Forrestal Leaps to Death

Naval Board Of Inquiry Is Ordered

WASHINGTON — A naval board of inquiry was ordered today to inquire into the suicide of James Forrestal, but his friends among the nation's great wrote their own verdict: He died because he worked so hard for his country.

Forrestal, cabinet member under Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, ended his own life early Sunday morning by leaping from the 16th floor of the Navy's hospital in Bethesda, Md. He left as his fare well only an ancient Greek poem of despair and death.

This spring, his health broken by more than nine years of nerve-racking service, he decided to seek release from the strain. A few days in Florida after his resignation, and then he entered the hospital April 2. His death and the manner of it shocked the capital.

President Truman said "This able and devoted public servant was as truly a casualty of the war as if he had died on the firing line." He issued a proclamation ordering that flags fly at half staff.

So far as was known, the former secretary left no note.

But on a radiator, near his hospital bed, was found a book "An Anthology of World Poetry." A red ribbon lay between the pages open to Sophocles' (See FORRESTAL, Page 2)

R. Matheson Rites Slated Tomorrow

Funeral services for Roy Matheson, who was killed in a truck collision Saturday night near a White Deer pastor, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the First Baptist Church in White Deer.

The Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Pampa, will officiate. Burial, under the direction of the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, will be in the White Deer Cemetery.

Matheson, who was born Sept. 12, 1902, in Wise County, Tex., was killed about 6 p. m. Saturday near Sunset when his truck and another truck collided. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Selman, both of Fort Worth, were also killed in the crash.

Matheson, owner and operator of the Matheson Independent Oil Co., was returning alone from one of his regular business trips to Fort Worth. Pat O'Brien, driver of the other truck, and the two Selman children were injured.

Matheson had lived in White Deer nearly all his 47 years. In addition to his wholesale and retail gas and oil business, he also owned some land north of White Deer.

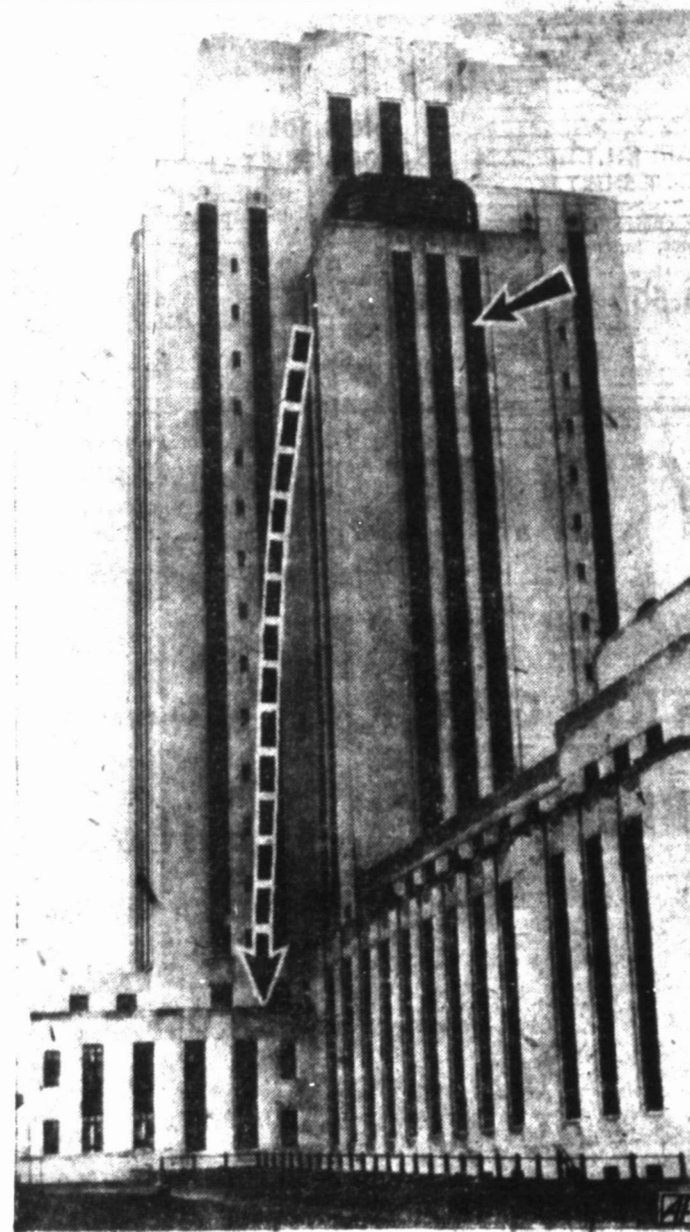

Besides his wife, Mrs. Hattie Matheson of White Deer, he is survived by one daughter, Eriene Matheson of Pampa, two brothers, Albert and White Deer, and Lon of the Alhambra Community, 20 miles north of White Deer, and by one nephew, S. J. Matheson, also of White Deer.

Fallbearers for tomorrow's services will be Leonard Ballard, Ernie Jones, C. E. Terry, Dud Burns, Alva Holmes and Tracy Garner.

Highway Patrolmen Probe Two 'Mixed Up' Collisions

Slate Highway Patrolmen this morning were still trying to weave a readable report on two collisions last night that involved several cars, and slightly injured one person, with the second wreck being an indirect result of the first.

Patrolmen gave the following story of the "messed up" events — and cars: About 8 p. m. Sunday, a 1942 Chevrolet club coupe, driven by Mrs. Nellie M. Spencer, 729 Murphy, was parked on the north shoulder of U. S. Highway 69, approximately 4.8 miles east of the city limits, headed toward Pampa. Behind her car, a 1940 Ford convertible, driven by Robert A. Turner, of the Orange Courts, Pampa, was also parked. Turner pulled out to go around the parked Chevrolet as he came abreast of it a 1932 Ford, traveling west toward Pampa, and driven by Cecil Stubbs, 328 Perry, crashed into the rear of the moving car ahead of him. The impact threw the struck car into a field and made Stubbs swerve over to the right, hitting the left rear fender of the parked Chevrolet. This impact sent the Stubbs car then to the left where it was struck on the left front by an oncoming 1948 Frazer, traveling east, and driven by Lester Haddy, Mobeetie.

Hathaway, patrolmen said, stopped his car, came back, looked over the damage and departed without giving any assistance or identifying himself. The Stubbs boy, Eugene, 12, was given first aid at the scene of the wreck, for minor wounds.

Highway patrolmen sent to town for the Culberson Chevrolet Co. Initiation of candidates will be conducted by the Berger Ritual Team and uniformed drill team. Lodge initiation and installation of officers, for the first year, will be conducted by Supreme Lodge officials from Moosheart, Ill.

Officers for the first year have been appointed by the Supreme Lodge. Loom, and their identity will be revealed during installation services tonight. Next year the new lodge will elect its own officers.

A roll of 117 candidates will make up the Charter Membership Roster for the lodge. This number will be increased by Pampans now belonging to Moose lodges in other cities who indicated they will exercise their prerogative of transfer to local organization.

Firemen Answer Calls in Rain
Firemen were called to 716 Roberta and 944 S. Faulkner within rain storm. 20 minutes last night during the storm, they were called to 716 Roberta to extinguish a fire in a trailer house. The fire was out upon their arrival.

When the firemen returned to the station, they had another call waiting. At 8:05 p. m. they went to the residence of Joe Blair, 944 S. Faulkner, after lightning struck the wiring of the house. No fire resulted and the only damage occurring was to the wiring.

Foreign Ministers Face Big Problems

PARIS — (AP) — The big four Council of Foreign Ministers met today to begin an attempt to settle the problem of Germany. Secretary of State Dean Acheson of the United States, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France and Foreign Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky of Russia assembled in the flag-festooned pink marble palace at three minutes before 4 p. m. (6:57 a. m. CST).

The West German Constitution was proclaimed the basic law for 45,000,000 Germans today. The formal signing by 11 states was completed just as the four-power Council of Foreign Ministers was convening in Paris in an attempt to work out a German settlement. The Constitution is expected to strengthen the hand of the West in the Paris talks. The signing sets the stage for establishment of a West German government by mid-July.

This was the sixth meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers since the war and the fourth on the German question. It was their first session since the council was deadlocked in London in December, 1947, on a German peace treaty.

The three Western powers were expected to press Russia for immediate and urgent consideration of Berlin. The lifting of the Soviet blockade of Berlin and the All-Blockade of the Soviet-occupied Eastern Germany opened the way for these new talks.

Germany alone was on the agenda, although there has been speculation the ministers might range informally over the related problem of Austria and other questions farther afield. American and French conference sources forecast that the Western ministers would seek to limit the Berlin situation as the first problem for discussion.

They said the West would argue that continued division of the capital is a menace to any future settlement for Germany as a whole. One source pointed out that the problem of two currencies in the city — basis of a Berlin Railway workers' strike that broke into rioting last night — also was directly related to the blockade itself.

Once there is an "ironclad" agreement on Berlin, the Western sources said, the conference can proceed to other questions. Biggest of these is establishment of a united government for Germany. This is complicated by the fact that a West German government is soon to take over in Western zones and that Russia is expected to sponsor a separate German government in her zone.

Other major items involve withdrawal of occupation forces and the question of Germany's final frontiers. Twenty-six of the 45 summoned jurors to try the civil suit of Billy Pete Hughes versus M. M. Rutherford et al. appeared for duty this morning in 31st District Court here.

Thirteen of the original 45 were granted excuses by the court and six failed to show up with or without a valid excuse. The litigation involves a cancellation of a mortgage note granted the plaintiff, Hughes, by the defendant, Rutherford, on a sale of vending machines in January, 1948. The plaintiff alleges the cancellation should be granted on grounds that he was a minor at the time of purchase.

The defense is taking the stand that Hughes represented himself to be of age at the time of the purchase and that he had received benefits from the mortgage since the time of the purchase. The process of selecting a jury was to have started this morning following the voir dire examinations by plaintiff and defense counsel.

Testimony is expected to start this afternoon. Jewish Displaced Persons Moved HEIDELBERG, Germany — (AP) — The migration of Jewish displaced persons from the American Zone of Germany is being speeded up.

Harry Greenstein, Jewish adviser to the U. S. State Department, said under new plans the last of 45,000 Jewish displaced persons in Germany probably will be moved before the end of the year.

Two American GIs who were held in Czech prisons for six months as "spies" said today beatings and threats had not broken their spirits. The two recruits, George Jones of Owensboro, Ky., and Clarence E. Hill of 1930 South Banks St., Pampa, Tex., were released yesterday. Czech President Klement Gottwald, bowing to strong American pressure, gave the men a "pardon."

Jones had been sentenced to 10 years and Hill 12 by a secret Czech court for "espionage." At the Czech-German border the men were turned over to U. S. Lieut. Col. Charles Y. Talbot. "When locked in Czech prisons, 'we always felt sure we'd get back to the American Zone of Germany before too long," they explained in a telephone interview. They face possible U. S. Army court martial on charges of being absent without leave at the time they were arrested by the Czechs, Dec. 9, 1948.

Property Damage Reaches Millions

By The Associated Press
A rapid succession of tornadoes and other weather fury killed 46 persons and caused millions of dollars of property damage over the weekend in widely scattered areas. The storms raked ten states, injured at least 229 persons and smashed 900 houses. Basil O'Connor, president of the Red Cross, said $500,000 had been set aside for relief of the homeless.

Hardest hit were Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana, where a total of 44 persons were killed. Other deaths were reported in Kentucky and Pennsylvania while West Virginia, Texas, Tennessee, Iowa and Maryland reported heavy property damage.

Cape Girardeau, in Southeastern Missouri with 21 dead and property damage estimated at between three and four million dollars, suffered the most. A survey showed 202 houses totally destroyed, 231 damaged, 18 business buildings and a church destroyed, and 12 business buildings and another church damaged in the city of 20,000 population. More than 200 persons were injured and hundreds left homeless.

Three other Missouri towns, not directly in the path of the twister, each reported one dead. They are Clarksville, Bessville and Cabool. Indiana's 11 dead and 47 injured are at Shelburn, Terre Haute and Clay City.

Eight persons were killed at Shelburn, two near the outskirts of Terre Haute and one near Clay City. The twister missed the business districts. In the west side of Shelburn, a town of 1,000, the tornado demolished 65 houses, and damaged 95, 60 of them severely. Illinois had a total of nine dead, five at Wood River and four at Palestine.

At Wood River, 325 homes in the city of 9,000 were destroyed and 55 persons injured in a 25 square block area. The four persons killed at Palestine were in a lunch stand which collapsed. At Somerset, Ky., one woman (See PROPERTY, Page 2)

Two Killed In Head-On Collision

Two persons were killed and one seriously injured in an auto collision near Jericho yesterday morning. Paul Brodie, Indianapolis, Ind., was taken to the Groom Osteopathic Hospital following a head-on collision on Highway 66 that killed his wife, Mrs. Charlotte Brodie, 33, and Edward L. Baker, Shaker Heights, Ohio, driver of the other car. Brodie received a punctured lung and numerous lacerations.

Hospital attendants at Groom reported Brodie's condition this morning as satisfactory. A brother, Harry Brodie, arrived late last night to be as his bedside. According to State Highway Patrol officers, Mr. and Mrs. Brodie were headed east in a 1929 Oldsmobile. They collided with Baker, driving a 1948 Olds, who was headed west and was reported passing a truck on a hill at the time of the accident.

Baker was general superintendent of the Drandle-Clark Engineering Co., Cleveland. Both bodies were taken to the Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home in Cleburne. Baker's body was returned to Cleveland today for burial. The accident occurred about a mile and a half west of Jericho on Highway 66, between McLean and Groom.

Group Asks Further Study of Land Valuation Inequalities
A small group of property owners from the south side in a public hearing this morning before the City and School Board Tax Equalization Board requested a further study of existing land and building inequalities before valuations for the year are set. The meeting was quiet and with no heated arguments started by either the petitioners of the board members.

Led by Mitchell Hill, Frank Carter and Jim Pool, the group claimed that certain lands and buildings were being taxed on a valuation more than their actual sale value and that on the other hand others were being appraised for less than they would actually bring on a sale.

THREAT OF NEW FLOOD IS LIFTED

By The Associated Press
Early-summer storms hit scattered Texas areas last night and today, but the threat of a major flood was lifted from the Trinidad, Texas, area.

Both the Weather Bureau and Army engineers said levees holding back swollen Trinity River waters would hold at Trinidad. Late last week a major flood had been predicted for Trinidad, where Henderson Levee District No. 3 protects 17,000 acres in Henderson and Anderson counties.

This morning the stage at Trinidad was 41.1. A crest of about 42 feet was predicted for tonight or tomorrow morning. It was presumed the destructive break late last week upstream at Rosser had eased the pressure on the Trinity. Generally clear weather in the watershed being too late to affect the situation at Trinidad — also were credited with easing the situation.

A. M. Hamrick, meteorologist at Dallas U. S. Weather Bureau, said: "In the big flood of April, 1942, the stage at Trinidad got as high as 49.8 before the levees (See THREAT, Page 2)

Burglaries Are Solved
The signed confession of a suspect this morning solved two Saturday night burglaries, police announced.

Travis Dean Jackson, 21, 704 E. Brunow, signed a confession this morning before Chief of Police Louie Allen, admitting the burglary of the Collum and Sanders Used Car Exchange, 421 E. Cuyler and the Panhandle Transfer and Storage Co., 916 W. Brown, Jackson, who was free on bond pending action by the Grand Jury on a forgery charge at the time of the robbery, admitted taking a $60 check from the car lot office and $35 in cash from the storage company safe.

He broke into the car lot office about 9:30 p. m. Saturday, he said. Next, he walked north on Cuyler to the Empire Cafe, where he drank some coffee. From there he went to the transfer company office and burglarized its safe.

Following the burglaries, he said, he went on to Berger and spent the stolen money. In his confession, Jackson said he was alone in both jobs, but police are holding another man suspected of being an accomplice. Jackson said he was drunk when he committed both burglaries.

After witnesses had placed Jackson near the scene of both crimes a pickup order was sent out yesterday. He was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officers Conner and Mannings.

His confession was filed with the county judge this morning, and Jackson was scheduled to be transferred from the city to the county jail this afternoon.

Albers Receives Patrol Position
Former City Police Captain E. F. "Butch" Albers returned home yesterday following State Highway Patrol graduation at Camp Mabry, Austin.

Albers, along with his classmates, is spending a one-week grace period at home to straighten out personal affairs before leaving for his assigned station. The new patrolman will be assigned to the Amarillo District in Amarillo beginning June 1.

The captaincy on the City Police force was filled by Ex-Sergeant Jim Conner several days after Albers left for Austin.

GOP Bigwigs Have Their Eyes on Texas

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Republican bigwigs here have their eyes on Texas.
 Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., of the party's national committee let that be known in an aside observation the other day while discussing Virginia politics.
 The GOP chieftan, who also serves in Congress as a Pennsylvania representative, had been meeting with Virginians whose names will be entered on the Aug. 2 primary election ballots in that state.
 It will be the first time since the Civil War that the primary in Virginia has been anything but a Democratic affair.
 "It seems to me that this is a natural step in the process of giving Virginia the competitive benefits of a two-party state," Scott said.
 After elaborating a bit on this point, he added:
 "If we are successful in Virginia, we'll go into Florida and Texas primaries. You know Texas is fertile ground. We polled 400,000 votes there last November."
 In a remark obviously intended to wean followers away from opposition party ranks, Scott said regarding Southern Democrats:
 "If they believe in socialism then they should vote the Democratic ticket. Then the Northern Democrats will get the benefit of their vote and will call them brother or maybe comrade."

 Patrolmen estimated damage to the other cars ran about $150 on the Chevrolet, $100 on the 1940 Ford, $200 on the Frazer and the 1932 Ford was described as a total loss.
 Besides Hathaway, charges of defective brakes were lodged against Cromwell and Stubbs and a charge of no valid drivers license against Turner.

Negotiations Fail
DETROIT—(AP)—Attempts to end the 18-day strike stood still today as both sides sat back and waited for the government to bring them together again.
 Federal mediators said they were "confident" that sessions could be resumed soon following a 24-hour cooling-off period.
 Negotiations ended abruptly shortly before midnight last night. They were still deadlocked after 12 days of heated debate.

Insurance Program
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senate hearings on President Truman's health insurance program started today with an administration claim it is the only alternative to state medicine.
 J. Donald Kingsley, acting federal security administrator, said the nation already is supporting a huge program of state medicine which estimated 24,000,000 citizens receiving various kinds of federal medical care.

Farm Subsidy Plan
WASHINGTON—(AP)—National Chairman J. Howard McGrath made it plain today the Democrats are banking heavily on the Brannan farm subsidy plan to help them carry the Midwest in next year's election.
 "We think we have a plan that will appeal to the farmers and help solidify the support they gave our ticket in last November's election," McGrath told a reporter.

Reds at Shanghai
SHANGHAI—(AP)—Communist troops tried all day to crack Shanghai's defenses. But at nightfall they had not achieved a breakthrough.
 Some progress was made in spots, in others they failed.

Big Money Bills
AUSTIN—(AP)—The Legislature came back to work today with all attention directed toward the Senate for possible action on the House-passed big money bill.
 Double-time action on the major appropriation measure could be the Senate's signal that it is ready for the session to end. The lawmakers have been on $5 a day since May 11.
 Much talk and many changes in the House's estimate of money needs for state departments, colleges, and eleemosynary institutions could stretch the session for several more weeks.

Baptists Ask For Two More Seminaries

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Establishment of two new theological seminaries, one in the East and one in the West, was recommended during the Southern Baptist Convention.
 A committee on theological education reported that the new seminaries and a drive to finance them are necessary to meet a need for more pastors.
 The 92nd annual gathering opened with a blast at "the Catholic hierarchy" — painted by Dr. Joseph H. Dawson, Washington, D. C., as a "vast totalitarian power attempting to control our education, politics and our foreign policy."
 "We do not intend to exchange our free American life for totalitarian dictatorship from the Vatican," he said, touching off a chorus of "amen's."
 The Rev. Oscar Gibson, Louisville, Ky., stirred a brief flurry by demanding a probe of reports that modernism exists among the faculty of Southern Louisville, Ky.
 "Modernists," he said, "are those who question the word of God."
 Gibson did not appear at an advertised non-convention night session to "expose five modernists" at Louisville. Instead Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth, Tex., preached one hour and ten minutes to about 300 persons, some wearing Baptist convention badges.
 Meanwhile, Dr. Robert G. Lee, Memphis, Tenn., president of the convention, delivered the keynote address.
 "To offer communism as a sustaining gospel for mankind," he said, "is to offer swill saturated with poison."
 "The United States will not be saved by production, commerce, armies, navies, gold supplies, nor England by her statecraft, socialism, politics, nor Russia by communism. Only by Christ, accepted and enthroned."

WASHINGTON—(AP)—CIO left wingers have been given five months to break all ties with the Russian-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions and quit defying the CIO leadership.
 With that ultimatum the organization's 82-man Executive Board ended a fiery three-day fiery three-day meeting.
 If the left wing unions don't leave the WFTU, they may be kicked out of the CIO.
 The board and Murray already have made it very plain that the Cleveland convention starting Oct. 31 will be a hot one.
 Murray announced Thursday that:
 1. He had denounced Harry Bridges, left wing president of the CIO longshoremen, for "misrepresentation" and other offenses, and had told him his conduct would be brought up at the Cleveland convention.
 2. The board by a 38-9 vote withdrew the CIO from the World Federation of Trade Unions.
 3. Any CIO union or member of the CIO Executive Board that continues an "organizational relationship" with the WFTU or any of its agencies will be acting "contrary to CIO policy" and will "undoubtedly" be brought to the attention of the convention.
 4. The board recommended that the Cleveland convention revoke the charter of the left wing Farm Equipment Workers Union. Reason for the action was the refusal of the union to merge with the United Auto Workers, as ordered by the Executive Board.
 5. The board unanimously passed a resolution stating that the Truman administration's labor bill, and will not accept any amendment for injunctions in labor disputes.
 6. The board unanimously approved resolutions calling on Congress to pass the Truman "fair deal" program; "condemning" Bell Telephone companies for their attitude toward the recent entry of the Communications Workers of America into the CIO; and congratulating Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., on his election to Congress.

Servel Makes Cost Slash

A price reduction on all Servel gas refrigerators except the small apartment house model was announced today by Bob Thompson of the Thompson Hardware Co., dealer in this area for Servel.
 The cuts range from $10 to $39.50, it was said. The reductions go into effect at once.
 Servel is making the reductions in price, it was said, in anticipation of increased labor efficiency and a greater sales volume resulting from the price reduction, and not because of any reduction in current production costs.

FORRESTAL

 "Chorus From Ajax." That poem tells of profound and hopeless tragedy.
 In the back of the book was a piece of hospital memorandum paper in which Forrestal had copied, in a firm hand, the first 26 lines of the doleful poem.
 The 26 lines contained such as these:
 "Worn by the waste of time,
 Comfortless, nameless, hopeless—
 In the dark prospect of the yawning grave."
 Further on, in the uncopied part of the poem, occurred lines telling of one who:
 "Wanders as now, in darkness and disgrace
 When reason's day
 Sets in, joyless—
 quenched in cold decay,
 "Better to die, and sleep
 "The never waking sleep, than linger on
 "And dare to live when the soul's life is gone."
 The man who found solace in the poem and then in never waking sleep was exhausted by work and worried by critics. When he was brought to the hospital, a doctor there said his condition was directly the result of excessive work. At that time, the doctor said "the only psychiatric symptoms present are those associated with a state of excessive fatigue."
 The same day, Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.) mentioned Forrestal's condition in a House speech. Rankin said that radio commentator Drew Pearson had made "a vicious attack" on the ex-secretary by broadcasting a report on Forrestal's reported mental condition. Rankin said he was going to ask the Communications Commission to "prevent such inhuman abuses."
 One after another, the tributes from the great rang the same note: sacrifice and labor for America.
 The court of inquiry in the case was ordered by Rear Admiral W. M. Willcutts, commandant of the Naval Medical Center. Just exactly what it might examine was not certain in advance. From statements of officials at the hospital, this story was reconstructed:
 In the weeks that followed Forrestal's entry for treatment, he seemed to be on the road to complete recovery. He received visitors, among them President Truman, made phone calls, read the paper.
 But when the patient's bedtime came Saturday night he declined to take the usual sedative. Choosing a time when attendants were elsewhere on his 16th floor, Forrestal left his room (carefully avoiding going through another room of his suite in which a doctor was located), walked diagonally across a corridor to a diet kitchen. There the window, unlike that of his own room, had no tightly secured wire screen.
 A nurse on the seventh floor heard the thud of his body as it struck an offset of the building above the third floor. He was dead when attendants rushed to the spot. His bathrobe belt cord was twisted tightly around his neck.
 Admiral Willcutts told reporters "That type of suicide is impossible to prevent. You can't take a man of that brilliance and put a guard over him all the time. There were fewer and fewer restrictions as his condition improved."
 Plans for the funeral — including whether there will be a military burial for the World War I veteran and former cabinet member — were left to Mrs. Forrestal.
 She flew in from Paris today aboard the presidential plane, The Independence, with her son, Michael, an employe of the Economic Cooperation Administration in Paris. In the belief that her husband was recovering satisfactorily, she had gone to France to find a place for him to convalesce.

It's Time to Write About Lobbyists

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Just as regular as Christmas, there comes a time to write about lobbyists. That's when somebody takes a crack at them or wants to suppress them or something.
 Wednesday the House passed a resolution to have a Congressional investigation of lobbyists.
 Nothing will be done, though, unless the Senate approves.
 A couple of years ago Congress passed a law which said lobbyists had to register with Congress.
 This was an attempt to smoke them out in the open so they could be recognized as lobbyists.
 And about 1,500 are registered. Besides those registered — Sabath, Illinois Democrat.
 He says another 1,500 lobbyists — besides those registered — are running around loose.
 But who's a lobbyist? He's any person (or group) who tries to persuade a congressman to vote his way.
 Sabath says he's against:
 1. The undercover lads who know — by registering — that they are lobbyists.
 2. The ones who get a chunk of dough from some one by pretending they have an "in" and can get things done in Congress.
 Sabath says millions of dollars are spent in lobbying every year through salaries for the lobbyists, money for their expenses, publicity they hand out, entertaining they do, and radio time the powerful lobbies can hire.
 And these lobbyists — although they seldom would want to claim credit publicly — undoubtedly have a hand in persuading congressmen to their way of thinking in the laws that are passed.

Ribbons Prettify Daytime Pumps

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

You can make daytime pumps double as Cinderella slippers, if your budget says "no" to another pair of evening shoes.

The trick of "glamming up" daytime pumps — This goes for shoes of black suede, of colored linen and of "graduation" white satin or kid — is to strap them to your feet with matching-color ribbon laces.

Ribbon laces sewed to the binding around the edge of pumps and laced across instep and ankles will not only dress up daytime pumps for evening wear but will hold such shoes more securely to your feet for dancing.

If there is no particular need for tying pumps more securely to your feet, you can skip the sewing chore altogether. By strapping your stockings feet with ribbon laces before you put on your pumps — strap first across the instep and then around the ankle where the ribbon is tied — you can achieve the same effect of glamorizing daytime pumps without sewing a stitch.

Designed to make summer hair care less of a chore is new hand-less brush which fits into the palm of the hand.

Damp Cellar Needs Air

Dampness on your cellar walls this time of year is usually caused by condensation, rather than by leaks in the foundation. Since the cellar walls are surrounded by earth, they're cooler than the air in the spring and summer. Thus there's condensation when warm air comes in contact with the cool walls and in severe cases, enough water will be formed to look like a leak.

To make sure the water is not from a leak, however, keep the cellar windows closed for a few days. If the damp spot tends to disappear, your problem is condensation.

Good ventilation is the surest way to keep a basement dry. In the majority of homes, cellar windows are at ground level and several feet above the floor, which means little or no air will circulate close to the floor. An electric fan placed opposite the windows and pointed toward them will help keep air moving. An exhaust fan in one of the windows is also satisfactory. Keep the windows closed on damp days.

Heavy foliage, shrubs or bushes will cause the basement air to be damp by cutting down ventilation through cellar windows, and must be removed if you want a complete cure for condensation.

Direct contact of air with the masonry can be prevented by lining the wall with an insulating board, plywood or wall board material, nailed on one-half furring strips and fastened to the masonry with liquid asphalt or tar, otherwise the back of the board will absorb moisture. These materials must be renewed every year or so to make up the loss to liquefaction.

Cold-water pipes and soil pipes in a horizontal position, will vent during hot, humid weather should be insulated with a material made especially for that purpose.

Incapped Trash Cause of Many Domestic Fires

Keep rubbish covered is the advice of safety officials now fighting a recurrence of last year's $709,621,000 fire loss. Uncovered rubbish is a perfect feeding place for home fires. Often if it is stored in cardboard wooden boxes, it still is a menace because such containers are flammable themselves and are a fuel rather than as protection against fire. Safety officials recommend galvanized steel ash and garbage cans for waste material storage. Such containers are equipped with close-fitting covers and are made of fireproof, rust-resistant steel.

Architect Advises Against Building House too Small

The nation-wide drive for construction of "economy houses" for low income groups is raising new problems in architectural design as well as in local zoning and tax assessments. A. Raymond Ellis, Hartford, Conn., architect, who has specialized in small house design, points out that there is an economic floor, below which savings can be offset by disadvantages in building houses too small.

"The production of low cost housing," he contends, is not entirely dependent upon the cost of the unit house, but on a realistic attempt to design a house, that can be built under local zoning restrictions on available lots with all utilities, roads, water, sewers and land improvements at a reasonable price.

"It seems obvious that to design and build a home cheap enough for the lowest income group would not be an economical solution in many areas. The result would be inadequate to meet accepted standards of living. The houses would have inadequate resale value and neighborhood values."

"It costs just as much to develop raw land and provide all improvements and utilities for low cost housing as for more expensive housing, but the tax income from the money comes for home financing, although life insurance companies are now placing an increasing percentage of their funds into home mortgages.

Adding brightness to the picture is the fact that it is now possible for lenders to replenish their funds by selling to the government up to 50 percent of their mortgages, and it is estimated that approximately $150,000,000 will be market back into the mortgage market in this manner in the next year.

Lenders say home-buyers will benefit by this increased money supply by obtaining longer term mortgages with smaller down payments and continued low interest rates because of the competition among lenders to put idle funds to work.

Hotels Leaning More to Homeyness Than Splendor

NEW YORK — The old-fashioned spring cleaning may have been abolished in many modern homes, but in summer hotels their busy season now beginning makes an annual clean up and repainting job essential.

Especially is this important these days, say hotel men, when competition is getting keener and guests more demanding. Home owners who are now planning the redecorating of bedrooms, living rooms, and dining rooms can well take a leaf from the hotel manager's notebook.

Not only do up-to-date country and seashore hotels make certain that easy chairs and beds are comfortable, but also that bedrooms, lobbies, dining rooms and recreation rooms are all given a smart air. Even modest summer places nowadays often display decorative distinction, so that women guests at least notice at once the harmony of color and texture between walls, floor covering, upholstery and draperies.

In large hotels today professional decorating advice is being more and more utilized, not to overawe the guest with magnificence — as was once the custom — but to give the interior the simple charm of a well-ordered home. More than one hotel manager has achieved modern smartness through the simple device of removing the old-fashioned panel molding from the wall and then painting both walls and trim the same hue. This also makes a room seem larger.

Perhaps "mine host" gets the idea that pictures are needed. With decorative guidance, he knows that most paintings and colored prints look well against cloud gray, Copenhagen blue, and fawn color.

Some hotels intrigue their patrons by painting the ceiling a lighter tint of the wall color, instead of the usual white. This

FUNNY BUSINESS

Dining Rooms Slay If Swedes Have Way

Dining rooms are here to stay, if Swedish craftsmen have anything to do with it. New Swedish modern furniture designs do not ignore this essential room. As a matter of fact, they concentrate with a fine hand on dining room furnishings. Pieces shown are in a variety of woods and finishes.

One dining set is polished to an unusually high luster, accomplished, say the manufacturers, by spraying surfaces with shellac five or more times at 120 degrees temperature and then hand rubbing. These high-luster veneers are available in platinum walnut or mahogany.

Other dining room sets are in bleached and amber elm and in primavera with sunburst veneers. Lattice and sunburst effects deck china cabinets and table tops.

Perhaps one of the most interesting tables is of rosewood or bleached mahogany, round and of coffee table height. It revolves to the level of a breakfast or card table and with the addition of two leaves becomes oval shaped, giving generous seating capacity for dinner parties.

These and other innovations indicate that Swedish craftsmen are trying to design in the American feeling where double and triple duty furnishings are necessary to modern living.

Bedrooms, too, reflect the attempt at multiple-use furnishings. Cabinets and sectional units are tall, hug the wall in graceful designs and offer space savers in the many recesses. Saragani, a new wood of the walnut family in a golden blond finish, is used in a bedroom as well as birch, walnut, natural oak or limed oak.

Though this 1949 modern is recognizable as being of Swedish origin, it looks perhaps more substantially designed for American living than items previously shown.

The Federal Reserve System began operation on Nov. 16, 1914.

Big Wheat Crop Problem Will Be Storage Space; Not Rail Box Cars

NEW YORK — If grain piles up on the ground in the wheat belt this summer, take a second look before blaming the railroads. The problem will be storage space, not rail box cars.

Wheat for your next year's bread is just starting to flow to processing plants. This movement will swell to a flood in July and August, overtaking mill and elevator facilities.

Ground-piling at that time — they call it "open storage" — is not unusual. Modern methods have compressed the bulk of harvesting into a short period. That is the season of outcries for more cars to carry the grain.

Here's what the railroads have done to get ready for their big task of hauling the winter wheat crop: Late in April they assembled more than 20,000 box cars at country loading stations. Fully 15,000 of these cars will carry nearly 35,000,000 bushels of wheat on each trip.

Thus the railroads hope to move from storage quickly much of the 1948 wheat held under government loan and purchase agreements that expired April 30. And do it before the new crop movement is in full swing.

The 1949 winter wheat harvest, by latest estimates, will total 1,021,467,000 bushels, second largest on record. Despite this, the Association of American Railroads last week expressed confidence its member roads could "move every bushel of grain for which storage space is available."

Storage space — or the lack of it — is the real problem. That it is serious was emphasized by the recent government offer to pay farmers 10 to 11.5 cents a bushel if they would hold in farm storage for another year some 60,000,000 bushels stored under the 1948 price support program.

Officials said this was intended to help relieve the commercial storage situation. At the end of April more than half the public elevator capacity in the winter wheat belt was reported filled with last year's crop.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture said there was available on that date in seven winter wheat states only 70,000,000 bushels of storage space. A year earlier these states — Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado and Nebraska — had available 117,000,000 bushels of space.

Reports of the AAR Car Service Division show 18,700 more box cars on Western Railroads than at the same time a year ago, with 7,300 more box cars ready for service in the wheat belt.

It appears the railroads of this season will escape the barrage of criticism aimed at them by shippers clamoring for cars in recent years — especially in 1947. And the new target may be the lack of adequate storage space. The AAR points out that if ter-

FBI Agent Called 'Rat' By Commie

NEW YORK — "You little rat," cried a Red leader as an FBI undercover agent testified for the government Wednesday only a few hours after he allowed a Communist meeting as a trusted party member.

The new surprise witness — Bank Clerk Balmes Hidalgo, Jr. — caused one of the tensest scenes since the Communist conspiracy trial opened Jan. 17.

Hidalgo stepped from the witness stand in federal court to identify Robert Thompson, New York state Communist chairman and one of eleven Red leaders on trial.

"Now keep your hands off," Thompson snapped as the witness approached. Hidalgo, pointing at the angry defendant, said: "This is comrade Thompson."

"You're no comrade of mine, you little rat," Thompson shot back. Hidalgo, a war veteran, was the seventh FBI undercover agent among the 13 witnesses the prosecution has put on the stand so far.

The witness testified against the Red leaders on charges of conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government. He said he had been a member of the party since 1946, as an informant for the FBI.

Hidalgo testified he had heard a party official boast that "ten thousand good Communists can rule New York City" and say that the party "must use youth as Hitler did." He said the statements were made by an organizational secretary, Mortimer Kamen, at a meeting in New York last June.

U. S. Life Insurance companies held assets totaling more than $1 billion dollars at the end of 1947.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1949)

J. F. Matthews, the individual who has done most to expose the treachery of native and imported Communists, has issued a warning to come to this year.

of our own political language. Never actually a Communist himself, he nevertheless attracted to the movement through a mistaken belief that communism promised the fulfillment of the aspirations of the workers. He decided otherwise a long time ago and became the chief adviser and investigator of the old Dies Committee. In this role he was the tutor of Robert Stripling, who succeeded him as chief investigator of the Thomas Committee which turned up the connection between Alger Hiss and the State Department and Whitaker Chambers, the repentant ex-Communist spy.

Doctor Matthews unquestionably knows more about the ideology, the mental processes, the personalities and the ramifications of the American movement than any other American writer. He is a tenacious, methodical, brilliant student of the dull rosters of names and "fronts" and is able to put a finger on unfaithful Americans, such as professors, union leaders and bleeding hearts by proving their systematic association over years with organizations designed to promote communism in the guise of good American activities.

Doctor Matthews recently objected that certain leaders of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of the CIO held meetings in Dayton, O. Dayton last summer was the scene of an organized insurrection against government by members of this union and Communist goons unconnected with the artificial labor dispute which was used as a pretext for the riots. The conferees in this meeting were anti-Communist unionists, but they were forced to adopt the Communist policy of indorcing and protecting the strike in the guise of legitimate military duty. This resolution did not frankly advocate violent revolution against the established governments of the United States and of the several states where such "militancy" is the order of the day. But a general "statement of policy" called for a revival of the "militant tradition" that began with the great CIO organizational drives of 1936, the auto and rubber sit-downs and the martyrdom of the Republic Steel workers.

This proposal may have a deceptive appeal to persons who do not know or have forgotten the organizational drives of 1936. Those were actually, in the long run, violent revolutions against government in the face of which governors, mayors, sheriffs and police were guilty of criminal default of their sworn duty to maintain order and enforce the law. The incidents of those "drives" became acts of treason in states whose constitutions and laws include within the definition of treason the organized violent resistance against the authority of government. In New York, where much of this kind of insurrection occurred with the encouragement of Franklin D. Roosevelt and his Communist and quasi-Communist court, the insurrection was levied against the states by the rising insurrection to prevent execution of a law or force its repeal. The penalty is death. Unquestionably thousands of acts of treason were done under the auspices of the early CIO and the later Communist Party.

It is incumbent on Congress to determine where the limit is, and to devise means of holding expenditures within that limit. It is incumbent on Congress to determine where the limit is, and to devise means of holding expenditures within that limit. It is incumbent on Congress to determine where the limit is, and to devise means of holding expenditures within that limit.

political patronage of the Roosevelt administration.

Roosevelt's own attitude was revealed to me in a brief talk in his private office in the White House. He took the sophisticated and cynical attitude that the mass insurrections which had unmaned government in Michigan under his favorite, Frank Murphy, were nothing worse than multiple trespass, multiple assault, and multiple mischief. The President of the United States may not have known that the mob violence which he was condoning as trivial misbehavior was actually treason. He was not a good lawyer.

The anti-Communist group of U. E. union bosses at the Dayton meeting stood out against the Communist program in international affairs. But when it came to employer - employee relations they couldn't resist the temptation to go along toward the criminal objective of the Communist party to overthrow the government by force.

For that is what the "militant tradition" of 1936 unmistakably implies. The Communist Party itself could do no better in the way of calling for a reign of lawlessness and terror against the government relations throughout the nation," Doctor Matthews writes.

But why would these men advocate a "militancy" which advocated violent revolution against government if they are loyal Americans and enemies of the Communist Party? He has endured much in their opposition to the Communists and they seem sincere in a confused way. The answer is that the CIO, from its beginning, has been frankly committed to illegal violence. In the terror of 1936 the Communists were used by L. Lewis, Philip Murray and Walter Reuther to organize, foment and execute the riots. Lewis used to say that the Communists could never take control of the union movement. They would be useful up to a point after which they would be kicked out.

And it can be boasted truthfully that to a great extent this has been the way of events. Within the last year the Communists have lost their dominant position in the maritime, transport, electrical, and mine, mill and smelter workers' unions. The crisis came earlier in the Auto Workers' Union and they were routed by Reuther. In all the political fights, however, the Communist Party is not destroyed but only voted or kicked or tricked out of power. They remained in the unions and they are still in there driving the anti-Communist administration to the wall. The result, as Doctor Matthews concludes, is a competition in militancy. Thus the non-Communists and even the anti-Communists are yielding to the pressure to match Communist "militancy" with their own "militancy" on pocket lists and in negotiation.

The coming year will be dangerous and possibly crucial in the long turmoil which Roosevelt recklessly began in 1936 — a turmoil in which the unarmed, law-abiding majority of people find themselves abandoned by their cop, their mayor and governor, and even by the courts and the government of the United States.

Truman's depression is rushing upon us and when unemployment reaches general again in the final disaster of the New Deal, mobs again will be incited to take to the streets. This time the insurrection may develop into absolute revolution under a deliberate policy of "militancy." The CIO already has threatened the Southern states with a "militant drive" and experience shows that that means the pitting of Negroes against white men and women.

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. HENSON, President, National Health Service, Arkansas

SOCIALISTIC SWINDLE
The British experiment in socialized medicine is an unfortunate swindle from start to finish, according to a well-known British author, Mr. Cecil Palmer, who has been lecturing in this country. This is so, Mr. Palmer says, because it pretends to offer something for next to nothing, and actually gives next to nothing for something. In so many words then, the British experiment in state medicine has been a miserable failure.

That is what has happened whenever these dictator-like schemes have been attempted. These beautiful government plans, generally balleyhooded and put across to bolster sagging political fortunes of some party, are always offered "free." This was the case in England. It was sold to the people as a free health plan, yet patients are paying $2,800,000 a week for it. In addition, there are costs above amounts paid in for the purpose. Taxes will pay for these costs.

MISERABLE FAILURE
During its first nine months, the British Health Service cost the people more than $234,000,000 above what had been estimated it would cost. Mr. Palmer estimates that the cost of this socialized medicine is a billion dollars by the end of the first year. But does the plan bring Britain more doctors, more hospitals, more dentists, more nurses — more health? It has given no more, no better health than was offered before.

Besides having fooled the people and added to their tax burdens, the British experiment has done two other things, Mr. Palmer will tell you. It has made the physician merely another government worker serving a new master, the State. In doing this it also has destroyed the personal and confidential relationship that once existed between doctor and patient. These things seem to be the chief accomplishments of British state medicine.

PHYSICIANS DISAPPROVE
British physicians had already had more than 30 years' experience with government dabbling in medical affairs. It is historical record that their experience produced poor medical care and wider use of quack remedies. This public or "panel" medical practice has been unsatisfactory to British doctors. Not only are they overworked and underpaid, but they feel that the State is breaching down the integrity and character of the medical profession.

Before the British law was enacted last year socializing medicine, all British doctors were polled on the question of freedom in medicine. 90 per cent disapproved it. They still do not like socialized medicine, now that they have had it for nearly a year. They are carrying on as best they can. Just recently a prominent doctor formed a new group, the Freedom in Medicine group. In two and a half weeks, 2,500 fellow doctors joined him.

A CORRUPT SYSTEM
Just as the British doctors do not like their State medicine, neither do the people. Although the government promised to keep sacred the principle of doctor-patient relationship, this has not been done. Each doctor is required to record all illnesses and treatments for each patient. The records then are sent to local offices of an advisory council, consisting of lay persons who act sometimes as keepers of patients. This is hardly keeping relations confidential between doctor and patient.

It is here to be noted that a government health program is not a new thing. It has been tried in America, as elsewhere, where it has failed. Compulsory health insurance in America, as elsewhere, would be a fraud and a swindle.

The state health of Kansas is the sunflower.

WASHINGTON — Numerous readers, including several from Texas, wanted to know whether President Truman did or did not slap back at the Rayburn-McCormack leadership in that controversial letter. Taff-Hartley repeal he wrote to President A. F. Whitney of the Railroad trainmen's union.

SCORCHING — Even the revised, Rosa version, was sufficiently scorching to send Mr. Rayburn to the White House to complain. In backing the compromise Sims Bill, as he explained to the head man, he was seeking to save the administration from an utter legislative rout.

YAP — "White lies" are permitted a president if the original, impulsive statement might have serious repercussions at home or abroad, and if the subsequent "correction" (repudiation) is not too glaring.

HOW — Here is how the White House machinery operates when the President tells his secretariat that he wants to write an important letter or make a speech: First, he dictates a rough draft to a stenographer, and presidential stenographers are among the most accurate in the land. Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

In 1928 Manning F. Fisher and Joseph Salmon opened a small grocery store in Cleveland, "Fisher Brothers" now operate 191 stores and do more than $80 million worth of business a year.

Their success secrets are:— us— save your head to get ahead — and teamwork. Fisher's were pioneers in the "cash and carry" business — enabling them to sell cheaper. They also inaugurated a fast delivery service to insure that their stores were supplied with fresh vegetables, meats, and other products. Today their fleet consists of 17 heavy duty trucks, ten big trailers, and 63 regular trucks.

With a central warehouse to operate from, they can supply any one of their stores with really fresh produce on almost a moment's notice. "It's Fresher at Fisher's" is a simple motto—but by living up to this one simple policy Fisher has flourished. Success in business is not mysterious. It is not a hit-or-miss proposition depending upon luck. It is merely catering to and serving human NEEDS. Recognizing that housewives wanted fresh food—Fisher Brothers set about to fulfill this need.

Teamwork is the secret that enabled Fisher Brothers to put their policy across. Every one of the executives once worked in one of the stores. No one wants to—tries to take credit. They all pull together. Everybody is a "part of the act." Store managers receive a bonus from the profits the stores make. Most of the store managers are former executives of the Vice-President Timothy Conway says—we try to operate efficiently — do a better job—and satisfy the customer.

The Library of Congress is now the largest library in the world occupying two buildings providing 414 miles of bookshelves and covering almost 36 acres of floor space.

The Pentagon has a gross floor area of more than six million feet — three times that of the Empire State Building.

Three newspapermen — Robert Barry of the Philadelphia Ledger, the late Charles Michelson, then of the New York World, and the writer — decided that it was unfair to the public that so misrepresented, and, since it was a personal squabble rather than an international incident, we published the unvarnished story in our newspapers.

Maybe Sam Rayburn feels the way we did then!

New Approach Might Work

The cry for greater economy in federal spending is being heard by Congress and out of Congress are wondering just how deep the United States can dig into its sock without endangering its own and the world's future.

Since the end of World War II, this country has saved virtually as much as a storehouse and treasury for democracy everywhere. Now it is being asked to act in peace-time — as it did in war — as the arsenal of democracy. On top of these unusual demands, the enactment of new social legislation covering health, security and education is sought by President Truman.

The worry felt in Congress over the increasing drain on the nation's resources is expressed in a move planned by Senator Russell of Georgia and other Democratic members of the Senate Appropriations Committee. Russell and his committee colleagues want to trim about $3,000,000,000 off federal funds for the year starting July 1.

This plan may give the economy a drive the big spark it has lacked up to now. Heretofore, efforts by Republicans and some Democrats to curtail government spending have had slender success. Republican senators did manage to bottle up one appropriation bill, but the final round is yet to be fought on that measure.

Russell says he and his supporters won't go along with the GOP in its announced intention to snip 5 percent from each money bill as it comes up.

He thinks a better approach will be to wait until most of the appropriations bills are approved and then, when the extent of spending and the need for economy are clear, to offer a proposal ordering all government agencies to save enough to bring outlays down to $3,000,000,000.

This idea is unusual, but it might catch on if all efforts to trim individual bills fall in the next two months. Perhaps action on the appropriations for European recovery will be the key.

Many senators have indicated a desire to see these funds pared, and should they not achieve a substantial reduction in that field they may be ripe recruits for the Russell plan.

Senator Russell got some unexpected support for his program from two separate quarters. A Joint Congressional committee on taxation estimated that the present federal deficit for the coming fiscal year would be $2,900,000,000. And the Committee for Economic Development, an agency backed by private business, called for spending cuts of at least $2,100,000,000 to bring "damaging consequences" to the economy.

Close-Ups by Upton Close

WASHINGTON — I'm back at the Washington night-club after a week's absence. The million-dollar report to one thing from a "country" — one or two in its Capital.

First, from the "grass roots." "bushes": Many persons from the Tribune Editor Richard D. Boyd Jones to tax-cutting divers report a trend to conservatism regarding social programs and ending and increasing tax exemptions. Many say they believe if some man could stand for public election right now on a program of cutting down all these things he would be elected by a landslide.

The slump in business is making people doubt. They are not scared down trend continues three months. But they are perplexed. If Truman and Congress spend to continue to spend, they are going to hang their money. A little more to buy would make a difference. Truman and Congress would indeed bring an economic political end as well as economic finish to the much advertised New Deal age of abundance. Democrat leaders are worried.

The doubters have no way to say "no" to his own administration's majority leadership and the cooperating Republican leader — without trying to offer explanations — he might be given credit for knowing something the two senators do not know, and for following some sort of logical but necessary cunning such as is supposed to govern a diplomat. But Mr. Acheson has put himself out on a limb by saying that Spain has a totalitarian form of government and lacks trial by jury and other democratic principles of government. This comes from a man whose hand-shaking with the Communist brutalitarian dictatorship of Europe a little too inconsistent.

ROGER THE LODGER

By Elizabeth R. Roberts

XXXVI
I MADE it clear to Roger that I expected him to take hold and do his part with his family.

Rob, noting Roger's apparent change of heart, said it was as unmetamorphosed as a kitten with its mouth open. He expected it to last about as long as favoring extract in a sheep-shearing camp.

When the entire household gave at the same time, the walls bulged like an accordion. I concluded it was plumbing that saved the day. Given enough inlets and outlets, people can live together in more or less civilized fashion. Instead of taking every other turn in the kitchen, Claudia and I and I each took one in three; it was like going to a party two nights in succession.

got. Taxes are going to get tiresome."
"Where had you parked?" Mary asked in her practical manner.

"Behind that row of cars," Roger said, pointing to a space which held cars parked parallel to each other.

"You mean you parked it broadside behind that row?" Roger nodded, suspecting, no doubt, a suggestion of criticism. "I was at least thirty feet from them. Any goof could be able to back up and turn in that distance."

Rob, stricken into silence, walked into the mud and around his car surveying the damage. The fender, door, and top on one side were crushed.

Lack of Deep Public Interest Is Shown in Atlantic Pact Hearings

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — For three weeks the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had held hearings on the Atlantic Pact, and finished last week.

But most of the time it played to a half-empty house although the seats at the hearings were free, there were plenty of them, and joining the pact would be one of the most far-reaching moves in this country's history.

Why wasn't there more public interest?

For one thing, no one has doubted the committee would approve the pact. And no one doubts the full Senate will overwhelmingly approve it, too.

But a couple of other things explain the lack of deep public interest:

But once we got into the war, we got into one foreign tie-up after another, and we've been doing it ever since.

2. The attitude toward Russia and communism has grown amazingly hard and tough in this country.

So the public has come to accept pretty much without question anything the government considers necessary to throw another block in the road of communism.

We're already up to our necks in that. It started with giving
