CARDIFF, Wales—(P)—Eighty persons died here yesterday in the crash of a chartered Tudor airliner packed with Welsh football fans celebrating a victory over the Irish. It was aviation's worst commercial plane disaster.

Mercury Drops To Near Zero In Pampa Area

Winter tightened its grip on the Top of Texas area early Monday, pushing the mercury down to eight above zero in Pampa, coldest since Jan. when the thermometer dropped to one below.

However, the bitter cold was quickly broken by a sudden rise to near the 30-degree mark at mid-morning but the forecast called for continued cold during the day and a possible drop to near zero tonight.

Elsewhere in Texas, according to Associated Press, only the coastal and Rio Grande regions escaped the freeze. Temperatures there were in the low 40s early today after the mercury had climbed to as high as 94 Sunday.

The winter blast brought a wild mixture of freezing rain, snow, sleet and dust. By the morning, the cold winds had passed through the state.

Continued low temperatures were forecast for tonight with slightly warming weather tomorrow.

Yesterday, snow flurries were reported in some parts of West Texas, light sleet fell in North Texas, and in the El Paso area, high winds kicked up dust.

This morning, skies were clear over much of the state except along the coast and in the Big Bend area.

Other below freezing readings early this morning included Dalhart 7 degrees above zero, Amarillo 9, Clarendon 12, Childress 16, Guadalupe Pass 18, Sherman 21, Fort Worth and Mineral Wells 23, Dallas 25, Corsicana 26, Tyler 27, Waco 28 and College Station 31.

Other lows for the night included San Antonio 36, Houston 38, Del Rio 39, Corpus Christi 40, Galveston 44, Laredo 45 and El Paso 41.

Rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. today included 2.14 inches at Dallas, Texarkana 1.76, Galveston .77 inch, Beaumont .51, Bryan .37 and Victoria .12.

Forecast was for 12-22 degree lows in the Panhandle and South Plains tonight with 22-32 degrees elsewhere in West Texas. In East Texas, low temperatures of 18-26 degrees were expected during the night with 26-32 in the interior of the south portion of East Texas and 32-35 along the coast.

San Antonio reported that a "predicted 26-degree low materialized there during the night, it will be the coldest of 1950 for that city."

Silent Stalin Leads Mass Vote Turnout

MOSCOW—(P)—Prime Minister Joseph Stalin led millions of Russians to the polls yesterday to cast ballots for a single slate of candidates for the Soviet Union's parliament.

The Russians voted at polling booths stretching almost halfway round the world—from the Bering strait to the mouth of the Danube. Up for election were 671 nominees for the Council of the Union, the upper house of the Supreme Soviet, and 631 members of the Council of Nationalities.

All were unopposed. To vote against any candidate the voter could draw a line through the name on the ballot.

Announcement of the complete vote was expected to come in about a week.

In the 1946 elections 99.7 percent of the registered voters, or 101,450,936, cast ballots. A larger vote was expected this year.

Foreigners in Moscow had expected the premier to speak Saturday night at a lavish dinner, as he had done in previous election years. However an opera was presented and the premier did not appear.

Rogers' Illness Adjourns Court

Settlement of two lawsuits and illness of Atty. Walter Rogers brought 31st District Court proceedings, set for today, to a halt shortly before 10:30.

Two minor civil suits, one preferentially set for today, were settled over the weekend.

Another case involving Rogers as counsel, was passed over due to the attorney's illness. Rogers became ill from food poisoning late Friday and was confined to his home over the weekend. In the meantime flu set in to complicate his condition. However, Atty. J. E. Thompson, associated with Rogers, said he expected his associate to be back in the office by Thursday.

FUN AT FRIENDSHIP FAIR—An estimated 2,000 people jammed into the Junior High School Gymnasium Saturday night for a second annual Friendship Fair, sponsored by the Pampa Girl Scout Association. Proceeds from the crafts and refreshments, which were sold to the public, will be used for many needed improvements at the Scout House. Both Scouts and Scout leaders considered the fair the biggest event that has been sponsored by the Scouts in a long time. More than $170 was donated by the Scouts to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. (Photo by Pampa Camera Club; News Engraving)

2,000 Persons Action Not Taken At Scout Fair

A night of fun, frolic and refreshments was the ticket Saturday night when about 2,000 people crowded into the Junior High School Gymnasium for the Girl Scout Friendship Fair.

After the 515 Scouts, who are registered in the Pampa Girl Scout Association, started the fair with the grand entry, a large crowd thronged through the gym to purchase candy, cake, coffee, bubble gum and balloons from the 24 booths that encircled the large room.

Troop 28 presented the colors and Troop 22 led the Pledge of Allegiance. Sandra Sullins, Scout of Troop 22, welcomed the crowd and Adelaide Siskly, Troop 7, had charge of the Juliette Low world friendship fund presentation.

More than $170 was contributed to the fund by the Scouts, who saved their own money during the past year to be put into the fund. Last year $156.15 was contributed to the fund.

Twelve folk dances followed the opening, prior to the public visitation of the booths. Scouts of Troops 3, 26, 14, 31, 22, 6, 33, 20, 42, 37, 21, and 12 presented the dances.

Senior Troop 20's original costumed Arabian dance was one of the most spectacular renditions. Also, Hopkins' Brownie Troop 31 and White Deer's Troop 37 were favorites with the crowd. They presented costumed Spanish and Canadian dances.

Panel Halts Bill to Cut Excise Taxes

WASHINGTON—(P)—The House Ways and Means Committee rejected today a new Republican effort to ram through a "quickie" bill slashing excise taxes immediately by about $1,000,000,000.

The rigid party line vote was 15 to 10.

The Democrats, however, gave some ground, trying at the same time to head off a veto if excise cutting goes beyond the limits set by President Truman.

They pressed through the committee, on a similar party vote, a resolution saying the committee will:

1. Approve excise slashes, perhaps far beyond the $655,000,000 the president has requested. Some members privately are estimating the excise cut will be around $1,000,000,000.

2. Try to replace the lost revenue "by closing loopholes in existing tax laws, by strict enforcement against tax evaders, and, if necessary, such other tax changes as may be deemed feasible."

Truman Sails For Vacation

Aboard Presidential Escort U. S. S. William Law—(P)—President Truman is on his way to Key West, Fla., for a vacation he hopes will last the full three weeks scheduled.

Mr. Truman is aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg, which he boarded in Washington Sunday morning.

The Williamsburg, skippered by Commander Donald MacDonald and this escorting destroyer, the William C. Lawe, commanded by Commander Thomas H. Sudarth, passed through the Virginia Capes and into the Atlantic shortly after midnight after a rendezvous a few hours earlier near Smith Point light at the mouth of the Potomac.

The ships encountered such a heavy fog a short while later that they slowed speed to five knots, navigating by radar, but the fog lifted completely less than 30 minutes later.

In advance of a four-hour passage of Cape Hatteras, some times a rough stretch of water, the forecast was for cloudy weather with a few light sprinkles, ten-mile visibility, slight to moderate sea swells.

Johnsons Plead Innocent in Case

AMARILLO—(P)—Both Ewald and Diana Johnson pleaded innocent today to charges of murder in the death of W. A. (Tex) Thornton.

Their pleas were entered as they were arraigned on charges they killed the famed oil field explosives expert who was found dead last June 23 in an Amarillo tourist court.

The trial of Johnson, who was arrested last month in Munising, Mich., was set for 9 a. m. Monday, May 8. Mrs. Johnson, 19, was arrested in Washington, D. C., after telling police her husband killed Thornton.

Boyles Will Aid Drive

MANCHESTER, N. H.—(P)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander had crossed another hurdle today in his fight to return to his country doctor practice.

The New Hampshire Medical Society refused yesterday to take disciplinary action against the young physician and left any such action to the Hillsborough County Medical Society.

A spokesman also reported that the state society did not plan to make any recommendations to the State Board of Registration in Medicine, which alone has the right to revoke or suspend a medical license.

The board planned to meet today to set a date for a formal hearing for the 41-year-old Candia doctor acquitted last week of murder in the death of Mrs. Abbie Borretto, a cancer patient.

Two members of the five-man registration board were among 30 delegates and alternates of the state society's house of delegates which debate the Sander case behind closed doors for three hours yesterday.

They were Drs. Paul J. Dye of Wolfeboro and Reginald K. House of Hanover. Neither had any comment.

While it did not wholly close the door upon such action, the state medical society said disciplinary action "is the province of the county medical society concerned."

It could have recommended disciplinary action to the county society, but refrained from doing so. Such action might have been censure, suspension or even expulsion from membership.

A county society spokesman said a special meeting could be called to discuss the case of Dr. Sander at the request of at least five members.

The state society condemned mercy killing, or euthanasia, in strong terms. In its disapproval it included "any process for relieving suffering by the deliberate termination of life."

A statement issued after the state society's meeting said, in part:

"1. The New Hampshire Medical Society considers it inappropriate to comment on the outcome of the recent trial of Dr. Sander. The administration of laws is a matter wholly within the jurisdiction of the courts.

"2. The development of the case and the verdict of the jury have established that mercy killing was not involved. A contrary impression, however, was created by the publicity associated with the case. In considering the ethical conduct connected therewith, it is recognized that the membership of this society is composed of human beings subject to human errors of judgment, but we do not wish to permit any misleading impression concerning the attitude of the medical profession."

Minstrel Rehearsal Set Tuesday Night

The first rehearsal of "Talk of the Town," Lions Club 19th annual minstrel, will be held on the stage at Junior High School at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

Ernest McCracken, director, said the "show is coming along fine, but there is still much to be done."

The show will be presented at 8 p. m. Thursday and Friday at the Junior High School Auditorium.

Solon Hurls Charges at Key Official

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) today accused Haldore Hanson, key State Department official, of "pro-Communist" activities dating back to September 1938.

He identified Hanson as the executive director of the secretariat of the inter-departmental committee on scientific and cultural cooperation.

At the State Department, officials quickly replied that Hanson, 37, has been "thoroughly investigated."

Michael McDermott, press relations officer, said: "The department is satisfied that he (Hanson) is loyal to the United States."

McCarthy said Hanson will head a technical cooperation project staff for President Truman's "Point Four" program which will spend "hundreds of millions of dollars of our taxpayers' money all over the world."

The "Point Four" program is Mr. Truman's plan for American technical aid to undeveloped parts of the world. It took its name from the fact that he first mentioned it as "point four" in the foreign policy section of his 1949 inaugural address.

McCarthy made his accusation against Hanson before a Senate foreign relations subcommittee. The group is investigating McCarthy's charges that the State Department is a haven for Communists and Red sympathizers.

McCarthy said Hanson is one of the "cleverest" and "smoothest" men in the State Department, and could not be called a "dupe" misled by Communists.

Hanson joined the State Department in 1942 as a specialist in Chinese affairs.

McCarthy said Hanson: 1. Was running a Communist magazine in Peiping when the Japanese-Chinese war broke out.

2. Spent several years with the Chinese Communist armies "writing stories and taking pictures which the Chinese Communists helped him smuggle out of the country."

3. Wrote a book "which sets forth his pro-Communist answers to the problems of Asia as clearly as Hitler's Mein Kampf set forth his solutions for the problems of Europe."

4. Has contributed to the magazine "Pacific Affairs," a publication of the Institute of Pacific Relations "whose staff was headed by millionaire Frederick Vanderbilt Field, an admitted Communist."

5. Wrote for the magazine "Amerasia," whose managing editor was Philip Jacob Jaffe. "Jaffe," McCarthy said, "was arrested, indicted and found guilty of having been in illegal possession of several hundred secret documents from the State, Navy, War, and other government department files."

MYSTERY SURROUNDS SLAYING OF SHERIFF

PRESDIDIO, Texas—(P)—Officers probing the death of Sheriff O. W. (Blackie) Morrow had a fine class mystery.

Did the slayer use the sheriff's gun? Where are Morrow's handcuffs? How long did the wounded officer lie draped on a barbed-wire fence?

Why did he stop his car on a lonely mountain road? When Texas Rangers, highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies find the answers to these questions they hope they'll be on the trail of the mysterious killer.

Morrow, a husky six-footer, was shot and left dying on a lonely mountain road early yesterday in this rugged Big Bend country.

Four Marfa youths on their way home from Presidio found his body—a gule from where he had been shot.

Officers said he might have been shot with his own gun. They couldn't find it or his handcuffs.

Roadblocks were set up and officers patrolled the area. But they had no idea whom they were hunting.

The 43-year-old sheriff had been here on official business and was returning to Marfa, the Presidio county seat, shortly after midnight yesterday. He was believed to have been driving alone. Apparently he stopped to check a car he had halted.

Belgians Study Vote Outcome

BRUSSELS—(P)—Belgian politicians met secretly today to consider the critical situation raised by referendum showing that 57.68 percent of Belgium's voters wanted King Leopold III returned to his throne.

Belgians awaited a statement from their handsome king, who has been barred from the throne since surrendering his army to the Germans in World War Two.

Premier Gaston Eyskens met with the cabinet, then prepared to leave for Pregny, near Geneva, to confer with Leopold. The monarch said earlier he would abdicate if he did not win 85 percent of the vote.

There was no statement following the cabinet meeting. A minister commented dourly: "We have exchanged our points of views."

In Switzerland, sources near King Leopold said the monarch was maintaining complete silence about the outcome of the plebiscite.

The vote Sunday split the country and the political parties. Leopold won 72.2 percent majority in Flanders but got only a 40.2 percent minority in the Walloon provinces.

The Liberals would not say whether they would join the pro-Leopoldist Social Christians (Catholics) in asking parliament to rescind its ban on the king's return from exile. The Liberals said it was up to the king to make the first move.

The referendum was only an advisory one, and it is up to parliament to decide if Leopold may return.

One plan offered by the anti-Leopold forces was this: Find a way to bring the king back and then get him to abdicate. But no one would venture to say how this could be worked out.

Belgium voted this way: Yes (for Leopold's return), 5,937,382. No (against his return), 2,181,861.

There were 181,477 ballots declared invalid.

The interior ministry said the king had carried 21 of the country's 30 districts and seven of its nine provinces.

These final official returns gave Leopold 57.68 percent of the valid ballots.

In Flanders Leopold yesterday was strong with a majority of 72.2 percent. In Brabant, where Brussels is located, his majority was 50.2 percent. In the French-speaking Walloon area, though he carried two of the four provinces, he came out with only 40.2 percent of the total vote.

Rodeo Death Trial Begins

MIDLAND—(P)—Selection of a jury to try a Beaumont man for a dramatic double slaying at a Big Spring rodeo last year began today.

On trial is rodeo cowboy Herbert Frizzell, 34.

It was last Aug. 4 at Big Spring that two men were shot down in the Big Spring rodeo arena in a big crowd watched in astonishment.

Killed were Henry Preston (Buck) Jones, Ranger, a rodeo judge, and Carl Myers, 34, Hardin-Simmons University student.

Officers said Jones was the intended victim in the shooting and that Myers, a bystander, was killed by a stray bullet.

Frizzell was overpowered and jailed immediately after the shooting. He was taken to the Howard County jail at Big Spring, where he made a statement.

The case was transferred here from Big Spring on the court's own motion because of the wide publicity and sensational nature of the case.

A 180-man special venire was called from which the jury is to be drawn. The state and defense have subpoenaed a total of 81 witnesses.

Insurance Firm's Founder Succumbs

DALLAS—(P)—William Bacon, founder and retired president of the National Standard Life Insurance Company, died here yesterday after a brief illness. He was 78.

Bacon was a native of Valdez, Mass., and had lived here since 1917. Before coming to Dallas, Bacon lived at Greenville for a number of years. He was in the mercantile business there.

Bacon retired as president of the insurance firm ten years ago.

Worthwhile HD Members Are Told Necessity of Soil Conservation

Mrs. O. A. Wagner gave a short discussion of "Headlines in World Affairs" at a meeting of the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. R. E. Engle, West of the city. Roll call was answered with "My Garden Problem."

Quentin Williams and Tony Welker gave talks on "Soil Conservation" and "Soil Conservation and the Soil." They explained the soil and why it is necessary to keep the soil permanently productive. They told the women that the soil of the gardens should also be rotated from year to year. They stated, also, that if the necessary elements for productivity are not obtained from air and water and the soil, they should be added by commercial aids.

Mrs. R. E. Engle gave a council report and mentioned that March 12 was the 4th Club Week. The worthwhile Club made a donation to the Red Cross.

Coffee, cake and tea were served and pictures of the group were taken.

Those present were Mrs. R. E. Engle, Mrs. O. A. Wagner, Mrs. N. B. Cude, Mrs. Ray Robertson, Mrs. B. M. Vaught, Mrs. A. G. Crawford, Mrs. O. J. Smith, Mrs. Roy Tinsley, Mrs. Joe Loop, Mrs. John King and one guest, Mrs. R. J. Sailor.

"A BEAUTIFUL LINE"

NEW YORK (NEA)—Luxurious touches of imported lace and hand-embroidery are calculated to point up the sheer beauty of new nylon tricot lingerie. For all their fragile looks, these hand-sewn garments uphold nylon's practical reputation for long wear and easy upkeep.

Lace and nylon combine their charms in the graceful shell-pink gown (left) designed by Saab. Fine-patterned lace veiled by nylon forms the bandeau which is outlined by insets of hand-embroidered imported lace. The graceful, flowing skirt falls from a snugly-fitted midriff.

Elegant frothing for the aqua blue slip (right) is provided by garlands of white and blue. Cosmetics made of ribbons, artificial leaves, cigarettes and cigars were presented to the honored guest and to the grandfathers-to-be, Gibb Morris of Skellytown.

When the great of honor had recovered from the surprise, games were played. J. W. Graham won the diaper pinning contest.

After Mrs. Hagler had unwrapped the dainty gifts, which he took from a pink and white decorated basket, refreshments of coffee, coffee, nuts and mince were served.

Guests were Albert Nichols, Gibb Morris, Jack Glover, Chuck Richardson, Joe Lewis, Charlie Spence, Bill Cook, Kenneth Brannon, L. H. Dougley, Mitchell Sullivan, J. W. Graham, Lloyd Summers, Billy Jo Day and the guest of honor.

Fidelis Class of First Baptist Is Entertained at Buffet Dinner

In the candlelighted home of Mrs. Tom Tipps, 1124 Terrace, the members of the Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Church were entertained recently by Mrs. Tipps, Mrs. C. L. Marler and Mrs. Jim Arndt, hostesses.

The president, Mrs. D. A. Brown, and the social vice president, Mrs. Arndt, greeted the guests as they arrived and presented each one with a corsage. Guests registered on a guest card which is to be placed in the class scrap book.

The dinner of fried chicken, vegetables, salads, dessert and coffee, was served buffet style, with guests seating themselves at gaily decorated card tables placed about the living room.

Mrs. Owen Johnson, superintendent of the department, gave the opening prayer. Tables were laid with linen and silver, and were lighted by red candles in red and white holders. Plate favors, made by Mrs. D. A. Brown, were little colonial men and women made of corks.

Mrs. H. C. Cain gave the devotional, taken from Psalms 51: 1-10, and Ezekiel 11: 16-21. Monthly reports were made in a short business meeting, and members were urged to strive to improve their grade each Sunday in order that the class may reach the Standard of Excellence. It

Natural Light Is Determinant in Kitchen Color

If a kitchen is sunny, use deep tones of yellow, pink or blue or pale tints of blue or green for the walls. Select colors for the grease resistant asphalt tile floor that repeat the wall color.

Accent the floor tiles with a 2-inch border stripe of the flooring material in red or black. If the kitchen is on the north side of the house where little sunlight reaches it, choose warm yellow, orange or pink and avoid blue or green, which are "cool" colors. For the asphalt tile floor, work out a clever design using yellow tiles accented by red tiles and striping.

FLOOR SEALERS PENETRATE

Penetrating floor sealers are used frequently on floors where traffic is quite heavy. These finishes sink into the pores of the wood, leaving practically no surface film for wearing away. Worn spots are renewed by wiping on more of the material. These sealers are applied with a wide brush or with a special applicator, working across the grain and then smoothing out in the direction of the grain. Buffing with an electrical floor machine or with steel wool is recommended.

BUILDING NEWS

BUILDING IN PAMPA IS OFF TO GOOD START

Building in Pampa during the first month of the year compared favorably with other Texas towns of comparable size, it was disclosed in a report released by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

The value of all construction here totaled $128,000, of which $95,000 was spent for 14 new residences.

Borger's building totaled $20,000, of which $8,000 was used for construction of four new residences. Dalhart had a total of $59,000, which was mostly spent for nine new residences.

Amarillo spent $1,358,000 for building in January. There were 185 residences constructed totaling $1,094,000.

Only building for which building permits were issued within the incorporated area of the city was covered in the report. Federal contracts were not included.

Modernize Home To Increase Value

An old house often has more space than a new one and is well-built. By adapting new ideas to his old house the owner can increase its comfort, convenience, beauty and value, suggests the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

Eliminating outmoded false eaves, ornate fretwork and gingerbread will bring out pleasing modern lines. A tall, awkward house gains the illusion of today's low, rambling architectural lines by the addition of a porch or wing at one or both sides. Roofs appear lower if painted in dark shades above light exterior walls. A simple color plan to emphasize long horizontal lines is effective. Replacing small windows has a rejuvenating effect.

Interior modernization includes: more convenient kitchen; modern heating system accompanied by complete thermal insulation; more electric outlets and simple modern lighting fixtures; built-in cupboards and extra closets. Removing a wall between living- and dining-room will create a large open room. Eliminating excessive wood trim and moldings and using well-planned solid-color wall treatment will give a modern look.

In any modernization program, provision of maximum winter comfort is essential. Today's improved heating systems have increased 25 percent to 50 percent in efficiency. Cost of good automatic equipment will be repaid in added comfort and lowered fuel bills.

Important to heating plant efficiency is adequate thermal insulation. About 85 percent of older dwellings are not insulated, although insulation is described by government agencies as "an essential element in dwelling construction." Because of the increased summer comfort and fuel savings amounting to as much as 35 percent with full-thickness mineral wool insulation in exposed walls and roof areas, the University of Illinois Small Homes Council declares: "Insulation is needed in all homes that use heating systems in winter or are exposed to high temperatures in summer."

FINISH FOR FOOD LOCKERS

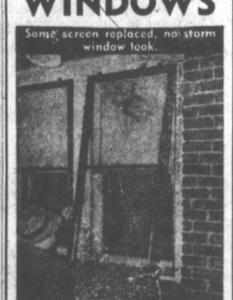

For frozen food lockers a finish is used which is highly resistant to rust and long exposure from moisture. Hard and scratchproof, it is also tough and flexible—even after continuous service in sub-freezing temperatures. It is also easy to keep clean and unaffected by fats and greases.

THE BRONTE is a basementless house. This is provided for by having an insulated floor slab being laid directly on a bed of gravel. In order to fit a narrow utility room, with heating plant, storage and laundry facilities, has been placed to the rear of the house. The plumbing is grouped in the adjoining bathroom, kitchen and utility room.

The kitchen cabinets are placed on two walls leaving a large dining space. All of the room opens into a small central hall, which also has a linen closet. There is a coat closet in the living room and wardrobe type closet in the bedroom. The utility room has a large storage cabinet, and coat closet and closet for house-keeping supplies.

The exterior is finished with wide siding and an asphalt shingle roof. The front entrance door is protected by simple lattice work.

The overall dimensions are 30 feet by 23 feet with the main body of the house 34 feet deep. The floor area is 222 square feet and the cubage 10,624 cubic feet.

For further information about THE BRONTE, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Furniture Styled for Today's Living Dominates the Furniture Showings

While there was an abundance of new furniture designs in every known style shown at the recent winter furniture markets, there was no doubt but that modern in all its new guises had run away with the show.

There were probably more new and fresh conceptions of contemporary design introduced during these recent manufacturer's showings than at any previous time.

Undoubtedly, our changing way of life—the smaller, informal type of houses and the growing number of maidless houses which have dictated a less formal way of living and entertaining—has had a strong influence on furniture design.

As a result, much of the new furniture has been styled to suit the tastes and needs of the average American family of today, and is actually neither modern nor traditional but a happy blend of the best features of both. Many of these new styles have been designed with the popular ranch type house in mind, and are casually styled in native woods such as pine, oak, cherry, maple, and walnut in a tawny finish.

These new interpretations have an American pioneer flavor to them—such as the trestle-type dining tables—adaptations of rocking chairs—and the new finish shown on one group which is mindful of the old mission furniture. And, still another group has some of the character of the American federal era.

Some of these new pieces, particularly for the living room, are overscaled but there is also an almost equal number of lightly scaled pieces for the small house or apartment. Regardless of the size, however, practically all of the contemporary groups were acclaimed as being definitely liveable and appealing which is due to the softer finishes, the wider use of gentle curves, and decorative detail. The functional simplicity, however, which has always been the keynote of modern, has fortunately been retained.

And, just as modern has become more traditional, so the traditional styles are becoming more modern.

Enamel Coating Made Canned Goods Possible

By JANE CLARK

NEW YORK—The annual American output of canned foodstuffs now totals some 500,000,000 cases—with an infinite variety of foods now available. While this production represents the accomplishments of an industry which had its beginnings in France 141 years ago, the greatest advance came only 29 years ago.

It was then that America began the commercial production of enamel lined cans for "low acid" foods. Since that time, scientists, chemists and coating technologists have developed the modern varnishes and enamels which make it possible to can everything from tuna fish to beer without spoilage, loss of taste or alteration in color.

It was in 1809 that Nicholas Appert, the owner of a Paris candy shop, discovered that certain foodstuffs could be successfully preserved by sealing them in wide-mouthed glass bottles and then boiling the containers in huge copper water boilers for hours on end. By this process, he established the principle on which the successful preservation of food is based—the arrest of bacterial action by boiling and sealing. Curiously enough, the isolation of bacteria was not to come for another 50 years. Monsieur Appert's method gained quick popularity in Europe although it was too cumbersome to permit large scale production of preserved foods.

In 1819, an English immigrant, William Underwood, introduced tin food containers to Americans. He rapidly established a thriving business with the homesick inhabitants of the frontier, settling them by offering them such then incredible delicacies as canned Atlantic salmon, lobster and cranberry preserves.

With Isaac Winslow's appearance in the canning industry came the first recorded use of enamel in tin cans. Captain Winslow, enthused by the prospect of serving his men fresh Maine corn while his whaling vessel made its way through the Magellan Strait or across the South Seas, set up the Winslow-Jones cannery with his brother-in-law, Caleb Jones. In 1844 they devised a satisfactory way of preserving corn by blanching the corn and then coating the inside joints of the tin cans with a primitive sort of enamel.

During the civil war, the infant industry increased its output by 600 percent, but for a long while spoilage continued to be fairly common. It was found that—upon contact with plain tins—certain highly colored fruits and vegetables bleached to such an extent as to be unpalatable. The first enamel used in coating the inside of cans was made from tung oil and natural resins obtained from the Congo and East Indies. Unfortunately, this coating still made canning certain foods impracticable since it lacked the necessary resistance to the action of the food.

By the end of the first World War, however, chemists had succeeded in producing synthetic resins and synthetic drying oils. With these, important advance work could be started on coatings for containers for meats, fish, chili and citrus foods. In addition to the particular requirements for specific foods, these modern coatings must meet strict general requirements. They must be adaptable to high speed production methods and must be tough but sufficiently elastic to allow the operations necessary in fabricating the can. They must also be odorless, tasteless and inert to the action of the food for which they are used. Finally, they must not be affected by high temperatures necessary for the processing of certain foods.

Modern varnish and enamel coatings are so successful that they were used on all types of tin plate without significant loss of food throughout the war. They now assure perfect preservation, protection and variety in your food.

Title Insurance Protects Owners

Title insurance protects the home-buyer forever and protects the widow and children in the event of his death. The title insurance company which insures the bank on its mortgage has no liability toward the home-owner; but if there is a claim on the title, the company has the right to pay the bank the amount due on the mortgage, take the mortgage by assignment and compel the home-owner at his own expense to clear the title.

A defect may not come to light until the home-owner has contracted to sell his home. If this happens and the seller has no title insurance, it is his obligation and not that of the company which insured the mortgage to either remove the defect at his expense, or risk a lawsuit by the new purchaser.

Ervin Pursley to Build Home in Fraser Addition

BUT RED IS STILL RED
So far as is known, nothing on earth has color in or of itself. Light is the source of color. Color is a sensation produced by the action of visible rays upon the retina of the human eye—it is an impression taken into the mind through the sense of sight, responding to the wave lengths of light.

Ervin Pursley, 1337 Charles, last week was issued a building permit for a $40,000 home from the City Engineer's Office.

Construction will start immediately on the 14-room brick veneer residence at 1805 Christine.

Tiny glass cups used years ago to measure out a penny's worth of jelly beans or small candies in the corner store have become prized items for collectors of handmade American glassware.

A third of the population of Europe was wiped out by the "black death."

Top-Seeded Bradley Meets Syracuse Tonight in First Test in National Invitation Meet

Baseball Training Camp News Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (AP) — Joe DiMaggio has heel trouble again — but it's not serious this time.

The slugging New York Yankees' outfielder came up with a blistered right heel — the same one which gave him so much trouble last spring — and was excused from the world championship exhibition game with the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday.

VERO BEACH, Fla. — The Brooklyn Dodgers' injury list already bulging — had three new members today. Infielders Eddie Miksis and Eddie Hicks and pitcher Morrie Martin were injured over the weekend to make a total of eight injured Dodgers.

The Dodgers look a 16-11 decision from the Boston Braves.

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The New York Giants' pitching staff, the club's No. 1 question mark, must improve on yesterday's showing when the New Yorks go to make the first division this season.

Five of Manager Leo Durocher's hurlers were pounded for 17 hits for 18 runs by the Cleveland Indians. Cleveland won, 18-6.

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — Frankie Frisch, the Chicago Cubs skipper, is concerned about one of his top pitchers, Bob Rush.

Rush, who is being counted on to take a mound assignment every fourth day, so far has not been too impressive. In an intra-camp game at Catalina Island he was belted for three hits in two innings.

The Cubs, after losing two in a row to the White Sox, show to minor league competition today, meeting Portland of the Pacific Coast League.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies took another look today at rookie Rus Bowers as a possible solution to his pitching problem.

Bowers, using a fast ball almost exclusively, held the Boston Red Sox scoreless during a three-inning stint of an exhibition game with the American Leaguers yesterday.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — The Philadelphia Athletics today opened their first holiday since spring drills opened March 1.

Manager Connie Mack granted the entire squad the day off — not as reward for winning their first two exhibition games with the Washington Senators, but just because he had planned it that way.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — The Pittsburgh Pirates went after another exhibition win today as they prepared to meet Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League at Fullerton.

Home runs played a big part in two weekend victories over the St. Louis Browns.

TUCSON, Ariz. — Too much schooling, reasons Coach Al Simmons, ruins a baseball player.

The former Philadelphia Athletics coach explained, "They (rookies) attend baseball schools and are taught how to hit by a lot of old major league ball players who never hit over 250 in their lives. Whatever natural ability they have is ruined by instructors who make the kids change their batting stances to conform with some phony theories."

TAMPA, Fla. — The Cincinnati Reds already have gone to both extremes of hitting in their 1950 spring training.

The Rhinelanders got only five hits Saturday as they dropped a 3 to 1 decision to the Boston Red Sox in their opening exhibition game. Yesterday it was just the opposite. They lambasted three Detroit pitchers for 13 hits, including five home runs, as they whipped the Tigers, 10 to 8.

LAKELAND, Fla. — Despite plenty of hitting power displayed by the Detroit Tigers in their two exhibition games, they still were looking for win number one in a match with Cincinnati here today.

The Bengals ran into a pair of clubs just as strong on slugging during the weekend and lost 9-0 to the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday and 10 to 8 to the Reds at Tampa on Sunday.

ORLANDO, Fla. — The Washington Nationals, smarting under a row, are looking for a win today in a match with the Philadelphia Athletics today in their first home game of this season's grapefruit circuit.

Another string of pitchers — Ray Scarborough, Diz Sutherland and Dick Weller — will try to break up the A's victory march which chalked up 8.7 and 4.3 wins in the first exhibition games over the weekend.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Powered by a sparkling Mutt and Jeff combination, topseeded Bradley takes on upset-minded Syracuse tonight in its opening bid for the National Invitation Basketball title.

The Peoria, Ill., Braves rate as five-point favorites over the Orange quintet that blasted heavily favored Long Island U. 80-52 Saturday.

On the line again for Bradley will be slinger Paul Uhrh and junior-size Gene Melchiorre, who pulled the Braves into the semifinals of the same tournament last March.

All-America Uhrh and his partner will lead a racehorse attack against a club that uses the same tactics and has an edge in height.

However, lack of height hasn't bothered Bradley too much so far — the Braves have a 27-3 record and finished No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll.

St. John's, although seeded fourth, is an underdog against unseeded Western Kentucky in the evening's second quarterfinal contest.

Sentiment has shifted to the lowering Bluegrass sprinters following Bob Lavoy's 32-point burst in Saturday's victory over Niagara.

St. John's bases its hopes on a tight defense to slow down Western's blasters. Western is not a great defensive club — a shortcoming which may prove fatal against the scrappy Brooklyn five.

Coach Nat Holman of CCNY, which overpowered San Francisco Saturday and plays second-seeded Kentucky tomorrow night, picks Western to take St. John's. He believes a 10-day layoff has hurt the metropolitan club.

Another coach, John (Taps) Gallagher of Niagara, picks Syracuse over Bradley. Gallagher's team lost to the Hilltoppers Saturday.

Another Member Of '1,000 Club' Added in NBA

(By The Associated Press) — Adolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals is the newest paid-up member of the exclusive "1,000 point club" in the National Basketball Association.

The former New York University star boosted his season's point total to a round thousand by scoring 21 last night in the Nationals' 96-72 victory over the Boston Celtics.

The Indianapolis Olympians climbed into a tie with Anderson for first place in the Western standings by easing by Washington, 90-89. Anderson was idle.

The Minneapolis Lakers, with Mikan hitting for 32 points, held their central division advantage by defeating the New York Knickerbockers, 87-86. Second place Rochester, trailing by a game and a half, turned back the St. Louis Bombers, 99-72. Rookie forward Frank (Pep) Saul, with 16 points, led the Royals to their 12th straight triumph.

Another coach, John (Taps) Gallagher of Niagara, picks Syracuse over Bradley. Gallagher's team lost to the Hilltoppers Saturday.

List Swells For Cowtown Track Meet

FORT WORTH — (AP) — The entry list for the 27th annual Southwest Recreation Track, Field and Golf meet totalled 194 schools and 1,000 individual athletes Saturday with still more to come, Director R. D. Evans announced.

Evans believes now that close to 1,500 contestants may be on hand for the meet which will be held here Friday and Saturday at Farrington Field and Meadowbrook Golf Course.

University Division entrants include Arkansas, SMU, Hardin-Simmons, Oklahoma A&M, Texas Tech, and TCU. University of Texas won the title in 1949 but will not compete this year.

Other entries include: College: Southeastern State, Durant, Okla.; Oklahoma Baptist University, Phillips University; Stephen F. Austin; McMurry; Austin College; University of Houston; Texas Western, North Texas State.

Junior College: Kilgore, Tarleton State; San Antonio College; Arlington State; Victoria; Cisco; Edinburg; Paris; Schriener Institute.

Freshmen: Arkansas, Hardin-Simmons, SMU, TCU, McMurry, Texas Tech, Austin College, Oklahoma A&M, North Texas State.

High School: Cisco; Wichita Falls; Weatherford, Henrietta, Decatur, Venus, Lueders, Grand Saline, Masonic Home, Sabine of Gladewater; Cleveland, Highland Park, Sherman, Bartlett, Duncan, Okla.; Nocona, North Dallas, Brownwood, Gainesville, Woodrow Memphis, Stephenville, Seymour, San Angelo, Corsicana State Home, Austin, Blooming Grove, Sweetwater, Garland, Crockett, Paris, Big Spring, Sunset of Dallas, Lamesa, Chickasha, Okla.; Oklahoma City Central, Yoe of Cameron, Abilene, Stillwater, Carlisle, Joshua, Amarillo, Odessa, Haskell, Birdville Burleson, Edgewood, Mineral Wells White Deer, Terrell, Graham, Hughes Springs, McAlester, Okla., and Mesquite.

Texans Daily Stalk Vicious Mountain Cat

AUSTIN — The hubbub over Oklahoma City's escaped leopard pointed up the fact that Texas, minus the ballyhoo, is constantly stalking an animal almost as vicious. This creature is the mountain lion, oftentimes known as the panther or cougar.

Two employees of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission maintain two dog packs for the primary purpose of controlling the lions along the Mexican border and on westward past the wider game Davis Mountain country. Two regular game wardens also specialize in the use of traps to remove marauding lions from their districts.

The combined kill of both trapping and stalking is not high but the work is considered highly desirable by ranchers and farmers and is credited with controlling the big cats which are the most ruthless of the varied Texas predators.

Actually, some of the commission hounds had been alerted to help in the Oklahoma City hunt when it seemed that other dogs were having poor luck. The pack custodians were described as being very eager to take their hounds to the Sooner State and probably would have been given clearance had not the leopard returned to the city zoo from which it had fled.

Mountain lions are controlled in the Texas wilds by dint of the most painstaking kind of work by both man and his faithful ally, the hound. Bob Snow has one pack that works up and down the Mexican border and Fred Moore, stationed at Sierra Blanca, has another pack. Moore covers the Davis Mountain, Sierra Diablo Mountain, the Eagle Mountain areas and the country east of the Big Ben National Park along Maravillas Creek. In addition, two experienced state Game Department trappers are kept in the field constantly. They are John E. Hearne at Cotulla between San Antonio and Laredo, and Herbert Ward at Catarina, northwest of Laredo.

The Director of Wildlife Restoration explained that the dogs are held in readiness to pick up the trail when marauding lions are reported by ranchers, farmers and other persons. For the trappers, there is a day-by-day routine trying to outguess the wily cats. They may set the big double-spring traps at a cat's usual haunts where the beasts have killed livestock or big game. One of their favored tricks is to find traps of lions, maybe even a footprint, and make a blind set of a trap. The trappers have found that the huge predators invariably return to an old route even though they may be gone for weeks during which they cover scores of miles.

Traps usually are attached to a six foot chain which has a double forked hook at the end. As the cat drags the trap along, it inevitably catches in the brush. The Director of Wildlife Restoration said that unlike wolves and coyotes, members of the so-called cat family give up comparatively easily and seldom struggle desperately to escape a trap.

The lion hunters, using dogs usually find their prey cornered by the pack or forced into a tree. The big cats cannot run very fast, barring a short distance. The hunters swing into action with their guns just as soon as possible after the cats are brought to bay to spare the hounds from savage rushes by the beasts.

Milby Wins City Basketball Crown

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Houston dominated the City Conference "all-tournament" basketball team released today.

Sportswriters selecting the team placed on it two players from Milby (Houston), one from Sam Houston (Houston) and one from Poly (Fort Worth) and Crozier Tech (Dallas).

Milby, which finished second in the Houston High School city race, won the tournament Saturday night by edging Crozier Tech, 40-39.

Richard Bryant, Crozier Tech, who set two individual scoring records, was the only unanimous choice for the team. He scored 50 points in three games, a record, and made 12 field goals in one game, another new mark.

Others on the all-tournament team: Roosevelt, Hayes, Milby, Buddy Sammon, Sam Houston; Bobby Flanagan, Milby, and Jack Bell Poly.

KEY JUMP — Eddie Stanky makes the pivot in Phoenix, Ariz., base, marking the fiery little second baseman's debut in Giants' regalia. Shortstop Alvin Dark and Stanky were traded from Braves to make the double-play for the New York Nationals.

Goslin's Worst Mistake Was Trying To Apologize to Klem in an Elevator

By GOOSE GOSLIN

World Series Outfielder with the Senators and Tigers. Records show that I rarely hit into a double play, yet my saddest day in baseball will show that I whacked into five of them in one afternoon.

A couple of line drives, that's true, but the others were strictly authentic and automatic.

I played the sun field all my life, made many a mistake, but my biggest boner was attempting to apologize to Bill Klem in a crowded elevator.

With the Tigers in the second game of the 1934 World Series in St. Louis, we thought Umpire Klem missed a couple that went against us at first base.

You know how it is — a ball-player never thinks he's out. So we gave it to the Old Arbitrator, a National League umpire. Every schoolboy knows how he hated to be called "Catfish."

Passing him on the way to our position, Gerry Walker, myself and others called him "Catfish" and everything else that came to mind. We kept our heads down, just made the cracks as we went by.

We lost — Paul Dean beat us — which didn't help, and that night we left for Detroit. I happened to be staying at the ultra-fashionable hotel where the Cardinals were parked.

Klem was headed there, too. The next morning, just so happened that I boarded the same elevator with Klem. It was packed.

When I saw him, I extended my hand, and said: "Mr. Klem, I'm sorry about what happened yesterday."

Those were the last words I uttered, and I was a mouthy guy at the time. He called me every name that is not in the dictionary, said I was a jerk who wasn't fit to be in the major leagues.

I didn't want to be tossed out of the World Series, so turned my head, and tried to appear nonchalant. He went on upbraiding me. Everybody knew whom he was attacking, but I kept my big mouth shut.

My floor was one or two after that of Czar Klem's, and when the elevator stopped at his landing, he put his foot in the door so the boy couldn't close it, and kept blasting. He really told me off.

When the Series ended the then Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis called us into his Detroit headquarters.

No fewer than 20 fans who were in that elevator had written, telegraphed or told the judge what transpired.

Klem was fined $200 for vulgar and abusive language. I went scot-free. I don't hold it against Bill Klem, and it further stressed a lesson I learned years before. Never talk — let alone talk back — to an umpire.

And certainly don't try to apologize — in a crowded elevator.

Longhorns Win Swim Meet at Dallas

DALLAS — (AP) — Three records were broken yesterday as the University of Texas easily won the Southwest AAU swimming meet. Texas scored 106 points to 28 for second place Texas Aquatic Club.

Will Diamond Sophomores Escape Jinx? That's Big Question in Training Camps

By FRANK ECK

AP News Features Sports Editor VERO BEACH, Fla. — Baseball will be more interesting to watch in 1950 — if the freshmen stars of last season, who now are sophomores, come through as anticipated.

The second year player is one of the main topics of discussion during these early days of spring training. Here at the vast Dodger camp there is only one sophomore.

And if he is cause for concern the Dodgers are not showing it because he happens to be Don Newcombe, regarded as the best right hander in the National League.

The sophomore year, however, has been the jinx year for many youngsters. The list of second year disappointments includes such names as Pee Wee Reese, Phil Rizzuto, Danny Litwhiler, Elmer Valo and Charlie Keller, who hit .334 as a freshman but dropped to .286 in 1949. More recently you could add Alvin Dark, Richie Ashburn, Del Ennis, Larry Doby, Sam Mele, Bobby Thomson, Earl Torgerson and Vic Vito to the list.

A look at some of the fine pitchers who were failures their second year in the majors is startling. Gene Bearden dropped from a 20-game freshman season in 1948 to 8 wins last year. Bob Cheshnes went from 14 wins to 7, and before that Art Houtteman went from 7 to 2. Tex Hughson went from 22 to 12. Johnny Vander Meer from 15 to 5. Dutch Leonard from 14 to 2. Jack Kramer from 9 to 3. and Dixie Trout from 9 to 2.

Newcombe is far and away the pitcher who will be most discussed in baseball this season.

A real workhorse who can pitch with two days rest — although he failed to do it in the World Series — the 23-year-old six-foot Negro won 17 games. Five were shutouts. It's all the more remarkable because Newcombe didn't get his first start until the season was five weeks old. Off his debut year a conservative estimate would give him 22 victories this year. Some estimates run as high as 30.

The Athletics over at West Palm Beach have another sophomore who rates high. He is Alex Kellner, 25-year-old southpaw who won 20 last year. He pitched 20 complete games, had no shutouts but ranked 12th in earned runs.

Another potential mound ace is Cleveland's Mike Garcia, 26, whose 14 first year victories included five shutouts. Like Newcombe, his first starting job didn't arrive until May '22. The Boston Red Sox have two youthful southpaw sophs, Maurice McDermott, 21, and Charlie Stobbs, 20. McDermott won only five games after being recalled from Louisville in mid-June but they say he's another Lefty Grove. Stobbs, signed out of Norfolk's Granby High, won 11 last year. Joe McCarthy hopes these two will be regular starters.

The Pirates have a fine lefty in Bill Werle, 28, a 12-game winner. His 109 strikeouts ranked seventh in the league. May 11 marked his first victory as a starter.

Ex-Pampan Hits Perfect 300 Game

Jimmy Webb, former Pampa bowler, rolled a perfect 300 game yesterday afternoon on the Borger Lane alleys in Borger. Webb, who last year bowled with the Pampa Dry Cleaning team, hit a 746 series with the perfect game.

Gordon Coleman led the American League keystone men, and hit .275. He won't hit the Gordon long ball but he'll hit timely as he proved in the clincher against the Sox, and in one of the World Series games in Ebbets Field.

The Phillies boast a long ball hitter at third in Willie (Puddin') Head Jones. He hit only .248 but blasted 19 homers and in one game equalled a record by hitting four doubles.

The Cardinals have a purple heart veteran who also wields a big stick at third base. He is Eddie Kazak, who hit .305 in 92 games as a freshman. Only a troublesome ankle stands in his way of being a regular.

Two young catchers with a future are Del Crandall, just turned 20, and Stan Lopata, 24. Crandall hit .263 in 67 games for the Braves and Billy Southworth, regarding him as a natural hitter, plans to use him against all types of pitching. Lopata will have a job replacing long ball hitter Andy Seminick with the Phillies but his .271 in 83 games forces Eddie Sawyer to give him every opportunity.

The American League has three good hitting outfielders among its sophs. They are Roy Sievers (.306 Browns), Gus Zernial (.318 White Sox) and Johnny Groth (.293 Tigers). Both Zernial and Groth were hampered by injuries but have recovered. Sievers, 23, blasted 16 homers. The Pirates have in Tom Saffell a batter with a keen eye. Though lacking power he hit .322 in 79 games for Pittsburgh. All he must do is get on base. Ralph (Home Run) Kiner will do the rest.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

BASEBALL'S MIGHTIEST SLUGGER and most glamorous figure, Babe Ruth, is seen in a typical pose—having just blasted one into the bleachers. A street urchin from the Baltimore waterfront, the Babe captured America's heart with his irresistible personality and amazing athletic prowess. His fame as baseball's home-run king came after Ruth had compiled a spectacular record as a pitcher. The Great Bambino's salary mounted from $600 in 1914 to a peak of $80,000 in 1930 and 1931—baseball's highest at that time, and $5000 more than President Hoover's. Shortly before his death, of cancer in August, 1948, the game paid him tribute to its greatest star in dramatic ceremonies at New York's Yankee Stadium—"The House That Ruth Built."

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hester—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Who was the only American Leaguer to make over 200 hits in 1949?

CAN'T GET over what a wonderful basketball banquet that was last Saturday night. The full cooperation of the school, the Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee, and the basketball mothers made the affair the finest it has ever been my privilege to attend. I'm only sorry that more fans weren't present for the evening.

The speaker, Cecil "Stutterin' Sam" Hunter, had the entire crowd literally rolling in the aisles. The next time any of these fans go to a banquet where he is going to speak they will know enough to go into training ahead of time. If you weren't in top physical condition your sides and stomach got mighty sore from laughing. Coach Aubra Noncaster was seen holding his sides with one hand and wiping the tears of laughter from his eyes with the other.

The people who laid out the table decorations deserve a lot of credit for the fine job they did. Each table had a complete color of its own in the center of it, with two teams, one in green and gold and one in black and gold, made from pipe cleaners. In addition a picture of a Pampa coach was glued on a pipe-stem figure to coach the team. A scoreboard stood at the end of each court with the score, Pampa 38, Amarillo 36, painted on.

L. N. Atchison did a mighty fine job as master of ceremonies. His consistent wit, coupled with his know-how, kept the spirit of the night rolling along. Here's hoping that next year's banquet will be twice as big and just as entertaining.

Cecil Hunter, who was the guest speaker for the night, revealed after the banquet that he is going to try to crash television in the next two weeks. He has the talent, as everyone who has seen him will agree. And television should be the spot for him, because half of enjoying him is in watching his expressions and actions. You didn't get to feeling sorry for him as he stutters and stammers along.

I wouldn't say that James Gallemore, Harvester captain, was a very nervous when he escorted his queen, Edna Ellis, during the coronation ceremonies. But, as the picture on the front page of the Sunday Pampa News will clearly show, he buttoned his suit coat backward the night before. When asked to step back so that the photographer could get another picture James mumbled: "Should we do the whole thing over again?" I guess he liked the taste of that lipstick.

Two former Pampa Harvesters did mighty well for themselves at the Border Olympic track and field meet at Laredo this past weekend. Ready Clay, Texas Longhorn grid star, took second in the University Division of the discus. Carl Mayes helped the Longhorn 440-yard relay team set a new meet record of 4:1. Mayes ran the second leg in the four-man event. His other teammates were Perry Samuels, Floyd Rogers and anchor man Charley Parker.

Looks like a couple of former West Texas-New Mexico League stars will be regular performers with the Chicago Cubs this coming season. Ex-Oiler Warren Hacker appears to be a definite regular starter in Frankie Frisch's plans for 1950. He came up in time to get quite a few calls the last part of 1949.

The other boy is Bill Serena, rifle-armed third baseman, who has seemed to fit into "Uncle Franz" plans for re-building the broken down and creaking chewing gum team with youngsters. I know that the fans from this area will be pulling for the boys.

Coach Dana X. Bible, who spoke at the Pampa Harvester football banquet last fall, was guest speaker at the Texas Tech grill banquet last week. In his

Pros Offer Five Cardinal Points Of Good Golf Swing; Application Of Knowledge Is Something Else

By JIM O'LEARY

NEW YORK (NEA)—With touring Johnny Palmer doing the shot making, the Teaching Committee of the Professional Golfers Association has drawn some helpful conclusions to guide Gus H. Shankshot and the some 5,000,000 present addicts of the Ancient and Honorable.

During the demonstration observed in conjunction with the 33rd annual meeting in Pinehurst, N. C., and subsequently approved as correct as fundamental respects by the PGA committee in charge, Snead and Palmer stressed the five cardinal points necessary to a good golf swing.

But like the sage advice to keep your head down and eye on the ball the application of some of what he speaks, Tech has a big enough school, and with the added prestige of being in one of the top leagues in college circles could well attract even more and better material for its athletic teams.

ANSWER: Dale Mitchell was the only American Leaguer to bash out over 200 hits in 1949.

Schoolboy Nines In Biggest Year

AUSTIN (AP)—Schoolboy League baseball has 638 participating teams this season. That was an increase of three over last year and the greatest number to take part in league history, Athletic Director Rhea Williams said.

Decreases in the number of schools registered in Conference AA and A were more than offset by gains in Conference B, which increased from 364 last year to 382.

Williams said the last day for certifying district champions is May 15 in Conferences AA, A and B.

SWC Coaches Pick Master List Of Grid Officials

DALLAS (AP)—Southwest Conference football coaches have drawn a "master list" of officials that will work their games next fall.

Meeting here yesterday they agreed a majority vote of the coaches would place an official's name on the list. The majority vote method was advocated by the Southwest Football Officials Association. It replaced a selection system used last year that drew sharp criticism from the officials and from sportswriters.

Last year a single "no" vote by any coach barred an official from working any conference game.

Oil Capitol Remindful That Horses Named After Cities Frequently Go to Town

MIAMI, Fla. (NEA)—Tulsa doesn't require any tub-thumping, but the bustling Oklahoma burg has an extraordinary four-legged press department in Oil Capitol.

The Mahmoud colt taking dead aim at the Kentucky Derby is remindful that race horses named after cities frequently go to town. Four thoroughbreds named for cities bagged the Derby—Spokane in 1889, Meridian in 1911, Omaha in '35, Johnston in '39.

Residents of Spokane Falls, which was the full moniker of the Washington metropolis in those days, were so thrilled when the favorite of the favorite Proctor Knott, that they sent the steed a gold-brocaded blanket. Omaha went on to the triple crown, raced in England. There wasn't much the field could do about it once his jockey straightened Banker William Woodward's long-legged fellow out in the backstretch.

Two automobile loads of Billings, Mont., people certainly were optimistic when the W. A. in a Farm's Billings tackled Glatton and Coaltown in the Derby of 1948.

Speaking of horses' tags, there was the inn-keeper who announced he would name his joint after the Kentucky Derby winner. He changed his mind when Assault bounced down on top. Wouldn't that be a swell name for a saloon—Assault?

Lefors Students Enter Material In Competition
LEFORS—(Special)—Stories and columns written by members of the staff of the Pirate, Lefors High School newspaper, have been entered as contest material for the Panhandle High School Press Association. All items entered in the contest have appeared in the 1949-50 issues of the Pirate. Winners of the divisions will be announced at the convention which meets at West Texas State College at Canyon, March 25.

The divisions and entries are: News Story, Wanda Roberts and Rebecca Breining; Sports Story, Joe Rice and Duane Hankins; Sports Column, Duane Hankins; Feature Story, Barbara Chastain, Miss Breining, Betty Roberts, and Joy Browning; General Column, Barbara Chastain; Editorial, Wanda Roberts.

the coast of Italy. But he had his day in 1918, long before Ingrid met Lover Boy Rossellini.

Ralph Beaver Strausberger named horses after cities, but numerals back of the names—Detroit II, Moscos II, Louisville II.

There have been horses named Kansas City, Newark, Syracuse, Rochester, Sioux City, Port Chester, and Thomasville. The late Col. Edward Riley Bradley once thought he was going to win another Kentucky Derby by Brooklyn.

Tom Gray, proprietor of the one-horse stable that is Oil Capitol, attained his success in oil and automobiles in Tulsa; and in 1949, returned to golf less than a year later and he did it the hard way—playing in the Los Angeles Open without a tune-up in a minor tournament. And he tied for first place.

"I told Valerie (Ben's wife) that he'd be back stronger and better than ever," Mrs. Hogan recalls. "I knew if it was humanly possible Ben would do it. He loved golf more than anything in the world."

While reconciled to Ben's devotion to the game, Mrs. Hogan nevertheless was distressed when he launched his comeback so abruptly. She knew he had planned to play in the Bing Crosby charity tournament at Monterey, Calif., but his sudden entry at Los Angeles caught her by surprise. She says: "He just couldn't stay out of it. He had something to prove to himself and he did it. His wife wrote me that he was the happiest man alive when he shot that 69 on the second day."

Hogan was born Aug. 13, 1912, at Dublin, Texas. And here's something new to sports fans, that is about the mighty mite of the links: Ben wasn't a bantam when he joined the family. He was a 15-pound baby and his mother recalls that even then he had the over-sized hands that were to become his golfing trademark.

"Why," his hands were as big as two," relates the mother of America's most celebrated golfer.

FORT WORTH (AP)—There never was any doubt in the mind of Mrs. Clara Hogan that her son, Ben, would make his fabulous comeback in golf—a comeback that will be rated among the greatest in sports history.

Hogan, the little giant of the links who was injured seriously in an automobile accident near Van Horn, Texas, in February, 1949, returned to golf less than a year later and he did it the hard way—playing in the Los Angeles Open without a tune-up in a minor tournament. And he tied for first place.

Dodgers' Camp Shows How Tough It Is to Be Big Leaguer

Hands From 22 Farm Clubs, Plus Dodgers, Under Same Blue Sky
By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

VERO BEACH, Fla. (NEA)—Branch Rickey introduced the farm system in self defense after World War I.

The Cardinals of that day couldn't compete with the more affluent major league clubs for minor league talent. On top of that, their scouts took to trailing Charley Barrett, the Red Birds' fastest forager. If they suspected that Barrett was interested in a young man, the St. Louis Nationalist didn't have a Chinaman's chance.

So Mahatma Rickey, the remarkable man now heading the far-flung Brooklyn organization, decided to raise his own. The other clubs copied the chain store plan.

Next Rickey conducted trout camps throughout the country. Rival organizations were quick to follow.

President Rickey's latest is the baseball concentration camp—all hands on multiple fields under the same blue sky. The Giants and Indians were first to catch on, with similar layouts at Sanford and Daytona Beach, Fla., respectively, but their parent clubs are the width of the nation away—in Phoenix and Tucson.

Mahatma Rickey's advantage in having all his athletes in one big batch is that he gets reports on the members of 22 subsidiary clubs as well as the Dodgers at the end of each day's toil. There are 12 managers, scouts, directors and supervisors here than you could shake a stick at.

Say a big right-hand power hitter in the St. Paul group catches Scout George Sleser's eye. He's smack dab in the grounds. Boss Rickey can put an entire board of sharp observers on him. Faults can be straightened out.

While some of the established Brooklyn stars may dislike the reorganization and barracks life at the former Naval Training Station in the outskirts of this pretty little town in the heart of the Indian River citrus belt, Rickey knows it is good psychology to have his minor league prospects mix with them.

Nothing high hat about this lodge. Chatting with Reese, Robinson, Newcombe, Branch, Hatten, Roe, Campanella, Hodges, Furillo, Hernandez and the kid assigned to Pueblo, Asheville, or maybe Sheboygan, feels he belongs, grasps the idea that he has a genuine opportunity.

At Dodgerdom's peak, 1,000 there will be close to 400 players here from 22 farm clubs, representing as many leagues—Triple A to D.

The Flatbush flock doesn't stop at Vero Beach. The Hollywood Coastier is at work in San Fernando, Calif. The Santa Barbara, Billings and Bixbee Douglas departments report at Anaheim, Calif., March 24.

This mob is the pick of more than 100 aspirants carefully checked by sharp-eyed, seasoned observers, and you gather that the ubiquitous Branch Rickey, the smartest man in baseball, remains several years ahead of the remainder of the field.

Seeing this bewildering number of aspirants running, throwing, batting and sliding in different shifts, following to the letter orders of the day, just as though they were in the armed forces is bewildering, but at the end of the grind each individual will be completely eased. This is the ultimate in mass production of ivory.

Only 25 at a time can achieve the goal at which the entire kaboodle is shooting—a solid berth, with the Brooks.

At Vero Beach these busy, sunny days, you more fully realize just how difficult it is to become a big league ballplayer.

One national radio network is going to put a selected American League game on the air every day. With baseball going on a coast-to-coast basis, the time has come for a change in format.

To compete for afternoon audiences, baseball may have to be presented like the old radio hip Commissioner Chandler was looking for him. John's Other Shortstop went down to the club house and Commissioner Chandler told him he wanted him to be his assistant—if he gave up Letitia.

"What will our hero do? What about Letitia? And will his broken leg mend in time for the All-Star Game and World Series?" Peterson's Peanuts are now that in tomorrow, when Peterson's Peanuts will again present John's Other Shortstop—unmeatier. And Peterson's Peanuts less it rains."

Ineffectual in Many Instances

OF LATE, there has been a noticeable change in Mr. Truman's relations with the press.

Evidence of this has made its appearance in a number of President Truman's periodic press conferences.

Matters came to something of a head recently when Mr. Truman gave an exclusive interview to the Washington bureau of The New York Times.

It is interesting to note that the press corps thought the president's remarks were so important that they were taking notes.

There is a feeling of depression and hopelessness in many quarters. The progress that the Soviet Union has made in its grand plan of world expansion is greater in all probability, than it was in any previous period.

Ignorance of Conditions in West Is Firm Red Policy

By JOHN FISHER

While the public clings to a gambler's hope for an understanding with Russia over super-bombs, statesmen are more frustrated than ever.

More than any other factor, the Iron Curtain creates fear—fear by the West of military preparations made in darkness.

This terror of disclosure is behind the silencing of the American businessman Robert Vogel, victim of the latest Hungarian trial, and the accusations which prompted the United States to recall its Minister, Donald R. Heath, from Bulgaria.

The one thing which Communists fear most is contact with non-Communists. All the machinery of isolation is concentrated on maintaining a gulf.

Communists are equally at pains to stop their slaves from slipping through the Iron Curtain and exposing conditions.

IT MAY BE that Mr. Truman was misled by the considerable amount of press criticism that greeted his apparent disinclination to call another Big Three meeting.

There are no landlords in the Soviet Union, nor any trade association, nor any labor union, nor any P.T.A.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES

I want to quote parts of a sermon made by Ernest H. Sommerfeld of Springfield, Massachusetts, and published in the magazine "Faith and Freedom" under the general heading of "The Pulpit and Liberty."

"It was not an American, but, strangely enough, a Russian, Leo Tolstoy, who saw the danger of delegating individual conscience to councils of men. He wrote: 'From the day when the first members of councils placed exterior authority higher than their own, that is to say, recognized the decisions of men united in councils as more important and more sacred than reason and conscience; on that day began lies that caused the loss of millions of human beings and which continue their unhappy work to the present day.'

Leonard E. Read, on the staff of the Foundation for Economic Education, uses this argument of Tolstoy's, for he believes that human beings and which continue their unhappy work to the present day.

Do we see this individualism in our world today, or do we see individuals who have lost a sense of their importance and significance, surrendering their thinking to political and social dogmas?

Returning troops were later screened by local commissars. If any showed signs of coveting—or even remembering with pleasure—the "fleshpots of Egypt," they were sent to the factory for re-schooling.

Mr. St. Peter, I had the reputation of being an honest man. What do you mean, I stole money from widows and orphans?

Mr. St. Peter, I had orders from my government to put those Jews in the gas chamber.

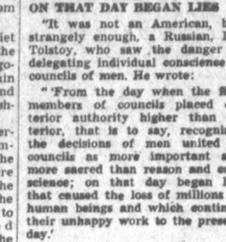

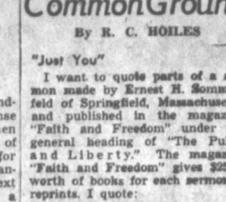

Mr. St. Peter, it was the policy of the church to persecute others. I was only a humble servant of the church.

EVANS NEW OWNER PAMPA LUBE COMPANY

J. Ray Martin 16 Years in Pampa Insurance Business

By KEITH WIESLEY
Public Relations Staff

This year marks the sixteenth consecutive year the venerable J. Ray Martin has spent in the insurance business.

Mr. Martin's company pioneered the introduction of health, accident, hospital and life insurance in this area. His specialty, however, is in life income annuities and group insurance programs. Annuities are available in individual or joint survivorship, as preferred. Other features of Mr. Martin's service in the insurance field are single premium annuities, advanced premium payment plans, discounted premiums and partnership insurance.

J. RAY MARTIN, Business Men's Assurance Company Underwriter, has been in the insurance business in Pampa for the past 16 years. He maintains his offices at 107 N. Frost.

Stewart Gives His Awl to the Mending of Soles

If you are pleased of a recalcitrant sole you would do well to trot down to Mack's Shoe Store at 318 S. Cuyler before you endanger your planar surfaces. S. T. Stewart, a master of his trade, is concerned with the welfare of your sole as the local minister is with your soul. S. T. works with your shoes until they equal a complete factory reworking.

Shoe repair and renovation is only a part of the operation of Mack's Shoe Store. There are many products available at this emporium of footwear, such as: fancy sterling silver tie clasps, shoe dressings, laces, socks, brushes, a variety of leather goods and novelty leathers. Complete Western outfits from shirts, halters, handtooled bags, spurs, bridles, bits, ropes, watchbands, knives, billies and other merchandise are available at Mack's.

Shamrock Plugs Leading Brands of Petrol Products

The finest in motor oils and allied products is carried at Shamrock Service Station, 400 W. Foster.

Charlie Ford, manager, and his genial crew boasts the utmost in courteous service and prompt attention to the problems of Pampa motorists. All customers, transient or regular, will be impressed with Charlie's brand of treatment.

Shamrock Service Station is open 7:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m., six days weekly. Where speed and quality run hand in hand, you'll always find Charlie and his crew. So, if it's service with quality you want, you'll find it at Shamrock Service.

Most people forget a service station dispenses more than gas, oil, and lubricating service. Shamrock Service will introduce you to a few of those "X-tras" the next time you're in the vicinity. Drop in and let the Shamrock Service Station crew wash and polish your car, give it a thorough inside-cleaning and a general service check-up.

Pitts Courthouse Cafeteria Is Gourmet's Delight

When a man needs a friend in Texas or wants to start an argument, he needs no better jumping-off place than to mention FOOD.

Wherever you go, whatever you do, there seems to be no more fiercely defended cause, celebre than the reputation of the food in a given locale. Pampa is no different than any other spot in the world.

Since this reporter's arrival in Pampa, he has heard no less than twenty different stories regarding the local coffee and those interior decorating establishments commonly referred to as restaurants. It became a mania to attempt to ferret out the best of all coffee and cakes spots in town.

Although there are several yet to be examined, it might be well to toss a few bon mots in the direction of John Pitts' new Courthouse Cafeteria. From the data at hand it seems that Mr. Pitts can claim to be the dean of food and drink establishment impresarios in our city. From a small beginning to proprietor of Pampa's leading Cafeteria is no small accomplishment. Mr. Pitts has weathered the storm of adverse economic conditions, bitter weather, small town to city status with genuine regard for the needs of the community and a burning desire to return the fruits of his labors to those who helped him on the way to the top.

Therefore, we take advantage of this column to give Mr. Pitts a somewhat belated sendoff for his brilliant new cafeteria, the only one of its kind in Pampa. And to tell our readers a little about the opportunity they are missing if they don't make it a point to meet Mr. Pitts and sample the delicacies of his new COURTHOUSE CAFETERIA.

You'll drool when you see a sample menu from the Courthouse Cafeteria. Roast Beef from rare to well done; just as you like it. Baked ham that doesn't have to beg you to take a second helping. Coffee that can't be grumbled over. And desserts that tempt the most rigorous diet to be broken.

Make a note to drop in at the courthouse Cafeteria next time you are near the corner of Russell and Kingsmill. Don't forget his hours of service.

Versatile Entrepreneur of Berry's Completes Second Decade in Drugs

There is no one in Pampa who isn't acquainted with the genial sage of Cuyler and Foster, Clyde Oswald. Clyde is in the midst of his seventh year at Berry's Pharmacy.

Delving deeper into Clyde Oswald's history as a pharmacist, we find him to be one of the 'deans' of the mortar and pestle in the Panhandle Area. Clyde has been in the drug store business since 1930 — a round two decades — and seems to grow younger and more philosophical with every added year.

A glance at Berry's Pharmacy is sufficient evidence that Clyde Oswald and H. C. Berry are out to give quality hand in hand with quantity. It is doubtful that there is a single item even remotely related to the drug store trade that can not be found in this Popular House of Prescriptions.

Prescriptions? The finest in materials, exacting double checking of ingredients, scientific backgrounds to protect you and your

VENERABLE SERVICE EXPERT OPERATES PAMPA LUBE CO.

Where the West finds the best in petroleum products, Pampa News Photo Engraving shows Audrey Evans' new Pampa Lubricating Company Station, located at 114 E. Francis, in the heart of Pampa. The station features Gulf Oil's new No-Nox motor fuels and many other outstanding services and products.

Audrey Evans, one of Pampa's more venerable service station operators, boasts an enviable reputation in the field of automotive service. His recent acquisition of the Pampa Lubricating Company has been hailed with interest by Pampa motoring people.

Audrey's fifteen years in the lubrication field, fully equip him to manage the successful operation of the Pampa Lubricating Company. Pampa can well be proud that Audrey has moved into the more convenient environs of the downtown area.

Along with Gulf Tires and Tire accessories, the Pampa Lubricating crew boasts Gulf Oil's newest product in a long line of sterling materials in the petrol field — Gulf No-Nox gasoline. It's great for New Cars, Great for Older Cars.

Gulf scientists worked hand-in-hand with leading automotive engineers to bring this great new gasoline to you. It's designed to give peak performance in the newer, more powerful engines of 1950. With this fuel, you'll get whip-smooth power — thrilling pick-up — quick, safe passing — and unexcelled mileage.

The new No-Nox actually gives smooth new vigor, new pep, and stops knocks in most older cars. Even those with heavily carboned engines. If you want to get the very best out of your car — jack-rabbit starts — surging hill power — and plenty of miles to a gallon — drive into Pampa Lube and fill up with new No-Nox. Sounds to us like a load of liquid dynamite in every drop of this new petrol. But, don't let the dust get in your eyes and blind you to the other fine features of Audrey's service. While you're filling your car with gasoline and oil, have the boys make an appointment for a wash job. Or, better still, get them to demonstrate their ability at waxing and polishing your car. Their elbow grease is as good, and as long lasting as the grease they use in your "T and D."

Audrey attempted to tell us of a hobby or two, but he was so busy peddling that fine service he advertises that we could get little information. We did find him to be a rabid baseball fan, he likes to hunt and spends a lot of his time with his two fine boys and a girl.

Audrey Evans and his wife have both spent the majority of their years in Pampa and the Gray County Area. Audrey grew up in the "oil" business — working from roustabout in the fields, through various channels to his present position as manager of the Pampa Lubricating Company. Not only is this personable, but taciturn chap practically a native, he is one of Pampa's first-line boosters. Get under that impassive look and get him to talking. You'll find him pushing the Top of Texas and Pampa as hard as he pushes the fine Gulf products he dispenses at his local lubricatorium.

If get up and go were the only prime requisites of success in business, this chap would be a howling success without the other attributes so necessary in such a highly competitive field.

In Laugh-Studded Hit!

MARILYN MAXWELL and LORETTA YOUNG have CLARK GABLE right where he wants to be, in MGM's "KEY TO THE CITY."

Marilyn Maxwell and Loretta Young are shown with Clark Gable in a scene from "Key to the City," current attraction at the LaNora Theatre.

Clark Gable and Loretta Young, two Academy Award Winning stars, are teamed in the big new rollicking story of two mayors, one a former longshoreman, the other a girl graduate of Harvard, who meet at a San Francisco convention and leave that city practically hanging on the Golden Gate Bridge after a whirlwind romance.

Marilyn Maxwell, who scored as the prizefighter's moll in "Champion," has an outstanding role as a beautiful but dumb girl friend of Gable.—adv.

No date has been set by Governor Allan Shivers for the special election that will follow Worley's resignation from Congress to assume his associate justice-ship on the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals bench in Washington. He was nominated to the life-time post by President Truman and only recently confirmed by the U. S. Senate.

Hodges Rites to Be Tomorrow

CANADIAN (Special)—Funeral rites for Mrs. Flora Belle Hodges, 75, who died at Canyon early Sunday morning apparently from a heart attack, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Methodist Church here. The Rev. A. A. Kendall will officiate.

She was born at Kingston, Mo., on May 4, 1874. She and her husband moved from Canadian to Canyon in 1940. Her husband died in 1948.

Survivors include five sons, Gerald Tackwell of Norman, Okla.; Lloyd Tackwell of Pampa; Clyde Hodges of Miami; and Dallas and Oliver Hodges of Canadian; a daughter, Mrs. Ev DeBond of El Paso; 20 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Peaceful Shattering At Home Evening

DERBY, Eng. — (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallis have decided just sitting by the radio is a dangerous pastime.

They were listening to music hall star Webster Booth singing "Rose of England" over the air. When he hit a high note, they said, a drinking glass on the sideboard shattered and sprayed them with fragments.

One-Act Play Given By Lefors Freshmen

LEFORS (Special)—"Kidnapping Betty," a one-act comedy was presented by the Freshman Class in an assembly held in the high school auditorium last week.

"FRANCIS" WINS "YAKADEMI AWARD"—"Francis," the movies' talking mule, got the business from the Harvard Lampoon in ceremonies at Cambridge, Mass. The Lampoon awarded "Francis" a "Roscoe" for being the only jackass in Hollywood without a streak of ham in him.

Texans Build More Homes, Spend Less

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas residential construction awards totaled less last month than in February, 1949, but more homes were built.

That was the report of the Texas Contractor, building trades journal.

The magazine said $30,763,654 was spent last month for residential construction providing 4,410 one-family housing units. By comparison, $38,059,832 was spent in February a year ago for 3,507 units.

Railway Express Rate Hike Slated

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Railway Express Agency rates will be boosted 10 percent on first and second class shipments in less than carload lots.

The increase, the fourth since the end of the war, was granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission. It takes effect after 30 days public notice.

Expected are general merchandise, food and drink.
