

Below Zero Readings Reach As Far South as San Antonio

The lush Rio Grande Valley reported one of the most disastrous hard freezes on record today as a cold wave brought all-time low temperatures to Texas and below-zero readings as far south as San Antonio, the Associated Press reported.

Pampa, however, had a comparatively mild winter day yesterday and this morning after a winter's low point of zero recorded at 1 a. m. Sunday.

The high temperature yesterday was 22 and the low last night was five above. This morning's 10 degrees at 8 a. m. with clear skies promised at least a partial letup for Pampa.

One accident in town attributable to the snow storm occurred yesterday morning when Mrs. Frank Clegg, 806 N. Frost, slipped and fell in her front yard and suffered a broken bone in her left arm. She is now in the Pampa Hospital.

The rural and long-distance telephone lines that went down under the onslaught of the storm Thursday night have now been repaired, and, all told, Pampa came through this phase of winter weather in good shape. There have been innumerable fender-benders, but no serious accidents reported, and no lives lost as a result of the storm.

According to the AP report this morning, the tomato and potato crop in the Rio Grande Valley was a total loss, ripening fruit was heavily damaged and citrus trees, especially young trees, may be damaged.

In one valley county, Cameron County Agent Frank Brumman estimated vegetable damage alone will run higher than $15 million.

Frost covered a wide valley area. The temperature at Brownsville fell to 22.7 degrees. It was feared even harder crops such as cabbage and carrots may be lost. Llano, near Austin, reported a reading of six below zero.

The mercury dove to three degrees below zero at Waco and Bryan, and two degrees below at Sherman, Fort Worth and Austin.

It was four-tenths of a degree below at San Antonio. Temperature records were broken at Austin, Waco, San Antonio and Bryan.

The current cold wave, which

Llano had 10 inches of snow yesterday.

The current cold front struck Texas Friday as the result of a massed relief of the Dallas Weather Bureau, said was the greatest cold high pressure area he has seen in 47 years with the Weather Bureau. The high pressure area, centered in Kansas, extended northward to Winnipeg, Canada, southward to Tampico, Mexico, eastward into the Atlantic Ocean and westward into the Pacific.

Streets were ice-covered at Austin. Buses stopped running at 7 p. m. last night and only a few taxis operated. Every tree and shrub was covered with half an inch of frost.

Somewhat warmer but continued freezing weather was predicted for both East and West Texas this afternoon and tonight.

8-Year-Old Loses Life In Gas Blast

FORT WORTH — (AP) — A butane gas explosion and fire burned to death an 8-year-old girl and burned critically her parents and another daughter near Smithfield at about 4 a. m. today.

Dead was Bobbie Glenn Hollingsworth, 3rd grade student at the Smithfield School.

Suffering third-degree burns from head to toe were Edward G. Hollingsworth, 32, his wife, Laura, 24, and Ina Mary Hollingsworth, 8. They were taken to a Fort Worth Hospital.

A blast ripped through their four-room frame home one and one-half miles east of Smithfield when Hollingsworth attempted to light a kitchen stove.

Flames swept through the structure and engulfed the family. All of whom had arisen but were clad only in sleeping clothes.

Hollingsworth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hollingsworth, both 8, were awakened in their house, 200 yards from their son's home, by the explosion and the younger Hollingsworth's screams.

They ran barefooted and in sleeping garments through snow to the blazing house. The younger Mrs. Hollingsworth was struggling to pull her husband from the building.

The grandparents dashed into the burning home and rescued the 8-year-old girl. They were unable to find Bobbie Glenn. Her parents then were forced to restrain their son from returning inside the home, they said.

Third Student Involved in Wreck Succumbs

Dortman Williamson, 19, of Childress, third occupant of a car in which two persons lost their lives in a highway collision near Washburn Friday afternoon, died last night in an Amarillo hospital, Mrs. Bill Mitchell, 633 N. Faulkner, his aunt, said this morning.

Williamson, who was traveling toward Childress on Highway 287, was pinned in the wreckage of his car for more than half an hour after a collision with a truck driven by Calvin Seward of Dumas. Seward was charged with negligent homicide.

Miss Fatsy Nellie Hudson of Childress, and Weldon Eugene Basinger of Fort Worth were killed in the accident. All were students at West Texas State College at Canyon.

In addition to his aunt, Mrs. Mitchell, Williamson is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Williamson, Jr., of Childress, and two sisters.

Flying of Food and Fuel to Human Beings Tops 'Haylift'

By The Associated Press

The week-old "operation haylift" bringing fodder to snow-bound livestock took second place Monday to a new major problem—getting food and fuel to isolated human beings.

Maneased relief officials who marshaled planes to move fodder to livestock before snow-blocked roads could be opened, had reports from areas west of Omaha, Neb., that food and fuel were short. The Army in Washington said everything is being done to get food and fuel to the isolated areas.

The Fifth Army in Chicago reported some areas have been without rail communication since the start of the storm.

"We just don't have enough planes or time" to feed starving cattle by air, the Chicago Army office said, referring to 100,000 snow-blocked steers in Nebraska.

Another threat to the snow-covered Western regions was the forecast by Chicago weather men of continued unseasonal cold and additional snow in some Western regions.

Eastern Wyoming and North-eastern Colorado were promised light snow and winds of from 20 to 30 miles an hour. West of the Rocky Mountains the forecast for Monday was continued rather fair with temperatures below seasonal norms.

Rain or freezing rain was forecast Monday for a belt stretching across Northern Mississippi, Northern Alabama, Northern Georgia and the Northern Carolinas.

Snow was predicted for the upper Mississippi Valley, the Ohio River Valley and the Great Lakes. The snow belt was slowly moving from the Southwest into the Northeast, but a portion of Illinois, Indiana and the lower Mississippi River Valley also would get some.

The East and Northeast, the forecast said, will get snow early, but the New England states will not get precipitation until later Monday.

Storm warnings were hoisted from Block Island to the Virginia Capes as the storm moved in from the South.

As the "haylift" entered its second week the cattle feeding task remained formidable. Army sources termed the ground movement of fodder to cattle the biggest bulldozer operation since the building of the famed Ledo Road in China.

With a blank check for relief funds, war-experienced Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, in command of the Army three into the fight planes, helicopters, bulldozers, tractors, weasels, jeeps and even primitive sleds.

Baton Rougeans Threatening to Take Over Texas

BATON ROUGE, La. — (AP) — Civic leaders of Baton Rouge, searching through musty archives for data "to offset Texas tall tales," have come up with a new angle on the tideland's dispute.

If the federal government doesn't stop all this yapping about taking our oil-rich tidelands," says Vice President Edgar Soward of the Louisiana National Bank here, "we'll take back the whole 13 million acres of the Louisiana Purchase."

He adds:

"Texas will be dwarfed, of course, but then we may be able to save their tidelands, too. And Oklahoma is such a nice name for a new parish (county)."

Soward was given the research task by Herbert Wimberly, vice president of the City National Bank. Wimberly, who heads a Baton Rouge Chamber of Commerce goodwill trip to Houston this week, said he wanted to be "thoroughly prepared when traveling through Texas."

The Baton Rougeans will attend the fat stock show in Houston and while there, incidentally scheduled Louisiana's livestock show scheduled for March on the state university campus here.

Pointing to similarities between Houston and Louisiana's capital — seaport, oil center, agricultural and cattle hub — Soward says the 150 goodwill delegates plan "to soak up plenty about Texas and Texas leads" on their Houston visit.

The train leaves here Wednesday night and is scheduled to arrive in Houston about 7:30 a. m. Thursday.

Parliament Weathers Storm Over Middle Eastern Policy

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's Socialist government has weathered the battle-royal in Parliament over its Palestine policy as handled by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, but has taken a trouncing in the winning. I'm reminded of my old acquaintance Battling Nelson, famous lightweight champion of a past generation. Nelson won most of his innumerable ring battles but few fighters absorbed as much punishment as he did, in achieving fistic immortality.

Maybe that's not a very good comparison. When Bat Nelson had won there wasn't any question about it, despite his battered face. But in the case of Prime Minister Atlee and his cabinet the circumstances are such that one wonders whether their victory isn't Pyrrhic.

The so-called "Bevin policy" was approved by a vote of 283 to 193 in the House of Commons after bitter debate. The margin of 90 votes was the smallest the government had received on a major issue since it came to power in '45. Moreover, it involved the defection of a big bloc of the

DEMOS TRY TO SPEED UP SCHEDULE

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Democratic leaders in Congress sought today to line up a briske schedule for pushing the Truman program through the law-making machinery.

The Democratic controlled Congress will begin its second week this week with only three minor bills accomplished.

On the Republican side, there were claims that price declines in some foods and other lines have put President Truman's anti-inflation proposals on a toboggan.

The Republicans confidently predicted defeat of such requests as standby authority to fix prices and wages, mandatory powers to ration or allocate scarce commodities, or authority for government-built steel plants.

Democratic leader Lucas (D-III) called for "Senate action today on one administration-backed proposal that gave Republicans a chance to sound off.

It is a seven-month extension of the "voluntary allocation" system set up by the last GOP Congress, a substitute for President Truman's request for direct government power to ration or allocate steel and other scarce commodities.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and other Democrats agree the voluntary plan has worked well. But the Democrats defeated in the Senate Banking Committee a Republican attempt to extend it longer than seven months.

Sawyer said the administration will have an overall anti-inflation program ready soon that will include:

Pampans Respond to Radio Appeal for March of Dimes; Revue Slated Tonight

By ART FERRER
News Staff Writer

A list of merchandise that reads like the inventory of the Podunk Center General Store was given away in exchange for donations to the March of Dimes yesterday afternoon over KPDM.

The whole thing started out mildly enough as a one-hour Kiwanis program to plug tickets for the Top O' Texas Revue benefit show to be held tonight for the March of Dimes polo fund.

A group of Kiwanians milled about the microphone at 1 p. m. yesterday and offered to deliver tickets to anyone who would call the station and ask for them.

Then someone offered a chicken to the first listener who would donate $5 to the fund to fight infantile paralysis—and the scramble started.

For four hours the station's phones jangled frantically with listeners offering everything from live birds to encyclopedias and other listeners calling in with their donations.

Dr. Malcolm Brown garnered $28 for the fund just for tooting his cornet; the Kiwanians cast aside their dignity and sang the Lions Club theme song, "Hear Those Lions Roar," in exchange for a donation; and Ken Bennett, author of the revue, and Harry Kelley, one of the stars, played and sang several of the hit tunes from the show—all for donations.

Just a partial list of what was offered yesterday includes: a set of encyclopedias, 10 fryers, one capon, two pheasants, 6 quail, a pair of ladies' shoes donated by Smith's Shoe Store, 6 pairs of nylons, a dress from Behrman's, a tire and tube, an automobile battery from Tom Rose Ford, two car polishing jobs from Culbertson's, a set of car tools, 4 or 5 dogs, a pair of love birds, rabbits, and baby sitting jobs.

The phones were still jangling off their hooks when the show went off the air at 5 p. m., and the county March of Dimes committee hasn't recovered sufficiently to begin tallying the total donations received.

Gray County is still far under its total of $10,000, Crawford At-

Move Will Be Answer to Soviet Punch

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The seven nation group negotiating the North Atlantic Security Pact here expects soon to invite half a dozen more nations, including a Soviet-pressured Norway, to become full partners in the project.

This move probably will be the West's most dramatic answer to Russia's one-two punch against the North Atlantic alliance over the weekend.

Officials here interpreted the Foreign Office blast at the alliance Friday night and Generalissimo Stalin's statements yesterday as part of the same pattern of attack on the growing unity of the non-Communist Western world and particularly the North Atlantic treaty.

Stalin came into the picture this time by saying he would have "no objection" to a meeting with President Truman at a "suitable place." He also talked in surface terms of good will toward peace. There was no quick official reaction here from the White House or State Department.

The White House repeated today that President Truman is willing to meet Premier Stalin in Washington.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross first told a news conference he had no comment on Stalin's assertion that he had "no objection" to meeting Mr. Truman at some mutually acceptable place.

Norway figures as the key country in current talks on Western alliance, largely because she alone, of all the nations in the projected security league, has a common border with the Soviet Union.

Nationalist Peace Efforts Bog Down All Along the Line

NANKING — (AP) — Acting President Li Tsung-jen flew to Shanghai and back today in what appeared to be a futile peace effort.

Li's associates had expected him to remain at least two days in Shanghai with minority leaders discussing peace plans. His early return indicated to some observers he had no success in attempts to get the cooperation of the liberal political group, including the Democratic League, or of Madame Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of the republic.

Li's arrival in Shanghai came after there were strong rumors in Nanking that he would go to Canton shortly.

Nanking itself today approached the strange state of being neither a nationalist nor Communist city. A band between two warring governments.

There have been no indications that any Red officials actually have entered the capital. But they could if they wished.

The city is practically defenseless. Soldiers and naval units, once to have been the defenders of Nanking, have pulled out for the South.

Communist armies are idling six miles north of Nanking, where they have been for a week. Apparently they are waiting for action on the Red radio demand of Saturday that retired President Chiang Kai-shek and other Kuomintang officials on the Communist "war criminals" list be arrested.

Nanking appeared to be moving toward the status of an open city, although there has been no official move to declare it such.

All along the line peace efforts by the government seem to be bogging down. Nanking city councilmen who want a separate peace for the city have not been able to muster a quorum to call on the Communists on the north side of the Yangtze River.

Tobin Asks Repeal of Labor Law

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin went to Congress today and urged that the Taft-Hartley Act be replaced by a law "encouraging free collective bargaining."

He told the Senate Labor Committee in a prepared statement that the administration's labor bill would encourage it.

When labor and management are "assured once again" that this is our national labor policy, Tobin said, "they will feel sure, comply with the procedures provided in the bill."

The administration's measure—unveiled Saturday—would wipe out most of the Taft-Hartley law and substitute something closer to the Wagner Act of 1935.

One Taft-Hartley feature that would be killed would be the government's power to get 80-day court orders to delay "national emergency" strikes.

To replace that power, the bill provides for emergency boards to recommend settlements of disputes in vital industries. Both sides would be asked to observe a voluntary "cooling off" period of not more than 30 days during which there would be no strike.

Tobin said the Taft-Hartley law of 1947 "deals with collective bargaining as if it is inimical to the public interest instead of the foundation of our national labor policy."

He also said this law has "brought confusion" into the field of labor relations and has "unnecessarily limited the rights of workers to strike."

After this assault, Tobin argued that the administration bill "regulates collective bargaining only where restraints are needed, and practicable."

House Speaker Ends Assignments To Committees

AUSTIN — (AP) — The 51st Legislature would be ready to get down to work before the end of this week.

The session today started its fourth week, still moving slowly while House Speaker Durwood Manford wound up his job of making committee assignments.

He hoped to announce committees by the middle of the week.

Both House and Senate had been in adjournment since Thursday.

Manford said he hoped to be able to let the first trickle of House bills start through the Senate this week. Thus far the Senate is far ahead of the House, with 148 bills introduced and referred to committee.

Of these, there are dozens of appropriations which have already been given some preliminary study by the Finance Committee headed by James E. Taylor of Kerens. He has not announced state departments, colleges, and first formal meeting.

Bills which would appropriate $300 million have been introduced in the Senate.

They include the four major money bills. These were introduced in blank, without any figures, but the committee will use the Board of Control's budget recommendations as the basis for preliminary studies on needs of state departments, colleges, the eleemosynary institutions and the judiciary.

Meeting on Fairs Held

O. W. Hampton and Homer Taylor, directors of the Top O' Texas Rodeo and Horse Show, returned yesterday from Dallas where they spent three days at the Texas Association of Fairs and Expositions convention.

The annual meeting of the 31-year-old organization is held to bring out the state association's program of the organization is built around the successful operation of fairs and expositions and the promotion that is necessary in bringing out community activities.

Officers of the Texas Association of Fairs and Expositions were elected during the convention. They are Jackie Huffines, Richardson, president; Rex E. Baxter, Amarillo, vice president; and Tommy Randolph, Gladewater, secretary-treasurer.

E. O. Wedgeworth is a retiring director of the state association. New directors include: Maurice Turner, Huntsville; Raymond Lee Johns, Plainview; Jack Brown, Cleburne; and Ed Slaughter, Harlingen.

The "Biggest Little Fair in Texas," Richardson, Tex., provided special entertainment throughout the convention.

VA Moves To Save $10 Million

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Veterans Administration moved today to cut an estimated $10 million a year from its operating costs through a major overhaul of its administrative setup.

Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., said the action involves relieving VA's 13 branch offices of supervisory duties. Instead, they will become district offices limited to the handling of national service life insurance and death claims.

Effective tomorrow, he said, the 71 regional offices and all VA hospitals will report directly to headquarters here instead of to branch offices.

Gray told a news conference the aim is to give increased and better service to veterans, along with effecting economies.

He said he would not have approved the reorganization plan for economy's sake, however, unless it resulted in better service.

Gray said district offices limited to the handling of service life insurance policies and death claims will be set up in present branch office locations.

The branch offices affected are in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Richmond, Atlanta, Columbus, Minneapolis, Denver, San Francisco, St. Louis, Seattle and Dallas.

Gray said in a statement that the change means that all supervision of field offices which has heretofore been carried on by the 13 branches will now be directed from the central office in Washington. The 13 new district offices for insurance and death claims will also be supervised from Washington.

Wreck of Train Knocks Out Lines

HARLINGEN — (AP) — A number of long distance telephone lines in the Rio Grande Valley were knocked out yesterday when a freight train wreck snapped the wires.

Unconfirmed reports said the wreck, four miles north of Brownsville, was caused by a broken rail. Around 17 cars, all but two of them empty, left the rails.

The engine did not leave the track and no one was injured.

A streamliner passenger train was routed from the Missouri Pacific lines to other tracks because of the wreck.

MOVE

The Russians recognized Norway's importance Saturday night by stating their criticisms of the North Atlantic treaty formally and directly to the foreign office at Oslo. They apparently made no specific threat or demand but left no doubt in the minds of observers here that they were doing their utmost diplomatically to put little Norway on the spot.

The Norwegians themselves apparently rejected the implied Russian warning and persisted in their intention, even against the advice of their neighbor Sweden, to line up firmly with the Western league. This was strongly indicated last night when an announcement came from Oslo that efforts of the Norwegians, Swedes and Danes to agree upon a common Scandinavian policy had broken down. Sweden had wanted a three-nation Scandinavian alliance. Norway had wanted a tie-up with the United States and other Western powers through the Atlantic league, and Denmark had tried to develop a middle way.

Collapse of the talks finally opened the way for the seven nations negotiating the pact here in Washington to get on with their next major move. This still has to be formally agreed upon, but persons familiar with the action to date said there was no question now that it would be taken within ten days to two weeks.

The negotiators had not wanted to invite into the project any country not actively interested in joining it. As long as Scandinavian policy was undecided the courses of Norway and Denmark could not be clear. Now that Norway's position presumably is clarified, invitations can go out as quickly as they can be agreed upon to the following nations: Norway, Ireland, Iceland, Ireland, Portugal, and Italy. In addition, if officials find they are correct in their belief that Denmark is interested in obtaining a bid, Denmark also will be invited.

Secretary of State Acheson began reviewing the North Atlantic security plan last week. He is expected to meet with the other negotiators, the ambassadors of Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg in the immediate future. Diplomats predicted that they would tentatively agree to ask the other countries in.

This move had been planned all along as soon as the Scandinavian situation was cleared up. It took on added significance however with (1) Russia's assault on the North Atlantic project, (2) her direct pressure on Norway, and (3) Stalin's Sunday maneuver to re-emphasize the Soviet contention that the Soviet Union seeks only peace in the world while the Western powers are conspiring to start a war.

Associates indicated that Secretary of State Acheson would have to give the matter some thought before American response could be laid down.

It was noted privately by authorities, however, that in their opinion Stalin had not come forward with any concrete new proposals for settling the world's problems even on the Berlin blockade, about which he spoke more specifically than on any other issue.

Gas Heater Fires Are Extinguished

Firemen had a busy weekend extinguishing gas heater fires. Fire Chief Ernest Winborne, said today.

The first heater-fire was in the John Beverly Apartments, 420 N. Cuyler, at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. The heater ignited the bathroom walls, but the fire was extinguished before any serious damage occurred.

At 3:30 a. m. yesterday, firemen were called to 503 S. Reid to put out the same kind of fire in the home of O. V. Eckroat. Two holes were burned in the bathroom walls and considerable damage resulted.

At 2:30 p. m. yesterday, firemen went one mile east of Pampa to extinguish a kitchen-box car fire. The "extra gang" of the Santa Fe railroad was trying to thaw water pipes in the car, causing the fire. Firemen worked approximately one hour in getting the fire out.

Harlem, now a Negro center in New York, was once a village on Manhattan island.

Hands Across the Years

Both these hands belong to Charles Nessler, 77-year-old inventor of the permanent wave machine. Nessler claims to have discovered the "secret of youth." He says he treated his right hand for two months, using friction to bring a body chemical called carotin to the surface and rejuvenate the skin. His left hand, untreated, remains wrinkled. The right hand is smooth as that of a man of 35.

He told reporters that House Democratic leaders were trying to have some part of the Truman program ready for action late this week or early next. He mentioned extension of the reciprocal trade pact program, increase in minimum hourly wages from 40 to 75 cents, or an extension of export controls.

Today the House was expected in advance to stamp approval upon a $3 million blizzard emergency fund already unanimously passed by the Senate. These funds will be used to help clear snow-blocked highways and roads in the West or for similar purposes.

And Senator Taft (R-Ohio), GOP Senate policy chairman, told a Cleveland, Ohio, news conference Saturday:

He predicted that most of the Truman proposals for domestic legislation would be blocked or sharply revised by Congress.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said the House probably would take up the voluntary controls measure Wednesday, after the Senate has acted.

ICE AGAIN STRIKES TEXAS TELEPHONE LINES

ON THE HEELS of one of the most widespread ice storms in Texas history, which did about two million dollars worth of damage, another blanket of ice this week spread over much of Texas, leaving new wreckage from Oklahoma to Temple, and west to Pecos.

North and East Texas, on the edge of the first January ice area, bore the brunt of the new storm. Thousands of telephones were silenced. Many cities were isolated from communications with the outside world as wires snapped and poles crashed to the ground under the heavy weight of the ice. Only a few lines were available to many other points.

ICE DAMAGE IS WIDESPREAD

By early Thursday, 1,400 poles were down in Northeast Texas, 11,000 wire breaks were reported, and 1,250 long distance circuits were out of service.

Additional crews of workmen started rolling into the stricken area while ice was still on the wires. With standardized tools, the "know-how" born of experience, and with tons of materials, they tackled the big job of restoring communications quickly.

VOLUME OF CALLS SOARS

Telephone operators and equipment were swamped with calls from those who were "shut in" by the storm. Long distance operators did their best to get the flood of messages through over circuits not damaged by the ice.

To those whose telephones were out of order and to those whose long distance calls were delayed—thanks for your patience and understanding.

The damage of the ice is big... a big job faces telephone repair crews.

But the Bell System, which has brought to America the best and cheapest telephone service in the world, is BIG enough to meet the emergency.

CUBBING IS AN ADVENTURE
is Vern C. Fendergrass' reason for being a Cubmaster. He has been Cubmaster of Pack 4, sponsored by the First Christian Church, for two years. He says he doesn't want his two boys to miss scouting and wants to enjoy the adventure himself.

'Tulsa Plan' Studied by Attorneys

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Attorney General Clark has instructed federal district attorneys to study carefully any mass issuance of evictions for evidence of illegal conspiracy.

This was announced last night by the Justice Department, which said the attorneys were directed to present any possible law violations to a grand jury.

A property owners group in Tulsa, Okla., has ordered a number of evictions of tenants within 60 days and has called on landlords in other cities to follow suit.

The Tulsa group took their action in an announced protest against proposed new federal rent control bills now before Congress.

President Truman said at his news conference Thursday that he doesn't believe property owners will get away with the plans. Shortly afterward, Housing Expediter Tighe Woods said he will seek court injunctions against landlords who refuse to withdraw such eviction notices.

The Justice Department's statement said Clark instructed all United States district attorneys to examine with care the so-called "Tulsa plan" concerning mass eviction of tenants and ascertain if there might exist any conspiracy to violate the Housing and Rental Act of 1948 or any other applicable statutes.

"The U. S. attorneys were instructed that in the event there appeared to be any violations, they should immediately present the facts to federal grand juries," the announcement said.

2 Texans to Be Tried in Colorado

MEEKER, Colo., (AP)—Two Texans are scheduled to go on trial June 13 on charges of kidnap and assault with intent to murder a Colorado rancher, Sheriff Robert Fulton of Meeker said Friday.

Fulton said Alfred Brown, 43, of Bayden, Tex., and William Daventport, 48, of Big Spring, Tex., were freed on $7,500 bond each. Fulton said S. Marvin James, a rancher, said they beat him severely and forced him into their car following a dispute over a cattle deal.

Israel Gets Recognition

LONDON—(AP)—Britain, Belgium and The Netherlands announced Saturday they had given de facto recognition to the government of Israel.

Their separate announcements were made after the foreign ministers of the Brussels alliance stated Friday they had come to a joint decision to tender recognition to the eight-month-old provisional Jewish regime.

France and Luxembourg are the other members of the alliance. France already had announced her recognition of the state.

De facto recognition is acknowledgement that an operating government is in existence. It is a grade below de jure recognition that a government is legally constituted.

Britain's action, ending a long delay after the United States tendered de facto recognition at the very first when the government proclaimed its existence, came as an anti-climax.

It was foreshadowed Wednesday when Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons Britain accepted recognition in principle, and that she would act as soon as she had consulted with her dominions and her allies in the Western European Union.

RESPIRING HILL
In Castlemaine, Australia, there is a hill that not only breathes, but snores, as air rushes in and out of an abandoned mine below the surface, causing the hill to rise and fall.

MOPSY Gladys Parker

Fair Enough - - by Westbrook Pegler

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt recently published in the Ladies Home Journal a leading suggestion that Lynch-law be invoked against a specified citizen for no specified offense but apparently for the sole reason that she disliked him.

Lynching, according to Webster's New International, is the infliction of punishment without the forms of law. The term "punishment" presumes the commission of some offense, but it is noted that Mrs. Roosevelt does not accuse of any wrong the person against whom she makes an attack.

At the age of 15, Mrs. Roosevelt was taken to Europe and put in a girls' school near London run by Mile. Souvestre, a French woman who had gone through the siege of Paris in 1870.

There are many reasons for that difference. But here is one of them: To produce a given unit an American spends 1 hour of work. To produce the same unit, the Englishman spends 48 hours of work.

RUSSIA TIGHTENS DEFENSES by John Fisher

Secretary of State Acheson will have tobacco hand in case Stalin wants to smoke the pipe of peace. But it is unlikely that the American chief will cancel the order for new war clubs for our European associates.

Leaders in Washington forecast that military considerations in addition to economic developments will implement the new foreign policy. This means practical assistance including weapons to nations in a Northern Atlantic security alliance, involving the United States, Canada, Britain, France and the United Nations to which will be linked Norway, Denmark, Iceland, Eire and Portugal, if they so desire.

European cold chills result not only from the Soviet military force with its accompanying rapine but also from current signs that the war spirit is growing behind the iron curtain. Information on this subject comes from regular diplomats in the East and from fugitives and German prisoners of war who have been eye witnesses of secret events.

Washington knows positively that Russia is building tremendous fortifications along her exposed frontiers and in the Baltic Sea and Baltic areas which she has absorbed. The Baltic situation is typical. The Kremlin is reconstructing and enlarging the general defense system erected 30 years ago by Czarist engineers.

German chemists, in the days of Nazi occupation, discovered that Baltic shale was very rich in the type of oil best suited for U-boats. It contains 28 percent crude oil in comparison with 10 percent Scotch shale and 5 percent German brown coal.

There is no substitute for oil. There is no substitute for oil. There is no substitute for oil. There is no substitute for oil.

Common Ground

By R. C. ROYLES

"Subject Our Education to the Healing Strength of Money" I received a solicitation for funds from the National Council for Education. The heading of the appeal is "Americans, Awake!"

"Give us one generation of small children to train to manhood and womanhood and we will set up the Bolshevik form of the Soviet Government."

"Socialism is NOT all right. It is degrading, debauching, enslaving. It limits man's freedom of activity, of mind. It is a forerunner of the absolute police state."

"At this start of the New Year, real Americans should decide that the one thing they will accomplish this year, in the struggle to save America, is to eliminate the school and communist teachings from the schools and colleges of this nation."

"Then they make an appeal for donations. I sent no donations or no memberships."

"The National Council for American Education does not seem to know that tax supported schools are nothing but socialism. It is impossible to get tax supported schools to teach anything else from a political and economic standpoint."

"I think that I started at this period a very bad habit which has stayed with me ever since. Frequently I would use, in talking to Mile. Souvestre afterwards, things which I had overheard in her conversation with her friends and which I passed through my rather quick mind, giving me some new ideas."

"But if anyone had asked me any questions, he would have soon discovered that I had no real knowledge of the thing I was talking about. As the years went by I began to realize that I had had a rather poor grounding in many subjects."

"I never really filled in the fundamentals that were lacking in my education. More and more, as I grew older, I used the quickness of my mind to pick the minds of other people and use their words as my own."

"For she writes, 'she was as much moved as we were by the music and the lights' of a proceeding which Mrs. Roosevelt describes as a 'colorful ceremony.' There is no capable explanation of remarkably influential personality but there is another hint which contributes to understanding."

"Attention and admiration were the things through all my childhood which I wanted because I was made to feel so conscious of the fact that nothing about me would attract attention or bring me admiration."

"A revealing demonstration of 'venom' is the recent communication despatched by Georgi Dimitrov, Red ruler of Bulgaria, to Communist leaders in all lands. He is rated as chief policy maker outside the Moscow Politburo itself and almost always sends up trial balloons for a course under consideration by Stalin."

"Ranting American imperialists," writes Dimitrov, "in their animal fear of the growing forces of democracy are, together with their satellites, systematically conducting war propaganda. Like international gangsters they cynically boast that with their atom bomb they can wipe out millions of peaceful people who refuse to be subjugated to their will. They can rest assured that if Wall Street bosses embark on a new war, it can only bring the complete destruction of the capitalist system."

Rising Sun Spots

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Every week this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON - "Is it not true," asks W. C. T. of Clovis, N. M., "that Secretary Forrestal, as head of Dillon, Reed, and General Draper as vice president, and John Foster Dulles as their attorney, contracted with Hitler to finance the building of his war machine on his promise to attack and overthrow Soviet Russia?"

"Mr. Speaker, all is not well with American education. Can its ills be cured by Federal aid?" "Millions of our citizens say 'no' and assert that the sickness of the world is not due so much to the lack of money for education as it is to the lack of God in the instruction in the moral law. If so, Federal aid and control of education by the far-off Central Government would only more completely exclude religious disciplines from our educational enterprise and worsen our situation."

"They believe that the Federal influence even now upon education and the political controls of education already exercised by the separate States must inevitably lead the people to put their faith in the false promises and harsh disciplines of the politics of a godless state. This must lead to the arrest of freedom with its self-government under God's laws and the extensive substitution of compulsory government by mere men over them."

"They contend that if God and the moral law are thrown completely out of our public education, which Federal aid and control of necessity requires, there will be no other God to which the people can turn except the Central Government and its agencies of right and it determines what is wrong in the absence of self-government. This is true in Rome, Berlin, Moscow, and, to a great extent, in our own country. They ask, shall Washington follow?"

"How far have we gone? The individual States all force payment of taxes to support schools. They compel school attendance under threat of jail for the parents. Likewise they exclude in most cases all religious disciplines by State administrative influence and compel the pupils to submit to the teachings and doctrines of many inefficient teachers whom the State force upon the local school boards by such measures as the compulsory tenure laws."

"The practical effect is to compel through taxation and state control, the great majority of parents to submit their children to pagan statism instead of the Christian disciplines. Needless to say, this kind of a system is contrary to the original American design for public education which was intended to be a Christian school under local controls and protected by the laws of the States. As a result of statism, millions of people are now protesting by sending their children to private and parochial schools. Such enrollments have risen sharply in the last 25 years from 7.3 to 10.5 percent of all students attending school. Public school enrollments have declined in the same proportions."

"AMBITION - 'I have been told,' writes J. R. of Shreveport, La., 'that General Eisenhower was not the first choice to command the Allied armies in the European invasion. It is true?' Answer: It is. President Roosevelt tapped General Marshall for this job, and arrangements had gone so far forward that the Marshall family were already, on the quiet, moving their furniture from Fort Myer to their home in Virginia. FDR knew that General Marshall wanted to end his career with a field command, and was eager to gratify this ambition."

"DESERVED - In fact, while visiting our forces in North Africa, FDR tried to break the bad news to 'Ik.' He did so by pointing out that, although nobody remembered the chiefs of staff in the Civil War, everybody knew of Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, and on the Southern side, of Lee, Jackson and Longstreet. FDR was suggesting that Marshall deserved a field assignment."

"Mr. Roosevelt's other military advisers - Admiral King, General Arnold and General Leahy - insisted that General Marshall be kept at Washington because of his knowledge of global strategy. FDR finally acquiesced to their urging, comforting Marshall with the statement that 'I would not sleep nights if you were not in Washington!' GROOM - General Eisenhower

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON HOLLYWOOD - (NEA) - The boys have started to play peek-a-boo with blackjacks in the Academy races. I have before me a full-page advertisement in daily Variety, taken out by Warner Brothers, which quotes the cinema section of Time Magazine of Jan. 3, 1945.

"The quote: 'The Best of 1944' the critics panned long enough . . . to pick the 10 best pictures of 1944. By week's end, four notable lists had appeared. Only two films landed on all four lists: Sir Laurence Olivier's monumental Hamlet, and Warner's melodrama, Johnny Belinda."

"The advertisement, of course, failed to include Time's next sentence, which read: 'Twentieth Century-Fox's shocker about insanity, The Snakepit, placed on three lists (its late release missed the deadline for the fourth).'"

"CAN AFFORD IT - A Hollywood extra and bit player named Florence Vinsen had to decline an invitation to President Truman's inaugural gala and it almost broke her heart. 'But it would have broken my bank account if I had gone,' Flo said, 'and I can afford a broken heart.'"

"The mailman brought the official invitation to Flo's tiny walk-up Hollywood apartment. She said she wasn't too surprised, but her neighbors launched a two-day celebration. 'I guess,' said Flo, 'The President or somebody saw all my publicity.'"

"Flo, who is short and bulging and a character, is Hollywood's self-styled 'Premiere Queen.' 'I haven't missed a premiere in 23 years,' which Warner Brothers made official recently at the 'Johnny Belinda' premiere. Flo said she added a postscript to her letter declining the invitation—she ignored the committee and mailed it direct to Truman. The P. S. read: 'Maybe I can make it in '45.'"

"NEW FACES - Universal - International's big campaign to find new faces for the screen reminds me of Walter Catlett's classic crack to a studio executive with whom he had been feuding for a long time. They met on the lot and the executive said he was going to New York. 'What for?' said Catlett. 'To find some new faces,' said the executive. 'Well, well, you're there,' said Catlett, 'get a new one for yourself.'"

"Now it can be told how Jane Greer got her release from Howard Hughes so she could win a Academy art RKO—where her new boss is H. H. Howard tore up her contract after Jane agreed to pay him back $7500. He had invested in Jane. Jane sent him $25 a week for two weeks. Then one evening they met at a party and Hughes said: 'Jane, you're four weeks behind in your payments and you still owe me $7500.'"

"There would be a great gain in international co-operation if the well-fed and prosperous realized that the overwhelming majority of the plain people of this earth are still primarily concerned with the fundamentals of life: food, clothes, shelter, relief from hunger, pain and sickness. -Sen. J. Howard McGrath (D) of Rhode Island. was also second choice for his present post, a fact not generally known. Columbia's first selection for president was Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas. Pampa Team Glovers Make Four Championships

Roy Named As 'Outstanding Boxer'; Win Team Trophy

The Pampa Golden Gloves did a pretty good job of sweeping through the regional Golden Gloves Tournament at Amarillo Saturday night. Going home with the Pampa team were four championship trophies, one runner-up trophy, the outstanding boxer award and the regional high school team trophy.

The four champions from Pampa are Donnie Ray, Joe Landrum, Rex Bradford and Eugene Cooper. The outstanding boxer was Donnie Ray. The runner-up was Francis Hunt.

DONNIE RAY, Shamrock	112	John Andrada, Amarillo	147
JOE LANDRUM, Shamrock	118	Leon Palacio, Amarillo	154
FRANK TAYLOR, Amarillo	126	Claude King, Amarillo	162
REX BRADFORD, Cleardon	135	John Hernandez, Amarillo	170
FRANK TAYLOR, Amarillo	147	GENE COOPER, Pampa	178
Calvin Pyle, Lockney	160	Willis Hawkins, WTSC	186
Bill Davis, Plainview	175	Jose Perez, Amarillo	194
Bob Phillips, Wellington	182	Hyatt Bill Thompson, Plainview	210

The high school team trophy was won by the Pampa team with a total of 23 points. Blackburn's of Amarillo had 13, Childers 12, Lockney 10, Plainview 8, Borger 7 and Dalhart 3. The trophy was awarded to Jim Arndt, head of the Pampa team, by Gene McDonald, president of the Borger Jaycees. The trophy is a beautiful replica of the boxing ring in the Sports Arena, with two boxers in action inside the ring. This is the second consecutive year that Pampa has taken the team award.

The first Pampa boxer to be crowned champion this year was Donnie Ray, the Shamrock slugger. He met Elmo Sams of Lockney in the 112-pound class. The first round was fairly slow, both boys being very cautious. Donnie did land several hard lefts and rights during a flurry midway through the round. The second round found Sams' long left hand landing several times in Donnie's face. But Sams was constantly ducking low and clinching, and nobody was hurt to this point. In the third round Donnie dropped Sams twice for a nine count, but couldn't land the finishing blow. Two other times Sams went down for no count, and at the bell both boys were very tired and groggy, with Sams' nose bleeding very profusely. The decision went to Donnie Ray.

The second fight of the night brought the second Pampa champion, Joe Landrum, also of Shamrock. His foe was a little Indian boy, John Wilkerson from Borger. Landrum was the aggressor all of the way, hitting Wilkerson in trouble many a time. The first round Landrum landed several solid punches, but caught two left leads in return. The second round Landrum landed several flurries of hard rights and lefts and had the Indian boy protecting himself on the ropes. In the third round Joe slipped down for no count, but got up to throw more hard lefts and rights which found their mark. The winner by decision was Joe Landrum, another Shamrock slugger.

The third Pampa team to be crowned champion was Rex Bradford, the tourney dark horse, who fought his way to a close decision over Gene Cook of Childers. In the first round Rex was throwing lots of leather, but no damage was done. Rex slipped to the canvas once for no count. In the second Rex started off by landing a hard right, with Cook strictly counter-fighting. A hard right to the head dropped Rex for an eight count, but did not hurt him, as he got up and retaliated with a terrific flurry of hard rights. In the third round both boys were tired and it was a slow two minutes. The fight was a close one, with Rex Bradford getting the decision.

The next member of the Pampa team to fight was Francis Hunt, in the 160-pound class, who met Calvin Pyle of Lockney. Hunt lost the decision in this three rounder. He fought a defensive fight all of the way, trying to counter-punch, but missing his mark with his hard left. In the third round Hunt was hurt by a hard right, which Pyle followed up with another hard right and left. Both boys showed respect for the other. Last year Pyle KO'd Hunt in the finals, which was probably the reason Francis fought the defensive battle.

The final Pampa entry in the tournament was Eugene Cooper in the 175-pound open division. His foe was Roy Chism of Amarillo College. Chism was a muscular, game boy that took quite a bit of body punishment, but refused to go down. Cooper fought a stalking fight, but missed several hard lefts. He dropped Chism for eight seconds in the second round. For a right again in the third. Gene didn't look as sharp as usual, but easily won the decision.

The other awards in the tournament were trophies to all of the champions and the runner-up. The team trophy in the open division was won by the Borden team of Amarillo with 19 points. Jim Arndt made the presentation to Marlon Guans, manager of the team. Jose Perez was the Delmar

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Mason—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Who was the 1944 112-pound open division champion of the Amarillo Golden Gloves tournament?

CONGRATULATIONS: To the Pampa Golden Gloves team that swept through the Amarillo tournament, heaping many honors upon themselves and earning the respect of the other team members. And especially to little Donnie Ray, that Shamrock slugger, who walked off with the "outstanding boxer" award. Donnie certainly earned the trophy. He is a fine fighter and a great sportsman.

The way that these boys fought assures Pampa of having another fine team representing them next year. With just a little luck, or whatever you may want to call it, Pampa could have had seven champions instead of the four. Leon Kelly could have easily won his weight but his lack of aggressiveness cost him the title. He is a good fighter, and packs a mule-kick left, but in his defensive fight he didn't get to land it.

The other Pampa boy who could have won, and should have, was James Bowers. Everyone who talked to agreed that Bowers was one of the finest fighters of the tournament. But Friday night he lost a three-round decision that was very questionable, and that caused the crowd, including the Amarilloans, to boo for a full five minutes, although the boy who won the decision was from Amarillo. Taylor, the boy who won the decision, pulled and butted James into the ropes, where he flailed away wildly, landing more with his shoulders and elbows than with the gloves. It was a tough fight for James to lose, but nothing could be done about it, the judges' opinion being final. James has had no one to train him, and advanced through the all-city, district and county levels of the regional with the boxing knowledge he has taught himself.

Jim Arndt did a fine job of handling the boys. His work on the badly cut eye of Rex Bradford undoubtedly kept Rex from becoming a TKO victim. A heavy coating of 50-skin was applied to the eye nightly to keep it from being cut open again.

And a big bouquet of roses to Harry Gilstrap and Frank Godsoe, Jr. for the fine way that the tournament was conducted. And to Duke Nally for his job of overall-directing that did, Good luck to the regional team in the Fort Worth tournament.

ANSWER: The 112-pound champion in 1944 was Eugene Cooper, who has won a championship in some weight or division every year since then.

DOT AND DASHES: All of the trophies looked beautiful as they were stacked in the ring Saturday night before the fights started. . . And Jim Arndt looked very envious as he gazed at them before the night's activity started.

Little did he know we would take so many of them home — Bernie Howell was on the pipe organ to furnish the music prior to the start of the fights. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, and son Billy Ed, arrived on the scene early so see son Gene in action — Johnny Hernandez appeared a bit over anxious after he won his fight. . . He went over to one of the cameramen in a corner of the ring and asked if they wanted a picture of him — In one of the slow fights of the night, a lady sitting at Warmup's side made the notation on her card "ho-hum". . . The Pampa squad was slightly ahead on points at the start of the final night's action, needing two champions to clinch the trophy and retain the title — Neither one of the state champions, Cooper nor Palacio, found the going easy the final night. . . The referees did a good job keeping the highly excited boys in line in the ring — Free programs were being sold to aid the March of Dimes drive which is still on — Don't miss the Chamber of Commerce banquet honoring the Harvesters footballers Thursday night.

Austin Back In Big Time

SHERMAN — (AP) — Ray Morrison, who has been coaching for years, is coming to Sherman to see about rebuilding the sagging football fortunes of Austin College.

The little Presbyterian school, once feared by the best of them hasn't had a winner in years. In the past two seasons the Kangaroos hopped pretty low—they won only two games each year.

Morrison, credited with bringing pass-happy football to the Southwest, was signed to a contract at a salary unofficially reported to be $8,500 per year. The length of contract was not revealed but he will be the boss of the Austin College athletic department. The salary is an increase of more than $1,000 over what the coach had been drawing.

His desire to return to Texas, where he started as a coach and put Southern Methodist into the big-time, was an important factor in his accepting the position here. He had resigned at Temple University only last Thursday after being there nine years. The announcement that he was coming to Austin College was issued Saturday.

Morrison coached at Southern Methodist for 15 seasons and won three Southwest Conference championships. He made SMU a national power with ambitious intentions scheduled to return to Notre Dame and Army.

He went to Vanderbilt as coach in 1935 and had considerable success there before moving to Pittsburgh where his record suffered. Morrison will arrive here about March 1 to start spring training. He will be greeted by a veteran squad. Austin College issued letters to 29 men last season, all of whom were eligible to return.

Bill Pierce resigned as athletic director and coach here Dec. 6 after a two-year tenure. His assistants, Milton Buchanan and Byron Gilbreath, remain. Whether they will be retained has not yet been announced by Morrison.

Austin College, now celebrating its one hundredth year, has an enrollment of about 700. School officials said obtaining Morrison as a coach was a move to get top material for the football squad. Plans are underway for building a new gymnasium at the college.

Dr. W. B. Guernsey, president of Austin College, said "We are rightly pleased. We know that in Coach Morrison we are getting not only a great builder of football talent but also a man whose fine personal character has had an influence for good in Southwestern athletics."

Southwest Cagers Return to Action

By The Associated Press. The Texas Southwest Conference basketball race picks up again this week and you can take your choice among Rice, Baylor and Texas as the top title favorite.

These three teams are in a virtual tie for the lead. Each has been beaten once. Baylor, crippled by the loss of guard Bill Johnson has won five victories to hold a percentage advantage.

Loop play opens tonight at Fayetteville, Ark., with Texas A&M taking on Arkansas, a rank outsider now in the championship race.

Thursday the University of Texas Longhorns are host to Oklahoma University in an inter-sectional game at Austin. Friday, Texas Christian plays Southern Methodist University at Dallas and Saturday two games are scheduled — Texas and Texas A&M play at College Station and Baylor and Rice at Waco.

Johnson hurt his back in an automobile accident last week and is out for the remainder of the season.

The slow-starting Rice Owls have hit a terrific pace of late and loom as the best possibility to replace Baylor as conference champion.

The Owls, paced by big Bill Tom, have five of their remaining eight games at home.

Texas A&M picks up strength this week when Jewell McDowell, sensational freshman, becomes eligible.

Tom paces season scoring with 229 points. Julius Doin is a Texas Christian leads Conference scoring with 80 points.

Since 1928 the New York Rangers have not lost the traditional Christmas night National Hockey League game.

BUILDING NEWS

Local Lumberman Told What Future Holds for Building

Although there may be a period of readjustment in the months ahead for all types of business, the general outlook for building is positive toward continued heavy demand until at least 1960, Lynn Boyd and Jack Sullivan said on their return from Dallas, where they attended a conference of building authorities held by Johns-Manville Corporation. Reports at the meeting covered studies made throughout the United States. The discussion was led by company executives from New York, including Vice Presidents Harold R. Berlin, general manager of the company's Building Products Division; R. S. Hammond, general sales manager; W. R. Wilkinson, merchandise manager; and H. M. Shackelford, sales promotion manager. "During the war, Johns-Manville visualized and took steps to meet the unprecedented demand for building products which came with the end of the war," Berlin said. "Our company developed a $80,000,000 expansion and improvement program—more than half of this amount was devoted to increased production of building products. Today, the company has completed several new factories and has enlarged production facilities in most of the other plants. "In this period of competition we are entering, consumers will turn from products which do not measure up to their standards for quality and service, and accordingly there may be a falling off of consumer demand," Berlin added. "Insofar as prices are concerned, there would appear to be definite limits to any prospective decline as purchases are adjusted to income. Even though the saturation point is reached for certain items, demand promises to continue strong for many items with a combination of factors indicating relatively high volume of business for our total economy. Once the water is squeezed out of cost, we should reach a fairly solid price foundation. "Here, labor cost is a major factor. There seems little chance that wages will come down, although a degree of unemployment and increased responsibility on the part of labor as well as longer experience on the job may stabilize productivity at a higher level. "Along with labor costs, raw material cost and freight increases are other more general factors tending to support prices. Included in these are the enormous public debt; the large volume of money and credit available; the wartime increase in the number of family units and in the birth rate; the interest of the public in the essentials of a rising standard of living; and the prospect of increased sales efforts on the part of business. "There appears, therefore, a bright outlook for steel, automobiles, building construction and durable goods. Especially important in the long term outlook is the prospect of a population mounting to 155 million by 1960, high wages, capital purchases running for several years, reasonable foreign trade possibilities, and the Marshall Plan. "The probability of high volume carries with it the prospect of greatly intensified competition, because the machinery capable of such enormous production itself promises that goods of each type will ultimately be thrown on the market in excess of current effective demand," Berlin said. Hammond emphasized the tremendous task before the building industry by pointing out that more than two million married couples are doubled up with friends and relatives because they can't get homes of their own, and that census figures show new families will continue to be formed in 1949 and for the following years at the rate of from 400,000 to half a million a year. "Measured against these figures, we know that only about 750,000 houses were completed in 1947 and that in 1948 the total may be around one million," Hammond added. "It is easy to see that at that rate it will be at least two or three years before the building industry will catch up with the more urgent demand for new homes." Hammond said part of his company's effort to meet this urgent demand was directed toward training capable salesmen to serve the building industry. Earlier this year 73 new salesmen were given an intensive training course in Johns-Manville products and their uses and in basic salesmanship, so that they in turn could be of maximum benefit to the company's customers. Johns-Manville's part in expanding its production facilities to meet the demand for the company's building products was outlined by Wilkinson. "Through expansion of plants and equipment, the company has increased production of asbestos shingles 140 percent, asphalt roofing 72 percent, Fibroboard (an asbestos cement utility board) 180 percent, rock wool batt home insulation 75 percent, insulating board 100 percent," Wilkinson said. "For 1949, our figures show that the company's capacity for producing dealer building materials will be more than double what it was in 1941." Wilkinson also pointed to the many improvements made in each Johns-Manville building material to give the building public a better quality product with more types, colors and styles to choose from; such improvements, he said, are the result of continuous effort on the part of the company's research laboratories, engineering department, factories, salesmen and customers. Shackelford outlined the company's sales promotion program, stressing the importance of the full use of advertising and sales promotion and the development of trained sales organizations to provide greater service to the home builder in the competitive era that lies ahead.

New Heat Unit Helps Bar Heat Loss at Window

Modern architecture has brought the large picture window and window wall into vogue for new and modernized American homes. In small homes, the advantage of the large glass area lies in its contribution to a feeling of added space and to making possible dramatic new decorative effects. There are problems, however. Not the least of these is the problem of providing comfortable warmth in rooms where heat loss through a large glass area is apt to be great. To offset this heat loss, new heating units for installation directly beneath the window areas have been developed. In many modern homes, these new units are partially recessed in the walls directly beneath the window areas. These new cabinet-type units are the decorative charm because they may be painted to harmonize beautifully with nearby draperies, woodwork or adjoining walls. Where recessing is not feasible, the new units may be installed flush against the walls. Most popular of the present-day heating units for this type of installation are the new convective radiators for use on steam or hot water heating systems. In addition to their versatility of installation, convectors provide the modulated heat necessary in rooms where changing outside temperatures are likely to affect indoor conditions. By placing the central thermostat control at a spot where temperatures are likely to remain relatively constant, comfortable warmth may be maintained in rooms with large glass areas by virtue of the manual damper control with which most convectors are equipped. This allows efficient control of heat output in each individual room, without upsetting operation of the central control mechanism.

Beware of Romance

THE STORY: Merry tries to forget Mike's kiss, tells herself he didn't mean anything he said, that she mustn't take him seriously. When Mike sees the Sovern he asks her to go out with him. She's made a conquest. That afternoon Merry goes to a tea where she first sees Mike. He's talking to a lovely lady. XXIII
MIKE, seeing Merry, smiled, put down his cocktail, took the woman's hand in his and drew her over to Merry. "Hello, darling," said Mike softly, and then to the woman beside him, "Mother, this is Merry. Merry's telling you about her." Merry's eyes flew wide open and she barely managed to bite back a startled exclamation. "Is lovely woman, who looked not a day over thirty—well, maybe just barely thirty-three or -four—with wings of raven-blue hair oiled about her head and tucked into a great soft knot at the back—the woman's eyes, a deep, shining blue, widened with delight as she caught Merry's expression, and she said to Mike: "Oh, darling, isn't she a lamb? She doesn't believe I'm really your mother, isn't she sweet?" Flushed and awkward, Merry blurted, "Well, honestly, it doesn't seem possible." Mike said cheerfully, "Oh, she takes real care of herself, I'll say that for her. She's well preserved." "Angel dear, I hate you for that!" said the woman in her soft, lovely voice. Then she turned back to Merry. "I'm so very happy to meet you at last. Mike has simply been raving about you for ages and ages. I've all but grown weary of hearing about you." "Don't spread it on quite so thick, sweet," protested Mike. "I've only known her two days." His mother looked up at him in gentle perplexity.

stay friendly with them. So far I've managed it." MERRY drew a deep breath and Mike grinned at her. "Shocked?" he asked mildly. "Shocked?" "Well, I understand you look with a dim eye on divorce." "That's not true. And anyway, it's none of my business." "Well, of course it is. After all, since you are marrying into the family—" "Aren't you getting a little tired of that line?" "Bless-me! I don't think so. I still find it a bit exciting." He laughed at her warmly. "Look, Precious, let's get out of here. There are places to go and things to do and people to be avoided." "A voided?" "Certainly. In my mood, I have no desire to share you. Let's find a place for dinner where neither of us knows a soul and where we can hold hands and gaze into each other's eyes and be idiots, as people who have just tumbled headlong into love have every right to be." Merry looked across the room to where his lovely, incredibly youthful-looking mother was the center of a little knot of admiring men and asked, "Shouldn't you see your mother home first, or something?" "Mimi? She is home. This is her place—didn't you know?" "Goodness, so." "Well, there's no reason you should. Come along." "But if she is my hostess, shouldn't I say goodby to her and thank her for the party?" She broke off, flushed, as he laughed at her. "Not unless you want to bewilder her to the point of tears," he grinned at her. "I doubt seriously if she knows the names of half a dozen people here and probably those were not invited." And Merry, a little subdued because it seemed so strange and alien to all the established rules of hospitality that held good in Marshallville, yielded and let Mike draw her out of the room and into the elevator. Tomato Sauce Adds Zest to Eggs

Eggs poached in tomato sauce have new interest.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Eggs are beginning to get more plentiful and prices are lower too. Now is the time therefore, to use eggs more frequently in main dishes as well as for breakfast "as is." Remember—eggs are one of the best sources of first-class protein, just like meat, fowl, fish and cheese. Combine them with canned tomato sauce, chives, cheese, mushrooms.

EGGS POACHED IN TOMATO SAUCE

Six eggs; 2 tablespoons canned tomato sauce; 1-2 teaspoon Tabasco sauce, if desired; 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce; 1 tablespoon chopped parsley; 4 tablespoons melted butter.

Mix sauces and parsley. Melt butter in frying pan, add sauce and parsley. When hot, drop in eggs and cook (as for poaching) very slowly until done to desired consistency. Basic carefully with sauce while cooking. Serve on rounds of hot toast.

This egg casserole makes a fine dinner main dish for even the lushest eaters.

EGG CASSEROLE
(Serves 6)

Six hard-cooked eggs; 1 can small shrimp; 1 (3 ounce) can broiled in butter mushrooms; 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine; 4 tablespoons flour; 1-2 teaspoon salt; 1-2 cup milk; 1-2 cups canned tomato sauce; 1-3 cup grated American cheese; 1 teaspoon grated onion or minced chives.

Butter casserole. Cut eggs in half and remove yolks. Mash and season with salt, pepper, pinch of mustard and a little canned tomato sauce. Stuff back into whites and arrange in bottom of casserole. Lay shrimp on top of eggs and then sliced mushrooms. Melt butter or margarine in saucepan, add flour and mix to paste. Add salt, milk and canned tomato sauce gradually. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add cheese and onion or chives. Pour over eggs and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes.

It Appears as if Toiletries Are Here To Stay; Seems Times Have Changed

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

It wasn't so long ago that women had to invent leadaches to have their foreheads anointed with cologne. If ladies would take up the pastime of fainting again, the whole fashion and cosmetics picture could change.

Sophistication might be put on the shelf as girls reverted to wearing tight corsets that nipped the waistline to a 20-inch span (the better to faint from, "dear," little-girl upswreeps and daisies) in their straw sailor chapeaux.

Back on toiletries shelves would go smelling salts, headache cologne and floral hearts used for perfuming the breath—reviving a whole new market. Mom might acquire that "natural blush" again by dipping a rose in water and rubbing it on her cheeks. Or perhaps a strawberry would do the trick.

Such was the subterfuge used by young ladies in the Nineties, and even before, who wanted to enhance their beauty without inviting the wrath of the gentlemen of that period.

Cosmetics manufacturers often gave cooperation to the ladies of that era. Memorabilia from Richard Hudnut's archives reveal that, as one of the leading cosmetics of that period, he encouraged their whimsies to the ten women who formed a club so that as a group they could be real services to their community. As the membership grew, so did their services to the community, she said.

A refreshment plate was served to those mentioned and to Mrs. Earl Aldeman, Mrs. Bob Brown, Mrs. Maurice Upham, Mrs. Ray Carruth, Mrs. John Brewer, Mrs. Ray Jordan, Mrs. Bud Cumberland, Mrs. R. H. Barron, Mrs. Eldon Carter and Mrs. Bill Watson.

The next meeting will be held Thursday night, Feb. 3, in the home of Mrs. Osburn.

Art and Civic Elects Officers

LEFORS (Special)—The Lefors Art and Civic Club met Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Ray Boyd with all members present for the election of new officers.

They are: President, Mrs. Bill Smith; first vice president, Mrs. Mary Reynolds; second vice president, Mrs. Jack Nichols; third vice president, Mrs. Marton Brown; secretary, Mrs. Scott Hall; treasurer, Mrs. Boyd; reporter, Mrs. L. R. Spence; parliamentarian, Mrs. Bill Osburn; and year book chairman, Mrs. Howard Archer.

Mrs. Archer was leader of the regular program of the evening on "Federation." Mrs. Clyde Rodscape spoke on "The Federated Club Women." She said there was no end to mental activity which often wanes with the passing of school days as women become engrossed with their cooking, cleaning and caring for our families. By studying and taking part their minds become active and receptive to the outside world again, she said.

"The Club Women as a Civic Worker" was given by Mrs. Hall. She said there was no end to things women could do in civic work as a club. She told about

LOOK FOR THE "LITTLE MAN"

LIFE BEGINS AT FIVE FOR JUNIOR

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

As children make the transition from infancy to childhood, says Louise Hornbrook, helping teacher in a Kansas City, Mo., kindergarten, their most difficult learning are those involved in finding out their relations to others, and in coming to terms with themselves. Writing in the Missouri Parent-Teacher, she says:

"In infancy the world revolves around junior and his wants, but as he grows older he is faced with problems in human relationships which frequently are in conflict with his own desires. This is especially true when a child becomes five."

It is then, Miss Hornbrook says, that junior enters kindergarten and, for the first time perhaps, comes face to face with large groups of children of his own age who are total strangers to him; an adult whom he probably has never seen before in his life; a room that is very different from any that he has been in before.

Only through experience and guidance by someone who knows how to help children make friends will he learn the techniques which will become more or less his pattern of social behavior.

This important age of five is a key year in his development. It is the time in his career when he will benefit greatly from wise guidance and trained leadership and a life full of first-hand experiences. What really is needed at this time is more space in which to work and play, more materials with which to work, longer building time for blocks, paints, plenty of time in which to play, work with clay, wood, and other materials.

It is a year, she says, when curiosity should be encouraged; horizons broadened not restricted to the printed page; independence and initiative guided and cultivated; creative ability fostered and developed.

The painted picture the child brings to you may not look like "beans on a mountain" or a "man out walking" or a "girl picking flowers" but that is what it is to the child who has created it and, therefore, it is accepted and praised for its beautiful colors and the story it tells," she says.

WE, THE WOMEN
BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

According to a recent scientific study the happiest time of life for both men and women is the period between ages 20 to 30. Well it ought to be. At that age the break away from apprenticeship is still new enough so that independence is exciting. At that age having to get along on a little money isn't depressing. Most other young people are just getting a start, too, so there's no pressure yet to "keep up with the Joneses."

There's still plenty of time for success—and it's easy in the twenties to believe that success will come.

If there are children, they are young enough not to have turned out disappointingly. Johnny can

Most people consider a variety in bread just as important as a change in vegetables. At the Pampa Baking Company or through local grocers, Pampanos are able to get a large variety of Golden Loaf breads.

Besides the regular stand-by of many people, Golden Loaf white bread, other breads made at the local bakery include: Wholewheat, rye, pimiento cheese, French and raisin bread.

Besides bread, many pastries also are made at Pampa Baking. Some of the favorites in the pastry line are: rolls, doughnuts, cakes, pies, Mary-Anns, Metropolitans, dipped and decorated Petits fours. In fact there is nothing in the baked goods line that one cannot order at the Pampa Baking Company.

Homemade pies and pastry are the results of Johnson's efforts. Many people have gotten into the habit of going to Johnson's Cafe, principally to get some of those delicious baked goods. Besides preparing part of the luscious food that is served at the cafe, Johnson always gets up in the middle of the night to get the next day's baking out.

Though Asia often is termed the cradle of mankind, there is no proof that earliest man developed on that continent, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

It is said that four milk bottles are used for every person who takes a bottle of milk daily. While one is being delivered, a second awaits the next delivery, a third is being washed, and a fourth is kept in reserve.
