Ernest King Named Navy's Supreme Head

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Supreme command of the United States navy, wherever its operations may take it, was given today to Admiral Ernest J. King.

With the appointment went the navy's recognition of the terrific power of the airplane in modern warfare, for King's career includes service with the air corps and he is, in his own right, a naval aviator.

In addition, he has served with submarines as well as surface craft, has proved himself an excellent tactician, and thus is considered an officer of unusually full and well-rounded experience.

The appointment completed a widespread shake-up which began last Wednesday with the removal of Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, from command of the Pacific fleet, pending an investigation of the navy's unpreparedness for the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Apparently it was a shakeup in organization as well as in personnel for in his new post, King outdranks the chief of naval operations, Admiral Harold R. Stark, and is to be responsible only to the secretary of the navy and President Roosevelt.

He has been serving as commander of the Atlantic fleet, directing its patrol and convoy work for months before America's actual participation in the war began. Rear Admiral Royal E. Ingersoll, was appointed to that post.

Under the old setup, the chief of operations was in supreme command of the navy. Under him was the commander in chief of the United States fleet, with authority stemming from him to the commanders in chief of the various fleets. Kimmel, while in direct command of the Pacific fleet, was simultaneously commander in chief of the United States fleet.

Under the new arrangement, King will have charge not only of the navy afloat, its operating forces in the Atlantic, Pacific and Far East, but also of the coastal defenses, and air bases off the coast.

What duties and responsibilities remain to the office of chief of naval operations and to Admiral Stark, remained unclarified. However, no orders were announced abolishing that post.

King's appointment was a continuation of an apparently new administrative policy of giving airmen the big army and navy jobs.

The Pearl Harbor shakeup included the removal of Lieutenant General Walter C. Short as commander of the army's Hawaiian department and the appointment to that post of Lieutenant General Delos C. Emmons, chief of the air force combat command.

When Kimmel was replaced by Rear Admiral Chester V. Nimitz, disappointment was expressed by naval fliers, some of whom think that recent developments had reduced the ships of the navy to the position of auxiliaries to the air force.

Many of them thought that a proper recognition of air power would have placed King in the job. Their elation was consequent, they felt, when they learned to-night that a flier had been given command, not of the Pacific fleet alone, but of the entire navy.

They were pleased to learn, too, that Major General James E. Chaney, also an aviator, was the army's representative in preliminary staff talks in London.

Hitler Asks Germans To Give Up Clothing

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Dec. 20—An appeal from Adolf Hitler read in every radio station of the Reich tonight acknowledged that his army faced an enemy superior in numbers and material and begged the strained German people to contribute their warm clothing to enable the soldiers to endure the rigors of the bitter eastern front.

The appeal, sounded on Hitler's behalf by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, said the German people must show their gratitude by making a Christmas gift of every article of warm clothing that they could spare to the men in the army.

While Goebbels was thus reading his own appeal and the proclamation of the Fuehrer, the high command admitted its African army was withdrawing westward "according to plan" and that on the frigid Russian front heavy battles were being fought without a claim to German advances. In Russia, the high command merely said, the Russians were suffering extreme new losses.

His proclamation calling for a gift from the people to the army on this third war Christmas, Hitler declared:

"German people: while, apart from air raids, German homes are safe from the enemy, millions of our soldiers now stand at the front, after a year of most severe fighting against an enemy vastly superior both in numbers and in quantities of material.

"Victories, such as the world has so far never experienced, were achieved, thanks to the leadership and the gallantry of officers and men.

"Thus, the greatest military front of all times holds and fights from the Arctic regions to the Black Sea, from the snowfields of Finland to the mountains of the Balkans, until the hour of the final annihilation of the most dangerous enemy of all time.

"Every kind of fur and woolen clothing, from lined overcoats, socks and underwear to ear-muffs, blankets, shawls, overcoats and blankets are needed to protect the soldiers from the bitter cold," said Goebbels in a 20-minute speech.

Nazi party members will make the house-to-house collection from Dec. 27 to Jan. 4, he said.

"I know that at the last collection the German people have given all they could spare in consideration of this tense situation regarding textile supplies," the propaganda minister said, but he added:

"As long as a single object of winter clothing remains still in the fatherland, it must go to the front."

$784 Remain To Be Raised In War Drive

The end of Pampa's Red Cross emergency war fund drive was in sight last night and there was optimism among workers that Pampa would go "over the top" by Tuesday, deadline set by Chairman Bob Posey for workers to finish their districts and make reports to Joe Key.

Pampa's quota is $5,200 and up to last night a total of $4,515.56 had been subscribed, leaving a total of $784.44 to be raised.

Several more large donations were received yesterday to add $316.56 to the amount reported Friday.

"It will not be possible for workers to see everyone who is financially able to contribute. Therefore, those not seen are asked to leave their donations at the Red Cross office in the basement of the city hall, with Joe Key or the Southern Public Service company or with Horace McBee at the Pampa News.

"Let's go, Pampa," said Bob Posey last night, "let's get over the top not later than Tuesday night. We did it back in 1918 when we were about one-tenth the size we are now."

The American Red Cross has a field force of 1,000 trained personnel and a contingent of 6,500 Red Cross nurses now serving with the U. S. armed forces on a wartime basis.

"The Red Cross is confronted with its greatest challenge in history," Chairman Posey declared. "Not only is the Red Cross engaged on the military front. A well-organized corps of volunteers, trained in peacetime is now in action on the home front, looking to the needs of civilian defense."

A preparedness measure Red Cross personnel has been assigned to every army and navy post here and abroad, including Hawaii and the Philippines, at the moment of the Japanese attack. Blood plasma from Red Cross donor centers in the United States was on its way for emergency transfusions at both points of invasion.

Most important of Red Cross duties with the armed forces is maintaining the vital communication link between the men at the front. Red Cross field directors were handling 120,000 cases monthly at the outset of hostilities.

Names of additional subscribers will be published in Monday's paper.

Plane Fares To Be Given To Red Cross

Pampa aviators will do their bit to swell Pampa's emergency Red Cross war relief fund by carrying passengers between 1 and 2 o'clock this afternoon and giving all the money to the emergency relief fund.

Five or six planes will be available to carry passengers during the two-hour period which has been designated as "Help the Red Cross" time. All pilots will be licensed and all planes will be approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The planes will be located at the city airport on East Browning avenue.

Fierce Battle In Progress In Philippines

(By The Associated Press)
Two weeks of war in the Pacific Sunday found the Japanese strangling a sacrificial band of British imperial troops on Hongkong Island, fighting fiercely to widen a new foothold in the Philippines, and gathering strength for a new leap in Malaya, while Dutch armies and United States submarines ripped more holes in the Japanese fleet.

The new Japanese landing in the Philippines at dawn yesterday was at Davao, on Mindanao Island, and defense forces immediately flung themselves on the invaders. The fighting continued all day, and at 2:15 a. m. today (Sunday) Manila time (11:15 a. m. Saturday C. S. T.) the U. S. army headquarters was reported out of communication with the city 600 miles south of Manila, since Saturday afternoon. Japan still was carrying the ball for the Axis in the world struggle, because the Germans, Italians, and their hangers-on were taking a terrific beating on Russia's snow-swept plains and in the Libyan desert.

Hongkong's fall was regarded as inevitable. But the British, Tommies, Canadians and Indian Sikhs who had no hope of reinforcements fought on from atop Victoria Peak. Below them big fires raged and the Victoria City was strewn with the wreckage of a week-long artillery and air bombardment.

Governor Sir Mark Young, who twice rejected Japanese surrender demands, was reported to have said "operations are proceeding." That was all. Tokyo predicted the garrison's fall by Sunday.

In the Philippines the new Japanese landing was made at Davao on the island of Mindanao, at dawn Saturday when four Japanese transports unloaded troops in that populous Japanese-occupied Manila.

An official Manila announcement said only that heavy fighting continued all day against the invaders at this point some 600 miles from the capital.

Davao was a recognized center of Japanese fifth-column activity, and Manila dispatches said the Filipino defenders long and hard against a Japanese thrust there. Some 1,500 Japanese men of military age were interned as soon as the war began.

Japanese bombers again swarmed over Manila at noon yesterday, but their explosives aimed at a field fell wide, it was announced.

Tokyo asserted that 21 American planes, a hangar and an oil depot were destroyed in a series of raids Thursday and Friday at Nichols field, Manila, and 100 points. Washington announced light casualties and damage to the Cavite naval base in Friday's raid.

British defense forces in Malaya meanwhile fell back to a new line south of the Krian river in Perak state after they repulsed an invading Japanese stab on the main road leading down to Singapore 300 miles away.

Japanese troops occupied the island base of Penang off the Malayan coast north of that area, but the British had destroyed all valuable equipment and removed their troops and civilians before the Japanese landed. Penang is an important base for operations in the straits of Malacca.

The Dutch continued to supply encouraging news. A communication in Batavia said that Dutch airmen scored direct hits on two Japanese cruisers, a transport and another warship apparently being used as a plane carrier in an attack off Miri, Borneo.

The Japanese hold Miri, a coastal point in Sarawak which is adjacent to British and Dutch Borneo. But the Dutch were confident that that base would not threaten their rich colonies because of difficult intervening jungle and mountain country.

A Washington communication said that a U. S. submarine sank another Japanese transport.

For the first time American units stationed in China along the Burma road as volunteer airmen went into action. They shot down four Japanese planes while on workers, drove up to the plant, and that heavy fighting subsequently developed about 10 miles north of that point.

The white house disclosed last night that "joint planning for unity

Tanker Sends Out Distress Signals

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20 (AP)—The navy received unconfirmed reports that enemy submarines fired on two oil tankers near the California coast today, apparently scoring a hit on one, and chasing the other tanker into port.

The reports followed by only a few hours the official disclosure by Rear Admiral J. W. Greenslade, commandant of the 12th naval district, that enemy submarines were destroying American shipping in American waters. He emphasized the need of labor unity in keeping the shipyards going at full speed to replace all losses.

The office of the admiral, who personally visited shipyard plants in Richmond today to urge welders to give up plans for work stoppage during a jurisdictional dispute, would not deny although not confirming these reports:

A submarine attacked the 6,912-ton tanker Emidio this afternoon near San Francisco. The Emidio was said to have sent out an S. O. S.

The Agwiworld, a 6,771-ton vessel, was surprised by a submarine 20 miles off Cypress Point, 100 miles south of San Francisco. The submarine fired eight or nine shells from a deck gun, but the tanker safely reached a nearby coastal anchorage.

The reports were the second to bring the war close to the coastal area. The night of Dec. 8 San Francisco underwent blackout following which the fourth intercept command said that enemy planes had been in the bay area.

It was reported to the navy that the shelling attack occurred as the Agwiworld plowed through heavy seas. She turned her stern and reached safety as naval planes scouted the waters, the reports to the navy said.

There was little detail in the unconfirmed reports to the navy that the Emidio had been struck in a submarine attack.

It was some 15 miles or more off shore when the reported incident occurred, and near the Blunt's Reef lightship.

At the naval district headquarters attaches said they had been told without confirmation that the lightship had picked up distress signals from the Emidio.

Earlier, Admiral Greenslade had disclosed that enemy submarines were preying on shipping off the California coast so he took quick steps to assure uninterrupted production in shipyards.

In a further statement Admiral Greenslade, commandant of the 12th naval district, appealed to the welders who have threatened work stoppage, to remain on their jobs to assure quick replacement of all lost shipping.

Thereafter, naval authorities announced Admiral Greenslade was prepared to ask the army to protect welders who wished to remain at their jobs, should a such protection become necessary.

Admiral Greenslade went to Richmond, Calif., late this afternoon and found 1,200 men, who were to go to work at 4:30 p. m., milling about the gates of the Todd-California Shipbuilding corporation.

Admiral Greenslade called Herb Brown, business representative of the united welders, into conference and asked him to urge the men, among whom were several hundred welders, to go to work.

Brown addressed the workers and recommended that they remain out. Then a loudspeaker car, bearing Jack Reynolds, business agent of the Alameda County Building Trades council, and B. E. Brown, business agent of the structural iron workers, drove up to the plant. Reynolds and Brown both spoke, urging the men to enter the plant and take up their tools. C. P. Bedford, general superintendent for Todd-California, added his voice to the appeal.

After much argument among the workers a little knot of 10 or 12 men broke away and entered the plant. A half dozen more followed. Then in groups of five, 10, 15, and 20 the workers moved through the gates. Finally only 25 of the original 1,200 remained. About 200 others were believed to have gone home before the through-the-gate march began.

Admiral Greenslade said that if any disturbance developed at the plant he would ask the army to provide troops to protect workers.

Officials at the nearby Richmond Shipbuilding corporation said all their men had reported for work.

Coast Blackouts Cut Egg Production

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 19 (AP)—Egg production in the Pacific Northwest last week was down a hard blow because the millions of laying hens in the area became psychologically disturbed by the blackouts.

In this part of the country the days are about six hours long in the winter and farmers have depended on electric lighting to keep the fowls working a 13-hour shift. Last week came the blackout!

Farmers, caught without black paper for the hen house windows, yanked the manual switches. The psychological effect was disastrous.

The 17 hours of darkness the first night sent half the producers into a surly mood. Blackouts the next few nights took care of the others who had the manual switches. The psychological effect was disastrous.

Man Arrested In Fake Money Case

City police officers arrested a man yesterday afternoon for investigation in connection with the passing of fake $5 bills, passed in Amarillo, El Paso, and other cities. Amarillo officers are to come after the man today.

The man is also wanted on a theft warrant in Amarillo, officers said. He was arrested through a description furnished by the Amarillo police.

The fake $5 bills are of good workmanship but are on lightweight paper and have several flaws. The bills are red seal, issue of 1928. They carry numbers A309 or F290 in the lower front left-hand corner and a plate number 888 on back.

Principal flaws are heavier shading on the coat worn by Lincoln and lighter beard. The eyes are also heavier shaded than on the good bills.

None of the bills have turned up in Pampa.

Yule Lights To Be Turned On Tonight

Tonight at 7 o'clock Pampa will become a city of light and beauty as hundreds of residents turn on their Christmas lights to compete in the home decoration lighting contest sponsored by the Garden club. To be eligible for a prize, decorations must be illuminated each night through January 1 from 7 to 10:30 o'clock.

The number of beautifully decorated homes has increased steadily throughout the past week, and many homes have already been lighted for Christmas. Many Pampans, however, will be busy today putting the finishing touches on their home decorations.

Judging will be done by local persons this year, thus making it unnecessary for judges to try to cover the entire city in one night. Between tonight and the night of January 1, judges will have ample time to make a fair comparison of all the decorated homes in the city, says Mrs. J. B. Landrum, general chairman of the Garden club's contest committee.

Winners will be announced in the News on January 2. Thirteen prizes in twenty-five cent defense stamps, totaling $387.50, will be awarded. Four prizes will be awarded in each of the three districts into which the city has been divided, as follows: Group 1—25 stamps, Group 2—35 stamps, Group 3—25 stamps, and Group 4—20 stamps.

Complete rules of the contest follow: Eligibility: Installations competing must be illuminated every night between the hours of 7 and 10:30 o'clock from December 21 to January 1, inclusive, and must be large enough to be clearly visible from the street.

Groups: Decorations will be grouped into four classes: Group 1—Displays featuring scenes or cut-outs of a religious nature; Group 2—Displays featuring scenes or cut-outs representing things connected with Christmas other than those of a religious nature; Group 3—Displays using only lights or footcords to harmonize with the surroundings without the addition of special scenes or cut-outs; and Group 4—Doorways.

Districts: The city will be divided into three districts as follows: District 1—All houses east of Cuyler or Mary Ellen streets and north of Foster street; District 2—All houses west of Cuyler or Mary Ellen streets, east of Hobart street, and north of Foster street; District 3—All houses south of Foster street and all houses west of Hobart street.

Prizes: Prizes will be awarded within each of the three districts as follows: Group 1—25 twenty-five cent defense stamps ($6.25); Group 2—35 defense stamps ($8.75); Group 3—25 defense stamps ($6.25); Group 4—20 defense stamps ($5.00). A grand total of 80 defense stamps ($12.50) will be awarded for the home judged to be the best decorated in the city, regardless of classification. No home will be eligible to receive more than one prize.

Judging Score: Decorations in each group will be rated on the following basis: General artistic effect—50, originality—50, ingenuity in utilizing surroundings—10, conformity to the spirit of Christmas—10, size, including proportion—10.

Members of the contest committee, in addition to Mrs. Landrum, general chairman, are Mrs. Bob McCoy, Glen Pool, O. R. Pumpfery, H. E. Schwartz, and Hol Wagner.

Registration Of Truck Vehicles Asked Quickly

Texas is liable to be "jumped on" publicly by the war department if truck owners don't comply faster with registration of their vehicles in the inventory being made by the department.

Owners of 100,000 vehicles still have not filled out and returned cards mailed several months ago to owners of trucks and buses in the state.

Texas is lagging far behind other states in the survey which was designed to provide the war department with complete information on the availability of vehicles which might be used to transport troops, materials, and evacuees in case of need.

Gray county truck and bus owners who have not filled in their cards should do so at once and mail these cards to the war department, 1222 W. Commerce, San Antonio. Any owner who has not received his card should write that address for one.

Homer Garrison Jr., Austin, state police director, commenting on Texas' poor showing, said: "Texas, which has the highest ratio of men in the armed services, is lagging far behind other states in the simple matter of a truck and bus survey. If our young men are willing to offer their lives for their country, surely the truck and bus owners should be willing to say whether they will agree to lend or lease their vehicles to the government."

Courthouse Employees And County Officials Set Up Organization

Gray county officials and courthouse employees set up an organization of their own, as yet unnamed, at a banquet held Friday night at the First Methodist church.

The program included the exchange of Christmas gifts and was the first gathering of its kind ever to be held by courthouse employees and officials in the history of the county.

No special purpose of the organization was declared, other than of making the Christmas banquet an annual custom, and of assessing members 10 cents a month. This money goes into the flower fund, to pay for flowers given for the funerals of anyone connected with the courthouse.

Reason for the fund is to eliminate confusion in such matters. In the past when death of someone associated with the courthouse has occurred, it has been necessary for one person to "chase all over the court house" securing funds for floral tributes.

W. B. Weathered, county superintendent of schools, was elected president of the association, and Mrs. Volney S. Day, deputy county auditor, was named as secretary. Tenure is for one year.

Santa Claus On Program
Attendance at the banquet was 75. Feature of the program was the exchange of gifts, by "Santa Claus" attired in the conventional costume, the Biblical reading on the birth of Christ by Claudia Bengt, and the singing of two songs by a girls quartet from the First Baptist church.

Singers were Joan Coonrod, Vesta Grace James, Margaret Covington, and Lois Alford.

W. E. James, county treasurer, was master of ceremonies. The program opened with the singing of "God Bless America" by the group, led by the Rev. Paul Briggs, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, with Miss Lois Cameron as pianist.

Invocation was by District Judge W. E. Ewing.

Preceding the appearance of "Santa Claus," the group joined in singing "Jingle Bells."

On the menu were turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, asparagus, green beans, mashed potatoes, gravy, fruit cake with whipped cream, and coffee.

TB Bangles Sale Nets Total Of $36

A total of $36 was raised in Pampa Saturday in the sale of double-barred red celluloid crosses by the Gray County Tuberculosis association.

This sum will supplement the $900 already raised through the sale of Christmas seals.

A second series of "follow-up" post cards to names of more than 3,000 Gray county residents will be sent out January 5, W. E. James, president of the association said Saturday. First series of "follow-up" had already been mailed.

The moon has a temperature of about 212 degrees Fahrenheit during its long day, and about 200 degrees below zero during its long night.

Funds To Support Soldiers To Have A Merry Christmas

(By The Associated Press)

Soldiers in army camps from coast to coast will take time off from their grim duty of training for war to enjoy a merry Christmas.

A survey yesterday (Saturday) showed the holiday would be observed with all the American traditions and trimmings.

Plans for the men who will remain at the cantonments include parties, dances, shows, concerts, religious services, gifts, personal appearances of Santa Claus, and a million and a half pounds of turkey.

Huge trees, burdened with multi-colored lights, have been put in place on military reservations. Holy, red and green bunting, and pine boughs have been arranged in mess halls, barracks, and recreation centers.

The troopers who stay on the reservations will miss only the company of mother and dad and the glow of the family fireside—joys which will be experienced by thousands of others who obtained yuletide furloughs.

But those who received no leaves will have ample opportunity for entertainment at Christmas season parties and dances at service and USO clubs, gymnasiums, and community clubs on the grounds and in loafed around a village barber shop near here last night after, County Attorney Austin L. Grimes said, he had killed his parents, 10-year-old sister, and a five-year-old brother with a repeating shotgun, then fired the home.

Grimes said the youth, Richard E. Dehler, signed a statement confessing the quadruple slaying early today after five hours of steady questioning. In it the boy said he was "tired of being pushed around," and felt that he had reached the age when he should be his own boss.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. August B. Dehler, each about 50, Anna Mae, 10, and Kenneth, 5.

O. C. Nickish, state crime bureau agent, said the boy told him that his father kicked him last night because the boy threw straw in the wrong place. Nickish said this crystallized the boy's determination to nearby communities. Programs for the children of military personnel have been arranged at Fort D. A. Russell, Texas, and other posts.

kill his father. The other slayings, Nickish said the boy told him, were necessary to cover up the elder Dehler's killing.

Previously stolid and unemotional, Richard broke down at noon and started sobbing.

The four were found in a potato pit beneath the smoldering house by neighbors. Lawrence Dehler, 21, cousin of Richard, had found the house afire when he stopped to pick up Richard en route to a rural school Christmas party.

Richard, raiser of prize livestock and winner of awards in farm club competition, instead was in a barbershop at Buckman, Grimes said, lolling around with other occupants of the community gathering place.

WICHITA FALLS AND TEMPLE BLAST INTO STATE FINALS

Coyotes Run Over Sunset High 14 To 0

DALLAS, Dec. 20 (AP)—The site and date of the state schoolboy football championship game will be set at a conference here tomorrow between officials of Wichita Falls and Temple.

The conference will be at the Baker Hotel starting at 10 o'clock, Coach Ted L. Jefferies of Wichita Falls said.

Fort Worth is expected to be one of the bidders for the state final game which has been played in Dallas for the past four years.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Dec. 20 (AP)—Lanky Gene Hill, as tough and wiry as the wind-whipped mesquite of his native prairie country, rifled Wichita Falls into the state schoolboy football finals here today with a running, passing and punting exhibition that kept Sunset backer halted the Bisons once on the four-yard line, the other time on the 18.

A crowd of 15,000 saw the game. Wichita Falls got its first touchdown at the end of the initial period on a sensational pass from Hill to R. D. Smith—half of the irrepressible Hill twin brother act.

The Coyotes drove from their 27 in seven plays, the pay-off coming on a pass over the goal line from the Sunset 3.

Wichita Falls picked the closing seconds of the second quarter to get its other counter. It came on a 69-yard drive with Hill again the spark. Hill first passed to R. D. Smith on the Sunset 9, pitched to Smith for one and a five-yard penalty gave Wichita Falls the ball on the Sunset 3. Then Hill faked a pass and ran around right end for a touchdown.

B. L. Smith, the other half of the twin act, added both extra points.

Bill Blackburn, Sunset's all-around back, was pretty well bottled up, making only 25 yards. He went out with an injury at the height of the only real Sunset drive in the third period.

DEAR PEOPLE OF PAMPA. May you all enjoy the holidays as never before. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Private Sam Malvica.

The message contained in a letter received here yesterday from Sam Malvica, former Pampa Oiler star who is serving with Uncle Sam's armed forces. Also in the letter were three one dollar bills to pay for the above greeting. Sam said he didn't have the address of many Pampans and that he wanted to express his holiday greetings through the Pampa News.

Well, here is Sam's greetings to Pampa friends and it's not going to cost him one cent. The three one dollar bills are now in Uncle Sam's mail on their way back to Sam Malvica, a swell fellow and a real soldier.

"Things in general are fine with this would-be soldier; but the best Christmas card I have seen of this particular time," wrote Sam. He was kidding the Pampa News sports editor who failed to answer his last letter.

Sam's address is Private Sam Malvica, Company A, 35th Engineer Regiment, A.P.O. No. 35, Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Little Rock, Ark. He'd appreciate a letter.

Texans First Reported Lost Are Still Alive

(By The Associated Press)

The hot and cold blowing fortunes of war Saturday brought a measure of relief to a number of Texas families, officially notified that some first reported lost in the Pacific were at least alive.

The first Waco youth reported missing was Louis Le Geese, Seaman at Pearl Harbor. Saturday his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Le Geese, received word that he was alive, but wounded.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Swenson of Austin called a similar notification their best Christmas gift. The navy informed them their son, A. J. Swenson, Jr., was safe.

Mrs. O. L. Waincoat of Dallas was roused from bed at 2 a. m. by a message:

"The navy department is pleased to advise that your son Robert Eugene Waincoat, seaman second class, U. S. Navy, previously reported lost, now is reported as a survivor, but wounded. The extent of his wounds is not known."

From Washington came word that the war department has taken under advisement a suggestion that the government officially take over the fast-growing A Penny A Plane club scheme of raising war funds originated in Mars Hill.

Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.) said he had submitted to the war department a suggestion from Riley Cross, publisher of the Marshall News Messenger, that the plan be sponsored by the government. Patman said he had received no reply yet from the department, or any indication as to how exactly how the money would be spent.

The idea caught on at Orange and was taking form at Waco, in Texas, and in many other cities clubs had already been formed.

At Dallas, Lieutenant Commander Barry Holton of the naval aviation cadet selection board announced that because the navy is eager to aid young men complete their education before they go into service, it is willing to enlist them and then allow them to finish the college year.

College juniors and seniors may qualify and enlist for flight training in naval aviation immediately, he said, but stay in school until the end of the scholastic year before being called to active duty.

Briefs from the Texas war front: PORT ARTHUR—Residents subscribed $37,000 in the special Red Cross drive, $9,000 over quota.

ABILENE—Roy Youngblood, marine sergeant in the Pacific, wrote his parents: "We went no place in particular. We ain't doing anything in particular. We ain't going no place in particular. Outside of that there ain't no news. I am in the pink, so please don't worry about me."

WACO—When Baylor students return to the campus after the Christmas holidays, they will find the school ready to give them intensive war preparation courses such as radio, photography, home nursing, first aid.

LUBBOCK—Presidents of 80 campus organizations meet to plan constructive expression of student patriotic feelings. President Clifford B. Jones said officials will find ways for students to assist in defense while continuing their college course.

SHERMAN—Sunday mass meetings will inform employees of about 50 concerns how they may cooperate in home defense.

Bucks Defeat Groom 28 To 15

Special To The NEWS

WHITE DEER, Dec. 20.—The White Deer Bucks rolled up a 28 to 15 victory over the Groom Tigers in a scrimmage game here Thursday night.

Don Thurlow set the pace for the Bucks by sinking the ball for 11 points. Burns and Johnson tied for points on the Groom team, with 4 each.

The Bucks "B" team led the way for the first team by throwing the Groom second stringers for a 13 to 22 loss.

Starting line-ups were: White Deer—L. Hester, G. Hester, Thurlow, Hourigan, and Morris; Groom—Burns, Johnson, Britten, Berry, and Davis.

In the five practice games played this season, the Bucks have won two and lost three. They will open their conference play with Panhandle here, Tuesday, Dec. 30.

Lamar twice had been winning scoring distance, getting to the eight and four yards lines on separate drives before Temple managed to halt it.

In the midst of this pushing around, Temple suddenly broke loose. Hill broke around left end for 50 yards near the second quarter's end, getting to the Lamar 40. Then he tossed a pass to Kenny Baker, end, that was good for 18 yards; teamed with Jack Allen to run to the 5 and then flipped a touchdown pass to left end Barney Ham.

Hill missed the conversion try. In the fourth period, Allen intercepted a pass on the Lamar and sped 22 yards to the 18. Temple was set back by a five-yard penalty but Hill promptly broke through the line and scampered 23 yards to the second touchdown, again missing the conversion effort.

A few minutes later, Borneaman was trying to get his passing game working in a desperate effort to score. He was surrounded before he could get the ball away and dropped it to the ground as tacklers spun him around. Earl Heap, Temple's blocking back, fell on the ball on the Lamar 21.

Allen and Hill blasted to the six-yard line and then Allen burrowed through guard for the final touchdown, Hill converted.

Temple Routs Lamar Indians In 19-0 Upset

By WILLIAM T. RIVES

HOUSTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Wayland Hill, 174-pound Temple tailback, raced like a wrath through the Lamar Indians today while his teammates boxed big Raymond Borneaman.

The combination proved effective enough to bring Temple a sound 19-0 victory over Lamar and send the Wildcats into the finals of the state Intercolastic race.

The advance billing listed Borneaman as the star attraction but Hill grabbed all the glory, scoring a touchdown, passing for another, kicking an extra point and gathering in 131 yards on his running attempts. The rest of the team gained only 50 yards.

Borneaman was stopped for a net of 24 yards gained.

Temple's victory came in its customary fashion. Through most of the season, Temple has looked spot by but always at the right moment produced the winning points.

In the same way, it preserved its spotless record this afternoon before 10,000 fans in explosive mode.

Lamar twice had been winning scoring distance, getting to the eight and four yards lines on separate drives before Temple managed to halt it.

In the midst of this pushing around, Temple suddenly broke loose. Hill broke around left end for 50 yards near the second quarter's end, getting to the Lamar 40. Then he tossed a pass to Kenny Baker, end, that was good for 18 yards; teamed with Jack Allen to run to the 5 and then flipped a touchdown pass to left end Barney Ham.

Hill missed the conversion try. In the fourth period, Allen intercepted a pass on the Lamar and sped 22 yards to the 18. Temple was set back by a five-yard penalty but Hill promptly broke through the line and scampered 23 yards to the second touchdown, again missing the conversion effort.

A few minutes later, Borneaman was trying to get his passing game working in a desperate effort to score. He was surrounded before he could get the ball away and dropped it to the ground as tacklers spun him around. Earl Heap, Temple's blocking back, fell on the ball on the Lamar 21.

Sugar Prices Frozen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Sugar prices were "frozen" by the government today at current levels.

The office of price administration placed temporary emergency ceilings on primary and wholesale prices of all forms of refined and other "direct consumption" sugar which it said should "remove any reason for higher retail sugar prices."

Craig Wood Top Comeback Of U. S. Navy

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—It was somewhat of a surprise when Craig Wood crashed through to win the Augusta National Golf tournament last spring. It was still more of a surprise when the blond-headed professional, then 39 years of age, whipped the nation's best in the national open championship and two months later soundly trounced Vic Ghezzi, P.G.A. titleholder, in a special match.

True, Wood Long had been one of the top notchers but the big money always had eluded him. Then too, he played in the open with his back strapped to protect a torn muscle.

All of which resulted in Wood being named the No. 1 comeback of the year by the 78 sports experts voting in the Associated Press' annual poll. The Mamaroneck, N. Y., golfer polled 102 votes for a 32-point margin over Johnny Vander Meer, the Cincinnati Reds' Southpaw, as the writers spread their votes among 49 athletes. Eighty-one of Wood's votes came from 27 first place ballots on the basis of three for first, two for second and one for third.

Vander Meer's polling of 70 votes was no surprise for the erratic southpaw was a mainstay of the Reds' pitching staff for the first time since pitching two consecutive no-hit games in 1938.

With Vander Meer receiving 12 first place votes, the remaining 11 ballots were divided among 20 other athletes. Bobby Riggs, No. 1 ranking tennis player who makes his pro debut next Saturday at Madison Square Garden, received four of them and enough seconds and third to give him 29 points and third place over Billy Dickey, the New York Yankees' catcher who was the terror of old after a poor 1940 season. Dickey received 25 votes.

Also in the first eleven in order were: Lefty Gomez, Yankee pitcher, 14; Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn's ace hurler, and Red Cochrane, welterweight boxing champion, 13 each; Bud Ward, twice winner of the amateur golf crown, 11; Lou Nova, heavyweight boxer, 10 and Hank Luisetti, basketball and Willie Hoppe, billiards, eight each.

Tallest Team Will Enter City Tourney

CANYON, Dec. 20.—West Texas State's tall men will enter the Oklahoma City Invitation tournament December 26 with a record of eight wins and no losses for this season.

This week the Buffaloes crashed through three Border Conference schools to further their determination to take the cage title in their first year of membership in this strong circuit. The Buffs beat Arizona State of Flagstaff, 64 to 36, Arizona State of Tempe, 55 to 28, and the University of Arizona at Tucson, 71 to 52. They previously had walloped the defending champions of Texas Mines by a score of 74 to 44 on the local court.

Earlier, the West Texans had defeated Chihuahua State in Mexico, 60-46 and 49-35; Eastern New Mexico College, 111 to 22; and Omaha University, 88-25.

Arizona University gave the Buffaloes their first really anxious moment this season. The Wildcats tied the score seven times in the thrilling game, including a 36-36 deadlock at half-time. Superior reserve strength, especially at guard positions, enabled Al Baggett's "fall-doggers, only to lose to their cross-town rivals, 21-7.

National Football League Playoff To Take Place Today

By DAVE HOFF

CHICAGO, Dec. 20 (AP)—The National Football league's ninth annual championship playoff, delayed a week while the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers settled a dispute over the western division title, will take place tomorrow in Wrigley Field when the Bears meet the New York Giants, eastern titlists.

The prospect of unusually good weather for this time of the year brightened chances for a near capacity crowd. If attendance hit the capacity 41,839 mark, the gates would gross $154,013.70, with members of the finalist teams to get 70 per cent of the net.

The supreme confidence of Bears' backers resulted in betting odds of 1-4 favoring the Chicagoans. A week ago the Bears were listed at 9-20 over the Packers, whom they defeated, 33-14.

The Giants, who held a brief workout this afternoon at Wrigley Field, pointed to the fact they

Even Japs Praise Hongkong Defenders

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Written off by the generals as hopeless, the magnificent defense of Hongkong was prolonged tonight by the blood of a garrison of fighting men thrown together from two sides of the world.

Even the Japanese, in sudden praise of the last stand of the band of British Tommies, Canadians from Manitoba and Quebec and bewhiskered, stout Indian Sikhs, admitted in a broadcast tonight.

"The expected imminent fall of the colony has been stayed off by their stubborn defense."

Then, in an unusual tribute, the Japanese news agency Domei added: "They have fought desperately in a manner to win the respect of even the top Japanese."

Waiting for the end, authorities in London said it was a miracle that the colony, a rocky square of England in the Orient for a hundred years, did not soon pass entirely into Japanese hands.

California Bruins Beat Florida 30-27

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 20 (AP)—The Bruins from the University of California at Los Angeles outlasted the Florida Gators, 30-27, today in an intercollegiate grid thriller before a scant crowd of 8,000.

The Gators started off like a brush fire to build up a 20-6 lead and the fans resigned themselves to a walk-away.

Then the Bruins came out of their hibernation and pushed over 24 points before Florida could recover.

The Bruins had plenty of stars. Hal Back Tek Chaffin sparked the drives for the tying and winning scores with speedy, photographic line smashes and flashy end runs.

Fullback Ken Snelling's accurate kicking accounted for three extra points after touchdowns and the fourth-quarter field goal that proved to be the margin of victory.

Policemen Chase Boys in Elevator

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 20. (AP)—Four boys found an unlocked elevator in Columbus' skyscraper American Insurance Union Tower and for a half an hour had a merry up and down time. Two policemen spent 20 additional minutes chasing the lads from floor to floor for 37 floors. Unsuccessful, the policemen turned off the elevator power. The boys' one-spot aviation spree ended on the 19th floor, where they were trapped.

able civilian mitten and earmuff to send to troops.

With German and Italian reverses, then, the Japanese only were out in front in the Axis camp. Here is a brief resume of what has happened in the Pacific in the first two weeks of war:

The Japanese have occupied Thailand; shipped off a part of southern Burma; driven 100 miles into British Malaya; gained uncertain footholds at five points in the Philippines; encircled and invaded Hongkong, which apparently is doomed; landed at Miri, Borneo; occupied the U. S. island outpost of Guam, and inflicted heavy damage on Pearl Harbor in Hawaii.

Tokyo claims to have destroyed nearly 500 American planes in the war thus far, most of them at Pearl Harbor. U. S. Secretary of the Navy Knox admitted heavy damage to the air force, but gave no figures.

The Japanese also assert they have sunk at least 21 allied ships, mostly American, for a total of 350,000 tons. These include the U. S. battleship Arizona and five other ships acknowledged by Washington to have been lost at Pearl Harbor, and the British battleships Prince of Wales and Repulse.

That Philippine air forces destroyed at least 4 Japanese transports and damaged the man's Page of the Air down or set afire at least 66 Japanese planes; sank the battleship Haruna and damaged a battleship of the Kongo class. U. S. submarines also sank two Japanese transports in the Far East and probably a destroyer.

The Wake Island marines who are still holding their atoll also sank a Japanese cruiser, a destroyer and several airplanes in the Japanese efforts to take that island outpost.

Dutch airmen have scored direct hits on three Japanese cruisers, probably putting them out of action, and on a transport and another warship off Borneo, and shot down several Japanese planes; Dutch submarines have sunk six Japanese transports with thousands of troops aboard them.

In addition the British forces in Malaya have taken a heavy toll of the Japanese mechanized forces and airplanes.

A desperate last stand fight in the Bengasi area was expected by some observers, but they had no doubt that it would end in an Axis catastrophe because British warships still barred sea-borne reinforcements from Italy.

In Russia the Red army still was rolling westward, too, with desperate German rear-guards attempting to delay it. Moscow announced the recapture of Volokolamsk, 65 miles west of the capital, and said the retreating Nazis had lost more than 40,000 men in two weeks.

Soviet soldiers used the bitter cold already have thrown the Germans beyond Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, and were believed near Orel, 200 miles south of the capital. All these sectors once were major threats to Moscow and at one time the Germans were only 25 miles from the capital.

The Russians mocked German complaints about the sub-zero temperatures on the front, and in Berlin Adolf Hitler appealed to his people to contribute warm clothing for his eastern front legions.

Making his appeal through Propaganda Minister Goebbels, the German leader said his army was faced "by an enemy superior in numbers and material"—a reference apparently to all those nations lined up against the Axis as well as to Russia.

This was a new Hitler speaking. He made no claims of gains on the Russian front; instead he acknowledged a withdrawal "according to plan," and the need of every avail-

Willkie May Be On War Council

By WILLIAM B. ARDERY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. (AP)—President Roosevelt was reported on excellent authority today to be considering the creation of a supreme war council which would be subordinate only to him and would have powers even greater than those of the cabinet.

Those in a position to know, said that while the plan still was embryonic, the president believed the war effort could be prosecuted more efficiently if he had a small group around him which could handle many matters of policy which now require his personal attention.

Informants said the proposed war council would be composed of from three to five men. They listed the following among those being considered for membership on the group:

Wendell Willkie, Republican nominee for the presidency in 1940 and now member of a New York law firm.

Rear Admiral W. D. Leahy, minister to the Vichy, France, government, former chief of naval operations and former governor of Puerto Rico.

Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, chairman of the supplies, priorities, and allocation board.

Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Informants said the general idea was that the war council would have power to work out differences between various departments and agencies, would perform "special tasks" which would not fall directly under the jurisdiction of any one department, and would relieve the president of many questions of policy which he now must handle.

activities to Pampa and residential additions and industries adjoining the city and the setting up of an organization that may be set up in the county for national defense.

Next meeting of the board will be at 7:30 p. m. January 5. At that time registration should be completed and appointments of heads of each group can be discussed.

The enrollment form will require those registering to state qualifications for various duties. A sample blank will be carried in the Pampa News soon so that men and women can become familiar with the question to be answered.

"We do not expect an air raid or anything of an emergency nature here but we must be prepared," Mayor Thompson said. "They didn't expect what happened at Pearl Harbor but it happened."

Marshall Swamped With APAP Queries

MARSHALL, Dec. 20. (AP)—Marshall's parent a-penny-a-plane club today deposited $237.14 to the credit of Uncle Sam.

The town of Waskom added $17.22

in two days but it came in too late to deposit and the community of Jonesville, with only two stores, turned in $8.01, also too late to deposit.

There are now 1,056 members in the week-old club here and business is expected to pick up next week when organization is perfected and members catch up on dues.

The original club here has received 41 telegrams, air mail letters and long distance phone calls from Oregon to New York by persons wanting information to start their own APAP clubs.

Aluminum equivalent to the amount needed to build 1,000 fighters was collected in that pot-and-pan campaign.

Red Cross To Make Children Merry Monday

Christmas is going to be made merry for a large group of Pampa children through the Red Cross Christmas tree at which children of less fortunate families will be entertained and given toys and sacks of candy, nuts and fruit.

Pampans are invited to attend the programs and assist in making Christmas a merry one for the needy kiddies. The first Christmas tree will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in the city auditorium and will be for kiddies from one year to school age. At 7 o'clock children of school age through 12 years will be entertained. A party for negro children will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Members of the B. G. K. club will meet in the city hall this afternoon to decorate a large tree donated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars post. The Goodfellows club members will also meet this afternoon to sack candy, nuts and fruit.

A committee headed by Mrs. Lee Harrah will meet and arrange toys according to age groups.

At the Christmas tree programs the junior chamber of commerce committee headed by Frank Smith will see that every child has a ticket and that each child receives a suitable toy and a sack of candy.

Toys to be distributed were donated by Pampans and repaired at the Craftshop.

LeFors kiddies will attend the Christmas tree which will be by ticket only. Parents or children must call at the office of the county case worker in the courthouse and secure tickets in advance.

Shrine Club Gives Fund To Red Cross And Salvation Army

The Pampa Shrine club, organized several years ago but inactive in recent years, has $32.17 in the treasury and that amount will be divided equally between the Red Cross and the Salvation Army to be used in their Christmas programs. Responsibility of dispensing the money was assumed by John F. Sturgeon, president, and C. E. McGrew, secretary, and notices have been mailed to all members.

The note sent to members read: "As you know, several years ago a Shrine Club was organized in Pampa for purposes of charity and recreation. While you have not been called upon as members to pay or contribute dues or other assessments recently, nevertheless there is on hand in the treasury at this time a balance of $32.17 dollars. We feel that this balance should be used, especially at this season and critical time, and have therefore assumed the responsibility of dividing this balance and paying it out, one-half to the Red Cross and one-half to the Salvation Army, realizing as we do that Shriners everywhere endorse wholeheartedly the programs of these two organizations, and believing that our action in the matter will have your approval."

Today's War Analysis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

Two weeks after the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor the nation has turned over to a presidential board the task of sifting the facts while a united people get on with the war to avenge that Japanese surprise.

At first blush and coupled with subsequent British sea losses in the Pacific, Pearl Harbor seemed likely to mark definitely the decline of sea power as opposed to air power. But second thoughts do not yet bear that out, for the greatest mystery is how it happened that enough battle craft to account for nearly 3,000 American dead and five ships sunk were riding at harbor moorings there that tragic Sunday morning.

Up to that fateful hour it had seemed certainly established that no fleet would ever risk its fighting units or essential auxiliaries in any harbor base, however well defended, in time of international tension. That was thought to have been settled more than a quarter century ago when torpedo-laden U-boats revolutionized naval tactics and strategy.

World War records show mobilization of the fleet was Britain's first move as war on the continent threatened. Yet it was a sea mobilization and covered by a radio blackout for the fighting ships. That was every naval power's answer to the dangers of surprise attack, since terribly enhanced development of effective air bombers and torpedo planes.

The torpedo plane is an American conception—and was first brought to success in this country. It was developed primarily as a means of attacking fleets in land-locked and gun-defended base harbors. In this war, it is proving increasingly more menacing to sea power than bombing planes.

Yet the answer, so far as guarding against surprise attack on a fleet at its moorings is concerned, seemed simple to naval experts. It was to withdraw the fleet to a secret sea rendezvous at the first hint of war-like tension with any power equipped to deal a surprise blow.

At sea the fleet is always under steam. Its gun crews always at stand-by. It has elbow room, above all, the factor of concealment on wide waters behind its own far-ranging sea and air scout screens.

This writer does not know how much the fleet at the time of attack. Certainly there were too many ships immobilized. The death list of men used, especially at this season and critical time, and have therefore assumed the responsibility of dividing this balance and paying it out, one-half to the Red Cross and one-half to the Salvation Army, realizing as we do that Shriners everywhere endorse wholeheartedly the programs of these two organizations, and believing that our action in the matter will have your approval."

and ships proves that. Yet American dead at Pearl Harbor have not died in vain if its grim lesson is driven home on surviving comrades and the nation as it must have been. They can sleep in peace in the now tranquil Hawaiian hillsides if their untimely death has served the purpose of arousing the nation to the grim realities of war at the very outset of the vast conflict.

The first job is to get on with that war, to make certain by absolute victory that neither the tread of enemy feet nor the fear of future enemy incursions disturb the rest of those Pearl Harbor dead.

Most of the car-owning families in the United States have never purchased a new car. They depend upon second, third, or fourth-hand cars for their transportation.

American Aviators Use New Technique

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 20 (AP)—Col. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the daring first American volunteers which blasted Japanese planes out of the sky over the Burma road today, employs a pursuit plan based on a snap roll on top of a loop.

"The craziest maneuver ever known," said other fliers of the plan evolved in barnstorming air shows by the colonel, who retired from the U. S. Army Air corps in 1937 to the quiet life of the country gentleman, at his Texas, La., farm.

Chennault, however, soon went to China to teach the Chinese a bold example of pursuit flying.

KPDN

Radio Chat

Christmas Eve and Christmas Day are going to be two good radio listening days for KPDN audiences.

An hour-long presentation of Charles Dickens' immortal "Christmas Carol" always the favorite Christmas story, will be presented on Christmas Eve night, starting at 8 o'clock.

Then that more modern Christmas story, just as beautiful in its Christmas message, "The Man Who Found Christmas," will be presented on Christmas Day from 1 to 1:30 p. m.

One of the most dramatic and perfect Christmas tributes will be the 15-minute Christmas Day program presented by Father Flanagan and his Boys Town Choir. The time of this broadcast will be 4:30 p. m. Father Flanagan's famous Boys Town Choir is composed of 54 boys ranging in age from 12 to 17. They are homeless, abandoned and neglected boys of every race and creed. They came to Boys Town from some 35 different states. The choir will sing a series of Christmas carols, and during the broadcast Father Flanagan will deliver a Christmas message.

KPDN will present another 15-minute transcribed Boys Town program next Sunday at 4:30 also featuring Father Flanagan and his Boys Town Choir in another holiday program.

There are to be a number of other Christmas programs; so to enjoy a real Christmas, keep tuned to 1340 on your radio dial.

Claudia Bengé will put on her regular programs Christmas morning—"What's Happening Around Pampa" at 9:15 and "The Woman's Page of the Air" at 10 o'clock. The regular newscasts at 9:45, 10:45, and 12:30 are also on the Christmas Day schedule.

At 11 o'clock KPDN will present "Christmas With Spirit," a jolly Christmas comedy. It will last 30 minutes, and following it will be the daily dramatic broadcast, "The Light of the World," which is one of the most magnificently produced radio dramas on the air.

At 11:45 "The Spirit of Christmas," a program of carols and narrative presentation of the yuletide spirit, will replace White's School of the Air.

From 2:00 to 2:30 the religious drama, "The First Christmas Roses," will be broadcast.

On the night of Christmas Eve "Santa's Personal Gift Guide" will be postponed 15 minutes to make room for a delightful Christmas story, "The Little Friend." This is a beautiful story for children. It will start at 6:30 and run until 7 o'clock. Then the final "Santa's Personal Gift Guide" program will follow immediately.

This will out the Christmas Eve All-Request Hour to 45 minutes. "The Christmas Carol" will follow at 8.

You are invited to "Send your Christmas card by air," using the All-Request Hour Christmas Eve for the purpose. Just mail in a Christmas greeting or verse with your request, and it will be read with the dedication either on the Christmas Eve program or the one Christmas night, which will run a full hour from 7 to 8. These should be mailed in ahead of time and NOT TELEPHONED. It is also requested that you ask for only one number on those two nights, so that there will be time for all the "Christmas cards" to be read during the program.

The Ministerial Alliance will renew its series of Sunday afternoon programs today at 3 o'clock. Rev. Robert Boshen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, will be in charge of the first program. These are half-hour programs. Today's program should be one of special interest since this is the last Sunday before Christmas.

These will be spiritually important programs each Sunday at 3:00 to 3:30.

Ray Monday and Claudia Bengé are up to that old trick of "Stopping the Christmas Shopper" each shopping night from now until Christmas. They are stationing themselves on the sidewalk in front

To The Members Of Pampa Shrine Club

As you know, several years ago a Shrine Club was organized in Pampa for purposes of charity and recreation. While you have not been called upon as members to pay or contribute dues or other assessments recently, nevertheless there is on hand in the treasury at this time a balance of $32.12. We feel that this balance should be used, especially at this season and critical time, and have therefore assumed the responsibility of dividing this balance and paying it out, one-half to the Red Cross and one-half to the Salvation Army, realizing as we do that Shriners everywhere endorse whole-heartedly the programs of these two organizations, and believing that our action in the matter will have your approval.

Signed, this 20th day of December, 1941.

U. S. And Allies Produce Twice As Much Steel As Axis Countries

The United States alone can produce three tons of steel for every two tons that can be made by Germany, Italy, Japan and all the Axis-dominated countries of the world put together.

Combined steel capacity of the United States, the British empire, and Russia is considerably more than twice the Axis total.

Even if two-thirds of the Russian capacity should fall into German hands, the United States and the Allies could still make 60 per cent more steel than Germany and the rest of the world.

These striking facts were revealed in a recent study by the American Iron and Steel Institute of available data on steel capacity and production throughout the world.

By the close of 1941, the American steel industry will have capacity for producing approximately 85,000,000 net tons of steel per year. Comparable statistics of capacity are not published in foreign countries, but the records of maximum production in peak years represent a measure of capacity.

According to the best information available, approximately 60,000,000 tons per year can be produced by Germany, Japan, and all continental European steelmaking nations, except Russia. American steel capacity exceeds that total by close to 50 per cent.

Steel capacity of the British empire is approximately 20,000,000 tons per year, while that of Russia is about 21,000,000 tons. Together, the steel capacity of the United States, the British empire and Russia is about 130,000,000 tons per year, or nearly 120 per cent more than that of the Axis.

About 60 per cent of the Russian steel capacity is believed to be located in the central and southern areas of that country. If Russia should lose the entire steel capacity of those areas, approximately 117,000,000 tons of steel could still be produced annually by the American and British empire steel industries plus the remaining 40 per cent of Russian steelmaking capacity.

By comparison, the Axis and Axis-dominated countries could make only about 73,700,000 tons of steel per year even though they could operate at full capacity all the steel-making facilities in central and southern Russia, which seems doubtful.

The steel mills of Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland have produced as much as 20,000,000 tons of steel per year, equivalent to about half the total steel capacity owned by Axis and Axis-dominated countries.

French steel capacity is estimated at 10,700,000 tons, the tonnage actually produced in 1939. In no succeeding year, however, did French steel output come within 12 per cent of that total. It is likewise necessary to go back to 1929 to establish peak production and probable capacity in Belgium, 4,500,000 tons.

Japan's steel capacity is about 7,100,000 tons per year, based on 1940 output. Italian steel capacity is about 3,000,000 tons, the production peak reached in 1939, when 3,000,000 tons were produced.

The steel production of Hungary, Spain and Sweden probably should be considered as largely under Axis domination. Together those countries can produce about 2,700,000 tons of steel annually based on past performance.

Of possible significance is the fact that France, Belgium and Luxembourg, conquered by Germany in the 1940 campaigns, reached their peak of steel production in 1929, and failed to reach that level in any later year. On the other hand, Germany's steel production in 1935 was almost back to the 1929 level, and German output from 1936 through 1940 was in excess of 1929.

Similarity in the present estimated capacity of the United States, the United Kingdom and British dominions, and likewise Russia is much of the LaNora Theater each evening at 6:00 and are stopping those Christmas shoppers who pass by to ask them questions about Christmas and to present them with prizes. It makes a friendly, spirited program that's good for lots of laughs.

News of course is in everyone's minds today. Probably never before have radio newscasts been attracting so much attention as they have since Black Sunday, December 7, when the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor and Manila.

But as important as the news itself is a proper interpretation of that news. In the program, "The Monitor Views the News," KPDN presents daily one of the finest analyses of the world's news. This program has won a large following, so an announcement of the change in the schedule time of it will be of wide interest. Beginning tomorrow, "The Monitor Views the News," will be heard at 7:15 each morning. The Sunday time, however, will be the same as heretofore, 1:45 p. m.

"The Monitor Views the News" is a commentary prepared by the Christian Science Monitor, which is a unique publication. It is an international daily newspaper with readers all over the world and with editorial offices everywhere.

Have you been following the program, "Timely Events"? It comes on the air each week by morning, international daily newspaper, on this except Saturday, at 8:30. On this program the announcer looks back through the years to resurrect for you the news stories that were timely a year ago—or two, or five or ten years ago. With history being made so furiously today, it's mighty interesting to look back into the news of recent years to see how it all ties up.

Listen on Christmas morning to an especially interesting Timely Events program of reminiscence in the news.

White Deer Schools Close For Christmas

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS WHITE DEER, Dec. 20—White Deer and Skellytown schools were dismissed Friday afternoon for the Christmas holidays and classes will be resumed on Dec. 29.

Instead of the usual Christmas tree and exchange of gifts, the high school observed a White Christmas and more than 175 cans of food were brought to be given to the Red Cross for distribution.

Friday afternoon, Rev. W. A. Casedy, pastor of the Presbyterian church, made a brief talk in assembly on the subject "Remember Jesus Christ," and a group from the high school chorus presented selections from the cantata, "Night in the Judean Hills."

James Beck, Max Helen Pickens, and Ralph Pauley were soloists, and others in the group were W. D. Stalls and Julius Meaker, Billie Ruth McDowell, Beatrice Hultuk, Nelrose and La Velle Elton, Leatrice and Fred Willis, and Carl Ditherner. Phyllis Shuman was the accompanist.

The current Red Cross call was presented and each member present made a contribution to the fund.

greater than in 1929. American steel capacity, for example, will by the end of 1941 be 20 per cent greater than in 1929.

Steel production in the United Kingdom reached a peak of 15,100,000 tons in 1929, and is said to have dropped only slightly below that total in 1940 despite bombings and the blockade. Canada and South Africa are each establishing new production records in 1941 as Canada produces 2,600,000 tons and South Africa 400,000 tons.

Data for 1941 are not available for Australia and India, but in each case the output of steel in 1940 represented a new peak. Australia produced 1,300,000 tons last year, and India 1,200,000 tons. The Russian steel industry achieved its maximum recorded output in 1940.

Smith Brothers To Drill Wildcat Test In Central Gray County

11 New Wells Completed In 7 Day Period

Smith Brothers Refining company of McLean will drill a wildcat test for oil in central Gray county. The company filed an intention to drill on the Shaw lease in section 28, block 1, ACH&B survey, last week. The company owns big producing acreage in Gray, Wheeler and Hutchinson counties.

The wildcat test will be watched with great interest because it will be an attempt to connect three important fields. The test will be drilled 10 miles north of Alanreed and eight miles southeast of LeFors, which is the geographical center of Gray county. The test will be three miles due south of nearest production in the prolific Williams and Davis pools, three miles west of production in the high potential Chapman pool, and four miles southeast of the new Taylor Ranch pool opened three months ago.

No tests have been drilled in the immediate vicinity of the new tests but two wells were drilled about three miles south. Both found pay but not in producing quantity.

Other Panhandle wildcats were reported drilling ahead with no pay formations in sight. New locations in the Panhandle dropped to a new low for the past year with only eight being reported, five in Gray county and three in Hutchinson county.

Completions registered last week numbered 11, seven oil wells being given open flow potentials of 1,413 barrels and four gas wells being gauged for 59,600,000 cubic feet.

Oil wells completed, by counties:

Transfer Of Oil Tankers To Pacific Predicted By Cole

ATLANTA, Dec. 20 (AP)—Rep. William P. Cole, Jr., (D-Md.) predicted today the early transfer of Atlantic oil tankers to the Pacific war zone, and suggested the possibility of a renewed shortage of petroleum along the Atlantic seaboard.

In an address prepared for dedication ceremonies of a 456-mile gas-line pipeline, constructed by the Southwestern Pipeline company between Port St. Joe, Fla., and Chattanooga, Tenn., Cole said he regretted that recent efforts to extend additional lines into the East had been rejected.

"I see ahead with such certainty," he said, "that I am willing to speculate upon the early use in the Pacific of tankers moved from the Atlantic service in numbers greater than those recently returned by the British, thereby presenting a condition similar to that of a few months ago, and showing a real demand for additional transportation facilities to the eastern part of the United States. x x x"

Cole, author of a bill by which congress granted pipeline companies the right to condemn private property for projects deemed by the president as vital to national defense, estimated that half of all gasoline consumed in the United States goes to the Atlantic seaboard area, and 97 per cent of this has been transported by tankers.

Improvement Texas Company Takes Big Lease Near Midland

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 20 (AP)—John E. Mabree, Tulsa oil man and rancher, announced today the Texas Co. has leased 35 square miles of his 110-square mile ranch near Midland, Tex.

Mabree declined to disclose the cash consideration involved. Mabree has owned the ranch for about 10 years.

"Frankly I had bought it for a ranch, and ranching is my first love," the oil man said.

Mabree said that about six months ago Howard S. Cole, Jr., of the Texas Co., "telephoned me from Fort Worth. He proposed a deal for leases on my ranch, and he outlined it this way:

"His company would pay a certain fee for the right to move upon my ranch and make geophysical and geological surveys, and for the option to lease if things looked good. At that time the only well close was about a half mile from my fence, and while it had a good showing of oil, it apparently was low on the formation. Cole suggested that some 'high' might be found on my land."

Under the agreement the oil company bore exploration expense and furnished Mabree with all information it obtained. Mabree and oil company representatives then sat down over a map of the 110 sections, with the Texas Co., choosing one section, then Mabree choosing a section.

The oil company picked 35 sections, with Mabree picking 35 and retaining the 40 sections left over. The oil company paid a cash bonus for the 35 sections—22,400 acres—it selected, but the price was not disclosed.

The company's acreage extends in a rough northeast-southwest axis across the Mabree ranch.

Germany is reported to be using sound waves to locate schools of fishes.

Token of 'Friendship'

Remote in the Flushing Meadows of Long Island where a couple of years ago the Century of Progress fair was being held, there stands today a red-lacquered and gold pavilion.

It was presented to the city of New York "in token of everlasting friendship between Japan and the United States."

Already a cry has risen, "Get rid of it!" in the same spirit that led some misguided person to cut down four of the famous Japanese cherry trees which line Washington's Tidal Basin.

We are obligated now by the hard fact of war to do everything that will harm Japan. But this sort of thing won't harm Japan in the slightest. It will only rob ourselves of some little touch of beauty, some little flash of loveliness to bring delight to eyes that will be weary enough.

LET'S SETTLE DOWN—HYSTERIC HAMPER DOUBTS DISARM

(San Jose Mercury Herald)

This is going to be a long war and a hard war. President Roosevelt told us that last night. It is time we settled down to it.

We did not want this war. It was handed to us on the chin. Desperate and treacherous little men crossed the seas to give it to us—with an olive branch in one hand and a knife up the sleeve of the other.

Those are the men we are fighting. We are committed to wipe out such international gangsters of every breed. We can't afford to waste our nervous energies fighting or rumor-mongering among ourselves. We spent a lot of time and nerve force yesterday arguing whether Japanese planes actually scouted over this valley the night before.

Army and naval coastal commands passed out that warning. They are our defenders. They know. We don't. Their word is good enough for us. Yet some of us said this was a "dress rehearsal" for the real thing. It wasn't. Agencies of free American communication—newspapers and radio—did their job as quickly as possible to spread that warning. They feel too deeply and too earnestly their duties in this time of stress to dignify complacency with "so wiseacre" with argument.

It was while complacent wiseacres argued in their armchairs that the axis gangsters without warning have struck a nation after nation which are their slaves today. America does not intend to be caught napping.

But if some of us have been too complacent others have been too overwrought. Again the experience of other lands in this war can help us. Britain was overwrought when the first raiders came. But after bitter confusion and hysteria, Britain settled down to calm, grim determination. She forced a new spirit for tremendous tasks out of the anger she had wasted against blasting bombers. Instead of arguing who caused initial defeats she rose to the epic job at Dunkirk and the rearming afterwards. Her example shows it's time for us to settle down to serious work, to save emotional energy for the job at hand.

Civilians serve in modern war as well as soldiers. Let us face whatever comes with the same steady calm that the soldier and sailor presents at call to battle stations. We can't be told what is going on when the information will serve the enemy. Let us not fill the necessary gap in information with stupid doubts or the tongue-clicks of rumor mongers. We have been called to war and the President in his call places his trust in our stamina. Let us forge that stamina at once from all the reserves of character that our freedom and good fortunes have stored in American hearts.

"I speak the past—world primal, I give the site of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." WALT WHITMAN

THE BILL OF RIGHTS AND CHRISTIANITY

I am glad to see Dr. Ronald H. Tippett, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Los Angeles, show the relation between our Constitution—our Bill of Rights—and Christianity. Our government was based upon the principles laid down by Jesus; namely, the personality of all men—that all men had inherent rights with which no other man or the government had a right to interfere. The Rev. Tippett points this out in his recent sermon, as reported in the Los Angeles Times. I quote:

"Jefferson was to build on the premise enunciated by Jesus that, as God's sons, men derive their rights and liberties not from governments or kings, but from God, by inheritance.

Inalienable Rights "In the Declaration of Independence Jefferson did not say that men are the recipients of certain rights, but that men are 'endowed' with them 'by their Creator' and that, therefore, they are 'inalienable.'"

"It was only natural that once such a philosophy was accepted, it should pave the way for the establishment of the sovereignty not 'of the state' but 'of the people.' In the formative period of our developing American Constitution many of the tempers were made to establish the sovereignty of the individual state and almost as many to lodge that sovereignty with the Federal government, but there was always a little handful of Wise Men, whose eyes refused to be diverted from the star of true liberty, who refused to surrender their sovereignty either to State or Federal governments but insisted on retaining it for 'the people.'"

"So far as our Revolutionary forefathers were concerned, the beginning and the end of our Constitution rested with 'the people.'"

It makes no difference how much we eulogize and give lip service to our Constitution and Bill of Rights, if we fail to put their objectives into actual practice.

In fact, vainly repeating allegiance to the Constitution and not obeying the laws laid down therein, might even do more harm than good.

Would that more preachers recognized the close relationship that exists between Christianity and constitutional democracy. Would that they more generally preached a limited government that gave men the inherent rights of choice.

It is sermons like that preached by Dr. Tippett that we so badly need, rather than sermons emphasizing revelations, supernatural dogmas and mysticism.

We are in our trouble because we have failed to understand the relationship between our Constitution and Christianity.

PICKETS DURING WAR TIME

In normal times, there is no real excuse for men wasting their energy picketing the business houses of those who are producing wealth. In war times, however, men who are willing to picket show they have no respect for the rights or the safety of their fellowman. Pickets do three things that are unAmerican:

First, they do not produce the wealth they should produce when our country is in danger of a foreign enemy.

Second, they consume without producing.

Third, they attempt to create disunity among other workers, and try to hinder those who are producing.

The fact that men will continue to picket when their country needs their services, is prima facie evidence that they are men without principle and without character.

setting forth the new batch of rules for the Agricultural Marketing Service, our confidence in the incorruptibility of the stalwart American yeoman has been recently disturbed. Several years ago, when we ventured to ask who would keep the keepers, we got very severely sat upon by professional friends of the farmers. That was back in those dear, dim days beyond recall when the Agricultural Adjustment administration had not yet been thought up and all the talk was about domestic allotment. We asked in all innocence who was to see to it that in dry nursing the farmer thru all the hardships of his calling, Uncle Sam might hope to escape with a portion of his back teeth still intact. One very severe gentleman pounded our office table when he said that even to ask such a question was to asperse the integrity of the nobles cross-section of our citizenship.

That, of course, convinced us unto this present hour. But only recently we observed a paragraph in the aforsaid article in the Register which said: "Practices which tend to defeat the purposes of the 1942 program and the amount of payment which shall be withheld or required to be refunded in each such case shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following cases:"

Then follows a list of 13 reprehensible practices. One is the practice of a landlord in compelling a cash renter to kick back any portion of a bounty his tenant has received. A second is the practice of making a sharecropper kick back, or else perform services to the value of the amount involved. A third is the practice of a landlord in omitting names of tenants or otherwise falsifying records. Another is the practice of requiring tenants to execute assignments, "ostensibly covering advances of money or supplies," but actually for a purpose not permitted by the regulations. Another is the practice of reporting performance as an individual but failing also to report the offsetting of such performance by a partnership to which the person belongs.

Another has to do with the reporting of performances by partnerships and the like, but failing to report offsetting performances by individual members of the firm. Another is the practice of running farms in separate states, substantially offsetting performance in one state by that in the other. Another is the renting of land to another in expectation, that this person will overplant the acreage allotment for the whole farm in which this land is included. Another is participating in production on a farm other than one in which a person acknowledges interest. Two others have to do with acts of tenants designed to obtain undue portions of the gravy; still another with the misuse of marketing cards.

One comforting thought nevertheless survives a perusal of this depressing list. It is that perhaps the enumeration of offenses represents nothing more than prudent anticipation on the part of Mr. Wieldard's bright young men, they being determined that their administration shall not be caught unawares by some villainy that may unexpectedly arise. We only wish that the chap who hammered our desk could have a heart to heart talk with those men!

In Switzerland each person is allowed three eggs per month. That kills incentive to bring home the bacon.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20—Anyone who thinks of Hollywood merely in terms of glamor, gags, grease paint, prodigality and sham will be surprised to learn something of the substantial contributions which the entertainment factories are able to make to American defense and the aggressive prosecution of the war.

And I don't mean just pictures boosting public morale, or players' services in soldier entertainment and bond and stamp sales. Such things are the most important, and along with instruction films for men in training are the natural function of Hollywood.

LOTS OF COPS The studios also are in a position to be of great technical aid—and even physical aid locally. Each of the studios has a police force as large as that of an average city of 100,000. Each studio has its own fire department, with the best equipment. Each has a large transportation department, with limousines, buses, motorcycles and usually about 50 large trucks. They have marvelously trained labor crews, too, plus scores of carpenters, electricians, painters, mechanics and plumbers.

All these facilities and forces are available to authorities for transport, fire fighting, crowd control, emergency construction and camouflage. The fleets of trucks already have been used in taking state guardmen to patrol duties at aircraft factories, shipyards and oil fields. Every guild and union has offered its entire membership for defense work as and wherever needed.

Wardrobe departments have clothing enough to outfit many thousands of men, women and children, though some would look pretty funny in period costumes. Location departments have tents, cots and bedding for perhaps 10,000. There are several catering companies in Hollywood which are as efficient as the army in feeding large numbers of people.

These men and their perfectly equipped shops and laboratories have done some work on delicate and vital fire-control apparatus, and by now probably are really busy at it. IT'S AN ILL WAR, ETC.

Two days after the war's beginning, studio heads and military and Office of Emergency Management officials were in huddle over new programs for short films to be shown to the public, and technical movies for soldier instruction. OEM pictures such as "Tanks," "Bomber" and "Women in Defense," along with bond-selling shorts and lengthened newsreels, are likely to accomplish the general desire of the double-feature.

Another group of Hollywood-men who'll be in a branch of war work is the song writers. Gene Buck, head of ASCAP, recently called for songs which are as efficient as the army in feeding large numbers of people.

In Movietown, though, the tunesmiths already were at work on martial ditties for some of the 50 or more war pictures now in preparation. And in City's the other evening Bert Wheeler was cheered for his introduction of a song called, "We'll Slip Those Japs Right Into the Laps of Those Nazis."

Now there's too much talk in this column about the stronger sex, meaning there's not enough mention of the so-called weaker sex, and that fact became apparent just a minute ago when Lou Wilkins, vital and sparkling high school senior walked in. Lou has the right idea about hobbies. She says people have the urge to keep up with them, then never do. And she denies emphatically that her hobby was waiting for him to come home from college, which he did yesterday.

The last time we published anything in this column about Stokes Green he was a student in Rice Institute where he received his degree last spring. You remember Stokes. He was that six-foot-three-inch basketball and football star on the Harvesters in 1935 and 1936, and he once represented Pampa in the home town speech contest at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. He was and is now one of the finest of the finest, and I ought to know because he lived with me and Mammy. Well, I was prouder than ever of Stokes yesterday when I got a Christmas card from him. He is in the army air corps at Ryan Field—Hemet, California. And Stokes is just like I knew he would be, brave and generous to a fault, and fighter when fighting needs to be done. You could tell that by the last paragraph in his letter: "Can't wait to get at the Japs. Am kind of anxious to get in and get it over with."

HERE'S HOW THAILAND SUCCUMBED TO AXIS

By DAVID S. WAITE

Editor, Singapore Free Press and NEA Service Correspondent SINGAPORE—Japanese treacherously invaded Thailand, like a blanket, while bland-faced Nipponese envoys carried on their "peace negotiations" in Washington.

When Japan was amassing great concentrations of troops on the Thailand-Indo-China border, power politics were going full blast behind the scenes.

At the very moment when Kurusu was talking peace in the United States capital, Thailand was taking the brunt of diplomatic pressure, economic pressure, propaganda pressure, and even military pressure on her frontier.

So great was this pressure, according to a British Foreign Office statement, that Thailand was forced to succumb to Japanese demands even before open warfare broke out in the Pacific, putting up only "token" resistance when Japan finally blew the lid off the Pacific war pot.

From here, it seemed obvious that Japan's "peace negotiations" in the United States were a sham, while she continued a Thailand policy that, at its logical conclusion, could only mean war in the Far East on a very big scale.

Then followed the demands which, according to well-informed opinion, amounted to suggestions that Japan should take over entire responsibility for the defense of Thailand. Reports that Japan actually asked for military and air force bases in Thailand are not confirmed, but there is no doubt that this is what Japan was after—and perhaps got.

Concurrently, the Japanese increased economic pressure on Thailand. They continued to buy up everything they could put their hands on in Bangkok, offering inflated prices to impress the Thais. They sent to Thailand Japanese-manufactured goods, which by rights, should go to Indo-China. They increased their propaganda blitz by circulating imaginary stories of the Anglo-U. S. "threat" to Thailand, and by spreading foul slanders about prominent Thai statesmen who did not appear sufficiently pro-Japanese.

In the Japanese Embassy in Bangkok, with over forty officials, special sections were formed to deal with diplomatic affairs, economic problems and propaganda. Mr. Koh-Ichi, the former spokesman of the Japanese Foreign Office, was sent to Bangkok as Chancellor of the Embassy to take care of the political propaganda. Since Mr. Ishii was known to have pronounced pro-Axis feelings, he was regarded as a good man to work with the Italians and Germans in Bangkok, who were also doing their share of anti-British and anti-American work. The Thais closely watched all that went on in their own country and all that happened on their frontiers, and they drew certain conclusions. Their interpretation of the duties of neutrality prevented their statesmen from saying openly that Japan was a potential—indeed, an actual—menace to the independence of their nation. But that is what they meant when the Bangkok radio nightly warned its listeners to be on their guard against fifth columnists, foreign spies, saboteurs, and so on. The radio urged the population to prepare for war and come only from the Japanese in Indo-China.

One sometimes heard stories about the Thais being pro-Japanese. They are nothing of the sort. There may have been a few leading Thais who a few months ago were inclined to regard Japan as the future masters of East Asia, but they then found it best to lie low and say nothing. The Thais were really sincere when they declared their intention to remain neutral.

Japan wants Thailand's rubber, tin and rice, which she needs. She might hope to occupy the country and go on immediately to threaten the Burma Road which she might think it would be easier to cut by advancing into Burma or through northern Thailand. The Japs took the second alternative—occupation of Thailand as a means of advancing down the Thai peninsula towards Malaya and Singapore.

There had been strong advocacy in Singapore just before hostilities started for a clear-cut guarantee to Thailand by the anti-aggression

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20—Oozing suavely from every pore, his voice never rising above the well-moderated pitch of a perfectly poised finishing school sophomore, his temper always under control, his eyebrows arched over eyes opened wide with boyish innocence, his hands at times gesturing like a symphony orchestra leader, Thomas G. Corcoran, barrister-at-law who in certain high circles used to be known familiarly as "Tommy the Cox," has given a bunch of more than 100,000-dollar senators a full day's lesson in how to be a $100,000-a-year attorney and out of the largeness of his big Irish heart, he never charged the statesmen a cent for the instruction.

It may seem trivial to talk about such things while the world is being blown to pieces, but all this has an indirect bearing on defense, for Mr. Corcoran earned his $100,000 serving his country, or at least in the giving of advice to certain parties and who had business with the government of the United States, business relating to national defense.

There have been expressions of suspicion in the newspapers lately that all this activity of Mr. Barrister Corcoran's was not exactly on a dollar-a-year or sweet charity basis, and because of these aspersions cast upon the proud name of Corcoran, Tom Corcoran demanded the right to be heard and to deny that he was a contract broker.

ALL SWEETNESS AND LIGHT For his soapbox, Corcoran chose Senator Truman's committee investigating national defense, with such worthies as Connally of Texas, Mead of New York, Hatch of New Mexico, and such Republicans as Ball of Minnesota, Brewster of Maine and Bridges of New Hampshire. Before this august panel, Lawyer Corcoran read his 19-page prepared statement (not printed at government expense) and answered the questions that the worthy senators put to him. All was milk and honey and sweetness and light, and Mr. Corcoran got a lot of dandy free advertising for his law business, which is doing all right, thanks.

Tommy, you'll recall, hasn't been on the government payroll, directly since September, 1940. But he doesn't look any the worse for it. He resigned from his job as a titular RFC counsel to help elect Roosevelt for the third term. After the first of the year, Corcoran went to work for himself and, tritely, how.

"I don't think I have ever worked on anything for less than $5,000," Corcoran modestly confessed to the senators, thus striking them completely cold. He purposely very difficult to see. From September to January he had been in political life, seeing 50 people a day, living in one of those goldfish bowls, but he tired of that.

PLAYED HARD TO GET For a time his office was in his apartment, then for three months he shared a corner with a couple of lawyer pals till he could find a place to hang out his own shingle. He has his own offices now, lovely offices, he assured the committee, and he invited the senators to come up and see him some time.

The address, in case you'd like to throw a little of your legal business in the way of a struggling young lawyer, is 1616 Investment Building, Washington, D. C. But modesty has always been one of the Corcoran virtues. He has never had his name on a door, he says, and he always worked on the Emerson mouse trap theory. If people wanted to see him, they'd come to his door.

It seemed to work all right, else Lawyer Corcoran would not have earned those fees of $5,000 from Savannah Shipyard, $5,000 from China Defense Supplies, $25,000 from the British Purchasing Commission, and $65,000, plus possibly a few more, from the syndicate which will operate a new $21,000,000 magnesium plant at San Jose, Calif. Not all his business was with the government.

THESE EXPERIENCE COUNTS

Senator Hatch, who is sincerely concerned about this business of expelling a man representing private interests before a government, asked directly why Corcoran was paid and what he did. Tommy assured him blandly it was "to help put the whole picture together" during difficult negotiations, the kind of lawyer's later business he had done for many years.

Senator Brewster, characterizing Corcoran as a sort of lawyer's lawyer, made the observation that perhaps he wouldn't have been hired if he had occupied a position so close to the throne. "May I enter a denial that I was ever close to any throne," pleaded Corcoran, who then went on to explain that "it may have occurred to my employers they were hiring me for my experience"—for the unusual educational opportunities he had had as junior to Mr. Justice Holmes, to Eugene Meyer, to Harvey Cooley, to Jesse Jones. The name of Roosevelt wasn't mentioned.

"I'm paying tribute to the wisdom of retaining you," Brewster admitted, and then Corcoran showed the stuff that has given him the reputation of never missing a trick: "I hope," said Tommy prettily, "I hope a great many people heard that."

powers in the Far East. It was suggested that since Great Britain could not stand idly by in the event of a Japanese attack on Thailand, and the Netherlands Indies would willingly join with Britain in any section considered desirable, a statement should be made in advance so that Japan might be quite sure that she would be walking into it as she tried to "protect" Thailand. In other words, the ABCD front should go down the Thai peninsula and offer a guarantee to Thailand, and if that guarantee were refused in Bangkok as likely to conflict with the Thai view of neutrality, then the guarantee should have been given just the same.

TEX'S TOPICS

By Tex DeWeese

A TELEPHONE call came up with a splendid suggestion yesterday afternoon. She thinks it would be fine if Pampa established some kind of a canteen seryce at the Santa Fe depot to pass out candy, cigarettes, sandwiches or what not to the soldiers aboard troop trains passing through the city. Many of these boys, she points out, will have no other Christmas gifts than those which could be provided in that manner.

She recalls that this was the practice all along the troop train routes during the other World War. She suggests that this be made a project of Pampa club women, with assistance from the men. She thinks the plan ought to get under way immediately, so the boys coming through Pampa in the remaining days before Christmas could be made a bit happier on their way to war. Who'll be the first club group to follow through on the idea?

We went to a Christmas party Friday night, met Santa Claus and got a first-hand interview with the jolly old fellow. He said he made a quick trip to Pampa for this party and had to come early in the morning, about 11:30, sneaky Japs, he said, turned anti-aircraft guns on him and shot the white fur off his pants. He was having 'em repaired Friday night and came to this party in his bathrobe and a corded necklace always figures a way out. He told us to tell all Pampa boys and girls that he'll be here on schedule Christmas Eve with the things they ordered in the letters they sent to him.

THE skipper of this space received an invitation yesterday from the Hawaii Tourist Bureau extolling glories of the island as a vacation spot. It tells of ample hotel facilities, increased air and steamship travel and a cordial welcome to tourists. It was postmarked Dec. 6, the day before the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor. We'll let the bureau revise its welcome for the Japs, who will find before long that air and steamship traffic have increased very much during the past couple of weeks. Well, only three more shopping days until Christmas—and don't say you weren't warned. The first notice about Christmas was carried in this column last June.

Tooth paste will not make a good lather on your shaving brush. Found that out by mistake yesterday morning. Judging from the morale of troops passing through Pampa, the Japs are in for an even bigger licking than most people suspect. They're going to get it. We have been asked to make a list of "Do's" and "Don't's" in an air raid that we have decided to run the list of U. S. official instructions again. And here it is!

1. Above all, keep cool. Don't lose your head.
  2. Do not crowd the streets; avoid chaos; prevent disorder and havoc.
  3. Don't believe rumors—spreading false rumors is part of the enemy's technique.
  4. Air raid warning signals generally are short blasts of rising and falling pitch, or whistles or horns. The all clear is a steady tone for two minutes.
  5. If incendiary bomb falls, cover it with sand, or if it falls with a garden hose (never a splash or stream). Switch to a stream to put out any fire started by the bomb. A jet, splash, stream or bucket of water will make the bomb explode.
  6. Under raid conditions, keep a bathtub and buckets full of water for the use of the fire department in case water mains are broken.
  7. If you have a soda-and-acid extinguisher (never a spray, or side down) use it with your finger over the nozzle to make a spray. Don't use the chemical (small cylinders of liquid) on bombs. It is all right for ordinary fires.
  8. Should gas be used, go at once to the most "inside" room in your house (fewest doors and windows). Paste paper over glass. Stuff rags in window cracks and under doors.
  9. Choose one member of the family to be the home air raid warden, who will remember all the rules and what to do.
  10. Whether or not a blackout is ordered during a raid, put out all lights at once.
  11. If a light inside the home is necessary—rugs, blankets, portiers, overdrapes, or curtains, arranged in double thickness over windows. Don't crowd or stampee stores for special material. Be ingenious—improvise.
  12. During a raid, remember to shut off gas stoves, gas furnaces, and gas pilot lights.
  13. If bombs start to fall near you, lie down, you will feel the blast least that way, escape fragments under a splinter. The safest place is under a good, stout table—the stronger the legs the better.
  14. Above all, keep calm. Stay home. Put out lights. Lie down. Stay away from windows.
- NOW, if somebody will tell us what to do when caught in a crowd of women apparel store four days before Christmas, we'll have everything under control. Yesterday's get shopping days in all Pampa history. If you need that final spirit, take a drive through Pampa's residential sections tonight. You'll see some grand yuletide lighting effects. The Boy Wonder and his girl friend did their Christmas shopping Friday. He is about to bust a G-until Christmas. Personally, we doubt if he'll make it.

"RISE AND SHINE," FOOTBALL MUSICAL, WITH OAKIE AND DARNELL, OPENS TODAY

Linda Darnell And George Murphy Other Principals In Touchdown Of Laughs: "This Woman Is Mine," With Franchot Tone And Carol Bruce Opening Today At Crown

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON Mark Hellinger starts off a touchdown parade of laughs in the football musical, "Rise and Shine," with Jack Oakie, Linda Darnell, and George Murphy, 93-minute 20th-Fox picture showing today, through Wednesday at the LaNora. It is a farcical account of the dumbest football hero that ever went to college. Throw in a gambler who wants to make sure of the big game and you get an idea of what ensues. Opening the week at the Crown is Franchot Tone, John Carroll, Walter Brennan, and Carol Bruce in "This Woman Is Mine." Spencer Tracy, academy award winner, is on the Crown screen Wednesday and Thursday in "Sky Devils"; Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette in "Gold Mine in the Sky," Friday and Saturday. Satire On Football Mark Hellinger displays a shrewd appreciation of picture values in "Rise and Shine," his first assignment as a producer for 20th-Fox. Yarn, based on James Thurber's, "My Life and Hard Times," is about a gambler who sends a night club dancer and former All-American to the college town so that he can be informed of the progress of the great Boley Bolenciewicz and the Clayton football team. Jack Oakie makes a swell football player. Clayton, the Film Daily says, "is the college to go to if all the co-eds are as cute as (Texas) Linda Darnell." Tunesmiths Leo Robin and Ralph Rainger cross the musical goal line again with some luring songs: "Hall to Bolenciewicz," "Get Thee Behind Me, Clayton," "Central Two-Two-Oh-Oh," "I Want to Be the Guy" and "I'm Making a Play for You."

10 Best Nominations Now is the time for the annual poll of screen editors to select the 10 best motion pictures of the year, in the 1941 Film Daily referendum. This year they had added 10 other "bests," including actors, actresses, juvenile, the "find" of the year, supporting actors and actresses, director, outstanding photography, and outstanding screenplay. This writer nominates for the 10 best pictures: "Blossoms in the Dust," "Cheers for Miss Bishop," "Citizen Kane," "Gone With the Wind," "The Great Dictator," "Kitty Foyle," "Meet John Doe," "Penny Serenade," "Sergeant York," and "Underground." Best male star: Cary Grant, on basis of performance in "Penny Serenade." Best feminine star: Martha Scott, on basis of performance in "Cheers for Miss Bishop." This would also include "One Foot in Heaven" had that film come within the release-date range of The Film Daily poll. Best supporting actress: Mary Anderson, in "Cheers for Miss Bishop." Best supporting actor: Walter Brennan in "Meet John Doe." Best juvenile actor: Bob Watson in "Men of Boys Town." Best juvenile actress: Jane Withers in "Youth Will Be Served." Best director: Tay Garnett—"Cheers for Miss Bishop." Outstanding screenplay: "Blossoms in the Dust." Outstanding photography: "Kitty Foyle." Find of the year: Glenn Ford in "Texas." And now for some real movie-land low down from Robbin Coons: Sarcorial Item Jack Oakie finishes a scene in "Rise and Shine," the college comedy. He wears an old polo shirt, faded denim trousers, and sneakers. "That's all for today, Jack," says Director Allan Dwan. Oakie goes to his dressing room for a quick change before going home to dinner. He emerges shortly. He is wearing another old polo shirt, another pair of faded denim trousers, another pair of sneakers. Don't suppose Dorothy Lamour knows it, but those sarongs she always wears are quite modern, not at all the sort of thing the islanders used to wear. Lamour's are of colored cloth, a style—according to studio researchers—not introduced until comparatively recent times. Slow Romance Movie love is a strange business. Take Ruth Warrick's word for it, she having completed a couple of weeks of it with Doug Fairbanks, Jr., for "The Corsican Brothers." It took her an hour and a half to get kissed by Fairbanks. A full day had been spent on his proposal to her, another day on her acceptance. Half a day was required for the clinch at the picture's finish—a scene shot two weeks before she and her screen lover were to meet for the first time. Getting kissed on the radio is much simpler—"It's all over in three seconds. You just come up to the line where you get kissed. Then you don't get kissed. The sound-effects man makes a noise like a hearty smack. You go on with the show. It's not very exciting."

Connally Backs New Tax Ruling

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex.) believes the new tax ruling issued by the bureau of internal revenue concerning drilling and development costs incurred by oil and gas operators would permit continued "teamwork between producers and driller" as in the past. The ruling would permit drilling costs to be charged to expenses of an operator, although done by a drilling contractor, provided it was done under a footage contract at a stated amount per foot drilled. The bureau several weeks ago announced a proposed change in policy, the effect of which would have been to deny operators the right to charge drilling costs to expenses on their income tax statements, when the work was done through contract by specialists in the drilling. Oil operators and drillers alike launched vigorous protest, contending that such a policy would be ruinous to the petroleum industry. Connally informed Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue, that if the proposed change was effected he would sponsor legislation to counteract it. "The relationship between producer and driller remains basically unchanged," commented the Texan, after a conference with Helvering regarding the new ruling. "If the bureau's policy, now restated and clarified, works satisfactorily in practice, there will be no necessity for the congressional action which I contemplated if its policy had been materially changed. Petroleum is essential to our nation's defense, and the industry should not be subjected to arbitrary or experimental regulation in these critical times."

Air Observers Named in Carson

Special To The NEWS WHITE DEER, Dec. 20—Organization for observation in case of an emergency was begun at a meeting of the citizens of Carson county, Thursday night at the courthouse in Panhandle. W. J. Stubblefield was appointed chief observer for the White Deer station. Ten observers were appointed in the county, each of whom will be responsible to the county judge, and he, in turn, to the governor of the state. Each chief observer will select a committee and in case of emergency, a 24-hour observation tower will be maintained. About 120 citizens from White Deer, 25 from Skellytown, three from Panhandle, and six from Groom were present at the meeting. Other meetings will be held soon at which more definite plans will be made.

Santa Receives Two-Page Letter

Longest letter Santa Claus has received to date is one signed "Karen Gay Oden." She takes nearly two whole pages, but asks Santa only for a pair of cowboy boots, size 9, clothes for a doll, clothes for herself, candy, fruit, and nuts. Karen says she is 5 years old, and asks Santa to bring presents also for her 1 1/3-year-old brother. Another letter, signed "Nancy Joyce Jameson," asks Santa for a sidewalk tricycle, doll, and doctor's kit. Barbara and Max ask Santa for a nurse's set, stove, ice box, cabinet, and drum. "And that's all," is the desire expressed in a letter signed "Ellis Ann Ellis."

Elliott Graduates

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 20 (AP)—America's air forces will play the major role in the war, Brig. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, commander of the Gulf Coast air corps training center, told 14 graduating navigators at Kelly Field—including Capt. Elliott Roosevelt, the President's son—today. "And as members of that organization, your contribution to national defense can, and I am sure will, be invaluable," Gen. Harmon told the graduates.

Just Between Us Girls

BY JOHNNIE DAVIS

God bless the folks who give to me
The toys I find beneath the tree
At Christmas and my birthday, too,
At Easter and the whole year through,
And I shall try, dear Lord on high,
To learn to give to others.

Especially appropriate for the Christmas season is the small child's prayer above which was read last week at the meeting of the newly federated Twentieth Century Progressive club which is composed of young mothers. . . After stressing the importance of the religious phases of a child's Christmas as well as the festivity of the Yuletide, Mrs. Ray Nielson read the following prayer:
Thank you for the world so sweet,
Thank you for the food we eat,
Thank you for the birds that sing,
Thank you, God, for everything.

Again the Christmas season vies with June as the month of brides. . . First of the holiday weddings was that of Betty Cozatt, Junior High school physical education teacher, and Jack Davis, high school teacher and Gorilla football coach, which was solemnized yesterday at high noon. . . At the reception which followed the wedding, the table was laid with a beautiful handmade crocheted cloth made by the bride's grandmother. . . Today is the wedding day of blond Helen Moorehead, Pampa's only aviatrix holding a private license. . . And Tuesday at high noon Lois Hinton and Harry L. Hughes of Corpus Christi will exchange vows. . . While attending a shower given in her honor last week, Lois received a long distance telephone call from Harry and as the guests quieted down to hear the conversation, Lois asked that the call be delayed one hour.

Marriageable maidens waiting to score a touchdown are facing interference from Uncle Sam. Wise misses are asking Santa for a hope chest this Christmas and garnering trousseaus of silks, woollens, linens and other items dear to the heart of the bride-to-be. . . Here is a skeleton chart of housekeeping essentials for orange-blossom hopefuls to follow, designed to cover the needs of the average bride:
Wash cloths, 1 dozen; guest towels, 1 dozen; bath towels, 1 dozen; hand towels, 6; bath mats, 2; bath rugs, 2; sheets, 2 pairs per bed; pillow cases, 2 pairs per bed; cotton blankets, 1 to 2 pairs per bed; woolen blankets, 1 to 2 pairs per bed; comforters, 1 per bed; mattress pads, 1 per bed; formal tablecloth, damask or linen, with 12 napkins to match, 1; luncheon set for entertaining with 8 napkins to match, 1; 2; luncheon cloths for everyday use with 8 to 12 napkins to match, 2; doily sets with 6 to 8 napkins to match, 6 or 8; kitchen towels, 12; dish cloths, 6.

Once again the two strikingly attractive Catholic women, Mrs. Lynn Boyd and Mrs. J. W. Garman, scored vocal hits. . . This time they sang solos in the annual presentation of "The Messiah." . . Mrs. Boyd's number was "He Shall Feed His Flock" and Mrs. Garman's "Rejoice Greatly, O Daughter of Zion." . . Miss Louise Smith, a former Pampan, sang the same solo in the Amarillo musicale as Mrs. Boyd did here.

Now that war has been declared, more thought is being given in selecting Christmas gifts for the boys in service. . . Among the gifts which will make this a happier Christmas for the soldiers are cigars and tobacco if he smokes, candy if he doesn't; writing kits; sewing kits; shaving articles; sweaters; toothbrush and tooth paste; razor blades and shaving cream; shoe polish; a comb and brush set; an automatic pencil; portable radio; handkerchiefs; a diary and if you think he may have most of these things, folding money will always be appreciated and come in handy.

Among the Christmas holiday visitors here will be Elizabeth Ann Johnston, a student at Christian college in Columbia, Missouri, who has arrived to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Johnston. Events on Elizabeth Ann's pre-arrival calendar in Columbia included a formal dinner, Christmas bazaar, Toy Shop dance production, and a Christmas ball. . . Also Margie Williams, a freshman at Texas Christian university at Fort Worth, will spend the next two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Williams. Margie, who is a member of the Progettes, is majoring in business administration. . . Betty Cree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Cree, has arrived from the Hockaday school in Dallas. Also she is planning to visit Miss Rosemary Whitehead, her roommate at Hockaday, in Del Rio before she returns to school January 6. Before she left Hockaday, Betty attended the annual Christmas tree service at which the dramatic department of the school presented "The Pageant of the Shearman and Tailors of Coventry" and the chorus of the school sang old English carols and traditional Christmas carols. Too, she took part in the Christmas party held in Trent house on the campus. After singing carols in Trent house, the girls serenaded Miss Ela Hockaday, president of the school at her home, "The Cottage," on the campus. Miss Hockaday entertained last Thursday evening with a formal Christmas dinner in the dining room of the main building for all the boarding students of the school.

One of the most remarkable projects of Pampa's women's clubs is the lunch fund for underprivileged children being sponsored by Business and Professional Women's club. . . From the red-topped milk bottles placed in local business houses the club has collected more than $40 in the past three weeks, making the total amount received since August, $120.38. . . The health committee is in charge of the project.

Since war has become the number one topic of conversation, James B. Massa and his father, who have spent quite a bit of time discussing present conditions in the Philippine Islands, their former home. . . As a captain in the United States army, the elder Mr. Massa and the late Mrs. Massa and their children lived on the islands and it was there the Pampan and his sister, attended school; also they visited in China. . . The late Mrs. Massa, who visited in Pampa several times, wrote society news while living at the army post in the Philippines.

Wide-eyed children . . . piles of gayly wrapped gifts lovingly and carefully carried by men and women. . . exciting chatter . . . crowded stores . . . the smell of pine . . . lighted doors and windows . . . all are descriptive of Pampa's Christmas day near. . . Beautiful in their simplicity are the arrangements of graduated tapers in the front windows at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller. . . "Merry Christmas" wreaths brighten the windows of the R. E. McKernan home. . . Another highlight in the Christmas decorations is the large Santa Claus atop the house of Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Jones. . . Tall blue candles flank the silver Christmas tree decorated with blue ornaments at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wehrung. . . Gayly colored lights outline the front door and offset a spray of cedar and bells at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curry. . . Pampa Garden club has been asked to furnish judges for the selection of winners in Berger's home decoration contest. . . Mistletoe changes from parasite to paradise about this time every year. Most of the mistletoe comes from the tree top to chandelier from the states of Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. It travels packed in ice like fragile flowers from the west coast. . . pines.

Two of the "talkiest" girls in town are personable Annie Johnson and Catherine Ward, both telephone operators. . . Both Annie, who has worked in a telephone office for four years, and Catherine, who has had a similar job for almost two years, can relate any number of amusing and interesting incidents concerning this type of work.

Many women are in the business world today. . . attending to somebody else's. . . Some people cannot happiness wherever they go; others whenever they go. . . Most of the slams made at a bridge party are made about persons who aren't there.

First to offer their services in the present crisis are two women's groups in Pampa—the Business and Professional club and the B. G. K. club. . . The entire B. P. W. club has volunteered its assistance in all defense work of this area and has planned a first aid course and a physical education class. . . B. G. K. club voted to cancel its Christmas dance and to sell defense stamps and a bond instead. Also this group has offered to sell defense stamps in various booths.

May joy be yours in the morning,
May sunshine be with you at noon,
And peace be yours at the close of a day
That ended all too soon.

Just Between Us Girls wishes you Christmas happiness and all the season's cheer. Merry Christmas.

Entertaining Southwestern Bell Telephone company employees of the three departments, business office, operating, and plant, with their families, and guests, an informal open house was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cecil, 441 North Hill street, Friday evening.

Christmas bells and red candles decorated the rooms where the evening was spent in visiting. Gifts were distributed from an attractively decorated tree by a Santa Claus. Home made candy was served and punch was poured at a table laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of holly.

A pink and white dreschapel wheel handmade quilt autographed by all of the girls in the telephone office was presented to Mrs. Cecil.

Attending were Messrs. and Mrs. Jack Mullins, Harold Payne, Bob Watson, Jack McKay, J. F. ## Miss Betty Cozatt Becomes Bride Of Jack Davis In Ceremony Saturday

Annual Christmas Party Given For Clara Hill Class

Clara Hill Sunday school class of First Methodist church had an annual Christmas party in the home of Mrs. E. P. Hollingshead with Mrs. F. M. Showell, Mrs. Harry Hoyler, Mrs. Hal Martin as assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Glenn Radcliff presided over the business session in which $10 was donated by the class for the Red Cross emergency defense drive. The class also voted to buy song books for the colors church in Pampa. Two Christmas baskets will be filled and the members are asked to take their donations to Sunday school today. A Christmas gift was planned for Ann Welsh, the adopted girl in the Waco home.

Mrs. Hoyler, recreation chairman, had charge of the program; Mrs. Frank Showell gave a Christmas story and the devotional after which Mrs. Dan Letts told the history of the song, "Silent Night," and the group joined in singing this carol. Gifts were exchanged from a beautifully lighted tree. The class presented Mrs. White, class teacher, a friendship quilt.

Judge Cary Guest Speaker At Junior High School P-TA

Junior High school Parent-Teacher association met in the junior high auditorium with the group repeating the Lord's Prayer which was led by Mrs. H. M. Stokes.

A brief business session followed with Mrs. C. E. Cary presiding. Mrs. E. L. Anderson introduced the speakers for the afternoon in the absence of Mrs. R. H. Eaton, program chairman.

Judge C. E. Cary, guest speaker, discussed the historical background of the Philippines, emphasizing their governmental, religious and educational development. His discussion included the geographical location of the islands with special suggestions as to their strategic relation to the Orient. Judge Cary, who taught in the government schools of the islands, stated that there is no doubt that the people of the Philippines will be almost 100 per cent loyal to the United States in this conflict between the United States and Japan.

Mrs. Hol Wagner spoke on the systematic buying of defense stamps, and Mrs. Roy Holt made a brief talk on the importance of buying tuberculosis stamps. In her talk, Mrs. Holt stressed the necessity of keeping children healthy to prevent epidemics of children's diseases. Junior High P-T. A. bought five dollars worth of these stamps.

Mrs. M. P. Culbertson spoke on the value of health charts, stressing that they should be placed in kitchens and followed closely.

The Junior High octet presented two numbers under the direction of Mrs. Clifford Braly, Jr.

Those attending took candy and canned apples which were served to the teachers and a large box was placed in the office for the instructors.

Home League Will Have Annual Party At Salvation Army

Two Lodges Have Christmas Party Following Meeting

One new member, Lucille Claunder, was initiated at the weekly meeting of Rebekah lodge held Thursday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Following the regular lodge meeting, the Rebekahs and Oddfellows had their annual Christmas tree and program with Pearl Castka in charge.

Couple To Be At Home In Pampa Following Trip

One of the winter's most impressive weddings was solemnized at high noon Saturday in the First Methodist church when Miss Betty Cozatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee D. Cozatt of Oklahoma, became the bride of Jack Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davis of Lakeview.

The ceremony, performed by the Rev. E. W. Bowen, was read before an altar of Kenia palms, candelabra, and baskets of pearly gladioli. Ribbon streamers extended from a large wedding bell suspended from the ceiling above the altar to smaller bells tied with blue ribbon.

Preceding the service, Ken Bennett played a medley of pre-nuptial music at the organ and Miss LaNelle Schelhaugen sang "Because" (d'Hardelot) with Mr. Bennett as accompanist. The traditional wedding marches were played for the entrance of the wedding party and at the recessional.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white bridal satin gown with a fingertip veil. The gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neck, fitted torso waistline gathered onto a full skirt, and long pointed sleeves. She carried an arm bouquet of pearly gladioli.

Miss Peggy Jean Cozatt of Enid, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown of ice blue tulle was styled like the bride's with short sleeves. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Attending Mr. Davis as best man was Oscar Hinger. Ushers were Dick Taftinger and E. L. Hammit.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given at 420 North Summer street for members of both families. Above the table, which was laid with a hand-crocheted cloth was a cluster of wedding bells outlined with blue and white satin ribbon. Topping the three-tiered wedding cake was a miniature bride and bridegroom. Serving the cake and punch were Miss Mary Louise Smelser and Miss Maxine Richardson.

After the reception the couple left for their home in Pampa.

V Notes RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

Red Cross Volunteers
With only ten days left in 1941, it looks as though we will successfully complete everything for our present quota except the women's and children's sweaters, that is, if all those persons who have garments checked out will finish them at once. We will have to be a little late about sending some of the women's and children's sweaters.

Mrs. Fred Roberts, production chairman, asks that a special effort be made to turn in as many garments as possible tomorrow and Tuesday, as the production room will be closed after that until Jan. 2. If you complete garments after Dec. 22, please turn them in at the Red Cross office in the basement of the city hall.

All garments on hand will be shipped during the days the production room is closed, and garments not completed until after the first of the year will have to go in as late. Naturally everyone wants Pampa's record to be the best possible. Many larger places have not done nearly so well.

We'll have a new quota to begin work on in 1942—two of them, in fact: one for our nation's sick and wounded soldiers, sailors, and marines, and one for relief of civilian war victims throughout the world, men, women and children who have been blasted out of their homes by bombs in Britain, in China, in the Philippines, in Hawaii, perhaps along our own coasts.

Volunteers are really rallying to the call for more knitters. During the past week 35 sweaters and five pairs of socks were checked out, the biggest week on record! Fifteen new volunteers started on Tuesday, which is the best news yet—Mmes. Tom Darby, Fahie, B. C. Fahy, F. C. Jones, LeFors, H. T. Kelley, J. B. Latham, H. L. Ledrick, Jr., J. J. Maxey, McVey, J. M. Stein, H. E. Schwartz, T. N. Sillar, Jess Woods, and Misses Helen Martin and Ila Pool.

Of course those persons who checked out knitting very recently cannot be expected to have their garments completed by Dec. 31, unless they are very fast knitters, but we do not want to be any later than we have to about sending in our full quota of 1941 sweaters.

If you would like to check out some knitting to work on during the holidays—many women will find that they will have more time than they've had for the past month—be sure to call at the production room on Monday or Tuesday or telephone 773-J to have it sent out to you. There are still lots of women's and children's sweaters to be knitted. B.G.K. members continue to help by making deliveries of Red Cross materials when requested. Mrs. Charles Lamka and Mrs. Steve Denison made "runs" recently.

Assisting Mrs. J. B. White, executive secretary, in the Red Cross office in the basement of the city hall this past week were the following volunteers: Mrs. E. P. Hollingshead, Miss Lucille Johnson, and Mrs. T. B. Barron. There are 12 half-days each week when an office helper could be used.

Mrs. Lee Harrah, Mmes. Malcolm Denison, W. R. Campbell, Emmett Osborne, Flaude Gallman, and T. B. Barron sorted toys for the three Christmas parties to be held on Monday and Tuesday for needy children, with several other organizations cooperating with the Red Cross.

The Red Cross office was a pleasant place to visit, the latter part of the week, for it smelled of apples and oranges and other goodies which Santa will distribute. Mrs. W. C. Breining brought up a whole truck load of toys this past week, the gift of LeFors people. Needy children from LeFors will also attend the Christmas tree.

Baker school sent six dolls for Santa Claus to distribute to needy children. The following women assisted in the production room during the past week: Mmes. DeLea Vicars, Cyril Hamilton, A. Cole, Ora Duenkel, L. L. Davis, Tom Bunting, W. R. Frazee, V. L. Hobbs, W. R. Wannor, O. G. Smith, Mmes. Walden Frazee, Phyllis and Barbara Davis, Mary Helen Hays, Charles Thut and E. W. Cabe, Jr.

On Thursday volunteers under the supervision of Mrs. L. L. Davis began cutting out garments again—to be ready to start issuing sewing the first of the year. Volunteers are needed tomorrow to help label, fold, and sort the remainder of all garments on hand so that they can be shipped later in the week, and on Tuesday volunteers will be needed to help cut out garments.

Here's a small way in which nearly every housewife can help the Red Cross—bring your discarded grocery sacks to the production room. We have run out of sacks in which to issue materials, and it looks as though it might prove quite a problem with all paper articles as scarce as they are now, unless women begin to save their sacks for the Red Cross. Someone mentioned the other day that one woman she knows has several hundred sacks saved; nearly every housewife has a few she can spare. Just drop them through the slit in the production room door if you come at an hour when it is not open.

Please, please, won't everyone try to finish every Red Cross garment she has checked out as soon as possible, and turn in all you possibly can tomorrow and Tuesday? In many instances we lack only one or two garments of a type having our quota complete. Will you do your best not to be the one who keeps us from completing our quota on time? The following articles were completed this past week: Mrs. O. W. Alston—one child's sweater; Mary Etta Burns—one child's sweater; Mrs. W. R. Campbell—wound six hanks of yarn; Mrs. Tracy Cary—one child's sweater; Mrs. Annie Culbertson—one child's sweater; Mrs. W. R. Roche, and Mrs. J. P. Schwind for Holy Souls Altar society—40 triangle bandages for first aid classes.

E. Riley—one pair of rompers and one operating gown; Mrs. A. O. Rainwater for LeFors—one knitted suit; Mrs. L. L. Sirmann—one child's sweater; Mrs. Carl Snow—one toddler set of sweater, beanie, and mittens.

Guard Members To Register All Motor Vehicles

Registration of all motor vehicles of members of Company D, Texas Defense Guard, will be taken at the company's regular drill at 7 o'clock Tuesday night at the high school. This order was issued at the non-commissioned officers' school last night at the high school by Captain E. J. Dunigan Jr.

The captain said non-commissioned officers would be required to secure the name of every man in the company who has an automobile and also to list where the owners of these vehicles could be contacted in a hurry.

Purpose of the order is to have adequate transportation available instantly for the company should the local company be called out for service away from Pampa.

Several recruits reported for drill at the high school last night. This was purely voluntary on their part, as only the Tuesday night drill is required.

While the non-coms school was in progress, some of the sergeants and corporals were instructing the new men in the school of the soldier. At intervals, non-coms were called from the classroom to alternate with other instructors.

Commands demonstrated and explained to the men included attention, dress right dress, facing, right and left step, forward march, backward march, halt, and the rests.

For the non-coms own instruction, First Sergeant Paul F. Blankenburg had the men assemble on the second floor corridor. Then each man marched forward and at a point about 50 feet from the others, gave these commands in turn:

Dress right dress, forward march, platoon halt, squad halt, column right march, right shoulder arms, order arms, port arms, inspection arms.

Subject for the non-coms school on Friday, January 2, will be inter-guard duty, covered in paragraphs 1-22 of the manual. As next Friday comes on December 26, the day after Christmas, no non-coms school will be held on that date.

However, there will be no cancellation of the regular Tuesday night drill, which will be held at 7 o'clock next Tuesday night, December 23, at the high school.

Attendance at the school and drill Friday night was 50, including 35 recruits who reported for extra drill. A battalion staff meeting was held last night in Amarillo, attended by officers of the Pampa company.

MEET YOUR PAMPA NEWS CARRIER BOY

(Editor's Note: This is the twentieth in a series of 30 biographical sketches of the Pampa News carrier boys. Pictures of the boys and accompanying sketches will be published in The News daily.)

Pat King, the carrier who was the subject of the story in Friday's issue, wants to be a dentist. Richard Barnard, subject of today's sketch, wants to be a doctor. Richard is one of the youngest of the carriers. He was born December 26, 1927 at Borger, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barnard, 700 S. Faulkner.

Richard has been a carrier for six months. He is in the eighth grade at Pampa Junior high, likes to hunt and swim, and baseball and football are his favorite sports. His route, 22, is composed of Fredric and E. Campbell and E. Tuke streets. W. B. Draper was the carrier before him.

FORTUNE FROM STAMPS
The sale of two very rare stamps from British Guiana, dated 1850, preserved among her grandfather's papers, brought an elderly German woman a small fortune a few years ago.

Records show that the average speed in America's first automobile race was seven and one half miles an hour.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Dec. 20 (AP)—Soybean prices rose almost 6 cents a bushel at one stage today injecting strength as well as some life to the otherwise languid grain trade. The wheat and corn advance was held to cents by investment and commercial trade remaining restricted because of uncertainty regarding price control legislation.

Wheat closed 1/2% higher than yesterday, December 1.25, May 1.25 1/2, 3/4 up, December 78, May 85 1/2, unchanged to 1/4 lower; rye 1/4-1/2 higher; soybeans 1/4-1/2 higher, December 1.75; lard unchanged at ceiling levels.

Hogs salable 700; fully 10 cents lower; top 19.50 paid for good and choice 180-200 lb. average; packing sows 9.50-10.00. Sheep salable 200; choice lambs topped at 11.00; woolled yearlings 9.00 down; two-year-old wethers 2.00.

By BERNARD S. O'HARA
NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—The stock market today finished another declining week slightly on the irregular side. Restraining buyers, brokers said, was the somewhat discouraging news from the Far East. Nazi reverses in Russia and Libya provided a grain of comfort. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was unchanged at 36 but showed a net loss of 3/8 of a point on the week. It was the fifth session in a row where the composite had registered no progress. Tax selling continued as a volume motivator. Transfers of 628,550 shares compared with 629,319 a week ago and were the second largest for a Saturday since Dec. 28, 1940. The turnover for the week amounted to 6,771,252 shares against 6,820,281 last week.

Gains were held by Bethlehem Steel, Santa Fe, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott, Standard Oil (N.J.), Westinghouse, General Electric, Eastman Kodak and General Motors. U. S. Rubber preferred was an isolated weak spot, losing 1/4 points at 7 1/2, a new bottom for the week. American Telephone, Chrysler and American Gas also were in the low division.

Losses included U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Du Pont, Union Carbide, Texas Co., Great Northern, Western Union, Texas

Graham Elected President Of Scout Council

M. A. "Mac" Graham of Pampa was unanimously elected president of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council for 1942 at a meeting of the executive board and representatives of sponsoring organizations Friday night in the city hall here. He succeeds E. G. "Dick" Hughes of Pampa.

Other officers elected included J. C. Phillips of Borger, Harry Wofford of Wheeler, W. C. Payne of Hedley, M. C. Hamilton of Guymon and R. G. Hughes of Pampa, vice-presidents; Zane Smith of Panhandle, Scout commissioner; Raymond W. Harrah of Pampa, treasurer; U. S. Rep. Gene Worley of Shamrock and Walter David of Borger, national representatives; Bob Lindsey of Borger, E. H. Bender of Phillips, Scout commissioner; E. K. Caperton of Shamrock, Ralph Randal of Panhandle, Guy Hibler of McLean and Charles Lowry of Clarendon, members at large.

The new president is not new to the duties of the office. He was council vice-president in 1938 and acted as president most of that year when President Jake Stahl of Borger was confined to his home by illness. He has been active in the Boy Scout movement for many years. The new officers will be installed at the annual banquet to be held sometime in January.

The executive board voted to continue Boy Scout Day as an annual event, the affair to be financed outside of council resources. First Scout Day was held November 27 of this year when more than 800 Scouts and scouters gathered in Pampa for a parade, free picture show, free dinner and free admission to a football game.

President Hughes, Executive Fred

Roberts, Field Executive J. Troy Israel and various committee chairmen made activity reports at the meeting. Final reports will be made at the annual meeting which will precede the installation banquet.

Members of the council board were unanimous in their support of the activity program of the council during 1941.

Pampans Asked To Use No Fireworks
Twentieth Century is appealing to everyone in Pampa for the fourth consecutive year to refrain from using any kind of fire works in the celebration of Christmas.

"Let's be more reverent this year than ever before and show respect for those who wish to worship and be thankful for the peace of the American Christmas," Mrs. A. H. Doucette, chairman of the quiet Christmas movement, stated.

All Pampans are asked to cooperate in promoting the idea. SUMMERLESS YEAR
Known as "the year without a summer," 1816 was cool because it was preceded by a violent eruption of the volcano Tambora, near Java, dust of which shielded the earth from the sun for months.

SERIAL STORY

HIS CHRISTMAS CAROL

BY ADELAIDE HAZELTINE

COPYRIGHT, 1941
NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: The terms of Andrew Dearborn's will specifying that his secretary, Carol, should be his heir, and that she should have the right to sell the store whether or not his playboy son Andy is running the business according to his father's policy of "service to the people" place Carol, who has loved Andy since childhood, in a difficult spot. Remembering a time when Andy's success in entering the firm was put off by his father, she hopes he will make his will in favor of her. Mr. Herrick, assistant manager, and a former partner of Mr. Dearborn, is determined to see that the store is run on a business basis, and he will lose the store to charity, she decides to make her will in favor of "Jerry" who goes against him but will lose the store to charity. She decides to make her will in favor of "Jerry" who goes against him but will lose the store to charity.

for he added, "Don't look so gloomy, Carol. You don't need me around here. I'd rather sail a yacht than run a store. And I know a whale of a lot more about it." But it didn't soften the rebuff. He had made it fairly clear that he expected no interference from her. "Don't make excuses, Andy," she said finally. "A boat and a store are just alike in that they need a real captain at the helm." For a moment, he stared at her. Then, shrugging, he picked up his hat and walked out. She watched him go, her heart sick within her. A dozen times that afternoon she said, "Ask Mr. Herrick that Mr. Andy left word you were to take it up with Mr. Herrick."

The news flew through the store. Mr. Herrick was in charge. Mr. Herrick, whom they disliked. Some talked of quitting. Others openly resented Andy's choice. That night, 12 Christmas extras were laid off. "Too many even for Christmas," Mr. Herrick explained. "We're cutting expenses." Mary Todd was one of them. She came to Carol, her voice thick with worry. "I'd counted on my job until Christmas. I knew I'd be laid off Christmas Eve, but before I bought a fur coat," she said anxiously. "Now I can't finish paying for it."

Carol studied her. She was young and eager and to her the possession of a fur coat represented happiness. Impulsively, Carol said, "Come stay with me, Mary. We'll share my apartment until you get a job. It won't cost you a cent. You can use your money for the coat!" Mary's eyes brightened, then clouded. "I couldn't let you do that. There's no reason for you to take me in."

"It's Christmas," Carol smiled. "That's reason enough for anything. Let's just say this is my Christmas gift to you." "Oh, thank you!" Mary threw her arms around Carol's shoulders and hugged her. She hurried off, her steps light with joy.

It was 11 o'clock when Andy reached the office Saturday. He was smilingly unaware of disapproving eyes which greeted him. "To make his appearance more disconcerting, a half-grown mongrel pup was following him. "This is Cinder," he told Carol. He reached down to pet the dog's shaggy head. "He's not exactly a parlor dog but he's faithful. He strayed to the house the day I came back. Seemed to like me."

Welcomed me home." He paused, added, "He was the only one to do it." "Does he follow you everywhere?" "No. He hopped the trunk of the car as I backed out. I didn't see him until I stopped downtown. The dog wagged a friendly tail. "I'll have to take him home when I go to lunch. I'll take him down and lock him in the car in the meantime." But Linda came just as Andy was leaving with the dog. "Launch, darling," she purred. "Haven't you spent enough time in this stuffy old store?"

A half hour, Carol thought grimly. I wonder what she would think if she knew Mr. Dearborn used to spend 16 out of the 24? Then Linda saw Cinder. "Oh, that awful dog!" She shivered. "Why don't you get rid of him, Andy? He leaves hairs on everything. And the dirt!" She rolled her eyes in disgust. "He's only a pup, Linda. I'll teach him manners when he grows up."

"Her voice was suddenly sharp. "You're not serious about keeping him, Andy Dearborn?" "Why not? The old house is empty now." Carol glanced at him. His eyes were shadowed. "Well, I won't ride with him!" Linda declared. "When I used the car yesterday my white jacket was filthy with hairs. I can't stand him, Andy!"

"I'll take him home before we go, then." Impatience crept into his voice. "You wait at the Main Street door for me and I'll pick you up in 15 minutes." "It's that old elevator to buy-land," he told her. "I'm going to see Andy about it."

"You'll have to see Mr. Herrick about it. Andy has told me to send everyone to him." "I don't want to see Mr. Herrick. I'm afraid he'll turn me down and something has to be done." "Is it still working?" "Yes. It runs. But yesterday when it was loaded with children it almost stopped. I thought it was going to fall!" "Oh, that would be terrible!" She was worried. "Surely Mr. Herrick will tend to it."

"He's put me off on everything else I've ever asked," Bill retorted. "What if he does the same with this?" (To Be Continued)

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 20 (AP)—No-body ever got any secrets from a clam. Keep your lip buttoned!
