Problems delay flight of Columbia two days

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The long-awaited test flight of America's rocketship Columbia was scrubbed for at least two days this morning when a computer malfunction occurred as two astronauts waited in the cockpit for their release to fly.

It never came; 16 minutes before lift-off, problems began.

"We are stopping the clock," space agency spokesman Hugh Harris said at 9:59 a.m. — three hours after the scheduled launchtime.

"We're sending out a crew to open the hatch of the orbiter and take the astronauts out to their crew quarters," about six miles from the launch pad.

He said the earliest time for launch now is Sunday morning at 6:50 a.m. EST.

The postponement had to be a severe disappointment to pilots John Young and Robert Crippen, and to the many other employees of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration who had labored through two years' delay in development of the shuttle.

Seventy minutes after postponement, the astronauts crawled from the Columbia, apparently relaxed but their faces strained with frustration. They took an elevator to base of launch pad 39A where a van waited to take them on a trip that they'd hoped not to make.

The Columbia was to make America's first manned space flight in six years, the mission called for 36 orbits around the earth in a delta-winged rocketship that is the first designed for reusable use in space.

Young and Crippen were within 16 minutes of the planned 6:50 a.m. liftoff when they discovered a fuel cell problem. No sooner was it solved than the computer difficulty cropped up.

Launch director George Page announced the postponement when it became apparent that the computer problem could not be corrected today.

"We are stopping the clock," said National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman Hugh Harris at 9:59 a.m. — three hours after the scheduled launchtime.

"We're sending out a crew to open the hatch of the orbiter and take the astronauts out to their crew quarters," about six miles from the launch pad.

He said the earliest time for rescheduling a launch is Sunday morning at 6:50 a.m. EST.

Today's first delay hit when the astronauts spotted a fuel cell warning light glowing on their cockpit console. No sooner was that problem resolved when the computer snafu was discovered.

Crippen reported the software program in a backup computer did not agree with the programs in the four main computers that control the flight of the spaceship.

"The backup computer is not communicating properly with the other four," NASA spokesman Harris reported from the control center.

Launch Control Center attempted to delay launch as late as 10:20 a.m. today but the computer could not be fixed in time.

Engineers here and at the Johnson Space Center in Houston sought to resolve the problem, assisted by the astronauts.

At one point the memory of the backup computer was dumped and a new software program fed into it. But Crippen reported, "the result is the same."

An estimated million viewers had arrived before dawn to see the launch and left disappointed when the computer went on the fritz.

A space agency computer expert, patched through to the spacecraft, told the astronauts: "the probability that it will clear up is not really that great. It might be that it will, but we're not overly confident."

For good reason. It couldn't be done.

Attempts to duplicate the problem in a shuttle simulator in Houston was unsuccessful.

While the astronauts sat horizontal in their cockpit, one launch control official told them, "You have to excuse the delay, gentlemen; all the ducks weren't in a straight line."

The reply, from commander Young, "That's okay."

Two and a half hours after the crew should have been in space, Crippen joked, "I've got this fantastic view out my window. I can watch the pelicans fly up and down the beach."

Today's countdown was heading smoothly toward the scheduled 6:50 a.m. launch when Young and Crippen spotted the fuel cell warning light glowing in their cockpit. Then the computer acted up. The computer is a back-up to four primary computers that control the space flight.

The crew awoke at 2:05 a.m. today, went into their craft at 4:20 a.m. Thus, if they follow the crew rule, the launch window for today would close at about 10:20 a.m., but it could be extended.

"If you guys get to feeling like you're too tired, we sure want to talk about it," a launch official told the astronauts.

The Columbia is an all-new, untested spacecraft — the first to be launched without an unmanned test flight.

Young and Crippen, wearing pumpkin-brown spacesuits, entered Columbia at 4:20 a.m. to check out its systems while the countdown clock headed, second-by-second, to "we have a lift off."

The astronauts' wakeup call was 2:05 a.m. Waiting for them was a good luck message from President Reagan: "You go in the hand of God and draw on the courage of life."

Reagan, still hospitalized from his bullet wounds, called the flight "a feat of American technology and American will. Through you, today, we all feel as giants once again. Once again we feel the surge of pride that comes from knowing we are the first and we are the best."

DISAPPOINTED. Mission Control director Christopher Kraft, right, shows the concern on his face in Houston Friday morning just before the announcement of the delay in the launching of the Space Shuttle Columbia. Another attempt is to be made Sunday morning to send the craft on its first flight into space. At left is Gene Krantz, flight director. (AP Laserphoto)

Economic package left in limbo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress headed for a two-week recess today, leaving President Reagan's economic package in limbo: rejected for its deficits by a Republican-dominated committee in the Senate and spurned for a Democratic alternative by budget writers in the House.

"We'll just let everybody see how they feel in two weeks," a disappointed Senate Budget Committee Chairman Peter V. Domenici, R-N.M., said late Thursday after the panel voted 12-9 to reject an economic blueprint drawn to the administration's specifications.

Congress was to begin its Easter recess today and return April 27.

The defeat in the Senate committee was a stunning setback for Reagan. Until then, Republicans had stuck with the president as the panel endorsed various parts of the plan.

Once the package was put together, however, it fell apart. Three Republicans declared the budget deficits too large and joined nine Democrats who didn't like Reagan's three-year tax cut in rejecting it.

Ed Dale, a spokesman for the White House Office of Management and Budget, said, "There is concern about the vote, but it's not irretrievable. We plan to continue to work with the Senate leadership on this."

In the House Budget Committee, meanwhile, majority Democrats pushed their own economic plan, including a one-year tax cut instead of Reagan's three-year package, a balanced budget in 1983 instead of 1984 and more spending on social programs than the administration recommends.

Toddler struck by car

An 11-month-old toddler was in critical condition at an Amarillo hospital at press time today, after he was struck by an automobile in the parking lot of a local laundry Thursday afternoon.

The injured child, Johnny Choat of 421 Carr, remained in the pediatric intensive care unit of Northwest Texas Hospital today, a hospital spokesman said.

Details of the accident were sketchy today, but according to a supplemental police report, the child was standing behind a vehicle driven by Oliver Putman, age and address unavailable.

Police Chief J. J. Ryzman said Putman, apparently unable to see the child, backed over him when backing out of the laundromat at 601 Sloan.

Ryzman said the accident occurred at about 3:30 p.m. Thursday, but was not reported to police until several hours afterwards.

The police chief said the Choat child was taken to Highland General Hospital Emergency Room by a private vehicle.

A hospital spokesman said the boy was treated for multiple serious injuries and transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Union head wants coal contract talks resumed

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Mine Workers President Sam Church, armed with a vote of confidence from the union's top governing council, is challenging the soft-coal industry to resume contract talks as the coal strike enters its 15th day.

The union's 21-member International Executive Board approved unanimously on Thursday a resolution backing the bargaining efforts of Church and the UMW's negotiating teams and issued a companion resolution expressing general support for moves Church has taken to protect the financial integrity of the union during the strike.

The actions gave new negotiating leverage to the embattled Church, who squared off in a fistfight with the union's safety director earlier in the week and had been criticized by miners who rejected a tentative contract settlement March 31.

The union's 39-member bargaining council was meeting here today to discuss strategy for reviving talks with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, bargaining agent for some 130 coal companies.

Meanwhile, Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan said the administration was "disappointed that miners rejected the (contract) package," but he reiterated that the government has no plans to intervene in the stalemated talks.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, continuing to recover rapidly from a gunshot wound in the chest, will leave the hospital and return to the White House on Saturday or Sunday, an aide announced today.

Dr. Dennis O'Leary, dean of clinical affairs for George Washington University Hospital, told reporters the president will be examined Saturday morning and if his condition is stable he probably will be discharged from the hospital in the afternoon.

The doctor said he wanted to watch the area of Reagan's lung which was pierced by a would-be assassin's bullet "for another 24 hours before committing to a discharge time."

The president entered the hospital March 30.

White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes also announced cancellation of Reagan's scheduled trip to Mexico to meet with President Jose Lopez Portillo.

"There will be no presidential travel for the next several weeks," he said.

The trip had been scheduled for the end of April.

O'Leary, the hospital's principal medical spokesman since the president was wounded 13 days ago, said Reagan "is in a decent hospital room, but it's not home."

"His access to outdoors and fresh air is limited. We're looking forward to him sitting outdoors and getting a little fresh air," he said.

Reagan continues to receive an anticoagulant intravenously, the doctor said, but that treatment is to end on Sunday. The only other medication Reagan is receiving is penicillin, which he will continue to take orally for 10 days.

"Penicillin is precautionary, like X-rays," O'Leary said, "more in the category of treating the doctor than treating the patient. The patient feels fine but the doctor needs reassurance."

Doctors and aides said the president, itching to return to the fray over his economic program, "really can't wait to get home" and is preparing to leave the hospital this weekend.

Reagan, making steady progress from the bullet that punctured his chest in an assassination attempt March 30, had his "best day yet" Thursday, said Dr. Dennis O'Leary, dean of clinical affairs at George Washington University Hospital.

With his temperature normal for more than 36 hours, the president was taken off one of two antibiotics he had been receiving as a precaution against infection, and O'Leary said "we're looking to the weekend, Saturday or Sunday," for Reagan to be released.

The White House was being readied for him.

First lady Nancy Reagan had a roof-top solarium freshly bedecked with tulips and refurbished for the president's convalescence.

"Most of all what he misses is seeing the sky and trees and the lawn," said Helene von Damm, the president's personal secretary. "He's an outdoor person who thrives on all that beauty, so it's twice as hard on him."

Weather

The forecast calls for warm temperatures, occasional wind gusts, and a 20 percent possibility of showers today. Temperatures in the mid 80s are forecast for the weekend.

COL. JAMES B. ADAMS

Texas murder rate highest in nation, Adams said

By DEBORAH BRIDGES
Staff Writer

Colonel James Adams said today he is optimistic about law enforcement, although his Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is plagued with low salaries, insufficient equipment and manpower and restrictive legislation.

Adams, Texas DPS head, expressed the "a good guys will win in the end" attitude in his speech to 219 members of the Five State Peace Officers Association, meeting in M. K. Brown auditorium, early today.

Texas has a 72 percent higher murder rate than any other state in the U.S. and a 30 percent higher rape rate, he said.

"It's gotten to the point that one out of nine people murdered in the United States were killed in Texas, although we have one out of 16 of the country's population," Adams added.

In traffic enforcement, Adams said Texas is faced with 4,400 fatalities on the state's highways during 1980 — a six percent increase over 1979.

"This is a death rate we can ill afford to tolerate," he said.

"I wonder where the apathy comes from on the part of the public that they will tolerate and accept this figure and not say 'what can we do to reverse this trend?'" Adams said.

In last five year's, Adams said the number of driver's licenses has increased 22 percent, the number of motor vehicle registrations have increased 20 percent, the number of miles driven is up 22 percent and the number of traffic fatalities is up 30 percent.

"Yet during that period of time, our legislature has only increased the highway patrol less than two percent, about 1.5 percent," the DPS head said.

"We now have 1494 troopers on the highways, which is about one trooper for 133 miles we have to patrol. This is a totally inadequate figure," he added.

Adams said also the salaries are not enough to keep qualified experienced trooper. He compared Texas Highway Patrol salaries to Houston's police department, which pays $500 per month more than a starting trooper.

Adams said he was "irritated" by the comparison of salaries law enforcement personnel with salaries of those in the private sector.

The number one criminal problem in Texas is drug enforcement, Adams said. He said the retail profits in illegal drug trafficking is running $64 billion in the United States.

The DPS head said legislation allowing a mandatory minimum sentence of 15 years in prison for drug trafficking, legalized wiretapping, and the foreclosure of not only property used in drug trafficking, but money earned as well, would aid in combating the drug problem.

"We can expect corruption in every level of our society if we don't do something to deal more effectively with drug trafficking," Adams added.

Despite the arrests of six police officers in San Antonio for drug trafficking Thursday, Adams said he believes law enforcement officers as a whole have the best record of integrity and honesty than any other sector of public life.

"We can't deny the possibility that these large sums of money are going to tempt many and cause a few to violate the public trust," Adams added.

"This is just one more reason for strong laws in Texas to deal with this — the wiretapping statute, mandatory sentences, exposure provisions and foreclosure provisions," he concluded.

"I'm very optimistic," Adams said. He said he thinks there is a change of attitude towards law enforcement in Austin.

The "deep, patriotic feeling" of the citizens of the United States has brought about a change in Washington, including the judiciary, he said.

Adams described the feeling as, "that feeling that our country needs to survive first, then we can take a look to see that all of our procedures are proper," he said.

Adams cited Chief Justice Warren Burger's recent statements that the United States had gone too far in erecting safeguards for the criminal and lost sight of the fact that guilt is still a relevant question to be decided along with the technical questions that due process had been followed.

"Can we afford to erect these massive safeguards of the accused and yet fail to provide the elementary protection for the peaceful law-abiding citizens," he said was the question everyone is now asking.

"That is where we are today. We have gone overboard in trying to protect the accused, and yet we erect every barrier we can to the solution to and successful prosecution of a crime," Adams added.

The public is tired of altering their lives to make room for the criminal," he said.

Adams concluded, saying he does detect a change in the general attitude towards law enforcement and sees more change coming.

Israel continues Lebanon attack

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Israeli warplanes bombed and strafed guerrilla positions south of the Lebanese capital early today, a few hours after helicopter-borne paratroopers carried out Israel's first attack on guerrilla tanks in southern Lebanon, officials from both sides reported.

The military command in Tel Aviv said four guerrillas and one Israeli soldier were killed as troops knocked out two Soviet-made tanks in a raid on Arab Salim, 11 miles northwest of the Israeli border town of Metulla.

The command said planes attacked guerrilla bases about 10 miles south of Beirut, scored precise hits and returned safely. A Palestine Liberation Organization spokesman said several buildings were destroyed and three civilians wounded in the 30-minute air raid by six F-4 Phantom fighter bombers, but it said ground fire and shoulder-fired missiles prevented "enemy jets from accomplishing their mission."

Another PLO spokesman, describing the attack at Arab Salim, conceded only three guerrilla deaths and said five others were wounded. Meanwhile, in the eastern Lebanese city of Zahle, Syrian forces and Lebanese Christians took advantage of a tenuous cease-fire to consolidate positions, bury their dead and aid the wounded.

A PLO spokesman said the overnight attacks confirmed Palestinian claims that Israel and the rightist Lebanese Christian militias were coordinating a "pincer movement" from southern and northern Lebanon to "wipe out the guerrilla movement."

Earlier this week, at the height of the Syrian-Christian confrontation, Israel had said it would not stand idly by if the shelling of Christian strongholds continued.

Israeli Maj. Gen. Avigdor Ben-Gal, the northern front commander, said today the raid in southern Lebanon was executed to "suggest that wherever the terrorists have tanks, they are vulnerable to our attacks."

Back to drawing board for bill aimed at raising drinking age

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Raising the legal drinking age from 18 to 19 to curb drunkenness in high schools didn't seem complicated, but the House and Senate can't seem to get together on it.

Senators rejected the latest attempt at compromise on Thursday, and a third House-Senate conference committee was appointed to try to find the right combination.

Rep. Henry Allee, D-Houston, House sponsor, begged his colleagues to back off on their demand that the bill contain a tough provision forcing sellers of alcoholic beverages to check the identification cards of young customers.

"If we have to be flexible on the ID issue, let me have that flexibility," Allee said, suggesting that the question of enforcing the law against selling to minors should be dealt with in a separate bill.

"I just want a 19-year-old drinking bill," he added. Senators rejected the latest effort at compromise, 28-1.

The House has insisted that grocers, bartenders and liquor store operators be required to verify a person is not a minor before selling him alcohol.

When the first conference committee gave a seller an out if a buyer "looked 19," the House rejected that.

The second conference committee drafted tougher language, saying a sale to a minor is done "knowingly" - and, therefore, illegally - if no ID is requested.

Senators said Thursday that was unfair. "We are not talking about night clubs and taverns, we are talking about neighborhood grocery stores and 7-11s," said Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler.

"Next time this goes to conference committee we will have to have an amendment that is not real strict but somewhere in the middle," said Sen. Bill Sarpius, D-Hereford, the Senate sponsor.

Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, said the latest version of the bill would make it practically impossible for a dealer to defend himself.

Senators refused, 9-20, to instruct the new conferees to come back with a bill that merely raised the drinking age from 18 to 19, with no ID amendment.

Allee told the House he thought senators would accept an ID provision that "allows judgment on the part of the retailer whether to ask for an ID or not."

Rep. Ronald Coleman, D-El Paso, said a bill without an ID provision would "be a fraud" and not enforceable.

"No more a fraud than the present law," replied Allee.

Convict wants to stay in county jail

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - A Death Row inmate who said he preferred death to returning to prison was ordered returned to prison after a state district judge ruled his fate must be determined through a normal appeal process.

Jimmy Loyd Mead, 38, had attempted to waive the state's automatic appeal process of his death sentence, but was turned down Thursday by State District Judge Howard Fender.

Mead is the first inmate to attempt to waive the Texas appeals process, guaranteed by state law to persons sentenced to die by lethal injection.

Fender, who disqualified himself but was reinstated by another judge, told Mead he had no alternative but to return to the maximum-security prison at the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville rather than stay in Tarrant County jail.

Lawyers for Mead accused Fender of judicial misconduct for attending a July 4, 1979, picnic with sequestered jurors while hearing Mead's capital murder trial.

State District Judge Tom Cave was called in, but he ruled that Fender should be reinstated.

Mead was sentenced to death following his conviction in the capital murder of Crowley police officer James Michael Carpenter, 25.

Carpenter had stopped a stolen pickup containing Mead and another man, both of whom were wanted for kidnapping a man in Fort Worth. Testimony in the trial indicated Mead managed to pull Carpenter's pistol from his holster.

Mead admitted in court to firing the fatal shot, but claimed it was an accident.

Mead, who has spent more than 20 years in Texas prisons, had written Fender asking that the appeal be waived, an act unprecedented under Texas' capital murder statute.

Had the appeal been waived Mead could have become the first Texas inmate executed in 17 years.

Defense lawyers, who said they tried for weeks to persuade Mead to recant his vow, indicated they would oppose the inmate's request by arguing their client has no legal right to waive his appeal under conflicting provisions of the death penalty statute.

Judge orders hearing on Hunt investigation

DALLAS (AP) - U.S. District Judge Robert Porter has ruled a full hearing must be held to determine if the Securities and Exchange Commission violated the financial privacy of the millionaire Hunt brothers in its investigation of last year's silver market collapse.

Porter also dealt the wealthy international financiers a setback Thursday by ruling that the SEC had not exceeded its investigative scope and was not invading the jurisdiction of the Commodities Futures Trading Commission.

The complicated ruling came 11 days after Porter granted the Hunts' initial request for a restraining order that temporarily halted the year-old SEC investigation.

The March 30 ruling also kept Nelson Bunker Hunt and William Herbert Hunt from testifying this week before SEC investigators.

Porter set April 20 as the date for a hearing on whether the SEC had violated the Hunts' right to financial privacy under a law passed in 1978.

Lawyers for the brothers contended that the SEC had no right during its investigation to subpoena financial records from three Dallas banks that did business with the Hunts.

The brothers, who are also being investigated by the FCTC, had supplied more than 25,000 documents to the two agencies since the investigations began last spring, lawyers said.

An effort by the Hunts to have the investigation halted was denied by Porter.

Hunt family lawyers filed a request for a temporary restraining order March 24 that alleged the SEC exceed authority granted it by Congress and that the SEC also infringed upon statutory jurisdiction given the FCTC.

The SEC was within jurisdictional limits in its investigation of the 1980 collapse of the silver market, which reportedly lowered the value of the Hunt family holdings by nearly $1 billion, Porter said.

The investigation began after silver prices fell from more than $30 an ounce in January 1980 to less than $15 three months later.

Southwestern Bell will serve El Paso

Southwestern Bell and Mountain Bell jointly announced Thursday plans to start negotiations to complete the sale and transfer of Mountain Bell's operation in El Paso County, Texas, to Southwestern Bell.

Southwestern Bell President Zane Barnes and Mountain Bell President Robert K. Timothy said both companies have signed a letter of intent expressing a desire to complete the transition by Jan. 1, 1982.

"This is the first of many steps required to reach a definitive purchase and sales agreement, which will address all the many issues involved," Barnes said.

Currently, Southwestern Bell provides the majority of telecommunications service in Texas while Mountain Bell's only Texas operations is in El Paso County. Both companies are wholly owned subsidiaries of American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The transfer would simplify the state regulatory process for both companies. The Texas Public Utility Commission regulates all telephone service in Texas.

Most of the approximately 1,200 Mountain Bell employees in El Paso are expected to transfer to Southwestern Bell.

A final agreement will be subject to approval of the Federal Communications Commission, Texas Public Utility Commission, AT&T and the boards of Southwestern and Mountain Bell.

The proposed sale will not change the day-to-day operations for El Paso metropolitan area customers. Mountain Bell serves 281,000 telephones in the area.

Southwestern Bell probably will contract for some services from Mountain Bell to provide a smoother transition after completion of the sale. These could include service order issuance, billing and certain network services. Over a period of time, Southwestern Bell will meld these functions into its operations.

Southwestern Bell serves Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma in addition to Texas. Mountain Bell, with headquarters in Denver, operates in Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Utah, Wyoming and El Paso County.

Retarded man's body found in empty Atlanta apartment

ATLANTA (AP) — The discovery of a retarded man's body in an abandoned building has given police "all kinds of fingerprints" to work with in the unsolved deaths of 23 young Atlanta blacks.

The body of Larry Rogers, a 20-year-old who looked like a teen-ager, was found Thursday in an apartment complex less than a mile from his home. He had been missing since March 30.

"We've got all kinds of fingerprints," state crime lab Director Larry Howard said Thursday night. "But the question is, who do they belong to?"

Medical officials were conducting an autopsy today to determine how Rogers died. Fulton County Medical Examiner Robert Stivers said the body bore no gunshot wounds, stab wounds or other obvious external injuries.

The body was partially decomposed.

Psychiatrist diagnoses histrionic personality disorder in Daniel

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — After listening to a lengthy series of hypothetical questions, Austin psychiatrist Richard Coons diagnosed Vickie Daniel as having a histrionic personality disorder that could be harmful to her children — if the hypothetical facts are true.

"I didn't render an opinion about Mrs. Daniel. I rendered an opinion on the hypothetical facts that were presented to me," Coons said Thursday after 1½ days on the witness stand in a child custody suit involving Mrs. Daniel's two small children.

Coons based his opinion on a report by Nassau Bay psychiatrist Kenneth Wetcher, who examined Mrs. Daniel for 1½ hours and then said she suffered from a histrionic personality disorder characterized by over-dramatic behavior and problems with interpersonal relations.

Mrs. Daniel is charged with murder in the Jan. 19 slaying of her husband, former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. Daniel's sister, Jean Daniel Murph, is seeking custody of the two children born during the couple's stormy four-year marriage.

Coons said he had never examined Mrs. Daniel personally and could not diagnose her specifically as being a hysteric.

"It's the same as if I rendered a diagnose about a person's vital signs in an examination," Coons said.

Coons was called to testify by J.C. "Zeke" Zbrank, Mrs.

Stivers said, indicating Rogers was killed within days of March 30, when he was seen climbing into a faded green station wagon driven by a lone black man.

Stivers said authorities went over the abandoned building "inch by inch," collecting anything that might prove important. It will be several days before investigators will be able to determine the importance of any of the material, he said.

Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown refused to discuss possible new evidence when he announced the identity of the body.

Brown would say only that the crime lab, the medical examiners' office and the special 90-member police task force assigned to investigate the slayings and two disappearances would be evaluating the evidence in the coming days.

Suits filed in grain elevator explosion

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Families of two victims of the roaring explosion that gutted a grain elevator and left four men dead and two missing have filed damage suits against elevator operators and two other companies.

The damage suits, originated by the families of Alfredo Canales and Jose Valdez, were filed in state district court Thursday.

Diana Valdez, wife of Jose Valdez, is asking for $7 million in damages. An unspecified amount of damages is being sought by five members of the Canales family.

Named as defendants were the Corpus Christi Public Grain Elevator, Axelson Engineering, a Minnetonka, Minn., firm that installed a $4 million dust control system in the elevator last year and McKenzie Hague-Gillis Co., a grain dust control company.

An unrelated $10 million suit was also filed against the grain elevator by the wife of a man who died when he was buried under some grain in January.

Lawyer David L. Perry, who represents the Canales family, said the suit was filed because Corpus Christi Public Grain Elevator officials had "started their own investigation."

"We were concerned that the evidence be preserved intact and that we should gain permission to participate in the investigation into the explosion," Perry said.

The suit alleges that a $4 million dust control system installed last year by Axelson Engineering, a Minneapolis, Minn., company, was defective and caused the explosion which did an estimated $30 million damage to the facility.

McKenzi Hague-Gillis Co., a grain dust control business was also named as a defendant.

No specific damage amount was requested in the suit.

State District Judge David Diaz granted a request by the plaintiffs to halt any search or rescue efforts that might "cause or result in the removal, alteration, destruction or any other change in any condition" at the site pending a hearing on a temporary injunction.

The search was to resume today for two men missing and presumed dead after the explosion. Ramon Garcia, 43, and Gilbert Garcia, 19,

BLYTHE, Calif. (AP) — A Monterey County jail escapee was in custody Thursday following a crime spree that began in Missouri three weeks ago and apparently culminated with the murder of a Texas woman near this Colorado River town last month, sheriff's deputies said.

Senators vote money for cleanup of waste disposal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Resources to match about $50 million in federal funds provided by a 1980 clean-up law.

"If we do not match this federal money, then none of this federal money will be spent in Texas," Brown said.

The federal fund, called the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act, is made up largely of fees charged those who produce and handle hazardous wastes.

Since the Texas Gulf Coast has about 50 percent of the nation's petrochemical industry, this means about half of the federal fund is coming from industries in Texas, Brown said.

The clean-up money is used only for inactive or abandoned sites, where responsibility for the danger to the environment or to life cannot be determined, Brown said. Where responsibility can be determined, that person or firm, must do the clean-up.

Brown said the Department of Water Resources has located seven inactive chemical waste sites in Texas that require immediate action. The agency estimates the total cost to clean up the sites at $55 million.

He said the sites are located near Jackson Gulley on the San Jacinto floodplain near Houston, an area inside the San Antonio city limits, La Marque, Crosby, Grand Prairie, New Waverly and Dickinson.

The agency reported the materials present at the sites included benzene, toluene, ethylbenzene, xylene, 1,1,2-trichloroethane, polynuclear aromatics, pesticides, styrene tars, chromium, arsenic, PCBs, ketones, sulfuric acid and others.

WACO, Texas (AP) — A proposal by state officials and McLennan County commissioners that gives the county more than $630,000 in "mystery money" dug up by two teenagers on a South Texas ranch four years ago has received tentative approval from a federal judge.

The settlement, given preliminary approval by U.S. District Judge Fred Shannon, would put the money in the county's general fund in 30 days if no appeals are filed.

The money was discovered when Percy Garcia, 20, and James Dean Bridges, 19,

Helicopter falls on city street

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Federal Aviation Administration officials launched an investigation today into the crash of a helicopter that fell onto a residential street, killing the two Canadian occupants.

Police Lt. Carlos Pinon said no one on the ground was injured in the crash Thursday and said the flames from the helicopter that hit in the middle of the street did not spread to any of the nearby houses.

"Apparently he was looking for an open landing spot, then all of a sudden it just dropped," Pinon said. The helicopter crashed about one-half mile from the airport.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Reagan is for freedom, abundance

By Oscar Cooley

We have a president who stands for free enterprise at the very time when many, perhaps most, of the American people clamor for tax-supported enterprise. He stands for abundance as well. Will Reagan hold to his course?

Consider the stew over imports of automobiles from Japan.

Last year the Japanese sold us 1,900,000 cars, nearly a fourth of all those we bought. Our car manufacturers are indignant and so are the heads of the auto workers union. For months both the manufacturers and the union have been demanding that the president or Congress or both take action against these competitors in Japan who are supplying so much of our market. But Reagan has stated repeatedly that he and his administration are for free trade.

But automobiles, America's leading industry, are suffering, he is told. One firm, Chrysler, has nearly failed -- would have were it not for government loan guarantees. Another, Ford, is in trouble, and the leader, GM, has endured enormous losses. You can't let automobiles go down the drain!

Why is the industry in such trouble? Is it because of the competition of foreign cars?

Competition is a natural result of freedom, and Americans pride themselves on their faith in freedom. We have laws -- anti-trust laws, they are called -- that enforce freedom and punish monopoly. Shall we right-about-face and condemn the freedom of certain people to see certain goods competitively in our free markets?

If Japanese auto makers agree "voluntarily," as many Americans are telling them, to curb their exports of cars to the U.S. in order to assuage the pain of their U.S. competitors, they, the Jap firms, would be guilty of breaking our anti-trust laws. Atty. Gen. William F. Smith says. A pretty kettle of fish.

Sure, to restrict imports of cars would help our car industry, but what about the consumers, the American car-buying public? Ah, they would have to pay higher prices for their cars. And perhaps get poorer ones. These higher prices would be forced upon them by their government, siding with the car sellers.

Numerous as are the auto workers and stockholders, they are not nearly as numerous as the consumers, who number just about everybody. Is ours a government for all the people, as Lincoln averred? Or for this or that limited number? In all the talk about the Japanese imports, nothing has been said about the consumer. He is, as usual, the forgotten man.

This, of course, is the crux of the whole issue over government tariffs and restraints on foreign trade. These are demanded by industries, by special interests, not by the people as a whole, acting as consumers. They are for the few, not the many. In truth, they impose unnecessary cost of living on the many in order to feather the nest of the few.

Organized labor poses as representing the many, but here is Douglas Fraser, head of the United Auto Workers, pleading for government curbs on auto imports, chiming in with the heads of Ford and Chrysler -- with whom he does not usually buddy.

Are automobiles built to furnish employment to the employees of Ford, Chrysler, GM? Some of us had the quaint notion they were built to furnish transportation to the auto-riding public.

The UAW is a partial monopoly of automobile workers. When it joins with the auto companies in a joint push to exclude competition -- so they can sell more cars, at higher prices, make more profit and pay $17 an hour or better in wages, the monopoly becomes a formidable trust. When the trust has the aid and blessing of government, it becomes an unholy alliance against the American people.

Reagan knows this score. He is sympathetic to Detroit, but simple soul that he is, he believes he was chosen to serve the 225 million American people. Let us hope that he keeps that belief upright.

OPINION PAGE

Tax cut medicine for sick economy

Some people, alas, learn too little from the past. Among these, it must be concluded, are the critics who complain that the Reagan administration's tax cut proposals favor the rich.

The initial effect of a 10 percent, across-the-board reduction in income tax rates for each of the next three years would be to return more to those who pay more. Any uniform cut in income tax rates will yield more dollars in tax relief to, say, the person now paying $50,000 per year in taxes than to those paying a 10th of that.

That doesn't "favor" the rich, it simply treats them proportionately the same as everyone else.

Predictably, this offends those who believe that federal tax policy should have among its desired ends the redistribution of wealth.

Those who share this philosophy occupied positions of particular power in Congress and the executive branch for most of the last two decades.

Their legacy, roughly speaking, is the economic mess the Reagan administration inherited: double-digit inflation, failing productivity, rising unemployment and zero growth in the economy.

Every public opinion poll proclaims that the Reagan administration was elected, in large measure, to change this -- to blaze a trail out of a dismal economic swamp. To this end, Reagan and his chief advisers have decided that the redistribution of wealth in the United States has long since reached the point of diminishing returns.

Indeed, its returns measured in sagging productivity and an absence of economic growth are now negative in absolute terms.

One requirement of an economic strategy capable of resuscitating the American economy is the generation of vast amounts of investment capital desperately needed by such basic national industries as autos and steel.

As most economists know, tax relief for those in the higher income brackets is more likely to increase investment capital simply because a higher proportion of middle and upper incomes is available for savings and other forms of economic investment including stock purchases.

Thus, those portions of Reagan's tax relief proposals now generating the most criticism among liberals in Congress are precisely the components most likely to spur a revitalization of the American economy.

Readers may recall the demagogic rhetoric leveled against the reduction in capital gains taxes approved by Congress two years ago over the vigorous objections of the Carter administration. Yet, there are now multiple indications that this tax cut, derided by Carter as "welfare for the rich," helped to boost a badly depressed stock market and thus saved the economy from an even worse recession than that recently experienced.

There is every reason to believe that the more sweeping tax rate cuts proposed by the Reagan team will do even more, much more, to cure the chronically sick economy bequeathed the current administration by its present critics.

Inasmuch as lower income families are less able to weather the consequences of a stagnating economy than their more affluent neighbors, the tax reduction strategy now pursued by the Reagan administration should properly be seen as pleasant enough for those in the upper-income brackets but nothing short of salvation for those at the bottom.

cutting efforts played a part in a counter-inflation trend already in evidence.

Volcker and Stockman share the belief that any progress in halting inflation will make further improvement easier. They also concede that risks are involved for both industry and consumers as a result of high interest rates and radical budget-cutting.

The stakes in the inflation war make the risks necessary -- and acceptable.

Government by the people

by Paul Harvey

Even Alfred Kahn recommends "Reaganomics" for what ails us. Khan, inflation fighter in the Carter administration, says this president has the right idea -- "but success will depend on the response of the public and the Congress."

He might have added that the response of the public and the Congress may depend in large part on news media emphasis.

If the media gives disproportionate forum to those opposed then the mandate of the last election could be shouted down.

On a recent edition of the Today Show, OMB Director David Stockman was questioned by individuals from the audience.

One woman said she was an out-of-work nurse.

"What's going to happen to me?" she demanded. "What's going to happen to my ADC payments and my rent subsidy and my unemployment benefits and my food stamps?"

Mr. Stockman did not -- but should have -- responded:

"You are a nurse -- and unemployed!"

President Reagan, in the televised presentation of his Reaganomics formula to the Congress, said nothing more significant than this line from his concluding paragraph:

"I ask only that the critics of this formula provide a viable alternative."

So far none has.

I recall no peacetime in our nation's experience when "government by the people" faced a more supreme test.

An ABC-Washington Post Survey shows that Americans, two-to-one, applaud Reaganomics.

But that whites are generally more enthusiastic than blacks.

One black scholar says if that's true it's a shame.

Walter Williams, economics

professor at Temple University, is one of the blacks most outspoken against government welfare because, he says, the bureaucrats administering the programs are getting most of the welfare money.

He says the Washington bureaucracy is fighting hardest to perpetuate welfare so they can keep their jobs.

Mr. Williams calls them "poverty pimps."

He says if we'd fire all the bureaucrats in the welfare business there'd be enough welfare money available to give every family now on welfare $40,000 a year!

Williams says our country no longer has any "poor," instead it has a large number of "dependents."

And it's the business of the welfare bureaucrat to keep the dependents dependent!

Also, Mr. Williams acknowledges other opposition to Reaganomics coming from organizations outside of government which have been getting rich in the name of "helping poor people."

He says most of them are "poverty pimps," also.

Tiny light in inflation tunnel

The Reagan Administration and Chairman Paul A. Volcker of the independent Federal Reserve Board agree that inroads will be made this year against inflation.

Volcker expects the increase in the Consumer Price Index to be cut less than the three percentage points claimed as a goal by Reagan and his advisers. He credits high interest rates for the expected decline.

David A. Stockman, the president's budget director, suggested that administration cost-

Productivity and change

By Anthony Harrigan

Americans are increasingly aware that their standard of living is declining very rapidly.

Only two decades ago, the United States enjoyed the highest standard of living in the world. The oil shock and other important factors have caused an alarming deterioration in our national situation. Japan is likely to overtake us in the near future.

President Reagan hopes to arrest this decline by his program of spending and tax cuts. He believes that these proposals will energize the American economy.

Other national leaders believe that the problem of declining productivity -- declining standard of living -- should be tackled by other methods. It is helpful to hear everyone's views.

Among the interesting views being presented at this time are those of Lester C. Thurow, an economist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Writing in Technology Review, Dr. Thurow says that the United States is "sliding into a position of relative backwardness." He points out that productivity -- "output per hour of work -- is the ultimate determinant of our real standard of living."

A liberal economist who is reexamining standard liberal views, Dr. Thurow sees government regulations as only a minor part of the overall problem. I believe he is incorrect in that view. But his comments are very interesting.

Government's battle with the tax protestors

By LEE MITGANG
AP Urban Affairs Writer

The Internal Revenue Service says it received more than 13,000 "protest" tax returns in 1980, and it expects even more this year. An unknown number of others don't file at all — as their own kind of silent protest.

What tactics do these tax rebels use to try to penetrate the legal armor of the IRS? Do they ever get away with it?

Here, in question-and-answer form, is what usually happens when the IRS does battle with a tax protester:

Q. Are tax protestors right when they say filing returns violates the Fifth Amendment guarantee against self-incrimination?

A. The federal courts have repeatedly said no. Appeals courts have said there is no Fifth Amendment privilege allowing you to refuse to file an income tax return.

Q. Some argue that the Constitution, as framed nearly 200 years ago by the Founding Fathers, expressly forbade a direct tax on individuals. Is that true?

A. That has not been true since 1913, when the 16th Amendment cleared the way for a direct federal income tax on individuals. The amendment said such a tax could be levied "without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

The courts have since consistently held that the federal government has the right to collect an income tax.

Q. What happens to protestors who still refuse to file income tax at all on the belief the tax is unconstitutional? What are the chances of getting away with it?

A. Not good, according to IRS investigators. Even if you try to hide your income and your spending from the IRS, it is almost impossible not to leave some kind of clue.

"Anyone who willingly and knowingly refuses to file a return can be jailed for a year and fined $10,000, plus a penalty of 50 percent of the taxes due."

"If the protester still refuses to pay, the IRS can do almost whatever it takes to get the taxes."

Q. What about protestors who take numerous additional exemptions on W-4 forms so that no tax is withheld?

A. Since March 1980, all employers were required to send all W-4 forms claiming 10 or more exemptions to the IRS. IRS investigators then give them an "eyeball exam."

If the number of exemptions seems excessive compared with the previous year's return, the IRS will send a registered letter to the taxpayer asking for an explanation.

"If that letter is ignored, the IRS will notify the employer to disregard the exemption claim."

If the employer fails to comply, new regulations announced last month make him potentially liable for the employee's taxes.

Q. What happens if someone files a "protest return," with written objections, or one that claims affiliation with a church associated with the tax revolt movement?

A. IRS computers are programmed to "kick out" tax forms that display certain kinds of discrepancies. For instance, if a person claims he has taken a "vow of poverty" as a church minister, but files a withholding that states he has personal income, the computer will question such a return.

A special team of investigators at each of 10 IRS service centers around the country then will examine the return, and determine if it is an "ITP," the jargon for an illegal tax protest.

The suspected protest return is sent to the appropriate district office, with a note identifying the tax laws the return appears to violate.

From that point on, the return is handled like any other facing an IRS audit.

Protesters occasionally band together and hire a lawyer to take the IRS to court, either to argue the IRS is persecuting their "church" in violation of the First Amendment guarantee of freedom of religion, or on grounds the income tax itself is unconstitutional.

The government has yet to lose such a case, according to the IRS.

The penalty for filing a fraudulent protest return is one year in jail, or a $10,000 fine, or both. Anyone convicted of encouraging others to file false returns faces a three-year prison sentence, and $5,000 fine, or both.

Some 2,781 Americans — including protestors and non-protestors — have been jailed for tax fraud in the last four years.

Facts about income tax

By The Associated Press

* A total of 93.1 million Americans paid $410,034,281,000 in federal income taxes in 1980.

Of those, 70,721,771 taxpayers received refunds totaling $43,334,607,000 — an average of $612.75 each.

The Internal Revenue Service says it expects to receive 95 million tax returns this year. The deadline for filing is April 15.

In 1980, the IRS audited 2,179,297 returns.

From 1977 through 1979, the latest period for which complete figures are available, 359 tax protestors were convicted in federal courts. Taxes and civil penalties recommended in those cases totaled $4,283,129, and the courts imposed fines of $481,132. Prison terms averaged nearly six months.

Through December 1980, another 180 tax protestors were convicted for tax violations.

South has market exchange

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The South's only commodity exchange market has opened here amid the brisk outcry of buyers and sellers hustling for business on the floor of the old Board of Trade building.

On the first day Thursday, the business was in milled rice futures, but exchange officials expected to add rough rice in today's bidding.

Short staple cotton trading opens in May and soybeans come in a few weeks after that. New Orleans Commodity Exchange president Tom Webber said pointing to the hectic business on the trade building floor.

"When all that is in, it will be pretty noisy down there because all trading is by outcry or hand signals."

The shouts and waves go to brokers, standing in the trading pit in scarlet jackets.

At the end of the trading day, the exchange said about 800 contracts were handled for milled rice figures. But exchange officials said in a statement that they did not have "complete volume and open-interest figures" for the day's work.

And though trading appeared brisk, the governor and other high level officials expected for the grand opening failed to show up.

Webber predicts daily futures trading of between $600 million and $1 billion by midsummer at the exchange, located in the handsome and historic Board of Trade Building.

After all commodity pits are in operation, the exchange intends to go after a piece of the rich energy market.

"We will submit an energy package to the government proposing that we be allowed to trade in barge, coal, gas, diesel and crude oil contracts," said Webber.

So to Webber the future looks burning bright for the newest of the nation's 12 commodity markets.

"The South will trade again," he said. "New Orleans will become the place which sets the world price not only for rice but also for energy contracts."

With 500 memberships allotted to it by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, the new exchange opened with 468 members from 47 states and 23 countries.

This exchange is the only one dealing in rice, now sold at cash markets by the producers. Webber sees this exchange as an extension of the Chicago soybean futures market, and as a complement to New York cotton sales.

MEETING WITH WORKERS. Polish Communist Party leader Stanislaw Kania, right, sits with other government officials during Thursday's meeting with workers at the

Poland's premier demands ban on strikes, threatens to resign

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Premier Wojciech Jaruzelski today demanded Poland's Parliament impose an emergency, two-month ban on strikes and threatened to quit if he doesn't get it.

"I can work only without the threats of strikes," Jaruzelski said in his first major address since his inaugural plea last February for 90 days of labor peace.

"The government asks Parliament to suspend strikes for two months," the premier and defense minister said in the televised speech. "The government counts on the suspension of the right to strike bringing a general calming."

"But I must remind you that when I took over as premier, I promised to step down if the government can't fulfill its duties," he said. "This is the moment."

Jaruzelski painted a grim picture of Polish problems in the wake of last summer's strike wave that spanned the independent Solidarity labor movement. The government guaranteed workers the right to strike in the agreement that ended the summer rebellion, but that right has yet to be formalized as a law passed by Parliament.

"Strikes too often have political and local motivations. We had some strike preparedness last week without the approval of Solidarity's national coordination commission," Jaruzelski said. "We can't work normally in such conditions."

He said he respects forces for calm in the 10-million member union and renewed his offer for a dialogue with the Solidarity leadership, but he claimed some fringe factions are "attempting to snatch power."

Jaruzelski had been scheduled to speak to Parliament on Monday, but his address was delayed until today. Officials said it was postponed because of the premier's health, but observers saw a connection with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev's speech Tuesday to the Czechoslovak Communist Party Congress.

Brezhnev's anxiously awaited comments produced some reassurance that the Soviets are willing to give Polish Communist Party leaders more time to deal with the nation's economic problems and political turbulence.

A Polish government official, asking not to be identified, said Jaruzelski was expected to tell Parliament "he has some more elbow room now for action," an apparent reference to the reduced Soviet threat.

The official predicted Jaruzelski will reaffirm his moderate line and renew his pledge to seek a dialogue with the independent union Solidarity.

Polish Communist Party chief Stanislaw Kania, meeting with party members Thursday in the northern port city of Gdansk, described Poland as "a weakened link in the socialist community." But Kania said Poland's neighbors still expect the party to be strong enough to deal with its problems.

"This was underlined two days ago by Comrade Leonid Brezhnev at the Czechoslovak Party Congress," he said. "This is most important and this one must appreciate highly."

Kania visited the Lenin Shipyards in Gdansk, center of last summer's strikes, and was met by calls for party reform. Warsaw Radio reported.

He was told that some party leaders were "using their power to commit acts which split the party and the nation and permitted a dishonest enriching of one's self," the radio said.

"One should also stop the merry-go-round in high party and government posts," another worker was quoted as saying. "It is inadmissible to shove an inept comrade from one post to another."

Solidarity leader Lech Walesa, in Gdansk to meet with the union's national coordinating commission, also came under fire. The union's No. 2 leader, Andrzej Gwiazda, criticized his leadership in an open letter, saying the decision to call off a threatened general strike without consulting with the national commission was "autocratic."

Lawyer criticizes Bell

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Letting Southwestern Bell add "a multitude of expenses at the 13th hour" to its rate request would "completely emasculate" the rate-setting process, a Texas Municipal League lawyer says.

Don Butler told the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals the telephone company should not be allowed to pass on all of the expenses it claims, and the Public Utility Commission's $114 million increase should be allowed to stand.

Bell claims it is entitled to at least the $152 million it gave itself in November while waiting for PUC to set the rate.

The court took no immediate action in the case.

Bell is seeking an injunction against PUC's February order directing the company to refund $14 million to customers and stop charging the $152 million in rates that were recommended by the PUC staff.

Company attorney Robert Hearon told the court at the Thursday hearing PUC acted "arbitrarily and capriciously" when it disallowed $38.5 million in expenses, including $11.5 million Bell paid its parent company, American Telephone and Telegraph.

Butler argued the disallowances were "simply a matter of commission discretion," and the court should not "retry the hours and days of testimony" given during PUC's record-breaking seven-week rate hearing last year.

Bradley's body is in El Paso

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Soldiers stood at rigid attention, civilians watched silently and an Army band played "Nearer My God To Thee" as a military honor guard carried the flag-draped coffin of Gen. Omar N. Bradley into the adobe chapel at nearby Fort Bliss.

The last five-star general returned Thursday aboard a presidential jet to the sprawling fort that had become his home. His body will lie in repose at the post chapel through Monday morning.

Military leaders and Bradley's second wife, Kitty, who arrived on the plane with the general, attended a brief service.

Afterwards soldiers and civilians filed past the closed, flag-draped casket in a quiet tribute to the first chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the last of the nation's great World War II commanders.

"For 69 years he wore the colors of an American soldier — with courage, integrity, professionalism and, above all, honor," President Reagan said Thursday. "Even as he rose in rank, humility never left his side. He was the 'GI's general' because he was, always, a GI."

Bradley, who was 88, died Wednesday at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital in New York. He will be buried

Tuesday at Arlington National Cemetery near Washington, D.C.

Retired Gen. Mark W. Clark, the former World War II commander of U.S. forces in North Africa, said in New York that the death of his comrade-at-arms "came as a jolt."

"Brad's death has saddened me terribly," said Clark, who was to meet with Bradley Thursday for the first time in 10 years.

Clark remembered Bradley as a "quiet, knowledgeable person who inspired confidence and said he 'ranks with our greatest commanders of all time.'"

"He was anything but a showboat. His manner was reserved, but people knew when he said something, he knew what he was talking about. He was a leader, first and last," said Clark.

Bradley and his wife moved to Fort Bliss in November of 1977 because of the El Paso area's climate. The general of the Army suffered from arthritis and a series of strokes had left him crippled and in a wheelchair during his final years.

The easy-going, soft-spoken man became a local celebrity in El Paso and was honored frequently in city ceremonies.

The GI general became attached to the soldiers at Fort Bliss and the fort was chosen as the place for much of his post-death ceremonies.

His body will be flown to Andrews Air Force Base at Washington Monday morning and will lie in repose in the Bethlehem Chapel at the National Cathedral Monday afternoon through Tuesday morning.

The funeral for Bradley will be at 1 p.m. EST Tuesday in Washington, D.C., with graveside ceremonies at 3 p.m. at Arlington National Cemetery.

Simultaneous ceremonies are scheduled at Fort Bliss on Tuesday.

The body arrived in El Paso about 3 p.m. Thursday and the casket was loaded into a hearse by an honor guard from the 3rd Guard special detachment as nearby soldiers stood at rigid attention. The body was taken to an El Paso funeral home.

Mrs. Bradley looked more rested Thursday night when she arrived at the funeral home for the procession to the Fort Bliss chapel.

When she arrived on the airplane Thursday afternoon, Maj. Gen. John B. Oblinger, commander of Fort Bliss and a close friend of the Bradley's, had said Mrs. Bradley "was pretty shaken up. She was very tired."

Bradley's first wife, Mary Quayle, died in 1965 after 49 years of marriage. The following year he married Kitty Buhler, a screen writer whose television credits included "Dragnet," "The Untouchables," and "My Three Sons."

Bradley's aides, three officers who accompanied him throughout his stay at Fort Bliss, also were shaken Thursday.

The aides were among the officers and friends who were included in the brief ceremony Thursday night performed by Fort Bliss Chaplain George Reswick.

The crowd outside the chapel, many of whom snapped pictures as the casket was unloaded by the honor guard, stood quietly as the service inside was held.

About half of the civilians left after the ceremony without viewing the casket. The casket will remain closed with the flag covering it during the viewing periods, Army officials said.

Army officials said more people were expected to visit the chapel at noon today, when a 19-gun salute and brief ceremony is planned.

Too early to discuss tax cut compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, calling the Democrats' alternative tax-cut plan "puny" and "less than half a loaf," says it is too early to talk compromise.

The Democratic plan, proposed Thursday by Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, would scrap President Reagan's proposed three-year, across-the-board tax cut in favor of a one-year program tilted to low- and middle-income Americans.

After reading Rostenkowski's speech outlining the plan and conferring with the hospitalized president, Treasury Donald T. Regan said he wanted to buy the congressman tickets to Neil Simon's production, "They're Playing Our Song." He said the chairman's bill amounted to an endorsement of the chief objectives of Reagan's economic program.

The president also believes, however, that this new plan is less than half a loaf," Regan said. "The chairman's tax plan simply will not be as effective as the president's program."

Specifically, Regan said, Rostenkowski's proposed cuts in marginal tax rates were "puny" and were not applied across the board. He also said savings incentives proposed by Rostenkowski were "misguided and inadequate."

Rostenkowski called for about $40 billion in tax cuts during the 12 months beginning next Oct. 1. Reagan wants $54 billion.

"The collective effect of these cuts is focused most directly on people earning between $20,000 and $50,000," Rostenkowski said of his plan. "This segment of the workforce makes up 43 percent of all taxpayers — and pays 50 percent of all individual taxes."

Fifty-two percent of the individual tax relief in Reagan's bill would go to the $20,000-$50,000 bracket.

However, because Rostenkowski presented only the broad outlines of his proposal, it is impossible to compare how a typical taxpayer would fare under the two tax reductions.

FATHER FRANCIS J. HYNES

United Catholic appeal

The Diocese of Amarillo is introducing the 1981 United Catholic Appeal on Sunday, May 3, as a means of supporting programs and services that help the resident in the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas.

Father Francis J. Hynes, C.M. is the 1981 Diocesan of Amarillo United Catholic Appeal Northern Region clergy director.

Father Hynes, a native of Chicago, attended St. Vincent de Paul College in Cape Girardeau and joined the Congregation of the Missions at Perryville, Mo. in 1936.

He was ordained in 1943, and attended St. Louis University and Catholic University. He has taught at St. Thomas Seminary in Kansas City, Mo. and St. Mary Seminary in Houston before being assigned to St. Vincent de Paul Church in Pampa in 1968. He was reassigned to St. Philip Neri in Houston, and returned to Pampa as pastor in 1977.

The money raised during the United Catholic Appeal will stay in the Panhandle. The appeal will also provide a gift from the people in the diocese to assist people around the world at times of disasters, to meet their hunger, need of shelter and feeling of security.

DR. FRANK PETERS

Businessmen's Fellowship

Dr. Frank Peters, a prominent chiropractic physician from Amarillo, will be guest speaker at 6:30 p.m. Saturday for the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship meeting at the Optimist Club.

Dr. Peters will share his story of rising above tragedy after losing his family to divorce. Peters recently has been reunited with his children after the civil courts had turned a deaf ear on the need of a Christian home and upbringing for his children. He has been renewed through a broken home and tells the story how God can redeem the worst of situations.

Revival at Highland Baptist

Beverly Massagee, former movie actress and entertainer, will be presented at the Highland Baptist Church, 1301 N. Banks, in a series of Revival services to begin on Sunday, April 12.

Her husband, Charles, is the leader of the Charles Masagee Evangelistic Association. The team will conduct services at the local church on Sunday at 10:55 a.m. and 7 p.m. and at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Mrs. Massagee is a accomplished gospel singer and a ventriloquist.

The Rev. Jason Luck, minister of music, will serve as music director for the Highland Baptist Crusade and will conduct a 10-voice revival choir.

Religion in the news

ATLANTA (AP) — U.S. churches are not backing away from their social justice commitments despite an apparent American shift toward conservatism signaled by the recent national elections, a world ecumenical leader says.

Socially conscious denominations, however, must develop new tactics to deal with the changing political environment, the acting secretary-general of the World Council of Churches, Konrad Raiser, said in an interview.

Since the election of President Reagan, the church leaders have been forced back to the drawing boards "because they recognize that many of the accepted modes of action they had developed in the '60s and '70s would probably not work any more," Raiser said.

Raiser was in Atlanta from the council's headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, for a consultation between leaders of the council's unit on justice and service and the WCC's 27 U.S.-based member denominations.

The churches "are in a process of regrouping themselves and refocusing their agenda," said Raiser, a German Lutheran. "But I have seen no signs of (their) going back on the commitments they have made."

For example, "They have very strongly affirmed their support for measures of detente and disarmament at a time when ... this line (of action) would not win a political majority in the U.S. Senate," he said.

The council is a cooperative organization of about 300 Protestant, Eastern Orthodox and Old Catholic denominations totaling about 400 million members around the world.

Representatives of the U.S. member churches at the mid-March consultation expressed concern for human rights, refugee aid, hunger relief and the world economic order. Raiser said the concerns are similar to those expressed in Europe, Africa, Asia and South America.

IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

HUSTLE AND BUSTLE

The big city throbs with business life, heavy traffic, and the comings and goings and doings of many people. Whether you live in the city or you just come to town, occasionally from the small town or farm, you have experienced this hustle and bustle. It reminds you that all life sometimes gets too hurried, too frantic with all we must do. We need a time to stop and somewhere to go to find peace and respite from all this. Have you thought of trying God? Job 22:21 says, "Acquaint now thyself with God and be at peace."

How sweet it is to be in God's house, to feel close to Him, to listen to His word. Tension leaves. Peace of soul arrives. Won't you attend God's house this week and see what he can do for you?

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

FLIGHT OF THE COLUMBIA

First space trip for Crippen

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Bob Crippen has been an astronaut for almost 15 years and he's never been in space before. The closest he came was putting on a space suit for a make-believe flight that lasted 56 days.

Now that long wait for a rocket ride is over.

Crippen is half of the two-member crew on America's first space shuttle.

The Navy captain from Beaumont, Texas, might well have been selected by Central Casting for the role. He is 43, 5-foot-10 and stays at 160 pounds by running a couple of five-minute miles a day. He is handsome enough to be a movie star with chiseled features and a ready smile.

He is a military astronaut, a good bet for future assignments that involve defense missions. Crippen earns $3,000 a month.

His wife calls him "a waffle freak." His big pleasure on weekend mornings is making his breakfast specialties, waffles, of course, or an onion and potato omelet. He reads both fiction and non-fiction and has no special fondness for science fiction.

He has not seen Star Wars.

The astronaut's oldest daughter, Ellen Marie, 19, attends Crippen's alma mater, the University of Texas. Susan Lynn, 16, is in high school in LaPorte near Houston. Linda Ruth, 13, is in junior high.

Crippen has gone through the shuttle-birthing process cheerfully, putting the best face on two years' delay, and his wife, Virginia, isn't unhappy about it either. "The delay in general has been for cause," she says. "We'd rather have any bugs ironed out than try to go before the vehicle is ready."

Virginia Crippen calls her job in a nearby ceramics shop "an enjoyment thing."

Before the shuttle, Crippen's biggest assignment was as a member of the crew on the Skylab Medical Experiments Altitude Test, known in NASA's world of acronyms as SMEAT.

The test was a 56-day simulation of the Skylab mission to enable crewmen to collect medical data and to evaluate equipment and procedures. It was important and Crippen did well but nine other astronauts went into space on Skylab, not Crippen.

His career as an astronaut predates his assignment to NASA. Crippen was selected in October 1966 as a member of the Air Force's Manned Orbiting Laboratory Program, known as MOL and pronounced mole. When that program was scrapped, Crippen transferred to NASA.

After graduating from college, Crippen was commissioned in the Navy's aviation officer program and eventually became an attack pilot aboard the carrier U.S. Independence. He was a test pilot and instructor at Edwards Air Force Base in California before joining the astronaut corps.

On his first space flight, Crippen will have at his side one of the most veteran of America's astronauts, John Young. In four previous trips, Young logged 533 hours and 33 minutes in orbit.

Young is the old man of space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Alan Shepard took a brief ride into space and became a millionaire businessman. John Glenn orbited Earth and now sits in the Senate. Neil Armstrong took a giant step for mankind and now promotes an El Dorado, Kan., oil well firm.

John Young was, is, and will stay an astronaut.

At 50, Young is the old man of space. He is about to set a record as the first astronaut to leave Earth five times, inaugurating the age of the space shuttle. He's risking his neck once more, he says, for his country and the human race and because the scientific pot of gold is out there, somewhere.

And when the flight is done, says Young, he'll stay an active astronaut hoping, as all astronauts do, that he'll be picked for the next flight or the one after that, or one down the line.

As in the television shows, where the old vet tutors the young rookie, Young is partner on the first flight of the space shuttle with Robert Crippen who, at 43, has never left Earth's bonds.

Three years of rigorous togetherness, training for a 54-hour flight, have knitted Young and Crippen into a team. Crippen calls it a privilege to fly with someone who's got that much experience and knowledge. But no, he says, he has never sought Young's reassurance about the safety of the flight.

"Actually," Young chimes in, "he reassures me."

The physical discipline imposed on astronauts have kept Young trim. His three-piece suit hangs lightly on his 5-foot-9 frame. His sandy brown hair has only tinges of gray.

Young talks in a stream of jargon like other astronauts — it's part of his equipment, like his space suit. His zeal is little changed from that of the Navy test pilot chosen 19 years ago for the space agency's Gemini program.

"I really feel like we're doing something very important for the country and to the human race in the long run, just like I felt when I got in," says Young.

Young is the only astronaut still eligible for space flight from the September 1962 class of space men, the second astronaut group. He was too late for the one-man Mercury flights, but he flew on the first two-man capsule, Gemini 3, then on Gemini 10, orbited the moon on Apollo 10 and walked on its surface on Apollo 16.

Other people from his astronaut group have done their thing and gone on to other lives.

Alan Shepard, whose 15-minute suborbital flight started it all for NASA, made a fortune in real estate after leaving the space program.

John Glenn entered politics.

Neil Armstrong, the first man on the moon, taught engineering and advertised Chryslers on TV. In addition to his oil firm job, he sits on the board of United Technologies and works parttime for Learjet.

Young, by contrast, is a career astronaut, head of NASA's astronaut office.

"I'm going to stay with it," he says, even though it may be five more years before he gets another flight. "You never can tell. After Apollo, too, I could have said 'boy, you'll never get to fly again.'"

Young entered the astronaut business as a hotshot Navy test pilot with an aeronautical degree who set two records in "scrambling" an interceptor jet.

Although he was born in San Francisco, Young's speech is laced with Deep South touches, reflecting his growing up years in Orlando, Fla. He first flew in high school. "I only touched the controls and was scared to death," he said once, "but it sure was a lot of fun."

Young has contributed two unforgettable touches to space lore.

On Gemini 3, in March 1965, while fellow astronaut Gus Grissom was eating highly processed space food, Young reached into a pocket and pulled out a kosher corned beef sandwich. Space agency officials, who worried about contaminating delicate instruments with bits of fatty corned beef, took a dim view of the prank and reprimanded him.

Seven years later, thinking he was on a closed line to mission control, Young complained graphically that the acid in the prescribed orange juice was causing him considerable personal discomfort as he walked on the moon. The words, scatological jargon, made space lore.

After divorcing his wife of 16 years in 1972, Young married Susy Feldman, a secretary for a space contractor. She'll be at the cape for the launching as will son John, who is in the Coast Guard, and daughter Sandy, who is married and living in nearby Rockledge, Fla.

Shuttle to make space flight routine and less expensive

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — What is a space shuttle?

It is the world's first reusable space ship, designed to make flight into Earth orbit more routine and less expensive. A fleet of at least four shuttles, each capable of 100 or more roundtrips, will make up America's space transportation system for the rest of this century.

The first four bear the names Columbia, Challenger, Discovery and Atlantis.

Under development since 1972 at a cost of $9.9 billion, shuttles will be flown by both the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Defense Department. Initial launchings will be from Cape Canaveral, Fla., but starting in 1984 many of the military flights will originate at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The shuttle system, standing upright on the launch pad, consists of the 80-ton winged orbiter vehicle mounted on a huge external fuel tank and flanked by two solid rocket boosters. The solids and the orbiter's three main engines all ignite on liftoff to propel the vehicle into space. The solids are jettisoned after 2½ minutes, and the tank is kicked away just before the orbiter reaches orbit.

Four test flights of the Columbia are planned, with landings at a dry lake bed at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. After that, the orbiters will return to a runway at Cape Canaveral and eventually some of them to Vandenberg.

About September 1982, Columbia is expected to begin commercial flights, with businesses paying NASA to carry up satellites or to conduct pharmaceutical, metallurgical and other experiments.

The shuttle has a cargo bay, 60 feet long and 15 feet wide, capable of carrying 32 tons, which might include manned laboratories, satellites for injection into orbit and spacecraft for launching on interplanetary courses. Eventually, shuttles might carry up men and materials to build space stations.

More than 70 flights have been booked, about one-third for military missions, and NASA and the Defense Department anticipate more than 400 flights over the next 12 years. A typical mission will have as many as seven crew and passengers and will last four to 30 days.

Tortuous path to pad

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The space shuttle Columbia followed a long and tortuous path to the launch pad, suffering technical nightmares and the barbs of critics who called it a lot of unflattering things: Space Turkey, Aluminum Dumbo, The Spruce Goose of Outer Space.

The criticism evaporated in recent weeks when it appeared the space agency resolved Columbia's problems and was ready to send this revolutionary new machine into space.

More than two years behind schedule, it's a marvel the shuttle made it to the pad at all.

One wood carving on display is of Mary and the body of the crucified Jesus, carved on the end of a piece of stopeive. The carving was found near silver and Connemara marble from Ireland, and several Jerusalem crosses from the Holy Lands.

A copy of a page from the famous Book of Kells, an eighth-century manuscript of the Bible, will be displayed. Religious paintings, including one from Peru, and banners made by local church women will also be shown.

The exhibit is free and open to the public. Coffee, juice and doughnuts will be served from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

Chairman of the exhibit, sponsored by the United Methodist Women, is Thelma Bray.

Fund drive begins for cerebral palsy

The annual United Cerebral Palsy fund drive is now underway in Pampa and will continue through April.

Drive chairman Connie Molitor will call Pampa residents asking them to go door-to-door collecting for cerebral palsy research and other programs.

Some 750,000 Americans of all ages are disabled with this neuromotor disorder which is caused by damage to the brain, usually at birth, Mrs. Molitor said. Nervous systems are impaired and muscles function improperly, she added.

There currently is no cure for cerebral palsy, but progress in prevention has reduced the number of cerebral palsied births each year.

"Last year we collected over $2,000 in the Pampa area," said Mrs. Molitor, "and hope to exceed or even double that this year."

Any individual or group wishing to help in the fund drive may contact Mrs. Molitor at 665-5130.

Dear Abby

Celebration stalls at countdown

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were married May 10, 1956. We were divorced in 1970 and stayed divorced for a year and a half. Then we were married again in November 1972.

We have always celebrated our anniversary on May 10, but now we have a question. Should we celebrate our 25th wedding anniversary on May 10, 1981, and forget about the year and a half we weren't married? Or should we wait until all the time we spent as man and wife actually totals 25 years? This is a small town and a lot of people here know that we were apart for a year and a half. What do we say if somebody mentions it?

We'd really like to have a nice 25th anniversary celebration in May.

TWO ANNIVERSARIES, ONE MAN

DEAR TWO: Have your 25th wedding anniversary in May 1981, and if somebody mentions it, tell 'em it's "new math."

***

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 15 and have a brother who is 11. We both have our own rooms, although we might as well have only one between us. My problem started last summer when my mother put a cot in my bedroom so my brother could sleep there. The reason was to save energy by running only one air-conditioner instead of two. I didn't put up much of a fuss, although I hated not having my privacy.

It's nearly a year later, and my brother is still sleeping in my room. He uses the excuse that he has nightmares about robbers and murderers. Maybe this is true, but I think he should face this problem and sleep in his own bedroom.

I've talked to my mother about it and get nowhere. She says she can't make him sleep in his own room if he says he has nightmares.

My brother thinks because he sleeps in my room, it's his, too, and he is in it during the daytime. Now I have absolutely no privacy. Don't you think I should have a room of my own?

BROTHER TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: I'm all for conserving energy, but the nightmare excuse is a horse of a different color! Brother should sleep in his own room. Perhaps a night-light would eliminate his nightmares. If it doesn't, he should get professional help.

***

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more "other woman" story? I became the other woman when I was a girl of 19. He was 43 at the time. I worked for him (but don't say doing what). He was married and had children (but don't say how many).

I wasn't particularly sexy-looking, but I was competent, always available and had nothing else in my life but him. He was a workaholic and we spent a lot of time together, in the office and out. If there was any gossip about us, I never heard it. I was like a piece of office equipment.

I never dated anyone else, but it was no sacrifice for me. I loved him. He told me he loved me, too, and when his kids were grown he'd leave his wife and marry me. I never pressured him, and I was content to let time take care of things.

Well, time did. I am 38 now and he is 62. His wife died four months ago and yesterday he married a 27-year-old girl he had known for only six weeks!

Now I know how Jean Harris (the woman who shot that diet doctor) felt.

STILL IN SHOCK

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry Jeff in a few months, but a problem has developed.

I have three cats who are like a part of my family. Jeff hates them and is jealous of the attention I give them. Now he tells me that after we are married he doesn't want to see any cats around the place! Abby, I really do love Jeff, but I just cannot see myself parting with my cats. What should I do?

TORN IN TOLEDO

DEAR TORN: If you are honestly "torn" between Jeff and the cats, you'd be better off with the cats.

Subtle makeup, hairstyle best for work

By MARILYN POWERS
Lifestyles Editor

A subtle, clean look that does not create a distraction is the best choice for today's career woman, according to professional model Christie Higgs of Pampa.

Mrs. Higgs gave suggestions on appearance for women executives and aspiring executives who work with men in the first of a two-part seminar Wednesday at The Hollywood.

Here are her tips, taken from her own experience and from surveys of male executives.

HAIRSTYLE

A haircut from a well-known hairstylist is a good investment, along with a once-a-month trim and conditioning.

"It's really worth it, even if it costs a lot. Consider it as a piece of clothing, because it's part of your total appearance," she said.

Medium length is best, from two inches to shoulder length. Shorter hair is too masculine, and longer hair prevents the woman from gaining a look of authority, she said.

Those who wish to keep their hair long should wear it pulled back out of the way, such as in a bun.

The hair should be cut so that it stays neatly in place without requiring too much attention. In tests on male executives, very curly or kinky hair does not make a good impression.

One of the most fashionable hairstyles is the fingerwave, with more width than height to the hair, Mrs. Higgs said.

Face shape should be considered when choosing a hairstyle. As a rule, put fullness away from prominent features to balance them: use curls and fullness near receding features to play them up. Choose a style that creates an oval effect for the face.

A round face can be slimmed or lengthened with a center part, letting hair fall gracefully over cheekbones. Adding some soft fullness at the crown while keeping hair sleek at the sides can also give a slimmer look.

A reverse triangle face with a wide forehead and narrow jawline needs fullness at the chin and a minimum of fullness at the forehead. Choose a chin length hairstyle, keeping hair close to the temples by adding slight fullness at the crown.

A pear-shaped face has a prominent jawline and narrow forehead. To take attention away from the jaw, choose a shorter, off-the-neck hairstyle, keeping fullness on top of the head and around the eye level.

An oblong face, long and narrow, needs width and fullness at the sides and as little height as possible to make the face look wider and shorter. Soft bangs also help to minimize the length.

A square face with a prominent jaw and angular lines can be softened by adding a little height at the crown and slight fullness at the sides. Generally, it's best to avoid bangs.

To determine face shape, pull all hair back and trace the outline of the face on a mirror, Mrs. Higgs said.

MAKEUP

"Makeup works best in the office when men don't know you're wearing it," she said. The most important thing is to blend the makeup well, she added.

Moisturizer is needed for all skin types because of the drying effect of heating and air conditioning.

CHEEKS — Blusher should look natural and well-blended. Current makeup trends include blushers in natural shades.

To put on blusher, find the top of the cheekbone and then the hollow under it. Stay above the hollow and above the tip of the nose.

Use powder blush on the chin and at the hairline across the top of the forehead to shorten a long face. Blush applied at the hairline on the sides of the face, at the temples, will widen a narrow face.

EYES — Eyeshadow is "not really recommended" for the office, Mrs. Higgs said, but if eyeshadow is worn, it should be applied only to the crease of the eyelid.

No highlighter should be worn in the office. Earth tones are among the fashionable eyeshadow shades and are the best choice for office wear.

Mascara should be runless and smudge-proof. False eyelashes and fingernails have no place in the office, Mrs. Higgs said.

Light-colored eyebrows should be darkened to give more of a look of authority. Eyebrows should be natural-looking, not drawn on or plucked too much. Eyebrow pencil should be used only as a filler.

To find where the eyebrow should start, hold a pencil vertically against the side of the nose. The arch should be in a vertical line with the outside edge of the iris.

The eyebrow should end at a diagonal line running from the tip of the nose. This line lies just outside the outer corner of the eye.

The right type of eyeglasses add to a look of authority. Ideally, frames should be tortoiseshell or brown shades, and should blend well with the wearer's coloring. Wire and pastel colored frames are not recommended for career women, and lenses should not be too large.

The theory that women who wear glasses should wear heavier eye makeup is not true, Mrs. Higgs added.

LIPS — Choose a lipstick color that blends well with other makeup and with clothing. Colors should be light, not bright or dark.

Lips should not be outlined. This brings out the lip line too much and is a distraction, Mrs. Higgs said.

NAILS — Nail polish, like other makeup shades worn in the office, should be light and compatible with other makeup and clothing. Colorless, neutral and pale shades, which are all part of the current fashion look, are best.

Light nail colors also have the advantage of making chips in the polish less noticeable than darker or brighter shades.

"YOU NEVER get a second chance to make a good impression," Mrs. Higgs said. (Staff Photo by Skyler Chapman)

Blind pianist creates Braille piano system

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP) — A concert pianist who lost his sight when he was 7 has developed a way for the blind to learn to play the piano using Braille.

Edwin Kowalik, a renowned recording artist, says a blind person can learn piano by feeling Braille with the left hand while playing the piano with the right.

"Then the process is reversed," he said. A student memorizes the music for each hand, and then puts the two hands together.

After a recent concert here, the resident of Warsaw, Poland, said he had first learned music from a blind teacher simply by memory.

Later he learned music from the limited classical music available in Braille at the time — mainly Bach and Beethoven. He has worked for 15 years to develop a universal system, combining the European, Anglo-Saxon and American systems.

His career was interrupted by the Nazi invasion of Poland, and again in 1957 when he lost his memory in a car accident and had to relearn his music.

Speaking through an interpreter, Kowalik explained his devotion to his career. "I have a lot of energy. It's something I feel within. It's definitely my fate in life — the road I'm to choose."

Kowalik, 52, lost his sight as a result of a fall when he was 7. He knew he was destined for a career in music when he first touched a piano. He first performed at the age of 10 at Warsaw radio station.

He graduated with honors from the Lodz State Conservatory, and went on to win prizes at the International Competition in Bucharest, Rumania, and later at the Fifth International Piano Competition in Rio de Janeiro.

Book records Depression-day cookery

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Texas (AP) — Few modern cooks would return to the days of backyard hog-killings, wringing chicken necks or rendering lard.

But for the curious and those who remember such once-routine, rural activities of the Depression, author Louise Blackwell Dillow has recorded them for posterity.

Her "Mrs. Blackwell's Heart of Texas Cookbook" recalls days of growing up on a farm near Corsicana when the only store-bought things were flour, salt, sugar, coffee and tea.

"My whole memory of my mother is her preparing food. She did that all day long," said the retired child welfare worker who was born fifth of nine children.

Published by Corona Publishing Co. of San Antonio, the book's first printing of 6,000 copies is being marketed only in Texas.

The project started strictly as a way to preserve family recipes.

Once on a trip home to Corsicana, Mrs. Dillow drove around to see the numerous homes she had lived in when her father was a tenant farmer. Hardly anything remained.

She and her sisters began reminiscing about their mother's well-spread table and soon regretted that few family recipes were written down.

She took it from there.

collaborating with an older sister, Deenie B. Carver, on the cookbook which combines anecdotes of growing up with recipes from a country kitchen.

"I don't expect people to try everything," Mrs. Dillow said during an interview on her beachfront condominium.

"Lye soap is one of the good ol' days' products that I've never had a hankering to go back to," she writes.

In a section on chicken, she adds, "The gizzard was a coveted piece of chicken in the Blackwell family until someone told us that eating gizzards would make a girl's breasts grow bigger."

The Blackwell family boasted seven girls and two boys.

Mrs. Dillow went off to Mary Hardin Baylor College in Belton for a bachelor's degree, attended the University of Chicago and earned a master's degree from Howard University in Washington.

She worked in child welfare departments across Texas, married and reared three children in the Washington, D.C., area where her husband worked for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

They retired to this South Texas resort where he died less than a year ago.

She said she had to leave the cotton fields of North Central Texas to appreciate her childhood but she does not paint a rosy picture of the Depression.

"We knew we were poor and we didn't like it. My parents were always wanting to do better for us. We came out all right in spite of it, not because of it," she said.

Meals were cooked on a wood-burning stove and there was no electricity.

"If it got too hot in the summer, we'd get in the Model T, if we could afford the gas, and take a drive to let the breeze cool us," she remembered.

Beef could not be stored long and the family would eat steaks.

"Can you imagine," she said.

Chicken was reserved for Sunday dinner. Pork was the second-favorite meat, often consumed with red-eye gravy.

Other regular fare at the eight-foot-long table were fresh vegetables from the family garden, potatoes, rolls, cornbread, pies, cakes and cobblers.

Her favorite recipes remain beet pickles, Sunday chicken and coconut cake.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

April 11, 1981

This coming year you should avoid giving up something good which you have going for you on a gamble for what you think is better. You will come out better in the long run by building upon what you already have.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is not a good day to have too many irons in the fire. It could cause you to go off on unproductive tangents. Do less, but do everything well. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be on guard against a tendency today to worry too much about things which may never happen. Negative thinking will sap your vitality and success drive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It may seem like everything you want to do today will cost you more money than you wish to spend. If so, seek less expensive diversions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to maintain a middle-of-the-road policy today if you find yourself caught between two opposing factions. Don't be the scapegoat for whom each may be looking.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Frustrations or problems you may have to contend with today are likely to be of your own making. They'll be precipitated either by neglect or poor planning.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be realistic today regarding your expectations. You'll be severely disappointed if you think others will do more for you than you would for them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Persons you may have to deal with today will be as anxious to satisfy their ambitions as you will yours. A failure to compromise spells problems.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The principal thing to keep in mind with coworkers today is getting the job done properly, not whose ideas or methods should get the credit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even though your intentions may be good today, don't try to manipulate or control friends. They might misunderstand your motives and it could cause bad feelings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Those with whom you associate today may lose respect for you if you try to be all things to all people. Your best course of action is to be sincere and be yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you fail to be helpful where you know you could be, even though the potential beneficiary may never have done anything for you, you might end up with a guilty conscience.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be on your best behavior if you're socializing today with any individual who contributes to your security or income. A responsible image is a "must."

BY MARY ANN COOPER

"Search for Tomorrow" fans will be in for some interesting storyline twists during the next few months now that Harding Lemay has taken over as head writer on the serial. Mention the name Harding Lemay among soap opera stars, writers, producers or directors and one hears only the most glowing compliments about this man, one of 13 children from a family who has become an accomplished publisher, novelist, and playwright.

Yet, Lemay admits that he suppressed his urge to write for many years before actively pursuing this dream. "I always wanted to be a writer," admits Lemay, "but I thought I wasn't bright enough." Lacking an advanced formal education also inhibited his ambition.

Once he overcame these stumbling blocks, Lemay achieved instant success as a soap opera writer and worked on Another World for eight years. He left a special mark on the serial and during his tenure "Another World" enjoyed unparalleled popularity among daytime dramas. Rather than resemble a typical melodrama, Another World concentrated on interpersonal relationships and the conflicts that grew out of them.

Now two years since he left Another World, Lemay is not sure what major changes he will bring to "Search for Tomorrow." He intends to "strengthen and interweave characters so that the major storylines are closer to each other."

Up to this point "Search" has featured three separate plots that do not overlap or intermingle with each other. Lemay hopes to link these plots through the use of common characters. Lemay also speculates that the characters of Travis and Liza will dominate more of the main storylines. He also suggested that more emphasis will be placed on younger characters.

Lemay admits that his inspiration for storylines and scenes often come from viewing how his actors perform his works. "I've worked with actors all my life and I have enormous respect for them," says Lemay. "Often they give me good ideas from watching them perform."

One of the good ideas that Harding Lemay may have gotten from his work on "Another World" has been put into book form. Lemay has just had a new book published which takes readers behind the scenes of daytime television. The book, "Eight Years in Another World" is being published by Atheneum and has already received an advance rave from Publisher's Weekly.

Now a look at what's been happening and what will happen on all the afternoon

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS -- Julia worries about Michael's silence but thinks he's changed his mind about her. Greg can't stay out of Nikki's life.

THE GUIDING LIGHT -- Mike comforts Hope but she is inconsolable. Ross slips away from Vanessa and Amanda fights with Ben.

AS THE WORLD TURNS -- John's eyesight is not the only thing that he has lost. Annie and Dee have a strained moment together. Lyla expresses her bitterness over John.

SEARCH FOR TOMORROW -- Liza is distraught over Sissy's threats but Travis tells her not to worry. Ted is getting taken in by Jamie again. Wendy is losing her patience.

Tascosa boys favored to win district tennis title

Tascosa boys are the clear-cut favorite to win the District 5A Tennis Tournament which starts today at the Pampa high tennis courts.

Frank Guengerich is favored to win the singles title while Taylor Fyfe and Tim Brosier are seeded second in the doubles division for the Rebels.

Pampa, which won the Snyder Tournament and finished second in the Berger Tournament, are led by third-seeded Mark Spence. Mike Spence and Mark Elliott. The Harvesters, on one time, had won 14 of 16 matches.

In girls' play, Tascosa and Amarillo are expected to battle right down to the wire for the team championship.

The semi-finals are expected to be completed today with the finals slated for tomorrow.

The finalists in each division (boys' and girls' doubles and singles) qualify for the regional meet scheduled for next weekend in Lubbock.

A junior varsity division scheduled to be played at the Pampa Country Club also starts today.

Amarillo hosts El Paso

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Texas League begins its 1981 season Friday with games in four cities.

The defending league champions, the Arkansas Travelers, play Shreveport, La., in Little Rock, while El Paso is at Amarillo. San Antonio goes to Midland, and Tulsa plays Jackson, Miss., in the two other games Friday.

The first half of the season ends June 20 and the league All-Star game is July 22 at Tulsa. The second half of the season includes Sept. 2.

Inter-divisional playoffs start Sept. 4. The winners advance to the championship series.

El Paso, Amarillo, Midland and San Antonio comprise the league's West Division, while Shreveport, Arkansas, Tulsa and Jackson are in the East Division.

DECIDES TO STAY. Ricky Palmer, Pampa High defensive line coach, will remain with the Harvesters rather than take a coaching position at Athens, Texas. "I'm happy that he's staying with us," Pampa head coach Larry Gilbert said. "Basically, Athens didn't offer what each Palmer wanted and he felt he owed some loyalty to Pampa." Gary Lehnen, who was hired to replace Palmer, will be the receiver coach. Gilbert said Palmer, a standout player at the University of Southern Mississippi, will also coach the kicking unit. The other addition to the Harvesters coaching staff is Bill Butler, who will coach the offensive ends.

Aggies, TCU sign promising cagers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Aggies and Texas Christian Horned Hogs each signed promising basketball players to national letters of intent Thursday.

The Aggies signed 6-8 Daniel Bluntson and 6-6 guard "Sonny" Burton, who led Blinn Junior College to a 26-6 record and a spot in the finals of the National Junior Collegiate Athletic Association regional tournament in New Orleans.

Bluntson averaged 21 points and 10 rebounds per game while Burton will bring a 16 point scoring average and 7 rebounds per game to Coach Shelby Metcalf.

Bluntson went to high school at Rice Consolidated and Burton attended Waelder High School.

The Horned Frogs signed highly regarded 6-5 forward Willie Ashley of Fort Worth Dunbar, who averaged 16 points and 14 rebounds per game. He was the Tarrant County Player of the Year.

TCU also signed Joe Stephen, a 6-4 guard from Cerritos (Calif.) Junior College. Stephen averaged 14.8 points per game in a play-making role.

Pampa opens district play with Tascosa

Pampa High baseball coach Gary Haynes likes the way the schedule is arranged going into District 3-5A play.

The Harvesters meet Amarillo City Tournament champion Tascosa and pre-season favorite Amarillo High in the first three games of the district season.

"They're the toughest teams and luckily we've got them both at home," Haynes said. "That should be good for us."

Pampa hosts Tascosa at 1 p.m. Saturday in a twinbill with Andy Richardson (2-1) and Scott John (0-0) scheduled to start on the mound for the Harvesters.

"There may be others that will pitch," Haynes added. "I just don't know yet. I'll do whatever it takes to win."

Haynes said Tascosa has an explosive team with good pitching.

"They've been scoring 9 to 10 runs a game consistently and their pitching staff hasn't allowed very many runs," Haynes added. "I look for a couple of good ballgames with both going right down to the final inning."

Pampa is 4-4 after losing to Dumas,

4-3, Tuesday. Tascosa opened its season by blanking Dumas, 3-0.

"We've both played about the same common foes and the scores have been just about the same," Haynes added. "That's why I look for both games to be pretty close."

"Our practice has been pretty much routine this week," Haynes said. "We've worked quite a bit on our hitting and bunting. We're going to continue to run the bases hard and just play good hard baseball."

Pampa hosts AHS at 4 p.m. Tuesday in a single game.

National League baseball roundup

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

In their 24 years in Los Angeles, the Dodgers never had started a rookie pitcher on opening day — until, that is, a chubby 20-year-old named Fernando Valenzuela strode to the mound.

Valenzuela, a left-hander from Sonora, Mexico, still hasn't learned to speak English, but he had no trouble understanding Houston's batters. He tossed a five-hit shutout and led Dodgers to a 2-0 victory Thursday over the Astros, last season's nemesis.

Valenzuela, the youngest player in the major leagues, was pressed into service when Jerry Reuss pulled a muscle in his calf on Wednesday. He now has pitched 262-3 major league innings without yielding an earned run since being called up by the Dodgers last Sept. 10.

"He pitched like a man with 10 years' experience," said former Dodgers pitcher Don Sutton, now with the Astros.

Valenzuela said through an interpreter that he didn't expect to extend his string of scoreless innings much farther. "I'm not superman," he said. He did add later, though, that he felt no trepidation in filling the historic role.

"When I go to the mound, I don't know what it is to be afraid," Valenzuela said.

In Thursday's other NL openers, Montreal edged Pittsburgh 6-5, the New York Mets blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0 and San Diego whipped San Francisco 4-1.

Joe Niekro, who pitched Houston to a 7-1 victory over Los Angeles in a one-game playoff for the National League West title last season, was the victim this time. Niekro worked seven innings, yielding a run in the fourth on Ron Cey's sacrifice fly and another in the sixth on a double by Pedro Guerrero, who also had two singles.

Valenzuela struck out five Astros and walked two, using a wicked screwball that left Houston's right-handed hitters gawking.

"He would throw that screwball on a 3-2 pitch, and that is unusual," said Astros center fielder Cesar Cedeno. "But we will come to expect it."

A crowd of 50,511 pleasantly surprised spectators packed Dodger Stadium and cheered Valenzuela all the way. "It's nice to have a big cheer going for you," the pitcher said.

Expos 6, Pirates 5

Gary Carter's run-scoring single off Pirates reliever Kent Tekulke snapped a 5-5 tie in the top of the ninth and boosted Montreal over Pittsburgh before 40,332 Pirates fans. Andre Dawson led off the Montreal ninth with a single off Tekulke and stole second. He went to third on a groundout by Ellis Valentine and scored when Carter lashed a single up the middle.

Montreal tied it in the eighth on a pinch single by Jerry White.

Woody Fryman, 40-year-old Expos reliever, held the Pirates hitless over the final two innings for the victory. Montreal starter Steve Rogers yielded four runs in the first, capped by Bill Madlock's two-run double, and gave up all five Pirates runs in five innings' work.

Mets 2, Cubs 0

Lee Mazzilli and Rusty Staub each homered, and Pat Zachry combined with two New York relievers to shut out Chicago on seven hits.

Zachry checked Chicago on six hits through 52-3 innings. Tom Hausman got the final out of the sixth, and Neil Allen got the save with three innings of relief. The only hit off Allen was a ninth-inning double by Ken Reitz, his second of the game to go along with a triple.

Mazzilli's homer led off the fourth, and after Dave Kingman struck out, Staub homered in the same inning. Kingman, acquired from Chicago during the offseason, went 0-for-3.

Padres 4, Giants 1

Juan Bonilla drove in one run with a bases-loaded single, and Gene Richards added a two-run hit in the 12th inning as San Diego made Frank Howard a winner in his debut as a major league manager.

Frank Robinson, meanwhile, got off on a losing note in his first game as manager of the Giants before 55,420 spectators at Candlestick Park.

Giants reliever Al Holland loaded the bases in the 12th on a single by Luis Salazar and two walks. Bonilla's opposite-field single to right snapped a 1-1 tie, and Richards' bloop single to left drove in the final two San Diego runs.

Pampa hosts girls district track meet

Pampa girls face an uphill struggle in the District 3-5A track meet, starting at 10 a.m. Saturday at Randy Matson Field.

"It's going to be tough for us, no doubt about it," says Pampa coach Wendell Palmer. "The best thing about our team is that most of them will be back next year."

Palmer rates Tascosa and Amarillo High as a toss-up to win the district championship.

"Tascosa has some outstanding sprinters and so does Amarillo High," added Palmer.

Pampa's 440-meter relay team of Tina Greenway, Leslie Albus, Joan Burns and Teresa Jernigan, stands the best chance of winning a medal.

"I feel our 400-relay team can run with them, but I don't if they can beat them," Palmer said. "To win we're going to have to run our fastest time of the year."

Palmer's main problem as it has been all season is depth. The Lady Harvesters won't have anyone entered in the 3200 run, hurdles or quarter.

"We're trying to spread everyone out as much as possible since an individual can't compete in more than three events," Palmer added. "We've had problems getting our relay teams together this week. We've got six sprinters and there's not much difference in four of them."

Competing for Pampa in the various events are Sandy Jones and Carrie Golden, 800; Greenway, Jernigan and Anita Brown, 100; Albus and Jernigan, 200; Greenway, Burns, Rebecca Gunther, and Albus, 800-relay; Sandy Jones, Golden, Gunther, and Shelly Duenkel, mile-relay; Whitney Kidwell and Jessica Marcum, shot put; Greenway, Gunther and Teresa George, long jump and triple jump; Luann Murdock, Kidwell and Marcum, discus; Duenkel and George, high jump.

The finals start at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Alfalfa Cube Feeding Recommendations for Horses

Horses (Light Use)—1 lb. of alfalfa cubes per 100 lbs. of body weight. (Example: a 1,000 lb. horse would use 10 lbs. of cubes per day). These horses would not need any other hay or grain.

Working Horses and Lactating Mares—1½ lbs. of alfalfa cubes per 100 lbs. of body weight per head per day and whatever amount of grain the owner feels necessary.

Many horse nutritionists recommend alfalfa as the only source of hay for horses. Alfalfa, in many instances, meets all the daily nutrient requirements of horses, except mineral, depending on their activity. Shattuck Farms Alfalfa Cubes provide high quality alfalfa for your horses that is easy and convenient to feed. (Write or call Shattuck Farms for plans for cube feeders). The alfalfa cubes are easy for horses to eat, require less labor, and eliminate waste, resulting in savings of 15-20% over baled hay. You can see each bite of hay your horse will eat as you pour out the cubes.

Yankees rout Rangers in opener

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a baseball fairy tale acted out in front of 55,123 fans — the largest opening day crowd in the 58-year history of Yankee Stadium — and Bobby Murcer turned out to be Cinderella.

Hanging onto his roster spot by the narrowest of threads, Murcer responded to a standing ovation from the record stadium crowd Thursday by walloping a pinch-hit, grand slam homer in the New York Yankees 10-3 rout of the Texas Rangers.

The fans are aware of Murcer's shaky status with the club. He will be 35 next month and there are a glut of outfielders already on the roster. So, they saluted the veteran with a roar for old times sake when he came up to bat in the seventh.

"The anticipation started when I got to the batting circle," Murcer said. "They cared that I was here. I didn't expect that. It was pretty hair-raising. It sent some chills through my body."

The count went to 3-2 — just like in the fairy tales — and Murcer connected for the sixth grand slam of his career and fourth as a Yankee. The roar of the fans was a factor, he said.

"Fan reaction plays a big part for a player. I think. It built me up a little extra. When you have their support you give it that little extra. It really got me going. It showed me the people are behind me all the way. It was very gratifying at this time."

In other American League openers, Oakland downed Minnesota 5-1, Detroit walloped Toronto 6-2 and California downed Seattle 6-2.

Murcer has been on the trading block all spring, but the Yankees have had no takers. With Reggie Jackson on the disabled list, there still was roster room for him, but whether there will be space when Jackson returns a week from today is questionable. Manager Gene Michael wouldn't say whether the slam saved Murcer's job, but it certainly didn't hurt his chances.

Until Murcer connected, the Yankees were hanging onto a 5-3 lead, built on a three-run homer by Bucky Dent and a two-run double by Rick Cerone. Don Zimmer, new manager of the Rangers, remembered another three-run shot by Dent — the one that beat Zimmer and the Boston Red Sox in the 1978 pennant playoff.

"Tell Bucky Dent I've got to eat too," said Zimmer. "He keeps beating me with three-run homers. I'll go to Japan, and he'll probably hit a three-run homer off me there, too."

A's 5, Twins 1
Mike Norris, ace of the Oakland staff, tossed a six-hitter to get the A's season off to a winning start before another record opening-day crowd, 42,658 at Metropolitan Stadium in Bloomington, Minn.

Norris, who posted a 22-9 record last year, no-hit the Twins until Mickey Hatcher beat out an infield single in the fifth inning. Norris walked four and struck out three.

Tigers 6, Blue Jays 2
Richie Hebner's three-run homer off reliever Mike Willis snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh inning and powered Detroit over Toronto. Lou Whitaker led off the rally with a double off Joey McLaughlin, and Willis walked Steve Kemp to set the table for Hebner.

Jack Morris tossed a five-hitter, walking five and striking out three. Toronto led 1-0 and 2-1, but Detroit tied it up for the final time in the eighth on a triple by Al Cowens and Mick Kelleher's sacrifice fly. Opening day drew 51,452 spectators at Tiger Stadium.

Angels 6, Mariners 2
Brian Downing hit a grand slam homer in the first inning, and Dan Ford homered in the eighth to pace California to an easy victory over Seattle.

Geoff Zahn pitched seven innings for the Angels, giving up four hits, including Jeff Burroughs' two-run homer.

Four deadlocked for Masters lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Johnny Miller parlayed an 11th-hole gamble and a new, relaxed attitude into a share of the first-round Masters golf lead.

"I changed my putting grip overnight. I'm crazy to do that right before this tournament," said Miller, trying to regain the talent that once made him the world's foremost player.

His 3-under-par 69 in the baffling winds of Augusta National Golf Club Thursday tied Miller with Australian Greg Norman, Lon Hinkle and Curtis Strange.

"For some reason, I wasn't nervous. Playing with Fuzzy Zoeller helped. He's a nice, easy-going fellow. I usually get antsy at Augusta."

Miller's fresh approach reaped dividends — his best ever first Masters round by two shots.

Seventeen players in the select, international field of 82 broke Augusta National's par of 72 despite severe pin placements, soft fairways and the unpredictable wind.

Three shots separated 27 challengers. Some of the sport's most feared golfers — Jack Nicklaus, Tom Watson, Hubert Green and Bruce Lietzke — were lurking behind the leaders.

Nicklaus was in a logjam at 70 with Jim Simons, Japan's Isao Aoki, David Graham, John Cook, low amateur Jim Holtgrieve and Green.

Another shot back at 71 came Watson, joined by Ben Crenshaw, Jerry Pate, Gibby Gilbert, Don Pooley and Peter Jacobsen.

Lietzke, a two-time winner earlier this year, was among 10 players at 72.

South African Gary Player, seeking a fourth Masters championship, was another shot back at 73.

The warm, partly sunny day, however, was cruel to defending champion Seve Ballesteros, leading 1981 money-winner Ray Floyd, Lee Trevino, Sam Snead and Keith Fergus.

Trevino, needing a Masters victory to join four others with titles in all four majors, took a 77. So did Snead, the 68-year-old wonder from another era. Floyd settled for a 75, but the most disappointed likely would be Fergus.

He went from 3 under to 4 over at 17, assessed six penalty shots for lifting his ball twice from the white-lined gallery fairway crossways.

Hinkle, 33, reached both par 5's on the front side in two, two-putting each for birds.

Strange's aggressive approach on the greens of these flowered, 6,905 yards led to just 11 putts on the frontside.

Nicklaus called his 70 his best round ever, that from a man who has won the Masters an unprecedented five times.

Watson, the winner of 20 tournaments the last four years, but none in 1981, said his round easily could have been up to three shots lower.

The field will be trimmed to the low 44 golfers and ties or anyone within 10 shots of the lead after today's second round. Portions of the last two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be carried by CBS-TV.

Houston blanked by Dogers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In dire straits for a relief pitcher, the Los Angeles Dodgers on last Sept. 10 called up a portly teen-ager from their San Antonio farm club.

In dire straits for a starter in their 1981 major league opener Thursday, the Dodgers called on the same portly left-hander, now 20 and the youngest player on major league rosters, to pitch against Houston's Astros, the team that beat the Dodgers in a divisional championship playoff game last year.

Fernando Valenzuela, the kid from Navajoa, Sonora, Mexico, who doesn't speak English, shut down the Astros on five hits, 2-0, used his screwball effectively at least half of the time, and fooled his foes. In 10 relief appearances last year and this single start, he hasn't given up an earned run in 262.3 innings.

Although Valenzuela hasn't been scored upon in the major leagues, he readily admits it won't continue forever because "I'm not Superman."

He beat the ace of the Astros, Joe Niekro, as Steve Garvey scored both of Los Angeles' runs against the team that won the division with a 7-1 playoff victory last fall.

Don Sutton, who holds most of the Dodgers' pitching records but went to the Astros as a free agent this year and starts tonight, commented: "He pitched an outstanding performance against us. I doubt we'll see two or three like it all year — at least I hope we won't. He pitched like a man with 10 year's experience."

The Dodgers nicked Niekro for a run in the fourth when Garvey tripled and Ron Cey hit a sacrifice fly. In the sixth Garvey singled and Pete Guerrero, another newcomer to the Dodgers' lineup, doubled him home.

The Dodgers probably will go with Burt Hooton Saturday night since Jerry Reuss still is bothered by a pulled muscle in the calf of his right leg.

News in brief

CHICAGO (AP) — While there's little solid information on the effect of intense light on the eyes of newborn infants, it's best to be careful and keep flashbulbs as far away as possible, a doctor says.

Dr. Morris Waxler of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration warns in this week's Journal of the American Medical Association that there is a chance standard flashbulbs and electronic flash units could cause damage to retinas when they pop too close to newborns.

He says proud parents should filter flash units, bounce the light off ceilings or walls or diffuse the flash with commercially available screens.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana's state police department, found by a federal judge in 1976 to have engaged in racial discrimination, has been slapped with a new federal suit filed on behalf of 81 black troopers.

The suit, filed Wednesday, charges Superintendent John Shettle, Gov. Robert Orr and the State Police Board with discrimination in hiring, promotion and evaluation. Shettle denied the allegations, and Orr had no comment.

The suit asked the judge who handed down the 1976 ruling to expand his ruling with a prohibition against alleged sexual discrimination and to order immediate promotions and back pay for black troopers.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The presence of TV news crews may have discouraged potential customers from approaching undercover officers posing as prostitutes during a police crackdown, but officers say that was fine with them.

"The idea is to reduce the prostitution and crime associated with it and television and camera crews reduce the problem," Lt. Dan Cooke said Thursday after police arrested 27 men at a Hollywood street corner in a well-publicized six-hour prostitution crackdown.

On Tuesday, police recorded the largest number of arrests ever in one night with the arrests of 71 prostitutes. Vice Squad Sgt. Bob Rehban said the action was needed to reduce harassment of female residents by men seeking sex.

DALLAS (AP) — Commerce Southwest Inc. Thursday reported net income of $2.9 million for the first quarter of 1981.

The figure, which amounts to 24 cents a share, compares with $847,000, or 12 cents a share, for the first quarter of 1980.

Commerce Southwest is a six-member bank holding company.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Texas American Bancshares Inc. Thursday reported income before securities transactions of $8.8 million for the first quarter of 1981.

The figure translates to $1.40 per share, up from $1.09 for the first quarter of 1980.

The holding company has 12 member banks.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — First United Bancorporation Inc. Thursday reported income before securities transactions of $5.3 million for the first quarter of 1981.

On a per share basis, the figure represents $1.55, compared with $1.19 for the same quarter a year ago.

The company has 14 member banks.

DALLAS (AP) — Southwest Airlines announced Thursday that it has filed a registration statement relating to the proposed public offering of 750,000 shares of common stock.

The offering would increase Southwest's outstanding common stock from 7.5 million shares to 8.3 million shares.

Net proceeds from the offering would be used to reduce the company's bank indebtedness and to acquire six new Boeing jetliners that will be delivered later this year.

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Nearly 17 months after a mob of 10,000 rioting Pakistanis ransacked and burned the U.S. Embassy in Islamabad, Pakistan's military government has pledged $13.6 million to rebuild it.

The embassy was attacked on Nov. 21, 1979 by a mob of Muslim fanatics enraged by rumors that Americans were responsible for the takeover of Islam's holiest shrine, the Grand Mosque in Mecca, Saudi Arabia. The mosque actually was seized by Muslim militants opposed to the Saudi monarchy.

A brief government statement Thursday pledged funds to reconstruct the embassy, but made no mention of compensation to the families of two American and two Pakistani embassy staffers killed in the attack.
