

Proposed Canadian Dam Would Bring Filtered Water Here at 7.5 Per 1000 Gallons

Filtered water at 7.5 cents per 1,000 gallons may someday be gushing into Pampa through a 27-inch pipeline from the proposed Canadian River dam near Sanford, Hutchinson County.

But that is at least four to five years in the future.

The water could come from the large dam and reservoir being sought by 11 cities of the North and South Plains in the Panhandle, through the efforts of the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority.

This was the latest development to stem from the conference Friday in Plainview between officials of the Bureau of Reclamation and officials of the cities, which are Pampa, Amarillo, Borger, Plainview, Lamesa, Lubbock, Tahoka, Levelland, O'Donnell, Littlefield, and Stanton.

Bureau officials said there were two ways of assessing the cost—one, a flat rate, regardless of distance of the consuming city from the dam; and two, a graduated rate, based on distance of consumer city from the dam.

To speed authorization by Congress and obtain proper appropriations, John McCarthy, president of the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority, Amarillo, appointed Jack Cunningham, president of the Southwestern Public Service Co., Amarillo, City Commissioner, Clarence Whiteside, Lubbock, and Lawrence Hagy, former Amarillo mayor, as members of a special committee to go to Washington to seek early Congressional authorization of the project. Rex Baxter and Joe Cooley, Amarillo and Borger Chambers of Commerce managers, will act as secretaries to the committee.

A water district will have to be formed by the cities, and a three-man steering committee to head the district were elected. They are Clarence Whiteside, chairman, Mayor C. A. "Lefty" Huff, vice chairman, and Joe Cooley, secretary.

Late Saturday, Joe Cooley, secretary to the committee that will arrange for a Congressional hearing, announced he had requested Rep. Eugene Worley to set a date and site for the hearing.

An Associated Press dispatch reported yesterday that Worley is expected to advise Cooley Monday of the date and site of the hearing.

The 7.5 cents per thousand gallons for all cities regardless of their distance from the dam was selected because of the extreme low price Amarillo, Borger, and Pampa would have to pay, plus the fact they would also be the closest for recreational purposes and have the recreational traffic coming through their cities, plus the possibility that the water—at 18.1 cents at Lamesa—would cost too much for South Plains cities, causing them to drop out and thus this would raise the price of those remaining on the line.

Each of the 11 cities is putting in its claim for water rights at present, regardless of current needs, to guard against any future emergency.

The bureau in a written report said it would take approximately four years to construct the dam and reservoir, plus another year to complete the aqueduct (pipeline) to serve all 11 cities, meaning it would not be before 1954—or possibly '55—when the new water would come pouring into the cities.

Attending the Plainview meeting Friday from Pampa were: City Manager Dick Pepin, Mayor C. A. Huff and City Commissioner Fred Paronto.

The 27-mile pipeline would start at the dam and extend to Sanford where it would reach off to Borger and Pampa in one direction and to Amarillo and other points south in another direction. The diameter of the pipeline would be 84 inches at the dam to Sanford and would be 27 inches coming into Pampa through three pumping stations between here and Borger.

Construction costs are repayable to the federal government by the cities over a period of 50 years.

City officials yesterday gave no detailed comment other than that they thought the proposed dam would be an asset to the city.

City Manager Dick Pepin had a detailed report on his desk—a like one was given other cities on the proposed line—covering the Reclamation Bureau's findings, cost estimates and recommendations. Pepin said he had no further comment until he has studied the volume, a loose leaf affair almost as thick as the average law book.

The dam and reservoir are to be used for supplying water and water transportation to the cities, recreational features, and for limited irrigation facilities.

An Associated Press dispatch during the weekend gave this account of the construction:

Location of the dam is near Sanford in Hutchinson County, 20 miles north of Amarillo. The dam would be a rolled earthen structure 7,280 feet long and 185 feet high with a top width of 40 feet.

Controlled storage of water in the Sanford reservoir would be 40,000 acre feet for sedimentation, 440,000 for conservation and 425,000 for flood control.

Regarding quality of the water, the report said that it would be superior in fluoride content to ground water now used; superior in hardness to present sources except Amarillo. Plainview and Pampa; superior to all in magnesium and bi-carbonate content; superior to Lamesa, Lubbock, Pampa and O'Donnell in chlorides and inferior to all cities except O'Donnell in sulphates. The water is considered acceptable for municipal use.

Pepin, commenting on the purity of the water, said it was quite possible Pampa would have to chlorinate it before it would go into the city mains with the rest of the normal city supply. This would be necessary, he said, because the government-sponsored project at present—indicates no further treatment than filtration.

City Pool Will Open For Summer

A completely remodeled and renovated municipal swimming pool will open for the summer at 1 p.m. Tuesday, city officials announced Saturday morning.

The newest feature to be added this year is the water heating system for cool days. A heating plant that will heat pool water to a comfortable temperature on cooler days has recently been installed by the city. All of the bath houses and the pool itself have been repainted and reworked.

Bert Isbell, Pampa, a May graduate of Central State Teachers College, Okla., and who majored in physical education, has been appointed head life guard. At least one or two other local boys will be hired as life guards within the next week. Isbell will conduct swimming classes between 11 a.m. and noon each day. He has also been charged with the safety and conduct of swimmers at the pool. City Manager Dick Pepin said.

A concession stand that will also handle bathing suits for rent will be operated by Mrs. Aubrey Jones. City officials said, however, that most of the suits for rent will be for children with very few adult suits available.

Pool hours will be from 1 to 7 p.m. Monday to Saturday and from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

There will be no season tickets sold this year.

Van Stewart Heads TPA

GALVESTON — (AP) — Van Stewart of Perryton was elected president of the Texas Press Association at the final business session of its annual convention Saturday.

The day-in addition to naming of officers—saw announcement of annual awards. First place for general excellence for dailies in cities under 150,000 population went to the Kilgore News-Herald.

Stewart is publisher of the Ochiltree County Herald. Fred Massengill, Jr., of the Terrell Tribune was named vice president and Arthur Kowert of the Fredericksburg Standard secretary-treasurer.

Directors named were John Manthey of the Cleveland Advocate; James Allison of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, and Carter Smocks of the Refugio Times.

Stewart succeeds Bob Matherne of the Baytown Sun as president.

Veto Asked Over Atomic Projects

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congress will be asked Monday to slap a veto powers over atomic projects costing $1,000,000 or more.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.) said he will introduce the bill which will give the joint Congressional Atomic Committee the right to curb spending of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The commission, currently asking $1,000,000,000 for the next 12 months now is unrestricted in its spending authority. Some of its appropriations are described only in general terms because of the secret work involved. However, it is required to keep the committee up to date—in full—on its operations.

PARLONS OF PAMPA MEN ARE REVOKED

The conditional pardon of Garland Pearce, convicted in the fatal shooting of Leonard Brown, Pampa taxi driver, was revoked at 2:30 p. m. Saturday by Governor Beauford H. Jester.

At almost the same time Governor Jester revoked the conditional pardon granted to Elvin Wilkerson convicted in Hutchinson County for burglary about two years ago.

The pardon revocations came following a Grand Jury investigation of both on felony charges. Separate notices of Governor Jester's action arrived here by Western Union late Saturday afternoon. They were addressed to Sheriff G. H. Kyle.

Governor Jester has revoked conditional pardon granted to Garland Pearce No. 102213. Official proclamation will follow next day or two. It was signed by William L. McGill, executive secretary.

The second one: "Governor Jester has revoked the conditional pardon granted to Elvin Wilkerson No. 101976. Official proclamation will follow next day or two." (See PARLONS, Page 5)

The Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee voted in a Saturday meeting to recommend the development of the airport northwest of Pampa as a permanent municipal site.

The committee voted unanimously, it was announced, to recommend to the Commerce Board of Directors that steps be taken to secure Civil Aeronautics Administration approval for funds for that development.

The action was taken in contradiction to a previous recommendation, after comparison of estimated costs for a permanent airport at the northwest site and the present site.

It was revealed at the committee meeting that a saving of at least 50 percent could be realized by the northwest site. In addition, the committee said, the finished airport at the northwest site would be much a better airport.

There are three 4,800-foot paved runways at the northwest airport, which was built and used by the Air Force during the war. There are no paved runways at the present site, which is east of the city. It was reported the Board of (See COMMITTEE, Page 5)

Funeral services for four members of the Feigenspan family, who were killed in an auto accident near Shattuck, Okla., Wednesday, will be held tomorrow.

The dead are: Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie F. Feigenspan, residents of Skellytown the past 23 years, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alton F. Atteberry, of Oklahoma City. David, four-year-old son of the Atteberys, escaped injury in the accident.

Feigenspan, 53, was born in Shelby County, Mo. He had worked for the Shell Oil Co. as engineer for 17 years, and moved to Skellytown from Oil Hill, Kans., in 1926. He was a member of the White Deer Masonic Lodge and a patron of the Eastern Star.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Maggie Feigenspan, and a brother, Harold, both of Bushnot, Kans.; and by two sisters, Mrs. Edith Pershall of El Dorado, Kans., and Mrs. Myrtle D. Mulkey of Rialto, Calif.

Mrs. Clara Victoria Feigenspan, 55, was born June 7, 1894, in Evansville, Ark. She is survived by a brother, T. W. Williams, and a sister, Mrs. Hattie Crosby, both of El Dorado, Kans.

Mrs. Feigenspan was a member of the Rebekah Lodge, and both she and her daughter were members of the Order of the Eastern Star.

The Feigenspans are survived by one son, Dennis, a student at Texas A&M, and by two grandchildren, David Atteberry, and Dian Feigenspan.

Alton F. Atteberry, 33, was born in Collins County, Tex., and graduated from Abilene High School. He received his Bachelor's Degree from Peniel College, Bethany, Okla., and his Master's Degree from the University of Oklahoma.

During the war, he spent three years in the Coast Guard and graduated from the New London, Conn., officers' school as lieutenant (jg). He served in the Philippines and Southwest Pacific.

He was to have entered his senior year at the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine this fall. He is survived by his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. V. B. Atteberry, of Gladewater, Tex.; and by three sisters, Mrs. Theta Gardner of Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Zola Seals (See RITES, Page 5)

Lewis Enters New Wage Negotiations

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — John L. Lewis takes on another batch of coal operators in a new series of wage negotiations this week.

and steel industry contract negotiations will bump into the formidable obstacle of pensions when they resume their discussions here Monday.

In the coal industry, a potent block of Northern and Western soft coal operators are scheduled to start bargaining with Lewis and his United Mine Workers lieutenants at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., on Wednesday.

Many Pampa men and boys will be all decked out with new ties tonight. Besides the ESA members being sold the ties, many other women and girls sold ties around town.

20 Unaccounted for in Two-State Area

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — (AP) — Flood waters coursing through mountain-hemmed lowlands of the Shenandoah-Potomac Valley areas of West Virginia and Virginia killed at least five persons and left more than 20 others unaccounted for yesterday.

The Red Cross had unverified reports that two others died in the muddy flood torrents that rose over a 100-mile area almost without warning.

The body of Mrs. Margaret Frances Bricker was found late yesterday at Mount Crawford, a hamlet three miles east of Bridgewater, Va. Others are reported missing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gailther of Petersburg told State Police how their automobile was overturned in the flood near here, and their two-year-old son and two others were carried away to their deaths.

They were identified as Winston V. Gailther, Leola Redmond, 16, and Nate Willis, 18, all of Petersburg.

Airplanes spotted the Gailthers standing on the side of their overturned car.

The fifth fatality reported was a state trooper from Petersburg, on the Potomac's southern branch about 10 miles south of Cumberland, Md.

Fellow officers said they found the body of Cpl. A. M. Hurst 200 yards from the foundation of his washed-away home. His son was listed as missing.

State Police said eight others are missing in Petersburg, six in nearby Moorefield and at least several others in more remote areas are believed unaccounted for.

Houses were swept away, bridges and roads washed out, and many hundreds were made homeless by the high waters.

"The situation is bad," State Police Capt. Basil E. Wright said at Elkins, W. Va., headquarters for many relief efforts.

Petersburg, a community of 3,500, suffered this damage, the Red Cross estimated:

Three hundred families evacuated, 60 homes destroyed, 300 homes damaged, 285 other buildings destroyed and 350 damaged; two businesses destroyed and 75 damaged; heavy livestock loss; 12 industrial plants damaged.

The Red Cross had unverified reports that two persons were drowned at Moorefield.

One of the big jobs faced by disaster workers was the rescue of 80 4-H clubbers marooned in a small valley below a Stokesville, Va., dam.

An earlier report had it that the dam had broke, airplane (See UNACCOUNTED, Page 5)

Speaker Will Discuss Need For Rewriting Crime Laws

The need for removing Texas' present criminal laws from the "horse and buggy days" and rewriting them to cope with modern streamlined criminals will be briefed for the Pampa Rotary Club Wednesday by Dallas County District Attorney Will R. Wilson.

The young Da, who accepted the surrender of Japan's military butler of the Philippines, General Yamashita, belongs to a school that believes the old criminal code of the state, now in use, should be changed to aid law enforcement agencies to cope with modern day hoodlums, and plug up many of the loopholes that help some criminals escape justice.

The speaker won statewide renown for trying and successfully prosecuting the famous "drowning" and "stomping" murder cases in Dallas County. As a result of his ability to circumvent the loopholes and technical maneuverings of the defense attorneys he was named chairman of a steering committee of the State Bar of Texas to help bring about the changes.

Now in his second term, the Dallas County prosecutor has also received statewide comment on his relentless battle against the professional racketeers and gamblers in his county.

The son of the president of Cum-Boren Sporting Goods concern in Dallas, he won a distinguished service record during the last war and is a past president of the Junior Bar Association and a member of eight other organizations, including the Boy Scouts of America, military and legal organizations.

An invitation to attend the meeting Wednesday at noon in the Palm Room, City Hall, was extended to all attorneys. Rotarians, Ray Evans, in charge of the program, said yesterday.

Speegle, who was AWOL from Fort Lewis, Wash., at the time, was arrested two weeks later in Oklahoma when he was recognized by an ex-shepherd who knew him when he lived in Borger, Tex.

Dr. George Jackson, state hospital superintendent, declared Speegle sane but apparently suffering amnesia.

INDICTMENTS RETURNED IN FOUR CASES

The Gray County Grand Jury at 3:56 p.m. Friday returned indictments on nine men and held five other cases for further consideration when they reconvene at a later date.

District Attorney Tom Braly said they would reconvene on call sometime after the wheat harvest in Gray County is completed.

Among the five cases retained by the jury were those of two men charged with sodomy and another charged with theft over $50.

Indicted by the jury were:

Travis Dean Jackson, forgery and passing a forged instrument. Jackson was apprehended on W. Foster earlier this year by Patrolman S. B. Patterson and later admitted forging several checks on Carl H. Luten. His companion in the case was W. A. Lowrance who was also indicted for forgery (See INDICTMENTS, Page 5)

Israel Authorities Report Ambush

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Israel authorities said an Israeli Army patrol was ambushed by Arabs and two Israeli soldiers were killed and two wounded.

The ambush occurred, the Israeli sources said, in the Judean Hills northeast of Jerusalem.

Minor shooting clashes have been more frequent of late in the "no man's land" between Arab and Israeli lines, but this was the first in which casualties were suffered. The Israeli sources said the ambush took place within Israeli territory.

Local Youngster as Comic Strip Character Wins Bicycle Parade

Humphrey Pennyworth, alias Jerry Doggett, stepped out of his Joe Palooka comic strip yesterday long enough to win first place—a radio in the Montgomery Ward Bicycle Parade.

Jerry constructed Humphrey's workshop on his bicycle just as Humphrey would have done it. The small red house had two windows trimmed in yellow and green.

The 176 youngsters who entered the bicycle parade proved there is no shortage of crepe paper in Pampa. Bicycles decorated solid colors and mixed colors showed how the imaginations of children can be put to use if given a chance.

Bill McLeod, wearing an Indian headdress and war paint, was deemed second-place winner in the parade. He constructed a burlap horse on his bicycle.

Trying for third were Cora Louise Mann and Cora Louise Palminter, who were dressed alike in red, white and blue costumes.

Jerry Spinks, after covering his bicycle with crepe paper, hooked a cage for "Fuzzy," his cat, on the back of his bike. He was declared fourth-place winner.

Other winners included Arlene McNair, who decorated her bicycle to perfection; Jimmy Keough, who represented "Uncle Sam"; Ronald Osborne, Tommy Scott and Johnnie Kinard.

Scott's bicycle portrayed a red and white boat and Kinard's, a miniature red and green airplane.

Other animals participated in the colorful parade. Larry Bolander had "Gumdrop," his black rabbit and Grace Barber dressed up her toy Manchester, "Penny."

Soft drinks were served by Montgomery Ward to all participants in the parade following the announcement of winners. The majority of the contestants attended the free movie which was provided for them at the Rex Theater.

Albert Fuller, Jim Arndt, J. Ray Martin and Dick Pepin served as judges.

Temporary Storage Facilities Located as Harvest Begins

As Gray County wheat harvest is beginning, at least five large buildings are in sight as temporary storage facilities for the overflowing crop.

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce, which is aiding in wheat harvest details, said a 60 by 140 theater building at the Pampa Army Airfield is available. It is the property of the Shamrock school system, and Supt. Elmer Moore, Shamrock, said it could be used.

The building has a concrete floor, and trucks can approach and leave it easily, it was said.

W. P. Clements 1419 Cotton Exchange Bldg., Dallas, said he had four B-26 hangars at the field, each 88 by 120 feet, all with concrete floors.

The Chamber of Commerce said anyone interested should contact the Pampa Chamber of Commerce or last of this week.

Meanwhile, reports from several wheat farmers in the Pampa area say there isn't much of a shortage of combines and laborers here yet. The biggest part of harvest is not expected to get underway until the middle of next week.

Not many truck loads of wheat have been cut in the county to date, though favorable weather probably will speed up the cutting.

However, the labor situation throughout the area is not in as good condition as here. The Texas Wheat Harvest Control Office in Amarillo yesterday issued an emergency plea for combines and men.

According to an Associated Press dispatch the Texas Employment Commission Office at Amarillo said 35 combines are needed at Tulsa, 100 at Perryton, plus 50 combine and tractor operators. TEC said 50 combines are needed at Spearman.

The Amarillo office said the fast-rising bread grain must be harvested quickly or some of it will be lost.

At Abilene, the TEC office said enough trucks and workers have been rounded up to complete the harvest in that area.

Rains that delayed the harvest, upset normal timing. The Associated Press said now North Plains combines are rolling before the South Plains harvest is finished.

Panhandle farmers aren't the only ones with that trouble. Cries of manpower and equipment shortage came Friday from the Abilene area, and while the (See TEMPORARY, Page 5)

Next Two Days May Tell Russian Story

PARYS — (AP) — Has Russia revised her policy to the point that she is willing to sort out difficulties with the West on a give and take basis?

What the Foreign Ministers Council does in the next two days on limited agreements on Austria and Berlin may provide a clue.

A further test will be in the way Russian officials act on such agreements as may be reached in the four-weeks conference.

Today the four power ministers will meet in another secret session, Monday, in an open session, they will disclose in a communiqué or through press statements what they have been doing in the series of secret meetings of the past several days.

Shamrock Firemen Warn of Dangers

SHAMROCK — (Special) — After the early summer rains stop and weeds and grass dry out, the Shamrock Volunteer Fire Department is called out, sometimes several times a day, to prevent threatening blazes.

So that each property owner may realize the financial seriousness of fire, local firemen have prepared figures showing savings that may be realized from a good insurance rating.

Fire causes not only a loss to the property involved, but also results in a loss to each individual in the community in insurance rates, the firemen point out.

Insurance rates are based on the experience record, and where there is a good fire record, rates are reduced. For instance, during 1947 Shamrock suffered several fire losses and as a result each person buying insurance in 1948 had to pay a 20 percent higher rate.

In 1948 Shamrock had a good fire record and the insurance rates again credited with 20 percent reduction for 1949. This credit will be continued next year only if the city maintains its good rating.

MASKS ARE OUTLAWED MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (AP) — The Alabama Senate voted 23 to 3 to outlaw masks in public after Gov. James E. Folsom launched a legal campaign against all "hooded" orders.

The gallstones sometimes found in cattle are prized by Orientals as good-luck and good-health charms, and sell for $125 per pound.

Public Health Jobs Are Reported Open

AUSTIN—Competitive examinations for medical positions in local public health programs in Texas will be given soon by the Merit System Council for the Texas State Department of Health.

Applicants will be given an examination which consists of an evaluation of training and experience plus an oral examination if the number of candidates justifies. Veterans preference will be allowed candidates who have been honorably discharged from the United States armed forces and who make a passing score on the examination.

Information and applications are available through Russell E. Shrader, Merit System Supervisor, 805 Littlefield Building, Austin, Texas. Positions for which application may be made include directors of local health units and public health physicians. License to practice medicine in Texas is required, and applicants with an M.P.H. degree and three or more years of public health experience are preferred, it was said.

Tito Seen as Springboard To Split Commie Regime

By JOHN FISHER
McClure Syndicate

Washington is watching with concern the newest flare-up of the family row between Stalin and Tito to discover if the Kremlin intends to go all out in its efforts to destroy the Balkan rebel.

The long period of irate name-calling has developed in the last fortnight into an exchange of virulent diplomatic notes portending violence.

Belgrade reproaches Moscow for "flagrant intervention" in Yugoslav affairs in that the Kremlin is openly supporting revolutionaries who seek to overthrow the Marshal by force. Moscow's reply is that Russia will continue to back up these firebrands.

The significance of the latest Russian attempts to ruin Tito is that he is recognized by the United States as the most serious threat to Communist solidarity anywhere in the world.

OTHER DEVIATIONISTS

This brush upstart not only is an unpunished nose-thumper, he is an example to a rallying point for all "deviationists" who reject the dictatorship of Russia. In the event of Stalin's death, Tito might split the Russian monolith into a collection of Communist states, each proclaiming its faith in Marxism but all rejecting Soviet domination.

Nationalization of Railroads?

The only way we have been able to view the federal government's suit against the railroads is as a desperate attempt to charge on wartime traffic, is say that it is not right.

Donald D. Conn, executive vice president of the Transportation Union of America, didn't think it when he said last week the move is a direct repudiation of government agreements with the railroads to force nationalization of all transportation in this country.

The winning of this suit would return to the government a huge sum of money paid during the war, at a time when the railroads were bending over backwards to support the desperate needs of a nation fighting for its life.

The railroads should have no less, but we cannot see the government has a leg to stand on, or an argument to make.

into words.

The War Department and railroads agreed on what the government should be handling, equipment, and supplies.

Level of these agreed rates is far less than paid on commercial traffic.

A large portion of charges already been returned to the Federal Treasury through income and excess profits taxes.

It has already been announced that railroads made only 4.6 percent on the net investment for the entire war period. We can't see where that is excessive.

This suit is not the only means government is using to hamstring the railroads, which pay on their lines. The wartime tax, imposed on railroads to discourage civilian travel, has not been lifted. Of course, everybody can see that this imposition discourages travel.

We wonder if the government not deliberately trying to force railroads into the hands of the Federal Receiver, the federal government. It certainly looks that way.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — here's another thing the Atomic Energy Commission Chairman David E. Lighthill will probably be beat over the head with by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa. It's the AEC plan to convert the Oak Ridge, Tenn., uranium plant from coal to natural gas for its primary fuel supply.

Federal Power Commission has already approved this project, and construction of the $10,000,000 pipeline to supply the gas to Oak Ridge is all ready to begin. But he fight isn't over yet.

The issue has raised something of a rumpus not only in Tennessee, but in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia, gas companies supplying consumers in those states claim that permitting Oak Ridge to burn natural gas in steam boilers will reduce the supply of cooking and heating gas in some 338 cities and towns, including Washington, D. C. A petition has been filed to reopen and reconsider the case before the FPC.

The Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy has already issued a report criticizing the Oak Ridge switch from coal to gas. The Atomic Energy Commission's position is therefore not so good on this issue, even though it claims the action was necessary to insure national security by providing for continuous operation at Oak Ridge.

The uranium plant was located at Oak Ridge in the first place because it was close to big coal supplies in Kentucky, Tennessee

There is a growing tendency to regard compromise as the answer to all conflicts. In a powder-keg world of bitter-opposed principles, many alarmed people have succumbed to the belief that all such principles should be discarded in a noble effort to find "common agreements," "middle ways," "happy mediums."

"Let's not be extreme," many people plead. "Let's be tolerant. Let's not look at issues as black and white. 'Americanism' is not all good, or Communism all bad. Let's find a good, gray compromise to which we can all agree."

On the surface, such arguments can be very appealing. They even sound rational. Then what is wrong with them? If we descend from the stratosphere of general theory, down to the reality of actual cases, we soon discover that there is a great deal wrong. Some principles are basic. They cannot be compromised. They can only be surrendered.

For example, how would we go about finding a nice, reasonable compromise between monogamy and polygamy? The monogamist bases his convictions on the absolute moral rightness of a single wife. The polygamist bases his on the belief that a man is entitled to as many wives as he can get. If both finally agreed upon two wives, or possibly three? Obviously not! The polygamist has won. He has merely placed limits upon his polygamy. The monogamist has totally surrendered his monogamy. How would we compromise the moral commandment: "Thou shalt not steal." Could we qualify it by saying, "Thou shalt not steal if the amount stolen is less than the amount stolen by saying: 'unless it is less than a dollar's worth'?" Would these qualifications constitute a compromise? Of course not. They would surrender the principle itself. By their very nature, basic principles cannot be compromised. Love cannot be compromised with hate, nor liberty with slavery, nor religion with atheism.

Many of our present-day "liberals" base their political, economic and social arguments on this compromise theory. They denounce as equal "extremists" those who insist upon a medium of individualism and those who insist upon a maximum of Federal intervention. No matter what issue is involved, they aim at a "middle-way" between the two. But the "middle-way" never really is a compromise. It is always a victory for the Federal interventionists. It merely limits the immediate amount of intervention. It is always a concession to this side, and a denial to that side. The Federal government moves in, and from that point on, the battle concerns only the amount and speed of expansion. The principle itself is gone.

One of my "liberal" correspondents writes: "You 100% defenders of individual liberty and the free, voluntary society are as rigid and uncompromising as the Communists. America has to grow, and change, and improve with the years. No society can or should seek to maintain any status-quo." This is a common and powerful argument, and it deserves the best answer. Here's mine. An uncompromising defense of the "free and voluntary society" is not a defense of the "status-quo." It is just the opposite. It is a prohibition against "growth, and change and improvement." On the contrary, it is a demand that all doors be left open for just those possibilities. To oppose Federal planning and regulation in various fields, economic, political, or social, is to oppose the idea of a single plan, managed and controlled by the top down, to which everyone must conform. It is to insist that one's local communities, voluntary groups, and individuals be left free to dream and create new plans and ideas—to the very limits of their imagination. It is to insist that the Federal government be a "federally subsidized and dominated program" always mean "no open doors, no variety, no freedom to experiment,

Is It Cheaper To "let The Gov't Do It?"

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Truman administration recently gave its blessing to the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway and allied projects in such an all-embracing and novel way that it is sure to generate more politico-economic controversy over this issue than at any time during the thirty years since the subject has been discussed at Ottawa and Washington. The fulsome praise of the proposal may kill it.

In a recent, scarcely noticed address at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea in New Brunswick before the 78th annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Commerce Secretary Sawyer eulogized the constructive effects of the international canal so extravagantly that he virtually remade the industrial, transportation and retail trade map of the United States and other countries.

In this speech, which had a White House approval, President Truman again revealed his desire to do things differently from his distinguished predecessor.

Whereas Franklin D. Roosevelt had always emphasized the public power aspects of the St. Lawrence scheme, the cabinet member from Ohio placed principal stress on its transportation and foreign trade features. He discussed the hydroelectric possibilities, but dismissed them as of secondary interest.

PARADISE — The new advantages of a U.S.-Canadian waterway as outlined by Mr. Sawyer, will flow almost exclusively to the industrial and agricultural industries of the Midwest and Northwest, to the detriment of the Atlantic Coast, Gulf and Pacific Coast rivals. The latter will lose a great deal of the commerce which now passes through their ports.

The other areas, he pointed out, will benefit from expanded and more accessible markets for except as the "authorities" permit. We passionately and uncompromisingly defend the "free and voluntary society" because that is the only kind of society in which growth and change, and betterment are possible!

To equate such defenders of liberty with the defenders of slavery — is a most peculiar comparison. If Americans are not to defend the "free and voluntary society," then why in the world are we financing a "cold war"? If we are ready to abandon this tradition and accept a "compulsory and regimented society," why not just say so, and the "cold war" will be over!

REPERCUSSIONS

Capitol Hill immediately pounced on the possible political repercussions of the Sawyer speech. Members from affected areas asked Commerce Department for copies as soon as they heard of his pronouncement. So did railroad and union labor executives, recognizing that it was time to start a backfire.

In the practical politico's opinion, the St. Andrews-by-the-Sea effort was a definite appeal to an area which possesses almost a decisive number of electors — Western Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, West Virginia and the farm belt states.

Given their electoral totals along with those of the southern and border states, almost any Democratic candidate on a presidential ticket can be elected.

"AGREEMENT" — Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois has taken the lead in trying to obtain approval of the 1941 pact at this session. Few days ago, contrary to his custom, he sent "special delivery" a letter late at night to every important Washington correspondent, announcing that he would press for favorable action at this session.

As in the past, the St. Lawrence project has been bundled up in an "agreement," which requires only a majority vote, instead of a "treaty," which must obtain a two-thirds vote.

President Truman, voted for the international canal every time it came up while he was a member of the Senate. His peculiar interest in the transportation rather than in the power features derives from his great interest in the general question of railroads.

It is not generally known, but he did an excellent job with respect to the transportation problem when he headed a Sen-

FILL-IN

A Washington correspondent asked Jeremiah O'Leary, the Washington State's Senate reporter, for a fill-in on the housing bill controversy.

"Sorry," he replied, "but I don't know a thing about that story. I have been assigned to the atomic bomb yarn, and I am so fed up with it that I have begun to call the principal figures Lichtenlooper and 'Hicken-thal'."

Diabetic Death Rate Shown Down

NEW YORK — Hopeful news is seen for the many diabetics in the United States in the continued decline since 1940 in the death rate from the disease, according to the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. The decline represents a long-term upward trend, during the years up through 1940.

Among the company's millions of industrial policyholders, the decline since 1940 has been exceptionally rapid. The 1948 death rate was 30 percent under the 1940 figure, and the lowest for many years since 1919. The most heartening feature of the recent picture is that the rates among older women, which were highest and rising fastest prior to 1940, have at last come down. This accounts for a major share of the total improvement in the rate. For white females the 1948 rate was the lowest since 1920. Even better is the situation for males. The rate of diabetes mortality among them has been dropping for many years, and last year's rate was the lowest recorded since 1911.

Due to the control over diabetes through insulin and general advances in medicine, the expectation of life among diabetics has increased, and many of them can manage their affairs with little, if any handicap from their disease, the statisticians report. However, the average length of life of diabetics is still well below that of non-diabetics. Moreover, surveys indicate that there are large numbers of persons with undetected diabetes who require diagnosis and treatment.

"The greatest need at present is to provide additional facilities for the detection and treatment of the disease," comment the statisticians. "The situation clearly calls for increasing efforts in this direction on the part of medical and public health leaders. Diabetes is an exceedingly important item in the broad problem of the diseases of middle life and old age, and will loom even larger in years to come as the proportion of older persons in the general population continues to increase."

It isn't too far what you don't say it matters as how you don't say it.

Institute Sees 8 Million Jobless

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Public Affairs Institute forecast that 8,000,000 will be jobless a year from now if the economic decline goes on. It asked federal action at once to stimulate business.
In special report on employment the institute asked:
Tax cuts in low and middle income brackets.
Emergency public works in hard-hit areas.
Revival of the Civilian Conservation Corps and other measures.
"Nothing in sight indicates a halt in unemployment trends," said the study. "Unemployment has passed the 'spot' stage. It is not a local but a national problem."
The "real danger period" lies just ahead, in the last half of this year. A government policy of "drifting," it declared, "may well lead us into a depression."

Few Polio Cases Reach Paralysis

SAN ANGELO—(AP)—Though San Angelo has had a lot of polio, relatively few of the cases have resulted in paralysis.
That was emphasized by authorities as this West Texas city maintained its clean-up drive at full pace.
Fewer than five percent of the polio cases here have resulted in paralysis, Dr. R. E. Elvins, director of the San Angelo-Town Green County health unit, said.
Many of those affected will recover completely, Dr. Elvins added.

and passing a forged instrument. Both made bond, but Jackson went back to the County Jail after the Sheriff's Department charged him with the burglary of the Panhandle Transportation and Storage office of $100 on May 21. Jackson, under questioning, admitted he had also broken into the Canadian Truck Lines, DeO Construction Co., and the M. Roberts Service Station. An indictment charging burglary in the same instances, as an accomplice of Jackson, was handed in against Elvis Wilkerson. Wilkerson is now in the County Jail with Jackson.

H. B. Line, ex-convict from both New Mexico and Texas penitentiaries, was indicted for the burglary of the Smoke House Cafe. Line was picked up less than 24 hours after the job and led police to where he had $99.25 in silver cached in his bureau drawer that he admitted he took from vending machines of the cafe.

Forgery and passing indictments were returned against three Shamrock men, W. E. Thurston, another ex-convict; Leon Bonner, an escapee convict from the New Mexico penitentiary; and Billy Gaither, who has no previous record. The three are charged with forging and passing checks on John C. VanHuss, of Wellington. Indictments of theft over $50 were returned against Thomas W. Hector and Alford Jackson for the theft of truck tires from parked trucks on the old Dangier lease south of town early in May.
No date has been set for the trial of any of the men indicted.

A big rush for laborers is expected in the next few days in the middle of the Northwest Panhandle. Charlie Warner, Borgor, head of the TEC Harvest Labor office, said 100 more combines are needed in Hutchinson, Hanford, Ochiltree and Lipscomb Counties.

He said there were jobs for 50 more trucks, tractors and combine operators.

Harvest in Roberts County is expected to get underway today, the Associated press said.

Conditions in other counties as reported by the Employment Service include:
Childress, Cottle, Hall — moving nicely. Cottle 35, Hall 25, Childress 10 percent complete.
Castro, Palmer — Friday saw first general harvest.
Carson, Armstrong — harvest barely beginning.
Hemphill — about seven percent complete.

Dallam, Sherman — wheat still a bit green in Dallam County, little operation expected before today or tomorrow. No shortages.
Deaf Smith — few combines operating. Expect operations to get in full swing June 20.
Potter, Randall — just started. Scattered fields cut. Operations well underway about June 20.
Oldham — no activity here, expect to begin the middle of the week.

Firemen Answer Two Calls to Auto Fires

Firemen were called twice last night to extinguish a truck and a car fire.
Heavy damage occurred to a two-ton GMC truck, owned by Frank Lard. He was welding on the truck when the fire started. Firemen were called to 1101 E. Frederic at 6:15 p. m.
At 8:40 p. m. the engine of the 1941 Buick belonging to Thomas Duval caught fire. The paint was scorched off the hood and the wires in the engine were burned, but the total damage was slight.

The first steam carriage on record was made in 1796 by Capt. Nicholas Cugnot, a French soldier.

Pearce was charged with sodomy last week following his arrest in the stables of Recreation Park by City Police after a foot race through the stables where he was finally trapped by Brady Davis, the caretaker, and Patrolmen D. L. Day and Joe Brewer.

Wilkerson was charged with burglary, as an accomplice of Travis Dean Jackson, in the burglaries of the Panhandle Transfer and Storage Co. on W. Brown on May 21. An indictment was returned against him Friday.

Wilkerson was implicated in several other burglaries on W. Brown along with Jackson. The case broke only last week after three weeks of intensive investigation by District Attorney Tom Braly and Sheriff G. H. "Skinner" Kyle.

While the Grand Jury neither "piled" nor "unpiled" on the sodomy charge, they retained it for further consideration. This means that he has neither been indicted nor cleared of the charge.

The young parolee was released from the penitentiary at Huntsville early this year after serving a little over three years of a 20-year sentence handed him on Oct. 30, 1945, by a Gray County jury for the murder of Leonard Brown. Brown was shot in the back, according to records, and Pearce was convicted for the shooting.

Two Now Dead From Burns in Cabin Fire

AMARILLO—(AP)—Vance C. Bowling, 53, died yesterday, second victim of a tourist cabin explosion and fire here last Tuesday night.
Bowling and two other Springfield, Colo., men were enroute to work in Texas wheat fields when they rented the cabin. Collected gas, possibly from a gas jet knocked open when a cot was brought into cabin, was blamed for the blast.

Emmet Charles Davis died Wednesday of burns. The third Coloradoan, Lawrence McCordale, 31, was in fair condition.

Wichita Falls Chief Under Council Fire

WICHITA FALLS—(AP)—The city council has moved again to oust Police Chief Chris Jensen.

In a brief meeting yesterday afternoon the council passed two motions. One asked the mayor and city manager to remove Jensen from his position. The second confirms City Manager Frank Woods appointment of Patrolman Raymond A. Nelson as new chief of police, effective immediately.

City Attorney Guy McNeely said today's council action does not violate either the restraining order or temporary injunction obtained by Jensen. He said also it does not affect Jensen's right under the Civil Service Act. McNeely said Jensen will be reinstated as chief if he wins his suit for a declaratory judgment.

March Advocates Bonus for Vets

WACO—(AP)—Caso March said yesterday Texas should give its World War II veterans a "reasonable" bonus.

The 38-year-old former Baylor law professor, a candidate for Governor in next year's elections, spoke to opening sessions of the State Convention of American Veterans of World War II (Amvets).

"Veterans are faced with two problems," March said. "The first is to get a reasonable bonus from the state, to be amortized over a period of years by taxing natural gas and refining of gasoline."

"The second is for veterans to do something for Texas. Texas is controlled today by special interests and monopoly, and it is going to take young men to break the grip these groups have on Texas."

New West Conquers Old in Vast Multi-Million Cattle, Oil Empire

By RALPH DIGHTON
BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Picture in your mind, if you can, place where:

Cowhands live in modernistic unshouses. Where a monocled Englishman lies off rounding up dogies with the enthusiasm his ancestors rode the bounds. Where the Old West in the arm of Longhorn steers rubs shoulders with New West as reported by oil derricks. It sounds like something you'd see in a movie, except that even the brashiest film writer wouldn't have the courage to throw such situation at his public. But you can go 100 miles north of Hollywood and find it in real life, here at Bakersfield, capital of a vast cattle and oil empire known as The Kern County Land Co.

The Kern County Land Co. stretches across four states. It holds more than two million acres in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Oregon. Originally a cattle outfit, it now gets most of its money from oil brought in on its vast properties by virtually every major oil company in the United States.

Although it still owns 56,000 head of cattle, earnings from oil now account for 88 percent of the company's net 1948 income, before taxes, of $15,500,000. The fabulous King Ranch of Texas, often called the biggest beef-producing ranch in the world, comprises 914,000 acres or 428 square miles — an area bigger than Rhode Island — split into five major divisions in eight South Texas counties. The ranch has 800 employees, 75,000 beef cattle, and ships about 20,000 head of cattle to market annually. (A tightly controlled family corporation headed by Robert Kleberg and former Congressman Richard Kleberg, the King Ranch annually grosses from three to four million dollars in beef and breeding cattle sales, plus extensive royalties from about 400 producing oil wells, to earn an estimated income of about a million dollars a year net before taxes.)

Because of its size, The Kern County Land Company is a study in contrasts. It's quite a sight to see Maj. John B. Fernor-Hesketh of Eaton-Neaton, lowcester, Northamptonshire, England, leaning against a coral conservatory with high-booted, dust-caked Catharine Reese, who at 69 is still one of the ablest cowpokes in these parts. Hesketh is a director of the company. He also owns one of the few large estates left in England, some 16,000 acres. Hesketh spends several months a year surveying his interests in this country, much of the time in a saddle.

FASHION POINTER—Highly original, if nothing else, is the pointed hat worn by this young woman while strolling through London's Hempstead Heath. It attracted much attention, except from her escort, who apparently sees something more interesting on his left.

'SWARM OUT TODAY—Patrolman Frank Jensen, called out on a special hot assignment to round up a swarm of angry bees in Philadelphia, Pa., digs into the job. Here, he sweeps through the bees with a kitchen broom, looking for the queen bee before he tries to lure them to the honeycomb.

Reese, who has been working for the company since 1896, has his own accent and his own traditions, inherited from the Old West. One such tradition is that a man says as little as possible, and that softly.

The history of this little-known company began in the 1870's when J. B. Haggin and Lloyd Tevis began acquiring cattle land in the San Joaquin Valley. In 1890 they incorporated their holdings into The Kern County Land Co.

They also bought land in Arizona, New Mexico and Oregon. Their plan was to maintain large breeding herds on those semi-desert ranches and send the weanlings to Bakersfield for fattening. This practice is still followed and the company annually markets 18,000 head.

Only three descendants, one of whom is Hesketh, are still connected with the company. Hesketh is a Tevis descendant. Louis Lee Haggin II, Versailles, Ky., and John M. Preston, San Mateo, Calif., spring from Haggin stock. All three are directors.

Around Bakersfield the company owns some 400,000 acres of cattle, farming and oil land. It has two blocks in New Mexico totaling 750,000 acres — one southwest of Deming and the other near Hot Springs. In Arizona, the company owns 111,000 acres near Tucson and 600,000 north of Prescott. North of Lakeview, Ore., it owns a 142,000 acre tract. All the land outside of California is devoted to cattle.

The company, which speaks of land by townships (23,000 acres) rather than acres, has never attempted to appraise the value of the land it owns. Currently there are some 16,000 stockholders holding two million shares of the $5-par stock, which is selling for about $40 a share. No one person holds a majority of stock, nor do the three Tevis and Haggin descendants own enough collectively to control the company, says Thomas J. Davis, Jr., assistant to President John T. Pigott of San Francisco.

"In an operation of this size," says Davis, "there is always the question, 'is bigness badness?'" "We don't think so. The company gets more cattle, potatoes and other crops to market than smaller operators could on the same land."

"A big-scale operation such as this is better for the community and for the land itself. We have created jobs, we have improved the land and brought water into arid country through some 800 miles of canals."

Signs of the times can be noticed in various activities of the company. Time clocks have been installed on the huge tractors and earthmovers. Carl Melcher can sit in his air-conditioned office in Bakersfield and tell by glancing at a time clock record sheet how many hours cat-skinner George Chamberlin worked last week. He can even tell whether the tractor was actually moving dirt, or whether it just had its engine running.

Out on the range cowboys no longer make the long, spectacular, beef-consuming drives of yesteryear. The company has found it is cheaper to haul the cows around in diesel-powered trucks. Cattle stay plumper that way.

Even the old wooden bunkhouse, famed in movie and song, is vanishing. In its place is rising a barracks-like building with a separate room for each cowpoke — modern as next month's issue of an architect's magazine.

Frankly, the old-time cowboy doesn't think much of his new home. Who can sleep in a room where he can't hear the other guys snore?

General Lends Plane for Trip

NORTH CAMP HOOD — (AP) —

A Texas National Guardsman was rushed to the bedside of his seriously ill wife in Odessa Thursday.

Sgt. First Class James M. Martin, Jr., of the 26th Reconnaissance Co., was placed aboard the personal plane of Lt. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson for the emergency trip. Thompson is commanding general of the Texas National Guard.

Martin, here for summer field training with the 38th Division, received special authority to make the trip. His company commander, Capt. Edwin H. Hendrich of Odessa, rushed him to the North Camp Hood Air Strip, after Martin was notified that his wife, Mary, was ill.

Fire Losses Down; Good Home Reason

Better construction methods and intensified fire prevention campaigns were credited today with bringing a decline in the nation's fire loss for the first time in eight years.

Reversing the trend that has continued since 1941, each of the first three months of 1949 shows less fire damage than the corresponding month in 1948. Loss during the first quarter of 1949 totaled $187,568,000 compared with $208,767,000 in 1948 and $193,662,000 in 1947.

This downturn reported by the National Board of Fire Underwriters is the result of building greater fire-safety into new structures, making existing homes and buildings more fire-resistant, and removing fire hazards wherever found, it was stated today by the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

Stepped-up efforts to modernize outmoded building codes and to establish codes in communities where none exist have focused public attention on the fact that proper construction will reduce fire losses, the bureau said.

Confinement of fire to the room or area in which it starts has been strongly urged during the past two years by wire prevention experts and various agencies sponsoring better building codes. Fire barriers within walls and other hollow spaces is a primary means of preventing rapid spread of flames and resulting large - loss fires, according to the President's Conference on Fire Prevention.

Two model building codes distributed throughout the nation during the past few months stress this factor and recognize the presence of mineral wool thermal insulation in walls and ceilings as an effective fire - retardant. The National Bureau of Standards reports that a wall filled with naturally fireproof mineral wool will hold back flames for a period of an hour to an hour and a half.

The Construction Research Bureau estimates that more than two-thirds of all new dwellings are being given this protection with batts and blankets of mineral wool as the houses are erected, and that thousands of older structures are being made more fire-safe by blowing loose nodulated mineral wool into walls and other inaccessible spaces.

Average consumption of meat in America, in 1948 included 63 pounds of beef, nearly 65 pounds of pork, and 14 pounds of veal, lamb and mutton.

Progress Not Progressing; Founder Blames Neighbors

PROGRESS, Tex. — (AP) — You'd think a man would get tired after trying for 41 years to build up his town.

But not Joshua Blocher, founder of Progress (pop. two dozen). He just keeps getting madder—at "them damned thieves in Muleshoe and them other devils in Farwell."

In 1908, Blocher came here from his native Kansas, bought land at $17.50 an acre, plotted a neat little town with streets named after fruits, and sat back to watch it grow.

It didn't. Today there is just a scattered group of half a dozen buildings. The least imposing is Blocher's one-room shack. The yard is heaped high with odd pieces of lumber, metal and debris.

An 85-year-old man with a long straggly beard, Blocher has never lost faith in Progress, but he's sure mad at the neighboring towns. He says:

"If the damned thieves in Muleshoe and them other devils in Farwell didn't tell everybody that comes through there is nothing between the state line and Muleshoe but Lariat, more people would know about Progress."

The old man is so mad at Muleshoe he won't allow his mail to be delivered on a rural route from there. He prefers to walk to Lariat, four miles away. He'd ride the bus but he's mad at the bus company, too.

Braced on a firm metal frame attached to Blocher's home is a big sign which proclaims "This Is Progress." The letters are weathered and peeling.

Around 300 town lots appear on the original plot of Progress.

"I wanted to call the town Climax," Blocher recalls, "but when I wrote to the Post Office Department they said there already were 13 towns in the country named Climax. So I asked about Progress and they said that was OK."

Progress used to have a post office, but "them devils in Muleshoe worked a scheme and took it away from us," Blocher says.

Once Blocher served a term as county commissioner, "and I would have been reelected, too, but them crooks at Dimmitt threw out one box where I would have polled every single vote."

Another time he ran for county judge but "on the last day before election, them liars down there went out and told people I had withdrawn from the race. There was five of them. One told the lie and the others swore to it."

One of the men mixed up in the election deal was "so crooked he had to screw his socks on," Blocher fumed.

Progress is a little town of about two dozen people near the New Mexico border. About the prettiest structure in town is a small white building which houses the office of the Progress Grain Company.

Buckets of murky looking liquid are scattered about everywhere. "That's rain and snow water that I catch and keep,"

China Voles Red If U.S. Okays Status

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Fresh from the Communist capital of Peking, Spencer Moosa, Associated Press Correspondent reports on the North China situation during the four months he was silenced. He is in Korea enroute to Canton.)

By SPENCER MOOSA

PUSAN, Korea — (AP) — If Western powers recognize Communist China and she becomes a member of the United Nations, the chances are she will vote with Russia on all issues.

There has been much talk abroad about the possibility of Mao Tse-tung, the Chinese Communist leader, becoming another Tito. But in the Red capital of Peking there is no evidence whatever to back this view.

People who have studied the Communist movement in China think even if Titoism eventually develops in that country, it will be years before it rears its head.

All views to the contrary, they believe, are based either on wishful thinking or on purely imagined differences within the ranks of the top Communist leaders.

When I left Peking last week, there was certainly no outward evidence whatever to support the theory of the Communist splitting into two camps — one under Mao and the other under Li Li-san, who spent many years in Russia.

Li, once condemned by the Chinese Communists as a Trotskyite, went to Russia many years ago. There he is supposed to have recanted. At the end of the Pacific War, he returned to China and was at first active in Manchuria. This led to rumors that he was simply a Moscow stooge bent, with Soviet support, on supplanting Mao.

Li went to Peking on the transfer there of the Communist capital from Yenan.

His most important post is vice chief of the Communist-sponsored all China Federation of Labor. As such he wields tremendous influence. Mao is the chief but he is so busily engaged with his many duties that the actual direction of labor is in Li's hands.

Whatever differences the Communist leaders may have around the council table, it is clear that once a policy is decided upon it is carried out wholeheartedly. The Communist chiefs represent a united front. Much of their strength lies in this. There is no sign — no hint that anyone challenges or questions the leadership of Mao.

In Communist China Mao seems to occupy the revered position that Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the republic of China, enjoyed.

With the onward sweep of the Communist armies, Mao's prestige has grown. And if communism is in China to stay, he will doubtless be the Lenin of that country.

Federal Expenses 'Harry's Job' Says Harried Congress

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — "Aw, Let Harry do it." Congress may wind up saying that after talking big for six months about cutting government expenses.

It has an obligation to do any cutting that is done, but it's in a mood now to shove the job off on President Truman.

Last January Mr. Truman told Congress how much money would be needed to run the government for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Those figures, checked by experts of the Budget Bureau whose job is to cut where they can, were put together by the various government departments and agencies.

Members of the Appropriations Committees are the watchdogs over what money the government spends.

And it's their job to make cuts if they think less money is needed.

Then the committees draw up bills for the full House and Senate to vote on.

For months there's been a steady chorus in Congress about cutting down expenses.

But—so far, it's just been talk. The congressmen and senators don't seem able to agree on what or where to cut.

And when anyone has suggested lopping a flat five percent or so off the money for some department, he's been shouted down.

Still, there was a feeling that expenses ought to be cut. This week 19 senators, Democrats and Republicans, decided to offer a resolution in Congress that would do this:

Tell the President to find some way to cut five to 10 percent of the total money voted by Congress.

Frederick J. Lawton, assistant director of the budget, told Congressmen that would do this:

represent a united front. Much of their strength lies in this. There is no sign — no hint that anyone challenges or questions the leadership of Mao.

With the onward sweep of the Communist armies, Mao's prestige has grown. And if communism is in China to stay, he will doubtless be the Lenin of that country.

Negro Faces Death For Attack on Girl

HOUSTON — (AP) — Death in the electric chair is the penalty Nathaniel Edwards, 28-year-old Negro, is scheduled to pay for his part in the criminal assault of a 16-year-old white girl.

Edwards, alleged to have been one of three Negroes who committed the assault, was convicted by a district court jury Thursday. The girl was attacked and her 20-year-old escort was beaten and robbed when they parked their car on a lonely road.

General Lauds Texas Division

NORTH CAMP HOOD, Tex. —

(AP) — Texas' 36th Division was busting its buttons today over some praise from Gen. Thomas T. Handy, Fourth Army commander.

The general Wednesday told the division, now in the Texas National Guard encampment here, that "everything I've seen in the 36th Division is fine."

The training shows evidence of being very well organized, he added.

Gen. Handy spoke at a press conference. "If it were mobilized and given enough fillers to bring it up to full strength it would be ready for combat in a very reasonable time," he declared.

Gen. Handy indicated continued improvement of North Camp Hood for use as a National Guard summer training area.

"We are very glad the 36th Division and other units of the National Guard are here and that the 49th Armored Division is coming," he said. "We think this is a very good training area and that it eventually will be a better site for summer guard training."

Women Prisoners Get 'Chutes for Panties

MCALISTER, Okla. — (AP) — One hundred and fifty women in distress have hit the silk at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary.

The lady prisoners are wearing parachute panties—but nobody's bailed out yet.

Warden Clarence Burford nearly went into a spin himself when the prison matrons reported a grave pantie shortage in the women's ward.

So when Burford heard of an airforce surplus sale he jumped at the chance.

A prison agent brought 300 'chutes—two for each pantie wearer. Matrons held sewing classes.

Dry Ice Seen as Anti-Storm Aid

VANCOUVER, B. C., — (AP) — It may be possible to prevent lightning storms by seeding clouds with dry ice, says L. O. Grant, one of several scientists who tried rain making in Arizona last summer.

Seeding also can make it rain harder even if it can't actually start a rainstorm, Grant told the American Meteorological Society meeting here.

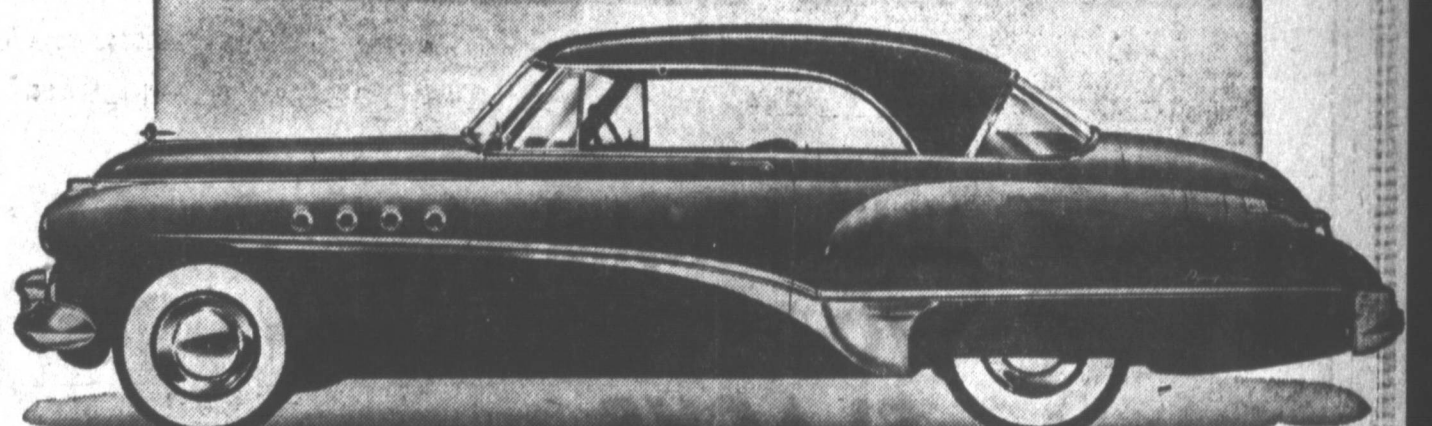

VESSEL SHELLED, SUNK
HONG KONG — (AP) — Four survivors of a Japanese fishing trawler said today their vessel was shelled and sunk in the China Sea.

They said they did not know their attackers. The captain and seven crewmen were killed or missing.

BRIDE-TO-BE — Barbara Manning, Los Angeles socialite, will become the bride of Democratic Gov. Fuller Warren of Florida on June 26. The wedding will take place in the Westwood Community Methodist Church in Los Angeles. After a Florida honeymoon, the couple will live in the Governor's Mansion, Tallahassee.

Who'll be First with the Last Word?

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

ACT QUICKLY—and in your neighborhood it might be you.

For there's no doubt that this exciting new Riviera model—styled and executed by Buick—is the very last word in new body types.

It has, as you see, the swift and racy lines of a Convertible, made even more distinctive by a bold new sweep of chromium along its fenders.

But the top is solid—a single sheet of stout steel, neatly finished off inside with chromium bows. And a broad rear window curves gracefully around, giving really abundant rearward vision.

Push-button controls drop all windows out of sight at a touch, leaving not even a doorpost to block your outlook. And the interior trim is the richest yet—a really stunning creation inside as well as out.

As pictured here the Riviera is now in production on the Buick ROADMASTER chassis—which means 150-hp Fireball power, the silken luxury of Dynaflow Drive, and the matchless levelness of the Buick "dream ride." That means "the last word" in brilliant performance as well as in luxurious dress and styling.

Production on this high-styled road star is limited, as you might expect.

To be "first with the last word," therefore, it is wise to see your Buick dealer soon about getting your order in.

Top o' Texas Editors Speak

In spite of the fact that harvest headquarters for machines and sanitary facilities for immigrant workers have been set up at the rodeo grounds west of Perryton, the Ochiltree County Herald noted editorially last week that "as usual, there are a lot of combine operators and truckers that refuse to use the facilities they have been hollering for for years."

"You'll find the streets and vacant lots in the downtown area cluttered up with machinery, house trailers, and other camping equipment," the Herald continued. "There are no sanitary provisions and, in most instances, the lots are occupied without permission of the owners."

Karl Bradley, up at the Higgins News, has a pertinent comment on the fitting passage of time: "Before we meet again next Thursday," he said, "we will be over the hump and going down hill. June 21 is the longest day in the year, that is, it has the most hours of daylight."

"After June 21, the sun will rise later and will set sooner. First thing you know, it will be dark at 6 p. m. and then comes winter."

"Anyway, this is it, the best time of the year."

Malouf Abraham, guest columnist for Vincent Lockhart in the Canadian Record, said, "All this rain is sure hampering the building and paving program. But at least, it's making people all the more paving conscious."

Among the bright little "quickies" in the Follett Times this week is this choice item: "Many people who figure the world has an opening for them usually find it—they end up in the hole."

The Shamrock Texan has a very simple solution to the problem of how to boost Americanism and take the wind out of the sails of the Communists: "All that any person here has to do to make a fight on dictatorship or communism is to see that democracy

Companies Seeking More Output Without Risking Worker Rebellion

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — (AP) — Many companies face the delicate task right now of getting more output per man hour without risking worker rebellion. Some companies report success, mostly by detouring around the main trouble spot.

Trouble often arises when management, trying to strengthen the company's position in the present highly competitive market, seeks to change work standards, by an order from the front office.

"When there is a deviation from the accepted principles of democracy in the government of Shamrock, or Wheeler County, it can be scored as a gain for the isms that we say we abhor."

with a view to reducing fixed labor costs per unit. Labor insists it should control, or have a hand in, the setting of such standards.

There you run into the conflict—as in the recent Ford Motor case—with management saying it must have more productivity and labor crying speed-up. John L. Lewis has his own twist: the mine workers were "stabilizing" coal production by going fishing last week.

Two opposite tendencies in productivity have been reported of late by foremen: 1. Some workers, noting the drop in the company's orders, have been accused by management of slowing down to assure employment while longer; 2. Other workers, hearing of layoffs in nearby plants, have increased their own output a little to demonstrate their personal worth.

Here is an example of a detour around this problem.

Wage hikes and growing competition put Brown & Bigelow of St. Paul, Minn., behind a million-dollar 8-ball, the way President Charles A. Ward figured it. The annual payroll of the company, which makes personalized "re-membrance advertising" products like calendars, desk pads and bill-folds, had been hiked a million dollars a year.

So he sent each of his 3,700 plant employees and 1,078 salesmen a mechanical pencil with an 8-ball set where the eraser usually is. And with it went a letter saying just five percent more effort on everyone's part would get the company out from behind the 8-ball.

He reports that productivity has advanced not just 5 percent, but more than 6 percent.

Of course, he had a little gimmick in his favor. More than half of the company's stockholders are employees — how could they lose?

Has Shortage Of Combines

PERRYTON — (Special) — Most of the fields in the Perryton area where wheat is ripe have dried sufficiently to start cutting. The wheat is ripening rapidly, and harvest is under-way in all parts of the county except in the western portion, local wheat men said yesterday.

If the weather continues to be warm and dry the harvest should be in full swing by the first part of the week.

According to E. L. McElhanon, who is with the employment office here, there is an acute shortage of combines. The area can use from 100 to 150 more machines within the next few days. Laborers have been sent here from Borger and Pampa to take care of the demand, states McElhanon.

However, there is a shortage of experienced combine operators. Thus far, the supply of trucks has equalled the demand for them. Anyone desiring information about the harvest in this area should call the employment office at No. 8, or go to the office at the rodeo grounds west of town.

Custodian Named For Circle Bull

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Roy Hyman of south of Shamrock has been selected as custodian of the registered bull purchased for the calf circle sponsored by the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce Dairy Youth Training Program.

The prize bull, purchased week before last from B. H. Bull & Son of Brampton, Ontario, Canada, was placed in Hyman's care for one year.

The bull will be available to owners of circle calves for a service charge of $5. Breeding fees outside the club group will be $20.

For properly feeding and caring for the bull, Hyman will receive the first acceptable female offspring and may use the bull to service his herd of five cows. He will keep a record of all heifers bred, both by members of the calf circle and others.

Palaver de Pampa

COLLISION—Is an auto accident caused when the nut at holds the steering wheel is too tight or too loose ... At least that is true in so many cases.

WHAT IS IT?—It costs nothing, but enhances everything. It enriches those who receive it, without impoverishing those who give it. No one is so rich and exalted that he can get along without it, and none is so poor that he cannot be made rich by it. It creates happiness in the home, promotes good will in business, and is the "open sesame" to friendship. It brings rest to the weary, companionship to the lonely, cheer to the downhearted, and sunshine to the sad. Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed, or stolen, for it is of absolutely no value unless it is given away. What is it? It is — a smile ... Some of the town's built-in smiles that always shine are: Myron Marx, Warren Hasse, Mrs. Don Egerton, Frank Wilson, Crawford Atkinson, Irv Akst, Jimmie McCune ... Of course, there are others, but these come to mind in a few moments.

TRIANGLE—That's what a family circle turns into when some body doesn't play square ... At least, that's the way I find it.

I HEAR THAT "Uncle" Orland Butler, High School band director, is "sure" of my identity ... Of all people in town, he should have time for such snooping ... He works only one hour a day, five days a week, 44 weeks a year ... Wonder if he would take over a couple of weeks next month for me while I take a vacation.

A THOUGHT in passing:
I can stand anything the fates may send,
Except the counsel of a kindly friend
Who, in the name of brotherhood,
Must tell me things for my own good.

PANORAMA—I have a cousin whose entire personality has been changed since last week ... he's a wheat farmer, and, come clear skies and a hot sun, it's as if his face had undergone a face-lifting ... of course, I can understand him, for I'm not too many years removed from the farm and wheat and the such myself ... in last Sunday's piece I said "Rain, are you going away?" ... And it has, it seems ... Even a shower wouldn't hurt now, but the farmers would have to wait a half-day or so, and that would be too, too much, because let's get that golden grain ... I went to the Bike Parade, and the kids were there o-hing and a-ahing ... nice, I'd say ... about the next "parade" we'll have will be the Soap Box Derby—next month ... Along the line of entertainment, per se (what a word!), is the Mad Modelers' plane-flying ... They take those small craft out on a lot near the ball park and start them zooming through the air (on a string), and people start driving their cars in to get a better look ... Sunday afternoon is an ideal time, and they get a good audience ... I was there to watch recently ... Mrs. Dick (Ursula) Kennedy, with her daughter, Kay, is visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jones, and relatives ... the Kennedys live at Austin ... Seems members of the Steering Committee for the county X-ray survey have been on the ball, according to reports ... they hope to top last year's 4,800 persons X-rayed ... don't miss it, you ... Mr. Peg was out to the ball game the other night (I didn't go), and he tells me he has high hopes that Dame Fortune will give the boys a nod very, very soon.

PANORAMIC FINALE—Able Hahn at the Cabot barbecue, dashing about to see if everyone was getting enough to eat ... others apied with eyes on their plates were Bud and Anna Mae Herring, O. B. and Janie Worley, Randy Antonson, Nancy Sullivan, Roy Parker and Nite Franklin ... heard that Kurt Beck got some good snap-shots with his camera ... how about some of those pictures around, Kurt? ... Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gibson and family are leaving soon for Hobbs and from what I hear it will definitely be Hobbs' gain ... a group of their friends gathered the other night and presented them with a beautiful silver service ... among the well-wishers there were the Con Paulsens, Fox Bransons, Fred Hendricks, Bill Smiths and Frank Walkers ... Lee Ann Wiley, formerly of Pampa, is back in town visiting the Elmer Wilsons ... another Pampa back for a few days is Ann Hobgood ... Mrs. Wade Thomasson hurried home from California in time to have an unfortunate accident by falling over her son-in-law's fence ... Murray and Virginia Body are enthusiastic about their recent fishing sojourn in Montana ... they report that the fish there are biting in assembly line fashion ... that's for me ... Delbert and Irene Beggs have returned from Chicago with their daughter, Donna, who has been attending school there ... Mr. and Mrs. Norman Felps, Mrs. Robert L. Edmonson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Thurmond Cline left last night for Fort Worth where they will attend the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Cline's son ... other Fort Worth trippers are Mrs. W. C. Jones and children ... Tom and Mary Lindsey are sight-seeing in Omaha ... Ed Kelley off for Ft. Smith, Ark. ... Mrs. Edwin Givens' trip to California was delayed an hour Thursday due to the untimely arrival of a good luck chain letter ... hear that she took time out to write her twelve copies and get them in the mail before heading for the West Coast ... the Ewing Williamss entertained their friends with a fish fry at their home Tuesday evening.

AND THAT reminds me, I'm beginning to fry in this weather ... you'd think it had been hot for a year ... heard someone say it surely would be a short year, 1949, because there was such a long winter.

See you the next time,

The main topic was "Planning Three Meals a Day." Refreshments were served to the six members present.

The club will meet next in the home of Mrs. N. R. Hutton, 721 S. Cedar St. on Friday, July 1.

Mrs. F. Tuck Focht

Morrison, Focht Married In Candlelight Ceremony

A candlelight ceremony at the First Methodist Church solemnized the wedding vows of Miss Barbara Ruth Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Grundy Morrison, 1221 Mary Ellen, and F. Tuck Focht, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Focht, Austin.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Orion W. Carter, pastor of the church, at 8:30 p. m. yesterday in the sanctuary which contained a profusion of fern and huckleberry interspersed with rows of white tapers.

Back of the choir rail were arrangements of white Picardy gladioli against a background of fern and tapers. An improvised arch of tapers, flanked with white wedding baskets of gladioli and peonies, were inside the chancel rail. The balance of the altar was filled with fern.

Each aisle was marked at the pews with white tapers and white peonies tied with white satin bows. In the foyer containing the guest register was a large sunburst arrangement of peonies and gladioli centered in front of a mirror and flanked by candelabra of white tapers. Miss Jean McNeil, Lubbock, and Mrs. Lee Moore, Jr., Pampa, had charge of the register. (See MORRISON, Page 14)

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bednorz

White-Bednorz Vows Are Exchanged at Holy Souls

Arrangements of gladioli and fern, interspersed with candelabra, decorated the altar for the marriage of Miss Mary Ann White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis White, 1008 Twiford, to Clarence Floyd Bednorz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bednorz, White Deer.

The Very Rev. Otto Meyer, C. M., read the double-ring service Monday morning, June 6, at Holy Souls Catholic Church, at a Nuptial High Mass.

Miss Jo Ann Sawyer, organist, accompanied Mrs. Lynn Boyd who sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus" and "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother."

Attendants, Lea Mae Bruce, matron of honor, Bunnie Shelton and Grace Gotcher, bridesmaids, wore gowns of organdy in pink, green and yellow. They wore hats of carnations to match their gowns and carried colonial bouquets of white gladioli.

Everest Bednorz, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Jack W. White, brother of the bride, Leonard Bednorz and Clifford Bednorz, brothers of the bridegroom. The bride, given in marriage

Bride-Elect Is Complimented at Tea and Shower

SHAMROCK —(Special)—Miss Betty Jo Burks, popular bride-elect of John A. Sherrod of Fort Worth, whose wedding is scheduled to take place June 25 at St. Ann's Church in Fort Worth, was complimented with a tea and shower at the home of Mrs. Shirley Draper Wednesday afternoon.

Hostesses for the affair were: Mesdames Draper, S. Q. Scott, Oscar Laycock, Harold Williams, Mae Yarborough and Miss Barbara Scott.

Blue and white decorations emphasized the chosen colors of the honoree.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Draper, the honor guest and her mother, Mrs. Lonnie Burks. Mrs. Yarborough presided at the guest register.

In the dining room the table was laid with a cloth of cut work, centered with a bowl of white carnations and blue cornflowers. Flanking the arrangement were tall white tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. Matt Lewis, aunt of the bride-elect, and a cousin, Mrs. Scott McCaill, poured alternately. Miss Scott and Mrs. Williams assisted with the serving.

Roses decorated the gift room where many attractive and useful gifts were on display. Mrs. Laycock directed the guests to the gift room.

During the receiving hours Mrs. Mary Pace played piano selections and accompanied Mrs. Harrison Hall of Wheeler, as she sang a number of appropriate songs.

More than a hundred guests called during the afternoon.

Mrs. Daugherty Is Given Shower

Members of the Entre Nous Club served as hostesses for a bridal shower, June 12, at the home of Mrs. Ruth Spearman, honoring Mrs. Frank Daugherty.

Mrs. Daugherty was the former Miss Patricia Butler, Amarillo. Gossages designed by Mrs. Holley Gray were presented to the bride, her mother, Mrs. Lee Butler, Jr., and Mrs. Twila Daugherty, mother of the bridegroom.

The home was decorated with pastel flowers. Miss Mildred Cole, White Deer, presided over the bride's book and Mrs. Norman Walberg and Mrs. Joe Lewis had charge of the serving table. Deep red roses placed on a circular mirror surrounded the crystal punch bowl on the refreshment table.

Mrs. Butler and Miss Ninette Spearman assisted the bride in opening her gifts.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Wright, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Doc Murphy, and Dee, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Gross, Jr., and Mrs. Jack Porter and Jackie. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Martin Stubbe

Shamrock Home Is Site of Scruggs-Stubbe Wedding

SHAMROCK —(Special)—An improvised altar in the Scruggs home was the scene of the wedding of Miss Permelia Scruggs and Martin Stubbe, Saturday, June 11, at 5 p. m. J. P. Crenshaw of Pampa, minister of the Church of Christ, officiated at the double-ring service.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Scruggs and the late Minister W. C. Scruggs, and for the past three years has been a teacher at Pampa Junior High School. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Louise Stubbe of Fort Worth.

Cathedral tapers, burning "At Dawning," and "I Love You Truly" on the chapel organ which was on the second floor of the home. Mrs. Ruth Land of Pampa sang "Tell Me Why," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Lane accompanied Mrs. Land and also played the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. John Bond of Pampa, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Ray Stalcup of Pleasanton was an attendant. They wore dresses of pale blue organdy and carried colonial bouquets of pink rosebuds. Bridesmaids of pink roses completed their costumes.

Alexander Stubbe of Fort Worth, twin brother of the bridegroom, was best man. John Bond of Pampa, and Gene Ray, brother of the bride, were ushers. (See SHAMROCK, Page 14)

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Huffhines

Doris Exline, O. A. Huffhines Marry in Church Ceremony

Before an altar decorated with pink gladioli and candelabra, Miss Doris Jeanne Exline, 610 N. Frost, recently became the bride of Oliver A. Huffhines, Wilcox Lease.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Vera Exline, Ellwood City Pa., and the late V. L. Exline. Huffhines is a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Q. Huffhines, Wilcox Lease.

The double-ring service was performed by the Rev. Elbert Labenske, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, June 3.

Miss Grace Gotcher, attired in a pastel blue crepe dress with navy accessories and a gardenia corsage, was maid of honor and Hubert Lam served as best man. Everett Huffhines, brother of the bridegroom, and Bill Bond were ushers. (See EXLINE, Page 14)

Skellytown Girl Married at Church

SKELLYTOWN —(Special)—Miss Wilma Jean Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Adams, became the bride of J. W. Tomes, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tomes, Amhurst Tex., in a ceremony read by the Rev. M. O. Evans at the First Baptist Church at 3 p. m. last Sunday.

James Beck sang "Forever and Ever." He was accompanied by Mrs. Edith Beighle, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Miss LaRuth Slannagin served as maid of honor and Donald Fridy was best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of pale green satin and white accessories. After the wedding a reception was held in the church basement. The couple will make their home in Amhurst where Mr. Tomes is engaged in farming. Mrs. Tomes will teach school.

Miss Thacker and Mr. Haynes Are Married in Informal Ceremony

McLEAN — (Special) — Miss Billie Joyce Thacker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ames Thacker, became the bride of Samuel A. Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes, in an informal ceremony at 9 a. m. Wednesday, in the Methodist Church.

The Rev. W. B. Hicks read the single-ring service before a large group of guests. The bride was escorted by her father, and the groom by his brother, John Haynes.

Mrs. Willie Boyett, organist, played the traditional wedding music during the exchange of vows.

Miss LaVetta Gunn attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a printed silk with white accessories and her corsage was of white roses.

Johnny Haynes, brother of the groom, served as best man, and Roger Powers and Bob Black, Jr., were ushers.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a suit of white summer flannel with navy accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid. For the "something old," she wore an heirloom necklace belonging to the groom's grandmother, Mrs. J. S. Morse.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor where the sisters of the bride presided at the serving table. Mrs. Marvin Hindman served the three-tiered cake. Mrs. Hayden Bodenhamer served.

Wheeler Installs New Officers of Eastern Star

WHEELER — (Special) — Wheeler Chapter No. 942, Order of the Eastern Star, held its annual installation of officers for the coming year on the evening of June 24, at the Masonic Temple.

The chapter room was decorated with baskets of spring flowers forming a beautiful setting for the impressive ceremony.

Mrs. Inis Walker of Canadian and Mrs. Ella Johnston of Mobeetie acted as installing officer and marshal, respectively. Local officers assisting in the ceremony were Mrs. Grace Mock, chaplain, Mrs. Betta Farmer, secretary, and Mrs. Cora Hyatt, organist.

At the opening of the chapter a beautiful white altar Bible was presented to the chapter for the altar, a gift from the retiring worthy matron, and retiring conductress, Mrs. Ollie W. Beene, and Mrs. Viola Pennington, respectively. "My Mother's Bible" was sung by Mrs. Anna Robinson and Mrs. Lillie Bowman, accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Porter at the piano.

Below is a list of the new officers and their place of service for the coming year: worthy matron, Mrs. Helen Russ; worthy patron, George Porter; associate matron, Mrs. Ollie W. Beene; associate patron, Jess Dyer; secretary, Mrs. Betta Farmer; treasurer, Mrs. Lillie Bowman; conductress, Mrs. Irma Kirk; associate conductress, Mrs. Mildred Porter; chaplain, Mrs. Ruth Malloy; marshal, Mrs. Jane Kiker; organist, Mrs. Anna Robinson; Ada, Mrs. Elmore McCleskey; Ruth, Mrs. Annie Mae Howell; Esther, Mrs. Mary E. Nomm; Martha, Mrs. Ethel Lotter; Electra, Mrs. Sue Dyer; warder, Mrs. Juanita Levitt; sentinel, Loyd Anglin.

At the close of the service, the retiring worthy matron and worthy patron were presented with past officers pins by Mrs. Helen Russ, newly installed worthy matron, who in a few well-chosen words expressed the appreciation of the chapter for a successful year of service. Gifts were also presented to the installing officers by Mrs. Russ. Then gifts were presented to the incoming and outgoing worthy matrons and worthy patrons, by the installing officers, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Johnston. After this the retiring worthy matron presented each of her officers and the installing officers with a small gift.

Out-of-town visitors who attended were Mrs. W. G. Copeland, of Allison, who is a member of the Olustee Chapter, Olustee, Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker, Canadian, and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Johnston, Mobeetie.

topped with an orchid tied with white satin ribbons.

Bridal traditions were carried out through a borrowed Bible, owned by Mrs. Vestal Bailey, and a 50-year-old lace handkerchief, belonging to Mrs. W. E. Ballard.

Mrs. Exline wore a black crepe dress, with black accessories and white carnation corsage while Mrs. Huffines was attired in a light blue dress, with white accessories and white carnation corsage.

Mrs. L. D. Fagan played "Together," "Because" and the wedding marches. She accompanied George Andrews, Bethany, Okla., who sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Always."

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included the bride's sister, Mrs. B. J. Fashione, Ellwood City, Pa., and the bride's aunt, Miss Ruth Bowman, Fort Smith, Ark.

Following the ceremony, the couple left on a wedding trip to Oklahoma City. They are now making their home at 319 N. Gray.

Mrs. Huffines was graduated from Pampa High School in 1947 and Huffines attended Pasadena Junior College at Pasadena, Calif. He is now employed at Cabot Shops.

WHIRLING SLEEPERS
The average person turns in his sleep every 13 minutes, according to researchers. They say this is the reason the demand for twin beds has increased 60 percent since the war.

About 70 percent of all meat is consumed east of the Mississippi River.

Morrison

Mrs. H. A. Yoder, organist, played several nuptial selections and the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional. Damon Weber, Austin, recited "How Do I Love Thee," by Elizabeth Barrett Browning, with accompanying background music, and sang "Through the Years," and "I Love Thee," by Greig.

Miss Fay Madeline Focht, Austin, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Candelighters were Misses Ann Sidwell and Ann Perkins. Miss Carol Perkins was bridesmaid.

John A. Focht, Jr., Vickburg, Miss., brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Don Morrison, brother of the bride, Sid Chandler, Austin, and Dave Rainey, Austin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of ice blue satin with a basque waist fitted to a point in the back. The full-gathered skirt swept into a cathedral train and the deep oval neckline was outlined with a wide collar ornamented with hand-sewn designs of ice blue seed pearls and French sequins. A double fold of satin formed a cap sleeve. Her veil of French illusion cascaded from a Juliet cap which was embroidered with the French sequins. The bride carried an heirloom book, "Bridal Greetings," which had been a gift to her maternal grandmother. It was topped with a white hybrid Cattleya orchid tied with streamers of white satin ribbon and lilies of the valley.

The attendants' gowns were of deeper shades of blue organza fashioned after the bride's gown. The maid of honor wore a bonnet of net ruching which matched her gown. The bridesmaid's half-hat was also of ruching to match her gown. The maid of honor and bridesmaid carried colonial bouquets of white peonies and Esther Reed daisies in tufts of blue maline and tied with streamers of satin ribbon matching the colors of their gowns.

The candelighters' gowns were of pale blue organza fashioned with a deep bertha collar dipping at a point in the back and a full skirt gathered onto a bodice which was pointed in the back and outlined with Marguerite daisies. Their headresses were circlets of the daisies and satin streamers.

Mrs. Morrison chose a gown of deep blue bengal and her hat was of white nylon braid with taffeta trim. Her corsage was white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Focht, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dark sheer gown with white accessories and the reception rooms in the Morrison home were decorated with baskets of white peonies and gladioli. Arrangements of the same flowers were used on the mantel and piano. Appointments on the bride's table were silver and white. A large silver bowl contained the punch and the white wedding cake, centered on a mirror, was encircled with baby gardenias.

The top tier was a dark fruit cake which was removed by the bride, to be opened on her first anniversary. Small wedding boxes of the dark cake were presented to guests. Mrs. A. J. Montgomery, Shamrock, and Mrs. E. C. Sidwell, Pampa, presided at the table. Assisting were Misses Gloria Poltek of Schulenburg, Mary Lou Proctor, Spur Lake, and Edrie Morrison, Pampa.

The couple left on a wedding trip through New Mexico and Southwestern Texas. For traveling, the bride chose a toast colored suit of linen with beige polka dot blouse of the silk. An orchid corsage, a hat of brown straw and shoes and bag of doiled skin to match the suit completed the outfit. After July 1, the couple will be at home at Houston where Focht will be associated with the Humble Oil Company.

Mrs. Focht was graduated from Pampa High School in 1947 where she was a member of the A Cappella Choir, National Honor Society and the Kit Kat Klub. She attended the University of Texas for two years where she was upperclass advisor and social chairman of Kirby Hall, a member of the Girls' Glee Club, A Cappella Choir and Wesley Foundation.

Focht was graduated in 1949 from the University of Texas with a degree in Civil Engineering. He was a member of Tau Beta

Mrs. Bednorz was graduated from Pampa High School in 1947. Until her marriage, she was employed with the Cabot Carbon Company.

Bednorz was graduated from White Deer High School in 1941. He served four years in the U. S. Air Corps and has been attending Texas Tech.

"HANDS OFF" SAY RUHR WORKERS—A large crowd of German workers parades to protest the partial dismantling of their nitrogen-producing plant near Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr Valley. Signs read, "Dismantling brings need and misery," "Don't defraud our youth," and "Hands off." Similar demonstrations and outbreaks of violence occurred at other plants earmarked for war reparations in the area.

Drys, Wets, Gird Forces for Fight

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — Constitutionally dry Oklahomans have braced themselves for a solid summer of knock-down campaigning on the issues of liquor repeal.

Gov. Roy J. Turner gave the signal Wednesday which may bring on one of the most bitterly-fought campaigns in the state's 42-year history.

Turner called for a vote on the age-old issue at a special election Sept. 27.

Several hours after his announcement opposing forces—the United Dry Association and the Oklahoma Economic Institute—issued statements proclaiming intentions of a thorough, hard-hitting campaign.

Child Meets Her Seven Grandmothers

HAZLETON, Pa. — (AP) — Six-month-old Gale Ruth Treasler had better learn to say "Grandmom" real quick. She has seven living grandmothers.

Baby Gale was presented to all her grandmothers at a family reunion last week. They range from great-great grandmothers to just plain grandmothers.

Texas Peach Harvest Starts

THORNBERRY, Tex. — (AP) — Peach growers in this North Texas area are beginning a $1,000-an-acre harvest.

The annual peach harvest finds the plump ripe fruit in good condition, and the market favorable. Hall and toher weather hazards which stripped wheatlands east of here generously spared the peaches.

Not all the peaches will bring $1,000 an acre. The first fruit harvested brings the highest price, usually. Early marketings were selling for $2 a bushel.

Oil Man's Widow Gets Annuities

PONCA CITY, Okla. — (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Wentz Healey, niece of the late Lew H. Wentz, and her two sons are principal beneficiaries in the oil man-political leader's will filed for probate in court at Newkirk.

Wentz left Mrs. Healey his home and its furnishings and a $150,000 annuity payable at the rate of $500 monthly.

The will set up annuities of $300,000 each for her two teen-aged sons, Burke and Baren, each annuity to pay $500 a month until exhausted.

Pecos School Loses Status

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Pecos schools have lost their accredited status until they end segregation and correct over-crowded conditions, State Superintendent L. A. Woods said yesterday.

Dr. Woods said Latin-American pupils have been segregated in the first six grades in violation of a federal court decision.

Over-crowding of Latin-American classrooms at Pecos was so bad that in one instance 77 children were under the direction of one teacher in one room, Dr. Woods said a deputy school supervisor reported.

Dr. Woods said he conferred yesterday with the Pecos school superintendent, Ray H. Whitley, and the president and secretary of the Pecos School Board, W. S. McCree and Neil S. Thompson, respectively.

"They said they would try to have three or four new classrooms built," Dr. Woods reported.

"If they get plenty of room by fall, and end segregation, the penalty will be lifted," he said.

Under a federal court ruling of last year, pupils may not be segregated because of Latin-American ancestry except in the first grade unless they have difficulty with the English language.

Woman Reports On Women in Powder Rooms

ATLANTA — (AP) — Ever Wonder what makes the girl friend take so long when she goes to powder her nose?

Marjory Smith, a member of the Atlanta Constitution staff, has come up with an answer after checking powder rooms in movie houses, restaurants, and popular cocktail lounges.

This is what the average young woman does on a routine trip to the powder room, says Miss Smith:

Combs her hair twice (two to seven minutes, depending on the intricacies of her hair-do).

Makes over her face, with emphasis on lip-stick application (five to 20 minutes, depending mainly on the age of the primer).

Waits an average of five minutes for a clear view of the best-lighted mirror.

Wastes at least one split second "giving a dirty look to the woman who pushed up out of turn."

Straightens her stocking seams (one to two minutes, "depending on whether she favors garters of suspenders").

Whirls around so the other girls can tell her if her slip is showing.

Yanks up her slip straps, "Just in case" (30 seconds).

Even in Eggs, Texas Takes Top

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — We really should make those Texans tell their stories first.

An Oklahoma City Associated Press dispatch on June 13 told of Laverne Sandy's hen laying a huge egg—eight and a half inches in circumference the long way, seven inches the short way.

"Laverne Sandy's hens may have the record in Oklahoma, but Texas cannot be outdone," wrote H. R. Ebbitts of Dallas to the AP bureau here.

Last month, Ebbitts continued, one of his Texas hens produced a real whopper—nine and a quarter by eight and a quarter inches.

Man Lives to 108 by 'Minding Business'
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — James Russell Davis, who listed his age as 108, bought a driver's license here.

"How come you've lived so long?" a curious clerk asked.

"Tending to my own business," was the reply.

Davis listed his birth date as Oct. 1, 1840.

Makes one phone call (minute to forever).

Sizes up the clothes the other gals are wearing (six minutes).

And takes time out for a little gossip.

Inspector Is Busy Checking Milk Supply

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series "Know Your Health Department." Other articles will follow giving the experience and duties of the local Health Department personnel.)

A. N. Thorne, for the past three years, has been employed as inspector at the City Health Department. During the past 18 months he has had charge of milk and dairy inspection.

Thorne came to Pampa from Jonesboro, Ark., in 1927. While there he was engaged in farming and general merchandising. He worked at six local concerns before accepting his present position with the Health Department.

He spent a strenuous 18-month period ridding the city of rats while serving as health inspector. He supervised ratproofing the business district, giving special emphasis to food establishments.

Inspecting milk and dairies in several Texas and Oklahoma Panhandle counties is a routine duty of Thorne's. In fact, he inspects all places furnishing milk that is consumed in Pampa.

Inspecting each place at in-

Intervals of three or four weeks, Thorne sees that all equipment, milking utensils, dairy barns and cow yards come up to sanitary specifications.

Some of the health inspector's other duties in connection with milk inspection include checking Pampa's milk plants for sanitation, milk trucks for temperature and cleanliness and being certain that milk truck drivers have health certificates.

Pampa producers have electric coolers in milk sheds so they can cool the milk immediately after it is obtained. It is required to be cooled to at least 50 degrees F. if it is not to be delivered to the plant within two hours. Milk that isn't delivered within that time is put into coolers and kept at a temperature of about 38 degrees.

Samples of the milk are taken to the laboratory in the Health Department in the City Hall where Miss Clara Hyde, technician, analyzes.

Three Divorces Granted by Court

One adoption and three divorces were granted Friday by District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in 31st District Court here.

Granted divorce decrees were: Gean Tiffie from W. T. Tiffie on grounds of cruelty. They were married on April 15, 1949 and separated on May 10, 1949.

Corine Curls from J. C. Curls on cruelty charges. They were married on April 25, 1948 and separated on May 30, 1948.

Buford W. Comer from Clarice Cooper Comer on charges of cruelty. They were married Dec. 3, 1947 and separated on Jan. 20, 1948.

It takes 11 lambs to supply the "cat gut" for a single tennis racket.

Eight Pampa Boys in Air Encampment

Eight Pampa Senior Scouts will be among the 20 Scouts who will leave today for Region 9's air encampment at San Antonio. The Scouts have been asked to meet at the west side of City Hall at 8 a.m. today so they can go in a group to English Field at Amarillo. The Scouts will be transported to Tinker Field, Oklahoma City, to board a C-47 for the flight to Randolph Field.

Sgt. Davis A. Brown and Sheriff Hugh Anderson, Ranger, will accompany the group to Amarillo. The Pampa Scouts will join the Ranger Scouts at English Field and will continue to English Field in a group.

Pampa Scouts making the trip include: Billy Rex Campbell, Don Burns, Bob Epps, Bob Oden, Jerry Coley, Post 80; Jackie Weathered, Troop 80; Barton Lockhart and Pat Mitchell, Post 22.

The air encampment is being jointly sponsored by the U. S. Air Force and the Boy Scouts of America. Through the courtesy of Col. O. W. Howland, Lt. Col. L. B. Detrickson and Major Wilson of Tinker Field Air Base, the C-47 was furnished to airlift the Scouts to and from Randolph Field.

The air encampment has been planned to provide a "top-flight" experience for the Scouts. It will be held for six days, beginning at 1 p.m. today when registration gets underway.

Included in the program of activities are practice and experience in navigation, weather, communications, mechanics, link trainer, aviation medicine, radar and the latest of jet equipment.

Also an orientation flight in multi-motored aircraft will be featured for all Scouts whose parents approve such activity.

Guest Musician Plays Hand Saw

Playing such well-known favorites as "Rock of Ages," "Maggie," and "There's No Place Like Home," John E. O'Bannon, operator of the Pampa Tourist Courts, made an appearance Friday before the Kiwanis Club with his musical saw.

O'Bannon appeared under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Underprivileged Children's Committee, and was introduced by Bunny Behrman, of that committee. He was accompanied by Mrs. May Foreman Carr, club pianist.

Panhandle Company Announces Move

DALLAS — (AP) — An officer of Panhandle Producing and Refining Company said today executive offices of the concern would be moved here late in June. They are now at Wichita Falls.

R. C. Sanford, executive vice president, said the move would provide more centrally located headquarters. The company has properties in north, west and south Texas and the Panhandle.

The concern — a 34 year old independent company — has a refinery at Wichita Falls, and another plant at Leuders, West Central Texas. It has subsidiaries engaged in steel fabrication and general construction.

Presidential Guard Dies From Wound

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Col. Harry Cooper, onetime Secret Service official and presidential bodyguard, died Friday night not long after being admitted to a hospital with a bullet wound in the head.

The 52-year-old Cooper, former head of the Washington district of the Secret Service, served as a bodyguard for four presidents.

He was found on a bedroom floor in his suburban home. Nearby was a .45 calibre Army automatic. Police would not disclose the contents of notes found on a dresser and addressed to his wife, Fanny, and his daughter, Barbara.

62 Boys Will Try For Derby Honors

"Let's see . . . that leaves just 3½ pounds for the car!"

Sixty-two boys have set their sights on a big prize to be awarded here next month — the trip to Akron, Ohio, for the international finals of the All-American Soap Box Derby.

While they will not meet such impossible problems as that presented above, they will have a lot of work to do between now and that Sunday afternoon five weeks from today.

Yesterday was the deadline for signing for the event which is sponsored by Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Culberson Chevrolet, the Pampa Lions Club, and The Pampa Daily News.

Officials have stressed the importance of following the rules as set forth in the official rulebook which each boy received when he signed for the contest. "Don't, don't," said one official, "get careless and fall to notice what the rules say. That might cause you a lot of work and heartache when inspection time comes."

Boys are urged to read all stories that appear in The News in regard to the Derby, for there are a number of important dates that will be announced from time to time. Among them is a party, by Shell Oil Co.

Harvest Begins At Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — North, east, south and west of Shamrock, combines are humming and the 1949 wheat crop is pouring into bins, elevators and just about anything else that will hold it.

With a seven-week "rainy spell" tapering off to a fall of only 10 of an inch Sunday night and 17 of an inch Monday night, harvest activity began to increase Tuesday and jumped into high gear Wednesday.

A check of the four local elevators yesterday morning showed that they had handled 17 carloads of this year's rapidly ripening grain. Most of it came in Wednesday. Operators said they expected to be rushed even more if dry weather continues.

Elevator men hope to handle as much wheat this year as they did in 1947, when this county's largest crop was harvested. More than 200 carloads were shipped from this point that year.

The wheat is testing from 87 to 60 with a moisture content of 11 to 15. Wheat with less than 14 moisture content may be stored.

The yield per acre is averaging as high as 25 bushels with a few farmers reporting cutting as low as 10 bushels.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

LONDON —(P)— There is the sound of many hammers here in the land of the over-baked potato. And the sound of many complaining voices.

There is confidence in the sound of the hammers — and authority. For the hammers are rebuilding battered England.

But in the complaining voices are doubt and uncertainty. There is either dissatisfaction with the way England is going or dismay that it hasn't achieved more for the common man down the new political path it has been traveling.

Says one young voice of socialism:

"Yes, we've got many things we didn't have before. But we English are losing the taste for Scotch whisky and meat, because we get so little. And that is bad for us because whisky and beef made us great."

And a voice from the political past says:

"They are trying to do too much here for everybody. It can't be done in a small land that lives by bringing raw materials here for manufacture and shipping the products elsewhere for sale. Ninety percent of the people will have to go back to living the way they always did. Then the ten percent with exceptional ability can live as well as their brains and initiative entitle them to."

It is hard for a visitor to weigh and interpret the complaining voices and what they mean to the future of the United Kingdom. But the visitor does get one clearcut impression — that neither the classes nor the masses are satisfied with the present scale of austerity. Both want more than they are getting now of everything.

I came here with a group of war correspondents revisiting European battle areas on a tour sponsored by the American Overseas Airlines.

London hasn't changed as much as you'd expect. The face of the great gray lady by the Thames is wrapped in scaffolding as workmen restore the beauty pitted by German bombs. They have cleared away the debris of many gutted buildings and turned them into car parking sites.

The people still stand patiently in long queues for most of the things they desire — buses, theatrical entertainment, prized food items.

You have a feeling that England would be lost if everyone broke from the queue at once to grab a bus seat, instead of patiently taking his turn. There'll

July Dates Set for Higgins X-Ray Survey

HIGGINS —(Special)— July 7, 8 and 9 are the dates set for the State Health Department X-ray unit to be in Higgins. The headquarters will be in the Miller Building on Main.

The unit will have two technicians and volunteer help. This service, sponsored by the Lions Club, is free, and all residents of Lipscomb County are urged to take advantage of this opportunity. Residents of adjacent counties always be an England, you sense, as long as the English accept the discipline of necessity — and they still do.

But they are a little weary of being complimented on their courage and endurance. They want the brave new world or promised plenty to come a little faster.

FEATURE PAGES: Among the most popular items in the daily newspaper are the feature stories—the off-the-beaten-track human interest tales whose subjects, though not "spot news" are highly interesting and worthy of the readers' attention, sympathy or help. A feature story on a blind woman who learned to play the violin inspires other handicapped people; a child, stricken with a rare illness, gets expensive medical attention his family can't afford, because generous readers learned of his plight; a worthy family, evicted and unable to find housing, gets a new home, after their story is published—the list is endless.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) —

Jimmy Stewart was wearing a white linen suit, a straw hat and a pained expression.

"I've got a stomach-ache," he said. "I think it's intestinal flu."

I didn't have the nerve to tell him that all 41-year-old bachelors facing matrimony complain of shock, I've been told, to the nervous system.

But I didn't hesitate to kid Jimmy about acquiring both a wife and a family. Gloria Hatrick McLean, whom he'll marry in August, has two small children by a previous marriage.

"Not only that," grinned back Jimmy, "but she's also got a big police dog."

I asked him what a bachelor habits he was planning to eliminate from his life.

"Well," he smiled (just like Jimmy Stewart does on the screen), "I really don't know which ones I'll have to give up. Give me a few months in this married club and I'll let you know."

Bill Boyd is floating on air since that poll announced he's No. 1 in popularity on television — topping even Milton Berle. . . . Barbara Stone, who made her film debut in "Force of Evil," will marry Dr. Myron Babcock. . . . Spike Jones just recorded "Ghost Writers in the Sky," a satire on THAT song.

JOE'S JOKE: Two new Joe Frisco stories making the rounds:

Seems Joe went to a party celebrating the completion of "Riding High." Frank Capra's own remake of his pre-war hit, "Broadway Bill." Joe got up and said: "They say Capra is a great director, but if he had made 'Broadway Bill' right the first time, he wouldn't have to make it again."

The other: A woman at Santa Anita was asking Joe a lot of stupid questions about horse racing and Joe was at the cracking point. Finally she asked:

"What does it mean when there's a star after a horse's name on the program?" Joe whispered back acidly: "That means that the horse's trainer has a son in the service."

Talking about a certain movie doll, Monogram executive Scotty Dunlop cracked: "I'd like to buy her for what she's worth and sell her for what she thinks she's worth."

There's a big break for movie fans in M-G-M's four-reel anniversary short, "Some of the Best." It's a collection of old movie scenes featuring: Gable, John Gilbert, Mae Murray, Marie Dressler, Lon Chaney, Leslie Howard, Jean Harlow, Norma Shearer and 42 others.

Oil & Gas News

THE DRILLER'S LOG

By BUD ANDERSON

"We drill deep holes primarily for oil," declares a Superior Oil Co. engineer, "but even if we don't hit, we figure our profit in knowledge gained—geologically and mechanically."

This is an excerpt from an article in the June 15 Wall Street Journal on deep drilling. This is a pretty good article for anyone, including the oil men. According to the article, cost is the big factor. Superior, for example, has already spent more than a million dollars on a well in Wyoming. Some officials say that after a well passes the 15,000 foot mark, expenses go up about twice as fast as the drill goes down.

Equipment is also another factor that needs improvement. Tools are pushed past prescribed endurance points in the deep wells. You can imagine the strain on a drill pipe that is hanging in a hole four miles down. The drill pipe with cables, pulleys, and other equipment add up to more than a half-million pounds—hanging four miles.

But what are they finding, besides precious little oil? The Journal geologists say it is neither "encouraging nor discouraging." They have found evidences which would indicate that oil bearing strata are not so tight as to restrict the flow of oil. But again, they aren't quite certain.

Those are some of the more important parts of the article. The remainder is interesting and I think I can safely recommend it to anyone as such.

Keith E. Bohrer has been taken on by Skelly Production Department as engineer. Bohrer began last Friday. He received his degree in Engineering from the University of Kansas.

C. A. Wischoff, district engineer for Shell Oil, left for Wichita Falls the past week. He is now working out of the division office for a while.

It would seem that we are losing deep tests in the Anadarko faster than we can pick up new ones. Gulf-Collard in Hansford got to 8,600 feet and, according to reliable reports, decided to give up drilling. Gulf men in Amarillo wouldn't comment on it. Chances are there will be some official dope on it this week. This is the second dry hole in a week. Humble abandoned the Roach in Donley last week after hitting granite.

Reports last week had it that the Gulf-Harbaugh had hit oil, bearing sand at around 7,200 feet. Sand was hit all right, but apparently was not oil-bearing according to reports I have been able to pick up. Gulf is mum on this one, too. There was a test taken at 7,235-45. Their total depth now is 7,245 feet.

Sinclair Lips No. 2 is drilling ahead this week after shutting down a couple of days waiting for orders. Sinclair took a drill-steam test at 5,308-22 and recovered 40 feet of drilling mud. They shut down at 5,330. Apparently weren't satisfied with the 800,000 cubic feet of gas so they're now drilling ahead at 5,404 feet.

Honolulu-Ponder down in Deaf Smith County was reported last week to be fishing at 8,985 feet. They have begun drilling again this week however, after setting a whipstock and drilling by the 8,985 mark with cable tools. The latest reported drilling depth is 8,985 feet.

Might lose another one. That's just rumor. Garden Valley Valley McKeever in Childress County is shut down this week. Their latest reported depth is 1,588 feet. This well spudded May 1.

Hooper-Duke in Oldham County is drilling at 4,905 this week. It looks as though Gulf-Porter in Lipscomb just doesn't know when to stop. This deepest well in the Anadarko is logged at 13,252 and still drilling. Its nearest competitor is the Union No. 1 Music "A" in Beckham County, Okla., on the other end of the basin. The "A" is reported drilling ahead at 13,110.

Gulf's Wamble in Ochiltree County is drilling ahead this week. They have been losing returns, but apparently have solved their difficulties and are now drilling below 4,000 feet. Skelly-Stump is drilling at 8,081 while the Gammerfeller in Hansford has passed 7,200 by now.

We will pick up one new well. Huber Corp. moved in a rotary rig this past week on their No. 1 Fawcett in Ochiltree County. According to Huber officials, the well will spud Monday or Tuesday.

J. W. Swygart, district production superintendent for Shell, is making the ball games again. Swygart has been on sick leave since March 24. The Oilers might have at least won the game.

There are times when fishing doesn't mean well trouble to an oil man. Dan Gribben, production superintendent for the Texas Co., Fred Neslage, production superintendent for West Texas Refining Co., and Clayton Fusted, Manager of E. M. Jeffries Trucking Co., are going fishing—at Lake City, deep in the Rockies. They plan to leave Tuesday and spend the rest of the week.

Gulf employees will take off Friday afternoon, that's June 24, for the company's annual picnic. According to the invitation, festivities will begin at 2 p. m. at Lake McClellan. Should be good.

Gross Oil Output Drops; Texas Shows Increase

NEW YORK —(AP)— Daily average gross crude oil output in the United States totaled 4,875,680 barrels last week, a decrease of 13,500 barrels a day over the previous week, the American Petroleum Institute reported today.

It was the second time in two weeks that daily production reached a low point extending back to the week ended March 29, 1947, when the total was 4,865,100 barrels. Last week's production compared with 5,479,600 barrels a year ago.

Refining operations were reported at 81.3 percent of capacity, indicating a daily run to stills of 5,153,000 barrels of crude daily. Average for the previous week was 5,341,000 barrels and for the like week of 1948 5,592,000.

Finished and unfinished gasoline stocks dropped to 117,484,000 barrels from 119,106,000 the previous week. Estimated gasoline production was 17,641,000, down from 18,244,000 the week before.

Heavy fuel oil production was estimated at 8,305,000 barrels, against 7,827,000 the previous week and 8,967,000 a year ago.

Light fuel oil output was estimated at 5,711,000 barrels, compared with 5,585,000 the week before and 7,143,000 last year.

Daily average crude oil production; change from previous week:

Oklahoma 408,750 decrease 19,300.
Texas 1,908,000 increase 10,000.
Louisiana 508,800 increase 3,100.
Arkansas 80,500 increase 600.
Southeast New Mexico 136,000 increase 3,400.

Ten Percent Cut For Louisiana Is Ordered by Digby

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— Louisiana's crude oil production was cut 10 percent or 80,000 barrels daily in an emergency order by Conservation Commissioner S. L. Digby.

The action followed a hearing where production testimony indicated overproduction, Digby said.

He said the order would be effective until the next monthly allowable proration order is issued.

He said stocks of crude as of May 1 in Louisiana totaled 9,510,232 barrels, about 47.8 percent of the capacity of storage tanks.

Digby exempted stripper wells and pressure maintenance systems.

Husky to Develop Canadian Holdings

CODY, Wyo. —(AP)— The Husky Refining Company of Cody has entered an agreement to maintain and develop nearly 5,000 acres of oil land in Western Canada.

Glen E. Nielson, president of the company, said today that Husky has joined in the deal with the Phillips Petroleum Company of Bartlesville, Okla. The land is located in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Nielson said under the arrangement he will be the operator and will jointly share in production in the area.

Husky has had holdings in Canada for some time, and last week brought in a wildcat natural gas discovery in the central Alberta plains.

Bureau States Oil Demand to Increase Soon

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The demand for oil in the latter part of this year will increase "significantly," a Bureau of Mines official predicted today.

Thomas H. Miller, acting director of the bureau, so advised Rep. Beckworth (D-Tex.) in reply to a letter from the congressman.

Miller said an abrupt decline in demand developed at the beginning of 1949 and "under this condition there is little doubt that the influence of imported oil has been felt, particularly in Texas which has absorbed the major part of the decline in demand."

Imports, he added, have declined but are still "materially greater" than in the early post-war period.

Miller said that in states other than Texas and the Pennsylvania grade producing area, income of producers and royalty owners has suffered "relatively little because production rates and crude prices at the wells have not changed greatly."

Oil Production For Texas Fields Shows Increase

AUSTIN —(AP)— Texas oil wells were producing an average of 1,997,039 barrels a day at the end of last week, the Railroad Commission reported today.

This average was almost 2,000 barrels above the calendar day allowable as of June 4, the week before.

Regular drilling applications for the week ending June 11 totaled 271. That brought the total for the year to 5,697, about 300 higher than for the same period last year.

Oil well completions for last week totaled 156. Wildcat drills totaled eight.

Wildcat Comes In Near New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— A wildcat oil well is churning up black gold right on New Orleans' doorstep.

Humble Oil and Refining Co. officials said yesterday that the well is producing 130 barrels daily.

It is located four miles west of Westwego, which is across the Mississippi River from New Orleans.

The well is the Texas and New Orleans Railroad No. 1. The test was drilled to a depth of 10,029 feet, and the oil-bearing sands encountered around the 8,000-foot level.

The oil produced is of 31 degrees gravity.

Commission Deals Cutback for Texas Oil Production

JEFFERSON —(AP)— A cutback of 101 barrels daily in Texas production for July and August was ordered today by the Railroad Commission.

The seventh consecutive made in crude allowances oil and gas regulatory production for the month of June was placed at 1,871,000 barrels compared to 1,997,000 barrels as of June 11.

Fields except East Texas produce 17 days during and August.

Texas will produce on 15. This is a general statewide cutback of one day for the month of August.

AVOIDS WASTE

Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Railroad Commission, hopes to avoid building up wasteful stocks of crude oil.

SCHOOL and Newspaper ROUTE
Work Together to Fit Him for a Successful Career!

are Time Route or E Adds a Big "LUS" to a Boy's Education

WHEN your newspaper boy graduates from high school, he will be unusually well equipped for advancement in whatever line of work or study he may pursue. For TWO great educational forces—the public school and the daily newspaper—have joined hands to give him the best possible preparation for success. As a result, he has the benefit of BOTH practical schooling and actual business experience.

His spare-time newspaper route is the ideal supplement to classroom studies because it enables him to put many lessons to immediate use. This combination of route work and schooling gives him a well-balanced knowledge of both business theory and practice—makes him better able to absorb and apply the things he learns!

Important, too, is the money he makes and saves from his newspaper route efforts—it comes in mighty handy for school books, sports, hobbies and the good times every teen-ager craves! Often such savings enable an ambitious boy to COMPLETE high school and GO ON to the college of his choice.

UNCLE SAM'S OIL STOCKS—Lower chart shows amounts of crude and refined petroleum products on hand from 1930 to last year. Although the total for 1948 is slightly larger than that for 1933, it is dangerously low. Note on top chart that 1933's 602,198,000 barrels represents 225 days' supply. Due to vastly increased consumption, 1948's 607,302,000 barrels represents only 82 days supply at present rate of demand.

Independents Waging Fight To Have Oil Imports Cut

By BU DANDESON

Independents in the oil industry are waging a knock-down, drag-out battle with major importers in an effort to cut the flow of crude being poured into the U. S. daily. They have produced figures which show that a half million barrels of foreign crude are being brought into the U. S. every day. This is in addition to the 4,000,000 barrels which is the daily average for U. S. production.

Another point that can be brought out here is the role of stripper wells. "Strippers" contribute better than two-thirds of the total number of producing wells in this country. The present high level of imports is almost equal to the production of these wells.

A stripper well is vital to the nation's oil supply. If imports are offsetting the production of these wells, something will have to be done. Once a well is abandoned, there is little chance of recovering the oil still in the ground. So to abandon the strip-pers would be cutting the utili-

Flares Snuffed as Black Plant Begins Operation

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI)—Casinghead gas flares from 278 oil wells in the Blum and La Gloria fields of Jim Wells and Brooks Counties were extinguished today. Some had burned since 1938.

The orange flares went out as La Gloria Corporation's new 7,200-horsepower compressor unit began operating at its Falfurrias cycling plant. Compressors daily will handle 30,000 cubic feet of casinghead gas, for a daily burned, delivering residue to United Carbon Company's new Falfurrias carbon black plant. The plant is to be completed in about six weeks.

La Gloria Corp. is to utilize its present cycling plant for recovery of gasoline, butane and propane from casinghead, but is laying foundations now for a newer and more efficient gasoline recovery plant. This installation will recover 99 percent of natural gasoline, 98 percent butane, and 76 percent propane content.

The plant is part of a $256,000 casinghead conservation program now underway by Texas oil companies to save products which otherwise could not be used. Casinghead, produced with oil from oil wells, long constituted a problem as it is produced at low pressure and consequently must be compressed.

Producers Told To Curb Output In Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH — Producers of Pennsylvania Grade crude oil were advised to continue to curb petroleum output.

George J. Hanks, president of South Penn Oil Company of Bradford, Pa., offered the suggestion while presiding at the opening session of Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association's 26th annual meeting in Oil City, Pa.

He pointed out that the supply-demand relationship this year has caused the producers to try to "learn how not to produce oil," rather than to expand production by utilizing advanced techniques. "At this time and so long as a delicate balance prevails," he said, "the producers should continue to curtail and allow the barrels to remain in the producing horizons."

D. T. Ring of Columbus, Ohio, Association president, reminded the group of Pennsylvania oil producers, refiners and marketers in his welcoming address that the decline in Pennsylvania crude production has not reached a point where output is in balance with refinery requirements. He said stocks of Pennsylvania Grade crude on hand May 28 totaled 3,102,000 barrels, a gain of 468,000 barrels over the similar date a year ago.

The Association president said the Pennsylvania oil industry, along with the entire oil business, built up "a terrific momentum" in an effort to meet the 1947-48 bulge in demand for oil products. "From the standpoint of the industry's immediate good," he said, "it overran the base."

I have a growing hope that by the strength of our united civilization and by our readiness and preparedness to defend freedom with our lives we may avert forever the horrible vision of a third world war.

Drilling Activity Better; Commission Reports 18

Activity in the Panhandle is looking up this week. According to officials in the District 10 Railroad Commission office, 18 locations have been filed. This is an increase from 12 locations filed last week.

The greater part of the intentions are in Hutchinson County. No wells were reported for Gray. Carson County has two, Hutchinson County will have eleven wells drilling soon, Moore will have two, Potter one and Wheeler two.

FOREIGN DANGER
At the present, however, the independents — both the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association and the Independent Petroleum Association of America — are stressing the danger of the U. S. becoming dependent upon foreign supply.

The major foreign producing area is the Middle East — Russia's front door. Should this area be allowed to import freely, they contend, U. S. production would be forced to cut, then recut, production and in time become more and more dependent upon a transoceanic oil line. Such a line could be cut easily in the event of war.

PRODUCE, MARKET U. S. OIL
Therefore, they maintain, the U. S. must be allowed to produce, market, then drill. National security can be maintained by this method only. We must have our own oil. We can't have our own oil unless we are allowed to produce and market. We can't drill unless we have something to sell.

There is no shortage of oil according to geologists. The shortage, they point out, is in wells. In the United States, U. S. production of oil would have to be increased some 15 percent. Right now we have plenty for the nation's needs, but new exploration and drilling would have to be done for us to keep adequately supplied for military and necessary civilian needs. That would cost money. Lots of money.

In other words, drilling and exploration cannot be accomplished unless oil men were allowed to market their crude. We cannot have a safe and adequate supply unless they are allowed to drill.

UNEMPLOYMENT MOUNTING
Another point brought out in a Congressional hearing the latter part of May was the mounting unemployment in the oil industry due to the high ratio of crude imports. It was pointed out in this hearing that as imports rise domestic production falls, and unemployment snowballs.

From July, 1948, to February of this year, 7,000 people lost their jobs in crude and natural gas production. It was in July, 1948, the industry met demand. That is, they caught up. Witnesses testified that from that point on, domestic production could have met petroleum needs. But it was from this point on that crude imports began embarrassing storage capacities and began bringing cuts in domestic production — and in turn, brought about higher ratios of unemployment.

This is the problem posed by the independents.

WANT IMPORT CONTROL
What they want is some sort of control to limit imports. An amendment to the Reciprocal Trade Agreements bill proposed by Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma seems to satisfy many oil men. This bill would limit imports "in any quarter of a year to an amount not to exceed five percent of the domestic demand for petroleum and petroleum products in the U. S. for the same quarter of the previous year."

This would mean that if petroleum consumption in the U. S. were five million barrels a day for the first quarter of 1948 then imports would be cut to five percent of that figure, or 250,000 barrels for the same quarter of this year.

The only objection most would have to offer is too much. Even five percent is too much. Even so, this would be a great improvement. Right now, the import figure is exceeding ten percent. Almost twelve and a half percent, in fact.

ACTION NEEDED
There has been quite a bit of talk of importing companies voluntarily reducing imports, but steadily mounting figures do not show any cooperation on their part. So, the problem looks as though it will have to be solved some other way.

Ernest O. Thompson, Texas railroad commissioner, stated only Congress could provide the necessary assurance against excessive imports. This, he said, could be done very simply, through the state conservation agencies, involving the transfer of no real power to a federal agency.

Charles Lindbergh's famed flight to Paris in 1927 took 34 hours and 56 minutes.

Oil Is Sticky Mess
LONG BEACH, Calif. — (AP) — Signal Hill's first gas blow in recent years may be good news to oil men, but owners of about 20 new automobiles say it's a sticky mess.

A general petroleum well hit a gas pocket at 10,000 feet yesterday and oil spewed over the countryside for 10 minutes. Police said several cars were spat-tered.

It was the first sign of gas deposits in the DeSoto sand level, and oil men took it as an indication there might be heavy flowing oil beneath.

I have often wondered why these people (advocates of communism) didn't go to the land of their dreams. If it has been the lack of funds, this should remedy that problem and give them a chance to prove what they say.

—Rep. Walter Norblad (R) of Oregon, introducing a bill providing free transportation to Russia for those advocating communism.

Window Washer Quits —To Wash Windows

DALLAS — (AP) — What should a 72-year-old man do when he retires after 30 years of washing 230 windows in a big downtown building?

It's no problem for John O. Deering, who will fold up his safety belt and wring out his chambray shirt for the last time Saturday.

Deering's son lives in a duplex with 36 windows.

"Somebody's got to keep 'em clean," he mused. "I guess I'm elected."

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Ben Cosgrove has learned that Fred Silwell, like himself, is not satisfied that Lilly Warren's death on Spear Island was suicide. Silwell, whose yacht was wrecked off the island, knew Lilly before she came to the island as a prospective bride of Henry Gough Harding, owner of the island. He offers to pay Ben to find out what happened to Lilly. Ben agrees, but he must find out what happened to Lilly before he can leave the island.

THE night was inky black with a high overcast hiding any stars. Ben Cosgrove skirted the house, guided by fingertips running along the rough stone. Once inside the entrance to the storerooms he lit the single forbidden match.

The feeble glow let her move directly to the place where she had hidden a flashlight when she was in charge of supplies. She began a systematic search of the openings on the high-hand side of the corridor.

The third room she visited was empty. Near the center, an irregular, darker patch showed in the light of her flash. She bent over, rubbed her fingers along its edge. The stone was still damp. She put her hand to her face. There was no soap and no odor except a vague scent which might have been soap.

She had no warning.
A huge bare arm snaked around her from the left, crossed her body and gripped her right arm. At the same instant a hand, which covered her jaw from ear to ear, clamped across her mouth. The flashlight fell from her hand to stone but did not go out.

"Relax," Captain Oak said. "I do not mean to hurt you."
It was hard, one of the most difficult things she had ever done. She achieved a limpness at last. She staggered to a wall, leaned against it for support, gasping.

"I did not want to startle you," reminded. "I must go now. We will meet again. If—"

"If I'm still alive!"
"That was in my thoughts," he admitted. "But I will leave my gun with you since you have lost yours."
"I've no place to hide it. Especially one that size." She pointed the light to the gun in his holster.

"I'll hide it in the cave near the gold."
"The gold?"
Oak chuckled. "There is something you have not yet found out? Very well then. I will bury the gun in the sand of the cave near the entrance."

"Swell," Ben said. "If I should need a gun, do you think I'd have time to say pardon me while I run down and dig for an hour or two in the sand?"
"I'll think of something else. And if I'm fortunate I'll be back before the storm hits."

"You're no fisherman," she said suddenly.
He took her hand again and directed the light downward toward his bare feet, played to grip a pitching deck. "Fisherman's feet. I am the son of a fisherman. But a fisherman must have many sons. And nowadays fishing is big business, so one son must be educated. I was chosen and now I am a lawyer. But still a fisherman at heart and in body certainly."

"You spoke," Ben said curiously, "as if you too had been afraid. What do you fear?"
"What do I fear? I am afraid of giving permanent injury to my family through some mistake of my own."

The pressure on her hand tightened for a moment, was relaxed. She stood, straining her ears, heard only the soft rattle of a single pebble to tell her she was alone. She took hesitant steps forward, came out from under the overhang of the veranda.

She skirted the wall, made the turn, hurried up the veranda steps. Henry Harding sat alone at the head of the huge table. He turned, faced her. She watched a gradual awareness of his surroundings come over his face.

"Ah, Miss Cosgrove," he said. "I thought you had retired."

Cowpokes Getting Ready for Colorful Top o' Texas Rodeo

Cowboys and cowgirls in the Top o' Texas area are shining up their boots and getting their horses in trim for the colorful Top o' Texas Rodeo and Horse Show, Aug. 3, 4, 5, and 6.

All rodeo performances will be held at night in the association's newly decorated rodeo arena.

About $5,000 in cash prizes will be at stake when the cowboys and cowgirls from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico vie for honors. The show is an all amateur performance bringing together red cowboys and cowgirls in the Top o' Texas area.

Hardin - Simmons University Cowboy Band, Abilene, will return again this year to furnish music for all rodeo performances. Other outstanding added attractions are being arranged, including Buddy Heaton, Hugoton, Kans., who will return for his second year as rodeo clown. O. W. Fourth Week of Camping Begins Today at Ki-O-Wah

The largest number of Scouts of the current summer camping season will gather at Camp Ki-O-Wah today to begin the fourth week's activities. W. B. Weathered, Ki-O-Wah building fund chairman, said.

Approximately 140 Scouts plan to attend the fourth session. Dr. Phillip A. Gates will attend camp this afternoon to give the Scouts a second physical examination.

After the fourth week of camp has been completed, about 35 percent of the Adobe Walls Area Council's registered Scouts will have participated in summer camp. Included in the percentage will be the Senior Scouts participating in the Canadian canoe trip and the air encampment at San Antonio.

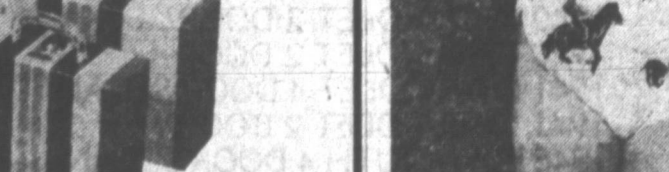

"Everyone who had a part in the development of Ki-O-Wah, particularly the new dining lodge, should realize their efforts have made it possible for more Scouts to enjoy a better summer camp," Weathered said.

By the end of the summer about 45 percent of the council's Scouts will have participated in summer camp. Last year the council ranked fourth out of 36 Scout councils in summer camping activities. During that year 28 percent of the council's Scouts attended summer camp.

Scout troops to be represented at Ki-O-Wah this week include: 14, 16, 20, 21 and 22, Pampa; 5, 95 Borer; 77, Phillips; 28, Spring Creek; 66, Phillips; 18, Hopkins; and 35 Memphis.

Jog Meets Scaffold That Wasn't There

LONDON — (AP) — Breck was a Cocker Spaniel and just loved to meet people.

When workmen put up a scaffold to repair the wall of his owner's third-floor flat, he began

Friday the workmen finished their job and moved the scaffold.

Breck discovered this when he hit the sidewalk, three floors below.

He is convalescing in a pet hospital.

Last Call for the Meters

—Folks I want to say just a few more words on this parking meter ordinance, and then I'm through for sure on this subject—seems like I might ought to have been listening last week instead of talking so much—Anyway I've just had a long talk with the City Manager and Mayor Huff—and they have explained to me just why this ordinance was passed—they tell me that this ordinance was passed for the purpose of taking care of the chronic violators only—and when I say chronic violators I mean the ones that come down and park their car and never put a nickel in the meter—maybe it set there all day—if they arrest them they make bond, and appeal it to a higher court, and you no how that is—maybe it'll be tried in the next year or 2, or maybe it'll never come to trial—anyway they just keep on parking day after day, still not putting any nickels in the meter—now that's not right for a few of the people to do that, and get by with it, while honest folks like me and you have to put our money in the meter if we want a place to park—if one pays to park, they all should have to pay to park—anyway we talked and talked, and then I got to asking some questions—I told the Mayor about all the citizens thinking that they would sure get their car hauled off if it was found on violation, how they read the article in the paper warning the people about this ordinance, and that they was just like me in thinking that it might be a dangerous thing to go off and leave their cars unless somebody was looking after the meter—but the Mayor answered that one to—he said that anybody that was not a chronic violator had nothing to worry about—he said that the only way that your car could be hauled off by the police force was by a written order issued only by the Chief of Police, and that the Chief was going to issue this order unless he made a thorough check of the records—if the records showed that you had about fifteen parking tickets, and that you had ignored every summons that they had sent you, and still you hadn't done anything about it—then you might get your car hauled off—so it looks like everything is going to be alright—that anybody that tries to be halfway honest hasn't got a thing to worry about—anyway I'm going to call the thing settled as I'm satisfied with what Lefty Huff told me—I've known Mayor Huff for a good many years now, and I can say that when he tells you something, that's just the way it will be—I might make just one suggestion here that might help out in the future, and that's when the City puts anything in the paper for people to read, give all of the facts so everybody can understand it.

—Let's all quit jumping on old Ed and the Pampa Oilers—after all there's 8 teams in this league, and they all can't be in last place at the same time—as for old Ed, he might be a little jumpy at times, but I was jumpy to when I was about Ed's age—if I hadn't been for the hot baths with plenty of rest and relaxation I might be down at Terrell or Wichita Falls right now really making some big deals.

Folks we've come up with another good house to sell—and when we get these good kinds and the price is really right they don't last long—this one is a large 6 room with service porch—double garage with furnished apt that rents for better than 40 per month and they pay their own utilities—it's on a corner lot, and it's in the west part of Pampa just a few blocks from the Junior Hi—it's on the pavement in the good residential part of town—now this home has large rooms, 3 bedrooms—living and dining room, large kitchen, big roomy hall, and bath—the floors are hardwood—it's insulated and weather-stripped—has 2 good furnaces, and it does have large closets and plenty of them—this good home was built in 1941—now we're going to sell it, and sell it worth the money—the owners talked like 14,000 might be a fair price, and it would have been a fair price about 12 months ago—but we want to sell it today, so we're going to let it go for about 11,000—of course it won't last long at this kind of a figure in Pampa—I will say this about the house—it does need redecorating on the inside, as it has been quite some time since it was papered—anyway if you want close in with something that we will really recommend—just get in touch with me or Jim an dwe will be glad to show you this good piece of property.

—Bill Davis was just in with his cigar and dollar—I give him his pick but it's a boy—weighs 175 pounds and they named him Jim—why don't anybody ever name their babies after me, or do people ever do anything like that anymore.

—I had 8 ant beds in a radius of 100 ft. of my house—now I don't have any—if you want to kill your ants go over to Crestview Drug and tell them you want some of those balls that you dissolve in water—put one in a quart of water and pour it down the hole—if everybody does this we wouldn't have any ants—it's a sure killer.

—you farmers come on in and get some fire insurance on your wheat—it won't cost you but 4.30 for a thousand dollars worth—if your wheat will make 30 bu per acre and you get 1.75 a bushel, four dollars will insure about 20 acres—I don't see how you can afford not to insure this year—the wheat's big and it's a good price—just one cigarette could wipe you out.

—I see your shape Cook is back in town—Mr. Cook is the big man down at the Texas Furniture Co.—has been off to Calif resting and relaxing—seems like it might of done him some good to have seen people put on weight, but I don't believe I've ever seen anybody put on weight like that—maybe that's where I ought to go.

—Ben Lippold just called from Canadian and wants to look at that ranch up at Creede Colo again—I'm sure getting tired of showing Ben this same ranch over and over again—if he don't buy this time I may get to figuring up with him—the owner there sure must have a lot of confidence in me—most people will turn their stuff over to some other broker after that many years.

When you read this, go to Church—You'll feel better the rest of the day.
