Employees of Shell Honored

J. C. Nichols, plant superintendent of the Shell Gasoline Plant, complimented employees for maintaining a safety record at a meeting Wednesday in the Palm Room, City Hall.

Employees and families of the Shell Gasoline Plants Nos. 2, 15 and 17 attended the meeting. Special guests included Frank Hall, safety engineer, Tulsa; Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Harvey, production department, Pampa; and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Allison, Wagon Gasoline Plant, Denver City, Texas.

Nichols presided over the meeting and said the safety record included 965 days for Pampa Plants No. 15 and 17 by Bryan Plants Nos. 2 and 17. The plants went that long without loss of time because of accident.

Allen Sney, chief engineer at Plant No. 17, Skellytown, was awarded a 20-year service "shell-shaped" emblem with an emerald setting.

Special entertainment was provided by Hall, who presented a moving picture entitled, "Magic in Paradise Valley." The picture, brought from the area office at Tulsa, portrayed the safety theme for home and industry.

Promoters Misrepresent

E. O. Wedgewood, Chamber of Commerce manager, reported yesterday it had been called to his attention that promoters of an advertising service were leaving the impression with local merchants that the chamber had endorsed their promotion.

Wedgewood emphatically stated that wherever the impression was left, it was a misrepresentation, inasmuch as the Chamber of Commerce had never endorsed or given any official sanction to the proposition.

'Ornamental' Hedge Burned by Police

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Eight months ago, a friend gave Mrs. Jenn Thomp some seeds. The seeds sprouted quickly into a high ornamental hedge.

Slips from the plants soon did the same for neighbors.

Yesterday neighbor Mrs. H. R. Ramage took a spig to a nurseryman and asked for some seeds of the "what-you-call-it."

The nurseryman whispered when he told her what it was.

Police soon harvested and burned the neighborhood shrubbery. It was marijuana.

Lottery Tickets Hidden in Beard

BOSTON (AP)—Seventy-two-year-old Harry Zedman's chest-length whiskers were, police charged, the depository for lottery slips.

The slips were found in Zedman's flowing white beard when he was arrested yesterday. He was held for arraignment on a charge of setting up and promoting a lottery.

'Wheatheart' Pampa Has 9th Polio Case; 2nd in Skelly Family Hit

PERRYTON — Miss Harriet Carter, Miss Palo Duro's of America, was crowned "Miss Wheatheart of the Nation" in ceremonies here last night following a contest to pick this annual honoree.

Second place in the contest attended by a full house at the Ochiltree County Barn went to Miss Nelda Ruth Patton of Perryton. Third place was awarded to Miss Nivki Atkins, Berger. Miss Pat Howell of Spearman won the fourth place; and Miss Colene Schell, Perryton, fifth.

Crowning of "Miss Wheatheart" was followed by a hectic two-day celebration that started at 10 a. m. Friday with a street parade when the "Wheatheart" candidates were shown to the public in groups riding in automobiles.

Over 10,000 mouths lit into the free breakfast yesterday afternoon prepared by Rex Reed of Liberal, Kans. The feed had all of the trimmings — beans, potato salad, apricots and was prepared in real chuck wagon style. Local businessmen and residents donated $2,500 toward the purchase of the beef.

Wood for the county built barbecue pit was gathered over a two-year period by the Jaycees, sponsors of the celebration. From miles around Perryton and Ochiltree County they brought in cedar posts and old railroad ties for the barbecue.

Two rodeos were held Friday before the Johnny Lee Willis dance in the large county warehouse when the preliminary judging of Miss Wheatheart was held.

Special Serum Given Texas Polio Victim

LUBBOCK (AP)—A four-year-old child, admitted to a Lubbock hospital as a polio patient yesterday, more than 12 hours after her grandfather, a Chicago doctor, gave her a special serum.

A local physician however said the child, Peggy Ann Best of Jordan, N. M., "has no symptoms of polio and hasn't had since she has been in the hospital."

Braniff Airways detoured a Dallas-Amarillo flight 200 air miles Friday to deliver the serum.

Peggy Ann's sister, Sandra Jean, 7, died Wednesday, the day she was admitted to the hospital as a polio patient.

Dr. C. O. Molander, the children's grandfather, came to Lubbock after Sandra Jean died.

He ordered the serum from Deutscher Serum Center in Chicago, which he explained was in use for 10 to 15 years, not a preventive but to lessen the severity of polio.

"In the bulbar type polio, the mortality rate is reduced from 45 to 50 percent down to 18 percent by the use of the serum," he said.

In Molander said many doctors and hospitals "do not believe in this serum" but that it has been used with success by the Michael Reese hospital in Chicago.

Dr. Molander would not give the serum's name. He described it as "a convalescent serum taken from polio patients."

American Airlines flew the serum from Chicago to Dallas, where it was transferred to the Braniff plane.

At Chicago, a spokesman for the American Medical Association said a sufficiently large number of polio patients had not been treated with the serum to determine its overall worth. He added, however, that there had been a some encouraging reports on experimental work with the serum.

"But for statistical proof a very large number of cases is needed," he added. "Polio is a strange disease and sometimes dramatic recoveries occur spontaneously."

The AMA said earlier this week that there was no drug known that would prevent or affect the course of infantile paralysis, although much experimental work is underway.

School Tax Is Unsettled

The Pampa Independent School District Board of Trustees adjourned its annual budget meeting until a later date after approving the tentative 1949-50 school year budget.

The question of the tax rate was left unsettled.

In the City Commission Room, devoid of any visitors, the public hearing adjourned after an hour's deliberation.

Operating costs for the ensuing fiscal year will run approximately $1,000,000 more than last year, due mostly to the increase in teacher pay through the Gilmer-Aikin School Reorganization Bill.

The schools in Pampa operated on a budget of $700,000 during the last school year. A special meeting, sometime this week, will be held by the board to set the tax rate, when the complete list of figures on the budget will be set out.

Advice Given Vets When Making Application for Insurance Claim

Veterans in this area should take an inventory of old papers they have on file, Fred Neslage, chapter chairman of the Pampa Chapter of the American Red Cross, said yesterday.

Veterans must have certain information to be entitled to the benefits from their national life insurance if they have kept their policies in force for at least three months prior to Jan. 1, 1948.

"Veterans should be sure they have their insurance policy numbers, C numbers and permanent addresses," Neslage added. "These things with the name they served under during their time in service and a one-cent stamp will be needed for each veteran who is

Shrimp Law Faces Court

AUSTIN (AP)—The stage has been set for a thorough test of the next Texas fishing license law.

Lined up on opposite sides for the full-scale legal battle are Louisiana shrimpers and the state's lawyer, Attorney General Price Daniel. The first shots have already been fired on two fronts.

In Austin yesterday morning, Judge Jack Roberts issued a temporary injunction hearing can be held on Aug. 26.

In Houston, Louisiana, shrimpers Friday took their injunction proceedings into federal court to prevent the state from enforcing its new law. A hearing was set by Federal District Judge Allen B. Hanny for Aug. 26.

Shamrock Men Fined by Court

Three Shamrock men were fined in graduated amounts Saturday by Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry after they pleaded guilty to charges of affray.

Millard M. Brewer, 55, A. D. Drell, 50, and Charles Carver, 51. Costs of $13.15 was added to each man's fine.

Officers told the Court the three were fighting along the highway just outside the city limits on Highway 60. Brewer and Drell were jumping on Carver, they said, and were beating him up. Locked up in the County Jail, the three got out again until Sheriff G. H. Skelton could get out of bed about 2 a. m. and separate them.

They were released near noon yesterday after paying their fines and costs.

They'll Get It Anyway...

COMMECE — Maj. William C. Landley, moving to Commerce to head a new Air Force ROTC unit at East Texas State Teachers College asked a native: "Would it be cheaper to rent a house here or buy one?"

"Just rent one," replied the Commerce man.

"Why not buy one?" the major asked.

"They are going to get all your money sooner or later anyway," the native replied. "and I figure it's better to let them have it a little at a time than all at once."

Man Held Here Also Wanted For Burglary

A telegram, received by Sheriff G. H. Skelton, late Friday night from the Department of Public Safety in Austin, poured more grief on Jack Crane, Letors, who was nabbed August 2 in a case of holding people. He got as far as Letors by Constable Charles Clendennen.

The telegram stated that Crane (Crane) was wanted at Richmond, Texas, for burglary. The wire gave no details on the burglary committed there. It also said he had been arrested by Sheriff Carl Black at Cameron, Milam County, for burglary and assault with intent to murder. The wire spelled Crane's name two ways, Crane and Crain.

The information came back after fingerprints taken here were checked at Austin in the DPS' Bureau of Identification.

Crane, an ex-convict, levelled a loaded shotgun on Mrs. Ivie Rae the night of August 2 in a brazen attempted hold-up while the cafe was being opened by Sheriff Carl Black at Cameron, Milam County, for burglary and assault with intent to murder. The wire spelled Crane's name two ways, Crane and Crain.

TOMORROW IS DDT DAY

Tomorrow will be DDT day in Pampa when the Jaycees, in cooperation with local Sherwin-Williams dealers, give away several hundred gallons of DDT solution.

It's all free; no strings attached. Junior Chamber of Commerce officers said. The program is part of a continuing civic effort to prevent the spread of polio and other dread diseases by striking at insect germs carriers.

The liquid insecticide preparation will be given away in pint and quart containers to all who apply for it at the Panhandle Lumber Company, Sherwin-Williams dealers, at 420 W. Foster between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m. tomorrow.

The preparation is a clear, non-oily liquid coating containing a six percent DDT solution. It is applied wherever household insects are likely to encounter it.

The coating can be applied either with a brush or a rag to screens, window frames, porches, thresholds, and sills, on refuse and garbage cans, and around plumbing and drain pipes.

The manufacturers state that the coating will continue to kill such pests as flies, cock-roaches, silver fish, mosquitoes, ants, bedbugs and crickets for three or four months on inside surfaces and for four or five weeks on outside surfaces.

Cadet Has Big Problem

NEW YORK (AP) West Point Cadet Ralph Stephenson, of Jenat, La., had a problem in etiquette on his hands today all because of a letter from his mother.

When he won $4,600 on the American Broadcasting Company's "Break the Bank" program Friday night, he announced he would use the money to marry June McFarland of Youkers, N. Y. He invited radio listeners to over-look the cadet's mother, who had just graduated in 1947.

By midnight ABC had received 545 telegraphic acceptances, and show producers estimated a million people would accept the invitation in a week.

"How what do I do?" worried Stephenson.

Horace Waters Succumbs Here

Horace Leonard Waters, 67, died at his home, 325 N. Federal, at 4:27 p. m. yesterday after a lingering illness. He had lived in Pampa three years and was a carpenter by trade.

Waters, who was born April 6, 1882, at Atlanta, Texas, had been ill four weeks last May. He was a member of the Baptist church. Besides his wife, Mrs. Bessie Waters, he is survived by his father, Robert O. Waters, of Queen City, Texas, by three brothers, J. D. of Texasboro, E. R. and Ernest, both of Pampa, and by two sisters, Mrs. Emma Louise Waddill of Texasboro, and Mrs. Louise Perlins of Hooks, Texas.

The body will be sent by Duval-Carmichael Funeral Home to Atlanta where funeral services will be held sometime Tuesday.

Zipped Eyelid Case Is Solved

WICHITA, Kans. (AP)—The case of the zipped eyelid, which was most unusual hospital emergency, was reported Saturday.

A Wichita woman, clad in a housecoat and with a tangled dress over her head, came to the hospital by taxi.

The eyelid became caught in the zipper as she was slipping the dress over her head, she explained. Would they please get her out?

They did.

Courthouse Thief Can Hang Himself

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP)—Sheriff Charles Dahler says that whoever came stealing around the courthouse this night "now has enough rope to hang himself."

The thief took 150 feet of rope used to hold scaffolds from which workmen have been repairing the building.

U. S. Military Rules To End Nov. 15

BERLIN (AP)—The U. S. military government will go out of existence in Germany Nov. 15, John J. McCloy has announced.

Occupation questions thereafter will be decided by the State Department and McCloy, as high commissioner.

TEXAS ROW MAY PROVE TOP CONTEST

WASHINGTON (AP)—The long-deferred showdown on barring of States' Rights Democrats from the regular party organization will come this week.

The issue will be decided in a meeting Wednesday of the Democratic National Committee. It will be the first session of this group since the memorable 1948 convention battle over civil rights and the walkout of several Southern delegations.

The meeting is to elect a successor to Chairman J. Howard McGrath, the Rhode Island senator who has been confirmed as attorney general.

A contest is in sight from Texas. The Lone Star State voted for President Truman, but Wright Morrow, Houston attorney and present committeeman, will be challenged by Byron Skelton of Temple, whose backers say a stronger supporter of Mr. Truman than Morrow, Gilbert Adams of Beaumont will lead the Skelton fight.

Morrow recently turned down an ambassadorship, saying he wanted to remain in Texas and stay on as national committeeman. He termed the challenge of his party regularity a "tempest in a teapot."

Psychiatrist Speaks Here Tomorrow

Dr. Samuel R. Warson, St. Louis, Mo., has had 15 years of experience in the field of child psychiatry, will present an address at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the City Club Rooms, City Hall.

Dr. Warson, employed at the Washington University Medical School at St. Louis, is an experienced lecturer. His talk Tuesday is "Mental Hygiene in Child Guidance" — will be under the sponsorship of the local B-PW Club.

Besides being at the head of the child guidance clinic at the Washington University, Dr. Warson is a member of the American Orthopsychiatric Association, a fellow of American Psychiatric Association and a diplomat of the American Board of Psychiatry.

He will be accompanied by his wife, who is a psychiatric social worker. She is now an instructor in the George Brown School at the Washington University.

Mrs. Warson, sister of Mrs. Flins Jordan, trains graduate students in psychiatric social work. She, too, is a member of the American Association of Psychiatric Social Workers.

Following Dr. Warson's address, which will be open to the public, a question and answer period will be held. The B-PW Club originally planned to have Dr. Warson speak at one of their weekly meetings, but later decided to invite the townspeople.

The lecturer and author of several books was born and educated in Canada. He received his B.A., M.D. and C.M. Degrees from the McGill University at Montreal.

Dr. and Mrs. Warson are vacationing on a ranch near Quitaque, Texas, this summer.

Phone Nuptials Off-Only One Preacher Present

FORT WORTH (AP)—A 21-year-old soldier spent a sleepless night and $40 here Saturday in a futile attempt to marry his girl in Germany by Trans-Atlantic telephone.

Pfc. Elmer Lee Wright met Leopoldine Ann Grubmüller when he was stationed there. Wright's fiancée arrived at a post at Toole, Utah, prevented their marriage overseas and arrangements were made for the long distance wedding.

Now on furlough, Wright, with his parents and Baptist Rev. A. B. Lightfoot, appeared at the latter's church before dawn. Two telephones, one for Wright, the other for the preacher, were ready.

After two tense hours the call was completed. Wright spoke excitedly to his fiancée. The preacher smiled on the other telephone. Then the soldier sighed. Through a mixup, the girl explained, no minister was available at the Red Cross base in Germany from where she talked.

The wedding was temporarily off. But Wright said he'd try again Monday.

Selective Service Hours Are Changed

A change of office hours for Local Board 52, U. S. Selective Service, will go into effect tomorrow, according to the office received by the local office from state headquarters in Austin.

The office will open at 8:30 a. m. and close at 2:30 p. m., maintaining open during the lunch hour for registrants that are working or going to school.

The office will be closed weekdays and holidays.

CORRESPONDENT ON THE JOB—Actress Madeleine Carroll, special correspondent for the U. S. Committee of the UN International Children's Emergency Fund, is seen in a multi-story plant model with Exxon G. General, a UNICEF engineer, in Paris. The organization plans to install such plants in European countries to help alleviate the severe milk shortage.

Seating of a number of the committee members from those states will be contested. Some compromises may be reached and there is a possibility a seat or two may be left vacant.
In sending out the call for the meeting, McGrath qualified invitations to members from Louisiana and Mississippi, saying that their several attacks at the convention and subsequently in the campaign they have left the Democratic Party.

However, these members will be given an opportunity to present their case before a credentials committee in closed session Tuesday. This group will make its recommendations to the full committee in open session Wednesday.
Party officials said the prime test for states' rights members seeking to retain their seats will be whether they will pledge to stand by regular Democratic candidates in the future.

or, next week if his health permits. Hunt, still in the hospital after a leg operation, is a key figure in the inquiry.
He is in the business of helping others get government contracts for a fee. Witnesses have testified he boasted of an inside track to the White House through Vaughan.

Senate sources said the incident was dated either 1946 or 1947. They said the general at that time asked Clinton P. Anderson, then secretary of agriculture, whether there was likely to be any change in a federal order which restricted the use of grain in alcoholic beverages. Anderson, now U. S. senator from New Mexico, reportedly said no change was contemplated. Later developments, however, did bring a tightening of the grain rationing order.

Elmer McCaskey, secretary of the Pampa chapter of the American Legion, said he had received information that a group of men were planning to hold a meeting at the Pampa Hotel on Monday night to discuss the possibility of holding a convention in Pampa. McCaskey said he had contacted the police and the fire department to be on hand for any emergency.

Burglars Work Hard But Gain Nothing

Burglars in Pampa have been working hard to break into homes and stores, but they have gained nothing. The police department has received several reports of burglaries in the last few weeks, but none have resulted in any property being stolen. The police are keeping a close watch on the situation and hope to catch the burglars soon.

DECAY INSTANT

Wood decay is a serious problem in Pampa, and it is important to take steps to prevent it. The decay is caused by fungi that grow on wood, and it can cause the wood to rot and become unusable. The best way to prevent decay is to use treated wood and to keep the wood dry.

BEAN DAMAGE
VIENNA — Austria in the first half of 1949 has had a record crop of beans, but the crop has been damaged by a disease called Ascochyta blight. The disease is caused by a fungus that attacks the roots and stems of the beans, and it can cause the beans to rot and become unusable.

BULLETINS

An Air of Defeat

WASHINGTON — An air of defeat already overshadows next month's American-British conference on Britain's economic crisis.
Truman administration officials and British economic and political experts predict that a good many sensational proposals will be put forward. But they say there is little chance that both sides will agree at this meeting on a broad plan of action that will set John Bull back on well-shod financial feet.
There is a chance, too, of an irritating dispute over who is responsible for Britain's present fix.

Mexican Laborers

LEGOS, Texas — The new international agreement for bringing Mexican laborers into the United States was denounced as "unreasonable" and preposterous at a meeting of West Texas farmers here.
The description came from George Hall, district manager of Western Cotton Oil Company, who addressed the meeting of about 200 men in the City Auditorium Friday night.
"This is the most unreasonable, most preposterous thing ever imposed" on the Texas cotton industry, said Hall, who returned recently from Washington and a personal interview with President Truman.

Another speaker was J. C. Wilson, lead of the Texas cotton industry here. He said only one provision agreed to by farmers at a June meeting in Kansas City, was included in the new international executive agreement.

Finland Strike

HILSINKI, Finland — The nationwide Communist strike showed signs of weakening yesterday.
Workers in many areas returned to their jobs. A major split developed in the powerful Central Trade Union Federation.
The Social Democratic government of Premier Karl August Fagerholm, however, remained on guard. It kept its army and police forces on an alert.

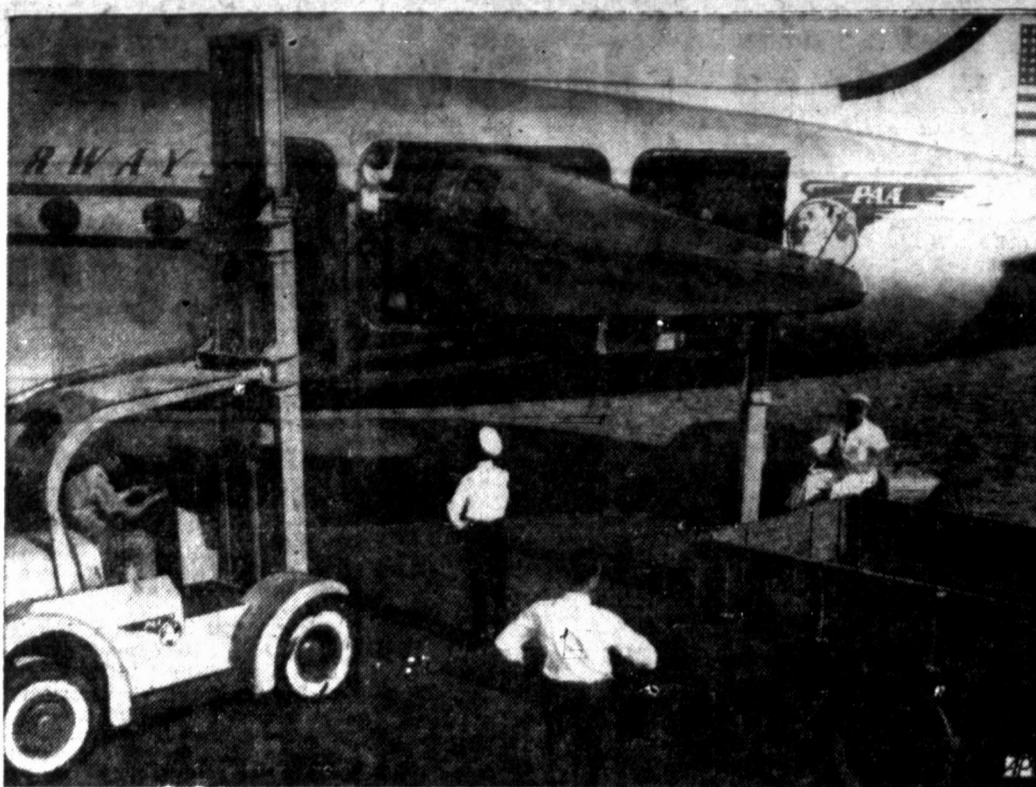

General Angry

BERLIN — The Communists said U. S. Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley is angry because the diplomats did not let him start a war.
They made the charge in a bitter farwell to the retiring American commandant of Berlin.

Howley told a news conference after a four-power meeting on Thursday the Russians are trying to revive the four-power Kommandatura and regain their veto power in the rule of all Berlin.

'Lack of Confidence'

WASHINGTON — Rep. Voys (R-Ohio) said the House voted a "lack of confidence" in the administration's foreign policy when it chopped in two the administration's $1,160,990,000 arms and program for Western Europe.
He said the administration, in turn, had demonstrated its lack of confidence in the House.

Congress Slower Than Molasses on Cold Day

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — What's slower than molasses on a cold day? Creeping through it.

This is the story of how the Senate does it.

Back in 1924 Congress passed the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act to encourage world trade. It works this way:
The United States cuts tariffs on certain goods another country wants to sell it, provided that country cuts tariffs on certain goods we want to sell it.

The House voted last February to renew the act. The Senate has been kicking it around ever since. Came June 30 and the Senate hadn't acted.

It is now mid-August and the Senate still hasn't acted and isn't expected to act for some weeks to come. The Senate has been behind on its whole schedule this year.

Agreements made between this country and others before June 30 are still in effect. But since the act officially died June 30, no new deals can be made until the act is renewed, maybe sometime in September.

This has gummed up the work of a group of American trade officials who have been working in France with representatives of 32 other countries.
The representatives of those various countries, including ours, had been able to work out agreements on a number of trade deals. They had been working on them two years.

Until June 30, or before the death of the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act, President Truman had been able to approve the deals made with other countries.

Since June 30, though, with the act dead, Mr. Truman has been unable to give such approval. Yet the United States was a prime mover in starting the talks in France.

All this, because of the Senate's tardiness, puts the U. S. in a strange spot.

Maybe nothing was lost by the delay—since the Senate is expected to approve renewal of the act—but our trade agreements have been slowed up.

Station Will Handle Farm Laborers

HARLINGEN — A station to process Mexican farm workers now in the United States illegally will be opened here next Thursday.

This was announced Friday by W. Carl Holley of the Washington U. S. Employment Service Office.

The new U. S.-Mexico agreement for importing Mexican farm labor provides that "wetbacks" will get first choice at migrant jobs.

Holley said the new station will process only male "wetbacks," Mexicans who sneak past the Border Patrol to get into the United States without papers.

Holley said the center will be open seven days a week for six or eight weeks. It will handle an estimated 1,000 workers daily for growers in Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Missouri and other Southern states.

He said growers should contact their local employment service offices for information.

They can hire the Mexicans only after posting bond with immigration officials and receiving notice to appear at Harlingen. The U. S. must certify no domestic United States labor is available.

When the supply of braceros (Mexican laborers) in this country is exhausted recruiting will move to three centers in Mexico.

"Wetbacks" have been returning to Mexico in large numbers from the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Residents said there were two reasons: a normal return of labor after the first and more profitable pickings of valley cotton had ended, and a belief that they must get back to Mexico to make contracts under the new labor agreement.

Proxy Husband Has Said 'I Do' Total of 92 Times

KISS—Tom Finegan gets his reward for standing in as Grace Allen's proxy husband, Miss Allen, of Louisville, Miss., was proxy-married to an Army chaplain, Lt. S. R. Boston, in this ceremony, which was Finegan's 90th such affair.

KANSAS CITY, Kans.—(NEA)—Getting married is old stuff to Tom Finegan, who has said "I do" 92 times. But he's been a proxy bridegroom.

And, does Mrs. Finegan object to her husband holding hands—and sometimes being kissed—by the brides? She hardly is in a position to offer objections—she has been a proxy bride 32 times herself.

Explaining the kisses, 52-year-old Finegan, who is a lawyer, says "Sometimes the brides just get carried away with exuberance after the wedding ceremonies, and in the absence of their new husbands, they up and use me as their target."

Finigan is looking forward to his 100th wedding. If circumstances permit, he hopes to celebrate it by making it a formal affair "with all the trimmings." He noted his "golden proxy wedding anniversary" with a double-wedding ceremony.

The lawyer got his start as a stand-in bridegroom in 1943 when he was president of the Wyandotte County Bar Association in Kansas. A Chicago welfare officer wrote him, inquiring about Kansas proxy marriage laws. Kansas is one of the few states where such marriages are legal.

Men and women have come to Finigan from 34 states and he, his wife and secretary have served as proxies for wedding principals living in six European countries, North Africa, Asia and the Philippines.

There has been a steady decline in proxy marriages since the war. One marriage handled by Finigan was annulled by request and at least three others ended in divorce.

Finigan observed that the brides and bridegrooms probably react during the ceremony in the same way they would if their spouses-to-be were present.

"The men may not appear as nervous or thrilled as women, but they're much more awkward and self-conscious," he commented. "Women are 'at home' at weddings, anyway, while a man usually feels a little foolish."

He recalls one exception. When he asked a bridegroom if he were nervous, the man replied confidently: "This is nothing new to me—it's my fifth marriage."

The proxy weddings are performed in the "Cupid's parlor" of the probate judge's office.

Marriage certificates issued in a proxy marriage are identical to those given when both contracting parties are present for a civil ceremony.

Proxy marriages performed in Kansas are recognized throughout the United States, most foreign countries and by the armed services in issuing marriage allotments and in handling immigration cases. A rigid legal procedure, which includes conformity to Kansas' serological test law, must be fulfilled by the proxy marriage party in the United States and by the one outside the country.

The Finigans celebrated their own 25th wedding anniversary last Valentine's Day. Just to make sure it would stand out over their proxy wedding anniversaries, they invited 300 friends to help them celebrate.

Men Exchange Wives; Everybody Seems Happier

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Wilma Mayfield, 25, is now Wilma Botsford, and Frances Botsford, 28, is now Frances Mayfield.

A mutually agreeable exchange of spouses was completed with the marriage of Don Mayfield, 27, and the former Frances Botsford, at the home of Mayfield's mother, Mrs. L. B. Mayfield.

It all started when the two Piru, Calif., couples, who had met at a party, decided they would be happier if they swapped mates.

Frances divorced John Botsford, 30, Aug. 4. Wilma divorced Don Mayfield Aug. 8 and that night married John Botsford. Frances and Don were wed Saturday to complete the circle.

John and Frances were married in 1938. Don and Wilma in 1943. Both couples separated last June 13.

The wives will keep their respective children. Wilma has two daughters and Frances a son.

Beef Prices Climb Higher

By The Associated Press

Retail prices of beef, frying chickens and top grade eggs were a little higher last week.

Only a few fruits and vegetables in temporary overabundance of scattered market centers were lower.

The advances in beef ranged from two to six cents a pound and reflected wholesale price increases last week.

Some of the more popular cuts of pork edged upward slightly in a few places—but wholesale price quotations had eased sharply by midweek and trade circles expected the retail downturn to begin by this weekend. Lamb and veal were generally unchanged.

Some market analysts expressed the opinion that farmers anxious to take advantage of present price levels would hurry their big spring crop to market weeks earlier than usual. This will take some of the buying pressure off beef, these sources reasoned, and thus speed the marketing of feedlot cattle which normally reaches its peak between late November and mid-December.

"In other words, the seasonal price cutting in meat that usually becomes noticeable to the housewife in late September should be well underway shortly after Labor Day this year," said an Agriculture Department spokesman in New York.

No Call Made For Mexican Farm Hands

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Thousands of Mexican workers (braceros) are hoping to go to the U. S. but so far the U. S. hasn't asked for them.

Three weeks ago, the Mexican and U. S. governments agreed on rules covering the migration of Mexican harvest workers. It provided Mexico would supply the men needed under certain conditions, when requested.

But there has been no formal request yet for workers.

U. S. officials gave two reasons for the delay:

The U. S. is still trying to count the number of Mexicans illegally in the U. S., who have first right to the migrant jobs.

The chief demand for harvest hands is expected from the Mississippi Delta cotton fields, where the picking season will not begin for about two weeks.

No official word has been received here that any of the illegal emigrants have signed work contracts which will legalize their stay. The U. S. Employment Service (USES) was instructed to make an estimate of the number and report to the Mexican government, but this report has not been received. Lack of English and worry about their illegal status make many migrants cautious about reporting themselves to officials.

Some officials believe there are enough Mexicans already in the U. S. to fill the need for migrant labor. Estimates of the number of extra hands needed range from 20,000 to 35,000. Estimates of the number of Mexicans in the U. S. illegally range from 80,000 to 300,000. How many of these can be induced to declare themselves at a Mexican consulate and legalize their status remains to be seen.

Preliminary steps have been taken here to set up machinery for recruiting men in Mexico. But much of this work cannot be done until a formal request for migrants is received. After it comes, at least two weeks will be needed to complete establishment of the recruiting stations and get the men moving.

Ushers Prevent Theater Panic

FORT WORTH—(AP)—A couple of ushers were credited Friday with preventing injuries in a panic among theater patrons who fled from the building when three teenage boys yelled "fire."

The incident was at the Hollywood Theater here Thursday. The boys shrieked "fire" seven times and the theater occupants poured onto the street in terror.

Cool work of the ushers, James Thompson and James Wilson, made possible the near-capacity crowd reaching the street without anyone being hurt.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1949)

NEW YORK - Throughout the fight against the Communist treachery, loyal Americans have gone in peril of ruinous litigation. A precious interpretation of law gives the one alleged to be a Communist an advantage over those who accuse him if he but deny the charge. He can claim injury to his reputation and his earnings. Inasmuch as it took the very government itself, four years to prove that the fellow traveler was a Communist and Bridges finally won a political victory in the Supreme Court the lone individual assumes a terrible burden of proof.

Fortunately for Mrs. John T. McCullough, after seven months of anguish including a nervous affliction which she describes as a "slight stroke," she has become the heroine of a celebrated case. It began last December when the Communist Party, Communist and subversive; and all of which have been found... to be Communist fronts by the Committees on Un-American Activities of the United States House of Representatives and the California Legislature. And these nine fronts are instruments of an unlawful conspiracy to destroy the American government.

The familiar names of the subversive organizations "so openly supported by these plaintiffs" are listed. Mrs. McCullough's attorney, Draper and Adler, were spreading Communist propaganda throughout the United States in the guise of entertainment. The Connecticut law permits the attachment of a defendant's property on the mere filing of a complaint and without judgment for damages.

Few residents of the state know this but the Communist fronts do and they take full advantage of it. The McCulloughs intend to sell out and pull stakes when this is over. Draper and Adler have plenty of money for litigation but the McCulloughs were trapped, although now that the answer is in the case has taken a turn. Now the details can be printed without jeopardy by local patriots wherever Draper and Adler try to put on a show. They can be placarded.

Just so they stick to the charges in the answer, patriots everywhere can bang this pair and knock them bowlegged. If any soap company puts them on the radio the customers can call up the advertiser, tell him the details and demand how come. Ironically, the Communists have hundreds of lawyers and two thoroughly organized bar associations to serve the bar raders, but there is no free defense for patriotic defendants. That lack has now been dramatically noted in the McCullough case and some such defensive society may be put together.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES

The Government's Monopoly Propaganda

The suit brought in the Federal Court to dissolve the du Pont industrial empire means much to every worker in the United States. It is a very clever method of leading us further into a socialist-communist state.

I did not realize the importance and the strategy of this suit until I had read the Economic Council's Letter under the heading, "It's a Crime to Be Successful." The suit is dangerous because it is a clever way of arousing the public against big business. Most every person is afraid of monopolies. They do not realize that there are two kinds of monopolies - earned monopolies and unearned monopolies fostered by conspiring individuals and groups and the government to prevent part of the people from having a right to compete in rendering services and helping to establish values.

The real and only function of a truly liberal government is to protect each citizen in his right to his own life energy. As the Economic Letter says: "But there are those who seek to extend the monopoly power and government beyond simple and necessary necessities. They make a call 'statism' - whether Communist, Socialist or Fascist - in its essence the extension of political monopoly power over the whole of society." Under the heading, "Classical Socialism, for example, wants to make government monopolies of most basic manufacturing, transportation and distribution facilities. It wants to control the natural resources into a political monopoly.

"Communists, Socialists and Fascists, therefore, are not really against monopoly at all. They are in favor of it, but in a different way. They sneer at the free market. Their basic objection to a 'private' (that is, non-government) monopoly is merely that it is not known to the public. The wrong people. According to them, prices should be set by monopolist-politicians and not by monopolist-businessmen. "As believers in the free market, we do not like monopoly, either governmental or private. But that ought not to blind any of us to the fact that when a socialist-minded politician starts to cry 'monopoly,' he is really crying for more government control. "Just what is it the Washington Administration is really trying to do?"

The answer can be found in the record of the Administration itself. It is a collective-minded, statist, un-American, National Socialist bent administration. It is a matter of record to put on a show. They can be placarded. Just so they stick to the charges in the answer, patriots everywhere can bang this pair and knock them bowlegged. If any soap company puts them on the radio the customers can call up the advertiser, tell him the details and demand how come.

Ironically, the Communists have hundreds of lawyers and two thoroughly organized bar associations to serve the bar raders, but there is no free defense for patriotic defendants. That lack has now been dramatically noted in the McCullough case and some such defensive society may be put together.

Welcome to Utopia

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON - The Republican national committee member recently elected Guy George Gabrielson of New Jersey as national chairman because of his reputed money-raising abilities and political experience on the firing line are headed for disappointment.

As a Wall Street lawyer who simply "bedrooms" in a swanky New Jersey country club, Mr. Gabrielson is an unstatesman's wealth and resources and political, the clubhouse crowd and the Congressional delegation. His selection was a complete surprise to them. If he ever helped them at election time during his service as national committee member, they never heard of it. They were not "elated" by what would normally be regarded as a distinction honor to them and Jersey.

Nor do the files of the clerk of the House, which record the political contributions of various state organizations, picture Mr. Gabrielson as a party Croesus. There are many other national committee men who, in proportion to their state's wealth and resources and federal favors in the way of contracts, have raised more mazzina than the new chairman.

DIFFICULT - Even if Mr. Gabrielson were a money collector par excellence, he faces the most difficult task in digging up dollars to put on a show. They can be placarded. Just so they stick to the charges in the answer, patriots everywhere can bang this pair and knock them bowlegged. If any soap company puts them on the radio the customers can call up the advertiser, tell him the details and demand how come.

General Motors certainly has no monopoly on the manufacture and sale of automobiles. "So we find this curious situation: In no case does any component part of the du Pont 'empire' have a monopoly on goods offered for sale so that prices may be administered by the du Ponts, rather than set by the operation of the free market. And if the parts do not exercise monopoly, it is certain that the direct responsibility cannot be a monopoly. That may be helpful and cooperative among themselves in reducing their costs and in the transaction of their respective businesses, does not make them a monopoly."

One of the advantages of interlocking relations between two businesses is that they can make long time agreements so that they can plan to keep their equipment and employees more fully employed. This reduces costs and makes it possible to sell for less. Even if the results in saving are not direct, the fact that prices may be administered by the du Ponts, rather than set by the operation of the free market, makes more capital available for competition and thus of necessity reduces costs in whatever line the savings are invested.

The Economic Council Letter closes with the following: "The drive to collectivize America is now in full blast. The attack is from every quarter. It is in the light of what the split-brained are trying to do in the large, that separate tactical moves must be understood and weighed. When that is done, these salient facts emerge: (1) In defending itself, du Pont is not defending monopoly. For the du Pont enterprises are not a monopoly. (2) The purpose of the attack is to advance the creation in America of an American National Socialism, indistinguishable from the essential sense from German National Socialism (Hitler's Nazism), Fascism or British National Socialism. (3) The present Administration has no interest in preserving the free market for goods and services. Its professed purpose of 'opposing monopoly' is purely hypocritical, since its real interest is in destroying the free market and substituting state

The Old Swimmin' Hole

By GORDON MARTIN

When a pair of boyhood cronies meet to talk of bygone days, when they played as kids together 'till they went their separate ways, they will speak of tops and marbles and the baseball team at school, and deserving applications of the teacher's smarting rule. And they never fail to mention, as the memories unroll, that the great delight of boyhood was the old-time swimmin' hole.

It was something far removed from modern pools we have today, but it seemed like part of heaven to a country boy at play. It was just a pool of water in a rippling, shaded stream, but for 'divin' and a-splashin' it provided thrills supreme. If you didn't want to be the chump, you had to shake a leg, since the last one in the water was a stinkin' rotten egg.

And you didn't have the fancy trunks that modern swimmers wear, so a fellow wore his birthday suit and took his swimmin' bare. He could take a rest on shaded banks or in the sunshine dose, and he didn't mind about the mud that oozed between his toes. Yes, the kids got better places now, but boyhood's honor roll will always, for their fathers, list the old-time swimmin' hole.

Health Talks

What is a nose really supposed to look like? Aside from its utility purpose, is there really any beauty in a nose? Hook noses, saddle noses, pug noses and bulbous noses are definitely not items of beauty. What kind of nose would be considered?

The doctors concerned with plastic surgery of the nose, called rhinoplasty, have worked out a mathematical formula which is supposed to approach the ideal proportions of a nose. Here's how it works and you can measure your own shortcomings or excesses to see how your nose stacks up.

For full face measuring draw four parallel lines, one through the hairline, one at the root of the nose (slightly above the bridge), one at the base of the nose and one at the chin. Take an old front view photograph and test your measurements; these four lines are supposed to divide your face into three equal parts.

The width of an eye, the space between the eyes and the width of the nose are supposed to be equal in size. The best place for the mouth in this picture is one-third of the way from the base of the nose to the chin-line. These four parallel lines will give you a nose length, from tip to root, of slightly less than the length from the base of the columella (the two lines from the side of the nose to the upper lip) to the chin-line.

For the proper tilt of your nose and your profile in comparison with this mathematical "ideal" nose, take a profile picture. John Barrymore's perfect profile may have served into these measurements any more than yours, so don't have a faint heart in sizing up your snootie. Jimmy Durante has made a fortune on his deviation from the ideal nose.

Draw a line from the most jutting point of your forehead, usually at the eyebrow. Draw this straight line from the forehead to the jutting point of the chin. Now draw another straight line above the bridge, through the high point of the nose hump and extend it beyond the tip of the nose. This may not be a straight line on your profile, but it's "posed" to be. If that hump goes up too high, you have a hump nose. If it doesn't fall in line, but sags, you have a saddle nose.

Washington..... by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - Give higher rank to the three presidential military aides who are laboring their brains to find ways to make the President out of federal expenses.

But one of the biggest money-savings bills available is being given in the brush-off. This is the legislation which would permit the reorganization of the staff of the President. The bill would change the rank of the three presidential military aides from major to lieutenant colonel.

This legislation has passed the Senate. But it is tied up in the House Armed Services Committee. Chairman Carl Vinson of that body says he thinks it would give too much power to the secretary of defense. Yet with a few minor exceptions, all this legislation would do is carry out recommendations of ex-President Hoover's Commission for Reorganization of the National Military Establishment.

As passed by the Senate this bill would change the name of the NME to a simple "Department of Defense." It would also change the rank of the three presidential military aides from major to lieutenant colonel. The new Department of Defense would then become the sole responsibility of the President for the conduct of the armed services.

WORLD INCREASE AUTHORITY

Other positive actions which the secretary of defense would be authorized to take would include his direct appointment of the civilian chairman of the Munitions Board and the Research and Development Board.

This would make these groups directly responsible to the secretary of defense. They are now appointed by the President. A new position of chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff would be created. He would preside over meetings of the Chief of Naval Operations and the Chiefs of Staff of Army and Air Force. This chairman could be from any of the three services. He would be responsible to the secretary of defense, however, and not to the President, as was the case with Adm. William D. Leahy in wartime.

The Joint Staff, now limited by law to 100 members, could be enlarged to whatever size necessary under the proposed legislation. Operating under the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Joint Staff develops plans and operations for all three services. Nearly two years experience under the present law has shown 100 members can't do the job.

These last-mentioned changes would course slightly increase costs of operating the Department of Defense. The real saving would come through enforced reorganization from the top, to eliminate duplication of functions by all three services. As for how much could be saved, Secretary Johnson estimates it at around $1,500,000,000. He has to save that much some how, because present authorizations approved by Congress for 1950 total $15,000,000,000. Repealed "amnesty" for the $14,000,000,000. The $1,500,000,000 difference must come through greater efficiency.

"You've got 'trespassing' spelled wrong!"

POLIO PANIC CALLED WORSE THAN DISEASE

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK — (AP) — Polio panic is hitting millions of children and parents this year.

This panic isn't new. But it may be getting worse. It comes from fear, and from ignorance or misunderstanding of what is known about infantile paralysis.

"The fear and panic over polio can be worse than the disease itself," declares Dr. Hart E. Van Ripper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Many parents break out with the polio jitters each summer. They torment themselves with worry. Their homes and children get upset.

Often, children are forbidden to live and play normally. They may be cooped up in the house, with mother and child on each other's nerves. They may be forbidden to swim anywhere, or even use their own wading pools.

Camps, movies, or a trip into town are banned by some parents. Frightened parents may impose these taboos even when there has been only one or a few cases of polio a few miles away.

And the fact is that such steps do no good. The net result is emotional harm to the children, by giving them the idea that some unknown terror is abroad.

No one wants polio. And no one wants to get hit by a car while crossing the street. The best you can do is observe the traffic safety rules. Even then you might be hit. But the slim chance doesn't keep you glued to the corner, afraid to go across.

"Parents and their children would be better off if they took the same reasonable attitude toward polio," Dr. Van Ripper said.

Knowing the facts about polio is the best way to banish fear. Here are some fictions about polio, and the facts as cited by Dr. Harry M. Weaver, research head of the foundation:

Fiction: That polio is the worst of all childhood diseases.

Fact: Polio in a recognizable form is relatively rare. Rheumatic fever is the worst, by far, both as a killer, and a crippler. Even in a bad polio year, only one in every 8,000 Americans gets polio. And only one in every 15,000 is left slightly or badly paralyzed or dies.

Fiction: That "crowds are the most dangerous place for picking up polio."

Fact: Polio is a communicable disease, apparently spread by intimate personal contact, such as occurs at home. It apparently takes time and intimacy to contract it.

"Going through a polio ward is not dangerous at all, unless you sit on a patient's bed, handle his glass and eating utensils, and spend time with him. Riding on a bus is not harmful, unless you hold hands, share sandwiches and the like."

The home appears to be the most dangerous place. When one member gets it, there's a good chance that others will. For every person who develops polio, five to 10 may have the virus in their intestinal tracts. They may be carriers spreading it to others. Why they don't contract it themselves is one of the mysteries.

Fiction: You shouldn't swim during the polio season.

Fact: Swimming in polluted waters is foolish, for the virus may be present there, and you might get other disease bugs. But there's no evidence that anyone ever got polio from swimming in a clean pool or beach. Intimate contact between children playing together at the beach could be dangerous, if the children haven't all been regular playmates.

Sudden chilling, over-exertion and fatigue may set you up for the virus already in your system to go to work on the nerve cells. There's no proof yet that fatigue is bad when you have the virus in your system. But there is ample evidence that fatigue when you have a little fever, nausea, headache or other sign of possible polio will increase your chances of coming down with the paralytic form of polio.

Fiction: Every person getting polio will be crippled or die.

Fact: Fifty to 80 percent recover completely. About 20 percent are left with minor handicaps. Fifteen to 20 percent may be badly handicapped, and five to 10 percent may die.

Fiction: The cause of polio is not known, and prevention is hopeless.

Fact: It is caused by a virus, one of the tiniest disease organisms. There is not yet a vaccine to prevent it. But one probably will be developed soon. Your best protection is good health rules, especially in keeping clean, getting rest, and avoiding fatigue.

Fiction: That polio epidemics follow long spells of hot, dry weather.

Fact: Polio occurs all year round, reaching its peak in the summer. Dry, hot weather doesn't help to spread it any more than rainy weather so far as is known.

Harvesters Work Hard on Fundamentals of Grid Game

That's the theme of Pampa Harvesters grid practice sessions. It has been for the past week, and will probably be for a long time to come as the Harvesters coaches try to mold a winning team out of the 38 athletes at their disposal.

The line is working hard on blocking and charging. It is the forward wall that will offer the most trouble this year, with an almost entirely green group of boys up front. The boys must learn how to get the jump on their opponent, how to drive him out of the line to make a hole for the charging backfield man, and how to get past the enemy linebacker on defense to make the tackle. They also have to get their assignments down perfectly to be sure that they work together on opening up a hole in the line.

The backfield has been spending much time with the line-backing job. Tackling has, on the whole, been weak by the backfield men, but constant drill sessions should bring improvement on that phase of their work.

To conclude the practice sessions the boys have been lined up in scrimmage formation to run through their plays, and seeing how the boys can work their blocking assignments as a unit, as well as finding out how well the backfield men can handle the ball.

The extra-point situation seems to be well taken care of by Elmer Wilson, Dewey Cudney and Dick Cook.

The team has been holding two workouts a day. A light drill has been held each morning and a heavy workout at night for 7 o'clock on. The first game of the season is less than three weeks off, North Dallas coming to Pampa on September 9.

Women Bowlers to Meet Tuesday Night

The Top of Texas Ladies Bowling League will hold its first annual business meeting at the Court House Cafe next Tuesday evening at 7:30. Ethel Bryan, league president, announced Saturday.

Central Baptists Capture Junior Girls Ball Title

The Central Baptists are champions of the Junior Girls Softball League by virtue of a smashing 31 to 12 victory over the McCullough Methodists Friday night at Kiwanis Park. The winners actually edged the game away in the first inning when they drove 16 runs across the plate before the side could be retired.

P. Young was the winning pitcher, having little trouble behind the batting attack turned on by her teammates.

In a game to decide the third place winner, the Calvary Baptists defeated the First Methodists 25 to 22. The Baptists scored 12 times in the seventh that accounted for 9 runs.

In the Junior Boys League, two season-ending games were played. The Calvary Baptists defeated the First Methodists 18 to 7 and the First Christians overwhelmed the First Baptists 27 to 2.

The games decided which would be in the playoffs which get underway Monday night at 7 and wind up Tuesday with the championship games. At 7 Monday night the Calvary Baptists will meet the First Christians and at 8:30 the McCullough Methodists and the First Methodists will tangle.

On Tuesday night the two losers will play at 7 and the two winners meet at 8:30 for the championship.

Loss Drops Oilers to 5th; Bass Gets Mound Call Today

Mike Dooley, who has done it before to the Oilers, hit a twelfth-inning home run with a teammate aboard last night to break up a 5-5 ballgame and give the Hubbers a 7-5 victory in the opener of the two-game series. Roy Parker was in quest of his twentieth win of the year, but instead suffered his tenth defeat. The loss dropped the Oilers to fifth place, one game ahead of Lubbock.

"Today, at 2:30, the two teams will meet in the final of the two-game series. For Pampa it will be righthander Howard Bass, while Don Hensiek will hurl for Lubbock.

The game went into the top of the twelfth last night all tied up. Parker fanned the leadoff man, but walked Butler, the rightfielder. Mike Dooley then slammed a home run over the leftfield fence, his first hit of the night, to break up the game. Pampa was unable to do any damage in their half of the twelfth.

Unearned runs defeated Parker. He pitched a beautiful ball game, but a shaky defense cost him two runs early in the game that spelled defeat. Parker added his own cause with a three-run home run in the second to give the Oilers a temporary lead. Virgil Richardson also hit one for the Oilers in the sixth with no one aboard.

Manager Jackie Sullivan did a bit of fancy juggling as he shifted righthander Royce Mills and left-hander Walt Stenberg back and forth to pitch to right and left handed batters. The strategy paid off as Stenberg retired Parker twice during the extra innings with other games around the W-T-N League last night Amarillo defeated Borger 8 to 7, Abilene beat Clovis 8 to 0, and Lubbock beat Abilene 15 to 5.

Panhandle's Leading Golf Event Scheduled for Sept. 3, 4 and 5

The Panhandle's biggest golfing event, the Top of Texas Invitational, is only two weeks off. The event will run off over the Labor Day weekend at the Pampa Country Club, Sept. 3, 4 and 5.

Approximately $1,500 in prizes has already been set up for the winners. The winner of each flight will receive a 17 jewel Hamilton wrist watch, engraved "Top of Texas Golf - 1949". The runner-up in each flight will receive a bag boy, bag carrier cart, and the consolation winner will receive a pipe organ golf bag. In addition there will be many other fine prizes.

Awards will be given for first second and third place in the driving contest. The medalist will receive a trophy. Prizes will also be awarded to the oldest player entered, the player coming the farthest distance to enter the tournament, the highest qualifying score, the low gross and the high gross scores each day.

Local golfers may qualify any time between August 28 and Sept. 3. All qualifying scores must be in by 6 p. m. on Saturday, Sept. 3.

Immediately after the qualifying closes a driving contest will be held. At 7 p. m. a Dutch Lunch will be held at the clubhouse and the Calculus Pool will begin promptly at 8:15.

Match play will start on Sunday Sept. 4 at 7 a. m. Two matches will be played on Sunday, by both the winners and the losers. Monday's matches will start at 7:30, with the finals being played Monday afternoon. All prizes will be awarded at the conclusion of final matches Monday afternoon.

Invitations have already been mailed to all of the surrounding towns, including Shamrock, Childress, Spearman, Borger Phillips, Plainview, Lubbock, Altus, Quanah, Clarendon, Memphis, Canadian and Denton.

Last year's champion, Jack Garrett of Plainview, will be back, as will the runner up last year, Clyde Blackwell of Fort Worth. Garrett defeated Blackwell 1-up last year. Other cham-

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hassel—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: This year the Yankees have held first place all season long. They did it one other season. What was that?

DRAWING NEARER AND NEARER is the conclusion of the West Texas-New Mexico baseball season. If the Oilers yed last night (this was written Saturday afternoon) they only have 17 more games to play, including a doubleheader with Berger on Sept. 5, at Berger. That is the bargain-bill they have to play.

The season rushes by, it seems more and more apparent to the team that is fighting hold onto a playoff berth in the Oilers. They will end up the first division, and to do so, they will have to take spot now held by Lamesa. At this writing the Oilers and Berger are both tied for fourth place, with the Oilers having played four more games than the Oilers. Lamesa is two games ahead of them, having played less games than the Oilers. A difference in games means that both clubs, Amarillo and Lamesa, have that many more dou-

American Golfers Bury Britons To Retain Walker Cup Trophy

MAMARONECK, N. Y. (AP)—But for him, it would have been Great Britain's well-laid plans for reclaiming the Walker Cup were buried Saturday under an avalanche of American pars and birdies on Winged Foot's sunny fairways.

The "best team Britain ever put together" went down by a final score of 10-2 as it managed to salvage only one victory in Saturday's eight concluding singles matches. The one-sided triumph was America's 11th in the 12 times the amateur event has been played since 1922. The two-day international test of skill between the two great golf-playing nations saw only one of the invaders, a balding young Englishman named Ronnie White, stand up against the ruthless efficiency of this country's sharpshooters. But for him, it would have been a complete rout.

Frank Stanahan gained sweet revenge by trouncing Max McCreedy of Ireland the same man who defeated the Toldo adonis in the last British Amateur—6 and 5. Frank didn't permit the British champion to win a single hole in the last 16.

Johnny Dawson, 46-year-old dean of the American corps, got tired toward the last, but won one of his last six holes to defeat Joe Carr, another Irishman, 5 and 3.

Pollett Pitches, Cards Win 4-3
PITTSBURGH (AP)—A ninth-inning double by Lou Klein scoring Glenn Nelson gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 win over Pittsburgh Saturday. The Cards went ahead 3-0 in the second and the Cubs tied it up in the fifth.

Dog Lives 45 Days in Bottom Of Deep Well

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—"Shag," a three-year-old setter bird dog is alive and kicking after spending 45 days at the bottom of a well.

The dog, owned by E. D. "Red" Ashley, operator of a drive-in cafe on the Shreveport-Minden highway, two miles from Homer, lost 55 pounds during the ordeal.

How he lived at all is a mystery.

Ashley said "Shag" disappeared July 5 and was thought possibly to have been stolen since he is an excellent hunter.

Ashley said he advertised for the dog but received no response.

Thursday a Negro made a short cut through an old field. Hearing faint whimpers from an abandoned well, the Negro investigated and located the dog at the bottom of the well.

The Negro notified Ashley and the latter set out immediately to rescue the dog. Ashley said that "Shag" was too weak to stand when he was removed from the well and weighed only 10 pounds. He weighed 45 pounds when he appeared.

Friday morning however, the dog showed signs of regaining

Sister Reunites With Her Brother After 20 Years

DALLAS (AP)—After momentary panic, an attractive Peruvian miss was reunited yesterday with a brother she had not seen since she was two years old.

Dark-haired Laura Pastor, 29, stepped off the train from New Orleans here at 10:21 a. m. yesterday, expecting to walk into the arms of her brother, Jose Pastor, 41, of Dallas.

He wasn't there. In her Spanish accent, she asked, "Where is my brother? Where is my brother?"

Pastor, surrounded by reporters and photographers, was getting panicky, too—waiting at the door of the wrong car about 20 yards away.

Not until other passengers had filed out did the slim little Dallas man spot his sister. A rather looking but now frightened traveler who spotted him at about the same time.

Dodging porters, they ran to each other, embraced again and again. They spoke in Spanish. But their flashing eyes and smiles were interpretation enough.

The last time they saw each other was when Pastor returned to Peru for a visit in 1929. Laura was a two-year-old infant. Pastor was then attached to the Peruvian consulate in New Orleans.

In 1931 the Peruvian government was overthrown. Pastor declined the new government's invitation to return home. The United States has been his home since.

Laura came to the United States seven months ago, determined to find her brother. She studied English at Mississippi Southern College at Hattiesburg to prepare her for the search. Discouraged, she placed an advertisement in a New Orleans newspaper. An alert New Orleans detective, Carl Sharp, offered to help, free. Last Wednesday night Laura reached her brother by telephone.

The dimpled Peru miss, whose dark curls framed her face in a very Yankee fashion, plans to stay in the United States. Pastor and his wife, the former Frances Conway of Little Rock, Ark., hope she will stay with them.

"Oh, I will, I will," said Laura. "I've found my brother."

Much of Valley Cotton Crop Is Still in Fields

HALLINGEN (AP)—An estimated 15 to 20 percent of the cotton crop still is in the fields of the Lower Rio Grande Valley but growers think with continued good weather it will all be harvested by Sept. 15, the date for which pickers schedule, after the worst regulations. The cotton crop this year is 500,000 bales.

Alien cotton pickers have been streaming back across the Rio Grande to Mexico but for two weeks valley gins have been making record turn-outs. Some are 24 hours behind schedule, indicating little more cotton could be ginned even if there were more pickers.

The stepped up exodus of Mexican workers came as there were reports in Mexico that thousands of such workers wanted to go to the United States but so far the U. S. hasn't asked for them.

Valley residents gave these reasons for the Mexican workers' return.

A normal flow of such labor back across the river after the first good pickings are over.

An indication workers believe they must get back to Mexico to be legally contracted for under the United States-Mexico labor agreement.

The agreement was signed three weeks ago. Under it Mexicans illegally in the United States have first right to migrant jobs.

More than 10,000 workers have returned to Mexico this month through the Brownsville Immigration Station. That was about twice the number through that station in July.

Almost 20,000 crossed back into Mexico at the valley's three bridges.

Brownsville border patrol officials said there was a reluctance of cotton pickers to work second and third pick fields at prevailing wages of $1.25 to $1.90 per hundred pounds.

Revolution in Eating Takes Place On Texas Farms; Is Aiding Health

By ROBERT E. FORD Associated Press Staff

COLLEGE STATION — (AP)—It used to be quite an event in Texas in the old days — that selling the first bale of cotton.

Best part was when pa—coming back from the gin—pulled up the mules in front of the town's meat market. He'd crawl down from the wagon, prance into the market with cash money in his pocket, and order up a big bait of round steak for the whole family.

He'd get a few bones for the dogs, too.

That was about the only beef the family had all year. The rest of the time it ate salt pork. An occasional chicken got the axe to provide a little fresh protein.

What a change a few years make!

The Texas Extension Service about 1930 began teaching farm families new facts about the food they grew—about how a person with a well-fed feeling may be near starvation because of improper diet. In other words, he might be missing some food elements which his body badly needed.

It wasn't and isn't always a matter of low income. Diseases caused by improper diet are found in homes of the well-to-do as well as in share-croppers' shanties.

— And the drive for better farm diets has been a rousing success. For instance: In 1940, the state nutrition council found more than 1,960 pellagra cases in Texas. Pellagra is caused by diet deficiencies. And even by 1940 farm families' diets had improved remarkably over previous years.

Eight ears later, in 1948 there were only 440 cases.

In a recent booklet, "The New Agriculture," published by the extension service, the agency says the diet improvement "was a matter of changing long-established food habits; of education."

The extension service began this education but it was the housewife who had the final job. She had to educate her family.

The homemaker of the decade ago was required to learn the Texas Food Standard, a publication explaining about proper diet. Then she had to change her buying and menu habits. Most important, she schemed andajoled her family into dropping old prejudices against some foods and into learning to like other items.

Today her daughter doesn't have that trouble. She will serve a balanced meal as a matter of course.

An instance of changed food habits is meat. The average Texas family used to eat three times as much pork as beef. Now it's down about half and half, which is where nutritionists say it should be.

Hand in hand with education have come new methods of food preserving, without which education would be useless.

The first food was canned in a semi-fresh state in 1796. It was only a partial success. Texas had a major part in the world food picture half a century later. It came through a famous Texas colonist, Gail Borden. A New Yorker, he came to the Lone Star State as a member of Stephen F. Austin's colony about 1833 and supervised the surveying of Galveston Harbor.

Borden became concerned about the milk supply and developed a process of canning milk—a move that not only benefited the world but founded a great industrial firm.

Canning improvement continued but there were handicaps. Only 20 years ago, an extension service bulletin on canning warned of food sense of smell.

After World War I, commercial food canning increased, and so did home canning.

The extension service appointed a nutrition specialist in 1924—the first state to do so. In 1931, after diet surveys, one of the most intensive educational campaigns ever conducted in Texas got underway. That's when modern diet practices really began in the state.

The Plainview goes credit for the greatest step yet in food preservation for farm folk in Texas. In 1939 the first frozen food locker plant in the state was constructed there. Two other plants were opened that year. One was at Carrollton and the other at Corsicana.

The last war slowed locker plant construction somewhat, but it revived after peace came. As of last year, there were 524 such plants in the state.

An electric service spread to farms, the home storage unit became a fixture in many homes. In 1948, county home demonstration agents reported 3,059 home frozen food units were owned by Texas farm and ranch families, a 50 percent increase over 1947.

Almost 11,500,000 pounds of meat and fish were stored by farm families in commercial and home freezers in 1948, a about twice as much as was stored by any other method. And home demonstration and 4-H Club members froze more than 3,250,000 pounds of fruits and vegetables.

The extension service booklet cites Mrs. Pat McDonough, West Osco, Nueces County, as an example of what can be stored in food lockers. Her 1948 list totaled more than 2,000 pounds.

Mrs. McDonough has solved that pesky problem of preparing school lunches in the early morn-

Burt Mason To Give Up Radio Fight

ALICE — (AP) — Burt Mason, 22, gave up trying to carry on with his dead father's radio program Friday.

Mason, son of W. H. (Bill) Mason who was slain here July 29, said Friday's broadcast was his last "because the advertising income is not enough to support the show."

He added: "I'll stay around here and see if I can find more advertising revenue. Other wise, I'll have to leave."

Mason had been broadcasting from Alice over a Corpus Christi radio station.

In his final broadcast, he strongly criticized the Jim Wells County Sheriff's Department.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Smithwick is accused of murdering the elder Mason, a radio commentator, in an industrial section of Alice.

W. H. Mason had been critical of the Sheriff's Department and in his last broadcast stated that prostitution was being practiced at a night club situated on property owned by Smithwick.

Following the slaying, young Mason said he intended to continue his father's program.

He is currently recovering from injuries received in a fight at Houston early last Sunday morning. He told officers three young men beat him up after they had cursed him while he waited for a traffic light. Young Mason said he believed the fight had no connection with his father's slaying.

Science Baffled by Insects Which Can Resist Strong DDT

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Tough insects have scientists baffled. They can't be killed by ordinary doses of the most deadly poisons. The scientists want to know if they were born that way or acquired their ruggedness because they have to live in "tough neighborhoods."

Frank H. Babers of the Division of Insects Affecting Man and Animals, Agriculture Department, has studied everything he could find has been written on the subjects. He says these tough insects still are one of science's major mysteries.

group sprayed with DDT occasionally survive this powerful insecticide.

They don't do this by accident, apparently. In laboratory tests they breed offspring that can take bigger doses of DDT than other flies.

After a few generations flies can be produced that can take several times the dose of DDT that is deadly for most flies.

This might be that they simply were born with better constitutions—more rugged.

Babers went into the private lives of many insects and discovered it is not unusual to find tough characters.

As far back as 1908 scientists found that among some insects that infested trees, called the San Jose Scale, a few individual insects could survive lime-sulphur sprays.

After a few sprayings these hardy characters were the only ones left. They bred a whole generation of insects that couldn't be killed by the usual spray methods.

In recent years some hardy mosquitoes were found in the Postine Marshes near Roma. They could live as long as 48 hours after being dusted with DDT. Other mosquitoes died within three hours.

If DDT resistance was acquired like a heavy smoker acquires a tolerance for nicotine, the scientists would not be so puzzled. But the fly is capable of passing along this resistance to his children.

Babers says the mystery still hasn't been solved, but he has an idea he wants to try.

He's going to try breeding the offspring of fly weaklings — fellows that can't take a single whiff of DDT without passing out.

Batches of flies would be allowed to lay eggs, then would get the DDT treatment. The eggs of those that turned up their toes would be used to raise the weak strain.

These coddled weaklings, of both sexes, will be turned loose with the ones hard to kill.

"Soon we should have a crop of cross-bred flies that will be neither tough nor weak, just in-between," he says.

neither tough nor weak, just in-between," he says.

That's the kind of a fly the scientists want, a push-over for fly poison.

"The fly is a friendly creature," he said. "It's very easy to turn out cross-breeds."

ITU Ends Convention

OAKLAND, Calif. — (AP) — The International Typographical Union closed out its 91st annual convention yesterday resolutely committed for another year to stay outside National Labor Board jurisdiction.

The printers again refused to order its officers to sign the non-Communist affidavits required to place the union under NLRB procedure.

The union also:

1. Rejected a resolution by members of the San Francisco local which has been under fire for signing a memorandum agreement short of ITU contract standards. The motion would have instructed ITU officers to stop using union publications for "unwarranted articles" against introduction opponents.

2. Submitted to union referendum an increase in the salaries of the president and secretary treasurer from $10,000 to $12,000 a year; vice president from $7,500 to $9,500.

3. Rejected a one-union proposal for the whole printing industry.

4. Directed more cooperation with allied printing crafts.

5. Refused to solicit other unions for strike funds.

6. Voted to intensify ITU activity in Canada.

Wholesale Price Index Drops Slightly

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Associated Press index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices this week eased to 153.14 from 153.85. It was the first decline in the weekend figure since early July.

A year ago the index was 187.30. The base year of 1928 equals 100.

GERMAN PREXY? — Louise Schroeder, 62, former acting mayor of Berlin, is being boomed as the first president of the new West German republic. A Socialist, she has been in politics for 39 years, and won widespread respect for her energy and competent leadership of the Berlin city administration during the months of crisis after the war.

Cloud Seeding Points Way To Control of Weather

By ALTON L. BLAKELEE, Associated Press Science Reporter

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Man may some day kill off thunderstorms before they lash out with atomic-bomb punch in damaging winds, rain, hail and lightning, Dr. Vincent J. Schaefer said.

Even a small thunderstorm releases energy equal to several atomic bombs, the General Electric research scientist said.

Man may also be able to create sky reservoirs of snow, and get rain or snow at times where he wants it. Flying ice patrols may keep air lanes free of icing conditions. Or planes may shoot holes into dangerous clouds ahead.

All these are possible benefits from new studies of weather control, he told the United Nations conference on conservation and utilization of resources.

Dr. Schaefer nearly three years ago found ways of producing snow or rain from certain clouds, by seeding them with dry ice, silver iodide or water.

There's no apparent way to break a drought when there are cloudless skies, or clouds with only little water in them he said.

But really scientific study of how nature produces weather, and how man might alter natural processes hold great promise, he said.

Towering cumulus clouds loomed "as the cloud structure of great importance," he said. They can produce beneficial rain. But they can also develop into thunderstorms, with torrential rains, lightning, furious winds, even hail and tornadoes that wreck crops and lands.

Storms from such clouds might be prevented by over-seeding them with pellets of dry ice or silver iodide, Dr. Schaefer explained. A little seeding of super-cooled clouds can start rain or snow. Heavy seeding might dry up entire regions of the clouds, turning their moisture into snow crystals unable to grow big enough to fall.

CHIEFS' CHIEF?—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, above, 66-year-old Army chief of staff, is slated to be the first statutory chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The post, which will be established under the new military unification law, has been held temporarily on presidential order by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The cloud then would either be dissipated, or stunted and kept from growing into a thunderstorm, he said.

Showdown Looms on Power Lines

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A Senate showdown in the battle for public power lines is due Tuesday.

An attempt to force a vote Friday failed. Advocates of private distribution of government power were not ready.

Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) delayed action with a series of 30-minute speeches. He repeatedly suggested an agreement to vote Monday when senators away for the weekend would be present.

Public power line exponents told reporters at least nine of the missing senators would vote with Thomas. On Monday, they said, some of their own supporters will be missing.

Both sides apparently will be ready Tuesday. A close vote is indicated.

The first test of the public power question will come on funds in the 590 million dollar Interior Department appropriations bill for the transmission line program of the Southwestern Power Administration.

The House voted to give SPA nine million dollars. The Senate Appropriations Committee cut it to $3,874,020, eliminating certain transmission lines.

Supporting the committee amendments, Thomas said the nine million dollars would initiate a program that would cost 31 million in the next three years. He said the proposed lines are unnecessary because private companies are willing to negotiate contracts to handle government power.

Furthermore, he said, the 31 million would be added to the rates the "poor cooperatives" in the Southwest have to pay for electricity. The rates, he said, already are high and the government program would make them higher.

Cafeterias to Keep Bears Away

DULUTH, Minn. — (AP) — Residents here were hopeful the first of a series of "bear cafeterias" would keep the mauling animals safely outside the city limits.

Poor berry crops and shortage of other natural food have driven the bears into civilized areas in quest of provender. More than 100 have been shot after frightening dwellers in several Northern Minnesota communities. Most of them were felled in the Duluth area.

Oil company employees at an outdoor plant set up the first feeding station Friday and others were promised. The Duluth sanitary service agreed to keep these stations supplied with garbage, described as "sort of a delicacy" to the starving animals.

Good Report On Cattle Disease Made

AMARILLO — (AP) — Chansior Westmoreland, former president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association and a member of the Livestock Advisory Committee in the U. S.-Mexican campaign against foot and mouth disease, revealed that an optimistic report on the two-nation campaign was made here last weekend.

Gen. Harry H. Johnson, the Texas who is co-director of the joint U. S.-Mexican commission directing the eradication program, was entertained at the Westmoreland ranch near here while on a brief vacation from his post in Mexico City. Other members of the advisory committee, including its chairman, Albert Mitchell of New Mexico, attended the conference.

General Johnson announced two new developments in addition to the report made to the Texas and Southwestern cattle raisers convention last spring. They were:

1. It is contemplated all cattle in the infected area of Old Mexico will have had at least two inoculations of temporary vaccine by Oct. 1.

2. The cost of producing vaccine has dropped to 56 cents a shot, including cost of manufacture and financing the veterinary teams and administration behind the inoculation program.

Texas Painting Bought for House

WASHINGTON — (AP) — To make Speaker Rayburn feel more at home, a six-by-eight-foot painting, "Texas Bluebonnet Time," will be placed in the speaker's dining room of the Capitol soon.

Painted by Porfirio Salinas of San Antonio, Texas, the picture is a study of the bluebonnet landscape near San Antonio.

"Since the Hon. Sam Rayburn of Bonham, Texas, has been speaker of the House, many of his close friends have sought to give the House end of the Capitol more of a Texas atmosphere during his tenure as speaker," said Rep. Patman (D-Texas).

"The bluebonnet is the Texas state flower. It was decided that a picture of bluebonnets would be appropriate.

The Salinas masterpiece was found in a commercial art gallery in Austin. When Mr. Rayburn's friends began negotiations to acquire the painting, Sid Richardson learned of the plan and insisted that he be allowed to acquire it for presentation to his oldtime friend from Bonham.

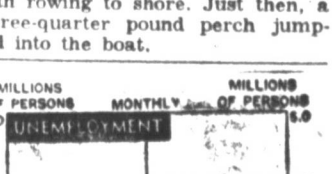

Patman said the picture will be unveiled at some future date and will remain in the speaker's dining room as long as Rayburn is speaker. Eventually, he said it will be placed in the Rayburn library to be erected in Bonham.

UNEMPLOYMENT — Joblessness has increased sharply since last fall. In June this year it was 3,800,000, or higher by 1,600,000 than a year ago. Part of the steep rise in May and June was caused by influx of thousands of graduates seeking jobs. July figure is slightly over 4,000,000. Average hours of work also have declined.

Community Life Should Go on Say Leaders

CHICAGO (AP)—An outbreak of polio should not be allowed to upset community life too much, health leaders advised. Suggestions by the journal of the American Medical Association and the national conference on recommended practices for the control of poliomyelitis said a drastic shift from the usual routine of children "is likely to bring more trouble than good" as far as controlling the disease is concerned. Public and private schools should not be closed during an outbreak of poliomyelitis nor their opening delayed except for specific reasons, the recommendations said. "Schools to which children are transported in buses from widely separated areas or boarding schools, excluding colleges and universities, should delay opening sessions if an outbreak of poliomyelitis exists in the area where the school is located. Places of recreation and amusement need not be closed. However, attendance of children at such places should be discouraged. The journal added that quarantine has not proved valuable in preventing spread of the disease and that "reliable evidence is lacking" on infection by insects, water, food or sewage.

Texas to Get Most Modern In Police Headquarters

AUSTIN (AP)—In about a year, Texas will have a new state police headquarters now being planned as the best in the country. It will cost between $800,000 and $1,000,000 and will be especially designed as a state police headquarters. Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, believes that it will be the only one in the nation so specifically planned. Construction of the new building was authorized by the 51st Legislature. One novel thing about it is it won't cost the taxpayers a penny. Funds for the construction will come from an excess in fees collected for chauffeurs' and drivers' licenses—unused money. Transfer

Man Sees Very Beautiful World After 10 Years

MEMPHIS (AP)—It was just an ordinary summer morning in Memphis Friday but for Wiley Truss of Brownsville, Texas, everything was beautiful. He walked the streets and looked at the world over for the first time since he came here July 26 for a cornea graft that restored sight to eyes blinded by a dynamite blast 10 years ago. His eyes guarded by sunglasses, his white-tipped cane dangling unused from his arm, Truss could see only blurred shapes, but doctors told him he might see better as time went by. "It's a wonderful, wonderful world," said Truss, and smiled happily as a plump woman crossed his path. "Reminds me of my sweet mama (Mrs. Truss) back home."

Before building their first airplane, the Wright brothers were in the bicycle business. of the fund from an inactive status for the specific purpose of constructing the new state police dream building was authorized by legislative act. A four-year accumulation of funds will be used. The building will be located on a state-owned tract of land in North Austin, on the Dallas-Fort Worth Highway.

State Police are now housed in a miscellaneous group of buildings at Camp Mabry in West Austin. Many of the buildings are old National Guard barracks and they are not suited for administrative use. None of the work can start until after the beginning of the state's new fiscal year in September. Garrison said an architect would be employed and he would confer with each department head in the vast state police organization before making preliminary plans. The effort will be to come out with a building precisely suited to the needs of a statewide police organization. "It should be the most modern state police building in the nation," Garrison said.

It will be built to house modern laboratories—such as photographic and chemical. "One of the features I am especially interested in is a centralized communications room. Our system of communication is being constantly improved, and it should head up in a place quickly accessible to police executives and new men." Garrison said this communications center would be especially useful in times of disaster to quickly clear information useful in relief and necessary for public information.

She Didn't Win—It Cost Her

ABILENE (AP)—Mrs. Charles Lusk didn't win $16,000. Instead, she is out the cost of a telephone call to New York. Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Lusk answered her telephone and a caller identified himself as the master of ceremonies on a national quiz radio program. He played two records—backwards—asking Mrs. Lusk to identify the singers on the first record and the melody of the second. She gave him some answers and he shouted: "Mrs. Lusk you have just won yourself $16,000 in prizes." Then he recited off a dizzy list of awards which included an automobile, furniture and a three-months paid vacation to Cuba. Mrs. Lusk spent a sleepless night Friday, when she learned others in Abilene had not heard her name called, she began to have her doubts. So she telephoned the quiz program in New York and learned she had been the victim of a practical joke.

Britain Can't Make Ends Meet

PARIS (AP)—Britain can't make ends meet with the dollars her Marshall Plan partners have voted her. She told the 18 other areas represented in the organization—for European Economic Cooperation Friday that consequently she would refuse to accept the figure. The committee has the job of recommending to American authorities how much each country's cut of Marshall Plan aid should be. The committee had allotted Britain $84,700,000 of a total which is expected to be $3,621,600,000. She had asked for $1,518,000,000. The slashes were made by an OEEC working party of six countries. Although Britain was a member, the British took no part in the discussion of the British program. George Washington had red hair, usually covered by a white wig.

Shrinkless, Stretchless Wool Seen

NEW YORK — (AP) — Soon the girls can wash their wool sweaters and their menfolks' wool socks and next they expect to find both just as shapely as ever.

Woolen garments, shrinkage-controlled and washable, shortly will appear in department and specialty stores throughout the country. At least that's what Cluett, Peabody & Co. promises as today. The company says at last it has found the way to do for wool that it already has done for cotton and rayon. It calls the new non-shrinking process for wool Sanforin.

Garments to be offered for sale this fall include sweaters, socks, wool robes, men's wool sport shirts, slacks, women's suits, infants' wear and yard goods.

This comes at a time when the woolen knitwear business was beginning to feel the competition from nylon. Only the tight market for nylon yarn has kept these sweaters from making greater inroads into the wool sweater market, according to the Knitted Outerwear Foundation. Among nylon's biggest points is that garments don't shrink.

The ladies bought nearly three million sweaters last year, twice as many as the men did. But the ladies went in strong for the polo, T and sport shirts, buying more than 150 million.

This year, the foundation says, women shoppers are showing more interest in the wool sweater. And now they are to be offered wool sweaters that don't have to be stretched or twisted to handle while drying.

Shivers Sees Session as Last Resort

AUSTIN — Gov. Allan Shivers sees a special session of the Legislature "only as a last resort" to solve a financial tangle in the state's new Galer-Aikin school program.

The Governor said at a press conference Friday he believes the matter can be solved without a special session.

The tangle is in the procedure provided by the Legislature for payment of administrative costs of the program. A general appropriation bill called directed payment of the funds out of the foundation school fund.

But State Comptroller Robert S. Covert found that such payment procedure would apparently be contrary to the act setting up the foundation fund. That act, he believes, cannot be changed by the legislature.

He asked Attorney General J. Lee Daniel for an opinion on whether the money could be paid out of either the foundation fund or the state's general revenue fund. Unless it can come from one of the two funds, he said, he thinks it might possibly require a special session to untangle the law.

Daniel called it "a pretty tough problem." He said he hopes to have an answer by next Monday.

Old Black Mule Disrupts Airport

DALLAS — (AP) — A decrepit and confused old black mule got onto Love Field, Dallas Municipal airport, Wednesday.

T. J. Smith, station manager for Stuck Airways, first saw the mule on looking north-south "all over." He commandeered a bicycle and tried to herd off the beast.

The mule broke and ran into the path of a landing cub plane. The pilot maneuvered a safe landing. Airport authorities began to worry.

A small posse of police and airport officials finally persuaded the mule to run out through an open gate.

After 16 Years Texan Receives College Degree

ABILENE — (AP) — After 16 years and four schools, Jim Patterson of Abilene has received his degree from Hardin-Simmons University.

It was in 1933 that he entered the University of Texas. The war, his father's illness, and a bank failure kept interrupting his education. He also served as a border patrolman, as an assistant to the sergeant at arms in the Texas

Senate, zone deputy collector for the Internal Revenue Bureau, drug store clerk, ice cream salesman, roustabout, and oil field geophysicist.

This required some traveling, so he switched from the University of Texas to Sul Ross College, from there the North Texas State, and finally to Hardin-Simmons. He got a BA Degree in business administration and accounting.

CORNER CUYLER AT FRANCIS

Palaver de Pampa

IT'S HERE, the necessary relief from the hot days ... people seem to get around better when the weather lets up ... We're now in the doldrums between school—just around the corner—and the roads ... when school-time comes, I always consider myself a year older ... (And I am by the time the school-age (s) is (are) ready.)

A LITTLE BOY, dressed in full cowboy regalia for a Saturday matinee at Hollywood's famous Hitchcock Post Theater—where only Western films are shown and a sign reads "Park Your Gums Inside!"—came out of the theater and paused in front of another movie house on the boulevard. With his young companion he gazed intently at an oversized advertising poster of a star and his leading lady in a passionate embrace. Finally, the young cowboy remarked to his friend, "I've never been to a kissing show."

PANORAMA—I saw a foursome headed for Tarpeys with music underarm ... They were Bill Haley, Jack Andrews, Wesley Byars, and Tracey Cary ... I guess they were going to do last-minute rehearsing for the piano symphony ... Iva Wilson, beauty counsellor here, is certainly a "fittin'" example for her products ... Beware of the wasp, it seems ... Serious results have been occurring from the bite of the common wasp ... both Jimmie Massa and Carlton Nance have been pretty ill due to this poisonous insect ... hadn't heard much about this stinger before, but now I'll watch out for him.

IT'S A JOB ... just ask Mable and Jerry Torvie ... they've been buying furniture for their new home ... (the former H. C. Lively house) ... but it's so nice when it's all done ... (must be awfully bad to have a new house!) ... another couple just finished with the same kind of business: the Charles Hoffmans, who have moved into a new house on Gray Street ... speaking of furniture, you should see the outstanding job Betty Dunbar has done on a bedroom ... all redone in orchid gray and green ... and Betty did it all with brush in hand.

IN MEMORIAM—Just an "all-American" dog named "Rats" ... hit by a truck that didn't look back ... but caused a lot of sorrow to young Mike Mitchell ... the services were simple, but all the kids of the neighborhood brought flowers ... that's one more story that man is good to his dog, too, just as the dog is good to man.

ADD PANORAMA—The H. E. Taylor, Jr., have just returned from a fishing trip to Colorado ... imagine that Colorado weather is all right ... other Colorado notes: Mr. and Mrs. Andy McNamara have returned from a rest-up trip to Trinidad ... they were there a week—at a very nice vacation accommodation ... also home from Trinidad, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stein of E. Browning.

PLEASANT couple from Oklahoma City making their home here are Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hatcher ... Peggy and Roscoe Furtle at Pine River Dam, near Durango ... they will probably run into in the conventional way, of course) Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Anderson who left Monday last for the same destination.

FRANK and Ruth Walker's nephew and friends are leaving for Missouri University this weekend ... I understand that they are leaving behind some lonesome gals.

I HAVE a rumor that Jack and Jean Osborn are moving to South Dakota ... 'tis said that Inez Carter has purchased her home.

HEARD yesterday that one family, I think from near Skellytown, has been stricken twice by polio ... two children of theirs have been taken to Plainview ... Even so, Pampa is more fortunate than some towns in regard to polio.

KNICK-Knacks—From the news: Two Indiana prison bandmen escaped after a concert—couldn't face the music, no doubt ... A robber stole $50 and a radio from a sorority house. The girls will miss the money, or I miss my bet; but they probably couldn't hear the radio, anyway ... That's enough said for one week. Got to get started on school doings.

Miss Callaway, Mr. Quick Married In Brownwood Church; to Live Here

Miss Joyclin Callaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Callaway of Brownwood, and Mr. John Robert Quick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Quick also of Brownwood, were married Saturday evening, August 6, in the Brownwood First Methodist Church.

The Rev. A. S. Gafford performed the double-ring ceremony before an improvised white wrought-iron arch of Old English ivy and maroon daisies flanked with baskets of carnations and daisies. A profusion of candles below a lighted cross illuminated the church.

Proceeding the ceremony, Misses Dorothy and Doris McIntosh, Brownwood, sang "Because" and "At Dawning" accompanied by Mrs. Alan King, Mrs. King also played the traditional processionals and recessional music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white satin and lace, designed with a molded bodice and full skirt. The V-shaped neckline was framed with white lace and the long sleeves terminated with pearl points of lace over the hands. Her three-tiered finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a royal pill box headpiece of pearls. For something old, she wore an antique pearl necklace and the long sleeves terminated with the bridegroom's grandmother. Her white orchid bouquet was fashioned around an imported Viennese handkerchief, which was cascaded by lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Coralee Fain attended the bride as maid of honor and the bridesmaids included: Mrs. William Rudd, Jr., of Waskom; Mrs. Thomas Jackson of Waco; Miss Jane Ryan, Miss Margery

Woman's PAGE

Miss Kay Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Wilson, is a student of Mrs. Ernestine Holmes Scott. She has been presented in recital several times in Pampa and is well known here for her musical ability.

Miss Ethel Cherry, Mr. Paul Bowen Exchange Vows in Stephenson Home

Miss Ethel Cherry and Mr. Paul Bowen, both of Duncan, Okla., exchanged vows last night by candle light at 8 o'clock in the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Stephenson, here with the Rev. Orion Carter, First Methodist pastor, officiating. Baskets of pink and white gladioli flanked by candleabra formed the setting for the ceremony. Preceding the bridal procession, the candies were lighted by Miss Carolyn Haye McLaughlin, great-niece of the bride.

Miss Virginia Gibbs of Shawnee, Okla., sang "Because" and "Through the Years," accompanied by Miss Jo Ann Lunsford. Miss Lunsford also played the traditional wedding marches for the professional and the recessional.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Stephenson. She chose a salmon pink afternoon dress and carried a nosegay of split pink and white carnations. Mr. E. B. Stephenson was best man.

Given in marriage by her brother, Luther Cherry of Oklahoma City, the bride was attired in an olive green and brown dress. For her bridal bouquet, she carried an orchid mounted on a white Bibble with white satin streamers tied in love knots.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the home, 1020 Charles. The table was laid with a lace cut-work cloth and centered with a bouquet of pink and white flowers flanked by lighted tapers in crystal holders.

Guests included: Mrs. John Lloyd Havens of Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cherry of Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wiggins, Keys, Okla.; Miss Virginia Gibbs of Shawnee, Okla.; Mrs. Effie Wilcoxson of Terral, Okla.; Mrs. Marvin Payne of Duncan, Okla.; Wilcoxson of Terral, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. William Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thompson and Mr. Karl Stephenson, all of Pampa.

The bride is employed by the Rock Island Refinery at Duncan and the bridegroom is connected with Halliburton's of that city.

Shamrock Woman Weds Mr. H. Lamb

SHAMROCK—(Special)—The marriage of Mrs. Bonnie Jo Steinhauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark McLemore of this city, and Herbert Lee Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lamb of Wheeler, has been announced.

Wedding vows were exchanged August 6, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Troxell of Lela, Elder Tay Turnbow officiated.

Leonard Farmer of Wheeler served as best man. The bride was attired in a dress of dusty rose crepe, fashioned with a jacket of metallic lace. Her accessories were of navy blue.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. Mrs. Lamb attended Shamrock High School and has been employed at Shamrock General Hospital for the past two years.

The bridegroom served three years with the Navy. He is now engaged in farming west of Wheeler.

The couple will make their home for the present in Shamrock.

Ben Wyatt, Jr., was best man and groomsmen were: Hadley Edgar of Dallas; Thomas Jackson of Waco; William Rudd, Jr., of Waskom; Edward Downs; Fort Worth; Creel Grady of Pampa; Quick, both of Brownwood.

The candle-lighters were Jack Eaton, Phil Lobstein, and Bob Ellwood; Jimmy Garner served as ring-bearer.

Symphony Rehearsals in Final Stages

Mrs. Margaret Payne, above, is one of the fifty-five local and surrounding territory's musicians who will appear in the Pampa Piano Symphony Debut September 1 and 2 in the Junior High Auditorium.

Mrs. Payne, daughter of Mrs. May Foreman Carr who is the director of this year's performance, was a music major at Colorado Women's College in Denver.

Guest artist for the concert is Mr. John Branson, who arrived in Pampa this week. He attended the weekly rehearsal last Monday of the group.

Mr. Branson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Branson, Terrace Drive. He is now a resident of Tulsa, Okla.

Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from members of the Kiwanis Club or members of the ensemble. The Kiwanians are sponsoring the concert.

Rehearsals have been held each week this summer. Tomorrow evening, the same groups will meet at seven and eight o'clock as met last week. The rehearsals are being held in the Tarpley Music Store.

Final instructions will be given for the rehearsals Monday evening.

Mrs. May Foreman Carr, local piano instructor, is directing the rehearsals. Other piano teachers who are assisting are: Miss Lloyce Elliott, Lefors; Miss Lola Brannon, Shamrock; Miss Juanita Haynes, Miami and Canadian; Miss Eloise Lane, Greeley, Colo.; and most of the local ones.

Polly Cool Honored Friday With Pre-Nuptial Courtesy

Miss Polly Cool, bride-elect of Joe Cargile, Jr., was honored Friday of a musician's shower at the home of Mrs. Raymond Harrah.

Hostesses for the affair were: Misses John Hesse, H. H. Boynton, Glenn Radcliff, H. E. Carleton, A. B. Whitten, H. E. Howse, Luther Pierson, F. W. Shottwell, A. F. Johnston, and Misses Colleen Chisholm and Betty Jane Boynton.

Mrs. J. G. Cargile, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Mrs. L. E. Cool, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Harrah completed the house party.

Miss Cool and Mr. Cargile will exchange vows September 1 in the First Methodist Church, with Rev. Wayne Coffin officiating.

The beautifully appointed serving table was lace covered and centered with an arrangement of flowers in the chosen colors of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Harrah presided at the silver punch service. Miss Boynton and Miss Chisholm alternated at the bride's book.

About seventy guests attended during the afternoon.

Maribelle Hazard Honored Recently

A surprise dinner dance honoring Miss Maribelle Hazard, bride-elect of L. (Jr.) Ed Kingsbury, was given by P. C. Ledrick at the Terrace Grill Thursday night.

A corsage of carnations and a centerpiece of gladioli were presented to the honoree.

Mr. Wesley Byars of Canadian has been attending the rehearsals each week this summer for the symphony. He is a student of Mrs. May Foreman Carr, director of this year's performances. Mr. Byars has also been presented in recital here in Pampa.

Mrs. Mildred Hill Newly Installed President of American Legion Unit

Mrs. Mildred Hill was installed as president of the American Legion Auxiliary Kerly Crossman Unit 334 in the City Club Rooms Thursday evening.

Mrs. Lillian McNutt, retiring president, conducted the business meeting preceding the installation, and Mrs. Al Lawson, a past president, presided over the ceremony.

Other officers installed were: Mrs. R. J. Kiser, first vice president; Mrs. C. L. Shimek, second vice president; Mrs. E. C. Gibson, secretary; Mrs. Frank Lard, treasurer; Mrs. L. K. Stout, historian; Mrs. Frank Shottwell, chaplain; and Mrs. William R. Browning, sergeant-at-arms.

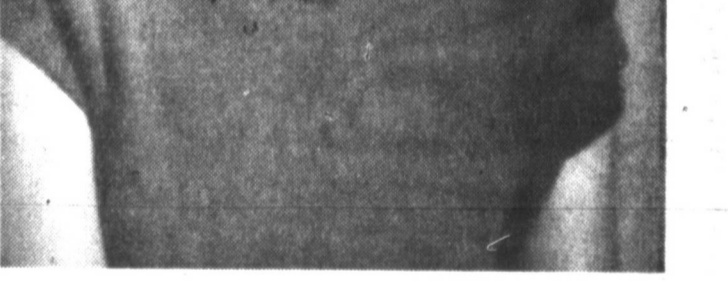

During the business session plans were made to assist the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo in their carnival, August 26. It was decided that several members from Pampa would furnish one of the game booths.

Mrs. Vera Lard was appointed chairman of the auditing committee. The chairman for the year will be appointed at the next meeting and announced later.

The traditional poppies and ivy were used for the centerpiece of the refreshment table. Mrs. Kiser served the punch and cookies from cut-glass services and silver bonbon dishes were used for serving the nuts and mints.

One out-of-town guest attended the meeting. She was Mrs. Ralph Webster of Long Beach, Calif.

Mary Myatt to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Myatt are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Grover Crocker, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Crocker.

The vows will be exchanged in the Presbyterian Church, August 27.

Travelers' Dreams Are Realized in New Compact Capsules for Transients

Liquid-filled capsules offer grooming aid to travelers. The girl (above) breaks a tiny cleaning fluid capsule sandwiched in cloth and uses the saturated pad to eradicate a stain. Another capsule releases a chemical to stop her stocking run (upper right).

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Travelers' dream performance for this summer's gypsies which would make a hazy turn greet with ease.

Sealing in a variety of liquids to be used for removing nail polish, stopping a stocking run, erasing stains from clothing, or what have you, capsules are sandwiched in between two pads of gauze or flannel.

The opposite side of the small square piece of flannel pad, which when given a squeeze breaks the capsule and saturates the material for instant application as a moist-soaking fabric of ready-hand use.

These liquid-filled capsule pads, which also provide the traveler with a skin lotion, a baby oil, or room freshener, and saves without adding the weight of bottles, cans, tubes or applicators to luggage, offer another advantage to the summer vacationer. She can dispose of her traveling aid after it's used and free her luggage of even the featherweight capsule.

Social Talents Will Zoom Popularity

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

"Two weeks with pay" amounts to more than just a vacation to some girls. It's a prime opportunity to meet young men in a leisurely, gay atmosphere and perhaps turn a casual romance into marriage.

From a vacation-wise woman, who has seen this happen at her Chesterton, N. Y., resort and also observed the poor strategy used there which has defeated girls' aims, come some pertinent pointers on this subject.

"Men frighten easily," says Beth Gardner of Bluythewood, Adirondacks' resort which this expowers model operates. "Girls who arrive overdressed, too bejeweled or excessively made-up and coiffured and who survey the scene with a husband-hunting gleam in their eyes invariably scare off the eligible males."

After studying the reactions of her masculine guests, Miss Gardner is convinced that they are as quickly frightened off by the girl who is under-dressed: in too-short shorts, too-bare sun tops, too-much midriff exposure.

"Daring duds attract men, of course," says Miss Gardner, "but they are not usually the kind of men who make prospective husbands."

Miss Gardner's sage advice to the girl vacationer is to save her bare-shouldered sun dress for private sun baths and to emerge from those modestly covered with a matching stole or bolero.

None of this means, of course, that a girl must be backward and retiring and wait to be chosen. Stress your talents, Miss Gardner advises. If you know how to sketch or make clever caricatures, there is an obvious opening for getting and holding the complete attention of the man who appeals to your "artistic" instincts.

If a gal knows how to play an instrument, sing, dance, or entertain, just a little coaxing should be enough to get her up on the floor. Her talent will attract plenty of masculine attention.

At a resort where the recreations are the usual swimming, boating, tennis, golf, shuffleboard, handball, horseback riding, hiking, etc., girls who are athletically inclined have a natural advantage.

"If you're definitely not the athletic type," Miss Gardner warns, "use your common sense. A tennis champ will be bored stiff running after your tennis balls. Practice on a dub in your own tennis class for awhile. Enlist the aid of a pro to teach you golf. Don't tap the serious golfer to show you how to hold the club. Dubs get no sympathy, no interest from a man who breaks 90. "On the other hand, men like to tell girls how to improve their swimming stroke. Even an unathletic girl," Miss Gardner observes, "can be a passenger on a canoe or rowboat expedition. A good rider won't object to a novice equestrienne on a horseback twosome."

into a make-up foundation, which is as important as the help-meet rouge for tinting a skin.

When it comes to the blending, the more finger-work a woman is willing to do, the better will be the fade-out of rouge into foundation.

The idea that the more rouge used, the more youthful the effect, is just as faulty as the notion that a rosy tinting of eyelids and carolies makes a face look younger.

These color dodges look just as unnatural as bright patches on cheeks and are just as defeating to a woman's hopes of hiding the years under her make-up.

DELICIOUS DESSERT QUICKIE: For a quick dessert mix peach slices with sweetened whipped cream, cut marshmallows, and coconut. Add broken nuts if you like.

Model-vacationer makes friends by displaying talents as sketched and golfer. Her cover-up sun dress is wise choice for mixed game of table tennis.

For an extra-special sandwich filling mix cream cheese, deviled ham, and finely ground pimento-stuffed olives. This filling may also be used with Parkerhouse rolls, and served with a luncheon salad.

GREEN PEPPER DISH: Parboil green peppers after cutting off the tops and removing the inner seeds and membrane; cut in half lengthwise, fill halves with a mixture of creamed ham and cooked macaroni. Top with buttered soft bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for about half an hour.

Dirty Fingernails Will Breed Germs, Endanger Health

Sound's awful—but do you know that with but a little bit of neglect dirt-embedded fingernails can provide a happy hunting ground for germs?

Manicurists report—in astonishment—that many women who demand impeccable manicures bring nails to the table which reveal gross neglect when polish is stripped.

Polish-concealed grime is a menace to health as well as to good grooming. Fingernails are in almost constant contact with the face and are a threat because the mouth, nose, eyes are portals of germ entry.

Moreover, minute deposits of face and deodorant cream, face-powder, pigmented foundations, mascara and eye shadow, which lodge under nails, are an impediment of good grooming, no matter how impeccable the manicure is.

For health's sake, as well as for beauty, nails should be kept meticulously clean. Best way to make sure that they're simon pure is to scrub with a nail brush every time hands are washed. If any dirt resists the brush, there should be a follow-up with a probing orange stick.

IN MAKING POPOVERS: When you make popovers, slit each with a small sharp-pointed knife as soon as you remove them from the oven; the slit will allow the steam to escape and make the popover crisper.

A FRIDAY FARE: For Friday fare d.p. fish fillets in salted milk then in slightly crushed corn flakes. Bake in a very hot oven for about 15 to 20 minutes.

For Best Results Blend Your Rouge

The old-hat but still-clung-to idea that the more rouge a woman uses the younger she will look, needs to be soundly debunked.

The heavy-handed use of rouge is apt to have just the opposite effect. Rouge serves its function best when it enlivens skin color and is so discreetly used that the onlooker is not aware whether subtle rosininess is concentrated on cheeks or gloves almost undetectably from the entire face.

For rouge to merely puzzle and please the onlooker—not to make him see red it must be used sparingly. It must also be blended

Joe Learns About Bulls Hard Way

FOND DU LAC, Wis. —(AP)— Joe King left for market with a 1,600 pound bull but got paid for only 1,410 pounds. That'll teach Joe never again to walk a bull to town.

King lives in the town of Empire, 13 miles from the packinghouse. Joe has a truck but decided he and the bull would hoof it.

"It was kind of cool," he said.

"And it seemed like a good idea at the time."

Six hours, and 15 minutes later Joe and the bull arrived at the packing house.

The packing house paid King $274.95. The bull lost 190 pounds enroute. That cost Joe about $30, to say nothing of the wear and tear on his disposition.

"I'll learn," said Joe.

Final Salute: GAR's 83rd Encampment to Be Its Last

By MONTE M. KATTERJOHN

INDIANAPOLIS — (NEA)

This year's national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be the 83rd — and the last. The organization of veterans of the Union Army of the Civil War is disbanding forever. Their declining numbers is the reason for the decision to hold a final muster in Indianapolis. Of the 3,500,000 men who comprised the Union Army, there are believed to be only 23 still living. Of the 23, perhaps only five will be able to make the final encampment.

One of the five who promises he'll be there is the GAR's national commander, Theodore A. Penland. A native of Indiana, 100-year-old Penland now lives in La Jolla, Calif.

"I'll make it to Indianapolis," Penland says. "If only the national secretary and myself are present we will march in a great parade to the reunion hall where I will declare the Grand Army of the Republic has completed its mission."

Penland recalls the first national encampment, which was held in Indianapolis in 1866.

"Our comrades came by thousands in long special trains," he remembers. "It was a tremendous and tumultuous gathering — sort of like the American Legion conventions of today."

The GAR's last national commander was just under 16 when he left Goshen, Ind., to join the Union Army. He was sent to the Army of the Potomac a few months before the fall of Richmond, Va.

"I did guard duty," he says. "Nothing very heroic."

Penland hopes to meet an old comrade-in-arms from Indiana at the final gathering. Michael J. Thralls, 106, who was born in St. Mary-of-the-Woods, now lives in Pampa, Idaho. He is going to try to attend and "smoke a few big black cigars with old comrades and sing the good old marching songs."

Mike Thralls recalls his outfit, Company C of the 57th Indiana Infantry Battalion, was "the toughest war outfit that ever shouldered muskets and cursed its food."

He believes veterans of later wars who griped about C-rations and the Spanish-American War's "hully beef" did it soft. He still thinks that the Union Army's "sowbilly and hardtack" was much worse.

Indiana's Lt. Gov. John A. Watkins is general chairman of the committee planning the GAR's final muster. Last Memorial Day — a holiday first sponsored by the GAR — the committee arranged tributes to the surviving "boys in blue" throughout the nation.

The encampment itself will, if Penland has his way, include a last parade. During the past few annual gatherings the parades have dwindled as the number of able-bodied marchers declined.

PENLAND—"I will declare the Grand Army of the Republic has completed its mission."

Most rode in cars, or were pushed in wheelchairs.

The Union Army's faded battle streamers of states and regiments will be on hand, with the few remaining men who carried them. Banners that survived the Bloody Angle at Gettysburg and were carried in determined charges at Chickamauga will be unfurled for the last time before the eyes of the men who held them up.

The decision to disband this year was reached at the 82nd encampment, held last year in Grand Rapids, Mich. Six veterans of the 52 then alive, voted that their ranks were becoming too thin for more than one more solemn reunion.

Four of those six were in wheelchairs. All were attended by physicians and nurses. The combined age of the six was 611 years.

Although Penland, Thralls and the others will miss the spirit of the encampments in the years they have remaining, they are certain that the GAR's traditions are in good hands. Their last salute will be a thankful one. "New heroes will carry on, guarding our nationhood," says Penland.

Injunction Against Meters Dissolved

ENNIS — (AP) — Ennis will have parking meters. District Judge A. R. Stout dissolved in Waxahachie Thursday a temporary injunction preventing the meters.

An array of Ennis merchants, some of whom got the restraining order earlier in the week, testified the meters would hurt their business.

Booze Bill Runs Over Million an Hour Says WCTU

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — A temperance leader asserted Friday Americans are spending $1,004,586 an hour for alcoholic drinks.

Violet T. Black, of Evanston, Ill., told the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at its 75th anniversary convention she arrived at this estimate "by dividing the number of hours per year (8,760) into the $8,800,000,000 reported by the U. S. Department of Commerce to have been spent by consumers in this country last year for alcoholic beverages."

Miss Black is treasurer of the WCTU.

She said "this money, wasted for a product which is mankind's worst enemy, would finance the building of 100 acutely needed homes, costing $10,000 each, every hour of the day or night."

She concluded: "The total drink bill, however, cannot be estimated without adding a sum equal to that spent for the beverages, to cover the cost of drink-caused crime, insanity, disease, broken homes, poverty, and other human and economic waste."

Judge Causes Disturbance

HOUSTON — (AP) — The noise of laughing and talking in the hall disturbed Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay during a criminal arraignment. He dispatched a bailiff to stop the noise.

The bailiff returned, red-faced but smiling. The noise went on. Judge Hannay sent another bailiff. He also returned red-faced. The noise continued.

"Is there any other marshal who thinks he can do a better job of stopping the noise?" asked the exasperated jurist.

Two deputies hurried into the hall — and returned with word that the noise was Federal Judge Ben H. Rice, Jr., talking and joking with his court clerk during a recess in the second federal courtroom. Judge Rice expressed his regrets and then reconvened his court.

Answer to Ad May Lead to Sunken Gold

HOUSTON — Searching for buried treasure with a newspaper advertisement may pay off with "enough gold to build a bridge across the Mississippi for two local businessmen."

The modern treasure hunters are B. J. Kruger and Leo T. Behne, owners of a local motor company.

Yesterday morning they started their attempt to raise a ship out of Lake Miller in Chambers County, which they believe is loaded with gold that once belonged to the famed pirate, Jean Lafitte.

"It all started with an ad in the Chronicle," Kruger said. "We ran the ad this spring under the personal column in the classified section, looking for leads on buried or sunken treasure.

"We got about 2,500 replies and so far have been able to get in touch with only about 50 of those who answered our ad."

"Most of the replies checked so far turned out to be wastes of time. People who say they know where treasure is buried because a fortune teller told them stuff like that. It's amazing how many of that kind we got."

But there was one answer to the ad that had nothing to do with fortune tellers. It led the treasure-hunting pair to Lake Miller where Kruger said he is certain he has located a sunken ship.

"I know we've got a ship," Kruger said, "and it looks like she might be loaded with gold."

Senate Puts Limit On Funs for Park

FOUR WORTH — THE U. S. Senate put a $10,000 limit on the amount that can be spent to acquire additional land for the Big Bend National Park. It adopted a House-Senate conference report with this provision.

The land to be bought is in Brewster County. Only 13 sections remain within the park area.

National Park Service officials have indicated they can accelerate a $8,500,000 development program for the park when all of the lands have been placed under federal ownership.

New Drug Relieves Hay Fever Attacks for 9 Victims in 10

More than 5,000,000 hay fever and pollen asthma victims in the United States can obtain greater relief this year than ever before as a result of the development of new "desensitizing" compounds, a survey of recent scientific studies showed.

Whereas only a few years ago, the drugs available for the relief of sneezes, sniffles, allergic hives and itchy eyes suffered by pollenosis victims numbered only a handful and were prescribed by only about one doctor in five, today there are about 15 such products being prescribed by about two doctors in three, along with many other drugs and vaccines providing both temporary relief and season-long immunity to attack.

The new symptom-relieving drugs classified by the medical profession as "anti-histamines" have been evaluated by sound clinical research with human patients. One of them, Trimeton, has been found so effective that its use has been ordered for Boston school system pupils suffering from hay fever and pollen asthma.

Of 227 patients treated with Trimeton by doctors associated with the Allergy Clinic of the Boston Dispensary, 90 percent of the hay fever sufferers and 83 percent of those with mild bronchial asthma and hives were free of all symptoms within an hour after treatment. The drug, available only through physicians, is in tablet form and does away with painful injections.

The new anti-histaminic or "desensitizing" drugs are not the sort of thing to be self-prescribed, since occasionally they cause "side effects" which must be treated or which dictate withdrawal of the compound. The new drug being prescribed in Boston, however, is reported by Dr. Ethan Allan Brown, quoted in Better Homes and Gardens magazine, to be "relatively free from any side effects," other than slight drowsiness in a few cases.

Dental Caries Destructive, Progressive

AUSTIN — Tooth decay or dental caries is a destructive, progressive disease of the teeth. A large part of a tooth may be destroyed by decay with little evidence of decay on the surface, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. Surveys of large groups of preschool children reveal that 50 percent of them have decayed teeth at three years of age, 75 percent at four years of age, and 90 percent at five years of age. Six out of ten children age four and five have as many as seven or more cavities.

Decay begins most frequently in the small pits and fissures on the chewing surfaces and at the points of contact between the teeth. Pits and fissures with structural flaws should be filled at once to prevent decay.

Dr. Cox said, "Dental examination and care should begin with the three-year-old child, and periodic examinations and necessary care should follow thereafter, as often as the dentist advises. The first or baby teeth should be kept in a healthy condition until it is time for them to be lost."

"X-rays aid the dentist in finding hidden cavities, especially those between the teeth. Many of these beginning cavities are located in areas where they cannot be found in any other way. X-ray pictures are also useful in finding other conditions that require immediate attention such as abscesses, impacted teeth, broken roots, bone destruction due to pyorrhea, extra teeth and other information that is important in treatment of the case.

"With periodic dental examination and adequate dental care for each child, beginning at three years of age, the great majority of the children will reach adulthood with good dental health."

Report Issued on Cotton Consumption

WASHINGTON — The Census Bureau reported that cotton consumed during July totaled 452,106 bales, of lint and 103,143 bales of lint.

This compared with 600,495 bales of lint and 121,992 bales of lint consumed during June of this year, and 627,462 bales of lint and 86,414 bales of lint consumed during July of last year.

Consumption for the 12 months ending July 31, totaled 7,797,841 bales of lint and 1,407,393 bales of lint, compared with 9,354,392 and 1,156,290 for the corresponding period of 1948.

More People Buying Hospital Insurance

NEW YORK — About 69,995,990 persons in the United States were enrolled in some form of voluntary insurance providing hospital care as of the end of 1948.

The figure was reported by the Health Insurance Council, which said the number as of the end of 1947 had been only 52,541,000.

Rita and Aly Are Expecting Heir in Family

DEAUVILLE, France — (AP) — Prince Aly Khan confirmed Thursday that his wife, screen star Rita Hayworth, is going to have a baby.

Both Aly and Rita had been silent on persistent reports that she was pregnant. The two were married May 27 in the Town Hall at Vallauris, near Cannes.

A member of the Moslem prince's household said three weeks ago Rita was expecting. French and British newspapers also have carried a number of reports on the subject. Aly has two sons, by a previous marriage, and Rita a daughter.

Aly declined to say when the baby would be born. His personal secretary, through whom he made announcement, said so far as she knew no arrangements have yet been made as to where the baby will be born.

Aly and Rita have been at this fashionable Atlantic Coast resort for the past month. They have taken part in almost no public functions, but Rita has been seen at the beach and the two have been taking automobile drives and occasionally dining at small, unpretentious restaurants.

Aly has visited the Deauville Casino frequently, but Rita has been there only a few times. Whenever she appeared in public recently, she wore a loose, flowing gown.

Gray County Woman to Help Train, Teach People of India

MISSIONARY—Miss Mary Inez Holland, shown demonstrating home canning techniques, will speak at the First Methodist Church tonight before leaving for three year's missionary work in India. She was assistant home demonstration agent for Smith County before she resigned to take a special course of preparation for foreign church service.

Miss Mary Inez Holland, native Gray Countian, will speak at the First Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m. today before leaving for three year's missionary work in India.

Miss Holland returned Thursday from Hartford, Conn., where she took a special six-week course as final preparation for her work in India. She will leave from Seattle Sept. 2 for India.

Miss Holland was born on her parent's farm between Pampa and Miami, and graduated from Texas State College for Women at Denton, where she majored in home economics. After graduation she worked as assistant home demonstration agent of Smith County, but her principal interest was missionary work.

There will be about 65 persons in the group with which Miss Holland will go to India. But they are not all preachers or singers. There are also doctors and nurses, teachers, and experts in various fields of civic health and sanitation. And included in the party will be agriculturists who have specialized in soil conservation and restoration and home economists who can teach and train native teachers who will pass the knowledge on to others.

The emphasis in missionary work is shifting from just preaching the Christian religion to bringing the latest technological advances to backward peoples to help make their lives healthier and happier, and to give them more leisure and raise their standards as well.

In a country where the population grows faster than the available food supply, a program that will teach the people more productive farming methods and how to preserve what they raise, is considered a part of the work of spreading the Gospel.

Miss Holland's father died when she was five years old, and her mother, Mrs. Eunice Holland, has continued operating the home place. Now, however, the active management of the farm has taken over by one of her sons.

Besides Miss Holland, 24, the other children are Mrs. Louise Bussard, wife of a Lipscomb County rancher, W. R. Holland, 29, the brother who operates the farm, and Bennie Holland, 22, who is studying business and accounting at Oklahoma City.

Gilmer-Aiken School Bills Questioned

AUSTIN — (AP) — Legality of payment of certain funds for operating the Gilmer-Aiken education program was under question today.

The answer could possible result in an immediate special session of the Legislature.

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert has asked the attorney general whether the procedure set up by the Legislature for payment of $490,000 a year to the Education Department, $25,000 a year to the Board of Education and $50,000 a year to the Board of Vocational Education for administering the program is legal.

The Legislature in a rider on the general appropriation bill called for the expenditures to come from the Foundation School Fund set up by legislative act earlier in the session. Yet the bill setting up that foundation fund specifically provided that all moneys from that fund shall be disbursed to the treasurers of local school districts except for $150,000 to the state auditor for temporary administration of the program from the fund.

Calvert said he does not believe a law can be changed by a rider on an appropriation bill. If it cannot, and the expenditures cannot be paid out of general revenue as the laws now stand, it could possibly require an immediate special session of the Legislature to straighten things out.

Police Chief Named After Two Months

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — C. C. (Bud) Daniel, 36, is Wichita Falls' new police chief — the first the city has had since June 18.

The City Council and Mayor Harold Jones agreed Friday night to appoint Daniel, a traffic officer for more than five years.

Daniel succeeds Chris Jensen, whose rank was cut down to captain June 18 after a political fight and a series of court battles. The council was elected in April and tried to fire Jensen soon afterward. A district court order stopped that move. The decision was appealed, but the appeals court in Fort Worth sent the case back to the district court.

That's when the council demoted Jensen. At the same time, it voted that City Manager Frank Woods ranked ahead of Mayor Jones in the city government. Woods named a chief acceptable to the council.

The district court approved Jensen's demotion, but it said the council couldn't take away the mayor's executive power.

Until Friday night, Jones and the council hadn't been able to agree on a chief. Daniel was the fifth man suggested by the mayor.

Dusty Ancestors of Flying Saucers Located in Barn

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Have the ancestors of the flying saucers turned up in Maryland?

The Air Force says there is a good chance that it is so.

Two old machines located by state police in a tobacco barn apparently were one man's dream of flying by rotation.

Their inventor, Jonathan E. Caldwell, has long disappeared, but his strange devices have just come to light after enduring dust and decay for a decade.

Capt. Claudius Belk of the Baltimore office of special investigation of the Air Force said his office had been become interested in experiments, however, and had been investigating for months.

The Air Force's comment in Washington was that the battered old wrecks may be "prototypes" of the flying saucers — talk of which caused such a stir in the United States two summers ago.

In Air Force language, "prototype" means the first model from which an aircraft develops.

The two contraptions unearthed by troopers were greatly unlike. One had a little fuselage and above it a rotating disc and propeller blades.

The other was like a round cheesebox, except it had propellers above and below it. It had room for four persons. As far as has been determined it never left the ground.

Inventor Caldwell, during the winter of 1940, abruptly left the Southern Maryland farm on which he conducted his experiments.

He, his wife and son left so suddenly that the rooms were still strewn with personal effects and a bundle of soiled laundry was left in the living room.

Capt. Belk said his office had been making every effort to locate Caldwell's son in the hope of obtaining engineering information about the flying disc.

An unidentified Air Force officer was quoted in Washington as saying he thought the inventor of the disc "went to some other part of the country and he — or someone else — developed new planes along these lines and is sending them up."

Carol, Elena Are Married

LISBON, Portugal — (AP) — Former King Carol of Romania and Mme. Elena Lupescu were married in a religious ceremony Thursday night at the ex-monarch's estoril residence.

The Rev. Hartinian Ivinovitch, head of the Romanian (Greek Orthodox) Church in Paris, came here to officiate at the ceremony.

The ceremony took place in strict privacy in Carol's villa.

Carol and Elena, whose romance flourished more than two decades despite family objections and political upheavals, were married in Rio de Janeiro in an "extremis" civil ceremony in July, 1947, when Elena was believed at the point of death.

Under Brazilian law a person may, in the presence of six witnesses designate the person she wishes to marry and, if no legal obstacles intervene, the wish may be fulfilled by a Brazilian marriage court.

Elena's influence during Carol's reign as King of Romania had been so great she had been known as the "uncrowned queen." Carol preferred her to his royal consort.

Elena. Twice she accompanied him into exile. As crown prince he renounced his right to the throne and went into exile. He and Mme. Lupescu were together in Italy for five years.

When he returned to Romania and was crowned King, she followed. Ten years later she followed him into exile and gave up the throne rather than accept German domination during World War II.

Free Book That Explains The Causes and Describes Proven Specialized Treatment Sent on Request

Excelsior Springs, Mo. Aug. 16 — So successful has a specialized system proven for treating rheumatism and arthritis that an amazing new book will be sent free to any reader of this paper who will write for it.

The book entitled, "Rheumatism," fully explains why drugs and medicines give only temporary relief and fail to remove the causes of the trouble.

The Ball Clinic, Excelsior Springs, Missouri, has perfected a specialized system of treatment for rheumatism and arthritis, combined with the world famous mineral waters and baths. This of treatment, which has proven successful for over thirty years, is described in a book that how it may be possible for you to find freedom from rheumatism.

You incur no obligation in writing for this instructive book, may be the means of saving years of untold misery. For promptly, the Clinic will send newly enlarged book of "Rheumatism." Address your letter to The Ball Clinic, Dept. Excelsior Springs, Missouri, sure to write today.

Operators Complete 26, File 17 Panhandle Wells

THE DRILLER'S LOG

By BU D ANDERSON

Down the line verify... Operators in the Panhandle went all out last week in completing 12 oil wells and 13 gas wells. This was an increase over the preceding week of 12 wells. There were 11 oil wells and one gas well for the week ending August 13.

13 Gassers Highlight Completions

Total increased oil potential last week was 887 barrels and gas deliverability was 67,962 MCF. Humble completed its H. H. Merten No. 115 in Gray County for a potential of 120 barrels. Hutchinson County led the number of oil completions with six. Gray County reported five and Moore filed one. Phillips Petroleum Co. completed nine gas wells last week, eight of which were in Sherman County. Total in Sherman was nine. Potter had three while Hansford County reported one. Two plugged wells were reported last week.

Increased Allowables Give Producers Breathing Space

Breathing space! Texas producers, after seven successive cutbacks since January, were granted a 132,268 barrel daily breathing margin to work with for September. Though District 10 got only a 13 barrel increase, operators in other Texas districts were given substantial boosts. The West Texas field, for example, has been allowed an increase of 41,435 barrels.

Companies Differ on Oil Raises

By BO BYERS
MINERAL WELLS —(P)— Oil companies differed last week on whether the Railroad Commission should increase the number of producing days for Texas in September. A 50,000 to 125,000-barrel daily increase in the state crude oil allowable for September was expected despite the opposition of several companies to any change. The Talco Pipe Line Co.; Pan American Production Co.; Stano and Oil Co. and Gulf Oil Co. all opposed a suggested one-day increase in the statewide producing schedule.

Those favoring the increased allowable were Humble Oil and Refining Co.; Sun Oil Co.; Socony-Vacuum and Magnolia Oil Co. and the Shell Oil Co. The Sinclair Oil Company proposed a two-day production increase. Three companies — Atlantic, Continental and Tidewater — neither requested nor opposed a suggested one-day increase. The Phillips Petroleum Co. representative said he thought there should be no increase but that the company would not oppose it. Oil commission members Olin Culbertson and Ernest O. Thompson both encouraged the oil companies to replace foreign oil imports with Texas production.

Sentiment Prevails to Hold Oil Imports to Five Percent

WICHITA, Kas. —(P)— Sentiment to hold oil imports to five percent of the nation's oil needs dominated testimony before a Congressional subcommittee here today. From a score of witnesses came a similar story. They were independent oil operators, refiners and drillers, small businessmen and ruddy-cheeked, 64-year-old Ed H. Helms, Pratt, Kas., farmer. They said oil imports are doing increasing damage to the U.S. independent oil industry — damage also to landowners drawing royalties from wells on their farms, and to the business men with whom those people trade. And they said drilling rigs are idle, skilled oil field workers out of job.

Bill Introduced For Oil Council

WASHINGTON —(P)— Legislation proposing the establishment of a national petroleum policy was introduced Thursday by Rep. Harris (D-Ark). Harris is chairman of a House Commerce subcommittee on petroleum and federal power. His bill would create a Petroleum Policy Council. The council would suggest policies aimed at providing sufficient petroleum products at reasonable prices during emergencies and peacetime. Its recommendations would go to Congress.

Cities Service Pays $8.15 on Common

Consolidated net income of Cities Service Co. and subsidiaries for the six months ended June 30, 1949, was $30,159,009, President W. Alton Jones reported on August 17. This compares with consolidated net income of $35,717,796 for the same period last year, and is the equivalent of $8.15 per share of common stock as against $9.64 per share during the same period of 1948.

Corporate net income for the first six months of the year was $13,240,703 as against $12,973,835 in the first half of 1948, or $3.38 per share as compared with $3.39 per share for the same period of 1948.

New locations as filed with the Railroad Commission last week fell off from 27 reported the preceding week to 17 last week. This is a drop of 10. Gray County led in the number of new locations filed with seven. The number recorded the week before was six. Carson County reported one, Hutchinson reported six, Moore filed two while Sherman County recorded one in location.

Hoppe, Crosby Now Real Independents

TULSA —(P)— Radio-film performers Bob Hoppe and Bing Crosby became full-fledged oil men last week. The Independent Petroleum Association of America announced that the entertainers had been added to its membership. A Seury County well in which Hoppe and Crosby are part owners, was completed recently after showing and estimated potential of 100 barrels an hour.

Rehearing Set On El Paso Gas Pipeline

WASHINGTON —(P)— Senator Chavez of New Mexico said Saturday he would agree to a rehearing on application of El Paso Natural Gas Co. to build a pipeline for transporting New Mexico gas to California. The application — to pipe gas from San Juan Basin in New Mexico for sale in Arizona and California — was denied after one hearing by the Federal Power Commission. Chavez had opposed the application. But he said he was agreeable to a rehearing.

Giles, Daniel Testify On Tideland Hearing

AUSTIN —(P)— Attorney General Price Daniel and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles will testify on proposed tidelands bills before a House Judiciary subcommittee in Washington this week. Daniel said Friday he will fly to Washington Tuesday to attend an advance session of the tidelands committee of the National Association of Attorneys General. He will appear before the Congressional subcommittee Wednesday.

Oil Industry to Celebrate 90th Birthday Saturday

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON —(P)— Next Saturday is the 90th anniversary of the American oil industry. On August 27, 1859—a Saturday—Edwin L. Drake, a railroad conductor by trade, cussed a tin pitcher to bail crude oil from the nation's first oil well. That was at Titusville, Pa., which soon became one of the first oil boom towns.

Since then the oil industry has mushroomed into 26 states. More than 1,250,000 oil and gas wells have been drilled. That first day in 1859 Drake took several barrels of crude from his discovery well. The American Petroleum Institute estimates that between then and the start of 1949 United States oil wells produced 37,098,791,000 barrels of crude. Today here are approximately 34,000 domestic oil companies. The oilman of today would laugh at the equipment used by Drake. A little six-horsepower engine powered steam for the crude drilling equipment between the 25-foot derrick.

Drake probably thought he had a deep hole when he reached a depth of 69 1/2 feet the day he struck oil. Wells beyond 12,000 feet now have become common. One well has passed 20,000 feet. The idea to drill for oil did not originate with Drake. It came from George Bissell, New Haven, Conn., who had an interest in a 100-acre tract near Titusville. He hired Drake to carry out the idea. Nor was the crude oil taken from Drake's well the first produced. Small quantities of crude had been found in springs, water wells, and on the surface of streams. A few so-called reefs, which also processed oils from coal and shale, turned this initial production to commercial use.

Coal oil refineries continued to receive part of the Drake well production until January 22, 1861 when the first petroleum refinery began operations near Titusville. This refinery cost about $15,000, a figure which would require much multiplying to permit construction of one of the multimillion dollar plants of today. The Titusville area boomed rapidly once it was known Drake's well was turning out 20 barrels of crude oil daily. Production in 1860 was said to have approximated 600,000 barrels. With increased production and completion of new refineries, transportation became the big problem of the oil industry's pioneers. The original production was transported primarily by wagon and barge. The first oil pipeline was the result — a five mile line of two inch pipe with a daily capacity of 800 barrels. It was completed in 1865. Today there are more than 115,000 miles of pipe line carrying petroleum and refined products. The figure would be more than doubled if natural gas lines were included. Many lines now are several hundred miles long.

Silver Smuggling Scene Broken by Mexico

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Mexico has broken a silver smuggling scheme so vast its operations affected the price of silver on the New York market.

Treasury Secretary Ramon Beteta in a statement published Friday says 8,808,703 pesos ($300,000) were smuggled out of Mexico between March 28, 1947, and Oct. 22, 1948. All crossed the border at El Paso, Texas. Mexico buys silver at 71.5 U. S. cents per ounce. The silver found a market in the U. S. at 91 cents an ounce.

Beteta said these penalties have been imposed:
In the Ciudad Juarez customs, 62 inspectors discharged, 25 suspended 15 days and transferred, 42 transferred and 34 reprimanded.

One Mexico City Bank fined 200,000 pesos ($25,000) for furnishing the silver;

One border bank fined 15,000 pesos ($1,720) for improper registry of silver;

The border bank manager transferred and its cashier discharged.

Beteta said the man who organized and ran the smuggling has not been punished. He said a warrant was issued for the man's arrest, but the man obtained a court order forbidding the arrest and is still at liberty.

Beteta said the shipment of silver was illegal on two counts: It did not pay any export tax and it violated central bank orders against exportation without license.

The Treasury secretary said sudden changes in silver prices in the New York market gave Mexico the first tip on the smuggling. Prices would fall when a big shipment of Mexican silver passed the frontier.

growing Population to Peril, Krug Says

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — (AP) — The world's fast-growing population doesn't doom it to a lower standard of living, Interior Secretary J. A. Krug declared.

Science, he said, can "find and develop food, fuels and materials" to boost living standards everywhere.

Krug spoke at the opening of the United Nations scientific conference on the conservation and utilization of resources. It brings together 700 scientists from 30 nations.

Mother Will Stay In Jail for Child

TULSA, Okla. — (AP) — A mother who remained in jail rather than give up her child is standing pat on a stand of "unconditional surrender."

Twice, harried authorities have offered Mrs. Nellie Beshars her freedom. Just tell us where seven-year-old Ona Jerriene is hidden, they asked. But, nothing doing.

The 29-year-old cotton mill worker said she would stay behind bars "forever," if necessary, to keep her child.

She is charged with child stealing and has been jailed three weeks for failing to make $500 bond. Mrs. Beshars admits taking Jerriene from the child's foster parents because "they wouldn't let me see her."

Glenn Curtiss piloted an airplane called the June Bug on the first public flight of a mile in the United States.

Worth repeating again and again and again!

Baruch Expects To Reach 100

NEW YORK — (AP) — Bernard M. Baruch — 79 years old Friday — says his doctor has told him he may live to be "well over 100 unless you get hanged or shot."

The financier, who has served as adviser to presidents, made the wisecrack Thursday as he declared there will be no birthday party "if I can help it."

Troops Seeking To Halt Rioting

SANTIAGO, Chile — (AP) — The Chilean government, armed with new emergency powers, moved three army regiments into Santiago Thursday to help halt rioting it said was a Communist-inspired.

Eight persons were killed and 300 injured in street fighting during the past two days. The violence followed a half-cent increase in Santiago bus fares.

Faye Emerson Space, Tools Rented to Amateurs in Workshop

By ED CREEGH
NEW YORK — (AP) — It sounds like a terrible thing to say about a Texas girl — especially when she's an actress and as pretty as a tree-ripened peach.

But those rumors you've been hearing are true, and truth will out.

This Faye Emerson Roosevelt is brighter than a shiny new dime, and a Roosevelt dime at that.

In four appearances on a radio-television quiz show, the late President's daughter-in-law has done more than stump the experts. She has bowled them over. She has left them groggy.

"It is not fair that she should have so much beauty and so many brains, too," growled Gregory Ratoff, the movie director, in a Russian accent as thick as the sour cream on a cheese blintz.

Some of those present got the impression Ratoff wasn't entirely kidding. In her genteel, unpretentious way Miss Emerson had just fielded a question which the man from Hollywood had booted all over the studio.

She has a habit of doing that. In other appearances on the show — called "Who Said That?" — she out-experted H. V. Kaltenborn, left Quentin Reynolds at the post, and built up a three-to-one margin over one Elliott Roosevelt — her husband.

"Men," says quizmaster Robert Trout, "respect Miss Emerson and it's not just because she dresses up a television screen."

Besides, if there's a joke being concocted in the vicinity she wants to be in on it. And I'm well aware that she'd love to turn the tables and ask me a question I couldn't answer."

As for Miss Emerson herself, the brown-eyed blonde from Beaumont, Texas, looks on the whole thing as just good fun.

"I love working television," she says, "and especially on a program with no rehearsals. I get a real kick out of working with such bright, quick-thinking people."

"I'd also like to do a television show of my own — as a commentator, and not just about recipes and fashions . . ."

"No, I don't do any special studying before 'Who Said That?' I just read the seven or eight papers I read every day."

"Fan mail? Yes, there's been quite a lot. It's surprising how many letters begin 'I am a Republican but—'"

"There was one priceless letter from a woman who misunderstood something I'd said about Thomas E. Dewey. She wrote in to complain that I'd called him a Red."

In each session of "Who Said That?" Trout reads quotations from the week's news and a panel of experts, or would-be experts, tries to name the well-known person quoted.

See how'd you'd make out with these:

1—"I get bored in Hollywood — the big automobiles, the swimming pools, the rich houses . . ."

2—"Nearly all the songs I hear these days are the loudest pile of trash I have ever listened to."

3—"I won't retire until my brains wear out."

Guest expert Emerson rattled them off in order: 1—Gregory Ratoff. 2—Frank Sinatra. 3—Connie Mack.

EX-PILOT Grover Taylor (left) who now runs the workshop, checks a proposed cut that David M. Williams plans to make with the band saw.

By FRED ZAVATERRO
SEATTLE, Wash. — (NEA) — Men with a yen to try their hand at cabinet-making can give it a whirl without investing hundreds of dollars in costly equipment, thanks to an innovation by a Seattle ex-pilot.

Called "Your Workshop, Inc.," the place is a fully-equipped spot where non-professional builders can rent space and tools. They can build anything up to a 22-foot yacht. They can repair anything down to a squeak in a door.

"Your Workshop" is the brainchild of Grover Tyler. A pilot for 35 years, Tyler began to notice that his reflexes weren't keeping pace with the speed of his planes so, two years ago, he retired. His lifetime hobby had been cabinet making and wood-working, and he decided to put his hobby to work.

For 25 cents an hour, Tyler rents space and tools to men or women — who want to build or repair household furniture and equipment. There are additional small fees for the use of power tools. Renters pay one cent a minute to use the drill press and the band saw, and two cents a minute for the table saw.

The honor system is used, and each worker keeps his own time. At the end of the week, all the rental fees are paid.

Tyler doesn't conduct organized classes in woodwork, but he will offer advice and suggestions to the unskilled worker. It is a tribute to his supervision that there have been no injuries in the shop since it began.

He will purchase lumber and supplies for any of his customers who haven't the time to shop around themselves. And he likes to think of "Your Workshop" as the traditional basement workshop without the problems of expensive equipment and space.

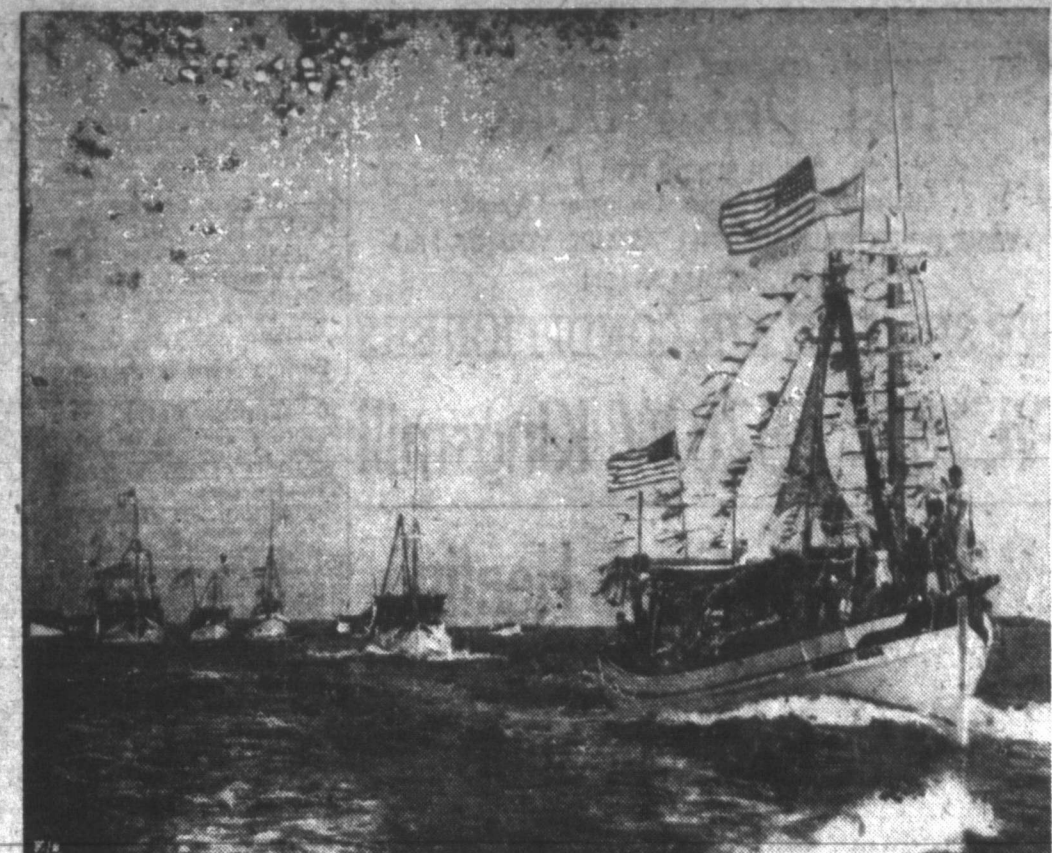

Since the shop's inception, many items have been built there which are worthy of the art of cabinet making. Several men have made fine radio-television cabinets. One man built a 15-foot combination cabinet and kitchen sink at a cost of $50.

This man, like many of the amateur carpenters, worked from plans drawn by his wife. She had window-shopped the cabinet-sink combination, liked it, but balked at the $250 price tag. She obtained the measurements and made a sketch which her husband copied for $200 less.

By far the most popular piece made is the coffee table. Most beginners find it the easiest to build, and the cost is low.

Customers come from all walks of life, and the most surprising thing to Tyler is the number of housewives who use his facilities. It seems the girls like to build things, and they're good at it, too.

Dallas Objects to Ban on Meat Placed by Houston

HOUSTON — (AP) — While Dr. J. W. Bass, Dallas city health officer, was charging that Houston just wants to keep Dallas meat out to build up the business of Houston packers, Chief City Veterinarian R. S. Martin of Houston announced that Fort Worth city meat inspection is approved for shipment to Houston.

He also announced that a San Antonio Health Department representative has informed him that San Antonio will not attempt to renew its shipments of meat to Houston, but is willing to allow Houston meat to be shipped to San Antonio.

Doctor Bass, in Dallas, was quoted as saying Dallas has no intention of changing its inspection system because Houston has banned shipments of Dallas meat not federally inspected.

"Houston would just find some other excuse to bar Dallas meat," Dr. Bass said. "The barring of meat from Dallas and other Texas cities appears to be just a scheme to keep other meat out until Houston packers regain business lost during the horsemeat scandal there. The Dallas meat inspection system is entirely adequate."

In Fort Worth, R. E. Minton, owner of Blue Bonnett Packing Company, the only city inspected packing house there, said he has a special permit to ship meat to Houston. But Dr. Martin said this is wrong.

"All special permits are out," Dr. Martin said. "However it is perfectly all right for Blue Bonnett Packing Company to ship to Houston, because Fort Worth city inspection is approved."

Teachers to Receive More This Year

AUSTIN — (AP) — A teacher with a Master's Degree will receive $4,762 in the town of Boling, Wharton County, this coming school year.

Teachers with Bachelor's Degrees will be paid as high as $4,200 in the public schools of Boling, Texas, this coming school year.

The lowest salary drawn by a teacher with a Bachelor's Degree in the Ector County Independent School District, which includes the city of Odessa, will be $3,000.

These figures were released Tuesday by Charles H. Tennyson, public relations director for the Texas State Teachers Association.

Tennyson said replies of 633 superintendents to a questionnaire he had sent out on salary schedules indicated that many teachers will be drawing pay comparable to or better than that of college faculty members.

Some 40 percent of the public school teachers are in districts that will pay above the state minimum fixed by the Gilmer-Alkin laws passed by the 51st Legislature, he reported.

The minimums vary from $2,408 for a beginning teacher with a Bachelor's Degree to $5,051 after 12 years experience and from $2,628 for a new teacher with a Master's Degree to $4,032 at the end of 26 years.

School districts with fewer than 5,000 scholastics will pay the salaries set in the minimum foundation program act in most instances, Tennyson said.

"Many schools indicated that it might prove possible to supplement salaries before the end of the year," he added.

"Exclusive But Not Expensive"

Steps to the Moon

By Adelaide Humphries

THE STORY: Gaynel Teare, expected by her mother Emily to marry Barry Halbridge, a young millionaire, is uncertain what course to take. Although Gaynel is fond of Barry, she prefers the company of young, handsome Fritz Freeman. But Gaynel is the breadwinner of her family, and well-to-do but now in reduced circumstances, and marriage to a millionaire would solve many problems. Fritz has no money, in fact he is so broke that he has told Gaynel that he can't take her anywhere this evening. So he asks her to his apartment. Gaynel is reluctant until Fritz says they will be well accompanied, although he does not say by whom.

Gaynel knelt down to unlace his shoes for him. "You're the laziest, most good-for-nothing husband I ever had," she scolded severely and looked up from this compromising position on hearing another chuckle from the hallway to discover a young man standing looking at them. "Don't get up," Fritz's hand kept her from scrambling to her feet. "This pleases me more than I can tell you, to have Johnny come in and find a young woman on her knees to me. Come on in, Johnny, my lad. Miranda, my love, this is one of the chaperons I was telling you about." Johnny advanced and held out his hand. Gaynel let him give her a lift. Her head in a drowsy, dazed young man, bright red hair, green eyes, the map of Ireland indelibly impressed. "There's just one bottle of beer left," Fritz said hospitably. But with Gaynel's back toward him he took his head in a vigorous negative and motioned for a Johnny to take himself off in a jiffy, or else. "No, thank you," Johnny returned politely. "It has been a pleasure, though, to meet the Missus," he assured them. "He'll think we're crazy," Gaynel sighed, after he had gone on upstairs. "He knows I am," Fritz reassured her. "You'll find my slippers in the front hall closet, my love." He picked up the newspaper, set it back. "The dishes stacked and rinsed, Gaynel made him put the newspaper down. "You've always got your nose buried in that old paper," she scolded. "And me slaving day-in day-out in this little recreation. Besides, I thought you said you were in a talking mood, Henry."

She curled herself up on the studio couch, an enormous, shabby affair, heaped with a number of oddly assorted cushions. Everything in the Goat's Nest was shabby and had been chosen for durability and comfort rather than fitness. There was an ancient grand piano in one corner, but apparently it was also used for a desk, as it was loaded with books and papers, pictures and magazines.

"What will we talk about?" Fritz asked. He switched off the lamp, so that only the one near the piano was on and the shabbiness and dust merged into a rosy radiance. "Now that you've fed me so well, my love, my talkative mood has deserted me. I feel much more like a little nap."

HER fingers played in his thick blond hair. She wished his eyes weren't so blue, or so disturbing. It was not much more than a moment before Fritz had closed his eyes, his breathing becoming even and steady as her hand smoothed his forehead. Her own eyelids drooped. . . she couldn't remember when she had felt so fagged out. . . at home, too. . . She felt her head nod. . . perhaps she dozed a short while, too—then her head came up with a jerk. She had heard something. Someone was starting at them—a strange young man. "Fritz. . ." she shook him, tried to make him sit up, shook him, hard, again. "Go away," Fritz murmured. "Oh, excuse it. . ." He rubbed his eyes, lifted his head. (To Be Continued)

Old Girl Gives Her Citizens A Hard Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Poor old Brooklyn. Nobody loves her. Except her 2,500,000 sons and daughters. And sometimes you can't help wondering about them. Does that checkmating local pride mean they really love Brooklyn? Or are they merely going through the motions of their being a lost cause? Everybody who doesn't live in Brooklyn laughs at the old girl. And nobody knows why. It's one of those curious facts of life—say "Brooklyn" out loud and a people's pathos. This, by dawn is not fair. Brooklyn is not a funny place. It is a sad place. Consider its melancholy rows of squalid brick houses, its silently weeping little adobe houses ("A Tree Grows in Brooklyn") slumped in the sun. It can't be just my imagination

Young Wife Kills Baby

CHICAGO (AP)—A young mother who first told police that her six-day-old daughter was strangled by a Negro prowler was quoted by police early Friday as saying "I killed her. Someone. Police Capt. John Enright said the woman, Mrs. Dorothy Skeoch, 22, admitted killing the child only a few hours after they arrived home from the hospital, where the baby was born. The baby, Susan, was found dead in bed with a plastic diaper knotted tightly around her neck. Mrs. Skeoch, a former payroll clerk at the University of Chicago, was quoted by Enright as saying she had been depressed because her husband, Thomas, 21, had been unemployed since he lost his job as a dockworker two weeks ago. "There was no money coming in and I couldn't stand seeing the baby go through what I have gone through," Enright said the woman told him. She related, Enright added, that while she was pondering the family's plight the baby began whimpering and that she then tied the diaper around the child's neck.

What I Do Thou Knowest Not Grief But Thou Shalt Know Hereafter—John 13:7.

AWAY

I cannot say and I will not say that he is dead—he is just away. With a cheery smile and a wave of his hand he wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be since he lingered there—O you, who the wildest yearning for the old time step and glad, remember, becoming him, He stepped out, pilloving his head in her lap.

Think of him as faring on, as dear in the love of there as the love of here. Think of him still as the same I say, He is not dead—he is just away.

11—Male Help

Men, Read Carefully

I want to talk to ten men who are really ambitious in securing the kind of job that will give them a steady year-around employment. In other words there are no laying off periods. Consistent income is the income that really counts.

It doesn't matter what your past employment has been. All that matters is that you are willing to get along on $75 or $85 per week for the first four to six weeks while learning our work.

If you are mechanically inclined or can handle men in a supervisory capacity, or your present income is not satisfactory, answer this now. You must be able to give the names of three persons who will vouch for your honesty and integrity.

We prefer men who are married or who have a good record of responsibility and have a car.

We will present our plan only if your wife accompanies you. Her happiness is contingent upon your success, and we feel that she should know completely from the first what you will be offered.

Therefore, if you are honest and of good character, a willing worker and neat in appearance, apply Schneider Hotel, 208 1/2 N. Main, Pampa, Texas, evening only. Ask for Mr. Stevens. This applies to men living in or near Pampa.

Monterrey Has Uneasy Air as To Electricity

MONTERREY, Mexico.—There's an uneasy air about this city's electricity these days. All electric plant employees went back to work ten days ago after an abortive strike. They still want more money, but they have not made any new formal demands on the company. The two days of their strike, Aug. 5 and 6, disrupted the life of this city of 150,000. Water supplies were short because the same company handles water and drainage pumping. Lights were put except in hospitals. Many small businesses were shut down completely. Originally the workers asked raises of 25 percent. The company refused, saying it already was losing money. During further negotiations, the workers' demands were lowered to 5 percent raises. Finally, on Aug. 6, they turned off the generators and walked out. The Federal Conciliation Service entered the picture and got the employers together with the workers, who lowered their demands to two percent. The company still said it couldn't pay any increases. Late on the night of Aug. 6 the strike leaders told their men to go back to work. The company and agreed to pay them their wages for the two days of the strike, but nothing more. Service was resumed early on the morning of Aug. 7.

Suspect Not Too Ill, Judge Says

TEXARKANA, Ark.—District Judge J. L. Dalrymple said Monday Mrs. Edna Green, accused of murdering her husband, isn't too sick to stand trial. He denied bond Friday while Mrs. Green lay on a cot in his courtroom at the city jail. She is charged with killing her husband in the shooting of Mrs. Ann McDonald and with a second murder of W. G. Green, her recently divorced husband. Both were shot as they sat in a pickup truck near the Texarkana police station Sunday night. Their defense attorneys said Mrs. Green should be released on bond in the murder charge because she is ill. Dr. J. E. McKeown, county health officer, testified she wasn't so sick to be treated in jail.

Miami Gets New Pastor

MIAMI (Special)—The Rev. Hugh Blylock, who had been appointed to the pastorate of the Methodist church, arrived this week to assume his new duties. The pastorate was left vacant by the death of the Rev. Alan Harvey-Brooks, who was killed in a car accident recently. Rev. Blylock, who was born and raised near Wellington, attended McMurry College, Abilene, and Southern Methodist University, and served three years as an army chaplain during the war. He came with his family from Earth, Texas, where he had been pastor four years.

Boy Gives Back Money; Released

SAN ANTONIO.—A 2-year-old boy walked into police headquarters and asked, "Are you the chief?" "No," Lieut. E. D. Allen replied, "but who can I do for you, son?" "I want to give this money back," said the lad, and he tossed $4.00 on the floor. The boy explained he'd taken from a lunch company and he knew he'd done wrong. The lieutenant turned him over to juvenile authorities, who explained the circumstances. The boy was allowed to go home.

WORLD'S LARGEST BELL

The Tsar Kolokol, which is Russian for "ring of bells," is the largest bell in the world. Cast about 1735, it is in the Kremlin in Moscow.

FOR PUERTO RICO—Miss Avelina Medrano (above), Miss of Rio Piedras, a ballet dancer, has been chosen "Miss Puerto Rico" for the "Miss America" contest at Atlantic City.
