Pampan Is Named To Youth Senate

MOSS HAMPTON
... senator appointee

Moss Hampton, son of Dr. and Mrs. R.M. Hampton, 1824 Mary Ellen, and a Pampa High School senior, has been named to represent the State of Texas in the 1970 United States Senate Youth program.

The appointment was made by Senator John G. Tower and Senator Ralph W. Yarborough following recommendation by J. W. Edgar of Austin, commissioner of education.

Hampton will also receive a $1,000 college scholarship made possible through a grant from the William Randolph Hearst Foundation.

Hampton is president of the Texas Association of Student Councils; is one of the co-captains of the varsity football team and a participant in numerous other school and community activities.

Eduard Tomas Esparza of Laredo, a student at Martin High School there, has also been named to the youth Senate.

Since its inception in 1962, the U.S. Senate Youth Program has brought 714 high school student body officers to observe the proceedings on Capitol Hill. This year 102 more students will have the unusual opportunity to take part in the week-long internship program, which is to be held in Washington, D.C. from Jan. 24 to 31, 1970.

The operations of the Senate will be particularly stressed during the week, with the delegates spending time in the offices of their respective Senators.

It's anticipated that the President and vice president will again meet with the delegates, as they have in past years, and briefings with leading cabinet members, senators, military officers and a supreme court justice are also scheduled.

Arrangements in Washington have been made by the Senate Youth Advisory Committee. Co. Chairmen of the Committee are Senators Walter F. Mondale (D-Minnesota) and Howard H. Baker Jr. (R-Tennessee). Other members are: Senators Henry M. Jackson (D-Washington), J. Caleb Boggs (R-Delaware), Robert P. Griffin (R-Michigan), Ernest F. Hollings (D-South Carolina), Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.), Thomas F. Eagleton (D-Missouri), Harold E. Hughes (D-Iowa), and Robert W. Packwood (R-Oregon).

Ex-Officio members of the Committee included Senators Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), Assistant Majority Leader and Hugh Scott (R-Penn.), Assistant Minority Leader, Randolph A.

Pampa Woman Dies In One Truck Accident

Fog, Slick Bridge Causes Turnover

A grinding traffic accident on a slick, fog-shrouded highway took the life today of Mrs. Ruby Hamilton Stewart, 56, of 844 E. Craven on Highway 152, 18 miles west of Pampa.

Mrs. Stewart was pronounced dead at the scene by Carson County coroner H. L. Powell of Panhandle shortly after the accident.

Mrs. Stewart, an employe of Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners for 15 years, was a passenger in a delivery panel truck driven by Robert Eddie Miller, 19, of 241 Miami.

Investigating highway patrolman Charles Earles said Miller lost control of the vehicle after it hit a slick spot on a bridge about 100 yards east of where the panel truck came to rest on its side after overturning three and one-half times.

Laundry in the truck was scattered for nearly one-half mile from the accident scene.

Mrs. Stewart was thrown from the truck, apparently the first time it rolled over. Miller remained in the cab of the truck. He was treated and released at a Borger hospital and returned to the scene. Miller had a cut under his left eye and head cuts.

Fog between Pampa and the accident cut visibility to less than a hundred yards and sand had been spread on the bridge where Miller apparently lost control of the truck.

Fire trucks were called but not needed.

An employe at the laundry where Mrs. Stewart was employed said the woman had taken on a delivery route for another employe who was ill and was breaking Miller in for the job.

Her body was taken to Simpson Funeral Home in Borger and services are pending.

She is survived by her husband, Art, and several children.

City-County Fire Contract

One-Year Solution Reached By Solons

By TEX DEWEESE
News Staff Writer

The year-long controversy between the City of Pampa and Gray County over charges made by the city for fire protection outside the city limits was resolved today for at least one year.

The City Council agreed to furnish protection in the county for a flat fee of $10,000 a year. The figure was approved by county commissioners court Dec. 1.

City Manager Charles Hill made clear that the contract was for one year only and that the city still would seek an increase for at least two more years to place the service on what he called a more reasonable cost basis" if the county still wants the service.

The current contract, which has been in force since the 1940s and expires Jan. 1, has been at the rate of $150 a run plus mileage. The city has lost money on the deal, Hill stated.

The county commissioners are on record stating they could maintain their own fire department cheaper than agree to a year-to-year increase above what the city has in mind beyond the $10,000 figure.

The council also agreed to contracts with Carson and

Miners Look For New Chief To Head Union

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Coal miners throughout the country choose today between incumbent W. A. "Tony" Boyle, the handpicked successor of John L. Lewis, and Joseph "Jock" A. Yablonski for president of the 195,000-member United Mine Workers of America.

A heavy turnout was predicted in the day-long voting at mines and union halls, climaxing one of the most bitter campaigns in the union's history. It is the first serious contest for the office in 110 years.

Union attorney Edward L. Carey accused the Labor Department Monday of trying to influence the outcome of the election. Boyle charged Yablonski used the courts as a "campaign forum." He issued a statement predicting victory in the election.

Boyle cast an absentee ballot in his home district on Montana remaining in Washington to await the returns. Yablonski, for 10 years a member of the UMW Executive Board, was to vote in his home district in Clarksville, Pa. where he will await the results.

In addition to the race for the top post, Elmer Brown of Delbarton, W. Va. is challenging incumbent George A. Tiller for the vice presidency.

Most observers give the edge to Boyle whose performance since he was chosen by Lewis six years ago was made a campaign issue by Yablonski.

One of the biggest setbacks in Boyle's campaign came from charges by the Labor Department made public Nov. 28 in a memorandum. The department charged Boyle had improperly raised the salaries of some union officials, including his daughter Antoinette, without the required approval of the union's international executive board.

Carey, UMW's general counsel, in a letter to Labor Secretary George P. Shultz, denounced the memorandum as an "improper, unwarranted and brazen interference into the internal affairs of the UMW."

The possibility of a court battle if Yablonski loses was raised with the accusation that thousands of extra ballots were printed by the international and distributed to locals.

Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W.Va., said last week the union had printed 50,000 ballots as part of an attempt to steal the election. The charges were repeated by Yablonski campaigners up to the closing moments of the campaign.

The union denied the charge, saying the ballots were being used to replace ones which might have failed to reach union locals.

The indictments were issued specifically in connection with the killing of Miss Tate, who was eight months pregnant, and four other persons at her rented Benedict Canyon home; and the deaths of a wealthy couple, Leno and Rosemary LaBianca, a day later on Aug. 10, although the indictments named only seven victims, the grand jury reportedly is investigating a possible link between the cult and four other senseless killings in the Los Angeles area this year.

Police Raid On Black Panthers Not Good Idea

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The leader of a police raid on a Black Panthers' headquarters near Watts that culminated in a five-hour bomb and gun battle concedes the raid might not have been the best police tactic.

Eleven members of the black militant group, armed with grenades, submachine guns, homemade bombs and shot-guns, battled up to 300 policemen before surrendering. Three officers were wounded, one critically, and five of the 11 suspects arrested were treated for injuries, three of them for bullet wounds.

Assistant Police Chief Robert Houghton, who headed the raiding party, said the decision to stage the early morning search was reached only after several conferences at which a number of alternate plans were discussed.

"In hindsight, I don't know whether this was the best tactic," Houghton told a news conference Monday, a few hours after the battle.

Houghton said the raid was to arrest three men for threatening officers with weapons and to search for arms. Two other Panther offices were raided the same day without incident and 14 more persons arrested.

Officers in black coveralls, black baseball caps and carrying rifles entered buildings facing the two-story structure. Two officers wearing bullet-proof vests and visored helmets walked up to the front door. After identifying themselves, they yelled to open the door. (See POLICE, Page 2)

Next Moon Flight Tentatively Slated

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The space agency was expected to decide today when Apollo 13 will fly and where on the moon it will land, based largely on reports from the Apollo 12 moon explorers.

The space agency tentatively has selected March 12 as the launch date and Fra Mauro, a group of craters in the foothills of the lunar highlands, as the target.

But the dust problems Charles "Pete" Conrad and Alan L. Bean encountered landing in the lunar Ocean of Storms last month and troubles they had with moon exploration tools might influence this

Senate Seeks Right Tax Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., suggested today that the Senate Finance Committee might be instructed to delete from the tax reform bill the main features that President Nixon said would cause him to veto the entire measure.

Williams, ranking Republican on the Finance Committee, said he was considering a motion to recommend the bill.

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott said he probably would support such a move, aimed at eliminating a 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits and an increase to $800 in the personal income tax exemption.

"I do not believe a veto on the Senate bill in its present form can be overridden," Scott told reporters.

tentative decision, officials said after the Apollo 12 splashdown Nov. 24. They said a final decision would be made two weeks after the flight.

A geologist quarantined with Conrad, Bean and Richard F. Gordon said Monday night the crew explored the moon as well as "any geologist" could have, and better than most. Dr. Robin Brett said geologists need not go to the moon until late in the Apollo program, in 1971-73.

The astronauts have their last debriefing today, a session with guidance and navigation experts. They get Wednesday off to prepare for their release from moon bug quarantine Thursday.

Brett said he and five other scientists, quarantined with the crew after accidental exposure to lunar material, had learned much through informal discussions with the astronauts.

Scientists, he said, "have no complaints" about the pilots' accomplishments in observing and collecting moon rocks for study on earth. Before Apollo 12, many scientists were bitterly critical because no scientist-astronaut geologist, Brett said. "This crew has been so well trained, and the previous crew as well, that one of the scientists (in quarantine) can see any dissatisfaction at all" in exploring the moon with pilots trained in geology.

"We all decided at the Geological Society of America meeting last month," he said, "that if you got three geologists off the street they wouldn't do nearly as good a job as that crew."

"In later missions, towards the end, the scientists are all agreed it would be a lot of help to have a geologist along."

Nixon Says War Timetable Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon says his timetable for ending the Vietnam War is on schedule and he will be able to announce around Christmas plans to bring more American soldiers home.

He told a national television audience Monday night the war will end regardless of what happened at the Paris talks. He also said there appears to have been a massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, and although it was an "isolated incident, under no circumstances was it justified."

It was his first news conference since September and second since June.

Nixon also threatened to veto the tax reform package if Congress sends it to him with a 15 per cent hike in Social Security benefits and a $200 increase in every taxpayer's income tax exemption.

Praises VP's Criticism — Praised Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of the nation's news media. He said Agnew's comments on separating editorial comment from news reporting were "useful suggestions."

Said progress has been "good" in the U.S.-Soviet talks on the limitation of strategic arms and the outlook is encouraging.

Said no decision has been made yet on whether he will call Congress back after Christmas to finish its work. "This Congress has the worst record in terms of appropriation (See NIXON, Page 2).

Television Commentators Make Limited Comments After Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's three major television networks, criticized for comments their analysts made after President Nixon's Nov. 3 Vietnam speech, presented only limited comments after Nixon's news conference Monday night.

The two situations cannot be properly compared, however, since the Nov. 3 speech was a long-billed, anticipated address of major policy significance, while Monday's news conference was just one of the President's occasional meetings with the media.

Nonetheless, it was not likely Vice President Spiro T. Agnew would find much to criticize in the comments offered Monday night. It was Agnew who accused some television commentators of "hostility" in their remarks on the heels of the Nov. 3 speech, to an audience "inherited" from Nixon.

NBC Monday offered about 10 minutes of review and comment; CBS about five minutes and ABC about three minutes. The National Education Television Network, however, ran a 30-minute round table discussion, with comments from both supporters and critics of the President.

CBS, with Eric Sevareid and Roger Mudd, gave a general review of the conference. Sevareid said there were no surprises and no departures from previous policy. Mudd remarked the President was well prepared, adding "I (See Television, Page 2)

A thought for the day: President Franklin Roosevelt said, "Never before have we had so little time in which to do so much."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband quit smoking seven months ago (doctor's orders) and he insisted that what he missed the most was something to do with his hands.

As a gag I bought him a beginner's embroidery set. It was a cheap little tea towel with a blue bird on it—to be done in a simple cross-stitch. Well, he finished it in no time at all and it was beautiful!

Next thing I knew, he went downtown and picked out a bridge cloth with four napkins, and he embroidered that, too. Now wherever he goes, he takes his embroidery work! He calls it his "therapy" and he doesn't care who sees him working on it. I hope you'll print this, Abby. I am so proud of him. (P.S. In case you're wondering, my sister-in-law called her a liar, phoned the social worker and told her to come and get the girl and place her in another home.)

PROUD WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Congratulations. Just keep your man embroidering, lady.

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those who never thought that I would write. Mine is a different type problem, but maybe you can help because my daughter is a reader, too. I am the father of a beautiful well-educated girl in her early twenties. She has had many social advantages and has recently married a fine, young, professional man who is on his way up the ladder.

The problem is her table manners. We are a refined family, and both her mother and I have tried since she was a small child to train her properly in table etiquette, but for some reason we have not succeeded.

She eats as though someone was about to take her food away from her, gobbling, slurping, and taking enormous amounts of food into her mouth at one time. It is revolting to see! Even today if I correct her, there is terrible resentment, even a fight.

I don't know whether she eats this way when she is with others, but I can only assume that she does. She and her husband socialize with some of the best young people in town and she could hurt her husband's future if she doesn't shape up. What do you suggest?

DEFEATED DAD
DEAR DAD: I suggest that you never mention her table manners to her again. It's possible that she eats that way only in your presence just to irritate you. In any case, she has a husband now, so let this "fine, professional" man correct her if her table manners embarrass him or present a threat to his "future."

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and my problem is my brother who is 30. He is married and has a wife and child. About a year ago he made some indecent advances to me, but I straightened him out fast and told him if he ever pulled anything like that again, I'd tell my mother and his wife.

Well, since we don't live in the same part of the country I didn't have much to worry about.

Recently I heard that my brother and his wife took a 15-year-old foster girl into their home. Shortly after, the girl told my sister-in-law that my brother got fresh with her. My sister-in-law called her a liar, phoned the social worker and told her to come and get the girl and place her in another home.

Abby, I feel terrible because I am sure the girl was telling the truth. If I tell, it might break up my brother's marriage. If I don't, my brother might hurt some innocent girl and get into trouble. Please tell me what to do.

MIXED UP IN MISSOURI
DEAR MIXED UP: For goodness' sake, tell what you know! Your brother is sick and needs treatment. It would be a kindness to reveal his tendencies before he "hugs" someone and gets himself into serious trouble. If you remain silent, knowing what you do, you will have to share his guilt should something happen.

Save Holiday Joy From Disaster By Observing Safe Christmas Tips

NEW YORK (UPI)—Nothing kills holiday joy like a ride to the hospital emergency room—or a need to call out the fire department.

Trees strung with faulty light strings ignite. Or a spark glances off a dry tree and turns it into a torch. Such are the beginnings of Christmas disaster in some homes.

In others, toddler munches on an ornament and chokes. Or he eats leaves from poinsettia plants or berries from holly and mistletoe. Or he slashes himself with knife-sharp edge of a broken toy.

Such tragedies in past Yules are the reasons Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, New York State health commissioner, wants you to tack his accident prevention tips to your other Christmas lists. All are the read and heed variety. To wit:

—Because holiday decorations make this an intensified fire hazard season, work out and rehearse a family fire escape plan.

—Natural trees should be fresh, firm-needled, and treated with a flame resistant material. Saw off trunk at 45 degree angle and stand tree in water outside home until used.

—Station tree away from heat producing things—fireplaces, television sets, radiators.

—Make certain tree does not block emergency exits and passageways.

—Dispose of tree soon after Christmas, before it dries out.

—Only purchase artificial trees marked as made of fire-resistant materials. Trees with built-in electrical systems should bear the Underwriters Laboratory (UL) label.

—Don't put regular tree lights on metal trees. A short circuit in wiring could cause the whole tree to shock anyone touching it. Indirect lighting is the safest method for illuminating metal trees.

—Check lights for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Lights should bear the UL label. Turn lights off at bedtime and before leaving house.

—All toys for young children should be of sturdy construction with no sharp or pointed surfaces and made of no brittle material. Toys for babies and toddlers should be too large to swallow with small parts which can come off and be put into ears, nose or mouth.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 10
YOUR BIRTHDAY WEDNESDAY—You're bound to be involved with other people this coming year. Your best approach is to seek cooperation and mutual acceptance. There will be times when your role is to meditate, but resist the temptation to be merely a referee.

ARIES (March 21-Apr. 19):—Complications appear so take schedules in stride. Wait for the whole story before taking drastic actions.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20):—Strangers should not be casually included in your activities. In-laws are not as sympathetic and helpful as you'd like.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20):—Your money, along with family funds, has wings Wednesday. Loans are hard to get. Take a conservative course.

CANCER (June 21-July 22):—Your mood is one of belated but abrupt reaction to long-standing minor annoyances. Disagreements with business partners or loved ones are all too easy to fall into.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22):—Your day is thrown off balance by the erratic actions of somebody where you work. Patience will mend the flaw so that a great deal can still be done.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22):—Surprising distractions occur all day. Wild schemes, all of them risky, come to your attention.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22):—Walk a path narrow enough to avoid hasty changes. Relatives upset matters but will cooperate on tactful approaches.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21):—Travel conditions are difficult, perhaps hazardous. More thought is needed, as there is too much drift toward taking people and their assistance for granted.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21):—There are no active problems Wednesday beyond sudden differences of opinion. Line up your accounts, budgets, add something to your savings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19):—The temptation is to react hastily to erratic behavior. Earlier plans still hold their validity and should be pursued vigorously.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18):—Start early with as little fuss and ceremony as can be managed. News may be dismaying. Wait for the entire story.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20):—Take advantage of Wednesday's easy comfort and short cuts as though you were on a vacation.

You'd Recognize The Voice, But You'd Pass The Face By

NEW YORK (UPI)—The elevator in a certain network headquarters building was pretty well crowded one day recently when a bearded man carrying a folded up collapsible bicycle forced his way aboard, jamming everyone a little tighter together.

A bitter $15,000 a year vice president type pushed against the wall at the rear of the car muttered loud enough for all to hear: "Look at that bearded nut!"

The "nut" just grinned and made no reply.

He was on his way to recording his 45,000th commercial for radio and television. He winds up each year with a salary in six figures—and that's without any decimal points.

One certainly would recognize Rowan and Martin, Steve McQueen, James Garner, Jimmy Stewart or anyone of hundreds of other stars of television and movies. But you'd pass Allen Swift on the street without a glance because—these days—a man with a beard and a folding bike isn't really all that unique in New York City.

His Voice Is Known

While Swift may not have the pleasure—and problems—of instant recognition from the public, his voice is known to anyone who has ever listened to radio watched television, or gone to the movies.

The 40ish Swift, married and father of three, is only a casual dresser and soft-spoken in person.

But, he has a rare gift of being an expert mimic and, as such, can command salaries which at the end of the year add up to as much as or more than most of the world renowned stars of stage and screen.

For instance, it was Swift's voice heard as the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Odds and ends from the nation's capital—mostly odd:

This young lady had been working in this particular Washington office for something like a year, her bureaucrat boss related, and seemed pretty savvy—if a bit flighty.

Time came for the boss to take some year-end vacation. One day before he left, she bounced up to him and inquired: "Who's going to take your place while you're gone?"

"Oh," he said, "just wait and see who's taking care of my work."

"But," she protested, "I don't know what you do."

Going through a stack of mail, a UPI staffer came upon a letter from Dr. Julia P. Bailey in Los Angeles inquiring how to get a copy of a book on Indians she had seen mentioned in a news story.

Probably nobody ever got any faster service of this sort. The same stack chanced to contain two advertising fliers for just that book.

A release from the Army, in its entirety:

"Going to work for Nancy Rewis is like going home, but not exactly.

"Mrs. Rewis, an employee of the U.S. Army Combat Developments Command (CDC), claims to have lived most of her married life in a house-trailer. In addition, her late father managed a trailer agency.

"However, Nancy and her husband, Jim, recently decided to make the break from trailers and bought a real house in nearby Alexandria, Va.

"And what happened when Nancy came back to work at CDC after moving into her new fixed abode? She found her section had been moved into an office trailer."

House-Wired Information Utility Talked

CHICAGO (UPI)—A group of computer experts and political scientists gathered at the University of Chicago to try to figure out what life might be like if we had an "information utility" that could be piped into the house like water or electricity.

They envisioned a vast network of time sharing computers which an individual could tap from his home for instantaneous data on almost any topic.

The technology is almost here, the experts said, to make such a utility a reality. They are computers that could do the job and improvements come along almost constantly. All that remains is to develop a way of connecting the user at a remote terminal, such as his home, with the data bank.

Then the big problem becomes a political one: "Who will control the utility? Who will determine what information is put into the data bank? The conference last week did not come up with an answer to that question, but it did offer some observations about how such a utility might or might not change political life in the United States.

Nation Must Decide

The conference was sponsored by the University of Chicago, the American Federation of Information Processing Societies, and the Encyclopedia Britannica as part of its 200th anniversary.

One of the participants, Dr. Irving S. Bengelsdorf, science editor of the Los Angeles Times, suggested an information utility "raises visions of the silent majority not being silent." But he said the nation must decide whether it really wants a true participatory democracy that might be made possible.

Prof. J.C.R. Licklider of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology said the information utility must be set up as a two-way system with opportunity for initiative at the user's end. He said an individual should be able to use the data storehouse to test out the validity of an idea or its probable impact.

Licklider pointed out the utility would provide many ways to exercise political influence not now available. By determining the amount of information put into the data bank, or by altering the information by selective omission or inclusion, profound influence could be exerted in the political arena, Licklider said.

No Immediate Changes

Professor Kenneth Prewitt of the University of Chicago, said the panel did not feel an information utility would mean drastic immediate changes in the political system.

He said the group thought a new kind of political expertise would emerge where the real expert would be the intermediate between the decision maker and the data bank.

A significant increase in voter turnout for local, state and national elections might also result, Prewitt said.

The information utility would also enable citizens to be more widely advised as to what services they might obtain from the state. For example, Prewitt said, a welfare applicant could learn specifically what services were available; a man looking for a job could find out what government agency could help him; and a citizen desiring information on public health questions could learn where to go for the answers.

Actress Weds Industrialist

NEW YORK (UPI)—Actress Ariene Dahl and industrialist Rousseville W. Schaum were married Sunday in a private ceremony. It was her fifth marriage and his second.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale in the chapel of Marble Collegiate Church.

The couple planned to stay in the New York-Washington area for a few days and then honeymoon in Acapulco.

Schaum is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Western Video Industries, Inc. He was divorced from his first wife in 1964.

Texas Wildcatters Up Over Same Period In 1968

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Texas wildcatters had nine oil and 14 gas discoveries in the state last week, the Railroad Commission reported.

The new discoveries bring the total for the year to 353 oil and 575 gas finds, compared with 252 oil and 399 gas discoveries to the same date in 1968.

Four of the oil discoveries were in Southwest Texas, one was in the Gulf Coast, three were in East Texas and one was in North Texas.

Nine of the gas finds were in Southwest Texas, one was in the Gulf Coast, three were in East Texas.

Missouri U Wants A Plaque, Too

LEXINGTON, Mo. (UPI)—A Lexington, Mo., attorney jumped on the "send a telegram to the President" bandwagon Monday, seeking a plaque for the University of Missouri football team. Ike Skelton, a 1966 graduate of Missouri, invited President Nixon to make the presentation in person Wednesday on the university campus in Columbia, Mo. Skelton asked a plaque citing Missouri's 9-1 season and Orange Bowl berth opposite unbeaten Penn State as an "outstanding football record."

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Every time you think you've run out of things to say about Jack Benny, he comes up with something rare and memorable on his occasional television specials.

If it's not some wildly talented and funny chimpanzees, then it may be penguins on roller skates that leave him speechless and the audience paralyzed with laughter.

Wednesday night, on his latest NBC-TV special, Jack came up with Gregory Peck in a rare video appearance, and before the evening was over, the two of them—plus George Burns—turned in a singing and dancing session that ranks with the true gems of television variety entertainment.

Should Know Names

You should really know some behind-the-scenes names connected with Jack's specials because it is the superb taste of these people—and of the comedian—that gets stars like Peck to take a flyer out of their own natural field, the movies. One thinks of other stars, such as Jimmy Stewart, who have entrusted their reputations to Jack and his people. And trust is the key word, for all through show business there is total confidence among major performers in the judgment, discretion and know-how of Jack and his staff.

Therefore: The executive producer Wednesday was Irving Fein, the producer-director Norman Abbott, and the writers—those wondrous manipulators of Jack's talent—were Al Gordon, Hal Goldman, Hilliard Marks, Sam Perrin and Hugh Ledlock Jr.

The guests, by the way, also included Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Nancy Sinatra, and Gary Puckett and The Union Gap, a pop group. But the Peck-Benny-Burns number was what the show will be remembered for.

What they did, basically, was to come on as a trio in the old, old music hall vein. They were billed splendidly as the "Two Bushels and a Peck." And the period tone of their act was so inspired in its concept that there was no doubt it was a classic segment in every detail. The movements, the steps, the gestures were all of a piece, creating a comic tableau of impeccable precision and artistry.

Deadpan, they sang so terribly that it was a pain. Deadpan, they moved about in their dances, so painfully slow and with such measured precision (for the simplest movements) that suddenly one was enraptured at the tone and exactness of the tableau. To hear Benny and Burns fill in vocally behind Peck's awful and awfully funny—solo was to realize the understated comic brilliance of these two oldsters. Almost needless to say, Peck handled himself, as usual, perfectly. You can't go wrong with Jack.

Washington Report

From Congress
BOB PRICE NEW BRITAIN, TEXAS

The House of Representatives last week overwhelmingly approved a resolution backing President Nixon in his efforts to reach a just peace in Vietnam. I was happy to be a co-sponsor of this simple, straightforward and direct document which expresses the earnest hope of the American people for an honorable negotiated settlement to the war.

During debate on the floor of the House there was much discussion about the supposed policy implications in the resolution. As I pointed out in my remarks, however, the purpose of the resolution was not to state Congressional policy with respect to the war but merely to indicate to the North Vietnamese that the duly elected representatives of the American people support the President in his efforts to negotiate a just peace in Vietnam.

I hope and pray that the Communist overlords of North Vietnam realize that the 333 Congressmen who voted for this resolution represent three-fourths of the people of the United States and this is a clear indication that this nation is not as bitterly divided as some people believe.

The Communists must realize that the rumblings of discontent they hear, the demonstrations they see by no means represent the majority of the American people. Some of the protestors

Nude Body Of Kansas Coed Found In Snowy Hedgerow

OLATHE, Kan. (UPI)—The nude body of a beautiful coed and member of a prominent Kansas City, Mo. family, was found frozen in a snowy field Sunday. Initial tests failed to reveal a cause of violent death.

Hunters tramping through a cornfield Sunday found the body of Karen Kimmerly, 24, lying face up beside a hedgerow. Police said the woman had been dead for two days. She had been missing for five days.

Puncture wounds were found in the woman's abdomen and lower back, but a pathologist who performed an autopsy said the wounds could not, in themselves have been fatal.

The wounds were not made by bullets, and they did not appear to be stab wounds, the pathologist said. He said the victim had not been raped.

"We just don't know what happened," the pathologist said. "The whole thing's a mystery."

Police believed the body was left in the field sometime prior to snow flurries which began late Friday. They said Miss Kimmerly, stepdaughter of the late John R. Moberly, a prominent Kansas City, Mo., attorney, was last seen alive on Dec. 2, when she left her home for classes at the University of Missouri branch in Kansas City. She had been taking pre-medical courses following her 1967 graduation from the University of Hawaii.

The girl's automobile, containing the clothes she was wearing when she left home, was found abandoned Wednesday night at an outlying Kansas City shopping center.

In 1941, Japan launched a sneak attack against American bases in the Pacific, bombing Pearl Harbor, the Philippines, Wake and Guam Islands and the British colonies of Singapore and Hong Kong, drawing the United States into World War II.

In 1965, the historic three-year Ecumenical Council of the Roman Catholic Church closed after agreeing upon modification of certain church rules.

Texas Cotton Crops Down

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Estimated Texas cotton production dropped 10,000 bales between Nov. 1 and Dec. 1, the U.S. Agriculture Department reported today.

The agency predicted a crop of 2,920,000 bales as of Dec. 1, down 50,000 bales from the 2,970,000 forecast of Nov. 1. The latest figure compared with a 1968 crop of 8,505,000 bales, of 625,000 bales below last year's production.

Nationally, a crop of 10,000,000 bales was predicted, up about 44,000 bales from the November forecast.

Musical Bash Leaves Debris

LIVERMORE, Calif. (UPI)—Tons of debris and a few hundred cleanup volunteers remained today from the biggest one-day musical bash ever held.

Dick Carter, manager of the motorcycle race track where the free concert was given Saturday by The Rolling Stones and 20 other rock groups, figured it would take at least a week to clean up the mess made by 300,000 young rock fans.

Four deaths, two births, hundreds of "bad trips" on drugs and trouble by "Hell's Angels" motorcycle toughs marred the concert.

"I have about 200 youngsters staying to help me clean up. I could use thousands," Carter said.

TALKS BEGIN
TRIPOLIM (UPI)—Joint talks begin today on the evacuation of British bases in Libya. Announcement of the negotiations was made Saturday by the Libyan government.

In 1787, Delaware became the first state to ratify the United States Constitution.

Sirhan On Hunger Strike

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan, condemned assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, is on a hunger strike in his death row cell at San Quentin State Prison.

Prison officials announced the development Monday as Sirhan completed more than 6½ months awaiting the outcome of appeals on his conviction and sentencing last May 21.

Sirhan has spent the time in lonely isolation in cell 33, a stark concrete and steel enclosure on the prison's sixth floor, between two empty cells. Two mesh steel screens barricade the cellblock corridor 15 feet away.

Sirhan was found guilty of first-degree murder in the shooting of Kennedy June 5, 1968 at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles.

No execution date has been set, pending automatic review and appeal procedures which are expected to take at least another six months.

Warden Louis Nelson said Sirhan began refusing his food Friday, after sending him a note saying, "This place is worse than a concentration camp. I'm going on a hunger strike."
