Plane Carrying Steinhardt And Litvinoff Missing

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 14 (6 p. m.)—The Soviet embassy said this evening that it still had no news of the plane in which U. S. Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt, Russian Ambassador Maxim Litvinoff and about a dozen others are reported missing en route here from Kulbyshev, Russia.

The British legation here reported that an American woman journalist, Alice Moats, and an American magazine writer, Quentin Reynolds, were among the passengers. The Russian embassy said it had received up to tonight no reports from either south Russian or north Iranian airfields along the route.

Officials cautioned against alarm, however. A report yesterday that the plane had landed at Pahlevi, Iranian Caspian seaport, proved erroneous, the embassy said. A shuttle plane flying from the Caucasian port of Baku had been mistakenly identified as the plane carrying the ambassadors, officials explained.

However, communications with the interior of Russia are considerably delayed and a Moslem holiday today prevented a thorough check of northern Iran by native telegraph authorities. Therefore, Russian and British sources said alarm over the lack of news was not justified.

The U. S. legation said that two telegrams had been received from Steinhardt. One, dated Nov. 7, said he would arrive in Teheran Nov. 9, while the second, sent Nov. 11, said he would arrive yesterday.

Officials in London pointed out that such trips are carried out in secrecy because of wartime precautions, and that the plane might have taken a different route, not touching at Teheran at all.

1,650 Seats To Go On Sale Saturday

A block of 1,650 reserve seat tickets to the Pampa-Amarillo football game will be placed on sale tomorrow morning. A limit of 10 tickets to one person has been set.

The tickets, for seats between the 30-yard lines and the end zones, will be on sale at the office of the school business manager beginning at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

About 100 combination reserve seat tickets for the Amarillo and the Borger games are still available. These seats are between the 30-yard lines.

Bleacher seats will be borrowed to place along the north end zone where the Pampa student body will be located. The Amarillo student body will be seated in the south bleachers.

Amarillo has been sent tickets in the east stand.

House Votes Repeal Of Neutrality Act

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—American merchants regained complete freedom of the seas today by act of congress, and with it the right to mount guns and shoot if attacked.

The house finished the legislative job in a suspense-packed, historic session yesterday by scrapping the neutrality act amendments which since 1939 have prohibited American shipping from entering the combat zones or belligerent harbors.

The vote was 212 to 194—no tremendous majority but a very sure victory to administration leaders who had been haunted by visions of a photo finish where two or three votes could mean defeat.

The final roll call climaxed the hardest battle yet waged to uphold President Roosevelt's hand in a matter affecting foreign policy. And it came after the tense house heard a dramatic, last-minute appeal from the president.

By its vote the house joined the senate in broadening the original house ship-arming bill to end all neutrality act restrictions on the movement of vessels flying the Stars and Stripes.

Just as soon as the legislation was approved, Speaker Rayburn quickly affixed his signature, and the strokes of his pen began the official scratching of the neutrality act bans from the statute books.

There remained the formality of adding the signature of Vice-President Wallace before the measure could go to the White House for the final name: Franklin D. Roosevelt. However, an objection by Senator McNary (R-Ore.), the minority leader, made it necessary for Wallace to wait until the senate reconvenes Monday before signing.

Nevertheless, there was abundant evidence that the technicality of the brief, three-day delay would not prevent the administration from putting the legislation into speedy effect.

On the contrary, reports were current that the preliminary work for the arming of cargo vessels may already be under way. The navy department said merely that plans were ready to proceed at once.

Secretary Knox declared that the vote meant that both "ships and the men will be available to deliver defense aid and materials in such quantity and at such places as to aid materially those who oppose Hitler and his attempted domination of the world."

President Roosevelt sent his personal thanks to Rayburn and Democratic Floor Leader McCormack of Massachusetts for their victory in.

Husband Held In Mexico In Death Of Elderly Wife

MONTERREY, Mexico, Nov. 14 (AP)—An official inquiry into the death of a wealthy former Kalamazoo, Mich., woman was set for this afternoon by Mexico authorities who questioned her husband for hours last night.

United States Consul Henry Waterman said that the man, identifying himself as Arthur Torrance, 55, of New York City, was held by Monterrey police while they investigated the death of his wife, the former Mrs. Ada Loveland, who age authorities gave as 65.

Officials said the Torrances were on a honeymoon in Mexico. She died last Saturday.

District Attorney Jose Juan Vallejo, of Monterrey, said Torrance was detained as the result of a written complaint filed by the dead woman's son, Richard Loveland, Los Angeles attorney who arrived here from Sacramento Tuesday.

Torrance, authorities said, reported his wife's death was due to a motor car accident outside Monterrey.

District Attorney Vallejo and Police said Torrance repeated the following account he had given at the time of his wife's death Saturday:

"That he and his bride were motoring toward Mexico City at about 55 miles an hour when 'a cow or some animal' ran onto the road; that Mrs. Torrance, who was driving, swerved and jammed on the brakes, and the car crashed into a ditch; that when he recovered from a blow which knocked him unconscious he found his wife lying beside the car, apparently badly hurt from striking her head on the rear-view mirror.

The district attorney's office has ordered Mrs. Torrance's body disinterred for examination, Consul Waterman said.

(Records of Whitley county, Ky., showed Arthur Torrance, 54, retired, of New York, and Mrs. Ada Cooke Loveland, 50, of Early Hills, Calif., obtained a marriage license October 18 at Williamsburg, Ky., and were married the same day by Whitley County Judge Manning. She was the widow of a Waterling, Mich., paper manufacturer.)

Baron Von Poppen Visits In Pampa

A real, bona fide, Russian baron is a visitor in Pampa. He is a native of Estonia, and a brother-in-law of Grand Duke Alexander, pretender to the throne of the czar of all Russia. He left Russia in 1919 when the Reds took over and moved to Paris where his business is located. He fled from Paris where the Grand Duke also lives, two years ago and came to Mexico where he lived until recently. He has travelled Mexico extensively.

Worst 'Quake' In 8 Years Shakes L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14 (AP)—A violent earthquake, the most severe in eight years, rocked the metropolitan area today, causing an estimated $1,000,000 damage in one suburban community alone.

William H. Stanger, superintendent of the Torrance-Water department, put the million dollar figure on that city's losses. It apparently was the heaviest hit, although nearby Gardena suffered heavily.

Several gasoline and oil tanks and pipe lines burst, creating a critical fire hazard. But equipment rushed into the area from Los Angeles and other cities stood guard and not a single blaze was reported. Police reported no death or injury.

Fire inspectors ordered the busy Columbia steel mills closed down because of seepage from a broken pipe line. Three hundred residents of a Torrance Mexican pueblo were evacuated when gasoline gushed from two nearby storage tanks. Torrance fire trucks were moved because of extensive damage to headquarters.

Power was off in some sections for several hours and telephone service suffered considerably. Guests fled the 30-room Hotel Torrance in suburban Torrance as the tremor showered bricks from the two-story structure into the street. Fire inspectors condemned the building and ordered the guests—whose number was not available—to find lodgings elsewhere. They said a

FDR Conference With CIO Breaks Up In 30 Minutes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt's conference with steel company and mine union officials, aimed at settling the captive coal mine dispute, broke up after 30 minutes today without any immediate announcement.

The White House conference took place shortly after the policy committee of the CIO-United Mine Workers voted to continue the UMW's fight for a union shop in the captive mines, which supply the nation's big steel mills.

The three labor officials—CIO President Philip Murray, CIO Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Kennedy and John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president—came out first and Lewis remarked:

"Any settlement will come from the White House. I would like to see whether the White House planned to issue one."

The labor leaders, solemn-faced, departed alone with no indication whether they might return. They said the steel company executives were wrestling with their overcoats, but the latter did not follow them out of the White House for some time.

Mr. Roosevelt told congress yesterday in a letter that coal the captive mines produce for the steel mills "must be mined."

As the UMW committee members assembled they had an opportunity to read an article in the United Mine Workers Journal, official organ of the union, which stated that "certainly, the union can not accept an open shop doctrine in the captive mines."

Axis Fumes Over Passage Of Ship Bill

(By The Associated Press) Russia's armies before Moscow, pressing a tempestuous counter-offensive, were reported today to have driven the Germans out of 20 villages in the past 24 hours in the Kalinin sector while on the northern front, the Soviet radio said Red troops had scored a break through the Nazi siege ring outside Leningrad.

Axis reaction to the revision of the U. S. Neutrality act—lifting of a two-year ban against American merchant ships entering combat zones—was high-lighted by an explosive warning from Berlin.

Authorized Nazi quarters declared the next few days would show what a dangerous path the United States had taken and asserted congress had been duped by a false presentation of facts by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

On the Russo-German war front, Soviet dispatches reported a series of smashing counter-blows at Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, and at the Baltic port of Murskansk.

The Soviet radio said the initiative in the 43-day-old battle of Moscow had now definitely passed into Red army hands.

In the Crimea campaign, a bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters asserted that German troops were "in front on Kerch," gateway to the Caucasus oil fields, with the city and harbor under the fire of Nazi artillery.

Yesterday, the high command declared German assault troops actually were storming the port. Soviet reinforcements, some of them drawn from the Rostov-on-Don sector, were reported racing to defend the Caucasian coast against a German drive across the narrow Kerch Strait from the Crimea.

Dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said Gen. Gregory K. Zhukov's central front armies had driven the Germans across the east bank of the Narva river, in the Maloyaroslavl sector, and dislodged the Nazis from a fortified height there in fierce hand-to-hand fighting.

On the Leningrad front, BBC reported that Moscow radio as reported that "Russian infantry, with artillery and Dive-bombing aircraft

Negro Jury Discharged

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 14 (AP)—An all-negro jury, one of the first to serve in a district court in Texas, was discharged yesterday after failing to reach a verdict in the case of Owen Jackson, negro, charged with the fatal shooting here of another negro last July.

Judge George C. Westervelt of Criminal District court dismissed a mistrial in the case at 11:20 p. m. when the jurors had failed to reach a decision after nearly six hours of deliberation.

They have responded, even in advance of the campaign, digging down in their own pockets to supply the need.

Helped 250 Children Last year the campaign netted more than $800, providing footwear and other articles of clothing for 250 children. The shoes the children receive are all brand-new and are purchased locally at cost.

That's the reason the Goodfellows club will hold their fourth annual Mile of Pennies campaign in downtown Pampa Saturday, beginning at noon and ending at store closing time that night.

When the stores close tonight a line will be painted on the sidewalk in the block bounded on the north by Kingsmill, south by Foster, east by Cuyler, and west by Russell.

On this line Pampans will be asked to place their pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, and dollars. All of the money goes for one purpose: to buy shoes and stockings and underwear for children whose parents are unable to supply them with these articles.

Already the Goodfellows have received calls for help, and again

Possible Airport Sites Here Surveyed

Several possible municipal airport sites were surveyed yesterday by J. D. Church of the Civil Aeronautics Administration of Fort Worth, who came here at the invitation of city officials.

Church expressed approval of two possible sites but advised against purchasing the land or spending any money until CAA, or other funds, are available for improving of the airport.

He met with city and chamber of commerce officials in the city hall yesterday before driving out to inspect the possible airport sites. Present at the meeting were, Mayor Fred Thompson, City Manager Steve Matthews, Farris C. Oden, chairman, John Osborne, J. M. Collins and R. G. Allen, members of the aviation committee of the Pampa Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce.

"We expect to see the construction of airports made into a permanent government policy, similar to the Federal Road Aid Program," Church declared.

Church explained that Pampa has been surveyed by the CAA along with other towns and that his department has recommended that an airport be constructed here at Pampa.

There is nothing definite as to this recommendation, Church emphasized, as it will depend first upon the action that congress takes in appropriating funds for the CAA, and next upon the selection of the various sites over the United States to be improved by the approval of the secretary of the secretaries of war, commerce and navy.

If Pampa is one of the lucky ones selected, Church said, "the city of Pampa will be expected to own the land, to operate the airport for the common good, and to grant no exclusive rights to any individual or organization for the use of the field."

The CAA would provide funds for paving of two runways, to install lights, beacons and other necessary equipment.

The city would be expected to erect hangars, as the CAA funds cannot be used for this purpose.

Members of the aviation committee asked Church for his ideas of the future expansion of airlines and air mail service. He replied that officials of the CAA firmly believe that revolutionary development of feeder lines will take place soon after the present war emergency, which will link the smaller towns of the nation in with the present network of cross country airlines, and that all first class mail will be handled by the airlines.

"A city then without a modern airport will be handicapped as badly as a city today with inadequate highway and railway connections," Church said.

Church was assured by the officials present that Pampa is interested in the possibility of improving an airport with the cooperation of CAA similar to the improvement of the airport.

Marines Ordered Withdrawn From China By FDR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt announced today the United States government had decided to withdraw American marines from Shanghai, Tientsin, and Peiping, China.

That will take all the American marines out of China, the chief executive told a press conference. About 950 of them have been stationed in the three cities. The president would not discuss capital speculation about the withdrawal of these troops being linked with efforts to obtain a better understanding between this country and Japan.

He said he had no definite plans yet to see Japan's special envoy, Saburo Kurusu, who is flying to the United States to discuss the Far Eastern situation.

Asked whether he thought war could be avoided in the Pacific, Mr. Roosevelt said he certainly hoped so. But he declined to give a yes or no answer to an inquiry regarding

Ark Royal Finally Sent To Bottom

Italian Submarine Blamed; Part Of Crew Lost

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, Nov. 14—The three-year-old $16,000,000 aircraft carrier Ark Royal was torpedoed late yesterday east of Gibraltar, probably by an Italian submarine, and sank early today despite a desperate effort to bring the listing giant safely to port.

She carried down with her an undisclosed number of men of her crew of about 1,600 men who remained aboard in the struggle to save the ship.

"A very large number of the ship's company was taken off," the admiral said, and indications were that personnel losses were "fortunately not heavy."

The story of the sinking, pieced together from the admiral's brief announcement and word in authoritative quarters was that the Ark Royal was not in action when she was torpedoed and that she was en route to Gibraltar.

The strong suggestion was that an Italian submarine was the victor, although there was no positive identification.

Many of the company remained aboard after the hit or hits and helped to keep the Ark Royal afloat, in tow, during the hours of darkness as she listed further and further. Many worked to the very end. She finally rolled under the sea short of Gibraltar and safety.

The loss was belated fulfillment of many a German claim, since the beginning of the war, that the carrier had been sunk.

She was the third aircraft carrier lost by Britain in the war and the newest of them all.

Loss of the Ark Royal was the greatest single blow suffered by the British Navy since the avenged sinking of the battle cruiser Hood, by the German battleship Bismarck, between Greenland and Iceland, last May 24.

The loss of the Ark Royal left the British, however, with more aircraft carriers than they had at the start of the conflict—seven in commission and two scheduled for completion in 1942, as indicated by the naval manual, Jane's Fighting Ships.

Those believed in operation are the Eagle, 22,600 tons, and the Furious, 22,450, both converted battleships; the two 8,000-ton Illustrious, which has been repaired after a pounding in the Mediterranean; the Illustrious' newer sisterships, the Victorious, Formidable and Indomitable, and the small, 10,850-ton Hermes, which carries 15 planes.

Scheduled for completion in 1942 and possibly completed already are the Implacable and Indefatigable, sisters of the Illustrious. The Illustrious was last reported under repair.

Baptists Asked To Forego Gifts And Feed Dying Chinese

ABILENE, Nov. 14 (AP)—Texas Baptists were asked in the convention last night to forego the giving and receiving of Christmas gifts in order to make larger contributions to Chinese relief.

The convention offering for that purpose totaled $1,006.96, in addition to a $500 gift made by the Woman's Missionary Union earlier in the week.

Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, who made the appeal, declared "our missionaries tell us that literally millions will starve to death in China this year."

Dr. Truett gave the closing message of the 1941 state convention this morning, following a business session during which the executive board of the Texas Baptist convention trustees of the Baptist foundation, of Buckner Orphans' Home, of eight Baptist colleges and of five hospitals were elected.

Shorter men were placed in the second platoon, taller in the first. The change included transfer of Corporals P. J. Boyd and E. B. Emerson to the second platoon. These two corporals, along with Corporal L. B. Cole, had been in the first platoon since the company was first organized.

In appreciation for the courtesy and cooperation shown the Pampa company by the Independent School district, in providing space for a locker room and permitting use of the high school building and grounds for drill, eight men volunteered last night to assist Corporal L. ### Gene Worley Votes Against Revision Of Neutrality Act

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Four Texas representatives opposed the passage today of the senate-approved revision of the neutrality act: Hatton Summers of Dallas, Joseph Jefferson Mansfield of Columbus, Charles L. South of Coleman and Eugene Worley of Shamrock.

Mansfield did not vote but paired against the bill permitting armed U. S. vessels to sail to belligerent ports.

Worley said he considered the vote a question of war or peace. He said he pledged during his campaign that he would not vote for this country's entrance into war unless he felt it is absolutely necessary. Worley supported the original house version of the bill which provided arming of merchant ships. The senate added the belligerent-port amendment.

South, saying he was not surprised at the close vote, differed with Worley on the war-or-peace question, asserting: "I do not think that concurrence in the senate amendment permitting American ships to enter combat zones necessarily means war. I think it will cause the strategists who map the policies of this government to proceed more cautiously."

Sumner's vote surprised his colleagues, although he had not intimated how he intended voting. cal life in this generation with a sleepy nonchalance is for that church to be displaced and at last utterly forsaken by God." These are among things the report did: Upheld prohibition as the proper treatment of the liquor question, denounced gambling in forms from punchboards to race tracks, urged proper censorship of amusement and entertainment, suggested the passage of laws to prohibit Sunday labor and activity interfering with worship, and recommended serious thoughts and less lax divorce laws. Dr. J. B. Laarence of Atlanta, Ga., told the convention "Our task is to prepare our homeland spiritually to meet its obligations" because when the present war ends "a world morally, spiritually and economically exhausted and depleted will come to America for a blood transfusion." The convention selected Fort Worth for its meeting next year and adopted a report urging that Huntsville penitentiary roads be held on a week day instead of Sunday.

Turkey Prices Highest In Six Years

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
CHICAGO, Nov. 14 (AP)—The first of the nation's dual Thanksgiving days comes next week and it finds turkey prices the highest in six years.

A little quiet research in the rapidly expanding market for dressed turkeys—birds already on their way to retail counters for next week's big trade—found prices 1/2 to 2 cents a pound higher than a week ago. Wholesale prices ranged from 20 1/2 to 28 cents a pound, the latter on choice hens. A year ago, prices were from 13 to 24 cents.

In 1936 turkeys sold as low as 21 1/2 cents for best quality just before Thanksgiving, but that was the cheapest they have been in recent years. In 1935 they were up to 30 and 31 cents and poultry dealers said the current market is comparable to that.

Geese and ducks still were considered reasonably priced. Geese were quoted at 11 to 17 cents a pound, compared to 14 to 16 a year ago, and ducks 12 to 18, or only slightly above last year's quotations.

Dealers said the movement of turkeys to market has been late. Quality is very good. The 41 class of birds was fattened on ample supplies of feed. Weights are running heavy, as was the case last year. In fact, dealers said, there is somewhat of a shortage of lighter birds. Weights had been tending smaller until last year, when the so-called streamlined apartment house turkey lost favor.

The 1941 crop is estimated only slightly larger than last year, or around 33,000,000 head, largest on record.

few other buildings would be condemned today and ordered torn down.

Schools were closed pending a detailed inspection.

The quake occurred at 12:42 a. m. and lasted from a few seconds to 18 or 20 in Torrance, Gardena and Long Beach, the hardest hit areas.

Two small machine shops tooling instruments for aircraft and other southern California defense industries were so badly damaged that Torrance firemen said it might be several days before work there could be resumed.

One wall of the Torrance theater collapsed, but patrons and employees had gone some time. Bricks and plate glass from half a dozen damaged buildings littered the streets.

American Legion members were called out to prevent the curious from venturing too close to damaged buildings.

Heavy fog badly hampered investigators, slowed traffic to a few miles an hour, knocked out telephone lines and delayed news of the extent of the damage in Torrance.

Men, women and children who rushed outdoors huddled in automobiles for warmth, as they hesitated to return to their homes until they felt it would be safe. Another slight shock was felt in Torrance at 1:35 a. m. but apparently did not extend to nearby towns.

In Gardena, Katsumi Tamura and his brother, Yukio Tamura, narrowly escaped as their small store collapsed while they slept inside. The tower of justice court building was knocked off and thrown through the roof of a nearby store building. The Bank of America branch and a half dozen stores in Gardena were damaged and stocks of goods was strewn on floors.

An eight-inch natural gas pipeline burst in Wilmington, but the flow was shut off quickly and the fire threat averted.

The tremor was the third in Los Angeles county in five months and the worst since a 1933 tremor killed 139 persons.

The 22,000-ton aircraft carrier Ark Royal was the second of Britain's most widely known warships whose loss was announced by the admiralty this week.

The other was the destroyer Cossack which ran the German prison ship Altmork into a Norwegian fjord and rescued 300 imprisoned British seamen, led the British flotilla which penetrated Narvik fjord, and was in on the sinking of the German battleship Bismarck. Her loss was reported Monday.

millions of sweating, tugging men bending and weaving in gargantuan struggle have become commonplace. Rivers and railroads and highways and canals are the scene of struggle. On land and sea and under the sea and in the air are signs that man's genius and inventiveness have turned from conservation of human and material riches of earth to their distortion and destruction.

"Only when we look at samples of the devastation can we understand the impact of forces which are loose in the world today and what they mean in terms of human misery. Photograph and cartoon have shown us the blanched, tortured, bandaged face of a bombed child looking at us with premature disillusionment from the cover of a magazine, the old man and woman wearily pushing their refugee cart up a tortuous grade under the caption 'Lead Kindly Light.' New tens of millions of fellow human beings are currently added to previously existing tens of millions of homeless and dispossessed wanderers of the earth, a mass production which is a travesty on the spirit of the brotherhood of man. This punishing war, as we have looked at it from afar, has continued to be inflicted with increased intensity upon civilian populations. They, even more than the warriors, have been the victims of aerial attack, arson, starvation, and disease. To illustrate, someone typically summed up the elemental requirements of the people of Britain under three headings: "Something to eat, a shelter to crawl into, and energy to fight fires."

HOUSE VOTES

the strenuous battle. A secretary said the chief executive was "naturally pleased with the result."

Secretary Hull, whose services had been enlisted to win over fence-straddling members who might be as though the legislation might be defeated, hailed the house's action as "an exceedingly wise and timely decision."

But a much different appraisal came from Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), one of the administration's bitterest critics on foreign policy.

Mr. Roosevelt "can't take us into war with that kind of a vote behind him," Wheeler asserted.

"If he can't get more than a majority of 18 votes after exerting so many votes he did, he had better go slowly because many of those who voted with him are not in favor of getting this country into war."

"The hands of the two big clocks in the house chamber stood at 4 o'clock when the clerk began to call the roll of the members—almost all of them present. Galleries were packed and long lines crowded up to the chamber's doors.

Rayburn had just read a personal letter from Mr. Roosevelt.

"In so many words the chief executive told the house that defeat of the legislation would encourage aggressive acts by Germany and her allies; that it would interfere with the defense of the United States.

"He also had something to say, obviously for the benefit of those Democrats who had openly complained in debate that defense strikes were continuing and that the country was not properly prepared.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that defeat would make strikes and work stoppages "less serious in the mind of the public." Then he mentioned the conference today on the soft coal captive mine dispute. He said he hoped it would be successful, but if it was not, "this coal must be mined to keep steel plants going."

"The government," he promised in his final sentence, "proposes to see this thing through."

Rayburn followed the President's letter by an appeal of his own for the support of those Democrats, and he brought the members to their feet shouting and applauding when he said:

"If it is of interest to anyone to know my position on both capital and labor in this titanic, this fateful struggle for democracy and decency, it is that I am ready to follow or to lead in any movement by legislation or sanely otherwise, that will keep defense production going in the United States of America."

A few minutes after the final vote, Rep. Smith (D-Va.) and Starnes (D-Ind.), among others, demanded that Rayburn and McCormack fix an exact date when legislation to cope with defense strikes might be considered. McCormack urged his questioners to "wait until Monday; there may be something I can say."

As the roll-call proceeded, the administration forces slowly pulled away to a lead which 25 minutes later became 18 votes—a comparatively small majority of the 435 members but a substantial margin to those administration leaders who at 10 a. m. yesterday privately admitted fear of defeat by 65 votes.

The record showed 189 Democrats, 22 Republicans and one American-Labor party members voting for the resolution; 53 Democrats, 137 Republicans, one Farm-Laborite and three Progressives voted against it.

CONFERENCE

house just before the vote to repeal important neutrality act restrictions, expressed hope that the conference would prove successful in keeping the mines in continuous operation.

"But if it is not successful," he added, "it is obvious that this coal must be mined in order to keep the essential steel mills at work. The government of the United States has the backing of the overwhelming majority of the people of the United States, including the workers."

"The government proposes to see this thing through."

On other labor fronts, there were top developments:

The 14 non-operating railroad unions rejected the compromise settlement which President Roosevelt's fact-finding board recommended in answer to their demand for wage increases of 30 to 34 cents an hour over their current range of 33 to 85 cents. The board had suggested a 13 1/2 per cent pay boost for the 900,000 union members.

Five operating brotherhoods, representing 350,000 railroad men, earlier had rejected the board's recommendation in their case and called a strike for Dec. 7. The non-operating brotherhoods did not mention a strike.

Meeting in Chicago, site of the railroad men's session, representatives of Midwest truck-line operators and nearly 300,000 AFL drivers called a meeting today in an effort to avert a strike threatened for Sunday morning. The drivers want their present mileage pay increased from 3 to 5 cents, and the rate for pickup and delivery work increased from 80 cents to $1 an hour.

A threatened strike of long line telephone workers in 42 states was postponed for at least a week while the U. S. Conciliation service attempted to settle the independent union's differences with the American Telephone and Telegraph company. The walkout originally had been set for midnight tonight. The union demanded a 4 per cent wage increase for its 15,000 members. Their current pay ranges from $13 to $66 a week.

Settlement of a two-day strike at the Mack International Motor Truck corporation's New Brunswick, N. J. plant was announced last night. The plant employs 2,000 men and makes transmissions for tanks and gears for army trucks. A local of the CIO United Automobile workers called the strike in protest against delays in granting pay raises and the company's alleged backing of an independent union which won a labor board election, later set aside. One of the terms of settlement was an agreement to hold another collective bargaining election next week.

If he said no, he remarked, somebody might use interpretation on his answer. And if he said yes, he added, it would be pure guessing. He said he did not know, his questioner did not, and neither did any interpreter.

In response to another question, Mr. Roosevelt said he thought the American people were aware of the seriousness of the problem in the Far East. But he said it was difficult to answer another whether anyone over-rated its seriousness.

He asked what "overrate" meant and what "seriousness" meant in that connection.

"It might be war," a reporter remarked.

Mr. Roosevelt said he sincerely trusted not.

support, stormed through the enemy lines and broke through to the rear in the face of strong resistance."

TASS, the official Soviet news agency, said Russian troops in the Arctic Murmansk zone had captured several strategic heights and forced the Germans to retreat several kilometers.

Bitter reaction exploded in the capitals of the Axis alliance today over revision of the United States Neutrality act, with the Germans declaring bluntly that the next few days would show what a dangerous path the American congress had taken.

In Rome, Fascist quarters voiced a similar theme, asserting that congress' action in permitting U. S. ships to enter the blockade zones soon would result in attacks on those vessels.

In Tokyo, Japan's attitude was expressed by the news agency Domei, which quoted well-informed circles as declaring that the revision "aggravates the situation not only in the Atlantic but in the Pacific" and that "the stage is set for commencement of a shooting war."

Authorized Berlin quarters charged President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull with duping congress by a false representation of facts, and said that in any case Germany would shoot at American ships carrying munitions.

British public and press acclaimed the action as a step toward fuller American collaboration in the war. Authoritative quarters said that it would "refresh and reinvigorate the will of the British people to fight the war to victory" and that it had removed an obstacle which impeded fulfillment of America's determination to play a leading role in the overthrow of Hitlerism.

The London Evening News, in typical comment, said it was "one of the great decisions of the war, a decision whose consequences tower into the future . . ."

In Ottawa, Canada's Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King hailed it as "the handwriting on the wall spelling the doom of the Axis powers."

"Limited shipping was a brake to our strategy," declared the London Express, reflecting the consensus of press opinion in the British capital, "and on our power to aid Russia and supply our own armies abroad."

Harvesters Scrimmage Hard For Amarillo Foes

A coach's worries never cease and so soon as the Pampa-Plainview game was out of the way, Coaches Buck Prejan and Mac Best took to worrying about the Amarillo game here next Thursday afternoon.

After Lubock the boys were keyed up to take on the Bulldogs, and they did by an eye-lash. Coach Prejan remarked yesterday, "But in neither case were they a match for what they'll meet Thursday."

Only once has a Pampa football team defeated an Amarillo eleven. That was in 1931 when the score was 13 to 6. Since then Harvesters have come close to toppling their traditional foes but they have never accomplished the feat.

Barker Picks Stanford, Northwestern And Duke

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—Guessing last week's football slate (and after last week's debacle we do mean guess): Northwestern-Notre Dame: Two good teams meet in the big game of the schedule. The Irish are tough and their offense, so long as Angelo Bertelli is tossing the ball, is difficult to halt. Northwestern can counter with another sophomore sensation, Otto Graham, but the Wildcats have been unlucky in their major tests this year. Still, maybe their luck will change. A flier on Northwestern.

Inspired TCU Frogs Aching To Crush Longhorn Hopes

Associated Press Sports Writer Marking that Baylor thing off as a bad dream but hoping it won't turn into a nightmare, Texas moves tomorrow against the final Southwest conference barrier to a showdown with the Texas Aggies.

This one is difficult to gauge. Southern Methodist played at its "high" last week in leading the mighty Aggies into the waning minutes. Arkansas had its inspiration the week before in holding the Aggies to a touchdown victory.

Stanford-Washington State: Thanks to Bill Sewell, Washington State has been a giant-killer on occasion this season. Having said that, this corner stubbornly casts the customary vote for Stanford.

Because T. C. U. still is in the conference race and a victory over the Longhorns would put the Frogs in a position to tie for the title pending the result of the Texas-Aggie battle of Turkey Day.

Baylor's upsetting Bears play a hard one, journeying to Tulsa for a crack at the Tulsa Golden Hurricane, which has lost but one game this season—that to T. C. U., the team that also beat Baylor.

Iowa-Minnesota: The Gophers, crippled as they are, figure to have no walkover against improving Iowa, but the ballot must be cast for Minnesota.

In fact, it might give them the championship should the Aggies stumble before their sufficiency. Standing in the road are the upsurging Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university, a team that has every incentive to stamp out Texas hopes of a championship after ten years of waiting.

But the Bruins should stand an even chance of knocking over Tulsa with the backwash of that magnificent stand against Texas last week.

Missouri-Oklahoma: As tough a choice as any on the schedule, Oklahoma has come far since its trouncing by Texas; Missouri, beaten only by Ohio State, rates as one of the nation's strong teams. Out of the hat, Missouri.

It's the stretch drive now and unless Texas has recovered from that 7-7 tie with Baylor sufficiently to knock off the Horned Frog menace, it's curtains for Longhorn hopes. Defeat by T. C. U. would leave Texas without a chance of the championship should the Aggies win over Rice.

More than 75,000 fans will witness the four games. Here's how they look from this corner (anticipated attendance in parentheses): Texas vs. Texas Christian at Austin (22,800)—Baylor tore the mask of invincibility from Texas last week but against a Texas team with too many key men out. We'll take the Longhorns and believe they'll look like they did before the Baylor upset.

Rice-Texas A. & M.: Prepared for anything, Texas A. & M. Texas-Texas Christian: Expecting the Longhorns to return to form. Texas.

Texas and A. and M. will be highly favored to win but Rice and T. C. U. might put it like this: "If Pittsburgh can beat Fordham and Baylor can tie Texas, then anything can happen."

While the powers of the conference are battling it out, there will be a cellar brawl going on over at Fayetteville between Southern Methodist and Arkansas, neither of which has won a game in championship warfare.

Columbia-Michigan: Doubting the Lions have enough depth to meet this foe on even terms, Michigan. Boston College-Tennessee: The Eagles have been impressive in recent weeks. Boston college, but not by much.

Duquesne-Mississippi State: Both unbeaten although State has been tied. That long trip back from the west coast won't help Duquesne. In a dense fog, Duquesne.

South Carolina-Furman: The Gamecocks seem at little frayed at the edges but we'll stay with them. South Carolina.

New York University-Tulane: Even erratic Tulane hardly can blow this one, Tulane.

Alabama-Georgia Tech: It's a question if Alabama can stay up on the same level it reached last week against Tulane. Still, Alabama.

Harvard-Brown: Spot for a surprise but Harvard's the selection.

California-Oregon State: Off the records, Oregon State.

Ohio State-Illinois: Can't see any hope for the Illini. Ohio State.

Penn State-West Virginia: State's coming along fast and gets this vote.

Wisconsin-Purdue: This corner stopped trying to figure Wisconsin after the Badgers' opening game. The coin spins. . . Wisconsin.

Nebraska-Pitt: Both were "up" last week which is of positively no help now. Kenie, meenie. . . Pitt.

Georgetown-North Carolina State: Pretty even but we'll take Georgetown.

Kansas-Kansas State: Picking State.

Arkansas-Southern Methodist: This one's at Fayetteville where many a favorite has bitten the dust. Risking the Jinx, Southern Methodist.

Louisiana State-Auburn: Auburn's improving rapidly but this hesitant vote goes to L. S. U.

Cornell-Dartmouth: The nod goes to Cornell.

Georgetown-North Carolina State: Pretty even but we'll take Georgetown.

Harvard-Brown: Spot for a surprise but Harvard's the selection.

Penn State-West Virginia: State's coming along fast and gets this vote.

Penn-Army: Very even, but we'll stick with Penn.

Syracuse-Colgate: Another traditional rivalry in which form means absolutely nothing. Guessing, Syracuse.

Yale-Princeton: Ditto this one, Princeton.

Villanova-Detroit: Exceptionally close. Detroit.

Tulsa-Baylor: Storm signals hoisted for this one. Baylor.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (The Special News Service)—Joe Louis, and a free promoting job aren't all Mike Jacobs is lending to the navy. He's been sending fighters and equipment over to Brooklyn to put on shows aboard a battleship for the entertainment of gobs who can't get shore leave. . . . Frank Frisch will mess the Pirates' midwinter party because he hasn't fully recovered from his tonsil operation. Apparently he figures there's no use going if he can't take his voice along.

Reapers' And Amarillo Battle To 6 To 6 Tie

Pampa's Junior High school football team clinched second place in the Panhandle Junior High conference yesterday afternoon by holding a giant Central Junior High team from Amarillo to a 6 to 6 score.

Bears Again 'To Crawl Out Of Hospital Beds' To Tackle Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 14 (AP)—Baylor's Bears, the nation's best team of football invalids, will climb bravely out of their hospital beds tomorrow to face Tulsa's Golden Hurricane.

Hallburg May Be Army Selectee Soon

Gus Hallburg, former Pampa Oiler pitcher who was sold to the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast league last spring, may be dishing 'em up for Uncle Sam soon, according to the Sporting News.

George Tompion, of the Christian Science Monitor, who has covered some 35 sports in New York for about the same number of years, is on his way to California and will miss his first hockey season since the game moved into the Garden.

Central scored on a break in the third quarter. Howard, Pampa back, fumbled on his 35-yard line, his fourth fumble of the game, and Amarillo recovered. On the first play Custer was removed from the game for unnecessary roughness and Pampa was penalized 15 yards. With Custer out of the game the Reapers had no punter.

"The team is riddled with injuries," moaned Blackack, who might be a reasonably happy man if he didn't work for Baylor.

Today's Guest Star
Fred Russell, Nashville Banner: "There are football wolves and wolves, and I have seen and talked to some with fearsome fangs, but of no I wolf of all time is the one I met over the week-end. Speaking of his pet aversion among the coaches, he said:

Sheehan pulled a dazzling pass attack near the end of the game but his receivers let him down badly. Three times he hit receivers in the wide open spaces but every time they dropped the ball.

"The Oilers sold Hallburg and Rex Dilbeck, big leftlander, to the Padres. Dilbeck stayed with the team all season as a relief pitcher. From San Diego to the Sporting News went the following story:

Take-a-Chance Dept.
Reverting to old grad status, Yale dept. picks Princeton to beat Yale because our bums are better than their bums. There's no other game worth talking about this week.

While White was the big noise in the Reaper backfield, little Johnny Campbell was the big shot in the line.

But Baylor is notorious in these parts for its injury propaganda—the type intended to make the opposition overconfident—and Tulsa has been a recent victim.

One-Minute Sports Page
Duquesne's footballers will be guests of honor at the Dapper Dan club banquet, November 30, even if they should be knocked off before then.

Bauner and Smyth, halfbacks, carried the brunt of the Central attack with Collins, weighing at least 175 pounds, chiming in at times. Russell, a guard even bigger than Collins, and Wright, end, were line standouts.

Yesterdays game was the last in a Reaper uniform for the entire starting lineup and one reserve. Coach McWright will have eight reserves back next year plus a good group up from the Peepsers. Coach McWright will call all boys eligible for next year's team together Monday. He plans a week or two of workouts with a game to end the season.

Notre Dame line-men say Georgia Tech's line is the toughest they have faced all season.

Yesterday's game was the last in a Reaper uniform for the entire starting lineup and one reserve.

Last season the Hurricane faced a Baylor team which wasn't physically able, said the advance notices, to play a football game. But somehow the invalids got in uniform and gave perfect impersonations of strong, normal boys by whipping Tulsa, 30-6.

Midnight Saving
The Bradley Braves who play nine teams from nine states this season, take their own mattresses along when they travel. To save a little dough, they make their own sleeping quarters on trains by putting the mattresses across the seats of the coaches and climb into the hay under their own blankets. . . . Maybe that's what has made them tough enough to win seven games so far.

Football Fricassee
Southern scribbles are comparing Virginia's Bill Dudley with Ace Parker, with the edge going to Dudley. . . . They point out that when Ace was Bill's age, 19, he still was in high school. . . . Gill Bouley's kid brother, who really can run 100 yards in 10 flat, is due to enter Boston college next fall. . . . Michigan, whose weakness (if any) this season is pass defense, is scheduled to run into Notre Dame and Angelo Bertelli the next two years. . . . North Carolina State's attack features "Bully Rand" play, a fake "chip" play and a "naked" reverse. Seems to be football in the raw.

Beasley, Clay, Griffin, Baird, Dunham, Schultz, Hatcher, and Rowe. Reaper starters yesterday were Cree and Siler, ends; Allen and Turner, tackles; Taylor and Campbell, guards; Myers, center; Stuebel, quarter; Howard and White, halves; Custer, full. Subs: Noblitt, . . .

Mines Passer Has Completed 73 Out Of 152
EL PASO, Nov. 14 (AP)—Out here the men are hardy as the cacti that dot the hill country, they are passing a "Mines Passer" a shirt.
Measured by the yard-stick of college football success, the Texas School of Mines ranks near the bottom, but by the yard-stick of gridiron entertainment and drama you would put the Muckers around the top.
It's not the score you remember when you watch those rugged boys from Mines run and pass—with emphasis on the pass.
To date the Muckers have won two games, lost four and tied one but local fandom doesn't mind.
The Mines put on a show.
With Price in the driver's seat, they think nothing of pitching 40 passes a game—once they threw 61—and in five of their games laid down 165, completing 71 for 703 yards—six still didn't win.
Price keeps statisticians busy. He has to date connected with 73 out of 152 passes for 736 yards and his punting average is 45.15.
"Kicking the can" and baseball made him the footballer he is today.
At the age of four he was champion can-kicker of his neighborhood on Chicago's south side.
He built his steel-fibered arm by throwing a baseball during the spring but he says Coach Mack Saxon of the Mines taught him how to use that arm. He received several offers to enter pro baseball.

Wellington Will 'Shoot Works' Against LeFors

Fireworks and football will be presented in Wellington tonight when the LeFors Pirates and Wellington Skyrockets meet in the final conference game of District 3A. A win for LeFors will clinch for them the district title while a loss will throw the conference race into a tie.

The fireworks display, other than on the field, will be an added attraction. Wellington citizens have secured a big batch of fireworks and they're going to "shoot the works" during the game.

Put Your Patriotism To Work!

Through choice or necessity most of the countries of the world are in opposing armed camps. This war is not primarily one between rival imperilisms. It is a world-wide conflict between opposing ways of life and standards of values.

In America and the western hemisphere we believe in the supremacy of the individual. Truth, justice, tolerance have personal meaning.

And Democracy is more than a form of government. It is a way of life—our way of life, and ours to defend. Passive approval of democratic forms is not enough. We must actively support democratic institutions if they are to survive.

On Wednesday of this week an army of Red Cross volunteers, under the leadership of Joe Key began asking men and women everywhere in Pampa and vicinity to join.

Patriotic fellow-citizens are asking you to join in upholding an ideal which is considered the finest flowering of our western civilization.

This Strike Business

Members of congress view with increasing alarm and anger the prevalence of strikes in this country and, particularly, those affecting and often seriously crippling the national defense program.

These showed the following astounding number of man-days lost recently by reason of strikes—April: 7,096,228; May: 2,180,315; June: 1,458,765; July: 1,200,039; August: 1,825,000.

It is true not all this precious time and labor was lost in defense industries, but a considerable and damaging part was.

Frank Knox, secretary of the Navy, is one of those who, notwithstanding these facts, has not lost his faith in American labor.

Asked what he thought of the 53,000 coal miners recently called out for a brief time from the captive mines by John L. Lewis, he replied he believed the vast percentage of them were also sound at heart, willing to do their part in the country's defense.

There he hit the headpin. No American workman likes to put his country in a hole. If the labor bosses were less active at stirring up trouble, there would be none.

This is especially true of the workman with a family. It is no pleasure for him to go on strike and come home with no pay envelope or simply with a scant strike allowance, to find his wife looking grave because she has had to spend her last dollar at the grocery store, and to hear little John needs a new pair of shoes, and Mary needs some stockings, and the rent is coming due, and—and—and...

All that means sinking into worrisome debt or eating up the savings so painfully accumulated against the evil day when sickness may invade the home.

MORE ABOUT THE U. S. S. GREER (New York News)

Amos Pinchot, well-known lawyer, conservationist and brother of Gifford Pinchot, has released an open letter to President Roosevelt about the incident of the destroyer Greer which prompted the President to issue his famous "shoot first" orders to the Navy Sept. 11.

Mr. Pinchot's letter is pretty convincing, we think, and also deserving of public attention. It summarizes the two different stories of the Greer incident which were told to the people.

The first of these stories was told in the President's Sept. 11 "shoot first" world-wide radio address. The President said in that radio address: "My fellow Americans: The Navy Department of the United States has reported to me that on the morning of Sept. 4 the United States destroyer Greer, proceeding in full daylight towards Iceland, had reached a point southeast of Greenland. She was carrying mail to Iceland. She was flying the American flag. Her identity as an American ship was unmistakable.

"She was then and there attacked by a submarine. Germany admits that it was a German submarine. The submarine deliberately fired a torpedo at the Greer, followed later by another torpedo attack. In spite of what Hitler's propa-

THE WAGNER LAW STRIKE CURTAILMENT

It will be remembered that the Preamble of the Wagner law stated that the purpose of the law was to establish harmony between employers and employees; that is, reduce labor disputes and strikes.

Can any one be so bewildered as to actually believe that the Wagner law has reduced strikes? Every realist, who does not believe in attempting a theory that cannot be worked out in advance—in detail, well know that the Wagner law would not accomplish what it claimed it would do—reduce strikes—but would greatly increase strikes. It increases strikes because it prevents the employer from protecting himself against dishonest workmen. And a dishonest workman is a man who wants more for doing a job that other people are willing and capable of doing the same job for. This kind of man is one who wants rights without responsibilities. He is not willing to put as much into the reservoir of production as he wants to take out.

It will be remembered that in the early part of '37 when business was rather good, Roosevelt said, "We planned it that way."

Now these strikes are Roosevelt's children. They are a natural result of the labor laws that he demanded. It is easy to see that when the government will not give an employer the right to select his own men, or to show preference between workers who will make a contract and live up to it and labor union workers, who do not have a chance against dishonest workers or labor racketeers.

It is too bad that people have to go through these unnecessary experiments in order to learn. Thinking people will never undertake a proposition that cannot be explained in advance.

No labor leader has ever set down an immutable, mathematical rule, or principle, or law, or formula by which labor is to be selected, if it is not to be selected on the supply and demand basis. To attempt to adopt any other method than a supply and demand basis—that is, free enterprise basis—is to adopt coercion, force, tyranny, oppression and a dictatorship.

There was never anything more absurd than claiming that men have a right to organize without specifying the purpose of the organization. And the authors of the Wagner law and the other New Dealers have never yet specified the responsibilities that go with labor organizations. And to give any group of men rights to organize, without specifying the purpose of the organization, is simply to give them the right to make the rest of the people in the country their slaves.

That is all modern labor organizations and the Wagner law do. They give rights without responsibilities. The sooner the law is repealed, the sooner will we return to a constantly increasing wage level with full employment.

GOVERNMENT SPENDING HABITS

When the government is spending so much in war measures, we are inclined to think that the expenditures in regular government are not so important because they are such a small part of the total expenditure.

For this reason, it will be very difficult for Senator Harry Byrd to get the public enthusiasm for his proposed reduction of $2,000,000,000 in non-war expenditures. People think it is a relatively small saving and consequently is not worth fighting for.

But this saving of $2,000,000,000 would tend to get the government in the habit of being more economical in regular affairs. If this habit of economy in war times in non-defense industries were carried over into peace times, it would mean a great deal.

So, any effort that can be made to cause the government to be economical now in its non-defense activities, is something that might be of very great importance in our lives after the war is over.

LOVE IN GLOOM

As one of the lighter items of motion picture business in "Arsenic and Old Lace," Priscilla Lane and Cary Grant are playing a catch-and-kiss love scene in a little Brooklyn cemetery.

Frank Capra, who's really having fun directing this one, has the actors practically manacled behind headstones and the chase ends when Grant catches her in front of an especially large and clearly lettered stone. They kiss, then laugh, but in the midst of the second clinch the actor whoops and points to the headstone. It seems to mark the last resting place of one "Archibald Leach," and that happens to be Cary Grant's real name.

Out at Warners' ranch, several dozen craftsmen are building up a mansion to an awful tedious. It's required for a sequence in Bette Davis' new picture, "In This Our Life," and they're building it just so they can tear it down.

The Timberlake mansion will be a fine old plantation house because it must represent the power of the old south, and its demolition will dramatize the family's downfall in 1941.

Accustomed as they are to the movies' whims, workmen can't help feeling that this project is a little silly.

SMOKY JOE

Bert Lahr, Dorothy Lovett, and a couple of others in "Sing Your Worries Away," are holding an excited pow-wow in a downstairs hallway of a theatrical boarding house. A couple of jugglers are testing Indian clubs that flip past Lahr's head as he talks. In a doorway stands a fire-eater trying to cauterize his own tonsils. In the living room, a soubrette warbles a corny ditty.

All this is amusing, but it also becomes disgusting to watch as take after take is spoiled. I'm worried about how much fire a fire-eater can eat, because for an hour he had been gobbling blazing torches and blowing out flaming fumes. When the scene finally is okayed, he hastily begins going through his pockets for some ointment for internal blisters? No a cigaret.

CAMPFIRE PEP TALK

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14—Lights Camera Action!

On the waterfront set on Warners' Stage 2, the famed veteran, Walter Huston, moistens his lips and waits a little nervously for the beginning of a scene for "Always in My Heart." In the background Borrah Minnevitich and his harmonica bandmen are supposed to be working on the wharf.

Director Jo Graham asks Huston if he's ready, and the actor replies: "I hope so, Jo. I've never done anything like this in a picture."

So the camera begins to roll and Huston starts to whistle the title tune. Minnevitich and his gang stop their work and begin to close in on the star. Harmonicas appear from pockets and soft harmonic accompanies the whistling. Huston looks as surprised as if he'd actually believed they were a bunch of stevedores. Then he grins and breaks into the lyrics of the song with a mellow baritone.

It's swell. When it's over, the set is silent. Somebody finally asks, "Where'd you learn to sing like that, Walter?"

And Huston says, "Well, I made a living for 12 years in vaudeville with my voice, but this is the first time I've been allowed to sing in a picture."

BIBLE'S FIGURES OF SPEECH CLARIFY MEANINGS OF THE TEACHINGS OF CHRIST

Text: John 15:1-10.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

The Bible is a book amazingly rich in illustrations and figures of speech. There are literary devices to make meanings plain as well as to enrich the expression of thought. We are given a statement of resemblance which may make vivid in a few words something that much explanation might only make more obscure.

These verses from the 15th chapter of John present one of the clearest and most effective figures in all Scripture applied to a relationship of inward significance and much mystery—the relation of the disciple to the Master, of the Christian to the Christ.

Instead of saying "the disciple is one with me, we are from the same root, we have the same substance, we partake of the same beauty, and we have a common part in the fruitfulness of good living," Jesus puts it all in a figure that once appeals to the eye, the heart, and the mind. "I am the vine, ye are the branches."

His listeners, all vineyard folk, grasp that better than if it had been expressed in a long sermon. They also understood that the vine is no use unless it bears fruit. So Jesus links the lesson of the vine and of union with himself with the matter of bringing forth the fruit of Christian character and good works.

God has a meaning and purpose for our lives. It is that these lives should be productive, and He is glorified when His children fulfill this purpose. The test of our union with Christ is this fruitfulness of our own lives. "Herein is my Father glorified that ye bear much fruit, so shall ye be my disciples."

What are the fruits of the Christian life? What does it mean in this sense to be good disciples of the Master? Paul has told all this in the lesson we studied not long ago on "the fruits of the spirit"—love, joy, peace, long-suffering, meekness.

Jesus did not need to list these fruits of the spirit as Paul found it necessary to do for those who had not known Jesus. Those who heard his words saw the richest and truest life in Him. No words could have made the example plainer.

So He said, "Abide in me." There could have been no doubt in their minds about that. Jesus was the true vine. What was important was that they should keep near Him and his life-giving power. And that is most important for us.

FLOYD ODLUM COMES TO BAT

(The fate of some 185,000 small factories and about 2,000,000 workers rest with OPM's new contract distribution division and its director, Floyd B. Odium. In two articles, Jack Stinnett, Washington columnist for The Pampa News, describes the man and tells what he is trying to do to solve this problem.)

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—There are people in Washington who will tell you that "Little Od" (Floyd Bostwick Odium) is going to be the goat in one of national defense's greatest failures—the failure to spread defense contracts over the nation's small industries. There are others who say: "Just wait until Od cracks down."

There you have it. As director of the Office of Production Management's two-month-old division of contract distribution, this slight, wiry man who was one of the greatest, if not THE greatest, financiers spawned by the depression, will either emerge as the savior of small manufacturing or fizzle out in solving the biggest problem which has come out of national defense.

Floyd Odium was born in Union City, Mich., in 1892, one of five children. His father was a Methodist minister—typical of the clergy that had "one foot in Heaven" and hands groping often around an almost empty larder. When his family moved to Colorado, Floyd went to the university and came out of it with a law degree and $5. With the $5 he bought a bargain railroad ticket to Salt Lake City for no other reason he can recall now than that it was a bargain. With the law degree, he got a $50-a-month job with the Utah Power and Light company.

When he got raised to $75 he married Hortense McQuarrie, daughter of an elder in the Mormon church. A few years later, Odium went on to New York, an inconspicuous law clerk in the firm which represented Electric Bond and Share Co., holding company of which the Utah firm was a subsidiary.

Chief of Electric Bond and Share was that fabulous Wall Street figure, Sidney Hillcoffer "Old Profranty" Mitchell. The story goes that Mitchell wanted some legal work done in a hurry late one afternoon and found all his legalites out of the office, except Odium. He called him in and the way the slim, sandy-haired young lawyer turned out the job caused Mitchell to have him transferred to his own office.

From there on, Odium's rise was rapid and steady. By 1920 he had become a vice-president and six years later was vice-chairman of the board. In 1923, with a little family nest-egg, amounting to $40,000, Odium organized the Atlas Utility Corp. (The "Utility" afterwards was dropped when the word unfairly began to assume something in the public mind synonymous with "skin-game.")

By 1929, Odium had run that little $40,000 up to $14,000,000 by what he called "just plain common sense" and using no more than that, he claims, he liquidated just before the crash. By 1930 he was buying depressed stocks and bonds at a rate that earned him the nickname of "50-cents on the Dollar" Odium. And that "plain common sense" reworded him at the end of the depression with a company with more than $130,000,000 assets.

At 49, slightly baldish, Odium is as plain as a worn boot. He doesn't pay much attention to dress and since he has been in Washington, at least, none whatever to society. He likes to cook his feet on his desk, unbutton his vest, hook his thumbs through his belt and give whatever problem is facing him that "common sense" goes over. One of his favorite expressions is that "there is no substitute for toll and sweat" and that's the way he works.

In 1935, he was divorced from his wife who had by that time become president and owner of Bonwit Teller's, one of Fifth Avenue's most fashionable purveyors of ladies' apparel. A year later, he married Jacquelyn Cochran, the nation's No. 1 aviatrix. She is now absorbed with the task of organizing women on a national scale for participation in our flying defenses—which just makes the Odiums the first family of national defense. (Tomorrow: Odium's New Job.)

TEX'S TOPICS

IT'S getting so near to the day that Pampa-Amarillo football game that it seems nobody is talking about anything else. . . . Perhaps that's why we find it difficult to write about anything else in this space. . . . We are confident, of course, that Pampa will win next Thursday. . . . All the out-of-town sports writers think we're crazy. . . . Collier Parrish, of the Lubbock paper; Jerry Mallin, of Amarillo, and all-of-the-Amarillo-radio sports announcers see nothing in this crystal ball but a victory for the Sandies.

Perhaps we should tell you why we think the Harvesters will win. . . . We have had occasion to talk about two Amharillo. . . . You know, too, that none of them thinks this is going to be an easy job. . . . They're just ready to give their all for victory. . . . There isn't a single Harvester who doesn't believe Pampa will win. . . . They are firm in their belief that they can whip the Sandies down because of their determined morale which has swept the Harvesters in union since the Plain-victory. . . . Members of this 1941 Harvester team—to a man—will tell you that they are going to pay off what they consider their debt to their fans next Thursday. . . . They tell you that they're going to wipe out that Lubbock upset.

There's no use in us trying to tell you why we are confident Pampa will win. . . . You'll just have to mingle with and talk with these Harvesters to become completely sold on the idea. . . . Fifteen minutes with the co-captains and you'll be ready to give odds on Pampa. . . . And, the best part of it is, they're not bragging. . . . They are just determined. . . . And when you get a football team 100 per cent determined, with the best of morale, confidence in each other and their coaches—it's a rough combination to beat, regardless of the odds. . . . That's the story of the Amharillo next Thursday in the season's thriller. . . . Take it or leave it.

WE have been criticized from some sources for going "all-out" for the Harvesters this year. . . . Well, that's a matter of opinion and those who believe we have done wrong are entitled to their opinions. . . . However, we hope the sideline observers will pay close attention next Thursday to the manner in which the Harvesters go "all-out" for Pampa. . . . And, by the way—the reserved seats for that big Turkey Day game go on sale tomorrow morning at the school business manager's office in City Hall. . . . If you want to get a good seat take a tip and get down there early.

● SERIAL STORY

FOR THE LOVE OF PETE!

BY BURTON BENJAMIN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: No longer popular with his teammates and classmates in state football star Pete Laird, pursued by movie actress Stephanie Stevens, who is vying for his publicity value. Stephanie's complaints and intentions have turned his once-moderate head into a veritable college sweetheart, Anne Humphreys, his best friend and team captain, George Landers, Coach Dirty Dugan is already worried about team morale and resentment of Pete when Pete and George, who has finally confessed his love to Anne, have an argument over her. In the last light of the day, George is injured. Other members of the team decide to insist on Pete's expulsion, but George, hospitalized with his injured shoulder, tells them the argument was his own fault, a statement Anne reluctantly concedes. He explains to her that it is most important to keep the team together.

More nervous than usual, Pete Laird worried over some psychology notes Thursday night before the game and tried to concentrate. It was no use. He was all tightened up. The door knocked and he arose to answer it, welcoming an opportunity to break the tension.

Standing in the hallway were Stephanie Stevens and Larry Winship. He was speechless as she flew into his arms and kissed him hungrily.

"Hello, Pete, my boy," Winship stirred him out of his giddiness. The publicity agent was dressed something like a circus barker. "How are you, kid? Steph and I figured you'd be surprised. Couldn't miss this game, though. Got some ducaats, too—right on the 50 behind your bench. What a game! We'll be yelling for you, won't we, baby?"

"Will we?" Stephanie dismissed him with a nod. "I'll see you tomorrow, Larry."

"Sure, Steph. I get you," Winship winked. "So long, kid."

Pete watched him swagger out the door and turned to Stephanie. "I'm still numb, darling," he said. She clung to him, and he kissed her again. "Always kiss me like that, sweetheart," she said lightly. The door interrupted them. Pete answered. It was Alex Simms, local reporter, with a photographer. "What do you want, Alex?" asked Pete with annoyance.

"Understand Stephanie Stevens is here, Pete. Boss wants a picture and story."

"Nothing doing," Pete moved to shut the door.

"Why, darling," Stephanie held his arm. "That's not fair. We've got to give the press this due."

Pete sighed and opened the door. The two newspaper men entered. They posed for a few pictures, Simms asked some routine questions and prepared to leave. "You folks planning an early elopement?" he asked at the door.

"See us after the season," laughed Stephanie. "Isn't that right, darling?" Pete nodded vacantly.

Fridays before games were traditionally hectic, but this one was more so. Pete went to classes in the morning and met Stephanie for lunch. Dugan turned up in a jaunty plaid coat trimmed with lynx, she captured all eyes as they walked down Main Street. The paper had told of her arrival and University Town stood by and gaped as she walked among the students.

They're tough. They're bigger than you. Linemen—you'll have to change harder and faster than you have all season. Backs—you can't loaf for a minute."

Grimly the players listened, and then Dugan sprang his ace in the hole. "Landers starts at quarterback tomorrow," he snapped. "That's all."

It broke the tension. Players whooped lustily. Some clapped their hands with enthusiasm.

They had to fight their way through traffic when they drove from the country club to the stadium the next morning. Cars clogged the roads. Minnesota was on the field when they jogged out for their warmups. Big, tough and rangy was right. And confident, too.

"A break may win this game," Dugan said as they came in for final instructions. "Make your own breaks. Drive early. Think. All right—go to work."

Landers lost the toss—and Wonsocki frowned. He was superstitious about that. Minnesota elected to kick and State spread out to receive.

It seemed that all 89,000 were on their feet screaming. Pete couldn't even hear the whistle over the din, but he saw Minnesota advance upon the ball and the game was on.

It was a long spinning kickoff that came in Laird's direction. He backed up to receive it, saw Landers cut in front to block, and set himself. This one would be for Stephanie.

The ball hit his arms, he juggled it momentarily and dropped it. Ox Anderson, Minnesota's six-foot eight-inch end, was bearing down on him. He tried to scoop up the loose ball and dodge at the same time. He couldn't do either. Anderson hit him with a vicious tackle and sent him sprawling. Heinie Dober, great Gopher tackle, pounced on the ball on State's three-yard line.

Laird's head was spinning. Faintly, he heard the crowd roaring as he dragged himself to his feet. He wiped a trickle of blood from his nose, turned to walk back to position and saw Landers writing in pain on the ground.

Players looked around him, and as they looked him on a field stretcher Laird saw his face for a brief moment. There were tears in Landers' eyes.

Wonsocki walked over to Pete. "Shoulder went the first time he tried to use it," he growled. "Well, big shot, you were the guy who didn't need any practice. Let's see what you can do now!"

(To Be Continued)

STATE VS. MINNESOTA

CHAPTER X

SLOWLY, unsteadily, without Landers, State chugged along the undefeated trail—more like a jalopy than a Juggernaut. It was noisier than in a hole for three quarters when one of Zupke's famous dippy-doo plays clicked for a 70-yard touchdown. But Pete Laird uncorked a fourth-quarter pass to Wonsocki to tie it up and returned a punt in the 15-yard line from where Joey Anderson kicked a field goal in the waning minutes.

They just eked out a win at Iowa when Pete scooted 34 yards for the only touchdown in a ragged game. Purdue and Georgia Tech were easier, but State lacked the zip and crushing power of the first two games. Although the team as a whole lost some prestige, Laird gained fame as the season rolled along. Writers called him the king of sports for 1941.

Stormy ahead for State's football forces. Out of the north an angry rumble headed toward University Town. Bernie Bierman had another great Minnesota team. Undeclared and untied, writers labeled it the "finest collection of talent in the country. But," they pointed out, "the Gophers have no Laird. That may make the difference."

"Landers' injury mended slowly. He left the hospital in a week but didn't don a suit for three. Dugan kept him out of contact work, hoping to get him in shape for Minnesota. Andy Roskauer is adequate at quarterback—but that was about all.

Pulses quickened in University Town as the week of the Minnesota game dawned.

STATE VS. MINNESOTA

It was a sellout—89,000 seats on hand—and on order. Press box reservations rained in. "The game of the year," said the sports writers.

backs, Senior Back Dick Miller from Longview will not be among them. Coach Matty Bell said Miller had been suspended for breaking a club rule and added:

"I'm sorry to suspend Dick. But he is a senior and the club rules. Since the accident last fall when some of our players were seriously injured in an automobile accident while trying to overtake a train, players have been repeatedly warned that they must travel together."

"Miller told me he made no attempt to catch the train at College Station. He wanted to spend the week-end down there, which he did."

Twelfth Man To Be On Field As Mutes Play Austin High

AUSTIN, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Texas Silents—football team from the Texas School for Deaf—will have a twelfth man on the field tonight when they play Austin High school, and it will be perfectly legal.

Clothed in white like the officials, Zack Shropshire will trail the referee and when a penalty or a choice of penalties need explaining he'll pass on the referee's words to the Silents via the fingertalk system.

But Coach Stan Lambert of Austin High said he would insist that the interpreter keep his hands in his pockets between penalties. Lambert tried to say that with a straight face.

Intramural Sports

Right at the start comes a big pat on the back for "Duck Soup" Chesser whose pass interception "saved the day" for the Harvesters down at Plainview Tuesday. It only goes to show that our boys are on the alert for any opportunity to take a ball game.

Maybe the Harvesters will get some recognition from the so-called "experts" as a result of the win over the Bulldogs. Incidentally the boys redeemed themselves from the precedent shattering win Plainview captured last year. It was the first time in history Pampa had been beaten by a Plainview team.

Hats off to Mr. Herod, our assistant principal, one of the most enthusiastic supporters of our football team. If every student had school spirit like this—

Speech Students See College Play Friday

Four students accompanied Robert S. Radcliffe, head of the speech department and sponsor of the senior play, to Canyon Friday to see a play staged by West Texas State college students. The play, "The Late Christopher Bean," was the first of four annual plays enacted at the college.

Mr. Radcliffe said that he hoped to make some additional trips to see other plays for the benefit of those who are in the senior play, "Ever Since Eve." He also hopes to have Dr. Conrad Freed and James Butler of Canyon see the play, which will be given Dec. 11 and 12.

Those who accompanied Mr. Radcliffe to Canyon were Frankie Lou Keen, Mickey Rafferty, Philip Silcott, and Virginia West.

Girls Give Advice On Keeping Beaux

If you want to hold your beau, don't be an imitator. You should never try to copy some girl who is popular with the boys. For imitations may not fit the person who is imitating.

A girl who tries to dress herself in another girl's mannerisms and charms finds that she does not fit, and make her look like a figure of fun instead of the glamor girl she thought she would be.

You have probably seen many pathetic illustrations of this. Sober and quiet girls, without a particle of humor in their system, who painfully memorize wisecracks and funny stories that fall flat, may not be popular.

Big, hefty girls who try to curl up on sofas and sit on tables, looking cute, only succeed in looking like performing elephants. Quiet girls who try to be vivacious and who giggle and talk, screaming at the top of their voices until everybody files from them to save their eardrums, are obviously out of character.

Such girls will be attractive enough if they had been honestly and really themselves. The formula is, be yourself, whatever you're like.

Publication Staffs Leave For Lubbock

The journalism class and the annual staff left this morning for Lubbock where they will attend the annual West Texas Press clinic conducted by the department of journalism of Texas Technological college.

The schedule is as follows: Friday—Registration will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue throughout the day. A Theta Sigma Phi party will be held in the college gymnasium in the afternoon. The dinner and dance will be given beginning at 7:30 p. m.

PARODY

(To be sung to the tune of "Everything Happens to Me.")
By Colleen O'Grady
I make an A in Math and you can bet your life it's changed.
Examinations come along, my subjects rearranged.
I guess I'll be here six years unless I get some brains.
Everything happens to me.
I'm not eligible for football; my teachers complain.
I miss a week of school just because it rains.
I have to make up, oh! that's such a pain.
Everything happens to me.
At first I thought that I would pass my Geometry
That figures, squares, and angles were all right.
But on a test I never pass a theory
When in my sleep they make me want to fight.
In English there's a book report;
I'll have to give my author's life.
In History current events, which finishes up my strife.
I guess I'll get them all and have to stay up half the night.
Everything happens to me.

Harvesters Aim For Upset Of Amarillo Sandstorm

Citizenship To Be Discussed During Home Room Period

Nothing is more important than to know how to conduct ourselves; to know our rights and to be able to stand alone. Next week, the home room programs are devoted especially to these subjects.

During the home room period every Wednesday afternoon, a special program on a subject designed to aid students is held. This Wednesday, each home room parliamentary is to conduct a discussion on parliamentary procedure. This is to help each student on the way laws are made for the student body, and are made in regard to students conduct in the home room and elsewhere.

Band Practices Clever Formation For Amarillo Game

For the past week, the Harvester band, directed by Jacques Farnum, has been practicing for its performances during the intermission of the Harvester and Sandie game.

The formation has been cleverly worked out in the bubble blowing, with balloons for bubbles. During the time the balloons are going up, the band will play "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles."

The Junior High band was a big help in doing their formation at Lubbock because of the lack of enough High school members to complete the flag of the United States.

Salesmanship Class Takes Up Principles Of Good Sales Talk

The salesmanship class under the supervision of Mrs. Russell Holladay is taking up the four principles of making a good sales talk. The four principles are attracting attention, arousing interest, creating desire and closing the sale.

The students in making talks before the class are judged on posture, tone of voice, grammar and method used in making the sale. These talks also give them practice for further use.

Club Representatives Speak At Meeting

Five students represented the outside school clubs Thursday night, November 6, at the High School P-T.A. They were called on to make these speeches so as to familiarize the parents with the outside activities of the various clubs. The meeting was held in the cafeteria.

Art Classes To Show Work In Exhibition

Students of the first and second year art classes are contributing work in a state art exhibit sponsored by the art section of the Texas State Teachers' association in Houston, Nov. 21 and 22. Miss Roy Riley, art teacher, has announced.

Lost Articles May Be Found In The Office

Students who have lost any articles of clothing, fountain pens, or glass cases should ask for them in the office. Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar, said today, as she would like to return the articles to their owners.

ONLY 100 YEARS AGO: MIND YOUR MANNERS

When private papers lie on desks, Don't ever take a peek; Unless you want the world to think Your middle name is Sneak. Don't snub the newest students. She may be your next week's friend. A cheery word or helpful hint Will earn you thanks, not end.

Shakespeare Found To Be Originator Of Modern "Sayings"

Students have found that some of the sayings they yell at one another are not really original after all. In fact some date back to the time of William Shakespeare, who, students find, used many of our old sayings in his dramas.

Among the sayings that have no special meaning but have become a slang in our language, the following are the most used ones: "I have been in such a pickle since I saw you last" and "I cannot tell what the dickens his name is" used in Shakespeare's plays The Tempest and The Merry Wives of Windsor.

But among the sayings that have a definite meaning and contain a great truth the following are favored: "But love is blind, and lovers cannot see the petty follies that themselves commit" and "All that glitters is not gold" are from The Merchant of Venice by Shakespeare. "Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them"—The Twelfth Night. "The saying is true, and 'The empty vessel makes the greatest sound'" is from Shakespeare's King Henry V.

Coeds Are To Wear Sweeping Coiffure In Coming Months

This year as in years gone by war has affected our lives. Because of national defense many of our most beautiful coeds will probably be wearing a low sweeping coiffure. For the defense of our nation the government has taken the bobby pins and hair pins. Before the national emergency the curves in bobby pins and hair pins were removed. Incidentally the fairer sex found a growing unpopularity for such pins because they would not stay in the hair as well as which goes to prove curvatures are important.

Many, many years ago, women wore steeple like metal to hold their hair in the most fashionable manner. Today great changes have been made. In France, England, Germany and other warring nations, the short bob has become the fashion, because of the demand for metal in pins is needed to aid in defense.

Council To Sell 1941 Student Directories At One-Half Price

A number of student directories, which were not sold last year, will be sold at half price, five cents, this year.

The directories, formerly sold at ten cents, contained the name, address, and classification of all students in high school and junior high for the school year of '40-'41.

The names of the sophomores are in the ninth grade section of the directory, and the others would be listed accordingly. The senior section will be graduate students.

Draft Emphasized Educational Need

The founding of American Education Week grew out of conditions revealed by the World War draft. Twenty-five per cent of the men examined in the draft were found to be illiterate; 29 per cent were physically unfit. These were startling disclosures. Members of the newly formed American Legion wished to help correct these conditions.

When a campaign of education appeared to be the only answer, they consulted with the officers of the National Education Association and the United States Office of Education from whom they received ready cooperation. As a result of these conferences, the first American Education Week was observed in 1921. In 1938 the National Congress of Parents and Teachers became the fourth official national sponsor.

Recreational Periods Provided For Pupils

Recreational activities have been provided for all Pampa High school students who have no physical education period. Miss Maxine Richardson, physical education teacher, has announced.

Folk games and basket ball are being conducted in the gymnasium three days each week, while volleyball is played the other two days.

Competition between students of various home rooms in intramural sports such as kickball, baseball, volleyball, basketball, softball, handball, archery, badminton, six man football, wrestling, and boxing will take place.

A hundred pairs of rubber wheeled skates are expected to arrive in two weeks, and skating will then be the principal noon activity, Miss Richardson stated.

Amateur Game Seats Are In Construction

Seats for approximately 5,000 people are under construction at the Harvester football park. They will be completed in time for the Amarillo-Pampa game here on November 29.

School Skating Party To Be Held Wednesday Night

Admission To Help Pay Skate Cost

An all-school skating party will be held Wednesday, Nov. 19, at 7 p. m., in the high school gymnasium. This will be the first all-school skating party since the arrival of 100 pairs of rubber-wheeled skates last Wednesday.

Student Opinion On School Attendance Gauged By Reporter

Students of Pampa High School have a number of "ready answers" when the question "Why are you going to school?" is asked. To receive an education, have a good time, and make friends, are among those listed.

Don Meador, senior, "To get an education, learn about the world and meet people." Dewey Jones, senior, "To get an education, merely."

J. T. Hefflin, senior, "Just to get a diploma some day."

J. C. Height, sophomore, "I want to learn something."

Roland Phillips, senior, "I want to get an education."

Scott Rafferty, junior, "Want to know people, and associate with them."

Jean Chisholm, sophomore, "To learn to make a place in the world."

Frances Deering, junior, "The folks make me go, but while I'm at it, I want to learn something."

Two Electric Clocks Will Soon Be Placed In School Corridors

Soon the students of our new high school will not need to ask the time of day of teacher or friend, because two large electric clocks are to be placed in each hall of the building.

One large master clock is to be placed in Principal D. F. Osborne's office, and the other in the main hall. The clock will automatically set and correct the time of every clock in the building.

During muddy weather the halls will be less muddy than heretofore, because last week ten flexible steel mats were scraped mud from shoes, and ten door mats arrived. The janitors are to place them at convenient places and it will make their work easier. From now on you will see the janitors picking up papers in new canvas waste baskets, for these are now used.

Miss Pearl Garen's Sociology Classes Study News Items

Unemployment—it's causes, extent and solution; crime and their causes and control; labor, education, immigration, and family questions are problems studied by the sociology class each week in current events. Miss Pearl Garen, sociology and history teacher stated.

The history classes under Miss Garen also have a day set aside for the study of events of national and international importance. The purpose of these current event studies is to improve the students vocabulary and to give them ease in speaking before the class as well as to inform them of worldly problems.

Junior High Star Looms As Harvester Material

Michigan university has nothing on Pampa when it comes to football players for Pampa has a 14-year-old Tommy Harmon of his own. Not only is he playing spectacular, but he smiles, and even has eyes and a nose like that of Michigan's great football ace.

He is Billy Washington, 125-pound captain of the Junior High school football squad, the Reapers.

Last year he was captain of the Horace Mann team. That team scored 112 points in football and Billy made 106 of those points; 31 points being his record in one game. During that year he was knocked out once and he played one whole game with two broken ribs.

For three years he has been the fastest man and the captain of his team. Every opposing grade school team's war cry was usually "Stop Washington." Of the 15 games he has played he has made 20 touchdowns, the shortest touchdown run being 10 yards.

Billy likes only football in the way of sports, and plays this game exclusively. He is interested in all kinds and types of food, and has no favorite. In spite of the fact that he does not get in bed by 9 o'clock every night, he manages to make better than average grades in school.

Leading Roles In Comedy Go To Silcott And Keehn

Pampa High School Coeds Wear Bows To Attract Beaux

There are bows and beaux—but students on the Pampa High school campus maintain that it takes a bow to catch a beau. High school lassies have been wearing hair ribbons for years, but this year's misses are trying to outdo each other with something original in satin, grosgrain, or taffeta nestled in their favorite fingerwaves.

Homemakers Will Attend Amarillo Area Convention

Twenty-seven members of the local Future Homemakers of Texas organization will go to Amarillo November 15, for the annual area meeting. There are one hundred schools in the area.

Favors For Disabled Veterans Made By School Art Classes

Have you noticed the little "what-ifs" or "or-thiers" in the show case on the first floor this week? These didn't just hop out of fairyland as you might suppose by looking at them, but were created through the imaginative genius of the first and second year art classes, in compliance with the request of the chairman of the Red Cross, who will use these tiny creatures as favors for the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Thanksgiving Day, Miss Roy Riley, art teacher has announced.

"We had never heard of many of these things before, but I gave the problem, and the students originally went to nature for their models," Miss Riley stated.

Plants native to Pampa are used in these favors. Some that are used are devil's claws and sweet pea pods, which are being used to make bodies; cockle burrs, castor bean seed pods for heads, buttons, beads, thumb tacks for eyes, beads and buttons for legs, matchheads for eyes, and match stems for legs and arms.

Roy Cone, sophomore, presented the class with feathers from his parrot for decoration.

Experiments With Ice Will Boil Water

Have you ever seen ice make water boil? Well, it can! Put a round bottle of water, not corked, into a saucepan filled with salt water. Place the pan and the bottle on the stove, and let it stay there until the water in the bottle is boiling.

Remove the bottle from the pan. Pour out half of the water in the bottle and put the cork in the bottle at once. Lay the bottle on its side and wait until the water is no longer boiling. Now, put the bottle on a plate of ice. Pile the ice against the side of the bottle, and watch the water start to boil and bubble all over again. You see, it can be done. Ice can make water boil.

You are wondering, I imagine, why this happens. When you poured out some of the water from the bottle, and put cork in, there was only steam and water left in the bottle. There was little or no air. Then the steam condensed and made water.

Water boils at a temperature of 212 Fahrenheit at sea level. On the top of a mountain where the air pressure is less, water boils at a lower temperature, that is, the boiling water is not as hot. It may be bubbling and boiling, yet it is not hot enough to boil an egg.

Choir Sings Before Rotarians Wednesday

The a cappella choir, consisting of 40 boys and girls, and a trio of girls, directed by Miss Helen Martin, sang before the Rotary club Wednesday at noon and over the radio from 5:15 to 5:30 o'clock.

Numbers sung by the choir were "Let My Song Fill Your Heart," "Beautiful Savior," and "Ride the Chariot." The trio, Bertha Willis, Lois Castka, and Freddie Nell Beckham, sang "When It's Sleepy Time Down South."

The choir sang at the lecture presented by Dr. A. C. Ellis at the Junior High school auditorium Wednesday night.

Monday Time Set For Debate Class Meet

A meeting will hold Monday at 3 o'clock to organize the students and to make plans for the Texas debate question, Miss Pearl Garen, sponsor, said.

The question to be determined upon is stated as follows: Resolved: That the federal government should adopt the policy of equalizing educational opportunity throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the several states for public elementary and secondary schools.

Miss Garen hopes to have all those interested in the debate present at the meeting so as to determine the number interested and to set dates for further meetings.
