. The Kremlin and other public centers were untouched.

(Informed sources in Berlin said that the raid was one of the strongest ever made by the German air force, comparable only to those which have been made on London, and that 20 big fires and 12 heavy explosions were observed in the Kremlin district.

The Germans evidently were bent on wrecking Soviet communications, for German sources said the Red army's radio headquarters was in the section of the Moskva river bend which was left ablaze.

(There was lots of shooting, said the Germans, but the defense of the Russian capital was ineffective.)

From the front, the Soviet command reported stubborn fighting continuing into the second month of the conflict, with the lines still running through the Pakov, Polotsk, Nevel, Smolensk and Novgorod Volynski and business from the Kiev and Leningrad sectors and Kiev which the Russians have been defending for several days.

(Authoritative sources in London, however, said Russian forces retreating in Bessarabia and Odessa were being harassed by a southward German thrust from the Kiev area down the west bank of the Dniester. German reports said 10,000 Russians were captured in that area Sunday.)

The air raid on Moscow lasted from dusk until nearly dawn, but found Moscow blacked out and camouflaged.

(A Russian broadcast, heard in New York by CBS, said "the usual atmosphere reigned in Moscow today" after the raid, with trains, trams and busses carrying their usual number of workers, collective farmers arriving in the city to sell their meat and vegetables, and everything proceeding in an "ordered, calm state.")

Muscovites, drilled by six previous alarms which had brought no bombing, were said by the Russians to have been steeled for the attack and to have acted calmly.

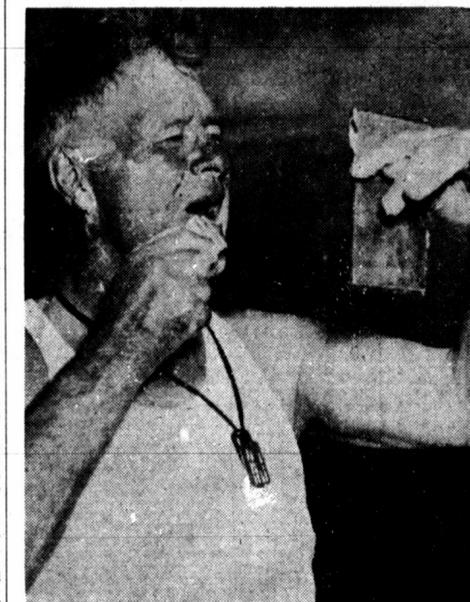

The defense crews were declared to have similarly acquitted themselves with credit.

Members of the Soviet government, staying in their capital, sat out the raid with the civilians.

The alarm came just at sunset (shortly after 10 p. m. in the northern latitude at this time of year), the sirens sounding a full 10 minutes. This alarm, much longer than

Soviet Frontier Torn To Shreds, Germans Report

(By The Associated Press)
German Luftwaffe pilots reported they left great fires raging in the heart of Moscow today, while in the field the Nazi high command asserted that the leadership of Russia's Red armies was crumbling under the impact of the month-old blitzkrieg invasion.

DNB, the official German news agency, said that Nazi warplanes also blasted retreating Soviet troop columns, railway lines and tank concentrations along the entire eastern front and that a number of trains on the Leningrad-Moscow line were derailed by bombings.

While the Germans declared Moscow was hard hit by thousands of incendiary and high-explosive bombs, showered down in a five and one-half hour raid during the night, dispatches from the Soviet capital itself said the assault was "comparatively harmless."

Great fires were reported raging in the heart of Moscow today after Nazi warplanes blasted the Soviet capital with thousands of high-explosive and incendiary bombs in a five and one-half hour assault.

Berlin described the raid as "one of the heaviest carried out by the German air force," comparable with the Luftwaffe's fiercest attacks on England.

On the fighting front, Adolf Hitler's high command asserted that Nazi break-through operations "have torn the Soviet frontier defense into disconnected groups."

"Despite stout local resistance and stubbornly conducted counter-attacks, uniform leadership of the enemy no longer is apparent," the German communiqué said.

"On the entire east front, operations aiming at the crushing and destruction of individual groups of the Soviet armed forces continue steadily."

In comparison with previous communications, the Nazi high command's mention of both "stout" resistance and "stubborn" Soviet counter-attacks indicated that Hitler's invasion armies were finding the going rough.

The high command declared that the attack on Moscow was "in retaliation for Bolshevik air raids on open capitals of the Allies—Bucharest (Rumanian) and Helsinki (Finland)."

It was Moscow's first raid of the war.

Nazi pilots said that 12 big explosions shook the Kremlin district, in the center of the city, and that fires spread over a huge area southeast of the Moskva river. East of the Kremlin, Soviet counter-attacks indicated that the region of the Moskva bend, site of Communist party headquarters and power plants, was aflame.

Russian officials said at least 200 Nazi bombers struck at the capital, but that night fighters of the Red air fleet and a thundering barrage of anti-aircraft fire downed 17 planes and prevented a few from getting over the city.

"Several private dwellings were set afire and a small number of persons were killed or wounded," a Soviet communiqué said. "The attempt should be considered a failure."

Meanwhile, new tension arose from a flurry of rumors that a Japanese military move was imminent.

The London radio said all reports indicated that "big developments" were ready to erupt and that "large-scale mobilization is proceeding."

Brides Can Set Course Life Takes

By RUTH MILLET

Dear June brides-of-a-month: No other six months of your married life will be as important as the first six. For it is then that you set the pattern of your marriage.

Remember that you can do a lot toward getting the pattern started the way you want it to go. For instance, the first time your husband mentions that he has to drive to a nearby city on a business trip, say, "That's fine. There's some shopping I want to do"—and set the pattern of going with him. That is, if you want to go with him on future trips—and you probably will.

The first time your husband misplaces an important paper, get busy in the kitchen and let him look for it alone. Otherwise you'll spend your life looking for the things he carelessly misplaces.

The first time you find yourself anxious to get a heavy piece of work done and your husband isn't around or is busy—watch out. If you don't do it yourself—and from then on it will be your job, and your husband will be willing to let you do it.

GET STARTED ON EIGHT PATTERN

The first time your husband says, "Honey, how about writing a letter to the folks and telling them everything is okay?" find a tactful way of saying, "Do it yourself"—or you'll wake up one day to the fact that you are writing all your husband's thank-you letters and keeping up with his relatives.

The first time your husband asks you to pack his bag, tell him you're afraid he'll never be able to find things if he doesn't pack them himself—or you'll pack for him every time he takes a trip, and to be blame when his razor or pet necktie is left out.

These are just little things, you are probably thinking. But they won't seem little in another year or two if you get started on the wrong pattern. So start out right in the beginning.

Any wife of five or 50 years standing will tell you it pays big dividends.

"PRACTICAL" IS THE WORD FOR ANGLER'S TOGS

NEW YORK, July 22—Late summer vacationists are heeding an urge to "get away from it all" and are heading straight for mountain lakes and cool, rippling trout streams. Even the most glamorous of the glamor girls among them are packing practical, down-to-earth, water-proof trousers and rubber boots, long-sleeved shirts to protect arms and necks from dive-bombing mosquitoes and, of course, plenty of the right sort of fishing tackle.

The two costumes shown in the center above, were photographed at Maligne Lake in Canada, and are perfect for fishing. The pants are of wool forestry cloth and are tucked securely into rubber waders. The shirts are of gabardine.

At Jasper Park Lodge, beside Canada's beautiful Lac Beauvert, the outfit at left will be handy. It includes navy wool jersey overalls and a printed challis blouse with full sleeves and is ideal for spectator sports or dinner at the lodge.

At right, attractive lightweight plaid wool slacks, a white flannel shirt and white tweed jacket make a costume that is perfect for morning, afternoon or dinner. And it has enough warmth for comfort on evenings when the breezes across the lake are slightly brisk.

Cost Of Living Up 1,000 Per Cent For Americans In Chinese Capital

By GEORGE A. FITCH
CHUNGKING, China, July 22—About 50 Americans passed the Glorious Fourth in China. The personnel is constantly changing. Few of us who have been here since Chungking became the war-time capital of the Chinese government are veterans.

We are all used to air raids now. Those who couldn't get used to them are gone long ago. If one cannot control the feelings in the pit of one's stomach during the raids or get over the noon-time "fidgets" or the five o'clock "jitters" (the hours when raids are most likely to occur), one might as well clear out—for high blood pressure, nervous indigestion, and other forms of nerves will wreck one's health. Those who are still here have been able to develop a certain degree of "intestinal fortitude."

PRICES OF FOOD HAVE SOARED

Servants are demanding higher and higher wages, and the cost of living in general has increased a thousand per cent in the last 12 months. Coolies in the cities get $10 a day plus food.

In Chungking, while we were waiting at the airfield the other day for a plane, three of us had cocoa and it cost us $2.00 (Chinese money) a cup.

West China a 50 pound bag of flour now costs $42.00; sweet potatoes 30 cents a catty (one and a third pounds); normal price was one cent a catty; butter $32 per pound; cigarettes $40 for a tin of 50, and coffee around $75 a pound.

Much more serious for the Chinese is the skyrocketing of the price of rice to about a hundred dollars a "ton" (or peck), which is more than double what it was last week, and perhaps fifty times what it was before the war. It has been an unusually dry season, so in some places there is an actual shortage. In other places the waning purchasing power of the Chinese dollar is the chief cause of suffering.

The American Embassy and the U. S. S. "Tuttle" are two places where such luxuries as coffee, cheese, saltines and "leberwurst" may still be found. Perhaps that's one reason we like to call at the former, or drop down to the gunboat for a chat with the captain. Another reason for the latter is the occasional movie on board. Several times we have been kept from accepting invitations there by inconvenient air-raid alarms.

The American "Tuttle" is the only American gunboat now on the Upper Yangtze. The British "Falcon" has been laid up ten miles below Chungking, so her crew of 60 could start by truck for Rangoon and more needed service elsewhere.

Newcomer Can Not Be "Too-Too" In Small Town

The single girl whose job takes her into a small community has to watch her step if she's not to get off on the wrong foot right at first.

It may, and probably will, annoy her to have to judge her own actions by what others will think of her instead of by the loftier, more personally satisfactory standard of "So long as I know what I do is all right it's no one else's business." But if she doesn't it is going to be hard for her to make a satisfactory place for herself in the community.

Here are a few things she ought to remember:

Not to do a lot of talking about men and dates. If she does, the women in the town will make little catty remarks behind her back that show her up as a husband-hunter and get every eligible man afraid to have a date with her.

Without being a mouse, to be careful not to make herself too conspicuous at first. Too-brief bathing suits, too-short, too-tight, two drinks in succession, too much attention to the men and too little to women are all likely to get her off to a bad start with her new acquaintances.

MAKE FRIENDS FIRST WITH WIFE

If she wants to become the friend of a couple, to see that she gets acquainted with the wife first, even though the husband would be easier, and possibly more stimulating to her ego.

Not to think that she can get away with anything startling like smoking at a church supper while she is still on trial, even though she does see that young women whose families are well-established in the town (and also have money) can get away with about anything they please.

Hitler Tries To Take Over 'V' Campaign

BERLIN, July 22 (AP)—Continental is becoming "V" conscious and the German press explained that "V" is for "Victoria"—victory—for Germany.

The "V" originally appeared on the continent in the low countries, Norway and Denmark where it was chalked on walls, fences and show windows, Germans asserted. Skywriters left smoky "Vs". Now the idea has spread over Germany and much of the occupied area.

An authorized German spokesman contended today that Germany had won "The Battle of V." Asked who started the battle, the British or the Germans, the spokesman declared:

"We are not interested in who started it but in the fact that we have won out."

In Paris a big "V" flew from the Eiffel Tower while handbills and posters bearing the letter appeared in the city with German slogans for "Victory On All Fronts."

Many German newspapers carried a big "V" in red and blue on the masthead. In Bohemia and Moravia the word for victory is "siega."

The British launched a major radio campaign aimed at occupied countries during the week-end to harry the German occupiers with a "V" for British Victory campaign.

The methods—including the introductory four notes of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, the tapping out of the Morse code signal for the letter V—followed the same pattern as the Germans report in their campaign.

Although the most commonly used German word for victory is "sieg," propagandists have been drumming the synonym into German ears.

Jones Offers To Buy Russian War Materials

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, said today he had offered to buy any strategic materials which Russia might want to sell to the United States to help pay for purchases of war supplies here.

Jones told a press conference that he made the offer to Constantine Ouhinsky, Russian ambassador, about a week ago, but did not know when a deal was likely.

The only difficulty, he explained, was the problem of getting the materials—particularly manganese and chromium—from western Russia to the Far East port of Vladivostok and then getting ships to carry the materials to the United States.

Jones said no amount was mentioned, but added that it was fair to assume that the United States would buy "all the strategic materials Russia wants to sell and is able to deliver."

The purchases, he added, would not necessarily be balanced by an equivalent amount of war materials purchases here.

The Russians, Jones said, "have a good supply of cash—gold. They haven't asked for a loan."

The state and commerce departments have undertaken a survey of raw materials which may be imported from Russia to aid national defense, stimulate trade and help the Soviet Union pay for war supplies ordered here.

Russian products which defense agencies would like to have imported in increasing quantities, it was learned today, include strategic metals and minerals, drugs, and other basic materials.

Imports of goods from Russia are not under the present shipping facilities, informed persons said, since they would be carried in 10 to 12 Soviet vessels expected to be put into trans-Pacific service primarily to carry American supplies to Russia.

Since Soviet Russia has been credited in authoritative quarters with having from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000 in cash available in this country, the plan to increase purchases from Russia was generally accepted here as further evidence that good relations obtain here will be primarily on a cash basis rather than on some lend-lease arrangement.

President Roosevelt has promised all possible assistance in filling Russian requests that are compatible with national defense requirements and commitments to Britain, China and the other American republics.

Ravenna, Ohio, Arsenal Town Tries To Duck Defense Boom, And Is Wary Of 'Hangover' When It Winds Up

RAVENNA, O., July 22—Before last October, this little town in northern Ohio was just a peaceful little place of 8,500 law-abiding souls, minding its own business and getting into practically nobody's hair.

Then one day some men in army uniforms came to town. They brought with them $18,000,000, and before anyone could say "trinitrotoluene," they had staked out a 24,000-acre tract of land about 10 miles north of Ravenna, to be used as a government arsenal.

And so, while the good burghers were still tacking up "Rooms for Rent" signs in their front windows, the town began to swarm with new residents.

Ravenna had suddenly become a defense boom town.

A cautious one, though. Despite the fact that about 2,500 of the 15,000 arsenal workers are bunking in Ravenna, the town has kept its head about this new-found prosperity.

The state and commerce departments have undertaken a survey of raw materials which may be imported from Russia to aid national defense, stimulate trade and help the Soviet Union pay for war supplies ordered here.

The U. S. arsenal reservation at Ravenna, O., suggests Times Square on New Year's Eve when the 15,000 workers quit work and mill around the shacks to drop their brass time checks before going home.

that is now well in hand. Capt. Willard C. Chandler, safety officer for the arsenal, holds traffic court sessions twice a week in his office.

Actual operations at the arsenal—loading bombs and shells—are in their early stages. By next winter, army officials predict, the entire $18,000,000 job will be finished and operations will be in full swing.

Jesse Jones Announces Loan Of 425 Million Dollars To Britain

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The federal loan agency announced today a $425,000,000 loan to Great Britain, against an estimated $500,000,000 worth of collateral, to help the British pay for war supplies ordered in the United States prior to enactment of the lend-lease program.

The loan was authorized by the Reconstruction Finance corporation with the approval of President Roosevelt and at the request of Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, the agency said in a statement.

The deal was arranged, the statement explained, "for the purpose of providing the British with dollar exchange without having to sell their securities and investments at forced sale."

Funds to the total of $425,000,000 will be paid out to the British at the rate of approximately $100,000,000 a month, under terms of the deal, and the loan, bearing interest at 3 per cent annually will mature in 15 years. It may then be extended for five years provided two-thirds of the principal has been repaid.

Interest and dividends from the collateral securities to be pledged to the RFC, however, plus earnings assigned to it from United States companies, was described in the statement as adequate to amortize the entire loan by the end of the maturity period.

The loan agency's statement said this new financial assistance to war-harried Britain was authorized under a law enacted last month which specified the RFC could make loans to a foreign government to enable that government to get maximum dollar exchange value for its property in this country.

Whether one loan will be adequate to meet all British needs was not stated. Morgenthau said Britain's obligations to U. S. manufacturers at the first of the year amounted to $1,000,000,000, but he could not estimate how much this had been reduced in the six months since then.

The loan agency statement said that, collateral for the loan fell into three categories: Securities of 61 United States corporations listed on the New York stock exchange. These were said to have a total present market price value of $265,000,000.

Halliburton Plans New Tanker Type

DUNCAN, Okla., July 22 (AP)—Erie P. Halliburton, president of the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing company, said today he would go to Memphis, Tenn., tomorrow to look over sites for a factory to construct a radical new type of oil tanker for transporting crude produced in the Southwest to refineries of the East.

Halliburton's statement came after Governor Leon C. Phillips said in Oklahoma City that Halliburton had submitted a suggestion to Oil Administrator James H. Easton, for construction of "trailer tankers" which could be hooked on to merchant ships or any other type of vessel plying between gulf and eastern ports.

These tankers, said Phillips, who flew to Washington with Halliburton last week, could transport enough oil to obviate the necessity for construction of a proposed pipeline from East Texas to refineries in New Jersey.

In a statement, Halliburton said: "I am leaving tomorrow for Memphis, Tenn., with a view to building tankers there and floating them down the Mississippi river."

"The tankers are a unique, novel design of barge that can be constructed very rapidly. They require about half the amount of steel in tankers of equal capacity."

Halliburton said tests of models of the barges are being conducted now at the Stephens Institute in New York City.

Corn Outlook Good; Prices Holding Well

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP)—Reports of a brilliant national corn outlook are flooding the Chicago market these days as the 1941 crop races days ahead of schedule into the vital ear forming period.

Despite the optimistic reports, prices of corn, highest since 1937, have shown little weakness. Widespread demand for feed grains to stimulate output of livestock products in the war-time emergency is having a direct effect on corn, principal feed grain.

At around 74 cents a bushel for best yellow grades in Chicago, corn is selling more than a dime above the rate at which the government offered loan on the 1940 crop. The price also is more than 10 cents higher than a year ago, more than 20 cents higher than two years ago.

This has resulted in withdrawal of 1940 corn already placed under loans since producers can more profitably feed it or market it. So far more than 8,000,000 bushels have been redeemed, leaving only about 63,000,000 bushels of the 1940 crop still under seal compared with 300,000,000 bushels of 1939 corn a year ago.

Producers are anticipating near record yields as a result of favorable weather, plentiful moisture and increased planting of high yielding hybrid seed. Although there still is plenty of time for damage due to insects or prolonged hot, dry weather, latest official figures indicate the yield per acre may be the best since 1929. Domestic acreage for harvest, however, is the smallest in decades.

The bumper new crop, estimated at 2,548,000,000 bushels as of July 1, may be the largest since 1932 and will be piled upon a carryover of more than 700,000,000 bushels.

All this corn, however, will be welcomed by agricultural authorities who are pressing for increased output of livestock and livestock products, with the lid off production of such vital foods as pork, lard, milk, butter, cheese and eggs. Large quantities of these foods have been purchased by the government recently for shipment to Great Britain as well as for domestic relief.

FCC Postpones New Regulation For Chain Broadcasting

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today postponed to September 16 the effective date of its new regulations for chain broadcasting.

The regulations had been scheduled to go into effect July 30. The postponement was requested by the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting system. They asked the delay, Chairman James Lawrence Fly of the FCC said, in order to permit more time for the discussions that have been going on recently between the commission and representatives of the networks.

Officials of the networks are hopeful that the additional time will permit a satisfactory solution of the various problems involved.

In addition to postponing all the new regulations to September 16, the commission said two of the regulations may be extended from time to time to permit the orderly disposition of properties.

One of the two regulations will require NBC to dispose of one of its networks, while the other limits networks to one license in any community.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The house completed congressional action today on legislation to authorize initiation of construction of petroleum pipelines.

A compromise accepted by the senate yesterday was agreed to by the representatives.

Bill To Construct Pipelines Passed

Under the legislation either public or private companies could secure rights-of-way by condemnation to construct the needed lines.

Sponsors of the legislation advocated it in the light of a threatened petroleum shortage on the east coast, caused by transfer of tankers to Great Britain.

Representatives of United States oil companies were asked by Interior Secretary Ickes today to meet here tomorrow to perfect plans to prevent "any undue hardships" for South American countries because of the transfer of United States oil tankers to British service.

"The American republics hold too much at stake in the current world situation for any one of them to act in a manner that disregards the interests of the other," said Ickes, defense petroleum coordinator.

Strong RAF Units Roar Across Channel

LONDON, July 22 (AP)—Strong RAF units roared across the channel this afternoon in continuation of widespread raids of last night and this morning on German-held territory.

Objectives in western Germany, Denmark, the Netherlands, Belgium and northern France were attacked overnight, the British said.

This afternoon's raid seemed concentrated on the coast between Calais and Boulogne, where anti-aircraft guns blazed into action from the French cliffs, dimly outlined through the haze.

The rumble of explosions rattled doors and windows on the English coast, where watchers could see the bursting of anti-aircraft shells.

From the earlier raids only one British bomber failed to return, the air ministry said.

Only a few Germans flew against England last night, the British said, and they concentrated on coastal areas, causing few casualties.

During the night the British centered their heavy attacks on industrial targets and communications at Frankfurt and Mannheim while smaller forces of the bomber command attacked docks at Cherbourg and Ostend, it was said.

Residential quarters in several western German places were hit by British bombs and a number of civilians were killed or wounded, a German announcement said.

General Declares 'Peril Greatest'

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Gen. John MacArthur, retired, told the Senate Military committee today it was his opinion that Adolf Hitler, in order to accomplish his aims, must "must conquer or encircle the United States."

Testifying in support of legislation to retain selectees, reserves and national guardsmen in army service beyond the present limit of one year, Palmer warned that the army would disintegrate at a critical time if this course was not followed.

"In my opinion," said Palmer, a former assistant chief of staff under Gen. John J. Pershing, "our peril is greater than it ever has been in our history."

The Rev. A. J. Muste, representing the Fellowship of Reconciliation, said that "if decent pay" were offered, sufficient army volunteers could be obtained without what he said would be the breach of an "implied promise" that selectees would not be retained for more than a year.

Oil Allowable For State Increased AUSTIN, July 22 (AP)—Beginning August 1 Texas oil wells may produce an average net daily 1,404,665 barrels of crude, an increase of 10,965 over the daily allowable reported July 19.

The August statewide oil production order announced by the railroad commission yesterday will permit production of 43,065 more barrels daily than recommended by the Bureau of Mines.

Engineers estimated actual production would be about 6,098 barrels daily below the bureau's standard because of an average monthly unemployment of 3.5 per cent of the allowable.

The August order required the Panhandle district to close wells of August 3, 10, 17, 24 and 31. The rest of the state, including East Texas, was ordered shut in on August 2, 3, 9, 16, 17, 23, 24, 29 and 31.

The ministry said local war games and competitions had already begun at principal army bases throughout the country.

Be Ready With Your USO Subscriptions

No doubt you have been reading about the USO drive coming up in Pampa and Gray county next week. It is not just something to read about and dismiss from your mind. It is something that appeals directly to you. You are expected to do something about it. You are expected to contribute to this drive to make life more pleasant for our soldiers at camp and wherever they may be in the service of Uncle Sam.

Certainly, with all the comforts of home, we can contribute at least a dollar to give the boys in service a few comforts and some recreation. It is the plan of the committee behind the USO drive, which opens in Pampa July 30, to make a quick sweep in collecting Gray county's $2,000 goal. The campaign will not be dragged out. It will be finished in two days.

To do this all workers will have to give unsparingly of their time when it is needed. Persons called on necessarily should give—if the drive is to be a success. We believe that everyone will be willing to give toward this fund which will provide recreation centers near all of the army camps in the nation. Your contribution will mean much during the coming months for our boys in the armed forces.

There still are a few things which we want to keep in our own hands despite the trend toward governmental domination. One of them is "time off" for soldiers and sailors. The USO combines all of the functions of our national welfare organizations. They have shown in the past their ability to do the job that must be done. When you are called upon next week, won't you help them with your subscription?

Termites In Education

A commission has been appointed by the National Education association to make an intensive study of text-books and take other steps toward purging from the teaching profession subversive influences which have been poisoning the well-springs of American education. Sixty prominent educators were appointed on this commission and $20,000 was voted to meet the expenses of this far-reaching undertaking. This action by an association representing 200,000 teachers whose work ranges from the grade school to the university, is definite recognition that there is a menace to the American institutions, in spite of the taunt of "red-baiting" which is one of the favorite devices of fellow travelers.

No one who has noted the number of teachers in public schools and universities of New York who have been suspended from their posts in recent weeks could doubt the reality of these radical tendencies. Many have been indicted for perjury in previously denying their membership in the communist party. The peril has grown until now the National Education association takes cognizance of the problem and appropriates a substantial sum of money to combat it.

From Teachers College, Columbia university, has come much of the subtle propaganda which would overthrow the American system of private property and free enterprise.

The National Education association pledges itself to purge the schools and colleges of all teachers who advocate change in the American form of government except by Constitutional amendment in the Constitution itself.

THE STEALTHY BETRAYAL OF THIS COUNTRY (Chicago Tribune)

Senator Bone of Washington and Senator Lucas of Illinois, both Democrats, have made a demand that British troops be withdrawn from Iceland in accordance with Mr. Roosevelt's treaty with the government of that little country. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill apparently haven't the same understanding in the matter. When Mr. Roosevelt told the senate what he had done—without its advice or consent—he said the American force would supplant the British in occupation there. Mr. Churchill told parliament that the British government intended to retain its army of occupation.

The senators, who were allowed no part in the negotiations with the Icelandic government, point to the fact that the situation provided for in Mr. Roosevelt's agreement is quite different from that stated by Mr. Churchill's policy. Iceland, garisoned by British troops, is not only in the war zone, but it is a military objective which the Nazis would attack if they were able, and will if they can. So far as they are concerned it is another Crete.

If the British troops remain there, the Americans actually go into battle position with them and would sustain any attack which might be made. There couldn't be of much pretense that this was merely an outpost of defense for the hemisphere when British and American forces were on one of the battle fronts of the European war. Of course, it is Mr. Roosevelt's purpose that the expeditionary force should be on the battle front. That's one place where the shooting may begin.

Very likely Mr. Roosevelt would pay no more attention to any demand the senate may make than Mr. Churchill will. Together they have

ONLY QUESTION WHEN CONSUMER WILL PAY

People have been told so often that they actually believe there is some way of taxing people so that the little consumer does not have to pay.

It is true that for a short time there can be a tax system that discriminates against the big producer and consumer. However, it is only a question of time until the little producer and the little consumer pays with a vengeance. He pays much more by delaying his payment than he would be obliged to pay if he consented to pay as he goes, his just proportionate share of government expense on every dollar's worth of wealth he appropriated to his own personal use.

He will be obliged to pay more by delay because taxing on the ability to pay fantasy, eats up the capital that enables him to produce more and, thus, receive more. He pays by lower wages, by unemployment and by higher costs.

The politicians who contend that it is unsympathetic, cold blooded, inhuman and selfish to tax a consumer in proportion to consumption because the poor cannot afford to pay, are only delaying the day and making the poor much poorer than they would be if they were told the truth, that eventually they will have to pay their full share. Even the man in the poor house will eventually suffer and have his standard of living lowered when the people outside get poorer and poorer. When there is no wealth, there is no sympathy and no charity. Then Mother Necessity is in full operation.

SERVING TWO MASTERS

We have come to the conclusion, it seems, that people can be successful in serving two masters; that is, we can, by majority rule, make laws that conflict with the natural, or God-made, laws of equal freedom without suffering the consequences of attempting to serve the master of the majority and God as the master of all things.

This desire to serve our own wills, or the will of the majority, in place of natural law, has probably caused more trouble than the direct personal desire to worship the golden calf.

Permitting the desire to be important, and in the limelight and to appear to be wise, is even a worse and more dangerous master for a person and is more harmful to society than the desire for personal, material gain.

This lack of meekness on our part, has led us to believe that meekness is not necessary; that man collectively can do as he pleases and not suffer.

The suffering we are going through is evidence we have violated the eternal truth that it is impossible to serve two masters and that people are not meek can be pleased.

We are paying a very dear price to learn these old axioms that have been told thousands and thousands of times.

God gave us reason to learn these things in different ways than beasts learn them by suffering. We do not seem to be using our reason.

REMEMBERING THE SABBATH

People have largely forgotten the admonition of remembering the Sabbath day to keep it holy. They have used it, not as it was intended to be used. They are using it as a day of recreation.

It should be used as a day of serious study and serious thought, as to whether or not the individual is living in harmony with natural law and with his fellowman. It should be a day of reading and questioning and analyzing.

There is so much to learn and to understand and so little time in which to learn and understand it, that one whole day is mighty little, to say the least, to attempt to understand these important truths.

As a matter of fact, all those who have time every day of the week should be studying these natural laws.

Remember the Sabbath day, means more of a day of rest. It should mean a day of serious thought and desires to adjust oneself in harmony with natural law.

created a situation highly satisfactory to them and in part their gains would be lost if the British were withdrawn and the contact of the expeditions broken. So long as the British and American forces are operating together, they're in the war together, and that is what is desired both in Washington and in London. It has been brought about by Mr. Roosevelt over a trail of broken promises. His promises are bothering him very little and his apologists say that the trend of events since last fall has made his pledges obsolete.

This country is in the damndest train of governmental double dealing and deceit it ever experienced. It is a national misfortune that whenever Mr. Roosevelt publicly announces he will not do a thing he is at that moment preparing to do it. The European artists in perfidy swear falsely to deceive other peoples they intend to attack. The American government swears falsely to delude its own people, whom it proposes to lead, contrary to their will, contrary to their expressed determination, into a war into which they have promised time and again, and which the utmost solemnity, that they would not be led.

They are completely deceived. They are kept in the dark as to events. They learn by attacks in the official censorship that a destroyer has attacked a German submarine. They discover that Americans, with American materials, are building a base of some sort in Northern Ireland. They don't know whether these men are working for the British government or the American. All they find out is that the people of Northern Ireland are rejoicing in the presence of Americans whom they regard as allies.

Americans must feel that forces over which they have lost control are driving them remorselessly and steadily into war and that the checks supposed to be contained in their system of government are paralyzed. Their own common sense and their good judgment warn them against all this. They dread the consequences of a European war, both for the present and for the future, and every day they realize that Mr. Roosevelt is closer to the shooting.

MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, July 22—So I went on a rubber-neck tour of Hollywood with Irene Dunne. Here's how and why:

For years the big buses and plushy limousines of the tour services have been grinding up the winding grade past her French-Norman house in Holmby Hills. The passengers would peer attentively as the barkers chanted their varying monologs. Miss Dunne heard her name mentioned hundreds of times, but never once did she catch the remarks.

Having heard vague reports of the ludicrous inaccuracies and somewhat less amusing witticisms tossed off by some of the glib gents who point out the homes of the stars, Miss Dunne said she'd like to take such a tour herself. After all, people seldom recognized her in public, and she could wear something plain.

WHAT, NO BODYGUARDS? Well, she tried it. I went along. So, I am constrained to add, did three press agents, a secretary, a lady owner of the tour company and a photographer from one of the picture magazines. Even with that entourage, we almost got by unnoticed.

Main trouble was that the barker, who also was the driver, recognized her right away. Miss Dunne hadn't time to go into Los Angeles for the beginning of the trip, so we caught it in Hollywood.

We sat together and none of the out-of-town customers seemed to notice us particularly. For awhile we tried playing honeymooners, and at least I can boast of having been called "darling" by Irene Dunne.

I also got a first-class glare of simulated suspicion when I offered her a cigaret. "Darling," she said icily, "I should think that by this time you would have discovered that I don't smoke."

As the bus rolled along, we became aware that our conductor, a Mr. Glen Smith, was in a horrible dither of consternation, confusion and embarrassment. Before picking us up, I learned, he had been full of jolly patter and scandalous anecdotes. Now, with a movie star in his audience, he made a lot of hasty deletions from his script, together with some pretty lame ad libbing.

MR. SMITH GETS HOT When we got into Holmby Hills, our barker ignored the homes of Claudette Colbert, Fanny Brice and Buddy DeSilva while he thought up a glowing but faltering tribute to the owner of the next house—"that famous comedienne and famous singer who has just finished a picture with the famous Robert Montgomery called 'Unfinished Business'... the famous Irene Dunne."

When we stopped in Santa Monica for a look at the beach, Miss Dunne suggested that he identify her to the rest of passengers. And so, when we got under way again, he did. With a few words he was able to explain his obvious stage-fright and, for his customers, to transform a rather dull experience into an adventure.

Cards, maps, envelopes were passed for Miss Dunne's autograph. She signed for people from Atlanta, Miami, Chicago, Cleveland, West Hartford, Conn., Kearny, N. J., Mt. Vernon, N. Y., San Francisco, and for William Wallace White, Paraguay's consul-general to the United States. White will get an autographed picture. So will a woman from Coral Gables, Fla. Mr. Smith, his confident, loquacious self again, is beaming.

Boyd Kennedy, an airplane pilot who is well known here, came back to town yesterday, and he announced his arrival in characteristic manner as he flew over town. Boyd is in charge of an air school at Waxahachie.

The latest "remedy" for hay fever has arrived. It says to take equal parts of peroxide and water and sniff the mixture up your nose, gradually cutting down the water until it is all peroxide. The person who recommended it says that it will just about take your head off the first time you sniff it up your nose, but that it will get the job done in a week. The only remedy this one has found for hay fever to date is Lake McClellan. Each Sunday I get in a boat and sit in the middle of the lake and enjoy life without sneezing and hankerchiefs. But as soon as I get on shore I begin sneezing again. However, I think I'll try this peroxide business. If I do I'll let you hay fever victims know how it comes out. Another "remedy" won't hurt... I've already tried 317 in the last few years.

CUPID ON OVERTIME

Many famous names, those of socialites, screen stars and senators have slipped into the marriage columns in recent weeks, and a couple of pending divorces are also reported. On the whole, however, Cupid has been working overtime this summer, as you'll see by these questions.

1. Two famous socialites, Brenda Frauder and Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, were both recently married. To whom was each wed and what was unusual about their weddings?

2. A late band leader's widow married an actor-Adonis of the Broadway stage. Who are they?

3. Brenda Marshall, dark and glamorous screen star, became engaged to Nancy Kelly, ditto, sued for divorce after four months of marriage. Who were the men involved?

4. The youngest man elected to the U. S. senate is now married. Who is his bride?

5. What is the occupation of Judy Canova's new husband, and what happened to him two days after the wedding in Hawaii?

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The widespread police radio network here also has its drawbacks. In addition to equipping patrol cars, authorities have also given apparatus to some detectives who operate on foot. As a result, the plainclothesmen are unusually alert to the crime situation, but the bulk of their two-way radio—two boxes carried in their coat pockets, an amplifier strapped to their chests and a tiny microphone hidden under their coat lapels—renders them virtually useless in chasing a quarry.

THE LOOKING GLASS

SEVEN O'CLOCK

By Stella Holt

Betty's whole day was based on the proposition that old people have regular habits. The struggle of getting an apartment had been practically insurmountable but she had managed it. Among the many missing necessities was a time piece. However Betty discovered her alarm clock in the person of an elderly gentleman who lived just opposite.

This old fellow and his wife arose without varying a minute at seven o'clock every morning. They retired as regularly as ten. Their hours of retiring did not interest Betty but their getting up was of vital concern. When she heard Grandpa shut his window she knew it was seven. So she got to her job on time.

Grandpa always went through a ritual. He would pull the blind up, glance up and down the street both ways, breathe a little fresh air and shut the window.

The system worked well. What a consolation to wake winter mornings and find it wasn't yet seven because Grandpa hadn't closed his window.

One morning very near to Christmas Betty woke suddenly. She was relieved to find she didn't have to get up yet. Grandpa's window was still open and his room had no light. Betty stretched luxuriously like a kitten. Now and then she would open eye to see if it was seven. Then the telephone started ringing. Her office wanted to know if she had died.

"But I'm not up yet. It's early." "It's ten o'clock. Just when did you plan to get up?" Betty never felt kindly to Grandpa after that. She felt he had deceived her. She never dreamed that Grandpa and Grandma might be going to Christmas parties like other people and have to sleep late the next day. She had to wear a stocking with a run in it the whole week before Christmas so she could buy a small alarm clock to get up by.

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, July 22—If, slap-dab in the middle of this defense boom, someone were to rise up and prophesy that 5000 manufacturing plants would be shut down in the next six months, you would probably think him cockeyed.

Yet that very prediction is now on record and it comes from no less an industrialist than Albert J. Browning of Chicago, head of the United Wallpaper Companies and a member of the advisory committee in the Office of Production Management in Washington. The prediction goes farther than that. Many of these small companies, Browning believes, face economic ruin.

That is pretty drastic prophecy, but the beginning of its fulfillment can already be seen. Only three weeks ago, Peter R. Nehemkis, Jr., one of the bright young economists in the Defense Contract Service, said "no fewer than 10 entire industries whose supplies of materials have been either drastically curtailed or completely shut off would either have to close down or enter a new line of production."

He was ridiculed, but so fast has this situation developed that in three weeks another OPM adviser foresees 5000 plants shut down and still others are saying that in another three weeks the country will be well launched on a first-class defense depression.

This is a paradoxical situation if there ever was one, but it boils down to the simple situation in which defense industries, having first call of materials, simply do not leave enough for manufacturers supplying civilian demand.

AUTO INDUSTRIES TO FEEL PINCH It is now possible to name names and be specific about the industries that may be hit.

The aluminum pots and pans industry was the first to feel the pinch, with 3400 out of 16,000 workers in five of the 26 concerns in the industry laid off or resigned because the plants could not get material. For every pound of aluminum available for civilian uses today, there are at least 15 manufacturers, each of whom could use that pound.

Biggest pinch may be felt by the automobile industry. Production of 1942 models would normally begin Aug. 1, but if before that time the decision were reached to cut automobile production 50 per cent, instead of the now contemplated 20 per cent, it might mean that as many as 250,000 production workers would temporarily be thrown out of jobs, 150,000 of them in the Detroit area alone. Needless to say, every effort will be made to keep the going, at least until jobs are open in new defense plants, such as the Ford bomber sub-assembly plant at Ypsilanti, and others.

CANT STRETCH THIS RUBBER In the rubber goods field, the "big six" can, say the OPM advisers, take care of all the defense needs, but as for the 400 little manufacturers, OPMers are giving no assurance. Unless the big boys can farm out sub-contracts to the little fellows, they may find the going extremely tough.

All electric appliances—vacuum cleaners, stoves, air-conditioning units, refrigerators and washing machines, as well as radio sets—may be tremendously curtailed. Electric heating appliances will suffer particularly, owing to the shortage of the nickel-chromium alloy which goes into the heating element.

Everything from linoleum to bottle stoppers may be curtailed because of the shortage of cork, which the civilian demand is in the ratio of 10 to the supply of one. Brass and bronze hardware manufacture seems doomed. Outboard motors—all kinds of sporting goods, in fact—may be strictly limited.

The silver plate industry, with eight major manufacturers, may have to shut down completely, not particularly because of any shortage of silver, but because of shortages of nickel, copper and zinc.

Even new jewelry manufacturers must suffer at their principal base metal is copper, and within six months, 80 per cent of the copper production will be going to defense.

Thomas Says Report Farmers On Verge Of Revolt Is 'Fantastic'
Charlie Thomas of Pampa, state AAA committeeman, today denied that Texas farmers are on the verge of revolt against wheat marketing quotas. He branded such statements as "fantastic" and said he "failed to get very excited about being 'regimented' into accepting more than 90 cents a bushel for my wheat'."

Leonard Candidate For House Speaker
McALLEN, July 22 (P)—Speaker Homer L. Leonard of the Texas house of representatives, home for a rest, said here that "I am a candidate for the office of speaker of the house of representatives at the next session."

Leonard made this statement in answer to questions of newspapermen concerning Austin reports that he would be offered the position of secretary of state when Lieut. Gov. Charles Stevenson of Junction becomes governor after the accession of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to the office of U. S. senator.

Various reports have been printed in Austin as well as south Texas newspapers that Leonard might seek any of several offices, including those of lieutenant-governor, a place on the Texas Railroad commission, attorney-general and, most recently, secretary of state.

At the present time, Leonard's only publicized opponent for the speakership at the next regular session is Rep. Price Daniel of Liberty.

O'Daniel Proclaims Two Peach Weeks
AUSTIN, July 22 (P)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel is in favor of Texas as consuming as many peaches as possible these days.

To prove it, he yesterday issued proclamations designating two, instead of the usual one, weeks as periods especially dedicated to the consumption of the fruit.

July 24 to 30 was proclaimed "Peach Week Number One" while August 7 to 14 was designated "Peach Week Number Two."

O'Daniel urged consumption of the fruit, fresh or by preservation methods, because the Texas crop was the largest in 30 years—1,000,000 bushels above average.

For every five seconds elapsing between a lightning flash and the resulting thunder, the strike is one mile away.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN CONVOY

BY A. W. O'BRIEN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY For a long time, the men stand at their lifeboats and wait for the order to return to quarters in the morning. Captain Toes, and always Joan Davison, seem to enter the picture. He determines to see how things are going on the ship. On the way he sees a figure behind the passageway curtain and tries for it. A dark figure jerks to his feet. He has been wrestling with Miley.

GREG'S PLAN
CHAPTER VIII
WHAT'S the idea, Harry, playing hide-and-seek?" puffed Rollins.

Lieutenant Harry Miley rose slowly, ruefully shaking an arm. "Well, there's no doubt about what you're playing—and you play rough!"

A sudden silence fell upon them.

"Why were you hiding behind the curtain?" snapped Rollins.

Miley hesitated a second. "I might ask why you are prowling around this side of the ship at this hour?"

"That's easy. I was coming over to have a chat with you."

Miley laughed outright. "Okay, Gregory, that settles it. I'll confess that I was attempting to play sleuth and hide myself here in the hope of spotting anything unusual."

Rollins asked another question. "But why choose this deck in particular?" His voice slowed to a deliberate tempo. "You weren't watching for me by any chance, were you?"

Miley didn't answer. Instead, he beckoned towards the crosspassage. "Let's go along to your cabin and have that chat you wanted."

In the cabin, Rollins faced Miley squarely. "How about answering the question?"

"I will it"—Miley put emphasis on the words—"if you tell me about last night. Just exactly what were you doing just before the lifeboat alarm sounded?"

Rollins left ice water running down his spine, but he gambled: "I had been unable to sleep and was lying in my bunk reading. Suddenly I heard a rifle shot from somewhere above, followed by a second. I threw on some clothes and was about to dash out when the lifeboat alarm sounded. I Miley needed slowly. "You get a clean ticket on that—from me at least."

MILEY lit a cigarette.

"But that still doesn't explain one thing," Rollins said. "What?"

"Just why you were apparently

From the captain's bridge, officers constantly watched the sea for signs of trouble.

resigned to stand for hours, perhaps all night, behind the curtain. If I had been pulling something funny it's hardly likely that I would be slipping around corridors when I knew the whole ship was on the watch for something."

Miley shrugged. "I was playing a hunch, that's all. You'll notice a stairway from 'A' deck comes out a slight distance from where I was hiding."

Miley leaned forward. "I was wondering, Rollins, if that nurse would be sneaking downstairs to see you. After all..."

Rollins slashed a right cross that caught Miley squarely on the side of the face. He had gone two ways off the chair and landed on all fours.

The ship gave a bad lurch to starboard, and Rollins went slightly off balance. Miley slipped into a crouch and rushed him. A hard left upper cut caught Rollins squarely on the chin. Miley sank a right in the midriff, and Rollins clinched.

"Break clean, Big Shot!" Miley growled into the other's ear.

Rollins pushed him away, his face white with pain.

A savage right to the heart dropped Rollins to one knee. Miley stepped back.

"Let's call it quits, Greg," he panted. "I didn't know you were so sweet on the girl, or I would have phrased myself a little more delicately. You took a wrong implication—I was wondering if she was taking you into her confidence or not, and thought I might overhear something..."

ROLLINS rose slowly and sat on the end of his bed. "C'mon, Miley, there's no use to parry legal thrusts now—out with it!"

"Well, she has been reported three times for being on deck after 'Lights Out.'"

"Nothing serious about that—I suppose she just wanted some air."

Miley shrugged. "Yes, that's possible. But she has also been seen on several occasions with binoculars studying the Morse messages sent by light flashes from the battle cruiser commanding the convoy."

He paused but Rollins said nothing.

"And, finally, another nurse told me this Davara girl has been acting queerly. A stranger to all of them, she has kept to herself for the most part, but what bits of conversation they get out of her at the table would indicate that she knows very little about nursing. You seem to be her sole friend on board and..."

Rollins looked down at his bleeding knuckle. "And what?" he asked in dull tones.

"And I had hoped that you might be able to help me out. I have kept my suspicions from the O. C. because they are admittedly shallow, but there is a question of duty. What I wanted to know from you, Rollins, is whether she has ever given you any hints as to her background... Why she has kept to herself... What she may have seen during those jaunts on deck... Where she came from..."

Rollins shook his head. "I can't help you there. She never discussed herself."

Miley seemed actually relieved. He smiled and stuck out his hand.

ROLLINS stood motionless, staring at the door. There was a hard glint in his eye. He had gone in search of Miley to find out one detail, and their strenuous session together had given him the answer.

Rollins was apparently the only person on board ship who had seen the miniature light flashes from "A" deck last night. His suspicion about a light being involved in the Tees murder was apparently unshared by Miley or anybody. The sentry who had reported the light on that first night had been left with the opinion somebody had been sneaking a smoke.

There was only one thing to do. The next night would find him hidden in a lifeboat close to that busy spot on "A" deck. Either he'd get the murderer or the murderer would get him. This time the game would be for keeps!

CVPCA Director Attends Conference

Special To The NEWS
CANADIAN, July 22—J. C. Bradstreet of Canadian, director of the Canadian Valley Production Credit Association, has returned from a trip to Chicago where on Thursday and Friday he attended a conference of credit association directors.

Other directors of the local association attending the conference were J. A. Bryant, Wheeler; M. H. Smith, Gen.; David C. Wright, Glazier; and George Trenfield, Pollett.

"Under the nation's defense program, production credit associations have an increased responsibility to agriculture," J. C. Bradstreet said. "It is their responsibility at this time to continue to make available convenient, rapid, low-cost credit service in meeting the sound needs of their farmer and stockmen members for funds to finance crop and livestock operations."

"At the same time, they must keep in mind the necessity of preserving the soundness of the system if it is to continue to serve in hard times as well as good, and their membership must necessarily be restricted to operators who have a sound basis for credit without abnormally high prices."

Senate Approves Property Seizure

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Obviously delighted at the senate's approval of a far-reaching property seizure bill after only one day's debate, administration lieutenants strove today to speed up action on legislation urged by President Roosevelt to extend the military service period of selectees, national guardsmen and army reserves.

After a tumultuous session, the property seizure measure was approved on a voice vote late yesterday just as it came from the senate military committee.

Still to be considered by the house where the military affairs committee arranged to take it up today, the bill would permit the President to take over in the interest of national defense both military and naval articles and the machinery, tools and materials for their manufacture.

But no property could be seized until the chief executive had exhausted other means of obtaining it, and owners would have to be paid fair compensation.

Free-for-all debate on the property bill began immediately after the house adjourned last night. President Roosevelt's message urging congress to "acknowledge this national emergency" and continue in service the army personnel now scheduled to serve only one year.

A formal declaration of emergency by congress would automatically empower the President to order selectees, guardsmen and reservists to remain in service indefinitely. Senate leaders indicated, however, that instead of a general emergency resolution they would favor a simple resolution stating that the national interest was imperiled and specifically permitting extension of the service period.

In the house side, soon after the President's message was received, Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the military committee introduced one resolution providing for retaining the men in service and another to remove the present selective service act provision—opposed by Mr. Roosevelt—limiting to 900,000 the number of selectees who may be inducted in any one year.

Several other methods to accomplish the purpose of gaining extended service were being discussed in various congressional quarters. These included:

1. Direct amendment of the selective service act to permit retention of the one-year personnel.
2. Legislation designed to avoid compulsory extension but offering selectees, guardsmen and reservists volunteering for extra service a $30 bonus for each month beyond one year.
3. Legislation by which selectees now in service could volunteer for a longer period while those inducted in the future would have to remain in service for the duration of the emergency.

Some senators have talked also of a resolution declaring a national emergency and at the same time permitting draftees to waive a restriction which now prohibits their use outside the western hemisphere, although President Roosevelt has not requested relaxation of this restriction.

Speed Limit 20 Miles An Hour In City Limits

Even though a sign in Talley addition gives the speed limit as 30 miles an hour, the speed limit on entering the city limits of Pampa is still 20.

That's the idea W. C. deCordova, acting city recorder, was explaining yesterday to a motorist picked up for continuing the 30 mile an hour after he had entered the city limits from Talley, which is not within the city of Pampa.

There's another sign near the city limits setting up the 20 miles an hour notice, but motorists after reading one sign are not likely to pay much heed to a second, the acting city recorder said.

Nevertheless, the limit is 20 miles per hour, and that rule is going to be enforced, as one of the two objectives of the Pampa Police department this week.

A second target for city officers will be defective brakes and lights, which are especially prevalent among ancient "jalopies."

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—The stock market today acted as though it couldn't stand prosperity.

At any rate, trading on yesterday's sharp bulge was in evidence throughout the session and became more pronounced in the final hour. The result was that only advances running to a point or so followed by a decline in many instances at the close.

The list set off to the fastest start of the year to date. Blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares, principally rails, changed hands in rapid succession and, for a brief period after the opening, the ticker tape was late to rise the first time since Dec. 14, 1929.

The turnover in the index 40 minutes of 476,000 shares was the largest for that hour since Nov. 5, 1930.

Dealings began to dwindle as prices were a sizeable bath of new highs for the year or longer aided bullish forces. Among these—some eventually lacked water—were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Atlantic Coast Line, Anaconda, Kennecott, Standard Oil (N.Y.), Texas Corp., Western Union, J. I. Case, International Harvester and Goodrich.

Japan Stews Over French Indo-China

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, July 22—The Japanese press, which often reflects official opinion, charged today that Chinese and free French forces were prepared to invade Indo-China and carried an unusually heavy mass of other dispatches concerning that territory which is listed in Tokyo's "Greater East Asia" program.

Not in weeks has there been so much copy in the newspapers concerning French Indo-China, in which Japan won three air bases last fall and her neighbors at the southeast tip of the continent. Datelines were Hongkong, Hanoi and Saigon.

children as possible are urged to go to Canyon.

Cities and towns over the entire 18th congressional district are participating in the drive and will send bricks and scrap lumber to Canyon Sunday. Trucks should be labeled with the names of the towns.

The White Deer Land Co., and the Schneider Hotel today launched the local windup drive with the donation of 1,000 bricks each. Bricks can be purchased for $15 per thousand.

Walter Rogers, Rotary club president, said today he will urge all Rotarians to be at Canyon Sunday. His appeal will be made here tomorrow at the district assembly of Panhandle Rotary clubs.

Other civic clubs are expected to assist in the local campaign, Mr. Buckler said.

All persons in Pampa who can possibly go to Canyon for the Sunday afternoon band concert and program are urged to do so.

"It's going to be a huge victory celebration," Mr. Buckler said.

Pampa contributed nearly 10,000 bricks when the first brickleg campaign was conducted several months ago.

Nearly 500 individuals already have contributed to the building. There is in the treasury $8,000 in cash, 175,000 bricks on hand, the state legislature has granted $10,000. WFA is furnishing $56,000. Needed to finish the job are 100,000 more bricks and $25,000 in cash.

All local donations of cash can be made out to the Panhandle Historical Society and turned over to Chairman Buckler in Pampa.

Among dignitaries who will attend Sunday's program at Canyon are Judge Marvin Jones, Sen. Grady Hazlewood, Rep. Ennis Favors, district attorney, and W. D. Darnell, chairman of the board of review. Other members are E. V. Ward, J. D. Sackett, and H. M. Cone. All of the board members were present at last night's meeting when the scouts appeared before them to be judged for their fitness to receive the badges mentioned.

Birnie Brown, troop 17, was approved for Star Scout rank; James Wanner, troop 14, Life Scout; Raymond Perkins, assistant scoutmaster, troop 14, Eagle Scout.

Merit badges: Birnie Brown, life saving, woodcarving; James Wanner, first aid, scholarship, athletics; Euster Walker, troop 17, animal industry; James Boston, troop 14, life saving; Warren Fatheree, troop 14, life saving.

Neely Joe Ellis, troop 14, leathercraft; Carl Tillstrom, troop 14, metalwork; Raymond Perkins, camping; Dale Thut, troop 14, scholarship.

ing throughout Japan. Reservists are called to the colors. Lorries and horses are requisitioned.

A British spokesman said frankly that continued reports of probable Japanese demands on French Indo-China were "disturbing, particularly after cabinet changes in Tokyo."

"It is worth noting," he added, "that Yosuke Matsuoka, who assured the British ambassador last month that reports of Japanese territorial demands on Indo-China were false, no longer is a member of the government."

Matsuoka, who personally negotiated a Japanese-Russian neutrality pact, was dropped from his post of foreign minister in a cabinet shake-up last week.

On the Russo-German war front, Moscow reports said that Russia's Red armies were still holding doggedly in the main theaters of the 31-day-old struggle.

In all these sectors, the Russians have been fighting bitterly and apparently without losing noticeable ground for four days.

The Soviet communique also reported that a Russian tank unit had crashed through the Nazi forward wall in an undisclosed sector and attacked German communications and supply lines.

London military quarters said that the Russians were "successfully holding up the Germans" in the Pskov sector, where the Nazis are driving toward Leningrad, but that the Germans appeared to be making progress on both sides of Smolensk, key city 230 miles west of Moscow, on the central front.

Dispatches from Berlin said the Germans destroyed 391 Soviet tanks Sunday, most of them in a Dnieper river sector where 10,000 Russian prisoners were reported taken.

previous alerts, gave Muescovitz the warning that a real raid was coming.

Then 10 minutes later, loud speakers warned the people to go to their air raid shelters. They fled quietly to subway stations and cellars.

After the attack, the streets were crowded by throngs as great as those normally seen at midday.

Shanghai reports also asserted the Japanese had greatly restricted travel in north China and Manchoukuo.

Domestically, Japanese news agency charged that Chinese troops, Free French forces and British troops in Malaya were preparing to invade Indo-China.

Neutral military sources in Shanghai, however, hinted these reports might be a smokescreen covering possible Japanese designs.

Baby Accidentally Hangs Self in Fall

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 22 (AP)—Four-month-old Glenn Ronnie Cheek rolled from his bed yesterday, caught his head between the mattress and window sill and died of a broken neck. The father, J. R. Cheek, said a physician "told me the child had hanged himself accidentally."

Dies Of Broken Neck

HAUGHTON, La.—Bobby Wynn, 22 months old, toddled after his brothers across the railroad tracks to help get water from a well. His mother heard a train whistle, ran from the house, saw called to him to get off the tracks. The child stopped on the end of a tie. The train threw him 15 feet and the boy died of a broken neck.

"God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it..."

Liberty is something that we give too little thought to. We're apt to take Liberty for granted. We often forget that the privilege of reading and writing and saying and thinking and doing as we please is a God-given right—one that is ineffably valuable—one that we should love and be always ready to guard and defend.
