

World Pauses to Celebrate Easter; Leaders More Optimistic for Peace

Meet 'Jughead'

WHO probably would not like you at first, but would "warm up" when he came to know you better. He likes to sit up, as he is sitting above, and beg for food from the Cecil Holmes dining table. "Jughead," also called "Jug," a Boston Terrier, is two years old. He was trained when but a few months old to do a number of tricks. For instance . . .

HE LIKES to hold a pipe in his mouth, but it must be free of tobacco odor. When this picture was taken, he didn't care for the specks either, because he couldn't see through them; and, instead, pecked over them like grandfather used to do. He is the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and 13-year-old daughter, Jacqueline. "Jughead" was quite displeased when Clarence Qualls studio took these two shots of him, because of the specks. He picked up the pipe habit when small. Distlike of tobacco came because, as a puppy, he grabbed a lighted cigarett. "Jug" sits at the stink when he wants water, sits at the door when he wants outside; goes to his baby bed sleeping quarters when there are hard words around the house. Yeah, that's "Jughead."

Spectacular Outdoor Rites Are Scheduled

By The Associated Press
Christians throughout the world were united today in celebrating the age-old story of the resurrection.

Religious services to mark Easter were scheduled for spectacular outdoor settings, in the ancient cathedrals of Europe and in the tiny churches of crossroad hamlets.

Two hundred thousand persons were expected to gather in the Wichita Mountains near Lawton, Okla., for what may be the largest outdoor Easter service in the United States.

Thousands will crowd into the centuries-old St. Peter's Church in Rome, Notre Dame in Paris and St. Paul's in London.

Celebration of the resurrection began yesterday in St. Peter's with the ceremonial blessing of the fire in the entryway to the Basilica.

In Great Britain, Western Germany, Czechoslovakia and some other countries the Easter week-end brought a four-day holiday.

For all of Western Europe Easter meant rejoicing over a new blossoming prosperity stemming from their own labor and from the European Recovery Program.

In the United States the weather man promised to cooperate with the traditional fashion parades and egg hunts. Fair and somewhat cool weather was forecast for nearly all of the country.

While the Lawton, Okla., out- (See SPECTACULAR, Page 8)

YANKS SET NEW RECORD IN AIRLIFT

BERLIN — (AP) — Allied fliers shattered all Berlin airlift records yesterday and said they proved combat divisions could be supplied by air alone.

U. S. and British airmen set out to learn just how many planes could be landed here in a 24-hour period.

The result was: 1,388 flights from Western base to Tempelhof, Gatow and Tegel fields in blockaded Western Berlin.

12,949 tons of food, coal and machinery equal to 22 train loads of 50 freight cars each.

The ship-to-tower radio system was pushed to the "absolute saturation point," a high officer said, adding:

"It was a perfect performance. The skies were cloudless from Berlin to Rhine."

It was a huge Easter present for Western Berlin. The previous daily record was 8,246 tons, set April 11.

Before the Russians imposed their blockade last June, about 9,000 tons of supplies moved to Berlin daily by rail from Western Germany. Considerably more, (See YANKS, Page 8)

Action-Jammed Career Of Wallace Beery Ends

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — (AP) — Wallace Beery, the movies' lovable rascal with the gravelly voice and the squash-like nose, was mourned today by millions of fans.

He slumped to his living room floor about 10 p.m. Friday and died shortly of a heart ailment of many months' duration. He was 64. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, resting place of many other movie famous.

Wally, known also as "Babe" and "Jumbo," had the second longest career in pictures. His 38 years on the screen have been exceeded only by Lionel Barrymore's 40.

Big, gruff Wally's heart-of-gold character won him a wide following. He was usually the clumsy, overgrown, bad boy who more or less innocently got into all kinds of scrapes but didn't really mean to do wrong. A sly, shy look, a hand across the face gesture, and rumbling "Aw shucks," were famous Beery mannerisms.

His teaming with the late Marie Dressler in "Min and Bill," and "Tugboat Annie," was one of the most successful movie combinations. He won an Academy Award for "The Champ" in 1931. He was voted by exhibitors as one of the top 10 box office attractions from 1932 through 1935, and again in 1940.

Beery, a Kansas City policeman's son, in youth was an engine wiper in a railroad roundhouse, an elephant handler in circuses, and an 18-a-week singer in a Broadway chorus. After a short career as a dirt track racing car driver he made his film debut in 1913 with the Essanay company in Chicago. His corrugated, homely face was his fortune.

Once a friend urged him to have it lifted, warning: "In two or three years your face is going to look like an old squash."

Beery consulted a plastic surgeon who asked $500 for the operation. Wally had only $100.

"See!" Beery exulted later. "Suppose I'd had the $500. Where (See BEERY, Page 8)

Admiral to Speak Before Newest Club

Rear Admiral Ellis M. Zacharias will deliver the keynote address at the first dinner meeting of the Top o' Texas Knife and Fork Club Tuesday at the High School Cafeteria, Roy S. Bourland, president, said yesterday.

The organization of the club was begun several weeks ago under the direction of W. R. Lence of Enid, Okla., field director for the Knife and Fork Club International.

Zacharias' topic will be "Secret Missions: Past and Future Security." He is retired from the U. S. Navy. Because of a quarter-century of Naval intelligence experience and expert knowledge of the "Japanese" he was commissioned to execute the assignment of psychological warfare against Japan in World War II.

Author of the book "Secret Missions," Zacharias is of the opinion that Japan will rise again as a leader in the Orient but her influence this time must be directed toward good rather than evil. The reorienting of the Japanese mind, he believes, will be accomplished by the U. S. must maintain her leadership in hastening the process.

Other officers of the newly formed Knife and Fork Club are: J. B. Massa, vice president; J. B. Maguire, Jr., secretary-treasurer. The remaining members of the Board of Directors are Joe F. Key, Dr. Douglas Nelson, Mrs. Bernice Osborne, Frank D. Smith, Arthur M. Teed, Ed Weiss, Jr., and Frank W. Wilson.

Homebuilders Seek to Kill Trend to State Ownership—Hughes

R. G. (Dick) Hughes told a group of homebuilders at Norman, Okla., Friday night the National Association of Homebuilders seeks, as an objective, "to kill the trend toward state ownership which is engulfing America."

Hughes, regional vice president of the association, presented a charter of organization to the Norman Association of Homebuilders. He is well known for his work as a builder in the Panhandle.

In a prepared address, he told the group that, if "given free rein," private enterprise could solve the shortage of housing; and rapped at Senate Bill 1070, a housing bill, which has been submitted to the Congress for passage.

He said: "I feel very positively that if all the legislation proposed by the present administration were put into effect, it would mean the end of our free enterprise system; but the most vicious of this proposed legislation is Senate Bill 1070, the public housing bill. The Communist Manifesto very clearly states that the first step to socialism is state housing. Socialism is only an interim step between free enterprise form of government or democracy on the one hand and a state of complete socialism or communism on the other."

"S-1070 is the first step in a well planned, carefully organized plot to communize the United States; and if we let this gang of wreckers in Washington get away with it, we will very definitely have taken our first step on an almost irrevocable road to socialism and thence to communism."

"S-1070 frankly admits that public housing will cost 35 percent more than private housing, because it requests $2,550 for the building of each room; whereas private enterprise is allowed not more than $1,800 for each room. It is purported to be a bill which is going to take (See HOMEBUILDERS, Page 8)

'You and the 81st Congress' To Be Topic at Conference

"You and the 81st Congress," will be the topic used by Tom V. Watson, national affairs advisor of the Dallas Regional Office of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, when he addresses a National Affairs Conference at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Palm Room in the City Hall.

The meeting will be jointly sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to bring together delegations from Panhandle towns to be informed on the national legislation now before the 81st Congress.

H. J. Dollinger, assistant manager of the regional office, will lead a roundtable discussion following the address.

Watson, working as national affairs advisor with legislative committees of Chamber of Commerce throughout the eight-state area which makes up the Southwestern Division of the organization, remains in close contact with the congressional picture in Washington. He presents to business groups an analysis of legislative proposals which are of greatest concern to the nation.

Before entering the Army as a private in 1941, Watson had been affiliated with the Texas Chambers of Commerce. He holds B. A. and M. A. degrees from (See CONGRESS, Page 8)

'Phenomenon' Term Given Crying Statue Incident

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (AP) — Moisture appeared yesterday in one of the eyes of a broken statue of St. Ann when Shirley Anne Martin kissed it, witnesses reported.

The 11-year-old schoolgirl said it was the first time the fluid had appeared, despite her repeated efforts, since she was on a television program Thursday night.

Herald-Journal reporter, Joseph Ganley, said he saw a liquid substance materialize in the right eye of the three-inch tall plaster head after Shirley had kissed it in front of a working newsreel cameraman.

"There was just enough so you could see it," Ganley said. He added that further efforts by the girl to produce what were of no avail.

Ganley said he saw the liquid trickle about a half inch down the cheek.

Others who said they saw the liquid appear yesterday morning were Mr. and Mrs. James Secrett, the girl's maternal grandparents, James Secrett, Jr., her uncle and her 10-year-old sister, Beverly.

The Catholic girl had said Friday night, "I'm glad if (the statue) doesn't cry anymore."

"I don't want it to cry," she had added, "you wouldn't want a human being to cry, would you?" She asked after having kissed the head of the image several times without result.

The liquid drops that he appeared repeatedly on the figure's face when Shirley Anne kissed the forehead were termed a "phenomenon" by the Rev. Robert E. Dillon, chancellor of the Syracuse Catholic Diocese.

He added: "The explanation of the fact or its significance has not been established. The possibility of miracles is established beyond doubt. Whether this phenomenon is an instance of supernatural power at work has not been established."

This was the first official statement from the diocesan office since crowds began gathering Wednesday at the Martin home.

The girl reported that no liquid had appeared on the image's face since a television program she took part in Thursday night.

Mrs. W. L. Boos of the Clifton Service Production Camp stamped the participants of Ronsen's "20 Questions" program last night when contestants failed to answer her description of "The Spring Young Man's Fancy, etc." She received a Ronsen table lighter and other gifts from the company.

That practically every Pampa woman has a new Easter bonnet. As a result, it seems some local families will make their annual trip to church this morning.

STATUE WEEPS WHEN KISSED — Eleven-year-old Shirley Anne Martin of Syracuse, N. Y., presses her lips against a broken plaster statue of St. Ann, causing it to weep. Three Catholic priests and many other persons reportedly witnessed what appeared to be tears coming from the statue's eyes.

NEW CHURCH—Shown above is the new Church of the Brethren, 600 N. Frost, which will be formally dedicated during ceremonies next Sunday, April 24, at 2 p. m. The structure, which is a remodeling and adding to the old church, was made as it appears at a cost of $35,000. The Rev. M. Guy West, brother of the local pastor, of Uniontown, Pa., will deliver the dedicatory sermon, using as his subject "To the Glory of God"; and Prof. Donald H. Frederick, head of the McPherson College Music Dept., will direct mass singing. (For history of the Church of the Brethren, see Page 5.)

West May Be Able to Avoid Shooting War

By John M. Hightower
WASHINGTON — (AP) — More than at any time in the past three explosive years, top American officials are optimistic this Easter that the West will be able to avoid a shooting war with Russia indefinitely.

But their hopes encounter the equally strong belief that the East-West conflict may continue full tilt on the propaganda, political and economic fronts.

These estimates stand out as the ones most generally held here by the Department and defense leaders. They disclose without in one year a radical change in the world situation.

Two trends in the two worlds — Western and Communist — have produced this change.

One is the trend to independent thought and action behind the iron curtain. This big break suddenly was realized last summer when Marshal Tito split with the Kremlin's Communist organization. Although he remains a staunch Communist and is held in high suspicion by Western leaders, he is nevertheless considered an extremely valuable thorn in the side of the Russian bear.

The other trends is that of unification in the West. This began when American leaders determined they would not permit Russia's veto in world affairs to block needed action and create (See WEST, Page 8)

Film on Sex To Be Shown To Adults

The Twentieth Century Culture Club of Pampa has scheduled a showing of the film "Human Growth" at 8 p.m. April 25, at the Junior High School Auditorium.

The film will be shown at the Carver School at 8 p.m. on April 25, by request of the Rev. W. S. Smith, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Church, and the Ministerial Alliance.

Both showings are for adults only, it was announced.

Mrs. H. H. Hahn, in charge of arrangements for the showings, said the film is designed to help parents in meeting the problems of presenting necessary and intelligent information on sex to their children. She said this is a "responsibility all conscientious parents want to fulfill."

The film will be shown by Dr. Frank Kelley, and he will discuss its methods and purposes. There will be no admission charge.

Mrs. Hahn said both the Ministerial Alliance and the P-T-A Council enthusiastically endorsed the film and its showing.

Letters have been sent out to principals and patrons of neighboring schools, urging their attendance.

Suitor Asks Forgiveness After Killing Girl's Father

MERRICK, N. Y. — (AP) — A 22-year-old rejected suitor killed the father of his former girl friend yesterday, then held off police with a shotgun while pleading for her forgiveness in a tear gas-filled bedroom.

The ex-suitor, DeWitt Combs of Wantagh, N. Y., finally surrendered to police after he had barricaded himself in the girl's home and pleaded with her to "forgive me and be my girl again."

Police said the handsome youth told the father, Francis S. Fay, 53, with a blast from his shotgun in the course of a furious gun battle in the kitchen of the darkened home. Fay died immediately.

Police surrounded the house but were held at bay by the youth who shot from the upper story of the residence that he would kill the "first man that comes near this house."

Fay, a policeman, crept near a window and shouted assurances to Combs that neither he nor the girl would be harmed if he surrendered. Combs then tossed the weapon into the yard and gave himself up.

Police told this story: Combs had known the Fay family since he was a child and often visited their home.

He grew increasingly fond of Fay's eldest daughter, Rita, 21, and they began going out together. Combs frequently proposed marriage but Rita rejected him. Last November she told him she never wanted to see him again.

About 2 a. m. (EST) Saturday, the youth, armed with a new shotgun, broke into the cellar of the Fay home. Hearing the noise, Fay grabbed up a heavy automatic and started to investigate.

In the cellar, Combs pulled the main light switch, plunging the house into darkness. Then he crept up to the kitchen. He and Fay met there in the darkness and both opened fire blindly.

Change Is Made in Methodist Services

Brethren Had Church Here Since 1925

Following is a history of the Church of the Brethren. The local church, newly remodeled and expanded, will be dedicated April 24, 2 p. m. See picture of the new church on Page 1.

By the REV. R. G. WEST
Pastor, Church of the Brethren "The Brethren," as they are often called, do not claim an unbroken line back through the centuries to the time of the Apostles. The church had its beginning in Europe in the early years of the 18th Century as a revolt against the formalism and ritualism of the expanded churches. Specifically, the movement was organized in Schwetzingen, Germany, in 1708. Its aggressive spirit and rapid growth brought upon them bitter persecution, and as early as 1725 the entire membership had been transported to America. Germantown, Pa., became their first home and from there they migrated with the western movement across the continent. Today the church has a membership of around 200,000 members in America and missions in India, China, Africa and South America. They operate six accredited colleges and one seminary. They were among the first to see the significance of summer camps for young people, and now operate a chain of these training centers across America.

Toward the end of the last century, Brethren families moved into this part of Texas. For the most part they were farmers. In an old dug-out just south of Laketon in 1847, these scattered members were officially organized into a congregation. Their early activities centered around Laketon and Miami. Around 1925 the congregation purchased a property in Tully Addition, remodeled it into a church house and opened their work in Pampa. Ten years later they purchased their present site 600 N. Front and constructed a new building, composed, for the most part, of a sanctuary and a full basement. It was dedicated in 1937. This building was very inadequate for the varied activities of a congregation. War conditions and relief demands precluded enlarging our building for a number of years. Finally in the spring of Sunspots which become more frequent and less frequent in 11 year cycles started a declining cycle in 1947.

1948 the church employed Mr. Forrest U. Gross, one of our good will across denominational church architects, of Springfield, Ore., to draw up plans, and in the summer the convention, arranged with the Smith-Hill Construction Company of Pampa to erect the building. The new Pampa-Stone building with adequate facilities for all interests and activities was constructed at a cost of approximately $35,000. The congregation is happy to dedicate this lovely building to God, and open its doors to people of the ever-expanding city of Pampa.

"Just what do the Brethren believe, anyway?" This question is often asked by people in Pampa. To tell the truth the Church of the Brethren is not very different from the other churches. We share the same loyalty to the Bible, to God, to Christ, and to the Holy Spirit. We Brethren think of one another as one great family of children, bound together by the bonds of love. In our Love Feasts and Communion services we literally get down and wash another's feet as taught in John 13:1-5. We are a great conference of people, traveling by the thousands, usually in family groups, all over the nation, in order to be together in our "annual meeting." Strangers find it hard to understand how intimately the Brethren people know and love each other all over the world. Then too this doctrine of Love has given us a compassion for all people everywhere. In matters of relief we have often led the Christian world. We believe that what we do to others we do to Christ. Also this doctrine of boundless love and goodwill make the practice of war and bloodshed unthinkable. Probably no people on earth are trying harder, and more relentlessly than the Brethren to eliminate war from the world. Then there's this matter of love, fellowship and goodwill across denominational lines. The Brethren are not always been a cooperating church. In years gone by we have been narrow, clannish and selfish. All too often many of our people have broken in. The Brethren believe through actual observation and fellowship that some of these redeemed people are to be found in every branch of the Christian movement. We now cooperate and extend a hand of love and fellowship to all people everywhere who love our Lord, and are seeking to follow and serve Him. To our Christian friends in all the churches of Pampa we extend a hearty invitation to attend our education program. To our un-church-ed friends of this city we invite you to pick out the church of your choice and then cast your lot with God's people—the best people on earth!

Housing Again Starts Slow Waltz in Senate

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Once more a government housing program begins its slow waltz in Congress. It may get through this year, in some form.

The Senate has begun debate on it and is expected to pass it this week. Then it's the turn of the House.

In 1948 and again in 1948 the Senate passed a public housing bill. Both times the House failed to act. This killed it, since both houses must approve a bill before it can become law. If it became law, the bill, as it stands, would cost billions in government money over many years. With that money it would help do three main things:

1. Help cities get rid of their slums but not before the poor people living in them had some place to go.
2. Build 810,000 public housing units during the next six years for low income families, like families living in the slums which the cities would want to tear down.
3. Give loans to poor farm families that need help in building or repairing homes, provided they need and can qualify for the help.

But wouldn't all this interfere with private builders? Senator Sparkman, Alabama Democrat and one of the bill's sponsors, says: "Private enterprise cannot provide decent housing, new or old, for families of low income... public housing is the only solution."

Apparently many Democrats and Republicans feel as he does, for 11 Democrats and 11 Republicans have sponsored the bill.

The charge of socialism has been flung around freely in Congress in recent years by foes of public housing. But is this bill a step in that direction? No, says Raymond M. Foley, federal housing administrator. He told a House committee the other day that if the government can't serve the basic needs of the great majority of the people, then: "There are created the very conditions under which socialist or communistic systems of government may falsely appear to be acceptable."

AP Price Index Lowest Since 1946

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Associated Press index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices this week declined to 159.83—lowest since Nov. 12, 1946.

The weekend figure compared with 160.02 a week ago and 187.39 a year ago. The base year of the index, 1926, equals 100. Three of the six commodity groups comprising the index reached new lows for the year—industrial, livestock and textiles. The food component also declined slightly.

Avery Headed For New Scrap

CHICAGO—(AP)—Sewell L. Avery, key man in the recent wholesale changes in executives at Montgomery Ward and Company, appeared headed for a showdown fight to retain his post as top boss of the big merchandising firm.

The newest battle confronting the 74-year-old chairman and director is expected at the annual stockholders meeting next Friday. But Avery is no newcomer to fights at Montgomery Ward. And there appeared no indication that he would be defeated in his bid for reelection as a director, despite

Men Don't Have to Talk to God in Foxholes—This Year

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — This is a nice Easter tide, because men don't have to talk to God alone in a foxhole. This hasn't been necessary for some four years. In crowded small church or tall cathedral of Christian lands families can worship Jesus in peace. But many an ex-soldier, looking at the young son kneeling beside him, will wonder: "Will my boy some day have to — as I did — pray along at this time in some place of war?" And he will offer up a small silent prayer of his own that this won't happen. And the prayers will be said in many languages — English, French, Dutch, Russian, German, Italian. Easter has a peculiar niche in the heart of men in combat. At Christmas thoughts of religion aren't in their minds so much as the memories of their families. The broken packages full of small gifts come, and they are homesick to the bone. But at Easter the story of Christ, His death and rebirth, stirred the doughboy of the Second World War deeply. Part of it, perhaps, was tied up with the rebirth of the particular land he was fighting across. He could lie in his muddy foxhole and see the green spears of grass springing from the winter-killed earth. I don't know how the fighter pilot felt at Easter, climbing a tranquil sky. Probably he felt like the post-airman who wrote he had the sensation of being almost able to reach out and touch the hand of God. But I do know how many of the walking soldiers felt. Some came to believe that they understood the Galilean Carpenter better than anybody. For the infantryman suffers most in war, and lives on faith. They came closer to Him through the kinship of agony. It isn't true, of course, that there were no atheists in foxholes. But the atheist was a particularly lonely man at Easter. His foxhole next to him held that and something more — a man with faith that if he were killed there was a spiritual life beyond. I don't know that this made any difference to a German artillery shell. But it made a difference to the two men. Wherever possible, the front line soldiers were brought back a few thousand yards at Easter, a group at a time, to attend brief religious services. This gave them a respite from rifle and mortar fire. But they were still within enemy bombardment range. Once I attended one of these services in a clearing in a cork forest in Northern Tunisia. After it was over a grimy infantryman said to me thoughtfully: "You know this must puzzle God. We come out of the lines to pray to Him. On the other side the Germans must be doing the same thing. Everybody praying for peace. "But when we're through we go right back into the lines and start trying to kill each other again. Does that make sense to God? It doesn't to me." Well, this year the problem doesn't exist. And that is the blessing of Easter—1949.

Suit Settles Circus Billing

AUSTIN — (AP) — Federal court suit over the circus billing of Gene Autry's brother, Doug, ended in an agreed judgment Friday. Dealey Brothers Circus, Gene and Doug all agreed that beginning May 15, "Doug" will be advertised in the same size letters as "Autry." The film star brought suit, complaining that the circus billing of Doug, with "Autry" in large letters and "Doug" in small ones, created the impression that Gene Autry was being featured.

Less Sugar Means Less Tooth Decay

DALLAS — (AP) — People can be told how to reduce tooth decay but getting them to do it is another matter, says Dr. Walter J. Pelton of Denver. Science now has proof that eating less sugar can reduce tooth decay, the regional dental consultant for the U. S. Public Health Service said. But "persuading folks that they will have healthier teeth by a drastic reduction in sweets is like convincing junior he'll enjoy Christmas more by giving presents than receiving them," he said. Dr. Pelton spoke to the American Public Health Association's Southern branch convention here.

Stockholders Drop Suit for Accounting

NEW YORK — (AP) — Ten stockholders of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co. were allowed Friday to dismiss their federal court suit for an accounting. They had asked a check of $1,500,000 profits allegedly made in a conspiracy at the railroad's expense. Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman allowed their motion for voluntary dismissal. The attorney for the stockholders said since filing their action early this year he had talked over the case with the railway attorneys. He said certain matters had been cleared up.

BETTER BOWLING

By BILL SIXTY
QUICK LIFT: To keep the ball going consistently into the strike pocket between the No. 1 and 3 pins on a "slow" alley — one that breaks quickly toward the head pin from lack of polish on the alley surface — you have several choices.

When you encounter a "slow" alley, you can either deliver the ball with regular medium speed at a wider-than-usual angle (at the No. 3 or the No. 6 pin) or you can pitch it out over the foul line. By merely lifting the arm a little quicker as the ball is released, a strong tall bowler can pitch (left) the ball with his regular, natural swing and slide finish at the foul line.

Before it assumes the hook-spin, or a revoltingly pitched ball slides in a rotating motion. The amount it slides depends on the speed of the delivery. A faster ball naturally slides farther and breaks later, nearer the pins.

While this lofting business is all right for the big fellows, a smaller person has a choice of (1) using the abrupt arm lift, also with the normal slide-finish, angling the ball wide to allow for the hook-break or (2) shifting his starting to deliver the ball from a slightly center (see sketch), in this way allowing for a smaller-breaking angle, possibly by shooting at the No. 3 pin.

The angle varies, of course, depending in the particular alley surface. The slower the alley, the wider the allowance for inward or right-to-left break.

You must keep in mind, however, that when you shift to the alley-center, it is important that the arm lift be used just the

List DiMaggio As Absentee

BALTIMORE — The listing "J. DiMaggio, of" will be missing again from the opening day lineup Tuesday when the New York Yankees start the American League baseball season. "John" Joe will be in Baltimore getting x-ray treatments for a troublesome pain in his right heel. The treatments which last about a minute and a quarter daily are to continue at Johns Hopkins Hospital until Tuesday and DiMaggio indicated that his physician might prescribe different treatment after then.

Tuesday will mark the seventh opening day game in 11 years that DiMaggio will have missed. In a news conference Friday, the star centerfielder said he didn't know when he might be able to get back into uniform but he added "I'm very optimistic."

He declared that he "never gave thought" to retiring. DiMaggio's heel was operated on for removal of a bone spur last November and he complained of it paining him through this year's spring practice. He left the Yankee team Tuesday at Fort Worth, Tex., to fly here for consultation with his physician, Dr. George Bennett.

DiMaggio said no further operations on the heel are planned in response to questions. He said he hadn't considered becoming a baseball manager because he doesn't plan to retire. He has been mentioned as possible manager of the Yankees when he quits his active career.

However, the Yankee bomber said that even if he had to sit out the entire 1949 season he thought he still "had a few more years in baseball."

same in order to apply spin with the third and little fingers as the ball is released. The natural alley-break isn't enough to make the ball effective.

DALLAS — (AP) — George Rasnussen, who reminds you of Fred Wolcott, Texas' greatest cleft man, was a little puzzled as he prepared to take a plane out of Austin after setting a new Texas Relays record in the pole vault.

Rasnussen had come a long way from Oregon and he had soared 14 feet 1-1/2 inches. But one of the fellows who vaulted against him — Paul Faulkner of Abilene Christian College — was a sharp memory of the immediate past. Rasnussen wondered where he had seen that fellow before. He hadn't, but he had seen his counterpart at pole vaulting.

Yes, Faulkner was a direct throwback to Earl Meadows, the Olympic vaulting great of the thirties who made a gallant attempt at the Olympics last year, almost landed on the Olympics team once more.

Rasnussen vaulted against Meadows and Faulkner reminded him as much of Meadows as Meadows. Not in physical resemblance, but in the way he used that vaulting pole.

Faulkner, a Freshman at ACC, did 13 feet 6 inches to tie for second in the Texas Relays behind Rasnussen.

Baylor University didn't fiddle around at holding Bob Woodruff as coach of its football team. There already had been strong evidence that Woodruff wouldn't be at Baylor long under his present contract which called for $5,000 the first year, $8,000 the second — 1948 — and $10,000 this year. The contract expires Jan. 1, 1950.

Other schools were making mighty strong passes at the young coach whose two-year regime has been pretty much on the sensational so far as building gridiron fortunes are concerned. And next fall the Bears could hit the jackpot, win the Southwest Conference title and land in the big bowl. There is that kind of material at the Baptist school.

Anyway, the Baylor athletic leaders hastened to sign Bob to a five-year contract and his salary will be $12,500 a year — the biggest ever paid at Baylor and one of the best coaching salaries in the nation.

Col. Frank Anderson, Texas A&M's great track coach, comes out publicly for retaining the present rule in the Texas Interscholastic League — banning spring football training.

Cosch Anderson speaks from experience when he says the spring gridiron training period should be given over to spring sports — track, baseball, tennis and golf. He played football in college as well as competed in track. "I feel sure that I probably had too much football," he says. "I got to be druggery in the last year, that is, the practice did. Football, to be played best, has to be played with a passion. No appetite is keen after saturation. Let the boys go out for track or baseball in the spring and they will have more drive for football in the fall of the year. The boy, after being taught to block or tackle, can do it if he means to do it. I contend that he will want to do it more if he does not get too much out of season training."

The Aggie mentor also pointed out that the boys now played football in Junior High School, thus did not need spring training in Senior High School in order to work on fundamentals. That's one of the pleas of the Senior High football coaches in trying to get the ban against

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Messer—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What is the score of a forfeited basketball game?

OPENING NIGHT: Plans have been completed for the pre-game ceremonies on opening night at Oiler Park, April 20, if the weatherman is cooperative. The plans were arranged by the Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee, of which Harold Miller is chairman.

The activities will begin with a parade in the early evening by the Pampa Harvester band, through the business district. They will then proceed to the ball park, where they will be guests of the management.

Prior to the start of the game a welcoming address will be given to the players and fans. Then all members of both teams, the Berger Gassers and Pampa Oilers, will be introduced by Jim Arndt, acting master of ceremonies.

The players will march out to the flag pole, where the flag will be raised by the Boy Scouts Troop 14 the honored troop. Then the players will return to the dugouts and the game will be ready to start.

The first ball this season will be thrown by Mayor "Lefty" Huff, with Mayor Fred Herbst of Borger doing the catching. Both men are said to be in heavy training for the opening of the season, working out each day with their City Council.

As an additional activity, prizes will again be awarded for players making the first hit, first home run, first putout, etc. Lists of these awards will be published in The Pampa News later. There will be 24 awards made, with all of the players having a chance for them.

Let's all get out and support the Oilers this season. It looks like a good season, with plenty of batting strength available, and a stronger infield than last season. The pitching staff is young, and will get into shape rapidly. Yes, it looks like a good season.

Gold Sox Expect Usual Good Year

AMARILLO — Amarillo's 1949 entry in the fourth post-war running of the West Texas-New Mexico League baseball derby will be just about what you'd expect.

The Gold Sox formula for staying among the front-running contenders, has been a fair proportion of youth, a lot of experience and color, and a few big fellows who can clout the long ball — sometimes pretty often.

The baseball firm of Bob Seeds and Buck Faustett, how equal partners, isn't ready to start any talk about second consecutive Shaughnessy Playoffs or Little Dixie Series titles. But the team has a solid nucleus of returnee performers and some interesting new arrivals.

Amarillo will field five important members of the 1948 championship squad when the barrier goes up and the eight teams start uprooting the cactus anew down the 140-game race course.

You heard plenty about them in 1948—catcher Ted Clawitter, outfielders Paul Hailer and Dick Gentzkow, infielders Jerry Folkman and Doug Lewis.

Lewis is a fancy fielder, a home runner. W. H. Bryant, was the winning pitcher, going five innings before he was relieved by Bobby Hernandez. Hopper, of Soaker, was the losing pitcher and was relieved by Hopper when Canadian went on a hitting spree in the fifth inning.

Clawitter was handicapped by injuries but belted .414 a year ago. There are three fixtures ready for infield duty. The fourth is a promising rookie. Manager Jess Landrum will move to third base, the station vacated by Faustett who guided the Sox to their first championship last year. There's no concern about Folkman, at shortstop, or Lewis at first base.

Ed McKay, 18-year-old rookie from San Francisco, will get shot at second base. He's a fine fielder, and a fair hitter. It appears at the moment that Hailer will play left field, Gentzkow right field and a highly mobile young man from Americus, Ga., Crawford Howard, promises to scamper and grab them in all directions from center field.

Morris Cowser, an efficient backstopper, up through the channels of baseball's draft from Vernon of the Longhorn League, has demonstrated no weakness during training.

Some of the theoretical regulars may be nudged from a picture by any one of a con-clutch hitter, a hustle guy. He was among the W-T-N-M leaders in two-base hits and he could stretch like a giraffe to gather in those tardy throws at first base. He played 140 games a year ago.

Folkman, too, was in them in 1948. He's moved to shortstop where he promises to be one of a circuit's more competent mechanics this year.

Some of the theoretical regulars may be nudged from a picture by any one of a contingent of four darkhorse candidates. They are Bill Stumberg, Glynn Braden, rookie first baseman, Mets LaFollette, outfielder roommate, and Dave Fryor.

Amarillo pitching isn't a strong potentially as it was a year ago, though it may be before the race is far along.

Luke Hamilton, purchased from Little Rock, looks like the top hand. The 30-year-old Arkansan is a finished pitcher. He has four winning years in Class B and Class AA behind him and figures to win.

Other flingers are Darwin Dobbs, classy right-hander, obtained from Clovis in a trade, Lefty Bob Glass, formerly with Clovis and Borger, signed as a free agent (had a 6-6 record last year with Borger), Louis Frank, a winner with Paul Valley of the Sooner State League a year ago, R. H. Templeton and Billy Martin, both with the Sox briefly last year until optioned to Class D clubs, and three better-than-average rookies.

They are Roy Elliot and Jim Reynolds, both right-handed and signed from the Arkansas sandlots, and Ed Leathers, tall, 18-year-old Oklahoma southpaw, a schoolboy sensation there last year.

Chief assets of the Sox will be fiery leadership in Landrum (5th hit .419 with Bryan of the Lone Star League last year), more speed, a better defensive outfield, potential power, utility personnel to fill most any need.

If you were a resident of northern Siberia your "wealth" would consist of ivory in the form of walrus, mastodon and mammoth tusks. The latter come from an animal that was extinct long before the beginning of recorded history, the ivory has "currency" or "wealth" value today. It is not only exchanged among the natives as money, but has value to the rest of the world because of its rarity.

'Study in Agony' Wins Top Award In Associated Press Picture Contest

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — (AP) — John Crivelli, Patterson, (N.J.), Evening News photographer, was announced as 1948 winner in the Associated Press national contest for excellence in news photography. The announcement was made by William P. Steven of the Minneapolis Tribune, president of the Associated Press Managing Editors' Association which conducts the contest. It is limited to photos produced by AP member newspapers. Crivelli's photo, "Study in Agony," shows a 15-year-old boy, his face contorted with pain, as a doctor strives to disclose his hand from a metal fence, a picket of which has pierced the lad's finger. The winning picture, which was transmitted by AP Wirephoto on Jan. 8, 1948, received 28 points out of a possible 30. It was chosen for first place by two judges for third by the other. Crivelli will receive a $100 cash prize and a photograph of a silver and oak plaque bearing his and previous winners' names. The plaque is kept on permanent exhibition in AP general headquarters in New York. Second place went to "Parade" by Barney Cowherd of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times. This photo is a study of children viewing a pre-Christmas parade. It received 18 points. Judges were L. D. Hotchkiss of the Los Angeles Times, Gene Thorne of the Waterloo (Ia.) Daily Courier and A. Y. Aronson of the Louisville Times. The counting system gave ten points for each judge's choice for first place, nine for second and so on through sixth place with five points.

Council Scouters to Attend Annual Meet of Region Nine

Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive

Seven Scouters of the Adobe Walls Area Council, headed by Paul Beisenherz, executive, will leave tomorrow for Waco to participate in the annual get-together of Scout leaders of Region Nine. Approximately 600 Scouters from the 26-council region will be present.

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, chief Scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, will address the annual banquet meeting Tuesday. His visit to the region will highlight the nation-wide crusade to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty," currently in progress in every Scout council in America.

Adobe Walls Area Council delegates will include: Dick Rust, Carl Fisher, Phillips; Paul Kemp, Hugh Anderson, Bruce Baird and Joe Traynor, Borger.

Local council presidents of Region Nine will be the guests of H. E. Coffield, Rockdale, president of the host Heart of Texas Council at the president's dinner at the Roosevelt Hotel.

The regional business will convene at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Roosevelt Hotel Ballroom with W. Emmett Sampson, Houston, regional chairman, presiding.

H. F. Pote, national director of personnel, will address the opening luncheon with Dr. C. Dan Procter, Chickasha, Okla., as toastmaster.

The program Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning will consist of nine different group meetings of Scouters on the various phases of the crusade program.

Other national officials who will participate in the conference are Thomas J. Keane, national director of civic relationships; Frank Braden, assistant national director of the program division; and Gerald A. Speedy, assistant national director of Cubbing, all of the home office of the Boy Scouts of America in New York.

The Adobe Walls Area Council delegates will return Wednesday following the closing luncheon meeting.

Reds Demand Bridgeheads

NANKING — (AP) — Chinese government sources confirmed yesterday that the Communists are demanding a "peaceful crossing" of the Yangtze. South bank bridgeheads are sought as a guarantee that the Nationalists will carry out the Reds' peace terms. The Communists want, these sources said, unopposed landings for their troops between Nanking and Shanghai and upstream along the middle stretches of the great river. These bridgeheads could be quickly expanded for an offensive into South China should the Nationalists balk at any stage on the eight conditions for peace laid down by Communist boss Mao Tse-tung.

There was no indication whether the new Red demands came in the form of an ultimatum. The Reds have three crack armies massed along the Yangtze north bank and are in position to force their way across at many key points along a 650-mile front. No competent military observer doubts the Reds' ability to fight their way across. There was no indication of the government's reaction to the Communist demands. Details were believed to have been brought here to Acting President Li Tsung-jen yesterday afternoon.

Weathermen Are Honored

DALLAS — (AP) — Two hitherto unsung heroes — men who stick their necks out daily, physically and figuratively, to predict Texas' weather — were honored for long and loyal service to the U. S. Weather Bureau. The men, meteorological aids at the Love Field Bureau, were presented service buttons by Ray L. Miller, regional director in Dallas of the U. S. Department of Commerce. The Weather Bureau is a division of the USDC. In ceremonies at the Love Field Bureau William B. Shope received a 20-year service pin, and Thomas C. Wilson a 10-year service pin. The men have actually been government weather forecasters for 23 and 27 years respectively.

$18,000 Collected For Rescue Workers

SAN MARINO, Calif. — (AP) — Heroism is paying off for the men who risked their lives to bring little Kathy Fiscus from the depths of an abandoned well. More than 4200 letters have been received and nearly $18,000 has been contributed. Rescue Fund Chairman Clark Bell estimated.

Approximately 3,900,000 babies were born in the United States during 1947.

Wheat Covers Once-Deadly Battlefield

By DANIEL LUCE
PARIS — (AP) — Green wheat covers the once-deadly Anzio plain where seven American and British divisions slugged it out with the German Wehrmacht 3 1/2 years ago.

Shattered farmhouses at Campo Morto and Femia Morta—grim names, both—are patched up or entirely rebuilt. They look as gay as school girls in their new pink paint.

The farmer folk are busy as ants. There is song with their weekday work, and reverent silence as they lay flowers on Sunday on the graves of Allied dead. Only when you dream badly at night do you still hear the evil thunder of guns.

This is another spring in Italy—better in promises than any since the war. American administrators at Rome of the European Recovery Program have many impressive graphs showing the rise of Italian industry and agriculture.

In Italy, you can literally feel that things are getting better. Perhaps the statisticians can chart with mathematical exactitude just how much the American dollar aid in ERP is responsible for Italy's general improvement. Whatever it is, this aid is important.

Look up the map of Europe to the Dutch coast. There is Walcheren, the island on which German troops loosed a salt flood in 1944. The dikes are rebuilt. The old water line on the trim homes is still there—eight to 12 feet high on the walls. But crops can be grown again in formerly bitter soil.

An ERP counterpart fund—the guilders which the Dutch pay to match their dollar aid—is counted on to keep the rehabilitation going.

—But a long-range plan goes beyond that; not only Walcheren and other areas victimized by German attack, but a little country, the islands of the Zuider Zee—the Dutch call them polders—are to be raised and drained. They would be entirely new land, increasing the tillable acreage of The Netherlands by 6 to 8 percent.

For a little country, that much new land could be the difference, almost, between starvation and subsistence. The European Recovery Program is to have a hand in it.

Now turn to the Far North. The Arctic sun is climbing high over the little Norwegian fishing, sealing and whaling center of Hammerfest, which proudly claims to be the northernmost town in the world.

It has two months of total darkness in the winter, but soon, the sun will glow at midnight above the horizon.

In 1944, Hammerfest was a waste of black ashes. The withdrawing German army burned it to the ground. You'd enjoy Hammerfest today. It bustles like a California subdivision, its few streets along a blue fjord echo the clatter of carpenter's hammers and the shouts of postwar babies at play.

Like the rest of Arctic Norway, which had been sacrificed in the enemy's scorched-earth retreat, Hammerfest's people didn't wait idly for ERP. They were back hard at work in 1945. But ERP, when it did come along last year, was another strong shoulder to the wheel. It has increased supplies for Hammerfest's reconstruction and it produces.

Multiply the examples of Anzio, Walcheren and Hammerfest by ten or twenty thousand. That's just a hint of the European Recovery Program's vast influence in Western lands. Men speak of it, sometimes with awe, from the Mediterranean to the North Cape. It may make a deeper impression on European life than all the welfare projects in mankind's history.

Man Fined $100 On Liquor Charge

A fine of $100 and costs was imposed Saturday morning by County Judge Bruce Parker on Othel D. Jones for illegal transportation of liquor. Jones pleaded guilty to the charge, lodged by County Attorney John Stuber on a complaint by City Police. Jones was picked up Friday night with two cases of liquor in his possession by City Police.

Johnson Questions Barge Lines Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Johnson of Texas asked yesterday if the bill to modernize the federal barge lines would not put the government in a "strait jacket."

He was presiding at a commerce subcommittee hearing. The bill would increase capital stock of the Inland Waterways Corporation to 33 million dollars from 15 million dollars.

Lovers Are Reunited

POMONA, Calif. — (AP) — Marriage has finally come to an elderly Pomona couple who were first engaged nearly a half-century ago then parted because of a lovers' quarrel. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Hart were wed April 7 at Yuma, Ariz. She is 71, he 72.

The two first became engaged in 1900 at Lordsburg, N. Mex., when Hart lived at her mother's boardinghouse. Then the quarrel. She then married Ancil Bean, a young merchant of Sheffield, Tex. They had seven children before moving to Pomona ten years ago. Bean died here sometime ago.

Hart, meanwhile, had married too but lost his wife after four years of marriage. A former Douglas, Ariz., copper worker and policeman, he had retired to Redlands, Calif. Redlands and Pomona are nearby and a sister of Mrs. Hart's brought the two together again.

A six-months courtship and then the wedding followed.

New Treatment For TB Reported

CHICAGO — (AP) — A new approach to treatment of tuberculosis was reported successful in tests on 30 patients by the Pennsylvania doctors. The physicians reported in a paper to the American College of Allergists that they have had "very promising" results during a seven-month period of treating the disease with neohetramine, an anti-allergy drug, and streptomycin.

The doctors are A. R. Judd and Alfred E. Henderson of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health Sanatorium in Hamburg, Pa. The value of streptomycin in combating the spread of the tubercle bacillus—the tuberculosis germ—has been widely recognized. The use of neohetramine, widely successful in treating hay fever, hives and other allergic diseases is new.

Doctors Judd and Henderson said they are convinced that the primary onset of tuberculosis is an allergic reaction to tubercle bacilli which creates and maintains inflammation. This helps the bacilli to do their tissue damage.

The double-barrel drug therapy attacks the allergy phase of the disease, reducing inflammation with neohetramine, while combating the bacilli with streptomycin, they said.

Then they learned it was only Henry, an educated Brahma show steer, and his trainer Jack Andrews taking a dip in the surf. Both are appearing in the annual rodeo and Orange Festival.

Borgan to Head Council Of Red Cross

New officers of the North Plains Council of the American Red Cross were elected Tuesday at the meeting of the nine-county council at the Amarillo Veterans Hospital, Mrs. Mildred Hill, Pampa Chapter executive secretary, said yesterday.

Miss Anderson's recall is in line with the national Red Cross policy of curtailing expenses in all possible areas. Mrs. Hutcherson introduced Miss Elizabeth Harrison, assistant V. S. director of St. Louis, who explained how the expense curtailment is being carried on in most veteran hospitals in the U. S.

Russians Seal It With Rubble

Using rubble from bombed buildings, Soviet forces are putting up roadblocks like this to seal off their sector of Berlin to western Germans. The Russians are also expected to cut the elevated railway, operated by the Russians for the entire city, as a further retaliation for the new currency reform which outlawed the Soviet mark in west Berlin.

Auto Sales Season May End in July

By DAVID J. WILKIE AP Automotive Editor DETROIT—(AP)—The auto industry's biggest postwar season probably will end early in July.

The industry expects to make and sell more cars in the next three months than in any previous like period of its history. But what happens after mid-July? The auto manufacturers won't say it, but many industry chroniclers believe the market will need more price cuts about that time.

Eire Becomes Free Republic Monday

DUBLIN—(AP)—Eire becomes the free Republic of Ireland Easter Monday, the last step in its 780-year struggle against rule by the British crown.

The republic will be proclaimed before the General Postoffice in O'Connell St. where 33 years ago the bloody "Easter week rebellion" flared.

The last slim Constitutional tie with Britain was cut last Dec. 21 when President Sean T. O'Kelly approved repeal of the External Relations Act. This had empowered the King of England to accredit Irish diplomats abroad.

Prime Minister John A. Costello chose the anniversary of the Easter rebellion as Independence Day, when the freedom proclamation will be read. The choice was in tribute to the Irishmen who died in the struggle to wrest self-government from the British.

The tattered tricolor of green, gold and white which the rebels raised on that tragic Easter Monday morning in 1916 will be flown again at the ceremonies, and receive the salute of troops owing allegiance only to their own free Ireland. Many of the rebels who fought that day will be in the cheering crowd.

The rebellion was crushed and 15 rebel leaders were executed. But history records that it marked the beginning of the end of alien rule.

Eire has been self-governing since 1921 when the British Parliament set up the Irish Free State, comprising all the islands except the six northern counties. In the years since then, ties with England have been gradually whittled away, leading to this final act establishing complete independence.

Fred Thompson, president of the local chamber, will open the meeting and G. S. "Pinkie" Vineyard will introduce the out-of-town delegations. All towns of the Panhandle are expected to have delegations present.

Reservations to the dinner and conference, which are open to the public, may be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce.

YANKS

All previous airlift performances, such as the China-India flights, were put in the shade by this job. Airmen said it proved planes alone could easily supply divisions around—a job largely handled in the past by trains and fleets of trucks.

The four-engined C-54's landed at three-minute intervals on all three fields. The radio towers crackled constantly. Maintenance men kept an average of 200 planes in flight. This was 95 percent of those available.

The Soviet Air Force posted so many notices of flight activity in the air corridors that three protests were lodged by the Western Allies. However, there were no incidents.

To his audience, he said: "The time has come for us, as individuals, to understand that we are up against a battle to save the world from the hands of a few. We are face to face with the necessity of fighting for the preservation of the only economic, social and political system on earth that is worth saving and I hope and pray to God we will be strong enough in time, wake up before the Australians did, wake up before the English did, before it is too late, and begin to wage the kind of fight that we are going to have to wage against that organized force so relentlessly determined to tear us down."

He cited nationalization of industry in England and Australia, and communization of Russia. He compared America's building program with that of other countries where the building industry is state-controlled.

The group will present a 25-minute program in front of the LaNora Theater. L. G. Langston, chairman of the Goodwill and Reception Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday his committee, along with city and Chamber of Commerce officials, will be on hand at the city limits to meet the boosters.

The boosters will be escorted to the theater where they will be extended an official welcome by Mayor C. A. Huff. Pat Ryan, manager of the Spearman Chamber of Commerce, reports that a large delegation will be present and they will be glad to see their Pampa friends.

Langston has urged Pampa business people to be present and mix with our neighbors to enjoy the program.

Rancher Protests Texas Action Against Foot and Mouth Disease

KINGSVILLE — (AP) — Robert J. Kleberg, president of King Ranch, has protested the rejection by a Texas House of Representatives committee of a request for funds to build a foot and mouth disease research laboratory.

The South Texas rancher sent the protest to Rep. John H. Kerr, chairman of the Deficiency Committee, asking that the body reconsider its action.

Kleberg told Kerr that "there is a need not only for getting up such a laboratory but also for dispatching U. S. scientists to Mexico." He said the scientists are needed to work toward developing a vaccine against foot and mouth disease that is "more powerful" than that which is now being used.

"No work looking toward the improvement of the vaccine can be carried on in this country at this time," Kleberg said, "as no facilities are available; and even if facilities were available, it would be at least two years before any productive work could be accomplished. It is apparent that the best place this work could be done immediately is in Mexico where substantial facilities are available and where the battle is actually being fought."

Kleberg added, however, that the question of eradicating foot and mouth disease in Mexico and the question of building a research laboratory in this country (on a coastal island outside continental United States) are "essentially separate."

The rancher urged continued cooperation with Mexico but also stressed the need for permanent research facilities sponsored by the U. S. in its own laboratory.

"It is probably that vaccine always will be used as a supplement to slaughter and burial and quarantine in combatting foot and mouth disease," he said, "and for this purpose we would have to manufacture our own vaccine, as sufficient vaccine would probably not be available from any other source. We also would have to be prepared to manufacture vaccines to immunize against any of the known types, which may be different from those which at present exist in Mexico."

Legislation adopted in April, 1948, provided for the setting up of a research laboratory on a coastal island to study means of combatting the livestock disease. Action of the House Deficiency Committee this session, however, apparently has practically nullified the earlier legislation.

Sheriff Praises Legion Meeting

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Commander A. J. Montgomery and other officers and members of the DeShazo-George Post have been commended by Wheeler County Sheriff Jess Swink on their conducting of the 18th District convention held here last weekend.

Sheriff Swink's letter to Montgomery read in part: "During my many years of experience in policing gatherings of this sort, I have never encountered a more orderly proceeding than that of your convention. Men in my position generally look forward to such things with a great deal of misgiving."

"This was not the case with your convention. During the time it was in session, there were but two arrests made for drunkenness and I am pleased to state that neither involved members of the American Legion."

Two McLean Teachers Quit

McLEAN — (Special) — The McLean Board of Trustees has rejected the entire school faculty for the coming term, Logan Cummings, school superintendent, said.

The High School faculty consists of Frank P. Wilson, principal; and Mrs. Jim Beck, Mrs. J. M. Payne, Don Leach, Paul Kennedy, Hydn Bodenhamer, C. J. Magee, Bill Miller, Al Duncan and A. D. Shaver.

The Grade School faculty is C. M. Herrington, principal; and the Meedams Herrington, Charles Weaver, Bill Day, Margaret Gull, Paul Kennedy, Lucille Parker and the Misses Gussie Bledsoe and Leona Forbes.

Wilson and Mrs. Gull have both resigned. Kennedy will take over Wilson's position.

Mrs. Luther Petty, school census enumerator for the McLean Independent School District, reports having counted 416 children, of which 186 are girls and 231 boys.

This will not represent McLean's enrollment, since it will have transfers from other districts.

Origin of Man Said Discovered

AUSTIN — (AP) — Discoveries of five species of ape-men in South Africa have "solved the problem of the origin of man," Dr. Robert Broom declared in a lecture here yesterday.

The 82-year-old paleontologist discovered three of these five species during the 60-odd years of exploration.

"Animal evolution has stopped, but man will develop and become better than we know him today," Dr. Broom said.

encourages us to examine, without undue skepticism, reports that Moscow has been putting out feelers about possible negotiations of the Berlin imbroglio with the Western Powers.

Developments entitle us to ask whether Russia may have reached the conclusion that her great offensive for the spread of communism across Europe has come up against an impassable barrier. The time may have arrived for her to pause to consolidate her gains and bring up her communications.

U.S. Secretary of State Acheson said in effect that if the Soviets want to talk about lifting the Berlin blockade and starting Four Power talks on Germany, the way is open for them to do it.

As far back as March 30 Eddie Gilmore, AP chief bureau in Moscow, reported that "some diplomats not directly involved in the Four Power dispute over Berlin speculated today there may be a new move to settle that issue."

What concrete developments are there to encourage the idea that a peace parley isn't outside the range of possibility? Well, there are several things, among which these stand out:

Dan De Luce, one of AP's top-flight correspondents, is making a survey of Europe, and he reports that ERP (the Marshall Plan) has achieved its political purpose of checking communism.

Then reporting on the vital economic purpose of ERP, De Luce says: "Western European recovery is apparently progressing almost twice as fast now as it did after the first world war. But insiders of the ERP still keep their fingers crossed. Men on the inside of the European Recovery Program claim it now has a 40 to 60 percent chance of long-range success. A year ago they saw only a 20 percent chance."

Even more important is the signing of the Atlantic Alliance which consolidates the United States and virtually all Western Europe into a solid defensive bloc.

In short it's apparent that the line which Moscow has established through Central Europe is the line on which it must stand, at least for the present. That being so, the time has arrived for consolidation.

Tea was introduced into the United States by the Dutch at New Amsterdam about 1665.

Soviet Russia Unintentionally Helping To Popularize European Recovery Plan

By DANIEL DE LUCE

PARIS — (AP) — Soviet Russia is unintentionally helping to popularize the European Recovery Program in Western countries.

Red accusations that ERP's multi-billion dollar aid is a "American trap to enslave Europe" ring hollowly as evidence piles up to the contrary.

Moscow propaganda works on the recent Goebbels theory that if you repeat something often enough, people will believe it. It disregards a principle stated a century ago by an American: you can't fool all the people all of the time.

ERP's own publicity — or to use the official term, information — is directed in 19 participating areas by a staff headed by Alfred H. Friendly, a veteran reporter on leave of absence from the Washington Post.

The staff, about 85 Americans and 20 Europeans, is scattered over the continent. It is part of the Economic Cooperation Administration, a streamlined American governmental agency in charge of ERP.

The ECA information budget in Europe is barely $500,000 a year. Friendly, who gets along on his budget without asking for more, estimates that Communist parties in Western Europe probably spend 20 times as much on denouncing the ERP, as is spent by all other sources in defending it.

Favorable newspaper coverage is fragmentary at best. ERP involves knotty, question of trade, production, finance and international economics. Reducing these to ABC for the average reader is a never-ending problem.

Special pamphlets and films in ECA's opinion, help to meet this lack. A handicap for ECA information men is that the original title of the recovery program—the Marshall Plan — was formally shelved. Marshall, of itself, was a name with loads of personal and historic significance.

In its place are alphabetical combinations: ERP, ECA, and OEEC, the latter standing for Organization for European Economic Cooperation, in which 19 participant governments confer.

"How could anyone cheer for OEEC?" or "European premier has asked. I can't even pronounce it with ut stuttering."

A greater handicap for ECA information men is that ERP aid is split into many indirect forms, including remote banking operations. Its effects are widely diffused and correspondingly difficult for the average European to measure.

As ECA sees it, the primary purpose of ERP information is not to stimulate European flattery of the United States. It is to encourage enthusiastic support by 270,000,000 Europeans for ERP projects and policies in the common welfare.

Second guessing, it appears that soviet strategists made the mistake of overplaying their hand in opposing the goal of an economically healthy Western Europe.

Communist propaganda still screams that ERP means war. But after a year of watching it in operation, thoughtful Europeans add: ERP means that if there is a war, the West will win it.

It Was a Long Walk for Nothing

MARIETTA, O. — (AP) — A 66-year-old man entered the Washington County Courthouse here yesterday and told authorities he walked all the way from Amarillo, Tex., to collect his old-age pension.

Andrew Clyde Fulton, a crippled blacksmith, said he was in Amarillo when he first applied for the pension. He was told he must return home to obtain relief.

Bundling himself in a tattered overcoat, he started walking back to Washington County, after an absence of 50 years. He said the trip took three months.

Fulton said he was born in Athens County, but lived near Rockland in Washington County when he was a boy.

Authorities placed the man in the county infirmary.

A perky hat with a rose on top
Is what I'd visioned for my Easter frock;
But after clothing kids from two to nine,
You know what I had left for mine!

EVERYBODY loves surprises, and we got ours when the Rev. Clyde H. Smith announced in church last Sunday morning the marriage of Prof. Frank Kerns and Miss Mary Margaret McIntire. Congratulations!

EASTER TRIPPING—and there must be hundreds—are the Dud Steeles who left for Denver . . . the E. L. Biggerstaffs off to Fort Worth . . . the Chester Thompsons enroute to California . . . Ruby Johnson to visit Norfolk in Wellington . . . Fred Thompsons fishing . . . the R. E. Paxsons to visit daughter and son-in-law, Jean and George Casey in Denton . . . the E. O. Wedgeworths to Carlsbad.

FROM THE MOUTHS OF BABES—my young Indian came in from school one day last week and asked if I knew the color of hiccough . . . when I said no, he informed me the color is "Purple."

I HAD more fun coloring eggs. There's nothing like a season with all the things one does to prepare for it, to bring back "other days." I recall that, once as a kid, while nosing around, as kids will do, I pulled a bowl of fresh eggs off the kitchen table. They had been for coloring—and we had to go without beautiful colored eggs that year . . . one Easter-tripper, Nina Ruth Robinson (all of 10 years of age) ventured this year on her first trip alone to visit grandmother in West Texas, for the holidays . . . understand that the trip was so short for her that she had the chance to stop at only one place to eat.

PANORAMICALLY—Everyone out at Cabot is delighted with the return of popular Addie Mae Bryant to the office staff . . . word was received here that angelic Angela Duncan will do some exhibition dancing with the instructor of rumba at Stephens College . . . she's a veritably versatile little gal . . . the Harvey Longrens are tickled muchly over their new home on North Starkweather, and will be furniture-looking right soon now . . . it's certainly nice to run into Mrs. Ben Lockhart . . . the 20th anniversary of the B&PWC Club was a panorama of personalities . . . Inez French, the first lady of the club, was delightfully gracious as she presided at the affair . . . Maurine Jones was having a wonderful time and causing lots of excitement taking motion pictures of the initiation (with the able assistance of Bertha Estes) . . . you know Maurine—she's that cheery individual that greets you at Wilson's . . . a huge cake, with the names of the 20 past presidents on it, made by one of the past presidents, by the way—caused much comment . . . the culinary artist of whom we speak is Audrey Fowler . . . it's good news that a group of civic-minded men are backing the women in a remodeling project at the City Club Room . . . this is one of the most-needed projects that I know of coming up this year, and the businessmen are appreciated and thanked by perhaps a thousand club women of the city.

GOOD-BYE, now . . . I'm off to see the Easter parade.

With a spring song in my
Spring heart . . . I am

Dr. Ima C. Barlow, WTSC, Speaks at El Progresso Tea

GUEST SPEAKER at El Progresso Club guest day tea is pictured above with Mrs. Knox Kinard, who introduced Dr. Ima C. Barlow, and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, president of El Progresso.

"Free discussion plus action based on the consent of the majority, are the basic principles of democracy," Dr. Ima C. Barlow, professor of history, West Texas State College, told members and guests of El Progresso Club Tuesday at its Guest Day Tea. Speaking on "American Democracy as a Factor in International Relations," Dr. Barlow pointed out a fundamental premise of American political thought, the belief that "citizens as a whole, can and will make better decisions than one man." Quoting Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, she stated an underlying democratic belief, that "extraordinary possibilities exist in ordinary people."

Dr. Barlow outlined the history of the so-called democratic nations during and after the two World Wars. Discussing the position of political ideology today, she elaborated on the significant fact that those countries which have exactly the opposite concepts from ours, call themselves "democratic."

Russia, who always insists that she is a democracy, was used as an example of this.

Referring to "Tito's Imperial Communism" by Markham, Dr. Barlow repeated his point, that the "gospel of democracy" while cleaning up the miserable state in which Europe has been since the war.

Stating that the countries of the world regard the U. S. as an example of democracy in action, Dr. Barlow said these nations forget two things: every country has its problems; and liberty means responsibility.

"In a system of government in which the individual does not have the right to solve problems, you have no democracy," Dr. Barlow said. Quoting from Toynbee's "History of Civilization," she said that only through challenge has man advanced out of savagery.

Dr. Barlow declared that the notion that democracy means the absence of problems, is false. She reviewed the work going on now to establish democratic methods in the American and British zones of Germany.

The German people think of the two World Wars as periods of prestige for the German nation. They associated the periods of the trial of democracy following those wars, with disgrace and economic instability, Dr. Barlow said. A major problem facing democratic forces in Germany today is

Mrs. N. Dudley Steele gave a reading during the parade of presidents, telling an accomplishment during the year of each. As each president passed in review she was asked to wear a hat that was in style during her year as president.

Mrs. Mildred Lafferty conducted the initiation service. The candle-lighting ceremony was written by the club's own members, Miss Clara Lee Shewmaker, Mrs. Vera Lard and Miss Maurine Jones.

As each member placed her lighted candle in the circle, a corsage of yellow jonquils, with green bows, representing the club colors, was pinned on each initiate by Miss Inez French, president, and Mrs. Muriel Landers, education chairman. At the end of this service, the emblem was displayed in pantomime. Some of the members displayed each part of the emblem.

Those initiated were: Mrs. Bertha Estes, Mary Fannie Eller, Hattie Holt, Alma Ash, Eric Ellis, Minnie Barnes, Bea York, Agnes Wilson, Edna Prescott, Virginia McDonald, Beuna Cox, Gladys Turner, Noel Thompson, Thelma Davis, Doris Lively, Misses Jean Ousley, Ruby Williams, Erma Lee Kennedy and Kay Patton.

Miss Helen Kay Wilson furnished music throughout the evening. A white carnation corsage was presented to Mrs. Katie B. Beverly, the Club Mother, by the president, Miss French. The club presented pink rosebud corsages to Miss Helen Kay Wilson and Mrs. N. Dudley Steele.

Decorations were bouquets of red roses and snapdragons sent by friends of the club. Mrs. Mildred Hill served the birthday cake which was decorated with the names of all the presidents. Mrs. Gladys Robinson presided at the punch bowl. Floating orange sherbet, mints, and nuts were served. The mint cup favors were various colored Easter hats. Social chairman is Mrs. Lillian Whitten.

Mrs. Lucille Turner registered about 70 members and guests, which included visitors from the Amarillo and Borger clubs.

Europe Seeks Not Charity, Propaganda But a Cultural Swap to Friendship

FRENCH FARMERS hard at work to make their harvest rebuild France, know that Marshall Plan aid comes from America, but few of them realize American farmers and workers pay for it.

By S. BURTON HEATH NEW YORK (NEA) - The town of Morgansville, Kans., sent the script of a two-hour pageant to the village of Faves, in France. The script told Morgansville's history - a tale of Indian fighting, dust storms, tornadoes, grasshopper plagues, among other things. "When I got to Faves one afternoon I found it completely deserted," said Charles L. Todd, executive secretary of Operation Democracy. "Everybody was at the schoolhouse. The children had been there for hours rehearsing songs in honor of the visit of a plain American citizen who represented to them American friendliness and helpfulness. "After they had sung to me, the mayor made a speech in which he referred to the hardships that Morgansville had gone through and he asked me to take back a message of sympathy. "I tell this simple little story because it symbolizes something very worthwhile that is coming out of the post-war affiliation between American and European communities - a real, lasting understanding. "Out of that pageant script the people of a French town learned that not all Americans are rich, that American money doesn't come easily, that the Americans who are helping them are just ordinary hard-working people who themselves often have a tough time getting along - but, just the same, want to help somebody who is playing in even harder luck." Todd has recently returned from a two-month visit to some 30 war-devastated towns of France, Holland and Luxembourg. He is convinced that the time has come for American sister-towns to begin sending gifts that will promote international understanding, instead of casual grab-bag charity. "These people get most of their ideas from the movies, which most often do not portray day-by-day normal American living habits. Where I was, almost nobody heard the Voice of America. Everybody listened to the Army radio at Stuttgart, which broadcast popular music but doesn't tell them how Americans live and work. "I discovered that the average French farmer doesn't even realize that Marshall Plan aid is supported by taxes paid by American farmers and workers. The thought that American government aid actually comes out of the pockets of men and women was new and a bit startling to them." Chantue, Kans., has a town-to-town arrangement with Zevenbergen, Holland. The people of Chantue, like those of many other American towns, were disturbed about the Indonesian situation. But in addition to sending concrete gifts, Chantue has developed a pen-pal program with its Dutch proteges, and more than a score of persons in each of the broken American towns were disturbed about the Indonesian situation. But in addition to sending concrete gifts, Chantue has developed a pen-pal program with its Dutch proteges, and more than a score of persons in each of the broken American towns were disturbed about the Indonesian situation. But in addition to sending concrete gifts, Chantue has developed a pen-pal program with its Dutch proteges, and more than a score of persons in each of the broken American towns were disturbed about the Indonesian situation.

So the Chantue folks asked their Dutch friends, frankly, what was going on, and the Dutchmen, just as frankly, wrote back how it looked to them. "The thing that is needed in western Europe today," says Todd, "is something that individuals and communities can do - and are doing - in intelligently operated town-to-town programs. It isn't charity, and it isn't propaganda. It is exchange of simple, understandable knowledge and facts. "Government propaganda can't reach them. They've grown to distrust government propaganda. They know that a great struggle is going on between Russia and the United States, but they don't really know what it is all about. "Their great desire is to know the truth about the United States. They want things that explain our country to them more than they want food or old clothes we could send. They want scientific magazines, the popular kind - and women's magazines, and magazines with pictures. They want movies that show how Americans live and work - not Hollywood versions. They want specimens of our art and music, pictures of the men and women we respect and honor, gadgets, examples of American ingenuity and know-how. "That is the sort of thing that will make the people of western Europe lasting friends of the United States - not charity. Charity never makes real friendship."

Cold War End Not in Sight Says Acheson

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON — (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson evidently expects the cold war with Russia to last a long time.

ROGER THE LODGER

By Elizabeth R. Roberts
THE STORY: The housing shortage in Great Falls, Mont., is the basis for the story. Mrs. Roberts is a paying guest, Roger the Lodger, is a tenant, and she is the one who is the victim of the housing shortage.

MONDAY Roger asked for the keys to my car. As my eyebrows went up, he reminded me gently that he couldn't allow the misadventure of the day before to go unremedied. A wash job was in order. "I'm afraid I must insist, dear lady. The fault is mine. The restitution is also mine." I told Roger that in Montana we were used to dirty cars, that almost no one bothered to keep a car shined up. He listened patiently, with his hand outstretched, and his only comment was to wiggle his fingers in a come-on motion. I gave him the keys.

About 5 o'clock that afternoon he telephoned from a downtown cocktail lounge to inquire what we were having for dinner. I was cooking a roast of beef, a lovely thing for which I had given all our hard-earned points. We'd got past buying meat with a thought for size or price; it was the number of points required that determined whether we bought or not. "But good!" Roger exclaimed. "I've run into a couple of friends and we'll be right along." I heard the phone on his end click. As fast as one myopic eye and one farsighted eye could do it, I looked up the number of the cocktail lounge from which he said he was calling, and rang the phone there. I asked to have Roger paged. In a few minutes word came back that he had not answered. Long before I had got over wringing my hands and arguing with myself over whether I should simply lock all the doors, turn off the lights, and pull down the shades, or I should get out a linen cloth and begin to set the table for five, the sedan, shiny as new, drove to a stop before our house. Out jumped Roger and, like a footman for a prince, he held the door open. A general in the United States Army stepped out of the car, followed by his aide.

Air Force to Keep Berlin Airlift Going Indefinitely

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The Air Force hoped in February that it might end the Berlin airlift this summer, but it now plans to keep flying supplies into the blockaded city indefinitely.

Top air officials also told the House Appropriations Committee that they don't expect war during the year starting July 1—although, they added, it's a possibility at any time.

Beaumont Has Oil Well in City Limits

BEAUMONT — (AP)—Beaumont, Tex., and Oklahoma City have something in common — oil wells in the city limits.

the hotel desk, a gentleman came over beside us. As soon as we had finished registering, he looked at the cards, called me by name and said, "I've never had the pleasure of buying a general a drink. With that, he reached into his pocket and pulled out a $10 bill. "You'd oblige me very much if you'd drink this up," General Brown laughed. "We had quite a time returning the money without offending the old fellow. Later, in the bar, another man stepped between Smith and me. Placed an arm around each of us, literally pinning our arms to our sides. Then he browbeat the bartender into giving him our checks."

Tuesday morning I was good and tired and good and mad. Roger had driven the visiting army back to their hotel and forgotten to return until very late. The dishes were still on the sink. At 2 o'clock that afternoon I had a canteen corps meeting to attend, and at 7:30 that night a new class in nutrition to launch. I was in no frame of mind to have a third for dinner. Just in case, and to make absolutely sure, I telephoned Roger to tell him to get his dinner before he came home.

I FELT that the Chamber of Commerce should hear about us. And about the man with the $10.

Sideline Hens More Trouble Than Worth

TOPEKA, Kansas — The farm flock of 75 to 100 hens has become a nuisance—too many layers for the family egg supply, yet not enough to bring in a sizeable income. But the little flock, although outgrown, is still with us, says Capper's Farmer.

Small flocks can't get into the big money. It takes 900 or more birds to get out of the sideline class. This makes the project a definite part of the farm business and increases efficiency.
