reformed that dear black-caped witch of our youth. They've taken away her broomstick-the fastest thing known in the pre-jet age-and sent her to the dentist to have her snaggle teeth replaced by a set of plastic upper and lower plates.

Why, today you can hardly tell her from Grandma. And I think that is a sad thing—they are confusing Halloween with Christmas. And it isn't fair to the kids the way grownups are ing this wonderful evening away from them, and taming it. The real Halloween came from the forest. In olden Druidic days it was the night when Saman, lord of death, held carnival. Good people built huge bonfires on the highest hills to ward off the legions of evil that winged through the darkness on black

Civilization gradually married Halloween to the Christmas festival of All Saints' Day and the Roman festival honoring Pomona, the goddess of fruit trees. When the children duck for apples now, it's in memory of forgotten Pomona

But as the ancient terror fell away from Halloween and people began to lose their belief in witches, the kids joyously took the festival over from the adults. They kept some of the old wood-

They identified themselves with the naughty spirits. It was evening out of 365 when they could make a rebellion against the commonplace --- and try to scare the grownoups, or at least annoy them.

There was no real vandalism. The soaped windows could be cleaned with a razor blade and a little elbow grease.

But apparently even that small price became too much for some adults to pay for the thrill the youngsters got on their one night out. For now in many communities they have formal pa-rades and parties to keep the kids in check. Store owners get the children to draw pictures on their windows with washable paint, and award prizes

This may be art-but it isn't Halloween. It puts childish fun in an adult harness on a night when the kids should be free.

WASHINGTON-(AP)-Steel industry sources said today a strike-ending agreement has been reached between Bethlehem Steel Corp. and the CIO steelworkers' union.

These sources said an announcement of the agreement will be made at Cleveland this afternoon (4 p. m. EST) by Philip Murray, head of the CIO and its striking steelworkers union.

They said a major feature of the agreement calls for expansion of the corporation's existing pension plan, with the employer still paying the retary of state when the United entire cost of pensions.

tions is quite simple. Legs are dressed so that they blend into the general fashion picture. The idea is to see that legs don't "stand out" on their own to attract independent glances. If you want to bring your legs into the general fashion picture which, say, will be dominated this fall and winter by a camel's hair coat, wear stockings of "camel tan" color. That subtle shade was made for a color-blend between stockings and coat. To carry color blending one step farther wear camel-tan sport shoes.

Stockings with clocks cleverly worked up the back were designed, for slenderizing ankles. If a taupe color is chosen, it has a more slimming effect on heavy legs than the usual beige shade. Clocked stockings make an ideal go between for a dark fall suit

Roof Overhang Shades Windows of Cape Cod Home

An interesting combination of modern and traditional architecture is seen in this attractive Cap Cod dwelling. A foot-wide overhanging cave across the front of the clapboard and brick house provides shelter for the center entrance and shades the  $7' \times 7'$  living-room window and the smaller one in the front bedroom. The architeet gave particular attention to light and ventilation. The living-room window has an immovable center section 4' x 7' flanked by 1'8" double-hung windows which can be opened for ventilation. Two standard sized double-hung windows at the corner of the rear bedroom help eross-ventilate the house. Still more light and air are admitted by the casement window group

The same thoughtful planning for comfort and maximum livability is found throughout the 24' x 34; house. Full-thick mineral wool insulation in walls and ceiling makes the house cool in summer and reduces the initial cost of the oil-fired, automatically-humidified warm-air

Free traffic flow results from locating a hall behind the stairway leading to the expansion attic. All rooms except the dinette open off this hall. Kitchen and dinette are separated by a 3-foot-high semi-partition with center passageway. A trellis above the partition extends to the celling and provides a place to display flowers or climbing vines. The living-room, 13½ feet square, has five bookshelves recessed into one wall. An 8-foot storage closet with two doors for easy access is provided in the master bedroom. Two future rooms can be added inexpensively in the unfinished attic because the builder extended the warm air heat ducts into the attic at time of construction. Roof rafters are joined by 8 collar-beams to give the house more strength and serve as a base for future celling finish.

By R. C. HOILES Editor Tries to Defend

Tax Supported Schools one mailed me an editorial

from the Sacramento Union under the heading "No Standing Still". They have typed on the editorial "comment, if any". I am very giad to comment. It seems to me that the editorial is just a lot of words. If it shows anything, it shows that the editorial writer is badly confused. I will reproduce the editorial so that I can comment on it:

"Change comes painfully. There are always those who are satisfied with the status quo, and those who resist bitterly any attempt change the scheme of things. It has been that way since the be-ginning of our country.

"Less than 100 years ago free public education was con as socialistic. Dr. E. P. Cubberly of Stanford University, historian and American educator, has described the change from the early class and sectarian attitudes to our present concept of free ed-ucation available to all at public expense as follows: 'Excepting for the battle for abolition of slavery, perhaps no question has ever been before the American people for settlement which caused so much feeling or aroused such bitter antagonisms. Old friends and business associates parted company over the question, lodges were forced to taboo the subject avold disruption, ministers and their congregations often quarried over the question of free schools. and politicians avoided the issue. The friends of free schools were commonly regarded as fanatics, dangerous to the state'.

"But now we proclaim the public school system as the bulwark of our liberties and honor it as the greatest of our public agencies, it was pointed out recently by Governor Warren in an address in Los Angeles. All of this change in attitude has come within the lives of some people still living. "There is a distinction between social progress and socialism. Public schools in Russia are communistic. Public schools in Germany were state socialism, but public schools in America are part and parcel of our republic. If we resist mprovements because they involve change, we will eventually get changes without improve-

The editor, in the first place, does not tell who those people are who are satisfied with the status quo. I know of no such person. He implies in his editorial that any one who opposes anything is standing in the road of progress and that all change is good. He does not use any impersonal rule to determine whether or not change is good. It seems to be in the editor's mind that a thing is good if he likes it or the majority likes it or that is good r it is undoubtedly true that years ago before individuals were miseducated by tax supported schools many people realized what tax supported schools really are-so-cialism, and a denial of individual

One Scout ader plans to keep his pack of potential pranksters partially paci-fied with cocoa and doughnuts. But there will be gobs of gob lins left without parties or meetings and others who will leave the social affairs early enough to loose looking for anything not tied down.

In defense, Pampans have been stocking up on candy, cookies gum and anything else they figure might appease the not-so-evil sprites. It's just a matter of a treat instead of a treatment.

For the local police department, all cars will be called. Acting Police Chief J. O. Dumas said all twenty of his men would be on tonight and that all three cars would be cruising the town. Eighteen of his men will be on patrol. The chief said his only hope was that he didn't get more than three calls at one time. The firemen are hoping too. They hope this year turns out as well as did last year. It is usually the firemen who are called to drag lawn furniture, gates, and other incidentals from atop tele-phone poles and houses. But the 1948 goblins dealt the firemen no misery and the department had no calls to make. Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said that if everything went as well this year

BACH COMES TO LIFE-Lovers of organ music are turning their ears toward Fort Worth, where the finest concert pipe organ in the Southwest and one of the largest in the entire South will soon echo the masterpieces of J. S. Bach and the other classical composers in their original fiery brilliance of 200 years ago. Just installed in the new $1,500,000 Fine Arts Building and Auditorium at Texas Christian University, the great four-manual Moller organ has 5000 pipes, ranging from two inches to 32 feet in length. Its console, shown above, has 150 controls in addition to the four keyboards and the foot pedals. It will be heard for the first time in concert at 3:30 p.m. Sum day, when Gordon Young, eminent young American concert organist and newly-appointed TCU faculty member, will present a concert. Alexander McCurdy, of Philadelphia's Curtis Institute of Music, will play a concert at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 12. Dr. E. W. Doty of the University of Texas will close the series with a concert at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 16. All three concerts will be free to the public.
