20 KILLED IN PLANE CRASH IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — (AP) — A Real (royal) Airlines DC-3 plane crashed in a rain-storm at an emergency field in Sao Paulo State yesterday, killing 20 of the 22 persons aboard, the line announced today.

A woman and her five-year-old daughter were the only survivors of the crash, which killed the other 16 passengers and four crew members, the announcement said.

The pilot apparently was attempting to make a forced landing at Fiterias Claro Field near Sao Paulo, 250 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro, instead of trying to make his destination in the heavy overcast. The twin-engine plane had been bound from Sao Paulo to Jacarua, a short distance from the scene of the crash. The emergency field is in (See 20 KILLED, Page 12)

Handling of Cotton Plan To Be Probed

WACO — (AP) — Congressman W. R. Poage says the cotton acreage allotment program is not being administered in the manner in which Congress intended.

Poage and representatives of the Farm Bureau Federation are due to meet here tomorrow to discuss the program's administration.

The congressman told newsmen yesterday he didn't think the program was being administered the way it was intended.

From Crockett, Houston County, yesterday came a report that the 1950 cotton acreage allotment for that county would be cut to 13 percent of the 1949 acreage.

E. F. Vance, state chairman of the Agriculture Marketing Administration, said the report was "absolutely untrue."

Cotton men here, under present interpretations of the law, have estimated that West Texas will gain under the 1950 allotment, South Texas will lose, and Central Texas will meet to a certain extent.

Poage is to meet tomorrow with J. Walter Hammond, head of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, and Farm Bureau representatives from Swisher and Houston counties.

The Waco congressman said yesterday that neither he nor the Farm Bureau was opposing the idea of cotton acreage allotment but they did question the manner of administration.

Poage said the entire matter hinges on acreage allotment credits due farmers for changing from cotton to war crops such as grain sorghums during the war.

He pointed out a section of the allotment law which says that no state would get less than 95 percent of the average 1947 and 1948 plantings.

"Texas came under this provision by a 95-acre difference," Poage said. "No one figured Texas would come under the provision which was set up for California and other states."

Poage said that in administering the law, another provision was being overlooked. He said this provision required that farmers get credits for their war crops, regardless of other provisions in the statute.

Hospitals Are Overcrowded

AUSTIN — (AP) — Overcrowding and inadequate staffing of Texas mental hospitals were reported by a federal team of experts yesterday at the end of their statewide survey of the institutions.

Dr. Riley H. Guthrie, mental hospital advisor of the National Institute of Mental Health, Washington, said "obvious overcrowding" pointed up need for additional buildings and facilities.

Dr. Guthrie was assisted on the tour by Mary E. Cocoran, advisor in psychiatric nursing at the national institute. He said they would make a more detailed report to the Governor later this month, including some special recommendations on treatment for the mentally ill in Texas.

The report is one of several requested of the United States Public Health Service by Gov. Allan Shivers and the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools. The reports are to be used as a basis for recommendations for improvement to be submitted to a special legislative session in January.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said today the government's budget should be balanced—now.

But he made no suggestions beyond reiterating a 3½-year-old statement that the government should reduce spending "in every possible way" and "maintain adequate tax rates" to keep receipts and outlays in balance.

Appearing before a Senate-House subcommittee studying government money, credit and financial policies, Snyder cited President Truman's estimate that spending will run $5,500,000,000 in the red this fiscal year, ending next June 30.

"It seems to me, however, that in times as prosperous as these we should have a balanced budget," he added in a prepared statement.

National income today is close to the highest level in our history, and, by every standard of sound government finance, the time to have a balanced budget is now.

Federal expenditures this fiscal year are expected to be $43,500,000,000, a peacetime record. He blamed a $5,000,000,000 tax cut voted last year by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress—over President Truman's veto—for the $1,800,000,000 deficit of fiscal 1949, ended last June 30, and the prospect of a three-times greater one this fiscal year.

In a written communication to the committee which the latter published recently, the Treasury chief had said the "general economic welfare" came ahead of a balanced budget for any one year.

His statement today, however, recalled his "great satisfaction" at budget surpluses in fiscal 1947—when he became Treasury secretary—and fiscal 1948, the latter an unprecedented $8,400,000,000 surplus of income over expenditures.

Snyder said Mr. Truman—who recently said that increasing taxes is the only way he knows of balancing the budget—has "repeatedly" taken the same position.

Lawmakers indicated in advance they would like to know where Snyder stands on the question of raising taxes to wipe out the budget deficit.

The National Association of Manufacturers told the committee yesterday that government fiscal, monetary-credit policies in general are not now geared to the objective of contributing to economic stability.

INDUSTRY SAYS MINE ORDER 'DESTRUCTIVE'

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — A top industry spokesman says John L. Lewis' order to mine coal only three days a week is "destructive to the industry and every one who earns his living in it."

George H. Love, spokesman for the operators' Negotiating Committee of the national bituminous coal conference, last little time attacking Lewis after the unpredictable United Mine Workers' chief called off his fourth full-scale walkout of the year yesterday.

Lewis didn't comment. In calling off the walkout, Lewis said the three-day workweek will apply to all of his 400,000 soft coal diggers—as well as to most of the 80,000 anthracite (hard coal) miners in Eastern Pennsylvania.

And Lewis said the three-day week, which begins next Monday, is a "prearranged plan to get out quick" under such circumstances. So he did.

Sgt. Robert Yankaskas said he "didn't say a word to anyone," he just jumped out of his seat and went head first through that hatch.

The pilot, Lt. Clifford Schoefler, and copilot, Lt. Wesley L. Pendergraft, extinguished the engine blaze with a fire extinguisher.

The pilot said he had given the crew no prearranged bailout instructions.

Hotel Fire Damage Set At $1,000,000

SAPULPA, Okla. — (AP) — An early-morning fire roared through a four-story hotel today, spreading to adjoining buildings, causing an estimated $1,000,000 damage.

There was no known death, but Fire Chief Bill Collyer said there was a possibility a few guests may have been trapped in the Loraine Hotel's upper stories. Fifty-three guests were registered.

The flames destroyed a quarter of a block of buildings.

Hotel occupants fled out the exits, over adjoining rooftops and by jumping into fire nets. Only one person was hospitalized. He suffered a broken leg in leaping from a third floor window. Sapulpa is 16 miles southwest of Tulsa.

L. G. Robertson, Humphreys, Neb., a hotel guest, said: "The smoke was so thick, I couldn't breathe. I never saw anything like it in my life. I would have jumped rather than stay in it."

He escaped by climbing onto an adjoining roof.

Collyer gave the $1,000,000 damage estimation.

The first alarm came at about 1:30 a.m., Collyer said, and two hours later approximately a quarter of a block of buildings had been razed.

Among the buildings in the section were an auto agency, a grocery, a home appliance store and a fish market.

Sleepy Hollow Legend Given Modern Twist

ATHENS, Texas — (AP) — Police Chief M. E. Kinsey thought for a while he had on hand a mystery as spooky as a headless ghost.

It appeared to be a driverless auto that could cut all sorts of capers.

The chief spied the car in a law violation. He gave chase. The car sped out in front of him. Then suddenly it skidded to a stop. The chief leisurely strolled up to it. Then he drew back, started. There was no driver!

The only person he saw was a woman sitting on the back seat. She seemed frightened.

"Where is the driver?" the chief asked.

"I don't know," the woman whimpered.

The chief thought for a moment, then said: "Well, I guess I'll have to arrest this car. It would be dangerous." (See SLEEPY, Page 12)

Nationalists Seek Capital

CHENGDU, China — (AP) — The uneasy Nationalist Chinese government cast about today for another capital, expecting to be forced out of here within three weeks or less.

Chengtu's position becomes more precarious with each step the Communists advance toward the city from Chungking, 170 miles southeast. The Reds are coming on at a fairly fast clip. They have cut the highway between the old and the new capital in several places. But Nationalists denied a rumor Neianging, midway point between the two cities, had fallen.

Most people here seem to think Sichang, high in the mountains of Sikkang Province, 225 miles southwest of here, will be the next Nationalist capital.

If the Nationalists are driven off the mainland, the fugitive government probably will wind up in Chiang Kai-shek's stronghold at Taipei, Formosa.

Crewman Bails Out on Seeing One Engine Afire

FORT WORTH — (AP) — An Air Force sergeant bailed out of what he thought was a crippled, burning B-36 bomber yesterday.

The plane — with the rest of the crew — landed safely at Carswell Air Base.

Staff Sgt. Lowell A. Reif, 26, jumped when he looked out and saw the No. 3 engine afire. The pilot had feathered (cut down power) the No. 4 and No. 5 engines.

Reif said he thought it was the prearranged plan to "get out quick" under such circumstances. So he did.

Sgt. Robert Yankaskas said he "didn't say a word to anyone," he just jumped out of his seat and went head first through that hatch.

The pilot, Lt. Clifford Schoefler, and copilot, Lt. Wesley L. Pendergraft, extinguished the engine blaze with a fire extinguisher.

The pilot said he had given the crew no prearranged bailout instructions.

A tale about shoes was responsible.

The Free Press, a morning paper, ran an account of the "mysterious disappearance" of a man and woman who had left 16 pairs of shoes at a cobbler's repair shop three months ago.

The story speculated that perhaps the couple — who owed $17.80 for repairs — had perished in the Noronic ship fire at Toronto, Sept. 17. Or possibly, the Free Press hinted, the man was an amnesia victim.

Both guesses were wrong.

The owner turned out to be William J. Scripps, a director of the afternoon Detroit News. Scripps simply hadn't claimed his $10's yet.

County Bond Issue May Involve Three Projects

A county bond election that may involve one, two, or three separate projects will be held in the near future.

One petition is on file in office asking for $150,000 for county fair, livestock, and agriculture exhibits.

The Pampa Pilots' Association is reported preparing a petition to ask for a bond issue for a municipal airport.

That petition will ask for $135,000 to purchase the land on which the present Pampa Municipal Airport is located and to construct one concrete runway. That sum includes $15,000 for development of an auxiliary airport at McLean, it was reliably reported.

There is no legal compulsion to act on this petition immediately, however, County Judge Bruce Faraker said. The petition just is circulated in the near future.

The petition asking for permanent fair buildings is the only one completed and on file.

The airport petition is expected to be ready for circulation today or tomorrow.

The road bond petition is just the road stage.

At present no date for the single, double, or triple election has been set.

The County Commissioners' Court and Sherman White, attorney for the group that prepared the fair building petition, have asked a firm of Dallas attorneys, specialists in bond issues, for an opinion on the earliest date such an election could legally be held.

Crash Kills Ace Hurler For Dukes

FORT SUMNER, N. M. — (AP) — Frank Shone, 28, ace pitcher for the Albuquerque Dukes last season, was killed in a highway crash shortly after midnight today.

A University of New Mexico student with Shone, William B. Furnier, 24, of Hamilton, Ohio, was hospitalized in Fort Sumner with a possible fractured spine.

Police said they believe Shone died instantly from an injury above the right temple.

State Policeman Floyd Miles said Shone's 1948 De Soto sedan missed a curve 1.6 miles west of Fort Sumner on U. S. Highway 60. The car cleared a creekbed and crashed into the east bank of the arroyo. Sheriff Roy Skipworth estimated the car traveled about 75 feet without touching the ground.

Two railroad engineers saw the car from the highway about 5 a.m. and reported the wreck. Ambulance drivers found the car on its side with Furnier still conscious in the back seat.

Shone joined the Albuquerque club in the spring of 1948. An outfielder until he reported to the Dukes, he came from Beaumont in the Texas League. Previously he was with Oakland and Portland in the Pacific Coast League.

He leaves his wife and a small son and daughter.

Shone won 20 games and lost 7 in piling the Dukes to top 1949 West Texas-New Mexico League championship.

Pampan Is Promoted by Sinclair Oil

Ken Thornton, who has been employed at Sinclair Oil and Gas Company for the past 11 years, has been promoted to district superintendent at Drumright, Okla., and is now located there.

He came to Pampa as petroleum engineer for the company and was district foreman when he left.

After attending the University of Nebraska, he went to work for Sinclair in Wyoming and later became engineer on the Bush Well in Amarillo.

Mrs. Thornton and daughter, Pam, will join him at Drumright about the first of February. She has served as executive of the Pampa Girl Scout Association since Jan. 12, 1948.

Mrs. Thornton handed in her resignation at a board meeting of the association this morning, but (See PAMPAN, Page 12)

Letter Damaged In Fatal Crash Received Here

A four-page statement from the Aetna Insurance Company to the Hughes-Pitts Insurance Company received yesterday survived the Nov. 29 DC-6 American Airlines crash at Dallas much better than a lot of Congressional mail.

Corners of the four page statement were burned, but the copy was still legible when it arrived in Pampa. A note pinned to the statement explained it had been in the ill-fated plane when it crashed and rubbed out 28 lives.

It was reported that air mail sent from Washington Monday night to virtually all parts of Texas was aboard the plane that crashed. Much of the air mail that Texas Congressional offices send to their home districts daily is flown to Texas on the night schedule on which the accident occurred.

Disputed Book's Author Dies

CORVALLIS, Ore. — (AP) — Dr. Frank A. Magruder, 67, whose textbook "The American Government" was center of a controversy at Houston, Texas, recently died here early today.

Death was unexpected and was presumed due to a heart attack.

Of his numerous textbooks, the one on American government was best known, its 34th edition now being in preparation. A phrase in that book deleted in later editions caused the Houston School Board to ban it. It referred to public free education and old age assistance as examples of communism. Other educators defended the phrase as fact.

Pampan Is Fined On Check Charge

James Creeks of the Flats was sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail and fined $25 and costs on a worthless check charge. County Judge Bruce Faraker assessed the fine and sentence Wednesday afternoon when Creeks pleaded guilty to his second offense of swindling with worthless checks.

Europe to Soon Get Billion Dollar Arms

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A billion dollars worth of American arms will begin moving to Western Europe in a few weeks, now that the Atlantic Treaty countries have unanimously agreed on their grand strategy of defense.

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson was due back from Paris today to present the defense plan to President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson. Johnson is the American member of the Defense Committee of the 12-nation Atlantic Alliance which adopted the plan at a meeting in the French capital yesterday.

France is expected to get the lion's share of the arms and military equipment which Congress authorized to strengthen the Western European members of the alliance against any Russian aggression.

The strategic plan presumably is based on the possibility that in event of a Russian attack France, along with the other European continental members of the Atlantic system, would bear the brunt of the onslaught.

A communique issued by the Defense Committee at the conclusion of its meeting said it "arrived at unanimous agreement on and gave full approval to the following action:

"1. Strategic concepts for the integrated defense of the North Atlantic area.

"2. Provision of a program for the production and supply of armaments and equipment.

"3. Coordination of planning between the various regional groups (of countries in the alliance).

"4. The progress of defense planning of the North Atlantic Treaty organization."

While thus outlining the general nature of its work, the committee gave no hints as to the provisions of the strategic concepts it adopted.

However, it can be reported that these are of a broad rather than specific nature. They are designed to guide the regional groups in their detailed planning. The United States, Britain, France, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg, for example, have responsibility for (See EUROPE, Page 13)

There's No Hurry, Daniel Tells Court

AUSTIN — (AP) — Attorney General Price Daniel charged today there is no reason for federal officials suddenly getting in a hurry after delaying their claim to Texas tidelands for 104 years.

The statement was in reply to federal filing in the Supreme Court objecting to Texas' taking of testimony of aged witnesses on grounds it would delay the case.

Daniel said he had placed in the mails an eight-page printed brief renewing his request for permission to take the oral testimony of five elderly Texas residents. Their ages were given as 62, 90, 91 and 90.

"President James K. Polk in 1845 promised that the United States would defend the title of Texas 'to the extent which she claims it to be.' The least that could be done in respecting this promise would be to allow the Supreme Court to hear the evidence before rendering a judgment," Daniel said.

Daniel said the state merely wanted to preserve the testimony of the elderly witnesses at the earliest possible moment due to (See DANIEL, Page 12)

Negro School Idea Evaded

HOUSTON — (AP) — Southern educators will decide next year at Richmond, Va., whether to adopt a new set of standards under which colleges and universities are qualified for membership.

But in winding up their 1949 convention, they sidestepped for a year a proposal to accept Negro schools into membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The new standards to be voted on at next year's convention call for:

- 1. Increases in the minimum salaries for colleges and university faculties.
- 2. Boosting per capita expenditures for instruction from $150 to $200.
- 3. Provisions to strengthen the role of libraries.

There's a possibility the Negro membership proposal may not receive final consideration next year.

The Planning Committee of the association recommended that a study of Negro education be launched so that changes could be made in 1950.

Reference to 1950 was deleted.

LABOR IS COMMUNISM'S BIGGEST BATTLEGROUND

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The U. S. has been at war for three decades with an aim that is dedicated to our nation's overthrow—communism. Here in the fifth of 12 dispatches, Peter Edson of NEA continues to describe the course of action against communism in this country over a period of 20 years.)

By PETER EDSON
THERE IS NO MORE clearly defined front in the conflict between left and right today than in the field of American labor. The CIO particularly knows it is in a fight, with no fewer than 15 unions doing their level damndest to retain Red-influenced leadership.

This is no new struggle. Like every other aspect of the Communist war, it dates back to the earliest times of the movement in this country; specifically, to the days before World War I. Then Nicolai Lenin and Leon Trotsky were in America, primarily as political refugees, secondarily as explorers of another land possibly ripe for Marxism reform.

They believed that to rule the workingman was to rule the nation. This was the essence of what was then called Bolshevism. When the Russian revolution had eliminated the Czar, the American Communist Party immediately set about to seek the destruction of American labor, by disintegrating the AFL.

Samuel Gompers, AFL head, was so alarmed at the wave of strikes—notably against Big Steel and the 12-hour day, and in the case of the Boston police who created a reign of terror by their strike for higher pay—that he hurried home from Paris where he had been advising President

FUNNY BUSINESS

Wilson at the Peace Conference. Wilson's return found labor so rebellious that he called a conference of management and union leaders. Labor's demands were made by Gompers: the 3-hour day, right to organize, collective bargaining, free speech and a minimum wage. U. S. Steel took off in a flat refusal to bargain; the Gompers forces walked out.

The Combies were made happy by this. A million, or one-fourth of membership, quit organized labor. The Communists quickly organized unions to gobble up as many of these renegades as possible.

The AFL first tried to get rid of the Communists who sneaked in in 1919 and 1920 when, in 1926, it formed a Committee for the Preservation of Trade Unionism. Some of the Reds in such craft unions as the painters and the miners were driven out. But no headway could be made among the fur, needlework, shoe and leather unions.

In that very year Ben Gold, who admittedly was and admittedly still is a Communist, led a bloody strike by his United Fur Workers. Gop squad swept through the New York fur district, breaking up more than 80 contract shops, bribing police who half-heartedly tried to curb them, and operating a torture chamber called "the Butcher Shop." Gold, incidentally, is still boss of the furrers.

"Shovel your walk for 50 cents, lady—and 25 cents pension when I reach 65?"

Other great strikes of the period were those of the coat-makers, estimated to have cost $25,000,000 exclusive of the split skulls, and at Passaic, N. J., where the Botany Mills were closed for more than a year.

After the crash in 1929, communism gained some stature and was able to work more openly at organizing labor. Opposition to the leftists within union ranks, sapped by the depression's ghastly unemployment, virtually collapsed. Observers generally agree that for the 15 years between 1929 and the last months of the war, Communists had almost a free hand.

Communists supported Lewis when he led the United Mine Workers out to form the CIO at the tumultuous AFL convention of 1935. They quickly moved into the American Newspaper Guild, formed the year before, and when the new union affiliated with the CIO the job was made easier. By 1940 pinks dominated the guild, with most of the support coming from the New York locals.

The Communists considered the guild the key to the American labor union movement and to control of American public opinion as well. But by 1941 the guild, by a referendum of its membership, had managed the first Communist housecleaning by an American labor union.

At the peak of their power in 1939, the Communists could claim 300 high officials in over 30 of the 40 American international unions. Ten years later they could claim control of only a dozen. They were the CIO internationalists that supported Henry Wallace for president.

These represented a membership of 1,200,000, or about one-fifth of the CIO's total. Only a fraction of one percent of this number could be counted as actual Communists. But at its 1949 national convention, the CIO moved decisively to kick them all out and start over fresh with a clean anti-Communist slate.

The Electrical Workers—biggest of the left-wing unions—was expelled outright and its President Albert Fitzgerald kicked off the CIO Executive Committee. So was the Farm Equipment Workers, which had previously been ordered to merge with the Auto Workers and had refused. A new, non-Commie union of International Electrical Workers was chartered.

Next: Congress and the courts vs. Communism.

Lions Led in Harvester Yells

When those Lions yell, they yell like — el vivo, vivo, vis. High School cheerleaders attended yesterday's luncheon meeting to prompt Lions with yells for the Pampa-Wichita Falls football game this afternoon. Cheerleaders, with the assistance of Charlie Thut, Dr. H. L. Wilder, Dr. Douglas Nelson and Jimmie McCune, led Harvester yells and sang Pampa High songs. Accompanying the cheerleaders were Mrs. Mabel Torvie, sponsor, and Sheron Burton, Freshman.

President O. E. McDowell presented a compact to the November Lions Sweetheart, Joyce Jones, and sweeter to the November Cub Lion, Wayne Nolan. He introduced the December honorees, Martha Parks and Richard Williams.

Local Girl Scouters Go To Convention

Four Pampa women were among the 6,000 Girl Scout leaders, council members and other volunteer workers who attended the Scouting convention in Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 15-18. They were Mmes. H. F. McDonald, Jr., B. B. Palmer, Aselle Loftus and Glenn Radcliff. Featured at the convention was the announcement of the 1950 international service project to send school supplies to children in 28 countries where there is a shortage of the tools of learning. Scouts will make schoolbags and fill them with pencils, notebooks, erasers and crayons plus "surprises" in the form of hair ribbons, mittens and scarfs. According to reports made by national officers during the convention sessions, Girl Scouting has more than doubled its membership during the past 10 years. The organization, now representing about 1,400,000 girls, reaches about nine out of every 100 girls of Scout age. Mrs. C. Vaughan Ferguson, Schenectady, N. Y., who was re-elected national president, said there are 331,074 adult volunteers and 1,043 professional workers. Several hundred Senior Scouts, who attended the convention as special guests, presented their

What's What and What About It!

WHOSE MONEY is it the government hands out right and left? Do you know how much you are taxed each year, directly and indirectly? How could the government save some money?

WE MAY sound silly asking questions like those. From the way the people have voted the past decade or more, you would think so, at least. You'd just know they know the answers. But a lot of people are interested in those questions. Of course, we know the money handed out by the government is OUR money, but you may not know how much money you pay each year in taxes. More than it should be.

AS FOR saving money? Not counting all the millions that could be saved by just plain common sense and an eye for honest manipulation, the Hoover plan for reorganization of our hodgepodge government structure (and we're not touching the Constitution either) would save billions. That's a lot of non-partisan experts are saying.

WHO IS holding up passage of the Hoover plan? Mostly Congress and the Number One man, we'd say. Although we've never been in Washington to look around ourselves, it would seem from here that congressmen and representatives, knowing them as we do, would rather leave the speaking mess as it is. They get more votes that way; for when you hire a citizen to work for the government, you've picked up a bunch of votes from his relatives.

AS FOR voting interference against the bills of the Hoover plan are the bureau, departments, commissions and the such which would get the axe if Congress got right serious.

YOU WANT to do something about it? You can tell your representatives in Washington that you're tired of it, that you think the country is on a down-hill run toward bankruptcy. You could tell Congressman Eugene Worley that almost face-to-face, he in the district and his home is in Shamrock. Write him a good letter.

Gracie Says

By GRACIE ALLEN Have you ever tried to figure out how much Paul Revere earned on his famous midnight ride? Don't bother with it. Massachusetts has just dug up the old expense account he turned in way back in 1775 and it proves that he was more patriotic than we thought.

Besides food for himself and his horse, Paul's salary was only five shillings a day. Why, that's a lot!

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - A U. S. blockade of Communist North China ports at this time would be a mistake, says Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger of the U. S. Navy. Admiral Badger was the last commander of American Naval forces in China. He is now in the office of the chief of Naval operations, Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, chief of staff, U. S. Department of State and National Defense.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1949)

NEW YORK - The pension plans now being negotiated between the labor monopolies of the CIO and a school of industrial managers who may be termed fascist imitations of the very systems of Mussolini and Hitler.

It is a strange fact that Americans who loathe the name of nazism heartily endorse the essentials of nationalism, which is the formal name of nazism. Our people never realized that nazism, meaning Hitlerism, actually was just state socialism under a strongly nationalist government.

Hitler's system was copied from Mussolini's and Mussolini's was a system of paternal guardianship over the workers exercised by the unions and the industries together. It was a partnership of the unions and the operators of big industry, which were proteges of the government. It worked well in big industry in Italy and, later, in Germany. By this system, the union and the industry, instead of making blanket agreements under the general authority and direction of the national government, we have had a good deal of this already in our country.

For example, the United Auto Workers of the CIO, an enormous union of nonentities, makes an overhead deal with General Motors. To the company and the union bosses, the individual worker is simply a robot. The company doesn't want to be bothered with the hiring and firing and discipline and personal problems of individuals. So it makes a contract with the bosses of the union to pay certain wages for certain work under certain conditions. If necessary, after a certain length of haggling, the company may agree to pensions and other "benefits" of fascism or national socialism or nazism. It is simple enough to add the expense of this to the retail cost of the product.

Under complete, ideal fascism or nazism, which is actually the goal of all the big union monopolies, and in the hands of the Truman administration, the worker eventually pays for his own "benefits" in the higher cost of everything he buys, from a haircut to a house. The people of the United States might like it. Certainly, those who express themselves with the greatest emphasis through the election returns are red-hot nazis.

In Italy, this system sagged and broke in the area of small industry and the mental services which, in a country that makes an important business of "tourism," is big employer. Small industry had to pick up the slack, and the "system" to keep all the books that fascist "social benefits" required. Mussolini ran himself ragged and built up an awful bureaucracy of tax-eating parasites trying to make his plan work.

Hitler worked it very well. But it worked so well that his national socialist government, which is a really patriotic government, wisely suspected and hated the Russian bolshevism while Roosevelt was building up the power of our own present less than a Western Union boy gets for singing "Happy Birthday" and it isn't even American money!

And after he's dead is a fine time to get around to paying him. If Paul's horse is still living I'm sure he doesn't need the money now, but he would be very happy with his Social Security.

Chiang Kai-shek has allocated some $10,000,000 for supply and equipment of this naval force for the next two years, and that is considered enough to buy fuel oil. The Chinese navy crews on the blockade are paid mostly in prize money obtained from the sale of seizures. This gives them an incentive to make the blockade effective.

The China coast has long been famous for its smugglers. There are hundreds of junks operating along the 2000-mile coastline. But their tonnage is limited and the river ports where they can pick up or discharge cargo of importance are few in number and easily patrolled. Canton, Shanghai and Tientsin are most important. NO REAL TONNAGE

Common Ground

By E. C. HOLLES In E. Stanley Jones a Great Moral Leader or a Betrayer of True Christian Ethics?

Since E. Stanley Jones is to give a series of sermons this month at Colorado Springs, Colorado, I want to state to you as the writer that Stanley Jones has written to me and some of the letters I have written to him together with his answers to my questions.

The government unions fought the government industrial management for "social advantages" for the workers and got them in "benefits" which American union-brothers are now clamoring for on behalf of American workers.

The government industrial management, on the other hand, fought the government unions in the interests of the stockholders and won "victories" for them. But meanwhile, the government was conspiring youth for forced labor. Hitler's equivalent of Roosevelt's CCC camps and later for the Army. He was chaining workers to their jobs with the justification of "national emergency" just as Roosevelt did later with the same justification. And also meanwhile, Hitler was "absorbing" the ownership of its industries into the possession of bonds to the confederations which substituted such bonds for stock certificates.

We have seen this phase of Hitlerism adopted in Great Britain recently. The latest development was the warning to the workers by their union bosses, who are actually political agents of the government rather than representatives of the workers, that they must not expect any raises in pay. When a union is a tool of a political party which is fighting to keep control of a country, it works for the party even to the detriment of the workers. Of course, we have seen this confederation of industry in Britain, too, and by generally the same methods that Hitler used.

In the United States, right here in the city of Denver, the most vigorous defender of the British facsimile of Adolf Hitler's nazism is a union boss, David Dubinsky. He controls the city, and thus the state, and thus might hold the balance of power in the United States through a private political splinter-party financed by his union. You would suppose that a union boss who often abuses fascism and nazism as "undemocratic" horrors would know nazism as well as Hitler. But not Dubinsky. Not Philip Murray nor John L. Lewis. All of them are hell-bent for nazism-fascism with the unions subservient to the federal government. And, in industry, weary, weak-kneed stewards of the trust of the stockholders, with a guilty knowledge that they have stolen the stockholders' money by sleight-of-hand awards of enormous pensions to themselves, are selling out our capitalism. They surrender to the unions and the nazis-fascists of the Truman government.

Maybe we will like fascism or national socialism or nazism in the ultimate word, Hitlerism. But if we do adopt it, the American warriors who were killed or mangled in the war on the duce and der fuehrer will have a right to ask the $64 question: "What was all the shootin' fer?"

So They Say

Write down (your) ultimate objectives in life and a plan of action for achieving them. Your plan should be big, imaginative and daring. The mistake is to put your sights too high, not to raise them too high. -Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser.

There is no overproduction; only underinvestment and underconsumption. Both planning and expansion now can raise the national income to $300 billion and the standard of living a third by 1954. -Lewis B. Rosenstiel, chairman of Schenley Industries, Inc.

I have information that Russia has been to the Antarctic with unnamed ships and powerful planes. Whether they are after uranium I can't say. -Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd.

One other question that has been raised is whether the U. S. has enough strength in the Pacific to operate as a Chinese coast guard auxiliary and blockade the whole coastline from Korea to Indo-China. The U. S. Seventh Fleet, based at Subic Bay in the Philippines and at Guam, consists of one battleship, four destroyers and auxiliaries. Admiral Badger says these forces could quickly be called for to strengthen the Western Pacific fleets, if that became necessary for a blockade later on.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON - Hollywood ought to confer an honorary Oscar on Marshal Tito for the assist which the Yugoslavian dictator gave Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, in breaking the Kremlin's blockade against the showing of our movies inside Russia.

On Nov. 25, more than a year ago, Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, was shown at Marshal Tito's personal invitation to enter Moscow and nail down the deal with the Soviet minister of cinematography.

They were Irving Maas, general manager of the Johnson export corporation, whose main offices are in New York City, and Louis Kanturek, Central European manager, who headquarters in Prague.

But it is generally understood that the welcome accorded Hollywood's productions in Yugoslavia, where they have been shown at Marshal Tito's personal invitation, is partially responsible for the Moscow surrender - a surrender which may nullify Russian propaganda to the effect that living conditions under communism are infinitely superior to Western standards of society.

Provided the year-old deal is consummated, and the only obstacle now appears to be the price for our pictures, movies will become almost the only link between Western and "iron countries."

Ordinary business men are now barred from communized areas. Western diplomats are guarded closely, as are newspaper correspondents. Foreign newspapers and magazines are kept out of the people's hands, scarcity of radios and official jamming prevents the State Department's voice of America from effective distribution of American propaganda.

As a result, our most effective representatives at Moscow are likely to be the Bing Crosby, Cary Grant and Shirley Temples.

PRICE - It was more than a year ago that Mr. Johnston and his assistant, Joyce O'Hara, negotiated a preliminary agreement with Stalin's minister of cinematography under which Hollywood should ship 100 pictures to Moscow for selection of those which would be shown in that country.

When nothing more was heard of the arrangement, Mr. Kanturek visited Moscow early this summer. Early last month, to his surprise, Mr. Johnston received a letter from the Moscow movie bureau, saying that they would like to talk prices with his representatives. That led to the recent deal.

After talking with Stalin, however, Mr. Johnston made a trip to Belgrade to see it. The Marshal had broken only recently with Stalin, and Yugo underlings were not certain whether the split was strategy or a sure thing.

DEMAND - So, at first the minister of cinematography refused to talk business with Messrs. Johnston and O'Hara. But when Tito learned of the proposal, he overruled his subordinate. The demand for American movies is so great that natives buy tickets to overcrowded theaters on the black market, and the state-owned houses derive a tremendous revenue.

When Life Begins

By GORDON MARTIN There is something extra special about the age of thirty-nine, for it's then a man is drawing near a terrifying line. He will soon be at the crossroads where they say that life begins, but the thought of being forty leaves him shaky on his pins. And as birthday time approaches, he prepares to turn the page, while considering the fact a man has got to act his age.

Now he thinks a man of forty is a gaffer mighty old, who must kiss goodbye his youth with inkling should respond to the glided youth and beauty of a passing classmate. And he ought to take it easier and save his waning strength, and forget the stag affairs where once he carried on at length.

But his birthday comes at last and he is forty now for sure, and she's pleased to find his awful age not too hard to endure. For he finds he still can dance and when he eyes a redhead fair, then his wife declares he'd better watch his step and have a care. So he takes another lease on life and knows he's on the ball, 'cause he's reached the age of forty and it didn't hurt at all.

The Doctor Says

BY EDWIN J. JORDAN, MD. WRITTEN FOR NEA A common penalty of old age is the development of a condition of the eyes called cataracts. A cataract involves that portion of the eye which serves as the lens. The lens is normally clear, but becomes clouded in cataract and this produces a blurring of vision. Perhaps it can be explained best by comparing it with the lens of a camera. If a camera lens were not clean, or something happened to the glass to cloud it, a picture taken through that lens would also be blurred and "fuzzy."

How much fuzziness there is depends on the amount of cloudiness in the lens. If only part of the lens is involved, not all of the field of vision will be disturbed. If the whole lens is clouded, then all objects will be blurred. There is no reason to believe that cataract leads to the development of cataract, though, of course, eyestrain should be avoided for other reasons. Heredity, and particularly increasing years, seem to have more to do with most cases of cataract than anything else.

A beginning cataract, in which the clouding is slight, is spoken of as incipient. When the process of clouding has been completed it is called "ripe" or mature. Unfortunately medical treatments - that is drugs that have so far been discovered - have not proved of value in dissolving material which clouds the lens nor can they restore normal vision. Operation is the best treatment for cataract. When the cataract is "ripe" or mature, it can be removed and full vision restored in uncomplicated cases. In recent years, surgery of the eye has been so improved that it is possible to remove the lens with a cataract in it at early stages of development in many cases.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column. THE DOCTOR ANSWERS QUESTION: Can sinus trouble cause difficulty in the throat, such as phlegm? ANSWER: Yes, indeed. Mucus and infected material from the sinuses can drip down in back of the throat. This frequently causes irritation and results in hawking and spitting.

Well, at least people can't say Roberto Rossellini and Ingrid Bergman weren't busy making movies on Stromboli, too. Rossellini shot exactly 46 reels of film on the picture - enough, roughly, for a show seven and a half hours long. It's being cut now to two hours.

Hollywood is betting 5 to 1 that Errol Flynn and Princess Irene Ghica never marry. Ditto that the Audie Murphy - Wanda Hendrix reconciliation will not last.

Gail Russell and Guy Madison went to Marysville, Calif., for location scenes on "Outrage." A local jeweler cashed in on the act with a window sign reading: "Gail Russell Wedding Rings Here and Be as Happy as Gail Russell and Guy Madison."

Style note: Joan Fontaine's bob, for "September," averages only two inches in length and is less than an inch in the back.

Director Fred Zinnemann surprised a lot of people by using non-actors along with professional ones in "The Search." Now he's doing it again for "The Men," which co-stars Marion B. Rand and Teresa Wright. Thirty-two paralyzed vets at the Army's Birmingham hospital here will play themselves in the picture.

Roses, strong and hardy as they are, need winter protection in climates where there is alternate freezing and thawing. The idea is to keep the plant temperature consistently above the danger point.

In the case of hybrid tea and floribunda roses, prune the canes to 18 or 20 inches after the leaves have dropped. Soak plants and surrounding soil with a fungicide, then mound soil about eight inches high around the base of each plant. After the ground has frozen, protect the tops with a blanket of leaves, straw, evergreen boughs or a similar material. Climbing roses should be securely anchored to supports to prevent whipping by the wind if they are located in sheltered spots. Where temperatures are below zero, climbers should be removed from supports, laid on the ground and covered with soil and layers of straw. Tree roses must be protected in all but warm climates — by trenching on one side of the tree, bending it to the ground, and covering the entire plant.

Winterize Roses

AP Newsfeatures

Roses, strong and hardy as they are, need winter protection in climates where there is alternate freezing and thawing. The idea is to keep the plant temperature consistently above the danger point.

In the case of hybrid tea and floribunda roses, prune the canes to 18 or 20 inches after the leaves have dropped. Soak plants and surrounding soil with a fungicide, then mound soil about eight inches high around the base of each plant. After the ground has frozen, protect the tops with a blanket of leaves, straw, evergreen boughs or a similar material. Climbing roses should be securely anchored to supports to prevent whipping by the wind if they are located in sheltered spots. Where temperatures are below zero, climbers should be removed from supports, laid on the ground and covered with soil and layers of straw. Tree roses must be protected in all but warm climates — by trenching on one side of the tree, bending it to the ground, and covering the entire plant.

is what bridge clubs provide. Of course a married couple can invite another couple in for an evening of bridge, but perhaps the husband and wife do not get along well as bridge partners. And what about the people who are alone? They can go to a bridge club, sit in a foursome and enjoy an evening of bridge.

Murray Oliphant likes to spend an evening at the Mayfair Bridge Club in New York City, after a heavy day at his plant, where he manufactures confirmation and graduation dresses. Today's hand came up in a rubber bridge game at the club. Oliphant sat South, and made an opening distributional bid of one spade. His partner made a jump shift bid of three diamonds, and they arrived at a rather doubtful slam—but Murray made it in the following manner.

He trumped the opening lead of the ace of clubs and led the four of spades to dummy's ace. A small spade was led from dummy and East won the trick with the king. East elected to return a diamond, which Murray won with the ten-spot. The queen of spades picked up West's last trump, then Murray proceeded to cash the balance of the diamonds, discarding two hearts from his own hand.

I have underlined the cards left in each hand at this point. Murray led the queen of clubs from dummy. If East had not covered, Murray would have discarded another heart. When East covered with the king of clubs, Murray trumped with the ten of spades and discarded his losing heart on the good ten of clubs.

Harvester Cagers Open 1949-50 Basketball Season Tonight

Class AA Playoffs Starting Today

Three Local Clubs Battling to Remain Alive in State Schoolboy Grid Races

(By The Associated Press) There will be lots of playoff competition tonight throughout the Panhandle. Three local area teams will be fighting to remain in the scrap for the state titles. Most important of course, for local fans, is the Harvester-Wichita Falls scrap out at Harvester Park. There the Harvesters are seeking to equal the yearly account with the Coyotes, though the oddsmakers don't think they can do it. By the time you read this you'll know for sure.

Over in Amarillo the Lefors Pirates will be charging against the mighty Littlefield Wildcats. Again the local club will be the underdogs. The Wildcats have been one eleven on the grounds in the state in Class A football. But the Pirates aren't far behind.

The Buccaneers have been in tough straits this week because of injuries and illness resulting from the Phillips bi-district game last weekend. Between colds and sore muscles Coach Love hasn't had a full squad at practice all week long.

But anyone who has followed the Pirates all season knows that they won't give up, no matter how great the odds may seem to be against them. They can strike like lightning and could very easily upset Littlefield and the dope bucket tomorrow. The winner of this game appears headed for a berth in the state finals of Class A.

The other club in the area that is battling for further honors is the White Deer Bucks. They will meet the Kress Kangaroos at Canyon for the bi-district title. The Bucks have hung up a fine record so far. But an injury jinx appears to have caught up with them. At the present time they are minus several of their star backs, Teddy Harvey probably the one who will be missed most.

Coach George Watson has several other boys who are potentially dangerous if they can shake themselves anywhere near clear. R. D. Tally, quarterback, is probably the most dangerous of the present quartette. Aiding him will be Ethan Noble and Donald Carpenter. Carpenter is a Freshman that Watson pulled off the bench in the final game of the season against Panhandle and the lad played remarkable ball.

But the list of injuries has made the Bucks the underdogs again in this game.

So all three of the games of local interest this afternoon show the clubs from the Top 'o' Texas area as the underdog. Perhaps all of them can turn the tables.

Doak Walker Eliminates Self From Team As Collier's Names Sixtieth All-America

For the first time in the 60-year history of Collier's original All-America, one of the nation's outstanding football athletes asked that his name be eliminated from consideration for the week's 1949 eleven on the grounds that there were others more deserving of consideration.

He is Doak Walker of Southern Methodist, Collier's 1948 quarterback, who was out of action with influenza and leg injuries for approximately one-third of the current season.

The unprecedented action prompted Collier's editors to name the Dallas athlete "Player of the Year for Sportsmanship," coincidental with the naming of the 1949 All-America by Collier's All-America Board of coaches representing the American Football Coaches Association.

Walker, aware that he was being considered by the Collier's coaches' board, wrote to the magazine:

"I believe that there are other All-America candidates who have been more active and therefore more deserving of consideration."

Notre Dame and Minnesota each placed two men on the team, Collier's All-America lineup for 1949 follows:

ENDS — Leon Hart of Notre Dame; Jim (Froggy) Williams of Rice.

TACKLES — Wade Walker of Oklahoma; Leo Nommellini of Minnesota.

GUARDS — Rod Frank of California; Bernie Barkouskie of Pittsburgh.

CENTER — Clayton Tonnenaker of Minnesota.

QUARTERBACK — Arnold Gaffa of Army.

HALFBACKS — Charles Justice of North Carolina; Lynn Chandnois of Michigan State.

FULLBACK — Emil Sitko of Notre Dame.

Collier's All-America this year is a far cry in makeup from the first Collier's team in 1888 when the late Walter Camp originated the annual custom by honoring 11 Yale, Harvard and Princeton players on the original team. Not since 1941, when Walker of Yale was nominated, has the East's "Big Three" been represented on Collier's All-America.

This year's team features an all-senior line averaging 220 pounds. Chandnois of Michigan State is the only junior on the eleven and this is the first time that college has been represented on a Collier's team.

Hart, the huge Notre Dame end, is the youngest and tallest member of the "dream team." At 21, he weighs 245 pounds and stands 6 feet 4 inches. Sitko, his college backfield mate, is the smallest, 180 pounds, 5 feet 5 inches.

Geographically, all national sections are represented, the Midwest predominating with six players.

Four members of last year's Collier's All-America were eligible for the '49 team, but only two 1948 stars — Justice and Nommellini — retained All-America rating. Alvin Watert, Michigan tackle, was replaced this year by Wade Walker of Oklahoma, and Doak Walker declined the honor.

Collier's All-America balloting system relied on weekly reports during the season from 300 members of the American Football Coaches Association. These reports, comprised of scouting data, on-the-field observations and analyses of game movies, were sifted by the All-America board coaches, which included "Tues" McLaughry of Dartmouth, Lou Little of Columbia, Matty Bell of SAU, Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, "Dutch" Meyer of TCU, Carl Smalley of North Carolina, and Jeff Cravath of Southern California.

Notre Dame's coach Leahy, summing up the nominations, said that this year's eleven was a "team," not a collection of individual stars.

"This year's All-America is composed of 11 lads who possess the offensive and defensive skills required for complete team performance. They have weight, speed, endurance. Barring injuries, they could play 60 minutes each and this is the first time that college has been represented on a Collier's team.

Of the 10 Southwest players nominated to the All-America squad, including the three named to the All-America team, the University of Oklahoma placed four, Rice, two, and Arkansas, Texas, Texas Christian and Southern Methodist each placed one.

The squad's All-America Southwest Players: OKLAHOMA — Jimmy Owens, Stan West and George Thomas; RICE — Joe Watson; ARKANSAS — Leon Campbell; TCU — Lindy Berry; and TEXAS — Lew McFadin.

Harvester Coaches Receive Gifts From Pampa Fans

Coaches Tom Tipps and Aubrey Nooncaster were ignored at a huge pep rally last night in downtown Pampa with valuable gifts as an expression of the appreciation of the Pampa football fans for the fine showing of the Harvesters this season.

Coach Tipps was the recipient of a new 1950 model Mercury, while Coach Nooncaster found the answer to his dreams in a tape recording machine.

The representations were made by Jim Arndt, president of the Pampa Quarterback Club, before approximately 3,000 fans who had mobbed in the 100 block of North Cuyler to show their appreciation to the coaches and the team. The Harvester team was also present for the rally which was intended to get the Harvesters off to a flying start in their bid for the state crown as they waited for the opening of the battle with the Wichita Falls Coyotes this afternoon.

Another important presentation made at the rally was the Santa Fe Victory Bell, symbolic of the District 1-AA football championship, which has rested in Amarillo for so long that it had apparently become a nuisance to the Sandie fans from the condition that it was in when picked up by Pampa representatives.

The presentation of the bell was made by Mr. Hendrix of the Santa Fe company who said that it gave him "great honor" to present the Santa Fe bell to Pampa High School for the third time since 1940 when the plan was first carried out.

"The bell," said Mr. Hendrix, "is symbolic of the good sportsmanship, team competition and fair play that the Harvesters have shown all season."

As Arndt presented the gifts to the coaches he summed the occasion up by saying that the fans were paying tribute to the two men not only as coaches but as fine members of the community. Coach Tipps' gifts started out in a small package, which contained the keys to the car, and mushroomed into the automobile itself.

Tipps, in response to words of praise heaped upon him, said "I am very proud to be a coach of a fighting bunch of boys like the Harvesters."

Nooncaster was apparently at a loss for words as he explained his thanks with "I'm supposed to be an English teacher and all such should have some command of the English language, but darned if I know what to say." And he also heaped the praise upon the boys and gave them the credit for the fine season.

The Pampa Harvester band was on hand to lend music to the occasion. The huge crowd was composed of not only school boys and girls but a large number of adult fans were also present lending their voices to the rally.

Class A IIs To Find It Hard Going

(By The Associated Press) Mineola handed Atlanta an 18-13 licking last night and moved into the quarterfinals of the Class A state high school football race.

Six more second round games will be played today and tonight and one tomorrow.

John Kelly headed to Benny Sinclair for the third quarter touchdown that put Mineola a step nearer the state championship. Bobby Don Walker had caught Kelly's blocked kick and ran it 22 yards for a first down on Atlanta's 33-yard line to set up the touchdown.

Powerful Littlefield takes on Lefors today at Amarillo; Bowie and Garland tangle at Garland; Grand Saline meets Mexia at Corsicana; Rosebud plays New Braunfels, at Temple; French (Beaumont) meets El Campo at El Campo and Mission takes on Uvalde at Mission.

Tomorrow, Wink and Ballinger clash at Wink; Corsicana meets Lefors, Mexia, New Braunfels, and French are undefeated and untied. Ballinger, Bowie, and Uvalde are unbeaten but have been tied.

Walker scored first for Mineola, in the second quarter. He climaxed a 72-yard drive by driving over the goal from the four-yard line.

John Simmons scored from the one-yard line shortly afterward to tie the score for Atlanta. But just before the half ended, Kelly smashed over from the three-yard line for Mineola. Benny Castloo had blocked an Atlanta punt and recovered on the six-yard line.

Atlanta's last touchdown came in the fourth period. Bobby Crues' 87-yard return of an intercepted pass set it up. Gene Murty made it from the one and Charles Musgrove kicked the extra point.

Mineola will play the winner of the Garland-Bowie game in the next round of the playoff.

Bears Ponder Bowl Offer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Subject to ratification by the players of the Texas school, undefeated and untied College of the Pacific will play Baylor University in a bowl game.

Leo C. Lee, president of the San Francisco Press Club, says the two schools have informally agreed to play in the first annual "Press Club Bowl," either in Kezar Stadium here Jan. 2 or in the University of California's Memorial Stadium in Berkeley Dec. 28.

Kezar seats 60,000 fans, California 80,000.

Dr. Robert Burns, college of the Pacific president, said Baylor had given assurances it would like the game, but in Waco, Texas, Ralph Wolf, Baylor athletic director, cautioned:

"We can do nothing until all the Baylor students return from home. This is the week between terms. Here we of course, wouldn't play, if the players didn't want to."

He said the decision probably would not be reached before Monday.

Florida-bred thoroughbreds won 64 races and earned $145,977 in purses the first nine months of the year.

1949 Grid Year Harder on Fans Than on Players

NEW YORK (AP) — This year's major college football season was harder on spectators than on players.

The score — 20 spectators died of heart attacks. Player deaths 0.

And possibly the most important sign of all — two of these spectators dropped dead while looking on television. All the others either died at games or shortly after.

This is something for you to think about it, and it's a big if you are one of those persons with certain known heart weaknesses.

What can be done about it? This answer you are going to like. Remember you have a weak heart. Just think pretty often about relaxing and enjoying the spectacle, instead of quarterbacking it yourself.

Childress First Opposition; Guerillas Play at 7 P.M.

The Pampa Harvester basketball team will open their 1949-50 season tonight at the Junior High School gymnasium by playing host to the Childress Bobcats from district 2-AA. Last season the Harvesters trounced the Cats twice, but graduation has taken its toll and things are apt to be much different tonight.

Coach Clifton McNeely has been working his cagers hard for several weeks now, but they have failed to respond as well as had been hoped for. Replacements for Darrel Davis, Malcolm Douglas and Bill Bond have been slow in producing the calibre of ball that these three members of last season's club showed.

The team that takes the court tonight will probably see 6 foot 3-inch James Gallimore at center. He will be the leading scoring threat on the team and the boy that the Bobcats will be concentrating on stopping.

Jimmy Howard, regular from last season, and Jack Sutton, a squadman last year, will be operating at the guards. Both are good ball-handlers, but neither has played as well as expected so far.

At the forwards will be Dwaine Reno, from last season's team, and Tony Jones, up from the Guerillas. Both stand over six feet tall, and both are scrappers, though they have had no opportunity as yet to prove themselves in Class AA competition.

For reserve strength, Coach McNeely can call on James A. Claunch, Marvin Bond, Gordon Yoder, Roy King and Ronnie Samples. All were members of the Guerillas last year with the exception of Bond, who made the jump to the Harvesters from the Reapers of Junior High School.

The main game will start at 8 o'clock and will be preceded by a Guerilla-Childress "B" team game at 6:45 p.m. Coach McNeely, who has also been coaching the Guerillas, was not set on his starting lineup for that team. To choose from he has 12 men. They are Duane Jeter, Billy Davis, Fred Williams, Jim Smith, Tollen Hutchens, Bill McPherson, Glen Harris, Howard Musgrave, Bob Seitz, Jim Delaney, Billy Campbell, and Tommy Smith.

The main game of the evening will be broadcast by radio station KPDN, starting at 8 o'clock.

Walker to Sit on Sidelines And Watch SMU Battle Irish

DALLAS (AP) — Golden Doak Walker will end his collegiate football career on the bench tomorrow — and in civilian clothes.

Southern Methodist University Coach Matty Bell last night said his triple-threat backfield star wouldn't even suit out for tomorrow's game with mighty Notre Dame.

The definite loss of Walker dimmed further Southern Methodist's already dim hopes of upsetting the Irish, shooting for their 38th consecutive victory.

"His leg just didn't respond to treatment," Bell said of Walker. "He can't run at all."

Walker reinjured a leg in the Texas Christian University game last week. He was out most of the second half.

Bell would not name the back who would replace Walker.

"We're trying several combinations," he said he would say.

Walker, an all-America for three straight years, was one of the main hopes Southern Methodist rosters had for an upset over Frank Leahy's powerful eleven.

Leahy planned a practice this afternoon for his gridders. The football squad came to Dallas on a special train carrying several cars of Notre Dame fans.

Without Walker, Kyle Rote will bear the brunt of the Mustang running attack. The big hard running Junior will also probably handle punting and extra point kicking — if any of the latter are needed.

The Mustangs went through their last hard practice yesterday. They've been working out all week behind barred gates. There's been no hint of what new tactics they will unveil, but there have been plenty of rumors. One of them is that Rote will be running the punt and the extra point kicking.

Walker told the rally: "I believe there's going to be trouble for the Irish Saturday."

Irish Eat Tomorrow

DALLAS (AP) — All dormitories at Southern Methodist University will serve Irish stew for dinner tonight. That's the eve of SMU's football game with the Fighting Irish from Notre Dame.

The wildest has Bell switching from the single and double wing formations to the split T for this game.

It's a pretty safe guess that Southern Methodist will go all out on offense, with passing a Most football schedules are finished. And some coaches are about finished, too.

All season long, the coaches called the players on the carpet. Now is the time when they get called on the carpet.
And it's usually the wall-to-wall type.

Here is an all-star football team that should, at least, scare opponents to death:
LB—Slay, Mississippi
LT—Rouse, Kansas
LG—Hurt, Texas
C—Funches, Colorado
RG—Strong, Mississippi
RT—Butts, Georgia
RE—Kille, Temple
QB—Battie, Southern Calif.
HB—Hitt, Auburn
HB—Rushing, Mississippi State
EB—Savage, George Washington
With all bowl teams picked, now comes the fun of picking the bowl winners.
The Rose Bowl is supposed to be a sellout already.
They say that there's not an alley left.

Need a Grid Stadium?

COMMERCIAL—(P)—Wanna buy a football stadium?
Nope, you don't get a football team with the sale. East Texas State College plans to use its grid to fill a brand-new $200,000 stadium now under construction.
The college started taking bids for sale and raising the old stadium yesterday.
Scallion is named after Ascalon, ancient Palestine port, which shipped onions in Mediterranean trade.

SWC Grid Race Failed to Run According to Form

FORT WORTH — That the 1949 Southwest Conference race did not run according to form is evidenced by a backward glance at the results of September predictions recorded by the annual TCU News Service poll.
Not a single one of the 105 so-called "experts" — the newspaper sports writers and the radio sports announcers of the area — taking part in the poll correctly called the first two places of the final standings. But 23 did at least have the foresight to pick Rice as the champion.
This year's poll marked the 13th time in 18 years that the experts failed to predict the champion in their composite selection. In September, they voted overwhelmingly that SMU, the defending champion, would repeat. The Mustangs received 85 first place votes.
The results of the pre-season poll as compared with the actual finish:

PRE-SEASON POLL

1. SMU	1. Rice
2. Baylor	2. Texas
3. TCU and Texas (tie)	3. Baylor
4. SMU	4. Baylor
5. Arkansas	5. Texas A&M
6. Arkansas	6. Arkansas
7. Texas A&M	7. Texas A&M

Correctly calling five of the seven places, Flom Hall, sports editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Bill Lee, sports editor of the Austin American — statesman, and Dave Russell of Beaumont's radio station KFDX turned in the best pre-season predictions for 1949. Each of these men made the same error, picking SMU to finish second and Baylor in fifth, whereas if they had reversed these selections they would have had virtually perfect calls.
None of three of course, predicted the TCU and Texas tie for third, but all did list the two in the third and fourth spots.

Texas Grid Fans Go for Bowls

DALLAS — (P)—Texas not only furnishes teams to play bowl games it has plenty of bowl games of its own. Already there are six scheduled for December and January and there are likely to be more.
The Cotton Bowl heads the list. It will be played Jan. 2 in Dallas with 75,000 spectators. The Southwest Conference champ is the host. The "take" will be $120,000 for each team.

The Sun Bowl at El Paso, which has operated 34 years — one more than the Cotton Bowl — matches the Border Conference champion, if that team can be obtained, against some outside foe. Seating capacity is 16,000 with the visiting team receiving $12,000 and the host team $12,000. It will be played Jan. 2.
The Texas Rose Bowl at Tyler, in its third year, is for junior colleges with the champion of the Southwestern Junior College Conference sought as host team. Seating capacity is 15,000. It will be played Dec. 10.

The Oleander Bowl at Galveston will be played for the second time. Last year junior college teams played and each got $4,000. This year senior colleges will be sought. It will be played Jan. 2, in a bowl with 14,000 seats.
The Prairie View Bowl at Houston, played in the Texas League park, claims to be the second oldest bowl game in the country — second only to the Rose Bowl. It has operated 21 years and matches Prairie View College with some other Negro college team. Last year it drew 10,000. It will be held Dec. 31.
The second annual Spindletop Bowl at Beaumont will be held Dec. 10 with junior college teams competing.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hassel—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What is the only Southwest Conference team to hold a decision over the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame?

TOMORROW AFTERNOON AS MANY TEXANS AS CAN POSSIBLY DO IT will squeeze into the Cotton Bowl at Dallas to watch what many ancient observers claim is the greatest college football team to ever be developed. I am speaking of course of the mighty Irish of Notre Dame. Lay Southern Methodist fans will be hoping that the Mustangs can pull a sleeper and that the Doak Walkerless pack can outscore the Green.
There is always that possibility; but it certainly appears very remote for the thrice-beaten and once-tied men of Moaning Matly Bell to halt the brilliant winning streak of Frank Leahy. The SMUs have been holding secret workouts this week in an attempt to produce something different for the Irish. But the boys from South Bend are used to everybody doing the same thing, so there is little chance that the padlocked practice field doors will help.

Fans who see tomorrow's battle will also get a look at four members of the Associated Press All-American first team: three of them, Leon Hart, Jim Martin and Emil Sitko, will be performing with the Irish. The fourth member is, of course, No. 87, Doak Walker. That is quite an array for fans to witness on one field at one time.

What makes Notre Dame so great? Why do they always come up with a batch of all-Americans each year? Here's the answer that Red Grange, one of the greatest of football players, gives:
"This year's Notre Dame team is the greatest college team I've ever seen. Despite the fact that they might get beaten by Southern Methodist that statement still goes. Any great team can have an off day, especially Notre Dame, whose every opponent is keyed to its highest pitch of the season."

"In my opinion Notre Dame is the No. 1 team in the nation because Frank Leahy is the head coach. In my book he's the best coach in college football. He does more things with the T formation than any other coach in college ball. I sit in the press box or radio booth and vince when I see how some college coaches employing the T waste opportunities. Leahy learned it from the ground up. He spent a lot of time with George Halas and used some of Halas' aids in getting the system established at Notre Dame starting with Coach Leahy. Frank gets good material each year. It's the natural ambition of almost every outstanding high school player in Catholic schools as well as many from non-Catholic schools to want to play for Notre Dame. But that isn't the answer to his success. I think other universities get comparable talent.
"I think that Leahy gets more

College Cage Season Opens With Upsets

NEW YORK — (P)—The college basketball season officially opened last night and right off the bat two major upsets went into the books.
The University of San Francisco, National Invitational Touring life but play football. Anyway, the fans who see tomorrow's battle are certain to see a terrific team in action, whether or not they witness a good ball game. I'm glad that my young quarterback called the right signal so that I can attend the game.

ney champions and regarded as one of the top teams in the country this season, took a 43-38 jolt from San Jose (Calif.) State while Vanderbilt, a 13-point underdog, whipped New York University, 65-59, in overtime at Madison Square Garden.
The Vandy-NYU struggle was the feature of the season's first doubleheader at the Garden, an event usually considered as marking the official opening of a new cage campaign. In the first game Long Island nipped the Texas Aggies, of the Southwest Conference, 66-62.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (P)—As we get it, the case in the Green Bay Packers organization, which found Curly Lambeau coming out on top again, was mostly a conflict of personalities among the guys who were known as the "hungry five" when they all ran the club. And Lambeau's loudest critic is a fan who once blasted Curly for picking such a "stripling" as Don Hutson to play pro ball. And the smoothed-over dispute in the Professional Golfers' Association was largely due to the keen rivalry among sporting goods houses which employ the top pros. They finally agreed it wasn't "cricket" for the tournament director to compete with the guys who pay his salary or to work for one manufacturer while acting as referee for the employees of other houses.

MOOSE SMELLED A RAT
Like any college athletic director with a good football team, Notre Dame's Moose Krause had his trouble with friends who wanted tickets. One Friday night, after a day of ducking and refusing, Moose entered a South Bend hotel and saw an old friend in the lobby. "Thinking he'd forestall the inevitable query, Krause said: 'Hi, Bill. You don't by any chance have stuck a hand in my pocket and replied: 'Sure, Moose, here's two.' ... Krause was so surprised he had to take a seat (not two) right there.

Additions to U.S. Supreme Court Advocated

NEW YORK — There's talk in Washington of enlarging the Supreme Court from nine to 11 justices, according to Business Week. The plan is to add one Democrat and one Republican so that politics will not enter into it. "Argument for the increase is that more justices are needed to carry the workload," says the article. "In the last 20 years, the number of district and circuit judges has nearly doubled; the number of appeals carried to the Supreme Court has more than doubled."

Polio Foundation Is Almost Broke

DALLAS — The head of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says the organization will have to start almost from scratch to raise its 1950 funds. Basil O'Connor, New York lawyer, is on a national tour to discuss the campaign, which will be held the last half of January. He said the anti-polio group is almost broke. Traditionally, no specific goal is set. But O'Connor said that $22,000,000—almost twice as much as in any past year—will be needed in 1950.

Man From Michigan Builds Park Benches

McALLEN —(AP)—What McAllen needed was benches in the park, the man from Michigan decided. So Harry Gillfillan of Battle Creek, Mich., who came South to spend the winter, set to work building benches. City officials said it was okay and this week Gillfillan had built a dozen benches placed at strategic points around Archer Park. He was still building more. "If the mayor will let me, I intend to keep building all winter," he said. He has no family and no plans for working anywhere this winter.

Outstanding College Women Are Sought

AUSTIN — The Army is in the process of inaugurating a program to commission outstanding women college graduates as second lieutenants in the WAC Section, Organized Reserve Corps. Col. Oscar B. Abbott, chief of Texas Military District, announced here. A representative from the Pentagon, Maj. Eleanor Sullivan, WAC, will be in Texas in January to contact the following institutions relative to this program: Texas State College for Women, Denton; Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton; Tillotson College, Austin; University of Texas; Our Lady of the Lake College, San Antonio; Incarnate Word College, San Antonio; and Trinity University, San Antonio.

Many People Are Shortening Their Lives Seeking Way to Live Longer

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP)— Many people today are shortening their lives trying to find a way to live longer. The main idea seems to be that if a man puts his whole energy into earning money he can pile up enough chips in the bank to retire at 50 or 55, and spend his declining years clipping bond coupons. This is a fine theory except that it softens the widows who do the coupon clipping. The overly ambitious men have a bad habit of ending up under the daisies at 40 to 45, dead from a busted heart artery or valve brought on by worry and taut living. The United States has more miles of arterial highways than any other country in the world. It also has more miles of arteriosclerosis in the veins of its fretful citizens. Its apoplexy rate is a matter for medical apology. It is true that Americans live longer — on the average — than most peoples. But this is a triumph of mass sanitation rather than individual commonsense.

Many People Are Shortening Their Lives Seeking Way to Live Longer

In the opinion of this poor man's philosopher the trouble lies in the fact that as a nation we have never learned that "easy does it." We take an unjustified pride in living the strenuous life — so we work and play with the throttle wide open. And we eat, drink and smoke too much. We treat our body as if it were a tuned-up machine in a lifelong race on the Indianapolis Speedway. But ordinary flesh can't take that pace. And the body rebels by breaking down. It has to have the pause that refreshes. Older civilizations realize this physical fact, and allow for it. We have a tendency to ridicule our British cousins for breaking their routine with 11 and 4 o'clock teas. But don't we, in effect, do the same thing? What office worker doesn't try to slip down for his morning and afternoon cup of coffee? And he works the better afterward for this brief relaxation. Another custom America might well borrow is the siesta popular in all Latin countries. Thomas A. Edison is supposed to have gotten

PROPHETS AND PREACHERS

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
Into a city there came a man to be the minister of a particular congregation. Members of this congregation held a doctrine not commonly held by Christians in general, and referring to this new minister said, apparently not considering that there was anything reprehensible in the remark, "I'll give it to them, and I'll give it to them strong."

The man may have been in other respects a good and well-intentioned minister, but in this he showed the unquestionable mark of a false prophet. There was no evidence that so far as he was concerned he believed at all strongly in that particular doctrine. In fact the implication was that he did not, but was speaking out of the voice of expediency and worldly wisdom. When a minister sets out to please his people primarily, and to say what they want him to say, rather than above all things to declare the truth of God that in his heart he knows he ought to declare, he has taken at least the first step toward becoming a false prophet.

There is a story of a prominent church member, in a front pew, who interrupted his minister as he preached, to protest, "It's not food you're giving us." The minister turned on him, as he replied, "No, it's not food, brother, but it's the medicine; and you need it."

Now, of course, only a competent physician has a right to decide when a patient needs medicine instead of food; and professed physicians of the soul may be as incompetent and subject to error as physicians of the body. Nevertheless there is point to that

The prophets of ancient Israel had to utter truth that was not only unpalatable to those who heard them, but who so angrily resented the prophets' words that they inflicted the most horrible forms of persecution upon them, as in the case of Jeremiah.

There is, of course, the type of false prophet who seems to take a delight in uttering perverse things. I knew one such who never seemed to be happy unless he was insulting somebody. The true prophet, in contrast, has a deep sense of restraint and responsibility. The man who would speak for God must consider his words. Love for those to whom he speaks is as essential as his disregard of their judgments when he speaks with conviction.

Deep in the Hebrew prophet, besides his faithfulness to God, was his intense love of his people and nation. When he saw kings ruling unwisely and the people plunging toward disaster, it was with pain rather than pleasure that he sounded his warning. His was the true patriotism in contrast with the false patriotism of those who had only honeyed words and boasting.

There are many today having the same spirit as did Jeremiah when he wrote (Jeremiah 8:11), "Peace, peace, when there is no peace."

The true prophet, religious, political, and social, is concerned with realities, not appearances, and with healing the nation's ills, not slightly, but effectually.

Christian Science

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 4.

The Golden Text is: "Unto thee O God, do we give thanks, for unto thee do we give thanks, for that thy name is near thy wondrous works declare" (Psalms 75:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens: God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it, he inhabited it: I am the Lord; and there is none else" (Isaiah 45:18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is individual, incorporeal. He is divine Principle, Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existence" (page 331).

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY BEGINS IN THE HOME

TWO GOOD REASONS

...for maintaining strong family ties.

Here are a couple of good reasons we know - a lovely daughter and a lively son - for the building of a happy family life. The home atmosphere today influences and shapes the course of a child's tomorrow.

This boy and girl look to their father and mother for knowledge and guidance and help with their personal problems . . . so often complex to the youthful mind.

A boy and a girl . . . two good reasons why home and family life remain so important.

As Good Parents You Should:

- 1—Give the love and companionship so necessary to your child's welfare;
- 2—Attend church with your children;
- 3—Support personally the many fine organizations that provide recreation for boys and girls;
- 4—Devote some of your time to personal service in the activities that minister to the young;
- 5—Help spread good cheer and human understanding to families not as fortunate as your own.

Wise parents know that duty to their children is more than food, clothing and shelter.

They know that the home life needs to be more attractive to childhood; that wholesome recreation for their own boys and girls and their neighbor's children is the best way to prevent trouble and sorrow when the critical years are upon them.

Lodge Hall To Get New Paint Job
The home of Pampa Lodge 1385, Local Order of Moose, now in the midst of renovations, will be given a new face next week, lodge officers reported this week.
Lodge members who can paint were asked by Secretary Vincent D. Kersey to report Sunday at the lodge home, 403 E. Brown, to help in painting the building.
Next week the lodge will hold its regular meeting Wednesday night when candidates, who have been notified, will be initiated with the short form obligatory ceremony. The following night a stag barbecue in honor of the Borger degree and drill teams will be held. Only members and their guests will be admitted to the lodge building.

Big Increase in Crime Reported
AUSTIN — (AP) — A 13.3 percent increase in crime in Texas during the first nine months of this year was reported by the Texas Department of Public Safety yesterday.
There were increases in all categories except murders and homicides, which were down 2.8 percent.
Increases were reported for rape, 19.8 percent; robbery, 23.3 percent; burglary, 8.9 percent; aggravated assault, 4.1 percent; theft, 16.7 percent; auto theft, 15.9 percent.

In rural areas the pattern was similar to that for the entire state. In urban areas, there were fewer rape and aggravated assault offenses but more murder and homicide.

Witness Afraid Of 'Boogerman'
ROME, Ga. — (AP) — A pint-sized, 10-year-old witness, his feet swinging slowly, gave the mass civil rights trial here its tensest moment.
The small, fourth-grader, Cecil Foster, was considered qualified as a witness after he observed that if he didn't tell the truth "the boogerman will get me."
Cecil was called by the government in the trial of 12 men accused of conspiring to have seven Negroes seized by a mob of Ku Kluxers and whipped April 2.
The boy said he saw sheriff's Deputies William Hartline, John Blackley and Stokes McCauley at a cross building last spring.
The three deputies, Sheriff John W. Lynch and eight private citizens are the defendants.

EUROPE
detailed planning of the defense of Western Europe.
American tasks believed to have been assigned under the plan — if this country should become involved in war — are mainly:
1. Strategic bombing, including possible use of the atomic bomb;
2. naval operations jointly with other naval powers to keep Atlantic sea lanes open; and 3. participation in land action following up the initial resistance of the armies of the countries first attacked.

Officials here said that the strategy statement, which reportedly will be kept secret, still has to be formally approved by the Atlantic Council, the top policy-making body of the alliance, of which Acheson is chairman.

For purposes of the arms shipments it must also be certified by President Truman as acceptable to the United States. No difficulty is foreseen on this score since the plan is largely American in origin.

Catholic Editors Issue Claim
SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Catholic editors should be able to communicate to their readers the church's teachings in the social sciences, Archbishop Robert E. Luce of San Antonio said.
He spoke at a meeting of the Southern region of the Catholic Press Association.
Thirteen delegates from seven Southern states heard the archbishop stress the value of expert knowledge of industrial relations, civic affairs, agricultural problems, international relations and inter-racial justice.

One Divorce and Adoption Granted
District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich this morning in 31st District Court granted a divorce on charges of cruelty to Tommie Sandford from Oscar Sandford and granted the plaintiff custody of her two minor children. Mrs. Sandford was also awarded a court order of $30 a month support for the children. The Sandfords married in December, 1943 and separated in October, 1948.
One adoption was also granted by Judge Goodrich this morning.

Bathing Different In Old Country
WACO — American bathrooms are much more convenient than those in Latvia. You can take the word of Cornelius Dinsbergs, Bay-Lucy of Latvia, student from Latvia, on that.
In Latvia, he said, bathrooms are separate from homes.
"One takes steam baths by pouring water on hot stones and then switching himself. This is followed by a shower of cold water, or a roll in the snow," Dinsbergs explained.
"It's good for rheumatism," he added.

Borger Is Allotted 150 Housing Units
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Borger, Texas, has been granted 150 units in a low rent housing allotment, the Public Housing Administration announced yesterday.
Borger will get 75 units each year in a two-year program. The government also will help finance construction if private funds are not available.

The CAMEO

By Virginia Teale Copyright, 1949, MSA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Investigating the murder of Marie Foster, Charlie Reddy calls upon Stephanie Smith, employed at a gift shop owned by Hagar Blair, at whose home Stephanie lives. Stephanie tells Reddy about the double space which is a clue in the murder. Returning to Hagar's home they discover a note from Nell O'Neill, who claimed to own the camera, murderer in Hagar's sculpture studio. Stephanie tells Reddy that she is Nell's niece.

XXI
The amber light from what had been Nell O'Neill's favorite Chinese lamp shone down on the carnelian cameo, on the delicately carved outline of the weeping woman; the pearls and small diamonds surrounding the stone plucked the light and threw it out as a nimbus on the glass table top.

Four men were staring down at the jewel. Chief of Police Peters spoke first:

"Tom," he said quietly, "are you sure you don't want to see the girl and give back the pin personally?"

Tom O'Neill backed away from the group and sank onto a squarish teakwood bench, he clasped his hands and allowed them to hang loosely between his knees.

"Take it out of my sight," he mumbled. "Give it to Nell's niece. She wanted it bad enough to kill Nell; it didn't do her. Well, give it to her!"

Charlie Reddy took a step toward him: "Now look here, Tom!" He stopped speaking as Chief Peters gestured him to silence.

"Tom," Peters put in patiently, "we've told you the story as we know it, the business of Mrs. O'Neill's theft of the cameo—" he paused as Tom made a belligerent move. "Well, let's say her 'appropriation' of the cameo from her sister, who, as you now know, was Stephanie Smith's mother. It should be clear that the girl could not possibly have killed her aunt. The time of death precludes that. Mrs. O'Neill died in the middle of Officials of the airlines company — the Compania Real, one of Brazil's busiest — said they had not determined the cause of the crash immediately. They said the plane went down only 20 miles from its destination.

COUNTY

makes known the wishes of the residents along that road that it be included in the next farm-to-market road improvement program, the judge said.

The petition states that the road leading from Kingsmill three miles north to Highway 152 "is the principal connecting link between the Amarillo and Borger highways... (it) carries lots of industrial and oil field traffic... The territory is a highly developed wheat farming area... (and) it is impassable in bad weather."

The petition asking for permanent county fair buildings asks the County Commissioners' Court to authorize the issuance of $150,000 worth of bonds "to purchase or build buildings to be used for annual livestock and other agricultural products exhibits."

The bonds would mature over a 20-year period and would bear no more than 3 1/2 percent interest.

The petition seeks the buildings under the authority of House Bill 842, 51st Legislature. That act, that became effective June 14, 1949, authorizes commissioners' courts to purchase, build, or construct buildings to house annual exhibits of horticulture, agriculture, livestock, or mineral products, and to issue necessary bonds.

Although not mentioned in the petition, the state tacitly accepted for these permanent fair buildings is Recreation Park, two miles east of Pampa, where county fairs have been held the past two years.

At yesterday's meeting, the commissioners also accepted two easements for rights-of-way on Highway 70, the proposed Pampa-Ferryton road.

Payment of $300 was approved to W. H. and Myrtle Walters for land along their property at 733 N. Hobart that would be taken in the widening of Hobart through the city.

Mrs. Nancy Dunn will receive $3,000 in payment for Highway 70 right-of-way through her farm about three miles north of town. The proposed road will take approximately 13 acres, to be paid for at the rate of $100 per acre.

The remaining $1,700 is for severance damage to 46 acres that will be cut off from continuity with the rest of the farm when the road is built.

The county will build the necessary fences along the road and will build two cattle guards.

Routine payment of bills completed the court's business.

SUICIDE VERDICT Given in Death

AUSTIN — (AP) — The pistol shot that killed William Sydney (Red) Miles, 18, University of Texas freshman, was self-inflicted, Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee ruled yesterday.

Miles died instantly at 12:41 a. m. yesterday after a single shot was fired in the locked bathroom of his apartment at the A-Bar Hotel. Blakeslee said.

The body was sent to Texas City, the youth's home, and a burial was scheduled in Galveston Memorial Cemetery at Galveston today.

1946 Ford Coupe Stolen From Humble

A 1946 black Ford coupe, belonging to the Humble Oil Co., was reported stolen this morning to the Sheriff's Department by company officials.

The car was taken from a company garage at the Humble camp last night, Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan reported.

The car has the Humble sign painted on both doors and bears Texas license AB 1852. It had not been recovered by 10:30 a. m. today.

Barnhill Uncertain About Retirement

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — (AP) — University of Arkansas athletic director John Barnhill said Thursday he has not made up his mind whether to give up his job as head football coach.

At the same time, Robert Cheyne, athletic department publicity director, said that a statement will be made "in three or four days."

Reports have been current that Barnhill, who came to Arkansas in 1946 from Tennessee, would relinquish his head football coaching duties and remain as athletic director.
