

Four-Year-Old Evelyn, Legless Since Birth, Doesn't Have to Say 'Mummy, Where's My Feet' Any More

SHARPSBURG, Pa. — (AP) — "Mummy, where's my feet?" Sady, Mrs. Sylvia Stypula would explain over and over to her blond, four-year-old daughter Evelyn.

"Baby, God didn't give you any feet."

That would satisfy Evelyn for a while. But then she would see her older sister, Virginia, 6, and her little cousins dancing and running about while she crawled or sat on the floor.

And again she would ask: "Mummy, where's my feet?"

The chubby little girl with the Dutch doll haircut was born with two misshapen stumps for legs. Her left arm ended at the elbow. The fingers of her right hand were deformed.

Last February, Evelyn entered Mercy Hospital for an operation that would enable her to have a normal life. The leg stumps were amputated at the thigh.

On August 15 Evelyn got her feet — a present from the Allegheny County Society for Crippled Children which will buy her all the various sets of legs she will need until she is grown up.

She didn't like the legs because they were uncomfortable at first, but that all changed when she went to a cousin's birthday party.

"For the first time she was able to stand up like the other kids," her mother reported. "After that, she liked them."

Evelyn, four years old Sept. 27, can stand on the legs and can walk if someone holds her hand. Her solo efforts still result in falls but the crippled children's society thinks it can fix that with some walking instructions.

"It will be a merrier Christmas this year," Mrs. Stypula said. "Even though Evelyn is afraid of Santa Claus."

"I don't like his big boots," said little Evelyn who screamed at the sight of a department store Santa.

More Deadly Atomic Weapons To Be Exploded in Secret Tests

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Some more, and probably even more deadly, atomic weapons are going to be exploded by the United States in a secret test. It will be weighty with meaning for Russia and the rest of an A-bomb conscious world.

A joint announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department last night gave the place — the mid-Pacific proving ground in Eniwetok Atoll — but kept secret the time. It said only that tests are "planned."

There was an obvious reason for concealing the month, week or days on which the tests will be made: to foil any attempt by Russian submarines or airplanes to steal close enough to the atoll to make some technically useful observations.

Russia has produced her own atomic explosion. Scientists here believe that Soviet bombs are far behind the new and vastly more powerful designs developed by the United States.

Apparently no foreign visitors, friendly or unfriendly, are wanted at Eniwetok.

The announcement said "full security restrictions as required by the Atomic Energy Act apply to all aspects of test preparations, including the time of the tests." This was interpreted in some quarters to mean that the rigid provisions of the atomic law,

NEW COAL STRIKE IS THREATENING

BULLETIN
NEW YORK — (AP) — John L. Lewis again today postponed a meeting of his United Mine Workers Policy Committee until tomorrow morning—too late to avert a new wide soft coal strike due tonight.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The nation was threatened with a new coal strike at midnight tonight, and only a last minute move by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Policy Committee seemed likely to avert the walkout.

The 200-man committee was scheduled to meet here at 3 p. m. (CST), and Lewis, whose moves the past few days have been shrouded in secrecy, was in New York for the all-important session.

Mine owners were reported standing solidly against any concession, and there was no indication of government intervention.

Reports from Key West, where President Truman is vacationing, said residential advisers appeared.

FBI Agents To Appear At Hearing

NEW YORK — (AP) — Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan today ordered all FBI agents who investigated the Coplon-Gubitchev spy conspiracy case to appear Monday at a hearing to determine whether illegal wire-tapping was used.

The order also told the government to show cause on Monday why all evidence obtained through wire-tapping should not be suppressed and why any indictment obtained by these methods against ex-government girl Eileen Coplon should not be dismissed.

Baker Trial Is Postponed

WHEELER — The rape-sodomy trial of Eugene D. Baker, Canadian railroadman, was postponed this morning in 31st District Court until Dec. 12 by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich who sustained a motion by Defense Counsel Curtis Douglas for continuance.

Baker was indicted along with L. C. McMinn earlier this year on a rape and sodomy charge involving a Canadian waitress, Marjorie Francis Bruton. McMinn stood trial in Miami, was found guilty and sentenced to five years. He is being held in the Gray County Jail pending a possible appeal by his attorneys after Judge Goodrich overruled a motion for a new trial in September.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) today withdrew his plea of not guilty to charges of payroll padding, and threw himself on the mercy of the court.

The 54-year-old legislator changed his plea to one of nolo contendere. That means he does not contest the government's charges.

With this startling development, Judge Alexander M. Holtzoff dismissed a charge against Miss Helen Campbell, former secretary to Thomas. She was accused of conspiring with Thomas to defraud the government through padding of the lawmaker's office payroll.

Holtzoff set Dec. 9 for sentencing of Thomas.

Thomas faces a possible maximum sentence of 22 years in jail and $40,000 in fines.

Findings of the sentencing, Thomas was allowed his continued freedom under his present bond of $1,000.

Holtzoff said that since Miss Campbell seemed to have acted merely as an employe of Thomas, he would dismiss the charges against her.

John R. Fitzpatrick, lawyer for Miss Campbell, had contended at the outset of the trial on Monday that every act of Miss Campbell was under "compulsion" from Thomas due to their employe-employer relationship.

Additions to City's Water System Set

The City Commission yesterday moved to complete the face changing of the city's water supply when it called for bids to enlarge the S. Hobart St. Pump Station to conform with the increased water supply that will soon be flowing from the newly developed field south of town.

Specifications of the project call for enlargement of the present building with a 20 by 34 foot extension on the front facing Hobart; installation of two new high pressure pumps having a maximum capacity of 3,200 gallons per minute; removal of the three-million gallon ground storage tank from the N. Ward Pump Station and installation of two automatic chlorinators — one at each station.

According to the plans the two old pumps will remain in the building to be used for low flows while the two new ones switched on when a high flow are idle. The new ones will be used and the old ones shut down.

The call for bids came on the heels of the installation and present field test running of submersible pumps in the last two wells in the new field.

'Precious Little' Left for Cities By High Agencies

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Mayor De Lesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans told the American Municipal Association today "federal and state taxes are so high that they leave precious little" for cities.

Morrison, AMA president, advocated a "little Hoover commission" to assign fields of taxation and responsibility among the various levels of government.

He asserted the association, which opened its 26th annual meeting today, is "seeking a better life for some 85 million Americans living in urban areas."

Texas Kids Raise Finest Beef in World

CHICAGO — (AP) — A bunch of Texas kids can boast today that they've raised the finest beef animal in the world, the grand champion steer of the 50th Jubilee International Livestock Show. Their rust red white faced Hereford, weighing 1,250 pounds, won the purple ribbon yesterday. The kids are the 43 boys and seven girls of the Pecos County 4-H Club.

The name of the great animal is Judge Roy Bean, Judge Bean—the original, a man—is the almost legendary figure of Texas frontier days who was the law "West of the Pecos."

The Chino Farms of Church Hill, Md., owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sears, showed the reserve, or second place steer, also a Hereford.

The two sleek animals beat out 400 of the best that cattlemen can raise.

The youngsters from Texas are no newcomers to the oval showing at the international amphitheater. Last year their Texo, also a Hereford, was reserve grand champion.

Dr. A. D. Weber, of Kansas State College, Manhattan, chief steer judge of the show, selected the two winning animals.

Weber backs up any Texas talk about the fine cattle. "I doubt," said Weber, "whether there have ever been any finer steers shown anywhere."

HONG KONG — (AP) — Communist forces moved in on Chungking today and reliable reports from Taipei, Formosa, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's headquarters, said the city fell at noon.

Chiang arrived in Chengtu, new Nationalist capital, shortly before noon. He had been leading the defense of Chungking and trying to get acting President Li Tsung-jen to return to China from this British colony.

A dispatch from Chungking to a Chinese newspaper here said 20,000 Red troops crossed the Yangtze at 1 a. m. Tuesday, local time, and entered the outskirts of the third Nationalist capital brought under Communist guns this year. A second Red force occupied Kiangshen, three miles west of Chungking across the confluence of the Yangtze and Kialing Rivers.

Nationalist Navy headquarters said planes and warships had been pounding Red troop and shipping concentrations south of Shanghai for three days. The air-sea attack is an effort to forestall an expected invasion of the Chusan islands, off Hangchow.

These developments came as growing dissatisfaction with the Reds was reported in North China where the Communists have ruled for a year.

In Taipei, Formosa, island headquarters of the Nationalists, concern was expressed for the armies of Gen. Soong Hsi-lin. Soong's troops supposedly are defending the Szechwan-Hunan border but they have not been heard from in 48 hours.

MANY DIE IN AIRLINER CRASH—A propeller of the American Airlines DC-8 which crashed during a landing at Love Field, Dallas, shows up against the burning building through which the Mexico-bound plane crashed. Twenty-eight of the 46 persons aboard died as a result of the pre-dawn accident.

These troops, Taipei headquarters said, bore the brunt of Red Gen. Liu Po-cheng's drive on Chungking.

Four divisions of Chiang Kai-shek's best troops reportedly were airlifted from Northern Szechwan for the defense of Chungking.

Chiang reportedly still was in Chungking leading its defense when Taipei communications with the city were cut at 10 p. m. Tuesday, Chungking time.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson said today American ships enter the Chinese blocked port of Shanghai at their own risk.

Acheson also reported that this government has rejected all requests of the shipping line for American naval convoy.

New Board to Report Needs

AUSTIN — (AP) — A first-hand report on needs of the state's eleemosynary institutions is planned for the Legislature by its newly-created budget board.

At the first meeting of the board yesterday, members called for Chairman and Acting Lieutenant Gov. C. Morris to name subcommittees of one senator and one representative each to visit each of the institutions.

Morris told the board that at least one member of each legislative house should have a personal knowledge of needs of each institution when the matter is presented to the special session of the Legislature in January.

He said he would name the committees in a week or 10 days.

The board, created by the last Legislature to study state financial needs and recommend budgets to each Legislature, also authorized Morris to name a committee to take applications for a full-time director of the budget. The board will consider applications at its next meeting which Morris said would be before the special session is called.

Investigators Study Bits of Wreckage to Find Crash Cause

DALLAS — (AP) — Investigators studied bits of wreckage and survivors' statements today in an effort to piece together all details of an American Airlines plane crash in which 28 died.

Eighteen other persons were injured in the pre-dawn accident yesterday. It was the worst in Texas history.

The 60-passenger plane, bound from New York to Mexico City, slammed into two buildings and exploded in flames on the edge of the Love Field Airport. One engine was afire and another was falling before the plane struck. It veered sharply to the left before crashing.

From the injured pilot and copilot came statements saying what happened — but not why.

Capt. Laurens (Tommy) Claude said his No. 1 engine had not functioned properly on the New York-Washington-Dallas-Mexico City flight. Of what happened here, he said:

"I awoke away to make a landing with flaps and gear down on a final approach. The No. 4 engine quit and I called to the flight engineer to cut on the booster pump when the fuel flow dropped to zero and the left wing dropped after the airplane started to mush in (below flying speed)."

'Enlarging Our Maps' Banquet Subject; Scouters Receive Silver Beaver Awards

"Enlarging our Maps" was the title of Dr. Homer Vanderpool's address last night at the annual banquet meeting of the Adobe Walls Area Council.

"There are three things Americans need to do to 'enlarge their maps,'" he said, "and Scouting develops all three."

Dr. Vanderpool, Dallas, pastor of the Tyles Street Methodist Church, said we need to possess "a certain amount of culture, we need conservation of both human and natural resources and we need character."

"Scouting helps boys to do something as well as to be something," he said.

Dr. Vanderpool was the principal speaker at the annual meeting in 1947. He was introduced last night by the Rev. E. Douglas Carver, past president of the council and toastmaster.

C. L. Mathewson, Guymon, Okla., read the Nominating Committee's selection for officers of the council for 1950. The slate was adopted. A. W. Paris, Phillips, was named president; Farris C. Oden, Pampa, vice president; Sandy K. Parsons, Jr., Bill MeClellan and Carl Fisher, C. A. Huff, Directors and C. A. Board, treasurer.

Huey Laycock, council commissioner, presented Rev. Carver with a statuette for outstanding service rendered while serving as president.

M. M. Ammerman, deputy regional Scout executive, Dallas, presented Paris and M. M. Craig, Miami, Silver Beaver awards for long and outstanding service to Scouting. Paris has served as a member of the Executive Board of the council for several years and has been working with Scouts for many years. Craig has been a Scouter for the past 28 years.

Taft Holloway, Canadian, presented two vocal numbers as the entertainment since the Four Minors, Amarillo barbershop quartet, failed to attend the meeting.

Scouters from the five districts of the council were introduced. The districts are North Plains, Wheatland, Adobe Walls, Santa Fe and Southern.

Injunction Asked On Allotments

CORPUS CHRISTI—Farm leaders in a 12-county bend area plan to ask a federal injunction against their 1950 cotton acreage allotments. The farmers claim allotments were distributed unfairly in Texas. Following meetings at Robstown and Sinton Monday and yesterday, the cotton growers voted unanimously to seek a federal court injunction. The injunction would prevent the state Production Marketing Administration Committee from distributing allotments on the proposed basis of 95 percent of the 1947-48 average planted acres. The farmers will be assessed six cents a bale on their 1949 cotton to defray cost of the litigation. Truett Barber, Corpus Christi attorney, has been employed to represent the farmers.

Small Army Of Texans To Take Census

By TEX EASLEY
AP Washington Service
WASHINGTON—(AP)—A small army of Texans will fan out over their state next April 1 to count the number of people living between the Red River and the Rio Grande. Uncle Sam will employ 8,600 workers to do the job. When results of their two-week survey is completed it should show the official 1950 population of Texas to be somewhat larger than the 7,532,000 persons estimated to be residing in the state last July 1. The first federal census in Texas, taken exactly a century earlier, showed an 1850 population of 212,592. The 1940 census—they're taken every 10 years—showed a population of 6,414,824. The increase of more than 1,000,000 which Texas will show is a much greater gain than most states will register. Consequently, Texas is expected to be allocated at least one, and possibly two, more seats in the House of Representatives. The total number of seats in the House remains fixed at 435, so some states will have to give up a fraction of their representation. California is expected to show the greatest gain of all states. Her population was estimated at 10,665,000 last July 1, an increase of 3,673,000 over 1940. Michigan's population went up to 7,222,000, an increase of 1,092,000 in the same period. The new census will turn up a lot of facts besides bare population figures. It will disclose how many Texans own television sets, still cook with wood or kerosene, and how many are in debt. It will reveal such sociological data as the number who have been divorced, live on farms or in city slums. Of course, the basic questions will show the complexion of Texans as to race, sex, age, and citizenship. In order to get this gigantic nose-counting task over with, the government divides the nation up into regions, states, and districts. Fort Worth is the headquarters of a Census Bureau region comprising Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana. The over-all operations in Texas also will be centered in Fort Worth. There will be 22 district offices throughout Texas set up to carry out the census, each comprising one or more counties. The personnel in each district will include those working in the office to handle administrative problems and clerical work, crew leaders who will go out to supervise the counting, and the enumerators who will ask you the questions. Early next year the government will get its staff of workers lined up. District supervisors will be paid at the rate of $4,400 a year, and must possess the qualifications demanded on a regular Civil Service employee with a "GS 9" rating. The bulk of the workers will be paid on a per diem basis, which should net them about $8 to $10 a day. None will be hired until next year.

Europeans Breathing Easier Because of American Policy

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Millions of Europeans undoubtedly are breathing easier because of the unqualified reiteration of America's policy against any rearming of Germany. Both U. S. Defense Secretary Louis Johnson and Chief of Staff General Omar Bradley, who are overseas conferring with Western Europe's top military men, have declared emphatically that the Washington government has no intention of rearming the Reich. This position previously had been announced by President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson, but it likely gathers force from the fact that Johnson and Bradley are working on a unified plan for the defense of Western Europe. Europe's fear and hatred of German militarism has become deep-seated as the result of the two catastrophic world wars. She thought she had hamstringing this Teutonic spirit of conquest with the treaty of Versailles at the end of the first conflict which the Kaiser almost won. But in 1935 Hitler started to tear up the pact by brazenly inaugurating an unlimited armament program and compulsory military service. From then on Europe watched in helpless fascination, like a bird hypnotized by a snake, while the arrogant Fuehrer openly prepared for war. Western Europe is determined not to be caught in a third world war perpetrated by the Reich or anybody else. France in particular is adamant in demanding that Germany be rendered harmless. The justice of this Allied position has been recognized tacitly by the new German republic at Bonn. The government has agreed to the Allied demilitarization demands. Moreover it has promised to do all in its power to prevent the creation of new German military strength. This means, of course, that Germany must remain impotent militarily for perhaps a long period—how long is one of the imponderables. In any event, the chiefs of staff of America, Britain and France, who are meeting in Paris to lay plans for the defense of Western Europe, must figure on Germany as a military nonentity for the present. The defensive plan now under study in Paris is calculated to be a mighty deterrent to any aggression. When that plan has been completed it will be implemented by almost a billion dollars in mon-

MOOSE LODGE INITIATES 22
A class of 22 candidates was initiated into the recently organized Pampa Moose lodge last night. The ritual staff and drill team of the Berger lodge conducted the initiations through their obligations. In the business session that followed, it was decided to hold a barbecue at 8 p. m. Dec. 8 at the newly purchased lodge home, 403 W. Brown, formerly the Terrace Grill. Among the guests present were H. J. Hertel, governor, and Dr. C. L. Hopper, secretary of the Berger lodge. Sam Sponner of Berger is chairman of that lodge's ritual staff. Congress voted to help strengthen the twelve signatories of the North Atlantic Pact. Western Germany, if it fulfills the promise held out by its new democratic government, will in effect be a sleeping partner in the Atlantic Pact which defends her.

Katy Would Drop Trains

SMITHVILLE, Texas—(AP)—Lawyers for eight Central Texas counties want the Railroad Commission to disregard all evidence introduced by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad in a plea for permission to cut out two night trains. The attorneys asked the Railroad Commission Examiner C. F. Pele of Austin to have the evidence stricken from the record. He held an all-day hearing yesterday. The railroad claims the night trains operate at a loss. The attorneys, representing at least eight Central Texas communities, said the railroad's evidence was based on system proportions with estimates and averages covering test periods in certain months which eliminated all major holidays, and thereby showed a deliberate bias. The attorneys asked that the two trains continue in operation until the railroad could produce "legal and adequate evidence and material." In its reply, the Katy contended that automobile traffic was causing the railroad to operate at "definite and obvious loss." The railroad seeks to stop night trains which run from Waco to Houston, San Antonio, and Rotan, and from Smithville to San Antonio. Since May 11, 1947, the trains have been without Pullman service, the railroad said, and have consisted of one day coach and one air-conditioned chair car. Attorneys for persons protesting discontinuance of the service said that it would be adverse to mail service and to both commercial travel and business in towns on the Katy route served by the trains.

Kitchen Serves Double Purpose

Turn one end of the long, narrow, oversized kitchen into a play area for the toddling child.

Equip one wall with floor-to-ceiling shelves storage cupboards with easy-to-open doors. Assign the lower tier to the toddler as a place to keep his toys and use the upper tiers for infrequently-used kitchen utensils.

Place a bright-colored folding gate between the child's section and the area where kitchen work is carried on. In this way, the toddler can always be kept in sight and out of mischief while mother is going about her household work. Floor the entire kitchen, including the play space, with long-lived grease-resistant asphalt tile. Select bright colors to provide interest for the child and to alleviate the dead whiteness of standard kitchen equipment.

Forum Study Club Studies 'Pursuit Of Happiness'

Members of the Twentieth Century Forum Study Club were entertained in the home of Mrs. Ed Weiss, Jr.

Mrs. Gene Fatheree presided in the absence of the president. Participating in the second half of the round-table discussion on "The Pursuit of Happiness" were Mrs. Bruce Pratt, who acted as chairman, Mrs. Ebon Warner, Jr., and Mrs. Aubrey L. Steele, Mrs. Pratt in discussing the topic "Can Work Contribute to Happiness in the Machine Age" stated that work must give some satisfaction to the inner person or there is a denial of the right to the pursuit of happiness.

Mrs. Warner mentioned in her topic "The Relation of Religion and Morals to the Pursuit of Happiness," that it is the belief of most people that happiness cannot be attained without reference to moral values, but there is violent disagreement to the origins of those values. Mrs. Steele, who spoke on "How Much is Education Contributing to American Pursuit of Happiness?" reminded the group that a right education is a systematic cultural process which is adequate to form the person so that he should be able to live his life as a true man and a true Christian.

In conclusion it was decided that there must be a balance in all phases to obtain a well integrated personality. Others who attended the meeting were Mmes. Biggs Horn, Dick Hughes, J. R. Holloway, Frank Kelley, John Ketter, Thomas E. Manning, M. C. Overton, Walter Rogers, Arthur Teed, and C. V. Wilkinson.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Mass...News Sports Editor

QUESTION: This one is submitted by a reader. What county in Texas has a district champion in AA football and a two-district champion in Class A?

SPORTS SIDELIGHTS: BIRDIE TEBBETTS, Boston Red Sox catcher and a close friend of Manager Joe McCarthy, has indicated in several after dinner speeches this winter that there will be a general housecleaning on the team that everybody figures should have won the pennant but didn't. . . . Cornelius Warmerdam, the only athlete to vault over 15 feet, still clears the bar by several inches over 14 feet as he works out with his Fresno State College track team.

BOBBY RIGGS, former tennis champion, has a great flair for promotion. . . . Before the start of the present Jack Kramer-Pancho Gonzales cross-country tennis tour, Bobby lined up two fancy and ultra-expensive touring cars. . . . The only stipulation was that in accepting the gift was that Bobby had to paint "Kramer-Gonzales Tennis Tour" on the sides, which he would have done anyway. . . . He also lined up 100 watches to be given away as door prizes during the tour. . . . Canada produces about 95 percent of the hockey players in the majors and the minors. . . . There have been and will continue to be stories about Notre Dame engaging in a New Year's Day game. . . . They make interesting reading but nothing will come of them. . . . Notre Dame has clung to its long standing policy of no post-season contests.

OTTO GRAHAM, former all-American from Northwestern and now star quarterback for the champion Cleveland Browns, has racked up more than five miles of yardage for the Browns with his passing and running in four seasons. . . . George Halas, coach and owner of the potent Chicago Bears, declares that football players like Red Grange and Bronko Nagurski would be even greater in competition today, since teams of this era are so much better developed as units. . . . Halas attributes this to the fine coaching that boys receive today in high school. . . . Ralph Kiner, the home run slugger who drew $40,000 with the Braves in 1949, hasn't yet talked terms for next season but says that he anticipates "a stable increase". . . . He also forecasts that Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's rookie of last year, will become one of baseball's great pitchers.

ALEX WOJCIECHOWICZ, still going strong with the Philadelphia Eagles, likes to recount an incident that happened when he was an All-American at Fordham and one of the Ram's assistant coaches was a rugged Irishman named Frank Leahy. . . . Wojciechowicz and Leahy were squaring off on the field, Frank attempting to polish up a few points for Woj. . . . On one charge Woj caught Leahy in the

Brats to Open TCU Cage Season Dec. 1

FORT WORTH—(AP)—The team they call the "Brats"—Texas Christian's youthful Horned Frogs—opens the basketball season tomorrow night.

The Frogs play Abilene Christian College of the Texas Conference. The "Brats," for those uninformed, are nine-teen-age eager stars who as Freshmen last year gave TCU its first undefeated basketball record in 20 years, rolled up more victories than any "Wag" team has ever had (11), and averaged a sensational 80 1-2 points per game. Having taken over four of the starting posts on this year's TCU varsity, the "Brats" will make the Frogs five possibly the youngest ever fielded in the Southwest. The team which takes the court for TCU Thursday night will average a mere 19.4 years in age. The four Sophomores likely to start for TCU include Harvey

No Post-Sked For Baylor

WACO—(AP)—Baylor won't play a post-season football game against College of the Pacific. Athletic Director Ralph Wolf said so last night.

The Sacramento, Calif., Bee had quoted Robert Monagan, graduate manager of CoP, as saying the Tigers would welcome a chance to play in a charity game at Hughes Stadium there, sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization. Wolf was quoted as saying he was interested and would have a definite answer by tomorrow. Wolf told the Waco News Tribune last night: "We are not interested and definitely will not play in that game." Fromme, forward; George McLeod, center; and John ("Bud") Campbell and Tommy Taylor, guards.

HOUSTON—(AP)—The Southwest Conference champion Rice Owls figure and J. D. Ison of Baylor was the toughest man they faced this season. They gave him the biggest number of votes yesterday in selecting their all-opponent team.

Ison drew 29 votes, leading Louisiana State tackle Dave Collins, who had 25; back Dick Walker of Southern Methodist, 22; guard Bud McFadin of Texas, 20; and backs Lindy Berry of Texas Christian and Randall Clay of Texas, 19 each. The team: Backs—Adrian Burk, Baylor; Doak Walker, SMU; Kyle Rote, SMU; Lindy Berry, TCU. Ends—James (Froggy) Williams, Rice; Morris Bailey, TCU. Tackles—Harold Kilman, TCU; Bobby Collier, SMU. Guards—Charles (Chuck) Stone, Baylor; Lewis McFadin, Texas. Center—Joe Watson, Rice. Read The News Classified Ads

In what other beer CAN YOU GET ALL OF THIS?

Look at our label. BUDWEISER has no secrets. Do you know of any other beer whose label proudly tells you what it is made of? The BUDWEISER label permits of no substitutions or juggling of ingredients.

Our purchase orders prove that we pay premium prices for a special type of brewing barley. Then as good as it is, we sift out the small grains, for only the plumpest grains are good enough for BUDWEISER.

Many things contribute to that sought-for subtle flavor you find only in BUDWEISER. One of the most important is hop blossoms. Forty per cent of all European hops imported into this country go into the brewing of BUDWEISER, because they provide certain esters that only the soil and climate of Europe can produce. These costliest of European blossoms are added to the finest domestic hops to produce the aroma all America prefers.

By steadily improving and refining production methods, the rice growers of the South have achieved a product whose value as a food is rivalled only by its value in brewing. For generations, Anheuser-Busch has used southern rice in the brewing of BUDWEISER. To the goodness of premium-priced barley and choicest hops, southern rice adds factors that help to give each bottle of BUDWEISER an enviable stability and each glass of BUDWEISER brilliance, sparkle and a top-hat of snowy foam.

True lagering is costly and BUDWEISER is one of America's very few true lager beers. Lagering is a brewmaster's term for secondary ageing under exacting conditions. BUDWEISER'S long and costly secondary fermentation mellows the brew and produces BUDWEISER'S natural carbonation. To pump in CO₂ gas would be far less expensive—but the brew would be far less delicate. We never surrender quality regardless of the cost to achieve it.

We can't hurry BUDWEISER. BUDWEISER can't be made by time-saving short cuts. Thus vast ageing facilities are needed. To meet the demand, the home of BUDWEISER includes the largest lagering cellar on earth.

A $64,000,000 plant expansion program is being completed right now—to meet America's ever-increasing demand for BUDWEISER. Now you can order the world's most famous beer and get it—instead of having to accept a substitute.

We confidently ask you to make this test. "Drink BUDWEISER for five days. On the sixth day try any other brand of beer. You'll prefer the distinctive taste of BUDWEISER thereafter." There's nothing like it . . . absolutely nothing.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1949) NEW YORK — Without repudiating the fateful follies of his late mahatma, James F. Byrnes, a servile accomplice of Roosevelt in those wanton works, nevertheless has seen the evil of his way and has broken with President Truman and the Democratic Party.

In the current confusion, there is talk of a new alignment of the parties and even of a new name for the Republican Party which will permit Southerners to forget their old feud and join in a fight against Truman's creeping communism.

WE DO NOT pass on the integrity of Kaiser, but we do wonder why it is he can borrow money from a government agency...

WE THINK it is a shame that in seeking this recent RFC loan, should list as collateral the huge Willow Run plant...

WE'LL lose it, moreover, to a bunch of socialists.

Speaker Race 2-Man Affair

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — The race for speakership of the 52nd Legislature's House of Representatives apparently has narrowed to a two-man race.

Rep. Vernon McDaniel of Wichita Falls announced Monday that he has withdrawn his candidacy in favor of Rep. Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba.

McDaniel did not say how many pledges of support he had. It was understood that about 20 of the House's 150 members were supporting him.

Senterfitt last July claimed 77 pledges if the pledged return as members of the 52nd Legislature.

Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen claims the backing of some 45 to 50 members.

Since Mr. Senterfitt is a two-to-one majority choice, members of the present 51st Legislature, I feel this is a good time to withdraw, McDaniel said.

Before we get to feeling too sorry for the British, however, we should give some thought to what is happening to our own investment in a combined program of high taxation and deficit financing by our own government!

PINKS GETTING COLD FEET? (The New York News) Maybe it doesn't mean much of anything, and on the other hand it may mean a lot of something; but the British Labor Party has suddenly begun to back water on its long heralded intention to nationalize the steel industry.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his fellow Socialists, you remember, were going to crown and climax their first five years in office by taking over Britain's steel mills and bagging for the alleged benefit of the people.

Yesterday, Attlee's crowd offered a compromise to the House of Lords, whereby steel would not be taken over till Jan. 1, 1951 — after the next general election, which must be held by midsummer of 1950.

Does this mean the British plinks are getting cold feet? The steel industry happens to be among England's most efficient, and to be making good headway in advancing these millions by John R. Steelman, White House administrative aide, over the protests of several other federal agencies and high officials.

his administration, but Mr. Byrnes' knack of expression is the best that I have read in behalf of the programmatic side. I have not heard his delivery, but his text is as punchy as Churchill's and far superior to the pear-shaped affectations that were handed to Roosevelt by his rewrite battery.

In his speech to the Conference of Southern Governors at Bloxot, Miss. Byrnes said, "Too many people are thinking of security instead of opportunity. They seem more afraid of life than death. I never knew he had such stuff in him, nor the jolting observation that 'we are threatened with a concentration in Washington of the powers of local government, including police powers, and with the imposition of creeping but ever-advancing socialistic programs.'"

The absorption by the national government of the income and assets available for taxes he described as the "trickle-back system" which makes the master government ever stronger in proportion to the states and "makes beggars of the states."

To be sure, all this and more was said long ago by others who were smeared and ridiculed while Jimmy Byrnes gave service to the master vandal. And he is neither convincing nor honest when he says Roosevelt's squandered money was indulged only during a time of depression unless he means to admit that Roosevelt prolonged that depression as an excuse for the dissipation of treasure. But it is good that he does concede that Roosevelt's death released him from thrall, even though he must make things up to justify his connivance in years past, his present leadership in the South is the important consideration.

For the first time, really, there is a slow dawn of understanding that the Truman program means the bankruptcy and dependency of the 48 states and the creation of total power in the master government in Washington. Mr. Byrnes, actually, is a reformed New Dealer. He has pulled away from it, revolted by familiarity with "a dangerous group who love the power to spend the money of other people." Unquestionably, the people of South Carolina and the other South, the spirit of that intensely American region which often drafted no soldiers because the quotas were filled by volunteers, exerted an influence on Mr. Byrnes when at last he went home from Washington, and had a chance to think things out.

On the other hand, the European influences which dominate the politics of New York and promote the Hitlerian concept of life by consent of the government undoubtedly were responsible for the changes in Dewey and Wilkie.

The battle lines are being drawn. By 1952 the issue will be American Constitutional government or European socialism, which the United States of America against the city of New York and Washington and Southern California.

THE VALUE OF A DOLLAR

By THURMAN SENSING Director of Research Southern States Industrial Council Nashville, Tennessee

Too many of us are inclined to give main emphasis to the number of dollars we get hold of, rather than to the value of the dollars as we get them. We forget that the dollar is not a thing, but a value. We get a feeling of whose salary increases from one hundred dollars a month to three hundred dollars a month in a month is no better off than he was before if the three hundred dollars will buy no more than the one hundred dollars would buy.

This observation is largely applicable to the present situation. We get quite excited over the increase in our national income from eighty billion dollars to two hundred twenty billion dollars in ten years. We get a feeling of satisfaction out of the increase of our savings in the mutual savings banks from ten billions of dollars to nineteen billions of dollars in ten years. We get a feeling of well-being when we consider that industrial wages have increased from an average of $25 per week to an average of $55 per week in ten years.

Are we any better off than we were ten years ago? To whatever extent we can give an affirmative answer, there is certainly one thing to be sure of. Our improvement has not been due to an increase in the number of dollars! The improvement has been due, as it must always be due, to greater production of goods and services of better quality at cheaper prices.

The fallacy of placing too much dependence upon the number of dollars in one's pocket is not confined to any one country or to any one class of people in any one country. We have seen it illustrated on a world-wide basis during recent years.

In the readjustments and public accompanying the recent devaluation of currencies in more than twenty nations of the world, we have seen the United States are prone to overlook the fact that our own dollar has been undergoing devaluation for a number of years. Most of us, of course, are misled by the fact that when we went off the gold standard in 1934, the people were robbed of a forty-two percent of the value of their dollars. But most of us do not realize that this depreciation in the value of the dollar has been continuing. Now that France has a free market, however, we can obtain a very definite illustration of this fact from the quotation on the Paris Bourse recently of 21,400 francs for a $20 gold piece and at the same time, 7,940 francs for a $20 bill. Instead of 21,400 francs, as most of us believe, this indicates we only have a 33c dollar.

Quite often I hear someone say, who gets to thinking about these things, "I wonder what my government bonds will be worth when the market goes down." The answer, of course, is that they will be worth the number of dollars called for by the face value of the bond. So it is not a question of what the market will do, but a question of what the dollar will be worth at the time.

We might note, in this respect, that we are better off than our British friends who had to surrender their bonds and stocks in inquiries that were nationalized under the Labor Party for government issues that never mature. They can only receive the fixed income from these securities, or they can only get for them what the market will do, and there has been a steady decline in their market value since issue. A recent letter from Great Britain tells me that the latest saying in London is that the Labor Party will keep their money, a wild-cat policy, is safer than Government gilt-edged. Since coming to power the present Government has sponsored eight stock acts, all of which have depressed the value of their money to investors is about 308 million pounds. If any issuing house had such a black record, they would no longer be in business.

My correspondent goes on to give a specific illustration of that Treasury 2 1/2% stock that was issued at 100 pounds, and that today is quoted at 70 pounds. "Every investor," he points out, "has lost 30 pounds of every 100 pounds lent to the Government."

It looks that way from here, though admittedly we could be wrong. At least it's a most interesting situation in that it further developments along this line ought to be even more interesting.

Golden Opportunity For Red Propaganda

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — The inside explanation for the semi-political loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation now under Congressional scrutiny is that this depression-born and war-time agency is now being run directly from the White House as a result of President Truman's personal reorganization of it.

Mr. Truman's politico-economic sides the partisan advantage which presidential control of this billion-dollar bank would give him. Through postwar advances to enterprises denied credit by the Federal Reserve outlets, because of the risk involved, it could and did stimulate economic recovery after a fashion, even though these loans nullified the Administration's anti-inflation strategy.

The White House used RFC as a counter-weapon to the more conservative Federal Reserve Board, which had clamped strict anti-inflation regulations on bank financing and extension of credit. But when borrowers were refused money by these sources, they went around the corner to the RFC.

CRITICISM — It is for this reason that Thomas B. McCabe, Federal Reserve head, has recently suggested a curb on RFC activities. His proposal will meet no success, however, because Mr. Truman wants to use the RFC as an administrative lending agency. Had it not been for new and extensive powers granted RFC by Congress at Mr. Truman's request, it would not be able to engage in the transactions which have provoked criticism from Democrats on Capitol Hill and from such former RFC chairman as Jesse Holman Jones of Houston and Eugene Meyers of Washington, D. C.

POLITICAL — Both the much-criticized Kaiser and Lustron loans by the RFC are regarded as Capitol Hill as almost wholly political in nature, and in accord with the new policies as directed by the White House.

Henry J. Kaiser has invariably endorsed the broad programs of the Roosevelt and Truman regimes, and has always been held first by stump speakers as a "rugged individual" who forced the new Deal or Fair Deal reforms.

Indeed, it is quite possible that his influence helped to carry several coastal states in the Truman-Dewey presidential year, especially those which were Democratic by narrow margins — California, for instance.

He has also set the pace for other manufacturers by being the first to accept presidential recommendations for pay raises, which he finances with RFC funds.

The Statehouse Dome

Every state has built a capitol to house its government, and the dome atop the building is a sacred monument. For it represents the toll and love of rugged pioneers, and the progress their descendants have achieved throughout the years. It's a symbol to be guarded, for it's everybody's home, and you get a lift each time you see the soaring statehouse dome.

Now it's true that any capitol's concerned with politics, and at times it has to shelter guys who glorify the fix. And they give the people little in return for public hire, save a bill for higher taxes and a future outlook dire. Then it's time to look with pride upon the dome that rises high, and to kiss the looting chiselers a ballot-box goodbye.

Ann Blyth, exhausted after a year's steady work, was promised a "quiet" personal appearance with "Free for All" in Milwaukee. Between the time she left Hollywood and arrived there, Marquette University voted her Homecoming Queen and met her at the airport with an 85-piece brass band and a routing section.

Like the way Donna Reed and Tony Owen refer to their two adopted children. They say "chosen" instead of adopted. "Song of Norway," once slated for Deanna Durbin, is back on UI's production schedule. They're looking for a songbird to fill the leading role. Bob Young is one of the few free-lance actors around town who still commands $125,000 per picture. And deserves it, I might add, on the basis of box-office grosses.

One of our top radio comedies told his writers to do an especially good job on material for a guest star with the explanation: "If the show isn't ayn good for the same lousy money I'm paying him."

UNHAPPY ACTOR — Farhamout is securing the town for suitable stories for Ray Milland, who hasn't been too happy with his last few pictures. Director Samuel Fuller is pulling a Hitchcock in reverse. Instead of playing bits in his films, as Hitch does, his wife Marta plays them. In "I Shot Jesse James" she played a dance-hall girl knocking herself out on the stage of a saloon to absolutely no applause. Now she's a Gypsy, smoking a coon-cob pipe, in "Baron of Arizona."

Construction there will provide another entrance to the park and the Highway Department stated they would erect a permanent building and landscape the surroundings if given a 99-year lease. The offer was also taken under advisement by the city.

Prior to the scheduled meeting, Mitchell Hill conferred with the commission on changes of the City Charter. He indicated that if a City Charter change election was called he had two changes he would want on the ballot. One would be to elect the chief of police and the other to elect a fulltime mayor instead of the city being under the city manager form of government.

The commission told Hill, through Mayor C. A. "Lefty" Huff, that a charter change election date has not been set and that it would take at least 90 days before one could be held if and when the commission called for an election.

During the afternoon the commission received and filed for record a receipt by C. W. Kenemer for his car that was impounded on June 8, this year for a parking violation. The car was released to Kenemer on Nov. 18 when he paid the stipulated $2 fine and $3 towing fee.

ently were clinging to the hope of an 11th hour resumption of negotiations between Lewis and the operators which would permit extension of their three-week truce, expiring at midnight.

The Policy Committee had been directed by Lewis to meet here Monday, but at the last minute the session was postponed until yesterday, and then again until today. Lewis was busy elsewhere.

Lewis abandoned his old-time policy of "no contract no work" when the miners' agreement with the operators expired last June 30. A short work week and a 52-day strike were interrupted on Nov. 9 by Lewis' order to go back to work. The truce order was issued after a meeting of the Policy Committee in Chicago Nov. 9.

The United Mine Workers chief sent word Monday and again yesterday that he would prefer to have his followers mark time while he tried to forge a new contract out of the very cool negotiations which have occupied the soft coal operators and union officials for months.

Lewis offered no explanation for postponing the meetings. But he apparently decided yesterday that another postponement was justified, as direct talks with major coal operators were reported in the making.

Lewis was reported to have held an important conference with Harry M. Moses, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Co., principal negotiator for "big steel" mining operations.

New Schedule Brings Pampa Fresher Bread

Thousands of families in and near Pampa are enjoying fresher bread this week, as a result of new baking and delivery schedules at the Chas. Newman (Holsum) Bakery, in Amarillo.

The new schedules make Holsum bread half a day fresher when it reaches Pampa homes. The difference is noticeable chiefly in flavor, bakery officials say, especially when part of a loaf is eaten after the first day.

"Waiting Time" Eliminated

In arranging the new timing, Charles H. Newman, manager of the Holsum plant, had to ignore added operating costs. Baking of Pampa's bread is started later, timed to have it ready at the last minute, to be delivered on new schedules with absolutely no delay or waiting.

"Prices to Stay the Same

"We think the additional operating costs will be offset by increased consumption," Newman explains. "When the bread is fresher, it tastes better, and people eat more."

As a part of the move to supply fresher bread in the Pampa area, Newman has issued strict orders against leaving unnecessary large stacks in stores for "display purposes."

"All Holsum bread salesmen have been instructed to stock each store with only as much bread as they expect to sell each day," it is explained. "This is an absolutely essential part of the plan to supply fresher bread."

"Large piles of bread, for display purposes, may attract the attention of some customers, but too often this results in left-over loaves. We want the people who buy Holsum bread to get bread that is really half-a-day fresher."

"This may require a campaign on our part, to induce the public not to look for the largest stack on the rack, but to choose the more freshly baked bread."

The plan is declared to be in line with the Holsum bakery's general policies of constant improvement of service and quality of products.

"An independent bakery has to be progressive to survive and grow," Newman explains. "It must be first to improve the palatability of its bread, as well as the nutritional quality. It must always be first in service, both to the dealers who handle its products, and to the consumers for whom the bread is baked."

All Holsum salesmen have received special training in carrying out their part of the "half-a-day fresher" plan. Starting and delivery time tables have been checked, to make the most of the baking schedule changes. Individual store sales have been carefully studied to keep supplies at the right level to give customers full advantage of the added freshness.

Therefore it was a violation of the rights of the ship, he said.

Asked whether a money claim could be made in this instance against the Chinese Nationalists, Acheson said that if the wishes to enter a claim he thinks the government will support it.

Chameleon Quality of Reds Reason for Indecisive Battle

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is the third of a series of dispatches by Peter Edson, NEA's Washington writer, tracing the history of the Communist Party in the United States and the nation's war against it.

By PETER EDSON

THE CHAMELEON quality of American communism is the principal reason for three decades of war against it without a decision. The party's policies veer with the political winds, indicated by Moscow weather vanes. The leadership prospers and is purged, according to the Kremlin's whims.

Between 1919 — when the American Communist Party emerged in Chicago with a membership of 80,000 (the Communist Labor Party claimed 5000) — and 1922, operations were entirely underground. In August, 1922, the leadership was called to a secret meeting in a wood near St. Joseph, Mich. But the Department of Justice knew of the meeting and raided it. Seized were a barman, Lee Harrah, John Ketter, Aubrey Steele, Bob Campbell and Dick Hughes.

The party's furtiveness was then intensified. Three men — Professor Walsack, Polish intellectual; Joseph Pogany, a Hungarian, and Boris Reinstein, one-time Russian-Socialist of Buffalo — were sent by Moscow as the new high command. Shortly after their arrival, they were heartened by a more liberal sentiment. President Harding pardoned Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist convicted of espionage. The Lusk committee ceased to exist in New York. The raids of Attorney General Palmer were repudiated.

So, in 1923, the Communists came out of their holes, renaming themselves the Workers' Party. The membership was then in the neighborhood of 12,000, only 1000 English-speaking and/or American-born. To such as William Z. Foster, who had been indoctrinated on a 1921 trip to Moscow with Ella ("Mother") Bloor, this offered rich ground for conquest. Foster had been successively a Bryan Democrat, Socialist, anarchist, Wobbly and AFL organizer for Samuel Gompers in World War I. He played the foreign-born, led by the Finnish Federation, against the homebreds in the third Communist convention, in Chicago. When the motion lifted, the American faction led by Jay Lovestone, Ben Gitlow,

WILLIAM Z. FOSTER

Charles E. Ruthenberg and others had been routed. Foster rode high as head of the executive committee. He followed the Moscow line without deviation, listening respectfully to the "Reps"—the emissaries sent from the Kremlin to show the American bourgeoisie how proletarian rule should be set up.

The first Foster-dictated effort to "bore from within" came in the same year, when the Communies supported a federated Farmer-Labor Party. An effort was made to take over the Progressive in the following year, but "Old Bob" LaFollette was a smarter man than they figured him. He disowned any Communist who sought to support him, forcing the leftists to go for themselves in the national elections. Foster for president, Gitlow for vice president.

The results did not seem auspicious to the public generally—the Communists polled only 3000,000 votes against 5,000,000 for the Progressives. But the party chiefs were not unhappy. The vote had been polled in 14 states, a very respectable foot-in-the-door.

At the party's 1925 convention the Ruthenberg-Lovestone-Gitlow bloc pulled a fast one. G. I. Gusev was sent from Moscow via Mexico as the Kremlin "rep" to the U. S., and was sympathetically listening to the American faction's case before Foster knew he was here. Gusev persuaded Stalin to make Ruthenberg the boss and Foster found himself virtually on the sidelines.

Under Ruthenberg, the party began to develop a few national policies to place alongside the imported ones. International Publishers was established, to build up a stable of American propagandists. The Negro found organizers at his doorstep: the Army, Navy and National Guard were infiltrated; young collegians loyal to this new politics were ordered to take military training and study tactics. The Daily Worker, founded in Chicago with an original investment from Soviet funds of $35,000, was moved to New York, together with party headquarters, and several hundred thousand dollars put into offices and a printing plant.

That was in 1927. Suddenly Ruthenberg died. Foster immediately moved to steal the leadership. In his book, "I Confess," Gitlow says the Postersites faked a deathbed request by Ruthenberg that Lovestone be made titular head. Most of the leaders were summoned to Moscow, where Lovestone was made secretary. Foster was given equal status in order that he might be ready to assume control if Lovestone should be loath or careless about carrying out his orders.

The ticket for 1928 was Foster-Gitlow again. The showing was terrible, 48,000 votes. Moscow was not amused. The leaders were called "home" again. In May, 1929, in the throne room of the czar, both Lovestone and Foster were publicly pilloried by Stalin himself as unprincipled opportunists, weak diplomats, and poor servants of the new order. All mentioned in the excoriation were told to sign it as a confession of guilt. Only Foster and Max Bedacht submitted. Lovestone and seven others were expelled and Foster again became general secretary.

Lovestone and Gitlow tried to form an American Communist Party free of Soviet domination but a bare one percent followed them out of the old organization. By 1935 the so-called right-wing was dead, with Lovestone and Gitlow beginning to taste the bitterness of disillusionment. Lovestone is now an adviser to the

A. F. of L. garment workers union. Gitlow has made statements against Moscow and this year was Illinois' chief investigator in a Red inquiry.

There, in digest, is a story much more confusing in its detail. It traces a political movement's first decade, in which what happened among the party chiefs was so involved with deception and intrigue that the great mass of the American people could not possibly know what it was it was supposed to be fighting.

 Polka we've got what I would call a good buy for a small down payment - its located close in on North West Street, so you couldn't beat the location - its a five room modern home in pretty good shape, and it has a fairly good three room rent apartment on the rear of the lot - this apartment is renting for $45.00 per month and the renter pays his own gas and electric bill - the lot is 50x150 ft. and it alone without the improvements on it would sell for $1250.00 any day - the loan on this property is approximately $800.00 payable in monthly installments - now if you are looking for a house to live in, or if you would like to own it from an investment standpoint to rent out, I think we can make a deal with you - call us and we will be glad to show you this property - possession can be had on or before 30 days.

Questions at AEC Conference Skirt Edge of Unreal World

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The room was bright with sunlight and jammed with newsmen. The five members of the Atomic Energy Commission came in and sat down behind a long table. This was something new. Every month the commission was going to have a news conference like this where reporters could ask questions about the atomic program and the commissioners would try to answer. It was understood they could not answer every question since the program was tied in with national security and there was a law against giving away atomic secrets. For example, if someone asked "Are we building a bomb 1,000 times as powerful as the one which destroyed Hiroshima?" A yes or no answer might be of military importance to the Russians.

So in a case like that, and there would be many similar cases, the commissioners would turn aside the question with a "No comment." Perhaps in recent years you have felt in yourself a sense of unreality, a feeling that somehow the world and events were whirling past too fast for you, as you read about a chorkel submarine, jet planes traveling faster than sound, and all the rest of modern wonders.

Well, I had a sense of unreality like that during the news conference of the atomic energy commissioners. The chairman, David E. Lilienthal, who's quitting Dec. 31, did most of the answering.

But since the atom is something you can't visualize, and since work on the atom is over the heads of most laymen, the questions and the answers or the "no comments" seemed almost to be dealing with an unreal world. And yet all of us in the room knew that those five atomic commissioners were engaged in two separate searches.

How to make more powerful weapons from knowledge of the atom and how to find ways of using the atom to help mankind. There we sat, members of a citizenry which had delegated to these five commissioners and the government, power to withhold from us secrets that may someday change our lives or change the world.

Yet, because it was our government doing the atomic research, the secrets were ours although we couldn't be told them. Actually, through our Congress, we erected walls to keep ourselves from being told too much.

Through our elected Congress we have provided to keep us—or, rather, Congress informed—and to keep a check on the work of the five commissioners and all those employed by them. And the unreality went even further. The five commissioners themselves are laymen. They're hired managers, paid to see that the atomic program is run all right.

Sitting there, watching the commissioners at the conference, I had the feeling we were skating on the edge of unreality. Or was it the edge of some golden future wherein the atom could be used for peace?

So the questions and answers skidded around the two main questions which weren't even asked: What's the score now? And where are we headed?

The law would have forbidden an answer to the first and not even the commissioners could have answered the second.

Senate to Probe Coffee Prices

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) announced a Senate agriculture subcommittee will open an immediate inquiry into the price of coffee. "Apparently," he said, "the public has been misled into a tremendous amount of scare buying which has certainly been a good news to the speculators and the foreign coffee interests." Gillette said import figures indicate the U. S. should have on hand the highest stocks of coffee on record.

Squire Sends New Yorkers Into Tizzy

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — Squire Rockefeller has our town in a tizzy.

It's about that Christmas tree he put up between his ice pond and the RCA building. The squire is a right neighborly fellow. Every year about this time his hired hands whack down a tall tree somewhere, and haul it into town and put it up — for the community to look at free.

It's got so that the Christmas season isn't official in these parts until the Rockefeller tree is lit. Well, all last week our town was as excited as Dan'l Boone at a turkey shoot. Word had got around, somehow, that this year the squire had really outdone himself.

A godly throng of citizens had gathered in advance to welcome the tree. Along about then Mayor O'Dwyer's boys in blues sired the tree around the corner. It seemed like everyone was there for the big hoedown 'cepting Grover Whalen, who was busy in his perfume shop — a customer had just walked in.

Well, sit our folks took one look at Squire Rockefeller's 1949 Christmas tree — and all hulla-balloo broke loose. The tree weren't green at all. 'Twar white yep, white all over.

"The dang thing musta faint-ed!" said a visitor from Brooklyn.

"No, we done it deliberate," said a hired hand, importantly. "The squire didn't want to catch the town on fire by no accident. So we sprayed the tree with 200 gallons of white camouflage paint it's fire-retardant. Ain't she a beauty?"

Well, yes! and, well, no! The town has been a-arguin' about that 'air tree for days.

Some folks come right out flat and say: "We got to grow up with the times. Nobody in Boston would 'ink've settin' up a white Christmas tree. The squire has kep' us ahead agin."

But other folks are just as not 'other way. "He oughta tear it down and start all over," they opine. "It ain't a Christmas tree to begin with. It's all painted."

Dividend Set by Cities Service

NEW YORK — (AP) — Cities Service Co. last week declared a quarterly dividend of $1 and a year-end special of $1, both payable Dec. 19 to holders of record Nov. 25. The company paid 50 cents a share on its common stock in previous quarters. A year-end extra of $1 also was paid last December.

Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. declared an additional dividend of 50 cents a share with the regular quarterly of 75 cents on the common stock, both payable Dec. 15 to stock of record Nov. 28. This brings 1949 payments to $5 the same as in 1948.

Cast Iron Pipe Freight Rate Cut

DALLAS — (AP) — F. M. Dixon, a contractors' association official, says a recent 15 percent reduction in freight rates on cast iron pipe will mean a $500,000 yearly savings for Texas.

He said Monday that the reduction amounts to about $3 a ton on shipments from the Birmingham, Ala., area into Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas.
