Committee Is Considering Sherman Post

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee reversed itself today and decided to question Secretary of the Navy Matthews about the defense policy row before passing on Admiral Forrest P. Sherman for chief of naval operations.

The final action, without a formal ballot, reversed a formal 5 to 5 vote on party lines that voted a Republican request for testimony by the secretary.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) who had won the earlier victory over Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) in a tense argument, said he hoped the session later today would approve Sherman's nomination without getting into the Presidential contest of Admiral Louis Denfeld as chief of naval operations.

The first 5-5 vote followed 90 minutes of heated argument between Tydings and Knowland.

Voting with Tydings were Senators Chapman (D-Ky.), Johnson (D-Tex.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.), and Hunt (D-Wyo.).

Supporting Knowland were Senators Bridges (R-Neb.), Gurney (R-SD), Saltonstall (R-Mass.) and Morse (R-Ore.).

The Californian protested attempts "to gag" senators and at one point threatened to resign as a member of the committee.

DIAL PHONE COMMITMENT IS REQUESTED

A. O. Thomas, division superintendent of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. of Amarillo, was asked yesterday to get as definite a commitment as possible about whether Pampa can get dial phone service.

Thomas and George Newberry, manager of the Pampa exchange, met in the City Commission Room in the City Hall yesterday, in the first of a projected series of meetings with a citizens' advisory committee appointed last week to study the phone company's recent request for a rate increase.

Chris Douglass, local attorney, suggested that Thomas try to get a reasonably definite commitment on what Pampa subscribers can expect dial phone service.

Douglass is chairman of both a 32-man advisory committee appointed by Mayor C. A. Huff last week and of a special subcommittee picked from the parent committee to get all information available on phone company operations in Pampa.

It was the subcommittee, present among the members being A. A. Schuneman, Ivy E. Duncan, Travis Lively, J. N. Tate, and Williams, G. B. Cree, and Douglass, that met with the phone company executives yesterday.

No member of the group expressed an opinion on the feasibility or justice of a rate increase based on the company's claim that it is operating at nearly a three percent loss in Pampa. Any opinion must wait until all the facts on company operation are available.

Most of the questions asked Thomas and Newberry centered around the possibilities of improvements in service.

Commies Ready to Strike Island

TAIPEI, Formosa—(AP)—Red China was reliably reported massing forces today for a smash at rugged Hainan Island, Nationalist refuge off the South China coast.

Information reaching Hong Kong said the Communists could land on the island at will. Some 17,000 Red guerrillas already on the island control the heart of the iron ore rich island and 100 miles of the west coast.

Unconfirmed rumors flew that the Reds already had landed on the west coast. But Nationalist sources here said they had no knowledge of any landings.

Nationalist naval units were sent to Hainan Strait, a narrow strip of water that is barely five miles wide at one point separating Hainan from the Chinese mainland. All but a mile of the straight at this point could be waded by troops.

The Nationalist Navy Task Force reported it sank 30 of 50 Red junks trying to invade Weichow Island off Liuchow Peninsula.

News dispatches reported a big concentration of Communist craft mainly in Hangchow Bay for an invasion of the Chu San Islands, 100 miles south of Shanghai. The Chu San Islands are used as a base by Nationalist warships maintaining the Shanghai blockade. The Chu San group is 20 miles long and 10 miles wide.

These dispatches said the Communist fleet was composed of 1,000 craft averaging 40 tons and another 1,000 averaging 15 tons. Neither the Navy, Army nor Air Force, which has been bombed by Communist China, had anything to confirm a rumor 1,000 Red craft were bound for Hainan.

Hainan Strait was under heavy naval and air patrol. Nationalist troops on the island were alerted. They guarded against an outbreak by Red guerrillas who have a part of Hainan under their control.

6 Found Dead in Fire-Swept Home

HAMMOND, Ind. — (AP) — The bodies of four adults and two children were found in a fire-swept home here today and Deputy Coroner B. W. Tidlaw said there was evidence of murder and suicide.

Police said "blood was all over the place." They said they found several bloody butcher knives and empty .22 caliber cartridges in the house.

Four victims were identified as Felix Samas, 33, a machinist; his wife, Katherine, 24, and their two children, Felix, Jr., 4, and Phyllis Elaine, 18 months.

The two other adults were identified as Richard Norman, 23, and his Christmas bride, Shirley, 18. They were staying in the Samas home.

The deputy coroner said bullet wounds were found in the bodies of Mrs. Samas and her son.

An autopsy was to be performed on the body of Samas to determine the cause of his death.

Officers said they were informed Samas and his wife had separated before Christmas and that the Normans had taken a room in the Samas home on the southeast side of Hammond.

Thomas Says Wheat Is Not Badly Hurt

Wheat near Pampa has not been badly hurt because of lack of moisture as it has in Northwest Texas and in other parts of the High Plains, Ralph Thomas, Gray County agent, said this morning.

The Associated Press has reported Northwest Texas and the High Plains to be "critically dry," with field work restricted.

Thomas and Foster Whaley, assistant county agent, made several soil moisture tests yesterday in this vicinity and found favorable sub-soil moisture conditions.

In testing the soil of various wheat fields, the two men discovered the "thinner the wheat, the better the moisture conditions."

Thomas said wheat fields in other sections of the county soon will be tested, but he believes the soil moisture conditions are "pretty good" throughout the county.

Rain and sleet improved the moisture situation over much of the state during the past weekend, but rain is still needed in Northwest Texas, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said.

Wheat was frozen to the ground in the High Plains where the cold was most intense, the USDA said, but it does not appear to have been seriously damaged. Winter grains and cover crops in northern and central areas were not hurt by the freeze.

Sun Oil Faced With Violation Anti-Trust Law

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Justice Department today charged the Sun Oil Company of Philadelphia with anti-trust law violations in the sale and distribution of gasoline and automobile accessories.

Attorney General McGrath announced that a civil anti-trust action was filed against Sun, the maker of "Sunco" products, in the Federal District Court in Philadelphia.

He said the complaint accuses Sun of compelling some 10,000 independent service station operators in 18 states and the District of Columbia to enter into exclusive purchasing contracts with Sunco.

These contracts, the suit alleges, require these service stations to purchase their gasoline, motor oils and other petroleum products from Sunco.

Dee Patterson Files for Reelection

The filing of Mrs. Dee Patterson's name as a candidate to succeed herself as district clerk in the fourth district of this county brought to five the number of candidates in the field for as many different offices in the July 22 Democratic primary.

Although several others have announced themselves as candidates for the office, Mrs. Patterson has placed on record for a place on the ballot until they have officially filed with Democratic County Chairman John V. Andrews.

Smart Bucking Broncos Set For Big Rodeo

DENVER — (AP) — There are about 200 very smart bucking broncos on hand here today, and the odds are that they'll do a fair job of making Friday the thirteenth a traditionally melancholy day for some of the cowpokes who try to ride them.

Maybe you never thought of a bucking bronco as being smart. There are folks who think the buckers are simply horses who flunked out as saddle carriers.

Verne Elliott, 59, manager of the National Western Stock Rodeo which gets rolling Friday, sees it differently.

"The average bucking horse earns a living the easy way," Elliott says. "He doesn't work more than 15 minutes a year. That's not my idea of being dumb."

Elliott owns all the bucking horses which will be used here for the rodeo. For the past 30 years he's collected horses with reliably nasty dispositions and he's learned that old horses make the best buckers.

FLYING ARROW REPORTED IN DANGER OF EXPLOSION: ENROUTE TO RED PORT

Aboard Flying Arrow enroute to Taingtao — (AP) — Escorted by the U. S. Destroyer USS Albatross, this American freighter headed tonight for the mine-free Chinese Communist port of Taingtao on Shanghai Peninsula.

Apparently the destroyer was going all the way to Chinese territorial waters with the Flying Arrow. For five hours after the anchor was hoisted she steamed alongside the freighter on a 250-mile circuit to the former base of the United States Far Eastern Fleet.

The Flying Arrow, blasted by many Nationalist gunboat shells, had to get underway from her anchorage off Shanghai, Captain David Jones feared her No. 5 hold would explode.

Water used to extinguish a fire in the hold caused expansion of the cargo of jute, baled cotton and caustic soda. Her master said the danger of an explosion was so pressing he considered it dangerous to wait and try to get into Chinese Nationalist blockaded and mined Red Shanghai.

Clemency Is Asked for Ray

CORSICANA — (AP) — Charles T. Banister, county attorney, said yesterday a clemency campaign is underway for William R. Ray, convicted rapist of a nine-year-old Fort Worth girl.

Banister said the purpose of the campaign is to attempt to obtain clemency from the Board of Pardons and Paroles and the Governor.

The death penalty for Ray was confirmed yesterday by the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

"The citizens of not only Navarro and Tarrant Counties but of the entire state should express themselves in view of the atrocious crime committed by the defendant," Banister said.

Texan Held In Arizona

KINGMAN, Ariz. — (AP) — Charges of kidnaping, robbery and grand theft have been filed here against an unemployed Texan and his woman companion.

They found the body of a missing Topeka, Kans., woman, Tuesday — but the charges came from a separate case involving the abduction of a Kingman constable.

The man is Lloyd Joiner, 35, who gave his home as Harlingen, Texas, and Polly Cornelia Bennett, 35, of Santa Anna, Texas. Both are being held for superior court action under $10,000 bond.

Joiner and Miss Bennett are accused of abducting Constable Walter Black, 60, Tuesday. Later while fleeing from police they came across the body of Miss Elizabeth Lee who had wandered away from the Ash Fork, Ariz., railroad station last Monday in a blinding snowstorm.

King Ranch Fights Move

KINGSVILLE — (AP) — The manager of the King Ranch says he is concerned over what he calls the Army's new policy of "restricting its meat buying mostly to grade A beef."

Ranch Manager Robert J. Kieberg, in a statement yesterday, said "What they're buying is corn-fed, Grade A cattle out of the Midwest."

The Army Quartermaster Corps has said it has a current program of buying only Grade B beef and eliminating Grade C. The quartermaster corps insisted the plan to buy only Grade B beef as a regular thing is only "under consideration."

Kieberg said a survey had been made among cattle buyers and packers indicated that the Army is limiting its purchases almost wholly to "Grade A beef," or grain fed cattle.

52 to 70 Persons and Firms Face Government Charges

Fort Worth — (AP) — The Department of Agriculture today prepared to prosecute 52 to 70 unnamed persons and firms it accuses of "unfair and fraudulent dealings" at the Fort Worth stockyards. A spokesman for the department made the allegations at a news conference here yesterday, saying wholesale violations of the packers and stockyards act of 1921 occurred over a two-year period from 1947 to 1949. An "extensive" investigation by the department cleared the business atmosphere at the stockyards and violations have now ceased, W. C. Ball said, adding that a great majority of firms never participated in unfair practices. Ball, district supervisor of the Packers and Stockyards Division of the Livestock Branch, Department of Agriculture, said no criminal charges would be filed but some violators would be fined in federal court and others would be given hearings before Department of Agriculture officials. He said more persons and firms were accused of "unauthorized speculations" than of any other offense. Here are specific charges as outlined by Ball: 1. Owners of certain commission firms, salesmen and employees were found to be speculating in shippers' livestock, using fictitious names on such basic stockyard records as scale tickets and accounts of sales to conceal their illegal operations. Regulations under the Packers and Stockyards Act prohibit commission men or their employees from buying any livestock for their own accounts out of their shippers' consignments. (This would be an offense for consideration of the Department of Justice.) 2. Certain Commission firms knowingly encouraged salesmen and other employees to speculate, hiring such employees at low salaries with the understanding they could supplement their salaries by engaging in speculative operations at the market. This also would be an offense for consideration of the Department of Justice and persons convicted of these first two offenses in federal court could be fined. The remaining offenses, outlined by Ball, would be for consideration of an Agriculture Department hearing and the punishment would be in the nature of fines or suspension from activities in the Fort Worth Stockyards. These involve segregation of shippers' funds, accounting, bonds, and tie-up with speculators and packers. 3. Owners of certain commission firms, salesmen and employees were found to be speculating in shippers' livestock, using fictitious names on such basic stockyard records as scale tickets and accounts of sales to conceal

Trio Held for Investigation

Two men and two women were being held for investigation this morning by the Sheriff's Department after they all but hit Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan's car at noon yesterday. The group was riding in a 1942 Buick and were all drunk, Sheriff G. H. Kyle said this morning. One of the men said he was a mechanic in the Buick garage at Wellington but was unable to produce any positive identification of ownership of the car. A box of tools said to value $250 was found in the car. The man claiming himself the mechanic said the tools are his property. Kyle said he didn't believe they were "drunk" but he added they would be checked before he turned loose.

and other Republicans were trying to use a "subterfuge" to reopen the entire House inquiry into the firing of Admiral Louis E. Denfeld as chief of naval operations. Tydings said Knowland was asking that Matthews be brought before the committee ostensibly for questioning about appointment of Sherman Forrest P. Sherman to succeed Denfeld when actually Republicans wanted to reopen the entire unification dispute. When the vote finally came it was on strict party lines. It was a victory for Tydings who wanted to get confirmation of Sherman before considering the Denfeld ouster. Senators Knowland and Bridges (R-NH) told a reporter they had understood that Tydings would call Secretary Matthews for closed-door testimony today. Tydings scheduled a committee session but committee aides and Defense Department officials said Matthews was not invited to sit in. Tydings succeeded in delaying any actual vote on holding an inquiry into the Denfeld dismissal until committee members are given inside information from Secretary Matthews and others. Republicans, including former Chairman Gurney of South Dakota, contend that the ouster of Denfeld and other assignment shifts in the Navy raise the broad question of officers being punished or disciplined for testimony before a Congressional committee. Gurney said that if officers in the Army, Navy and Air Force "know they cannot talk to the committee without being kicked out of the service, why then we might as well abandon the functions of this committee." Knowland and Bridges contend that Admiral Denfeld and other naval officers were assured there would be no reprisals or recommendations for frank and free testimony.

Ailing Elephant Likes Attention

ATLANTA — (AP) — Maybe Coca, Atlanta's ailing elephant, was just ailing for a little attention.

It's winter time, you know, and people don't go to zoos much when it's cold.

But cold, or no, they went to Atlanta's zoo at Grant Park Sunday — to see Coca.

And Coca revealed in the attention. Her spirits were gay. The visitors watched her. She watched them. She enjoyed the warm sunshine and walked around better than she had for some time.

Coca's new-found interest in life set up speculation that part of what's wrong with her was due to sadness because her friends had nearly quit coming to see her.

For weeks, Coca has been suffering from a big bunion and a swollen joint. She has lost about 500 pounds since acquiring the ailment and for the most part has been carrying her remaining 5,500 pounds on three legs.

Teague Will Pay Honor To Bill Boyd

(By The Associated Press)
It'll be Bill Boyd day in Teague, Jan. 18.

The East Texas town will spread itself for about 14 hours of festivities, honoring William R. Boyd, Jr., a home town product who really made good in the oil business.

But Boyd wants it understood right now that the celebration won't signal the end of his career.

"I certainly am not retiring at 65," he told us briskly. "There are many things for me to do and I intend to get them done. I just stepped out of one job and will step into a few more."

The job he stepped out of was the presidency of the American Petroleum Institute. He was with the Institute 28 years and was president from 1947 until last November.

Principal speaker at a Teague banquet on the 18th will be U. S. Sen. Tom Connally. "My old friend, Tom, for 40 years," Boyd said. Five hundred visitors are expected.

Bill Boyd, a fine-looking 165-pounder, five-foot eight inches tall and no grey hair, was born in Fairfield, near Teague in 1885. He educated himself in his dad's law office, was admitted to the state bar while still a minor and at 21 became Teague's first mayor. Later he was a bank president at Eddy, Texas. He joined the American Petroleum Institute in 1920.

On the morning of the 18th, the Lone Star Gas Company will open a test well on Boyd's 2,000-acre farm between Brownfield and Teague. The well is right near Boyd's big farm home. He raises cotton, corn and white-faced cattle and on a hill-top on the farm he's built himself a "test well" office. "Can sit there in the office and survey the whole fine country for miles around," he said. "Now that I've retired from the American Petroleum Institute, I intend to become an independent oil operator. I'll be a petroleum consultant and adviser, too and I'll have the farm, here. Oh, I won't be idle."

Old oil pals from over the state will be in Teague for an afternoon and night of speeches.

Boyd has a son, William R. Boyd III, and a grandson, William R. Boyd IV. "Like the Louises of France, it looks like a Boyd dynasty," Bill Boyd chuckled.

O'Hara to Play Boy

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Ah, the wonders of the movies! Now they're making Maureen O'Hara look like a boy.

You may think that Miss O'Hara's well-known assets are impossible to disguise in masculine form. But the script of "Sons of the Musketeers" has a scene with the actress masquerading as a boy. So the wonder men of the studio went to work.

"Thank goodness," sighed Maureen, "the script doesn't try to stretch the credulity of the audience too long. My identity is discovered quickly."

She described the process of finding the proper costume: "They tried a good many disguises that didn't work. At first they put a cape around me. But that was no good. It still showed the curves, and after all, the wind might blow."

"Then they tried putting a wide strap across my chest, but that still didn't hide anything. They tried a few other tricks until they decided to pad me."

They put cotton padding above and beneath the bust. That gives me a straight line. To cover the hips I wear a short jacket that flares slightly. That's necessary, too. A woman's figure is different from a man's; you certainly could tell a woman's hips."

Her legs are hidden by long boots and she wears a wig and cap over her flowing hair. That completes the disguise.

Miss O'Hara plays both extremes in the picture — she also has some scenes as a sexy female. She'll wear low-cut gowns. She added that she doesn't mind cheesecake, as long as the part calls for it. But she would prefer to wear plunging necklines rather than expose her legs.

"That's the nicest part of a woman," she said.

CofC Holds First 1950 Meeting

CANADIAN — (Special) — The Canadian Chamber of Commerce held its first regular meeting of the new year Monday night at the City Hall.

To Women With
Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions. If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Public Housekeeping to Be In Red Ink Another Year

NEW YORK — (AP)—Your public housekeeping is going to be done with red ink for another year at least, many persons appear to take it for granted. Deficit financing has become almost an accepted part of many people's thinking. The nation has run in the red for 18 out of the last 20 years. After a brief period of falling at the end of the war, the debt has started up again and is now around 257 billion dollars. The CED tackles the problem from a nation-wide view. Its ideas on the budget are that the government should trim 2 1-4 billion dollars from the nation's tax bill. It wants excise taxes, mainly the wartime levies on luxury goods, trimmed by 1 billion dollars, and the rest to come from a reduction in the Double taxation on corporation earnings.

Then CED wants the government to cut 3.8 billion dollars from its expenditures. These businessmen think Marshall Plan aid could be reduced by 1 billion dollars, that another 650 million dollars could be saved on what Uncle Sam spends on helping occupied areas of its defeated foes; that another 300 million dollars could be saved on defense spending here at home. CED thinks veterans' benefits are 800 million dollars more than they need be, the government's financing of home mortgages 650 million dollars higher than necessary, and that the government's housekeeping activities cost 200 to 400 million dollars more than is justified. Set out water for birds in clay or wooden bowls to prevent freezing — or add an old pocket mirror to reflect warming light.

Bone Dry Law To Be Tested

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP)—Oklahoma's newly revived bone dry law is headed for a court test with the federal grand jury indictment of two Perry, Okla., men for transporting whisky from Kansas to Oklahoma. The indictment of Ben Elmer Shaw and Bill Boone Williams marks the first federal move to enforce the law. Shaw and Williams were caught by Highway Patrol officers Nov. 25 in Kay County, just south of the Kansas state line. Oklahoma's bone dry provision, killed by the 1947 Legislature, apparently was revived by 1949 legislation. The state law empowers federal officers to enforce a 1938 Federal Act which promises protection to dry states which ask for it.

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE! BUT IT'S TRUE! IT'S ANOTHER TIDE MIRACLE!

A DAZZLING CLEAN WASH WITHOUT RINSING!

TIDE cuts washday work in half! No more rinsing! Just wash... wring out... hang up!

YES, another Tide miracle has been discovered—and it's the washday news of the mid-century! With Tide in your washing machine—you can take your clothes right out of the suds... put them through the wringer and hang them on the line dazzling clean! Without rinsing! Hard to believe? Yes, but when you use Procter & Gamble's Tide, it's a fact—and women all over America are proving it today.

HERE'S WHY! Tide, with its miracle suds, gets the dirt out of your clothes and keeps it suspended in the sudsy water. When you wring out the clothes, the dirt runs out with the washwater... and the clothes come from the wringer white... fresh... CLEAN!

YES, CLEAN! You all know how clean Tide has always washed your clothes with rinsing. Actually cleaner than any other washing product you can buy. Now we'd like you to try Tide without rinsing and compare the results. It's simply unbelievable how bright, fresh and clean you can get your wash with Tide, without rinsing. And think of the time and work you save! So try Tide without rinsing! If you do, you'll never use anything but Tide again!

"NO MORE RINSING FOR ME!"
says Mrs. Elizabeth Davis of PORTSMOUTH, OHIO

"I didn't believe Tide could do it... till I tried it! But it's true! I took the clothes right out of those wonderful Tide suds and put them through the wringer and onto the line. And, believe me, they looked so bright and clean—I was proud to hang them up!"

"I took my wash out of the Tide suds—wring it out—and hung it up CLEAN! I'll never rinse again!"

says Mrs. M. Hayes of WEERHAWKEN, NEW JERSEY

"Tide now makes possible an amazing new kind of washday—quick and easy, almost beyond belief. Just think of all the time I'm going to save... without rinsing! And think of the wear and tear it saves on my clothes as well as on me! Thank you, Tide, for the biggest washday miracle of all!"

"My clothes dried so soft and fluffy—ironed so easily—without rinsing at all!"

says Margaret Lockwood of INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

"Talk about miracles! I take my clothes out of Tide's wonder suds, wring them out, and the dirt runs right out with the wash-water just as they say it does! And what a beautiful wash... fresh, clean, and sweet-smelling without rinsing at all! It dries soft, fluffy, easy to iron. From now on, it's Tide—and only Tide—for me!"

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Why Scoop No Longer Works Here

Scoop Blake paid us a friendly call at the Clarion's office last week and we were talking about when he was a reporter here.

"Remember how mad I got when I found out you were writing that election story right from your desk?" I asked him. "And how I made you get out and learn what a sheriff's job was all about?"

"I sure do, Joe," said Scoop. "I want to thank you for teaching me the 'hat-trick'—putting on my hat and finding out the facts, that is." Then we both had a good laugh because he found out so much that darn if he didn't run and get elected sheriff himself!

From where I sit, we should find out the facts before we try to talk about anything. When we do, we're inclined to be more tolerant... we're apt to understand a little more about the other fellow's preference for, say, his political candidate or for a temperate glass of beer now and then. I say, if you don't want to get tripped up, don't leap to conclusions!

Grand Old

Q—At which inauguration were the White House furnishings badly damaged by spectators?
A—When Andrew Jackson was inaugurated mobs of people followed him into the White House. Funch bowls, glasses and dishes were smashed and frontiersmen found the view better if they stood on the satin furniture with their muddy boots. Jackson himself was pinned against the wall and only through the formation of a human chain was he able to escape.

Q—Who determines the date on which Arbor Day shall be observed?
A—In some states the law specifies the date on which Arbor Day will be observed, while in others the date is specified by the governor or another official.

Q—Are there some fruits that cannot be stored in a refrigerator?
A—Only the banana is harmed by keeping in the refrigerator. The best temperature for bananas storage is about 57 F., and they are susceptible of damage at temperatures below 50 F.

Q—Is there such a thing as a barkless dog?
A—The basenji dogs, imported from Africa a few years ago, are known as barkless dogs.

Q—What is a "Garrison finish"?
A—It is a spectacular, flashy finish. The term is believed to have come from horse racing—where a jockey by the name of Garrison would hold his horse back until the last minute in order to come from behind to win.

Q—What happened to the assassin John Wilkes Booth?
A—Booth was found hiding in a barn in Virginia about two weeks after he shot President Lincoln; the barn was set on fire and Booth was shot while attempting to escape.

Q—How old is the title Prince of Wales?
A—This title, customarily bestowed on the eldest son of the sovereign and heir apparent to the throne of Great Britain, dates from the reign of Edward II, when Wales passed into English possession.

Q—What is the oldest tree?
A—The oldest tree is probably one of the giant sequoias in California, variously estimated to be Cheops in Egypt—about 4000 years old.

Q—Which university has the largest stadium?
A—The stadium of the University of Michigan, with a seating capacity of 87,000 is the largest college stadium in the country.

Q—What is considered the healthiest section of this country, from the standpoint of length of life?
A—People live longer in Nebraska than any other state. Healthiest section of the nation, from the standpoint of length of life, are the west north central states: Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri.

Q—Which state has the largest number of different kinds of trees?
A—Florida has 314 species of native and naturalized trees. Texas, Georgia and California follow in that order.

Q—Professor, what about the two-platoon system? Is it a good or bad thing for football?
A—Yes.

Q—In the long run, will it help football?
A—Football is always helped by a long run.

Q—Some coaches have charged that the game of football will be ruined. The hot-dog concessionaires would never permit it. Football will just have to adapt itself to the new culture pattern, that is all.

Q—No, I do not believe that the game of football will be ruined. The hot-dog concessionaires would never permit it. Football will just have to adapt itself to the new culture pattern, that is all.

Q—How will it have to adapt itself?
A—For example, cheer leaders will become two-platoonish themselves. You'll have one crew which specializes in "Hold that line!" and another crew which leads the "We wanna touchdown" chant.

Q—What about the small schools? Will they be able to compete?
A—They may have to use girls for the defensive platoon. Girls are usually very adept at intercepting passes. Especially the ones that are too forward.

Q—Will the game still hold the interest of the fans?
A—The fans have no kick coming—in a manner of speaking, that is. Actually, it will be more interesting. Besides seeing a football game; under the two-platoon system they'll simultaneously see a track meet.

Frances Wins 12-Year Fight

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — There's something new that's come to our house to stay.

I hope it stays for the rest of the century.

It is a trophy marking a victory for my wife in a long marital war called — "operation fur coat." She won after many skirmishes and a 12-year verbal bombardment.

When Frances married me back in 1937 she brought a dowry of $100 — and a fur coat.

It took us only a couple of weeks to go through the hundred bucks, but I thought we would never get rid of that fur coat.

It had seen better days. It began going bald in patches.

"Why don't you throw it away?" I asked.

"Why don't you buy me a new one, Rover?" she replied.

Well, that was out of the question. Finally, when the old coat began to look more like patent leather than fur, Frances heaved it into the garbage can.

And then began her long campaign to get another fur coat.

I crumbled. And I agreed to go with her to pick it out. She chose one of those quiet Fifth Avenue area shops where the floors are heavily padded — to protect the skulls of husbands knocked over by the sight of the price tags.

"Old at 40, 50, 60?"

— Man, You're Crazy

Forget your age! Boat Stows Away 23 Pretty Girls

NEW YORK — (AP) — Headed out to sea with 23 pretty girl stowaways-by-mistake aboard, the skipper of the liner Italia Tuesday radioed a distress call to the Coast Guard.

"Through misunderstanding," said the message, "we sailed with 'Kiss Me, Kate' cast aboard. Can't put back now. Can you send craft to remove them?"

The musical show performers had gone aboard the vessel to stage a benefit for the March of Dimes.

While waiting for rescue, the girls sold kisses to passengers for from $20 to $50 a throw. Altogether they raised about $7,500 for the infantile paralysis fund, before the Coast Guard sent a cutter to whisk them back to New York in time for the night's show on Broadway.

Frances said, "I think I will get one made from those things that grow on ranches."

"You mean ranchers?"

"No, minkies."

"You mean monkeys!"

"No, minkies — little minks."

Well, a gentleman began hauling out mink coats. I looked at the price tags — they began at $4,000. And then Frances looked at the prices.

"I guess we will have to compromise," she said. "I'll get something smaller than a coat. But it still has to be mink."

We ended up with a stole — a piece of welded mink just large enough to wrap around a lady's throat to protect her against tonillitis.

Anyway, Frances likes it. In a year we'll own it clear — in the bankruptcy act doesn't intervene. And it's nice to have "operation furcoat" over at last.

Students Protest Commie Speaker

NOHMAN, Okla. — (AP) — Angry University of Oklahoma students shouted their protest Tuesday night as they burned a 15-foot cross outside the building in which the Communist Party chairman of Oklahoma spoke.

The group demonstrated against Allan Shaw's address, which was made at Hillel House, just off the campus, and sponsored by the Civil Rights Committee.

Glenn Wilson, reporter for the Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman, said three persons attacked him after he left the house, to telephone the story to his newspaper. But he broke away and was not injured.

Amid shouts of "dirty Communist" and "come out before we burn the house down," Shaw told his audience of 40 persons:

"This is a symbol of the very thing I've been discussing. It's mass hysteria, closed minds. Happening on a university campus it is an ominous sign. This is where ideas should be discussed with open minds."

HST Lieutenants Are Discouraged

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Some of President Truman's Capitol Hill lieutenants appeared somewhat discouraged because the President has not taken them in to his confidence on taxes.

There was some private speculation that the White House attitude might cause more trouble for Mr. Truman's prospects of getting even a "moderate" tax boost, as he has suggested.

The President's friends in Congress are having to guess like everybody else at what he means by a "moderate" increase. These speculations, purely guesses and unofficial, ran around $1,000,000,000 and upward.

Mr. Truman has promised a special tax message, unloading the details of his tax plans, very soon.

Meanwhile, one House member usually close to the President told newsmen that the men in Congress who must carry the administration's tax battle know nothing about what Mr. Truman has in mind.

Delinquents Not Given State Care

CANADIAN — (Special) — Lewis Nordyke, editor of the Amarillo Globe-News, was the principal speaker at a Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday night.

Nordyke explained the new approach being made by the state in handling juvenile delinquency through its newly created Youth Development Council.

The council has determined that fewer than five percent of children sent to reform schools attended Sunday School regularly; that most delinquents have something wrong with them that they cannot help, such as undesirable parental background or a physical or mental handicap; and that until recently reform schools have been operated too much like prisons and served only to turn out habitual criminals.

Delinquents now are not sent direct to a reformatory but are taken to a diagnostic center, where the council determines the best rehabilitation measures.

The new program stresses correcting the cause of delinquency, rather than punishing the offender, Nordyke said.

The editor said that the program is not only of benefit to the state socially, but also financially, since many who might otherwise be charged of the state can be returned as responsible members of society.

Britain and U.S. Didn't Seem to Agree

(By The Associated Press)
Failure of Britain and America to find ground for common action regarding recognition of Communist China has created a situation which many observers regard as unfortunate.

Marshal Stalin must be smiling broadly to see these two old allies, leaders in the cold war against communism, now split over this Chinese issue, with Britain granting Red China full recognition while America withholds recognition indefinitely.

One thing is sure: Britain and America aren't going to swap blows over this issue.

The Washington State Department holds that British recognition of the Chinese Communist government doesn't mean a split with America over basic aims for a China free of foreign domination. The split is over the question of recognition itself.

Naturally a lot of folk are asking just why Britain should insist on recognition immediately. The answer seems to be that she has acted on what she regards as the realistic attitude and in order to protect her own vital interests. In this connection Washington, while having strongly maintained that early recognition of the Chinese Reds wasn't advisable, has at the same time taken into account Britain's interest in safeguarding her vast

Representative Receives Honor

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., (D-Texas) has received word he has been picked by the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the state's five outstanding young men for 1949.

E. M. Kirkpatrick, Jr., of Abilene, president of the organization, telegraphed Bentsen notice of his selection and asked him to be in Waco Saturday to receive the award from Texas Governor Allan Shivers.

Said the 28-year-old World War II air combat veteran:

"I feel very humble to receive such an award, but I sincerely appreciate it."

He plans to leave Friday by plane for Texas.

Christmas Island, with 184 square miles of land area, is believed to be the biggest atoll in the Pacific.

Chinese trade and her big colonial interests, including Hong Kong.

The British hold that recognition of a government shouldn't be confused with rights or wrongs. Recognition isn't an expression of approval of the Red regime in China. It merely admits the fact that the Communist government is established.

Then there is another aspect to the British side of the picture. The commonwealth nations of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon — all close neighbors of Communist China — already had granted recognition to the Peiping government. England felt that she couldn't stand out against that HIGH-POWERED SUBMARINE ANTICS—Darting high out of the water like a porpoise, the USS Amberjack, one of the Navy's newest super-powered submarines, shows her versatility during trial runs off Key West, Fla. The sub's skipper, Commander E. L. Beach, said such steep climbs—in contrast to the slow, level surfacing of conventional-type subs—are not normal maneuvers for the Guppy-type Amberjack. Rather, they demonstrate the new sub's great maneuverability.

Jo Stafford Gives Program For Europeans

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Chirper Jo Stafford is going to give European radio listeners large doses of swing and ballads, a taste of Americanism and a minimum of bebop.

The popular singer hopes that her recipe will bring her success as the first U.S. entertainer to invade Europe with a disc jockey program.

D-day for the Stafford invasion came last week when her first half-hour show was beamed from Radio Luxembourg. The station can be heard in England and throughout Western Europe.

"One of the things we have already found out about the show," said Miss Stafford, "is that Europeans are not so hot about bebop."

The songstress has tried to present a well-rounded program, based on European musical tastes. "I'll describe the background for some of the numbers," Miss Stafford said. "For instance, Europeans probably wouldn't know what a mule train is."

The program was arranged by Miss Stafford's manager during a European tour. So far it is unsponsored, but they hope for a bankroller when the show builds up.

In case they were worried, might add that the singer will also play the records of Dinah Shore, Margaret Whiting and other female record stars besides Jo Stafford.

Air Force Still Wants 70 Groups

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Air Force still thinks at least 70 groups of warplanes are needed for defense, but is bowing to the fact that the money to buy them isn't at hand.

Secretary of Air Symington set forth his ideas in a general news conference of the entire Pentagon high command on the budget. Among other things, Secretary of Defense Johnson said the $13,500,000 budget proposed for all the armed services was trimmed down from an original $20,000,000,000 estimate of needs.

Symington said, "We've always said we wanted 70 groups. But we recognize that there is not enough money (under the $13,500,000,000 budget) to have seventy."

"Does that mean if we are attacked, we wouldn't have enough planes?" a reporter asked, apparently referring to the present composition of 48 groups for the USAF.

"That is our belief, yes," Symington answered.

"Will you make any effort to have Congress change that," a reporter asked.

"No sir, we will not." The new budget, to cover the year beginning next July 1, proposes 48 groups and 13 separate squadrons, about the present form of the Air Force which early last year was at a peak postwar strength of 55 groups.

Preliminary studies by the Smithsonian Institution have shown that central Texas was a long inhabited before the arrival of known Indian tribes.

Wholesale Food Prices Increase

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week climbed three cents to $5.76 compared with a week ago, and was 5.3 percent below the year-ago level of $6.08.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Golden Gloves Opens at Shamrock Tonight

Few Tickets Still Available; Fifteen Pampans Entered

The first Shamrock District Golden Gloves boxing tournament will get underway tonight when the bell sounds sending the first two contestants into action at 7:30 in the American Legion home. The bouts are being sponsored by the Shamrock American Legion and will be a three-day affair with the finals scheduled for Saturday night.

There are still some ringside and reserved seat tickets on sale. They may be purchased at the door at Shamrock. Also available will be general admission tickets.

Boxing fans will get to see a long list of outstanding fighters headed by Shamrock's own Donnie Ray, who last season won the 112-pound regional title at Amarillo, defeating Elmo Sams of Lakeview, and was also declared the outstanding contestant. Another regional title, who will be fighting under the Shamrock colors will be Joe Landrum in the 126-pound class. Landrum last year fought his way through the Pampa Golden Gloves and then defeated John Wilkerson of Borger in the regional fights at Amarillo.

Among some of the other contestants who will be in the tournament are Billy Campbell and Jimmy Pennington of Shamrock; Joe Rice, E. C. Coberley and Eugene Parks of Lefors; Gene Hubbard of Wheeler; and Bill Chapman, Jimmy Bennett, Tommy Grantham, Keith Kelly, Leon Kelly, Billy Ed Cooper, Ronnie James, Eddie Cullom, Weldon J. Wither, Jimmy Hyatt, Robert Mauldin, Bobby Wilhelm, Sammy Gaffney and Ray Marney of Pampa.

All of the above fighters will be entered in the High School Division.

In the Open Division will be John Lowe and James Stevens of Pampa; Eddie Haynes, Jr., and Henry of Shamrock; Eldredge Ross of Skellytown; Bill Litton and Ray Horn of Lefors; and Tommy Landrum and Billy Joe Roden, also of Shamrock.

Henry last year got to the regional semifinals at Amarillo where he fought Willis Hawkins to a fast finish but lost the decision. Roden was named among the 12 best amateur boxers in the country in 1947 when he was in the Service.

There will be fights at all of the following weights in the High School Division: 85, 90, 95, 100, 105, 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160, 175, and heavyweight. All of the weights will enter in the contest for the team championship, but only from 112 on up will be entered in the regional meet.

There will also be some exhibition bouts at weights under the 85-pound minimum.

In addition to all of the above fighters, Quail High School has sent word to the tournament officials that they will enter their entire High School boxing team.

Officials for the tournament will be three Amarillo men of long ring experience. They are J. C. Oakley, who worked the fights in Pampa last year; Douglas Graham and Frank Milligan. The official weighing-in ceremonies were scheduled to take place this afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock with the first night's pairings to be made as soon as possible thereafter.

Baugh Approached About Baylor Job

Slippery Sammy as much as said last night he's ready to quit the Washington Redskins, and go to coaching at Baylor. There are still a couple of items to be taken care of — such as getting a definite offer from Baylor and a release from the Redskins.

But if the deal goes through, it couldn't be a lot worse for Washington fans — if the other 10 men on the Redskins' first string all broke their legs. Sam Baugh has been around Washington longer than a lot of Democrats.

Baugh said at his ranch near here that officials from the Baptist school at Waco have asked him if he'd be interested in a job as head coach. They need a replacement for Bob Woodruff, who quit last week to go to the University of Florida.

"I'd be interested in the job all right if I could get things fixed up with the Redskins," the stringbean passing wizard said. That meant he'd have to fix it up with George Preston Marshall, laundromat owner of the Washington National Football League club, to get out of his contract to play next season. Baugh said he didn't know whether that could be done.

In Washington, Marshall couldn't be reached for comment, but associates said he hadn't heard of Baugh's advances.

"Anyhow, said Sam, 'I figure we've talked to about a dozen other guys, too.'"

He's right. But the word from Waco was that the men Baylor would like most to get are Baugh, backfield coach H. N. (Rusty) Russell of Southern Methodist and head coach Don Faurot of Missouri — with Baugh in the lead.

That friends of Homer Norton, who resigned as Texas A&M coach under ex-students' pressure after the 1947 season, have let it be known he'd be interested in the job but didn't want to make a direct application.

Other reports from Waco were under consideration by the Athletic Committee are Bob Walsh, Notre Dame graduate and coach at St. Benedict's; Bud Tomlin, Port Arthur High School coach; Homer T. Cole of Macon, Ga., former coach with the pro Chicago Bears and Arkansas A&M, and Red Dawson, former coach of Tulane University and the pro Buffalo Bills.

The only Baylor official who could be reached for comment — President W. R. White — said he wasn't abreast of the situation but "Baugh should make a great coach." He also said there hadn't been a definite selection.

It would be Baugh's first real test as a coach. He's never been paid to do that, but he has helped in the Redskins' backfield, grooming Harry Gilmer, the former Alabama passer, to succeed him.

As a player, he's had enough experience to get by. Baugh will be 36 next March 17. He starred as a high school player at Temple and Sweetwater and at Texas Christian University. He's kept the Redskins rolling for 13 years and set 15 all-time National Football League passing records.

Contacted at his ranch last night, Baugh said the Baylor officials "came out here and talked to me about it, but I won't know anything until they have a board meeting."

66ers Defeat NP All-Stars

A group of hot and fighting North Plains All-Stars held the giant and celebrated Phillips 66ers on even terms through one half of their exhibition game at the Franks Phillips College Gymnasium in Borger last night. But the lowering giants came back in the second half to sweep to an easy 94-96 victory.

J. W. Malone and Bill Miller, two of West Texas State's brightest stars, paced the attack of the All-Stars. Malone, one-time all-American now coaching at Groom, was the game's high point man as he meshed 20 points, most of them on spectacular lefthanded hook shots from deep in the corner going at full speed. Miller was pushing his teammate for scoring honors, netting 17 points.

Johnny Stanich, former UCLA great, led the Bartlesville boys with 15 points. Gerald Tucker, formerly of OU, had 13 points. The heralded 7 foot, 235 pound Bob Kurland was held to 9 points, five free throws and two baskets.

At halftime the 66ers held a slim 38-34 lead.

Fusari's Plans Messed Up by Tony Janiro

DETROIT (AP) — Charlie Fusari's hopes of a title fight with welterweight Champion Ray Robinson were messed up last night by Tony Janiro of Youngstown, Ohio.

Janiro, a 3-10 underdog at ring time, surged back into the top ranks of the welterweight division by thrashing the Irvington, N. J., favorite.

The bout was to have been Fusari's last tuneup for a possible title bout with Robinson.

Janiro changed all that. He got a 54-46 vote from referee Lou Handler and a 52-48 margin from judge Joe Lenahan. Judge Pete Miller called it even.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK (AP) — Figure this out if you can. The NCAA mainly does arguments, getting hotter every day, looks to be mainly a large college debate. But if any action is taken, the little colleges probably will decide what is to be. The simple fact is there are millions of them, and each one has a vote.

MORE CAMPAIGN ORATORY Prof. Karl Leib of Iowa, NCAA prexy, sounded off in Washington to the effect that a college which, by reason of location or other causes, can't support a big time football team without subsidizing should "get out of major football and stay in their own class." But last night president John A. Hannah of Michigan State (in the same league with Iowa) told Philadelphia's Maxwell Club: "I have seen no evidence that by abandoning intercollegiate athletics, a college or university has improved either its quality or its reputation as a center of learning."

Coaches Hail Suggestion On New Substitution Ruling

NEW YORK (AP) — Platoon-minded football coaches got downright gushy today in hailing a recommended rules change that would permit one substitution at a time.

"Say, that's wonderful," chimed Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech. "I'd rather have that rule than all the two-platoon rules in the book."

The rule change was one of several recommended yesterday by the American college football coaches' Rules Committee. It was tacked on to a solid vote to retain the two-platoon system.

The recommendation is that each team be allowed to substitute one man after each down without stopping the clock and incurring a penalty.

At present a team is penalized five yards for making a substitution when the clock is running. "It's going to be a great thing for the smaller schools who can't play platoon football," said Lou Little of Columbia, chairman of the coaches' committee.

Little also is one of the members of the NCAA rules group, headed by Harvard's Bill Bingham, which will meet in Pinehurst, N. C., Monday to act on the proposed changes. The rules body normally follows the coaches' suggestions.

Matty Bell of Southern Methodist said: "I'm all for it. It should help the little schools, that's true, but it also will mean a lot to the bigger ones who want to send in a punter at crucial times or a safety man if on defense."

Free substitution would be permitted, as usual, under the recommendations. Full teams may be sent in after each change of the ball or whenever the clock is stopped.

Other recommended changes in the rules were:

1. If the substitution rule is adopted, the time out be reduced from four to three for each half.

2. The coin-tossing ceremony be staged 15 minutes before the game. This would make possible earlier announcement of starting lineups.

3. The offensive blocking rule be tightened to read: No offensive player may strike an opponents' head, neck or face with locked hands, forearms, elbows or upper arms. At present, the rules stipulate the hands must be against the body and a foot locked.

4. Officials be realigned on the field to approximate their position when the ball is on the goal line. This would put the umpire on one side of the line and the head linesman on the other with the field judge up closer and the referee in his regular place.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hass—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What high school is the present Class AA state basketball champion?

I SEE THE BASKETBALL PURGE IS still on in Lubbock. Latest victim was Morris Turner, who last year was a good enough guard to draw a starting assignment against the Harvesters a couple of times in addition to seeing a lot of action all year long. Why he rode the bench this season in favor of two inexperienced boys who weren't even squaddens last season is a question?

Could it be that he, like most of the other members of last season's Westerner quintet, felt that Coach Roy Morris got a bum shake when he was ousted as basketball coach in favor of a green college graduate with little experience?

Lubbock, as we said before, is due for an upheaval in its athletic program, and the ousting of Turner off of the basketball squad is just another step closer.

And while we are talking about Lubbock, the Hubbers have sent baseball contracts to 36 players who will battle for berths with the club next spring.

Among the returning veterans from last season who are getting contracts are Walt Stenborg, Don Hensiek, Cotton Russell, Johnny Myers, Royce Mills, Bob Clodfelter, Jackie Martyn, Mike Dooley, Jim Prince, Jackie Sullivan, Buddy McCallum, Nelson Davis, Al Duarte, and Joe Wiewlewski. The rest of the contracts went to rookies and newly obtained players.

There is a rumor making the rounds that a trade is coming up between the Hubbers and the Amarillo Gold Sox. It is expected that the Hubbers will swap Al Duarte, speedy centerfielder, to the Sox for Al Carr, hard-hitting first baseman.

The Sox have no need for Carr as their new manager, Harry "Stinky" Davis, is a first baseman and will replace Carr at that post. But why the Hubbers would want him is a mystery. Jim Prince is about as good as they come at the initial sack, and Carr doesn't prefer to play the outfield, so therefore would be of little help to either club.

A memory of the Pampa football victory over the Amarillo Sandies this past season, at 111 yards on the Amarillo highway.

Arkansas Boy Hard on Food

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — (AP) —

A young fellow with a prodigious appetite and a nodding acquaintance with tall trees is keeping University of Arkansas basketball fans agog these days. Were it not for the fact that he can pitch the spheroid through the hoop on any and all occasions, the university might be worrying about being eaten out of house and home. There just have to be provisions made for taking care of a prospect like Billy (Toar) Hester.

He's a Freshman but there is a lot more interest in his doings than when the Arkansas varsity may accomplish a feat. Hester is a 6-foot-11 marvel from Hall Summit, La. He has averaged 21 points per game thus far despite the fact that he spent most of the time on the bench because of a painful charley horse.

Hester also has been a work-horse on the backboard and played excellent defensive ball. Still a growing boy, Hester has put on around five inches in height and quite a few pounds in the last two years. Toar, just a farm boy who loves country life, daily consumes something like a gallon of butter milk and many pounds of food. It takes a healthy pocketbook to keep him fed when his squad goes on a road trip.

Virginia and Virginia Tech Urge 'Honest' Sanity Code by Offering Sport Scholarships

NEW YORK — (AP) — Virginia and Virginia Tech urged the NCAA today to adopt an "honest" sanity code permitting above-board but rigidly enforced scholarships on athletic ability.

The Dixie institutions, two of seven facing expulsion because of admitted infractions, appeared before top officials of the National Collegiate Athletic Association to argue that the present code is "hypocritical and unworkable."

The NCAA Executive Committee and council met in a joint session to study cases against the schools which have notified authorities they are not abiding by the code.

Norton G. Pritchett, Virginia athletic director, was a militant spokesman for the rebellious group, asserting: "The sanity code, as now constructed, is not the answer. We must find one that will enable us all to follow it and maintain our self-respect."

Virginia, Virginia Tech and The Citadel are three schools known to be in the list of violators. Virginia Military is another. The NCAA has refused to divulge the identity of the recalcitrants.

Today's meeting was a closed affair and the NCAA said none of the testimony would be disclosed. It would require a two-thirds vote of the NCAA membership to kick the schools out.

There have been hints of a compromise, averting a showdown, and Karl Lieb, white-haired president of the NCAA, has announced the "stoppers" will be given every opportunity to repent.

Expulsion would, technically, prevent the straggled institutions from competing with NCAA members.

"We have no particular fight with the NCAA," Pritchett said. "We need the NCAA. We need a strong regulatory body. We need a code of ethics. But the present sanity code isn't the answer."

"We have been asked to make up jobs for some of our boys so they can pay their way and meet the code's provisions. There are no honest jobs that bring in enough cash for that."

"We can't do it without cheating and we don't intend to cheat. We have an honor system at the university. How can we expel a boy for cheating and then have him possibly confront us with an accusation that we are cheating on the sanity code?"

"I'll wager we have fewer athletic scholarships than scores of universities our size and larger. We have 24, only 11 of them full scholarships."

"We don't feel it right to demand that our boys play football, lead heavy jobs and try to maintain academic standards. It can't be done."

TWO STEP—Les Oma seems to have trouble with his shy dancing partner, but outpointed Freddie Beshore to walk away with 10-round decision in heavyweight bout at Buffalo Memorial Auditorium.

A sports writer points out that the baseball moguls suddenly become "asleep" conscious.

He cites numerous cases of big league officials touting unheralded players as "sleepers."

The reason is obvious — so much night ball.

Eastern water officials, worrying about the shortage, are hoping that sports will help ease the critical situation.

They know that when it rains it rains, so they figure that if there are teams, it'll rain.

It was won last year by Levine's Department Store, and must be won three by a business to become permanent property of the store. Second and third place winners were Berhman's and Gilbert's. Cash prizes of $15 and $10 were the awards. Ervin Pursley, 337 Charles, received the loving cup for the best decorated home during the Yuletide season. Others winners were David L. Collis, C. W. Coffin, Dr. Joe Donaldson, H. H. Hahn, W. E. Ballard, R. E. Frierson, J. G. Doggett, Tom Brooks, Joe R. Foster and C. L. Corner. Cars Will Run 150 Miles on Gallon of Fuel

DETROIT—(AP)—You can drive your car 150 miles on a gallon of fuel but you won't—not for a long time. Tests have yielded that unprecedented mileage, the Society of Automotive Engineers was told. R. J. Greenshields of Shell Oil Co., Wood River, Ill., said the feat was achieved through numerous adjustments and mechanical changes. Included were 110-pound tire inflation and a drive-and-coast method of operating. Greenshields reported on tests conducted during the last 10 years. By inflating tires to 110 pounds, increasing engine compression ratio and substituting light grade motor oil for normal lubricants in crank-case, transmission, differential and axels, he said test drivers got nearly 50 miles from a gallon of fuel. With engine accessories made inoperative by removing the fan belt and adding an overdrive to the powerplant, the mileage got up to 60 to the gallon. A lot more things were done to the car to get 150 miles from a gallon. Among them were setting the carburetor at minimum consumption and spark for a light knock at full throttle. The crank-case was insulated and the radiator covered. Inlet manifold and exhaust manifold were combined by wrapping with asbestos tape. Then the driving technique of accelerating and coasting was developed. The car was accelerated at full throttle in high gear to 20 miles an hour. Then the engine was stopped until the car slowed down to five miles an hour. The cycle of accelerating and coasting then was repeated. This, Greenshields reported, resulted in a maximum economy of 149.95 miles per gallon. The tests were made with stock cars over a 14-mile controlled course.

Dairymen See Bright Future

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—A Texan told Louisiana dairymen Tuesday a $150,000,000 annual income from milk and dairy products is possible in this state. Bryan Blalock of Marshall, Texas, president of the Southern Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, painted the bright picture. He spoke at a meeting of the Louisiana Dairy Products Association. He said if each dairy cow in Louisiana produced the same as the average dairy cow in California, Louisiana could triple its present $50,000,000 income. But first, he said, new consumers must be found, present customers must be persuaded to buy more and new outlets must be created through research.

Farm Woman Kills Bobcat With Stick

CORSICANA—(AP)—Mrs. S. F. Herod, a farm woman, killed a three-foot-long bobcat with a stick near her barn. Mrs. Herod was alone in her home in the Richland Community near here Saturday when she heard the dogs baying. When she went out to investigate the bobcat grabbed a chicken and growled at her. She hit it on the head with a five-foot stick and beat it until it was dead. Spinach contains Vitamin A. Procopius, a sixth century historian, gave an accurate description of the symptoms of plague.

Reference to God Is Often Made by HST

WASHINGTON — (AP) — His reference to God and his optimism about the American future stand out repeatedly in President Truman's statements.

As the years tick off, communism has been spreading. Now about one-third of the earth's people live under it. It will continue to push.

"As it marches, this country spends huge sums trying to keep it from spreading.

No prophet can say where all this will end: in war, in collapse for the Western or Communist world, or in world peace. But Mr. Truman seems confident the U. S. will come through grandly.

He doesn't ignore what's happening or what the hazards are. But he forecasts a tremendous future for the U. S. if — if he puts the "if" in his talks about the future. He points out what this country has accomplished and can accomplish — if the people of the U. S. work together for the future good of all of them.

It seems clear in what he says that the U. S. can, and will, surmount its obstacles and move into a golden era. But God has a prominent place in the story.

In his state of the union speech last Wednesday the President looked forward to a trillion-dollar production in this country by the year 2,000, "by the grace of God."

In his economic report of Congress last Friday, again the President painted a glowing picture of the future America — if all parts of the economy work sensibly.

In his speech at St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3, he said Americans have a "new world" before them.

In talk at Arlington Cemetery Dec. 21, he said: "If man could achieve self government and kinship with his God throughout the world, peace would not tremble..." He said American democracy is an "expression of faith in the spirit of man, a declaration of faith in man as created by God."

His Christmas message, of course, was filled with references to God.

The U. S. Geological Survey has discovered coal deposits of more than 1,000,000,000 tons in the San Juan Basin of Colorado and New Mexico.

Chicago Gets Fair Ready

NEW YORK — (AP) — Chicago is getting ready one million square feet of exhibit space for the businessmen of the world to show their wares. Federal authorities hope this invasion of the Midwest stronghold will start a trend.

The sponsors of the United States' first International Trade Fair expect that, if the test of putting foreign against American manufacturers proves to be to their mutual advantage, the idea will spread across the nation — that by 1962 businessmen will be taking their wares on a circuit of this country and Canada.

It will be something like the winter golf circuit, where performers trail along from resort to resort in a precisely timed series of tournaments — except that the businessmen would expect to take down more money.

This year's embryo circuit will open in Toronto May 29 with Canada's third International Trade Fair. Exhibitors there will then have the chance to move their displays to the Chicago Fair Aug. 7.

Chicago thinks its fair will attract 1,500 exhibitors and 75,000 buyers from all over the world. Officials say space has already been taken by exhibitors from 28 countries.

Other cities who talked about entering the circuit this year include Detroit, Atlantic City, Seattle, Philadelphia and New York, the Department of Commerce reports. If the Chicago Fair is a success, some of them may come in next year. San Francisco is considering one in 1962.

What's the idea of a trade fair? Trade, just trade. There are no ferris wheels, no sideshows, no muscle dancers. Those who exhibit their samples at the fair, and those who visit it, are there solely to buy, sell and make contacts. Orders are taken, prices haggled over, delivery dates discussed.

Girl Rewarded: Gets New Bike

DETROIT — (AP) — Six-year-old Jo Ann Vandensabele's heart is full.

"Gee, I didn't know there were so many people who wanted to be nice to me," she said.

Jo Ann has a brand new bicycle, painted blue and white. It is a gift from Charles Hollifield, owner of a bike and hobby shop.

His was one of many offers to Jo Ann.

The dark-eyed tot, victim of infantile paralysis, was heartbroken over the loss of her own bike. She used it for leg exercises in a recovery program. A thief stole it.

See-McCormick Ceremony Read in Shamrock Home of Bride's Parents

Miss Wanda See, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. See of Shamrock, and Gene McCormick of Amarillo were married Sunday afternoon, Jan. 1, at the home of the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jessie McCormick of Borger.

Vows were exchanged before an improvised altar with an arch entwined with huckleberry tied with white satin bows and silver bells. Tall white baskets of woodwardia fern, lilies, white gladioli and white stock flanked the archway.

Grady Cooper, minister of the Church of Christ, officiated at the single ring service. Mrs. Bob Dawson of Canyon, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of blue wool jersey with black accessories and a corsage of white Frenched carnations.

The bride wore a dress of blue-gray wool jersey designed with a two-piece collar, elbow length sleeves, and with rhinestones outlining the deep round yoke effect. She wore navy accessories, a small white off-the-face hat and carried a white Bible topped with purple orchids and showered with Frenched carnations and blue mallow puffs.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. See wore a dress of beige wool sharkskin and black accessories. Her corsage was of white Frenched mums. The bridegroom's mother wore a brown wool suit with brown accessories and a corsage of white Frenched mums.

Vernon Berry of Amarillo, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with silver wedding rings, blue mums and tall white tapers. The three-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Bob Dawson, and Mrs. Howard Westmoreland, aunt of the bride, presided at the crystal punch bowl.

For traveling, the bride wore a suit of green gabardine with brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

Miss Wanda See, bride-elect of Gene McCormick, of Amarillo, complimented with a miscellaneous shower at F. L. C. Flower Shop. Co-hostesses were Mmes. R. Stuart Tisdal, Thurman Rives, Charles Cadenhead, J. Rabo, S. P. Beasley, Claude Montgomery and George Stanley.

A color motif of blue and silver, chosen colors of the honoree, were carried out in decorations. The tea table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of blue asters on a silver base, flanked with tall lighted tapers.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Tisdal, Miss See, her mother, Mrs. L. L. See, and Mrs. Jessie McCormick of Borger, mother of the bridegroom-to-be. Mrs. Rives poured and Mrs. Stanley presided at the register.

Other members of the house party were Mrs. Otho Givins, and Mrs. H. D. McCormick, Borger, sister and sister-in-law of the bridegroom-to-be, and Mrs. Bob Dawson, Canyon, sister of the honored guest.

Checks Will Be Big News for Spring

Checker-board prints get a big play this spring from coat designers. Navy-and-white checked lanol fleece makes the short, double breasted jacket (left) that's called the "little overcoat." The navy-and-white checked triple threat (right) is a toga that serves as coat, stole or lap robe.

DATING SITUATION

Dear Grace Friend: I have a 14 year old daughter who is just becoming interested in the dating situation in our small town. The boys in her class are still in the stage where they think girls are silly, and I don't think she should go out with the older crowd.

The juniors and seniors all keep later hours and go places that I wouldn't want her to go. I want her to have a good time, but think she is too young to date with the crowd I mentioned. I have tried to combat the situation by fixing up a rumpus room in our home, and giving a few parties for the boys and girls in her age group. But this has seemed to break the ice as far as the boys are concerned.

Can you think of some way I can help her out, that would seem natural and interesting and would be good for a girl of her age? Concerned Mother.

Dear Concerned Mother: It sounds to me as if you are doing a pretty good job already in helping your daughter have fun. Continue as you have started but don't push the dating issue. After all, what if your 14 year old doesn't get asked out much? She has lots of time.

Fill her days with other activities that will be interesting for her. Have her join some of the clubs for young girls so that she can have fun without dates. It is natural for her to be interested in dates. Most girls her age are. But it doesn't necessarily follow that she must have them yet.

Your idea of having parties in your home is good. When a suitable occasion arises have another. In a year or two the date question will be solved of itself.

WHAT TO TIP Dear Grace Friend: What do you consider the correct amount to tip a waiter when you eat in a restaurant? D. O.

Dear D. O.: A waiter in a restaurant should receive a tip of about 10 percent of the bill unless there is a notice that the tip has been added to the check.

Whether or not you tip the headwaiter depends on the circumstances. If he gives you an especially desirable table in a crowded room, usually you tip him.

If a hostess is having a dinner party and the headwaiter reserves a table for her, sees to arranging the flowers or the preparation of special dishes, he should receive a tip.

Mrs. Bob Duket to Head Twentieth Century Allegro; Takes Office in May

Mrs. Bob Duket was elected president of the Twentieth Century Allegro at a meeting of the group in the home of Mrs. Bill Davis on Tuesday. It was the first meeting of the new year for this group.

Others elected were Mrs. Charles Hickman, vice president; Mrs. Robert Sims, secretary; Mrs. James Evans, treasurer; Mrs. George Chase, Jr., reporter; Mrs. Bill Davis, parliamentarian; Mrs. R. L. Edmondson, critic; Mrs. Jacob Garman, III, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. John Garman, council of clubs. New officers will take office in May.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Davis and Mrs. James Evans.

The program topic was "Child Welfare." Mrs. G. M. Walls spoke on the subject, stating "Behind every problem child is a problem parent." She then turned the program over to Mrs. Bob Karr, who spoke on "What the Child Needs." Mrs. Karr told her listeners "A harmonious home is the basis of a well balanced child."

Speaking on the subject, "Problems in Children," Mrs. James Leverich told Allegro members "The three main problems that parents face with adolescents are fear, food and jealousy," and added that children should be taught to build self confidence.

Registration Rules Given 18-Year-Olds

Gray County boys must register at the Selective Service Board No. 82 not later than five days after their 18th birthday, Mrs. Charles Wade Court, chief clerk at the board, reminded today.

"Recently we have had many inquiries as to whether or not boys still must register," she added. "In 1950 as in 1949 all 18-year-olds have to do so even if they are not drafted."

Offices of Selective Service Board No. 82 are on the third floor of the Courthouse. Office hours are from 8:30 a. m. until 2:30 p. m., Monday through Friday.

Board 82 is made up of Gray, Roberts, Wheeler and Donley Counties. Each county has an office.

FRENCH AIRMAILER—The new 1000 franc airmail stamp, above, will be issued in Paris by the French postal system on Jan. 16. Sounds like a high-priced stamp—and it is, in fact the highest denomination of French stamps—but at current exchange rates, 1000 francs is worth about $2.86 in American money.

Cabinet in Italy Resigns

ROME — (AP) — Premier Alcide De Gasperi and his anti-Communist coalition cabinet resigned today in a move that may give Italy its first one-party government since the war.

The shakeup, agreed upon at a cabinet session last night, was promised two months ago. De Gasperi, whose Christian Democrat Party controls Parliament, was expected again to be President Luigi Einaudi's choice to form a new government.

The outgoing cabinet meanwhile remained in office temporarily.

A strong faction of De Gasperi's party favors a government made up entirely of Christian Democrats. The premier himself has said often Italy should have a coalition government because many voters, not actually Christian Democrats, vote for his strongly Catholic party as an anti-Communist gesture.

The outgoing cabinet, the fifth coalition lineup De Gasperi has headed since 1945, included a few Liberals (actually conservative in policy), moderate to left Republicans and Independents.

The cabinet reorganization was promised last October when three anti-Communist Labor Socialist ministers resigned because of trouble within their own party. The cabinet had been in office since the land-slide Christian Democrat victory in the April, 1948, elections.

In forming a new coalition De Gasperi might have difficulty getting cooperation from the Liberals, who presently are torn over the issue of continued participa-

Southwestern Bell Strike Is Expected

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — U. S. conciliators seem to have reached the end of the line in trying to avert a strike against Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

They made another futile effort yesterday to break the deadlock that exists between the company and its 50,000 CIO employees.

Conciliator A. E. Johnson reported neither side would yield, which means that unless there is some unexpected development by midnight Sunday, a strike in the six-state area served by the utility is possible.

A union spokesman would not say whether a strike is planned

New Scout Born To Beisenherz

Paul Beisenherz, executive of the Adobe Walls Area Council, became the father of a 10-pound two and one-half ounce future Boy Scout at 2:30 a. m. today at the Pampa Hospital.

The Scout executive and Mrs. Beisenherz already have two boys — Paul, 8, now a Cub Scout, and Bobby, 4, who wants nothing more than to become a Cub Scout.

The new Beisenherz was not due until tomorrow — Friday the 15th — but the Scout executive is just as glad the ordeal was completed early today. Anyway, he said, tomorrow's bad luck might have resulted in a Miss Beisenherz. And that just wouldn't do for a Boy Scout executive.

Fine, but Do We Understand It?

We average citizens do not get much help from the scientists in grasping the complexities of atomic energy. The air of mystery is of course deliberately contrived in the interest of national security.

Such a statement came in New York the other day at a meeting of top scientists. Dr. John R. Dunning, Columbia University physicist, announced that the cost of producing uranium is being reduced virtually to the price of coal.

Aside from natural gas, coal is the nation's cheapest fuel and the United States has it in tremendous abundance. Despite wartime and postwar boosts in its cost, coal still supplies nearly half the country's fuel needs.

DR. DUNNING did not enlighten us too much on the meaning of his statement about uranium fuel costs. But certainly its production at costs comparable to those of coal is a great step toward the making of a truly cheap atomic energy.

NEW YORK — The attempt to bomb the national headquarters of the United Auto Workers of the CIO in Detroit gave off a strong fragrance.

The bomb that blew up the Munich Brown House was ill-timed and historically unsuccessful. On the contrary, it made a farce which can hardly do the same for Walter Reuther.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES Christian Layman Group Working

Here is a note I received from the Chairman of the American Council of Christian Laymen.

A good minister friend in Colorado Springs has sent me practically a complete file of articles appearing in Gazette-Telegraph in the Federal Council from Nov. 20 to Dec. 15.

The following is a news release issued by the American Council of Christian Laymen with offices at Madison, Wisconsin.

MADISON, Wis.—From coast to coast laymen of the Protestant churches are showing signs of restiveness; they are listening as never before to a number of individuals and minority groups who have been declaring, for years, that Communist influences have infiltrated the Federal Council of Churches and the national denominational bodies which are affiliated with the council, and are controlling the policies of these religious organizations.

A week later the Rev. Jean S. Miner, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, and a member of the Federal Council, was defending the Federal Council and its leadership, and suggesting that Council-affiliated churches would be happy to bring to Indianapolis a number of Federal Council leaders for public appearances.

No sooner had the news of this report reached this more northern area than the Rev. Mr. Miner had challenged to pit his selection of Federal Council leaders in debate with two spokesmen for the opposition, Captain Bundy and Verne P. Kaub, Madison, acting chairman of the American Council of Christian Laymen with headquarters in Madison, Wis.

Local opposition to the Federal Council, simmering for years in the Colorado city, "boiled over" with announcement that the ministerial Association would sponsor the appearance of Dr. Jones in the city.

Circulation of a pamphlet, "How Red is the Federal Council of Churches?" in the city brought forth a heated denial that the chairman of the mining subcommittee is or had been a member of the American League for Peace and Democracy.

Wild birds will flock for feedings of dry bread, pie crust, melon and squash seeds, sunflower seeds, apple, lettuce and suet.

"PROGRESS" — The "big four," with Vice President Barkley as its chief aggressive, proposed a politico-legislative program which they thought they could pass, and which would enable the White House to report "progress" at the windup of the Eighty-First Congress.

Here is the legislation which they said could probably become law under the conditions they proposed.

(2) Federal aid to education, if the bill contains a provision that all decisions on use of funds and qualifications of schools be left to the states and local communities. This has passed the Senate.

(3) Expansion of the Social Security system to cover an additional 11,000,000 persons and to increase benefits by approximately 70 percent. The House has approved this bill.

BALANCED — (4) Repeal or lowering of many excise taxes, with loss of revenue to be balanced by taxing many organizations now exempt and closing loopholes in the revenue laws.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — It is doubtful if any chief executive in modern history ever overrode the advice and wishes of his Congressional advisers as completely as President Truman did during the opening days of the current session of Congress.

His utter disregard of their political and legislative preferences is explained by the grim faces and our manner of such leaders as Speaker Sam Rayburn, House Majority Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, and Senate Majority Leader Scott W. Lucas of Illinois.

In a critical year of Congressional elections, they fear that he has endangered Democratic control of both House and Senate.

Although they cannot afford to admit it, it is now certain that they will make a minimum effort to translate his "Fair Deal" demands into legislation. They approve only about one-tenth of it, as they concede privately. And the disgruntlement is even more acute among the chairmen of the various committees which must first pass the White House proposals.

TAXES — When they returned from communing with their constituents, the "big four" reported to President Truman that the questions paramount in the voters' minds were high taxes, prices and general living costs along with their fear that the government was covering too much home-town territory.

Such phrases as "socialism," "welfare state" and "statism" had slipped into their minds as a result of opposition propaganda, according to their findings.

They urged Mr. Truman to agree to a short and relatively non-controversial session so that they could return home in late spring to prepare for next year's ballot-box scrap. They advised that he should make at least a gesture toward federal economy, with cuts in foreign aid and national defense. They insisted specifically on repeal of the emergency demands for excise taxes.

"Otherwise," they said, "they would not be responsible for rounding up Democratic majorities in Congress or at the polls next November. It is no exaggeration to say that they 'elect' the man in the White House."

"PROGRESS" — The "big four," with Vice President Barkley as its chief aggressive, proposed a politico-legislative program which they thought they could pass, and which would enable the White House to report "progress" at the windup of the Eighty-First Congress.

Here is the legislation which they said could probably become law under the conditions they proposed.

(1) Housing for middle income groups, with rents of approximately $50 a month. Even here, they opposed Mr. Truman's demand that these projects be turned over to "cooperatives," union labor banks and "non-profit" agencies. But the President did not take the latter advice.

(2) Federal aid to education, if the bill contains a provision that all decisions on use of funds and qualifications of schools be left to the states and local communities. This has passed the Senate.

(3) Expansion of the Social Security system to cover an additional 11,000,000 persons and to increase benefits by approximately 70 percent. The House has approved this bill.

BALANCED — (4) Repeal or lowering of many excise taxes, with loss of revenue to be balanced by taxing many organizations now exempt and closing loopholes in the revenue laws.

Lonesome's Guy

By GORDON MARTIN

In this funny world there's lots of folks who lead a lonesome life, and there's some of them who purposely avoid our worldly strife.

Now a man who wins an office finds that many folks are glad, though a lot of them are friends the fellow never knew he had.

But there comes the fatal day when people vote to make a change, and it's then the loser knows the way of politics is strange.

Look around any restaurant and see how many fat people especially women are stuffing themselves with potatoes, bread and butter, pies and other rich desserts.

Obesity is practically always caused by overeating. Therefore, the best way to get back to normal weight is to eat less. Drugs are rarely necessary and some of them are dangerous.

A person who aims to lose weight should not try to do it too fast. As a general rule, it is considered that a loss of about two pounds a week is enough. This can be brought about by a moderate reduction in the food intake.

Now the foods which can be turned into human fat most easily are animal or vegetable fats, such as fat meat, butter or margarine, the starches of carbohydrates foods which include grains, grain cereals, sugar and potatoes.

It is usually best, if a person is really serious about wanting to lose weight, to have an examination first and an opinion as to how much weight should be lost and how fast it should be done.

The fact that a person is fat is usually a sign of a pretty good appetite to start with. Consequently it is generally pretty hard to cut down on the food. Most of those who really stick with a reducing diet find that it becomes much easier after about two weeks when their stomachs seem to adjust to smaller meals.

Credit Arthur Godfrey with this one. A fellow came home Christmas Eve a little under the weather. He took a corner of the room, spread out his arms and said, "I'm all lit up. I am a Christmas tree. Only I'm a poor little Christmas tree without a single ornament on my branches." So his wife hung one on him.

Weather delayed the marriage of Cary Grant and Betsy Drake for a week. Howard Hughes was standing by to fly them to Arizona a week before Christmas but was grounded by a rainstorm.

The Forties Were Changing Times

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

You could rent a four-room, furnished apartment for $45 a month in Dallas on Jan. 3, 1940. That same day pork chops were advertised at 15 cents a pound and six cans of sardines for 19 cents.

The first day of our dying decade was the beginning of some bewildering times and prices were a major item of the fantastic Forties.

The high cost of living became an almost fantastical subject in the years right after the war ended. Thousands of veterans came back with a hundred dollars discharge pay in their pocket and not much prospect for anything but another hundred-dollar payment.

They came back to glut colleges, to overwhelm trade schools, to dry up a job market that for years had gone begging.

War workers joined the veterans in a mass switch from the temporary to the permanent.

Statistically, the times were abundantly prosperous. Banks had record deposits on hands; industry had set new records; crop values were astronomical.

In 1947, for instance, Texas' wheat harvest was a record 124,270,000 bushels. It brought high prices.

The state's livestock was valued at $996,369,000 in 1948. That same year some 892,832,000 barrels of oil was worth $2,329,789,000.

Cotton, cotton seed, grain sorghums, corn, rice, nuts, and citrus growers were part of a multi-million dollar industry. And their production totals were in the millions of bushels and bales.

The Forties were a changing times. Many tried to keep pace.

The state started general reform of the prison system under a new general manager, O. B. Ellis.

The Gilmer-Atkin school bills overhauled the state school system and provided for an elective Board of Education and an appointive superintendent. Miles of rural roads were authorized.

For a while, money ran free. It was easy to make during the war. There was a lot of saving stacked up for the years after the war.

Sports cashed in on this backlog of cash. So did the entertainment world.

Baseball boomed until Texas had seven professional leagues. Football attendance mushroomed until almost every game of note was a sellout months in advance.

The pinch is on, right now.

Night club operators and bar owners are frank to admit that the lush days are over. But they're still far, far ahead of business in 1949.

These were funny times, the Forties.

There was a period when most people just didn't give a hoot for anything. That was during the war. To a lot of people, it was "live now, for tomorrow you may die."

There was a period right after the war, a period of confusion, uncertainty. For a lot of people—especially veterans—there was a firm conviction that things were permanently smafued.

There's another period now. It's a period where the majority want most of all to be secure.

There are fewer applications for loans to start small businesses. There's a much smaller turnover among workers. "Hang on to it, you don't know what's going to happen" is the general attitude for many.

You'll find this feeling in all groups, the white collar class, the small business man, the industrial worker.

You can point to booming Texas: a new oil field in Scurry County; millions of dollars worth of new construction, highly varied industry, more people working than ever before and making more money for the most part.

MIAMI (Special) — Mrs. Kent Philpott will head the March of Dimes drive in Roberts County for funds to combat infantile paralysis.

She has appointed John P. Pennington and Ed Haynes as assistants. The drive will be held Jan. 18 to 31.

About $1,000,000,000, it is estimated, had been invested by the public in television receivers up to the end of 1949.

DALI IN ROME — Salvador Dali, surrealist, who says he is turning to religious painting, leaves his hotel in Rome carrying his canvas of the "Immaculate Conception."

Glazier

GLAZIER — (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dotson of Darrouzett moved here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wright of Mobeette spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clint Wright and family.

You can quote statistics to show that the Forties are fantastic in the opportunities they provided. You'll still get this answer from many:

"Yeah, but I haven't got any of that."

An ex-bomber pilot might have summed up these times.

"Look, I was in the Army for nearly five years. I didn't get any of that easy money in war plants. I took the best job I could get. I know it. Three, four years ago I'd have said to hell with it and gone out looking for something better. But not now. I didn't know what's going to happen today, much less tomorrow. I can't leave something for nothing. I don't know where I'm going and I'm sure as hell not getting there very fast. You tell me."

The Forties might. The Forties can't.

Here's Advice On Tree Growing In Brooklyn

NEW YORK — (AP) — You've heard that a tree grows in Brooklyn.

But did you ever stop to think what would happen if you didn't want a tree to grow anymore in Brooklyn? Hearken, then, to this tale of a landlord's woe:

He owns a house in Brooklyn with a towering poplar tree in the front yard, a tree sturdy at the base but balding at the top.

Most trees attacked households in only one way — the roots creep into the basement and try to throttle the furnace. But this poplar tree attacked from top to bottom. Its powerful roots kept breaking into the cellar, and its crown shed decaying branches on the heads of passerby.

"Somebody's going to sue me if I don't get rid of that tree," the landlord decided.

But how do you get rid of a tree in Brooklyn? It was too tall to be axed by an amateur.

Well, naturally, in this day and age, when you get a problem too big for personal handling you turn to the government.

So the landlord, who is a Republican, swallowed his pride and asked his tenants, who are Democrats, if they wouldn't ask the city administration, as a favor to them, to please come and take away the tree.

Weeks passed. And then came a letter from the Health Department. It was a summons, and it said in effect:

"Your tree is hereby and to wit declared a community menace. YOU get rid of it."

"That's government for you!" muttered the landlord.

He hired a crew of men to take down the tree. Then he checked and found they had no insurance against being crushed by a falling tree.

Finally, the landlord went to a professional tree removal firm. They said they would cut down chop it down quick!

The moral of this tale is that if you buy a house in Brooklyn with a tree in the yard, be sure it is a young tree. And they said they would cut down chop it down quick!

Conservationists Attend Meeting

Quentin Williams, district soil conservationist, and Fred Harral, range conservationist of the local Soil Conservation Service office, attended an annual meeting of the American Society of Range Management in San Antonio this week.

The general program of the meeting was directed by Dr. D. A. Savage, superintendent of the Agricultural Department's experimental range station at Woodward, Okla.

The program lasted until noon today. This afternoon most of the group visited the Soil Conservation Service grass seed production nurseries at San Antonio. Most of the seeds that have been developed from foreign strains and put out for trial in the Southwest have been produced at this nursery.

Tomorrow the group will visit the vast King Ranch to examine brush eradication and range re-seeding programs that have reportedly proved very successful. Williams and Harral will return over the weekend.

Rain Halts Hogan, Snead

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bantam Ben Hogan, Mr. Comeback of golf, and Slammin' Sammy Snead must wait a week for their Los Angeles Open title playoff.

They were set to slouch it out yesterday over the rain-drenched Riviera Country Club course. But 10 minutes before tee-off time, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the $15,000 tournament, decided to call it off "in the interests of good golf."

Hogan, happy at the opportunity to rest his weary legs, and Snead both smiled in agreement. The 18-hole replay is set for next Wednesday.

Love My Doctor?

By Evelyn Barkins

THE STORY: John and I are newlyweds. John has just completed his internship in a hospital and has set up an office in our little apartment. I became his receptionist, nurse and housekeeper while finishing my work at law school. Housekeeping, I said, is something I'm going to do my best to keep the place spot and again.

XX

"HOUSEKEEPING is awful!" I told John one night, after having to forcibly repress a shudder at what his comfortable relaxation was doing to the couch.

"Why is it awful?" he asked, pulling me down beside him.

"For the first time, I made an audible analysis of the entire situation for our mutual consideration.

"The trouble is," said John, when I finished, "that all you young girls nowadays aren't trained for housework, so that you work under two handicaps: one, it's an unfamiliar territory, and two, you don't know how."

"Look John," I said, "it's about helping me keep this place clean too? I help you in the office, don't I?"

He looked startled. Most men have what they like to think is an inherent virile aversion to housework. But John had the double handicap of having been brought up by a maiden aunt whose reverence for inviolate method was almost scrupulous; and who, incidentally, died without ever wholeheartedly forgiving me for the time she caught John humming and hawing with the dinner dishes. But at least he was willing to try.

"Of course, darling," he said. "I know you have a lot to do, but it never occurred to me to help. What should I do?"

John gravely outlined my plan: John was to make the beds and do the breakfast dishes in the morning, and I, upon my return from school, would take it up from there.

The idea itself was good. Certainly democracy should begin at home, and in cases like ours where both the man and the woman are engaged in extracurricular activities, it seems only fitting that each share some of the burdens of a mutual establishment.

But if the idea was sound in theory, in practical demonstration it completely overtook the fact that a man's best defense against housework is his inept application. John was as competent in this field as Albert Einstein is in brick-laying.

"Why is it awful?" he asked, pulling me down beside him.

"For the final chain in my mind, I made an audible analysis of the entire situation for our mutual consideration.

"The trouble is," said John, when I finished, "that all you young girls nowadays aren't trained for housework, so that you work under two handicaps: one, it's an unfamiliar territory, and two, you don't know how."

"Look John," I said, "it's about helping me keep this place clean too? I help you in the office, don't I?"

He looked startled. Most men have what they like to think is an inherent virile aversion to housework. But John had the double handicap of having been brought up by a maiden aunt whose reverence for inviolate method was almost scrupulous; and who, incidentally, died without ever wholeheartedly forgiving me for the time she caught John humming and hawing with the dinner dishes. But at least he was willing to try.

"Of course, darling," he said. "I know you have a lot to do, but it never occurred to me to help. What should I do?"

John gravely outlined my plan: John was to make the beds and do the breakfast dishes in the morning, and I, upon my return from school, would take it up from there.

The moral was as plain as the smell of fresh coffee and fried bacon for breakfast: man is as much aware of and interested in the sanitary integrity of his home as he is in the mating habits of the scarlet-eyed Drosophila. And in point, let me add that some of the cleanest homes I have been in were by no means the happiest.

Feeling suddenly as free as Robinson Crusoe on his island, I effected my complete emancipation. Never again would I refuse to go to the park or to any other type of entertainment because of an unscrubbed floor, never again would I hesitate between the pleasure we owed each other, and the false duty to inanimate things.

WITH irreverent disregard, I decided that keeping house should be more like any other type of human activity, instead of the unconstitutional form of enslavement it had become. The long wanted, long lamented, unpermitted labor that housework had always meant was a ridiculous method of martyrdom. Some place between immaculate perfection and disorderly neglect, lay that happy medium, and I determined to find it.

The basic principle I followed was a system of laissez-faire ease, which allowed me the privilege of either cleaning like mad when the spirit so moved me, or else letting everything go to rack and ruin upon the infrequent occasions when the need for luxurious rest overwhelmed me. In between times I held to a routine that was fixed, but flexible, and minimal.

But my mother was horrified. "You didn't dust today," she would say accusingly, running a faint line across the dresser top.

"None," I would cheerfully reply, "I went on a call with Jim instead. And anyhow," the impulse to tease was too strong to be denied, "it's much more fun to do it when the dirt really collects, and you can get a good before and after view."

Even Freda began to look upon my activities as those of a well-balanced manic-depressive. "Your windows need doing," she volunteered one day.

"Not yet," was my happy response. "We can still see through."

Texas Impresses and Is Impressed by Sir Thomas, Bad Boy of British Music

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

Texas impressed Sir Thomas Beecham as much as he impressed Texas.

Last month the 70-year-old bad boy of British music flashed around the state, conducting symphony orchestras in San Antonio, Dallas and Houston.

Leaving New York, en route home, he had some things to say about Texas and Texas weather. And when he arrived in England last week he was still talking about Texas.

roaring at the orchestra. His endurance was amazing. The audience was wholly enchanted by Beecham, the manner of his conducting and by an impromptu little speech he made at the end of the program.

But in New York, he told The Times that there may be many fine things deep in the heart of Texas but weather is not one of them. He said the Texas temperature was 97 degrees and that the audience drooped and went to sleep but woke up at the end and were very demonstrative.

Arriving in England, he wore a big Texas hat and referred to Texas as "that other country." He said he was going to walk down London's Bond Street in the hat "to show the English what a real hat is."

"This is a 15-gallon hat at least," said he. "Probably a 20-gallon hat."

Beecham probably will be back in Texas late this year. It is to be hoped that Texas can provide a blue norther for him. Or a blue norther, at least.
