

Reds May Be Bypassing Shanghai

Commiss Set Trap For China Troops

SHANGHAI —P— Red armies aimed a lightning blow toward the sea at Hangchow today hoping to trap 300,000 Nationalist troops below Shanghai.

Other Communist forces, which took Nanking yesterday without effort, were reported just 19 miles from Shanghai. Residents of this, the world's fourth largest city, waited in a steady rain for the Reds. But none had showed up at dusk. Shanghai seemingly was being bypassed. But none could say for sure. Even military spokesmen admitted they did not know just where the Red armies were.

The feeling grew among Shanghai's 5,000,000 inhabitants that the great Asiatic commercial center would go over to the Communists without a fight, just as Nanking did Sunday morning. Seymour Topping, Associated Press correspondent in Nanking, reported the former Nationalist capital received the Communists quietly at 3:20 a.m. Sunday morning. One of the Communist soldiers' first tasks was to put out a fire that vandals had started in the Judicial Yuan Building. The building was a total loss.

The Communists took their stations before some foreign embassies and all government buildings and utilities in Nanking. No guards were placed before the American Embassy, however. At the same time Nanking fell, the Communist radio at Peiping announced the capture of Taiyuan, Shansi province capital and industrial center 600 miles northwest of Nanking.

The speed of the Red drive southward from the Yangtze apparently had thrown a noose around the government defenders. How close the Communists were to Hangchow, big port 100 miles southwest of Shanghai, was obscured by conflicting reports and lack of accurate military information.

Kashing, the vital rail junction 55 miles southwest of Shanghai, apparently had not been touched by the Reds. Trains from Hangchow (See COMMIES, Page 10)

Red Sees No War Between U.S., Soviet

PARIS — (AP) — V. P. Volgin, vice president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, told the Communist-led "World Congress for Peace" today that capitalism and communism can live peacefully side by side.

Volgin said this in backing up a statement made to the Congress Saturday by O. John Rogge, former assistant U. S. attorney general. Rogge had told the Congress that the United States is not threatened by the Soviet Union and the Soviet Union is not threatened by the United States.

Volgin took exception, however, to Rogge's criticism of the Soviet Union. Rogge drew boos and catcalls Saturday when he said there was insufficient freedom for political minorities in Russia.

Like all but a few of the speakers here, Volgin criticized the United States.

Two closed committees are at work, one will produce a "manifesto," the other a plan for a permanent "peace" body.

F. F. Platt-Mills, left-wing member of the British Parliament, accused the Labor government of "betraying" the popular "will to peace."

Only about 200 of the 1,908 delegates were in the Salle Pleyel when the final session opened. A list of 15 speakers was posted from Iran, Belgium, Korea, Albania, "Black Africa," France, Great Britain, Guatemala, Ireland. (See RED, Page 10)

Film Will Be Shown Adults

"Human Growth," a film sponsored by the Twentieth Century Culture Club, will be shown free to the adult public at 8 p. m. today in Carver School, and at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Junior High School Auditorium.

Dr. Frank Kelley will be in charge of the film and will give an explanation of the methods and purposes of the film.

Dr. Douglas Nelson, minister of First Presbyterian Church, will preside at the showing of the film.

This film was produced as an aid to sex education in Oregon's state-wide public school program. It is endorsed by the Pampa Ministerial Alliance and the P-T-A City Council. All adults are invited to attend.

Fort Worth Woman Selected American Mother of the Year

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Mrs. E. A. Gillis, mother of six children of her own and eight others by adoption, today was selected American mother of the year.

The 60-year-old housewife received the honor from the American Mother's Committee of the Golden Rule Foundation, a national organization. Announcement was made by Mrs. Dollie Davis Smith of Cleburne, Texas state chairman.

Mrs. Gillis, who resides at 831 Harvey Ave. here, was the Texas mother of the year before receiving the national honor.

She was the second Texas woman to be named the American mother. In 1938 Grace Nell Crowell of Dallas was so designated.

Mrs. Smith, in announcing Mrs. Gillis as recipient of the foundation's accolade, said she had named Richard Englander of Dallas as national program chairman. National headquarters also will be at Cleburne for the year.

An elaborate ceremony is planned but all details have not yet been worked out, Mrs. Smith said.

Mrs. Gillis is a native of Somerset, Ky. Her husband Earle A. Gillis, is an employee of the U. S. Post Office Department.

The Gillises moved to Fort Worth in 1931 and were immediately identified with the social, educational and musical life of the city. Their lives revolved around the Holy Trinity Baptist Church. Here Eileen became church pianist at the age of thirteen. Here Carroll volunteered for foreign mission service. The mother was active in the Women's Missionary Union. She taught Sunday School classes. At one and the same time, her family of eight members gave eight presidents to the respective Baptist Training Unions of the city.

Mrs. Gillis has kept contact with religious workers in other countries, supplying encouragement and help wherever she could. She has assisted in fund-raising drives for community welfare projects and in surveys conducted by various churches. She served with the Red Cross, and holds a certificate of meritorious personal service from that organization.

In addition to her own flock of six children, she has from time to time adopted into her household eight boys who need assistance to complete their education. While cooking, washing, ironing and sewing for them, she guided and inspired them to greater endeavor as she did her own children. One of these boys is now director of a symphony

Red Paper Says British Preparing 'To Be Slaves of American Masters'

MOSCOW —P— A British Embassy official is quoted in the Communist Party newspaper here as charging the British government with preparing the British people "to be slaves of American masters."

He was further quoted as saying the Atlantic Pact is "a war bloc of imperialist states" and that "the Soviet Union is the leading force in the struggle for peace."

The official was identified by Pravda, the Communist paper, as Archbishop R. Johnston, editor-in-chief of the Russian language newspaper Britanski Soyuznik (British ally), published by the British Foreign Office for distribution in Russia.

Pravda yesterday printed a lengthy letter over Johnston's signature. The letter declared the British Embassy was not interested in improving British-Soviet relations "but in fact does everything to worsen these relations."

Johnston was quoted as saying he had decided to remain in Russia to devote all his "energy and talents to the question of peace."

The British Embassy began an investigation of the case but did not issue any statement.

(In London, the Foreign Office said it had received no report. A spokesman said informally, however, that "apparently there is nothing to be done about it and no comment seems necessary. Johnston, is, of course, free to give up his job if he doesn't like it for any reason.")

Johnston, who has been in Russia since February, 1947, formerly worked for the London News Chronicle.

The case of Johnston bears points of similarity to those of two Americans. In April, 1947, Armond D. Willis said he quit as U. S. information officer in Russia partly because of what he described as the anti-Russian attitude of American Embassy officials.

In February, 1948, Miss Annabelle Bucar, a native of Pittsburgh, resigned as administrative staff officer and administrative assistant to the chief of the Moscow office of the U. S. Information Service. She said in her letter of resignation that the policy of the U. S. Embassy was "directed against the Russian people."

She revealed at the time she had been married for 13 months to Konstantin Lapshin, a Russian operative baritone.

Money Bills To Be Cleared During Week

AUSTIN — (AP) — This may be showdown week for the 51st Legislature on the question of how much state money will be spent, and whether new general taxes will be sought.

The session today started its 16th week. It had just 16 days left if it is to adjourn within the 120 days suggested by the Constitution as the length of a general session. Not many members of either the House or Senate thought it was possible; some were predicting the session would run as much as a month overtime.

Three committee meetings scheduled for today may bring the spending-taxation issue nearer a head. Senate finance has a regular session at 2 p. m., House appropriations and House revenue and taxation meet at 7:30 p. m.

All of the major must appropriations bills and dozens of smaller ones have been tied down for weeks in the Senate Finance Committee. The House Appropriations Committee will take up the $9 million dollar departmental bill and possibly the bill to finance state-supported colleges at tonight's session.

Park Needs To Be Studied

Public Improvement Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at 7:30 p. m. today with other groups to discuss plans for improving the facilities at Recreation Park, Ed Weiss, chairman, said this morning.

The committee will meet with representatives of the Top of Texas Fair Association, Hereford Breeders Association, the county agent, home demonstration agent and others. They will discuss the plans that are now being studied to make improvements at the park to take care of the expanding fair and club activities at the park.

A report will be given by a subcommittee that has made an intensive study of the needs at the park.

Weiss will preside over the meeting.

Canadian Debate Team Takes First

CANADIAN — (Special) — Canadian debaters won first place in the Intercollegiate League regional contests at Lubbock Saturday.

The girls, Wanda Hoover, a Junior, and Louise Zybach, a Freshman, are now looking forward to the state finals at Austin.

The one-act play presented in the contest by Myrtle White, Louise Zybach and Dickie Hutton placed second, being defeated by the White Deer group. There were eight entries in the one-act play division.

W. H. Bryant and Bob Hernandez, in the tennis doubles were defeated in the semi-finals. While these contests were going on in Lubbock Saturday, the Canadian High School Band won first place in the Spearman Celebration band contest. James H. Gain is the director.

Red Cross Drive Reports Needed

Companies that have not been contacted by volunteer Red Cross workers have been asked to notify the Red Cross office of the City Hall, Mrs. Mildred Hill, executive secretary, said this morning.

"We have $8,579 of our $9,750 goal," she said, "and we're sure there are enough cards and envelopes out to complete the drive."

The remaining envelopes on the drive can be completed and reported next before the annual meeting next month.

LEGISLATION ON HEALTH PROGRAM BEFORE CONGRESS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Legislation to carry out President Truman's far-reaching health program was introduced in Congress today.

The bill calls for payroll-tax insurance to provide medical, hospital and dental care for about 120,000,000 Americans at a sponsor-estimated cost of about $6,000,000,000 a year.

The administration measure also would put into effect all the other phases of Mr. Truman's program.

Those include federal grants for medical education, hospital construction, public health services and research. The bill also authorizes an experimental program of federal aid to farmers' health cooperatives.

A sponsor's statement accompanying the bill was signed by Senator E. B. Thomas (D-Utah), chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee; by Senators Murray (D-Mont.), Wagner (D-N.Y.), Pepper (D-Idaho), McGrath (D-R.I.), Humphrey (D-Minn.) and by Reps. Dingell (D-Mich.) and Biemiller (D-Wis.).

Not a single Republican name was on the list of sponsors. Some Democrats — as well as some Republicans — have branded the President's national health insurance program "socialized medicine."

But the sponsors, in their joint statement, retorted that substitute "voluntary" plans backed by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and others travel "the sure road to socialized medicine."

The sponsors estimated the annual cost of the health insurance plan at about $6,000,000,000 a year, most of which would come from a three percent tax on payrolls, split between workers and employers.

Congressional hearings on the bill are expected to start soon and will last several weeks. There probably will be no final action on the legislation until next year.

Humble Cuts Oil Prices

Humble Oil and Refining Company announced today a 25 cents per barrel reduction in its posted prices for crude oil in the Hawkins, Talco and San Flat Fields in East Central Texas in which Humble is the principal producer.

The new price posting is effective at 7 a. m. April 25 and ranges from $2.15 per barrel for oil of 29 degree gravity and above to $1.95 per barrel below 20 degree gravity.

No change is made in the prices of crude oils purchased from other fields. The announcement stated that in order to maintain adequate markets for crude oils produced in the Hawkins, Talco, and Sand Flat Fields which are low gravity crudes with high yields of fuel oil, it is necessary to bring prices more nearly in line with the lower values of these crudes to refineries because of the sharp decline in fuel oil prices brought about by changed supply and demand conditions in recent months, the company said.

McLean Boosters Advertise Rodeo Commissioners Change Session

The County Commissioners' Court late this morning pushed its regular first of the month meeting up to Saturday, April 30, at 11 a. m.

The change in meeting was necessitated because the April term of County Court has been set for 10 a. m. Monday, May 2, and a 20-man jury panel summoned to report for duty then.

Today the commissioners were meeting in the office of County Judge Bruce Parker discussing the Laketon-Miami road project. Judge Parker said that up to this time there has been no appeal from the special three-man commission's decision of "no damages" on Section 77, Block M-2, H & G N Railroad survey, filed with the County Court.

The board made the decision on April 2 after a two-week postponement due to a faulty citation.

Key Witness Is Kept in Secrecy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House American Activities Committee today in its search for Communist agents, is concentrating on the American Slav Congress and CIO-United Electrical Workers Union (UE).

The committee took this turn after releasing, over the weekend, copies of documents and sworn testimony that the Polish Embassy here was used for Communist spying.

A committee said it was necessary to withhold any advance identification of one of three "friendly" witnesses in order to protect him. This witness was said to have turned on the Communist Party after having once been a card-carrying member.

These are the first hearings the committee has staged since the 51st Congress opened for business under a new leadership in January. They were expected to be opened to the public later — maybe today, maybe tomorrow. The first phase is expected to put the emphasis on the Slav Congress and allied organizations.

But there will be a build-up for shifting the inquiry later to the UE.

The committee called in Judge Blair F. Gunther of the Common Pleas Court of Pittsburgh to give it a hand in investigating the Slav Congress. Gunther was one of the early leaders but dropped out in 1944 after word began getting around that the Reds had infiltrated the organization.

Harry A. Sherman, a former lawyer for several UE local unions in Pittsburgh, was listed as the third friendly witness.

Committee publications say the Slav Congress has been cited by Attorney General Clark as subversive and Communist and that "Communists are still in the saddle" in the UE.

One report on communism and labor says that in the event of war, many important plants are at the mercy of the union.

The main purpose of the report was to present copies of documents and testimony about spying from the Polish Embassy.

Both the documents and testimony came from Gen. Izador Rudolf Modelski. During the war he was undersecretary of war in the exiled Polish government.

A double funeral service was held this afternoon for two former Pampa residents who died Saturday night in a two-truck collision near Seagraves, Tex., the Associated Press reported.

Ben John Lackey, 51, and his son, John Ben Lackey, 21, both of Hobbs, N. M., were burned to death in the accident, which also took the life of James Earl Gunn, 25, of Seagraves.

Although the AP identified the Lackeys as former Pampans, no information could be obtained this morning about when or where they lived or worked here.

Identification of the badly burned bodies of the two Lackey men was made early Sunday by their employer, Ralph Johnson of Hobbs. He said the two men were returning from a construction job in the Adair oil field east of Seminole when their half-ton truck collided with a pickup truck by Gunn.

The accident occurred about 10 p. m. Saturday a mile and a half west of Seagraves on the Denver City highway.

Gunn died in a Seagraves hospital of head and chest injuries, while the two Lackey men were trapped in the flames when their truck burst into flames. U. S. torches had to be used to remove the charred bodies.

Later Hester joined the Navy. He was dishonorably discharged in December, 1948, and went back to Lord.

The state accuses Hester of hiding in a closet, awaiting the return of Dr. Lord. It will try to show that the elderly educator was struck nine times with a metal rod in a surprise attack. Lord's wedding band and some money were taken, and also his automobile.

Hester fled westward. The brutally beaten body was discovered March 10 by TCU students who went to Lord's home. The automobile broke down during Hester's flight—he abandoned it and resorted to hitchhiking. But officers tracked him grimly.

They trapped him on March 12, at the home of a sister in Los Angeles. He offered no resistance.

High water following torrential rains marooned Governor Jester today and forced many Laredo citizens to flee their homes.

Governor Jester, his wife, mother and son were marooned on a San Marcos river-bottom ranch near Martindale, south of Austin, by high water.

Laredo's entire police force, with the help of volunteers, manned trucks, patrol cars and other conveyances to take residents out of areas flooded to a depth of two to three feet. The inundated area was in South Laredo.

The Jesters had been on an outing arranged by Rep. William George Richards of Lockhart when flooding waters of the San Marcos River marooned them at a ranch house. The party was on its way back from Jester's historic meeting at Matamoros with President Miguel Aleman of Mexico.

Elsewhere in Texas it was the same story: hit-and-miss rains of near-cloudburst proportions, some flooding, and inevitably some damage to crops by washing. But the moisture was welcome.

The forecast called for the same conditions to prevail through tomorrow.

Blanco had 7.74 inches of rain in the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. Monday — the state's heaviest rainfall for the period. Laredo recorded .81 inches. San Antonio recorded 1.79 inches, Austin 1.54.

In the Waco and Temple areas, both the Leon and Little Rivers were on the rise after heavy weekend rains.

Shutdown At Packard Is Prevented

DETROIT — (AP) — Eleventh-hour peace talks that continued even after picket lines were set up prevented a shutdown of the big Packard Motor Car Co. plant early today.

Some 9,000 Packard workers who had been alerted for a strike starting at midnight Sunday were told by CIO United Auto Workers officers to report on their regular shifts.

Settlement of assorted differences between the company and union was achieved by a group of representatives of both sides who got together at 11 p. m. — an hour after pickets had been called for the Packard plant.

When they broke up three hours later there was written agreement on 16 disputed points. Then the UAW withdrew about 70 men and other pickets who had jumped the gun on the midnight strike hour and had been marching in front of the plant's four entrances for several hours.

A quick strike or settlement was desired to avert a possible union because of Packard's "golden jubilee" celebration set for May 1 to 3.

An officer said the company wanted a group of special gold-colored cars — not yet completed — for that occasion. The local therefore decided to set the strike time before the cars could be finished, the officer added, in order to strengthen its bargaining position.

It was the gold-colored paint for the cars that constituted one of the union's grievances. The local had to "quickie" strike last week. The UAW claimed the paint had harmful effects on some workers.

Wages were not at issue.

ROGER THE LODGER

By Elizabeth R. Roberts

THE STORY: Mr. and Mrs. Roberts accept a woman to collect the morning's morning paper. This woman, known as Roger, is a second attached to the airplane near Great Falls, Mont., where the Roberts live. Roger takes over the house, uses their car, takes advantage of their hospitality and toward everything upside down. As a result Roger gets an appointment for office training. While Roger is away, Mrs. Roberts lets four young construction engineers occupy the maid's vacant apartment in the basement. She discovers that the new lodgers are hoodlums. Then Lieutenant Vickers calls and wants to rent the guest room.

XII
AS I opened the door to him, he turned on both his dimples to their maximum candle power. "Won't you come in," I said, indicating the living room. He was already halfway up the stairs. "Which way is your guest room?" he asked, flashing those dimples again.

He was young—not more than 22, I guessed—exuberant, broad-shouldered, handsome, and, worst of all, winsome. Protesting, I followed him up the stairs.

"This is a lovely home you got here, Miz Roberts," he said. Like a bloodhound, he followed his nose to the guest room. "Now this is something like!" he exclaimed, as he entered the room. I was surprised he thought so, for our guest room is Early Girlie. Dinmore with white, ruffles, and bows on lamp shades. "Sally Fluff'll love this!"

"Sally Fluff?"
"Mah bride, ma'am," he said proudly.
"Where are you living now?" I asked.
"At the Green Hotel."
"Ah, then you have a place to take Sally."
"Miz Roberts," he said earnestly, "have you ever lived at the Green Hotel?"
"No."
"Well, ma'am, it's all right for a pile of fellows, Ah guess, but you doan know what yore saying if you say it'd be all right for Sally Fluff. She's pretty and she's young and she hasn't ever lived away from home before." She wouldn't know how to handle herself amongst all those men. They're wolves, that's what they are. Ah can't stand to think of them ogling her every time she goes out or comes in the doah. Ah can't be home all the time.

"I know how you feel," I said, "and it reflects the greatest credit on you, but this room has only a single bed."
"Ah'll moye in an army cot for me."
"Not on your life! We tried that once. Even the rat can learn." Vickers looked startled by this offside remark as though he thought I had taken leave of my senses. Whatever doubts he entertained of my sanity, he didn't allow them to stand in his way. "Then Ah'll just naturally sleep up the doah." He pointed on his dimples again. "Ah've got to have this room."

I WAS beaten. I knew that, but I at least wanted to help write the Peace. "I've never had another woman living in the house," I began. "I don't know how it'll work out. One thing I do know: I can't have her in my kitchen, or in the laundry. We have four men living in our basement." What I meant was I didn't want things eternally hung up to dry. "And I'll be very poor company. It'll go against the grain with me not to be more hospitable. And I'm afraid it will hurt Sally."

"No, it won't," he interrupted eagerly. "Ah've got it figured out: Sally likes to lie in bed mawmin'. Ah'll get me a vacuum bottle and have it filled with coffee every night last thing before we come home, and we'll keep fruit and doughnuts and cinnamon rolls and stuff like that in our room and she'll make her breakfast off that. Ah get home 'round 4 o'clock. Then Ah'll take her ovah town and buy her a good lunch. We'll have our dinner late at the Officers' Club." He tilted his head to a beguiling angle. "You wouldn't object if Sally Fluff rinsed out a few things in our bathroom, would you?"

I tried to regard him coldly. He flashed the dimples.

That night I located the toy ironing board, traveler's iron, clothes line, and washboard I took with me on trips. I fixed up a tray with Roger's silex, cups and dishes, added a can opener and tea towels and a small electric grill which would boil, fry, broil, toast, and poach, and set the whole business up in Vickers's room. I made the supreme sacrifice by trading my beloved double bed for the guest room single.

IN spite of all Sonny Boy had said about Sally stepping in the mornings, when I developed a cold she insisted upon preparing trays for me. Only one who has eaten grapefruit from the half shell cut the wrong way can appreciate the experience. Juice ran down my arms and dripped off my elbows as, propped up in bed, I attempted to remove the wrong-way-Corbin fruit from its lengthwise sections. I asked Sally to bring a grapefruit to my room and I showed her how to cut it, not from pole to pole, but around the equator.

"Oh, that way!" Next day it was cut end to end again.

"Sally—" I began reprovingly. She laughed gaily. "I never was any good at arithmetic."

She thought some gelatin would be just right for my dinner. I didn't get the dessert that night for supper, and I didn't have it the next day. The third day I was able to go downstairs. "Oh, it isn't set yet," Sally said.

"Did you bring the water to a boil?"

"Right to here," Sally said, pointing to the level on the cup, and paying no attention to my question. I yielded to her super-

Delegates Cheer Red Victories

PARIS — (AP) — War news from China brought delegates to their feet for two minutes of wild cheering yesterday at the Communist-led World Congress for Peace.

They did it in spite of a verbal spanking from a British lawyer Harry Moore, who told them they could not be for peace and still support Chinese Communists in the war in China.

British Historian J. G. Crowther, the day's chairman, dramatically announced, after Moore's speech:

"We have just learned that the democratic Chinese forces have entirely liberated Nanking."

Then Crowther led the 1,900 delegates in three "hip-hip-hurrahs" and the wildest cheering of the congress meetings to date.

"I rejoice to see so many Communists here advocating peace," Moore said. "It is a great step forward. If you are sincere you cannot want war. Do you want war to continue in China until the triumph of the democratic forces?"

There was a chorus of "yes." "Or do you want peace now?" There was a chorus of "no." "Do not deceive yourselves."

rior charm. While I had the dessert on the stove coming to a boil, I walked to the window to look out. On the sill in the full sunlight was a bowl of sliced greens.

"What's this?" I asked. "A surprise for your dinner. I love wild justice, don't you?" (To Be Continued)

Where do we get the money?...

During 1948, the Humble Company spent about $138,000,000 to help provide the oil you and other Americans needed in that year of unprecedented demand, and to develop the oil resources which will provide the oil you need not only today, but next year, the year after — 10 or 20 years from now. The 1948 investment by the entire oil industry was approximately 2 billion dollars. That is a lot of money! Where did it come from?

The larger part of it is reinvested profits. In other words, American oil companies have such confidence in the future of their industry in this country that they have plowed their profits back into the business, just as a farmer plows under a good green cover crop.

And for the same reason: the farmer thus assures the continuing fertility of his soil; the oil companies assure the continuing success of their business... the security of the jobs of their employees, a continuing supply of oil for your needs, the immediate availability of oil for national emergencies. The major portion of profits made in the oil country stay in the oil country to develop its resources, and to supply a market for its industries.

In the last 10 years, over half of all the profits of oil companies have been reinvested in the business.

In 1948, Humble's investment in exploration and production was $110,000,000; investments in refining and research and in marketing, plus Humble Pipe Line Company's investment in pipe lines, amounted to about $28,000,000. All this money came from earnings retained in the business.

Short Trip Tests Traveler's Poise

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

You don't have to wait until you're old enough for a trip around the world to learn the art of traveling. A spring vacation week end trip to visit a roommate or a relative provides ample opportunity.

One mark of an experienced traveler which a young weekender should note is that her wardrobe is well regimented into one suitcase. Climbing on a bus or train with arms loaded down by paper parcels, extra clothing and miscellaneous things one forgoes standing as a traveler.

Keep your ticket readily accessible. Only a thoughtless or inexperienced traveler keeps a conductor waiting while she searches through a purse to find her ticket.

Don't strew your belongings over seat space reserved for other passengers. Conversation with fellow passengers is usually limited to polite amenities by the experienced traveler and invitations to dine with strangers are politely refused.

Another tip to borrow from the experienced gypsy is to avoid the use of heavily-scented perfume and to discard a corsage as soon as it starts to wilt. The cloying scent of wilting flowers or a heady perfume may actually cause discomfort to fellow passengers who are queasy travelers.

WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

A Chicago suburbanite has written a book called "How to Get More Fun for Your Money." The title alone ought to make the book a best seller.

Because a great many people these days don't seem to be getting much fun from their money. They may be making more than they have ever made before, but there's no joy in spending it. They figure every time they spend a dollar that they're being gyped, because they can so easily remember when the dollar bought so much more than it will today.

High prices have made them so price-conscious they don't get any glow-of-satisfaction out of buying the things they want and need.

By the time the butcher, the baker and the income tax collector get theirs, there just isn't much left out of the family pay check.

MELTING AWAY Families see their good incomes melting away and get depressed because they are working so hard just to make ends meet.

Papa complains that he doesn't know where the money goes and Mama complains that Papa just doesn't realize how much it costs to feed and clothe a family.

Both feel frustrated because they aren't saving what they think they should be saving.

So if anybody can tell them how to get more fun out of what money they have, they're almost sure to be willing to hear what he has to say.

that will beat the contract, as it did in today's hand.

West's opening lead of the ten of hearts was won in dummy with the queen. East dropped the deuce of hearts. Declarer then led a small spade from dummy and finessed the ten-spot. West winning with the queen.

West now played the ace of spades, on which East dropped the deuce of diamonds. West immediately shifted to a small club. The ten was played from dummy and East's jack held the trick.

East's discards of the deuce of hearts and deuce of diamonds told his partner that he did not want either of those suits led, and indicated, therefore, that he did want a shift to clubs. Thus East and West profited from the language of cards.

If East had attempted to signal for a switch to clubs by playing a low club on the ace of trumps, West might not have been able to read it as a "come-on" in clubs. The negative signal of the diamond deuce painted a clearer picture.

Hard Winter Shows Well Built Houses Needed Everywhere

Countless families who had never before experienced severe winter discomfort suffered unnecessarily during the harsh winter of 1948-49 because their dwellings were not built to withstand the unusually cold weather, it was pointed out today by the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information, after a nation-wide survey.

California, Florida and all the southern states suffered particularly for this reason, the Bureau said, although the effects of the bitter blizzards in the Great Plains region would have been as severe had homes there been better equipped to cope with the biting cold.

In the South, heating plants are found to be inadequate; sub-freezing winds penetrated the pores of houses built on piers with open crawl-space beneath; some lacked insulation, weatherstripping and storm windows; in many, the siding had been applied directly to the wall studs without weathering, permitting wind to blow through cracks in the thin walls; generally, very few of the southern homes were as tightly constructed as homes in colder regions.

In the North, some of the same conditions were uncovered by the research Bureau's survey. Although most Northern homes were well sheathed and of tighter construction, thermal insulation was lacking, as were weatherstripping and storm windows. As a result, heating plants that provided adequate comfort during normal winters were totally unable to meet the load imposed by an abnormal weather conditions.

"Last winter's conditions emphasized the findings of the Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois that insulation is needed in all homes that use heating systems in winter or are exposed to high temperatures in summer," the Bureau said. "When a home is insulated full-thick with mineral wool in walls and ceiling, escape of heat to outside is slowed to such an extent that any home is kept warmer with any heating system with at least one-third saving in fuel."

Heating Plant Needs Spring Attention; Cleaning and Repair

As soon as the heating plant is shut down for the summer, it should be cleaned and repaired, it is suggested by the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information. In a steam or hot water system, the boiler should be completely filled. All soot and scale should be removed from interior surfaces of the furnace with a wire brush. Even gas forms scale which lowers heating plant efficiency. The smoke pipe should be examined for cracks and if any are found the pipe should be replaced, not repaired. Joints where the pipe enters the chimney should be made airtight.

All parts of a hot water system, including radiators, should be left full of water to prevent rusting. Fill the boiler to the top. In the fall, drain off the excess. A steam boiler should be filled to the height of the safety valve. Water already in the system should not be drained.

Color for Outdoor Life

A little work — and color — on your outdoor garden and porch furniture will make it fit right in with the carefree mood of outdoor living. But the color isn't the only idea; painting is vital to the life of the furniture, too.

It isn't hard to obtain a good, durable finish on these pieces, but a wrong choice of materials may prove costly in time, money, and effort. Only a sun-resistant enamel intended for exterior use should be applied to both wood and metal surfaces. Before painting, proper preparation of the surface is important to obtain a smooth finish. Sandpaper the work thoroughly, dust it off, and wipe with a damp cloth.

On new wood or non-rusting metal, an enamel undercoat should be used according to the manufacturer's directions. On iron and steel, apply red lead or some other rust-inhibitive primer, and follow with a coat of the desired enamel. If two coats are used, sand the gloss off the first before applying the second.

An undercoat isn't necessary on old work that is to be repainted, provided the old finish is in good condition. Simply sand it smooth with No. 60 sandpaper. But if the old finish is flaking or chipped, it should be removed with paint remover or by scraping, and the same schedule followed as for new work.

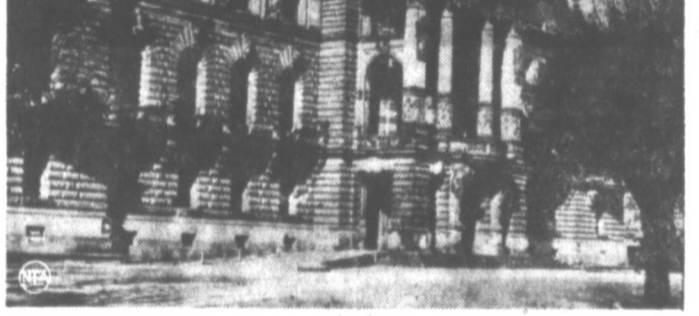

All repairs should be done before repainting is started, of course. If there are loose joints, remove all old glue and sandpaper surfaces until they are clean. When joints fit loosely, wrap thin wood shavings or cord around the dowel or tenon portions, then glue. Use only waterproof casein or resin glue.

For natural wood finishes on outside furniture use an oil stain, followed by two coats of exterior spar varnish.

When painting, always remember to paint the lower parts of the furniture first. Chair legs and rungs can thus be painted conveniently while the chair is turned upside down on a table and a lot of unnecessary bending will be avoided.

Insulation Comes Into Wider Use

The fact that an estimated 85 percent of dwellings are improperly built and equipped is the cause of an untold amount of summer discomfort and illness, the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information, said recently.

Higher occupancy on surveys showing approximately 15 percent of the homes built before the war are protected against excessive summer heat by thermal insulation, the bureau declared the situation may be more serious than usual this summer as a result of 2,500,000 families living doubled-up because of the housing shortage.

Higher occupancy of dwelling space increases the hazards to health and summer discomfort already existing in homes not equipped to reduce high interior temperatures, the bureau said. Homes can be kept up to 15 degrees cooler on hottest days if properly insulated, research shows. Installation of attic fans and kitchen ventilating fans will provide additional comfort once steps are taken to keep excessive heat out of the house by insulation, and by keeping doors and windows closed and shades drawn during the day.

No roof or wall is designed as a heat barrier. Exterior roof temperatures frequently reach 150 degrees, side walls 120. Much of this superheat quickly passes through the thin construction unless a full-thick barrier of insulating material intervenes. Walls filled with mineral wool and four inches of this fibrous insulating substance between roof and living quarters will slow heat penetration to the point where the interior frequently is cooler than the outside air.

Builders of 90 percent of the new dwellings, including the lowest cost brackets, are installing insulation in some form, bureau surveys indicate. The material most extensively used is mineral wool in full-thick batts and blankets because this provides maximum insulating efficiency, adds about 3 percent to the cost of the house.

An example of how low-cost dwellings are being insulated is seen in 87 homes built by Simon Faust in Columbia, South Carolina, who used mineral wool in all of these $5,350 houses.

Another is the Mills 191-house development in Elgin, Illinois. Many families are building homes with full-thick mineral wool to augment the summer comfort provided by air-conditioning systems. Natural finished woods, combined with open planning of all rooms and broad windows, help bring the outdoor heat into the house without the desert heat.

In a small San Francisco home, the low, flat roof is insulated from the living quarters by a thick layer of mineral wool and the wide, overhanging eaves keep summer sun from shining on the long, rambling window - walls. Built long and narrow, the house was designed so that each room has full exposure to front and rear with broad expanses of glass to the front and high clerestory windows in a long band along the rear wall.

Recent nation-wide surveys showed thousands of home owners in the Southern states are having insulation installed, not only for winter coolness, but also for summer comfort as a result of the extreme cold experienced in those areas last winter all the way from California to Florida.

Building contractors report home-owners specifying the work be finished this spring before hot weather arrives. These older houses are being insulated by blowing loose nodulated mineral wool into inaccessible spaces such as in walls and over finished attic ceilings, while batts and blankets of mineral wool are installed in all other spaces that can be reached by a workman.

Ends Leon Hart and Jim Martin of the Notre Dame squad are the first co-captains for the Irish since 1926.

Eleven of the 12 coaches of spring and summer sports at UCLA are graduates of the school.

Basketball coach Lew Anderson and boxing coach Roy Simmons both will celebrate their silver anniversaries at Syracuse University next winter.

Neil Pratt, Syracuse University miler from Erie, Pa., is the best middle-distance runner in the school's history.

Something New Has Been Added

This is the way the U. S. flag may look some day—soon, Alaskans and Hawaiians hope. It has 50 stars, the two new ones representing Alaska and Hawaii, which are seeking statehood. Jimmy Irish, White House secretary, displays the flag after it was presented to President Truman by E. L. Bartlett, territorial delegate from Alaska, as a gift from the Alaska Territorial Federation of Labor.

New Paint Adds Much Real Value

DALLAS — The old Dutch proverb, "good paint costs nothing," finds impressive proof in this "City of Lambert Green." Here in Dallas, in the last decade, it has been verified time and again that intelligent modernization plus well-chosen color can pay remarkable dividends.

The story began 10 years ago when landscape-architect Joseph O. Lambert, Jr. removed the porch and architectural gingerbread from an old house in Oak Lawn, then mixed a gray-green paint for it that was brownish in cast. This attractive and unusual green gave an impression of mellow age that intrigued all who saw it.

Pleased with the result, Lambert tried the color on his office which was an old house in a dilapidated section of the city. Here, in the Cedar Springs area — on the fringe of the business and industrial section — old houses were squeezed in between stores, gas stations and second hand furniture shops.

People who drove by soon began to notice the attractive color and came to inquire about it. Before long, Lambert bought other properties in the same district, removed the architectural evidences of the gay nineties, then applied his unusual green paint. As he did so, other property owners in the vicinity began to lift the faces of their houses.

Soft grays joined the Lambert green and doors were painted bright red and yellow. Cleaning door knockers and quaint lamps appeared. Gradually, the nature of the neighborhood changes and property that had formerly been unattractive and unwanted was eagerly sought by iron craftsmen, decorators, photographers, and antique dealers.

In the 10 years that have elapsed since the "Lambert Green" revolution started in Dallas, Mr. Lambert has seen real estate values on twelve blocks of the Cedar Springs area jump $6,000,000. He bought six properties for $236,000, spent $434,000 in improving and repainting them. These have now been sold for over a value of $1,000,000. A group of store buildings, which rented for only $3,000 when Lambert bought them, are now rented to exclusive shops at $32,000 a year. Furthermore, the influence of his ideas on color and remodeling can be seen all over the city.

Real estate experts agree that a good exterior paint job increases the value of a house at least 12 percent. Careful and adequate painting can bring other benefits as well. The thoughtful consideration of this factor brings you right back to the Dutch proverb that "good paint costs nothing." It can even take you a step further to the realization that it costs more not to paint.

Termites Mean War: Here's How to Win

Termites are pesky little insects that eat 50 million dollars worth of property every year. Don't be alarmed unless you're certain they're at work in your home. But it's a good idea to look around; if you find evidence of termites, declare war!

Usually, you'll first see termites in the flying stage during spring months. They fly briefly, find a mate, lose their wings, then merrily return to chewing the wood in your home.

Damage is rarely visible; it's all inside the wood. Wooden timbers are honeycombed, leaving only a thin outside shell.

Termites travel directly from the ground into the wood, steering clear of light and air, by building tube-like dirt tunnels to cross concrete or other obstructions. These runways protect termites from the drying effect of air, and always indicate their presence.

When contact with the moist earth is broken, the termites in a building will soon die. To block them, a copper sheet, bent down at an angle of 45 degrees, can be inserted beneath the sill where the tunnels are found. Wood in contact with the ground should be replaced with concrete, or the earth can be excavated and the wood protected with a tight coating of concrete or sheet metal.

It's good prevention to clear the ground near the building of all wood refuse. Trellises, arbors, and other wood structures placed on the foundation invite termites.

When reconstruction isn't possible, buildings can be protected for considerable periods by poisoning the surrounding ground with orthodichlorobenzene, or a fuel oil spray containing five percent DDT. This is used at the rate of one gallon to 10 running feet in trenches 2 to 3 inches deep, close to the outside foundation walls, and along the inside of the ground, a hole should be dug at the base, and the nest destroyed by poisoning.

Year round vigilance and constant checking is the surest way of preventing termite damage.

Experts Test Pistol In Opera Singer's Death

ATLANTA — (AP) — Hours of testing by a ballistic expert yesterday failed to connect a bullet that killed Opera Singer John Garris with a gun taken from a murder parolee.

George Cornett, technician for the Fulton County criminal laboratory spent five hours testing bullets fired from a gun found in the possession of a man arrested in Clinton, S. C.

Cornett halted the laboratory tests and went home for some sleep.

Dr. Herman Jones, Fulton County criminologist, identified the man caught in Clinton as Grover Tope Pulley, 44.

Atlanta authorities placed no charges against Jones. Jones said he was being held by Clinton police on charges of unlawful possession of a sawed-off shotgun and burglar tools.

Jones and Detective J. M. Pack went to Clinton Friday night, and returned to Atlanta shortly before 8 a. m. yesterday. Jones said they didn't talk to Pulley, but fired a bullet from his gun to bring back for tests.

Police continued to search for a green Buick automobile, reportedly occupied by a small, sallow-faced man and a handsome woman.

Night Watchman Dewey Wrenn told police he saw it three times about the warehouse district alley where the tenor's bullet-pierced body was found early Thursday.

Wrenn said he remembered it well because it bore no license plate. He also said he heard a

Proceedings in Court Aired

One of the few times that actual courtroom proceedings have been permitted for radio broadcast occurred recently when the "Mutual Newsreel" program heard over KPON at 8:15 each evening, aired in part the dramatic pre-sentencing statement made by the convicted murderer, Mutub's affiliate in Raleigh, N. C., arranged for the "newsreel" presentation by recording, in Wake County Superior Court. Listeners heard the charge to the jury by Judge W. H. S. Burgwyn in the trial of Jack Bridges, 21. In addition, the "newsreel" crew recorded the jury foreman's verdict announcement, and the death sentence as it was pronounced by the judge.

pistol shot in the direction of the time Garris was killed by a steel-jacketed pistol bullet.

The officers said they found another night watchman and a cabbie who also saw the automobiles.

Another clue was a restaurant keeper's report that a man answering Garris' description, accompanied by other men, briefly visited his place the night of the slaying.

Garris met death about the time others of the 350-member Metropolitan Opera Company left by train for Memphis, Tenn., after three nights in Atlanta. He himself took his luggage to the station but left before the special train pulled out at 4 a. m. Thursday.

The body of the handsome, six-foot singer lay in the city morgue while the police tried to break the mystery of his death. Plans were made to cremate the body and send the ashes to Garris' native Frankfurt, Germany.

An erotic note entered the death investigation when the police said Friday they were studying "a possibility" that sexual perversion might be involved.

Homicide Lt. M. M. Coppenberger said the police had "many reports" of unnatural sex activities and were probing this angle. Dr. Jones went a step further and said sex abnormality "might have been the whole thing behind it."

Gold Sox Sink Yankees, End Stand To

Loss Drops Oilers to Third Place Tie; Gassers in Lead

The Pampa Oilers dropped their opening game of a two-game series with Amarillo yesterday afternoon by a score of 8 to 3. The final game of the series and of the current home stand will be played tonight at 8 o'clock. The probable starting pitchers will be Leathers for the Gold Sox and Parker for Pampa.

Yesterday afternoon the Sox jumped off to a one-run lead in the second inning on Paul Haller's home run over the center-field fence, and were never headed. It was a fine pitcher's duel between Jim Reynolds, Sox right-hander, and Howard Bass, veteran Oilers hurler, who took a day off from his school teaching to pitch for Pampa.

That home run was the lone run until the sixth inning, when the Sox scored three more on four hits and an error. McKay opened the inning by being safe on an error by Velasquez. Lewis sent him to third with a single to right, and Howard scored him with a long fly to centerfield. Haller doubled driving Lewis around and Gentskow singled Haller home.

The Oilers bounced back for one in the last of the sixth. With one out, Ridgeway drew a walk, but was out attempting to steal on a short passed ball. Velasquez promptly singled through the infield. Peacock sent him to third with a sharp single, and Richardson drove him home with a hard double to right, and the Oilers picked up two more in the seventh. Teyema drew a walk and went to second on Brawley's single to center. Feunikiuk forced Teyema at third. Parker, batting for Bass, fanned, but Ridgeway singled through the infield scoring Brawley and Feunikiuk, for the final Oilers markers.

The Sox jumped on Dick Lockwood for three hits, mixed with an error in the eighth for two runs, and then picked up two more in the ninth on one hit

WARREN'S ARM UP

QUESTION: What famous golfer won the U.S. Open and the PGA Tournament when he was only 20 years old?

ANSWER: Gene Sarazen, now 47, won the U.S. Open and PGA while only 20 years old.

INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE: The Interscholastic League seems to have some funny rules in its books, one of the worst being the old one, which they have just started to enforce, Article VIII, Section 8 of the constitution and rules of the league.

This rule says that "no one shall take part in any athletic contest in this League who has ever received money, or other valuable consideration for teaching, officiating, or participating in any athletic sport, or game, or who in any game outside of games played as a member of his school team or the Interscholastic League has, within the last twelve months, competed on an athletic team with a paid player or contestant."

Under this ruling, many football and basketball players have been taken off of their spring athletic teams because they were guests of various colleges in the state, who invited the boys there in an attempt to convince them that that school was where the boys should attend. The meals and lodging, which many of the boys received free of charge from the school, are being interpreted as "valuable consideration." Which all seems very foolish. "Which all seems very foolish." "Which all seems very foolish." "Which all seems very foolish."

In the first place, the rule reads "for teaching, officiating or participating in any athletic sport, or game." How can visiting a college campus be included in that class, if one is to consider a free meal as making a boy ineligible, then any football, basketball or other high school team that is a guest of an organization at an athletic banquet should find itself ineligible. Why doesn't college have just as much right to give a boy a free meal as any of his local civic clubs?

Secondly, the rule will keep many a boy from furthering his college education. Many boys who PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Third baseman Eddie Bockman smashed out two home runs in the nightcap Sunday to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and an even split in their doubleheader.

The Reds captured the ten-inning opener, 3 to 2.

Southpaw Cliff Chambers delighted a thoroughly chilled crowd of 24,444 with a six-hit pitching performance. The only run he yielded was a home run by Johnny Wyrostek in the sixth.

Perhaps you think, well, let the boys wait until summer. He has graduated and the ruling will have no bearing on his case. But that is being unfair to the boy. He is going to the campus to show the coach how proficient he is at his main sport. If you ask a football player or basketball star to wait five or seven months after his seasonal sport is over, he naturally won't be as sharp as he was at the end of the season, and consequently may not win the scholarship. And once again the ruling has kept the boy from college.

Schroeder Wins Men's Singles At River Oaks

HOUSTON — (AP) — Ted Schroeder, La Crescenta, Calif., is the new men's singles champion of the River Oaks Tennis Tournament at Houston. Mr. Schroeder, a 20-year-old Californian, defeated Francisco, the women's singles finalist.

Schroeder, Davis Cup player and the nation's No. 2 amateur star, defeated fourth ranked Bill Talbert of Wilmington, Del., for the championship. The score yesterday read 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Mrs. Kovacs won her title with a 6-1, 6-4 victory over Miss Dorothy Head, also of San Francisco.

They teamed Saturday to win the women's doubles championship.

National singles champion Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, Los Angeles, and Talbert won the men's doubles trophy. They defeated Schroeder and Wimbledon champion Bob Falkenberg, Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-1, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Other championship winners were J. Gilbert Hall, East Orange, N. J., veteran singles; Hall and Jack Norton, Corsicana, Tex., veteran doubles; and Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La., junior singles.

Hall, in defending the singles title last year, defeated the former veteran Davis Cup player Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., 6-2, 6-3.

Hall and Norton took the doubles final from Allison and John Scoggins, Galveston, Tex., 6-4, 6-2.

Richardson, national boy's title, turned back the defending champion, Jack Turpin of Rice

Parsons Roars Off With AAA Big Car Race

ARLINGTON — (AP) — Johnny Parsons of Van Nuys, Calif., had almost $3,000 in his jeans, 200 points to his credit toward the American Automobile Association championship and was headed for Indianapolis and the big race today.

Parsons, a veteran of nine years in automobile racing but yet to win the Indianapolis Speedway, said he felt like this was his year after he roared to victory in the Arlington Downs 100-mile event — first of the AAA races in the nation — here yesterday.

The nearest Johnny has come to the Speedway Classic has been as a relief driver.

He courted disaster yesterday as he bounced off the wall on the back stretch of the thirty-six lap but the 30-year-old hard rider righted his machine in the nick of time, up to the ground and overtook Troy Rutman of Ontario, Calif., on the fifty-fourth lap. The field of 10 drivers never could head Parsons after that.

He won by more than a lap over Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., Johnny Manix of Long Beach, Calif., was third.

A crowd racing director Babe Stapp estimated at 13,000 sat in threatening weather to watch Parsons roar around the mile and one-sixteenth track 95 times in an hour, sixteen minutes and 40 seconds, averaging 85.15 miles per hour.

Stapp announced another 100-mile event would be held here in September. It will be AAA approved, bringing to 13 the racing meets to be held in the nation this year in the battle for the national championship. Indianapolis is next.

Ransom Takes Golf Title at Wilmington

WILMINGTON, N. C. — (AP) — Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., shot a two-under-par 70 Sunday for a 276 total to win the first $10,000 Wilmington Open Golf Tournament.

Paul O'Leary, the new comer from Bismarck, N. D., who had led the field the first three days, ballooned to a 78 for a 281 total that was good only for a sixth-place tie.

Four deadlocked for second place, at 278. Cary Middleoff of Memphis, Tenn., and Bob Hamilton of Andover, Md., finished tied for 278 for that. Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans, La., made it with a 69, and Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa, wound up with a 71.

Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va., who closed with a 79, was tied with O'Leary.

Institute, in the day's closest match, 8-10, 7-5, 11-9.
