NY Senate Race Is Tops Over Nation

(By The Associated Press)
In a preview of the 1950 struggle for control of Congress, voters scattered across the nation pick one senator, two House members, two governors and many local officials tomorrow.

A special Senate race in New York overshadows all others in interest.

In that contest and in certain others, labor as well as the major political parties will have something at stake.

The AFL and CIO have put their chips down together on Democratic former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in the New York election to round out the term expiring in January, 1951—of Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.), who resigned.

Republican Senator John Foster Dulles, an appointee of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, has made President Truman's "fair deal" program an issue by his attacks on it. He has come out for a modified version of the Taft Hartley Act.

The President spoke out against Dulles Saturday night in a radio broadcast urging the election of Lehman.

Across the river in New Jersey, labor has split apart in the hotly contested race for governor. The AFL has endorsed Democratic State Senator Elmer H. Wene, who is trying to unseat Republican Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll.

The CIO, on the other hand, has issued a report criticizing Wene severely, linking him with the old Frank Hague organization of Jersey City. However, the CIO hasn't backed Driscoll.

Labor also has split in the mayor's race in Detroit, one of the local elections that will be watched closely for possible national trends.

There the AFL is backing Albert E. Cobo, Republican city treasurer, who led all of the candidates in the September primary. The CIO is supporting George Edwards, who has Democratic ties. The issue will be decided on a non-partisan ballot.

In the New York senatorial battle, Dulles appears to have turned into a loss-up contest a race which politicians a month ago were giving to Lehman by a wide margin.

Dulles has contended that Mr. Truman's program would lead to such centralization of power in Washington as to threaten individual liberties.

Oil Lobbyists Fight Annual Pay Measure

AUSTIN — (AP) — Two Panhandle legislators joined today in charging that oil, gas and sulphur lobbyists were taking a lead in the fight against the annual session and pay Constitutional amendment.

The amendment is one of 10 that will be voted on in tomorrow's election.

Rep. J. Blake Timmons of Amarillo also protested a ruling by liquor Administrator Coke Stevenson, Jr., holding that beer and liquor may be sold on election day except where local ordinances prohibit it.

Timmons requested Stevenson to ask the attorney general for an opinion on the liquor administrator's interpretation of the law. Stevenson had held that tomorrow is not a general election day as defined in the state liquor law.

Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo also issued a statement saying if the annual session and pay amendment is defeated, "it will be another of the many successful victories originated by the so-called third house, or major company lobbies in Austin, such as oil, gas and sulphur."

He said not everyone opposing the amendment was affiliated with the lobbies, but that their tracks are evident in many organizations fighting the proposal.

Timmons said it appeared that both the "oil-gas-sulphur-pipeline" and certain "short-sighted, big-time" liquor lobbyists favor an under-par Legislature and do not look with favor on annual sessions.

Early Oxygen Treatment Fights Polio

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — The death rate of infantile paralysis victims given early oxygen treatment at Riley Hospital has been only about half the national average, hospital authorities reported today.

Evidence is this must be due to a great extent to oxygen treatment, said Dr. Donald J. Casely, medical director of Indiana University Medical Center, which supervises the hospital.

The hospital has had 277 poliomyelitis patients and 13 of these have died.

This is about half the average death expectancy in the nation and in Indiana as a whole.

This record was made despite the fact that the hospital took only serious or critical cases.

Dr. Casely pointed out that use of oxygen was not new, but that Riley Hospital has facilities to try to experiment on a fairly large scale.

At the first indication of lack of oxygen the patient was treated with oxygen and placed in a respirator.

RED INVASION

CHUNGKING — (AP) — Chinese Nationalists today acknowledged a Red invasion of Luichow Peninsula which juts out from South China toward strategic Hainan Island.

Hundreds Pay 25 Cents for Smack at Chip

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Hundreds kissed it (25 cents a smack), but the question is: what was it?

The 15-pound chunk of limestone was flown here from Ireland, with advance hullabaloo that it was a chip off the real Blarney Stone. You know, the one in Ireland that imparts the gift of gab. Or so they say.

It disappeared early yesterday, shortly after a St. Mary's Church festival crowd had paid $472 for the privilege of anearming it with lipstick. Women, the custodians reported, were by far the best customers.

But only minutes after its disappearance, the stone's origin was challenged.

James Cummins, past president of the United Irish Society and custodian of the stone, groaned: "The worst thing is that the London Daily Mail's New York correspondent called and said the rock wasn't the real thing."

With that Cummins said he has documentary evidence that it was the real thing — still is as far as he is concerned.

"A friend of mine — Pat Collins — who lives in Cork, sent it and assured me it was from Blarney Castle. I have the bill of lading from TWA Airlines. I have saved the correspondence."

But the cops were inclined to view the whole Blarney Stone and disappearance — with a stony eye.

The city health director, Dr. J. C. Geiger, had frowned on the whole thing from the start. Such mass kissing, he said, was unsanitary — germ spreading.

The festival director, the Rev. John Lally, hoped for a quick solution to the "theft." Whoever took it might become talkative enough to give himself away, he theorized with a twinkle in his eye.

Pair Taken To Amarillo

Potter County Sheriff Paul Gaither yesterday removed Joe Johnson and Pat Hinsley from the Gray County Jail to Amarillo where they face felony and misdemeanor charges.

Johnson faces charges of auto theft and a grand jury indictment for child desertion.

The Hinsley woman faces a misdemeanor capias.

Johnson was picked up Friday afternoon at the Killarney Drive woman after they failed to outburst the principal speaker in ceremonies at Moscow's Bolshoi Theater, inaugurating the anniversary celebration. He charged the United States was plotting "to enslave the entire world."

"Malenkov vigorously asserted that the Soviets 'do not want war and we shall do everything possible to avert it.'"

"In the hands of the imperialists," he declared, "atomic energy is a means for the production of lethal weapons, a means of intimidation, an instrument of blackmail and coercion."

"But in the hands of the Soviet people," he continued, "it can be and must be a mighty instrument of technical progress on a scale never witnessed before, an instrument for the further rapid development of the productive forces of our country."

Malenkov called for "unconditional outlawing of atomic weapons, establishment of 'suitable' international control, and 'condemnation of the preparations being conducted in the United States for the production of atomic weapons.'"

The county's last case was a Linda Cates, 22-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cates, Lefors. She was admitted to the clinic Tuesday.

Mexican Embargo Relaxed Slightly

McALLEN, Texas — (AP) — Mexico's embargo on U. S. goods has been relaxed slightly for Reynosa residents.

Gen. Arturo Campello Seyde said he is authorized to use his own judgment in admitting goods bought in the United States by Reynosa citizens. He is chief of the Reynosa customs office.

Seyde says the lift applies only to Reynosa citizens. His list of duty free imports includes men and women's clothing, household articles, variety store items, drug store items and groceries.

Philippine Storm Plays Self Out

MANILA — (AP) — A tropical storm with winds of 55 miles an hour which threatened to disrupt the Southern Philippines on election day tomorrow died as suddenly as it was born.

TB Tests Given At Lefors Today

Mrs. Joe Stephens, registered nurse, began tuberculosis patch testing in Lefors school this morning.

Under the sponsorship of the Gray County Tuberculosis Association Mrs. Stephens will give tests to all first, third, sixth, ninth and twelfth grade students in the county. She also will test any students who are new in the county this year.

Mrs. Stephens plans to give tests Thursday in Hopkins, McLean, Grandview and Alanreed. She probably will begin in Pampa schools the first of next week.

WE HEARD . . .

Of "Hard Luck" Harvester's latest unlucky break. Jimmy Parker, who has gone through the bulbar-type polio and has suffered a knee injury, Saturday night at the High School dance in the cafeteria had another knock. Someone knickered over one of the improvised goals a point which hit Jimmy in the middle of the forehead. It knocked him cold.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The list of the 10 amendments, proposed to the Texas Constitution are discussed below, beginning with number six. The first four were discussed in Sunday's issue of The News.)

By HENRY S. GORDON
Pampa News Staff

5. County health units — another vaguely worded act that gives broad powers to the Legislature. The proposed amendment does not state any specific objective or purpose of such a unit; does not define the unit; gives no limitation on their authority; leaves their creation and operation, if adopted by local option, up to the Legislature.
6. Pensions for county employees — affects only appointive officers with the pension being administered on a statewide basis. The various counties may adopt it. See GRAY, Page 2.

U.S. Planning to Keep Troops In Japan After Occupation

FIVE BABIES IN LESS THAN YEAR—Mrs. Thelma Gibbs, 27, smiles from her hospital bed at Atlanta after giving birth to triplet girls, bringing Mrs. Gibbs' total to nine children—five of whom were born this year. She had twins Jan. 16, 1948. The triplet girls were reported doing fine in a hospital incubator and Mrs. Gibbs said she felt fine but was worried about the twins at home — they're still on the bottle. As for Mr. Gibbs, on the day of his triplets' birth he told his employer that he was "too nervous to work today." (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States intends to keep troops in Japan for many years after the end of the Allied occupation.

Diplomatic authorities said that decision has been reached by officials who, in trying to draw up a draft of a Japanese peace treaty, faced this tough problem:

How can Japan be given full political independence, while still keeping some protection against a growing Communist menace in Asia?

With their decision on this and other touchy matters State Department planners have reached advanced stage in their efforts to whip into shape a treaty of peace with the former enemy nation.

The next step must be consultation with Britain and other nations. U. S. planning has progressed far enough so that Secretary of State Acheson will be able to assure British Foreign Minister Bevin in Paris this week of U. S. readiness to start such talks in the near future.

The major provisions of the pact as now drafted by the State Department call for:

1. An end to the Allied occupation commanded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, as soon as the treaty is signed and ratified.
2. An orderly surrender by the occupation forces of the powers and duties of governing the country, and their subsequent withdrawal, as such. In about six months the Japanese government would have complete control of all the nation's internal and foreign affairs.
3. Denial to the new government of (A) the industrial capacity to build a modern war machine and (B) the right to create an army (which is also denied in the Japanese Constitution).
4. Final cleanup of all reparations questions, including disposition of former Japanese enemy assets in Allied and neutral countries.
5. Final removal of territories from Japanese control in accordance with the wartime Cairo agreement, as well as the surrendering of Japanese rights over the Pacific mandated islands.
6. Guarantees of basic civil rights, including the basic principles of Western political democracy, such as free elections.
7. Commitments on Japanese membership in international organizations and treaties with the principal Allies, to stand for membership in the United Nations and otherwise to try to establish itself in the family of nations.

Russia Celebrating Union's Birthday

(By The Associated Press)
Communist Russia today in celebrating the Soviet Union's 32nd birthday, the anniversary of the 1917 revolution.

In Moscow thousands of troops, tanks and planes paraded for hours today across Red Square.

From the reviewing stand atop Lenin's tomb the Soviet minister of armed forces, Marshal Alexander M. Vasilievsky, told his people to "right still harder for the further growth of the might of our state."

Top political and military chiefs accused the United States of fomenting a new blood bath of war designed to make the world an American colony.

The main attack was made last night by Communist Politburo member Georgi M. Malenkov, who asserted that such a war would mean an end to capitalism in the world.

Vasilievsky, who spoke briefly from atop the tomb where the Russian revolution's chief hero, Nikolai Lenin, lies in state in a glass coffin.

Vasilievsky accused "warmongers" of pursuing a "policy of aggression and unleashing of new wars."

Vasilievsky reviewed thousands of Russian foot soldiers, tanks and motorized weapons streaming for hours through Red Square.

The aerial parade over the marching soldiers were led by Generalissimo Stalin's son, Gen. Vasily Stalin, flying in a fighter plane.

Malenkov hurled his charges at the United States last night as the principal speaker in ceremonies at Moscow's Bolshoi Theater, inaugurating the anniversary celebration. He charged the United States was plotting "to enslave the entire world."

"Malenkov vigorously asserted that the Soviets 'do not want war and we shall do everything possible to avert it.'"

Ecuadorian Fliers End Good Will Tour

HOUSTON — (AP) — Ten Ecuadorian fliers completed their "thank you" tour in the United States today with a call at Brownsville.

The group, traveling in five light planes, are on a 20,000 mile tour to express Ecuador's appreciation for aid given during the disastrous earthquake there in August.

The group arrived here Sunday after visiting other U. S. cities. They visited Brownsville today, then will make stops at Tampico and Mexico City.

Liquor May Be Sold on Tuesday

AUSTIN — (AP) — State law does not prohibit sale of beer and liquor on special election day Tuesday.

The liquor control board said that Tuesday is not a "general election day" as defined in the state liquor law.

"All alcoholic beverages can be sold in areas where there is not a city ordinance prohibiting the sale of such beverages," said Coke Stevenson, Jr., liquor administrator.

LABOR PEACE HOPES HINGE ON STEEL PIC

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Hopes for labor peace in both the steel and coal industries hinged today on quickened settlement moves in the steel strike.

Government officials said they look for several major steel firms to come to terms this week with the striking CIO Steelworkers.

They said this probably would egg on John L. Lewis and soft coal operators toward an agreement.

There were reports that President Truman may intervene in the coal situation if it continues hopeless beyond this week.

Some officials favored Mr. Truman's naming a fact-finding board with power to recommend settlement terms. Such a method, which is outside the scope of the Taft-Hartley Act, was adopted in the steel strike.

But other officials talked of possible use of the Taft-Hartley Act powers to obtain striking-end court injunctions.

The coal strike is now in its 49th day, the steel strike in its 37th.

Of the two stoppages, the worse effects have come from the coal mine walkout, which curtailed train service and created fuel shortages for many households. But lack of steel has hit manufacturers.

The Bethlehem settlement provided for a $100 minimum month.

Concert Trio Will Appear Here Tonight

The Columbia Concert Trio will open the sixth season of the Pampa Community Concert Association at 8:30 p. m. today in the Junior High School Auditorium.

Membership in the association allows admittance to the concerts presented. No tickets will be sold at the door except to persons in military service.

The concert trio is composed of a piano, violin and cello. Artists are Richard Gregor, Ariana Bronne and Marcia Barbour, all rising young musical stars hailing from the far West. East and Middle West. They have formed an ensemble to present the piano trio masterpieces of great composers.

Included in tonight's program will be the piano solo by Gregor, "Sonata in G Minor, Op. 22," Schumann; violin solo by Miss Bronne, "Allegro," Plocca, and cello solo by Miss Barbour, "The Little Shepherd," Debussy.

The Executive Committee of the association hopes each member has read the letter sent with the membership cards and will heed the contents since it is the desire of the committee to make 1949 the best season in the history of the musical group.

Christopher Service Held

Funeral services for Lasater G. Christopher, an early day resident of Miami, were held there at 3 p. m. yesterday.

Services were conducted by the Rev. E. Lee Stanford of Amarillo and the Rev. Hugh Blaylock of Miami, both Methodist pastors.

Burial, under the direction of the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, was in the Miami cemetery beside the body of Mrs. Christopher, who died Nov. 26, 1948.

Christopher, 78, died Friday at the home of a daughter in San Angelo, where he had been living the past three years.

The Christophers, who were married in Kentucky in 1891, came to Miami in 1901. He was a well driller and was later in the implement and real estate business. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1941.

About three years ago they moved to San Angelo to make their home with their daughter, Mrs. Pearl Roe. Mrs. Christopher died shortly after the move and was brought back to Miami for burial.

In addition to Mrs. Roe, Christopher is survived by one other daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Ward of Ephrata, Wash.

Moose Lodge to Meet Wednesday

The recently formed Pampa Moose Lodge will meet Wednesday night instead of Tuesday night this week, Vincent D. Kersey, secretary, said today.

An opening date for the lodge's newly acquired club quarters will be discussed.

The meeting Wednesday will be at 8 p. m. in the Palm Room of the City Hall.

Pampa Chamber to Hold Barbecue Along Banks of the Chicken River

Barbecue on the banks of the Chicken River tomorrow is a change in the routine of the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

The bank of the river, in Roberts County just on this side of the Canadian River, will be the site of the large dinner.

Invited guests include Roberts and Gray Counties' Commissioners, County Courthouse, Pampa City Commission, representatives of the State Highway Department who are stationed in Pampa and Amarillo, land owners in Roberts County who have donated land for right-of-way and both special Highway Committees of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner will be held at 1 p. m. at the point where the

Stores Will Not Close on Armistice Day

Pampa stores will not close next Friday — Armistice Day, which commemorates the ending of World War I.

It was announced at the Chamber of Commerce Office this morning that a number of inquiries were being received as to whether stores would close.

The Pampa Retail Trade Committee, which generally represents business houses, decided some time ago that veterans of all American wars would be commemorated on May 30 each year.

This decision was made, it was said, because the two has more or less tried to observe all days, such as VJ Day, VE Day, and Armistice Day — but none of them has been properly observed.

Other days to be observed by most — if not all — of the stores are New Year's, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas.

Mother Says Baby Killed In Bad Fall

UTICA, N. Y. — (AP) — A remorse-stricken mother has confessed that her six-week-old son was killed in a fall from her arms and that her story of kidnapping was "made up" out of fear of what her husband would say.

"I dropped my baby," Mrs. Stella Komorek blurted out at a coroner's inquest last night.

The sobbing admission from the plump, 29-year-old mill worker's wife came 11 hours after the body of her son, Stephen, was found in a mill-pound, 800 yards from the modest Komorek home in nearby Clayville.

Coroner Preston R. Clark gave a verdict of accidental death. Authorities said no charge would be placed against Mrs. Komorek.

During hours of steady questioning by state police yesterday, she had clung to her story that the infant was snatched from its bassinet in the kitchen late Friday night by a strange man.

Zut under oath at the coroner's inquest, she broke almost at once.

"Now, Stella, tell us what happened," Dr. Clark said to her. "I dropped my baby," Mrs. Komorek blurted out. "He wiggled right out of my arms. I was feeding him. He fell on his head. His eyes rolled back and he wasn't breathing."

An autopsy established that the child's skull was fractured and that he did not die of drowning.

During the inquest, Mrs. Komorek and her husband, 34, an ex-Marine who works as a machine tender in a paper mill, sobbed uncontrollably.

Crash Victim Recovering

WHEELER — (Special) — Mrs. Anna Sivage received word late last week that her son, who was injured in a plane crash in England, was released from a hospital there last Tuesday.

Earl Sivage, sole survivor of a plane crash Oct. 28, in which four Americans were killed, received severe burns when his clothing caught fire in the crash.

He saved himself by rolling in the mud and water on the takeoff field near London.

Sivage, employed by the Superior Oil Company, has been stationed at Cairo, Egypt, since February. He was co-pilot of the twin-engine amphibian that was used on routine shuttle flights from the Near East.

LOOKING FOR LOAN

TOKYO — (AP) — Growing talk of an early Japanese peace treaty has led Japan's government to believe it will get at least $100,000,000 in long term credit from the United States, the newspaper Asahi said today.

Rita Goes to Switzerland To Await Baby

LAUSANNE, Switzerland — (AP) — Rita Hayworth, the movie star who became a princess by marrying Aly Khan, has come to Lausanne for the birth of her baby expected in the next few weeks.

Rita and Aly arrived from Paris Sunday and went into seclusion in a hotel suite. The hotel management referred all queries to a Lausanne information service which announced the couple would stay in the city until the birth of their child.

Neither could be approached directly for information but Prince Aly confirmed last August that the onetime Hollywood queen was an expectant mother. Rita and Aly were married May 27 on the French Riviera after a courtship that made headlines around the world.

Miss Hayworth has visited Lausanne several times in recent months to consult physicians at the Mont Chosal clinic.

The information service said the couple would stay in Lausanne until the birth of the baby and then go to Gstaad, a fashionable Swiss resort. The family is expected to move about Dec. 15 to a Gstaad chalet rented by Aly.

Jacques Fath, the Paris designer who made Rita's wedding gown, has prepared the actress' maternity wardrobe.

Aly has said the child would be reared as a Moslem. He has two sons by a previous marriage. Miss Hayworth has a daughter from her former marriage to Gordon Welles, the screen and radio actor and producer.

Peace Treaty With Nips May Be Near

MANILA — (AP) — A high Allied occupation source said Gen. Douglas MacArthur expects a peace treaty with Japan to be signed in Tokyo early next year.

This source, who can not be named, said the Allied occupation chief was highly gratified at the progress made since British Foreign Secretary Bevin and U.S. Secretary of State Acheson reportedly reached agreement on all major points during economic discussions in Washington.

Communist China and Russia may be present at the time the victorious World War II allies lay down their terms for defeated Japan's reentry into world affairs — but only if they agree to British-American plans already well developed, this source said.

Any attempt to force the Soviet and Chinese sides to insist on veto power at the peace conference will be rejected, flatly, this official said.

Major points of the proposed treaty, as of this source, include:

1. The treaty officials expect the war will be simple. It will concern only details growing out of the conflict such as damage reparations, terms for future relations with other nations and provisions for maintaining democratic reforms instituted under MacArthur's guidance during the occupation.
2. After conclusion of the treaty, this source said, Japan will be invited to assure herself of security in the Communist have not been completed.

Ask Ouster Of IL Team

AUSTIN — (AP) — A recommendation that Van Horn be ousted from the Interscholastic League will be studied by the League's State Executive Committee Wednesday.

A petition requesting the ouster of Van Horn from the 6-man football officials has been received at the Interscholastic League office here, Director Rodney J. Kidd said.

The recommendation, Kidd said, was on two points: first, a charge of falsification of records; and second, involving conduct of fans and treatment of officials and fans at Van Horn. Kidd said that he would have no comment on the petition until it is studied by the Executive Committee.

by vote of the people or leave it alone. The Constitution now provides for the establishment and operation of retirement systems for its own employees on approval of the voters. The retirement system would be handled by the same state level unit that handles funds for city employees' pension systems. The new amendment does not provide for death benefits such as are included under the independent county retirement, compensation, and death benefit programs.

7. District court proceedings in places other than county seats — this would permit the Legislature to provide for proceedings of the district courts at places other than the county seat in which a case is pending. The Legislature would also be granted broad powers to make such provisions in regards to the terms of court it deems necessary.

8. Rural fire prevention districts — Also an enabling act providing for the establishment and operation of rural fire districts if the voters of any such district approve. Fire prevention is not defined in the act and the Legislature is given broad powers in limiting the district's powers. It lends, however, to establish a fire district within the county, or lesser area, providing for an ad valorem tax of three cents per hundred dollar valuation for purchase of fire fighting equipment making the district independent from relying upon the services of a city fire department.

9. Lunacy trials — The amendment was designed to permit lunacy hearings before a court without a jury and removing the criminal stigma from such a trial. It also provides for an appeal from a judgment of insanity. One big question on the proposed amendment is whether a person of unsound mind is capable of exercising properly his right to a trial by jury or to waive that right.

10. Women jurors — The amendment, if ratified, means simply that women will be permitted to serve on grand and petit juries. Actually, the amendment does not "permit" them to serve, but makes it obligatory to serve the same as men. If the amendment carries, Texas will be the 38th state to have women jurors.

At the bottom of the ballot, following the 10th proposed amendment, are the names of John H. Harnly and Dick Bivins, candidates for the State Board of Education election.

By absentee voting deadline Friday only 25 ballots were registered by County Clerk Charlie Thut for Tuesday's election.

Player Injured

BREASPORT — (AP) — D. L. Ashley, Kigore Junior College football player, today was still listed in an "serious" condition from a head injury received in Saturday night's game with Lamar Junior College.

Hospital attendants said Ashley's tackle received so violently from a three-hour coma Saturday night that he had to be put back to sleep.

Two Blackmarket Dealers May Lose Money and Time

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Judge James C. Wilson Friday declined to impose sentence on two former Amarillo automobile dealers who pleaded guilty to charges of income tax evasion of more than $70,000.

Judge Wilson said it was a matter of how much money the two owed the government and not a question of punishment.

Harvey E. Southworth, formerly of Amarillo, was charged with the major share of the evasion. William Albert Meyers, the other defendant was formerly associated with him.

Judge Wilson, instead of imposing sentence, declared the question revolved around how much money the two owed the government and ordered U.S. Attorney Potter and John Fullingim, Amarillo attorney representing the two, to submit briefs on the amount due.

Potter told the judge any discrepancy in the amount due was "a civil matter" and Fullingim told the Court it appeared what was in order was for the Court to fix a punishment, "whether a fine or the penitentiary as punishment."

"Punishment?" Judge Wilson queried, oh, no. Under the circumstances it is not a question of punishment." He said tax matters were set by law.

Southworth and Meyers were released after court adjourned.

The two in pleading guilty waived indictment by a federal grand jury and venue as the case was within Dallas jurisdiction as that was where the alleged erroneous returns were filed.

Fullingim stated in court his clients had withheld certain sums from their income tax returns in 1943 and 1944 because they were selling cars at over-ceiling prices in violation of the world to use gas for capital punishment.

Q—Did Robert Ingersoll, the well-known lecturer, serve in the Civil War?

A—Ingersoll served during the Civil War as a colonel.

Texas Third in Farm Income

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Texas ranked third in the nation with $1,277,763,000 in farm income this year, the Department of Agriculture said.

However, Mid-Westerners who generally get the biggest chunk of the farm income have found dollars harder to make.

Farm income for January through September this year was lower in every Mid-Western state than for the corresponding 1948 period.

The national trend was downward, too. Total 1949 income for nine months was $19,025,967,000, compared with $20,743,776,000 for the similar period in 1948.

Iowa led the nation, with cash receipts of $1,426,928,000.

California was runner-up with $1,347,800,000. Illinois was fourth with $1,172,688,000. Other reports included:

Oklahoma $437,662,000; Arkansas $296,776,000 and Louisiana $202,829,000.

Informal Tea in Shamrock Honors Club Woman, Mrs. James A. Allen

SHAMROCK — (Special) — To introduce Mrs. James A. Allen, president of the Seventh District, Federation of Women's Clubs, an informal tea was held at the home of Mrs. E. K. Caperton with Mrs. Temple Atkins as co-hostess.

Chrysanthemums in autumn shades decorated the rooms. In the dining room bowls of yellow roses and fern were used in decorations. Mrs. Louis Hill and Mrs. William F. Holmes presided.

Members of the Athenaeum Club assembled early for an address by the honor guest.

Mrs. Allen's theme for the year is "Building a Better Community." She voiced the hope that each Federated Club in every community of the district would strive toward making it a better place in which to live. Her definition of a woman's club is "An organized group of women in every community who can be depended upon to promote a movement looking toward the betterment of life."

She continued "Where there is no local awareness of progress there is no pride in growth. The most important thing of all for club women is to bring to their communities the knowledge that the greatness of a free nation stems from the bottom up, from the independent and free thinking people of the communities. For, as the community is, so will the state be, and as the state is, so will our nation be."

About sixty members of the Times Study Club, Forum, Thursday, Literary, Thursday Fine Arts, and Athenaeum Club, registered during the receiving hours.

Mom's Selfishness Is Sometimes Boon to Family

By ALCIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Sometimes a little selfishness on the part of "Mom" can go a long way toward keeping a family well adjusted and happy.

Parents always want the very best in life for their children. This shouldn't mean, however, that the bread-winner in the family goes about with a threadbare coat while Junior races the fastest toy automobile in the neighborhood.

There are young mothers who tearfully admit they've had nothing new to wear in years because the budget won't allow for new clothes. These self-denying moms, however, find room in the same budget for elaborately frilled dresses for their pre-kindergarten youngsters, though tiny children are happier and healthier in simple, comfortable clothes.

All parents should squeeze out of family routine and responsibilities, just a bit, to find time to express their own personality. They owe it to themselves to do the things they want to do, to learn and practice the adult-way of enjoying life. This might mean that Mom takes music lessons, and Junior, who hates the piano anyhow, doesn't. It might mean that Father repaints and refinishes old furniture for the children's room so there is money available to pay for his tuition at night school.

Children prefer having fun with their folks to having expensive toys, elaborate clothes and better "advantages."

Mothers and fathers who ignore their own needs and interests in order to indulge and spoil their children are making two big mistakes. First, they will be terribly alone and without outside interests when the children grow up and leave home, as children will — and should.

Secondly, spoiled children are apt to have a hard time adjusting to the hard realities of the work-a-day world away from home where they have to give-and-take—not just take.

Tideland Rents Still Due State

AUSTIN — (AP) — Rental payments on Texas tideland oil leases called still the state regardless of federal litigation against the state's claim to the land, the attorney general held.

In an opinion requested by State Land Commissioner Bascom Gillies, Attorney General Price Daniel said that a state law extending "obligations" under state oil leases when the leases are involved in a suit does not apply to annual delay rentals on the 315 state oil leases covering 386,355 acres in the Gulf of Mexico.

Well-Planned Ranch-Type House Is Easily Expanded

An expandable house will solve the problem of a small family requiring more space in a few years but whose financial means at the moment limit the present size of the house.

More familiar type of expandable house is the four-room Cape Cod house with attic which can be finished later, but expansion need not be limited to this design. The one-story ranch-house can be expanded to a three- or four-bedroom structure almost as easily as the Cape Cod.

An expandable house must be first planned as a complete unit the way the owner wants it to appear eventually. It is then separated into its logical parts and the sequence of additions determined, always with the thought in mind that the house must be complete in appearance and function at each step.

The basic unit must provide all facilities for the normal life of a small family, including living room, bedroom, bath, dining area, kitchen, storage space, heating and laundry facilities. Some rooms can serve two purposes.

Additions should be designed so that there is little disturbance to the family while new building is in progress, so that no space is wasted, and so that there is always convenient traffic flow from room to room.

Openings to later additions should be framed for their final purpose when the basic house is built, such as installation of a window in the space framed for a future door. Pipes, ducts and wiring needed for future additions should be roughed into the basic house to save money on ripping out and rebuilding. Mineral wool insulation can be installed at low cost in each section of the house as it is added.

Frame construction lends itself best to low-priced additions, and although the cost of building a house in several stages ordinarily is slightly more than building it all at once, careful planning will hold down costs.

The increased over-all cost is usually offset by savings in maintenance, interest, taxes and insurance between the time of building the basic unit and the later additions. The owner also will benefit from a decrease in construction costs between the two stages.

Before planning an expandable house, the owner should carefully examine zoning ordinances and restrictions in deeds because these may control the size and price of the house. Many communities prohibit small houses. Conversely, an expandable house should not be erected in a neighborhood of small homes where the completed house would overshadow the other houses, as this has a tendency to lower its value in event of sale.

Roof Skimping For Home Deserve Careful Selection

A young couple planning to build a new home should make plans with an eye toward future as well as present needs, home planning specialists advise.

For persons with ample bank accounts that should be a simple matter. For others it presents a problem, the solution to which lies principally in flexibility of the house plans and choice of quality materials.

The layout of the home should be such that it will accommodate itself to the changing needs of the family through the years. Changes in the family group and its activities dictate varying arrangements within the home.

Ideally, certain rooms should be adaptable to multiple uses. In a well planned home, for example, "teen" agers can entertain in one area of the house without disturbing the rest of the family.

Selection of quality materials for a home is important because such materials not only provide more satisfactory service but they add to the resale value of the dwelling. For such permanent parts as the flooring, for instance, it pays to install hardwood. Properly maintained, hardwood floors last the life of a house and enhance its interior attractiveness.

Real estate men point out that most prospective buyers list hardwood floors among the features they most desire in a home.

Consult the youngster when planning the colors to be used in decorating the room. Let him select his own pictures. Give the room an added touch of individuality by inserting the child's name as part of the design in the asphalt tile floor. Letters of the alphabet are available in separate tiles to harmonize with the floor colors. If the room is occupied by two children, put each child's name in asphalt tile letters at the foot of their respective beds.

Asbestos roofing shingles may be considered a form of reinforced concrete, with the asbestos fibers serving as the reinforcing agent. They are available in a number of patterns and colors. Because of their attractive textures and a deep shadow lines they make roofs of outstanding beauty.

A number of companies now are making asbestos shingles of the multiple-unit type. Each shingle covers the area of several ordinary shingles. When applied, however, they give the appearance of standard sized shingles individually laid.

Asbestos shingles can be used on new roofs or for re-roofing over old shingles.

Builders agree that a sound, weatherproof roof is one of the most important parts of a house. It is never good judgment, they say, to attempt to economize by using inferior roofing materials; a little extra money spent here will pay big dividends over the years.

Among the materials frequently recommended for long life and resistance to severe weather and climatic conditions are asbestos cement shingles. Made of two non-combustible ingredients, asbestos fibers and portland cement, they are immune to rot and decay. In addition to being fireproof, they are unharmed by long exposure to salt air, ice, snow and rain.

BUILDING NEWS

THE COLBY has plans which call for a particularly low roof line. The plans also specify that the exterior of The Colby be brick veneered. The combination of these two special features provides this house with extra sturdiness.

The floor plan of The Colby includes three bedrooms. Every one of the three bedrooms is equipped with a generous amount of closet space. There is a comfortable living room and a kitchen provided with ample dining area.

There is convenient closet space in The Colby. The front vestibule of The Colby is furnished with a large, handy coat closet. There is a linen closet as well as a general storage closet located in the bedroom hall. The kitchen is provided with a large general storage closet and there is also a pot and pan cabinet situated next to the refrigerator. The combination kitchen and dining room has cross ventilation.

The main body of The Colby is 28 feet by 26 feet. The Colby's plan ends for a full basement. The plan covers an area of 1,170 square feet. There is a volume of 88,391 cubic feet.

For further information about THE COLBY, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Dramatic Wall Hues Are To Make Style News

By LYNN HARDESTY
NEW YORK — Brighter and bolder room wall colors are significant trend this season. This is indicated by the array of decorated interiors in leading New York stores, and in the private work of top-flight interior decorators.

Dramatic contrasts will be seen with greater frequency, rather than the hitherto prevalent close harmonies.

One influence for this new fashion is the chromatic beauty of this year's decorative textiles. Leading the gray procession of many homing hues is a new bright red which resembles a Chinese vermilion or a scarlet. It has, for instance, been used to great advantage on the painted hearth wall of a living room in a contemporary style country house.

Mores frequently it appeared as an accent color in alcoves or for interiors of bookshelves. This brilliant red is especially prominent in drapery and upholstery. When it covers a sofa or an easy chair it leads, naturally, to the choice of other bright colors for the walls. The entrance hall of a smartly decorated suburban house with this red in a carpet has the walls painted in a rich clear blue.

Citron and pale mustard are other colors which, it is predicted, many home-makers will use this year — to judge from their popularity with leading decorators. These hues are especially useful on walls of rooms which need brightening up. They are correct with either contemporary or period styles of furniture. This season's blue — effective for walls — is a clear, soft color that has no purplish cast.

If you want a sophisticated wall color, try chocolate or cocoa brown. It is especially effective in modern or semi-modern interiors. Ultra-fashionable is a very dark shade, although the medium tones are generally seen. Often a dark brown is used for an end or a side wall with the other walls in different and brighter hues.

Copper is another color working up toward the top of the list of smart wall hues. Such a distinctive color, of course, needs carefully selected hues in the room furnishings to bring out its delicate character.

For an unusual decorative effect, try one of the lavenders in vogue this year. There is a choice of a true, old-style lavender or a pale violet, a lilac or one of the several mauves starting with a very pale mulberry.

Even Bathroom Can Be Brighter

Use stripes in floor and draperies to contrast with the plain colors of bathroom walls and bring cheerful brightness into this room.

Paint the curlicues of the wire frame of an old-fashioned soda-fountain chair in a color to harmonize with or match the walls. For the chair make a seat cushion and cover it with gaily-striped plastic. Vivid scarlet stripes will harmonize with most wall colors.

Get away from the conventional, uninteresting floor and install asphalt tile flooring using narrow strips of this moisture-proof, easy-to-clean material to form diagonal stripes.

Built-In Buffet Is Space Saver

To save valuable space in the dining area, build in a sill-height buffet beneath a group of two or three windows the full width of the windows. Place glass shelves across the windows on which to display china and prized glassware. Use the top of the buffet for display of large pottery and silver pieces. Hang narrow draperies no wider than the window frames they are to cover. Give the room a smart, modern appearance by installing a black asphalt tile floor divided into 3-foot squares by white stripes of the material 2 inches wide, and use no rugs.

Small Entrance Hall Can Be Made Cheery

Light the small entrance hall brightly with an overhead fixture. Pastel walls will make this small space appear larger, but the color should match or harmonize with the rooms opening from the hall. Install black asphalt tile flooring with diagonal inch-wide white stripes of the material 18 inches apart for a smart, modern effect. This will permit the elimination of small rugs which often constitute a slipping hazard.

If a stairway ascends from the hallway, overcome the blankness of this large wall space by hanging small pictures at eye-level above the second, sixth and tenth steps. Use a black stair-runner to match the asphalt tile floor of the hall.

First permanent white settlement in Pennsylvania was made by the Swedes in 1683.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hazas—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: General "Vinegar Joe" Stillwell started one of the major sports at West Point. Which one was it?

THE TOWN HAS NOW RECOVERED SUFFICIENTLY from the weekend's football game to understand the full meaning of the 20-12 licking handed the Amarillo Sandies. Not only does it give the big Panhandle power it worst season in a long while, but it helps pave the way for a district 1-A championship for the fighting Pampa Harvesters.

Two games remain on the Harvesters' regular season schedule. On Friday afternoon of this week, Armistice Day, they travel to Plainview to meet the upsetting Bulldogs, who knocked off the Harvesters Saturday. Then the season on Thanksgiving, at Borger.

Mr. Putt Powell, of one of the Amarillo papers, stated last week that Pampa could not win because they were completely outweighed. He wondered how the little 140-pounders of the Harvesters were going to be able to stop the big, bustling, husky Sandies.

Mr. Powell said Pampa could not win because they lacked the depth of material that Coach Lynch had sitting on his bench. Mr. Powell said Pampa could not win because they had no one to combat the speed of Jack Newby.

Mr. Powell said that the Harvesters could not win with just spirit and fight. Perhaps Mr. Powell will now have a change of heart.

Mr. Powell told Amarillo fans not to worry about the game. He wasn't, his golf game was at its best. Mr. Powell would have made me eat my words. I hope that these are tasty. Putt. Perhaps now, in your old age, you will have a bit more respect for a fighting spirit.

The Pampa coaches deserve a lot of credit for the fine season's showing so far of the Harvesters. They will be on hand tonight for the regular weekly meeting of the Pampa Football Club. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the County Court Room. Come on down and meet them.

Back in the game Saturday

Upsets Hard on the Coaches, Writers

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS — (AP) — This is the time of the year when coaches develop ulcers on their ulcers and sports writers become the darlings of the psychiatrists.

This is the upsettingest time of Southwest Conference football of which there is none whither. The fans of the nation got a sample of it Saturday when Texas as A&M, working like mad to develop character, knocked a hole in Southern Methodist's chances of finishing in a respectable place in the standings with a glorious 27-27 tie.

The Aggies had won one game this year—from Texas Tech. And who hadn't beaten Tech? It knocked SMU out of the nation's top 10 and virtually wrecked its bowl chances.

Then there was that thing at Austin where thrice-beaten Texas kicked over undefeated untied Baylor 20-0.

Down through the years, the Southwest Conference can probably claim more upsets than any other region. In the past decade only twice has the title favorite come through but it's the private feuds that cause all the ulcers and padded cell batt.

T. PARTY—Illinois is off and running as Bernie Krueger hands ball to halfback Johnny Karras while fullback Bert Schmidt, left, and Dick Kalkovits carry out fakes in dress rehearsal.

Linemen Snare Schoolboy Star of the Week Honors

DALLAS — (AP) — A center and a guard shared starring honors with back Sammy Morrow of Paris in Schoolboy football last week.

The Dallas News' weekly roundup of "Schoolboy Stars" singled out center James Duncan of Marshall, guard Darrell Latifite of Port Arthur and Morrow for top mention.

Duncan kicked a field goal and two extra points and turned in a fine defensive game as Marshall beat Texarkana, 29-7.

Latifite recovered two fumbles, intercepted a pass and returned it 31 yards, and played a stellar defensive game as Port Arthur beat South Park of Beaumont, 34-7.

Morrow scored three touchdowns, passed for another and kicked one extra point as Paris beat Sherman, 39-14.

Others singled out for praise included: Jack Newby, Amarillo back; called "most outstanding man on field ever in defeat," Newby gained 126 yards on 16 rushing attempts as his team lost a 20-to-12 decision to Pampa.

Sam Ward, Laredo end; scored one touchdown on a 56-yard pass against Robstown, caught three more during game for total gain of 60 yards. He also returned a punt 40 yards and stopped everything that came around his side of the line although his team lost by a score of 19 to 14.

Freddie Muniz, Harlingen back; scored two touchdowns, one on a 52-yard run, in leading his team to a 19-to-6 victory over San Benito.

Bill Henderson, Gainesville back; threw two touchdown passes, one good for 63 yards, and passed 19 yards to set up another in 286-to-14 win from Ennis. He also scored one touchdown in a run, and accounted for a total of 170 yards with his running and passing.

Elbert Berry, Corsicana back; leading ground-gainer as the Tigers downed Waxahachie, 47 to 13. Berry accounted for three Corsicana touchdowns and played a great defensive game.

Cotton Mills, Port Arthur back; carried 13 times for 191 yards rushing and two touchdowns, intercepted two passes, returned four punts for 88 yards over South Park Mills, a 17-to-6 Senior, has scored fifteen touchdowns in eight games, gaining 1,074 yards rushing in 151 carries.

Sammy Ethridge, Greenville back; raced 66 yards on a fake punt for a touchdown, a pass in midst of four defenders and broke loose for 35 yards to complete a 44-yard scoring play in addition to playing great defensive game in Greenville's 25-to-13 victory over South Park Mills.

Billy Hubbard, Lufkin back; gained 108 yards in 21 rushing attempts, made 48 yards on kick returns and 37 on pass receptions as Lufkin beat Bryan, 14 to 0.

Thirty-five players will be carried to the spring base. First of 12 or 15 exhibition games to be scheduled will be March 12 with Robstown of the Rio Grande Valley League.

Goff revealed that Dallas has signed a player agreement with the Chickasha club of the Class D Sooner League. Last year Dallas placed infielder Charlie Watts with Chickasha for seasoning. He will be taken to the spring camp this year.

Snead Victor In N-S Open

PINEHURST, N. C. — (AP) — For a long time now the locker room gentry has been saying that when Sammy Snead is putting, nobody playing golf today can beat him.

The balding, 37-year-old PGA champion from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was putting Friday as he put on a whirlwind finish to sprint home a six-stroke winner in the North and South Open tournament after clinging grimly to the lead by one stroke through the first three rounds.

The Slammy biased around the No. 2 Pinehurst Country Club course in six-under-par 66 on his final tour of its 6,832-yards. This followed earlier rounds of 68-70 and left him with 274, fourteen under par, and only three above the record Ben Hogan set in 1942.

Johnny Bulla, always a stroke behind through the first three rounds, when he had 69-70, finished with 71 for 280 and second place. The Pittsburgh pro, now playing from Southern Pines, N. C., was eight under par although beaten by six strokes.

Third place went to National Open king Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, now representing an Ormond Beach, Fla., club. He was never over par for his four rounds, closing with 72-71 for 283.

Aggie Star's Father Dies

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — E. R. Whittaker, 59, father of Texas A&M football end Wray Whittaker, died of a heart attack shortly after seeing A&M and Southern Methodist play a 27-27 tie Saturday.

Whittaker, a clerk for the Humble Oil & Refining Company at Houston, died in his son's apartment here. He had become ill during the game but saw its thrilling fourth quarter.

He died at about 5 p.m. Other survivors include the widow, another son, Riley Whittaker, Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. C. R. Hirschfield, all of Houston.

Tickets Gone

DALLAS — (AP) — Tickets available to the public for the Cotton Bowl Game Jan. 2 have been oversubscribed by better than 50,000.

P. C. Cobb, ticket manager, said Saturday that the public sale that closed Friday midnight brought 24,000 applications each probably seeking the maximum of four tickets allowed per customer. There are some 24,900 tickets available for the public.

A drawing will be held Thursday to determine the order in which applications will be filled.

Burnett Drops Hotel

GLADEWATER — (AP) — Dick Burnett, owner of the Dallas baseball club, has withdrawn a tentative pledge of $20,000 toward a new 100-room hotel for Gladewater.

Burnett said he was withdrawing his offer because he thought efforts would be useless toward raising the needed money unless

Sports Round-Up

NEW YORK — (AP) — Stan Lambert, a football coach at Lamar College in Texas, protests that the current substitution rule makes it too hard to call plays from the bench. They have to risk their jobs, says Stan, by trusting this duty to a green kid.

One is how to accept responsibility. Another is sportsmanship. In the football rules coaching from the sidelines is termed "unsportsmanlike conduct" and calls for a 15-yard penalty.

After reading raves from an alumnus about a schoolboy prospect who "passes like Bobby Heernschmeyer, hits the line like Pete Pihos and can dance down the field like Billy Hillenbrand," Coach Clyde Smith of Indiana U. suggested he'd like to see the lad.

Instead of looking the kid over when he arrived, Smith, who stands five feet seven, looked over him. That was enough. Later the coach remarked: "He could have chinned himself on my desk."

A PAGE OF FAIGE

Hollywood is considering making a movie of the life of Satchell Faige. If that goes through, it's a cinch old Satch will have to play the lead himself.

They couldn't make up another pair of legs to resemble his. The Braves will set and Bruce Drake nearly had heart failure before ordering non-slip mats.

POST MORTEM

Quotes collected after recent football games: Wallace Wade, after Duke vs. Georgia Tech—"I guess this squad has realized its potentialities better than any I ever have coached."

Bernie Bierman, after Minnesota lost to Purdue: "We're going to have some fun about playing now."

Frank Leahy, after the Navy runaway when someone asked if Notre Dame was the best team in the country: "I'd rather wait until the season is over, because if I say such a thing now, it may permeate to the squad and disintegration would set in."

The 1950 American Bowling Congress tournament already has been extended seven days because of the flood of reservation requests.

Don Black, who may try a pitching comeback next spring, and Frank Pappis are working as season-ticket salesmen for the Cleveland Indians this fall.

Babe Ruth and His Bat Made Nonentities Of Other Yankees; Meusel Tells of Babe

BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Long Bob Meusel dropped in, and the old Yankees started talking about Babe Ruth.

When old Yankees gather, they always talk about the Bam. "Someone may hit 61 home runs in a season, but there'll never be another Ruth," said Meusel, who comes closest to anybody we know of being baseball's forgotten man.

The big Los Angeles high school lad, who came out of the Arizona copper mines to be Ruth's principal sparring partner, dropped out of sight quicker than any extraordinary ballplayer we can recall.

Col. Jacob Ruppert purchased Ruth from the Red Sox and young Meusel from the old Vermont club of the Pacific Coast League the same day in early 1920, and Miller Huggins went to Los Angeles to sign the pair.

Ruppert paid $128,000 for Ruth, $10,000 and six players for Meusel.

The man destined to become the Sultan of Swat got a contract calling for $20,000. Freshman Meusel was paid $5000.

Ruth soared on to $90,000 in 1920-21. The most Meusel ever collected was $13,800, but you could keep it, and that was important money in those days.

Colonel Ruppert built the Yankee dynasty with Ruth and Meusel.

Pennants came in clusters of three — in 1921-22-23 and '26-27-28.

Ruth and Meusel got along like Billy Talbert and Gardner Mulvey in tennis. They thought alike, played together off the field as well as on Meusel was perhaps closest to the immortal Bambino.

He introduced him to Christy Walsh, who became his business manager. He called Ruth Herman, and Herman addressed him as Bambone.

Meusel, a screeching right-hander hitting six feet two-and-three-quarter inches and weighing 200 pounds, hit ahead and left and right. Anything to oblige, and be able to play.

Stories of Meusel's throwing feats have become legendary. Ruth and Lou Gehrig and after that.

Because Ruth disliked the sun, Meusel alternated between. Like all other Yankees, Meusel considers the 1927 edition the best he ever played with or saw. He hit .340 that trip, when Murderer's Row consisted of Combs, Koenig, Ruth, Gehrig, Meusel, Lauer, and Dugan.

But when Ruth was with the Yankees, the remainder of the class were little more than nonentities, Meusel points out. The big fellow was so great, stood out to that extent.

Long Bob Meusel . . . then and now.

Meusel, a screeching right-hander hitting six feet two-and-three-quarter inches and weighing 200 pounds, hit ahead and left and right. Anything to oblige, and be able to play.

Stories of Meusel's throwing feats have become legendary. Ruth and Lou Gehrig and after that.

But when Ruth was with the Yankees, the remainder of the class were little more than nonentities, Meusel points out. The big fellow was so great, stood out to that extent.

And when he finds a starry-eyed prospect, he'll tell him about Babe Ruth.

About 500 Teams to Play In Girls Basketball League

By WILBUR MARTIN

Associated Press Staff

An estimated 500 teams are expected to compete for the High School Girls' Basketball League of Texas Championship this year. That would be the biggest field seeking a single title in all of Texas' vast sports setup.

L. C. McKemie, school superintendent at Gatesville and state director of the girls' league, thinks there will be 500 teams entered in the 1949-50 race by the Nov. 1 deadline.

Last year, 65 schools applied after the deadline for filing entries and had to be turned down.

Girls' basketball has grown tremendously since the league was organized in 1939. It's gotten so big, that the state tournament this year will be shifted from Hillsboro. The gym in the cradle of girls' basketball in Texas just isn't big enough to accommodate the crowds.

Frosh Battle For Chest Fund

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas Christian University's of Texas Freshman football teams will battle on the neutral ground Friday afternoon.

Their Armistice Day clash will be sponsored by the Community Chest at Taylor.

The Polywogs are unbeaten in three starts, having downed the Baylor Cubs, 13-7, the Texas A&M Fish, 21-9, and the Rice Slimes, 28-12.

The Shortorns stopped Rice's Freshmen, 33-20; bowed to Southern Methodist's Colts, 12-13; then bounced the Cubs, 28-6.

Cowboys Ride on Baylor's Bears

DENVER — (AP) — The Wyoming Cowboys ride Southwest this week to take reckless chances with the Rocky Mountain region's only perfect football record.

Wyoming meets Baylor Saturday at Waco, Texas, and its record of eight consecutive victories, including the 103-0 stampede last weekend over Colorado State, is likely to be snapped.

Coach Bowden Wyatt plans to keep the Cowpokes in Texas for several days, where they can work out under a Southwestern sun for the Thanksgiving Day game with Denver in which they hope to win the Skyline Six title. Blizzards are the rule in Wyoming this time of the year.

General Chairman Lloyd George would not say which teams now are being considered, but committees are visiting the cities where possible participants are located.

Ticket applications will be accepted beginning Nov. 19. The game will be an afternoon affair at Ross Memorial Stadium which seats 15,000.

Kleiner's Kotnet

By DICK KLEINER

NEA Staff Correspondent

Michigan beating Minnesota further scrambled the Big Nine picture. It's a question which team will go to Pasadena.

The path to the Rose Bowl is strewn with thorns.

There was a time when the Big Nine wouldn't accept a ny bowl bids.

In those days, it was the Big Nine.

Nowadays, it's the Big Yah.

Here's another all-star team. These boys do it up brown:

LE—Brown, Davidson
LT—Brown, Penn State
LG—Brown, Vanderbilt
C—Brown, Georgia Tech
RC—Brown, Utah
RT—Brown, Tennessee
RE—Brown, Villanova
QB—Brown, Army
HB—Brown, Franklin & Marshall
FB—Brown, Duke
FB—Brown, College of Pacific

Wouldn't that team tan the opposition!

Incidentally, there are no Browns on Brown, but there are two Whites, tackle and end, and a Green, fullback.

Sounds discriminatory.

a question of mind over mat.

One of those scripts is a fascinating piece of literature to study. It goes something like this:

Wrestler A: Ouch!
Wrestler B: Ah, ha!
A: No, no, no.
B: Ah, ha, ha.
A: Ooooooh.
And so on for about an hour.

Wrestling writers have turned out masterpieces in their time. Among their plays are Beat Two - Out Of Three - Fat Staff, Of Mouse and Men, Pins and Needles, The Headlock Horseman, As You Lock It, Half-Nelson and Lady Hamilton and Midsummer Night's Scream. (Written by No-Holds-Barred of Avon.)

Wrestling is such a fine dramatic act nowadays that they shouldn't bill bouts as best two-out-of-three falls, but best two-out-of-three acts.

Bill DeWitt announced that all the St. Louis Browns of more than 28 are for sale or trade. The theory, undoubtedly, is that an old Brownie gets stale.

They used to say, kiddingly, that Dizzy Dean was as nutty as a fruit cake. Dizzy's wife, Pat, is now running a fruit cake company at Lucas, Ark.

The thing seems to run in the family.

There was to be no more boxing shows in Cleveland until the steel strike ended. The city, a big steel town, found attendance way down.

Being down the picket line kept them off the ticket line.

They still had SRO signs in Cleveland, but instead of meaning Standing Room Only, they stood for Strikes Ruined Operations.

A Huddersfield, England, golfer died and asked that he be cremated and his ashes scattered over the Crossland Heath course. His wish was carried out.

For him, the crossing of the bar was the final crossing of the par.

The CAMEO

By Virginia Teale Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

PERCHED on the platform of a tall stepladder, Hagar Blair found her eyes level with the long, narrow window near the ceiling of her storeroom. As she gazed outward, her strong, tanned fingers fumbled with a useless pencil, passing the ruptured point idly across the face of the inventory pad propped on her knees.

She had called for extra pencils, and presumed that Stephanie, her young assistant in the Three Wishes Gift Shop, was getting them. "From Timbuktu, probably," she muttered.

Hagar had been pleased at the prospect of helping a struggling young writer, she had pictured consultations, the coffee and camaraderie, but the girl hadn't entered into the spirit of the thing. She never brought her writings to Hagar for advice or criticism, she was downright secretive about her writings.

"Great graven gods! Are you getting those pencils, Stephanie?" Stephanie glided in, her walk much swifter than usual, her crystal-blue eyes much wider. Her slender hands with their short, pale nails were clasped lightly in front of her—and she carried no pencils!

Hagar promptly started down the stepladder with jerky movements of her bony, slack-chad legs. Stephanie had put a finger across her lips: "He's out there," she whispered. "The man Nell O'Neill's always with!"

"That Martin Falter?" Hagar frowned. "So what? So it's Martin Falter," she whispered back. "He's been in here before—you've seen him before. Don't tell me you've fallen for that fur-trimmed old renegade!"

She brushed past Stephanie and went out to confront the visitor. She rapped her fists into her pockets as she advanced, while Falter stood, his head bent over the cabinet containing her collection of cameos.

They faced each other in the manner that had become typical of their encounters—wordless, and with the uncompromising attention of a pair of unacquainted dogs.

Hagar stood, inwardly raging, while Falter's narrowed eyes swept over her figure. Helplessly, she sensed what he was looting up: "Thin body, lean chest—made even leaner by her black, pullover jersey—shapely hips in shapeless black slacks, and the whole composition topped by her uncontrollable gray hair."

"Well, all right!" she burst out. "So I look like an up-ended floor mop! What do you want?"

Her eyes fastened disdainfully on the black, curling hair revealed by his open collar. The man was so perdition vain about his virility that he wouldn't even button his shirt against the wind! Grudgingly, her sculptor's eye went over his wide shoulders, flat stomach and slim hips. Not bad for his age—he must be 46 or so.

He gave her what he probably thought of as a charming smile. "You'll be more cordial, Hagar, when I tell you why I've come."

HE turned and let his glance range through the cameo cabinet: "Nice collection. From what I hear in the breeze, though, there is much more of it, much rarer items, right?"

"Miss Blair has come from all over the world." Hagar and Falter glanced at Stephanie who suddenly had arrived beside them. Hagar appeared annoyed; Falter, detached and contemplative.

"This one," the girl continued, pointing out a carnelian, "came from Florence. It has an unusual double engraving. If you'll look closely—"

Hagar picked up the box and opened it. "Hey!" she couldn't control her amazement. "Where did you get hold of this?"

Hagar jerked, making a kind of empty grab in Stephanie's direction. "Oh, po! Stop with that summertime spiel, girl. Falter's not interested in cameos!" Falter grinned and in a leisurely way took a cigarette from a pigskin case and lit it. He reached into his jacket pocket and brought out a silver box about four inches across its gently rounded top. With an elaborate gesture, he placed it on the glass surface of the cabinet and stepped to one side.

Hagar strode over, picked it up and opened it. "Hey!" she couldn't control her amazement and delight. "Great lords of creation, man! Where did you get hold of this?"

Martin Falter picked a small sherd of tobacco from the end of his tongue.

"I thought it would give you a job. Even the great unwashed like me have heard of the extent of your collection. But I still say you don't own anything to compare with this."

HAGAR angrily faced his triumphant smirk: "I still want to know where you got this. Steal it?"

She watched Falter's grin fade while his pale eyes turned the girl's metallic color of a dead fish. "I can't give that remark," he told her, "because I realize it would be entirely possible for you to steal—if the loot were a rare cameo like this. But, sorry to disappoint you, I came by the pin honestly. For, well, let's say: services rendered."

There was a shattering crash as something hit the tile floor. Hagar spun around and saw Stephanie staring down at a few bright-colored fragments that once had been a della Robbia vase. One of the girl's hands was poised in mid-air over the silver box on the cabinet.

Hagar clasped her hands prayerfully and looked up at the ceiling, then turned an exasperated face to Stephanie.

"You realize my girl what that service cost us?" Stephanie bent miserably to gather the pieces: "I was dusting freedom before the Board of Pardons and Paroles. He wants to get out of the Tennessee State Prison and begin life anew, he said, in Big Spring, Texas, where a taxicab company has offered him a job. Last month Grandstaff, serving a life term as a habitual criminal, was granted a six-day leave from prison walls to be guest of honor at Big Spring's centennial celebration. There he heard his prison-cell cantata sung for the first time.

The West Texas town had inspired the 70-page composition, "Big Spring Cantata." The prisoner flew to Big Spring under technical guard for the gala event. Now, he told the board, he wants to return there for keeps and take his 71-year-old mother with him.

He pleaded that his long list of crimes did not include a single major one. Grandstaff's 20 convictions were chiefly on charges of larceny.

The board took his case under advisement. It can only recommend action to Gov. Gordon Browning, and it promised a decision soon—this week, maybe.

When Grandstaff returned here after his Texas holiday, the Governor indicated he did not favor a pardon for the man who wrote his cantata on the walls of his cell while in solitary confinement.

When he finished pleading his case Thursday, the bespectacled Grandstaff sat down at a piano and played parts of the cantata. Then he tossed in two new compositions for good measure—"Big Spring Girls" and "Big Spring Trail."

Retail Coffee Prices Still Climb Upward

(By The Associated Press) Retail coffee prices continued their climb upward, top grade eggs turned higher after last week's steep price decline, and pork dropped several cents a pound in many stores. Most other foods held about unchanged prices. On the produce shelves the only item generally a little higher was tomatoes, most of which were reaching the big marketing centers from California and Mexico. Celery was down slightly.

The coffee markups amounted in most cases to only two or three cents a pound compared with last week's five to six cents. But the end of the price climb was not yet in sight.

Spokesmen for large coffee roasting concerns said their wholesale selling prices were still several cents a pound behind their coffee bean buying market. Wholesale increases of at least four or five cents a pound are probable by early this week, they said.

The price spiral of recent weeks resulted from production difficulties in the various growing countries.

Several cuts of pork dropped from four to 14 cents a pound. Beef was mostly steady to a few cents a pound higher, and veal and poultry prices wavered uncertainly.

Best grade eggs bounced upward a few cents a dozen in some places after skidding more than 10 cents last week. Trade spokesmen said a slow seasonal price decline was expected to be resumed shortly.

Cauliflower, brussels sprouts, cabbage, kale, spinach and beets all continued low-priced and good in quality. Big-city markets received their first shipments of Texas eggplant last week.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index declined to 55.69, three cents below last week.

Man Is Found Dead in Car

HENRIETTA, Texas.—(AP)—Gus Blakely, 33, mayor of Henrietta, was found dead in his automobile on a Henrietta residential street Saturday.

Justice of the Peace O. D. Worsham withheld an inquest verdict but announced that his tentative verdict was death from heart attack.

Blakely was found in his car about 11:30 a. m. by James Mayo, an employe of the Clay County Leader. Mayo said he noticed the car pulled up to the curb early Saturday. When he came home to Blakely's body.

Deputy Sheriff Tommy Covington said Blakely apparently died while the car was still in motion. He said the ignition switch was still turned on and it appeared the car had stopped when it hit the curb.

He had lived in Henrietta for about 30 years. Blakely was a business partner of V. Lefevre. He was a member of the Board of Education and the Chamber of Commerce in Henrietta.

Survivors include the widow, three daughters, Mrs. Walter Robinson and Mrs. Herbie Seibert of Henrietta, and Mrs. Horace Powers of Borger; two sisters, Mrs. Tom Garper of Dallas and Mrs. Oma Sherman of Chicago, and five grandchildren.

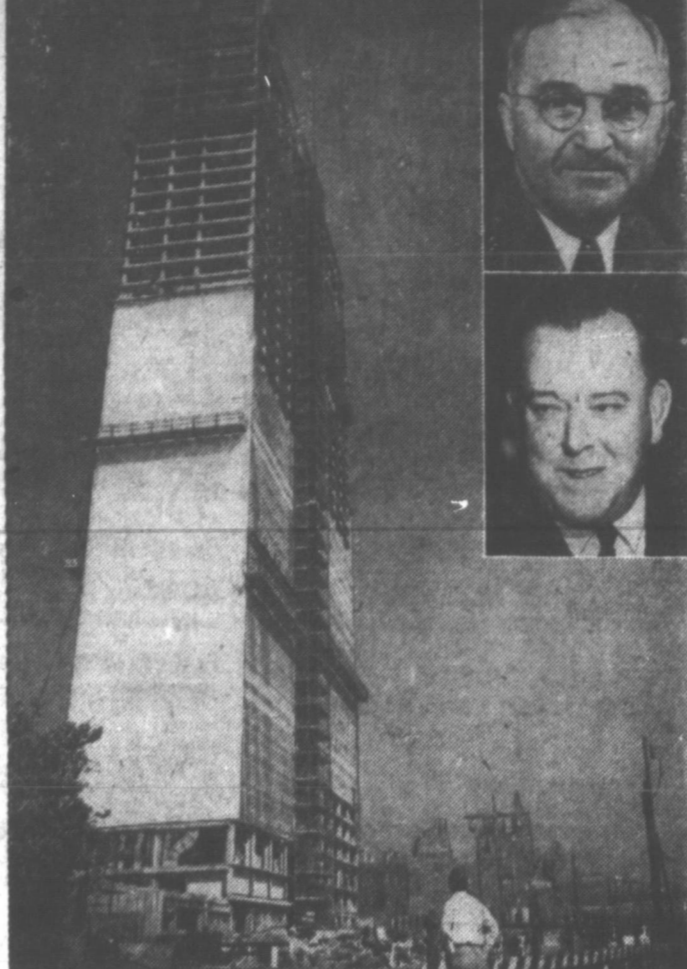

The days when a mole skin hero would break a collar bone for nothing were over. Football became a big business, and it had to function like big business. It had to fork over the going price for the raw material—muscle and speed.

Now the issue appears settled. The institutions that didn't want to go into football on an industrial basis simply had to drop out of the competition. At the University of Chicago they study the debate books. Other ivory towers still keep the turnstiles clicking at the gridiron gate.

The professor labors alone in next wonder drug. But it's the young man who can throw a football who develops the debt on the field house.

Cornerstone Ceremony Marks U.N. Day

United Nations Day—24 October—was celebrated this year by delegates and staff members of U.N. with a cornerstone ceremony for the world organization's permanent headquarters (above), now under construction in New York City. Scheduled as principal participants in the ceremony—marking U.N.'s fourth "birthday"—were President Harry S. Truman of the United States (upper right insert) and U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie (lower right insert).

Old Atmosphere of Moral Outrage Is Missing From Modern Football

NEW YORK.—(AP)—One of the things missing from football this season is the old atmosphere of moral outrage.

The two big controversies of my reportorial youth were: 1. Are wrestling matches fixed in advance? 2. Are college football players subsidized?

Today these two questions seem about as important as the debates among medieval philosophers over how many angels could sit on the point of a pin. Right or wrong, the sports-loving public years ago decided that, yes, most rascal exhibitions are pre-arranged entertainment, with the winner picked ahead of time. And it also has pretty well made up its mind that college football players are subsidized. The only question remaining is whether the right man gets enough.

In the old days groups of annoyed professors, indignant at the realization of the football coach made more than they did, led the attack on the game. They fomented against the payment of college athletes in the form of scholarships, salaries, job sinecures, or gift automobiles from alumni.

It was a losing battle. A losing team can't draw the crowds to pay off the bonds on a stadium, and a winning team can. And in many, many cases college presidents found they had to wink at the subsidization of athletes by coaches and wealthy alumni in order to keep their education factories solvent.

The days when a mole skin hero would break a collar bone for nothing were over. Football became a big business, and it had to function like big business. It had to fork over the going price for the raw material—muscle and speed.

Rainy Days Are Cause Of Dispute

VICTORIA.—(AP)—A USES official said he thought the dispute between Calhoun County farmers and Mexican Contract braceros (laborers) was just a "misunderstanding."

More than 100 complaints charging that Calhoun County farmers defaulted on contracts with Mexican cotton-pickers have been filed with the United States Employment Service, County Agent Joe Lilly said last week.

He said the workers claim they are entitled to $1.75 for each day when rain made it impossible to work the fields. He said that there were about 10 days of rain during the six weeks braceros were employed in the county.

The farmers claim they do not have to pay the $1.75 for rainy days since the braceros worked more than three-fourths of the working days contracted for, Lilly said.

E. R. Speer, regional farm placement representative for the USES, said in Dallas: "We get little old complaints now and then from all over the country. Nine times out of ten when our man looks them up, it's all just a misunderstanding and no dispute at all. I think that's what this is. It will be all over in a day or two."

Cities Service Finals Three In Scurry County

Two producers for the West Seminoole field of Gaines County and a one-location extension to the Dollarhide field of Andrews County were reported last week by Cities Service Oil Co. and Atlantic Refining Co.

The St. Clair No. 2, located at the northeast edge of the Seminoole field, was completed in the San Andres lime at a total depth of 5,170 feet for a potential of 880 barrels of oil daily.

Whitaker A No. 4, at the northwest edge of the Seminoole field, was completed for a potential of 192 barrels of oil daily through a 30-26-inch choke. Total depth and producing formation were the same as the St. Clair well.

The Cowden E No. 2 in Andrews County, was completed dually for a total initial potential of 1,102 barrels of oil daily. Bottomed at 7,990 feet, the well was given a Railroad Commission potential of 310 barrels daily from the Devonian and 792 barrels from the Clear Fork.
