

Unemployment, Relief Needs Prompt Five States to Pass Depression-Style Aid Laws

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rising unemployment and swelling relief rolls have led five states to pass depression-style relief laws and at least seven cities to revive "work relief" projects.

But an Associated Press survey today suggested no national emergency. It found most states certain they could handle their relief load in stride.

It indicated joblessness has dwindled or stabilized in at least ten states in recent weeks or months. It showed that, almost everywhere, unemployment insurance has been a "cushion" to keep most laid-off workers off "poor relief" until they found new jobs.

An inside-government memorandum made available to AP supports these findings. It says country-wide statistics "do not show an emergency of any new crisis."

The report adds: "The current relief situation does not appear to be one which requires (federal) action beyond that already recommended by the President."

President Truman has proposed federal grants for "home relief" to match state aid to payless families, on the same basis as the federal funds now used for the blind, the aged, and dependent children. Officials say it would cost $250,000,000 a year, and more in bad times.

Non-farm employment sagged another 280,000 in May, the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced today. It stood at 43,655,000, or 91,000 below a year ago.

Layoffs and strikes in the factories caused the slump. BLS said other industrial employment including building and transportation went up, but not nearly enough to offset a $20,000 drop in manufacturing.

Much of the factory decline—the eighth successive monthly drop recorded—was seasonal, BLS said. But it also blamed a "declining demand for a substantial number of products."

Mid-May jobs in manufacturing were numbered 15,017,000 or 900,000 below a year ago and 1,700,000 below the postwar peak reached last September. Reduced steel output and strikes in the automobile at all critical" (Wisconsin); "signs and other industries helped speed the drop from mid-April."

Mr. Truman said yesterday he does not consider the rise in unemployment and the dip in business a crisis although total unemployment rose in May to 3,289,000.

Neither does the chairman of his Council of Economic Advisors, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, but Nourse declared in a speech that a "continued downward" in business is possible.

It is too soon to say, the economist added, whether the outcome will be a leveling-off, a new inflation, or a "real recession."

The Associated Press survey covered 38 states from which data were quickly available. In almost all of them, officials reported relief in the last year in both the relief burden and the number of people drawing unemployment.

Five states voted special laws to help cities and counties cope with the relief problem—Ohio, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Massachusetts. Three more are investigating the need—Michigan, Colorado and Idaho.

California has had a "standby" relief law on the books since 1945. Some of the other states' laws are more "pragmatic" measures than "emergency" acts.

The work relief project, so familiar in the 'thirties, reappeared in Dayton, O., as early as December. Now it has spread to at least six bigger metropolitan areas, reports the American Municipal Association.

They are: Detroit, 1,156 persons; Chicago, 155; Cincinnati County, more than 300; Los Angeles 483; Cleveland, 141; Milwaukee County, 201. The totals are as of April or May; they may have risen.

Yet, most of the state officials directly concerned with relief gave such reassuring analyses as these, from every region of the country:

"A slowdown but not disturbing" (New Jersey); relief problem well in hand" (Minnesota); "not of recovery" (Maine); tight squeeze but "no crisis" (Oregon); situation "pretty good" (Arkansas); unemployment is "largely seasonal" with "no alarm" (Massachusetts).

Some new problems are looming, nevertheless. And some old ones are returning. For instance:

1. Relief costs per relief family have soared. Ohio says it costs 2½ times as much to keep a family going as it did in 1942. Food costs more, hospital costs more. Everything costs more.
2. Rent must be paid. Nowadays, landlords evict non-paying tenants. In the depression, many people who couldn't pay stayed on anyway because the landlord couldn't find other tenants. Now the state or city must either pay the rent or re-house homeless families.
3. Longer relief rolls are embarrassing city treasuries. Already squeezed between frozen tax revenues and higher costs for every city service, cities find the new relief burden raises serious financial problems.

4. Some Western states report migrants on the march again. Nothing like the "Grapes of Wrath" era but incoming transients are causing concern in Colorado and Wyoming, for instance, and even in Oklahoma whence came the "Okies" of dustbowl and depression days.

5. Aid to dependent children is rising faster than other relief. Missouri thinks it is because women who worked to support children are losing jobs. Louisiana thinks wartime marriages are breaking up.

Summarized reports from the states included:

Oklahoma—The state reports 14,447 getting unemployment checks or now applying, as against 5,523 a year ago. The Employment Security Commission blames the rise on business layoffs, a sharp drop in construction, and an increased labor force.

Texas—Unemployment claims in May were $1,395,000, or twice the volume of a year ago. The pre-war high was $1,089,701.

Life of Jesus Holds Personal Message

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Light, glory and triumph soon followed upon the darkness and apparent defeat of the trial, humiliation and cruel death of Jesus on the cross. Resurrection joy and new faith, courage and inspiration came to the disciples as they first heard the amazing news of the opened tomb, and then met their risen Lord face to face.

The salvation of this world and this civilization is for education to teach us that all that does not build the spiritual is complete loss, and that unless we can bring to life something of the spiritual, we are failures.
—Arthur Judson, executive secretary of the Philharmonic Symphony Society of New York.

The future life is related to the present life, not in mere continuance, but in the preservation, fulfillment, and enlargement of all that is best here. The noblest expression of it is in I John 3:2: "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that, when He shall appear, we shall be like Him; for we shall see Him as He is."

And John proceeds to give this its immediate and practical application, calling for the purification of the heart, and the purging of the life from sin. Paul speaks of "the power of the Resurrection." The Resurrection of Jesus is not an ancient, isolated instance of a man surviving death, but the persistent, ongoing power of a life-giving life that offers to man eternal horizons, and limitless outlets of growth, achievement, and triumph. It is a call to be "always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord" (I Corinthians 15:58).

During the social hour refreshments were served. Those attending were: Mmes. Lee Newman, Neal Latham, Lucy Darling, Shields, Lawrence Davis, Wilson, and Murray Davis.

Mrs. Fred Holmes was hostess to the Many More Circle for their Bible Study lesson.

The meeting opened with a prayer led by Mrs. J. J. Baird. Mrs. Charles Daugherty gave the devotional.

A social hour followed and the hostess served refreshments to the following members: Mmes. T. D. Bland, Frank Exum, John Cox, T. J. Bryan, Baird, and Miss Watson.

The glorious experience that was theirs may be yours and mine. The Resurrection of Jesus has a direct and personal message for each of us. The word that it brings to us is the word that Jesus had already spoken to the disciples before His death: "Because I live ye shall live also" (John 14:19).

That word of faith, and hope, and life, does not come from the Resurrection as a single, or isolated, event. It is the message of the whole life and mission of Jesus. He rose from the dead because of the life that was in Him, and it is because He imparts that life to us that we have hope of immortality. "The gift of God is eternal life."

We tend to think of immortality chiefly in terms of continuing existence; we should think of it in terms of the quality of the life and the living. What the Resurrection attests is the indestructibility of the good life—the life that the New Testament calls "eternal" or "everlasting."

Life, of course, is more than just good deeds. It is the spirit, the character, the source from which good deeds flow. But even good deeds, the outward expression of the life, are as destructible. Even the minor acts of love and graciousness are as pebbles cast into the water that radiate in ever widening circles: Nothing in God's universe is lost.

The Bible itself emphasizes this very figure in its reference to the bread cast upon the water that returns after many days.

The future life is related to the present life, not in mere continuance, but in the preservation, fulfillment, and enlargement of all that is best here.

The noblest expression of it is in I John 3:2: "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that, when He shall appear, we shall be like Him; for we shall see Him as He is."

Reserve Officers To Greater Use

AUSTIN — The Army has directed that consideration be given to greater utilization of Organized Reserve Corps Officers in industrial mobilization planning activities. Col. Oscar Abbott, executive for the Texas Military District, announced here.
Short tours of duty up to 90 days for especially qualified reserve officers will be the chief means of accomplishing this training, he said.
Normally this type of training will be conducted at Army field installations having industrial mobilization planning activities.

Chiggers usually are not found in hardwood groves, and thus oak or elm are better spots for picnic grounds to avoid these insects.

Those who left (the Atomic Energy Commission) because they had babies may be the result of incredible mismanagement, but not on the part of the commission.
—Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the Atomic Energy Commission, testifying before the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee.

The belief that chiggers or red bugs don't bite at night is fallacious.

WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"It may be predicted that, if polygyny comes to be legally recognized in Western society, it will find its most enthusiastic supporters among career women."

That intriguing prophecy is made by Ralph Linton, professor of anthropology at Yale, in a current magazine article in which he presents polygyny as a possible solution to the increasing surplus of women in our population.

Incidentally, polygyny, in case you don't know, is a five-dollar word for a social custom permitting a man to have more than one wife.

Maybe he's right about career women being the wives most likely to see the advantages of polygyny. It's certainly true that many career women find it pretty difficult trying to be a one-woman harem.

As career women, their paid jobs take a lot of their time, energy and brain work. But in addition, they have to play the role of domestic wife or home maker.

If they have children they also are part-time mothers, who take over the responsibility for the children when they get through work and relieve the baby-sitter who pinch-hits for them during the work day.

Also, they have to be satisfactory companions to their husbands, and they can never forget that they are in competition with women who have more time to devote to being femininely companionable.

In short, the modern career woman is trying to be all the things to her husband that Dr. Linton suggests plural wives could be.

And it's not such a simple job. After a particularly trying day at the office a career woman might possibly find some merit in polygyny.

With a "domestic wife" at home preparing the dinner, keeping the kids quiet and eager to run for Papa's slippers and listen to what a hard day he had—the career wife could go home and relax with a good book.

By the process of elimination I think the singleton jack of clubs was not the best opening. Remember that originally West had passed. Therefore, it was not likely that West held two aces. If she held only one ace, it must be the ace of diamonds, due to the diamond bid.

According to the Book of Knowledge, the word clock is a fairly new addition to the English language, coming from the French word, cloche, which referred to the bells which marked the hours of devotion and work in monasteries.

Varied Interests Add Spice to Life

A creative hobby of painting and volunteer work as a Girl Scout leader make life more stimulating for this bachelor girl. Painting in the park, she pauses to compare notes with another amateur artist. Pictured below at the volunteer work she explains nature study to a Brownie.

The bachelor girl who envies her married friends can spend her time to better advantage making a fuller and more stimulating life for herself.

The more stimulating her interests are, the better will be her chances to swap her life of single blessedness for one of married bliss, contends a bachelor girl who has written a book on this subject.

One way to make life more stimulating, says Jean Van Evers, author of "How to Be Happy While Single," is to choose a creative hobby. Painting or sketching, for example, are absorbing, don't require great talent to enjoy and are amenable to indoor or outdoor assignments, depending on your whim. More value of hobbies such as these, says Miss Van Evers, is that they help you to expand your circle of friends by bringing you in touch with other enthusiasts.

Volunteer service work provides another rewarding interest for the bachelor girl, maintains the author. The feeling of lending a helping hand, of creating and participating in community life is a wonderful tonic for the emotions.

What type of volunteer work does she recommend? Almost any service for which you have an inclination or talent. If you enjoy children, such a service job might be with Girl Scouts or Camp Fire Girls or it might be tutoring a sick child of a friend. What is important, says Miss Van Evers, is that you find a niche to suit your talents and then accept the responsibility of sticking by your volunteer work.

Wearing Frills Takes Practice

If you intend to step out this summer armed with the coquette's parasol, fringed stole and other frilly doodads, better plan to learn how to manipulate these ultra-feminine accessories.

Casual, even tomboyish mannerisms with which sports duds or dungarees seem to be in character require a bit of discipline when you go into frills.

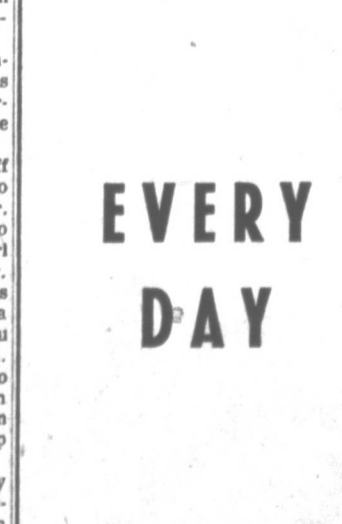

Best way to carry finery off with natural-looking grace is to practice it in front of a mirror. If you put a ruffled sunshade into service, watch your image unfurl it and twirl it over a shoulder. Practice until you can handle this frivolous cousin to an umbrella without looking as though you were fending off a thunderstorm.

It will also take practice to manipulate a stole so that you can drape it prettily, can keep it in place without letting it droop, flop or slide down.

The come-hither of a pretty peep-show petticoat fluttering below a hemline can rapidly turn into a repellent sight if the ruffle is soiled or droopy.

If you don't intend to allot time and effort to the upkeep of dainty accessories, pass 'em up in favor of more practical accessories chosen to look their best with the least possible maintenance.

Motta Wins By KO in Tenth

Boxers Red in Tenth Match

(AP) — The "new" Motta today holds the lightweight boxing title for eight years, but he is when he can cash in on an official 10th round winner over Marcel Casablanca at Briggs tonight, has a bad hand of his trouble. Cerdan, a champ, has a pulled muscle. The return match, according to the original plan, was to meet Marcel again in defense with each representative of the gate in attendance. The site and yet to be determined. Motta's 15 percent cut last night to about $19,171, but he makes his deal will get 40 percent of $21,124.00 of the net $81,810. The first championship fight, the courageous, 32-year-old Frenchman, who saw his way after he suffered to his shoulder in the end of the scheduled fight. He was able to use his knee twice after the referee took a terrific blow to the referee Johnny. The fight after the bell. Motta was summoned to corner by the Frenchmen who explained that he was in acute pain. The ending came as a fight through the crowd — most of them La supporters — had seen Motta gamely for several only his right hand took command from bell and even in the when Cerdan's shoulder, Motta won the round of the three ring fight. The first round, every called for Jake an derdog—to cut loose a range of punches that in trouble. The man at 159 1/2 had a range over Jake, but the only edge he had.

BOSTON (AP) — Cleveland Indians made it five wins in a row Thursday when they took the third and concluding game of a series from the Red Sox, defeating the Bostonians 6-3 before 11,666 cash customers and 1,062 women.

Scoreboard for Cleveland vs Boston

Boston	25	3	10	2
Cleveland	25	6	13	1

The Pampa Oilers moved a step closer to the occupancy of the West Texas-New Mexico League cellar last night as they went down to defeat before the league-leading Albuquerque Dukes 11-7, in a hard fought battle.

It was a wild game with 20 hits and 18 walks given up by the six pitchers employed by both managers. The Oilers took a one-run lead in the second on Manager Hersh Martin's home run with Les Mulcahy on base and never headed after that, although the Oilers threatened all throughout the game. Parker's first inning homer put the Oilers into a brief lead.

A ninth inning rally was snuffed out by Walt Rainmond after three Oilers had been put on base by Ferraresi's wildness.

Tonight the Oilers open up a three-game series with the Abilene Blue Sox. Howard Barnie is slated to see action in this first game against the slumping Hose. Parker's first inning home run gave the Oilers the lead, but Martin's second inning blast quickly put the Dukes ahead to stay. A big five-run fourth frame apparently kept the game for Albuquerque.

McClain opened with a single and stole second. After Maul was thrown out, Mulcahy singled to left. Maul scoring. Mulcahy then stole second and Martin was intentionally walked. Fuhrmann drove a hit into leftfield scoring Mulcahy. Okrie followed with another single, Martin scoring. Barnie skied to center, but Attyd kept things rolling with a hit to right. Stringer set the ball get. Okrie scoring and Attyd racing all the way to third. Dawson walked, but was forced at second to end the inning.

Ben Hogan Auto-Bus Crash Trial Goes Before Court

VAN HORN (AP) — Golf star Ben Hogan denied Thursday that he was speeding at 90 miles an hour on February 2, a few seconds before his car and a bus collided in an accident that left him critically injured. Hogan snapped his denial in testimony at the opening day of the trial of Alvin H. Logan, 37, of Peeco, driver of the bus. Logan is charged with aggravated assault with a motor vehicle. A defense attempt to show that Hogan was prosecuting the bus driver to pave the way for a damage suit was quashed by County Attorney J. W. Swartz's objection, sustained by Judge James A. Terrell. "Is it true that Mr. Hogan plans to file a big damage suit against Greyhound?" defense lawyer Garland Casbeer of Fort Stockton asked Hogan's pretty wife, Valerie, who followed the golfer to the stand in Culbertson County Court. Mrs. Hogan's reply was cutoff by the objection. Hogan testified he was driving "less than 30" when his car and the bus collided head-on about 28 miles east of here on fog-blanketed U. S. Highway 80. The Hogans were enroute to their Fort Worth home from Phoenix, Ariz., where Hogan had lost the Phoenix Open Championship to Jimmy Demaret in a playoff. "I was driving slowly in my lane when I saw four headlights," Hogan said. "I tried to get off the highway. There was a culvert so I couldn't get over very far. I turned as far as I could and was hit. I was told later it was a bus."

The four headlights, it was brought out in other testimony, belonged to Logan's bus and a truck driven by Hubert H. Harshaw of San Antonio. Harshaw testified the bus passed behind him, when Hogan had struck something," Harshaw said. "I jacked-knifed and pulled my truck off the road. Then I saw Logan. He said he had hit a car."

Mrs. Hogan wept on the stand as she told how her husband was pinned in their car by the wreckage for more than an hour before an ambulance came. Other motorists were afraid to drive him to Van Horn because of the hazardous fog. Hogan's lawyer brought out in questioning state highway patrolman George Summerhill of Van Horn, that Logan originally had been charged in Justice Court with passing a vehicle while lacking sufficient clearance ahead. A few days later the aggravated assault charge was filed in County Court. It carries a maximum penalty of two years in jail and a $1,000 fine. "Did you file that new charge because you believed you should or because your superiors told you?" Casbeer demanded. Summerhill said it was his own idea. Earlier, Logan told a Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter, he had signed as a Southwestern Greyhound Lines driver after an accident May 7 near Lorraine. His bus turned over on a rain-slick curve. One passenger was killed and 34 were injured, mostly in the state rested shortly after 6 p. m., Thursday.

Waitkus Will Play Again; but When Is Question
CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Waitkus will play major league baseball again—but probably not this season—says one of the physicians attending the seriously wounded Philadelphia Phillies' first baseman. Dr. L. L. Braun, team physician for the Chicago Cubs, said it was "still uncertain" whether Waitkus, shot near the heart by an injured (fatigue) teen-age girl, will be back in the Phillies lineup this season. "But I am quite sure," Dr. Braun said, "he will be back playing baseball. Just when it will be cannot say."

Homer King Dies
DETROIT (AP) — Jay (Big) Clarke, 64, old-time major league baseball catcher, died Wednesday night. He once hit 8 home runs in a single game. Clarke, who died at his home in suburban River Rouge, played with Cleveland and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the early 1900s. But his big claim to fame came at Ennis, Texas, July 14, 1902, in a Texas League game between Corsicans and Texas-arkans. Clarke, an 18-year-old rookie catcher for Corsicans, batted eight times and hit eight homers. His team won 51 to 3.

Yankees and Chisox Divide Bargain Bill
NEW YORK (AP) — Fred Sanford, New York's $100,000 purchase from St. Louis, pitched his first complete game of the season Thursday as the Yankees defeated Chicago, 6-4, to earn a split in their doubleheader with the White Sox. The Sox thumped the league leaders, 10-6, in the opener.

NCAA Track Meet
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The National Collegiate Track and Field Meet begins a two-day run today, with a host of the finest varsity talent in the land competing in qualifying tests for places in the championship finals tomorrow afternoon. This is the 28th annual show of the National Collegiate Athletic Association—NCAA for short—and has attracted more than 300 contestants from 75 schools.

Softball Leaders Vie
SAN ANGELO (AP) — Top teams battle in the Western Division and the leadership could change hands in the Eastern Division of the Texas Softball League tomorrow night. Leading Lubbock travels to Crane and Fort Stockton visits San Angelo in the West and Mackey of Abilene plays at Brownwood against Howard Payne in the East. Brownwood has a percentage points lead over Stamford.

New Skeet Shoot Time
New hours have been set up for the Pampa Skeet Club's range at Recreation Park. The range will be open on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings and all day on Sunday. Ted Eads is still the champion bird-breaker out there. His record so far is 148 out of a possible 150 clays. That should be something for you other marksmen to shoot at.

Sam Sned won his second PGA title, beating Johnny Palmer, 3 and 5. His putter was clicking. For Slammin' Sam, his putter was a friend in need and a friend indeed.

Waitkus Wounded—Ed Waitkus, 20-year-old first baseman for the Philadelphia Phillies, is loaded into an ambulance after he was shot and seriously wounded in a northside Chicago hotel. Police Capt. John T. Warren said Ruth Ann Steinbagen, 19, orally admitted the shooting. (AP Wirephoto)

Cards Pound Bums 6-2 Behind Mungler
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Chasing lefty Joe Hatten with a four-run barrage in the seventh inning, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-2, Thursday to take the rubber game of the three-game series. George (Red) Mungler registered his fifth victory despite giving up 12 hits to pitch the Cards within a game of the league leading Dodgers. Lou Klein, the first of the Mexican jumpers to get back into the big league bus scores, aided the four-run rally with a pinch single.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Ben Cosgrove is not satisfied that the death of Lilly Warren on Spear Island is an accident. There are some people on the island who might have done it, including Ben whose pal was killed beside the body. One of the men is Miguel Oak, a sailing boat captain, whose presence is unaccountable to all but Ben. George Bascombe comes to tell Ben that Fred Sillwell, his boat, whose yacht was wrecked offshore, wants to talk to her. In his conversation George reveals there is blood in a cave where he has hidden a supply of whiskey. Fred orders that Ben also learn that Lilly knew a reason that there was hidden gold in the cave. Ben takes leave of George and goes to talk to Sillwell.

for the death time Harding set. "You mean he could have changed the time to suit?" "Let's put it this way," Fred Sillwell's eyes were sharp, probing. "Maybe he knows enough to fix a time that accurately. He fixed Mollie up as if he knows what he's doing. He's the only one here that does know though. He could have fixed up the time to suit himself." "That sounds as if you think Lilly Warren was killed," Ben Cosgrove said softly. "I don't go putting words in my mouth," Sillwell snapped irritably. He lit a candle, stuck it in the neck of an empty bottle. "My last match," he grumbled. "We're wasting time and it's getting late. You're nosy. You can make some dough out of it. I want to know what goes on."

"If there's something wrong," she pointed out, "it wouldn't be very healthy to go nosing around." "No. But you can get away with it where I couldn't." "I'll think it over," Ben said. "You do that. Think what you dig up is exclusively mine." Miss Cosgrove nodded, walked to the door. It opened before she could touch the knob. Mollie Stark hurried inside, stopped abruptly when she saw Ben. "What's the matter?" "Oh. Oh. I see. Did I interrupt?" "If the words were innocent, the look she gave the rumpled coat left no doubt as to her meaning. "But the door when you go out, Miss Cosgrove," Fred ordered. She closed it gently behind her because she felt like slapping it. Lights from the main house showed through the gathering dusk. It would soon be time for the evening meal. She could almost hear Harding's dictum, "There is work for the daylight hours. Time enough to eat by night." But Ben knew there was work that could be done by night too. "Hi." She jumped at the tiny whisper, made out the figure of George Bascombe peering around the corner of the hut. She walked toward him, saw the finger on his lips as he asked for silence. "If you want to eavesdrop," he whispered, "go around back. There's a good place there." He did not wait to see if his suggestion was carried out, but strode up toward the main house.

MISS COSGROVE dismissed the reason for the information, put it to use. She skirted the sides of the cabin, saw a chink of light coming through a mishapen small hole where a knot had fallen from the unseasoned timber. George had been accurate. She could hear very well. "I don't see you not to come here again," Sillwell said. "I don't care. Mollie's tired looking at old drizzleups. It's no fun. He doesn't do anything. Just talk. Mollie wants to have fun like she used to." "I told you not to come here again," Sillwell said. "Too long already," Mollie said and Ben could visualize the pout. "Much too long. This is a nasty old island. And he's a nasty old man." "You didn't think so. He's rich." "But he doesn't do anything," Mollie repeated. "It won't be long before you'll be back in L.A. with all the money you have there. Think of the fun you'll have then." Sillwell was patient, but Ben could see a streak of anger. "That'll be fun," Mollie said. "But it better not be too long." "I told you it wouldn't. Give me a couple of days. And stop coming down here. He might see you and get ideas." "Ideas? Mollie doesn't think he could get an idea. But I'll be good. I know you can't do without me." Ben heard the door close. Fred Sillwell swore softly, viciously. There was the sound of a cork being drawn. He laughed then, a low, wet sound without humor. "Don't be too sure, Mollie. Don't be too sure." (To Be Continued)

XXII
"I thought you were smart." "Now it's my brains he admires," she said. Fred's eyes narrowed. "I pay my way as I go, but you can't hold me up." "You'd get somewhere quicker if you told me what it is you want." "Information." Ben showed surprise. "About more whiskey?" "No. But thanks for the reminder." He drank and hid the bottle again. "I want to know what goes on here. I don't know for sure whether the radio's broken or not. Does Harding want to keep us here? And if so why?" "Mollie," Ben suggested. "Maybe. And if that's all, it's one thing. If it's something else, I'll pay well for information." "You know Lilly Warren before didn't you?" Fred sighed. "I suppose she told you. But it isn't any secret as far as I'm concerned. I used to see her around. She was a party girl, and getting too old for it. Maybe she thought this was her last good chance to get set." "You think that's why she killed herself?" "How should I know? Could be. And everyone's got a nice little

Shamrock Test Center Moved

SHAMROCK — (Special) — For the convenience of persons who wish to have their blood typed in cooperation with a plan to establish a blood bank here, a booth has been set up in the Corner Drug Store and R. E. Vandiver of the Shamrock General Hospital will be on hand to give tests each Saturday.

The tests have been made at the Community Building, but the location is being moved downtown for the convenience of Saturday afternoon shoppers.

The Red Cross and the American Medical Association agreed to establish a blood bank at the Shamrock General Hospital if a sufficient number of people will cooperate by having their blood typed and a record filed at the hospital.

A file of at least 500 blood types will be necessary to bring about the location of a unit here. The nearest unit to Shamrock is in Oklahoma City.

In 1934, average meat consumption by Americans dropped to 117 pounds, compared with 145 pounds in 1945 and 151 in 1950.

New Stadium Planned for Canadian HS

CANADIAN — (Special) — The Canadian school board has authorized plans for a new high school football stadium to be ready this fall. Superintendent A. H. Breazeale announced.

New steel frame stands called for will replace present wooden bleachers on the east side of the Canadian High School stadium, and new bleachers will be built on the west side where there are no stands now.

The stands on the east side will be 180 feet long and will seat about 1,000 spectators. Those on the west side will seat about 375 persons. Both stands will be nine rows high.

The cost of construction, according to plans of the Board of Trustees will be financed by the sale of $10,000 worth of four percent revenue bonds to be retired by football game gate receipts.

The bonds will be offered to local buyers first, Breazeale said.

According to present indications, the enrollment at Canadian High School will pass the 200 mark next semester to put the school back in Class A in interscholastic competition, the superintendent also announced.

Last year's enrollment was just under 200, but a recent school census showed more students of high school age in Canadian this year than last.

Lions Club Boy Scout Troop Begins 15th Year of Activity

Boy Scout Troop 16 began its 15th year of activity in Pampa under the sponsorship of the Lions Club yesterday when Paul Beisenherz, council executive, presented its charter.

Beisenherz said that more than 1,000 Scout troops are sponsored by Lions Clubs throughout the U. S. Total men and boy membership in the Scout program is more than 2,000,000, he said.

"The Boy Scout program operates on the premises that we can't improve anyone else until after we've improved ourselves," Beisenherz said.

The Scout executive then presented the troop charter to Clarence Kennedy, vice president of the club, who presided in the absence of President H. P. Dosier.

Kennedy presented the charter to Dr. H. L. Wilder, chairman of the Troop Committee, and Dr. Wilder handed it to Jim McCutcheon, Scoutmaster.

Registration cards were then passed out to members of the Troop Committee and Scouts of the Troop 16, who were guests at the luncheon meeting.

Serving on Dr. Wilder's Troop Committee are Joe Calhoun, Russell Kennedy, E. A. McLennan, Ralph Dunbar and Paul Brown.

Club Lion for June, Richard Adams, member of Troop 16, was introduced. He is a Life Scout.

Burl Johnson, formerly of the Clovis, N. M., Lions Club, was taken into the club as a transfer member.

Installation of new officers and ladies night will be held June 30 in the basement of the First Methodist Church. It was announced. The second vice president of Lions International will be the principal speaker.

Paul Brown reminded the club members that tomorrow is the deadline for boys to register for this year's local Soap Box Derby.

Canadian Woman Seriously Burned

CANADIAN (special) — Mrs. J. T. Webb, of the Interstate Ranch, west of here, was reported improving today following serious burns to her entire body in a fire at her home Tuesday.

Another person received injuries about the face as an indirect result of the accident. Mrs. Webb, who was cleaning floors with gasoline when the accident happened, is at the Canadian Hospital.

When Mrs. Webb caught fire, it was reported, she ran from the house, rolled in dirt and extinguished the flames. She raced back into the house and rescued her child, and then drove several miles to the Chris Schaeff farm.

Schaeff took her to the hospital. Dr. E. H. Morris said she had first, second, and third-degree burns over her body, but said her condition was not critical. Her husband was in Perryton at the time of the accident.

Her father, R. A. Flowers, owner of the farm, was notified when he was at the Frank McMorde Ranch branding. The ranch is in rough country several miles from the Webb home.

Some authorities believe the Egyptian obelisks were really giant sundials.

Legislature Splits Over Mortgage Restriction for Texas Old Folks

AUSTIN.—(AP)—The Senate and House split yesterday on whether needy Texas old folks should have to give the state a mortgage on their homes in order to secure pensions.

The Senate voted 21-3 to submit to a vote of the people a Constitutional amendment lifting the $5 million dollar ceiling on state welfare grants but imposing the new mortgage restriction.

Objection to the mortgage idea, the House demanded that a new conference committee be appointed to work out a compromise.

On the big problem of state spending, the two houses outwardly reached agreement. The Senate approved 24-7, a House-passed resolution urging heavy cutting of the big money bills essential to operation of the state government the next two years.

However, the Senate turned thumbs down on a part of the resolution which suggested elimination of a building program for elementary institutions unless Gov. Beauford H. Jester offered a practical financing plan.

The Senate approved a resolution to end the regular session of the 51st legislature at noon June 23. Both houses must act before such action can be taken, but it appeared likely the lower house would agree.

The Legislature took off for another long weekend, quitting until Monday morning.

Some senators who voted for the House economy resolution said the House was bluffing and trying to put the Senate on the spot when it suggested cutting appropriation bills 45 million dollars.

So the Senate called the bluff—if that's what it was. Senator R. A. Weinert of Seguin had it figured that way.

"I think we ought to accept the challenge," he said, telling the Senate's presiding officer: "If you will appoint me and two other senators who will follow me on those conference committees (on general appropriations), we'll do some cutting and find out who is first to say 'hold, enough.'"

Senators James Taylor of Kerens, Finance Committee chairman, and Carlos Ashley of Llano were insistent that the Legislature provide a building program.

Ashley has prepared a Constitutional amendment to permit issuance of bonds by the state to pay for the building program.

A bill controlling the use of 2.4-d and other weed killer poisons went to the Governor after the House agreed to Senate amendments.

He reported the progress of the Opportunity Drive on the Series E bond sales that have been processed through the Federal Reserve Bank.

The small courtroom was hot and close-packed with spectators. They were quiet and orderly. Many stayed in the courtroom until Ross had been taken back to his County Jail cell.

Sheriff Flournoy said commitment papers would be signed today by County Judge H. W. Pittman. He said only one thing might keep him from taking Ross to the hospital today—a rule that the patient must have complete changes of clothing. Either Ross' family or the state will have to provide them, the sheriff said.

Ross was born in Ohio. He was graduated with honors from Harvard University.

He was convicted on Oct. 23, 1947, of the rifle-killing of Mrs. Gertrude York, a count on a road in Comal county on May 25.

At the same time he killed York, his son, John, 9, and York's mother, Mrs. Mary York, 67.

In Ross' trial for the slaying of Mrs. Gertrude York, the defense tried to show that the doctor "cracked up" after he lost his savings of about $150,000. He had entrusted the money to York for investment.

The Court of Criminal Appeals ruled twice that Ross must die. In the sanity trial, Dr. Hanretta testified that York suffers from heart disease, as well as schizophrenia, or split mind.

"He is out of touch with reality," the hospital superintendent said. "He is in a world of hurt. He is in an irreparable state."

On cross examination, Dittert told Dr. Hanretta: "The test is whether the man knows right from wrong."

"I believe definitely his mental capacities are such he does not know right from wrong," the doctor replied. "Of course, medically, he definitely is insane."

Questioned by Defense Attorney Leonard Brown, Hanretta testified Ross showed many mental symptoms—heard noises, saw things, had false beliefs, felt that people were against him, doing things to him.

"There has been a marked and progressive deterioration mentally since his trial and he now is hopelessly and permanently insane."

"He claims to have heard God's voice on numerous occasions and claims poison attempts were escaped because God's voice has invariably warned him the night before."

Miss Coplon said she worked on the Amtorg case in connection with the Justice Department's investigation to determine whether she had violated the law by failing to file as a former agent.

She said she was primarily interested in Amtorg from the standpoint of "possible economic espionage."

In a 42-minute appearance on the stand late yesterday, the former Justice Department political analyst ran through her story of a love affair with a Russian and further told the jury trying her on espionage charges that:

All allegations in the indictment against her are "false." She "was never and am not" a Communist.

She never engaged in subversive activity of any kind. "Are you guilty of any offense against the United States?" asked the architect Palmer, asked "I am not," she replied.

Palmer skipped among dates and places and within a few minutes she had told of a two-month vacation trip to Europe, of her college years and how she met the Russian in Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, an engineer, Miss Coplon and Gubitchev were arrested together in New York March 4 after more than a score of agents had trailed them about the city on three occasions.

She testified she first met Gubitchev by chance in New York's Museum of Modern Art on Labor Day weekend, 1948. This chance meeting eventually blossomed into love, she told the jury.

She testified that she met Gubitchev "about six times" from then until Jan. 1—before the FBI started trailing her—and that he never told her he was married.

"He told me you that he loved you?" Palmer asked. "He had," she replied.

"And you told him that you loved him?" "I thought I was in love with him."

But when Gubitchev told her that he was married, she said, she was "astounded, furious and felt imposed upon."

"I let loose. I started to cry. I had a newspaper and I suppose I brandished it. He said that I was provincial—like other American women—and that I wasn't listening to him when he said 'he was miserably.'"

Palmer asked her whether she ever gave the Russian "any paper about the United States or papers of any kind," or ever intended to give him such papers. "No," she responded.

Crash Trial Starts Today

Testimony in the civil action to remove the driving license of Joe Glaxner, 18, 701 N. Gray, started late this morning in County Court Room before Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry.

The trial was held in the Court Room because of lack of space in the justice court.

By 11:15 a. m., two witnesses took the stand, the defendant and Mark Buzzard, driver of the car Glaxner is alleged to have collided with on April 1 on the Lake McClellan Road.

County Attorney John Stuber brought up Glaxner's driving record and showed where the youth was in a previous collision on Feb. 2, 1948, and on two other dates when he was apprehended for speeding and reckless driving.

Glaxner admitted on the stand entered pleas of guilty to both traffic violations.

Defense Counsel Aaron Sturgeon told the Court that the defense admitted blame for the February wreck but would not admit the damages caused to the other car.

Glaxner, in answer to Stuber's questions, said he saw Buzzard's car at Caliber's garage and "it looked like a total wreck" to him.

Buzzard told the court that he was driving west along the road when the blue Buick, driven by Glaxner, came toward him.

He said the Buick was in the center of the road and that he was on his side of the road when the two cars crashed up, sending Johnny Crutch to the hospital along with several others in the crash.

Under cross-examination by Sturgeon, Buzzard denied strongly that he had been drinking on that date and stated he very seldom drinks.

Other witnesses were called this afternoon.

New Bill Has No Effect Here

A new minimum wage bill for firemen and policemen, that passed the House and Senate in Austin yesterday, will have no effect on Pampa, at least not at the present time.

The new bill calls for a minimum wage of $185 for firemen and policemen in cities of 10 to 40,000 population and then graduates the amount as the cities increase in population.

Pampa is paying policemen $200 per month to start and they are raised at the end of the probationary period. Firemen are given a flat $200 salary.

The bill was sent to the Governor's office today after both bodies adopted a conference committee's report on it.

However, the bill is mandatory for cities over 40,000 population while cities under that would be allowed to vote on whether they want the system. Those cities, according to an Associated Press report on the bill, who are meeting or passing the minimum wage scale would be exempted from holding an election on the matter, unless the wages dropped below the scale set up in the law.

The cities are also permitted to call a special election to determine whether it is unlawful to require a policeman or fireman to be on duty more than 72 hours during any calendar week or 144 hours in two calendar weeks.

Bible School To Start Monday

SHAMROCK.—(Special)—A vacation Bible school will begin at the Shamrock Church of Christ Monday, Murrey W. Wilson, minister of the church, announced.

Classes will be held from 9 to 11:30 a. m. daily for two weeks. A special class for adults will be taught by Bazcomb Litton, minister of the Wheeler Church of Christ. Other out-of-town instructors include John Fulmer of McLean, who will teach the high school class; and Elvin Boat of Abilene, who will give special instruction in singing.

Police Remain Calm In 'Murder' Wave

PASADENA.—(AP)—Excited citizens who telephoned police agreed on the details: An automobile drove into a busy street intersection. A man leaped out, three others in the car fired at him repeatedly. They jumped out, picked up his blood spattered form and threw it into the car and drove away.

PASTOR'S NEPHEW To Hold Revival

SHAMROCK.—(Special)—The Rev. George Crawford of Center will conduct a revival meeting that will begin Sunday at the Missionary Baptist Church. He is a nephew of the Rev. L. J. Crawford, pastor of the host church.

Buck Lancaster of Wellington will be in charge of the singing session, a feature of each service.

First Gremlins, Now Dogs, Play Radios

POTTSVILLE, Pa.—(AP)—How'd you like to own a dog who turns on the radio and dials in programs? Raymond Klinger, 61-year-old Locust Gap, Pa., started yesterday he thinks he has one.

Klinger claims seeing is believing, and "I saw it with my own eyes."

Several times in the past month Klinger has left his house, turning off the radio. When he returned the set was going full blast.

Curious, he walked out and then watched through a window. He said his dog, Stippy, jumped on the table, flipped the switch and then dialed with his paw.
