Temperature Drops To 45 Degrees Here

Autumn weather made it two days in a row in Pampa today, with an overnight low of 45 degrees recorded here, believed to be the lowest in the Panhandle. A light shower accompanied the cooler weather, when a .02-inch rain fell between 1:57 and 4:35 a. m. today, the first rainfall of the month, to make the annual total to date 23.13 inches.

Monday's maximum was 75, minimum 52. Temperatures here started downward sharply at 3 a. m. today, noon to reach the 45-degree mark.

Forecast for Pampa and vicinity, the U. S. Weather bureau here states: partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; continued cool today and tonight with rising temperatures Wednesday.

The first fall northern brought widespread rains and a sudden end to shirt-sleeve temperatures in Texas today.

The moisture was welcomed by ranchmen and city folk but threatened to foster further damage to maturing cotton.

By 10 a. m. the cooling winds had extended as far south as San Antonio while heavy rains drenched drying pastures of the hill country. More was forecast.

Kerrville, where 3.25 inches fell, had received no reports of flooded creeks or bogged roads as the parched ground soaked up the moisture.

Lubbock, where the temperature dropped to 49 degrees, lowest since spring and 49 under Sunday's maximum, received 49 inches of rain. The fall was spotted over the South Plains.

At Wichita Falls rainfall totaled 2.81 inches during the night and the temperature dropped to 57.

Abilene, where the airport station recorded 2.42 inches, reported heavy rains in other central West Texas cities. A threat of increased cotton insect damage, already serious in some sections, was reported.

Other rain reports: Quanah 3.4, Brady 2.07, Eldorado 3.02, Wink 1.25, Big Spring 5.0, Seymour 1.81, Munday 1, Haskell 1.89, Stamford 1.04, Anson 5.0, Spur 2, Coleman 3.03, Brownwood 1.90, Sherman 5.8, Gainesville 5.0, Beaumont 1.0, Lufkin 3.1, Midland 2.1, Sulphur Springs 8.0, Tyler .08, San Angelo 1.27.

Officers To Attend FBI Defense School

Police Chief J. B. Wilkinson and as many city officers as can be spared will go to Amarillo on September 16 to join other Panhandle officers in a conference with Federal Bureau of Investigation agents on "internal national defense."

The meetings are a part of the FBI law enforcement officers' plan for national defense.

Officers who attend the meetings and sign the necessary pledge become part of the army of officers who are active, vigilant and alert in safeguarding the internal security of the nation, Chief Wilkinson says. These officers throughout the nation assist the FBI in battling subversive activities.

Chief Wilkinson returned recently from Washington where he attended an FBI school for selected officers of the nation.

Shoffitt Named LeFors Constable

H. J. Shoffitt of LeFors yesterday was named by the county commissioners as constable of precinct 1, to fill out the unexpired term of W. W. Cumberland, constable who was fatally shot in front of his home at LeFors on Monday, September 1.

The new constable is to serve out the unexpired term of Cumberland, which will run until January 1, 1943. Shoffitt had formerly been constable of precinct 1 and had served four years.

I HEARD . . .

That police and school officials are going to conduct a class in safety for school children, asking them to repeat the lesson to their parents, who, according to officers, need to be educated. Officers said that traffic around schools this morning was a "mess." They said that parents parked cars on wrong sides of the streets, double parked and made "U" turns in the middle of blocks. Immediately following the "education" period the officers are going to pass out tickets wholesale and they're going to see that the tickets are taken to the judge.

THE PAMPA NEWS

Vessel Flying Panamanian Flag Torpedoed 300 Miles Off Iceland

U.S. Freighter Sent To Bottom By Bomb

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The conviction grew in informed quarters here today that President Roosevelt in his address to the nation Thursday night would announce that henceforth the policy of the United States would be to meet force with force on the high seas. This belief was immeasurably strengthened by the latest incident in the sea war to touch this country's interests—the sinking of the American merchantman Steel Seafarer in the Red Sea by a bombing plane.

Although no one professed to know precisely what the chief executive would say, one informant, asking anonymity, declared he thought it safe to predict that the president would make these three points:

- 1. Germany and the world must know that this nation intends to keep open its communications with Iceland;
2. The appearance of any hostile vessel or aircraft in the area between United States and Iceland would be regarded as an effort to interfere with American communications;
3. American naval units would be ordered to open fire on any hostile ships or planes encountered thereafter in the waters between this country and Iceland.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The state department reported today that 24 crew members, including one American, were presumed lost in the torpedoing of a former Danish ship flying the Panamanian flag Aug. 17 about 300 miles southwest of Iceland.

News of the sinking, in which only three men aboard survived, came close on the heels of the sinking of the American freighter Steel Seafarer in Red Sea waters by an aerial bomb. British sources at Cairo blamed a German bomber based in Greece.

The state department announced that the torpedoed ex-Danish ship said: "The state department has been informed by the navy department that on Saturday morning, September 6, the navy picked up three surviving members of the crew of the S. S. Sessa about 300 miles southwest of Iceland.

"The state department is informed that the survivors stated that the ship had been sunk by a torpedo on August 17. Twenty-four members of the crew are unreported and presumed lost.

"There was one American citizen member of the crew. His name is lacking and he is not one of the survivors.

"The names of the three survivors have not been furnished. The Sessa was a former Danish ship which was acquired from the Danish government under the authority of the recent law permitting the taking over of idle foreign flag ships in American waters.

"The vessel was under Panamanian registry and was transporting supplies for the government of Iceland and owned by that government. Officials explained this meant the supplies were owned by the Icelandic government.

"The cargo consisted of food stuffs, cereals, lumber and other general cargo and did not include arms, ammunition or implements of war.

"The Sessa was one of the Danish flag ships reflagging in American ports which were taken over by the maritime commission under an agreement between the United States government and the Danish minister, who is still recognized here as the representative of the German dominated kingdom of Denmark.

Even before news of the Sessa's sinking was heard here it was apparent that the Steel Seafarer incident had intensified the crisis in relations between the United States and Germany on the issue of freedom of the seas.

The crew of the ship, a captain and 35 men, were reported officially to be safe.

The bombing of the Steel Seafarer, coming only a day after the Sept. 4 sea clash between the U. S. Greer and a German submarine in the north Atlantic, seemingly made a showdown inevitable with the Axis on the American interpretation of freedom of the seas.

The general expectation here was that the president would announce that henceforth the policy of the United States would be to meet force with force on the high seas.

Stukas Pound Leningrad, Nazis Claim

German siege guns were reported raining a continuous fire into Leningrad, the great industrial plant today, reinforcing the assaults of hundreds of Stuka dive bombers, while on the central front the Russians declared they had all but annihilated a Nazi army of more than 100,000 men in the maws of a "giant mauling machine."

Meanwhile, authorized quarters in Berlin denied that there was "any general order to attack American ships"—a statement closely following British assertions that a long-range Nazi bomber had sunk the unarmed American freighter Steel Seafarer in the Red sea.

Simultaneously, the state department in Washington announced that a former Danish ship taken over by the U. S. Maritime Commission and flying the Pan-American flag had been torpedoed and sunk about 300 miles southwest of Iceland Aug. 17. Twenty-four persons, including one American, were lost, the state department said.

Washington observers expressed a growing conviction that the Steel Seafarer incident would provoke a formal declaration of the United States' freedom-of-the-seas doctrine in the immediate future.

BERLIN, Sept. 9 (AP)—Leningrad, cut off from all land connection with the rest of Russia, is being shelled day and night by Nazi Stukas and battle planes, the German high command reported today.

A communique from the Fuehrer's headquarters said Leningrad and its 3,200,000 population with extensive defending forces was cut off when "speed decisions" of the German army, excellently supported by air force combat units, reached the neva of a broad front east of Leningrad.

Then a single German infantry regiment stormed across the Neva river and took Schusselburg, 21 miles east of Leningrad, the communique said.

Yesterday and last night, it was said, the German air force, concentrated on Leningrad's landing "airfields" and also directed a night raid on Moscow.

Authorized sources said the huge water works of Leningrad was among the vital facilities hit by bombs in air force action last night.

MOSCOW, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Soviet armies of the central front today were reported to have advanced.

Cade's Condition Reported Unchanged

A. E. Cade, Pampa man who was found in the Bovina station more than a week ago with a bullet in his skull, is still in a critical condition in Clovis hospital, according to word received here today. The wound is said to have been self-inflicted, according to officers.

Cade is wanted here in connection with the fatal shooting on Labor Day morning of Constable W. W. Cumberland of LeFors. Cade was found the following morning at Bovina following an extensive man-hunt in this area.

FDR's Grief A Personal Thing-- Services Private

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 9 (AP)—The somber, comforting words of the Episcopal burial service sound a solemn requiem today for Sara Delano Roosevelt, mother of the President.

On a final, familiar journey, the chief executive accompanied her down the maple-shaded driveway of the estate to which she came as a bride 61 years ago and along the usually bustling Albany Post road to weathered St. James church, where they had worshipped together so many times.

In the church-yard behind the gray, stone edifice, a final resting place awaited her among other Roosevelts who had preceded her in death.

With her distinguished son beside her bed, Mrs. Roosevelt died Sunday at the family home after a circulatory collapse brought on by her advanced age. She was nearly 87.

While all the nation, and a large segment of the rest of the world, showered the President with messages of sympathy, the grief of Franklin Delano Roosevelt was a personal thing, the tragedy of a man rather than that of a chief executive.

"Thus it was that he decided that the funeral services would be simple and private. They were scheduled to begin at 1 p. m. (C. S. T.) in the library of the spacious Roosevelt home, with the singing of Mrs. Roosevelt's favorite hymn, "O, Love That Will Not Let Me Go," by a choir of eight from St. James church.

To the rector of St. James, the Rev. Frank R. Wilson was assigned the reading of the inspiring prayers and Biblical passages which comprise the Episcopal order for the burial of the dead.

The chief executive was deeply devoted to his mother and her death could not be less than a blow to him. But he was described as "bearing up well under the strain."

In the midst of his bereavement, Mr. Roosevelt was unable wholly to escape his tasks which confront the man in the White House. Papers of one sort or another had to be signed and hurried back to Washington at regular intervals.

No Order Changing Production Received

The local office of the Texas Railroad commission has received no official notice from Austin that beginning October 1 the Panhandle district will produce on a formula based 25 per cent on acreage and 75 per cent on wells.

The order was signed by the commission last week to replace the 20-barrel allowable on Panhandle wells. Under the new plan wells capable of making more than 20 barrels daily will be given larger allowables.

The order didn't say whether the Panhandle would be given a larger allowable or not. "All we know about the order is what we've read in the papers," commission employes said today.

Late News

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP)—British naval forces in the Arctic have sunk three German ships supplying troops on the Russian Arctic front and in addition probably have sunk the German warship Bremse, the admiralty announced today.

(The German high command acknowledged that the Bremse, described as a 1,400-ton artillery cadet ship on convoy duty, had been lost after a short and fierce fight with the British.)

BIGGEST DEFENSE BOOM—The world's largest navy warns the world with a voice of thunder as three huge 16-inch rifles on the newly-commissioned U. S. S. North Carolina roar in unison, hurling their shells about 26 miles to sea. Silhouetted against the Atlantic sea, the world's most powerful ship fired, for the first time, all her tremendous armament, from 50 caliber machine guns to the great 16-inch "thunderers."

Churchill Wishes For 'Greater Help'

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, Sept. 9—Prime Minister Churchill in a sweeping review of the war today expressed the wish for "greater help" from the American navy and warned that Adolf Hitler may come to "close quarters" with the United States and turn the whole Atlantic into one vast war zone.

Addressing the house of commons, assembled for the first time since Aug. 6, Churchill declared bluntly that the battle of the Atlantic was not yet won.

An implication that both Britain and the United States were ready for Atlantic eventualities was in his statement that "strong British and United States forces" in Iceland now include "some very considerable United States and British naval and air forces."

The Prime Minister gave the British people a somewhat cheering picture of the battle of the seas, with a sudden increase in British successes in the past two months, but he made it plain that there was a long fight ahead.

Churchill told a cheering home: "The Germans are much hampered on the American part of the Atlantic by fear of trouble with the powerful American naval forces which ceaselessly patrol the approaches to the western hemisphere. This has been a help to us but I wish it might be a greater help.

"The enemy's tactics may change. No doubt Hitler would rather finish off Russia and Britain before coming to close quarters with the United States."

"Hitler has, however, also the greatest possible need to prevent precious munition supplies now streaming across the Atlantic in pursuance of the policy of the Ministerial Alliance, it was announced today by Rev. R. G. West, secretary.

The ministerial group particularly commended the Salvation Army for its charity work and the manner in which it handles charity cases. "While the churches recognize their responsibility for charity cases in their own membership, they appreciate the fact that the Salvation Army takes care of all other charity claimants," Secretary West said today.

The Rev. E. A. Norris, pastor of the Christian church, will be the principal speaker at kick-off breakfast next week. Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lions, Kiwanis, and Rotary clubs will furnish fund sollicitors. The drive will open on Wednesday of next week and close the following Saturday night.

General Manager Of Texas Prison System Fired

HOUSTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Declining to give a specific reason, the prison board announced the discharge of O. J. S. Ellingson, general manager of the Texas prison system, after a day-long meeting yesterday.

In disclosing the board's action, Dr. Sidney M. Lister, chairman, said merely that "the majority just thought a change would help the prison system."

"Ellingson has been a very efficient man and has worked hard and earnestly and untiringly," Dr. Lister added. "But there was an unsettled condition in the prison system, just a lot of turmoil, and they voted him out."

It was reported the vote was six to one. At Huntsville Ellingson declared last night that he had worked for the best interest of the prison system at all times, even though he did not have the support of some board members.

The discharge will be effective Oct. 1. A successor will be recommended by a committee comprising Dr. Lister, Riley Wyatt of San Antonio, Denver Chesnut of Kenedy and Paul Sanderson of Trinity.

O'Daniel Hillbilly Operating Elevator

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—At least one member of Senator W. Lee O'Daniel's hillbilly band has obtained employment in Washington.

Bundy Bratcher of Lubbock, who plays the accordion, is operating an elevator in the capital's senate wing. Bratcher said he considered the $1,000-a-year job temporary and that he hoped to get a better post in some other government department.

Nye Trying To Divide People, Says Willkie

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie charged today, at the opening of a senate committee inquiry into war propaganda, that Senator Nye (R-N. D.) was seeking to "divide the American people into discordant racial and religious groups, or to disunite them over the United States foreign policy."

Willkie, representing the motion picture industry at the hearing, made these charges in a formal statement handed to the press shortly after Nye began testifying on a resolution, by Nye and Senator Clark (D-Mo.), proposing an investigation into propaganda.

Salvation Army Goal In Finance Drive Is $5,000

Pampa's annual Salvation Army financial drive which opens with a kick-off breakfast of fund sollicitors in Schneider hotel a week from tomorrow, is being furthered this week with the work of the advance gifts group.

County Judge Sherman White, chairman of the board, said today this portion of the fund-raising program was going ahead nicely.

The goal for the Salvation Army is $5,000, the same as last year. At its regular meeting yesterday the drive was endorsed by the Pampa power to feed propaganda to the American people.

The North Dakota senator, first witness at the hearing conducted by an interstate commerce subcommittee, contended that several films already have been released which "have served to drive some Americans under their very beds for fear of Hitler and his minions."

Denied the right to interrupt, Willkie passed reporters sitting nearby a mimeographed statement by way of reply to testimony given by Nye in a lengthy statement the North Dakota senator was reading.

Willkie, the 1940 republican presidential nominee, said in the statement that Nye's purposes in asking for the propaganda inquiry appeared from his testimony to be three-fold.

Nye, appearing under oath after Chairman Clark (D-Isho) had ruled that Willie could not cross-examine witnesses, asserted that four or five movie magnates held the power to feed propaganda to the American people.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART Now that your figure is slim and trim and firm after summer months of swimming and plenty of outdoor exercise, resolve to keep it that way. If, come October first, you give up all outdoor exercise, as you did last winter, you know very well what the results will be. By January first, you will have gained a few pounds; your arms and legs will be flabby; your chinline not so smooth and tight as it is now.

It might be smart to pattern indoor exercises after the outdoor ones which have been most beneficial, then to begin to do them in September.

If you know very well that swimming has been excellent for your figure and has put you in top-notch physical condition, plan to do swimming exercises at home. You can practice the crawl stroke while lying across a narrow bed or a study table. The breast stroke—to be done while sitting or standing or lying across a table—will keep your pectoral muscles firm, arms trim.

WALK YOUR WAY INTO CONDITION

Unless you live where it is warm the year around, long walks will have to be substituted for golf. Get into the habit of walking to market instead of taking a bus or a taxi. Now and then go for a walk instead of a drive on Sunday afternoon.

Skipping rope is a fair winter substitute for tennis—from the standpoint of retaining a slim figure, that is.

And then, of course, there are plenty of simple exercises which, if done regularly and correctly, will keep your figure in good shape. It's better to select five exercises and then to do each of these 20 times a day than to try a different set every few days and never stick to them long enough to derive any real benefit.

Three meals were prepared and served by the division. Games of ping pong, darts, and Chinese checkers were played during the day. A short hike and fishing were the afternoon activities. A watermelon feast was held before bedtime. The division arrived in Pampa the following afternoon in cars.

Girls attending were Barbara Norris, Nadine Kelly, Betty Myatt, Beverly Baker, Bobbie McClelland, Alice Robinson, Joyce Oswald, and Mary Myatt. The leader and co-leaders making the trip were Mrs. A. D. Robinson and Mrs. Clyde Oswald, as well as Miss Sallie Cahill, Girl Scout director.

Glenn Martin Says War Will Last Two Years And Hitler Won't Win

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 9.—Germany will not win the war. The aircraft industry will continue to grow in the commercial field after the defense effort is over. The present war will last two years, probably three. If the United States is invaded it will come from the north or south and not either coast. These were a few highlights of a "conversation" Glenn L. Martin, internationally famous aircraft builder, interviewed here recently.

Notes On Way Down
Bomber builder Martin said he welcomes the chance to "visit" with his former townsmen. It was in Santa Ana that Martin made his first airplane.

Sees Commercial Progress
In making a prediction that commercial aviation would take an upswing after the defense effort is over, Martin explained that recent advances in aerodynamics have greatly reduced the cost of air transportation but the developments are now being used for military ships.

Hints Sabotage
"It's the slickest thing you ever saw," he said. Martin strongly hinted that saboteurs were behind the crash of a Martin-built bomber in which the bomb sight had been placed for a trial run with government officials.

Official Secret
In talking about American built airplanes, Martin said that he was not permitted to disclose the performance of the various ships. Germany, he said, has pursued ships capable of 400 miles an hour. Then, with a quiet smile, Martin added that "I don't think any of our American manufacturers would admit that the Germans can build faster planes than we can."

Perryton Man Hurt In Collision On Canadian Street

CANADIAN, Sept. 9.—Ted Slaven of Perryton is in the Canadian hospital with a seriously injured arm, suffered in an automobile accident around 10:30 p. m. Sunday. Billy Pendergraft was driving the other car, Gerald Sprague, also of Canadian, riding with him.

The two cars were considerably damaged in what was termed a side-swipe collision, the accident occurring in the street between the First Baptist church and J. F. Oehlert's residence in Canadian.

Light-colored clothing is more comfortable because it reflects the heat which dark clothes absorb.

Panhandle Packing Company To Hold Opening Tomorrow

Celebrating the completion of a two-months remodeling and re-equipping job, the Panhandle Packing company, 1700 Alock, tomorrow will hold a formal grand opening from 1 to 7 p. m. Barbecue and other products of the plant will be served to visitors. The entire plant has been re-equipped in the job that started in July and was completed this week. Most important feature of the new equipment is perhaps the sterilizer, a device that kills mold and bacteria by selective ultraviolet rays. So effectively does this equipment operate that the fixture temperature can be raised a number of degrees without danger of spoilage. Mold, like grass, have roots that penetrate the food, dissolving and absorbing the food substance. Waste products of the mold plants impart a bitter taste and objectionable odor to the meat. With the steriloid system, used by the Panhandle Packing company, both mold plants and mold spores are destroyed. This definite protection against mold is particularly important in the aging of meat. There are three other major ad-antages in using this system; controlled higher temperature, higher humidity, and proper air circulation. Stereoid, though the most important, is only one of the many improvements that have been made in the plant. New steam boilers have been installed as well as numerous other devices. Persons who visit the plant tomorrow will reveal in the sight of fires from Arkansas hickory smoking hams. The entire plant, which measures 70x48 feet, is clean, free from all objectionable odors, and handles a variety of products, including their specialty, made and packaged in the plant under its own brand—Panhandle Packing company barbecued beef loaf. At the slaughter house, located at the rear of the 70 x 48 foot building, the plant butchers 150 hogs a week, and around 20 head of cattle a day. The company opened in February, 1939, with Sam C. Dunn and D. M. Lowrance as owners. In all, there are 13 persons on the plant's payroll, the others being Gertie Ekern, bookkeeper; G. N. Suttle and Ralph Starnage, salesmen; Dossy Whaley, sausage room foreman, and Dan Clancy and Sam Wade; Merton Leith and John Briscoe, butchers; Bobby Anderson, delivery-man; L. W. Maloy and A. W. Kittens, part time employees.

IF ALL THE CLAIMS HAVE BEEN CORRECT

THE GERMANS BY NOW MUST HAVE CAPTURED ALL THE RUSSIAN ARMIES AND RUSSIAN EQUIPMENT

AND THE RUSSIANS MUST HAVE CAPTURED SO MANY GERMANS AND GERMAN MACHINES

THAT ALL THE RUSSIAN TANKS, PLANES, ETC. MUST NOW BE ON THE GERMAN SIDE. AND VICE VERSA.

AND RUSSIA IS NOW BEING DEFENDED BY GERMAN PRISONERS AGAINST AN INVADING ARMY OF CAPTURED RUSSIANS.

No War Profits This Time

It would be taking in too much territory, obviously, to suggest that no "war profits" are going to be made out of the war itself or the defense drive in the United States.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all"

Best evidence is the rather remarkable performance of New York stock exchange stocks during the past two years.

This has happened, and it is almost unbelievable: The New York Herald-Tribune's composite stock index stood at 101.18 on Aug. 31, 1939.

To anyone who recalls the feverish market speculation of the first two years of the World War, and the munitions industry fattened on war orders from the Allies, this seems incredible.

If it means anything, it means that nobody believes that the large companies whose stock is listed on the exchange are going to make any startling profits.

It would be too much to claim that defense is being achieved without "war profits." There may be, and probably will be some. But not on anything like the World War I scale and not as a general thing.

The Nation's Press

THE NAVY'S KEARNEY LABOR POLICY

It confirmed in practice, the most important announcement of labor policy which has come out of Washington in many months proceeds from a spokesman for the Office of Production Management.

From a strictly neutral viewpoint, this is logical and equitable, since it proposes government operation, on a hoped-to-be-temporary basis, on terms which, as far as they went, were satisfactory to both sides.

This is immensely important, directly and by implication. If it expresses, as it seems to do, official government policy in this and possibly similar future cases of the kind, it means that defense is not going on a closed shop basis.

Many Unequal Laws

On the other hand, there are many laws that disregard the law of equal freedom and promote inequality of rights.

All graduated income tax laws, charging a man for adding to the wealth of the world; all gift tax laws that penalize a man for transferring his wealth from one person to another;

The Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, that makes it legal for the working men and farmers to combine to prevent other workers and farmers from having equal rights and not violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

The Wagner Law is certainly a violation of the law of equal freedom because it prevents the employer from having the right of choice in selecting his help, no matter what the labor unions stand for, but permits the labor racketeers to determine who may work and who may not work.

The Agricultural laws that permit those who have been raising wheat to raise wheat and does not permit those who have not been raising wheat to raise wheat without a penalty is a violation of the law of equal freedom.

It is little wonder that we are so excited about the growth of Germany and the fear of German tyranny in our country. If we continue to practice these discriminatory laws, we will become so poverty-stricken that any country that has any semblance of management can take us over.

Our most serious wickedness is a violation of the law of equal freedom.

never had to take over important defense industries to keep production going as has already happened twice during the present effort.

Such as it is, however, the Mediation Board is the President's sole accredited agency for the resolving of major labor differences vitally affecting defense production.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9—A few cattle run on Agoura Mesa, Sept. 9.

Agoura Mesa is one of Hollywood's favorite battlegrounds. Caesar's legions, Napoleon's cavalry, Cornwallis' red-coats, Grant's Federals and Pochs' polus fought, bled and died there.

The Social Security law that permits the government to take a certain fraction of what different workers produce is a violation of the law of equal freedom. It violates this law because the steady, dependent worker is penalized.

The Wagner Law is certainly a violation of the law of equal freedom because it prevents the employer from having the right of choice in selecting his help, no matter what the labor unions stand for, but permits the labor racketeers to determine who may work and who may not work.

The Agricultural laws that permit those who have been raising wheat to raise wheat and does not permit those who have not been raising wheat to raise wheat without a penalty is a violation of the law of equal freedom.

It is little wonder that we are so excited about the growth of Germany and the fear of German tyranny in our country. If we continue to practice these discriminatory laws, we will become so poverty-stricken that any country that has any semblance of management can take us over.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

The Francis Ahear red says that if you hear a wild rumor or a choice piece of gossip, just say to the person who tells you, "would you be willing to put that in writing so I can check up on it?"

Several business people missed Billy Mounts when he left Sunday to work his way through the University of Texas. Two of these were Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Lee of the Pampa Wholesale where Bill worked for more than three years.

The plant rents for $100 a day, very reasonable considering its scenic adaptability and nearness to Hollywood. It's circled by mountains and today the Malibus are doubling for the Black Hills and the Sierras are considered a satisfactory likeness of the Rockies. Not the least advantage is the fact that in no direction is there a hill and Indian in town, together with whatever Mexicans, Filipinos and Hawaiians can stick on a horse. They get $11 a day with an extra $5 for every deliberate fall.

There are a few timid ones, such as the dare-devil who always gallops along about 50 yards behind the pack. Members of the company call him The Reluctant Dragon.

Two riders were killed in different phases of the wild charge in which some 600 Indians sweep over the brow of a hill and encircle Custer and his troops. Serious accidents almost invariably occur in these big, violent super-doopers. On a single day, 20 riders were hurt, four seriously, in deliberate falls. One of these died later. The previous tragedy occurred when the stunter was impaled on his own saber.

Flynn is back in his boots and ready to go down fighting in "They Died With Their Boots On." As the temperamental weather permits, they're taking the closeups now, and the nearer they get, the more details of individual encounters and spectacular falls. Actually, though, there has been a decrease in injuries because the riders have been reduced to less than 300 and most of the excitement is provided by a score of top professionals.

The whopps and shooting will be dubbed in later because it's necessary for Walsh's orders to dominate the current film. After a take, as the dust still swirls and fallen men get up and catch their horses, the director roars: "Two men are down out there. Get busy, you first aid crew!"

Two ambulances streak for a couple of small groups surrounding the casualties. Presently there's a report: "They're okay. One's skinned up and a horse stepped on the other. Nothing bust. It's Benny Corbett. He says next scene give him a fall he can get paid for. This one he did for free."

Walsh grins and says: "Benny did that so I wouldn't overlook him. Known him 15 years. Toughest little cowboy in pictures. Okay, Russ—give Benny a fall next time."

Highlights From Latest Books

Native Americans tend to take their Americanism for granted, like their morning coffee, or as the Norwegians took their freedom. Maybe this country could stand a shot of non-Goebbelized propaganda, something strong enough to jar the "so-called" attitude of policy patriots and possibly put some intellectual muscle in the army morale-building program.

Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and Samuel Adams get a reportorial treatment from Dos Passos that gives their fight for freedom a 1940 slant. His chapters on these published patriots, Roger Williams, Joel Barlow and Hugh Henry Brackenridge, make history talk.

It may not impress you that almost everybody in America wears a clean shirt every day, but that's what Attilio Piccirilli, the sculpture, noticed immediately. And in the same volume, William S. Knudsen remembers the pilot coming aboard the boat that brought the OPM divestiture to America. There were no uniforms, no fuss, no salutes. Emil Ludwig was astounded to see a man clean and neat on the side of his shoe right in the August presence. Other contributors include Senator Robert F. Wagner, Claudette Colbert, Albert Einstein, Tony Sarg and Judge Ferdinand Pecora.

"True Steel" (Bobbs-Merrill: $3) is the story of a man who renounces his job and his home, develops the wide-strip rolling mill and made industrial history. This biography of George M. Verity, dean of American steel-makers, by Christy Borth, is a valuable and readable addition to the annals of business in the United States.

So They Say

I would rather own a U. S. bond which is part of a national indebtedness of 150 billion dollars than the Hitler out of the world, than a bond which is part of a 50-billion-dollar debt with Hitler still in the world.

America's problems are for America to solve. We do not think for America. It is up to her to decide her own business.

Why was it necessary for the Nazis to shackle German women? I think it was necessary because women's interests, her drives, and her values are always toward the fuller, freer life.

There is no justification whatever in dipping further into the poor man's income until adequate excess profits levies are made.

Unless the whole resources and total energy of the free world are thrown into the struggle, the war may drag on for years.

Thousands of people still believe in that superstition originating in ancient Egypt, that the aspens lead quivers because of horror, since Christ was supposed to have been crucified upon a cross made of aspen wood.

The intolerant are completely enslaved by their own destructive behavior.

DR. DAVID M. D. LEVY, N. Y.

News Clearing House
Dear Editor,
A critic challenges my attitude towards socialism as unethical and unfair. This leads to the question: By what principle does he judge what is unfair and unethical? He admits "it is true that many different writers have had different ideas"—different ideas of what? Is not this an admission that socialism is so ambiguous that no two persons can agree as to its content or ultimate goal? If socialism was based on the natural law or principle of social evolution this admitted ignorance could be eliminated. There must be a norm by which to judge what is true or false. But in lieu of a norm we must use the alternate method of judging the ideology by its results. An ancient philosopher gave this rule: "By their fruits you shall know them, because a rotten tree cannot bear good fruit."

Students of anthropology admit that all nations have a code of ethics by which they judge what is right or wrong. However, my critic admits that socialism has no such code of ethics, nor any principle by which to judge right action, except the law of the jungle, the majority rule, the mob, the violence of an irrational nation. Even so-called pacifist nations have a norm of conduct to govern social relations equivalent to the Ten Commandments which Moses plagiarized from the Babylonians, and later palmed them off, as given by divine revelation, on the Hebrews. Their origin they constitute the universal norm of human relationship. Therefore, if we judge socialism by these universal principles we can correct many misbeliefs of both capital and labor. For these reasons we contend that the present social order will be solved by a restatement of religion—not by force, coercion, militarism, socialism, unionism, or politics.

The fruits of socialism are apparent in Nazism, Fascism, Bolshevism, communism, and the New Deal. They all accomplish the same results, with varying degrees of violence: viz. unemployment, coercion, tyranny, servitude, disregard of inherent human rights, class hatred, covetousness, immorality, and bestial animality.

We summarize this pagan, destructive ideology into the Ten Commandments of Socialism embryonic and national:—

- 1. Thou shalt have no other god but the central labor committee, your union leader, or the dictator of the national socialist state.
2. Thou shalt not make to thyself any ideology except that which is embodied in the constitution of your local union or socialist state; thou shalt not bow down to any authority except the labor leaders and the labor hierarchy.
3. Thou shalt not take the name of thy labor leaders in vain, nor ask any question about excessive dues, nor what is done with your assessments.
4. Remember your day and thy day to keep them holy, dedicated to perpetuate increasing hatred against capitalism, the profit motive, and unorganized labor.
5. Honor thy father provided he carries a union card, and thy mother as she keeps them holy against injustice, immorality, and violence.
6. Thou shalt commit murder without conscience whenever instructed by your strike leader, especially when on picket duty.
7. Thou shalt commit adultery as a protest against the capitalistic system, individual rights, personal investigations, and moral responsibility.
8. Thou shalt steal in the interest of the labor movement, doing the least amount of work for the highest wage possible; thou shalt also outlaw, blackmail and handicap in every way possible all efforts of honest, unorganized labor.
9. Thou shalt bear false witness in order to uphold the cause of organized labor, or the integrity of the local union, in their attempt to destroy the capitalism free enterprise, and the profit system.
10. Thou shalt covet everything that is thy neighbor's. Thou shalt covet his lands, his property, his profits, his inherent rights of freedom, and every effort which has been blessed by the abundance of success, in the interest of a unified national socialist state.
We make no apology for the foregoing indictment, because an unbiased study of the results of national socialism attained in Europe will prove their truthfulness.
The critic wishes to know my attitude towards the Bible. Briefly, we do not consider it as verbally inspired nor inerrant. It is not an infallible guide, nor can it be used as the final authoritative court of appeal regarding socialism, because it also champions the cause of capitalism, free enterprise, and the profit motive. We say without fear of successful contradiction: Jesus was not a socialist, nor did he advocate communism as a remedy for world problems or social injustice. He taught that all men had the inherent right of liberty of soul, powers of self-determination, personal responsibility, the separation of church and state, the right for every man to enjoy God's

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—If you'll forgive a busy pun, there is no spicier reading ament this week than what it does to you than the chapter on the spice trade. For if any business goes into the romantic out-of-the-way parts of this war-weary sphere and really lays claim to being world-wide in its ramifications, it is the international business that in final transaction puts a 19-cent tin of flavoring or seasoning on the pantry shelf. With battles raging all over the place, spice men are as upset as a stomach full of red peppers.

Take the stuff that gives sausage the tang and makes old bread crusts palatable when served to you as dressing. Most of the sage used in the United States before the war came from Yugoslavia. Hiller, Muscetti & Co. having possession of that land, the price of sage skyrocketed from 10 cents to $1.30 a pound in eight months and there just isn't any being imported today.

France was a source of many spices—raisin seed for sweet pickles, celery seed, cummin, and poppy seeds that adorned rye bread and fancy rolls came principally from the Netherlands. Holland, too, was a principal source for imported mustard, but here is one spice that the United States can and does grow, though not in quantity sufficient to supply all domestic needs. For the last five years, about half of the U. S. consumption was home grown and the other half imported from Holland, China, Rumania and Denmark. But more than 20 million pounds a year made it a million-dollar business.

Lack of shipping space is the principal factor interfering with trade in the spices which came from India although the sea routes to there and back are technically open. Fenel was the principal import from India, though it also exported celery seed, cardamom, pepper and cummin. Iraq also was a source of fennel, and Hungary, Bulgaria, Spain, Portugal and even Soviet Russia.

All these separate sea spices used to amount for nearly $3 million worth of world trade, including the cayennes and red peppers from Japan and Mexico.

It's when you get into the spices grown in inland countries, the spices which can't be grown at all in the United States, that you run into the big money. This is a $10 million annual import, and this is the value of the raw materials before they are prepared or packed.

A good many of these spices are and are grown in Mexico and the Caribbean islands, but it takes five years to get a nutmeg tree bearing, six for the cassia and cinnamon, seven for allspice, and from four to six for the ginger. There is too short and the lack of shipping space for imports from the Dutch East Indies, now that more rubber and tin have to be hauled for defense industries, makes everyone realize how important these islands are to the United States.

French possessions also contribute other spices to the shelf, principally cloves from Zanzibar and Madagascar. And if you have thought it makes no difference in your life whether the Japanese occupy French Indo-China, it's well to realize that the country is a source of cassia and both white and black peppers. Still another effect of the Japanese war has been on imports of Chinese ginger and cassia, all of which used to clear through Hong Kong. Most of the ginger, however, will continue to come from British West Africa and Jamaica.

Copies of The Midnight Sun, an English language newspaper published by the British force in Laugaradginn, Iceland, have reached the Navy department, and they reveal what may or may not be considered news up there. Icelandic journalists were sent on an unmet to England so they could present the native Icelanders with descriptions of what the British people were like. The words of the Star-Spangled Banner were printed in English, not Icelandic, so the natives could sing with the marines. Under the heading, "What to See Round Reykjavik," are these gems: "At the head of the street called Skolavordstigur to the east, which contains the little used squat prison, stands a Galahadised viking statue of Leifur Heppni, who discovered America in 1000, presented by the U. S. A. . . . Half a mile down hill from here is the park with some welcome grass. . . . Across the park stands the dignified University building built out of the proceeds of a lottery. . . . Two miles east of the town along Laugarvegur in the district Lauganes are some hot springs, utilized for laundries and baths. A scheme for actually heating the whole town is waiting completion after the war. . . . Iceland does not lend itself happily to towns."

According to the dictates of his own conscience. All these ideas are paradoxical to socialism, therefore we can conclude that socialism is purely pagan, non-Christian, and destructive to true Americanism.

AMARILLO FAVORED TO WIN DISTRICT GRID TITLE AGAIN

Lubbock Next 1941 Choice Of Experts

The Amarillo Golden Sandies have been established favorites in District IAA with Lubbock a possible contender in a survey just completed by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and released today.

Pampa's Harvesters are considered strong with Borger being the darkhorse of the conference and the team to watch in 1942.

The complete schedule of each team in District IAA and some hope on each team follows:

Nov. 1—Port Worth North Side at Amarillo.
Nov. 11—Borger at Amarillo.

Oct. 16—Pampa vs. El Paso High at El Paso.

PLAINVIEW HIGH SCHOOL BULLDOGS
Head coach: Jerome Vannoy.
Season's schedule:
Oct. 24—Plainview at Lubbock.
Sept. 12—Olney at Plainview.
Sept. 19—Plainview at Abilene.
Sept. 26—Lamesa at Plainview.

Oct. 24—Plainview at Big Spring.
Nov. 11—Pampa at Plainview.
Nov. 20—Lubbock at Plainview.
Nov. 29—Amarillo at Plainview.

PROSPECTS—With only four letters back, the Bulldogs can be counted out of the District IAA race. But Nicklaus is cooking up gridiron magic despite shortage of material, and you can look for Borger to turn in one or two stunning upsets. And watch out in 1942.

PROSPECTS—As usual, the Westerners will win most of their games. Keyes has a veteran squad and some good prospects for the Cowboys. Good enough to win almost any district except District One—and maybe good enough to win District One.

PROSPECTS—Plenty of critics will tell you the Bulldogs had the second best team in the state last year. With the three Mason brothers and four other letterman back, Vannoy will have the nucleus of a good team.

PROSPECTS—The Harvesters have more returning lettermen than any other team in the district and may be very hard to beat.

Dodgers 7-2 Favorites As They Start On Trip

Under a painting of the late Howard Jones, Willis O. Hunter, left, athletic director at University of Southern California, congratulates Justin M. "Sam" Barry as he takes over duties as head coach for the Trojan football team.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Even the bookmakers finally have discovered Brooklyn is still in the National League.

For the first time since the pennant pot started to sizzle, the West 49th Street betters in the Knickerbocker's village have put the Brooklyn up as favorites to hang onto their three-game lead through the last western whirl they start today, and go on to the championship.

On the latest prices, you have to lay $50 to win $1 if you like Brooklyn. On the other hand, if you're still stringing along with old St. Lou, you can get $2.50 for each $1 you put up. The $1 difference is what is known as the bookies' spread.

What finally convinced the betting boys was the three game game edge the dodgers built up, but also the fact that the schedule the rest of the way definitely leans far over in Brooklyn's favor.

Looking beyond the action for the next couple of days (the Cards tangle with the pathetic Phillies and the Brooklyn's right on the Chicago Cubs) you come right up and say howdy to the hot Dodger-Cardinals series Thursday, Friday and Saturday in St. Louis. If things Thursday are still as they are today, the Missouri Mutuals sweep that set in order to come charging back into the fight.

If they don't do that thing, the Cards can't look for any relief the rest of the way. For still in front of them are six contests with Chicago and although the Cards won the National league's sixth-place team, Billy Southworth's sluggers have just managed to break even in 16 games played to date with Jimmy Wilson's wallpapers.

Both leagues took a holiday yesterday.

Quote, Unquote
Branch Rickey (a few days ago): "If Terry Moore gets back in the lineup, he will be all over and Marshall will be wearing sackcloth and ashes. . . It doesn't look very good for Moore."

Rumor Market
If Gabby Hartnett believes everything he hears, he has a hunch that the Cubs will be in the lead next year. Current stories have him (1) managing the Giants next year while Bill Terry moves to the front office, and (2) managing Jersey City. . . The Phils haven't said anything, but the baseball writers think DeLoach is out and Hans Lobert will be manager next year. . . Down in Atlanta they hear that Marty Marion, who used to play there, will be traded by the Cards to the Dodgers. . . Louisville scribbles aren't so sure that Johnny Pesky will be filling Joe Cronin's brogans next season. They think he is a year or two away. . . Local report is that it cost the Dodgers Babe Phelps' full year's pay and a bonus to persuade him to retire so he could take on another man in his place.

Today's Guest Star
Jack Singer, N. Y. Journal-American: "Several critics attach sinister significance to the fact the Giants are going on the road at the same time the comedians are coming back on the radio. They imply the Giants just can't stand competition."

One-Minute Sport Page
Ben Jones will ship Whirlaway to Narragansett today to run in the $25,000 special Saturday. . . Zeke Bonura hopes to be out of the army before the American association playoffs are over. "Little" Dave O'Brien, the G-man, now weighs 178 pounds, about 28 more than when he played for T. C. U. . . J. Ham Lorimer, who used to manage Max Baer and once owned Lou Nova, is in a San Francisco army hospital. . . Conny Smythe, the big horse and hockey man from Toronto, may abandon both for the duration. . . He's hoping to get into Canada's active army. . . Wants you a ball club? Gerry Nugent says you can have the Phils if you buy $500,000 on the line and take over some of the club's debts. . . In Russia, it is the custom of the bride to wear a garland of wormwood to denote the bitterness of marriage.

Two Harvester Reserve Centers Suffer Injuries

First injury jinx of the 1941 football season hit the Pampa Harvesters yesterday when Earl Snyder and Harry Kerbow, only center reserves of the squad, failed to respond to the practice call.

Snyder was out with a broken finger and Kerbow with a cracked rib, both suffered during a light workout Saturday when a few of the boys who didn't work reported for practice. Both boys will be ready to go opening game which will be on the night of September 19 with Burk Burnett's tough Bulldogs here for the one night.

Snyder received his broken finger when on defense during a light scrimmage he was warded off a blocker but stuck his finger into his opponent's forehead. The finger is in splints which will keep Snyder from active work for a week or so. Kerbow suffered the cracked rib during a tackling drill when he hit his man a little too hard and a little high. The rib was not broken, just cracked.

One missing Harvester reported for practice yesterday afternoon. He was Tom Cox, reserve end from last year's team. Cox had been visiting in California and just arrived home. He will challenge Ott, Flanagan, Shotwell and Allen at the ends.

The Harvesters will continue to work out twice daily through this week. Coach Buck Franjean and Mac Best announced yesterday. Classes will not begin until next Monday which will give the Harvesters a chance to absorb knowledge twice daily.

Sterilization Of Prisoners Favored
HOUSTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Dr. S. M. Lister, chairman of the Texas Prison Board, favors sterilization of "a certain group of prisoners" and believes "that the day will soon come when all states will have a law to provide for this mode of protecting our future generations."

In reporting to the board on a meeting of the American prison congress at San Francisco last month, Dr. Lister said "just who to sterilize and who not to sterilize will, of course, be our problem. I firmly believe that all criminal insanity and all guilts of multiple recidivism should be sterilized."

'We're Going To Have Good Team,' Says Neely Of Rice

(This is another in a series of articles on Southwest Conference football prospects.)

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
HOUSTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Rice's tactician, Jess Neely, looked over half a hundred brawny youngsters and commented:

"We're going to have a good team." That, confided Mrs. Neely, is quite a statement for the drawing mentor to make.

"That means," she explained, "that he doesn't really have a team." Neely doesn't talk much and when he does each word is carefully measured.

Mrs. Neely, quite a football fan and critic, was a little surprised at Jess making such a statement. For the conservative Neely this was tantamount to "putting himself on the spot."

"He never tells anybody anything," she explained. "The sports writers rave at him, but it's not just toward sports writers that he has that attitude. Why, take me. I'll say, 'Jess when will you be home.' 'Oh I don't know; maybe Wednesday, maybe Thursday,' he'll reply."

Rice enters the campaign with a dearth of experienced tackles. Only one letterman, Billy Heard, returns. Battering Bob Brumley, high scorer of the conference last season, again will run at fullback and he's known as the master of Neely's intricate offense. He's the pivot for Jess' puzzling spinner.

The being depended upon to give Rice its one-two punch is Dick Dwell, 173-pound blond from Dallas, whose passing and running have become the talk of the Owl camp.

Rice has 16 lettermen. Neely had planned on 17, but Gene Keel, passing star from Masonic Home, decided not to return to school. Neely sums it up by saying the line will not be as strong as last season, but the backfield should prove just as good.

Flashes Of Life
(By The Associated Press)
GLENDORA, N. J.—Chews Methodist church has asked its pastor to quit the pulpit for a year to help build warships for Uncle Sam.

The action came after the Rev. Alexander Kerney, 35, preached both morning and evening sermons Sunday, then donned overalls to work a full night shift at the New York Shipbuilding company's yards in nearby Camden. As a machinist, he makes twice as much as his $100 a month and paragonage as a pastor.

"If he can make more on a defense job, that is the place where he should go," said Chairman Raymond Rowand of the pastor's relations committee.

KANSAS CITY—A black cat ran in front of Paul Martinson's automobile. He jammed on the brakes. The car spun, knocked a speed zone marker 50 feet, bowled over a small box and hit a tree at the bottom of a six-foot ditch.

The judge fixed bond at $100 on a careless driving charge.

HELENA, Mont.—A black cat leaped onto the bench as the prisoner answered "guilty, your honor" to a charge of petit larceny. The judge assessed the limit-six months in jail.

Betty Jameson Ties Four For Medalist Honors

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 9 (AP)—The east's solid ranks in the Women's National golf championship are due to suffer a severe shattering today when the 64 survivors engage in the opening round match play at The Country Club.

A total of 37 easterners managed to qualify by carding 89 or better yesterday when Defending Champion Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., launched her campaign for her third straight title by finishing in a four-way tie for the medalist honors. Today 22 of those victors were paired.

Sharing the spotlight with the attractive Texan miss were three competent eastern rivals who also managed to post three-over 76s for their qualifying tests, Grace Amory of Locust Valley, N. Y., Jean Bauer, the Rhode Island champion, and Alice Belanger from nearby Beverly.

Closely pressing them was Barbara Ransom of Stockton, Cal., who carded a 77, and bunched with 78s were such title threats as Mrs. James Ferris of Long Beach, Cal., one of the 1940 semi-finalists, and two southerners, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Greensboro, N. C., the 1937 victor, and Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Tex. The only other in the field of 116 to break 80 was Dorothy Kirby, the Atlantic Star, who made it by a stroke.

Mrs. Jameson drew Janet Younker of White Plains, N. Y., who qualified with an 84, for her first round engagement.

SERIAL STORY

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: While Judy Allen is waiting at LaGuardia Airport to interview a famous fashion expert...

CHAPTER II

THERE were four paragraphs on the front page of the newspaper. Four paragraphs encircled in a heavy black line.

Her wide, brown eyes became darker, deeper, lonelier. The story was brief, terse, final. It didn't tell about the string of records Sandy had hung up.

It did say, though, that no radio communications with Sandy had been established for 10 hours. It was thought that no time had been given the flyer to radio for help.

She read again the small head above the single column.

FLYER BELIEVED DEAD; RESCUE SQUAD UNABLE TO FIND MISSING PLANE BELIEVED DEAD.

Then nobody knew that he was dead. Slowly the words began to take clearer meaning. Perhaps Sandy waited somewhere. Oh, of course she couldn't wing her thoughts to him!

The air was filled with traffic noises, radio sounds and radio static, and away to the west, high white hills rounded with the roar of rivers and cataracts.

She could pray for him, though. She closed her eyes and sent a message skyward, westward.

She pushed the button and left the bus at 42nd street. She couldn't even wait until she reached her own office with its cream carpet and furniture, its rose chintz draperies and crystal bowls of roses.

Instead she darted into a cigar store, found an empty booth, and dialed Skyways Incorporated. She talked for a long time. Several times she put in nickels.

She knew that she was insisting that a wider search be made for Sandy. She knew, too, that the company was promising to do its best.

"Who are you?" the courteous voice, 10 miles away, asked. "A sister—young Ammerman wasn't married, was he?"

"No, no, he wasn't married." But he had wanted to be. He had asked her half a dozen times. And she wouldn't be engaged. Now he was gone and she would forget her job, anyone, anything if he would come back and smile at her.

To the person at Skyways Incorporated, she said, "I'm Sandy Ammerman's fiancée."

SHE hung up and walked swiftly out of the shop, lost herself in the crowd that hurried up Fifth avenue. Sandy Ammerman's fiancée. He didn't know it. Probably he never would. But she felt an invisible, curious bond had slipped out of the telephone booth

The door opened quietly; Phil smiled at her. He was tall, lean, well-built. "You've seen the morning newspapers?" Phil half-asked, half-stated. She nodded.

and found him somewhere. Ten minutes later, seated at her desk, she was going over the list of probable interviews for that morning.

Life was odd, she mused as she checked names. It changed its tempo so quickly. One moment a marching song, the next, a death watch. Life was a ball of worsted, tangled too madly for further use—a painted mask you mustn't take off—a song you couldn't sing any more.

Outside the rain began, and great drops were flung against the window pane. The yellow lamps were pools of brightness that cast lambent shadows on the low shelves of books the shiny covers of which attested to their newness. The chairs, grouped informally around her long desk, were deep and inviting.

Only three days ago Sandy had sat in the nearest one, long legs stretched carelessly, one hand tumbling the rough, bright hair, gray eyes trying to see mountains and rivers so he might bring them to her.

"Maybe you're near-sighted and I'm far-sighted," he had said, a little wearily, at last. "You want to see your name on your magazine cover down in the streets, and I want to set my chart for some place that isn't in the least important to me except that I've never been there! Perhaps I shouldn't try to change you. It's just that—I love you, Judy. But come on, I really came by to take you to dinner."

She had gone and they had been gay. Almost too gay. They had dined at a little French place on West 57th street where the food was excellent. They had taken a cab to a rendezvous in the Village where a blind musician smilingly played anyone's requests, and boys, with voices deep and thundering, sang for their supper while they studied for grand opera. Now and again one of them found a spot in musical comedy and kept climbing higher.

From there Sandy and Judy had checked proofs. She must forget him. Make a calendar of days and never leave an hour, not even half an hour, for remembering.

She could pretend that nothing had happened, that he had flown away—what was it he had said—something about going to a place that wasn't the least important to him except that he never had been there? The door opened quietly. She had no appointment with Philip Rogers, junior partner of Blake, Blake and Rogers who handled all legal business for the magazine and publishing house. Yet Phil smiled at her now. His hair was brown, she noticed oddly, for she had seen that head several times a week ever since she had come to work on the staff of Under Twenty. He was tall, lean, well built.

If his eyes lacked the laughter lines that Sandy's knew, it was because he had not gazed so high and far, Judy reminded herself. His voice was low, cheerful, comforting. Not so deep, not half so restless, yet not so restful, as Sandy's would have been. "You've seen the morning newspapers?" Phil half-asked, half-stated. She nodded. "Tough luck," the man's voice sympathized. "Tough luck... to fly away in the rain and never come back. Tough luck! Judy rose suddenly. Her bright hair shone and her eyes found the violet tones and deepened. "Phil, will you do something for me? Go some place with me—at once!" "And if I do?" Phil's voice, not quite steady, asked. Army's Biggest Tank Tested In Louisiana Games

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When the army's newest and biggest tank—the M-3—was tested for the first time today, an Associated Press writer was given special permission to witness the performance inside one of the vehicles.)

BY JERRY T. BAULCH WITH SECOND ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Sept. 9 (AP)—The army's newest and biggest tank, the M-3, got its first trial in maneuvers today as the mightiest striking force of the First Armored Division.

As one of three newsmen allowed to participate in the first field test of the 30-ton juggernaut, I rode the gurner's cradle inside one of them. I swayed easily in a rocking motion as we traveled 25 miles an hour over sandy roadways and through pine forests. With hardly a jolt we jumped ditches and smashed through 10-inch trees.

Many secrets were pointed out with a request that they not be described. I had ridden both the other types of tanks used by the U. S. Army—the 14-ton light and the 18-ton medium tanks—but they lacked many things I found in the M-3.

The tank I rode was one of 13 in the First Armored Division which came off the production line less than three weeks ago. Others will arrive almost daily during the maneuvers.

As I squeezed through a narrow porthole into my seat, I found beside me a .87 mm. gun and a .30 calibre machine gun, which I could aim and fire automatically, using complicated levers, switches, and buttons to manipulate the revolver.

Ward Stores To Hold 69th Anniversary Sale This Week

Montgomery Ward stores don't order—and get—the number of cook stoves, radios, and refrigerators they want. These items are all added now, as a result of America's defense preparation that demands conservation of the materials in these products.

This was one of the facts revealed today by M. C. Johnson, in connection with the Pampa store joining in the nation-wide 69th anniversary sale of Montgomery Ward & Co. The local store is holding a 10-day sale, starting tomorrow. Pampa's unit of the organization is 13 years old, having been founded here in 1928.

Keynoting the sale is the American spirit of craftsmanship—doing a job in which skilled hands and a thinking brain pull together. Craftsmanship has lifted American life to the highest standard. We find proofs of it all about us, sometimes in a motor car, sometimes in a toy.

Think of this. The key man in the making of some article now in your home may be a thousand miles away. You do not know his name and he does not know yours. Yet you paid money for that article without question, and the manner in which it performs makes you feel that someone with a personal interest in

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Herr Hitler has made known in general terms the nature of his new order calling for the Nazification of Europe (and then some), and the Anglo-American leaders have announced the policies "on which they base their hopes for a better future of the world."

Nobody else has claimed, or been accorded, a dominating position in the tangled affairs of the continent. Most folk seem to have taken it for granted that Europe is predestined to come under the guardianship of either (1) the Fuehrer, or (2) the Anglo-American brotherhood, when the war has picked the victor.

Maybe that's the correct answer, but it seems passing queer that the prophets should ignore Russia as potential boss of a good part of the old world—provided the Axis is beaten.

Perhaps they are avoiding a mighty delicate issue, purposely, and that this column is rushing in where angels would find tough going. Still, the great strength being disclosed by the Bolsheviks, as the fiercest and most bloody battle of history rages from the Baltic to the Black Sea, certainly gives pause for thought.

One must suppose, of course, that London and Washington and the allied countries have considered the possibilities. They may even have a solution for what might easily become a problem of the first magnitude. All that is without my ken, but it seems to me that it's difficult to escape this conclusion:

If the Allies are victorious in this war, it isn't at all unlikely that the Muscovites will emerge as the dominant force in Europe as far west as the Rhine—and maybe farther.

Much must depend on whether the peoples of all the Russias are solidly behind the Communist government. That long has been a moot question among observers, but up to this moment the situation has been shrouded in mystery. The only answers we have had are such as comes out of besieged Leningrad, where civilian men and women are fighting beside the troops.

When I toured eastern Europe just before the European war began, the experts all expressed the view that it would take a major war to demonstrate whether the people of the Soviet Union were solidly behind the government. Well, we have the war all right, and thus far Stalin's support appears steady enough. However, the conflict is still young.

It's schoolboy stuff that Russia covers a seventh of the land surface of the globe, and that it contains almost all the resources required by modern man. They say that Russia and the United States are the only two countries which are so nearly self-contained that they could wage war just about indefinitely on their own resources. The Soviet's young but strong industrial development, with its strategically distributed factories, and the powerful army, have been brought into the open by the war. Russia has disclosed an actual strength quite apart from potentialities, which has astonished the outside world. Up to the present Germany has had politico-economic domination of central and eastern Europe. Hitler has held that part of the continent in the palm of his hand, with the qualification that Turkey and Greece being on the fringe of his political empire, rendered him only partial homage. If Germany is defeated there is the strongest prospect, or so it seems to me, that Russia will take her place as the dominant power. And that influence isn't likely to stop in eastern Europe and the Balkans. The Indians call bees "white man's flies."

Asbestos can withstand heat of 3,000 degrees F., on an average, although some grades will withstand as much as 5,000 degrees F. The University of Toronto is the largest school in the British Empire. Mothballs are a product of coal tar.
