Plunging Neckline On Way Out, Says Fashion Expert

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Here's bad news for the men who have been delightfully bug-eyed over the ladies' plunging necklines: the fashion is on the way out. But here's a silver lining for husbands: their wives will be able to convert to 1950 fashions with little expense.

Source of this glittering information is waspish Edith Head, the top fashion designer at Paramount. She is just back from Paris where she previewed next year's designs.

"Necklines are going to plunge," she reported, "but only from side to side. No more bare bosoms, but there will be bare shoulders. In other words, clothes will be more provocative and less obvious."

Miss Head, who is busy designing clothes for Nancy Olson and Ruth Hussey in "Mr. Music," said the purpose of 1950 dresses will be to men, not just whistles.

"The plunging neckline and split skirt may be okay for Saturday night at the corner drugstore," she declared. "But they are becoming passe in circles where women dress in good taste."

"Next year's styles will be slim and draped, with lots of material but no padding or stuffing. Briefly, girls will again be girls — not upholstered clothes horses with square shoulders and deceptive angles."

Students of Miss McCue Present Original Play At Meeting of Twentieth Century Culture Club

The Twentieth Century Culture Club held the annual Thanksgiving luncheon Tuesday, Nov. 22, at the Country Club with Mrs. Earle Scheig, Mrs. E. O. Wedgeworth, Mrs. Jack Merchant and Mrs. Jeff Bearden as hostesses.

Following the luncheon the students of Miss Frances McCue of Horace Mann School gave a play, "The Story of Thanksgiving," written by Miss McCue. Thirty-five students took part in the play, which included scenes showing the first Thanksgiving, our freedom of worship, settling of the Old West, and scenes from the pages of our best loved American writers. The play ended with group singing. Mrs. John Branham assisted.

Mrs. G. L. Craddock gave a short review of the book, "Words to Live By" edited by William Nichols.

During the business session following the program, Mrs. W. B. Weathered reported the club will sponsor a rummage sale on Dec. 5, in the building next door to the Hilton Hotel.

Members present were Mrs. L. N. Atchinson, Mrs. G. L. Craddock, Mrs. J. R. Donaldson, Mrs. M. P. Downs, Mrs. M. K. Injuries Hit Harvesters! Smith and Holt Forced to Become Spectators

Coyotes Planning to Upset Harvesters for Second Time

By BILL GLINES
Wichita Daily Times
WICHITA FALLS.—(Special)—The strident cry of "Beat Pampa!" echoed across the confines of Coyote Stadium for the second time this 1949 grid season as the 35-boy football forces of Wichita Falls High School opened the week's practice sessions Monday afternoon.

On that first occasion the Coyotes were well on their way to racking up their brilliant record of 10 victories against no defeats. Pampa at the time also had an undefeated, untied record. When the smoke of the firing cleared off that Friday night the Coyotes gridders walked off the field with a hard-earned 14-6 decision. They knew they had been through a grueling fracas. And they expect more of the same when they tangle with the Harvesters this Friday afternoon.

About the only difference between the Coyote squad which early in the season turned back Pampa and the one today is that the team which look to the practice field Monday afternoon now has a wealth of experience back of it—plus a forward passing attack which it lacked at the time of the first meeting. Proof of this came in the important Wichita Falls-Vernon tilt on which the outcome of the District 2-AA race depended. Vernon would be the team propelling today for the bi-district contest against Pampa except for three aerials—all finding their mark in touchdown territory—off Bill Waggoner's buggy whip arm. The three passes represented the difference in the final score, 21-14.

Last Thursday the Coyotes won their final regular-season game by drubbing Graham, 39-7. It served to further accentuate Wichita Falls' domination of 2-AA, which has found the Coyotes taking the title for the past six years in succession.

Head Coach Joe Golding said there would be little deviation from workouts in other weeks, with about half the time given over to the Coyote bag of tricks in offensive play and the other half to study and scrimmage against Pampa's set of plays.

Coach Golding promised that the Pack would be ready for one of its toughest games Friday. And at the same time he sounded a note of caution that Pampa would

Quarterback Sidelined by Twisted Knee

The Pampa Harvesters returned to practice yesterday afternoon and had a very rough time of it. The workout was devoted to offense, the running of some new plays and polishing old ones. Nothing seemed to go right for the Green and Gold. The blocking was still at a minimum; players were missing their signals and their assignments; and things just went bad all day.

Added to that were three injuries. Perhaps the most serious was a knee injury to Carroll Smith, senior quarterback who has handled all of the offensive work this season. He received a slightly twisted knee in the Borger game which at the 44 m a wasn't considered serious. But today he found it impossible to pivot out of the quarterback position and consequently had to lay out of practice. Dick Cook, second string signal-caller and first string linebacker, worked in Smith's spot.

James Holt, first-string right guard, came up with a bad shoulder that was too sore to hold shoulder pads, and he was just a spectator at the workout. High Gracey, reserve halfback, was kicked in the knee during the workout, and also became a spectator.

Of the three, Gracey appears to be the most liable to be back in action again today. How long Holt and Smith will be out is unknown. Smith will put a brace on his knee and try operating with it in that condition. Pampa hopes will take a big fall if he is unable to play next Friday. He has easily turned in the finest performance of any quarterback in District 1-AA this season.

Holt has taken heat treatments for his shoulder and as soon as the soreness can be worked out he will be back in the lineup. He has easily turned in the finest performance of any quarterback in District 1-AA this season.

Harvesters Rated Tenth; Coyotes Third

DALLAS.—(AP)—Fort Arthur finished the 1949 Scholboy football season rated the best team in Texas.

Sportswriters voting in the Dallas News final poll gave the powerful Yellowjackets 211 points to 198 for second place Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Corsicana, Marshall, Abilene, Austin, Highland Park (Dallas), Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) and Pampa rounded out the top ten teams.

The second ten was made up of Breckenridge, Galveston, Paris, San Jacinto (Houston), Sunset (Dallas), Paschal (Fort Worth), Odessa, Grand Prairie, Conroe and Texarkana.

No. 37, the SWC's Brightest Star, Ends Career This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS.—(AP)—Next Saturday afternoon, as the mighty legions of Notre Dame roll against Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl, Doak Walker, a legend of football, plays his last college game.

The most publicized youngster in Southwest Conference history to play for All-America, No. 37, the associations' coaches, players—both teammates and opponents—were the main reasons he'd like to just go on playing college football. But it's been a pretty long road, thirteen years he's played the game—junior high school, high school, college, in the service. One hundred and thirty games, 806 hours.

Football won't end for the Doaker Saturday though. As soon as the last gun fires, the professional teams will be after him. That's the understanding he has with them, that they won't even talk to him about a contract until he has wound up his college string.

Detroit of the National Football League and Cleveland of the All-America Conference own draft rights to him. He isn't sure he'll play with either but he does say he'd kinda like to give the pro game a fling. His friends think he should. And they mention fabulous contracts. It seems no one thinks he ought to even talk to a pro club owner with a figure less than $25,000 a year.

The Doaker didn't mention any price. He just said he might play. In fact, he's pretty sure he will.

But Walker is due to turn pro before the pro clubs can sign him to a contract. He has been invited to play in the Senior Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. There the players will get part of the gate receipts. Walker said it would be maybe $2,000 each. He thinks he'll play in the Senior Bowl.

The Doaker said he wasn't going to play college baseball next spring. No, he won't be in basketball either.

When the Southern Methodist-Notre Dame game is over and 75,000 fans have seen him against the top team of football he'll be through as an amateur.

Walker also has been invited to play in the East-West game and in the Blue-Gray game. But he's already played in the East-West and he's already been in two Cotton Bowl games.

"I hear pro football is plenty tough," said the Doaker, "but I sure love to play football."

Southern Methodist's athletic office has been pretty well taxed the past three years to take care of all the folks wanting pictures and autographs of Walker. Aline Hamlett, office secretary, has handled a lot of Walker's corre-

Berry Takes Two Crowns

DALLAS.—(AP)—Lindy Berry, Texas Christian's "busiest man in football," was the only Southwest Conference player to take two statistical titles this season.

Berry led the passers with 1445 yards on 106 completions out of 220 throws and he was the total offense leader with 1702 yards on 350 plays.

Geno Mazzanti of Arkansas may be the leading ball-carrier. The big Razorback fullback finished with 743 yards on 123 carries and led the team in rushing. Coach James Love, and though they're nearly melted under the hot sun, they should be in better shape this weekend because of that.

Mustangs Open Cage Season Tonight

LONGVIEW.—(AP)—In the first appearance of a Southwest Conference team here, Southern Methodist tonight opens the basketball season against East Texas State in Longview's new $500,000 gymnasium.

The gym seats 5,000 and is the third largest in Texas.

Latest Figures Name 28 Bowls

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Bowls, bowls, bowls. And more bowls. Where's the end?

Every year we lose some and gain some but still wind up with a little bit more.

Today, at last, count there are 27—no, wait a minute. Here comes another. Make that 28. Last year there were 20.

Gone are the Delta in Memphis, the Dixie and Vulcan Bowls in Birmingham. Whatever became of the Oil Bowl? The Camelia?

But others have popped up in their stead, like the Gold Dust Bowl at Vallejo, Calif., and the Senior Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. They're named for almost everything under the sun—even for the sun. That one's in El Paso, Texas.

They're named for flowers, like the Rose in Pasadena and Orange Blossom in Miami, and for things to eat—the Orange Sugar, Raisin, Tangerine and Salad.

When things get tough there's a bowl game dedicated to your favorite stogie—the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Fla.—or your ice box—the Refrigerator Football Game at Evansville, Ind.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hambl—News Sports Editor

The boss said that I could have Monday off while I sweated out a halfback for the Harvesters of the mid-1960s. So I'm really going to take it off and let you folks by easy tonight.

I do want to thank all of the fine folks who sent flowers, cards and congratulations to the wife and me upon the arrival of the young 'un. Everything was very much appreciated.

Especially do I want to thank the doctors, the nurses and the crew here at The News. Your help has speeded my recovery considerably.

Pulled Muscles and Colds Plague Mighty Lefors Bucs

It's Lefors against Littlefield Friday afternoon at the new football field in Amarillo. The meeting will determine who is going to advance on to the third round of the fight for the state Class A football title.

The meeting will also be a match between the two strongest Class A football teams in the state, and the title could well hang in the balance of this game.

The Pirates will not be in top shape. They came through the fray with Phillips without any serious injuries but lots of minor ones and may not be ready for the Wildcats. The Pirates looked exceptionally fine in their 42-28 win over the Blackhaws last Saturday, and with that type of ball this weekend should be hard to beat.

The Wildcats from Littlefield also possess a terrific scoring machine. They are heavier, on the average, in the line and the backfield. They possess a speed comparable to that of the Pirate backfield. They have shown terrific fight all season long. Which all adds up to a fine ball game on Friday afternoon.

Leading the Wildcats will be 180-pound Tommy Bailes, a bone-crushing halfback. In the bi-district tilt with Spur last weekend he carried the ball 11 times and averaged better than 19 yards per try. But he wasn't the only Wildcat back that gave the Bulldogs trouble.

Charles Askew, Gene Renfro, Stephen Brock, Frank Gage and Donald Crossley also shared the glory of the Wildcats' 47-14 victory. Coach J. S. Fikes has a terrific scoring machine down there and he definitely plans to turn it loose this weekend.

But over at Lefors the Pirates have their own ideas. They have a small school that had to be voted into Class A because it was too small to demand a berth. But now that the Bucs have gotten into the playoffs they won't quit. Last weekend they learned a lot.

It was the first day game of the year for the charges of Coach James Love, and though they're nearly melted under the hot sun, they should be in better shape this weekend because of that.

Notre Dame Keeps Grid Championship

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame today reign as college football champions of 1949.

Notre Dame drew 173 of 248 first place votes and a bulging total of 2,607 points in the ninth and final Associated Press poll of football writers and sportscasters across the nation.

Although Notre Dame, unbeaten over a 37-game stretch, still has to play Southern Methodist Saturday, most of the other high point teams have finished their schedules.

Oklahoma, 41-0 winner over the Oklahoma A&M, recaptured second place from idle California despite strong first place support for the Golden Bears from the Pacific Coast. Oklahoma had 18 firsts to 40 for California but the Sooner piled up a point edge of 2,013 to 1,800. Voters are figured on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second so on down to one for tenth.

Army's flashy 35-0 rout of Navy failed to boost the Cadets' fourth-place standing. They polled 12 firsts and 1,558 points.

The other firsts went to College of Pacific, which had four, and Villanova, No. 1 on two ballots.

Behind the "big four" of Notre Dame, Oklahoma, California and Army, in that order, came Rice, moving from seventh to fifth on its 21-0 triumph over Baylor. That win guaranteed Rice the Southwest Conference crown and the job of Cotton Bowl host.

Ohio State, Michigan and Minnesota, all of whom ended their regular seasons a week ago, ran sixth, seventh and eighth, in that order. Ohio State, California's Rose Bowl opponent, and Michigan each dropped a peg in the final ratings but Minnesota was a firm eighth.

Louisiana State, 21-0 conqueror of Tulane and Sugar Bowl foe of Oklahoma, edged into the top ten, taking ninth place with a surprising 516-point vote.

College of Pacific, with one game to play, finished 10th with the help of an 85-0 romp over California Poly. Both Baylor and Tulane dropped out of the top ten.

Five of the first 10 teams have Jan. 2 bowl dates. It will be No. 2 vs. No. 9 when Oklahoma and LSU collide in New Orleans' Sugar Bowl. California (No. 3) and Ohio State (No. 6) are the Rose Bowl teams. Rice (No. 5) plays thrice-beaten North Carolina in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Notre Dame polished off Southern California, 30-0, at South Bend Saturday in its last home game to solidify its position. It was the fourth Notre Dame second.

The total final vote with points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes in parentheses):

Two Texans Named Little All-America

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Two Texans made the Associated Press Little All-America announced today.

They are Brad Rowland, great halfback of McMurry College, and Charles (Rough House) Williams, the great pass-catcher of Sam Houston State.

Little Eddie Lebaron of College of Pacific gained his third All-America berth—the only player in the history of the minor college all-star eleven to be so honored.

Poised with the Pacific Coast formation wizard in the Little All-America backfield are Rowland; William Young of Hillsdale College, the nation's leading scorer and Conrad Callahan of Morningside College in Sioux City, Kans.

Until the final week of the season Rowland was the leading scorer, only to be overtaken by Young, who counted 24 points in his school's 48 to 0 rout of Indiana State. Roland, only Junior in the first string backfield, finished the campaign with 108 points compared to Young's 121.

This point producing foursome, possibly as great a quartet ever to be honored in the Little All-America selections, would operate behind an all-star line that is spear-headed by Elbert Hammett, ace tackle of the equally unbeaten Wofford team. Wofford won all 11 of its games this season, counting 348 points as compared to 87 for its combined opponents.

The other tackle spot goes to Herbert McKinney of Missouri Valley, a football strongman who has been a regular on a team that has lost but two games during his four years of competition.

The end berths go to a pair of towering stars. Each is 6-3 and each scales just above the 200-pound mark. At one end is Claude Radtke of Lawrence, Appleton, Wis., while the other flank is guarded by Williams of Sam Houston State.

Vincent Sarratore of Chattanooga, was outstanding for his club the day it lost to Georgia and easily won a guard berth. Opposite him is Art Byrg of the Western Carolina Teachers. He is a six-footer type popularized by the late Knute Rockne.

Robert Numbers of Lehigh, won out over Lambert Oberg of Trinity and Harvey Moyer of Wofford for the center berth. The one-time Allentown, Pa., prep star is a six-footer weighs 202 and is 25 years old. He was rated a better pivot than any other collegiate center in the state of Pennsylvania by critics and coaches.

The youngster, one of the most sought after pro prospects, has become such a coast football figure that a recent account of his exploits by a newspaper was headlined "Is Lebaron Human?"

Solon Assails 'Fool's Gold' Subsidies

DALLAS — (AP) — Prosperity brought about from farm price supports by the federal government is artificial and unenduring and may someday turn out to be 'fool's gold,' U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson declared at a farm meeting in Dallas.

"Price supports are not intended to make you wealthy. They are intended to keep the nation wealthy," Sen. Johnson told delegates to the 18th annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation.

"Our economy has become too complex, too tightly intermeshed, for one group to survive alone," Johnson said. "Farmers cannot prosper unless the nation as a whole prospers, and the nation cannot prosper if government, because of ignorance, because of selfishness or partisan politics, plays the role of 'sugar' to just one segment of the population."

Johnson warned sharply that "it would be a tragic mistake for you and a calamity for the nation, if you, through your organizations, became a selfish, short-sighted pressure group, unconcerned with the well-being of your fellow Americans."

The primary objective of farm price supports is to provide stability of farm income, and that stability can be guaranteed by the farmer himself through efficient farm management, he said.

Roger Fleming, Washington director of the American Farm Bureau Federation, told the convention that the government is trying to hitch farmers' incomes to a political wagon.

The plan offered by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said Fleming, would let the government guarantee the farmer a standard income. The farmer would send his commodities to market at whatever prices were current.

The difference between the price the farmer got and the income guaranteed him would be made up by appropriations from the U. S. Treasury, Fleming said. "That makes the farmer dependent upon Congress to pass on his paycheck," he said. "That's too political."

The award was presented at a recent Kiwanis Club meeting.

Grasses Reduce Likelihood of More Dust Bowls

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Although a return of the dust bowls of the 1930s is possible, the government is experimenting with 100 grasses to forestall such a contingency.

This work was discussed yesterday by D. A. Savage, superintendent of the Southern Great Plains Field Station at Woodward, Okla. He addressed the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association convention.

He said the research work by the U. S. Department of Agriculture plant bureau is concerned with grasses for ranges in Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma.

Savage said that in the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles 125,000 acres have been seeded with new grasses that insure four times the production of the regular range grasses.

He said the range improvement program also included the killing of sage brush. He said the work of the field station is an endless search for better grasses and those found most successful include blue grama, buffalo, sandvoss, side oats grama, switch and Indian grasses.

23 Denominations Are Represented at Texas Tech, Lubbock

LUBBOCK — Baptist students far outnumber all other student religious groups at Texas Technological college, Registrar W. F. Clement reports.

Clement said 2,053 Tech students signed church preference cards indicating their affiliation with a Baptist church. Methodist predominates, with 415 members of the Church of Christ, Christ, The Presbyterian delegation is fourth largest, with 415.

The cards were signed by 5,830 students. Twenty-three different church organizations had at least one member among the Tech student population, the survey showed. The other denominations included Apostolic, Buddhist, Congregational, Czech-Brethren, Hebrew, Moslem, Pentecostal and Unitarian.

It was pointed out that while only 50 percent of America's total population has some church affiliation, 91 percent of the Tech students have a church background. Five hundred seven students indicated no church preference.

Hearing on Conservation District Set

A hearing on whether or not to establish a standard soil conservation district in Roberts County will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

The hearing was called by the State Soil Conservation Board after receiving a petition from more than 50 land owners asking for such a district.

The hearing will determine the need for a district and will determine its boundaries. If the state board decides a district is justified, an election will be held soon to determine if the people of the county want it. If approved, its supervisors would also be elected.

The wind erosion district now operating in the county would not be directly affected, but it would probably become inactive.

Party Given for New Minister

KELLERVILLE — (Special) — The Rev. H. Price Bishop, who arrived here a few weeks ago to take over the pastorate of the Kellerville Baptist Church, was entertained at a recent party in his honor.

Rev. Bishop succeeds the Rev. Ed Lee McCormick who resigned early in September to return to college. He began his ministry in 1915 and came to Kellerville from the Long Lake Baptist Church near Palestine. He is married and has six children.

Among those on the program at the pastor's party were: the Misses Norma Chapman, Patsy and Peggy Tindall, Delpha Lauderdale and Bobby Boyd.

World Crude Oil Production Reaches Highest 1949 Level

TULSA — Production of crude oil throughout the world during September reached its highest level of 1949, according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

at 9,308,700 barrels, or 2.5 percent, higher than the August daily average. The increased production in September, it was stated, is largely seasonal, with a heavier volume of petroleum required to meet winter requirements of heating oils. More than half of the increased production in September was accounted for by a boost in U. S. crude oil output. It was the first increase in this country in 1949 after eight months of declining production due to cutbacks ordered by state regulatory bodies.

Upward Trend in National Oil Production Hits Ninth Week

TULSA — (AP) — The upward trend of U. S. oil production has reached its ninth straight week, the Oil & Gas Journal reported today.

Daily average production for the week ended Nov. 28, the Journal said, was 5,164,100 barrels, an increase of 2,400 barrels over the previous week.

Top gains were reported in Colorado, up 1,600 barrels to 66,400 barrels; Illinois, up 3,500 to 182,200; Michigan, 3,600 to 46,900, and Wyoming, 1,400 to 155,900.

Other increases were recorded for Arkansas, up 150 barrels to 78,900; Indiana, up 500 to 29,100; Louisiana, 250 to 330,000; Mississippi, 750 to 97,250, and Montana, 200 to 26,200.

Major losses were in Kansas, down 5,150 barrels to 290,150; Oklahoma, off 2,100 to 426,500, and California, down 1,100 to 987,900.

The Eastern Area dropped 800 barrels to 57,700, Florida was a down, 100 to 975, Kentucky declined 200 to 24,900, Nebraska fell 50 to 1,150 and Utah slumped 50 to 3,300. Production was unchanged in Alabama, 1,350 barrels; New Mexico, 132,900, and Texas, 2,169,425.

It isn't a pretty picture, but cartoonists hit the nail on the head when they depict us, the taxpayers...

Why all the new taxes, you ask? The answer is in your daily newspaper files. News stories have faithfully reported that our government is consistently spending more than it takes in...

The answer is in history books. On many occasions, governments, nations and empires have been scuttled into oblivion because of their peoples had been convinced they could get something for nothing...

The answer is with us today. Hardly a day goes by that some "social welfare" idea is suggested by our lawmakers...

Taxes in the United States amount to more than one-fourth of our total national income. If you work 40 hours a week, you work more than ten hours to pay direct and indirect taxes...

In a way it's a vicious circle. Bureau upon bureau is set up to "administer" new federal programs. Tax rates are increased to finance them...

With so much of their income deducted as direct and indirect taxes, people are forced to rely more and more upon "government" — thus making it their master rather than their servant...

The governors are to arrive at San Antonio Dec. 2 and then to go to Fort Worth as guests of Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There's a whole of a difference between what American civilian internees stand to get out of the new War Claims Act of 1948 and what military prisoners of war may get...

Provisions of this act are just now beginning to be put into effect by the new War Claims Commission...

The most a veteran stands to collect under the War Claims Act is a dollar a day for every day he did not receive adequate food or shelter in captivity...

Military prisoners of war have of course been eligible for the usual disability, educational and other GI benefits awarded to all veterans...

The new War Claims Act does permit veteran prisoners of war to file applications for additional claims where they feel they have sustained extraordinary damages.

Albania, Dissension-Beset, Appeals for Stalin's Help

By JOHN FISHER
The report that Albania's strong arm, Enver Hoxha, has appealed to Moscow seeking military aid...

In view of the tense situation in southeastern Europe, heightened by the United Nations arms embargo two weeks ago against Albania and Bulgaria...

Already the British Foreign Office has admitted its worry over the news that Soviet military forces had taken possession of the island of Samsun...

London, with memories of its lifeline in the Mediterranean sliced by the Nazis in the war, cannot be complacent at the knowledge that modern Russian subs have a fair in the middle of the British route to the Near East oil fields...

On the other hand, Stalin too has his headaches over Albania. The tiny country of about a million people, of whom 70 percent are Moslems...

Albania, an outpost which Russia can reach only by sea and air. Albania is the most backward nation in Europe. Even before the war the standard of living of the Albanian people was about subsistence level...

The economic situation is worsening rapidly. Since her quarrel with the West, Albania has had to curtail her essential imports...

Her own rugged farms with small flocks and herds once produced 90 percent of her foodstuffs and forage. But threats of collectivization made by the Red government in Tirana have enraged the individualistic peasants...

It is shaking the already unstable foothold of the first deviationist rebel condemned was Vice Premier Xoxe, the Number Two man of the Communist Party...

Hoxha is the key to the current situation. If he gets military backing from Stalin, he might impulsively retaliate against Yugoslavia and Greece...

Albania's boss is not as picturesque as "White Dove" Tito. But, like him, he is a self-made revolutionist. He emulated Germany's Goering in a fondness for gaudy medals and bizarre uniforms...

Born into poverty in a down-trodden Moslem family, he migrated to Paris to study. He got a job on the French Communist paper, L'Humanite. Later he was hired by the Albanian legation but was discharged when his superiors discovered he was a Communist...

He went home to Albania to teach French in 1936. He was soon jailed for conspiracy against King Zog. When Mussolini invaded Albania in 1939, Hoxha fled to France. He was then recruited by the Axis into the Albanian Communist movement...

But there is now no law providing for payment of such claims. The War Claims Commission will make recommendations to Congress on what should be done about them...

More Generous
In dealing with civilian internees and employes of government contractors, however, the Congress has been somewhat more generous...

One reason for this more generous treatment of civilians is that the soldiers and sailors were on active duty and expected to face danger and suffering...

In the meantime, employes of the Pacific Naval contractors had been collecting under special workmen's compensation claims from Federal Security Administration...

Under this legislation, the naval contractors' employes were compensated at the rate of pay they would have received if they had been government employes...

For the full time of their detention. This averaged 40 months. It gave every one of 1300-odd civilian employes of the Navy contractors an average of over $8000...

He published a clandestine paper against the Italians and by them was sentenced to death in absentia. Later he rose to supreme command of a partisan army of 70,000 troops equipped with American and British weapons...

Though American arms freed his country from the Nazis and American loaves saved his people from death, the ingrate soon turned on his benefactor. By 1946 Hoxha's radio was the most insolent in Europe toward the United States — far worse than Moscow's...

Last year in a speech delivered in relays over a three-day period at the annual congress of the Albanian Communist Party, the hatemonger railed that the U. S. Military Mission was an agency for "espionage, sabotage and conspiracies"...

Now, as resistance movements are growing everywhere, Hoxha and his radio mouthpieces scream that America is in league with the "Belgrade Fascist," "paid agent of imperialism," "satellite of Wall Street maniacs," "Balkan executioner" and other party line pet names used to describe his oldtime pal, Josip Broz Tito...

Directly after the Rajk "terrace trials" in Hungary, Hoxha addressed a mass meeting of the Albanian-Yugoslav frontier, declaring, "The Budapest trial is fresh proof that Belgrade's fascist traitors conferred with the American Intelligence Service in Trieste..."

But although the fascist bandits understood each other, Tito was unable to carry out his blood-thirsty plans in relation to Albania. Relying on the help of the great Soviet Union, we will courageously defend our independence against the contemptible gang of American-Tito spies...

Apparently the expected help has not been enough to prevent economic collapse and rebellion, so Hoxha has now taken to Stalin with an SOS plea.

Is E. Stanley Jones a Great Moral Leader or a Betrayer of True Christian Ethics?

In the last issue I quoted a letter that I sent to E. Stanley Jones who is a Methodist evangelist and who is to give a series of sermons in Colorado Springs under the sponsorship of the Ministerial Alliance of Colorado Springs, Colorado...

Today I want to quote my second letter and further request to E. Stanley Jones for specific details as to how he can bring about the Kingdom of God by having the government bring about a condition whereby "every child born in the world" would be given an equal opportunity with every other child to an adequate education, a meaningful job, the respect of his fellows, to old age security and sickness benefits...

Dr. E. Stanley Jones

Dear Mr. Jones:

Thank you very much for your letter of November 15. You say I know your position in general from reading your books. Some of them I have not read. Do you tell in any of your books that those gifts whereby "every child born in the world" should be given an equal opportunity with every other child to an adequate education, a meaningful job, the respect of his fellows, to old age security and sickness benefits are to be given by the government?

Do you tell in any of your books how the government is to get the money to do these desirable acts without in the long run doing those things that are more harmful than good?

Do you tell in your books how the rich can be taxed without reducing the money they could put into the various agencies, thus causing the workers to lose the benefits and thus being able to produce less and thus earn less and thus cause more and more people to need these gifts? If so, on what page?

Do you tell in your books how you could encourage industry and inventiveness in the workers who know they are to be given a meaningful job (whatever that is) and old age security and sickness benefits whether they try to earn and merit them or not? If so, on what page?

Do you tell in your books how you would prevent those people receiving these gifts from voting for the poor and more of these gifts, if the majority has a moral, legal, and rational right to take from one to give to another. If so, on what page?

Do your books set forth as your "position" that any individual has a moral or rational right to interfere with or against another to force him to administer charity? If so, on what page?

Once a week this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — "You communists," writes M.R.A. of Columbus, O., "seem to take the fatalistic position that the Republican Party has no chance in 1952 because it cannot compete with the handouts which Mr. Truman and the Democrats promise to so many millions of voters — labor, farmers, old folks, veterans, etc."

"Maybe you are right. But don't the Republicans realize that, beginning now, they ought to convince those people that they themselves pay for these benefits out of their own pockets in high taxes, high prices and in other ways, and that nobody gets something for nothing?"

"I might also mention the fact that there is the prospect of another 1929 crackup, only worse, and that the only eventual result is national bankruptcy?"

UNPOPULAR — Answer: Top Republicans are debating the very question among themselves today, not only at Washington but throughout the country. So are many workers and white-collar people who belong to no particular party.

Their interest in future security is as keen as is that of those who demand more pensions, social security payments, wages, higher farm supports, etc. One GOP faction represented largely by the Taft group, insists that the party take the logical but possibly unpopular side of this issue. They would hammer at the question of even-tempered economic disaster and national bankruptcy, including the loss of current benefits, until the millions now enjoying them would, as they put it, "come to their senses."

That decision lies behind the recent warnings given by the heads of corporations like General Motors, du Pont, a few government officials, and former members of the Roosevelt cabinet.

WARNING — "What are you going to do when the money gives out?" That is the question which this faction of Republicans would ask, and keep on asking, until election eve of 1952.

They would point out that eventually there will not be enough money in the treasury to satisfy current claims, not to mention future burdens.

It is extremely difficult to simplify and dramatize such an issue. It will also provoke opposition charges that advocates of economy speak for the "cash interests," the privileged few — "Wall Street," etc. Mr. Truman has voiced that indictment many times already, and vows he will continue his demand for expansion to satisfy current claims, not to mention future burdens.

It is my opinion that this viewpoint — a day-by-day warning against over-spending — will prevail in Republican councils.

FLOW — "Please tell us," asks R.H.O. of Pampa, Texas, "the course of Marshall Plan aid from this country to the final recipients. Who actually gets it dumped in their laps with no effort whatever on their part?"

The news is not that we are being played for a sucker again, but that even Mr. Roosevelt, as American representative, got to the fact. "Those who give practically nothing," she cried with some reason, "voted to give to all peoples, regardless of who pays the bill." And later on she observed that we couldn't afford to feed everybody in India and Pakistan, so she suggested that we should give to only a couple of places where many people are chronically hungry.

There is nothing much more man can do with dominating wives, who insist that males were only made to listen all their lives to the never-ending clatter of the little woman's tongue...

"Shut your great big mouth, my darling, for you're not so hot yourself. I've seen blondes, brunettes and red heads who could put you on the shelf. If you'd spend less time complaining and instead would try to hear what some other folks are saying, why, you'd be amazed, my dear, that opinions voiced by others aren't always in the wrong, so button up your lip or sing a softer, sweeter song."

But quite soon his daydreams shatter and a woman's voice comes shrill: "—bought myself a hat and coat and told them where to send the bill." More than ever he's convinced that this is sure a woman's world, and it's just as well a fellow leaves his battle flag unfurled. So he sighs and then considers he'd be well off in the clink, where a man can speak out loud upon the thoughts he likes to think.

The Doctor Says

WRITTEN FOR NEA
Fibroid tumors of the uterus are so common in women during the middle years of life that they can be considered practically normal. These tumors of the uterus or womb are made up of muscle and scar-like tissue which varies greatly in size, but is, in some cases, as small as a pin and some quite large.

The symptoms which these tumors produce depend on their size and the blood supply and their location. Some of them never produce and symptoms and tend to shrink at the time of menopause, therefore, never needing any treatment at all. Others sometimes produce difficulties which require special attention. The most common, bleeding is excessive or painful, bloating, discomfort or even severe pain in the lower part of the abdomen is another common sign of a fibroid tumor.

When fibroid tumors are discovered they should be watched carefully because there is a tendency for them to grow gradually and for symptoms to develop. This depends partly on the age of the patient when the tumor is first noticed.

Another general principle is that after the menopause, surgery is the best treatment for those fibroids which require any treatment. Surgery can either involve removing the tumor or tumors, or more commonly, the whole uterus with the tumors attached has to be taken out.

Except for certain general rules, fibroid tumors of the uterus have to be considered on an individual basis. They may be large or small, they may produce symptoms or there may be none, treatment may not be necessary or there may be a question of choice between several methods. In addition to the severe symptoms which they can produce, fibroids can become cancerous and for these reasons should never be neglected.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Question: Can cataracts be prevented? Answer: Unfortunately, there is no known way of preventing cataracts as yet. Perhaps this will come out in it not here yet.

"He pans too fast and forgets to focus. Unless he has 75 grips working with him, he's unhappy. So I take the movies."

NORWEGIANS LOST ONE-FIFTH OF THEIR WEALTH DURING FIVE-YEAR OCCUPATION

Champion Is Socially Secure Nag

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — How much social security can a horse use? Gene Autry's Champion is getting $25,000 worth.

The super-intelligent nag is the beneficiary of one of the strangest insurance policies in this town of strange insurance policies. Everything has been insured — from Jimmy Durante's nose to Betty Grable's gams.

"I want to be sure that if anything happens to me, Champ won't have to end his days pulling a milk wagon," explained Autry.

So the policy was signed and sealed last week. It provides a $25,000 endowment to take care of the horse. That can provide a lot of oats and carrots (Autry doesn't approve of giving the horse sugar.)

"The fund will provide $100 a month for feed and $100 a month for someone to watch after Champ," the cowpoke added.

The socially secure nag is actually the second Champion, the first having died in 1945 at 16 years. Gene believes it died of heart failure, a common Hollywood fatality.

Champion II is now four years old and will perform another 13 years before retiring to clip coupons.

Naturally, the insurance policy had to be observed in true Hollywood fashion, so Gene and Champion showed up at the insurance office on Highland Ave. to complete the pact.

While photographers' bulbs flashed, the horse was led into the office. The horse nibbled on the contract and Autry signed.

Santa Claus Visits City by Parachute
DALLAS — (AP) — Santa Claus arrived in Dallas Sunday on a pre-Christmas visit — by parachute.

He shook like a bowlful of jelly when he landed with a jolt. Then a 20-mile-an-hour wind caught the chute and skittered the jolly old gentleman across the field until a helper stopped him with a flying tackle.

"This was Santa Claus' first jump," Santa told some 10,000 who watched him make the descent, "and from now on hell come to Dallas by reindeer."

The Nazi five-year occupation of Norway cost the Norwegians one-fifth of their wealth, Dr. M. M. Nickel wrote her sister, Mrs. J. Herman Jones, 601 N. Gray, last week.

Dr. Nickel of Wichita, Kans., is touring Europe as one of a party of 10 studying European needs for the Church of the Brethren.

In the north part of Norway, Dr. Nickel wrote, more than 60,000 Norwegians were either killed outright or forcibly removed from their lands.

The Norwegians are very short of blankets and linens, "but we were able to get blankets for 20 orphan girls," she wrote.

In amazing contrast to the size of some Texas wheat and cattle ranches, a Norwegian farm of 12 1/2 acres is considered "large."

Less than a fourth of the country is tillable.

Fishing is one of the chief occupations and fish play an important part in the Norwegian diet. During the war many fishermen deliberately sank their boats to keep them out of German hands, but nearly all of them have since been recovered.

Sweden, Norway's Scandinavian neighbor, is very peace conscious. There are 12 different societies devoted to propagating the doctrine of international peace that have an aggregate active membership of more than 3,000.

Both labor unions and the government help support the various societies, and Sweden has not been involved in a war in 138 years.

There are more than 58 million acres of natural forest in Sweden, so wood and paper industries rank first in the nation, Dr. Nickel said. Nearly half the standing timber in Lapland is more than 120 years old.

As in Norway, the Lutheran Church predominates, claiming about 99 percent of the population of both countries. Education and military service are compulsory, and English is taught in all the schools.

During the war the Danish underground smuggled thousands of refugees across the narrow channel to Sweden.

The Danes' traditional good humor was put to a considerable strain during the five years of German occupation. Denmark lost over 2 1/2 billion dollars in wealth and revenue besides a countless number of cattle that the Nazis confiscated.

Denmark is the "dairy" of Europe; its principal business is exporting milk, butter, eggs, and bacon, besides potatoes and machinery to most of Western Europe.

Another well established business is digging natural rock to make rock wool for insulating bricklayers' hoods.

Since the war the Danes have sheltered and fed more than a million displaced persons. They have gradually been either re-established somewhere else or have been returned to their homes.

ME, TOO!
DENVER — (AP) — Denver folk — at least those who read the "Dear Mrs. Mayfield" column in the Rocky Mountain News — wonder how the garter-in-the-turkey episode came out.

The column Thursday carried a letter about the garter. It was signed "loving wife" and told how she found a blue garter in her husband's suitcase after he returned from a trip.

Attached to the letter was a note, "so you'll remember me."

"Loving wife," she explained, planned to hide the garter in the turkey stuffing and then watch her husband's expression when he found it while carving the Thanksgiving turkey.

The letter writer failed to identify herself further.

Friday the secretary of "Molly Mayfield," who conducts the column, said she didn't know the outcome — there had been no further communications from "loving wife."

The secretary said she hoped there would be.

Average American Spending More Freely as He Makes More Money

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The average American is taking in almost three times the money he did in 1939 and he's spending it a little more freely than he did three months ago.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that consumer income is 190 percent higher than 1939, just three percent under the peak reached last year.

And the board noted that people as a whole are spending an increasing proportion of their income—$93.10 per $100 of income after taxes in the third quarter of this year as compared with $91.60 in the first quarter and $92.30 in the third quarter of last year.

The continued high level of consumer income—and willingness to spend it—helped markedly in cushioning the economic downturn earlier this year, the board said.

The agency's November bulletin showed consumer income flowing at the rate of $210,600,000 a year in the third quarter (July through September). That's roughly $1,400 for every man, woman and child in the country and reflects a 19 percent increase for the postwar period alone.

Wage and salary income, which accounts for $134,400,000 of the total, was up 198 percent from 1939 (the number of workers also had increased) and 23 percent from 1946. It was off only two percent from the peak reached in the fourth quarter of 1948.

Total wage and salary income in goods-producing industries was up 234 percent over 1939 and 27 percent over 1946. In stores the increase was 206 percent from 1939, 31 percent for the early postwar period and one percent above last year's high mark.

Reindeer in Texas for Yule Season

DALLAS — (AP) — Six Alaskan reindeer, cut from a wild herd, were in Texas today after a flight from the frozen wastes above the Arctic Circle.

Grady Carothers, a rancher from Goldwaite in Central Texas, stopped in Dallas with the deer Thursday. The animals will join four deer already on his ranch for Christmas parades throughout the state.

Only a few weeks ago, the six reindeer, scattered deer, were running wild in two feet of snow. Carothers, with two Eskimo guides, tracked down the herd and cut out the six deer.

"At first we worked them with sled dogs to get the deer started working in traces," the rancher explained.

"I had to sleep with the herd when it was bedded down to keep off the wolves," Carothers said. "But the only real trouble we had was with our own dogs."

The huskies got out of hand one morning and attacked the deer. While the Eskimos held the deer, the Texan beat the dogs off with a club.

Carothers spent some time breaking the deer before loading them into a Slick Airways plane.

"Last year I brought back four wild deer without taming them first. They nearly kicked the plane to pieces," he said.

Carothers rode with the six little deer for the entire flight. "They didn't seem to mind flying at all," he said.

They ate hay in flight, but the rancher forgot to take along oatmeal. "They love oatmeal, and I'll have to get some soon as we get home," he said.

400 German Miners Succumb in Fire

BERLIN — (AP) — The British-licensed newspaper Telegraph said Monday that 400 German miners died last Thursday when fire broke out in a uranium mine in the Soviet Zone of Germany.

Telegraph said it had also learned that 300 miners were drowned when water flooded another Soviet Zone uranium mine several weeks ago.

Fisheries Hunt Is Scheduled in Gulf of Mexico

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A major fisheries hunt in the Gulf of Mexico — the first search of its kind to be made — will be started late next month by the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Albert M. Day, service director, announced the project, to explore and develop off-shore fisheries in the gulf, will be undertaken by the 100-foot service vessel Oregon.

The vessel hunted unsuccessfully for albacore tuna off the Alaskan coast last summer and is due from the Gulf about Dec. 20 from Seattle by way of the Panama Canal.

Day said the Oregon, carrying a crew of seven and two engineers, biologists, will make its headquarters at Pascagoula, Miss.

The ship will work closely with the fishing industry — the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission, and representatives of Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, Day said.

Fisheries experts expect the Gulf survey to reveal substantial new deep water shrimp grounds, new menhaden resources and possible species of tuna that can be exploited, he added.

The Oregon also hopes to develop new resources of red snapper, Spanish mackerel, flat fish and king mackerel.

The agency has a new vessel under construction at Tacoma, Wash., to replace the Oregon in exploration of northern waters next summer.

Famous Yugoslav Sculptor in Voluntary Exile in America

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Ivan Mestrovic, the famous Yugoslav sculptor who is in voluntary exile in America, tells me Marshal Tito has urged him not once but many times during the past three years to return to his native land — but Mestrovic is sitting tight for the present.

This great artist, whose work aroused the enthusiasm of the immortal Rodin, is teaching sculpture at Syracuse University Fine Arts School. He says he likes SU and its friendly atmosphere.

There undoubtedly is a stirring story back of Mestrovic's repeated refusal to return to the land he loves. However, he chooses to preserve the Mestrovic-Tito mystery. I had a long chat with him a couple of days ago and he epitomized the reason for his decision thus: "I am not in sympathy with the regime."

For brevity that's rather reminiscent of Cal Coolidge's famous: "I do not choose to run." Still, if you know the Yugoslavs, and if you know the story of Mestrovic's life, it's rather easy to add a good deal to his statement. We might well begin with these key facts:

Mestrovic is rated as one of Yugoslavia's great patriots; he is a red-hot nationalist and dislikes dictators of all sorts; he is strongly religious and has been a staunch supporter of the Catholic Church, one of his close friends being Archbishop Stepanac. The archbishop is now in a Yugoslav prison under a sixteen-year sentence on a charge of collaboration with the Axis powers.

Mestrovic comes from a Croat peasant family. All his people consistently fought for freedom and against any sort of dictatorship. More than incidentally he believes that all dictators should stay art — a fact which may help explain his attitude toward the Tito regime.

That brings us up to the very natural question of just why Tito keeps pressing for Mestrovic to return to Yugoslavia. It strikes me personally that it's a fair guess Tito wants Mestrovic back because he is the outstanding figure in the country's field of art. The sculptor is a Yugoslav institution in himself.

Tech Deeded Pan-Tex Plant

LUBBOCK — Formal transfer of 17,000 acres and 433 buildings on the former Pan-Tex Ordnance plant area near Amarillo has been made to Texas Tech by the General Service Administration. The property is valued at $23,000,000.

The GSA — successor to the War Assets Administration — turned a deed for the wartime property over to Charles C. Thompson, Colorado City, chairman of Tech's Board of Directors.

Tech has been operating the Pan-Tex farm since an interim agreement was reached with the GSA last April. The transfer is classified as an educational grant and will cost the college nothing.

Dean W. L. Stangel said the farm will continue to be used as an agriculture experiment station on a self-sustaining basis.

The CAMEO

By Virginia Teale

THE STORY: Police are still searching for clues in the murder of Nellya Blair, artist and blackmailer. In questioning Andy Yakov, one of the suspects, and searching his house, they found nothing. But Yakov has taken some letters from Blair's home.

XVIII

INSTEAD of the usual wooden frame, the portrait canvas was tacked to a plywood board. Yakov gently pried a dozen or so tacks loose and lifted the board. Several letters were attached to the other side with strips of cellulose tape. He peeled them off and took them back to the sitting room where he settled himself comfortably in the favorite chair.

"Here, first of all, Babushka, we have letters from the lovely Nellya Blair, her friend, Martin. And here, we have two very interesting communications from a young lady living in the state of Tennessee. Also of interest is this letter to our murdered friend from the costume wardrobe mistress of an American ballet company. And this last one, Babushka, it tells of Natasha, the talented sister of Nellya, and also of her child, a long lost child, who, of course, would be Nellya's niece." He scratched mechanically at his ear. "Could you but locate that child, that young lady, she would be of infinite help in our search for that which we have been ordered to find."

He threw a chunk of wood on the fire. "Orders. Always orders. Never in there a complete and happy divorcement from the orders." He stroked the cat's head. "I am tired and therefore my conversation becomes dull and redundant. But all this is true. One must—as the Americans say—'play the game,' or one courts disaster for those of one's family who have remained behind in the mother country."

He leaned back and extended his feet to the fire. "So one dispatches promising reports and Nellya had no right to the piece. Backed by her authority as a well-known collector, Hagar would announce that she knew the entire story of the cameo, including the identity of its current legal owner.

A car slid to a stop in front of the shop. Stephanie drew a sharp, deep breath as she recognized the driver: It was that young man again, Mr. Reddy, the police chief's assistant. He was here to ask more questions, she felt sure of it. And Hagar wasn't here to parry them this time!

continues the search. The daughter of Natasha would be invaluable at this time. But who is to say where the girl might be found?"

Slowly deliberate, he rested his elbows on his knees and pinched his lower lip between thumb and forefinger. His eyes were fiercely intent as he stared into the flames. His body stiffened, he snapped his fingers, then sprang from his chair to pace the room.

The cat questioned him in her peculiar hoarse voice.

"It could be she!" Yakov exclaimed. "It could conceivably be she! The blue-eyed Miss Smith, the friend and assistant of Miss Hagar Blair!"

STEPHANIE, standing at the broad front windows of the Three Wishes Shop, looked at her watch and saw that it registered 5 o'clock. Hagar had promised to return by 4:30 and had gone to talk to Nell O'Neill about the cameo. Hagar had, at first, been in favor of informing Nell that Stephanie was her niece and the rightful owner of the locket, then demanding that the cameo be returned to her. But Stephanie had argued that this would accomplish nothing. Nellya was sure to claim that the cameo had been given to her by Natasha, Stephanie's mother.

She recalled again, bitterly, the circumstances surrounding Nellya's death. Her aunt had started operations by hammering at her sister that the locket should be sold to insure Stephanie's future. Natasha had held back a final decision but had permitted her sister to take the locket to an appraiser.

And that was the last they had seen of Nellya. Or of the locket.

Today, presumably, Hagar was finding out whether Nellya suspected the whereabouts of the cameo. Also, Hagar planned to let fall the information that she knew

87 NEW INTERNATIONALS OFFERED

EIGHTY-SEVEN new L-Line basic truck chassis models have been introduced by the motor truck division of International Harvester Company. It has been announced from Chicago. The new line, some of which can be seen tomorrow for the first time at Hogue-Mills Equipment Co., 821 W. Brown, features shorter overall lengths, greater maneuverability, better load distribution and more economical operation. According to the announcement from Hogue-Mills, a new cab design offers greater all-round visibility and provides more interior room, less, comfort and convenience.

States, head of Harold W. Stoke, president of Louisiana State University, said yesterday that college faculties should be strong factors in the fight for academic freedom.

Dudley K. Woodward, Dallas, chairman of the University of Texas Board of Regents, also spoke to the deans.

In an informal discussion following the talks by Stoke and Woodward, the Texas University regent said:

"I am amazed at the emphasis being placed on the word 'security.' So little is said about the word 'opportunity.' You can get security in any penitentiary."

Dr. Ernest V. Hollis of the U. S. Office of Education predicted yesterday that President Truman will seek millions of dollars for aiding needy high school graduates to obtain college educations.

What the President has in mind, he said in an interview, is a program of scholarships and fellowship grants.

These grants, he said, would be awarded to high school graduates with the "best minds" all over the nation and would be limited to those who otherwise could not afford to go to college.

The main motive behind the plan, said Hollis, is to provide the nation with intelligent, well-trained leaders.

Another purpose, he added, is to cushion the expiration of the GI educational aid program.

FIRST

President Wilson was abroad, utterly preoccupied by the Versailles Treaty and the League of Nations.

Here at home many congressmen, with the White House check-rem-off, were feeling their oats. There was a great deal of war-lift inflation, which was to lead to the recession in mid-1920. Politically, socially and economically, the nation was an untamed corral, filled with bawling and milling about.

The Communist Party, only a few weeks old, was divided into two factions. Powerful radical leaders still held the loyalty of thousands; Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist, was one who had lost little by his conviction of espionage in 1918. Politically, he was a great deal of respect.

In February, 50 of Haywood's lieutenants were deported. In April New York postal inspectors found bombs in the mails, addressed to prominent persons; in June Attorney General Palmer's Washington home was damaged by a bomb. Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were in a Massachusetts jail, awaiting trial for the murder of a Brantree paymaster. Sacco and Vanzetti were destined to live a seven-year fight for freedom, to be executed and to be set up forthwith by the Communies as the first great martyrs of the New World revolution. Actually neither Sacco nor Vanzetti was a Communist. The Communies simply moved in and grabbed the act.

Onto this arena strode Palmer and his chief aide, William J. Flynn, the famed detective then heading the Bureau of Investigation. Coincidentally, the New York Legislature empowered Sen. Clayton R. Lusk to turn his committee loose on radicals in the state.

The November raids were little more than experiments. On the seventh, Palmer's men seized 250 officers of the Union of Russian Workers, in 12 cities. Next day the Lusk committee agents hit 70 Communist Party meeting places and hauled in as many members as they used police force. Eighteen days later the Immigration Service had deported 230 aliens, but could not be sure how many of them were actual advocates of revolution. (Two were: Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, avowed leaders of anarchism.)

The greatest raid, painstakingly prepared like a military maneuver, occurred Jan. 2, 1920. Hundreds of agents swooped down simultaneously on leftist halls in 60 cities. The net was impressive: 700 in New York, 400 in Boston, 800 in Detroit, 180 in Buffalo, 200 each in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Chicago. Throughout the balance of the month, mop-up squads continued the arrests, with Sacco and Vanzetti's 318 biggest of the latter-month raids.

The public clamor, to which was added bitter Congressional criticism of Attorney General Palmer, put an end to the raids in April. For three years, then, two separate committees of Congress investigated, at the end ordering a number of reforms to make sure the future would not see the in-Constitutional acts repeated.

When they had done, the "treat-em-rough" technique was a used firecracker.

And for 20 years the Communies were to walk virtually unmolested on what had been a great battleground, pointing to its scars as living proof that capitalism is wrong and Red revolution right.

marriage license had been taken out.

Here is the story which Kidd told Porterfield at Little Rock: He and Ellen were married last October while he was with a street carnival. About three weeks later he learned his wife had been going out with two strangers. He slugged one of the men and stabbed the other. At Eastport he drove his wife to a country road, beat her with his fists, shot her with a pistol, and threw her body into a nearby bayou.

He then drove to Memphis and threw the gun in the Mississippi River. While there he met Richard Allen, 21, of Chicago and they began a tour through the Midwest.

The two were arrested Friday night in Prescott, Ark., for burglarizing a store. Each received prison sentences of three years.

AIRLINER

Robert Lewis, first officer, and William S. Forbes, flight engineer.

Hostesses on the plane were Josephine Cadena and Margaret van Bibern, the spokesmen said.

The man who said he was co-pilot collapsed on the porch at the home of J. M. Kidd, about 100 yards from the field. He was taken to a hospital.

Mrs. K. C. Gullett said other survivors straggled into her front yard.

A couple came up with a baby. The man was carrying the baby. The baby was bleeding and crying. In a few minutes, an ambulance took these people away. All of the injured were taken to Parkland Hospital, a city-owned institution.

The scene was one of organized chaos for hours after the crash. Ambulances and fire trucks raced over the field. Sightseers crowded in.

A wing was the nearest intact part of the plane. One part of the wing still had two motors in it. The propellers were bent, but still in place. The wing was lying at the side of what is left of the Magnaflex Plant. Part of another wing was nearby—a burned-out engine on it.

The rest of the plane was a scrambled mess of wreckage.

The plane left New York at 10:47 (EST) last night, American Airlines said. It left Washington—its last stop—at 12:54 a. m. (EST).

The huge plane was coming in for a landing when it crashed on the northwest edge of the field. It immediately burst into flames. Love Field, Dallas' chief airport, is seven miles northwest from the heart of the city.

One engine was feathered, American airlines said, indicating something was wrong with one of the four engines. But the plane was approaching the field in a routine manner before the crash, the airlines said.

As dawn broke, the big stack of blackened, wet wreckage was bright from portable floodlights. Firemen in their black coats were climbing all over the wreckage.

Hundreds of people got into the area in spite of a police blockade. The screaming ambulances and fire trucks added to the pandemonium.

Regular traffic seemed to be continuing at the field, however. Col. Harold Byrd, chief of the Texas Civil Air Patrol right at the scene, said, "this is terrible, just terrible. There is no other word."

COMINFORM

country and liquidated the political independence and economic sovereignty of Yugoslavia."

The communists published in Pravda, voice of the Russian Communist Party (Bolshevik), said representatives from the Communist parties of eight countries attended the meeting to exchange views on a number of important subjects. The countries represented were Russia, Poland, Hungary, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, France and Italy.

With Yugoslavia, these were the original parties making up the Cominform when it was organized at a secret meeting in Poland in September, 1947.

As a warning against "Titoism" in other Communist parties the communists declared:

"Agents of the Tito clique are today acting as the bitterest splitters of the ranks of the working class and the democratic movements and are carrying out the will of the American imperialists."

"For this reason," it added, "a decisive struggle is necessary against the intrigues of these agents of the imperialists wherever they try to work in the workers and democratic organizations."

The keynote of the meeting, the communists said, was given by Mikhail Andrevich Suslov (propaganda chief of the Soviet Communist Party). He gave a report on "the defense of peace and the struggle against the warmongers."

Another resolution charged the Western powers with preparing for a new world war.

"The whole policy," it said, "of the Anglo-American imperialist bloc serves in the preparation of a new war."

It said this policy was shown in the transformation of Western Germany and Japan into "hotbeds of fascism" and the West's "disruption of peace through agreement with Germany and Japan."

The CAMEO

By Virginia Teale

THE STORY: Police are still searching for clues in the murder of Nellya Blair, artist and blackmailer. In questioning Andy Yakov, one of the suspects, and searching his house, they found nothing. But Yakov has taken some letters from Blair's home.

INSTEAD of the usual wooden frame, the portrait canvas was tacked to a plywood board. Yakov gently pried a dozen or so tacks loose and lifted the board. Several letters were attached to the other side with strips of cellulose tape. He peeled them off and took them back to the sitting room where he settled himself comfortably in the favorite chair.

Here, first of all, Babushka, he saw letters from the lovely Nellya Blair, her friend, Martin. And here, he found two very interesting communications from a young lady living in the state of Tennessee. Also of interest is this letter to our murdered friend from the costume wardrobe mistress of an American ballet company. And this last one, Babushka, it tells of Natasha, the talented sister of Nellya, and also of her child, a long lost child, who, of course, would be Nellya's niece. He scratched mechanically at his ear. "Could you but locate that child, that young lady, she would be of infinite help in our search for that which we have been ordered to find."

He threw a chunk of wood on the fire. "Orders. Always orders. Never in there a complete and happy divorcement from the orders." He stroked the cat's head. "I am tired and therefore my conversation becomes dull and redundant. But all this is true. One must—as the Americans say—'play the game,' or one courts disaster for those of one's family who have remained behind in the mother country."

He leaned back and extended his feet to the fire. "So one dispatches promising reports and Nellya had no right to the piece. Backed by her authority as a well-known collector, Hagar would announce that she knew the entire story of the cameo, including the identity of its current legal owner.

A car slid to a stop in front of the shop. Stephanie drew a sharp, deep breath as she recognized the driver: It was that young man again, Mr. Reddy, the police chief's assistant. He was here to ask more questions, she felt sure of it. And Hagar wasn't here to parry them this time!

THE customer-bell tinkled as he entered. Stephanie breathed herself. "Hello," he began pleasantly, "all alone today?"

"She gave him a nervous smile and a slight nod. She watched him saunter here and there in the shop, looking at things, picking them up and putting them carefully down. He stood for a few seconds in front of the cameo cabinet, hands in the pockets of his gray flannel trousers.

He met her eyes: "Miss Blair out?"

"Yes," Stephanie heard the word come out as a soft squeak. She cleared her throat and tried again: "Yes. She had some business to—attend to. Did you want to see her?"

"Not especially," he answered. "Much rather talk to you. Have you any new and bright ideas on the Cameo Case?"

Observing his grin, she relaxed a little. "The Cameo Case?"

"His tone was casually friendly. 'Better yet, we could call it the 'Case of the Carnelian Cameo.' It would help some if I knew what the thing looked like. Everybody who's seen it gives me a different picture. You've seen it, haven't you? Why not give me your description?"

Stephanie felt fidgety. Her eyes probed the back of Reddy's head—he was again looking into the cameo cabinet.

"I suppose," he said, "it's a lot more impressive than any of these others."

"Oh yes!" She couldn't seem to curb her enthusiasm.

87 NEW INTERNATIONALS OFFERED

EIGHTY-SEVEN new L-Line basic truck chassis models have been introduced by the motor truck division of International Harvester Company. It has been announced from Chicago. The new line, some of which can be seen tomorrow for the first time at Hogue-Mills Equipment Co., 821 W. Brown, features shorter overall lengths, greater maneuverability, better load distribution and more economical operation. According to the announcement from Hogue-Mills, a new cab design offers greater all-round visibility and provides more interior room, less, comfort and convenience.

STASSEN

(Continued From Page 1) States, head of Harold W. Stoke, president of Louisiana State University, said yesterday that college faculties should be strong factors in the fight for academic freedom.

Dudley K. Woodward, Dallas, chairman of the University of Texas Board of Regents, also spoke to the deans.

In an informal discussion following the talks by Stoke and Woodward, the Texas University regent said:

"I am amazed at the emphasis being placed on the word 'security.' So little is said about the word 'opportunity.' You can get security in any penitentiary."

Dr. Ernest V. Hollis of the U. S. Office of Education predicted yesterday that President Truman will seek millions of dollars for aiding needy high school graduates to obtain college educations.

What the President has in mind, he said in an interview, is a program of scholarships and fellowship grants.

These grants, he said, would be awarded to high school graduates with the "best minds" all over the nation and would be limited to those who otherwise could not afford to go to college.

The main motive behind the plan, said Hollis, is to provide the nation with intelligent, well-trained leaders.

Another purpose, he added, is to cushion the expiration of the GI educational aid program.

FIRST

Here at home many congressmen, with the White House check-rem-off, were feeling their oats. There was a great deal of war-lift inflation, which was to lead to the recession in mid-1920. Politically, socially and economically, the nation was an untamed corral, filled with bawling and milling about.

The Communist Party, only a few weeks old, was divided into two factions. Powerful radical leaders still held the loyalty of thousands: Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist, was one who had lost little by his conviction of espionage in 1918, and was to jump bail to flee the country in 1921, as did Gerhart Eisler in 1949, but he yet could order widespread strikes and have the order respected.

In February, 50 of Haywood's lieutenants were deported. In April New York postal inspectors found bombs in the mails, addressed to prominent persons; in June Attorney General Palmer's Washington home was damaged by a bomb. Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were in a Massachusetts jail, awaiting trial for the murder of a Braintree policeman.

The greatest raid, painstakingly prepared like a military maneuver, occurred Jan. 2, 1920. Hundreds of agents swooped down simultaneously on leftist halls in 60 cities. The net was impressive: 700 in New York, 400 in Boston, 800 in Detroit, 180 in Buffalo, 200 each in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Chicago. Throughout the balance of the month, mop-up squads continued the arrests, with Sacco and Vanzetti's 318 biggest of the latter-month raids.

The public clamor, to which the November raids were little more than experiments. On the seventh, Palmer's men seized 250 officers of the Union of Russian Workers, in 12 cities. Next day the Lusk committee agents hit 70 Communist Party meeting places and hauled in as many members as they used police. Eighteen days later the Immigration Service had deported 230 aliens, but could not be sure how many of them were actual advocates of revolution. (Two were: Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, avowed leaders of anarchism.)

was added bitter Congressional criticism of Attorney General Palmer, put an end to the raids in April. For three years, then, two separate committees of Congress investigated, at the end ordering a number of reforms to make sure the future would not see the in-Constitutional acts repeated.

When they had done, the "treat-em-rough" technique was a used firecracker.

And for 20 years the Communists were to walk virtually unmolested on what had been a great battleground, pointing to its scars as living proof that capitalism is wrong and Red revolution right.

GIRL

Here is the story which Kidd told Porterfield at Little Rock: He and Ellen were married last October while he was with a street carnival. About three weeks later he learned his wife had been going out with two strangers. He slugged one of the men and stabbed the other. At Eastport he drove his wife to a country road, beat her with his fists, shot her with a pistol, and threw her body into a nearby bayou.

He then drove to Memphis and threw the gun in the Mississippi River. While there he met Richard Allen, 21, of Chicago and they began a tour through the Midwest.

The two were arrested Friday night in Prescott, Ark., for burglarizing a store. Each received prison sentences of three years.

Hostesses on the plane were Josephine Cadena and Margaret van Bibern, the spokesmen said.

The man who said he was co-pilot collapsed on the porch at the home of J. M. Kidd, about 100 yards from the field. He was taken to a hospital.

Mrs. K. C. Gullett said other survivors straggled into her front yard.

A couple came up with a baby. The man was carrying the baby. The baby was bleeding and crying. In a few minutes, an ambulance took these people away. All of the injured were taken to Parkland Hospital, a city-owned institution.

The scene was one of organized chaos for hours after the crash. Ambulances and fire trucks raced over the field. Sights were crowded in.

A wing was the nearest intact part of the plane. One part of the wing still had two motors in it. The propellers were bent, but still in place. The wing was lying at the side of what is left of the Magnaflex Plant. Part of another wing was nearby—a burned-out engine on it.

The rest of the plane was a scrambled mess of wreckage. The plane left New York at 10:47 (EST) last night, American Airlines said. It left Washington—its last stop—at 12:54 a. m. (EST).

The huge plane was coming in for a landing when it crashed on the northwest edge of the field. It immediately burst into flames. Love Field, Dallas' chief airport, is seven miles northwest from the heart of the city.

One engine was feathered, American airlines said, indicating something was wrong with one of the four engines. But the plane was approaching the field in a routine manner before the crash, the airlines said.

As dawn broke, the big stack of blackened, wet wreckage was bright from portable floodlights. Firemen in their black coats were climbing all over the wreckage.

Hundreds of people got into the area in spite of a police blockade. The screaming ambulances and fire trucks added to the pandemonium.

Regular traffic seemed to be continuing at the field, however. Col. Harold Byrd, chief of the Texas Civil Air Patrol right at the scene, said, "this is terrible, just terrible. There is no other word."
