18 Months Set As Average Time For Selectees Service

FDR ORDERS PROBE OF DEFENSE TANGLE

Men Over 28 On July 1 To Be Released

Three Priorities Announced By War Department

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The war department said today it anticipated that national guardsmen and selectees would be released from duty "after an average of about 18 months' total active service," unless the international situation prevented.

This would be the expected average, it said, for those who were not released earlier because they fell into categories permitting it.

New legislation permits holding the men as long as 30 months but the department said it hoped it would not be necessary to keep any individual now in training for the maximum term.

The department announced three priorities which could govern the release of guardsmen and selectees. Given first priority were dependency and hardship cases. In second place were placed men 28 years of age or over on July 1, 1941. They would be released regardless of their length of service but in the order in which their service began. Married men who desire discharge at the end of the originally set 12-month service were accorded their priority.

President Roosevelt is empowered to extend the service of the army rank and file by 18 months under new legislation and most of those in uniform can expect to serve well past the original 12 months. The legislation also authorized release from service of some of the men.

Selected men of the regular army whose three-year term of service expires prior to December 31 this year will be discharged unless they desire to reenlist and are qualified to do so.

Some time ago, instructions were issued that soldiers in the regular army would not be allowed to reenlist unless they were non-commissioned officers or had demonstrated an ability which would warrant their appointment as non-commissioned officers or unless they had special training. The same standard is to be applied to men who are 28 years old or older, the announcement said, whether they are selectees or national guardsmen. The army said this procedure would result in "a steady increase in the quality of the soldier as active duty."

Asserting that releases would be made at approximately a uniform rate so as not to disrupt the efficiency of units, the army said that except for dependency, hardship or other emergency cases, men would not be released while their units were engaged in maneuvers or other special training exercises.

"Still assuming that this country does not become more seriously involved in the international situation," the department said, "it is anticipated that enlisted men of the national guard and selectees, other than those for whom priorities are announced, will be released from active duty after an average of about 18 months' total active service, some as early as 14 months." The active period of service will depend upon the location of units, their schedule of preparation, and the assigned missions.

"Those enlisted men who are eligible for release and who desire to remain on active duty beyond the period of 12 months may do so, either by enlisting in the regular army for a period of three years or by extending on their own request their term of active service to the total of 30 months now authorized by law."

Officials said that the men eligible for release would be required to make personal application for discharge to their commanding officers, in most cases the company commander.

Perryton Orchestra To Play For Dance Here Labor Day

Thurman Trew and his Perryton Playboys will play for the dance to be held at the Southern club on the night of September 1, following the All-States victory picnic to be held in Central park on Labor Day. Arrangements for securing the orchestra were made by the Louisiana club. The Playboys are popular musicians on the North Plains, and are said to be masters of both modern swing and old-time music.

Operators From Panhandle Ask For More Oil

Requests for more oil for the Panhandle were presented by Dan Williams of the Danciger Oil and Refineries, Inc., of Pampa, W. B. Hamilton of the Phillips Petroleum company of Amarillo, and Paul A. McDermott of the Sinclair-Prairie Oil Marketing company of Fort Worth, at the year's shortest meeting of the Texas Railroad commission yesterday in Austin.

They declared that the 70,000 barrels a day net being produced in the Panhandle was not sufficient to meet demand and that the allowable should be increased or the shutdown days lifted.

Phillips Petroleum company was the first to seek an increase, which was for the Panhandle. W. B. Hamilton, crude oil purchaser for the firm, testified that a firm demand for 88,000 barrels existed in the area against the present net allowable of 77,000 and asked an increase or lifting of the five shutdown days in the district.

Dan Williams of Danciger Oil and Refineries, Inc., joined in asking an increase for the Panhandle as did Paul A. McDermott of Fort Worth, attorney for Sinclair Prairie Oil Marketing company. McDermott did not confine his request to the one district, extending it to North Texas and West Central Texas.

In a prepared statement, read before the commission, McDermott asked the rail body either to increase the allowable or eliminate the shutdown days in the areas.

Strike Closes Studio LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19 (AP)—Wall Disney studio, which operated through a strike of the screen cartoon guild, has closed for two weeks because of a dispute with the union over which men shall be laid off due to a curtailed market.

Pampans To Invite Neighbors To Picnic

Pampans will invite their friends and neighbors to attend the All-States Labor Day picnic to be held at Central park on Labor Day in a two-day invitation tour to be held sometime next week. The exact dates are to be announced later.

A good response has been obtained from the picnic registration blanks published. Several hundred have been received. Pampans and others who have not already done so are asked to fill in and mail these blanks. The form is being published again in today's issue of The Pampa News on page 8.

President May Appeal To Dry Dock Company

Reports spread today that President Roosevelt was appealing to the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company to accept recommendations of the National Mediation board and bring an end to the strike which for 12 days has held up $493,000,000 worth of work at the firm's huge Kearny, N. J., yard.

In the event the appeal was rejected, declared the authoritative sources from which the reports came, the government was prepared to move in, take over and operate the yard which holds contracts for a number of navy vessels.

The CIO union whose strike call made 16,000 workers idle insists that the company accept the mediation board's recommendation for a union maintenance clause in the working contract. Such a clause would provide that all union members, or workers who join the union in the future, would have to remain in good union standing as a condition of employment.

L. H. Korndorff, president of the company, offered to turn the yard over to the navy rather than accept such a clause which he termed "a closed shop."

Eight hundred AFL building trades workers struck yesterday at Camp Lockett, an army cavalry post 50 miles east of San Diego, Calif. The union men asked for either a wage increase of 12½ cents an hour, or defrayment of the $1.50 a day room and board fee charged at facilities provided by the contractor.

Pampans To Attend Perryton Party Perryton is expecting a large delegation from Pampa at the 22nd annual birthday party Thursday afternoon and Friday of this week, the Pampa Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Plans are being made to send a float for the parade Friday morning. The parade starts at 10 o'clock so the Pampa delegation will leave from the city hall at 7 a. m.

Governor Coke Stevenson has been invited to lead the parade. Bands, floats and other interesting parade units are coming to Perryton from all parts of the Panhandles of Texas and Oklahoma, according to word from W. H. Lance, Perryton mayor who has charge of the celebration.

Everyone from Pampa who can attend the celebration is asked to go by the chamber of commerce office in the city hall for hat bands and windshield stickers before leaving.

$2,000 U.S.O. Check Mailed To Amarillo

Gray county wound up its campaign for the United Service Organizations yesterday, when a check for $2,000, representing the county's quota, was mailed to Jay Taylor, Amarillo, 18th district U. S. O. chairman.

More than $2,000 was raised but it was thought best by the county chairman to hold up sending in the remainder until it was certain that all cards had been taken up and all money received.

The balance has been placed on deposit with a local bank.

County Chairman Sherman White, and Jack Hanna, Pampa vice-chairman, praised the efforts of workers in the campaign.

They are especially proud of the manner in which the drive was conducted. There were no business firms solicited as a firm, that is, no business was asked to donate as a business. Also, $1 was the top contribution asked, although some individuals made single donations of $10 each.

Appreciation Expressed The county chairman and the city vice-chairman are also gratified with the response given by many individuals, whose small budgets would not allow the $1 donation.

Vice-Chairman Hanna pointed out that donations of 25 and 50 cents from such persons was just as important as the $10 contributions, and that the county U. S. O. council was just as appreciative.

Mrs. Clifford Braly, county U. S. O. treasurer, signed the check, which was mailed to Amarillo yesterday, and which, in turn, will be sent to state chairman, E. B. Germany, Dallas.

Money raised for the U. S. O. will go for the operation and maintenance of 300 service clubs the federal government will build for soldiers, sailors, marines, and for defense industry workers, both men and women.

Major-General Richard Donovan, Fort Sam Houston, commander of the VIII corps area, is to make a speech to the convention today.

Grew Still Talking To Jap Government

TOKYO, Aug. 19 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Joseph C. Grew said today that for a considerable period of time he had been "talking with the Japanese government about restrictions on Americans leaving Japan and other problems related to United States citizens."

The ambassador's statement came as Koh Ishii, cabinet information bureau spokesman, denied that the Japanese government intends to hold Americans as hostages.

Supplementing press conference statements, Ishii declined to elaborate on what problems were related to the departure of Americans and other aliens, but intimated that they were not trade, political or other international issues.

It was pointed out that new home office restrictions on foreigners' entry and residence, issued Aug. 15, applied to all aliens regardless of nationality and these were compared with similar legislation of other countries, including United States laws effective Sept. 1.

The Japanese spokesman said Japan could not remain indifferent to the shipment of munitions by the United States to Soviet Russia by way of Vladivostok.

"We will keep peace in the Orient," Ishii said. He asserted that American diplomacy "should have delicacy" in handling the tense far Eastern situation.

Editorials in the Japanese press expressed concern over U. S. aid to Russia. One newspaper, Chugai, asserted that "even if British-American supplies fall actually to reach the Soviet, the fact can not be overlooked that it (aid to Russia) has at least the effect of reinforcing Soviet troops in the far East."

Ishii's remarks on aid to Russia followed his comments on the United States of State's statement that the Japanese had not given a satisfactory explanation concerning their failure to let about 100 United States citizens leave Japan aboard the liner President Coolidge.

Rosenman Of High Court To Make Report

Super Agency May Be Announced; Wallace Mentioned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt has commissioned Judge Samuel I. Rosenman of the New York state supreme court to make a study of differences between the Office of Production Management and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply.

In making this known today, Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said that Rosenman, an old friend and advisor of the chief executive, was still in Washington but he did not know whether a report was ready for Mr. Roosevelt.

OPM and OPACs have not seen eye to eye on some policy matters, such as a proposed curtailment of automobile production to make room for expanded defense output by motor car plants.

Asked whether he had heard that a super defense agency might be organized with Vice President Wallace in charge, Early said he did not know whether that was right or not. Questioned whether Rosenman was working on reorganization of the defense set-up, Early replied:

"Rosenman has been associated with the President for years. He was counsellor in Albany, then he went on the bench."

"Like most others in this emergency, he asked the President he could render any assistance. He said he would give the President his vacation, between the time court recessed and convened, and offered to come to Washington and do any shares the President might assign him."

One plan reported under consideration was creation of a policy board. It was said to have the backing of both Rosenman and the budget bureau.

Good Housewife Makes Best Wartime Motor Corps Member—Says One Of Them

"Don't think we can't work like men," says Mrs. Pat Macleod, ace driver with Britain's Mechanized Transport Corps. Above, she is shown at work by making repairs under an ambulance, as Miss Winifred Ashford, another driver, looks on.

Now on a nationwide tour to tell Americans how the mobile kitchens placed in service by the British War Relief society work, are two members of Britain's famed Mechanized Transport corps, which is composed of women. There are 700 kitchens functioning abroad, and Mrs. Pat Macleod and Miss Winifred Ashford are covering the country in a replica of one of them.

At a time when plans for U. S. civilian defense are rapidly taking shape, their experiences should prove particularly valuable. The interesting story below, written exclusively for NEA service and The Pampa News by Mrs. Macleod, a former interior decorator, describes the workings of the mobile kitchen division of the MTC.

By MRS. PAT MACLEOD NEW YORK—Driving trucks and repairing cars used to be considered a man's domain. But over in England we members of the Mechanized Transport Corps (corps of women drivers and mechanics) have proved that housewives can "take over" in the field successfully. In fact, experience has proved that the better the housewife, the better the MTC member.

Miss Weatherred Complimented At Farewell Shower

Miss Allene Weatherred was honored at a going-away shower given by the Young People's department of the Central Baptist church in the home of Tommy Owens.

Miss Weatherred, who has been making her home with her brother, W. B. Weatherred, for the past three years, will leave soon for Canyon where she will attend West Texas State college.

After gifts were presented to the honoree, games were played and refreshments of jello topped with whipped cream, cookies, and lemonade, red, green, yellow, and blue ice were served.

Attending were Misses Wilma Williams, heavy-better take enough for 400 people. I'm usually stocked for 500 people. I drive to a place where most people are likely to be gathered—frequently under direct bombing attack.

When shrapnel has ceased beating a tune on my tin hat, I set up shop. Queues form, and I serve food. It's wholesome food, but nothing elaborate, for we cook on three burners over canned heat. We rely pretty much on canned food. We get sausages and cut sandwiches of fish paste. We make fresh soup every day, serve coffee, tea, cocoa, and, in summer, ginger beer and lemonade.

MAPS ARE VITAL I'm frequently asked what is most important in an MTC job. In my opinion it's maps—just plain, everyday street maps—and that, surprises me. But consider. When the call comes in the dead of night and you set out for a given destination, all is pitch dark. The black-out is on.

You cannot see your streets and alleys. You must know them. You must have memorized each landmark and remember where the bombs have fallen and the streets are filled with great holes. And that is not enough—you must have the last minute word on this. Even as you leave, a shell hole may have appeared in a new place and you drive into certain destruction unless last minute radio checks are made by phone and radio. Sometimes your travels become circuitous.

But, in your first training, maps are fairly banged into your head. MTC members undergo a very strenuous three-week training course during which you learn map reading, car maintenance, convoy driving, first aid, gas precaution and drill for two hours every day.

Someone usually asks me: Can the women stand it? Can they!—and how, as Americans say. More than ninety per cent of the London women can take it and fit into some picture of other; just as our MTC members have fitted into our jobs. Somehow, you begin to forget danger, just want to get where you are going and help.

Bravery is probably catching. When you see bombed babies, when you view the last remains of blasted historic landmarks your people have been proud of for centuries past, it is easy to take repairing a car with grease on your hands and oil in your hair. British women can take it, as the members of the MTC prove. We have been called brave—if we are, it's because we've caught it from the staunch, heroic citizenry we serve.

Seven Known To Be Dead In Brooklyn Fire

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Seven persons were known to be dead and some two score missing today as an aftermath of a blazing inferno which swept a Brooklyn pier, eating up cargo and destroying the Cuba Mail Line ship Panuco and numerous small craft, but an investigator said the total death toll of the $1,500,000 fire may never be known.

At least 55 persons were in hospitals seriously injured as a result of inquiry of the U. S. Marine Inspection and Navigation Service opened a formal investigation of yesterday's tragedy.

The bulk of the Panuco still smoldered, hiding nobody knew how many victims.

As police strove to account for those definitely known to have been aboard the Panuco, they succeeded in boarding the stern in their grim search. They issued the following tabulation:

No. 1 hold—Four men safe, five missing; No. 2 hold—17 men safe, three missing; No. 3 and No. 5 holds—18 missing; No. 4 hold—Nine missing. Except for No. 2 hold these figures did not include any of the Panuco's crew, but rather stevedores working on the vessel at the pier.

Although the fire took place on a defense-vital waterfront, virtually within sight of the Brooklyn navy yard and numerous lease-lend longing docks, the possibility of sabotage was considered unlikely.

Advertising Tax Not Fair, Say Radio Men

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Criticizing a house-approved tax on radio time sales, Chairman James L. Fly of the Communications Commission, said today that broadcasters believe it would be unfair to tax their advertising while exempting that of newspapers.

Appearing before the Senate Finance committee for testimony on the $3,236,700,000 house revenue measure, Fly testified that the proposed tax would yield only $2,639,000, of which he said $7,815,000 would come from nine chain broadcasting companies.

The proposed tax would be 5 per cent on radio time sales from $100,000 to $500,000; 10 per cent on sales from $500,000 to $1,000,000; and 15 per cent on sales above $1,000,000.

The Communications Commission chairman said that radio stations are "devoting much valuable time to public service programs, such as debates and news programs, which foresee no decrease in the demand for public service programs," most of which are a loss to the "industry."

He testified that regardless of the "good broadcasting must go on," he said, for instance, that if large oil companies should cease radio advertising because of the rationing of gasoline in the east, the stations still would have to operate continuously without that advertising revenue.

The proposed tax, Fly estimated, would cost the National Broadcasting company and Columbia networks $2,000,000 each on the bases of last year's time sales.

Last Round-Up To Be Held At Canyon

AMARILLO, Aug. 19 (AP)—At last there is to be last round-up. The Panhandle Old Cowboys' association has been meeting every August on the old T-Anchier ranch near Canyon for the past 20 years.

"They meet again Aug. 28—but for the last time."

John Arnot of Amarillo, president of the association, said there was enough money in the treasury to pay for a picnic without making the old punches dig up any cash.

"We have decided," said Arnot, who was attracted to this country from Scotland by the early-day cattle industry, "to make this the last meeting. Many of the original members have been called to the 'home ranch' by the 'top range boss.' It will be only a short time until we all will be joining our old companions at 'headquarters.' Yes, boys, this is the last round-up."

Any man who worked on a Panhandle ranch prior to Jan. 1, 1896, is eligible for membership in the retiring organization.

Canadian Man Found Fatally Shot Today

Charles Bird, Jr., 23 son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bird who reside on their farm at Notia, 10 miles north of Canadian, was found shot to death early Monday morning.

Young Bird was in the barn at the time of the fatal shooting.

The shot was apparently self-inflicted, according to the Canadian correspondent of The Pampa News.

Large Number Of Selectees To Be Released In 1941

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The war department announced today that unless the international situation interferes, substantial numbers of selectees and national guardsmen will be sent home after as little as 14 months of service.

Approximately 200,000 men will be due for release from active service in 1941, the department said, and in order that they may reach their homes prior to the Christmas holidays, their release will be accomplished prior to December 10.

The department announced three priorities which would govern the release of enlisted men of the national guard and drafted. Given first priority were dependency and hardship cases with men 28 years of age or over on July 1, 1941, regardless of their length of service,

General Kreuger Runs Into Trap And Is Captured

With Third Army in Louisiana, Aug. 17 (AP)—Lieut. General Walter Kreuger, commander of the third army, knows how it feels to be captured by his own men.

The general, a non-combatant in war games ran into a trap last night set by cavalry troops of the eighth corps, and it was necessary to bring up a maneuver umpire to have him released.

"I never saw so many sawed-off shotguns in my life," the general said. "I regret I couldn't have accommodated them more and remained their prisoner."

The two cavalry troops from Fort Bliss, Tex., half on horseback and half in "jeeps," penetrated 13 miles into enemy fifth corps territory.

They set up a trap on an important highway and in the gathering dusk captured a convoy of 1,000 men being moved up to the front with food and field kitchens.

General Kreuger's limousine, with its triple-starred pennon, ran unsuspectingly into the blockade. Despite his protests, he was kept covered by Lieutenants Jeff Hollis and Mike Davidson, commanding the cavalry, until the umpire arrived. Meanwhile, officers of the opposing fifth and eighth corps demonstrated that strategy in commanding huge forces of tanks, planes, horsemen and foot soldiers in the 30,000 acre maneuver area.

The mechanized cavalry, attached to the fifth corps "Red" force, swept 60 miles past Alexandria up the Red river to capture the "Blue" eighth corps airport, supposedly destroying the 16th observation squadron.

Army Ready To Fight Texas Grocers Told

DALLAS, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Texas Retail Grocers Association continued their convention today after hearing an official of the Office of Production Management assert "98 per cent of our armed forces" are enthusiastic about the army.

Gerrit Vander Hoopings, OPM special consultant, declared the army was ready and willing to fight and "if congress had made these appropriations, and we had this kind of an army five years ago it is my firm conviction that there wouldn't have been a world war today. We would have had the power to act as an international police power."

The grocers end their sessions Friday noon.

Churchill Cheered By Street Crowds

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Aug. 19—Prime Minister Churchill returned home today from his bold Atlantic conference with President Roosevelt and, after being given a rousing greeting by street crowds, he plunged immediately into the task of reporting on what he had done.

He presided over a special meeting of the war cabinet, giving a detailed account of his conversations with President Roosevelt and of the plans to step up the fight against Hitler. He reported also of the world survey made by British and American experts who attended the historic parleys at sea.

Next came the formality of being received by King George. Churchill had luncheon with the King, and delivered to him a letter from President Roosevelt. On the ocean Churchill had delivered to the President a message from the King.

The public at large must wait a few days for its report direct from the prime minister. Churchill will broadcast next Sunday at 9 p. m. (2 p. m. CST).

Churchill arrived in London in the morning by train from the port where he disembarked yesterday from the battleship Prince of Wales. Despite the fact that the time of his arrival was kept secret, hundreds of Britons were on hand.

Details To Transfer Oil Worked Out

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Aug. 19—Texas Oil Conservation officials today worked out procedural details on transfer of 11,332 barrels of crude oil produced Sunday as a gift to Great Britain.

The end of the highly-publicized plan to have operators in Texas, biggest of oil-producing states, contribute a possible 1,500,000 barrels—one day's regular production—to bolster the morale of the British came yesterday with announcement of the gift and donors.

The Texas Railroad Commission, state oil regulatory agency, reported that in addition to the oil donated, 7,239 barrels were offered by producers but refused transportation by pipe line companies.

Commission officials held warrants on the oil contributed and prepared to forward them to D. S. Treasury officials designated by President Roosevelt to handle the transfer to British authorities.

The Corsican And The Austrian

It proves nothing. It is no guide to the future. But the temptation to draw parallels between Hitler's invasion of Russia and Napoleon's is too strong, like the desire for an extra slice of elderberry pie.

Napoleon was a foreigner, a Corsican, ruling France. Hitler is a foreigner, an Austrian, ruling Germany.

Napoleon rose to power in France on the tide of a revolution. Hitler rose thus in Germany.

Napoleon terrorized Europe for years. So has Hitler. Napoleon picked a fight with Russia without a scamp of provocation, simply because he had decided that Russia must be eliminated. Hitler did the same.

Napoleon had assembled a motley army of French, Italians, Swiss, Dutch, Poles, and Germans. Hitler is using, in addition to his Germans, Rumanians, Bulgarians, Slovaks, and Italians.

Napoleon advanced as far as Smolensk without serious battle, and took that city by storm in a two-day operation, Aug. 17, 18.

Here the pattern begins to diverge. Hitler advanced into Russia in three great movements, in the north against Leningrad, in the south against Kiev, and in the center against Moscow. That central drive reached Smolensk and captured it in a two-day battle about Aug. 10, 11. Here Hitler is a week ahead of the Napoleonic schedule.

Hitler has made great progress also on both the southern and northern fronts at the same time, but roughly speaking he stands today where Napoleon stood at the same time.

Now let us follow the fortunes of Napoleon the rest of the way. On Sept. 7 the Russians stood, and under the able Kutusoff gave battle at Borodino on the Moscow river. Both sides had enormous losses (the French 32,000, the Russians 47,000), but Kutusoff withdrew in admirable order, retreating through Moscow and taking its people with him. On Sept. 14 Napoleon occupied the city.

Between the 15th and 18th the Russians burned the city, and after remaining five weeks Napoleon got out of there. By the time he had reached Jaroslavl, Vjasma, and Krasnoy, fighting continually the harassing Russians and Cossacks, cold weather descended. By the time he forced a passage over the Berezina river, the suffering from hunger and cold was terrible.

On Dec. 3 Napoleon left the army to its fate and went back to Paris. The tattered remainder, only 100,000 of the 600,000 with which he started, crossed the Niemen to safety on Dec. 13. The expedition had cost Napoleon 300,000 lives and 100,000 prisoners.

All this is related, not to rouse any false hopes that history is about to repeat itself. It seldom does, and then with variations. But up to a point it raises some curious parallels.

Cuba Joins The Parade. Germany is always plaintively wondering why other nations won't treat her on terms of equality. The reason is plain. Germany won't act on terms of equality.

Cuba has now joined in the parade of countries sending Nazi consuls back home. Minister of State Cordina said "The government has been able to prove that German Consul Heisinger had engaged in activities apart from those inherent in his post and which affected the security of Cuba."

Same old story. Same old claim that they are somehow superior, privileged, unwilling to abide by the ordinary rules observed by others. Country after country has found such pretensions intolerable. Nobody wants to take away from Germany such a position in the world as it has earned by its legitimate achievements; for it to seize a position of special privilege—this, the world will not permit.

It Didn't Have To Look. A short time before the Pétain-Darlan regime in France made its decision to help Germany in establishing its sway over Europe, a summer storm came to the little town of Versailles, seat of France's ancient glories.

Two statues, one of Lafayette, one of General Pershing, stood on opposite sides of a street there. As the storm rose in violence, the statue of General Pershing swayed from its pedestal, fell, and shattered into a million fragments on the pavement.

At least it never had to witness the events to come.

The Nation's Press. OUR WAR EFFORT, AND DOMINIC'S (New York Times) Canada began with a very mild four-week draft law, then stepped it up to four months, and finally got around to a permanent service law last May 1. Even so, only volunteers go overseas in the contingents which Canada is sending to Great Britain. Canada, to repeat, is actually at war with Germany.

In the United States, men are drafted for a minimum of one year's training. The draft law states that they may be kept in service longer than that, on proclamation by Congress that a national emergency exists and on order by the President following such proclamation.

So now it is proposed by the Administration and by Chief of Staff George C. Marshall that this proclamation be issued by Congress, so that the President can freeze the boys in the Army for the duration of the emergency.

That isn't all that is being proposed. It is further proposed that Congress repeal the limit of 300,000 on the number of draftees usable in the Army at any one time. And at the beginning of this agitation it was proposed that the General Staff be empowered to send our soldiers anywhere in the world as its judgment indicated, instead of

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

ROOSEVELT'S LOVING KINDNESS FOR THE POOR

The belief of the people regarding Roosevelt's great, loving kindness for the poor should receive a severe jolt from his order against installment buying. Everyone knows that the poor people are the ones who are benefited by having the right to buy on installments and enjoy while they are paying for their purchases.

This rule makes it so that the rich, who have cash, can sit by and enjoy. Roosevelt has been telling the poor all the time that the rich would have to pay for the war, but now he is beginning to clamp down on the poor.

The poor who buy their automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines and radios on installments must do without these so that the Administration can build St. Lawrence canal, the canal in Florida and keep the hoard of papasuckers on the government payroll and help lick Finland, France and Germany and establish the "four freedoms" everywhere. The office holders and their appointees are having the cash to buy, but the poor must not have the right to use credit to enjoy the things that they are producing.

There is no possible way of wasteful government or the wastes of war being paid for by the rich. If the government consumes the good cows, figuratively speaking—that makes it possible for the poor to have jobs—then the workers cannot have milk. The poor are bound to suffer. And when the government taxes the big producer, it sooner or later has to restrict the poor.

SNEAKS, OUR WORST ENEMY. The worst enemy the American people have are sneaks. Sneaks are people who will get themselves in a position where they can make statements that fool the unthinking person and where these sneaks cannot be challenged or questioned about their double standards of fairness.

If it were not for these sneaks who invariably advocate two or many standards of rightness, many of the double standard laws would not be on our statutes that make it impossible for the men of goodwill to serve their fellowman.

These sneaks are often found in the publishing business or writing a column in newspapers, or in the pulpit, or on the platform, or on the radio, or in political office or in majority rule educational institutions.

These sneaks dare not permit their millenium theories of raising wages by force or law and reducing poverty to be subjected to questioning. If they would permit themselves to be questioned, even the ordinary worker who has not had time to study causes of depressions and poverty, would understand these dreams to be impractical or the chicanery and insincerity of these sneaks. Sneaks get a vantage point and persuade the crowd that they are their friends, while, in fact, they are their worst enemies.

As Jesus said, those who have the light, do not light a candle and put it under a bushel. If they really have a practical way of continuously raising the real wages of all workers, they would not need to refuse to answer questions. They would let their light shine and be a great blessing to all humanity.

Let every man beware of the sneak, who will not answer questions about what he is advocating.

MEANING OF SOCIALISM. As we are coming more and more to adopt state socialism, it might be well to realize what socialism when put into practice really means. It means that there is an attempt made to give men rights without equivalent responsibilities. It means that each man does not get all he produces. It means that men can live on the fruits of other people's labor. It means that some people, either a dictator or the majority, must be the arbitrary dividers of the fruits of the total production. It means that freedom of choice in consumption and production will be restricted to the will of controllers, whether it be a dictator or an agent of the proletariat.

It means that the individual's initiative cannot be exercised without the consent of either the dictator or the representatives of the majority. Under socialism, men are not recognized as equal before God or the government in rights to enjoy the fruits of their labor or to use their initiative.

This is in contrast to real true democracy or free enterprise, where every man has responsibility with every right and where it is the aspiration that every man gets all he produces and is equal before God and before the government in his rights to produce and enjoy the fruits of his labor.

having to confine their activities to the Western Hemisphere. The latter suggestion is being soft-pedaled now, because of the howls of indignation it stirred up. There is some talk of compromising the draftees' time extension scheme by limiting the men's service periods to 2 1/2 or 3 years.

PANTS AND THE WOMAN (New York Times) Count Ciano's newspaper Il Telegrafo of Leghorn finds one likeness between Communist Russia and the "Anglo-Saxon plutocracy." In the United States and Britain, as in Russia, women wear pants. Some good American hearts may momentarily throb in sympathy with the fascists on this score. This "decadent democracy" cannot forbid pants for women, as Italy has done. It can, in some cases, deplore them.

The skirt is undeniably older and more respectable than the trouser. Ancient man wore it pretty generally. It has survived in some peasant costumes and in the Highland kilt and the picturesque uniform of the Greek evzones. The Romans of the old empire wore a tunic with a distinctly skirtlike effect. Pants or trousers may have been worn by women in ancient Crete, and they are still worn by Chinese women, but in historic times they have been exceptional in most parts of the world. Even the male trouser in present form (or lack of form, for generally speaking, it is now in need of pressing) dates only to the French revolution, when it succeeded the knee breeches—badge of the hated aristocracy.

It has doubtless come to stay. But one does hope that women will at least be cautious in adopting it. All politics aside, the happiest societies are those in which women are not afraid to be feminine and men are not afraid to be masculine. Feminine draperies are mysterious and romantic, and mystery and romance still have their uses. Some of us even look forward to the day when the sight of a well turned ankle will again be rare enough to cause a flutter in a young man's heart.

WAR HOLDS BACK CAGNEY. Getting back to Andrew Jackson, that's a characterization that long was sought by Lionel Barrymore. He finally got it in "The Gorgeous Hussy," although they had to raise his forehead with a whole cap full of plastic makeup.

Jimmy Cagney expects to play John Paul Jones sometime, and he wanted to do it ever since a lean season in New York when he earned a little money by posing in one of Jones' actual uniforms.

The screen play has been completed for more than a year, but Warners won't make the picture until the war is ended. The studio figures it wouldn't be very good taste just now to show anybody even a Revolutionary naval hero, licking the tar out of the British.

Women no longer are the sole users of cosmetics, for the motor-car industry has encroached upon their territory. Most fine polishing jobs are done now with rouge.

WHAT'S ALL THIS TALK ABOUT UNREST IN EUROPE?

Around Hollywood

BY PAUL HARRISON HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 19—Almost every actor has an urge to play some pet historical character, and he generally is quite certain he's the only person in Hollywood who can play it.

Such chances seldom occur, however. In the fantasy sequences of "The Remarkable Andrew" for instance, there are five famed early Americans, but only the character of George Washington is played by an actor who had been hoping some day to do it.

Montague Love has the role. Ten years ago he played Thomas Jefferson in George Arliss' "Alexander Hamilton," and all during production the makeup and cameraman had a hard time keeping Love from looking too much like Washington. To lessen that characterization is one thing that characterizing is another. Closest piece of type casting, probably, is Brandon Hurst as John Marshall. Even out of makeup, Hurst looks almost exactly like pictures of the great Chief Justice.

DONLEVY AS JACKSON. Brian Donlevy long has wanted to impersonate Washington on the screen. About a year ago, just to remind the studio of the resemblance in case a Father-of-His-Country picture ever came along, Donlevy had himself made up and photographed in sample poses. But in the current movie, Donlevy is the crusty Andrew Jackson. It's a much larger role than Love's Washington, and Donlevy isn't disappointed.

Raymond Massey is the best Abraham Lincoln in or out of Hollywood. Henry Fonda, who also did a movie portrayal, never had considered himself especially fitted for the role. More closely patterned in young-Lincoln lines is Glenn Ford, and it's a part he especially wants to do—in spite of the previous box-office failure of all Lincoln pictures.

Don Ameche and Tyrone Power have impersonated some real but hazily sketched figures of history. One that Ameche really wants to do, though, is the dashing, dashing star reporter of the Spanish American War—Richard Harding Davis. Better Davis always wanted to do Mary Stuart, Queen of Scots, but the closest she has come so far was Queen Elizabeth, Mary's executioner. The title role of "Mary of Scotland" went to Katharine Hepburn, who along about that time was telling RKO that she'd make a swell Delilah.

And Mrs. Isaacs as for the golf, it's just as soon have her fever, if I did not have it, as risk taking it while wading through the weeds and grass of the average golf course.

So They Say. I am justified in saying that the best bombers we've had came from the United States.

Mrs. May Stevens Isaacs of Canadiana presents these naive and adroit ideas on the causes, and treatment of hay fever: "Note what you said about being in water the one and only cure for hay fever. I do not believe that would work for everyone. Hay fever is caused, is it not, by over-tired nerves? Whatever allays worry, produces enjoyment, has a tendency to lessen hay fever. Fully the eight hours a night sleep, moderate eating of plain food, plenty of fresh air and work, absence from worry and a pleasant occupation will produce desired results. The reason you are free from hay fever in the water is because you particularly enjoy boating and swimming I'm sure. An early morning horseback ride, a couple of hours on a hot afternoon in a cool corner with an enervating book, a game of golf (or one who wins), or even just a party might produce alleviation of the trouble depending on individual taste in pastimes."

THE LOOKING GLASS

THE OAKIES By Stella Hallit

Mr. Steinbeck made the whole country conscious of the Oakies. He made it even seem like some new tragedy that had overtaken them. But the early settler laughs.

"Nothing new about hardships in Oklahoma. Weren't any tractors 40 years ago but there were Oakies just like now, poor starved people wandering around. Like that fellow who tacked a sign on his door in Greer county.

"That man, never heard his name," he was just one of thousands. He'd gone out to Greer county and built a little shack. It had been his dream to own a little home. He brought along the little girl he'd promised to love and protect. Out in Greer county he had a quarter section and that's where he built his shack. It was crude but he was a proud man. It was all his. And he was going to live there and raise a family and when he was old he'd look back on it and say it had been tough but it was a grand life.

"The droughts just literally cooked the plains. He saw one neighbor after another pick up and leave. His dream of a home was vanishing. Every time anybody left it hurt him. At last there was just one thing to do and he knew it, so he hitched up his poor old team to the wagon and drove up to the shack. He told his wife to put in their belongings which didn't take long, they were so few. Then he said to her 'Just wait a minute.' He went up to his little shack and wrote on the door: "Farewell my old Greer county home. To thee I bid adieu. I may go straight to h— But I'll never come back to you."

Yesteryear In The News

The strangest thing we've ever heard: A woman telling about her own automobile wreck. "I just didn't see him," she said. "I don't know whether he had his hand out or not. I wasn't making at the traffic in front of me." Now boys that's something! It happened in Pampa too!

The silliest fellow man in the world: That little fellow with the dirty upper lip, and goose-stepping legs, over in Germany, who suddenly realized that his highly touted submarines were not good enough to prevent the two greatest personages in the world, from meeting for history making conference on the high seas.

Something we can't understand: The general mix-up on the "Oil for Britain" campaign. Of course, we read by the papers that certain legal matters were involved, but we always heard that "All's fair in love and war"—and ain't this WAR? Sure looks like some one could have figured out a way so that the mortgage holders as well as the oil producers could have cooperated on this worthy movement!

Little Business in Washington. Typical of the discrimination against small business in the defense emergency, which the Justice Department is organizing to investigate, will be one like this: An independent manufacturer who has been buying his raw materials from one producer for years will place a new order. . . . The producer will accept the order but he will tell the manufacturer it will be impossible to make delivery for months because of defense priority. . . . Shopping around the manufacturer will be told that a certain warehouse has ample supplies and can make immediate delivery. . . . Contacting the warehouse, the manufacturer will find he can get his order filled—but only at an increased price. . . . Investigation reveals that producers will have pooled their output with a warehouse in order to increase price under the guise of defense shortages and priorities. . . . Cases of this kind can be prosecuted under the Sherman anti-trust law.

A BID FOR A SMILE. TWINS NAMED. Friend—And what are you going to call the new twins? Proud Father—Henrietta. Friend—Not both the same name? Proud Father—No, certainly not. The boy will be Henry and the girl Etta.—Pathfinder.

TOO SOPHISTICATED. Elwood (at 200)—Mamma, where doth elephants come from? Mother—Why, from the jungle, I suppose. Elwood—Aw, I thought you would try to tattle me off with that gab about the thork.—Pathfinder.

TEX'S TOPICS

EDITOR'S NOTE: While Tex DeWesse has on occasion this space has been filled with bits by a different writer. Incidentally, DeWesse saw this notice and allowed someone else to do the writing. So here's today's guest columnist!

BY HOYT WEST. Pinch-hitter for this space today hails from the opposite side of the office—the advertising department, and that is really unusual, as you will certainly realize if you know anything at all about the inside workings of a newspaper. Since the founding of the newspaper profession there has been a constant fight between the ardent followers of the editorial banner and those boys on the fighting line in the advertising department.

In fact, numerous books have been written—by editors—condemning the necessity as well as the practices of advertising men. None have been written, as far as I know, by advertising men concerning the editorial department, but if they were written, I am sure the two arguments would be about as logical as the old, old, fight between the black kettle and the black pot.

Anyway we're going to try to do our best today to stay on the good side of the boys across the office.

The above recalls a very interesting visitor that called on the advertising department the other day. This fellow—don't remember his name—had the most interesting life that we have heard. He had filled practically every job known on a newspaper staff, and big time papers at that.

He had handled practically every classification in the advertising department; had then fallen from grace and gone into the radio business; and then—of all things—had gone back into the newspaper business, but it was in the editorial field, where he made quite a name for himself. The climax of his little story was, and the most interesting part, was the fact that after a very few years in the editorial field he definitely decided to quit this honorable profession and is now holding down a responsible position with a well-known automobile manufacturing company. This little story may not mean much to a lot of you, but it should certainly give a lot of people new hope and encouragement.

As far as I know, the columnists of this page have completely overlooked the little kid from Pampa who is now up in the Yankee District. We're speaking of Bobby Dedmon, who ran around in the Soap Box Derby at Akron Sunday. We know Bobby did a swell job, and Pampa should be very proud of him, even though he did have bad luck. It's really too bad that the rules of the Derby prevent Bobby from benefiting again next year. He is only 12 years old, you know, and with the benefit of entering one national Derby he should be able to really build a speedy automobile next year.

Your writer is newcomer to Pampa, and any newcomer is no doubt at first perplexed, and often provoked, at the numerous "dips" at the most unexpected places in our city streets. However, after the strangeness of this fine little city quickly wears off, and that newcomer begins to feel that he knows his way around, he realizes that the engineer responsible for these violent drainage systems was unusually far-sighted, and that the unknown crusader was striving to add his bit to the noble cause of PRESERVING HUMANITY.

If it were not for at least two of these sudden interruptions in the flow of traffic we wouldn't be here this morning. Our car had slowed almost to a stop at one of these places, and if we had not, we would now be in a junk heap—placed there by a speeding feminine motorist who completely ignores the well placed stop sign on her very smooth right-of-way. Incidentally, we have slowed our customary driving speed very much and can now see in more directions than a swivel-necked owl.

Holcomb himself is not a lawyer, which makes him one of the few non-legal lights in the D. J. set-up. He has been a small business man, with experience in banking, insurance, real estate, and retail selling. He helped organize a gasoline filling station retailer's organization in Georgia, fought the battles of the independents against the big refining and distributing companies. He caught Arnold's attention in that and so was picked to head up this new unit.

Numerous complaints have been received from small business men by the Justice Department. A lot of them are crackpot letters but about one in four will have something in it that bears further investigation.

If the new Arnold-Holcomb unit can serve as a real friend of the small business man in Washington, where the big fellows with the lobbyists and special representatives have an obvious advantage, useful work can be done.

BIG SPRING WINS BALL GAME IN 11TH INNING 10 TO 7

Poitras Hits Tying And Winning Runs

It's just about certain that a ball player by the name of Poitras will be at third base for Big Spring's Bombers tonight when they tangle with the Pampa Oilers in the last game of the series at Rock Runner park. It was this Poitras fellow who wrecked a game for the Oilers last night when he stepped to the plate as a pinchhitter in the ninth and drove the tying run across the plate and it was the same Poitras who singled in the eleventh to give Big Spring the game 10 to 7.

Tonight's game, at 8:30 o'clock, will be the last at home for the Oilers until next Monday when they return for seven days in which they'll play 10 games. They will then go to Clovis on Labor Day for a doubleheader which will close the season.

Fred Myers, who has been on the bench for more than a month with a dislocated knee, is hoped to get the pitching job for the Oilers tonight although Manager Sam Hale may change his mind and send Grabeck to the hill. Kohout or Schulze, two of the league's leading pitchers, may decide when they take over the chore for Big Spring.

Last night's game was the kind you read about but seldom see. When the Oilers went to bat in the last half of the eighth they were six runs behind and Willard "Slow Motion" Ramsdall was hurling shutout ball. He had allowed only five hits and hadn't walked a man. And no two of the five hits had been in the same inning.

Oilers' Big Inning
Reynolds opened the eighth for the Oilers by grounding out to the pitcher. Then Glab, McCabe, Scott, Matney and Frierson singled in succession. Scott and Frierson getting extra bases when outfielders booted the ball. Fullenwider filed out. Phillips was safe on the third baseman's error which brought in little Kelly Haralson to the plate and he proceeded to crash the ball against the left center-field fence for three bases and the Oilers had tied the score. Then Jim Reynolds, up for the second time in the inning, bagged his third hit of the game and Haralson scored to put the Oilers ahead.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. (Finch-Hitting For Eddie Briets)
NEW YORK, Aug. 19—Lou Little of Columbia and Hooks Mylin of LaFayette, pros for Clair Bee's Eastern Coaching school, are warning their pupils to lay off the "T" formation. . . . They think it takes too much time and too good material for the average college or high school coach to develop during one season. . . . The Jacobs beachcombers are arguing whether Tami Mauriello isn't being rushed along too fast. . . . Champion Gus Lesnevich will be in flight next week, will be the first full-fledged 175-pounder Tami ever has tackled. . . . Steve Owen offered to pick a baseball team from his football squad and take on the Superior (W.V.) Northern league club in a U. S. O. benefit game but after seeing Tackle Johnny Mellus warm up his pitching arm, Superior officials nixed the idea. . . . Bob Jones, who only plays charity matches now, will make his first appearance in Connecticut September 13 when he and Jimmy Thomson take on Jim Demaret and Dan Galgano at Stamford's Woodway club.

Do You Want To Attend Baseball School? Fill Out Blank

Efforts are being made to hold a baseball school for youths of West Texas, Eastern New Mexico and Western Oklahoma in Pampa next month. Major league teams have been contacted in the interest of sending representatives here for the school which will be for youths 16 years or over who are asked to fill this blank.

Form with fields: My Name is, My Address is, My Age is, My Position is, Experience.

(Fill out and mail or take to Harry E. Hoare, sports editor, the Pampa News, Pampa, Texas.)

30 Panhandle Youths Agree To Attend Baseball School

Thirty Panhandle youths have already agreed to attend a baseball school here in September if arrangements can be made with a big league team to send representatives to Pampa to conduct the school. Young hopefuls from Pampa, LeFors, Borger and Phillips have indicated that they would attend a school.

Majors May Be Around Corner For Grey Clarke

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Aug. 19 (AP)—A 350-plus batting average can make up for many shortcomings—but it is the case of Grey Clarke it covered "that one thing."

Rattlers Open Grid Training

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 19 (AP)—Despite heat that would not shame the torrid zone, St. Mary's university Rattlers have begun drills to toughen them for a hard schedule this year.

Enid Hurlers Outstanding In Semi-Pro Meet

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 19 (AP)—Bleacherites at the seventh annual national semi-pro tourney predicted the defending champion Enid, Okla., titlists would finish far down the list because the only thing the referee mound staff collected this year was age.

Majority Of Grid Stars Deferred

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Despite selective service, voluntary enlistment and job openings in defense industries, this fall's expected college football program is expected to go off without a hitch and with a very probable boom in attendance, notably in areas where there is considerable defense production under way.

Seeing Double

Xavier U. at Cincinnati should be at least two deep this football season. . . . Head Coach Clem Crowe will be assisted by his brother, the complete roundup, two twin brothers, Robert and Richard Helster, who play center and quarterback. The schedule opens with Georgetown (Kentucky) and closes with Georgetown (D. C.) and, to complete the roundup, two jubilees of the Jesuit order will be celebrated during the Centennial day game November 29.

Why Golfers Get Goofy

Fred Fiore, former N. Y. U. footballer, really got himself out on a limb in a golf match the other day. He whacked his drive behind a willow tree and the only way he could get at the ball for another shot was to lie on an overhanging limb. He put that one right on the green, then missed his putt. . . . Wild Bill Hallahan, the old Cardinals' southpaw, still is Wild Bill on the links around Elmira, N. Y. . . . Hank Gardner, who won the Wisconsin state open, used to be a ball player and appeared to be headed for the majors until he was skulled and decided golf was safer. . . . Lowest score on record was made by a fellow in North Dakota who was playing golf for the first time. . . . He sliced his drive from the first tee and holed it out on the ninth green.

Today's Guest Star

Dan Parker, N. Y. Mirror: "I wish I knew what Lou Nova is talking about when he speaks of the cosmic punch and dynamic stance. I also wish Lou knew."

Sports Cocktail

Kirby Higbe claims he's going to fit him with blinkers. "I'm working like a horse so I might as well go around looking like one," he maintains. . . . Our Texas operatives report: . . . Lightweight named Paul Altman of Houston is really going places. He's had 30 amateur and six pro fights and every one a knockout. . . . Tommy Harmon's favorite athlete is Jay Berwanger, Chicago's "Flying Dutchman" who was hitting the headlines when Tommy was just getting started.

Races Staged At McClellan Sunday

Pampa, LeFors and Plainview motor boat enthusiasts who visited Lake McClellan Sunday staged a series of races for the many visitors at the lake. In all, they put on four races, one of them for a purse donated by Bert Howell, concessionaire, and the racers themselves.

Guard Units Drill At Gainesville Fair

GAINESVILLE, Aug. 19 (AP)—More than $10,000 in prizes for exhibits and a number of special events will be awarded during the 15th annual six-day Cooke county fair which got underway yesterday.

Cleveland Sinks Lower, Even Loses To Senators

Others Liked, But Brooklyn's Hero Is Castoff Dixie Walker

Dixie Walker hits to hurt.

By LUTHER EVANS
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 19—Treated like a step-child by Leland Standford MacPhail, Fred Walker is still the most beloved of all the Brooklyn bums.

Larry MacPhail paid the Cardinals $100,000 for Joe Medwick because he believed Ducky Wuckey would play the role Dixie Walker has at the moment.

MacPhail has pitching heroes in what Wyatt and Kirby Higbe, Dodger fans like Leo Durocher's incessant liping. They hang out banners for Pete Reiser and Pee-wee Reese.

One bloke sits in a box behind third base and blows up balloons bearing the name "Cookie" in honor of Third Baseman Lavagetto. . . . But when panned down, the MacPhail faithful admit that their necessities at a ball game are hot dogs and peanuts and soda pop and Dixie Walker.

Last year the rangy outfielder from Villarica, a Georgia whist-stop, was named the most popular player in a poll of Brooklyn. The fans still have that old feeling. MacPhail UNIMPRESSED

By WALKER'S HITTING
Larry MacPhail, the lord of Ebbets Field, feels otherwise. . . . That Walker led the club in hitting with a .308 average last season, fails to impress MacPhail. Until recently he was looking for a chance to shunt the former Yankee—and Tiger into minors.

Last spring the squad hadn't worked up its first real sweat in Havana before Dixie's job in center-field was turned over to young Reiser. The Dodgers opened the campaign with Joe Medwick and ancient Paul Wagner flanking Reiser. Walker sat on the bench. He didn't even have first call as substitute. MacPhail leaned toward Jimmy Waddell, who never batted his weight before this year, and so did Durocher, it seems.

Walker didn't remain in the dug-out long, however, for the Brooks started on the wrong foot. Walker, in right field, took up where he left off in 1940.

In his first 100 games the loose left-handed hitter batted .313 and knocked home 55 runs. Against the hated Giants, his hitting has been murderous, far above the 400 mark.

Walker comes from a baseball family. His father was the original Dixie Walker, a pitcher. A younger brother, Harry, also an outfielder, probably will be with the Cardinals next spring. He is now with Columbia.

The most mystifying development of the big league baseball season is what has happened to the Cleveland Indians.

This is the team that many persons picked to win the American league pennant and at one stage of the race it was seven full games in front. This is the team that finished one game away from the championship in 1940 and supposedly couldn't miss in 1941.

Yet this is the team that has lost 12 of its last 13 decisions, that has sunk to fourth place and is still sinking. They lost a 4-2 affair to Washington last night to let the Senators climb out of a tie for the cellar. In desperation Manager Roger Peckinpaugh started a rookie named Steve Gromek, who was acquired last week from the Class D Michigan State league. He walked a couple and gave up three singles and a double for three Washington runs in the third inning and after that the game was no contest.

The Brooklyn Dodgers succeeded in inflating their seasonally-acquired National league lead to a full game while the St. Louis Cardinals were idle.

The Dodgers beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5, on Pete Reiser's homer in the ninth. The defeat was Pittsburgh's sixth in eight encounters and bumped the Buccaners out of third place in the senior circuit as the Cincinnati Reds came up with a double-decker triumph over the Phillies.

The Reds won the opener, 13-5, with a 14-hit effort that was concentrated for 10 runs in the first two innings. Then they came from behind with a four-run seventh-inning rally to capture the second session 5-4.

New York's in and out Giants tumbled the tottering Chicago Cubs in both ends of a doubleheader, 6-4 and 7-1, for Chicago's 15th setback in 20 games.

Shreveport Kicks Rebs Down Stairs

(By The Associated Press)
While the Dallas Rebels were eyeing wistfully the second Texas league spot occupied by Tulsa, the Shreveport Sports came along last night and rudely kicked them downstairs.

The Sports, playing before an appreciative home crowd, posted a 4-3 victory on the Rebels in the first of a three-game series. The Rebels thereby slid from third to fourth place and the Sports limbed into the third niche by a half-game margin.

The Tulsa Oilers, meanwhile, were amazing a crowd of Houston fans by taking apart the mighty Buffs, sweeping both ends of a doubleheader by the scores of 2-1 and 4-2.

The Fort Worth Cats took a 6-5 decision from the Exporters at Beaumont in the sole afternoon game, and the Oklahoma City Indians drubbed the Missions 8-2 at San Antonio.

Crowd Laughs As Scouts Replace Cops

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 19 (AP)—An armored truck drove up to the exhibit at the Wisconsin State fair. A large crowd watched tensely as police, armed with a machine gun, stood guard during the unloading of $5,000 worth of furs.
The crowd laughed, however, when police drove away and three Boy Scouts, armed only with Scout knives, took complete charge of guarding the exhibit.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The early morning attendant at the public garage I use is a native of the Ukraine—born in the wild Carpathians where they believe in vampires—and each day he checks eagerly with me in an effort to extract facts which will feed his burning hope to see Hitler smashed.

This morning he was gloomy because of the plight of Odessa, and one had to agree with him that this great Black Sea naval base was in a bad way, especially with the German Luftwaffe raining destruction on the city. There was no denying either his pessimistic prediction that the Hitlerites were likely to overrun the whole Ukraine, at the rate they are going.

However, he brightened up markedly when I observed that this didn't win the war and in fact would be a great asset to Hitler unless he was able at the same time to smash the Red army and thus terminate the whole Russo-German show. The way things stand now, the Bolshevists are simply pulling back to fresh defenses and making the Nazis fight for every foot of ground.

I remarked that, barring an unexpected collapse of the Muscovites, Hitler would have to fight his way clear across to the line of the Volga where it enters into the Caspian, and then drive south through the Caucasus to the Persian border, which Berlin boasts will be reached by the time snow flies.

"How far is that," demanded my Ukrainian, "and how long has Hitler got before the bad weather?"
A rapid calculation gave a rough estimate of some 800 miles to the Volga and another 600 to the Russo-Persian border. Maybe forty days remain of good weather, although heavy rains have been falling in the Ukraine already. That would mean an average advance of some 35 miles a day for the invaders.

"Can the Germans do it?" I insisted of the garage man.
"What a question! Anyone who could answer that would be a wizard. However, I replied that, while strange things happen in the field, a field marshal saw his army traveling that fast against enemy opposition he would stick straws in his hair and gibber.
So long as the Red resistance holds out, the chances of the Germans to complete their conquest before the arrival of bad weather are not bright. Furthermore we mustn't overlook that the Ukraine isn't the whole show. As the Nazi army advances eastward in this southern zone, so the German forces to the north must hammer their way forward to protect that right flank in the Ukraine and also to destroy Russian resistance in the north.

Still, we have yet to learn how much truth there is in the Nazi claim that the Red defense is on the point of disintegration. Should this forecast prove to be accurate, then there would be no reason why the Germans shouldn't keep their rendezvous at the Persian border. This would immediately raise a tremendous threat to the Allied position in the middle East. Vigorous British counter-action must follow, and it wouldn't be surprising to see Persia become the cockpit of that part of the world.

RAF Concentrates Attack On Cologne

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The royal air force concentrated its attack last night on Germany on Cologne and Duisburg, starting large fires at both places, the British reported today.
Docks at Dunkerque also were bombed. It was stated.
The air ministry announced that eight British planes were missing from the attacks.
While big bombers were attacking these German and German-held cities, British fighter planes on offensive patrol attacked airfields in occupied territory during the night, the ministry said.
The Germans at the same time made a small-scale attack against the east coast of England and Scotland.

(Berlin said Sunderland harbor was among the German targets.)
After the attack on Duisburg, a great oil fire raged on the west bank of the Rhine opposite the city's inland docks, the air ministry news service reported.
Load after load of incendiaries and explosives were dropped on factories and railways both at Duisburg and Cologne, the service said.

Master Dies, Dog Escapes

HUGO, Okla., Aug. 19 (AP)—W. E. Leonard, 65-year-old watchmaker, sadly helped police prepare to shoot his dog. They suspected it had rabies.
Suddenly Leonard collapsed, dead of a heart attack. In the excitement the dog escaped.

SERIAL STORY

SECRET VOYAGE

BY JOSEPH L. CHADWICK

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Jim prepares to leave to salvage the sonar. Jeffery Hammond comes on board his boat, the Aurora, and tells him to radio him when the preliminary work is completed. Also, he advises Jim that Lois and he may take a cruise in the Hammond yacht to watch operations. Then they go to the Hammond yacht. She tells Jim he was right—Eric Forbes is taking her to New York. Jim gathers her in his arms and kisses her and tells her he loves her. "Enough to tell me about the sonar?" she asks. Jim, in a rage, orders her to get up and go. She was simply punning for information. As Jim goes up on deck, a tall, lean man of about 30 years of age—the man who has been trying to bribe him—walks up to the gangplank. He tells Jim he wants just a few words he's willing to pay for.

The man shrugged. "I told you once that you'd deal with me or have trouble. I'm a patient man, Mallory, but this is my last offer." His voice was low, as careful as ever, but Jim had no illusions about him. "I gave Hammond my word, mister, and I never break my word." "I was afraid of that." "And any trouble you've got, I'll handle." The man shrugged again, closed his wallet and returned it to his pocket. A faint smile curled his lips, and above the smile his eyes turned chill and dangerous. "Well, I'll be seeing you, Mallory baby."

Curly's voice came floating down. "Better not stay down too long, Spike." "All right. Haul me up. But take it slow. I don't want to get the bends." He was hauled up slowly, so his body could become accustomed to the change in pressure and release the increased amount of nitrogen in his blood. A slow ascent was required in a rubber suit to offset the dread ailment of pressure workers, the bends.

MYSTERIOUS SHELLING

CHAPTER VIII

JIM MALLORY eyed the visitor with unconcealed bad humor. He wondered if this was the fellow who had been with Eric Forbes Sunday night.

The man wore a white tropical suit that was well tailored. He had brown curly hair, blue eyes, sun-browned skin. He was about thirty. He could, Jim thought, pass for a gentleman but there was an intangible hint of toughness about him.

Jim said, "Keep your money, mister. And get off my ship."

"Mallory, I have five thousand dollars on me. I can raise twenty thousand more. It's yours if you say the word."

That was a jolt. Jim felt mentally rocked under its impact. "Mister, just keep talking. Maybe I'll listen, if you talk enough."

"Money talks better than I do, Mallory," said the man in his careful way. He brought out a wallet, showed Jim its contents of hundred-dollar bills. "Will you listen to that?"

"And all I have to do for twenty-five thousand," Jim said, "is to tell you the Sonora's location?"

"That's all I have to do for twenty-five thousand," Jim said, "is to tell you the Sonora's location?"

Texas Legion Would Drive Out Traitors

FORT WORTH, Aug. 19 (AP)—Riding Texas of any subversive elements which may be seeking a foothold in this area of the United States, either in civilian or military rank, will be a major objective of the American Legion during the next year, Ed Riedel, San Angelo, state commander, declared here today as the third day of the state convention opened.

"The Legion has been the most active service organization in the nation in ferreting out the so-called fifth columnist and our efforts in this regard are going to be increased considerably," Riedel said. "We are proud also of the major role the Legion had in the establishment of the Home Defense Guard."

Newsreader Captured In Creole 'War'

Editor's Note—Norman Walker, Associated Press correspondent now covering the third army maneuvers in western Louisiana, was AWOL (absent without leave) most of yesterday. The following dispatch, received from the "war front" today, tells how Walker became the first civilian victim of capture by "enemy forces," a part of the effort at realism in the current games.

BY NORMAN WALKER
With the Third Army in Western Louisiana, Aug. 19 (AP)—The lieutenant was just a fellow American, but he was very serious and firm with his first captive in the current war games here.

The prisoner was myself, a victim of the rules that include capture even of correspondents covering the maneuvers, such newspaper men to be held for 24 hours so they cannot carry any vital information back to the other army.

Being captured by a friendly enemy has its advantages over the real thing but an automatic muzzle in the ribs provides enough realism for me, and the lieutenant's prodding weapon wouldn't let me forget this wasn't real. He quickly steered me away into the brush from a spectacular tank engagement.

"Now you march and step lively," he ordered, and I did at six paces ahead as directed.

After a dusty march behind the lines the lieutenant—I didn't think I'd better ask his name as he seemed to be giving the orders—turned me over to another officer in charge of other prisoners.

Midway with a serious grilling, he broadly grinned and said "listen fella, just suppose your pockets have been turned inside out." I later discovered correspondents can be questioned but are not supposed to be searched.

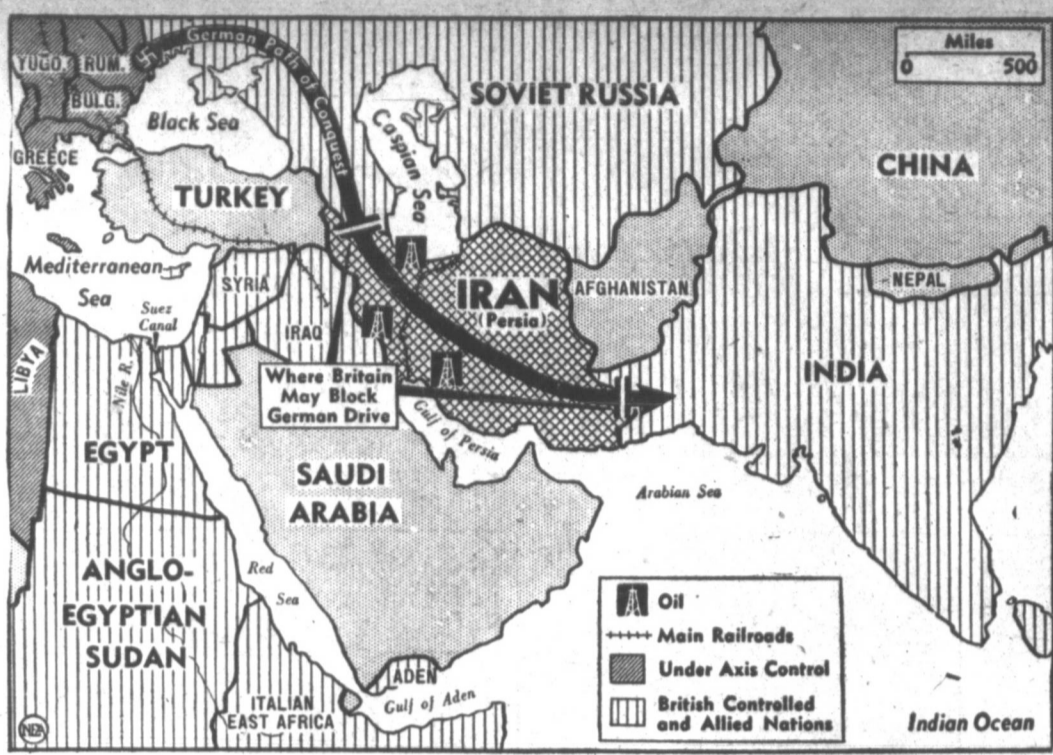

This wasn't much of a concession, however, as I wound up competing with about 200 military prisoners for the small shade provided from a hot sun under some oak trees. Some of these slept, some just loafed, discussing life in a concentration camp, but most of them talked about their chances for some food and a bath.

The prisoners kept grumbling about food and water, and finally the guards let them pool their change to dispatch a motorcycle courier to a roadside stand for soft drinks and sandwiches. Finally a lieutenant told the mess sergeants to man our captured field kitchens and prepare a meal.

With the prospect of short rations all around, I propositioned the officer.

"Listen, lieutenant," I said, "suppose we call this whole thing off

Germany's War Heads for Storied Land of Iran

If Hitler's armies race through southern Russia and veer between the Black and Caspian Seas, they will be at the gates of oriental, oil-rich Iran, next door neighbor to fabulously wealthy British India. Nazi fifth columnists have been active in Iran, but the British are in good position to block the German drive at the two points shown on the map. Then there's the little matter of the Russian armies, which are still holding the swarming invader.

and I'll gladly remove one extra mouth to feed."

"Who said we are going to feed you?" he demanded lightly, then repeated and grinned, "Aw get the hell out."

I quickly fled to a highway, and thumbed a ride back to headquarters. An officer told me I was lucky, for the other prisoners even then were marching far back from no man's land to a concentration camp where hard work and a bed on any piece of ground they chose was awaiting them.

Extravagance Found In Army Building

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—A house military subcommittee reported today it believed that under cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts for army construction "the incentive is actually toward extravagance" but that from a military point of view "a magnificent and unparalleled" housing job had been done by the army construction division.

Rep. Thomason (D-Tex.), chairman of the military subcommittee on real estate and construction, released an interim report which said the greatest single element increasing cost, which "has been staggering," was lack of planning.

It pointed out that provision had been made for future planning in an effort to meet future needs in orderly fashion and that the army construction division was taking a remedial measure to cut excessive costs wherever possible.

The house report today asserted

Ten From Gray Seek Needy Blind Checks

Applications have been received from 10 Gray county residents for aid under the needy blind part of the department of public welfare program.

The applications were taken by John E. Hessey, of the Texas Old Age assistance, a branch of the department. First applications were received Monday, a week ago; two were taken yesterday. Intake is open all the time, as no deadline has been set.

There are two parts to the application, the first determining blindness, the second, economic need. Factors determining the amount of aid are similar to those for old age assistance and include number in family, proof of age (must be over 21), verification that applicants have not solicited alms.

Just when applicants will be approved and begin receiving payments is not known. Payments will range from $5 to $30.

Starting of payments, of course, awaits final approval by the state department of public welfare.

Another new program of the department, aid to dependent children, is expected to start soon after September 1.
