

Dimmit County probe yields indictments

CARRIZO SPRINGS, Texas (AP) — Two additional counts of official misconduct have been added to those already lodged against the Dimmit County attorney by a grand jury looking into alleged financial improprieties in county government.

The panel, which charged County Attorney Pablo Bustamante with two counts of official misconduct on Wednesday, returned additional indictments late Thursday afternoon against Bustamante and County Commissioner Elifonso Esquivel.

The indictments came in connection with a six-week-long inquiry spearheaded by special prosecutor Jerry Carruth into allegations of corruption in county government.

The grand jury recessed Thursday afternoon, but investigators said more indictments could be forthcoming when the panel reconvenes next Wednesday.

Esquivel was accused of three counts of official misconduct in indictments Thursday that alleged he misused gasoline credit cards supplied by the county.

The new indictments added two counts against Bustamante, alleging the county attorney diverted $1,000 in county funds to his personal use and that he used $636.48 in county money to pay health insurance premiums for employees of an electronics firm he directs.

Neither Bustamante nor Esquivel were available for comment Thursday.

The panel indicted Bustamante on two counts of official misconduct Wednesday, charging he illegally paid $1,000 in county funds to New Aztlan Consolidated Electronics Inc., a corporation he controls, and that he paid another $1,000 in county money to a local funeral home for burying a relative of his wife.

Texas Rangers Rudy Rodriguez and Stan Guffey were assigned at mid-May to begin an investigation into alleged improprieties in Dimmit County.

Texas Ranger Captain Jack Dean of San Antonio said Wednesday night that all 12 grand jurors signed a note requesting "continued assistance of the Texas Rangers and the Attorney General of Texas in the investigation now pending before the grand jury."

"It means we're just getting started here in Dimmit County," Dean said.

The indictments against Bustamante are third degree felonies punishable on conviction by two to 10 years in prison and/or fines up to $5,000 for each offense.

Redfish deaths investigation continuing

ROCKPORT, Texas (AP) — Marine scientists say bacteria or parasites are prime suspects in the mysterious and massive deaths of mature redfish along the South Texas coast.

"On looking at the water in the Gulf, we've discounted any chemical pollution. There's no man-made pollutant involved," Roy Spears, state marine chemist, said Thursday.

Spears, who works at the state marine laboratory here, said the brunt of the fish kill appears over. He and others estimated 3,000 redfish measuring 35 to 46 inches and weighing between 30 to 50 pounds washed ashore beginning Monday between Port Aransas and Port Isabel.

A flight between Port Aransas and Brownsville showed a dead redfish about every 300 feet, said Dr. Pat Parker of the University of Texas Marine Science Institute in Port Aransas.

Tom Heffernan, director of the coastal fisheries division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said autopsies will be made of some dead fish.

Dr. Donald Lewis, an expert on fish diseases at Texas A&M University, will study the fish.

Spears said he was investigating whether plankton blooms, which sometimes secrete toxic chemicals, killed the fish.

"But we're not leaning too heavily on that because there was no discoloration in the water and no odor," he said. The plankton studies will be completed Friday.

He said Lewis would try to isolate a bacteria or parasite from the fish, grow it in cultures and then inject it into live redfish to see if it kills them.

The culture research will take two to three weeks, Spears said.

Scott Holt, a researcher at the Port Aransas lab, netted live redfish in the Gulf on Thursday to try to get specimens in the process of dying from the affliction.

Redfish spawn in the surf at five years of age. The young fish drift into inland bays and remain there three to four years before returning to the ocean. Scientists say they are puzzled over why so many mature redfish would be in shallow Gulf waters in the summer since they spawn in the fall.

Lewis said he knew of no disease restricted to redfish but said parasites sometimes are selective about which hosts to infest.

Redfish is a favorite of sportsmen and its reported declining population led legislators to make it off limits to commercial fishermen beginning Sept. 1.

Bell has numerous rate opponents

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Lawyers from cities, water authorities and airlines have signed on to fight Southwestern Bell's request for $469.8 million in rate hikes.

It took about 90 minutes Thursday for Public Utility Commission Hearing Examiner Carolyn Shellman to sort out the intervenors who sat shoulder-to-shoulder at the hearing room table.

Ms. Shellman, who presided over the prehearing, is one of two hearing examiners assigned to hear the rate case, which begins Aug. 24.

It took almost two months last year to hear all the testimony in Bell's previous rate hike request, which resulted in no increases for residential customers. Bell now wants to raise residential rates for most Texans by $5.45 a month.

Seventeen parties asked to join the case as intervenors, but Ms. Shellman turned down requests from a private citizen and General Telephone.

Lawyer Ward Wueste of GTE said his company wanted to contest the formula used to determine how much GTE gets on long distance calls that involve GTE and Bell phones.

Several lawyers — including PUC staff lawyers — said it was too complicated, Ms. Shellman agreed.

Rich Fayh, attorney for American Airlines, said the Dallas-Fort Worth-based airline, decided to intervene because the company has the same complaint offered by many Texans.

"We are concerned about the amount of rate increase we've been subjected to in the past two years," he said.

MCI and U.S. Telephone, competitors in the long distance field, also were granted the right to take part in the hearing.

Bell does not want higher long distance rates. Company officials say the rate hike is aimed at making local service come closer to paying

Houston has 5 of top 20 air pollutants

HOUSTON (AP) — Five firms in the Houston area are among the nation's top 20 emitters of pollutants suspected of being health hazards, the newly formed Houston Clean Air Coalition says.

The group cited a recent study for the Environmental Protection Agency which listed Freeport's Dow Chemical Co. as the leader on the list.

The study, which is still in progress, puts into the air 4,438,760 pounds of 14 of 35 chemicals which the EPA is considering regulating.

None of the selected chemicals now regulated by the EPA.

Other Houston area firms and their position on the list include: the Shell complex at Deer Park, 8th; Mobay Chemical Co. at Baytown, 10th; the Clear Lake plant of Celanese, 12th; and the Amoco refinery and chemical plant at Texas City, 14th.

A Celanese plant at Bishop, near Corpus Christi, ranked third on the list.

Bouncer clings to sunroof, saves abducted woman

HOUSTON (AP) — The memory of assaults on two women who were close to him spurred bouncer James Dickson to leap atop a moving car Thursday and subdue a knife-wielding man abducting an 18-year-old cashier.

"You don't forget those things," the 6-foot-2-inch, 200-pound Dickson said.

His heroism prompted Kim Carnes, the woman he saved, to nickname him "Superman III."

Samuel Lee West, 28, was charged with aggravated assault and burglary of a motor vehicle with intent to commit rape after the early morning incident. Bond was set at $20,000.

Ms. Carnes said she was getting into her car after buying ice cream when the incident occurred.

"I thought it was one of my friends kidding when I felt the hands around my neck," she said. "Then I saw his face."

The man forced his way into the car with her and began to drive away. Ms. Carnes said she said she started to cry.

Dickson, who had been in the store buying steaks, heard Ms. Carnes and raced to the driver's side of the car on his motorcycle.

"I asked him (the abductor) if everything was OK and he said, 'Yeah,'" Dickson said. "I looked at her and read her lips saying, 'No help me' as the car started moving forward."

Dickson raced after the car and pulled himself on top of it by grabbing an opening left when Ms. Carnes' sun roof blew away on the freeway recently.

"I put my hand on his throat and pushed him away from the wheel," Dickson said. "He shoved his foot on the brake and stopped the car" which had rolled into a ditch.

Dickson and three other men wrestled the man to the ground and held him until police arrived.

Burglary haul estimated at $1.88 million

LONDON (AP) — Masked raiders invaded London's prestigious Cartier's jewelry store after hours Thursday night, sprayed ammonia in the faces of two security guards and got away with as much as $1.88 million worth of gems, Scotland Yard said today.

"They escaped and we are still trying to establish how they got in," a Scotland Yard spokesman told The Associated Press.

He said the raiders, who might have been armed, broke into the exclusive New Bond Street store in London's Mayfair district at 9:30 p.m., setting off burglar alarms at both the local police station and Scotland Yard headquarters.

In addition to being sprayed with ammonia, both security guards were hit on the head, police said. One guard remained in a London hospital today and the other was released, but police said neither man was seriously hurt.

The store was closed today while members of the staff took inventory in an effort to determine exactly what was missing.

Company spokesmen declined immediate comment and said it might take all day to establish how much jewelry was stolen.

Despite the robbery, members of the staff followed tradition, filling the usually glittering windows of the 77-year-old store with displays of sapphire, emerald and diamond jewelry.

"Our impression is that as much as 1 million pounds (the equivalent of $1.88 million) worth of jewelry has been stolen," the Scotland Yard spokesman said. "We understand it's certainly not more than that and could be less."

The thieves missed two wedding gifts destined for Prince Charles and Lady Diana Spencer — including a valuable clock — because they had been taken from the store for display at a charity exhibition in the Belgravia district to raise funds for the International Year of the Disabled.

A security van sent to return the gifts to Cartier's at the close of the exhibition arrived soon after the raid.

"Our guards packed up the exhibits and took them to Cartier," said a spokesman for the security firm, Securicor.

"When they arrived they found the building surrounded by police."

Oldest law school graduate hangs shingle

HOUSTON (AP) — Most members of the Texas Young Lawyers Association are forced out when they reach the ripe old-age of 35. But Willie Kocurek of Austin is an exception to that rule.

At age 70, he still gets to be a member because of a rule that allows lawyers in the club for three years after they pass the bar exam.

Kocurek did that two months ago, and today he is an inspiration to anyone 40 or older harboring secret desires of changing careers.

Kocurek, a former appliance merchant, is the oldest person ever to graduate from the University of Texas law school. He was in Houston for this week's State Bar of Texas convention.

"I moved to Austin 52 years ago to become a lawyer," Kocurek said. "There were sidetracks in the meantime." The main "sidetrack" was Kocurek's appliance store, which he owned in Austin for 50 years and used advertising to make the public familiar with his slogan "You don't need money — just a little bit a month."

He said he tried once before to start law school, 10 years after he graduated in 1933 from UT's business school. But a war was in progress, and after one semester he was drafted into the Navy.

"But that one semester gave me permission to get back in," Kocurek said. After the war he said he was unable to arrange a schedule to allow for both working and law school, and with a wife and kids, he decided his dream of becoming a lawyer would have to wait.

Then "three years ago we said 50 years in one business is enough. We are now in the second 50-year span business," Kocurek said. He said going back to school was "purely an ego trip we didn't want to let life pass without doing."

He said he had no trouble getting along with younger professors and students.

High interest rates persist despite economy weakening

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite increasing signs that the economy is weakening and inflation is subsiding, interest rates remain high.

Concern over the continuing lofty level of interest rates has sent the dollar soaring to 10-year highs, while pieces of stocks, bonds and precious metals have plummeted.

The prime lending rate at major banks, which has hovered around the 20 percent level since mid-May, was raised to 20.5 percent on Thursday by Chase Manhattan Bank, the nation's third-largest commercial bank, and by No. 9 First National Bank of Chicago.

But while the prime rate lingered for an unusual period near its all-time high of 21.5 percent, many other economic indicators have been providing signals that would usually encourage a downturn in rates.

Economist Alan Murray at Citibank says the nation's money markets appear to be "dominated by a psychology that seems irrational."

Murray says the credit markets, which determine borrowing costs for business and government, have been nervous and have been focusing on any economic signal pointing to higher interest rates, even if it means ignoring conflicting indicators.

What has kept rates high is a Federal Reserve Board policy to limit the availability of reserves to the banking system, driving up the cost of borrowing, Murray says. The high interest rates resulting from Fed policy should eventually slow the economy to a point where borrowing demand diminishes, resulting in lower interest rates.

Financial markets have been reacting strongly to interest-rate pressures.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell more than 47 points over the past seven straight sessions. Bond prices slipped about $70 for each $1,000 in face value in the last half of June.

High interest rates have made dollar-denominated investments attractive, while raising the cost of financing stock and commodity purchases.

In other business and economic developments this past week:

—The Commerce Department reported that its index of leading indicators, a barometer of further economic activity, fell 1.8 percent in May, its sharpest decline since May 1980.

—The Agriculture Department said prices that farmers get for raw products dropped 0.7 percent in June, but still averaged 11 percent higher than a year ago.

—The Labor Department said the nation's unemployment rate fell 0.3 percentage points in June to 7.3 percent.

—The departments of Commerce and Housing and Urban Development said sales of new single-family homes rose 15.6 percent in May, the sharpest rise since last summer. But the housing industry said the rate was still at a depressed level because of the continuing high level of mortgage rates.

—The 12-million member United Auto Workers union reaffiliated with the AFL-CIO after a 13-year separation, swelling the ranks of the labor federation to about 15 million.

Host says eavesdroppers keep him in business

Editor's Note: Alvin Van Black says he doesn't even like to talk on the telephone. Nevertheless, he's taken some 130,000 phone calls as one of the most popular and controversial radio talk show hosts in the country.

By ANDREW M. WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — A man telephones Alvin Van Black to complain about being summoned for jury duty the day after he took his 85-year-old uncle to the hospital, and thousands of people are eavesdropping.

The thrill those people get from listening in on someone else's conversation, Van Black says, is what has kept him in the radio talk show business for 13 years.

Van Black says the key to success with a phone-in program is letting a few people entertain a great many. He says there is a very distinct difference between his callers and his listeners. "Only a tiny few will call," he says. "Why, you'd burn in hell before you'd call."

With that comment, Van Black begins to warm to his subject. His voice rises to near a yell and he waves his arms about.

"I just can't imagine stopping my car and getting into a tin phone booth and spending a quarter just to yell about some topic," said Van Black, a large man who spends much of his time sitting. But because he moves about in his chair so much, he could not be called sedentary.

About a quarter of the approximately 50 people he talks to each day are regulars. Van Black says, "people who just can't let a day go by without putting their two cents in."

"I don't know how, with 2 1/2 million people in this town, I keep talking to the same people."

Talking or listening, people are turning to talk radio. Jack London, program director for KPRC, says his hosts Van Black and David Fowler lead Houston's mid-day AM ratings.

Talk is KPRC's mainstay. Van Black's three-hour afternoon show is part of 9 1/2 hours a day of phone-in programming.

One single, technical fact is largely responsible for all this chatter. London says AM radio's relatively poor sound quality makes it difficult to compete with FM stations for music audiences.

Van Black figures he's talked to as many callers as any talk show host in Texas.

"I've got 130,000-something calls now — that's approaching three full Astrodomes," he says.

Before any of those callers talked to Van Black, they talked to the show's producer, who determined they were coherent — not too drunk, not too crazy.

Don has passed the producer's inspection. "Don is on line three," the producer says to Van Black, who hears him in one side of a headphone set. In the other ear, a man has been complaining that he was not allowed to pay cash for a traffic violation in a Houston suburb.

Van Black advises the man to talk to the attorney general's office, then turns to his new caller.

"Hello, Don," Van Black says, and Don begins to criticize a previous caller, a woman who had been upset by the NAACP's reception of President Reagan.

Van Black agrees with Don. Earlier, he had lambasted the woman after she suggested there is too much freedom in this country when blacks are rude to a Republican president after Lincoln set them free.

Through all of this, a six-to-seven-second lag between talk and broadcast lets Van Black act as his own censor. His conscience is his guide, and what gets bleeped depends partly on who the caller is.

"A lot of old men can't talk without putting 'damn' in all the time," he explains.

Fame has its drawbacks, especially when it is gained largely by arguing with strangers.

Three sentenced for corruption convictions

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A Blaine County commissioner and an Anadarko materials supplier convicted of kickback-related charges have received prison sentences in what federal officials say is the beginning of a broad investigation of county-level corruption in Oklahoma.

U.S. District Judge Luther Eubanks on Thursday also sentenced a former county commissioner, who pleaded guilty and cooperated with prosecutors, to probation.

Eubanks gave equipment supplier Donald H. Skipworth a 20-year prison sentence Thursday. He was convicted on 26 counts of income tax evasion and mail fraud in connection with bribes to commissioners.

The judge earlier gave Blaine County Commissioner Orville Pratt a seven-year prison sentence for convictions on extortion and mail fraud counts stemming from taking two kickbacks in February that totaled $1,870.

Eubanks put former Oklahoma County Commissioner Emil Montgomery on three years unsupervised probation and ordered him to pay $10,437 restitution.

Montgomery was the second former commissioner to plead guilty as a result of a three-year FBI and Internal Revenue Service investigation of county government corruption. Former Harper County Commissioner William Bookstore entered a guilty plea Monday to a five-count indictment.

At least 11 others have signed agreements to plead guilty, including equipment supplier Guy Moore, who tape recorded many of his convictions.

Three other county commissioners are scheduled to stand trial on kickback-related charges on July 15. Stephens County Commissioner Eston Fisher is charged with 67 counts. Oklahoma County Commissioner J.P. "Dick" Richardson has 15 counts against him and Canadian County Commissioner Wayne Cooksey has been charged with 24 counts.

Officials have said the number of officials charged could hit 100 before the case is closed.

Eubanks has indicated he will deal more lightly with those who plead guilty to the charges against them. He earlier had praise for Montgomery, who testified at Skipworth's trial. The judge said he had "never seen a person who seemed to be more completely contrite and remorseful."

The judge scolded Skipworth at Thursday's sentencing, saying "the court finds bribing a county official just as bad as taking a bribe."

Ministry film to be shown

Reflections Of His Love, a new film highlighting the life and ministry of Joni Eareckson, will be shown on Sunday, July 5 at the Highland Baptist Church, 1301 N. Banks. The color feature, produced by World Wide Pictures, the film ministry of the Billy Graham Association, will be shown once, beginning at 6 p.m. In the film, Eareckson, who is also the author of two best-selling books, tells of the great transformations that have taken place in her life because of her willingness to accept all the things that have happened to her. Pastor Davey said "Although she is a quadriplegic, and does not have the use of her legs or arms, we actually witness her drive a van in this film. It's more that a great physical and technical feat - it's a credit to her inner spirit." All members of the community are invited to attend the special screening.

Religion roundup

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina missed his part on the program of a breakfast for Southern Baptist members of Congress — because of officiating at the funeral of a bird. Thurmond apologized to fellow Southern Baptists legislators for being too late to lead the prayer of thanks, explaining that his children had rescued a bird which had fallen out of a tree. In spite of their efforts to splint the bird's broken wing and restore it to health, he said, the bird had died and he, in his role as a father, was chosen to officiate at the family backyard interment service.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — In a last-hour effort to head off a move in the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod to break off "pulpit and altar fellowship" with the American Lutheran Church, it urged widespread regional and local reaction.

Join Us In Worship

IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

The Protecting LIGHT

This lighted tower is a light shining in the darkness to guide sailors and ships through the night. Our Lord is our light who guides us faithfully through life, even though it be as a stormy sea — He knows the way. His word, as proclaimed in His church, will light your way and bring peace, joy and comfort.

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path." Psalm 119:105.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Officials ask lifting of aerial spraying ban

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Saying they can no longer stop the Mediterranean fruit fly on the ground, state officials are asking a federal court for permission to spray a pesticide from the air to save crops.

In a suit filed in federal court Thursday, the state asked that the local bans on aerial spraying be lifted in at least seven counties.

The suit contends that the fly infestation is "out of control" and "can be expected to quickly spread to other areas" inside and outside the state unless aerial spraying of the pesticide malathion starts soon.

One month ago, agriculture officials said the year-long, $22-million battle against the crop-destroying flies in Santa Clara County appeared almost over and said prospects for aerial spraying were remote.

That optimism changed dramatically with the discovery this week of hundreds of larvae at more than 45 sites.

"I'm afraid it is uncontrollable from the ground now," said Wayne Granberry, highest-ranking official on the eradication project. "A reasonable person couldn't say it any other way."

The state's $14-billion farm industry has been urging aerial spraying, saying it is threatened.

Assistant Attorney General Roderick Walston said he intends to seek a temporary restraining order on Monday to block aerial spraying bans in the counties. The suit says federal and state agricultural laws pre-empt the local bans.

Authority will still be needed from Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. before aerial spraying can begin. A decision is expected after Tuesday, when an 11-member review committee makes its recommendation to Brown.

"We did everything we could" on the ground to eradicate the pests, said Richard Thompson, a spokesman for the state's Food and Agriculture department.

The first of the tiny flies was found in Santa Clara last summer. In January, hundreds of workers started going house to house, stripping fruit off trees and spraying malathion on the ground. Millions of sterile male flies were released in a bid to interfere with the flies' breeding cycle. "There were not enough people in the world to strip the fruit from trees" in the entire 50-square-mile control area, Thompson said. Exportation of fruit from that area and another 570 square miles has been banned for months. Aerial spraying could start as soon as July 13.

SIGHTS, SOUNDS. For the six blind climbers among the Project Pelion party, a rest along the way is a chance to breathe in the scents and sounds of the majestic slopes of Mount Rainer, Wash., which they cannot see. Expedition leader

Jim Whittaker, left, took a moment Thursday to reflect on the historic summit assault by 10 handicapped climbers. One woman dropped out of the party Thursday at the 11,500-foot level.

CINNAMON TOAST

For each serving, stir together 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon and 1 teaspoon sugar. Toast a slice of bread (from a loaf marked "thinly sliced") until it is a light golden brown; spread with 1 teaspoon butter, then sprinkle with the cinnamon mixture. Broil briefly in a toaster-oven or in a regular broiler just until topping is bubbly; watch carefully so edges of toast do not scorch; if edges become too brown, cut them away. Cut the slice of cinnamon toast in two triangles and serve at once.

The first ultra lo

Independence Day is time for reflection

The time is never more appropriate than the fourth day of July for taking stock of ourselves as a nation.

And rarely more appropriately than this Fourth, when Americans are acutely aware that the nation is in a time of change and testing. So long accustomed to looking to the future and seeing primarily promise, we are faced now with a multitude of uncertainties.

If, as historian Arnold Toynbee has said, the development and achievements of a people are determined by a process of challenge and response, the American people today certainly face no shortage of challenges.

At home the economy, that great productive engine that powered the nation to greatness, has become the great problem. It has faltered and is in need of renovation. The question is how best to go about it.

There are also other internal debates, some over basic national priorities and some of which have continued for decades. To take just the top of the list, there are energy development and distribution, military policy, growth or curtailment of government and its impact upon the individual, poverty amid affluence, the division of powers and responsibilities among federal and local governments, the conflicting needs of declining industrial North and the booming Sunbelt, technological change, persistent unemployment, the economic and social complications of an aging population, the unending quest of minority groups for political and economic equality, and more.

Abroad, we confront an increasingly complicated world, one that we no longer unquestionably dominate. Small wonder that some may fear for our purpose and very future as a nation. But those who do are overlooking our greatest asset — the American experience.

On July 4, 1981, Americans can look back upon one of history's greatest success stories, an experiment in self-government that through more than two centuries has effectively balanced individual liberty and social stability. History offers few other such examples of enduring adventure in freedom.

The lesson of that adventure is that Americans have been challenged before and have responded positively and effectively. We need to keep in mind that the American system was not designed to provide the definite answers to all problems for all time but to permit change and development of appropriate responses to the challenges of the times.

What Americans need to remember on July 4, 1981, is that as a people we have been here before, facing at times even greater challenges — once to the point of civil war — and without exception have responded instinctively, courageously, effectively.

The men who constructed this system built it to last through its capability to respond to problems and accommodate change. That it has, and will.

Pampan is in 'Texas' cast

CANYON — Brent Luck, a West Texas State University student from Pampa, will receive college credit in one of three classes offered by the WTSU Department of Speech and Theatre for experience received as a member of the cast of "Texas," a musical drama of Panhandle history by Paul Green.

Luck is a freshman music education major and will be a member of the chorus in this summer's production, performed nightly except Sundays at the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Students may earn credit in Summer Theatre I, Summer Theatre II or Outdoor Theatre Management based on participation in the annual production. The classes are under the supervision of Royal Brantley, associate professor of music and director of "Texas."

All three classes are practicum classes where students earn credit for practical application of knowledge they have obtained, rather than through lecture and classwork. A total of 38 students are enrolled in the three classes this first summer term, which ends Friday, July 3.

"Texas" is in its 16th season and is performed at 8:30 p.m. nightly except Sunday at the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Spot check

Thighs are a tough spot to firm up, but this exercise should help. Get down on your knees with your legs slightly apart and raise your arms straight out in front of you. Keeping your back straight, slowly lean back as far as you can. You'll feel the pull through the front of your thighs. Don't strain. Hold this position for 10 seconds, then return to the starting position. Repeat the exercise three times.

Dear Abby

Widow's knowledge hasn't set her free

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Roy and I had a long and happy marriage. Shortly after we were married, I asked him if he had ever had sex with anyone else. He said yes, before he knew me. Then he told me her name was Maggie. He said he had gone to her home to take out her sister, but she had stood him up, so just to get even, he took out Maggie, and that's when it happened. Roy said they were both in their teens.

Roy is dead now, and I recall that there was a basket of flowers at his funeral with a card signed, "From a friend." I have a feeling they were from Maggie. It never bothered me while Roy was living, but it bothers me now. Maggie lives near me. She is also a widow. Whenever I see her I have this nagging urge to tell her that I knew what happened between her and Roy, even though it was before he knew me.

Is there any way I can get rid of this nagging urge?
TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Try not to dwell on it. And if you find yourself painfully preoccupied with this incident, which has absolutely no significance or importance now, see a therapist and talk it out of your system. No purpose would be served by telling Maggie that you "know."

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow (63) who would like to marry again, but I'm not desperate. I met a widower two years ago who begged me to go out with him. At first I wouldn't go because although he is good and kindhearted, he is very careless about himself. He finally broke me down and I went out with him, but I had to ask him to please take a bath because we were going someplace special. Before I accepted another date with him, I bought a deodorant and asked him to use it. Even though he says he bathes regularly, I can't believe it. If he does, he puts the same dirty socks and underwear on, because the man is just not clean, and he smells terrible!

When he wears a suit, there are stains all over it. He says he loves me and wants to marry me, but how can I marry a man who smells so bad nobody wants to sit down next to him?

If it weren't for this one fault, he would make a good husband because he is good company and a kind person. I told him several times what is wrong with him, but he refuses to believe it. Maybe if you print my letter he will take the hint and clean up. He's in his middle 60s — too young to be going senile. What is wrong with him, Abby?

FUSSY WIDOW

DEAR FUSSY: He is either lazy or stingy. (Maybe both.) Don't expect this letter to work a miracle. If you've told him and it made no impression, he's a lost cause. Pity. Worse yet, a dirty shame.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from WEAK IN ILLINOIS, who went from one adulterous affair to another, could have been written by me. I am an honest and decent woman in every other aspect of my living, so the only explanation I have for my promiscuous sexual behavior is that I am oversexed.

Women who are undersexed (or frigid) are at least socially acceptable, but the oversexed woman, referred to as a nymphomaniac, gets absolutely no sympathy. Worse yet, she is looked down upon as the lowest form of humanity, to be shunned, ridiculed and despised.

I have been this way since my teens. I tried psychotherapy for several years but it didn't help. I wish I could control this terrible sex drive.

The idea of an Adulterers Anonymous is a good one. Just being able to talk to someone who has the same weakness would be a big help.

What to do with all those apricots

By ELAINE HOUSTON
County Extension Agent
What do you do with all those apricots? This year the apricot crop is really good. Homemakers will have a plentiful supply to practice skills in home baking and have plenty to preserve for the winter months. You can successfully dry, freeze, can and jelly apricots.

DRYING

Drying apricots is a very simple process requiring little equipment. Cleanliness and safety are important throughout the process. The quality of the finished product can be no better than that of the raw material from which it is made. The flavor of dried fruits will be different from their fresh, canned or frozen counterparts.

Apricots selected for drying should be of the highest quality possible — fresh, sound and at the "right" stage of maturity. Prepare the food immediately after gardening and begin the drying at once, continuing until the food has dried adequately.

Wash all apricots thoroughly to remove any dirt or spray. Sort and discard any defective fruit. Decay, bruises or mold on any piece may affect an entire batch of food being dried. Use any variety of apricot, as long as they are fully ripened but not so soft they are easily mashed or lose shape during drying.

Wash, cut in half and pit. DO NOT PEEL. Coat with ascorbic acid solution (1 teaspoon pure crystalline ascorbic acid in each cup of water) to prevent darkening. Choose one of the following drying methods:

— Sulphur 1 to 2 hours outdoors depending on size of pieces and ripeness of fruit. The ripeness the fruit the more slowly it absorbs sulphur dioxide.

— Steam blanch halves 5 to 10 minutes.

— Blanch in a hot syrup made of equal parts corn syrup and water or sugar and water.

Arrange in single layer on drying trays, pit side up. Dry at 140 degrees. Average drying time is 12 to 14 hours.

Dry apricots until leathery and pliable; a handful of pieces should fall apart after squeezing, and no moisture remains in the center when cut.

FREEZING PROCESS

Wash, half and pit. Peel and slice if desired. If apricots are not peeled, heat them in boiling water 1/2 minute to keep skins from toughening during freezing. Cool in cold water and drain.

Treat to prevent discoloration. Cover with cold syrup using 3 cups sugar to 4 cups water, or mix 1/2 cup sugar with each quart of fruit. Seal and freeze immediately.

CANNING APRICOTS

Wash apricots. Peel or place fully ripe firm fruit in wire basket or cheesecloth and dip in boiling water 2 minutes or until skins slip. Plunge into cold water quickly. Slip off skins. Cut into halves and remove seed. Pack raw fruit to 1/2 inch of top of jar. Cover with boiling syrup, leaving 1/2 inch space at top of jar. Seal and process in boiling water bath 30 minutes for pints and 36 minutes for quarts.

Other recipes for canning apricots are listed in the Extension publication B-194 — "Canning Fruits and Vegetables." Recipes for making apricot jelly and jam are listed in the publication MP-279. Drying procedures are given in B-1214 — "Drying Fruits and Vegetables at Home." These publications are available free from the County Extension office located in the courthouse annex, or by calling 669-7429.

Celebrate 4th with salad dish

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

The hoopla surrounding the Fourth of July in the United States mounts with the years.

Whether it is a traditional Down East clambake or a Texas beef barbecue, the holiday is marked by parades, fireworks and get-togethers, often featuring casual outdoor cooking.

This Fourth, you can save by leaning more heavily on salads to go with your favorite barbecued spareribs, chicken, hamburgers or hot dogs.

The United States is still in its salad days, and there is no better way to celebrate than by serving a wide range of creative salads along with refreshing drinks.

ORANGE SPINACH SALAD

- 1 package (10 ounces) fresh spinach, washed and drained
- 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained and diced
- 1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and diced
- 4 oranges, sectioned
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/4 cup crumbled cooked bacon

Coarsely tear spinach into large salad bowl. Add drained mushrooms, diced water chestnuts and orange sections. Mix oil, vinegar, orange juice, soy sauce, Tabasco pepper sauce, salt and dry mustard. Toss with spinach mixture.

Sprinkle crumbled bacon over salad. Substitute 1 cup sunflower seeds or chopped almonds for water chestnuts, if you prefer. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

July 4, 1981

There is a strong possibility this coming year that you can develop several new channels to add to your income and resources. What makes it more admirable is that they are apt to be your own creations.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Lady Luck continues to favor you materially, provided you're not looking for something for nothing. She's apt to turn her back on you if you take foolish gambles. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're a take-charge type today. Others will recognize this quality and go along with you, if you don't try to alter the procedures too much.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions are developing in favorable ways which should allow you to fulfill a secret ambition. You'd be wise not to talk about it, however.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This should be a fun day for you. Things in general will work out to your liking. There is a clinker you may have to contend with, however, and that's your extravagance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you let matters run their course today, the end result should be very rewarding. Injecting changes might throw conditions off-kilter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Should you have to make a choice today between spending time with old friends or with newer acquaintances, choose the former. Old pals wear better.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is a good day to arrange something sociable with persons you work with, or with those who could give your career a boost. Share time with kindred spirits.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Stick to your original plans today and all should work out smoothly. Making sudden changes in order to accommodate others may spoil everyone's fun.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Frivolous pursuits may provide others with enjoyment today, but you're not apt to be content unless you feel you're doing something constructive.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Seek companions today who are as active and fun-loving as yourself. Try to keep everything on a pure pleasure level. Don't inject serious topics.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Material opportunities could come through persons with whom you are associating today. In your case, business and pleasure make a profitable mix.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're a bit more daring than your contemporaries today. This is OK, provided you use good judgment. Curb impulses to take erratic risks.

"We're disappointed," said Gordon Armstrong, vice president of advertising for Universal.

"Looking back with hindsight, we probably should have waited a month to get out of competition with these powerhouse films."

Racquetball Instruction
For those who would like to receive some instruction in the game of racquetball, this is for you. Classes are now starting and you can enroll by calling 665-4381 and asking for Tim McLaughlin. Instruction is in the afternoons with definite hours between 1-3 p.m. The rules of the game, strategy, different shots, etc. will be discussed to give each person a better understanding of the game.

Summer Swim Lessons
Three more swim sessions are available for the summer youth swim lessons and then it will be history. Parents need to take the full advantage of these inexpensive lessons for their children. Cost is only six dollars for 10 lessons and also is free to any youth center member.

All classes meet between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 noon Monday through Friday for two weeks. Qualified water safety instructors give all the lessons through the American Red Cross.

Session dates are July 13-24, July 27-Aug. 8 and Aug. 19-21.

Classes offered are polwogs (children 4-6 years old, not in first grade this year and who measure 33 inches tall to the chin), beginners (first grade and up), advanced beginners, intermediates and swimmers.

Tennis Junior Development Program
For those interested in learning the game of tennis or improving your skills, the Junior Development program is for you. This is under the direction of David Martin and will be taught July 20 through Aug. 20. The first session is presently going on and you may come by and talk to Martin about enrolling in the second session. Fee is $75 for this five-week course, meeting Monday through Thursday from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. You receive a free racquet, rules book, tennis strategy, individual instruction, can of balls, t-shirt, film viewing each week and a personal video taping of each player each week. To enroll, contact Martin at Vance-Hall Sporting Goods in the Mall.

Memberships
All types of memberships to use the facility at the Youth Center are available. These come in individual, husband-wife, and family categories. A special teacher and student membership for the summer months is available. Apply at the receptionist desk for a brochure.

Midland scored two runs in the seventh off three wild pitches by loser Tom Candiotti, 5-2. Mike Thompson, 4-0, took the win.

In other Texas League games, Amarillo took a 3-2 win over San Antonio scoring all three runs in the fourth on two San Antonio errors.

John Stevenson scored San Antonio's two runs with a single. Mark Thurmond, 5-3, picked up the win. Mike Glinatsis, 0-2, took the loss.

Louie Roman had two hits and two RBI's, while pitcher Bob Burchett gave up just three runs in the seventh and third innings to gain his third win of the season as Arkansas defeated Shreveport 6-3.

Catcher Tom Mieto had a pair of hits for Arkansas, while Gotay Mills scored two of the Traveler's runs. Rick Dempsey, 10-2, took the loss.

Mike Fitzgerald doubled in the first and scored on Rick Poe's single and Shake Moore tripled in the fifth and scored on a Marvell Wynne grounder to give Jackson a two-point edge.

Dixie-OCAW wins tourney title

Randy Hollingsworth and Don Burt, both of Amarillo, are tied for the lead going into tonight's race.

SPORTS

LET HIM GRADUATE

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the more interested people in commencement exercises at Georgetown this spring was — of all people — football coach Dan McCann of Duquesne.

All McCann wanted to be sure about was that place-kicker Jim Corcoran had graduated from Georgetown. The reason: in 1980, Corcoran kicked the winning field goal for Georgetown against Duquesne with only 14 seconds to play.

In 1979, he made the only touchdown on a 48-yard punt return. In 1978, Jim booted a 30-yard field goal with just three seconds left to give Georgetown a 30-28 decision.
